RIO DE JANEIRO, June 8.—Brazil plans to withdraw from the league of nations and concentrate her efforts to strengthen the Pan-American union and the development of an American league of nations, it was asserted here unofficially Tuesday.

Backed by a press that is unanimous in its demand for withdrawal Brazilian officials are believed to have determined on such action no matter what inducements may be offered by the league for reconsideration.

One afternoon newspaper, A Noite, says that Brazil, once divorced from the league, can follow her traditional policy of "America for the Americans." Opposition newspapers declare that Brazil should have withdrawn when the United States refused to join the league.

Plans for the withdrawal apparently have been settled for some time by the foreign ministry here. It was learned some time ago giving an extensive explanation of the Brazilian attitude regarding its demand for a permanent on the league council.

Replies have been received from Chile, Venezuela, Bolivia, Uruguay, Ecuador and Peru.

Officials said Brazil's withdrawal will result in the resignation of Epitacio Pessoa from the Hague court and Raul Fernandes from the post of legal adviser to the league.

GRADING AND BRIDGE
WORK ON HIGHWAY
7 TO BE UP

Press dispatches received at the Avalanche yesterday from Austin tell of plans of the Texas State Highway Department to open bids on June 29th for fourteen and nine tenths miles of grading and bridge work on Highway seven, Lubbock county, running from the south edge of the Lubbock townsite to Slaton.

Plans for the work were prepared in the division office of the highway department here by County Resident Engineer B. K. Garrett, but late yesterday Mr. Garrett had not received official notification of plans to receive bids for the work.

Interest in the highway is intense here due to the wholesome effects its immediate construction would have on traffic conditions between Lubbock and Slaton, the principal towns of this county.

Much complaint about the condition of the road between the two Lubbock county towns has been registered during recent months, but highway men indicated that because the grading and bridging contract has been expected for some time they felt it unwise to spend money on work that would be included in that contract.

Two o'Clock Curfew Rule Shocks New York's Night Clubs Owners To Protest

By United News

NEW YORK, June 8.—Things are coming to such a pass that pretty soon a New Yorker, when he wants to have a wild night out, will have to run down to Philadelphia or up to Boston.

Police Commissioner McLaughlin has decided that if New York can not be made a nine o'clock town, it can be at least a two o'clock town, and has ordered his stalwart, blue coated minions to close up all night clubs and cabarets at 2 a. m. sharp.

The commissioner says bluntly that "all decent people should be out of such places by 2 o'clock." He proposes to arrest the others.

Following so closely upon the banishment of one Broadway revue and the censoring of other theatrical productions, the new closing order has caused New Yorkers to look around in amazement and ask:

"What's the old town coming to, anyhow?"

For this city, with its reputation as a regular, six-cylinder sort of metropolis to be closed up promptly at 2 a. m. is nothing short of revolutionary.

Proprietors of night clubs are organizing a firm protest against the order. They differ with Commissioner McLaughlin as to the proper bed time for what he calls "decent people." To the night club folk, a paying customer is always "decent."

HOUSTON GRAND JURY TO EXTEND PRISON
PROBE

By United Press

HOUSTON, June 8.—Two former guards at the city prison farm here were summoned before the Harris county grand jury late Tuesday as the inquisitorial body continued its investigation into the death of Wiley Zeigler, a prisoner, alleged to have been beaten to death last Friday.

W. T. Hill, who was indicted on a charge of murder in connection with Zeigler's death early Tuesday, may be released from the county jail within 24 hours under bond of $10,000, according to his attorney, J. M. Johnson.

No information was forthcoming from the secret sessions of the grand jury other than the information that it would continue its quiz of witnesses Wednesday.

After returning an indictment of murder against W. T. Hill, guard charged with beating Wiley Zeigler to death, the inquisitorial body began an investigation of conditions at the farm prior to May 14, the date of Hill's employment there.

Hold Negroes For Shreveport Crime

CORSICANA, June 8.—The jury in the case of Fred Tilford, negro, being tried for the murder of Prewitt Dukemeir returned a verdict of guilty at 5:30 Tuesday afternoon after five minutes deliberation. The penalty was assessed at death.

The date of the electrocution was set for July 9.

Dukemeir was slain May 25th and his body sunk into the waters of a muddy creek near here. Tilford was taken into custody when the youth's revolver was found in the negro's room.

Trial of the case started Monday.

Think Dallas Loot Went Air Route

By United News

DALLAS, June 8.—Dallas police have secured a verbal statement from one of the two suspects arrested last night in connection with the daylight hold up of the Jefferson Bank and Trust company last week, Chief of Detectives Gunning announced Tuesday evening.

The man, according to Gunning, admitted that he piloted a plane in which he and the other suspect went to Houston. There the plane was sold and they both returned to Dallas. One of the suspects was recently pardoned from the state penitentiary where he was serving a sentence for robbery, police said. Part of the loot is believed concealed in Houston.

Military Appointments Add Interest Bridge Games at Party Given Tuesday Afternoon Compliment Miss Hoffman

Dr. Nan L. Gilkerson and Miss Johnnie Gilkerson were hostesses at one of the most unusual and delightful parties of the summer Tuesday afternoon when they complimented Miss Frances Hoffman, bride-elect of Richard L. Douglas, with a military bridge party at the Pagoda Tea shop.

The decorations were of strictly a military character, the center of interest being an officers' tent with the stars and stripes floating over it. The games began at the crack of a pistol, and two exciting hours were spent defending and attacking forts in true military style. Flags were given each squad winning, at the end of ten games the fort which has been garrisoned by Misses Clara Lane, Margaret Smith, Elizabeth Clarke and Evelyn Posey was flying ten flags, showing that it had won every battle. Each winner was presented with a marshmallow toasting fork. At each change of tables the gun was fired by Miss Vonille Gilkerson, who was time keeper.

The honorees chosen colors, orchid and green, were used in all the appointments of the luncheon tables and in the prizes.

After the games Miss Hoffman was presented the key to the quarters and when she opened the door found a lovely gift from the hostesses. She was presented a beautiful clear green cut glass covered dish for candies and bonbons, the handle being fleur de lis tied with orchid tulle.

The refreshments were served on large trays bearing green ice, orchid iced cakes, and perfectly grand sandwiches, with green filling, tied with orchid ribbons. Salted nuts were served from maidly little baskets the handles being of orchid tulle. The hostesses were assisted by their sisters, Vonille and Afton Gilkerson.

Besides the honoree, Miss Hoffman the guest list included Mesdames Frank Jones, Joe Elmer, Carl Roberts Jr., Kenneth Kinslow, W. E. Powell, Murray Jones, Veltan Sparks, Percy Spencer; Misses Clara Lane, Blanche Bacon, Sam Padgett, Ruth Dunn, Mary Alice Stanton, Evelyn Posey, Margaret Smith, Mildred Street, Ruth Stanton, Alice Johnson, Virginia Johnson, Eula Roberts, Tyler Lee Knight, Elizabeth Clarke, Mabel McClelland, Margaret Bennett, Ophelia Steele, Lela Moore and Marie McDonald.

LEAGUE TO CARE FOR WOMEN DENIED BY AMERICAN LAW

BY HENRY WOOD
United Press Staff Correspondent
GENEVA—The League of Nations has come to the rescue of women of all countries, who as a result of marriage to American men have become international delinquents from the standpoint of nationality, by reasons of the Cable law.

It has devolved on the League to assume the task of trying to provide that no woman, of whatsoever race or country shall be left without a nationality, merely because she happened to marry an American.

To this end the League has submitted to all of the governments of the world the draft project of an international convention on nationality in which provision is made for women marrying foreigners.

In the event the majority of the nations reply favorably, an international conference will be convoked by the League for the purpose of launching and signing the proposed convention. It will then become part of the system of codified international law which the League is starting in to build up.

The necessity for articles in the law covering the nationality of women who marry foreigners was rendered necessary largely by the so-called Cable law in the United States.

Previous to the adoption of this law the majority of the countries of the world accepted the rule that a woman marrying a foreigner acquired at once the nationality of her husband, losing at the same time that of her native country.

With the enactment of the Cable Law, however, which permits foreign wives of American citizens to acquire American citizenship only after a year's residence and regular application for naturalization a veritable state of international anarchy was created for foreign women, marrying American men abroad.

In the majority of countries the woman who married an American lost immediately her native nationality, but failed to acquire that of her husband. This rendered it impossible for her to get a passport or to be entitled the protection of any country whatsoever.

She became, in effect, a woman without a country. Hundreds of these cases have occurred since the enactment of the Cable law.

In the second place there was created the difficult question of the nationality of children resulting from such a marriage. As the mother had no nationality, the child could not claim that of its mother, and if it is born abroad it has no claim on that of its father's.

To meet this situation the League has asked the entire world to accept the ruling that a woman marrying a foreigner shall only lose her native nationality on condition that at the moment of her marriage she is regarded by the law of the state to which her husband belongs as having

Builders Class Elects Officers Monday Evening

Miss Lilla Boone was elected assistant teacher of the Builders class of the Methodist Sunday school at the class meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. A. T. Stewart.

Mrs. P. W. Horn is teacher of this class. Class officers were elected as follows: Mrs. Vernon Brown, president; Mrs. Herbert Maxwell, vice president; Mrs. W. J. Miller, secretary; Miss Daisy Baskin, treasurer; Mrs. Tom Foster, reporter.

Eighty six visits had been made by the visiting committee during the past month, with a total of 361 during the last six months. The treasurer reported $76.94 in the bank.

After a series of piano selections and readings the hostesses served cream, wafers, and mints to about 25 members. The hostesses were Mesdames A. T. Stewart, Vernon Brown, Herbert Maxwell, Olen Stewart and Schoolcraft.

acquired the latter's nationality. In the cases of women who fail to acquire their husband's nationality through marriage and who are regarded by the laws of their country of origin to have lost their nationality by the reason of such marriage, they are to be entitled at least to a passport from the state of which their husband is a citizen.

As regards children born of such marriages provision is made that they can claim the right of nationality of the state in which they are born provided they are not entitled to the nationality of their parent's original countries.

The proposed law which was drawn up after profound study by Professor Kaufman of Warsaw, was finally cast into final form and approved by the League's Commission of International Law experts.

SUMMER STUDY IN ATMOSPHERE OF MUSIC

An institute of music education will be a feature of the summer session of Pennsylvania State College. Though intended primarily for teachers and supervisors of school music, for whom special campus accommodations have been provided, individual instruction in instrumental and vocal music will be available to academic students in the summer school.

The atmosphere will be dominated by musical. The curriculum has been carefully planned, and has the approval of the state department of public instruction. It carries approximately 78 credits of music and 60 credits of academic subjects, leading to the degree of bachelor of arts in the school of education.

COLLEGE EDUCATION NOTWITH- STANDING PARENT'S DEATH

Insurance to guarantee college education for a child is written on a parent or guardian by many insurance companies. Rates are very low, and family misfortune or death of the insured need not make a college education impossible for the child. To obtain lowest rates and greatest protection, policies should be taken out while the child is very young; rates are practically prohibitive after 15. In case of disability or death of the insured, the policy is considered paid, and money is held in trust until the child goes to college. It is then paid out over a period of four years at the rate of $50, $75, or $100 per month, according to terms of the policy.

PENNSYLVANIA PUPILS COM- PETE IN VOCATIONAL PROJECTS

Seven thousand Pennsylvania boys and girls competed in the second annual state-wide junior and senior vocational project contests sponsored by the vocational bureau of the State department of public instruction. In all 32 medals and 200 ribbons were awarded. A 17-year-old senior high-school boy received two gold medals. One of these, won over 321 competitors, was for the best potato project. For the second time he won a medal for the best fruit project, and besides made a project profit on his apple crop of $772. Nine farm boys and girls netted this year nearly $5,000 from their projects.

THREE THOUSAND BUILDINGS AIDED BY ROSENWALD FUND

Special dedication exercises marked the completion recently at Riverside, Walker County, Texas, of the three thousandth Rosenwald building. The Rosenwald Fund, established in 1917 to promote Negro education by aiding in the erection of school buildings and teachers' homes, is now in operation in 14 Southern States. During this time 2,883 school buildings and 111 teachers' homes have thus been built. In the number of teachers' homes Mississippi stands first, with 34. North Carolina, with 500, leads in school houses, and also in the total number of Rosenwald buildings erected, 514.

CHINESE WAR LORD ON MYSTERY TRIP

IS IN BERLIN, CLOSELY GUARDED ON SECRET MISSION OF SOME SORT

BERLIN, June 8.—General Feng Yu Hsiang, first of the three leading Chinese war lords to travel to Europe, is in Berlin on a secret mission.

Attempts of important European powers to shroud in secrecy the trip of the "Christian general" allegedly the friend of Bolshevist Russia, and recently a visitor in Moscow, have failed. Complete details of the trip of this man who a few months ago controlled the government of North China have been received from the best informed sources by the United News. The German foreign office has confirmed the fact that Feng sometime since received a German visa on his passport and it has been learned that Japanese here know last week of the Chinese general's approaching visit.

No matter what has brought Feng to Berlin—and his efforts in recent weeks have all appeared to be in harmony with the wishes of Russia—his arrival here from Moscow has assumed the character of a stirring detective romance. The plan to keep his trip a secret failed when Feng was recognized at the train. The extreme precautions taken to guard him are said to have resulted both from the confidential character of his mission and the fear that he might be assassinated.

POPULAR APPROVAL OF LARGE SCHOOL EXPENDITURES

Voters of St. Louis, Mo., have approved by an overwhelming majority a school tax rate of 85 cents. It is estimated that the income from this tax, with that from all other sources during the next four years, the period for which the tax is authorized, will be approximately $56,000,000. This election followed closely upon the approval by the board of education of Superintendent Madden's recommendation to expend more than $6,000,000 in building, and also $95,000 for curriculum revision during the present year.—H. HEDDA HOYT TALKS ABOUT THE THINGS THAT INTER- EST THE BUSY WOMAN OF 1926.

Fashion Notes

FASHIONS
By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, June 7.—The entire feminine world is at war against fat. The subject of avoidupois upon which women of all scales of life meet on common grounds. Everyone is reducing, cringing from dainty deserts and potatoes as a condemned man cringes from the noose. Were it not so pathetic it would be ridiculous.

Wherever women gather, whether over teasups at the Ritz or over the back yard fence, there is one absorbing topic—fat! One woman will tell you that she's lost 40 pounds by going without breakfast. That starts the subject of two meals a day. Her friend on right omits luncheon claiming that she is busiest during the middle of the day and that fat tissues are absorbed when one is working. Another woman's theory is that one shouldn't eat the evening meal as the system absorbs the food more readily while one is sleeping. And so it goes. There are very few women left in stylish circles with enough meat on them to cover a Norwegian sardine.

It is not becoming for all women to be thin. Youth can stand thinness since the flesh is firm enough to form a smooth covering for one's bones. Women past twenty-five usually find a little extra flesh clinging to the face at least. Anyone who has once been plump can not afford to grow too thin since the flesh becomes wrinkled and tends to sag, after reducing. Either we must keep thin at the start or reduce very gradually stopping whenever we detect a haggardness beneath the chin or on the cheeks. Many women are ill today through dieting too strenuously. The system requires a certain amount of storage flesh to combat disease. Slender persons are more susceptible to colds than are people with flesh.

Why are women at war with fat? Because the feminine world is striving to keep young, to keep maiden figures. Nobody loves a fat woman is a popular belief. On the other hand, no body loves a forty-five year old dancing cadaver even though she can wear a size sixteen dress and do the Charleston. Slenderness may be deceiving from a rear view but when we face the subject squarely we find that it's the bunk.

NEW EQUALIZATION LAWS IN TWO STATES

Legislation to promote equality of educational opportunity in every part of the State has been enacted recently in Georgia and in Tennessee. Georgia will provide a fund to supplement county school funds in counties not able to support adequate schools by a 5-mill local, or county, tax. This is in addition to the regular State school appropriation which is apportioned on school enrollment to the several counties of the State.

Fifty-three counties in Tennessee levied as much as 50 cents on the hundred dollars for elementary schools in order to share in the State equalization fund, so that their school term may be eight months. Seventy-three counties of the 95 will have the advantage of an eight-month school term.—School Life.

Students at Pennsylvania State College convicted of keeping or operating an automobile without special permit from college officers will be expelled for the remainder of the college year.

start of the day right, keeping closer in the minds of the delegates the mission of their coming. "All for Christ."

Tuesday morning, Rev. Mann of Wheeler, led the service. His topic was "A Purpose in Life." "We must walk," he said, "in the quiet ways if we are to hold a purpose clear, strong and burning in our hearts." Three classes are in session at the same hour through the morning. "The Devotional Study of the Gospel Book of Mark," "The Spiritual Life" and "Athletes of the Bible" are the 3 o'clock classes. Dr. E. E. White of the First Methodist of Lubbock is the faculty member for the second named. The study in this class this morning took up "A Life of Sonship." In his lecture he stressed the point that we are God's children. This was Christ's message, exemplified in his prayer beginning, "Our Father." "Christianity," he said, "is not so much doctrine as the life itself and while it is true that we are, we have to have a foundation for our faith in our laws and instructions of our ritual. It is even more important that we live the life of a Christian in our everyday associations. Sin reveals the filial relationship of God to us, when we sin we do not feel his love. Again, we are creatures of God, his children by that means, but we are twice his children by that acceptance of his spirituality."

Classes and business sessions followed until noon when dinner was served, which was followed by the quiet hour of complete rest and relaxation. The afternoon then was given over to committee meetings of the conference, and business meetings of conference officers' plans are made and being started through for the remainder of the week.

Perhaps the most beautiful of all the day's program was the Vesper service, at 7 o'clock in the evening. Just following supper, some hundred or more people formed a semicircle on the grass lawn beside the Main building, just as the sun had set and there with the shadows falling and the stillness of the evening around a short devotional service was held. Dr. White also led this service, and his talk was one to stir the consciousness of every listener "honesty and purity," was his topic and he applied it to the lives of all young people before he was being a priceless asset to anyone, at 8:30 then the platform hour was held. Rev. J. O. Haynes spoke at this time of "the paradoxes of a great life." With Christ as an ideal, he brought out three points whereby we might gauge our lives with lives of people as ourselves.

"The Way Up is Down He that Exalteth Himself Shall be Abased" was his first point. "Hindrances may be helps," witness Helen Keller of the present time and Jno. Milton the blind author of Paradise lost of time not so recent. Then life comes by death with a text of Phil. 2-9 Christ gave his life that we might gain it. He that saveth his life shall lose it but he that loseth his life for my sake shall have life everlasting. Immediately following prayer groups were held as the close of the day's work and lights were out in the dormitories at 10:30.

CHAUTAUQUA TICKETS AWARD TO TWELVE OF YOUNG PARADERS

Three hundred Lubbock kiddies took part in the Chautauqua parade here yesterday afternoon and were given hearty cheers as they filed through the business section.

Mrs. H. A. Davidson, Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, K. N. Clapp and Mrs. Holt judged the contest entrants in the parade and issued Chautauqua tickets as prizes to the following: Boosters: John Ray Robinson, J. L. Stinson and Mary Rose Edwards; Funniest costumes: Harold Dow, Norma Smith and Louie Hodges; Unique costume: L. J. Fann, Cleatus Richardson Overa Coffey and Pauline Smith. Attractive costume:

Bread and Water For Bootleggers

LINCOLN, Neb., June 8.—The "bread and water" diet has been revived in Nebraska to punish bootleggers. Judge Orville Chat sentenced four men to be fed nothing but bread and water for 40 days of a 60 day jail term. The quartet had pleaded guilty to dispensing liquor at a country dance.

An appeal was taken to the supreme court which upheld the sentence.

Texas Judge Has Resigned Bench

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, June 8.—Judge H. R. Wilson of the 13th judicial district forwarded his resignation Tuesday to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson from Graham, where court is now in session. It was said by friends of the judge that he will enter the law offices of Caragan, Britton, Morgan and King, who maintain offices both here and in Amarillo. It is expected to be several days before the governor names a successor.

Blue Law Fight Breaks Out Again

KANSAS CITY, Kans., June 8.—The ancient battle over the famous blue laws of Kansas has broken out again.

Four owners of motion picture theatres here who were arrested for operating their theatres on Sunday and are now awaiting trial declared Tuesday that they had decided to co-operate with the proponents of the blue laws.

"If Kansas City, Kansas, wants the blue laws enforced," they declared, "congregations can sing, without paid choir leaders. Soda fountain operators probably are not essential and neither are filing stations. The ministers who caused our arrest will be directed to extend their crusade."

The movie men will be tried June 17. If found guilty they will get behind the crusade with gusto.

THE HOGG CO-OPERATIVE REVIVAL AT SNYDER

SNYDER, June 8.—Large crowds are attending the Hogg Co-Operative revival which began last Sunday night. Four churches, the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Progressive Christian are co-operating in this revival and people are attending from all parts of the country. The meeting will continue for three weeks. Rev. Will B. Hogg of Memphis, Tenn., is doing the preaching, and he is a speaker of unusual ability.

MAKING SOLDIERS INTO GOOD CITIZENS

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—The United States army was described as an educational institution making soldiers into citizens, rather than a mere machine turning citizens into soldiers, by Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis at Washington University commencement exercises here today.

"Over 40 percent of our enlisted men spend at least part of their time in attending courses in our army schools or in performing duties which fit them directly for civil occupation after they leave the army," Davis said.

"I feel that to give some 45,000 citizens training in nearly 500 useful trades and professions is a real public service. Most of the men come into the army as raw recruits without much education and with little knowledge of any useful trade. Many of them leave it as trained specialists—disciplined, self-reliant, qualified for success in civil life."

General John J. Pershing, who began at West Point, and General James G. Harbord, who began as a private soldier, were cited as outstanding products of army education.

HUDLEN GOES TO INDIANS, NOT YANKS

WACO, Tex., June 8.—Announcement was made Tuesday by officials of the Waco club of the Texas league of the sale of Willis Hudlin, Waco's crack 19 year old hurler to the Cleveland American league team. The sale price was announced at $25,000 in addition to a pitcher said to be worth $10,000, and a short stop. Names of the pitcher and short stop are not given, but it is believed that the short stop will be Urban, now with the Rochester, N. Y. team. He will report to the Waco club at once, the pitcher is expected to come to Texas until next season, when Hudlin will report to Cleveland.

SICK HEADACHE

No Pleasure, Says Ohio Lady, to Go Places, Till She Took Black-Draught Which Brought Relief.

Longsville, Ohio.—"For years and years I suffered with severe headache," says Mrs. Jane Campbell, of this place. "It wasn't any pleasure for me to go places, for I came home with sick headache. If I went to church or to any social gathering or to town to shop, when I got back I would have those headaches and have to go to bed for a day or more, till I would just get out of heart and would not try to go."

"About 15 years ago I discovered that Black-Draught was good for these headaches. I began using it. I would take it two or three nights in succession if I felt the least bad, and it sure did wonders for me. It is about 14 years since I had sick headaches, and I can go places and really enjoy life. It surely is splendid."

Headache often is a symptom of constipation. The best relief is secured by treating the cause of the trouble and in such case many people have been greatly helped by the use of Theodor's Black-Draught.

Business Blocks Near Completion

J. J. Clements, prominent local building contractor, stated yesterday that the modern brick business houses being erected at the corner of 19th street and College Avenue for E. W. Elliott will be completed about the 15th of this month.

These buildings will cost about $15,000.

The modern brick business houses being built on Avenue K between Broadway and 13th street for M. B. Hiltburn will be completed July 1st, Mr. Clements said.

Mr. Clements has just started work on a duplex in the 2300 block on 16th street for Mrs. Cassie Adair which will be completed at a cost of approximately $10,000.

BEN FRANKLIN WAS ALSO A MUSICIAN

NEW YORK, June 8.—Benjamin Franklin has been made the patron saint of the United States music industry by the music industries chamber of commerce.

Franklin's musical activities extended to song writing, playing of the harp, guitar and violin and the invention of the armonica or glassy chords, which is now in the possession of the Metropolitan museum of art.

Mrs. Frank Starts To Vamp Jury

By United News.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.—The bombardment of one of those allegedly beauty proof juries began in Kansas City Tuesday when Mrs. Albin Frank, a slumberous blue-eyed beauty of olive complexion and Dutch descent, who is accused of plotting the murder of her husband, appeared in court dressed—as one flapper had it—"Like a million dollars."

All except four jurors had been selected on Monday before the alleged bombardment began, but it required all of Tuesday's session to choose those remaining four.

Stolen Car May Be Murder Clue

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 8.—Deputy sheriffs left here Tuesday night for Mathis, driving the automobile of Dr. J. A. Mathis which was found stored in a local garage here earlier in the day. A note was found in the car reading: "Store my car until I come for it.—J. A. Ramsey."

Police believe the note a forgery and that the slayers of Mathis drove the car to San Antonio and stored it.

THE UNDER SHEPHERD—"And Moses spake * * * Let the Lord * * * set a man over the congregation * * * that the congregation of the Lord be not as sheep which have no shepherd." Nu. 27:15, 16, 17.

MAKES LIFE WORTH WHILE

Anyone who casually reads the newspapers today cannot fail to be impressed by the remarkable instances of unselfish heroism exhibited by the average citizen in daily life. It is heart rending to read the weekly chronicle of murders, suicides and accidental deaths, but occasionally one runs across an incident that makes it worthwhile to read other harrowing details.

In Baltimore last week Mrs. Regina Embler, wife of Dr. Aaron Embler Professor at Johns Hopkins, her six year old invalid son and her maid were burned to death when they were trapped by flames in their home. The husband and father was badly burned in frantic efforts to rescue his wife and child. John Miller, a fire chief, knowing that the mother and boy were in a rear second floor room, climbed a ladder and entered the house. He crawled about the burning room seeking occupants but failed to find them before being driven from the room by the flames.

Later when water had checked the blaze, the bodies of the mother and her child were discovered in a front room. The body of the mother was on top of that of the boy. She had covered her son with her body in a final effort to protect him from the flames!

We might use this space to write editorials on subjects of more interest to the world at large and of more importance in the outlook of the average man, but the human race goes forward through the heroic sacrifices of its unselfish members. We know of no greater bravery than that exhibited by Mrs. Embler. Her husband and the two or three children, who were spending the night at the home of a friend on the occasion of the fire, have a right to cherish her memory as one of the bravest of the brave.

There is a comforting assurance that she did no more than millions of other parents in this country would do in the event that they were put to the test. Such bravery should be extolled.

FRANCE AND GERMANY ALLIES

Few people living during the World War expected to see voluntary co-operation between Germany and France by this time. Yet, some weeks ago, these two bitter foemen sat around a table for the purpose of regulating and controlling their exports of potash in order that the world, especially, might be compelled to pay a good price.

Last week there occurred in Luxembourg a quiet conference attended by many industrial leaders of France and Germany, and while the meeting had no official character it can be safely assumed that the conference had the approval of both governments.

Edwin L. James, wireless to the New York Times from Paris that the meeting was "of greater importance than many of the political conferences held in Europe in recent times." Mr. James further says that "it is no secret that the leaders believe that future prosperity for both France and Germany lies in a policy of co-operation, politically as well as industrially. It is no exaggeration to say that the week-end gathering at Luxembourg indicates the possibility of a business Locarno, backed by the captains of industry on both sides of the Rhine."

It is well known that the bitterest enemies will co-operate in the face of some other peril. What is the new peril which leads Germany and France together? Is it the hope of vast profits from trade combinations or the effort to meet strenuous competition by mutual assistance?

THE WORLD SHRINKS

The trip through the Suez or Panama canals from London to Tokyo is upward of 12,000 miles. By steamer to Canada, across, and again by steamer to Tokyo is about 11,000 miles. By the Trans-Siberian railways is 8,000 miles. By way of the North Pole it is only 4,600 miles. The time factor involved in the regular routes is in the neighborhood of 21 days; in the Polar route it is from 30 to 60 hours. As time has become the most important unit of measurement in travel, the trip by air over the Pole would reduce the distance from London to Tokyo to one-fourteenth of the normal time over existing routes. It is true that, at the present time, the hazard is great, but man is the hardest and most determined of all the animal kingdom. Man will not be denied. In the past, seemingly insurmountable obstacles have vanished before his iron will, and it is only reasonable to suppose that in time he will also conquer and tame the North and that his airships will ply in comparative safety from London, Paris and Rome to Tokio and Pekin. Within a hundred years the world has shrunk to less than a hundredth part of its former size, as represented by the time factor. By sail packet from London to Tokio was once a matter of months, with a danger element equal to that now attending the polar flight. It has shrunk from months to weeks, from weeks to days and from days to hours. The average person fails to grasp the full significance of this change. The majority of the world's population is grouped about the polar region. One of the great causes of war is lack of understanding and sympathy between scattered peoples. Every shortening of the processes and channels of communication and transportation brings the peoples of the earth in closer touch with each other and increases the required sympathy and understanding. The world advances with such bewildering rapidity these days that one is constantly at a loss to keep up, mentally, with the march of progress.

NO MORE ISOLATION

The changes in the condition of human life which have already been accomplished and which promise to be accomplished by the marvelous development in the past 20 years in the science of communication are literally incalculable. There is no more isolation—the very word threaten to become obsolete. The isolation of the country dweller is now a thing of the past and the changes in the life of the human race, resulting from this one thing alone, are only beginning to be glimpsed. The amelioration of the hardships of life in the country promises to reverse the tendency of population to crowd into cities and to again make us a nation of rural dwellers. Probably the most significant and far reaching effect of the development of communication may be found in the intellectual and moral progress of the race resulting from the increased facility with which ideas can now travel throughout the world. But the commercial value is also enormous, the communications in the United States alone being worth some millions of dollars a year.

FEDERATED WOMEN

The Federation of woman's clubs throughout the United States is the largest organization of women in the world, numbering upward of 3,000,000. But its size is not its greatest significance; it is a representative organization of home-making women constituting one of the chief forces in the world for the making of home ideals and civic righteousness. It is a vast seminary, a post graduate school, for the study of practical life, for the dissemination of information and the inculcation of high ideals. Its scope touches every department of family interest and of public welfare. A Cabinet officer is quoted as saying that "next to the government itself, there is no organization in America with greater potential power than the General Federation of Women's Clubs." It demonstrates, if nothing more, that women have a higher order of genius for organization.

A SUMMERTIME DANGER

With the approach of the summer camping and vacation season, it is timely that health officials are issuing warnings regarding the danger which may be met in the use of water for drinking and cooking purposes, which is found in springs or streams in camps or other places. Frequent tests of drinking water in cities and towns where water systems are maintained have practically eliminated any danger of typhoid fever from this source, but this can not be said of the water that is commonly found in camping places, especially if these places are used infrequently, and care has not been taken to examine the water supply. Water found in summer camps may be clear as crystal, yet it may contain germs which may have serious effects upon the person drinking it. Springs which appear to have their origin in safe places may be infected with germs from a source that is not easily discovered. It is wise not to take chances on contracting dangerous diseases when the exercises of judgement in keeping with medical knowledge may save lives, or at least avoid serious illness.

HELPING THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Very few citizens take time to think what the public school system means to the average child. Without free popular education many children would grow into adults without adequate provision for taking proper care of themselves in a business world based upon competitive manners.

We were talking to a prominent merchant of the city yesterday along the general subject of education. He did not have an opportunity to attend school for long, and yet we have talked with no one who appreciates more fully the value of an education not to his own child, but to the children of the other man. Hundreds of good citizens in this community would be unable to educate their children without free schools.

When we reflect upon the value of an education to a child we realize the thing that school taxes are paid for. When the citizen thinks only of the amount he has to pull from his pocket for the maintenance of the school system he exhibits a lack of the co-operative, unselfish spirit which must be the backbone of a successful republic.

CONSERVATIVE YOUTH

The president of Mount Holyoke College, in a recent address intimated that young girls are much more conservative than old women. She said that it was not uncommon to head a parent say, "I do not want my daughter unsettled." This, however, is not the great danger, but the real peril is to have the daughter settle down in a rut. One has only to try to interfere with some of the conventions of youth to find how rigidly they are adhered to. Youth is frequently a little dazed at the thought of life when maturity is reached and clings to conventions through a sense of safety. Old people who are sure of themselves are more adventurous.

Vacation Preparations

This and That

I am through with women; I can't understand them.
 Last Thursday I was walking up the hill with Marie. Marie is a nice girl, all her friends tell her so. We got confidential. "Tell me," she said, "my faults."

I thought to use tact. Flowery phrase after flowery phrase flowed from my lips. She stopped me in the middle. "You're lying to me," I hate you." And she walked on.

Last night I went on a date with Lenore. We got confidential. "Tell me," she said, "my faults."

I remembered Marie. I told her, "You nasty thing," she said, "I hate you," and she walked ahead. Whomell called them the fair sex? Wisconsin Octopus.

SEEMS TO BE A LOT OF ONE TRACK MINDS WHEN IT COMES TO SPEED MANIACS!

So Think We

We think you will do well to buy your merchandise from the merchants of Lubbock, for we are sure the mail order house will not kick in when you are in need of a new school house, church or curtain for the school building, nor will they kick in for the ball team, or the new railroad or anything else that is for the upbuilding of the community.

We think the fellow that the fellow that smokes cigarettes and chews tobacco is in the same class with women who spend money for paint and powder lipsticks and rouges, when it comes to useless expenditure of money. We doubt if the difference in the looks is worth the money. We know it is not the case of the tobacco chewer.

We think that possibly the cause of many of the divorces of the country is because the average wife cannot be a sweetheart, a washwoman, a valet, an audience and a nurse all at the same time. Some unreasonable husbands seem to think this is what she should be.

We think the weather is entirely too hot for hard work, but we are of the opinion that old battle axe will not suffer any great inconvenience, and if he can make fourteen feet in the clear, we do not object to him parking on the sidewalk.

It is reported that Lamesa is going after three thousand dollars for the support of her baseball team. Some town will have to trot out a team that can beat the Hubbers, and Lamesa might just as well be "It" if it is possible.

We think this present-day passion for archeology may be alright, but as far as we are concerned, that fellow up north is welcome to the three stones he brought from the foundation of the little school house attended by Mary's little lamb.

We think the guy who said that a baby's cry has the greatest carrying power, evidently never did hear a frog that boomed forth its tra-la. Mr. Frog is but a little over an inch long, but can wake the natives for half a mile around.

We think about the only difference between a telephone booth and a Turkish bath is that you do not undress in the booth.

We think the fellow that died over in Columbus of falling arch may think he pulled off an unheard of stunt, but if we remember our history and can believe the pictures on the post cards, ancient Rome died the same way.

We think that very few of the real important men care a snap how long it took to create the world, and no other sensible person need be worried about it.

We think that if all the citizens of this city will keep their premises absolutely clean and the grass mowed, and the weeds cut the strangers within our gates will better appreciate the city.

We think that nearly every candidate for state offices have the publicity itch.

We think that the American people go crazy on many different subjects and things—what will be next?

We think this is open season for aspiring candidates who are putting in eight or ten hours per day "kidding" the voters.

It Is Reported

That there is one woman in Lubbock who will not keep company with women as old as she is for fear that people will think that she is as old as they are.

That some fellow in a nearby county stole all of the casings off the sheriff's car, which left the sheriff with nothing but a case.

That the United States Treasury complains that the dollar bills do not last long enough. We agree that the dollar bills do not last any time with us, and even the twenties do not last very long.

By a specialist that the reason that most blind people are cheerful is because they are not looking for trouble.

That some bill collectors have had the audacity to go in the golf grounds with their bill book.

That the reason that one man always shaves himself at home is that he does not enjoy the chin music that the average barber puts out.

That one traveling man says he can always tell whether it is a good cafe, when he finds out what they charge for two cents worth of soup.

WORLD TOPICS

"EUTHENICS"

Vassar has adopted a summer school course in eugenics, and because it is a comparatively new word it has invited a good deal of amusement and criticism. Twenty years ago 'eugenics' was a new word, forty years 'psychology' was a new word, 'sociology' and 'anthropology' were new words a few years ago. Eugenics deals with the generations to come and is concerned with making life of the present generation efficient and happy. As feminized at Vassar it denotes the things that concern the woman living today, the things that go into the business of living as a wife, a mother, a homemaker, a member of society. It is not home economics alone, nor child training alone, nor social work, nor cooking, nor politics, nor mental hygiene, nor psychology, nor psychiatry but it includes all of these and more.

During the "bath tub" testimony hardly any two witnesses agreed as to the color of the liquid in the tub, some calling it red, some yellow, others brown and pink. This color blindness was no doubt due to frequent appetizers by way of preparation for the principal event of the banquet. What impresses the average man is the fact that the matter of inducing a young girl, drunk or sober, to make a public exhibition of this character, should go unpunished. The pity of it is that the girl is the only one who will suffer.

MARRIAGE INSURANCE
 An international feminist advocates that every female child, be insured, from birth, against both singleness and divorce, should she get married. That's an idea which might be extended in several directions.

Why not insure boys, at birth, against marriage, and also against the possibility of divorce and the paying of alimony.

The purpose of marriage is not to make one person dependent on another, nor is it so destructive of personality that one must insure for or against it. The best and wisest insurance for every man or woman, young or old, is the development of the whole personality, so that there is freedom, independence, self sufficiency that can be willingly merged with the self-sufficiency of another. When we can all support ourselves when none of us seek to soldier on others, we will all be better insured for and against the happenings of human life. When we are ill, we should be cared for, but it is stupid to look on one's material fate as illness or disease. We can be happy, if we are really adequate to do anything, whether we marry or not. Life is more than marriage, even for the female and any movement which tends to make the female subservient to her sex in a sense that the male is not, is destructive of the finer capacities of both and of the greater reaches of culture and civilization.

WOMAN CATCHES BURGLAR.

NEW YORK, June 7.—"I'll have you arrested," piped Mrs. Mary Graehl, a bride, to a burglar she caught in her bed room. She made good her threat, for when the youth fled, she followed him, organized a chase and kept at his heels until a policeman got him.

After flying from Melrose, Mass., a homing pigeon was picked up exhausted at Winfield, Kans.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MY AUNT'S BONNET.

They say life's simple, but I don't know,
 Who can tell where a word will go,
 Or how many hopes will rise and fall,
 With the weakest brick in the cellar wall,
 Or how many hearts will break and bleed
 As the result of one careless deed?
 Wry my old Aunt's bonnet caused more dismay
 Than a thousand suns should shine away.

She wore it high through her top-knot pinned,
 A perfect kite for a heavy wind,
 But the hat would stick though a gale might blow
 If she found the place where the pins should go.
 One Sunday morning she dressed in haste,
 She hadn't a minute which she could waste,
 She'd be late for church. Now the tale begins,
 She didn't take care of those bonnet pins.

Oh, the wind it howled and the wind it blew,
 And away from her head that bonnet flew!
 It swirled up straight to select its course,
 First brushing the ears of the deacon's horse,

With a leap he scampered away in fright
 And scattered the children, left and right.
 A stranger grabbed for the horse's head,
 But stumbled and fractured his own instead.

After the bonnet a small boy ran,
 Knocked over a woman, and tripped a man,
 The deacon's daughter married the chap
 Who rescued her from the swaying trap,
 And she lived to regret it later on.
 In all that town there abided none
 Whose life wasn't changed on that dreadful day
 When my old Aunt's bonnet was blown away.

Some were crippled, and some went mad,
 Some turned saintly and some turned bad,
 Birth and marriage, and death and pain,
 Were all swept down in that bonnet's train.
 Wives quarreled with husbands! I can't relate
 The endless tricks which were played by fate.
 There are folks today who had not been born,
 Had my aunt stayed home on that Sunday morn.

DENVER POST ASK FOR LUBBOCK ENTRY IN 1926 TOURNAMENT IN LETTER FROM JABE CASADAY TO SKIPPER SLED ALLEN

Will Lubbock, the 1925 Denver Post champion, be the first to send their application for entrance into the Post for tourney of 1926? That is a question that is put up to the faithful and loyal fans of Lubbock who anxiously celebrated the ceremony of being the victors last fall. Jabe Casaday, of the sport department of The Denver Post, in communication with Skipper Allen, manager of the Hubbers, requests that the Lubbock team be the first to make entrance, and now it is left to the fans. Does Lubbock want to defend her already established record in the tournament or not?

In order that an answer may be given to The Post tournament officials the matter of finances must be decided within the next few days. At the present time the baseball funds of the Hubber aggregation is very low and unless some means is provided for the club will necessarily have to disband and a "black eye" will be given to the fans of Lubbock.

In a recent campaigning for funds to run the team on for this year the amount gotten from the drive fell very much short of the lowest amount desired for the club.

The letter from Jabe Casaday is: "Dear friend Sled: I have honestly intended writing you every day since you boys left here, but seems as tho I am one of those babies that would rather do tomorrow what really should be done today. Anyway the older we get the faster time flies and it seems but yesterday since the last year's tourney was going at full tilt. I hear many good reports of you and your ball team, both directly and indirectly, and believe me, the way you fellows came from behind and copped the flag last year gave the hot stove league fans something to converse about all winter, and really I believe that the fans finally realized that the best ball team was the series.

"Well, old boy, it is getting around that time to work up the details of the next tournament, and I suppose that you have got all the dope from The Post of May 30, nevertheless, I am enclosing a copy of the tournament rules, which will be of no value to you as you are well acquainted with them as they are. Parsons and I were having a little talk the other day, and were thinking that it would be a great thing for the Lubbock club if they could be the first entry this year, and get the jump on the other teams from a publicity standpoint, for you know that the first entry each year always receives by far the greatest amount of publicity. We feel that it is a foregone conclusion and sincerely trust we are not mistaken that the Lubbock team will be back to defend its honors, and if this is the case, the earlier you can send your check in for the entry fee, the better.

"Give this matter a little consideration, Sled old boy, and let me hear from you as soon as possible, and I faithfully promise that you will get an immediate reply from me.

"With best wishes and kind regards to all the boys and all loyal and faithful fans of Lubbock from the sports department of The Post."

Sincerely yours,
JABE CASADAY.

PIRATES THREATEN TO OVERTAKE REDS

The Pittsburgh Pirates have clinched to within less than a full game of first place in the National league. Hitting 3 Brooklyn pitchers hard and coming from behind to achieve a 4 to 3 victory the world's champions gained a game on the Reds, who lost a free-swinging contest to Boston 8 to 7. The latter game went 11 innings. May finishing it, after Mays was knocked out in the third inning. Hearn of the Braves was the winning pitcher.

The Giants had expected to take the wind out of Joe McCarthy's sails, but Root bested Scott in a pitching duel. Grimm hit a homer, and the Cubs won the closing game of their series in New York 2 to 1.

The Athletics suffered their second shut out in three days when Urban Faber of the White Sox beat them 1 to 0. The Senators bowed to Cleveland 5 to 4, and dropped out of the first division into fifth place.

Detroit missed a chance to pass Washington, losing an 11 inning, 11 to 9 contest to the Yanks, who triumphed largely by means of Ruth's two home runs, and others by Messel and Collins.

The Browns won a close one from the Red Sox, 6 to 5, and moved farther from the cellar.

What the Mayor of Brenham Says about Concrete Streets

Mayor A. A. Hacker of Brenham, Texas, reports an experience with concrete streets which is of immediate importance to you, and every other property owner in this community. Here's what he says:

"We are proud of our streets. About four years ago we paved all the principal ones in the business district with portland cement concrete, 7 inches thick. There has been practically no expense for maintenance, and it seems to me as though the concrete gets better with years."

They know in Brenham that there is no excuse for bumpy streets, for under the heaviest traffic concrete stays rigid, permanent, free from bumps or ruts. Concrete pavement has the maintenance built into it.

Concrete streets are also skidproof and they remain true and even through changing seasons.

Many Texas cities and towns are paving with concrete because like Brenham they have learned its outstanding advantages through experience.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

Hubbers to Play Lamesa Nine

On Sunday the Hubbers will meet with the strong Lamesa nine on the Lamesa grounds for a nine-inning contest. The Lamesa nine has a great backing in the fans of Dawson county and they have gathered in what might be termed as a much stronger club than they had last year. The Hubbers and the Lamesa nine were about evenly matched in their contests last summer and the two clubs won and lost about the same number of games from one another.

Bean, ace twirler from the Waxahachie nine, that recently defeated Underhill in the Waxahachie-Rotan contests, will do the pitching for the Lamesa nine. Bean is a fast ball pitcher and has plenty of stuff. Preparations are being made in Lamesa to take care of a good attendance on that day. Many of the Lubbock fans are expected to take the trip with the local nine Sunday.

OUTFIELDER ANDERSON ARRIVES TO JOIN HUBBER FORCES

Don Anderson, formerly of the Olney baseball club that played the Hubbers here last summer, arrived here Monday afternoon and immediately jumped into a Hubber uniform and began his workouts with the Denver Champs. Anderson has been in school for the past nine months at the Kemper Military Institute in Missouri and has taken part in the athletic activities in that institution for the past few years which enables him to go into the action of the Hubber machine without a great amount of work-outs.

Don arrived here at a very good time, as Alex Hensley is out of the line-up for some few weeks due to an injury received in the Hereford game of last Sunday, when he broke his leg sliding into first base.

Skipper Allen stated yesterday evening that "Hog-eye" Sloan will probably be in at any time in the next few days and in all probability he will be used by the Skipper. Sloan has been playing in the Copper League of Arizona for the past few weeks.

"Big Quatt" the heavy swatting first baseman, that journeyed with the Hubbers in the Denver Post Tourney will likely be here in the next few days, according to Sled.

BANKERS DEFEAT POSTOFFICE-TAILOR NINE WHILE BARRIER BROTHERS TAKE WITH BARBERS IN OPENING GAME

In the curtain raising contest in the twilight league the Bankers and Barrier Bros. were the victors over the Postoffice-Tailor and Barber nine. The Bankers defeating the Postoffice-Tailor nine with a score of 10 to 6 and the Barrier Bros. aggregating taking the whiskers off the Barbers with a score of 7 to 4.

The bank lads clouted the Uncle Sam—Cleaner—ace moundsmen. Stant Rhea, for ten safe singles; however they were fairly scattered raps, but he played behind very weak support and was scored on with numerous errors made by the mail clerks and suit pressers. The Postoffice-Tailor error column was similar to the put-out column in that nine-black marks were credited them and they got 12 put-outs.

"Judge" Raley, the runty-bald header banker, hurler a good ball in two sessions, but was wild as a mountain lion in the third, walking three runs, and two runs scored with wild pitches. Peck was sent to the mound in the third and the sixth run was scored by a wild pitch.

One double play was pulled in the Banker-Postoffice-Tailor tilt by the Bankers. It was Smith to Peck to Gammel.

"Buddy" Stewart, old-time league in the twilight circle clouted one heavily nunched rap for three bases off of Rhea in the third frame.

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted

DOROTHY A. F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

THIS WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED with Irene Rich is a picture-ization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

John Manning, District Attorney, and his wife, Ellen, have returned to their home from the police station after midnight. Their son, Bob, has been in a fatal motor car crash and is held on a manslaughter charge. Ellen pleads with John to find a way to release the boy, but Manning, despite his affection, declares his duty is to the state and that it is impossible to release Bob on bail. Ellen, in desperation, all but threatens her husband.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"Well, John, your son is your child now. What are you going to do for him?"

A coal torn with anguish, he looked at her, yet she did not seem to notice it.

"I am, District Attorney," he said hoarsely.

"That gives you power and influence. With your brains there should be many ways in which you can help Bob. What are you going to do for him?"

"Nothing!" And the word as it came from him was almost a groan.

She viewed him in amazement, as if in truth he was but a distorted image of her husband having a place to one of the fancies which had beset her that night.

"Nothing! You will do nothing for Bob—our boy?"

"I am, District Attorney."

"That John, that can mean nothing to you when Bob's happiness, when my happiness, is at stake. I don't understand you."

"I'm a sworn officer of the law. I must do my duty."

"You have but to give your mind to it, John, your wonderful mind."

"Duty? What greater duty have you, John Manning, than to me, to whom you have pledged your troth, and to your son?"

"My duty to my state—to my country," he said gently.

Before his persistence she hesitated and, gazing into his face, read the unhappiness there. She reached forth and touched him, while a pleading note crept into her tones.

"You have never failed me before, John."

He eyed her pityingly, shaken by the greatness of his emotion. It was true. In the long years of their married life he had denied her nothing. To him her slightest wish had been a law, the fulfillment of her least desire a joy. For love of her he had labored to win a place in his profession. His love for her had spurred him and driven him again to renewed effort in the dark days when, unrecogized and unappreciated, he had almost yielded to despair. This same mighty force had kindled his ambition to even greater achievement again and again in the years which had followed. It was for her sake that he had entered the arena of public life when his own tastes caused him to care little for politics. The turmoil of campaigns, the need to plead for the favor of the electorate, to ingratiate himself with Tom, Dick and Harry were repugnant to an innate dignity which fitted so appropriately with the solemn procedure of the law.

First, last and always, John Manning was a lawyer. He had been urged with every prospect of success to run for Congress, and even now was much spoken of as a future Governor. But always his tastes had led him to seek judicial honors. Well aware of the reflected honor of place and position, he had entered politics for Ellen's sake.

sake. Inevitably it was the office of District Attorney which had appealed to his tastes and training.

And now, by a cruel turn of fate, this very honor which he had sought and won for her had come between them. His own high sense of its duties, of the solemn obligations of the oath he had taken, was forcing him, even amidst his own grief at his son's plight, to turn against his heart's beloved. Yes, overwhelmed with sorrow as she was, to wound her yet more cruelly.

Even as he contemplated his predicament, a great wave of feeling seemed to leap from the very depths of his being.

"Ah, Ellen," he cried, "don't you know that I, too, love the boy? That I love him and you with every fiber of my nature? Can't you see that I am suffering? Think what it all must mean to me—what it is doing to me!" And then, as if he could no longer bear to face her, he turned and moved away.

She watched him go. Watched him sink down into a chair and bury his face in his hands. There was affection and sympathy in Ellen's face as if more and more she was appreciating the struggle going on within him. But there was hope in her eyes, too. The hope of a woman who has never been refused. The hopeful confidence of one who, holding a man upon the golden tackle of love, feels that she has but to play her line warily and his resistance ceasing, he will go her way.

Now she approached him and, pausing beside him, caressed him gently with her hand, a great tenderness in her face.

"Poor boy," she whispered, and then "my fighting man!"

With his face still buried in his hands he seemed unaware of her presence.

"You have but to give your mind to it, John, your wonderful mind, and our troubles will be over. I know it—I know you."

Still he did not move.

"With Bob upstairs in his room again, John, I could sleep. I am so tired. Ah, how I could sleep."

He moved now as if her shot had gone home.

Taking comfort from it, her voice grew even more persuasive.

"You will help him, John?"

He made a movement which she interrupted with doubt.

"You will not, not for me, not for Bob?"

Suddenly he withdrew his face from his hands, and, rising, gazed down at her. Upon his face was the strained and worried look of a man who was suffering intensely, but in its lines was decision. The unalterable decision of a strong character refined and clarified under the stress of great emotion.

"I cannot," he declared firmly. "I am District Attorney."

Ellen leaped up, brought to her feet by the certainty of his tones. She gazed at him as if she could not believe her ears, as if there were something about him which she did not recognize. He might have been a stranger from whom she withdrew white faced and hopeless.

Shocked at the startling change in her, John stepped forward. He moved as if to embrace her.

But, quick as a flash, she evaded him; recoiling from him with a shudder, to stand toying with her wedding ring and still eyeing him. Then she flamed forth with bitter scorn.

"You have spoken truly! You are not my husband! You are not the father of my son! You are the District Attorney—the cruel, hateful District Attorney."

With never a word he stood there before this outburst as if fascinated. Could it be possible that this determined, angry eyed creature was his wife? Where was Ellen—the gentle, soft spoken and kindly Ellen? What latent force could work such a miracle of transformation as to arouse her tender nature to such heights of hostility?

Now came the answer in her own words, half hysterical, yet leaving not the slightest doubt but that she meant exactly what she said.

"But I can fight, John! Thank God, I can and will fight, even if you do turn your back on our boy—for I am his mother!"

Still speechless, John Manning stood staring at her. Then, as if accepting the challenge she had so boldly hurled at him, he bowed gravely.

IDLALOU WILL IMPROVE SCHOOL

CONTRACT TO BE LET HERE FOR ADDITION ON JULY 15

Contracts for the erection of an addition to the Idalou High School building and the installation of lighting and plumbing fixtures will be let at the office of Peters & Haynes, architects, here July 15, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon according to an announcement made yesterday by N. L. Peters of that firm.

Work on the building will be started at once in order that it can be ready for occupancy during the last half of the 1926-27 term.

Large Jubilee to Be Held At Scout Camp On June 29

SLATON, June 8.—Plans are now under way for the holding of the biggest jubilee at the new scout park near Post, recently donated by the heirs of the C. W. Post estate on June 29th, that was ever seen in this section, according to Boy Scout Area Commissioner, L. S. Harke. The festival will start early in the morning and continue throughout the day.

J. P. Fitch, regional director of the Boy Scouts for Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, in company with his assistant E. E. Voss, will be present and will make the formal dedication of the new camp. All of the citizens of the twelve counties included in the South Plains Area Boy Scouts, are invited to be present and inspect the camp.

Mr. Harke says that ten beavers, six sheep, and four hogs will be roasting over the hot coals to feed the throng that is expected to attend. A band from some city in this section will be present to furnish music throughout the day.

Sted Allen has promised to have his Lubbock Hubbers there in the afternoon to meet the Post City baseball team in a free game for the entertainment of the visitors. Although all details have not been worked out, this big picnic promises to be the most spectacular affair ever staged in this part of the state.

SCOUTS OF SLATON GO ON CAMP TRIP

SLATON, June 8.—The Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop One of the Slaton Boy Scouts, took sixteen of the boys on a fishing trip and all night camp to Yellow House Canyon, Thursday. The boys slept on the porch of an old ranch house, as one of the heaviest rains of the season fell over the canyon. The boys making the trip were: Dayton Eckhart, Robert Siler, Nick Montague, Odie Hood, J. J. Maxey, E. B. Reese, Courtney Sanders, Clarence Lowery, Larry Taylor, Melvin Tudor, John Simmons, Leo Scott, Clyde King, Lawrence Smith, Neilson Young and Paul Clem. The boys said they had a fine time, and some of them had to fish to prove the story.

Clovis Bathing Pool To Open In Few Days

CLOVIS, N. M., June 8.—George Chalfant, owner of the Natatorium on east 2nd street has announced that the popular bathing pool will open in about ten days. Some work is necessary on the wells supplying water to the Nat, causing a delay in the opening date. Mr. Chalfant returned from California last Saturday. Mrs. Chalfant will return to Clovis when the school term closes in the coast state.

SLATON DENTIST MOVES TO AMARILLO

SLATON, June 8.—Dr. S. W. Ball, dentist of this city, has announced that he will sell his office equipment in Slaton and move to Amarillo to be associated with Dr. Rue Parrells, prominent dentist of that city.

The people of Slaton regret the move that Dr. Ball has taken for he has been a loyal citizen and faithful worker in Slaton for the past two years.

CLOVIS BALL PARK TO BE MOVED

CLOVIS, N. M., June 8.—The fence bleachers, grand stand, score board and high wire netting of the old league park, are being torn down this week under the direction of Barney Brizendine, and will be set up again down at the 111th Cavalry quarters inside the city camp grounds.

The removal was effected this week by the united action of the Chamber of Commerce, Clovis school board, Curry County Fair Association, the City of Clovis and the 111th Cavalry troop.

The schools still retain the use of the park equipment and its new location for an athletic field, the County Fair will use it for an exposition ground and the 111th Cavalry troop will have supervision of the grounds when not in use by either of the others.

A committee composed of the city manager, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and the commanding officer of the 111th Cavalry will be the governing body in matters pertaining to the use of the grounds.

TRADES DAY EVERY SATURDAY IN TAHOKA

TAHOKA, June 8.—The Chamber of Commerce of Tahoka is promoting a Trades Day for each Saturday from now until Christmas. Premiums and special attractions for all present on these days are being offered by local business men. This plan is being carried out by the Chamber of Commerce in order that better co-operation and a better understanding between business men and farmers of the trade territory.

HALSEY HALL DRUG STORE NO. 1

Camel is the smoker's sign of friendship

IN THE home, or at the club—in busy office or crowded street—whenever friend meets friend, you will hear that magic invitation—have a Camel!

And wherever Camels are lighted, men come together in more friendly understanding. No other cigarette ever had or made so many friends or brought so much added friendliness to the world as Camel, for Camel's quality is a universal language.

Camel is more than a cigarette. It is an experience in smoking enjoyment—the finest this old earth affords. Camels contain the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown, and these fine tobaccos are superbly blended, as in no other cigarette. The enjoyment of Camels goes on forever, for they never tire the taste no matter how liberally you smoke them. They simply never leave a cigarettey after-taste. No other cigarette in the world is like them. Millions of experienced smokers who could well afford to pay more will buy and smoke only Camels.

Whenever and wherever you meet a friend, let that be a standing invitation to the sheerest enjoyment that ever came from a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

ADDITIONAL POLICE ADDED POLICE FORCE

CLOVIS, N. M., June 8.—Because of the increasing number of vagrants and suspicious characters supposed to have drifted here from the Panhandle old fields region, the city has taken the precaution of adding to the present force of officers.

Tom Keene, former special officer, with years of experience in handling this kind of work, has accepted the position.

HUGE MASTODON BONES FOUND NEAR SNYDER

SNYDER, Texas, June 8.—Hal Nunn of Lloyd Mountain brought to Snyder Monday some huge bones supposed to have been those of a mastodon. They are the bones of the leg, either the hock or the knee. The bones are in a fair state of preservation, but unfortunately were badly damaged in digging them out.

The bones are on exhibition at the First State Bank and Trust Company of this city and are well worth one's while to examine.

STOCKS

New York Finance

By E. WALTER MOCKLER.

Written for the United News.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The outstanding feature of Tuesday's stock market was the inordinately heavy trading in steel common. Nearly 200,000 shares of this issue changed hands during the day and the close of the stock was up 3-4 points.

The street was divided between its efforts to sell other stocks under cover of the strong market in steel common and its curiosity as to the basis for the sudden burst of activity.
At the close the market was irregular with sharp moves in either direction.

Traders looking for the answer to steel's sharp advance found plenty of rumors but few facts. Naturally the general idea was to look for something in the way of an extra dividend at the July meeting. The street is committed to the belief that steel has better prospects than the seven percent annual dividend, but it has been the general consensus of opinion that anything in the nature of an extra would hardly come before the end of the year.

One of the stories afloat in the field is it may contain the basis of a hope for the very distant future.
This has it that steel common may be increased by 50 per cent with the new stock, six per cent basis.
This would be the equivalent of making present stock a 9 per cent issue.

In Tuesday's closing price, steel common yields about 5.3 per cent per year. Even if the 9 per cent basis were being considered, Tuesday's selling price would only yield and steady. Most stockers sold around $6 to $8 and the bulk of feeders from $7 to $8.25.

Hog receipts here and most market centers continued light. Prices at all points were advanced. Prices here reached new levels since war times. Top fat hogs sold up to $15.
Stocks pigs were stronger.

Most pigs sold around $14.75 to $15.90. The bulk of fat hogs sold from $14.40 to $14.90. Heavies ranged from $14 to $14.75; mediums $14.25 to $14.80; lights $14.50 to $15.

Hogs 11000; 10 to 15 cents higher on early trading, later bids about steady; desirable, 180 to 230 pound averages $14.80 to $14.90; 240 to 300 pound averages $14.35 to $14.75; sorted 130 to 160 pound averages $14.85 to $15; packing sows $12.75 to $13.25; stock pigs steady $14.75 to $15.75.

Cattle 6500; calves 1000; liberal supply in fed steers, other killing classes comparatively scarce; generally asking higher; steers and yearling 25 cents higher, top 11.50 on

MEADOW, June 8.—In keeping with the progress and development of the South Plains, Meadow is not idle. The development of this territory has been very gratifying to the people of this section. Many new buildings have been erected within the past few months, and the country has been settling up in keeping with the growth of the town. This is reflected in the recent re-classification of the postoffice which will pass to the third class beginning July first. This will give the postmaster, Harvey Blackstone a substantial increase in salary, with office expenses furnished and in many other ways will add to the convenience of the service here.

Rural Routes Established.
On May the first a new rural route, three times a week was started from here, and a survey has been made for number two which will take in territory west of Meadow. The first route is accommodating about 83 families while the second route will give three times a week mail to 75 families.

SHERROD BROTHERS SHOW GROWTH

LOCAL HARDWARE COMPANY IN THREE YEARS BUILD UP BIG TRADE

Three years of persistent growth has been made by Sherrod Brothers Hardware company, the anniversary day being celebrated June 1.

Some idea of the growth that has been made by that business is seen in the fact that while B. and Paul Sherrod, the brothers, took care of all the business of the store for some months after its opening, eight others are now employed.

While the business is now being operated at the same location where it was opened, a great deal of additional room has been provided through occupying the bleony and removing a partition that has separated the main store from a warehouse room at the rear.

Two large warehouses are now being used for the large reserve stock of the company.

Several times as much merchandise is now required to meet the demands of patrons as when the store was first established within the state.

The electric range business of the Sherrod Brothers store is much heavier than that done by any other hardware store in the United States during the past two years, according to information given out by the Western Electric company.

Lamesa Business Men To Raise Baseball Fund

LAMESA, June 8.—After about three weeks of correspondence we have received notice that our team had been accepted and that Eben Star Pitcher for the Washachie High School team was ready to report for duty. We sent him transportation and instructed him to report June 5th. So we are looking for him by that date at the latest. It is understood that he throws with either hand and has won games this year from either side. If this is true you folks are in for a treat that not can win hard games throwing haven't seen either. A twirler from either side is as rare as a snow in May. Bean is a powerful fellow and has ten wins to his credit this year and no defeats, which is some record. He has defeated Underhill, and Underhill needs no introduction to the fans of Lamesa. It is too early to say, but we have hopes that Bean will have a great season with Lamesa this year.

There is a plan on foot to make a great canvas of the town this week by some of the big business men with the goal in mind of $1,000 a month subscription. If this is successful there will be a salaried team playing for Lamesa.

that will make baseball history. We are entirely in sympathy with much by himself but a great many of the fans of the town would do much good that's why I'm not giving it. Further, if there are 25 that will give $15 a month for three months or over I'll do the same also. Now if you want a ball team, let's go. This is the way to get it.

SEEK RECOGNITION FOR GOLD GAMBLERS WHO LOST THEIR ALL

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Recognition has come to the pioneers who gambled with fate in the days of California's gold rush—and failed.

Reclaiming the little odds and ends left by trail blazers who died without known heirs—many died in almshouses and hospitals—Charles G. Johnson, state treasurer, has offered them to the historical department of the State Library.

There they should rest, Johnson believes, not alone because of their historical value, but because they are memorials to the men and women who aided in establishing the state, and who, heretofore, have gone virtually unsung and forgotten.

"They were the trail blazers whom fate shunted over the hill to the poor house while their more fortunate fellows emblazoned their names on the pages of history," the treasurer said in a letter to State Librarian Milton J. Ferguson, suggesting that the state perpetuate the memory of these departed seekers after adventure and wealth.

The trinkets comprising the "unknown dead" are like pages from story books of long ago—books with many of the leaves gone, so that one has to guess at the plot. Love letters and photographs of relatives and sweethearts left behind, have collected the dust of the years in a tomb-like room in the basement of the capitol along with old style-closed faced watches, stuck in long abandoned mines and empty wallets.

A faded college diploma signifies that "the directors of the Royal College of Surgeons found John H. Bennett capable to exercise the art and science of surgery" was the principal property left by one who had inserted a profession for the lure of easy wealth in the gold diggings. The diploma was issued in London in 1842.

A broken romance which drove a man to the frontier is apparent from the possessions left by another pioneer, H. C. Brunson. When authorities checked up on his earthly belongings they found a letter from a sweetheart, a lock of hair in an old pocketbook and these lines in Brunson's handwriting:

"I'm adrift on the fast ebbing tide With the stars of my destiny only my guide; But I dread not the storm cloud, nor the treacherous sea, For I'm parted from all that was precious to me."

'MAIDEN LUBBOCK' PLANE DAMAGED

AMATEURS TRY FLIGHT AND FAIL; TICKET RAIN POSTPONED

Kiddies who yesterday had planned to look for chautauqua tickets that would have been distributed over Lubbock from an air plane owned by local men were disappointed because the plane "Maiden Lubbock," was slightly damaged when two young men thought they would take the plane up for fresh air despite the fact that neither had had a great deal of experience as a pilot, according to the owners of the plane.

The owners of the plane are not provided with a hanger for it, and had left it at its usual place in a pasture north of Lubbock two miles and the young men took charge of the plane and attempted the flight without the owners knowing of their plans.

The plane will be in operation again within a few days, according to A. J. Hamilton and James Cole, owners.

The young men were unsuccessful during their first attempts to get the plane to take to the air, but wanting a thrill nevertheless they drove it more than two miles around the pasture, and when finally the wheels cleared the ground by four feet the plane tumbled over.

Redpath Horner Tent Pitched For Programs Here

The big tent for the Redpath-Horner Premier Chautauqua will be pitched tonight on the lots east of the Lubbock Sanitarium and advance agents for the company are fast completing arrangements for the six days' program.

Thursday afternoon at 2:45 when the initial program will be given the Alamo Serranaders will make their appearance. Music, reading and song numbers will be given by these artists—seven in number—who have just completed a season on the Orpheum circuit and have had two years' lyceum work that gained for them the prestige as entertainers that gained for them the privilege of opening the premier chautauqua here.

Beautiful costumes in which the Spanish motif is carried out, Spanish music and songs are made the features of the program.

Thursday evening these entertainers will give the pseudo following which Everett Kemp will give the three-act play, "Thank You." Mr. Kemp, in his interpretation of this highly interesting play actually takes the part of a young army of artists, handling each character's part so well that one will have to see him to believe the stage is not occupied by the full cast.

On Friday afternoon Miss Opal Flood, reader and entertainer, will give the prelude followed by an address "America and Me," by Dr. Roy Rutherford.

Dr. Rutherford is pastor of one of the biggest churches in Kansas City, and his message is one that will be of distinct value to each individual listener.

Friday evening the much-talked-about three-act comedy, "Apple Sauce," which has not yet completed its run on Broadway, the high royalty price paid for this play by the Redpath-Horner Chautauqua being another evidence of the eagerness of the management to give its Lubbock audiences the very best entertainment possible.

Real Estate Shows Increased Sales Activity Here

Real estate sales in the new Highland Heights district continue to be very active according to Chas. F. O'Neill, tract agent. Seventy-eight lots out of the first installment of two hundred and sixty having been sold up to this time.

The largest number to any individual being thirty-three lots sold to Mr. A. J. Day, of Medicine Hat, Canada. Mr. Day bought these as an investment, believing that Lubbock is destined to become the real "Hub" of the Plains and that Highland Heights will be one of its best residential sections. This is Mr. Day's second trip to Lubbock. He left for Medicine Hat yesterday. His purchases in Highland Heights will be held as an investment.

Other sales in Highland Heights include:
R. L. Fletcher, lot 11, block 27.
Miss Erma Yarbrough, lot 10, block 27.
P. B. Williams, lot 23, block 66.
J. F. Heath lot 8, block 27.
Ralph Lindsey, lot 9, block 27.

SNYDER COUNTRY CLUB PLANS $10,000.00 CLUB HOUSE

SNYDER, June 8.—The Snyder Country Club will soon begin the construction of a $10,000 club house. The club owns 101 acres of land north of Snyder which affords a fine natural nine-hole golf course. The club has already spent about $10,000 in the erection of a large swimming pool, bath houses, a well, and a good electric light system. The new officers are H. J. Brice, President; Allen Warren, vice-president; and J. C. Stinson, secretary-treasurer.

Live beavers are being purchased by the Alaska Game Commission for the purpose of stocking certain portions of the territory, under the provisions of a new law.
