Decision tonight...

4 ambulance bids before councilmen

An ambulance service contract is expected to be decided Monday night by the Snyder city council, an agreement to provide the service county-wide effective June 1.

Two ambulance services--to include Aid Ambulance of Lubbock, Levelland and Snyder, the current service provider--and two local individuals have submitted bids for the contract.

In addition to Aid, which has run the service since 1982, Medic Ambulance Service of Brownwood has submitted a bid.

Also submitting bids are locals Perry Westmoreland, who has worked part-time with Aid as an emergency medical technician, and Emmett Hataway.

A three-member committee comprised of council members have conducted interviews with those bidding since last week. The purpose was to discuss such items as the level of service to be offered, the status of emergency medical equipment, with ambulances now provided by the city, and the subsidy payment required of the city and county.

City Manager John Gayle said Monday that three of the four bidders had been interviewed. He said the Brownwood service was unable to attend its scheduled interview.

Members of the council's ambulance committee include Mike Post, chairman, Ralph Williamson and Fred Castillo.

Gayle said he expects a recommendation from the committee to the full council Monday.

The action will come during the regular May meeting of the coun-

Chemical fire sends 50 to hospitals

CARROLLTON, Texas (AP) — Fire broke out at an electronics company today, sending more than 50 people to hospitals to be checked after they were exposed to burning chemicals, authorities said.

The chemicals were originally believed to have emitted poisonous cyanide fumes at the fire at Thomson Components-Mostek Corp., said Lt. Randy Posey of the Carrollton Police Department.

However, the 27 employees taken to Parkland Memorial Hospital in Dallas had been exposed to fluoride gas, not cyanide, said spokeswoman Catherine Ellis. She said fluoride irritates the respiratory passages.

Officials at the two other hospitals where employees were taken said they did not yet know what chemicals the employees had been exposed to.

Mostek officials did not immediately return calls.

About 17 people were hospitalized after the 8 a.m. fire, which was quickly extinguished, and at least two busloads of employees were sent to area hospitals for tests, officials said.

The injured were taken to RHD Memorial Medical Center, Trinity Medical Center and Parkland.

Five people were listed in stable condition at Trinity, said hospital spokesman Steve Korbeil. He said officials were evaluating the employees' conditions.

Ten people were taken to RHD and another 23 people later arrived by bus.

"They appear to be in pretty good condition," she said.

Parkland officials said 27 people were sent for examination, although only about two were expected to be admitted to the hospital. Seven employees were sent by ambulance and 20 by bus.

Later in the morning, officials determined the Parkland patients were exposed to smoke inhalation and fluoride gas and not cyanide poisoning, Ms. Ellis said.

"Most of them are in good condition," she said. At least one person was expected to be admitted for further treatment, she said.

Posey said fire officials have taken equipment to the scene to check for any escaping fumes, but there is no indication the chemicals have spread.

Quilt sale tops $15,000

Other sales take total to $20,000

Local residents and business representatives contributed just over $15,000 to the operation of the Scurry County Senior Citizen's Center during the annual May Day quilt auction Saturday.

Nancy LaRoux, activities director for the center, had only an approximate total Monday morning, but said proceeds would likely total just over the $15,000 mark.

Thirty quilts made during the past year by volunteers at the center were sold at auction.

Top money maker for the evening was the quilt "Around the World," pieced by Helen Nixon. It brought the center $1,450 after being sold four times. The American State Bank was the final purchaser.

A quilt called "Grandmother's Fan," pieced by Mae Brush, brought the highest single purchase price of the auction. It was sold to Sandra Browning for $850.

Donors offered 'pints'

Drive scheduled from noon till 8

Two "pints" of ice cream offered for every pint of blood plus the other incentives which have become a tradition with local blood drives will be offered here Tuesday from noon until 8 p.m. at the National Guard Armory.

In addition, all first time donors will be given a sun visor cap courtesy of United Blood Services of Lubbock, co-sponsors of local drives along with its local advisory council and the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Those donating blood will receive a coupon good for two pints of Borden ice cream.

Don Cheek, local independent distributor for Borden Dairy products, and Lawrence IGA Grocery, where the ice cream coupons can be redeemed, are participating in the offer.

Dr. James Howell, newly elected president of the UBS advisory council, notes that the coming summer months often cause a decrease in overall blood donors.

"This is unfortunate since blood usage normally goes up since surgery is often putoff until summertime."

"Make your plans to donate to see us through the earliest part of summer," Howell said.

Other donor incentives will include a coupon good for a free hamburger at Whataburger; a free six pack of soft drink to every fifth donor from Sweetwater's Coca-Cola Bottling Co.; a coupon good for a free malt or milk shake to each donor from Sonic Drive-In and Gandy's Dairies; and a coupon good for $1 off meal tickets at the Golden Corral Steak House.

Lawrence IGA will again donate cookies for all blood drive participants.

In addition, outdoor sign advertising has been donated by Texas Taco, Bar-H-Bar, Showcase Video, Pizza Hut, Kmart, Ben Wilson Auto Supply, The Shack, Burgess-McWilliams Pharmacy and the Scurry County Coliseum.

Collections report set at work session

The Snyder school board plans a work session Monday which will include a profile of the tax collection services offered the district through the Scurry County Appraisal District.

The session will begin at 5 p.m. with a report from district chief appraiser Ray Peveler. The possibility of consolidation of tax collection services has been discussed by local entities over the past several weeks.

Other items due discussion include:

—A board self-evaluation.

—Discussion of staffing patterns for the coming school year.

Phone bill's addition to sales tax proposed

A public hearing is scheduled Monday regarding a proposal by the Snyder city council to bring local telephone bill charges under the 1 percent sales tax charged by the city.

The state already applies its 4 percent sales tax to such charges, but so-called "telecommunication services" are now exempt from local sales tax.

The law offers cities the option to repeal this exemption, however.

The earliest date the repeal could go into effect is next Oct. 1. Cities--and counties effective Jan. 1, 1988--taking this option must notify the state comptrollers office by June 30.

Local city officials estimate the change would add some $18,000 annually to the local sales tax return.

To repeal the exemption, the council must first adopt an ordinance specifying this. Such an ordinance requires two readings, and the first reading and its related public hearing is due Monday during the regular meeting to begin at 6:30 p.m.

A second reading and approving vote is required before the repeal of the exemption could be forwarded to the state comptroller's office.

County hears new options for insurance

County commissioners Monday took no action on a proposal by the Franklin Life Insurance Co. to establish a record keeping system for the county to take advantage of new laws under the Internal Revenue Code.

Robert Hollaman, Sam Robertson and Phil Ragland represented the firm.

Hollaman explained that under Sec. 125 of the IRS Code, employees may now have the opportunity to enroll in a "cafeteria plan" in which they can chose to have certain expenses, such as child care, automatically deducted from their paycheck.

Q. — Does the sale of Safeway here include the building?

A. — The building was not "sold" outright, since Safeway leased the store space from the owners of the Varsity Square shopping center, a group based in Amarillo. The sale presumably included the lease option.

In Brief

Amtrak probe

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — The Conrail engineer whose locomotive collided with a passenger train, killing 16 people in Amtrak's worst accident, Monday awaited the findings of the grand jury investigating the Jan. 4 crash.

The Baltimore County state's attorney scheduled a news conference for 1 p.m. to release the results of the investigation.

The Baltimore Evening Sun, quoting unidentified sources, reported last week that the state was seeking to indict the Conrail engineer, Ricky L. Gates, 32, of Essex, on manslaughter charges.

Local

School party

There will be an eighth grade parent's meeting Monday at 7 p.m. to discuss plans for the year-end party.

The meeting will be in Wesley Hall at First United Methodist Church. All parents of eighth graders are urged to attend.

NAACP meets

The Snyder Chapter of the NAACP will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the fellowship hall of Mount Olive Baptist Church. All members and friends are encouraged to attend.

Reagan warns Soviet Union

NEW YORK (AP) — President Reagan, undaunted by the opening of new congressional hearings on the Iran-Contra affair, insists America must not blink in a U.S.-Soviet "test of wills" over the future of the Western Hemisphere.

Reagan, using the Statue of Liberty as a backdrop and the opening of the American Newspaper Publisher's Association convention as his forum, declared he will not withdraw his support for the Nicaraguan Contra rebels "for as long as I am president."

Reagan defiantly renewed his pitch for support of the Contras without making any reference to the commencement Tuesday of a new series of hearings into whether the administration violated the law in connection with its efforts to support the Contras.

Reagan traveled to nearby Newark International Airport at midafternoon Sunday, accompanied by his wife, Nancy. Once there, they took separate motorcades, with the first lady coming into New York to prepare for an address Monday to the annual luncheon of The Associated Press, held in conjunction with the ANPA convention.

Reagan was dogged by questions of what he knew about the private network of Contra support operations that has become public in the continuing uproar over the secret U.S. sales of arms to Iran and the diversion of payments to the rebels.

Questioned by reporters as he visited the Great Hall on Ellis Island, before the speech, Reagan said he was aware that private individuals were raising money to help the Contras, "but there was nothing in the nature of a solicitation by the administration, to my knowledge, of anyone, to do that."

"I did know the people I met with, to thank, because they had raised money to put commercials on television to urge the Congress to support the Contras," he said.

Before leaving the White House for his trip to Ellis Island, Reagan had watched Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, chairman of the Senate select committee on Iran, say he believed the president had been aware that money was being raised privately to provide arms to the Contras during a period in which there was a congressional ban on direct or indirect military assistance.

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Inouye, during his appearance Sunday on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press," had backed Reagan's statements that he knew nothing of the possible diversion of funds or illegal private fund-raising efforts to get arms to the rebels.

Aides who accompanied Reagan on the New York trip told reporters his speech was aimed at showing the president does not view the use of military force as the only solution in Nicaragua.

Reagan said, "I have come here to say that the United States government pledges to the American people what the freedom fighters have pledged to their own people — that our objective in Nicaragua is clear: free elections."

National Security Adviser Frank Carlucci, when asked aboard Air Force One if Reagan still wanted to make the Sandinistas say "uncle," as the president once asserted, said, "The goal is to make them say, 'democracy.'"

Reagan got a polite, but quiet, reception from his audience of hundreds of newspaper executives, with no ovations interrupting his speech.

The weather was windy and chilly, with skies threatening, and Reagan gave his speech in a raincoat. A downpour broke loose just after he finished.

In his speech, Reagan acknowledged that debate over U.S. government support for the Contras, who are trying to overthrow the leftist Sandinista government in Managua, has been "heated at times."

"While such debate is healthy," he said, "we all know that a divided America cannot offer the leadership necessary to provide support and confidence to the emerging democracies in Central America."

Workmen bought clay absorbents for spills

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Workmen bought large quantities of clay for absorbing spilled hydraulic fluid shortly before the fatal April 23 apartment collapse, leading investigators to suspect a failed pump may have caused the tragedy, it was reported today.

Twenty-eight workmen on the 16-story L'Ambiance Plaza construction project were killed in the accident, which occurred as huge concrete slab floors poured at ground level were being jacked into place.

The Hartford Courant reported today that Mayor Thomas W. Bucci said "someone knowledgeable" in the construction industry told him workers at the site had bought the absorbent granules because oil or other fluid was leaking from a jacking system pump.

"I passed it on to our city attorney," Bucci said Sunday.

Get the facts about medication

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor says I have to take sulfinpyrazone for the rest of my life. This is for a stroke I had two years ago, which left me somewhat disabled. I'm 85 and take one aspirin and dipyridamole daily, and have normal blood pressure. What can you tell me about sulfinpyrazone?

DEAR READER — I believe that you misunderstood your doctor. Sulfinpyrazone is used to treat gout. It increases the urinary excretion of uric acid, thus lowering body levels of this compound. Adverse reactions to the drug include stomach upset, peptic ulcer, rash and disruption of the blood-forming cells in the bone marrow. The manufacturer states that aspirin can interfere with the action of sulfinpyrazone, so you should check with your doctor to see if you should be taking your one aspirin a day.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am apparently highly allergic to cigarette smoke. It makes me develop a sore, stinging tongue, ringing in my ears, erratic heartbeat, a throbbing in my neck and severe coughing and sneezing. Is it possible, by blood analysis, to determine which chemical in my blood triggers this reaction? Can it be neutralized or removed by dialysis or transfusion?

DEAR READER — The reactions you describe may be due to the local irritating effects of tobacco smoke as it touches the sensitive lining of your upper respiratory tract. Blood analysis will not identify, nor will dialysis remove, any compound in your system that causes this reaction, since it is due to mechanical irritation of the cells themselves. Your only option is to avoid cigarette smoke.

DEAR DR. GOTT — About eight months ago, my father had his testicles removed because of cancer of the prostate. Since then, he gets soaking wet with sweating. Is there any treatment available?

DEAR READER — Your father's sweating could be due to three factors:

1. He may have a hidden infection in his system. People with cancer may experience altered immunity. This permits low-grade infections, such as those in the urinary tract, to develop. He needs to have blood and urine cultures taken and be given antibiotics, as indicated.

2. His prostatic cancer may have spread (metastasized). Nests of cancer cells in his body can produce the excessive sweating you describe. The doctor should perform blood tests and, perhaps, scans to make sure that there are no cancer cells present.

3. Your father may be suffering from a hormone imbalance, resembling menopause, that often appears in men after removal of the testicles. He apparently needed the operation to reduce the body's level of male hormone, which had stimulated the prostatic cancer growth. Therefore, he is not a candidate for hormone replacement as might be a man with low hormone level and a normal prostate gland.

I suggest that you inform your father's doctor of the sweating problem so that appropriate examination can be carried out and, if possible, treatment given.

To give you more information about the prostate in general, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on the PROSTATE. Others who are interested in this report should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

Nixon's Watergate papers will be released Monday

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

ARLINGTON, VA. (AP) — Nearly 13 years after Richard Nixon resigned the presidency, the first of his Watergate papers were readied for public view Monday, purged of documents he thinks involve personal privacy.

The first release includes the White House files of John Ehrlichman, who spent 18 months in prison as a Watergate coverup conspirator, and of John Dean, who gave the first detailed information about the affair to federal prosecutors and served 127 days.

The documents chosen for today's release at a National Archives Warehouse total 252,000 pages, one-sixth of the 1.5 million-page cache the Nixon Administration itself set aside as "special files." The special files contain the most sensitive documents, those involving Watergate.

There are 58,000 pages compiled by Ehrlichman, Nixon's chief domestic advisor; 97,000 of Dean's, Nixon's White House counsel. The others opened Monday are 70,000 pages amassed by Egil Krogh, Ehrlichman's assistant, who served 137 days for civil rights violations in the White House "plumbers" case; 17,000 pages of the files of Gordon Strachan, who won dismissal of coverup charges; and 10,000 pages of the files of Harry Dent, a special counsel, who was sentenced to a month of unsupervised probation after pleading guilty to a campaign contribution violation.

After the archives gave a required 90-day notice that the files would be made public, Nixon's lawyers filed 3,100 pages of objections to the release of 15,000 documents. Archivists have removed specified documents from the papers opened Monday and will release others as they are cleared.

"There is no objection to any item that has remotely to do with Watergate," said R. Stan Mortenson, one of the Nixon lawyers. "We have informed the archives that if we have, by oversight, listed a document they believe has the remotest relevance to Watergate, that they inform us immediately and we will come in and withdraw our objection."

The challenged documents will be out before an archives review board for a decision. Six percent of the documents have been withdrawn for reasons of national security, personal privacy, federal statute or other reasons, said Jill Brett of the archives. Nixon objected to 5 percent.

"Under no circumstances would we make any claim against the release of a Watergate item," Mortenson, said. "We have been saying that for 14 years and we continue to say it. If anyone suggests that Nixon is in a position to delay Watergate documents, it is wrong."

The release marks the end of a long and sometimes bitter fight the former president has waged for control of the papers which were seized under a law passed by Congress in 1974.

Nixon resigned as president on Aug. 9 that year, before the midpoint of his second term, after the House Judiciary Committee recommended his impeachment. He had been named by a federal grand jury as an unindicted coconspirator in the effort to cover up the White House involvement with the re-election committee agents who burglarized the Democratic National Committee. The DNC quarters were in the Watergate Office Building, hence the name of the scandal.

The papers case twice went to the Supreme Court, and the archives drew up six sets of access regulations before they were accepted. The last time such a release was imminent, 29 former aides filed objections and stopped it.

Your Birthday

Tuesday, May 5, 1987

There could be some major changes in the year ahead that will not be of your own doing. But they will work out as advantageously as if you had orchestrated them yourself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There will be fewer problems to contend with today if you let events run their natural courses. Trying to force issues will create complications. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Initial assessments could cause you to view things from the darker side today, but if you take a hard second look, you'll discover you have much for which to be grateful.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Losing situations can be turned into winners today, but you'll have to use all the smarts you can command to do so. Be imaginative.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today you may be tempted to take unfair advantage of a situation. But you won't, and your unselfish decision will prove to be a lucky one for you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be overly influenced by others today, especially know-it-alls. Your ideas are much sounder than theirs, so trust your instincts.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Have fun and enjoy yourself with friends today, but don't try to mix commerce with chit-chat. Any deals you cut are apt to turn out unprofitably.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Lady Luck will be in your career corner today. She wants you to fulfill your ambitions. Just be sure you're doing all you can to help her.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll discover early in the day that being too forceful with others is unproductive. To succeed, you must be both tolerant and humorous.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be thorough in your evaluation of an important arrangement today. If you are not, you might end up resisting something that is actually for your good.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Domestic pressures may be trying early in the day. However, they will pass, and if you don't let them rattle you, the balance of the day will be a breeze.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be willing to do a bit more than the boss expects today. Your efforts will not go unnoticed, and later on you'll be properly compensated.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your luck will be a strong factor in your affairs today, with the possible exception of finances. Don't do anything risky in that area.

Cyanide has uses

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The images that come to mind at the mention of cyanide often are those of contaminated food or drugs and the gas chamber.

The largest user of cyanide in the world, however, is the mining industry. Chemical industry experts estimate some 70 million pounds of sodium cyanide are used in U.S. mining every year, with between 75 and 90 percent of that being used to extract gold from ores.

First lady will address newspaper publishers

NEW YORK (AP) — A discussion of the Tower commission report and a speech by first lady Nancy Reagan topped the agenda of today's annual luncheon of The Associated Press.

Former Secretary of State Edmund Muskie, who was a member of the Tower commission, was scheduled to join former White House spokesman Larry Speakes, Duke University professor James David Barber and former Tower commission council W. Clark McFadden for a discussion about the aftermath of the report on the Iran-Contra scandal.

The AP annual luncheon came on the second day of a four-day annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

The Tower commission, whose other members were former Sen. John Tower of Texas and retired Air Force Gen. Brent Scowcroft, criticized the Reagan Administration's sale of arms to Iran, concluding that it was an effort to trade arms for American hostages.

The commission also blamed President Reagan's managerial style and failures by his top aides for that policy and for the diversion of funds to Contra forces who are trying to overthrow the Nicaraguan government.

In a speech at Ellis Island in New York Harbor Sunday, kicking off the ANPA's 100th anniversary convention, Reagan said that cutting off aid to Nicaragua's Contra rebels would give the Soviet Union a major policy victory.

Ellis Island was the first stop for 12 million immigrants arriving on ships from Europe between 1892 and 1954. The theme of the convention is "The Blessings of Liberty: The Next 100 Years."

Extra security set for pontiff's visit

DETROIT (AP) — Pope John Paul II's visit to Detroit's Hart Plaza will require extra security beyond the $5.7 million worth of Secret Service protection the pontiff will receive through his nine-day United States tour this fall.

Richard Rathmall, assistant special agent in charge of the Detroit bureau of the Secret Service, says the pope will be the first public official getting Secret Service protection in an appearance in the downtown plaza on the Detroit River.

"It's open and it's big and anyone can come," said tour organizer Brenda Marshall. "There's a little more concern there than at other areas."

John Paul arrives Sept. 18 in Detroit, the last stop in his American tour.

The Secret Service will be joining the pontiff's own security team as well as state and local law enforcement departments, The Detroit News and the Gannett News Service reported Saturday.

"Even the easiest site can turn out to be a nightmare. We plan for the worst," special agent William Corbett said.

Of the $5.7 million the Secret Service has requested from Congress, $1.3 million would go toward aircraft and bomb squads. The agency will deploy helicopters, bomb specialists and special limousines to be airlifted city to city.

Another $2.2 million would go toward air fares, hotel rooms and meals and $2.1 million would go to pay the staff overtime. Special phone lines would add up to about $33,000.

A supplemental fund bill appropriating the money passed the U.S. House last week and is headed to the Senate for final consideration.

Rathmell would not say how many federal agents would accompany the pope.

The main events in the pope's 24-hour visit to the Detroit area Sept. 18-19 are an appearance at Hart Plaza and a Mass at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young has said every available Detroit police officer will be on hand for the visit.

Other cities on the papal tour are Miami; Columbia, S.C.; New Orleans; San Antonio, Texas; Phoenix, Ariz.; Los Angeles; Monterey, Calif.; and San Francisco.

Israeli art viewed

NEW YORK (AP) — "Treasures of the Holy Land: Ancient Art From the Israel Museum" is on view at the Metropolitan Museum of Art through Jan. 4.

The Metropolitan says this "is the largest and most important exhibition of ancient art from the Israel Museum ever to travel abroad. (It) comprises nearly 200 antiquities, among them superb objects covering all the major archaeological periods ...

"In addition to their inherent beauty, the objects are of great cultural significance

Sherlock Holmes to the rescue

By James Jacoby

So much of bridge is cut and dried, but the cutting and the drying need to be done in the proper order. When declarer South reached three no-trump, the opening lead was automatic. So was the declarer's play: He ducked the first trick. When the jack of spades was continued, he ducked again. Finally he won the third spade and led the queen of diamonds. When West covered with the king, South had eight tricks assured. For his ninth trick declarer needed either to guess the location of the queen of hearts or to find the king of clubs in the East hand. Is it a straight guess or is there a strong indication of the correct play?

Whenever you're trying to find cards held by the opponents, you should try to emulate Sherlock Holmes rather than Inspector Clouseau. Clues can exist in the opposing bidding and also in the absence of such bidding. Here, if you check the bidding diagram, you notice that neither opponent chirped. That's not too significant, except that West was the dealer. He had an opportunity to open the bidding and failed to do so. Furthermore, he has already shown K-Q-J of spades and the king of diamonds. He certainly may hold the club king, but then it is a certainty (barring severe myopia afflicting West) that the missing heart queen is with East.

So declarer should play a club back toward his queen. If it loses to the king, West can cash his remaining spade, but South will then make his contract by playing East for the missing heart queen.

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

Phobics, Fans Advise Woman How to Shed Snake Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: You really were off the wall in your response to "Snake-a-phobic" in your column recently. The last thing a person with a phobia of snakes needs to hear is how to save one! I feel so sorry for that poor lady who discovered a snake in her attic. She's much braver than I. At least she still lives in the house. I couldn't sleep anywhere knowing a snake was around.

This is not just a silly notion. Apparently you have no idea what it's like to see a snake and totally freak out. I know my reactions are extreme, but I literally cannot control my hysteria. I wouldn't even go into a pet store or zoo building that had snakes. I'm afraid one might get out of its cage. If a snake appears on TV, someone else has to turn off the TV. I couldn't even bring myself to walk over to the set.

Please don't suggest professional help. I'm afraid I'd be subjected to the "conditioning" treatment and shown pictures of snakes, and I'd die of heart failure.

So please, Abby, try recognizing this condition as something other than silly nonsense. If snakes were really as afraid of me as I am of them, they would have the good sense to stay in the ground. If you use this letter, please don't print my name. This is a small town and some sadist is liable to see this letter and send me a snake for kicks.

TERRIFIED OF SNAKES,
LACEY, WASH.

DEAR TERRIFIED: You are not alone. If a survey were taken, I'll wager that more people are terrified of snakes than lions, tigers and the fiercest of jungle animals.

Education conquers fear. The more you learn about the crawling creatures, the less you will fear them.

DEAR ABBY: I can sympathize with "Snake-a-phobic" because we have had a similar situation in our home with black snakes in the basement instead of the attic. We had found several skins and were told by our local exterminator they are a "protected species" in our state, but were advised to try the following method to get rid of them: Sprinkle moth crystals all around the perimeter of the area and stuff all the entry holes with mothballs. Believe it or not, this seems to be working!

Maybe it will work for her as well, and give her a stress-free summer.

JUNE MARTZ, DELAWARE

DEAR JUNE: Many other readers suggested the mothballs (or moth crystals), which is fine — providing children and/or pets aren't "done in" in the bargain.

My desk is crawling with snake mail. Many suggested that if snakes had been hanging around an attic for three years, it might be wise to find out what they're living on up there. Mice and rats, no doubt. And, since most snakes are harmless, but rodents carry disease, it might be wiser to let the snakes remain.

DEAR ABBY: About snakes: They make wonderful pets. You don't have to bathe them, you don't have to walk them, and they don't need a license.

NORMAN

DEAR NORMAN: And you don't have to worry about anyone stealing them.

Rodeo team bound for CNFR...

WTC wins Southwest Region

STEPHENVILLE -- Coach Bob Doty had to hold his breath for awhile here Sunday, but it's official now, Western Texas College has won the Southwest Region and a trip back to the College National Finals Rodeo.

Actually, Western wrapped up a berth to the CNFR without a lot of worry. It was the race for the region championship that Doty had to sweat over. The bid for first and second place came down to the final event of the day.

Western finished the season with 1,445 points while Tarleton State University took second - and the other berth to the CNFR - with 1,417.5. Odessa, competing without region all-around champion Jim Sharp in the finals, finished a distant third with 1,285.

Sharp reached Sunday's finals in two events, but elected to scratch and compete in the Super Bull competition in Del Rio instead. The decision was made after it was determined that Odessa could not accumulate enough points to overtake WTC and Tarleton, no matter how well Sharp did.

Had Sharp competed in the finals, though, he might have made it easier on Western. He was up in the bull riding and saddle bronc, and could have taken points away from TSU.

As things turned out, the race for first and second came down to the finals of the bull riding. Western got a break when TSU's Pat Yancy bucked off.

"If he would have ridden his bull, they (TSU) would have gotten 30 or 40 more points in the go-round and they would have gotten 1,447.5 or 1,457.5 and won the region," said Doty.

The victory was Doty's first for a men's team, though he has taken Western to the CNFR each year now for the past seven years. Western is the defending national champion.

"Since I'd never won the men's team for the region, I really wanted to win it. I wanted it for the guys, too. They've worked hard all year," said Doty.

Doty wondered for awhile if Western would take the title.

"The horses were really bucking. They nearly threw Mike (WTC's Mike Carrillo) out of the pen in the bareback. But right after Mike bucked off they threw Andy (TSU's Andy O'Neal) off," said the coach. "Then, Andy scored a 78 in the saddle bronc and Wesley (WTC's Wesley Henderson) scored only a 69. Then Steve (WTC's Steve Roberts) bucked off. I got concerned that if might not be going our way."

Western got only 120 points from the rodeo, and needed a 150 or better to improve on its overall total. Tarleton's 335 points won the four-day show. Howard College was second with 230 and Eastern New Mexico took third with 210.

Though Doty had hoped for a better rodeo here, he certainly couldn't find fault with WTC's overall finish.

"I'm real satisfied. After losing four off of our team last year (Tony Hecksher, Tobin Tate, Paul Yorks and Bliss Mayhan) I don't think anybody really expected us to be as tough as we ended up being," he said.

Eastern New Mexico and Texas Tech finished first and second in the region in the women's division and also qualified for nationals.

Western's girls finished fifth in the 11-team region, though barrel racer Jessie Colburn earned a trip to the CNFR by placing second in her event.

"I'm real happy Jessie is going. As far as the team, I had hoped we would do better that we did. We just couldn't get everybody scoring at the same time to have some big rodeos," noted the coach.

Ninty of WTC's 120 points in the men's division came in the saddle bronc where Henderson scored a 73 in the long-go, a 69 in the short-go and a 142 total for third place in the average. Roberts won the long-go with an 81 before bucking off in the finals.

The other points were in the bareback, where Southwest Region champion Carrillo scored a 70 in the first round.

Troy Budvarson, not a designated teammember, took fourth in the average of the saddle bronc with a 134. His score included a second-place 74 in the short-round.

Other WTC participants had problems in the finals.

Robert Fifer bucked off in the saddle bronc and breakaway roper Sandy Scott and regional calf roping champion Keith Hudson drew no-times. Wendy Lunsford and Stephanie Weaver finished out of the running in the barrels, and the team of Chuck Smith and Scott Sharp had a 19.6 in the finals of the team roping. Also, WTC's Jess Burner and TSU's Perry Echols were took a plus-10 in the event.

The CNFR is scheduled for June 15-20 in Bozeman, Mont.

Warriors cop playoff series after trailing Utah's Jazz 2-0

by The Associated Press

The Golden State Warriors, the second NBA team to win a five-game playoff series after trailing 2-0, now face another tough assignment in the Los Angeles Lakers.

"We've had our backs against the wall, every game has been a pressure game, and we've answered the call," said Purvis Short, making the first NBA playoff appearance of his nine-year career. "The layoff will hurt the Lakers more than us. We're ready to play."

Golden State, making its first playoff appearance since 1977, defeated Utah 118-113 at Salt Lake City Sunday to advance to the second round against the Lakers, who swept Denver in three games and haven't played since Wednesday. The Lakers, 65-17 in the regular season, play host to the Warriors on Tuesday.

The only other time an NBA team has won a best-of-five series after trailing 2-0 was in 1956 when Fort Wayne defeated St. Louis. The best-of-five format was not used for 16 seasons between 1968 and 1983.

In other games Sunday, Milwaukee beat Philadelphia 102-89 to win that first-round series 3-2, and Detroit edged Atlanta 112-111 in a second-round opener. On Saturday, Seattle beat Houston 111-106 in overtime.

Tuesday, Milwaukee is at Boston, Detroit at Atlanta and Seattle at Houston along with Golden State at the Lakers.

Joe Barry Carroll scored 24 points and Larry Smith tipped in a rebound with 17 seconds left for Golden State, which led 87-65 in the third quarter, but had to hold off a Utah rally.

The Jazz got as close as 114-111 when Mark Eaton hit a free thow when he was fouled by Chris Mullin with 39 seconds left.

Smith, who finished with 12 points and 14 rebounds, put Golden State ahead 116-111 when he tipped in a rebound. Eric "Sleepy" Floyd, who had 21 points and 14 assists, stole Kelly Tripucka's inbounds pass with 17 seconds left to spoil Utah's comeback.

Buckets 102, 76ers 89

Milwaukee eliminated Philadelphia for the second straight season and ended Julius Erving's basketball career.

Craig Hodges keyed a 17-2 run with two 3-point baskets and a 2-pointer as the Bucks turned a 69-67 lead late in the third quarter into an 86-69 rout with 8:53 left. Hodges scored all of his 14 points in the fourth period.

Much of the decisive spurt came with a lineup that included reserves Hodges, Paul Mokeski and Dudley Bradley. Assistant coach Del Harris was in charge of the team after Coach Don Nelson was ejected with two technicals in the second quarter.

Jack Sikma led the Bucks with 18 points and 21 rebounds. John Lucas added 17 points.

Erving, who is retiring after 16 professional seasons, led the 76ers with 24 points.

Brewers defeat Rangers, 3-1; AL's 'hot team' for moment

TORONTO (AP) — It hasn't been easy to lay claim to the label of "hottest team in the American League" this season.

The Milwaukee Brewers have garnered that distinction almost since Day One of the month-old campaign. A few other teams have enjoyed their streaks, but now it's the Toronto Blue Jays' turn to wear the monicker.

Heading into a game tonight against the Royals in Kansas City, the Blue Jays are riding a six-game win streak, currently tops in the majors, and are coming off a three-game weekend sweep of the Texas Rangers, including a 3-1 victory Sunday.

The Rangers had won six straight before their trip to Exhibition Stadium. In the last five seasons and one visit in 1987, the Rangers are 8-25 in Toronto.

Jim Clancy pitched a two-hitter for 8 1-3 innings on Sunday.

"The best-pitched game we've seen all year so far," Texas Manager Bobby Valentine said of Clancy's performance.

Valentine had to watch Clancy from the clubhouse TV after being thrown out of the game in the second inning by home plate umpire Rocky Roe. Valentine was also ejected Saturday, along with Texas starter Charlie Hough, for questioning ball-strike calls.

"I watched a video of their hitters before the game today for the first time and I think it really helped me," said Clancy, who has more career wins (13) against Texas than any other AL pitcher.

"They've got some new people in the lineup, and watching the films was a big help.

"Everything just seems to be coming together out there. I'm hitting the corners with the fastball and my curve is helping me set it up."

Texas starter Edwin Correa, 2-1, was tagged with the loss despite allowing only four hits over seven innings.

"I had good stuff out there, but we can't expect to do much with two hits and one run," Correa said. "The way Clancy was pitching today, any lead they got looked like it might stand up."

Tony Fernandez provided the offensive spark for Toronto, collecting two hits, scoring once and stealing a pair of bases.

The loss was the ninth straight on the road for Texas, which has also lost seven straight to Toronto, dating back to last August.

Alysheba survives bumping to win 113th Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) -- Alysheba came out of the Kentucky Derby with one scratch despite his round-and-almost-tumble trip to victory in the 113th running of the classic race.

Alysheba, an 8-1 shot, was bumped just after the start and was bothered twice in the stretch run by Bet Twice, nearly going down on one occasion. But the colt, under Chris McCarron, recovered to score his first win of the year Saturday by a lenghth over Bet Twice.

McCarron said he would have filed a foul claim had his horse not won.

"If that horse (Bet Twice) hadn't come over, he would have won by four or five lengths," trainer Jack Van Berg said Sunday as he basked in the glory of his first Derby win.

Alysheba, Van Berg said, "came out of the race fine and if everything is OK, he'll go to the Preakness (May 16) and then on to the Belmont (June 6)."

Bet Twice was leading in the upper stretch when he veered in front of Alysheba, who clipped the leader's heels. Alysheba pitched forward but recovered with almost an eighth of a mile to go. He had to avoid Bet Twice again deeper in the stretch before McCarron moved his mount to the outside for the drive to the wire.

The race was a disappointment for Demonstrate Begone, the 2-1 favorite who oozed profusley from the nostrils and failed to finish, and was another tarnish on the 1987 record of Capote, the 2-year-old champion who wound up 16th in the field of 17 3-year-olds.

Alysheba was timed in 2:03, the slowest time for the 1-mile derby since Cannonade's 2:04 in 1974.

Alysheba, who paid $18.80, $8 and $6.20, earned $618,600 from the record purse of $793,600 for owners, Dorothy Scharbauer and her daughter, Pamela, of Midland, Texas.

Bet Twice, ridden by Craig Perret, finished two lengths ahead of Avies Cody.

When a racehorse tries to bite another horse in the heat of competition it's called savaging.

Azinger hits 30-foot putt; wins tourney

LAS VEGAS (AP) -- Paul Azinger hit a 30-foot eagle putt on the 18th hole to win the rich Las Vegas Invitational.

Hal Sutton, who had a chance to tie, missed a 15-footer and settled for second place.

Azinger's shot finished off an 8-under-par round of 64 and gave him a 72-hole total of 271, 17 shots under. He also collected $225,000 and moved into the No. 1 spot on the year's money-winning list with $442,460.

Sutton, who had a closing 67 for a 272 total, took a runnerup check of $135,000 for the $1.3 million purse. It was the second time this season Sutton has finished second to Azinger.

Former winner Curtis Strange failed to birdie the 18th and finished third alone at 273 after a 67.

Rookie Ken Perry and Ken Brown of Britain tied for fourth with 274s.

Tigers play Tuesday

Snyder's Tigers, coming off a three-game win streak, will play their final home game here Tuesday as they host Fort Stockton in 2-4A baseball action at Moffett Field.

The game is slated for an 8 p.m. start.

Snyder will be looking to go 6-5 in district play and 12-9 for the season, while keeping Fort Stockton winless. The Panthers are 0-19 overall and 0-9 in 2-4A play.

The Tigers complete the 1987 campaign this Friday in Lamesa.

In other 2-4A games Tuesday, Pecos is at Andrews and Monahans is at Big Spring.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Braves 10, Athletics 0

Richard Morris opened the season with a triple, a double and a single as the Braves defeated the Athletics on Saturday. Charles Richardson, Shae Sisson, Jeremy Wells and Jason Pierce rapped a single apiece for the winners. Cedric Thomas was the WP.

Reagan Key got the only hit for the Athletics, a double.

Yankees 13, Cardinals 2

The Yankees out-hit the Cardinals 8-1 for this victory. Jarred Graves pounded two doubles for the Yanks while Colt Carthel socked a triple, Anthony Alvarez drilled a double and a single, and Valerio Torres, Steven Bollinger and pitcher Raymond Ware punched a single apiece.

Cris Winter slapped a single for the Cards.

TEENAGE LEAGUE

Bullets 15, Rebels 1

Opening day of the Junior Teenage League saw some lopsided games, including this one.

The Bullets got eight hits, including a double from Tracy Braziel and two singles from Jayson Presley to defeat the Rebs. Cory Fisher, Jonathan Burton, Edward Rios, Bert Merritt and winning pitcher Shelby Bufkin also hit a single apiece.

The Rebels notched two singles - both from Carlton Sanders. Chris Carrasco took the loss.

Buffs 18, Braves 4

The Buffs came up with nine runs in the first inning and eight in the second for a quick victory. Pitcher Bart Morton slapped a double and a single and Jason West and Pedro Villa punched two singles apiece for the Buffs.

Also hitting for the winners were Randy Morris, Gilbert Hernandez, John Conger and Eric West, a single apiece.

Tommy Lane and pitcher Chris Welsh popped a single each for the Braves.

Oilers 16, Dodgers 2

The Oilers broke open a close game with 15 sixth-inning runs and defeated the Dodgers in Teenage League play Saturday.

Mark King slammed a double for the winners. John Wright powered two singles and Dewayne Cato added one single. Lee Hamilton was the winning hurler.

For the Dodgers, Ron Pruitt smacked a triple, pitcher Daniel Espinosa drilled a double, and Sam Cain hit a single.

Board says AIDS inadequately controlled

HOUSTON (AP) — The city of Houston's efforts to control the spread of AIDS through public education are inadequate because the deadly disease is linked with the politically unattractive gay community, some activists say.

"It appears the city is spelling AIDS G-A-Y," said Joseph W. Tumlinson, chairman of the board of the AIDS Foundation of Houston.

But Mayor Kathy Whitmire and Health Director Dr. James Haughton say the city simply lacks the money to beef up the health department's educational efforts, and argue that spending levels are not the only measure of the effectiveness of the city's programs.

"It doesn't take a lot of money to do education. It takes a lot of people's time," Haughton said.

Two members of the mayor's task force on AIDS resigned recently to protest what they called inadequate commitment to AIDS education, and about 200 people took part in a "death-in" demonstration in front of City Hall in memory of those who have died from acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

"The city health director has to be a lot more aggressive than he was that day," U.S. Rep. Mickey Leland, D-Texas, said following a recent hearing on AIDS. "The mayor has the power to initiate a campaign against the disease. I would hope she would get out front on this issue."

Leland said efforts to promote AIDS education are stymied "because people are so afraid to affiliate politically with anything that has to do with the gay community."

Tumlinson said the fallout from a January 1985 referendum in which voters overwhelmingly rejected two measures aimed at protecting homosexuals from discrimination in city employment has led to sluggishness in AIDS education efforts. The lopsided vote was a crushing blow to the influence of Houston's gay community and many politicians have stopped seeking the endorsement of the once-courted Gay Political Caucus.

The Houston area has a reported 1,135 AIDS cases, the fourth-largest total in the nation.

The city budget for the fiscal year ending June 30 includes $237,351 in AIDS-related spending — $84,200 in local funds and the remainder from federal sources.

The total includes $33,800 in salary and fringe benefits for a coordinator responsible for reporting confirmed and suspected AIDS cases for other surveillance. The coordinator's duties include education of health professionals and the public.

A federal grant of $95,151 pays the salaries of two epidemiologists and a secretary whose major function is to monitor the spread of AIDS in the community.

A $58,000 grant from the federal Centers for Disease Control pays for AIDS antibody testing and counseling at the Montrose Clinic.

Local education efforts contrast sharply with those of the three other cities that have more cases than Houston.

At the health agency in New York City, where more than 9,300 AIDS cases have been reported, the city directs a $5 million program.

In San Francisco, the health department's budget for AIDS education is $5 million to $6 million of the $25 million the city has allocated to the disease. The balance goes to treatment and patient care.

By 1991, San Francisco is expected to have 5,000 AIDS cases.

In Los Angeles, the AIDS program is allocated about $1 million.

Mauro cited for his efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rallying Texans to join in an Adopt-A-Beach program to clean up the state's Gulf Coast beaches has earned Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro a Chevron Conservation Award.

A check for $1,000 and a bronze plaque commemorating his achievement will be presented at a Washington ceremony May 14.

Mauro started the Adopt-A-Beach program in which individuals, companies and civic organizations choose a mile of Texas beach and agree to clean it three times a year. Thirty of the state's 120 miles of beaches have been adopted.

The Adopt-A-Beach program was part of Mauro's overall strategy for cleaning up the Texas coastline. He also is attempting to get the at-sea dumping of garbage in the Gulf of Mexico banned by international treaty.

Mauro was one of 20 individuals and five organizations from around the country honored by Chevron for their conservation efforts.

Iglehart claims low rates on insurance

Iglehart Insurance Agency, located at 2310 25th Street, is owned and operated by Carol Iglehart.

Carol has worked for other insurance agents in Snyder since 1980 and on May 1, 1985, she received her recording agents license and opened her own agency. She has attended spring and fall seminars to keep on top of the many changes in the insurance industry.

LET BETTY KINCHELOE and Carol Iglehart help you with all your insurance needs at Iglehart Insurance Agency, 2310 25th Street. (SDN Staff Photo)

Through Hochheim Prairie Farm Mutual Insurance Company, her main company, she offers low rates on homes, mobile homes, Builder's Risk, Farms and Livestock Mortality for 4H and FFA animals. She has one of the lowest rates around for mobile homes and rural property.

Aside from house insurance, Carol offers excellent low rates on autos and high performance vehicles for safe drivers as well as those with tickets, DWI's and those needing to file SR-22's with the state. Your premium can be financed for five, seven, eight or nine months depending on your needs.

"Coming into an insurance office that has a warm and friendly atmosphere is important to people," Carol stated. A lot of people do not understand insurance coverages and Carol explains the coverages, as everyone's needs are different. She has several companies to choose from to get the lowest rate possible.

On January 1, 1986, Carol became the Branch Manager of Hochheim Prairie Farm Mutual Branch 104 and in September of 1986 she welcomed Betty Kincheloe as her sales representative for Hochheim. Betty has seven years insurance experience and also represents The Horace Mann Companies. She or Carol can help you with all your insurance needs. They are happy to report that they have for their customers one of the best retirement plans available at this time along with other life, annuity, health and IRA plans. They would be glad to compare your coverage at your convenience. You can call them at 573-1923 or 573-6588 during office hours of 8:00 A.M. to 5:00 P.M.

Carol and Betty would like for you to come by their new office location which is 2310 25th Street, in the same building with Mary Woodall of the Diet Center.

Computime offers bookkeeping service

Computime is a computerized bookkeeping service, owned and operated by Sue Smith. Sue specializes in accounting services, tax planning and preparation and general bookkeeping.

Sue has had over twelve years experience in the bookkeeping field and is qualified and capable of handling all of your accounting and bookkeeping needs. She completed three years of college and received a degree in computer programming from The Academy of Computer Technology in Ft. Worth. She is also experienced in oil industry bookkeeping.

Sue can set up your general ledger bookkeeping and keep up with your accounts receivable, payroll and federal and state quarterly reports. An added feature at Computime is that all your files can be kept on the computer where they are permanently stored and easily accessible.

Word processing is now available at Computime. Sue can type any kind of form letters, mailing lists, etc. Information can be put in a specified place on a form letter directly from the mailing list. This is a very versatile process which can be kept on file and which can meet many special typing needs.

Sue now offers new programs for inventory control, time billing and agriculture programs to keep records for farmers and ranchers.

If you are in the market for a new computer, you can find it at Computime. Sue is selling the CSS IBM compatable and carries all types of computer supplies. She is also a computer consultant and can help with any problems you might have.

If you have need for accounting services, general bookkeeping or income tax preparation, give Sue Smith a call at 573-6731 or 573-0346 or go by 2501 32nd St. Computerized bookkeeping is not only efficient, but it is also economical and Sue will be glad to explain to you how her service can not only save you time, but will also save you money.

LET SUE SMITH, owner of Computime, show you how efficient and economical computerized bookkeeping can be for you. (SDN Staff Photo)

Former officers lead takeover

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Two former officers of Church's Fried Chicken Inc., led a group making a bid to take over the company, Church's officials said today.

Church's said it had received a proposal from a newly formed company that includes former Church's president and chief executive officer Richard F. Sherman and Stanley Faye, former vice president-general counsel.

The group also includes Shearson Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc., Citicorp Capital Investors Ltd. and C. Stephen Lynn.

The group is offering cash for for two-thirds of Church's common stock at $12.25 per share, followed by a merger in which each remaining share would be bought for $8.50 in cash and $3.75 liquidation value of redeemable preferred stock of the new company.

Church's said the proposal is subject to obtaining commitments for a substantial part of the financing needed by the new company.

Our nation honors Constitution in 87

By Paul Elie

THE CENTER for events marking the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution is Philadelphia. The Constitutional Convention met in Independence Hall in 1787.

This summer marks the 200th birthday of the blueprint of American government — the U.S. Constitution. The celebration of its anniversary, like the debates about its meaning, prompts a question as old as the Constitution itself: Could the authors ever have envisioned this?

More than 1,000 Constitution events are planned nationwide. The federal Commission on the Bicentennial of the Constitution, the official coordinator of events, has designated 472 "bicentennial communities" in 47 states.

We the People

The hub of activity will be Philadelphia, where the 55 "framers," including George Washington, James Madison, Alexander Hamilton and George Mason, gathered at Independence Hall in 1787 for the Constitutional Convention.

More than 100 events will take place in Philadelphia alone. Elsewhere, "bicentennial communities" are celebrating the Constitution on a smaller scale — with exhibits, lectures and local history.

Philadelphia kicks off its celebration May 22-25. In 1787, the Constitutional Convention convened on May 14, but a quorum wasn't reached until May 25. This year's festivities, "All Roads Lead to Philadelphia," include a re-creation of everyday life in 1787, a musical about the framers, and a "Born in America" concert featuring the rock group Chicago.

Governors of the original 13 states will meet to discuss Constitution-related issues. And the city will provide a forum for citizens to exercise their First Amendment rights by speaking on any topic they wish.

On July 16, the U.S. Congress will convene on Independence Mall for a special session, the first congressional assembly in Philadelphia since 1800. A session of the Supreme Court is also planned.

Sept. 17, the 200th anniversary of the signing of the document, has been designated "Constitution Day."

Scheduled events on that day in Philadelphia include a meeting of leaders representing the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government, and an enormous picnic on the banks of the Delaware River. A re-enactment of the Grand Federal Procession, which first was held in 1788, is hoped to be the largest parade ever held in the United States.

On Constitution Day, 6,000 new citizens will be sworn in in a ceremony in Buena Park, Calif. The town boasts an exact replica of Independence Hall.

In Washington, the Library of Congress will stage "The American Solution," an exhibition on the Constitution's origins.

Also, on the weekend following Sept. 17, the National Archives, the permanent home of the Constitution, will open its doors for 87 consecutive hours. Visitors will be able to view the original document, sign a guest register and receive a copy of the Constitution stamped with the Archives' seal.

Many related events will be going on throughout the spring and summer. In Massachusetts, the Board of Tourism has mapped a "Constitution Trail" of famous landmarks. And Boston is developing Constitution Plaza in its downtown business district. The plaza will be the home of Democracy Hall, a museum honoring the history of democracy.

The University of Virginia and Vanderbilt University will host a Constitution symposium, May 18-23. Scheduled speakers include Supreme Court Justice William Brennan, historian Henry Steele Commager and consumer advocate Ralph Nader. Part of the symposium, which is co-sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution, will take place at Thomas Jefferson's estate, Monticello. Large crowds are expected to visit the nearby estates of James Madison and George Mason all summer.

In New York City, the Public Library is hosting "Are We to Be a Nation?" an exhibit and lecture series at its Fifth Avenue branch. A similar exhibit sponsored by the American Library Association will travel to 30 sites.

Florida's Walt Disney World is staging "We the People" at its EPCOT American Adventure Showcase. The exhibit features a desk used by Madison; a 100-year-old replica of the "Rising Sun" chair that George Washington sat in when he presided over the Constitutional Convention; and a 1752 edition of Baron de Montesquieu's "Spirit of Law," a political treatise referred to by the framers.

The tractor-trailer convoy "Roads to Liberty: From the Magna Carta to the Constitution" will stop in 82 cities before concluding its trip in New York on Sept. 17. "Roads to Liberty," an exhibit of human-rights documents from the Middle Ages to the present, will visit 19 states — the original 13 and the six states chartered by the Northwest Ordinance of 1787. Highlights include an early draft of the Constitution and original manuscripts of the Magna Carta, the Mayflower Compact and the Declaration of Independence.

Finally, the Historical Society of Pennsylvania and AT&T are sponsoring "History Repeats Itself," a Constitutional toll-free number. For historical facts, anecdotes and a schedule of events, call 1-800-3-B-PROUD.

Security misses concealed weapon

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — A security guard has been taken off duty and sent for retraining after a woman's claim that she got through an airport security barrier with a pistol in her purse, a Delta Air Lines executive says.

Freda Freeman of Terrell said she deliberately left a derringer pistol inside her purse as it went through an airport X-ray machine at Delta's Terminal 4-E at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport to see what would happen.

Mrs. Freeman said she remembered she was carrying the gun as she escorted her mother to the security gate Saturday morning while her husband parked their car.

She said she didn't want to leave her mother, who has Alzheimer's disease, so she decided to keep the gun in her purse. After she walked through the gate, Mrs. Freeman told her husband about the incident.

Frank Freeman told The Dallas Morning News that the incident made him "pretty damn nervous" and he notified a Delta supervisor, who assured him he would notify the proper people.

Henry Conley, Delta's district director, said the airport's security company, Stanley Smith Security Inc., took the person who was working Saturday off duty to be reviewed and retrained "as a precautionary measure."

Conley said removing the person from duty is standard procedure for the security company.

Airport officials never saw the woman's gun, Conley said. He said Freeman refused to give his name when he reported the incident and that Mrs. Freeman never talked to officials. The Freemans left the airport after Mrs. Freeman's mother got on he flight.

There was no videotape on the security system that could be reviewed to see if the gun actually passed through it, Conley said. The weapon should have shown up on the security system's viewing screen.

"Normally, it would be picked up if it were a gun," Conley said.

Bank group plans to restructure

HOUSTON (AP) — Zapata Corp. announced today the company and its major lenders have reached an agreement in principle on a long-term debt restructing totaling $560 million.

The agreement, which has been submitted to the full bank syndicate for approval, includes the conversion of a portion of the bank debt to equity and the extended deferral of cash payments for principal and interest, Zapata spokesman Barney White said.

The plan also provides that Houston-based Zapata will grant the banks liens on substantially all of its assets and be obligated to meet certain operating and cash flow requirements.

Gas meter hit in Sunday wreck

Two minor traffic accidents were reported in the city Sunday.

Involved in the first — at 12:43 a.m. in the 2600 Block of 35th St. — was a 1981 Ford driven by Billy Gene Pylant of 4511 El Paso Ave.

The Pylant vehicle struck a Lone Star Gas meter at the Larry McWilliams residence at 2600 35th St.

The weekend's second accident was reported at 1:02 p.m. Sunday in the 2200 Block of 37th St.

Involved in it were a 1980 Oldsmobile driven by Kaye Gunnels Clawson of Rt. 1, Snyder and a 1984 Oldsmobile driven by Verdi Powell Kimbro of 2404 42nd St.

Grease fire causes damage

Units of the Snyder Fire Department were dispatched to a minor house fire in the 2200 Block of Ave. L Saturday afternoon.

According to fire officials, a pan of grease caught fire on the kitchen stove at the Carol Cothran residence at 2208 Ave. L just after 1:30 p.m.

The flames from the burning grease were drawn up through a vent hood and into the attic.

Damage from the fire was said minor.

Supreme Court ruling...

Rotary cannot oust women members

WASHINGTON (AP) — States may force Rotary Clubs to admit women, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The justices, in a 7-0 ruling, upheld a California law that bars Rotary International from ousting local chapters that have women members.

Justice Lewis F. Powell, in his opinion for the court, said the California law does not interfere with the constitutional rights of Rotarians to associate with whom they please.

Powell compared the clubs to public accommodations in rejecting arguments that Rotarians have a First Amendment right to bar women.

He said the clubs are sizeable, have a high turnover rate, engage in public activities, encourage participation by non-members and welcome news media coverage of many of the central activities.

"The evidence in this case indicates that the relationship among Rotary Club members is not the kind of intimate or private relation that warrants constitutional protection," Powell said.

"The membership undertakes a variety of service projects designed to aid the community, to raise the standards of the members' businesses and professions and to improve international relations," he continued.

"In sum, Rotary Clubs, rather than carrying on their activities in an atmosphere of privacy, seek to keep their 'windows and doors open to the whole world'," Powell said.

While today's ruling reinforced the power of states to curb sex discrimination, the court provided no checklist on what other organizations might be affected.

Powell suggested it requires a case-by-case analysis to determine whether an organization is sufficiently private to base membership on gender.

The justices in 1984 ruled that the Jaycees may be forced by states to admit women as full members. That decision said a Minnesota law banning discrimination by "public accommodations" applies to the Jaycees.

Thus, today's ruling does not answer the question of whether state public accommodations laws may apply, for example, to such groups as the Kiwanis, Lions, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Sons of Italy or the Polish Women's Alliance.

Rotary International has nearly one million members in some 20,000 clubs in 54 nations. It was founded 82 years ago by four Chicago men and took its name from their practice of rotating meeting sites at each other's place of business.

Rotary International ousted a chapter in Duarte, Calif., in 1978 after it admitted three women.

A second bid item due a decision Monday involves the city's veterinary services contract. Two local veterinarians have submitted bids to house and, after a three-day waiting period, dispose of stray animals picked up by the city's animal control warden.

Appointments to city boards will take up council time also. The council will be required to name a new mayor pro tem, a post vacated by Troy Williamson, now serving as mayor.

Other appointments include:

—Two members to the board of directors for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

—One member to the builders board of appeal.

—Two members to the board of adjustment.

—Four members to the planning and zoning commission.

Other agenda items include:

—Approval of the sale of property to collect back taxes owed for it.

—Consideration of the proposed Howard Subdivision entailing the replat of two lots located between 33rd and 34th Sts. and facing Ave. J. The replat request has been submitted by Howard Smith.

—Consideration of the proposed Smith sub-division entailing the replat of a portion of one lot located at the corner of 32nd St. and Ave. K. The replat request has been submitted by Howard Smith.

Student notes stolen jewelry

Police are investigating a jewelry theft reported by a Western Texas College dormitory resident late Sunday night.

Darwin Moore filed that report shortly after midnight Sunday.

He told police that a gold ring and chain — collectively valued at $650 — had been taken from his room in the dorm.

In other weekend action, city officers logged a total of 12 misdemeanor arrests.

One 14-year-old juvenile was taken into custody on theft charges at 2 p.m. Sunday after employees of Hasting's Books and Records reported the youth had attempted to take a cassette tape from the store.

The juvenile was later released to the custody of a parent.

Two of the arrests resulted from a reported fight at a residence in the 2000 Block of Ave. K Saturday afternoon with one man charged with misdemeanor assault and a second charged with public intoxication and criminal mischief.

Other weekend arrests include four subjects jailed for public intoxication; three picked up for driving while intoxicated; and two charged with driving with suspended licenses.

Wood heat can equal coal, gas

WOODLAND, Maine (AP) — Burning about one cord of hickory wood will emit nearly the same amount of heat as one ton of coal or 24,000 to 30,000 cubic feet of natural gas, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp

The wood products firm says hickory, oak, beech, birch, maple and ash are dense woods with high heating values. Woods such as sycamore, elm and yellow birch burn quickly but give off less heat. It takes about [illegible] cords of these woods to provide the same amount of heat as a ton of coal.

Woods with low heating values include poplar, sweetgum, willow and pine.

Budget debate...

House prepares for battle

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers entered the final month of the regular session today with the House debating a budget bill that might not be approved until a summer special session.

Speaker Gib Lewis said House members might be able to trim $1 billion or so from the $39.4 billion 1988-89 spending plan forwarded by the appropriations committee.

But, according to Lewis, there is no chance of getting it down to the $36.8 billion bottom line set by Gov. Bill Clements.

Clements has vowed to veto any spending plan, such as the one approved by the House Appropriations Committee, that would require a tax increase other than the continuation of the current temporary motor fuels and sales tax increases.

The Senate has approved a $39.9 billion spending plan. Differences between the House and Senate budgets will be worked out by a conference committee.

"We think we are making progress. If the governor will cooperate with the Legislature in the next four weeks, we'll get out of here" with a balanced budget, Lewis said.

Clements sees a rockier road.

"I think we can solve these problems in the next 30 days, but it's going to take some real head-knocking, some real honest-to-God getting down to brass tacks to get that done. And I haven't seen any evidence of that," the governor said.

The regular session ends June 1. The state fiscal year ends Aug. 31, meaning Clements would have to call a summer special session for budget-writing if no spending plan is drafted before the end of the regular session.

Lawmakers this week also will work on two of the session's other hot topics — abortion and tort reform. The House State Affairs Committee plans a Monday vote on a bill that would bar abortions after a fetus is "viable." A similar bill, but with different provisions, has been sent to the Senate floor.

The full Senate plans debate this week on tort reform.

The Erie Canal opened in 1825. It connected the waters of Lake Erie and the Hudson River.

McDonald's has Welding Machines and Supplies

McDonald Welding Supply has gained a reputation for service, and for good reason. The staff at McDonald Welding Supply comes early and stays late. This is especially important to the area's busy oil fields, and this is why so many companies have depended on McDonald Welding Supply for their supply needs.

The firm serves an area bounded by Sweetwater to Loraine to Colorado City and Big Spring and back to Snyder. The Company has three 18 foot bobtail trucks for delivery to farms, businesses and well locations.

In stock at McDonald Welding Supply is the Miller and Lincolin Welding equipment line, which includes small engine drives and electric machine for farm and home use. They also have a large stock of smaller welders. They vary in size and can fit in the rear of a foreign truck as well as a two-ton truck. In addition, they carry Victor and Uniweld welding and cutting equipment and Walton vises.

If you need steel for oilfield fabrication, you can find exactly what you need at McDonald Welding Supply. The firm has a complete line of Milwaukee heavy duty electric drills and grinders. They have Williams hammer wrenches and heavy tools.

Safety equipment of all types is stocked including goggles, first aid kits and refills, hard hats, liners and fire extinguishers. This popular business also stocks chains, cable, tubing and chain hoists. They have recently added a complete line of Grade "8" Hard Bolts and Nuts in sizes from 5/16 to 1 ¼. Blocks as well as all types of pulleys may be added to the list.

The available list of supplies is almost endless, just ask for it. Stop by and see Gayle or Jack McDonald and the staff at McDonald Welding Supply, 1110 College Ave.
