HE'S A NATIVE SON

Arch March Elected First City Manager

Arch March, whose parents were living here when he was born, has been selected by Muleshoe City Council to be the first city manager. One of his first memories is seeing a sign on the courthouse lawn in the Bailey County capital advising that walking on the grass would involve a $5 fine.

March is a nephew of A. J. Gardner, assistant postmaster here.

March, 30, is a son of Mrs. Joe March of Floydada and her late husband.

March, a graduate of Lawton, Okla., High School in 1948, Cameron Junior College in 1950 and Texas Tech in 1954, is a former administrative aide at the City Hall, where he began work in 1954 while a student at Tech. He was first assigned to the Purchasing Department, later in the Police Department and ended the year in the Traffic Department.

Experience Is Varied

In 1955, he was assigned as an aide to the director of Public Works and assisted in projects in the Sanitation Department, Public Works budgeting, Parks and bond issue development program.

In 1956, he was assigned as an aide to the director of Planning and Traffic and participated in projects in the Planning Department, Medical Center development and the Urban Renewal program.

From 1950 to 1952, he saw military service with the 45th Infantry National Guard division. His present status is a 2nd Lt. in the U. S. Army Reserve.

He is married and has one son, Steven, 4 years old. He is a member of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church where Mrs.

ARCH MARCH

March has served as organist. He is a member of the board of directors of Lubbock Little Theatre and the Caprock Lions Club.

March, 12th administrative aide to leave City Hall, will assume his new duties on September 16.

Muleshoe recently voted a mayor, council and city manager home rule administration which will become operational next April.

Cifford White Soloed Sunday

Clifford White, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman White made his first solo flight at the Muleshoe Airport Sunday.

White left the airport on his solo at 7 p.m., in the Piper Super Cub training plane and made the required number of take-offs and landings which Instructor, Harold Locke, said he did perfectly.

Airport officials said that White is the second 16 year old to solo here and the youngest ever soloed by Instructor Locke. He has 11 hours of flying time logged.

Relatives and friends were on hand to congratulate him when he landed. In the old flying tradition, his shirt tail was torn off by student private pilot, Lyndol Kinser, and the remnant now hangs on the airport wall with White's name and the date he soloed.

Others making solo flights recently at the airport are Dr. Ray Santos, of the West Plains Hospital; J. C. Gatewood, Muleshoe Journal employee; Joe and David Jackson, both Muleshoe Flying Service employees.

RECORD SORGHUM YIELD PREDICTED

Summer Showers Brighten Crop Outlook

As of mid-August, grain sorghum prospects for Bailey County both dryland and irrigated, promise to set a record as far as yields per acre are concerned.

Much of the south end of Bailey County failed to get in on the fine rain of August 9th and also the rain of the week following, but in general, sorghum crops are holding up well and prospects are favorable for a rain to come to the aid of the dryland farmer before his crop burns.

The dryland farmer also can look forward to much better than average cotton yields if killing freezes stay away until November.

The irrigated farmer has prospects of making a top grain sorghum crop with much less cost for irrigation than expected.

The irrigated cotton is quite another story. Seeding disease hit April planted cotton a severe blow and wasn't too kind to cotton planted in May. Thrip damage was probably the worst in Bailey County history for the first few weeks of the life of our irrigated cotton.

Our county agent spent Thursday with state specialists on plant diseases, Dr. Harlan Smith, and also in company with John Thomas, who is area entomologist for the extension service.

Studies were made of sandy land cotton in Hockley County and found considerable damage from nematode infestation of roots.

This soil insect causes small knots to form on the roots and also in puncturing the roots, allows more damage from bacteria and fungus.

New Wilt Studied

Considerable damage was found from bacteria disease known as Pseudomonas wilt, which caused a dark tarlike spot to appear in the soft center or pith area of the lower area of the main stalk. Bailey County farmers will be hearing more about this new wilt.

The present and most important problem now facing the manager of our irrigated cotton is whether to stop watering following the rain of Tuesday evening or to give it one more soaking.

J. K. Adams reports that cotton maturity varies so radically over the area that a general recommendation is not in order, but adds that the farmer with a well loaded cotton field that is now full of blooms might irrigate cotton until August 20, and still harvest a good crop of high grade cotton while the farmer with a late crop that is just now blooming satisfactorily, may ruin his grade and slow maturity too much.

In their words, it is wishful thinking and against the laws of plant physiology, to think that late cotton can be pushed into doing something by late watering.

Late watering and early frost could mean disaster to the cotton planned in June. Farmers are advised that this is the season bollworm usually appear and the very young worms are the ones that can satisfactorily be controlled.

MEETING CALLED TO CONSIDER

Four P-TA Units Proposed

Our Bicycle Stunt Is Noised Abroad

News of retail promotions in Muleshoe gets around fast these days.

A story concerning the bicycle give away promotion held by members of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce last Christmas eve appeared this week in the U. S. Chamber of Commerce monthly newsletter.

The newsletter is received at every Chamber of Commerce in the nation and by many other organizations as well.

The current newsletter was received at the local CC office Wednesday.

On Thursday morning, the mail bore inquiries from a Chamber of Commerce at Norfolk, Neb., asking for more information about the promotion so that it can be used in that city.

Chamber president Lindal Murray expressed satisfaction that other Chambers of Commerce will have an opportunity to make use of a good promotion conceived in Muleshoe.

Merchants May Use Advertising In Teacher Gifts

Merchants who want to include advertising novelties and gifts in the Hospitality Kit for Muleshoe teachers, should bring them to the Chamber of Commerce office by Saturday, it was announced today by W. B. McSpadden and Ray Daniels, co-chairmen of the CC Education Committee, which is sponsoring the teachers welcome luncheon.

The luncheon to welcome teachers to Muleshoe, will be held at noon on August 25, at Leigon's Dining Room.

All three of the civic clubs in Muleshoe, the Lions, Rotary, and Jaycees will be hosts for the luncheon, and all will forego their regular meeting dates that week in order to meet with the teachers.

Mayor Houston Hart will welcome the teachers on behalf of the city, and Superintendent Neal Dillman will reply for the teachers.

Muleshoe P-TA is to have a called meeting Monday, August 22, at 8 p.m., in the high school auditorium for the purpose of voting on the dissolving of the organization as it now stands.

Plans are to set up four separate P-TA units, one for each of the four schools: Mary DeShazo Elementary, Richland Hills Elementary, Junior High, and High School.

The executive committee met recently in Mr. Dillman's office and discussed the advantages of having four separate P-TA units. It is believed that this would benefit the community for the following reasons:

1. Better programs could be worked out to meet the needs of each school.

2. Through controlled competition each unit could accomplish more in the projects for that particular school.

3. It would act as a stimulus to increase interest and membership.

Of course this plan will pose some problems. However, the executive committee believes the advantages will far outweigh the disadvantages.

Each member of the P-TA and all interested parties are encouraged to be present. Everyone will be given a chance to express his views and opinions concerning the above plans.

SHALLOWATER GIRL QUEEN

Texas Electric Cooperatives Inc. Had 550 Delegates At Meeting

CARNETTA BURGETT

Miss Texas Rural Electrification for 1961—Carnetta Burgett of Shallowater, 18 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie J. Burgett of Route 1, Shallowater. She will be a student at West Texas State College at Canyon this fall. She is 5'6" tall, weighs 123, and measures 36-24-36. She was named to the state beauty title during the Twentieth Annual Meeting of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., in Austin August 11-12. She entered the state contest as Miss South Plains Electric Co-op, representing this rural utility which headquarters in Lubbock.

AUSTIN — More than one million Texans using rural electric power have a new president and a new beauty for their state organization.

The 550 delegates to the annual meeting of Texas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., were praised last week (Thursday and Friday) for their resistance to attempts to raise the interest rates on loans in America.

Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth said the electric co-ops helped block manipulated interest rates which have not stopped inflation but have increased inflation while providing nothing new in the form of goods and services.

Elected president of TEC was E. H. Florence of Douglasville (Cass County), manager of Bowie-Cass Electric Co-op. Carnetta Burgett, 18, of Shallowater, near Lubbock, became the 1961 Miss Texas Rural Electrification. She succeeded June Johnson of Slaton, also from South Plains Electric Co-op, who was the 1960 queen.

W. O. Burch of Sinton is the new TEC vice-president. W. R. Barron of Franklin is the new secretary-treasurer. New directors named to the board of directors include J. W. Cunningham of Bonham, Fannin County Electric Co-op; J. W. Coppedge of Memphis, Hall County Electric Co-op; G. R. Schumann of Bellville, San Bernard Electric Co-op, and Carroll Land of San Angelo, manager of Concho Valley Electric Co-op.

A "Brighter Tomorrow for Rural Texans" was forecast by speakers, including C. G. Wright, Attorney General Will Wilson of Austin, Rural Electrification Administrator Ravid Hamill of Washington, D. C., and State Senator Charles F. Herring of Austin.

Delegates approved a resolution calling for revisions in the Texas Civil Statutes to permit freedom of membership in power co-ops in rural areas and to continue efforts to get permission for co-ops to continue serving the areas the co-ops have developed after they are annexed to cities—with the approval of the city government.

Resolutions also condemned activities of loan sharks in Texas and called for approval of an amendment to the Texas Constitution, offered on the November 8 ballot, regulating lending practices.

Congressman Wright said, "Instead of stopping people from borrowing, the high interest rates fostered by the Administration have made everything we do in America cost more. It's begun to siphon away the buying power of the American economy. The government itself is the biggest victim."

Wright said the U. S. Government has made a profit of more than fifty-million dollars from the Rural Electrification lending program in the past twenty-five years with loans to locally-owned electric co-ops repaid at two per cent interest, and being repaid ahead of schedule.

Tom Beavley of Austin, former Texas Secretary of State and general counsel for TEC, attacked propaganda calling the electric co-op "socialistic", and said emphasis must be made on true facts that co-ops are locally-owned Texas corporations providing services to their owner-consumers, local payrolls, and local control. He called for fair play from large power companies.

Many Questions Arise Over Disability Provisions of Social Security Act

"Many people are asking about disability provisions of the Social Security Act", John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security District Office, declared today. "These provisions have drawn the interest of some people who are temporarily out of work because of an injury." Mr. Hutton continued, "However, the law was not written to insure the risk of temporary disability."

THE HOSPITALITY ROUTE
COAST TO COAST

Mr. Hutton explained that under the law the definition of disability in "inability to engage in any substantial gainful activity." The condition must be expected to continue indefinitely or to result in death. It can either be physical or mental, but it must be so severe that it is not likely to be improved by medical treatment to the point of making it possible to return to work.

An example might be a worker who breaks a leg. He knows he will probably be off the job for as much as three months. This might have some effect on his social security record, but when his whole working history is considered upon retirement, the effect would be small. This worker would have every reason to believe he would return to work within the foreseeable future. For this reason, his disability, because it is temporary, would not qualify him under the social security disability provisions.

On the other hand, a worker who discovers he has a severe case of tuberculosis that prevents him from doing any kind of work, has no way of knowing when he will be able to return to work. When he has been disabled six months, he can apply for benefits if he is age 50 or over, or to have his record frozen if he is under 50.

Mr. Hutton noted there are other requirements that must be met before a worker's social security record can be frozen or benefits can be paid. Among these is the work requirement which states that a worker must have social security credit for at least five out of the ten years prior to his date of disability.

Anyone who needs further information is invited to contact the Lubbock Social Security Office by phone, mail, or in person. The people there will be happy to explain to you your rights under the Social Security Act. The address is 1616-19th St., Lubbock, Texas.

A representative of the Lubbock Social Security Office will be in Muleshoe on Thursday, August 25, in the County Courthouse at 9:30 a.m., and will be glad to assist in all matters pertaining to social security.

Applying ammonia helps produce 60-bushel wheat

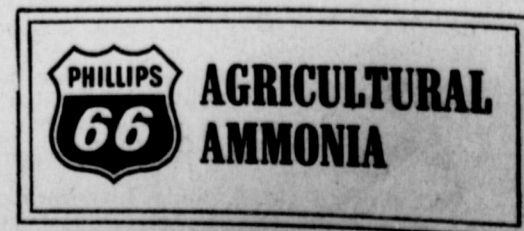

Leading West Texas farmers like C. B. WILHELM apply 100 lbs. of ammonia per acre on wheat

C. B. Wilhelm, who farms 275 acres in Castro County, says: "Phillips 66 Ammonia pays profit returns on wheat. After pre-plant applications of 100 pounds of ammonia per acre, I've made 50 to 60 bushel wheat. Phillips 66 Ammonia is also used successfully on maize. I figure on increasing my ammonia application rate on maize this year to further increase yields."

Thousands of Texas farmers are using Phillips 66 Ammonia to help assure top net profits per acre. Actual field reports prove that this 82% nitrogen fertilizer (1) boosts wheat and small grain yields (2) increases maize yields (3) produces more high grade cotton (4) improves forage production.

See your local Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia Distributor now. You can depend on better ammonia service. Phillips 66 Agricultural Ammonia may be applied by you or your distributor.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

by Vern Sanford

Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, TEX.—How much income does an older person need to live decently during the retirement years?

Governor's Statewide Advisory Committee on Aging sought to discover this and other information in a survey on the needs and problems of Texas' older citizens.

For a couple, 43 per cent of Texas counties estimated the minimum at $1,500 to $2,000 a year. Thirty-five per cent set the minimum at $2,000 to $2,500.

For a single elderly person, 58 per cent of the counties suggested $1,000 to $1,500 as a minimum annual income. Twenty-four per cent named a higher figure—$1,500 to $2,000.

Some 4,000 persons took part in the grass-roots, county-by-county survey. Recommendations growing out of their findings will be discussed at a conference in Austin on September 7 and 8. Out of this will come the Texas contributions to the White House Conference on Aging next January.

SURPRISE!—Amid all the upped budget requests they have received lately, state officials were happily stunned when University of Texas officials asked approval to spend a comparatively pittance sum for a president's home.

UT asked to spend $40,000 to build a home for its president Harry H. Ransom.

Last year legislative leaders blew over the $100,000-plus president's homes built by two smaller state colleges. Officials responsible for the expenditure were called on the carpet.

This time the scene was played in reverse. "Do you really think this will be enough?" worried Legislative Budget Board. Plenty, said UT officials.

They said they'll use a site the University already owns, clear it with University equipment and cut material costs by using "historic" bricks from UT buildings that have been torn down.

DRIVER CURBS STUDIED—Ways to clip the wings of irresponsible drivers who carry no insurance are being studied by a committee of the Texas Legislative Council.

Spokesmen for the casualty insurance industry told the panel they were opposed to a compulsory insurance law. They suggested that pressure could be exerted by such measures as requiring uninsured drivers involved in accidents to put up a money deposit, revoking licenses, impounding cars, etc.

Committee also heard Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., urge a system of traffic courts for Texas. County courts are completely bogged down by the appeals from traffic cases, said Garrison.

HIGHWAY LEASE PROSPECTS DIM—Chances of the state's earning money by leasing mineral rights along state roadways are not encouraging, a legislative committee found.

Committee learned from a national survey that only two oil and gas-producing states get income from leasing along highway rights of way. One reported earnings of less than $100; one of $5,763.

An Attorney General's opinion recently held that the state owned mineral rights along the roadways.

But State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer reported there's not much demand for highway leases.

SCHOOL "HOSPITALITY"—Texas School for the Deaf has been serving free meals under circumstances not authorized by law, reported State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

During the past two years, said Cavness, the school has served 3,325 free meals. Most were for pre-school-age deaf and blind children and their parents here for special summer courses for parents.

School is authorized by the State Board of Education to hold the summer courses. Cavness observed, but it is not directed either by law or the board to serve free meals to participants.

Cavness' audit showed the school has an average of 503 pupils at a cost of $192 a month per pupil.

BABSON DISCUSSES

Babson Discusses Cuba

Babson Park, Mass., Aug. 18

—There are several "volcanoes" throughout the world which may explode at any time. My travels to Berlin last year taught me that the situation there could be the most serious. The one nearest home, however, is Cuba. Both Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy should visit Cuba at once.

Cuba A Close Neighbor

While I am at Babson Park, Florida, during the winter, the Webber College students often fly over to Havana as a part of their vacations. Cuba has seemed only a "stone's throw" from any portion of Florida. Cuba is a vital factor — for good or evil — to the Florida East Coast, with its fifty great hotels extending north and south from Miami. I am not afraid of Florida's importing any Communism from Cuba, as the Florida people are very conservative. I seriously fear, however, that Russia may get a foothold in Cuba.

Could we afford to let Russia get a base in Cuba for submarines and launching pads for missiles, or, on the other hand, could we now afford to go to war with Russia to prevent such gradual occupation? I leave this to Richard Nixon and John Kennedy to decide after their visit to Havana. I further advise them to consult with Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who is one of our best-posted men on Latin America.

Cuba and Latin America

I have visited all the countries of Central and South America. Not only are many of these people ruled by dictators, but they are very sensitive, like most Spanish people. At heart, they would like to have us keep Russia out of Cuba and even straighten out affairs in Cuba. Some of these Latin American dictators, however, might resent such an attitude on the part of the United States and make us appear more enemies than friends.

We now hear much about the Monroe Doctrine, which was announced to the world over a hundred years ago by President Monroe — namely, that we would not allow any European nation to get a new foothold in any Latin American country. I believe that the American people would stand for a reassertion of this Monroe Doctrine, but I wish the Latin American countries would ask us to do so. The entire situation is very ticklish. It should be one of the first things for the presidential candidates to consider seriously. The November election may turn upon Cuba. I speak with authority because I was an early supporter of the Pan American Union.

U. S. Cuban Investments

Considerable U. S. money is invested in Cuba. This includes certain railway and traction properties, the Cuban telephone company, and many mercantile businesses. Several thousand American families

Commissioner Finds A Snake In Bed

Some folks have "snakes in their boots", but Johnny Alford, County Commissioner of Precinct 4, Bailey County, residing south of Muleshoe, had one in his bed last Sunday night.

Johnny and his wife were very peacefully sleeping, he dreaming that his government check had come in and was double what he anticipated, while the misses was floating in fairyland—some other mental hallucination, when the cold body of the serpent was felt wiggling against John's thigh under the bed covering.

No further effort was needed to bring forth both occupants out of the bed post haste. It was only a chicken snake.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER AFRAID

A Session of Congress Before The Election Will Ruin Politics

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm probably is unnecessarily concerned about the current session of Congress his letter this week indicates, but that's his worry.

Dear editor:

I don't know how it happened and I hope it never happens again, but this idea of a session of Congress before an election, instead of afterwards, has me worried.

What I'm afraid of is it will destroy one of the most cherished things in American political life, from the precinct level to Washington.

report has it, and John slugged it, up by the side of its head with his shoe, sending it to reptile heaven; John declares if it had been a rattler he couldn't have been frightened any worse.

—1940—

What's Happening in Washington

Great Britain has pledged her assistance of Navy and airplanes to Greece if she is attacked by Italy, as present indications point may become a fact.

Next to a handshake, I guess a promise has been the strongest weapon a man could have when he's running for office, although this doesn't mean a wife and kids don't help too, and I'll ever understand how both parties managed to get in a position like they are now where they have a chance to deliver on their promises before the election. It seems to me it's undermining the entire system of politics.

In the first place, a promise should be dangled in front of a man longer than from July to August of the same year. How much fun would kids get out of Christmas if they didn't start wishing till Christmas eve?

A man lives on promises, at least us farmers do. Pick out any year you want to, and if the average farmer hadn't thought the next one wasn't gonna be better than that one, you wouldn't have much farm population left, or any crops. The same is true of politics. The very least a voter can do is enjoy a set of promises from convention time in the summer to legislating time along in early spring of the next year, but this idea of promising in July and dashing hopes in August, takes all the fun out of life. If a man can't dream of a better life, of more aid and fewer taxes, longer than two or three weeks, reality will get him down and politics will begin to lose its appeal. It's the craziest thing I ever heard of, trying to deliver on a set of promises before the people have a chance to vote on you. Let's get back to the old system.

Both parties have promised to help the farmer, but if they're wise they'll wait till the planting's all done next spring before they tackle the job.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Building A Fish Pond?

College Station — Would a farmer sow a field of oats and then deliberately sow crabgrass in the same field? Of course not—this would be very poor management. Many farmers do, however, have their farm ponds properly stocked, and then add fish from another pond, from a river or from the minnow bucket. This is also poor management, but Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist, says this practice is one of the main reasons why farm ponds are worthless for fishing.

Cooper says that fish obtained from sources other than hatcheries usually contain undesirable species such as shad, carp, uckers, gar, mud-cat, etc. These undesirable species will compete with the game fish for food, they will eat young game species, some will muddy the pond water, and all will be a general nuisance to the fisherman.

Another erroneous practice is to add grown fish to a freshly stocked pond, Cooper continues. This is usually done so that the owner can "catch" some big fish while the small ones are growing up. The owner must remember that the grown fish have to eat, and in all probability they will eat the hatchery fingerlings. With this situation, it wouldn't be very long before the farmer had no fish, large or small, in his pond.

Pond owners are usually worried by the fact that the hatchery fish are very small when they arrive, and there doesn't seem to be enough of them. Cooper points out, if the pond is managed properly, these fingerlings will be reproducing the following year, and then the problem will be too many fish rather than not enough.

Hatcheries provide the right kind and numbers of fish to the pond owner, and any other fish which are added will usually have a detrimental effect. Once a pond is properly stocked, there is no good reason to add more fish, Cooper concludes.

The only way to this living Truth, which heals the sick, is found in the Science of divine Mind as taught and demonstrated by Christ Jesus."

Few trucks are subjected to the body-wracking beatings that are part of a day's work for this Chevrolet Series 60 pulpwood hauler. It's owned by J. E. Fox, North Carolina logging contractor. As Bobby Fox, a partner in the business says, "Loaded with pulpwood, we drive over stumps and potholes you'd think would tear the truck to pieces. These trails would shake the cab off an ordinary truck, but not our Chevy. We can average an extra load a day... make $45 to $50 a day more with this Chevy than we can with the others."

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1960.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 39 proposing an amendment to Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding thereto new Sections to be known as Sections 6, 7, and 8, to provide that the Legislature may authorize the creation of Hospital Districts co-extensive with Lamar County, Hidalgo County, and County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, having certain stated powers and duties and subject to certain stated limitations; providing that any enabling Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character; providing for an election; providing for the form of ballot and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article IX of the Constitution of the State of Texas be, and the same is hereby, amended by adding the following Sections which shall read as follows:

"Section 6. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar County, Hidalgo County, and County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, having the powers and duties and with the limitations presently provided in Article IX, Section 5(a), of the Constitution of Texas, as it applies to Wichita County, except that the maximum rate of tax that the said Lamar County Hospital District may be authorized to levy shall be seventy-five cents (75c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District, subject to district taxation.

"Section 7. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District co-extensive with Hidalgo County, having the powers and duties and with the limitations presently provided in Article IX, Section 5(a), of the Constitution of Texas, as it applies to Hidalgo County, except that the maximum rate of tax that the said Hidalgo County Hospital District may be authorized to levy shall be ten cents (10c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District, subject to district taxation.

"Section 8. The Legislature may by law authorize the creation of a Hospital District to be co-extensive with the limits of County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County, Texas.

"If such District is created, it may be authorized to levy a tax not to exceed seventy-five cents (75c) on the One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation of taxable property within the District; provided, however, no tax may be levied until approved by a majority vote of the participating resident qualified property taxpayers voting for taxation. The maximum rate of tax may be changed at subsequent elections as long as obligations are not impaired, and not to exceed the maximum limit of seventy-five cents (75c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation, and no election shall be required by subsequent changes in the boundaries of the Commissioners Precinct of this State.

No. 4 of Comanche County, "If such tax is authorized, no political subdivision or municipality within or having the same boundaries as the District may levy a tax for medical or hospital care for needy individuals, nor shall they maintain or erect hospital facilities, but the District shall by resolution assume all such responsibilities and shall assume all of the liabilities and obligations (including bonds and warrants) of such subdivisions or municipalities or both. The maximum tax rate submitted shall be sufficient to discharge such obligations, liabilities, and responsibilities, and to maintain and operate the hospital system, and the Legislature may authorize the District to issue tax bonds for the purpose of the purchase, construction, acquisition, repair or renovation of improvements and initially equipping the same, and such bonds shall be payable from said seventy-five cent (75c) tax. The Legislature shall provide for transfer of title to properties to the District.

"(b) The Legislature may by law permit the County of Comanche to render financial aid to that District by paying a part of the expenses of operating and maintaining the system and paying a part of the debts of the District (incurred or created by the District) and may authorize the levy of a tax not to exceed ten cents (10c) per One Hundred Dollar ($100) valuation (in addition to other taxes permitted by this Constitution) upon all property within the County but without the County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County at the time such levy is made for such purposes. If such tax is authorized, the District shall by resolution assume the responsibilities, obligations, and liabilities of the County in the manner and to the extent hereinabove provided for political subdivisions having boundaries co-extensive with the District and the County shall not thereafter levy taxes (other than herein provided) for hospital purposes nor for providing hospital care for needy individuals of the County.

"(c) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at the general election to be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1960, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon:

"FOR the Constitutional Amendment authorizing the Legislature to create a Hospital District co-extensive with Lamar and Hidalgo Counties, and co-extensive with County Commissioners Precinct No. 4 of Comanche County."

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

Child Labor Law Warning Is Issued

DALLAS—Farmers who hire workers for harvesting fall crops were reminded today that the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act sets a 16-year age minimum for the employment of children in agriculture during school hours.

The reminder came from Regional Director William J. Rogers of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division here, the agency which administers this law.

"Today and in the foreseeable future, the need for youngsters to meet even higher educational standards is beyond question," he said. "The child's chance for success in later years can depend on whether he enrolls in school this fall."

Mr. Rogers pointed out that children may lawfully work on farms before and after school hours or on weekends, but that their place is in the classroom when school is in session in the school district where the child is currently living.

"The law protect the children of migratory workers as well as local children," he said. "The only exception to the law is the child working exclusively for his parents or guardian."

An age certificate showing that the youngster is at least 16 is the best protection against inadvertent violation. In Texas, these certificates are available, as a public service, from local Texas Employment Commission offices.

He added that the Federal child-labor law applies to farmers who engage in interstate commerce or ship their

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 8, 1960.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 4 proposing an Amendment to Section 11, Article XVI of the Constitution of the State of Texas, so as to give the Legislature authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest, fix maximum rates of interest, and provide for a maximum rate of interest of ten per centum (10%) per annum in the absence of legislation setting maximum rates of interest; providing that the rate of interest shall not exceed six per cent (6%) per annum in contracts where no interest rate is agreed upon; providing for the right of appeal and trial de novo in the event any regulatory agency cancels or refuses to grant any permit; providing for the necessary election and the form of the ballot; and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

"Section 11. The Legislature shall have authority to classify loans and lenders, license and regulate lenders, define interest, and fix maximum rates of interest; provided, however, in the absence of legislation fixing maximum rates of interest all contracts for a greater rate of interest than ten per centum (10%) per annum shall be deemed usurious, provided, further, that in contracts where no rate of interest is agreed upon, the rate shall not exceed six per centum (6%) per annum. Should any regulatory agency, acting under the provisions of this Section, cancel or refuse to grant any permit under any law passed by the Legislature, then such applicant or holder shall have the right of appeal to the courts and granted a trial de novo as that term is used in appealing from the justice of peace court to the county court."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1960, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

No. 3: The Manufacture of Weather

Wind Is Earth's Weather Modifier

THE FORCE OF WINDS sometimes become violent. Pictured above is the tornado, which is familiar and frightening to folks on the South Plains.

Also associated with the tornado are extremely low pressures. It is the sudden lowering of pressure near the tornado which causes closed houses and buildings to explode due to the higher pressure inside them.

by Vera Foltz
Wind is but the movement of air.

When the wind is from a northerly direction air from the north is moving south. The rate at which the air is displaced from one point to another is what determines the speed of winds.

Wind is the modifier for the earth's different kinds of weather. If there were no winds, the weather at any place would be the same each year. The only weather change would be controlled by the amount of sunshine received.

There would be no speculation as to what the weather would be like over the weekend for there would be none unusual (except for a total eclipse of the sun). All weather conditions would originate locally. Air pollution would be a problem for all industrial cities.

As an element of weather the wind carries changeable weather to the lands upon which it moves. If an area is cloudy the wind may bring clearing skies and sunshine; or if the area is cold the wind may bring warm air.

One may think of the wind as a train (or a similar means of transportation). The wind has the job of transporting different kinds of air. A discussion will follow later concerning the 'air masses' which the wind moves about like packages.

Pressure: Differences in temperature (and humidity to a smaller extent) cause a difference in the weight of air per cubic foot . . . and therefore a difference in the direct cause of air movement or wind (temperature being an indirect cause). Air flows from an area of high pressure to an area of low pressure.

Assume that all air pressure is even and the winds are calm. The sun rises and heats the surface unevenly so that the air adjacent to the warmer ground becomes warmer than the air adjacent to the cooler areas.

The warmer air swells and therefore overflows at the top. In so doing, the cooler air moves toward the source of the warmer air displacing the latter upward. The cooler air that moves over the warm ground is in turn heated and follows the procedure for warm air.

Where the warm air is rising we call a low pressure area and it does in fact have a lower pressure than nearby areas. Since the cooler air is dense and heavy, it is called an area of high pressure. It weighs more.

No matter what brings about an uneven pressure in air masses the wind will always flow from the high pressure area to the area of low pressure.

It is interesting to note that the greater the difference in air pressure from one area to another the greater is the velocity of the wind. If two areas have a great difference in pressure, the wind will be stronger between them if the two areas are closer together than if they are far apart. The flow of air is directly similar to water flowing down hill. The steeper the gradient . . . the faster the flow of water.

From the description above one may get the impression that hot areas are always the low pressure areas. In a broad sense this is true. Yet you will find hot high pressure areas too. Generally this is true because still hotter air is nearby.

One should not expect the deepest and windiest low pressure system in the hottest regions. More often you will find this type of system along the boundary of warm air and cold air, i. e., where the heavy air and light air meet and the difference in air pressure is greatest.

Today's Meditation

Read Mark 9:17-24.
I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. (Philippians 4:13).

Once I went skiing with some young people. It was such a beautiful day. The trees were heavy with snow. The limbs bent toward the ground.

During a resting period, I noticed two trees. One of them a fir tree, had not been able to carry the weight of the snow. The trunk had snapped about six feet above the ground. The other one, a birch tree, its top bent to the ground, had not broken under the weight of the snow. When we shook off the snow, the fir tree rose again and stood as straight as ever.

Life can burden people. For some, their power of resistance breaks down. They are not able to rise again. Other persons, also heavily burdened, are bowed down under the weight, but they do not break. They possess an inner strength which prevents their power of resistance from ever reaching its breaking point. They weather the storms of life, rise again, and stand as witnesses of a glorious inner power. They know Christ. His strength in them makes the difference.

country, and help us keep straight on what is right and what is wrong for the people of America.

You will remember that Khrushchev was reported to have said at a Kremlin reception in 1956: "If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations, and don't invite us to come to see you. Whether you like it or not, history is on our side. We will bury you!"

It is important that each American know the things that may be presented for this purpose, so that he will not swallow some of them without knowing it. Production payment programs that have been revived in recent months, were first presented to the Agriculture Committee back in 1947 by a man named Lem Harris, secretary of the National Farm Commission of the Communist Party.

In view of the fact that the Communists have never promoted anything that would strengthen the national economy of America, a program of this type should be examined carefully before any consideration should be given to it.

We have been asked several times what the position of Farm Bureau is with regard to increasing and spreading the scope of the minimum wage. Our answer is that Farm Bureau, from counties to States
