

Program for Pre-Schoolers Opens June 6

Parents who plan for their children to attend the summer pre-school course should contact Supt. J. L. Harper by Wednesday, June 1, he announced this week.

This program, which is financed by funds the school has received under Title I of the Education Act of March 1965, is essentially for pre-school children who will enroll in school for the first time in September, 1966, Mr. Harper explained.

Classes will begin June 6 and continue for 8 weeks. The children will come to school at 8:30 a.m. and they will return to their homes immediately after being served lunch.

The children will be introduced to first grade work, but this summer will not permit any child to skip first grade, Mr. Harper said.

Veterans Posts Plan Memorial Day Rites

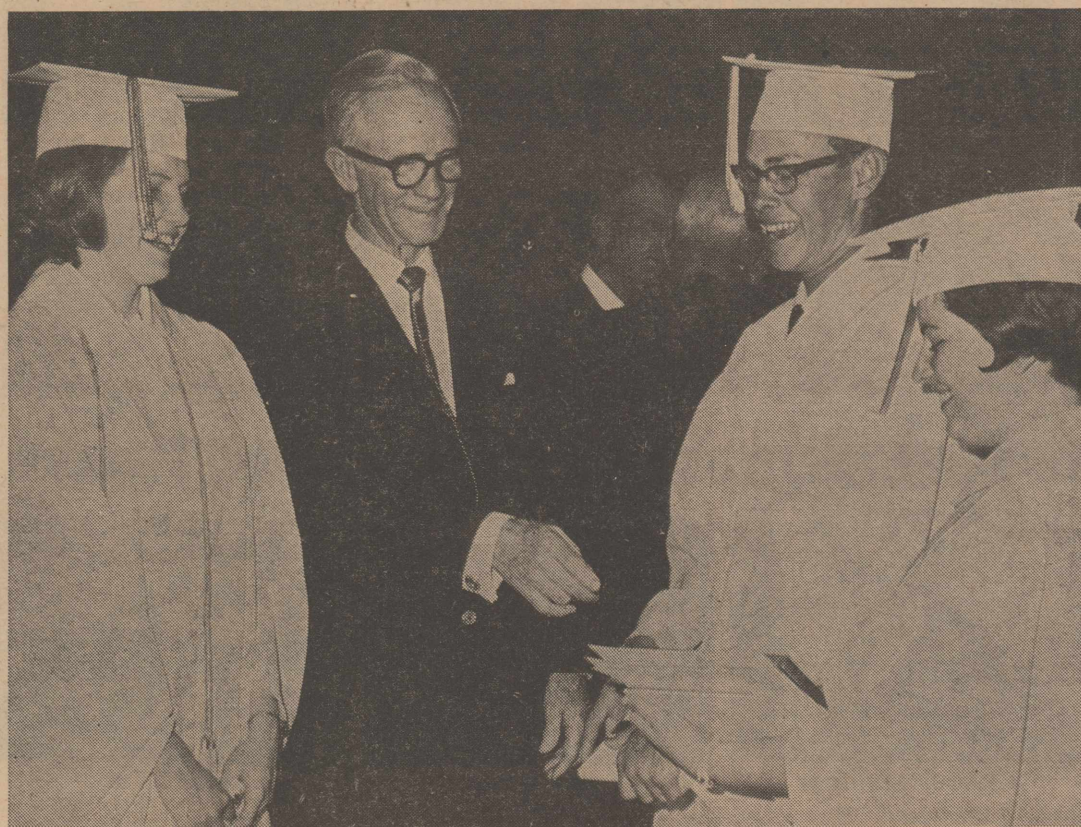

Memorial Day services will be conducted at the West Wellington Cemetery Tuesday, May 30, beginning at 9:30 a.m., Commander Jake Leach has announced.

It will be at the VFW plot. This service is held jointly each year by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion Posts. The public is invited to attend.

Graves of veterans of all wars will be decorated, using 8x12-inch American flags. More of these new flags have been purchased by the VFW so that all graves can be decorated with them, Louis Berg, quartermaster, said.

Jim Lowe will be in charge of decorations at the Quail Cemetery; W. R. Coleman and J. C. Breeding at Dozier; Charles Bradley at the Plymouth Cemetery, and A. J.

Plans Get Approval for Methodist Church Unit

The building committee of First Methodist Church met with the representatives of the architectural firm of Pardue, Reed and Dice of Wichita Falls to review final plans for the new educational building of the church.

The plans were accepted with minor change, the Rev. Ellis Todd, pastor, said.

Mr. Pardue and Mr. Reed represented their firm. The estimated cost of the first unit is $80,000 and $72,000 of this has been raised, according to Rev. Todd.

Final plans will be returned to the building committee in about six weeks, Henry Sullivan, chairman of the group reported. They will then be ready to let bids and construction should start around Sept. 1. It is hoped that the educational building can be completed in four or four and a half months.

All members of the building committee were present for the meeting, including Mr. Sullivan, Sam Thompson, vice chairman, Grant Wooldridge, Lynn Carter, Dan Henard and Claude Savage.

The educational building, which will house Sunday school classrooms for children and young people, is the first of three units to be constructed in the long-range building program of the First Methodist Church. It will be built to the south of the present church. The second unit will be a fellowship hall and the third unit the sanctuary and offices. The estimated cost of the completed project is $276,000.

J. A. Lowe, 83 Dies After Short Illness Tuesday

James Andrew Lowe, 83, a prominent Baptist layman here died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 24, a few hours after he was admitted suffering from a heart attack. He was 83.

Funeral arrangements are pending with Kelso Funeral Home.

Mr. Lowe retired less than a year ago after serving for 22 years as custodian of First Baptist Church here. During that time he was also active in Baptist affairs over the region and represented the church several times at the Texas Baptist General Convention. He was active in the men's work of the church here. He had been a Baptist since 1912.

Mr. Lowe came here with his family 51 years ago from Jacksboro. He farmed for almost 30 years, most of it in the area east of Wellington.

Born in Archer County Sept. 17, 1882, he later moved to Jacksboro, where he was married. —See back page

Dodson Ties New Well Into City Water System

Dodson's water problem appears solved with a new water well pumping 250 gallons per minute that is being tied into the city water system.

Fred Boyd, city secretary, said that the well, brought in only a few days ago, is three miles north of town on a farm owned by Mrs. Leon White of Hollis. It is approximately a mile from the other three city wells.

These wells have been in use since the water system was installed in 1932, and their output was too low to furnish the needed amount of water, Boyd said.

All wells will now pump about 300 gallons per minute and this will be enough to care for Dodson's needs at peak load, he continued.

The well, 57 feet deep, was drilled by C&H Drilling Company of Elk City.

Hearing Set to Approve Water District Tax Plan

The directors of the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District have given notice of a hearing to be held Monday, June 13, on the plan of taxation, according to Dan Henard, chairman. The hearing will be held in county courtroom, beginning at 10 p.m.

This hearing is to comply with law, Henard pointed out, but in the case of Collingsworth District, it amounts to a technicality, since the plan of taxation was set forth on the ballots, voted on and approved by the April 25 bond election.

This is a public hearing and all those interested are invited to attend.

Born Lucy Pritchard on May 18, 1874, in Knoxville, Kentucky, she was the daughter of J. S. and Rebecca Ferguson Pritchard. Later she moved with her family to Arkansas, and she and Mr. Culwell were married at Wesley, Ark., on May 13, 1894.

Early Planted Crops Growing Well in Area

A considerable acreage of Collingsworth County's crops are up and growing well, despite dry weather, reports from over the area indicate.

Approximately 90 percent of the county's irrigated cotton is up to a good stand and growing, County Agent Sam Helmers reported.

In addition to this, nearly all the county's forage feeds, such as sudan and forage sorghums are up and growing, along with 60 to 70 percent of the grain sorghums, he estimated.

The growing season is about a month late, but now that the soil temperature is in the 70's rapid growth can be expected from these crops already in the ground, it was pointed out.

Very little dry-land planting is going on this week, Helmers said, as farmers are waiting for "one more rain." The moisture in the ground was described by the county agent as "pretty good," and there is enough to get the seed out of the ground, but not enough to sustain growth if the land is opened, he explained.

Of the county's expected 34,888 acres of cotton, approximately 20 percent is planted—almost all of it the irrigated cotton.

Some of the feed, planted during the last 10 days of April, took from two weeks to 16 days to emerge, but it is now growing well.

A fair wheat crop is in prospect for the county.

"The last 3-inch rain made it," Helmers declared. However, hot winds during the last week has caused some of the grain to shrivel.

It will be the second week of June before much of the small grain crop is out here, according to estimates.

Absentee Voting for Second Primary Opens

Absentee voting in the Second Democratic Primary began Wednesday, May 25, and will continue through Tuesday, May 31, Lorene Jenkins, county clerk, reminded voters. The election date is Saturday, June 4.

This is one of the shortest ballots voters here have faced in a second primary in a number of years. For most of the county, only two races appear on the ballot. These are:

County Judge: C. C. Bishop and Zook Thomas. Voters in Precinct 2 will also vote on a commissioner, and the two names on the ballot are:

Melvin Seale and A. F. (Alfred) Knoll.

Already approximately 18 applications to vote have been made, Mrs. Jenkins said, most of them from people who will be in harvest or on vacation June 4.

The county clerk's office also reminded that the period for absentee voting in the second primary is from May 25 to June 4.

Cotton Insect Survey Program Opens in County on June 1

By SAM HELMERS
County Agent

Through the cooperation of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers Association and the Texas A&M University, a group of insect survey teams have been hired to work in 31 counties this summer. Collingsworth is one of them.

The purpose of the survey is to pinpoint areas of build-up and movement of boll weevils in the Rolling Plains area.

Fourteen fields will be checked in Collingsworth County regularly. The teams are under the direction of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service entomologist and the county agricultural agent.

The entomologist, who is a former Wellington man, Dr. John Gordon Thomas, and Sam Helmers, county agent, met with the farmers who will be cooperators in this years survey Monday, May 23 at the Cherokee Inn.

The purpose was to explain what they can expect from the survey teams and what the survey teams will expect from the farmers during the period.

Farmers cooperating in Collingsworth County are Earl Lynn Bartlett, Douglas Coleman, Delbert White, Roy Canada, N. E. Childers, Franklin Knoll, Raymond Barton, Palo Cummings, John Brim, Orville Vaughan, Olan Farris, Jimmy Bowen, Wayne Martin and Zook Thomas. These men represent all parts of the county.

Men on the team are Darrell D. Collins, a member last year, and Jerry L. Pulley. Both will be seniors in Texas Tech next year. They will check 14 fields each in Collingsworth and Hall Counties and five in Donley

School Transfer Deadline June 1

Parents of students wishing to transfer from the school district in which they reside for the 1966-67 term should make application in the office of B. W. Beaird, county superintendent, before June 1.

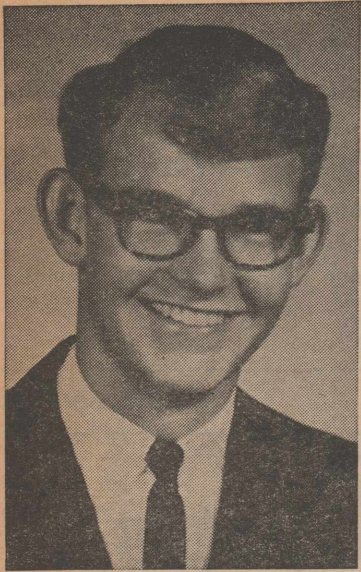

Transfer approval is required for all students who will attend school in a district other than the one in which they reside, Mrs. Harold Scott pointed out.

This includes students living in the county as well as those living in surrounding counties who transfer into school districts in Collingsworth.

Seabees Seek New Recruits

DALLAS.— Captain Jimmie E. Savage, United States Navy, the Director of Navy Recruiting for the 5-state area of the Southwest announced the Navy's new Construction Battalion program (Seabees) continues to offer attractive programs for personnel with experience and know how.

This program, where qualified construction workers may enlist in the Navy in advanced pay grades for as short a period as two years is attracting many draft eligible individuals who are able to fulfill their draft obligation in the field of their choice and are able to maintain or even improve their efficiency in their chosen field of employment.

This unique program is open to people from 18 to 40 years of age, who have a minimum of three years experience in certain construction fields.

Ratings particularly desired in the CB program are steelworkers, equipment operators, construction mechanics, builders, utilitiesmen, and construction electricians.

Some of the other attractive features of the program in addition to the two year obligation in higher pay grades of the Navy are no "Boot Camp" training and no prior service needed to qualify for enlistment in the CBs.

For additional information concerning the Navy CB Program, men may contact the Navy Recruiter at Amarillo.

New Test Familiarizes Drivers With Safety Skills

The new 1966 National Drivers test is slated over a television network for Tuesday, May 24, at 9 p. m., and local law enforcement officials join the Texas Safety Association in urging all drivers to test themselves at that time.

This is a continuation of the test given last year, which alerted the public to the need for learning new driving skills as well as improving old ones. Again the viewers at home will receive the correct answers immediately after each question. At the same time, test groups representing a cross section of the nation's drivers will take the test in the broadcasting studio.

What the viewer will see in his home is an application of the Defensive Driving Method which commercial vehicle drivers have practiced for years, and which gives them a safe-driving record twice as good as the average motorist. As much as possible will be squeezed into the one-hour program.

This comes just three days before the often-tragic Memorial Day week end in an effort to create greater awareness of holiday driving hazards and the need for special skills in avoiding these hazards.

We, too, urge that you take this test, then apply the "defensive driving" skills you learn.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW:

WHAT'S AHEAD FOR RETAIL STORES

By Roger W. Babson

At first glance, no segment of our economy appears to be in better shape than retailing. Sales have been climbing at a fast clip for some years now and the immediate future is bright. Yet retailers are troubled by rising costs, including taxes.

The Sales Picture

During the past ten years the economic, social and scientific progress of the United States has been very great. We have had a continuing boom in population, incomes, agricultural and industrial productivity, and over-all scientific achievement. This has been good for many — indeed most — businesses. And retailers generally have been extremely successful. Last year, retail sales volume totaled $283.9 billion — up 8½% from 1964 and a most impressive 54½% above 1955.

During the first four months of this year, additional good gains in retail sales have been chalked up. The prospects for a record first-half-year are excellent. Employment is at the highest level ever, and personal income — bolstered by rising wages, interest and dividends, as well as larger government payments — are still trending up. This means that retail sales should continue to show good gains versus a year ago in the months just ahead.

Store Expansions

With U.S. markets still growing and with people still trekking from the cities to the suburbs, 1966 should see a sizeable increase in the total number of retail stores. Most of the larger department store chains, the leading variety chains, and the multi-unit discount store operations are scheduling store expansion programs in the months ahead. And these plans are not likely to be DRAMATICALLY curtailed even though some may be trimmed because of tighter money and higher interest rates.

What kind of stores will be built? Mostly one-level outlets of functional design, but with modern decor and lighting. As for size: A good many really big units are still being opened, but even the department stores are shying away from the excessively large outlets which became popular in the 1950's and early 1960's.

Competition

With the retail dollar pie growing larger and with retailers' costs rising steadily, readers can expect the competitive situation within the industry to intensify. Junior department stores and variety chains will now more openly and more persistently vie with each other and the rivalry between discounters and the more traditional retailers will become sharper.

There will also be more competition in the recruitment of executive and sales personnel and in the attainment of suitable supply sources. Today's record-high incidence of employment at good wages and the growing sophistication of consumers are leading to an upgrading of American tastes that is permeating the whole retail scene. The pressure on the stores to upgrade their wares and to acquire still better selections of quality merchandise is already great. We think it will increase in the period just ahead.

What About Discounters?

Three or four years ago, a number of discount department store companies were in deep trouble. Some lacked sufficient financing. Others were critically short of executive manpower to properly run their expanded operations. There was a shake-out, after which the survivors came into more responsible and stronger hands.

Today the leading discount store companies — which include some very good regional operations as well as the large national chains — are more certain of where they are heading and of their ability to get a larger share of the total merchandising dollar.

Leading discounters meeting last month in Atlantic City formed the Mass Merchandising Research Foundation, Inc. This organization will compile badly needed merchandising and operational data and percentage breakdowns. Armed with these facts and with updated information on consumer marketing trends, the discounters aim to improve and consolidate their position. If they can succeed in upgrading without losing their low-margin image, the discounters will present a still greater challenge to other retailers.

CHANGING TIME

As we get older, work seems a lot less fun and fun seems a lot more work.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

According to history, the Ancient American (1776-1932) built up a tolerably strong country, working on the principle of individual pursuit of happiness.

But my socialco neighbor says this left lots of people behind in the happiness race, on account of they were shorter-legged or shorter-winded or lazier than others.

So government is now rigging the race, by doing out extra happiness to some, and extra trouble to others, so as to provide equal happiness for all except Republicans.

I see where Defense-Secy. McNamara said that bombing industrial centers in North Viet Nam wouldn't have any real effect on Hanoi's capacity to indulge in war.

And my retro-thinker neighbor says if we had just had Grand Whizzard McN running World War II, we could have saved all the money we spent bombing German war tools factories.

Says now that Mc has invented brains, us pre-computer ancients know that we've been wrong all this time in thinking the way to keep a dog from biting you is to knock his teeth out.

non-white neighbors to color-balance the hospital's patient load.

Lots of non-Alabamans have rushed into print here lately with critical cracks about how Governor Wallace of said state is trying to get his wife into the governing job after his term runs out.

But my wife-kept neighbor says in this day of high prices and high taxes and high living, lots of men have had to depend on their wives to support them when they lose their jobs.

And Gov. Wallace proves he is a very thoughtful husband by making this effort to get Mrs. Wallace a softer job than taking in washing.

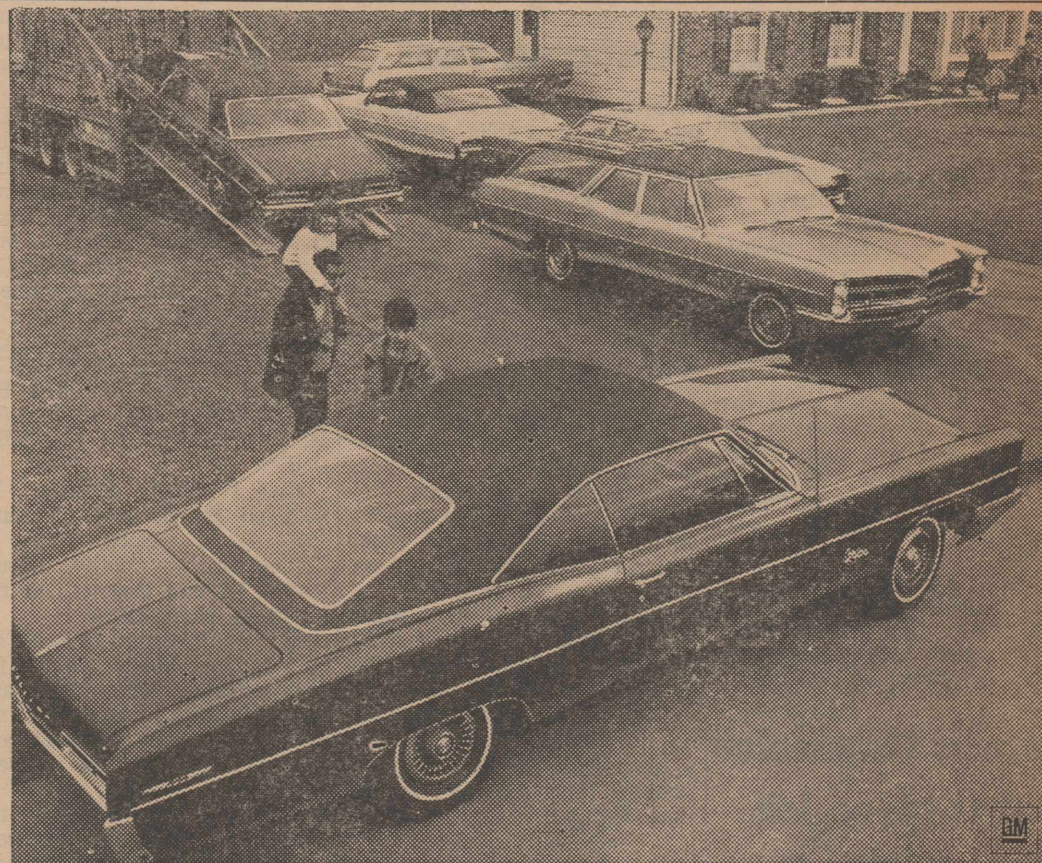

D. E. SCOTT.

Proper Flag Respect Responsibility of All

FIRST OF THREE ARTICLES

AUSTIN.—Proper respect for the flag is one of the fundamental responsibilities of United States citizenship, according to The American Legion. "It is surprising the number of our adult citizens who do not know what to do when the flag passes by or is being raised or lowered," said Clayton Mann of Wichita Falls, State Commander.

As Flag Day — June 14 — and Memorial Day, May 30 — approach, the Legion, in this the first of a series of three articles, hopes to better acquaint the public on flag etiquette. Most people wish to pay proper respect, but have simply forgotten the fundamentals from school days. A few take "a care less" attitude.

The American Legion receives all sorts of inquiries concerning flag etiquette and a few of these questions are included in this article, along with the proper answer.

Q.—Is it proper to fly the flag of the United States of America outdoors all night long?

A.—No. The rules of civilian flag etiquette govern, and the flag should be displayed outdoors only from sunrise to sunset. (Public Law No. 329, commonly known as the Flag Law.) The only cases where the flag properly flies all night long are: (1) Two flags over the Capitol Building in Washington; one over the east front and one over the west front, day and night, throughout the year; (2) Over a permanent fort or ship when engaged in battle; (3) When our armed forces are engaged in battle; (4) Certain other patriotic shrines where Congress has specifically authorized display at night.

Q.—What interpretation is placed on that part of (Public Law 329) which reads: "the flag may be displayed at night upon special occasions when it is desired to produce a patriotic effect?"

A.—The term "special occasions" means athletic events, bond campaign ceremonies, patriotic pageants, parades, etc.

Q.—Is it proper to carry the flag with a band or other marching unit at night at an athletic event, and to display the flag on a pole, with a spotlight or floodlights on it, during the event?

A.—Yes, it is entirely proper. The provisions of the Flag Code which prohibit the display of the flag at night apply to the display of flags on buildings and on stationary flagstays except as provided in the Flag Law for the display of the flag on special occasions for patriotic effect.

Q.—When the flag is not flown from a staff, how should it be displayed?

A.—It should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out, or so suspended that its folds fall as though the flag were staffed. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right; that is, to the observer's left. When displayed in a window of a home or a place of business, the flag should be displayed in the same way; that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

Q.—What is proper respect to the flag during the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag, or when the flag is passing in parade or in a review?

A.—All persons should face the flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the military salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headress with the right hand, holding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Men without headresses salute by placing the right hand over the heart. Aliens should stand at attention. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The Salute to the flag in the moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes.

Q.—When should the flag be at half-staff?

A.—(a) The flag is half-staffed on Memorial Day, May 30, from sunrise until noon; it is displayed at full-staff from noon until sunset.

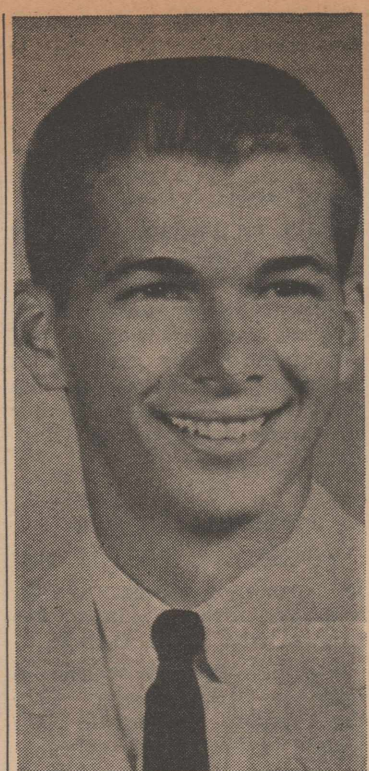

(b) Since the flag symbolizes the nation, it is half-staffed only in cases where it is appropriate to indicate that the nation mourns and then customarily by proclamation of the President of the United States.

When it is desired to show that a state, city, club, large industry, or a society mourns, then the state, city, club, industry or society flag or banner should be half-staffed or dressed in crepe.

It is important to remember that the flag should never be used for advertising purposes in any manner whatsoever. It should not be embroidered on such articles as cushions or handkerchiefs and the like, printed or otherwise impressed on paper napkins, boxes, or anything designed for temporary use and discard; or used as any portion of a costume or athlete's uniform. Advertising signs should not be fastened to a staff or hayrack from which the flag is flown.

Miss Kelso Wins Drama Award

Anna Kay Kelso, a student in Abilene Christian College, recently received the award as outstanding supporting actress for 1965-66 at the drama department banquet.

It is considered unusual for a freshman to win this award, which was for her performance in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Miss Kelso will be home on Wednesday, then return for the first summer term of ACC, which opens June 6.

Thomases to Live In Lubock for Summer Study

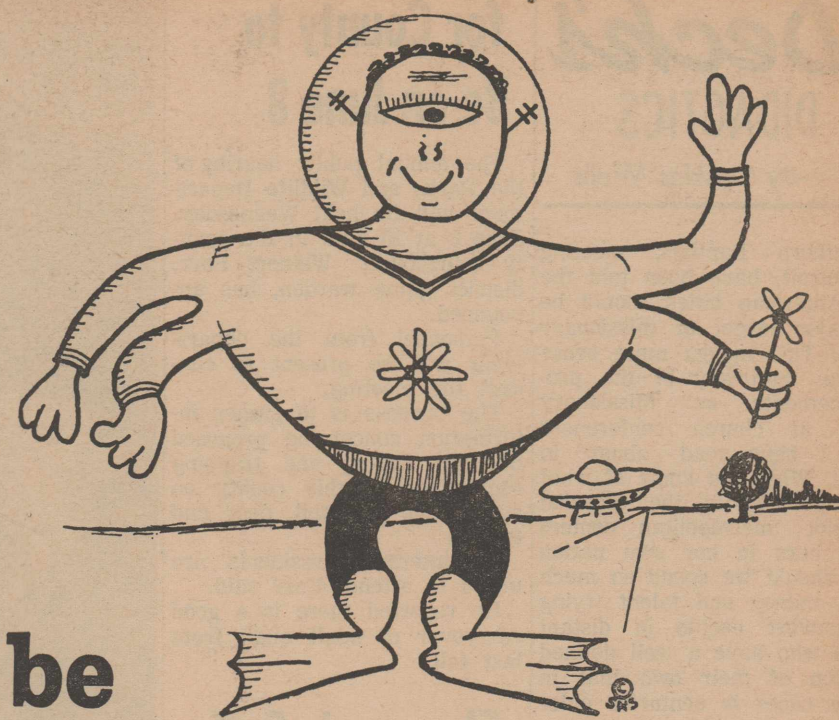

Mr. and Mrs. John Alf Thomas and small daughter will move late this week from their farm home at Lillie to Lubbock, where he will attend the summer session of Texas Tech.

Most of us enjoy traveling (including our neighbors from outer space, according to some reports). We want to see the world... to broaden our horizons if not our shapes.

And our most expensive travels are those trips we take to the next larger cities than our own home supply base... where the community-prospering 1/3 of the dollars we spend make somebody else's community more prosperous, instead of our own.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Southern Baptists, meeting in Detroit, have been told the big American cities should be a major target of missionary work. This makes more sense to me than any of the pronouncements on missionary work at church conferences that I have read about in years. When we know of what is happening in the crowded polyglot metropolitan centers right here in our own nation why should we spend so much time, money and talent trying to convert people in distant lands who have a well defined religion of their own that in many cases is centuries older than our own.

You know and I know what is happening in the slums and the areas that are not so decrepit in the big cities. There live millions of people who are as far away from religion as any tribe in Africa or the most underprivileged caste in India or Asia. These unfortunate people in our own midst do not even possess pagan morality and honesty. It seems to me that the Baptists may be correct in considering these areas and these people as a prime field most in need of missionary work. It is obvious that government doles and politics can't solve this cancerous evil.

The prairie fire on the ranch northeast of Amarillo brought forth tales of bigger fires in other days when much of the range was unfenced and the roads were few and far between. One of these concerns an expansive one in our own county that lasted from four to eight days, depending upon the narrator.

W. M. Williams, who lived in the Little community at the time, says the fire started near Marella. Fanned by a high wind from the west the fire spread rapidly through the knee high grass and swept on north of Wellington to the Mill Iron and on north of Dodson. Desperate people fought the fire for days; but it was a change in the wind that enabled them to bring the raging, leaping inferno under control. The west wind shifted to a south wind and drove the fire into Salt Fork, enabling the settlers and the ranchers to put out the fringes in short order.

Bill Williams' memory of the fire is that it was in February of either 1906 or 1907. The grass was dry and people were still harvesting their crops. The people tried to build backfires at the small roads and other natural obstructions; but the efforts were futile for sometimes a gust of wind would hurl a ball of fire fifty feet or more to set a new fire across the road or the attempted backfire. There were too few people and not enough time to cope with the wind and the fire. Mr. Williams says that all the chickens and livestock including the buildings on the Albert Brewer farm were burned.

John Henard, Sr., is of the opinion that the year was 1907 and verifies many of Bill Williams' statements regarding the month of the year and the scope of the fire. Mr. Henard and Smoky Bonner, Rich Coker and W. D. Bailey went out to fight the fire together for there was great danger if one man became separated from his companions. There is one difference in their recollections and it concerns the length of time the fire lasted: Mr. Williams thinks it must have been seven or eight days and Mr. Henard says he believes it lasted no more than three or four; but he observed: That is a tremendously long time for a grass fire to burn both day and night.

Temple Slay stopped by the newspaper to congratulate this columnist on the remarks about the high school graduates of the present day. I must hunt up last week's paper and read what I said. After forty some-odd years in the newspaper business I can take criticism and I can dish it right back in more forms than one. By nature I am the sort of person who would rather praise than criticize and for this reason I appreciate every commendation I receive.

Game Hearing for County to Be on June 8

The annual public hearing of the Parks and Wildlife Department will be held Wednesday, June 8 at 10 a.m. in the county courthouse, Weinert Farr, district game warden, has announced.

Personnel from the department will be present to conduct the meeting.

The purpose is to gather information concerning proposed hunting, fishing and trapping regulations in this county on such game as quail, deer and turkey.

All interested residents are urged to attend, Farr said.

He reported there is a good carryover of adult quail from last fall.

Shamrock Golf Tourney Set

Shamrock's annual golf tournament is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 3, 4 and 5, and Wellington golfers are invited to participate.

The 72-hole match play event will take place at the Shamrock Country Club. The entry fee of $10 will include a lunch for 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 3. Harry Frye is tournament director.

Qualifying and practice rounds are scheduled Friday, June 3 with 36 holes of match play following on Saturday and again on Sunday.

Players unable to qualify on June 3 may submit their average scores or established handicaps.

A special flight has been added to this tournament, the senior flight for golfers 55 years of age and over. The senior flight will play four 9-hole matches instead of four 18-hole matches. Qualifying rounds will not be required, but those wishing to enter the senior flight should so state in their entry, Frye said.

Those wishing additional information may contact him at Shamrock.

Absentee Voting

ond primary is considerably shorter than in the first primary. Besides this, there is also a long week end, as the clerk's office will be closed Monday in observance of Memorial Day. This leaves only three days in which persons wishing to take care of absentee voting can do so at the clerk's office.

onstrator agent in Collingsworth County. The Kees plan to be here in June and hope to meet many of the friendly people of this area.

The time for absentee balloting has arrived. You could have cast an absentee ballot Wednesday; but if you did not, you have only three days left to exercise this option in case you will be out of town on election day. Absentee balloting ends May 31; but the courthouse is closed with the exception of the sheriff's office on Saturday and Monday is Memorial Day. Therefore you have only three days to cast an absentee ballot.

This is the time of year when people spend more time out of doors gardening, vacationing, boating, and many other activities in which they may receive superficial cuts and wounds. It is the time of the year when children cut their hands and feet on glass, tin cans, and become exposed and vulnerable to tetanus. That is a mild sounding word; but it is lockjaw when it affects the muscles of the jaw or neck and it is terrible when the main center is in any other part of the body. Only 40% of the victims of this malady survive. One shot will protect your children for the summer and perhaps longer as far as I know.

In the old days a rusty nail in the foot of a youngster was another household operation. My mother first washed the foot in soapy hot water. Next she put the foot in a pan of turpentine. After that she placed sugar in a pan and set it on fire and came as close to burning a hole in your foot. It worked; but would it not be simpler to take your child to a doctor and get a preventative shot?

George Henry may be interested in knowing that the newly elected Beauty Queen of the Central Texas Electric Co-operative is Miss Laura Lu Gass. People who are interested in sir names that are given names and vice versa may be intrigued to learn that the full name of Mr. Henry is George Lee Henry.

Dodson Group to Sell Poppies

Members of the Dodson Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will observe Poppy Day Saturday, May 28, according to Mrs. Duard Luck, poppy chairman.

The poppies will be sold at the American Legion building, which is on Dodson's main street. Auxiliary members will take turns working through the day.

Poppy Day grew out of World War I, and those sold are crepe paper replicas of the European wild poppies which bloomed in the battle cemeteries of France and Belgium, and which were popularized in the poem, "Flanders Field."

"The poppies are made by the millions by veterans of three wars who work in veterans hospitals and convalescent workrooms maintained by the Auxiliary. By wearing memorial poppies this Saturday, the people of the Dodson community will be paying tribute to over 500,000 men who gave their lives for America," Mrs. Luck said.

ried to Miss Josie King Feb. 27, 1902.

Mr. Lowe is survived by his wife and two daughters, and a son, Mrs. Alvin Squires of Riverside, Calif., and Mrs. Francis Roberts and Olan Lowe of Wellington.

Other survivors are a sister and three brothers, Mrs. Maudie Atkinson of Graham, T. J. Lowe of Davidson, Okla., Jeff Lowe of Lubbock, and Bill Lowe of San Antonio. There are 11 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

C. B. Storm

Channel 7 is reserved for the base station's use, Kopp said and information picked up by it is passed on to Police Chief Donald Nunnelle, Sheriff John Rainey or Deputy Troy Marsh.

The station operators are requesting that all other operators leave channel 7 open and report to the operators nearest them. Otherwise the storm warning channel will be unable to operate effectively, as was shown in a recent dry run, Kopp said.

Firemen Called to Small Grass Fire

The Fire Department was called to the 1600 block on East Avenue about 11 a.m. Monday, May 23, to put out a grass fire at a vacant house, Police Chief Donald Nunnelle said.

The blaze apparently started from fire that blew out of a nearby trash barrel, according to Nunnelle, who is also fire marshal.

Man Charged with Burglary

A home on North Haskell Street was burglarized recently while the owners were in California and a Wellington man was arrested at the scene, Police Chief Donald Nunnelle reported.

He was identified by Chief Nunnelle as Claude E. Milbeaur, about 33.

The police chief was notified that the man was on the premises of the U. S. Bolton home and went to the scene. He said the man had a package of frozen food taken from the deep freeze. He waived examining trial and Justice of the Peace Claude McKinney set bond at $2,500. Milbeaur is being held in the county jail.

Vaccinate Dogs Again June 2

Sixty-eight dogs were vaccinated during the annual city vaccination program Thursday, May 19, Police Chief Donald Nunnelle announced.

Dogs will be vaccinated again on Thursday, June 2, and city officials will be assisted by the Boy Scouts.

"The usual $2.00 fee will be charged but the Scouts will receive 25 cents for each dog they bring in," Chief Nunnelle said.

Needwood to Work Cemetery

A cemetery working is scheduled at Needwood Cemetery Monday, May 30, Mrs. Bill Hill has announced.

"All interested are urged to bring hoes, rakes, and other implements and help. Donations are being taken to finish fencing the cemetery," Mrs. Hill said.

She added that anyone with unmarked graves in the cemetery is urged to be present. Needwood Cemetery is nine miles east of Lutie at the end of FM 1439.
