President Names New Paris Negotiator

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon named a new and prestigious Vietnam negotiator Wednesday and offered to withdraw all U.S. forces from Vietnam within a year if Hanoi agrees to do likewise.

Otherwise, the President took a relatively tough stance in his hour-long, nationally televised foreign policy discussion.

He warned Hanoi it faced only prolonged bloodshed if it did not negotiate and said he would bomb its air defenses if it did not stop shooting at American reconnaissance planes.

Nixon warned the Middle East poses a greater danger to the world than does the war in Vietnam because the United States and the Soviet Union could be drawn into a confrontation there neither nation wants.

For the job Henry Cabot Lodge quit last December in disgust over lack of progress, Nixon chose David K. E. Bruce, 72, a veteran diplomat and former undersecretary of state.

"If the enemy is willing to negotiate with our new ambassador, we will get them all out within a year," Nixon said of the troop withdrawals.

Nixon's televised interview with Howard R. Smith of ABC, John Chancellor of NBC and Eric Sevareid of CBS was greeted in Washington with mixed reactions.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who demanded equal television time to explain the "amendment for ending the war" he is cosponsoring said, "for the President to compare the Cambodian fiasco to the great decisive battles of World War II such as Stalingrad indicates that he is living in Disneyland."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Nixon "handled the questions mighty well...it was very comprehensive."

Bruce, a former ambassador to West Germany, France and Great Britain, will meet with the President at the Western White House July 4 and is expected to take up his new position in Paris about Aug. 1.

Nixon said regardless of the outcome of negotiations in Paris, the United States was embarked on a policy that would get virtually all American ground combat forces out of Vietnam by next spring.

"It will succeed. That I know," Nixon said of his policies.

Seated around a table in the KABC studio in Los Angeles with the three television newsmen, Nixon defended the American sweep through Communist sanctuaries inside Cambodia's borders as "the most decisive action in damaging the enemy's ability to wage efective warfare that has occurred in this war to date."

He conceded the Cambodian government, now under attack by North Vietnamese forces, was in a "fragile situation" but said that because of the U.S. sweeps, "Cambodia's chances of surviving as a neutral country are infinitely better now than they were on April 30."

Although he would not absolutely rule out American forces returning to Cambodia he said he had "no intention" of sending them because "I do not believe there will be any necessity to do so."

The only reason for the Americans to return would be to protect the security of U.S. forces in Vietnam, he said, "and I believe the success of the operations which we have undertaken, as well as what the South Vietnamese will be able to do, will make it unnecessary."

The hour-long conversation was the President's first such venture, in explaining in detail to the nation his rationale behind his foreign policy decisions.

"I thought we could give the television audience really a chance to get to the depths of our foreign policy thinking," he explained.

He expressed confidence the House of Representatives would take the edge off the Senate resolution barring further actions in Cambodia and limiting funds to other Asian nations helping Cambodia.

Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church D-Idaho, sponsors of the Senate opposition, "are good men, very dedicated to peace," the President said, but added:

"There is one difference between us. I have the responsibility for 430,000 men—they don't."

The United States, Nixon said, would be glad to accept a coalition government including the Communists in South Vietnam if it resulted from free elections. But America would not impose such a coalition on Saigon he said.

"There is only one matter that is not subject to negotiations and that is the right of the South Vietnamese to determine their own future," he said.

Coca-Cola Accused Of Tricking Public

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today accused the Coca Cola Co. of tricking the public in its "Big Name Bingo" promotional game with a secret rule which kept most customers from winning the $100 prize.

The FTC complaint also named Glendinning Companies, Inc., of Westport, Con., a sales promotion firm which developed the game for Coca Cola. The bingo promotion ran from March 9 to May 31, 1969, for Coca Cola and the firm's diet cola, Tab, the FTC said.

Under the FTC complaint procedure, Coca Cola and Glendinning can sign a consent order promising not to repeat the alleged hoax without admitting it ever had violated the law. In that case, no further action would be taken.

"Big Name Bingo" offered 10 circles, each listing an achievement of some famous person—"freed slaves," "famous female flyer" and eight others.

In each Coke and Tab bottle cap was a circle with a famous person's name. Customers were told in advertisements that if they pasted the right names on the right circles they would win $100.

What they were not told, the FTC said, was that two names should be pasted on some circles.

As a result, the FTC said, "Many if not all contestants who submitted a correct answer to each . . . question did not receive the $100."

Explorer Scouts Hike With Flag For Smith

AUSTIN (UPI)—A group of explorer scouts is hiking from Sherman to Austin to deliver a United States flag to Gov. Preston Smith.

When they reach the state capitol Saturday they will be greeted by Smith and Brig. Gen. C. F. Schupp II, assistant adjutant general of the Texas National Guard. Smith will accept the flag and fly it above the capitol on Independence Day.

The scouts are walking about 20 miles a day. They left Sherman last Saturday and are stopping overnight at McKinney, Temple, Georgetown and Austin.

The flag was used in the military burial of the grandfather of an explorer in Sherman. It flew over the post headquarters there from June 14 to June 27 with special permission from President Nixon.

Draft Board Call — Lowest Since 1965

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department called today for an August draft call of 10,000 men, 5,000 fewer than in July and the lowest August quota since the Vietnam buildup began in 1965.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said one or two months of "zero draft" later this year can be considered "a possibility."

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird revealed in a broadcast Tuesday night that the August draft would be less than half of the August 1969, quota, when 29,500 were drafted. It turned out to be approximately a third.

Friedheim also announced that the total draft for 1970 is now expected to be between 150,000 and 170,000 men, a reduction of 10,000 in the top figure.

Reductions in the size of the armed forces, at a rate of about 30,000 a month.

Prosecution Rests In Case Against Midnight Cowboy Showing

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI) — Artistic. Shameful. Profitable.

A jury heard those words and many others Wednesday used to describe the Academy Award winning motion picture "Midnight Cowboy."

The prosecution has rested its case against drive-in theater manager Floyd Allred who is charged with showing an obscene movie to wit "Midnight Cowboy." Now it's the defense's turn to try and prove the movie, which won the Academy Award as the best picture of 1969, is really not all that bad.

The defense opened its attack by cross-examining many of the prosecution's early witnesses. One of them was Leon Addudle pastor of the Cogin Avenue Baptist Church. He said the movie showed "a shameful display of sex and nudity and it turned me off."

Sam Tendergrast, fine arts editor and movie critic for the Abilene, Tex., Reporter News, said the movie had "artistic merit."

Gene Jacobs, United Artists division sales manager from Greenwich, Conn., said the film has become one of the top 25 films of all time on the basis of rental value. He said the movie has grossed $17.4 million to date and 21.5 million persons had seen the movie, including 1.05 million Texans.

STRONG-ARMED AND HANDCUFFED

Servicemen Held Incommunicado Before Hijacked Plane Returns

MIAMI (UPI) —Four U.S. servicemen aboard a hijacked San Francisco-to-Miami jetliner were held incommunicado in Havana and one Army officer was "strongarmed and handcuffed" and photographed by Cubans.

David Boots of Fort Myers, Fla., a Navy enlisted man, said he and an unnamed Army captain and two other servicemen were isolated in a small room at Havana's Jose Martl Airport Wednesday for nine hours. The remaining passengers were taken into Havana.

The 39 passengers and crewmembers returned to Miami Wednesday night.

Boots said the Cubans photographed them but the captain "did not want his picture taken." When he objected, they "put the strongarm on him," handcufed him and took his picture, Boots said.

Most of the 10 guards in the room at the time jumped the officer, Boots said. At one point, he was taken off alone. The captain was questioned by FBI agents on the plane's return.

The National Airlines jet had seven scheduled stops en route to Miami. The hijacking took place after the plane had taken off from New Orleans when a "dark Latin" brandishing a 45 caliber pistol and holding a flight bag he said contained a bomb forced stewardess Connie Matthews into the cockpit.

The pilot, Capt. Carl Greenwood, who was hijacked to Cuba last year when he was riding a flight as a check pilot said the hijacker said he wanted to leave the United States for a Socialist society.

"He banged through the cabin door and said he would kill us Greenwood said. "He was very upset, very irrational, very nervous. But we finally got him calmed down."

Mexico Presidential Hopefuls Prepare For Sunday Elections

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Party of Revolutionary Institutions (PRI) presidential candidate Luis Echeverria urged Mexico's voters Thursday not to abstain from Sunday's election, in which he is an overwhelming favorite.

In a coast-to-coast televised speech, Echeverria said Mexico's Mexico's democratic growth can be maintained only if the 22 million registered voters vote and fulfill their civic obligations.

"I would prefer a vote against me rather than an abstention," he said during a 15-minute address from the book-lined library of his home on the outskirts of Mexico City.

Meanwhile, the president of the National Action Party (PAN), supporter of lone opposition candidate Efrain Gonzalez Morfin, said his tiny political group could gain strength Sunday if the elections "are clean.

The nation's defense secretary said the Army was prepared to handle any election disturbances. But he expressed confidence the voting would be peaceful.

In his speech, Echeverria reviewed his seven-month campaign tour, in which he traveld 37,284 miles and visited more than 900 towns.

The intensive campaign Echeverria said, had given him a deep understanding of the nation's problems.

"This is not an egotistical affirmation," he said.

The former interior secretary pledged his administraiton "will maintain permanent contact with the people" and would not be remote or inaccessible.

PAN President Manuel Gonzalez Hinojosa said his party was optimistic about strengthening its 19-seat representation in the 210-seat chamber of deputies and of winning some of the 60 seats in the senate, where it is unrepresented.

"The PAN could win many elections, if they are clean, if the party - government works as an independent party without advantages and if the public will is respected," he said.

Gonzalez Morfin said the PAN was gaining strength daily and through "clean elections" soon could have enough power to influence the decision - making process of government.

IN SAN ANTONIO

Kunstler Calls Mitchell 'A True Subversive'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Chicago seven attorney William Kunstler was not asked to introduce Attorney General John M. Mitchell today at the state bar association's convention.

Mitchell was to address the State Junior Bar of Texas meeting at 2 p.m.

Kunstler spoke Wednesday. Not at the bar convention—the association refused to permit him to speak there — but he spoke anyway.

He talked about Mitchell and called him a "subversive." As for lawyers in general, Kunstler called them "enemies of the people" and "the most cowardly strain in American life."

Snubbed by the group he spurned, Kunstler planned to speak again today at a radical lawyers caucus, a splinter group from the main bar association. He also planned an appearance tonight at a rally in front of the Alamo.

"I think the real subversives are in public office, the FBI and in bar associations," Kunstler said. "I think (Mitchell) is a true subversive out to undermine the Constitution of the United States.

"Anybody like Mitchell who has supported wiretapping, favors bills of preventative detention and prosecutes under antiriot statutes is a subversive," Kunstler said.

Among Kunstler's other targets were lawyers:

"I think lawyers en masse represent the most cowardly strain in American life. I regard them in the main as enemies of the people."

On Democracy:

"We need to go back to 1776 and start back and see where we blew it along the way. But I don't know if we can do this. I could function well under a democratic system. It is unfortunate that we don't have one."

On Vice President Spiro T. Agnew:

"His speeches are pithy but dangerous." He said Agnew's statements about removing misfits from society were similar to those made by Adolph Hitler.

On terrorist tactics displayed by such militant groups as the Weathermen:

"On the political level, I am against terrorism at this time because terrorism doesn't have much meaning until there is a chance for a change. I think it is politically wrong at this time to bomb, but I am not opposed to it on moral grounds. I can see where terrorism would be useful in some situtions like the Revolutionary War when the colonials used terrorism against the British."

The bar association has not acknowledged Kunstler's presence in the same city where it is holding its convention. Bar association president Josiah Wheat obviously was speaking of Kunstler however when he said the attorneys who are effectively working for social change are doing it quietly "and are not out in the streets grabbing headlines."

In other action the Texas State Bar General Practice Section named Sam L. Adridge of Farwell, Tex., as the general practitioner of the year. Aldridge, a former mayor of Farwell, spent 33 years practicing law in the city.

CoC Urges Pampans To 'Honor America'

Pampans today were urged to join the nationwide observance of "Honor America Day" on the July Fourth holiday Saturday.

The local city-wide recognition is scheduled to be highlighted with a two-minute demonstration starting at 11a.m.

At that time Pampans are urged to sound auto horns, sirens and ring church bells until 11:02 a.m.

The observance is being sponsored locally by the Chamber of Commerce.

"We are also urging every home and business place in Pampa to fly the American flag all day on July Fourth," Don Lane, chamber president said today.

"Honor America Day" also will be observed with special television network programs originating in Washington from 10 a.m. until noon and from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The three-network television production will feature evangelist Billy Graham and comedian Bob Hope along with a host of other stage, screen and television stars "dedicated to the rekindling of the American spirit of patriotism."

Hope and Graham are co-chairmen of the "Honor America Day" national committee along with Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower and former Presidents Lyndon Johnson and Harry Truman as honorary chairmen.

Rain-Weakened Roof Kills Two In El Paso

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)— A sagging roof weakened by several days of rain collapsed Wednesday and killed two men working in a clothing factory and injured 15 others.

Rescue writers continued to search through the rubble late Wednesday night to make sure no one else was trapped.

"We don't know how many were in there when it collapsed," deputy sheriff Daniel Boone said. "So we're checking every inch of ground."

Harold Greer and Juan Gonzalez were pulled from the rubble moments after the roof collapsed. They were dead on arrival at R. E. Thomason General Hospital.

"We pulled Greer and Gonzalez out from under a mass of cinder blocks, dirt and steel beams, but they already looked too far gone," Boone said. "We just kept digging and looking for more survivors."

Fire Chief M.L. Coleman said his department received a fire alarm from the Mann Manufacturing Co. Wednesday morning.

"The roof had partially collapsed setting off the automatic alarm," Coleman said. "The flat roof was covered with water. It evidently had not drained from all the rains we've received around here."

Coleman said a construction crew arrived to brace the roof so his men left. Company employes helped salvage some of the merchandise damaged by the leaking roof.

Shortly before noon, as many of the workers and employes left on their lunch hour, the west wall of the square building collapsed and 70 per cent of the roof crashed to the floor.

A hospital spokesman said 14 of the persons rescued from the rubble were treated for minor injuries and released. Felipe Robles, 22, of El Paso remained in the hospital in satisfactory condition.

Recount Gives Both Candidates Additional Votes

On a Gray County recount of votes cast in the June 6 runoffs for Democratic representatives for the 79th District, Phil Cates of Lefors picked up one additional vote and Ray Trosper of Higgins gained three.

In the June 6 runoff, Cates recorded 1600 votes. In the recount, he tallied 1601.

Trosper originally had 607 votes and picked up three for a total of 610 in the recount.

Both candidates were present Tuesday during the 3½-hour recount in the 31st District Courtroom.

Democratic Executive Committee chairman Harold Comer said it will probably be the latter part of the week before an official figure to determine the winner is available from the seven counties involved in the recount.

Houston Metal Workers Strike

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two sheet metal workers union locals went on strike Wednesday and 1,274 workers left their jobs, stopping work in 23 Southeast Texas counties.

Local 54 in Houston, representing 1,000 members in 21 counties, turned down by a 4-1 margin a Houston Sheet Metal Contractors Association offer of $2.25 an hour over the $5.68 an hour they now earn.

Local 196, representing 274 strikers in the Beaumont area, rejected a raise between $2 and $2.25 an hour from the Sabine Area Sheet Metal Conaractors Association.

Local 196 put up picket lines in Jefferson and Orange counties. The Houston local's officials said they would not resort to picketing so long as other workers did not perform the duties of sheet metal workers.

Negotiations broke down Tuesday night and the old contracts expired at midnight.

The Sabine area local said it was painning a strike of two to three months. The Houston contractors said they expected a strike of two to four weeks.

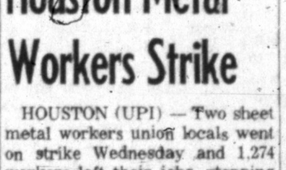

Tire Theft Reported To City Police

The theft of a tire and wheel lued at $150 was reported stolen from a beer truck Wednesday by C. G. Shirley, 1822 N. Russell, the operator of the truck.

Shirley told police he believed the tire was taken within the past week, but said he wasn't sure whether the tire was taken in Pampa or Borger.

The tire is described as being a 900x20 a B. F. Goodrich brand.

In other Wednesday night activity, police investigated three domestic disturbances, one prowler call, one lost purse, one shoplifter, arrested two persons for public intoxication, and detained three juvenile girls, who were out too late, for their parents.

County Equalization Board Calls For Two-Day Session Next Week

County commissioners, in their role as a Board of Equalization, ordered notices sent Wednesday to county property owners whose property evaluations have been raised within the past year.

County Judge Sherman Lenning Jr. said the notices are a matter of formality, giving taxpayers a chance to object to the higher appraisals when commissioners meet as a Board of Equalization at 10 am. Tuesday and Wednesday in the county courtroom.

Appraisals are made by Thomas Y. Pickett Co., Dallas.

The tax rate is $1.72 per $100 of approximately ten per cent of the assessed evaluation of the property.

Of that rate, the county keeps $1.25, 95 cents for the general fund and 30 cents for use on road maintenance. The state receives 42 cents and the remaining five cents goes to the water district.

The Board of Equalization meeting will give taxpayers a chance to object to the appraisals and show cause why their property values should be adjusted.

In other business Wednesday, commissioners voted to advertise for bids on a pickup truck for Precinct 4 at McLean and approved the county's bills, including a $94,741.30 payroll for Highland General Hospital.

THAT IS NEWS!

NORMTN CROSS, England (UPI)—As Ifor Williams explained it, the dog bit him on the ear so he bit the dog right back just to show him who was dealer, told the Magistrates Court Tuesday "I had no intention of hurting the dog. It was just an issue between me and him. He bit me so I bit him back."

The judge ruled he was guilty of conduct likely to lead to a breach of the peace and placed him on probation for 12 months.

Williams explained to newsmen after the trial "You have got to deal with a dog properly. I bit him on the ear to show him who was boss."

'Chute Meet To Benefit Girlstown

An invitational parachute meet is being planned for July 18-19 at Perry Lefors Field in Pampa with proceeds to Girlstown, USA, near Borger. This two-day meet is being sponsored by friends of Girlstown in cooperation with various civic organizations throughout a four-state area.

Sky-diving clubs from as far away as Orange, Mass. and Colorado Springs, Colo., have been invited to participate in this event, and more than one hundred sky-divers are expected to be present. A total of $1,000 in prize money and twenty-six trophies will be awarded in the two-day event.

Activities will include a Fly-in Breakfast starting at 7 a.m. on the 18th for pilots and guests. Breakfast will be served at the airport by the Citizen's Band Rodeo Club of Pampa and Borger.

Other activities will be accuracy jumps by the skydivers in Class A, B, C, and D categories. Each first place prize will be $100 and a trophy. A trophy will be awarded for second and third place prizes.

A grand prize of $500 and a trophy will be awarded the jumper for the most accurate jump of all the acuraty jumps. Trophies will be awarded for the second and third places.

Two objectives will be accomplished by this meet, one to acquaint more people in the Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Kansas area with the work being accomplished at Girlstown in Borger, and secondly, to offer any financial assistance to be gained from the meet to further the work at Girlstown.

Deputies Search For 'Hot' Fireworks

Fireworks valued at $400 were reported taken from a storage building on Price Road late Wednesday afternoon.

According to Gray County sheriff's deputies, T. W. Johnson, 119 Price Rd., said he left home about 4 p.m. and when he returned about 6 p.m., the door of a storage shed near his home had been kicked in and the firworks were missing.

Johnson said he supplies area fireworks stands with the explosives during the Fourth of July holidays.

Sheriff's deputies were continuing the investigation today.

City Hall To Start Battle Of The Budget

Wrestling with Pampa's budget for fiscal 1970-71 will begin in earnest next week at City Hall.

Deadline for budget requests from department heads fell yesterday.

City Manager Charles Hill said today all department heads had filed notices of anticipated needs on time.

The current budget for fiscal 1969-70 was $1,860,490. The city's current tax rate is $1.72 per $100 of assessed property valuation.

Hill stated today no increase in the city tax rate is contemplated.

A tax rate boost was forestalled by voters' adoption of the one-cent city sales tax which, it is anticipated, will enrich city coffers by approximately $250,000 to $300,000 a year.

Pampa only last week received its first quarterly payment of sales tax revenue from the state amounting to around $65,000.

The city manager has scheduled meetings next week with the various heads of city departments to discuss the new budget figures.

He will meet Tuesday to go over money requests from the city tax department, Lovett Memorial Library and Corporation Court.

Meetings are scheduled Thursday with heads of the fire, police, street, sanitation and park departments.

On Friday of next week figures for fiscal 1970-71 operations in the engineering and water departments will be gone over in detail.

The city manager said during the week of July 27-31 the preliminary budget will be put together and an information review of the measure will be held with the mayor and city commission Aug. 3.

The budget, as finally proposed, will be filed with the city secretary Aug. 21 and will be formally submitted to the city commission Aug. 25.

A public hearing is set for Tuesday, Sept. 8 along with the first reading of the budget and tax rate ordinances. Second and final readings are scheduled for Sept. 22. The approved budget will be filed Oct. 1 with the Gray County clerk and the state comptroller's office in Austin.

Pampa's 1970-71 fiscal year starts next Oct. 1.

BITTER HONEY

CINCINNATI (UPI)—A jealous wife who dumped a container filled with honey over the head of a woman she suspected of being her husband's sweetheart was convicted on a disorderly conduct charge Monday.

Common Pleas Court Judge Rupert A. Doan handed down a suspended 10-day sentence and $100 fine to Mrs. Wanda Morganthal. Sandra McArthur, 18, said "Here's some honey from your honey," and dumped a plastic bowl of honey over her head.

Celebrate Independence Day With Memorable Menu

Treat holiday guests to brisket of beef.

Long holiday weekends strain the cook's imagination and the family budget. It is a good time for family and friends to travel and everyone wants to offer a memorable meal to visitors.

A fresh brisket of beef makes a hearty dinner. Since it is a less expensive cut of meat, brisket also helps spread the holiday-entertainment dollar. It is at its best after long, slow simmering and thus its preparation also frees the homemaker from the kitchen for a relaxing visit with guests or relatives seen infrequently. Leftovers make good sandwiches.

FRESH BRISKET OF BEEF

1 brisket of beef, 4 lbs.
2 cups water
½ cup tomato catsup
1 tbs. Angostura bitters
2 large onions, sliced
2 bay leaves
6 small yellow onions, peeled
6 carrots, cut into halves
6 medium potatoes, peeled, quartered
2 tbs. flour
¼ cup water
Salt and pepper

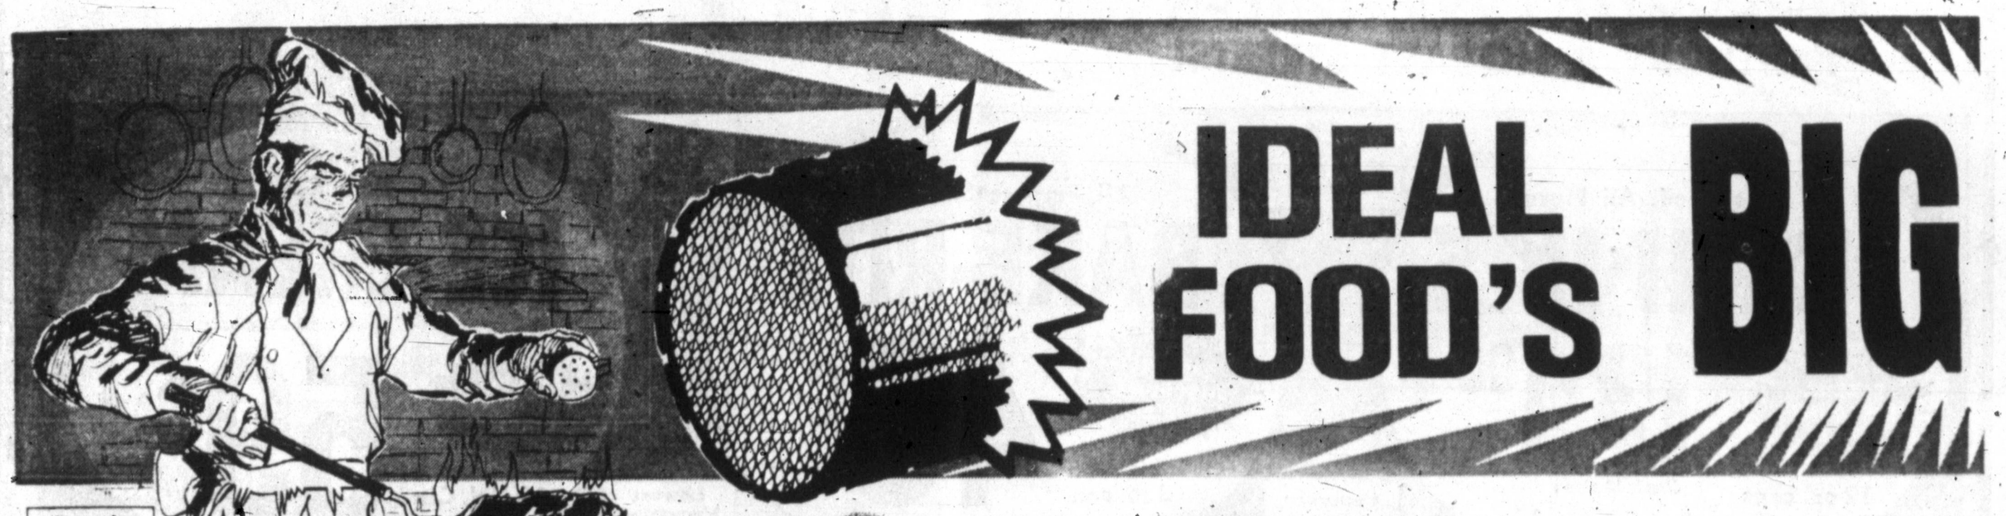

Wash brisket. Place meat in Dutch oven and brown. Add water, catsup, Angostura, onions and bay leaves. Cover tightly and simmer, turning occasionally, until meat is tender, about 3 hours. Add onions, carrots and potatoes. Cover and simmer until vegetables are tender, about 30 minutes. Remove to platter. Skim fat from pan drippings; remove bay leaves. Slowly stir in flour-water mixture. Cook until sauce thickens. Season to taste. Makes 6 servings.

It's music under the stars, a lawn concert drawn from your family record collection. As impresario you can build the program around a theme tied to guests' tastes. According to an article in a family magazine, you can select show albums for Broadway-musical buffs. Put on a home hootenanny for folk-music fans (children should enjoy this, too). Base a private jam session on your jazz evening devoted to one classical composer. Try a musical potpourri, asking each guest to bring his favorite record.

MACE POUND CAKE is delicately flavored.

Mace Pound Cake Welcomes July 4th

For the weekend or for July 4th unexpected visitors, why not have a welcoming pound cake on hand. But use one of the new cake mixes and give your cake a surprise delicacy with a little mace and grated lemon peel.

MACE POUND CAKE

2 tsp. ground mace
1 tsp. grated lemon peel
2 packages (1 lb. 1 oz.) pound cake mix
Confectioners' sugar

Add mace and lemon peel to pound cake mix and prepare cake mix according to package directions. Pour into 10 x 4 inch tube pan. Cut through batter with knife to bread air bubbles. Bake in preheated slow oven (325 degrees) 1 to 1½ hours. Remove from pan immediately and cool on wire rack. Dust cake with confectioners sugar. One tube cake.

CINNAMON SWIRL CAKE

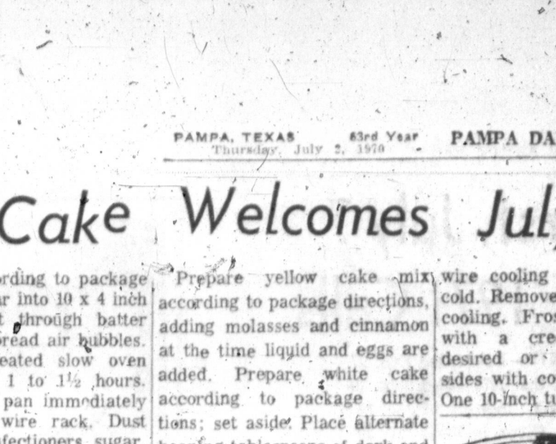

1 package yellow cake mix
1 package white cake mix
1 tbs. mild molasses
1 tsp ground cinnamon
Confectioners' sugar

Prepare yellow cake mix according to package directions, adding molasses and cinnamon at the time liquid and eggs are added. Prepare white cake according to package directions; set aside. Place alternate heaping tablespoons of dark and light batter in greased 10 x 4-inch tube cake pan. Run knife around cake pan. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees) for 1 hour, or until done. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Invert on wire cooling rack until almost cold. Remove from pan. Finish cooling. Frost top and sides with a creamy frosting, if desired or sprinkle top and sides with confectioners' sugar. One 10-inch tube cake.

'Midnight Cowboy' Called Pornographic

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UPI) — Police Chief W. B. Donahoo saw "Midnight Cowboy" four times and hated every minute of it.

He didn't think the music was that bad though.

Donahoo called the Academy Award winning motion picture "hardcore pornography" Tuesday at the trial of drive-in theater manager Floyd Allred, charged with showing obscene movies at his theater.

An Episcopal minister said the movie was about "true love" and added he wouldn't mind showing it to his congregation.

The movie, which won the Oscar from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the best film of 1969, was shown in Brownwood Tuesday. After the jury, who all confessed they were not regular movie goers, saw the film starring Dustin Hoffman and Jon Voight, they heard the conflicting testimony as to its merits.

The furor over the movie began when someone filed a complaint to Brown County Judge William Breedlove. The man who filed the complaint said he took his wife and kids to Allred's drive-in to see "Midnight Cowboy" thinking they were going to watch an old fashion western.

The story concerns a young Panhandle Texan who decides to go to New York City where he feels he can make out as a male stud. Once there he meets up with a crippled derelict who at first swindles him and then becomes his friend. Hoffman and Voight were both nominated for Oscars for best actor in the movie and John Schlesinger won the Oscar for his direction.

"The movie has no artistic value whatsoever," Donahoo said. "The pronography is hard core pornography. Aside from the movie, the music standing is only fair."

Donahoo said he saw the movie four times in the line of duty. The movie received an "X" rating prohibiting persons under the age of 18 from seeing it.

"The predominant theme of the movie was true love," said Rev. Fred Howard of the St. Thomas Episcopal Church. "There was nothing obscene about it. It has great social value."

He said he would like to show the movie to his congregation and thought it should be shown to every male senior in the country followed by a mandatory discussion session.

Rev. Howard also said he thought the music was excellent.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America this week is observing the 123rd anniversary of one of the nation's greatest mistakes—the U.S. postage stamp.

It was on July 1, 1847 that the first letters bearing official U.S. stamps for prepayment of postage were mailed. And some of them probably are still awaiting delivery.

For adoption of the stamp marked the beginning of modern postal service, which has been going steadily downhill ever since.

Today, as we enjoy such blessings as junk mail, postal strikes, zip codes and massive deficits; we should remind ourselves that such things wouldn't have been possible without stamps.

However, it was not until 1856 that the use of stamps became compulsory. Until then the postage payment system was optional.

A mailer could buy a stamp for a letter or he could simply drop the envelope in a mailbox and let the person to whom it was delivered pay the postage.

(Note use of the phrase "To whom it was delivered," rather than "to whom it was addressed." These two phrases are not necessarily synonymous.)

The optional payment plan was an extremely sensible arrangement and its repeal has been mainly responsible for the decline and fall of the Post Office Department.

Every consumer knows that when you pay in advance you are unlikely to get as good service as when you withhold payment until the service has been performed. This includes postal service.

Compulsory prepayment of postage relieved the department of any real incentive to deliver the mail within a reasonable length of time.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read your column and respect your advice. Now solve this for me. I am a widow. What do you do with a guy who says he loves you, and wants to marry you? He seldom spends any money on me (and he has plenty) and when we're out with people he hardly looks at me, but flirts openly with all the young, good-looking women, and afterwards he tells me how "gorgeous" they are, but never a word about me.

I have gotten mad at him and even told him to get lost several times, but I always forgive him and take him back. I need compliments, too. If I marry him I'm afraid I'll be miserable. He's a good catch, but I think he is a "shmo." What do you think?

M.I.W.

DEAR M.I.W.: I think he's a "shmo," too. But if you think that after you marry him he will spend money on you, and quit flirting with other women, and give you the compliments you hunger for, then you're a bigger "shmo" than he is.

DEAR ABBY: Our unmarried daughter is sharing an apartment with an older professional woman of domineering disposition. My husband has a responsible executive position with a large firm and we are both very well educated and have traveled all over the world.

We were invited to meet our daughter at her office, and tour the building. My husband wore an expensive suit and I wore my best looking slack suit with my prettiest accessories. We wanted our daughter to be proud of us. And we thought she was.

A few days later, my daughter's roommate told me in no uncertain terms that I had "humiliated" my daughter beyond words because I had worn slacks while visiting her office. This was said to me in the presence of my relatives at a luncheon. My daughter just sat there agreeing with the woman. Please tell me if I am wrong to be upset?

BOTHERED

DEAR BOTHERED: Your daughter's failure to come to your defense probably bothered you more than the rudeness of her roommate. Leave them to each other and forget it. Slacks are now acceptable for afternoon wear almost everywhere and if that's the worst "humiliation" your daughter ever suffers, she'll be lucky.

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your answer to EARLY BIRD (the gal whose husband said she was "nuts" because she got up at 4:30 a.m. to do her housework. She said she couldn't sleep.)

I would say that "Early Bird" is basically selfish. I wonder if perhaps her reasoning is only an excuse.

In our marriage, some of our most meaningful experiences have occurred in the early hours of the morning. I value the closeness my husband and I have too much to deny him (and miss out myself) on such close communication.

Maybe the problem would be solved if "Early Bird" would climb back into bed about half an hour or so before she knew her husband had to get up.

I can't imagine any happily married man or woman enjoying waking up to an empty bed.

HAPPILY MARRIED

CONFIDENTIAL TO D.J.: No child was ever "spoiled" by too much love. Too little discipline, yes, but not too much love.

Women Golfers Schedule Summer Panhandle Day

Pampa Women's Golf Association, meeting at the Pampa Country Club, introduced new members and discussed the Summer Panhandle Day date during the June luncheon.

New members are Mrs. R.D. Hawkins, Mrs. Keith Rudy, Canadian, and Mrs. J.B. Woodington.

As Mrs. Bernard Organ conducted the business meeting, Mrs. Norman Coulter and Mrs. Tom Greenwood reported the Panhandle Day is planned here July 9.

Golf balls won for playing on play days were awarded by Mrs. Tom Wade to Mrs. John Fritsch, Mrs. W.A. Gipson, Mrs. Howard Lockhart, Mrs. J.C. Ward, Mrs. Deck Woldt, Mrs. M.L. Hall, Mrs. Scott Hall Jr., Mrs. Norman Coulter, Mrs. Tom Greenwood, and Mrs. Charles Duenkel.

The next luncheon date is July 21. Every Thirsday is play day for women's golf games.

THE TASTE? IT'S FIREWORKS!

With patriotic holidays almost back-to-back in summer months, the clever hostess might want to add "All-American Apple Pie" to her party repertoire. The pinwheel atop this red and blue frosted pie is actually made from cream cheese, which blends delectably with any favorite apple pie. This sparkling dessert was developed by home economists who suggest using a pastry decorator to apply cream cheese, which has been softened to frosting consistency with a few tablespoons milk. White should be applied first, beginning at outer edge of upper crust, continuing in spiral fashion to center. About one-half inch space should be left between the rows, later filled in with red-colored cheese. Top with a sparkler at serving time. For an added treat, frost sugar cookies as stars 'n stripes—especially easy with frosting from a tube.

Your Horosope

By JEAN DIXON

FRIDAY, JULY 3

YOUR BIRTHDAY FRIDAY:

Your personal magnetic qualities come to public view in the year ahead. Much of what clutters your path now must be cleared off in the next month or two. Your attention is divided between concern over the recent past and the need for planning. Sentimental ties take on deeper meaning. Friday's natives are often impulsive, gifted, apt to follow special interests in extensive detail over long periods.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): A home incident causes excitement, presents sudden choices. Pause for reflection before reacting. Expect the evening hours to be quite busy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Winding up the workweek deserves extra attention, since a rather different state of affairs prevails when you get to next week's work.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Settle down; exercise patience. Don't scatter energy and money. A bright remark may hit an unexpected mark with dismaying results.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): There's a reward for being imparturable Friday. You might even have to replan your weekend. Depend more on your own resources than anything from loved ones.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Now secrets are divulged, what people have done and said. Don't react until you have thought out the consequences. There is likely nothing much to do but laugh it off.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Friends are enthusiastic over some commercial scheme which is not for you. Do nothing that creates a rift or widens a difference between people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): If you can manage to put an early end to the work week, do so. Let things drift as gently as you know how. The evening turns out to be lots of fun.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Just when everything looks marvelous, you find suddenly that you're over your head. Just go along with owners for Friday. Evening hours are better, but don't expect too much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Your current projects should be given a rest. After the uphill path of Friday, give yourself time to recover. The long weekend is more complex than convenient.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Relationships challenge your talents for keeping things together. Keep your mind on what you are doing, for a moment's neglect may be hazardous.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Finishing the workweek turns out to be complicated, with everybody suggesting what should be done and how. Keep things gentle and simple for those you care about.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): It is difficult to keep routines going. Your consideration in not demanding attention is appreciated. The evening turns up rather nice surprises.

How about treating yourself to a big-city weekend for two? Just think about breakfast via room service! Meals when you want them—without having to worry about the children's menu! Rubbernecking all day—and an evening or two of theatre, music, dancing! Sound good? Then plan it all now. Write the Convention and Visitors Bureau in the city you're going to, and ask for: A calendar of coming events; museum, restaurant, and hotel lists; sightseeing suggestions and recommended tours; entertainment information (plays, movies, sports events, concerts); maps (including a walking map.

Lawyers Should Become More Involved, Texas Bar Head Says

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—The head of the Texas Bar Association says the lawyers of today need to become more involved "in the problems of social change."

For instance, Josiah Wheat said the bar association's convention would consider such topics as marriage counseling, family law and pollution.

He said the convention, which opened its registration Tuesday, is organizing an air and water conservation law section which will be the first of its kind in the country.

"This is the beginning of a new era of social involvement," Wheat said Tuesday. "Lawyers and the law more than ever are being made aware of the necessity of involvement in the problems of social change."

However, one of the things Wheat refused to get involved with was Chicago 7 defense attorney William Kuntsler and the Radical Lawyers Conference.

The radical lawyers are holding their own convention simultaneously with the "establishment." Wheat said all he knew about the splinter group was what he read in the newspapers.

Kuntsler scheduled a news conference for Wednesday and a speech in front of the Alamo for Thursday.

The main activities of the convention begin Thursday. On today's agenda for the bar association was a 7 a.m. golf tournament, a preconvention legal institute, a meeting of the Texas City Attorneys' Association, a meeting of the Texas Civil Judicial Council and a meeting of the assocation's state board of directors.

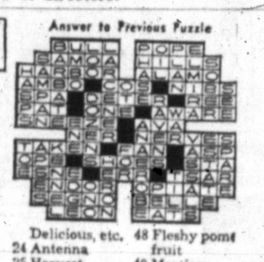

Attorney General John N. Mitchell was to address the State Junior Bar of Texas meeting Thursday afternoon. National ABA President Bernard G. Segal of Philadelphia was to address the general assembly Friday morning.

Wheat said one of the most important resolutions to be considered at the convention will be one calling for an upgrading of the county judiciary. The resolution would make law licenses mandatory for all county judges serving more than 50,000 persons and for all justices of the peace in counties of more than 200,000 population.

"We don't have anything spelled out concerning qualifications for those offices," Wheat said. "The constitution merely says they must be learned in the law. But things are more complicated now and the old requirements need to be increased. But it will be up to the people to decide whether judges should be lawyers."

Mainly About Wheeler

Dean Newberry was in a "collision with a tree" Sunday night. The accident occurred two miles east of Mobeetie. Dean missed a curve when he went to sleep at the wheel. Dean was taken to the Shamrock General Hospital for treatment and observation.

Danny Dorman of Palo Duro Canyon visited with his parents, Sheriff and Mrs. Bus Dorman and Becky Thursday and Friday.

The murder trial of Billy Joe Garner, 39, of Groom and a former Wheeler and Kelton resident, who is charged in the double shooting death of his wife's parents, was scheduled for June 22 in the Beaver District Court.

Frank Ogden and Frank Sansley, attorneys for Garner, applied for a change of venue saying pre-trial publicity would make it impossible for Garner to get a fair trial in Guymon.

District Judge Merle Lansden of Guymon granted the change of venue. He will preside at the trial in Beaver.

Garner was arrested by Texas County authorities after Mr. and Mrs. Evert Gist were found shot to death Feb. 26 at their home in Texhoma.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Whitener recently were Lt. and Mrs. Wes Cornett and Cristen Lea of El Paso and Mr. and Mrs. Hester Marrs, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Day and children of Wichita Falls, Delores Seaney and Marie, Sgt. 46 Texans can live.

46 Texans can live through this Fourth of July weekend. They should live. They deserve to be alive Monday, after a relaxing holiday. But, according to estimates based on previous holidays in Texas, 46 Texans will die.

The Governor's Office and the Texas Department of Public Safety have urged motorists to DRIVE FRIENDLY. This means obeying state and local traffic laws, planning your travel so you won't have to rush, avoiding driving and drinking. In other words, maintain a friendly driving attitude toward the other families who are also enjoying this holiday.

Most of the six million Texas drivers will be on the road at some time this holiday. If every driver makes an effort, 46 Texans can live. This weekend DRIVE FRIENDLY.

Detroit Welcomes Denny With Win

By RICHARD L. SHOOK
UPI Sports Writer

"It took a lot of guts."

Denny McLain's first pitching appearance for the Detroit Tigers since being suspended from baseball for associating with gamblers three months ago drew that reaction from Ralph Houk, manager of the New York Yankees.

"I was scared as hell," said the two-time running Cy Young Award-winner, who pitched 5 1-3 innings—more like an old McLain than the McLain of old—in his first start in nine months.

While McLain's 1970 debut was hardly an artistic success, only about one per cent of the fans booed the controversial pitcher and, incidentally, Detroit did win the game—though it took a two-out single by Mickey Stanley in the 11th inning to overcome New York, 6-5.

In other American League action, Baltimore shut out Cleveland, 3-0; Minnesota shaded Kansas City, 2-1, in 10 innings; California edged Milwaukee, 4-3; Boston scored a 6-5 win over Washington, and Oakland blanked Chicago, 3-0.

National League contests saw Pittsburgh take New York, 4-3, San Francisco out-hammer San Diego, 12-7; Montreal sweep a doubleheader from Philadelphia by 11-1 and 4-1 scores, Cincinnati knock off Atlanta, 9-2, Chicago finally win one by 5-0 count over St. Louis and Los Angeles Dodgers beat Houston, 6-3.

McLain served up Jerry Kenny's third home run, in the third inning. Thurman Munson's second, in the fourth, and Bobby Murcer's 15th, a mammoth shot off the roof of the third deck in right in the sixth.

Cesar Gutierrez singled home the third Tiger tally and McLain, nicknamed "Dolphin," was taken off the hook in the seventh when a ground ball by Stanley and Kaline's second sacrifice fly tied the game.

Ken Szotkiewicz reached first on Horace Clarke's third error and he and Don Wert moved up on Ike Brown's bunt before Stanley delivered the game-winner off Steve Hamilton.

The win went to Tom Timmerman, 2-1.

Jim Palmer pitched an eight-hitter to move Baltimore four games up on New York. Palmer, now 11-7, was backed by run-scoring singles from Dave Johnson, Frank Robinson and Andy Etchebarren.

Rich Reese pinch-hit a bases-loaded sacrifice fly to give the Twins their 10-inning win over the Royals and Jim Fregosi's two-run home run in the seventh, his 14th, provided the California Angels with their margin of difference over the Brewers.

Carl Yastrzemski observed his 300th consecutive game for Boston with a two-run home run in the seventh, his 18th of the season, and George Scott made his ninth a similar shot in the same frame to beat the Senators.

Rollie Fingers, Paul Lindblad and Jim Grant combined for a four-hit shutout win by the A's over the White Sox. Sal Bando singled in one Oakland run and Bert Campaneris spanked his 11th home run with a runner on in the ninth.

Lady Linksters Begin Race For Open Title

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UPI)—Defying temperatures of over 100 degrees, eight former Women's U.S. Open titleholders headed by defending champ Donna Caponi began their 72-hole chase today to join the elite circle of lady golfers who have won more than one Open crown.

The former winners were among a record list of 127 hopefuls—76 professionals and 51 amateurs—trying for the $5,000 top money and the carload of prestige that goes with the title.

Three of 11 former Open winners in the field have won the crown more than once. Mickey Wright and Betsy Rawls will be trying for their fifth title and Louise Suggs is going for No. 3.

Althea Gibson Darben, former Wimbledon and U.S. Open tennis champion who made her best showing on the pro golf tour in losing a playoff last week, said the 100-degree heat could be a factor in determining the winner.

"It's like last year's Open at Pensacola," she said. "It's so hot and humid you don't even feel like swinging a club."

Susie Maxwell Berning, a native of Oklahoma City who won the 1968 championship, is back for another try along with other one time winners, Patty Berg, Betty Jameson, Kathy Cornelius, Murle Lingstrom, Carol Mann and Sandra Spuzich.

All of the leading money winners this year are in the race for shares of the $30,000 total prize. Kathy Whitworth, Ladies Professional Golf Association Player of the Year the last four years, has more money in the bank with $18,197. Sandra Haynie and Carol Mann are close behind with $17,911 and $17,845 respectively while the hottest player of the past several weeks, Shirly Englehorn, is fourth with $16,389.

ARNOLD PALMER
. . . tops with the ladies

Fems Say Arnie Is The Greatest

ATLANTA (NEA) — The Ladies Professional Golfers Association recently polled its touring pros and asked them who their favorite male athlete was . . . and why?

The winner? None other than Arnold Palmer.

Of the 50 votes cast, Arnie received 15 of them to win hands down. Distant co-runnersup were Ben Hogan and Johnny Unitas with three votes each.

The reasons behind Palmer's selection were, as the Women's Lib movement might not say, typically female. Joyce Ann Jackson said she voted for him because of his "he-man looks." Debbie Austin said it was his "fabulous personality" that won her over. Carol Ellis merely stated that "he's got it."

The rest of the votes were scattered and the reasons behind them, well . . . they were somewhat surprising.

Sharon Miller voted for Bobby Layne because "he never gave up in a game." Jo Ann Prentice picked Tommy Bolt because of "his good swing" on the course. Jane Blalock selected Jean-Claude Killy because "of his complete mastery of his sport and his fearless attitude."

Peg Wilson cast her ballot for Jim Thorpe because "he was the greatest in all sports . . . I wish he had played golf."

Some of the others: Judy Rankin—"Stan Musial, because of the way he has handled success." Carol Mann—"Johnny Unitas, because he is a champion in and out of sports." Betsy Rawls—"Jack Nicklaus, because of the way he plays and conducts himself on the course."

And Joe Namath?

He was tied for last, with one vote.

PRO: Frank Beard On The Golf Tour Off My Chest

(Last of 12 Pieces.)
By FRANK BEARD

One of those beautiful sports writers really took off on me this morning. He wrote about how the professional golfers are all stuck on themselves and refuse to co-operate with the press, and he listed me and Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino and Jackie Burke as special offenders.

He thought he was being humorous, talking about how we'd only answer questions if our attorneys were present, but I didn't find it very funny. He said that he didn't need Burke for stories anyway, that Jackie was too old to be recognized by anybody, I think if Burke gets his hands on the guy, he'll kill him.

I know we need the press out here, but sometimes they get a little carried away. They can't seem to make up their minds whether they're God or Arnie is.

Some friends of mine took me to see "Oh! Calcutta!" tonight. I wanted to keep my mind off golf, but that was ridiculous. I'd never been to the theater in New York before — I think the only show I'd ever seen was "Brigadoon" in Dallas — but I'll tell you, if "Oh Calcutta!" is typical, I haven't been missing a thing. You sure don't come out humming the tunes. The whole cast ran around nude, and the show was miserable. It wasn't sexy. It wasn't funny. It wasn't even interesting. It was so dull that even with all those naked people strutting around, my mind kept drifting to golf.

On the way back to my room from the theater, I stopped and picked up a copy of the New York Daily News and read that five men were tied for second place in the Westchester Classic — Tommy Bolt, Lee Trevino, Orville Sikes, Harold Henning — and Ralph Beard. All the older sportswriters seem to remember my brother better than they remember me; half of them call me Ralph to my face.

At least they got the last name right.

I had a chat in the clubhouse with Larry Hinson the boy who beat me in the playoff in New Orleans. Larry always seems a little embarrassed by the fact that he beat me, but he knows I was trying to cut his throat just as he was trying to cut mine. He wanted some advice. He has been offered a contract by one of those big management agencies that handle a lot of athletes, from golfers to football players, and he wanted to know what I thought of it. I told him I'm opposed to those kinds of setups; I think most of them just rob the athletes blind, just take their percentage and run.

"Larry," I said, "if you do it, don't get yourself locked into one of those long-term deals. 'Cause if you win a major tournament, you will have so many offers you won't need anybody to look out for you. And if you don't win a major tournament they're not going to do anything for you, anyway."

Art Wall walked over.

"You gave him some good advice, Frank," Art said. "I've always stayed on my own, and maybe I've missed a few dollars that way, but I've made a lot of friends and I've never had anybody high-pressuring me."

Taylor Nets Semis

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Roger Taylor's fan club slumbered fitfully on the pavement outside the gates of this mecca of tennis Wednesday night, ready to dash for the free standing room of the center court today to join the hometown crowd in cheering the handsome Briton in his semifinal against Australian Ken Rosewall.

"I've never even won a set off Rosewall," said Taylor, who has played the 1954-56 Wimbledon finalist three times this year. "I've got to serve really fantastically well to have a chance. But I'm not disheartened about it."

The burly Briton, the 16th and last seed, brought the house down with his 6-3, 11-9, 12-10 quarter-final victory Wednesday over America's last hope, ninth-seeded Clark Graebner of New York City.

Spain's Andres Gimeno will be another underdog taking the court. He plays the 1967 Wimbledon winner and No. 2 seed John Newcombe of Australia in the day's other semifinal match.

The good-natured Gimeno said he doesn't have the "killer instinct" of such players as Pancho Gonzalez. But he didn't need it Wednesday in finishing off the unseeded Australian Bob "Nails" Carmichael, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4.

In the other major action Wednesday, Australia's Margaret Court and Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., the top two seeds who won the title five times between them since 1963, qualified for the ladies singles final Friday.

Mrs. Court, the 1963-65 winner, overcame an ankle injury suffered in a quarter-final Monday, to trounce Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1 in 50 minutes. Mrs. King, bidding for her fourth Wimbledon crown, beat unseeded Francoise Durr of France, 6-3, 7-5.

Cardinal Errors Help Cubs Snap Losing Streak With 5-0 Triumph

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

When the Chicago Cubs snapped their losing streak Wednesday night, it was because the St. Louis Cardinals started throwing the ball around like Little Leaguers. Combined with a four-hitter by Ferguson Jenkins, the result was a 5-0 victory for the Cubs.

Jenkins and Rookie Jerry Reuss were hooked up in a 0-0 duel in the seventh when the Cubs got runners to second and third with one out. Paul Popovich then grounded to second baseman Julian Javier and the fun started for the Cubs.

Catcher Joe Torre retrieved a wild throw from Javier and threw to Reuss who was covering the plate. But his throw hit the runner for the second error on the play. Two runs scored on the two errors and Popovich wound up on third and the Cubs were on their way to a four-run inning that wrapped up the game.

The Cubs, who were 4½ games ahead of the National League's East Division when their slump started, are now 3½ back in a third-place tie with the Cards. Pittsburgh is in second, a game behind the New York Mets and the division could feature the tightest race in the majors this year.

In other games, Pittsburgh edged New York 4-3, San Francisco drubbed San Diego, 12-7, Montreal swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 11-1 and 4-1, Cincinnati routed Atlanta 9-2, and Los Angeles beat Houston, 6-3.

In the American League, Boston beat Washington, 6-5, Baltimore blanked Cleveland, 3-0.

Clay To Box For Charity

NEW YORK (UPI)—A familiar face will be in the rin gJuly 9 at Charleston, S.C. for a charity exhibition fight.

Former heavyweight champion Cassius Clay will don his fighter's garb for the first time since June 15, 1967, when he fought an exhibition against Al "Blue" Lewis and Orvile Qualls, to put on a charity exhibition against Jeff Merritt from Miami, Fla.

Clay, 28, who had his title taken away from him when he refused to report for induction in the U.S. Army is expected to utilize the fight as a launching pad for a possible title fight against Joe Frazier in Detroit in September.

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Daily Living Still Goes On

Sometimes it seems that life today is too full of crises to be enjoyable, at least if you are a person who cares at all about what happens to the United States and to the world.

Vietnam and the rest of Indochina, the Mideast, racial clashes, the arms race, poverty and pollution, increases in crime — these and other problems weigh heavily upon the mind and conscience of many Americans.

But daily living still goes on everywhere, and once in awhile, perhaps, it is healthy to take a look at the events that in any given week may occupy the attention of an American community.

Take Hazleton, Pa., a community of about 32,000 men, women and children, an unknown number of dogs, somecats, many goldfish, quite a few turtles and maybe a few gerbils. Look at what Hazleton was doing around the middle of June:

—Four thousand Hazletonians attended the crowning of the Polish Summer Festival queen, Kathryn Gayle Sobol, and a fireworks display.

—An antique auto show by the Hazleton Area Antique Auto Club drew a good list of entries and many admiring spectators.

—Boy Scout Troop 12 of St. Joseph's Church held a bake sale, proceeds to buy tents and other camp equipment.

—The third annual Sugarloaf Valley horse show and bazaar saw a lively assortment of trained animals and riders, with afternoon and evening entertainment as a sideline.

—The eighth grade of an elementary school graduated in the evening, following religious observance and breakfast that morning.

—A youth group held its annual car wash, and the Hazleton Rotary Club inaugurated its new president while members' wives applauded.

—Cub Scouts took a ifeld trip, and Hazleton State General Hospital School of Nursing "capped" 25 women and two men.

—The 1945 Hazleton High School graduating class met to plan its 25th reunion, and a resident of nearby Minersville, Pa. caught a state record black crappie fish in the Sweet Arrow Lake (it was 29 inches long).

Now none of these events shook the world, or even jiggled it a little. But, in their way, they were important.

Because the world, war-torn and deteriorating as it may seem at times, is made up of "little people" like pretty Kathy Sobol, antique car fanciers, Boy Scouts and Club Scouts, eighth grade graduates, Sugarloaf Valley equestrians, Rotarians, and men who like to fish for crappies.

Whether we live in Hazleton, Pa., Dallas, Pampa, Befors or cut in the country, we somehow find our lives being enlivened or saddened by the little events that we share. We do what we can, if poossible, to affect the major events of our time, but when it comes down to everyday reality, family, and immediate surroundings are what we most often give the highest priority.

And would anyone have it any other way?

Getting Unhooked

Loud complaints have been made on the floor of Congress during the last session relative to costly subsidy payments to farmers in the form of price supports — a heavy burden for taxpayers. It is ironic that not only taxpayers are complaining, but so are the farmers, who would like nothing better than to get "unhooked" from the present Federal boondoggle.

Mr. Charles B. Shuman, speaking before the 50th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation — an organization he has served as President for the past fifteen years — declared that "it is a very sorry state of affairs to have caused farmers to be dependent upon government money for so much of their income."

"It cannot be continued," said Mr. Shuman, "if there is to be a good future for farmers. Consumers and taxpayers look upon these payments in the same light as they look upon welfare payments to the poverty stricken. Many farmers are hooked on payments because the government imposed price in the market has been depressed to such a low level that their only hope of covering production expenses is to add the payments to the market price."

The solution, said Mr. Shuman, is not to continue payments, but to find a way to get unhooked. And he listed three steps to change directions:—

First, he said, the unsuccessful attempts to control production by government management must be terminated. He cited facts and figures to show that the government controls have been worse than useless.

Second, said Mr. Shuman, government funds that have acted as a ceiling to undercut fair market values must be phased out. And third, welfare-type direct payments in lieu of competitive prices must be phased out.

While recognizing that getting unhooked from the present federal farm program will not be altogether easy, Mr. Shuman stated that making the transition to a market price agriculture should not be too difficult once the Congress has agreed on the objective of phasing out government management in agriculture.

"The time for a change is long past due," said Mr. Shuman. "It's time to rid the U.S. of welfare state policies and philosophies. Time to abandon government policies that force farm families to depend upon welfare type subsidy payments for their income. Time to re-establish a free market agriculture with income derived from profits."

Scorpions On The Loose

One section of the Senate's version of postal reform has a few stingers in it.

It permits transmission by mail of live scorpions for use in research or antivenom production.

Postal employes are protected by packaging requirements. But what about passengers in airplanes, traveling with air mail?

Never fear. Only nonpassenger planes may be used for the scorpions. That's reassuring. A few scorpions loose on a flight to Miami would be more dangerous than a hijacker. Even a hijacker can be reasoned with.

UN CELEBRATION?

This year is the 25th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations in 1945. Elaborate plans are underway for celebrations built around the theme of "The United Nations — The Next 25 Years."

In reality, The United Nations has little to celebrate. During the 25 years of its existence, the UN has proved itself totally incapable of achieving the announced goal of its founding: preservation of peace. The UN has spent millions of dollars and set up a vast bureaucracy, but the world is no closer to genuine peace than it ever was.

The United Nations would scarcely be able to exist without the subsidies which the U.S. has given it. Our country has had to bear the major share of the expense of the UN, while other nations refuse to pay their assessments whenever they choose. As the UN contemplates "The Next 25 Years," it undoubtedly expects that our government will continue to support it financially, regardless of what other governments do.

This 25th anniversary of the United Nations should provide our government with an occasion for re-evaluating our relationship to the organization. Instead of joining in a celebration, we should face the fact that the UN, as presently organized, can accomplish almost nothing of benefit to the world. All it can do is persuade our country to surrender some of our sovereignty.

We must hope that amid the inevitable speeches of praise for the United Nations on its 25th anniversary some voices of common sense and realism will be raised to point out the truth.

By INJUN WOODY

Mr. Richnix is driving the Repubs in Washington crazy. He joyfully welcomed them when they got in, then showing high esteem for their convictions, has ignored them ever since.....

The Repub lawmakers are downright outraged at the President for holding onto his liberal advisers in the Bite House. This includes the Riponers, who have helped pave the way for some of the most atrocious legislative blunders and policies since Elbee Jay's fantastic schemes held sway.

The President avowed to end all this boondoggling — instead he has consistently put forward programmes that appeal to liberal Demos and union bosses.

The "welfare reform" he proposed for the lazies of America wouldn't replace any existing programmes such as public housing, food stamps, rent subsidies, etc., but would be grafted onto all these. In addition it would profer handouts to the people whether they work or not!

And that P.O. Gen. Wm. Blount. Why, he threw all scruples to the wind and fostered a postal reform plan that was actually crafted by the AFL-CIO! It opens the way for unionism of all fed employes, by compulsion! If you think mail is slow now, wait until the unions take over.....

But who can remember the promises to sack such boondoggles as Model Cities, the OEO, Economic Development Admin.? I guess nobody, but me.....

When one blind party attempts to lead another blind party, mebbe we need a third party, though lame, to show the way.....

Wit And Whimsy

An American residing in Mexico decided to furnish his home with furniture that was hand-made by Indian carpenters who were masters of their craft. Visiting a small shop, he found a chair that was not only comfortable but reasonably priced, so he asked the man to make a dozen for him.

The carpenter, a little disgruntled at this request, said:

"The senior knows, of course, that if I make more than one, I charge much more for each chair."

The American: (puzzled)—I don't understand, in my country it costs less if one buys in quantity. Why do you charge more.

The carpenter:—Because, senor, it is much too boring to make 12 chairs exactly alike.

Distrust Of Government At All Levels Staggering

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Nothing so stresses the mood of distrust which afflicts this disheveled nation than the rumor, long since scotched, that President Nixon was studying the idea of canceling the 1972 election to avoid foreseeable radical disruptions.

Competent newsmen have laid out the anatomy of this rumor, insofar as it is traceable. It appears to have been born in New York City (where else?) and to have found its way into the gossip columns of an established national news organization.

From there the yarn, rooted in the notion Nixon had asked the "think-tank" Rand Corporation to study the matter, sped to campuses where radical dissidents prefer the ease of rumor and slogan to the hard quest for reality.

Then, back to New York, where quivering emotion is felt by radicals and some doctrinaire libegals to be man's highest attainment. Writer Jack Newfield, never a man to miss a chance to exalt irrationality, picked up the tale. The rumor had found its most natural home in the big town.

Weeks ago, I was at a Sunday afternoon party in a fairly plush old home in one of New York's affluent suburbs. A gray-haired man of substantial means sidled up, narrowed his eyes into conspiratorial slits, and asked me:

"Aren't you afraid in Washington?"

I said no, that I tried to be careful and stay away from areas where chances were high that one might get bopped on the head. He shook his head and added:

"That's not what I mean. I mean, afraid of fascism?"

When those words tumbled from the lips of that seemingly gentle-spirited liberal New Yorker, I saw as never before the chasm that has opened up in this country. The shopworn, "generation gap" (when in history was there not one?) does not begin to get at it.

Distrust of government at all levels, from the White House down, is simply staggering.

One can argue, with weight and plausibility, that Lyndon Johnson's secretive ways in the presidency gave the doubts a huge shove and that President Richard Nixon, barricaded in edgy isolation while men like Vice Presiden Agnew chop cooly at his adversaries, has not spurred new trust.

You can eaisly, too, that the government's troubles in coping with a controversial war, with high-flaring racial animosities, and with a confused, enlarging mass of young folk further magnify the dilemma.

Yet you don't have to give government any strong points on credibility, especially in recent years as it has grown even larger and more self-protective in the face of baffling problems, to note there is another side.

As historian Andrew Hacker observes in his new book, "The End of the American Era," this nation was founded, truly, in mistrust of government. From the beginning, people in all walks have scorned it. Intellectuals, so often able to detect something better on a foreign shore, took a powder in the late 19th century when their influence on U.S. public life could have been crucial. We were forming the modern America right then.

In the speech John Gardner never got to deliver to the Illinois Constitutional Convention at Springfield in mid-May, he got to the heart of it. For one thing, he ripped into the phony dissidents who justify disruption by saying "we tried working within the system," when in fact most have not even made token effort.

But this bigger point was really Hacker's. Said Gardner:

"We have typically scorned politics and neglected the political process."

It is a sheer disgrace that in New York State, where the distrusters of government shout at frenzied pitch, Paul O'Dwyer in 1968 was named U.S. Senate nominee by less than 7 per cent of the state's 3.5 million registered Democrats. The total turnout barely surpassed 20 per cent. Habitually, Americans yawn at primary time and then moan in November about the two choices they are "given."

Right now some of New York's steamy liberals are hollering "Impeach Nixon." But in 1968 many sat on their hands and clutched their money when their only real alternative, Hubert Humphrey, was floundering.

We Americans earn the untrustworthy governments we get.

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

More Susceptible to TB If Test Is Positive

Q—How does a positive tuberculin skin test look? Is it serious?

A—Within 24 to 72 hours after the tuberculin is introduced into the skin an area of thickened reddened skin 6mm or more in diameter is seen. This does not mean that you have active tuberculosis — only that at one time in your life you had the disease. It could have been either mild or severe but in either case, you are more susceptible to the disease than a person whose test is negative.

Q—How does one get tuberculosis? How can it be prevented? Can it be cured?

A—The most usual way the disease is acquired is by inhaling the minute droplets exhaled in coughing, laughing or talking by a person with active tuberculosis or by kissing such a person. The chief means of prevention is early recognition of persons with active tuberculosis and their treatment in a sanitarium.

Although treatment must be prolonged (18 to 24 months), the disease can be cured with modern drugs. Relapses often occur, however, in persons who fail to get sufficient treatment or fail to report for periodic checkups after they appear to be cured.

Q—I have tuberculosis and am taking Pasalate and isoniazid. Will they cure this disease? What are their side effects?

A—These drugs will cure you if the treatment is carried on long enough. Isoniazid may cause dizziness, drowsiness, headache and nausea. Pasalate should not be taken by anyone with a kidney, liver or stomach ailment.

Q—What effect does alcohol have on a person who has tuberculosis?

A—Since such a person needs all the strength and resistance he can build up to combat his disease, he should avoid alcohol. Excessive use of alcohol interferes with proper nutrition. Furthermore it is the cause of many tuberculous patients failing to take their disease seriously and failing to continue treatment until they are completely cured.

Q—A man who lived in our apartment building was hospitalized for a year for tuberculosis. His apartment was never fumigated. Now he is cured and has come back. Is there any danger of getting tuberculosis from his apartment?

A—No. Fumigation is not required.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of the Pampa News. While Dr. Brandstadt can't answer individual letters, he'll answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Who Really Sidetracked Penn Central Financing?

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Congressional opposition derailed the Nixon Administration's rescue plan for the Penn Central railroad, but the administration's often faulty congressional liaison can be credited with an assist.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, is generally said to have blocked the plan. No one, for or against the plan for federally guaranteed Penn Central loans, is going to dispute that analysis now.

Patman has been the sharpest critic of the bail-out plan. He held out against it when Penn Central officials made a last-ditch appeal to him the day after the Pentagon announced that it was withdrawing from the previously announced arrangement under which the Navy was to guarantee $200 million in loans for the hard-pressed railroad.

That $200 million was to be a first installment on some $750 million in federal guarantee assistance for Penn Central and other railroads. Under the administration's plan, Congress was to provide authority for the Department of Transportation to make the additional loan guarantees.

At the Capitol it is being noted that Patman alone has not, in the past, been an insurountable obstacle for White House initiatives. Nor was Patman in a strategic position to block the Defense Department involvement in the initial guaranteed loans.

There are strong indications Rep. George Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, was the leader among other influential lawmakers who less vocally protested the Pentagon's involvement in the plan.

THE UNINVITED — Some time ago, when the plan was still being privately discussed by administration officials, Mahon got wind of it. Long a power in Pentagon operations, as the long-time head of the House military appropriations subcommittee, Mahon called a closed-door meeting and sharply questioned the Defense Department's involvement.

When the plan was ready to be announced, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe made a great show of consulting Congress about the arrangement. He met with the Republican and Democratic leadership of the House and Senate. Also present were top members of the Senate and House Commerce and Banking Committees.

Perhaps because of Mahon's previously expressed opposition, however, the leaders of the congressional appropriations committees were NOT present at the briefing session. Neither were the leaders of the House and Senate Armed Services Committees, though the Defense Department's guarantee was the keystone of the administration plan.

It is now widely reported that the Pentagon was never enthusiastic about the bail-out operation and about the Defense Department's role. That may be true, although the Defense Department was still ready to sign the day before the plan was formally abandoned.

What is certain is that the Armed Services and Appropriations committees were not in on the congressional conferences, though they were "informed" at the staff level. Such powerful lawmakers as Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S. C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Sen. John C. Dennis, D-Miss. his Senate counterpart, were in this outsider category.

Small wonder that they, as the Pentagon's top congressional watchdoge became suspicious, with Mahon, of the Defense Department's involvement in a rescue operation for the railroad subsidiary of an affluent U.S. corporation.

MORE DIFFICULT — A look at the government's other current bail-out operation is pertinent — here. That one involves an attempt to keep Lockheed Aircraft in business to complete the contract for making the giant C5A cargo plane.

Coincidentally that plan also involves the sum of $200 million. The money is included in the Defense Department authorization bill as a "contingency" item, to be spent under that contract so that it will help protect Lockheed against the threat of bankruptcy.

David Packard, deputy secretary of defense, earnestly urged the House and Senate armed services committees to approve the Lockheed contingency fund. Both committees have done so, and the provision has already cleared the House.

It Works In Philadelphia

By PAUL HARVEY

Philadelphia has all the potential for crime of any major city yet Philadelphia has the lowest crime rate of all our nation's big cities.

Anybody in Philadelphia can tell you why with two words: Frank Rizzo. While our nation is shopping for an eventual replacement for J. Edgar Hoover, let's consider the credentials of this candidate.

Philadelphia's police commissioner, Frank Rizzo, is a "rough cop." Yet a recent survey of that city's citizens shows more than four out of five think he's doing a good job, and only three out of 100 think he's doing a poor job.

No popular election in the city's history has ever been decided by such a lopsided margin; Frank Rizzo has more friends and fewer enemies than any Philadelphian in public life. How come?

When Rizzo took over in 1967 he said, "We're going to make our streets safe for anyone any time, especially for women and children."

In the years since, Philadelphia's crime rate has dropped from one of the highest to the lowest of the big 10 cities. There has not been a major riot since Rizzo.

Now he is urging reforms in the jail-bail procedure which he is confident will reduce his city's crime rate further.

Many professional criminals are repeaters, willing to gamble on the compassion of judges and the snail's pace of our judicial system.

The present bail system allows professional criminals, awaiting trial, to remain at large, committing additional crimes.

Commissoner Rizzo says last year in Philadelphia one out of every three persons arrested for homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault or burglary was free on bail for a prior offense at the time of his arrest.

At this moment, there are about 1,000 convicted criminals at large in Philadelphia — awaiting another trial in a higher court. And they will likely remain thus free for another year or more.

A recent sample study showed that 35 per cent of those released after conviction were rearrested for a new, often violent crime.

Commissioner Rizzo says repeaters among these men should remain in prison pending appeal. Pennsylvania's prisons are "virtually unpopulated." Though crime doubled in the 1960s, the number of Pennsylvanians imprisoned last year was half what it was in 1960.

Criminals are not being jailed. Of all criminals convicted last year in Philadelphia, only one in four has gone to prison. The other three are running around as free as you are.

More free, for you are at their mercy.

Some criminals have received as many as seven consecutive probation sentences.

Yet despite this legal leniency which would be enough to discourage most lawmen, an up-through-the-ranks cop-commissioner and his fiercely loyal men persist — with patience, toughness and restraint — to make their city the safest and their citizens more secure.

Good breeding is that quality enabling a person to wait quietly in line while the loudmouth gets the service.

Highlights And Sidelights From The State Capitol

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Associatio

AUSTIN, Tex.—A governor's committee has come up with proposals to withhold state money from segregated school districts and to create a Texas fair employment commission and department of housing.

Far-reaching recommendations in other areas were offered by the 50-member Governor's Committee on Human Relations which also urged that a permanent commission with increased funds and power be set up in the civil rights area.

A sub-committee panel was told there are 36 Texas school districts which have at least one all-Negro school. State funds finance about 80 per cent of school operations.

Dr. Abner McCall, president of Baylor University, Waco, led an unsuccessful fight to defeat the recommended cut-off of funds, arguing that the action would "punish children", not responsible officials. McCall said the remedy for segregated schools lies in federal courts.

All recommendations of the Committee, when finally drafted, will go to the Legislature, where many obviously will face cool reception. Among the proposals were these:

Adoption of state housing and building codes;

Open housing legislation and state aid on low-cost housing;

Review of school textbooks to eliminate those which are "culturally or historically biased;"

Free lunches in schools for needy;

A state minimum wage law in line with federal scales (now $1.60 an hour);

Broadened vocational-technical education;

Establishment of a civil grievance mechanism;

Review of methods of juror selection in trials to eliminate racial discrimination;

Better training for all police officers and more rigorous selection and review procedures for officers;

Study of more-humane crowd control methods, prompt punishment for police brutality, and strengthened community relations programs for police and prosecutors.

NEW VOTERS UNDER 21?—Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. calculates there could be as many as 395,000 voters under 21 added to Texas registration rolls if the federal 18-year-old vote act stands.

State's chief election offices cited the Bureau of Census and University of Texas studies estimating there are approximately 594,000 Texans who are over 18 and under 21. About 66 per cent of eligible voters of all ages now register and in general elections about 75 per cent of those registered actually vote.

Dies predicted the U.S. Supreme Court will rule on the constitutionality of the new federal act before January 1, its effective date. He said he hopes the ruling will be before October 1, start of the state's voter registration period for the 1971 voting year.

If there is no decision by that time, Dies said, problems will be created for registrars. In event the statute is ruled unconstitutional after October, tax assessors would have to go back and remove newly-added names of 18 to 21-year-olds.

COURTS SPEAK—U.S. District Judge Jack Roberts in Austin held that a suit for libel and slander brought by a former Richmond State School superintendent against state mental health-mental retardation officials posed no substantial federal question.

State has appealed to the U.S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans a June 12 ruling by Federal Judge Reynaldo Garza at Brownsville taking jurisidiction in Platoro Inc. suit claiming treasure it recovered from Padre Island shipwreck.

State Supreme Court set arguments for July 22 on whether irregularly scheduled tour-charter buses need state permits to operate outside city limits.

Federal court in Albuquerque granted a temporary order restraining New Mexico ranchers and cattle raisers from spraying insecticide toxaphene on 2,000,000 acres of land which is a portion of the Candaian River inter-state watershed from which 11 Texas cities get their water supply in Moore, Hutchinson and Potter Counties.

State Supreme Court held that a firm that circulated an erroneous report of bankruptcy about a Midland man was not responsible for damages.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin is appealing a Dallas federal court decision that Texas' abortion laws are unconstitutional.

AG OPINIONS—Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System has no statutory authority to fix enrollment limits for public colleges and universities, Attorney General Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

Texas Department of Corrections is authorized to make application for apermit to conduct a barber school and receive a license on meeting rules.

Sheriff of Harris County is authorized to seize goats running at large in the county and impound them at fee.

APPOINTMENTS—Raul Rinerina Jr. of Brownsville and Dr. Joe W. May of Edinburg were named to Pan American College, Edinburg, Board of Regents by Gov. Preston Smith.

Governor reappointed Gilbert Gresham of Centerville and Dr. Jess Boyd Heath of Madisonville to the Trinity River Authority Board of Directors; Dr. John T. King of Austin to the Governor's Committee on Aging and named Jack H. Drake of Weslaco to the Good Neighbor Commission of Texas.

PATROLMEN STAY—Governor Smith concurred in the Department of Public Safety's recommendation that Highway Patrolmen Jerry Byrd and Kenneth Stafford be retained on duty in the Mathis area.

Mathis City Council had asked that the patrolmen be removed for beating prisoners. San Patricio County grand jury later found the officers guilty of no wrong and handed them commendation for "excellent work."

Smith produced a thick file of eyewitness affidavits stating the officers were trying to restore peace and that the prisoner who was "slapped" was struggling and cursing.

Mathis Mayor Winston Bott took strong exception to the finding and said he would appeal to federal agencies for investigation.

FUNDS ALLOCATED—Criminal Justice Council has received another $5.3 million for anti-crime work in 1970. Council promptly granted $134,900 to be divided among 14 regional councils of government for training teachers for drug instruction program.

Grants of $9,600 each went to: Golden Crescent Council Of Governments, Victoria; Lower Rio Grande Valley Development Council, McAllen; South Plains Association Of Governments, Lubbock; East Texas COG, Tyler; Coastal Bend R.P.C., Corpus Christi; Nortex R.P.C., Wichita Falls; Permian Basin Law Enforcement Planning Committee, Odessa; Brazos Valley Development Council, Bryan; Southeast Texas R.P.C., Beaumont; Panhandle R.P.C., Amarillo and the Heart of Texas COG, Waco.

North Central Texas COG, Arlington, will receive two grants of $9,700 each and El Paso COG one for $9,900.

Six other grants to be made later will increase the total to $196,000.

Yarborough Says Senate Vote On Hospital 'A Great Achievement'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., said Tuesday the Senate's vote overriding President Nixon's veto of the hospital construction bill shows Congress' willingness to play a role in setting the naiton's priorities.

"The Senate's vote this afternoon is a great achievement," he said. "It shows the country that the Congress of the United States is interested first and foremost in the health of the country and that it is interested in re-establishing itself as a co-equal branch of government."

The Senate voted 76-19 Tuesday to pass the $2.7 billion hospital bill over Nixon's veto. It was the first overriding of a President's veto in 10 years.

"The Senate must assert its role in determining national priorities," Yarborough said. "We cannot sit and decry the President's sense of priorities with his low interest in education and health programs and then not stand up and insist upon adequate attention for the health needs of this country."

Yarborough said the bill, which both houses passed unanimously earlier this year, is the most comprehensive hospital construction program ever passed. The bill provides a three-year program involving $2.76 billion in grants and low interest loans to the states for building hospitals, nursing homes, hospital emergency rooms and outpatient clinics.

"The bill also provides for the modernization, remodeling and enlargement of present facilities," the senator said.

He said the Senate had to override Nixon's veto "to meet our obligations to bring better health care to the people. We cannot stand by and let the President wreck a program of federal assistance to the states for hospital construction."

To allow the veto would mean a much greater shortage of hospital beds and other facilities, Yarborough said.

ATTRACTS ATTENTION

MANHASSET, N.Y. (UPI)—A $30,000 eight-carat diamond on the finger of Mrs. Edythe Gottlieb attracted some undesired attention Tuesday.

The 48-year-old woman from Kings Point told a detective that a man forced his way into her car, handcuffed her to the steering wheel and made off with the ring.
