County-Wide Road Program Effort Started Again Search-Seizure Repeal Bill Recommended In House

Liquor Question Puts Solons Into Squabble Friday

Prohibitionists Effort Aroused As Woodall's Effort to Have Measure Returned to Committee Wins

Want Better Plan Purpose Is To Give Group Chance to Devise "Workable Law" On Affair; To Report Back Later

AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—The Texas senate today put in a rather passive day, while the house went through a hectic session when the ire of prohibitionists was aroused at the successful effort of Representative Woodall of Marshall, to have the search and seizure repeal bill recommended to his committee on criminal jurisprudence. The bill had been favorably passed on by the committee on liquor traffic.

Woodall and Representative Harmon of Waco, whom Woodall told the house was "one of the best prohibitionists in Texas," and Harry N. Graves of Georgetown, said that the purpose in having the bill re-referred was to give the criminal jurisprudence committee a chance to devise a "workable law" bearing on the search and seizure and prohibition enforcement out of the many measures pending before it.

Representative Forbes of Parker county went on the "warpath" opposing the movement vigorously and shaking his finger angrily at speakers urging recommitment. He was put in his seat several times by Sergeant at Arms.

He accused Graves of charging him with wanting to repeal the constitution of the United States when Graves said in his opinion the bill passed out by the committee was unconstitutional and would not stand up in the supreme court 15 minutes.

Motorists Taken From Red Desert

DENVER, Colo., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Manned for thirty-six hours in a terrific blizzard that swept the Red Desert, twenty-two persons traveling in passenger cars and motor buses were rescued and brought to Rock Springs, Wyo., today, some of them suffering from exposure and hunger.

Cowboys found the cars stalled in the snow and hauled the stranded travelers in sleds to the railroad station at Table Rock from which they were taken to Rock Springs.

The temperature on the desert was 30 degrees below zero.

Oscar Underwood, Former Demo Head Claimed by Death

Former Senator Dies Friday At 11:15; Career Was One of Nation's Most Colorful In Politics

By JAMES L. WILLIAMS
Associated Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, one of the notable political leaders of his time, died today at Woodlawn, his country home in nearby Virginia, where he had resided at the end of a public career which had seen his name repeatedly brought forward for the democratic presidential nomination.

Death came at 11:15 a. m. in the massive brick structure overlooking the Potomac river and the George Washington shrine at Mount Vernon. The former senator had been unconscious for two days and his death had been expected since yesterday. His family, however, had withheld notice of his condition until the last, hopeful that he would rally.

Death is a surprise. Even his former senate and house colleagues in both of which he had served as leader of his party, were unaware of the gravity of his illness. Announcement of his death was followed by immediate adjournment of the senate out of respect to his memory and expressions of respect.

Big Investment Trust Is Formed

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The New York World will say tomorrow that an announcement will be made in a few days of the formation of the biggest investment trust in the world, capitalized at between $500,000,000 and $700,000,000, to specialize in automotive stocks.

Arthur W. Cutler, stock operator; Fred F. Fisher, vice president of General Motors, and Walter P. Chrysler, head of the automobile concern bearing his name, have combined to form the new trust, the World will say.

CANAL IS SOUGHT Measures Asks for Dam On Neches River

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Authority for the Neches Canal company, Neches Water company, Beaumont Irrigating company, the city of Beaumont and the city of Port Arthur, Texas, to dam the Neches river was asked in a bill introduced today by Congressman Box, Democrat, of Texas.

Legislators Will Care For Tech With Appropriations, Parrish Declares

College to Come Out All Right in Money Bills, Local Senator Says In Visit Here Over Week-End; State Wide Bond Issue Attempt to Fail, He Predicts

"Texas Technological College will come out all right, in the matter of state appropriations," Senator Pink L. Parrish declared with confidence here Friday afternoon. "Tech, you will remember, is listed for $187,000 as an emergency appropriation, in the bill now before the house of representatives. The bill was reported on favorably by the senate and I feel confident that the house will pass it. It is also to be noted that this amount for Tech is the largest amount named for any state school, the nearest amount to it being for $132,000, others being from about $25,000 to $75,000 for various educational institutions in the state."

Planes Fleck Sky In Dedication Of Angelo's Airport

Seventy-Seven M. C. Machines Take Part In Ceremonies; Six Thousand Go Aloft In Tri-Motored Planes

(By Associated Press)
SAN ANGELO, Jan. 25.—Seventy-seven airplanes participated in dedication of San Angelo's municipal airport today, closing feature of the Fourth Annual West Texas Oil exposition.

Miss Carlene Cromwell, daughter of Carl Cromwell, Houston, of the 256-acre plot, christened her father's monoplane in the presence of air transport and civic officials. Lauro Iguirre represented Mexico at the ceremonies.

Just before dusk Ross Arnold, San Angelo, flew low and dropped flowers over the spot where Al Henley, W. E. Shyles and Donald Fraze, all of Fort Worth, crashed to their death yesterday.

There was no accident today. It was estimated 6,000 person went aloft in tri-motored planes. Student fliers from Kelly Field piloting 14 ships returned this afternoon to San Antonio, but all other airmen remained overnight.

Races between civilian planes and spot landing contests for $1,500 in prizes thrilled thousands of spectators. Louis Derryberry, Abilene; Matt A. Nieminen, Houston, and Paul Braniff, Oklahoma City, won first prizes in the speed events. Derryberry also won first in his class in spot-landings.

Vaughan Departs For Capital To Face Committee

Local Postmaster Called To Testify Before Senate Patronage Investigating Committee Tuesday

Postmaster John L. Vaughan of this city left last night for Washington, D. C. where he will testify Tuesday before the senate patronage investigating committee in connection with the inquiry that has been made into the disposition of postmaster's Texas.

Mr. Vaughan was subpoenaed this week together with Leonard Withington of Dallas, director of the post office organization in this state, and Lloyd Hill of Fort Worth.

Denies Any Knowledge
A statement denying any knowledge of the sale of postmaster'ships or any form of postal or federal patronage in this state was issued by Postmaster yesterday afternoon. "I have been connected with the republican party in Texas since 1900, having been appointed acting postmaster three times and regular postmaster twice, and I have never seen any attempt at patronage. I am sure that the organization in

Sterling Approves Moody's Bond Plan

Advocate of $300,000,000 Issue Announces He Will Support Recommendations of Governor's Group

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—The $175,000,000 bond issue plan of the governor's committee of seven, announced yesterday, is acceptable to R. S. Sterling of Houston, chairman of the state highway commission, and advocate of a $300,000,000 bond plan.

Gov. Moody tonight made public a telegram he had received from former Governor Hobby, who said he was authorized by Sterling, in Houston, to announce that Sterling would support the committee recommendations.

Under the proposal $100,000,000 would be spent in new construction and $75,000,000 in reimbursing counties and road districts for moneys they have already spent on state designated highways.

Italian Steamer Calls For Help

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The Radio Marine Corporation tonight intercepted a SOS from the Italian steamship Capo Vado which gave her position as latitude 31.23, north, longitude 48.46 west.

The Capo Vado is of 2,713 net tons. She was en route from Catania, Sicily, to Baltimore. She is owned by the Genoa Steamship Navigation company of Genoa.

KEY WEST, Fla., Jan. 25.—(AP)—The wrecking tug Warbler left here late today to go to the aid of the American steamer Dixlanor, reported aground on the south side of Cuba about 400 miles from Tunas De Zaza. The Dixlanor, a 2,613 ton vessel, was enroute to Zurecaro from New Orleans.

Denies Robbery Walker Declares He Didn't Take Part In Lamar Case

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Denial that he was implicated in the robbery of the First National bank of Lamar, Colo., on May 23, 1928, was made today by "Whitely" Walker.

The prisoner was returned here from Buffalo, N. Y., in connection with the Lamar holdup, in which four men were killed, preferred to talk of other things after saying emphatically he knew nothing of the bank robbery.

In Washington Friday

(By Associated Press)
Former Senator Underwood of Alabama died at his home near Washington.

The four department appropriation bill was signed by the president.

The federal trade commission resumed its inquiry into public power utilities.

The senate adjourned out of respect to the memory of former Senator Underwood.

The house passed 743 bills on its private calendar, including a number of pension measures.

Agricultural tariffs increases were advocated by a large number of witnesses before the house ways and means committee.

President Coolidge's insistence on the elimination of the construction clause in the naval construction bill indicated a heated controversy in the senate.

Winter Is Ruler From Rockies To Atlantic Coast

Sub-Zero Temperatures Felt Throughout Nearly All of Nation; Mississippi Near Flood Stage

Relief Predicted

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Winter was monarch today from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic seaboard.

His domain was swept by swirling snowstorms, gnawing gales, sleet and rain as sub-zero temperatures settled over a large part of the territory with the usual supplement of accidents, injuries and deaths.

The Mississippi river and tributaries rose toward the flood stage with the continued precipitation and warnings were sent out to the inhabitants of the lowlands, though it was hoped a severe freeze would prevent a further rise.

Plane Forced Down
A passenger airplane was forced down in the drifting snow between Salt Lake City and Reno, Nevada, and six airplanes were sent out under the leadership of Lieut. Russell Maughan, dawn to dusk flier in search. It was feared the passengers would not be able to survive many hours in the frigid weather if they were far from habitation.

A rural mail carrier's horse and wagon were swept by high winds

Renewal of Trouble Between Bolivia And Paraguay Feared In Rumors

Large Purchases of Arms and Ammunition Reported To State Department In Washington; Supplies Come From Europe; Is Violation of Protocol

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Large purchases of arms reported made in Europe by Bolivia aroused the state department's anxiety here today.

Latin American diplomats feared differences between Bolivia and Paraguay over their recent frontier clashes might flare up again.

Word from Chile that about a month ago it had prohibited passage through its territory, or arms said to have been en route to Bolivia and the Argentine action in seizing similar shipments destined for La Paz government served to reassure the department, however, that a situation threatening the tranquility of South America would not be likely to be created again. The United States does not plan to act

McPherson Kidnaping To Be Brought Up Again

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 25.—(AP)—A state legislative committee laid plans today for a new investigation of the Aimee Semple McPherson kidnaping case.

More than two years removed from the time it first went to a grand jury, the case, as it appears before the committee tomorrow, threatened to engulf not only the counselist time, but also a superior court judge.

URGENT DEVELOPMENT Boswell and Thompson Talk In Alpine Banquet

ALPINE, Jan. 25.—(AP)—John Boswell, manager of the Southwestern Development Service, and R. A. Thompson, consulting engineer of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, spoke to Alpine citizens at a banquet in their honor last night. They urged the necessity of developing highway No. 67.

Other speakers were A. M. Bourland, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and E. H. Whitehead, publicity director.

Hickman Strikes Group, He Fears

DALLAS, Jan. 25.—(AP)—When it comes to facing a "six-gun" or taming a bronco, Ranger Captain Tom Hickman is "there," but they almost had to hog-tie him today before he would attend a meeting of Dallas' famous Bonehead club.

Only after District Attorney McGraw had assured the grave faced officer that he would not be embarrassed did he consent to attend.

"I'm afraid of those Boneheads," Hickman said.

It is a custom of the Boneheads to play pranks on visitors.

Mrs. Hammonds Is To Appear Before Probing Sooners

State's Most Renowned Confidential Secretary Is Placed On Waiting List; Johnston Appears Soon

(By Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 25.—Oklahoma's best confidential secretary today was assigned a waiting role by the legislative committee inquiring into details of the administrative family of Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor.

Mrs. O. Hammonds, confidential secretary to the governor, appeared today before the House investigating committee, as she had been directed, to be informed that other witnesses were ahead and that she must return tomorrow.

The committee had spent much time striving to fathom the success of Reed Scot, Mrs. Hammonds' brother, in selling road machinery to the state highway department and activities of her uncle, James W. Armstrong, as an attorney for a bonding company which underwrote successful bidders on highway contracts.

Resolving into a court of inquiry for a short time today, the Senate received two additional charges of impeachment voted against Johnston during the week. The court set January 31 as the date for the suspended governor's appearance to plead the charges.

County Citizens Discuss Project In Meeting Here

Charles F. O'Neal Heads Temporary Organization To Work Out Program to Please County Voters

Attempt Harmony Plan Suitable to Entire County Is Hoped to Be Gained Within Short Time

In spite of the fact that a few "blue" notes were heard at the courthouse Friday night, literally and figuratively—with an old fiddler's contest in action on the third floor and a "harmonizing" meeting expostulating ament good roads on the second floor—the evening "was thoroughly enjoyed by all present."

Following about three hours of endeavor on the part of some hundred or more citizens of Lubbock county, representing every part of the county, to arrive at a compromise or not war and to have a county-wide road bond election for paving state and federal highways—one that agreement might be reached on whereby success would obtain on a third trial at passing such a bond election—a temporary organization was formed to further see if a road program could be agreed upon.

O'Neal Elected Chairman
Charles F. O'Neal, Lubbock real estate dealer, was unanimously elected as chairman of the temporary organization, with J. H. Hankins as vice chairman, and Ames Howard, as secretary. Citizens from every town and voting precinct in the county are to be selected to serve on this committee, a number of these being chosen last night. Mr. O'Neal naming by his request that L. A. Wilson, secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, as the first one on this committee.

Others selected on the committee, so far, include E. T. Daniels, Idaho; M. T. Daniels, Wolfarth; W. A.

NEVER EXPECTED WELL DAY AGAIN

Well-Known Retired Amarillo Citizen Says He Is Full of New Life And Energy Since Taking Orgatone

"A year ago I didn't think I would ever be a well man again, but Orgatone has put new life in me and I feel so good I'd like to run a foot race with some of the boys," was the characteristic statement of W. H. Cherryhombs, a well known and highly respected retired citizen of Amarillo who resides at 508 Madison St., that city.
 "I suffered for twenty years, went on, 'from rheumatic pains and sciatica that would run up and down my limbs like a fire breaking out and burning. I also had kidney trouble that bothered me constantly, gas would form in my stomach that made me uneasy, for I couldn't tell what it was. My nerves were in a pretty bad state and worried me all the time. Some times my condition would get so bad that I was really afraid to stir about any."
 "I began to take Orgatone a little while ago and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. My nerves are now perfectly steady like when I was a younger man, and I am feeling more like my old self again. I feel lively and more energetic and want to be stirring about and doing things. Orgatone has done me more good than anything I ever saw or ever took in the past twenty years, and I gladly recommend it every chance I get."
 Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific preparation containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowens Drug Store under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative who is meeting the public daily. Out of town customers are being supplied promptly by mail upon receipt of price one bottle $1.25 or six bottles $6.25. Adv.

Florida's Captain Tells of Terrific Storm In Atlantic

Rescued Crew's Leader Relates Story of Days Before SOS Call; One Man Is Lost Overboard

BY W. W. CHAPLIN
 (Associated Press Staff Writer)
 NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—The rescued crew members of the Italian steamer Florida tonight still were on the sea that almost devoured them, but dispatches to the Associated Press from the captains of the Florida and the rescue ship America had preceded them ashore, to tell of the maritime epic enacted on the stormy stage of the ocean's fury.

The two dispatches flitted together like clappers of the same book, a book to hold the amazed interest of landsmen.
Fried Tells of Rescue
 The dispatch from Capt. George Fried of the United States liner America told of his reception of the Florida's SOS, and his race into the lashing fury of the storm that had broken the little freighter like a child's toy wagon thrown into Broadway traffic. It told of the rescue of the 32 men aboard the Florida by nine men from the America in a lifeboat that must have seemed no more secure in those tremendous waves, than a bird's nest on a cliff.
 Capt. Giuseppe Favoloro of the Florida told of the long days before the rescue, the storm that beat his little tramp into a helpless dervish to which he and his crew hung with a hope against reason.
 The story of the wreck and the rescue as revealed by the two captains begins on January 10 when the Florida left Pensacola, Fla., for Naples with a tramp's load of lumber on its deck. The next day a man was lost overboard while securing this lumber.
Bad Weather Continues
 From the 12th of January bad weather continued and the Florida pushed her nose through mounting waves until the 20th when the first crisis was encountered. Just before midnight the rudder chain broke and then began the struggle for life that did not end until the rescue three days later.
 All night the Florida was steered by hand Temporary repairs were made the next day but they failed to hold and all that day the struggle for life that did not end until the rescue three days later.
 All night the Florida was steered by hand Temporary repairs were made the next day but they failed to hold and all that day the struggle for life that did not end until the rescue three days later.
 As soon as it was sent out, Capt. Favoloro said, the American steamer Dannadaike, which was about 50 miles away, responded and said she would come to her assistance. As it happened the Dannadaike broke her own rudder and scarcely an hour after the Florida's SOS she asked for aid herself, saying she was sinking apparently the Florida did not get this message. But the America, 350 miles away, had got both distress calls and was ploughing her way to the rescue.

FARMER HELD Louisiana Man Charged In Death of Deputy Sheriff

LEESVILLE, La., Jan. 25. (AP)—Jim Stanley, farmer of the Hutson community, was held in the parish jail here today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Resse McAlpin, deputy sheriff, who was found shot to death on a road near Hutson last Saturday afternoon.

HEARING ADJOURNED
 LONDON, Jan. 25. (AP)—Hearing on the temporary injunction restraining the high council of the Salvation Army from electing a successor to General Bramwell Booth was adjourned today until Tuesday. The temporary injunction will continue in effect.

NORMAN, Okla., Jan. 25. (AP)—An enrollment decrease of 400 was expected as University of Oklahoma students enrolled today for the second semester.

The Dannadaike Rigged up a Jury rudder before the American arrived and started limping off for Bermuda

The Dannadaike rigged up a jury rudder before the American arrived and started limping off for Bermuda. She reported today she probably would reach there tomorrow.
Waves Take Bridge
 In the meantime, between the Florida's two SOS calls, the waves had washed away the bridge, chart house and part of the deck load, and had smashed in the bunker hatch. The ship rolled over to its starboard gunwales and water poured through the broken hatch.
 One wave that boarded the listed steamer caught captain and crew and almost washed him and 15 men overboard.
 The storm carried a lash of snow and sleet with it and the shivering men were dazed from exhaustion, but they hung on through another night and day.
 It was after dark on the 23rd when America hove in sight, feeling her way with a finger of light through the murk and the bluster of a whole gale. A lifeboat, dropped into the sea but got no nearer than 50 feet and then a line was thrown. Capt. Favoloro stood where the waves hissed and counted pain-stickingly as his hand, naked men leaped one by one into the sea and pulled themselves hand over hand to the lifeboat.
Takes Ship's Papers
 At last with the boat 31, Capt. Favoloro also jumped but, still the ship's master, had safely tucked away all his ship's papers for delivery to the proper authorities ashore.
 Capt. Fried wirelessed today that he probably would reach Annapolis, Md., tomorrow, bringing him to his Hoboken dock before dark. But before that dock is reached he and his lifeboat crew and the rescued seamen from the Florida will learn something of New York's greeting to those it admires.
 At quarantine the city tug will meet the America with city officials to offer formal welcome, and from Hoboken, after the America has been escorted up the bay with bands and spouting fireboats, it is planned to bring the whole party to the battery for the thousand-throated welcome of popular acclaim.

Legislators Rest Before Taking Up Big Week's Work

Evolution Measures Downed By Criminal Jurisprudence Group; Probes Come Up Next Week

(By Associated Press)
 AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—After reviving the Harper-Graves anti-evolution bill through adoption of a minority report and determining that no further legislative action would be taken in the contest brought by the Rev. H. H. Wallace of Tyler for Representative A. S. Johnson's seat, the house tonight rested, preparatory to tackling next week a heavy program of law making.
 The evolution measure barring teaching in public schools the theory that man descended from a lower order of animals, was defeated in the criminal jurisprudence committee.

At the behest of the Rev. James W. Harper of Mount Pleasant, it was ordered printed in the house journal that members might familiarize themselves with it when a floor vote is called some time next week.

Attempt Reconsideration
 Representative Jenkins of Brownwood unsuccessfully attempted to have the house reconsider action of the committee on elections in holding against the Rev. Wallace.

By overwhelming vote the majority report, holding that the minister had not given due notice to the contestee, was adopted.
 The Montgomery-Smith election contest, in which F. M. Smith alleges illegal voting in Hidalgo county placed W. R. Montgomery in the house, and investigation into the land office by a senate-house committee of five will be taken up next week.

County Judge A. W. Cameron of Hidalgo county was ordered by the elections committee to appear Monday with poll lists and other records that investigators might delve into purported irregularities of balloting, particularly with reference to Mexican voters.

 The land investigation committee was to meet Monday to lay plans for checking records of the land office concerning leasing of Texas University oil lands. Three house members, Fred H. Minor, of Denton, Coke R. Stevenson, of Junction and T. H. Bond of Terrell, were appointed today by Speaker Barron to serve with Senators Moore of Greenville and Hardin of Stephenville in the inquiry.

While the house prepares disposal of a mountain of bills, 21 of its members will be making a tour of the state prison system to make recommendations later before the body. The senate-house prison committee left tonight for Houston where tomorrow they will visit farms near the city. Later they will go to the main prison at Huntsville.

Representative King of Throckmorton and Senator McFarlane of Graham, chairman of the house and senate prison committees, respectively, said the localities to be inspected would not be determined until after the group had conferred with prison authorities.
 The trip may consume three days.

One of the principal committee hearings Monday promised to be that of the federal relations group, before which will appear several independent oil operators supporting a joint resolution introduced by Representative Harding of Fort Worth, asking congress to investigate alleged persecution of Texas independent oil operators by government agents.

At a meeting of the judiciary committee today, the Texas League of Women Voters asserted itself in behalf of the minor bill, which would allow married women the right to enter into contracts involving property.
 The house judicial districts committee passed out favorably the senate bill creating the 110th judicial district, to be composed of Briscoe, Floyd, Motley and Dickens counties.

The livestock committee voted favorably on the Carpenter bill providing that persons must re-register livestock brands.

Legislators Have Row Over Fishing Measures In Texas

Hearing On Proposal To Prevent Seining In Salt Water Brings Opposition From Commercial Fishers

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Jan. 25.—The seine ran aul of the hook and line and the commercial fisherman was "at outs" with Izak Walton's disciples as joint legislative committees considered the Holbrook "salt water fish" bill Thursday.

A man whose fishing is his "meal ticket" shouted to Senator Holbrook, Galveston, "I don't think you're fair" before his fellow fishers prevailed on him to resume his seat.

Twenty-Five Attend
About 25 commercial fishermen attended the hearing and a number of supporters of the measure also were on hand. The hearing lasted about three hours.

Holbrook, Turner E. Hubby, of Waco, former game, fish and oyster commissioner, and Will J. Tucker, present commissioner, spoke in behalf of the bill, which would close inlets entering the gulf coast from seining and trowling.

They contended that the bill was a necessary fish conservation measure.

Duncan Ruthven of Palacios asserted that the measure would make valueless $1,810,000 invested in fishing equipment in coastal bays and would throw 5,000 persons out of employment.

Opponents of the fish bill characterized as an antsy the assertion that a hook and line fisherman could make a living and would take the place of the seiner and trowler.

Proposes Teachers Bill
The fish hearing was had soon after adjournment of the senate afternoon session. During that session a bill proposed by Senator Hyer of Fort Worth which would require public school teachers to be naturalized American citizens, was passed.

Under two amendments by Stevenson of Victoria and approved, the proposed law would not become effective until September 1 and would not apply to college faculty members.

The senate also passed a bill introduced by McParlane of Graham asking a $75,000 appropriation for installation of machinery on penitentiary properties for the manufacture of motor vehicle number plates, seals, road signs and markers.

Beck of DeKalb proposed a bill to provide for the creation of an institution for persons suffering with cancer and pellagra.

The Hornsby bill authorizing establishment and maintenance of a state bureau of criminal identification and investigation was passed favorably out of the state affairs committee.

Magnolia Slashes Crude Oil Prices

DALLAS, Jan. 25. (AP)—Following the lead of other companies purchasing oil on a gravity basis, the Magnolia Petroleum company today announced slight decreases in the price of oil in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

In the three states, excepting the Panhandle district of Texas, the new prices range from 60 cents for under 26 gravity to $1.44 for 44 gravity and above. The latter is a decrease of 32 cents per barrel.

New prices in Carson and Hutchinson counties, Texas, range from 72 cents for under 32 gravity to $1.14 for 44 gravity and above. Wheeler county prices are 70 cents for under 30 gravity to $1.24 for 44 gravity and above. Gray county is listed 69 cents for under 29 gravity to $1.29 for 44 and above.

Sunday-School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR JAN. 27, 1929

General Topic: The Holy Spirit. Scripture Lesson: John 16:7-11; Romans 8:12-17, 26, 27.

John 16:7. Nevertheless I tell you the truth: It is expedient for you that I go away for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I go, I will send him unto you.

8. And he, when he is come, will convict the world in respect of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment.

9. Of sin, because they believe not on me;

10. Of righteousness, because I go to the Father, and ye behold me no more;

11. Of judgment, because the prince of this world hath been judged.

Rom. 8:12. So then, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh:

13. For if ye live after the flesh, ye must die; but if by the Spirit ye put to death the deeds of the body, ye shall live.

14. For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God.

15. For ye received not the spirit of bondage again unto fear; but ye received the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16. The Spirit himself beareth witness with our spirits, that we are children of God:

17. And if children, then heirs: heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be also glorified with him.

26. And in like manner the Spirit also helpeth our infirmity: for we know not how to pray as we ought; but the Spirit himself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered:

27. And he that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit, because he maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God.

Thursday, April 6. A. D. 30. Paul's letter to the Romans was written A. D. 57.

Place.—The last discourse to the disciples, spoken in the "upper room" in Jerusalem. The letter to the Romans, written in Corinth.

Golden Text.—For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God.—Rom. 8:14.

Introduction
We have had so far in this quarter, a lesson on God as our Father, one on sin and one on Christ our Saviour. We come today to study the New Testament teaching on the Holy Spirit. We have two passages printed for special study—one dealing mainly with the Holy Spirit's work in convicting the world, the other dealing with the Holy Spirit's work in the Christian.

The Spirit Came When Christ Went Away.—John 16:7
Jesus said "It is expedient for you that I go away." Doubtless in their minds they said to that "Lord, how can that be? We cannot understand how it could be better for us to be separated from you." Then Jesus tells them why it is better. He said: "If I go not away, the Comforter will not come; but if I go, I will send him unto you." According to this, it is better for us as Christians to have the Spirit of God in us than to have the bodily presence of Jesus. We are to remember that the Holy Spirit did not come to displace Christ, but rather to make Christ as a spiritual presence real to us. Jesus said: "I come to you" (John 14:18). Jesus means that he comes to us in the coming of the Holy Spirit. We have the spiritual presence of Christ in the person of the Spirit. And the universal spiritual presence of Christ is better than a local bodily presence.

The Holy Spirit is a Person.—Y. 3
"And when he is come," verse 8. The Holy Spirit is a person; that is, a being with intelligence, feeling and will. In Rom. 8:27, Paul speaks about the mind (or thought) of the Spirit. He then is an intelligent being. In Eph. 4:30, Paul says: "Grieve not the Holy Spirit." He then has feeling or sensibility. In 1 Cor. 12:11, Paul says that the Spirit distributes spiritual gifts as he will. He then is a being with will.

In the farewell discourse to his disciples in John 14-16, Jesus talks about the Holy Spirit as if he were speaking of a familiar friend. He talks about his teaching and guiding the disciples. He is another Advocate like himself (14:16). He speaks of him as "he," "that one" and so on (16:7-8). Evidently to Jesus, he was a person.

The Holy Spirit is a Comforter
"Comforter" is a translation of the Greek word which has been taken over into English in the word Paraclete, which means, "called to one's side," as a lawyer or advocate, to plead one's case in court. "Comforter" (from the Latin for "strong" and con, an intensifying particle) is one who makes very strong, as a powerful advocate would. All this described perfectly by the work of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit convicts of sin, y. 8. The Spirit convicts the world in respect to three things—sin, righteousness and judgment: of sin of which men are guilty; righteousness which they do not have but may attain in Christ; and of a judgment of condemnation that rests on men who reject Christ and his righteousness.

Men are to be convicted of sin, because they believe not on Christ. This probably means that unbeliever in Jesus is the essence of the sin for which the world is condemned. But is not unbelief in any passive or negative sense, it is positive, willful rejection. To reject him then is to sin in the most positive and aggressive sense of the term.

The Spirit Helps Us to Pray.
Rom. 8:26
We need help due to the fact that we know not how to pray as we ought. On this account the Spirit helps our infirmity. It seems that the Spirit guides us as to what we should pray for.

The Spirit also puts earnestness into our prayers. He makes intercession with groanings that cannot be uttered. This intercession of the Spirit is not intercession apart from ours, but he intercedes in and through our praying. We succeed in our praying as we express the mind (or thoughts) of the Spirit. The Spirit knows the will of God and therefore he leads us to pray according to God's will.

The Spirit of Adoption.
Rom. 8:15-16.
"For ye received not the Spirit of bondage again unto fear." Before the Holy Judge. "But ye received the spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father." Abba is Chaldee for "Father," used by Christ in Gethsemane (Mark 14:36). This sonship of the Christian, based upon the Sonship of his Redeemer and the in-dwelling of the Holy Spirit, is the most vital and joyful mystery of our faith.

"The Spirit himself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are children of God." The truth is so stupendous and involves so much of blessedness that it needs the assurance of the Holy Spirit to confirm the truth with our spirits, before we dare to believe it.

Led By the Spirit. Rom. 8:1-17, 26, 27
The first verses of this chapter furnish a marvelous picture of the Christian life, in terms of the Spirit. If we have not the Spirit of Christ, we are none of his; but if we have the Spirit, then we have passed from the domination of the flesh and world, which leads to death; and we have come under the sovereignty of the Spirit, we "walk after" the Spirit, we "mind the things of the Spirit"; we please God, and we have attained life in place of death and peace in place of enmity.

"So then, brethren, we are debtors, not to the flesh, to live after the flesh." But we are debtors to the Spirit, Paul implies. We owe the world nothing, for it merely gives us death; we owe the Spirit everything, for he gives us eternal

Parable of Plato

"There is a famous parable of Plato, who says that the soul of man is like a chariot, guided by man's will, but drawn by two horses. The one horse he says is white, beautiful and noble, well broken and winged, too, always trying to rise and fly upward with the chariot toward heaven. But the other horse is black, evil, and unmanageable, always trying to rush downward, and drag the chariot and driver into hell. Choose in time whether the better horse shall win, or the worse; whether your better self, or your worse, the Spirit of God or your own flesh, shall be your master."—Charles Kingsley.

A Prayer For Today.
"Come, Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove. With all thy quickening power. Come, shed abroad a Saviour's love In these cold hearts of ours."

Write it on your heart that every day is the best day of the year. No man has learned anything rightly until he knows that every day is Doomsday.—Emerson.

Mrs. J. L. Quillen Honored With Tea

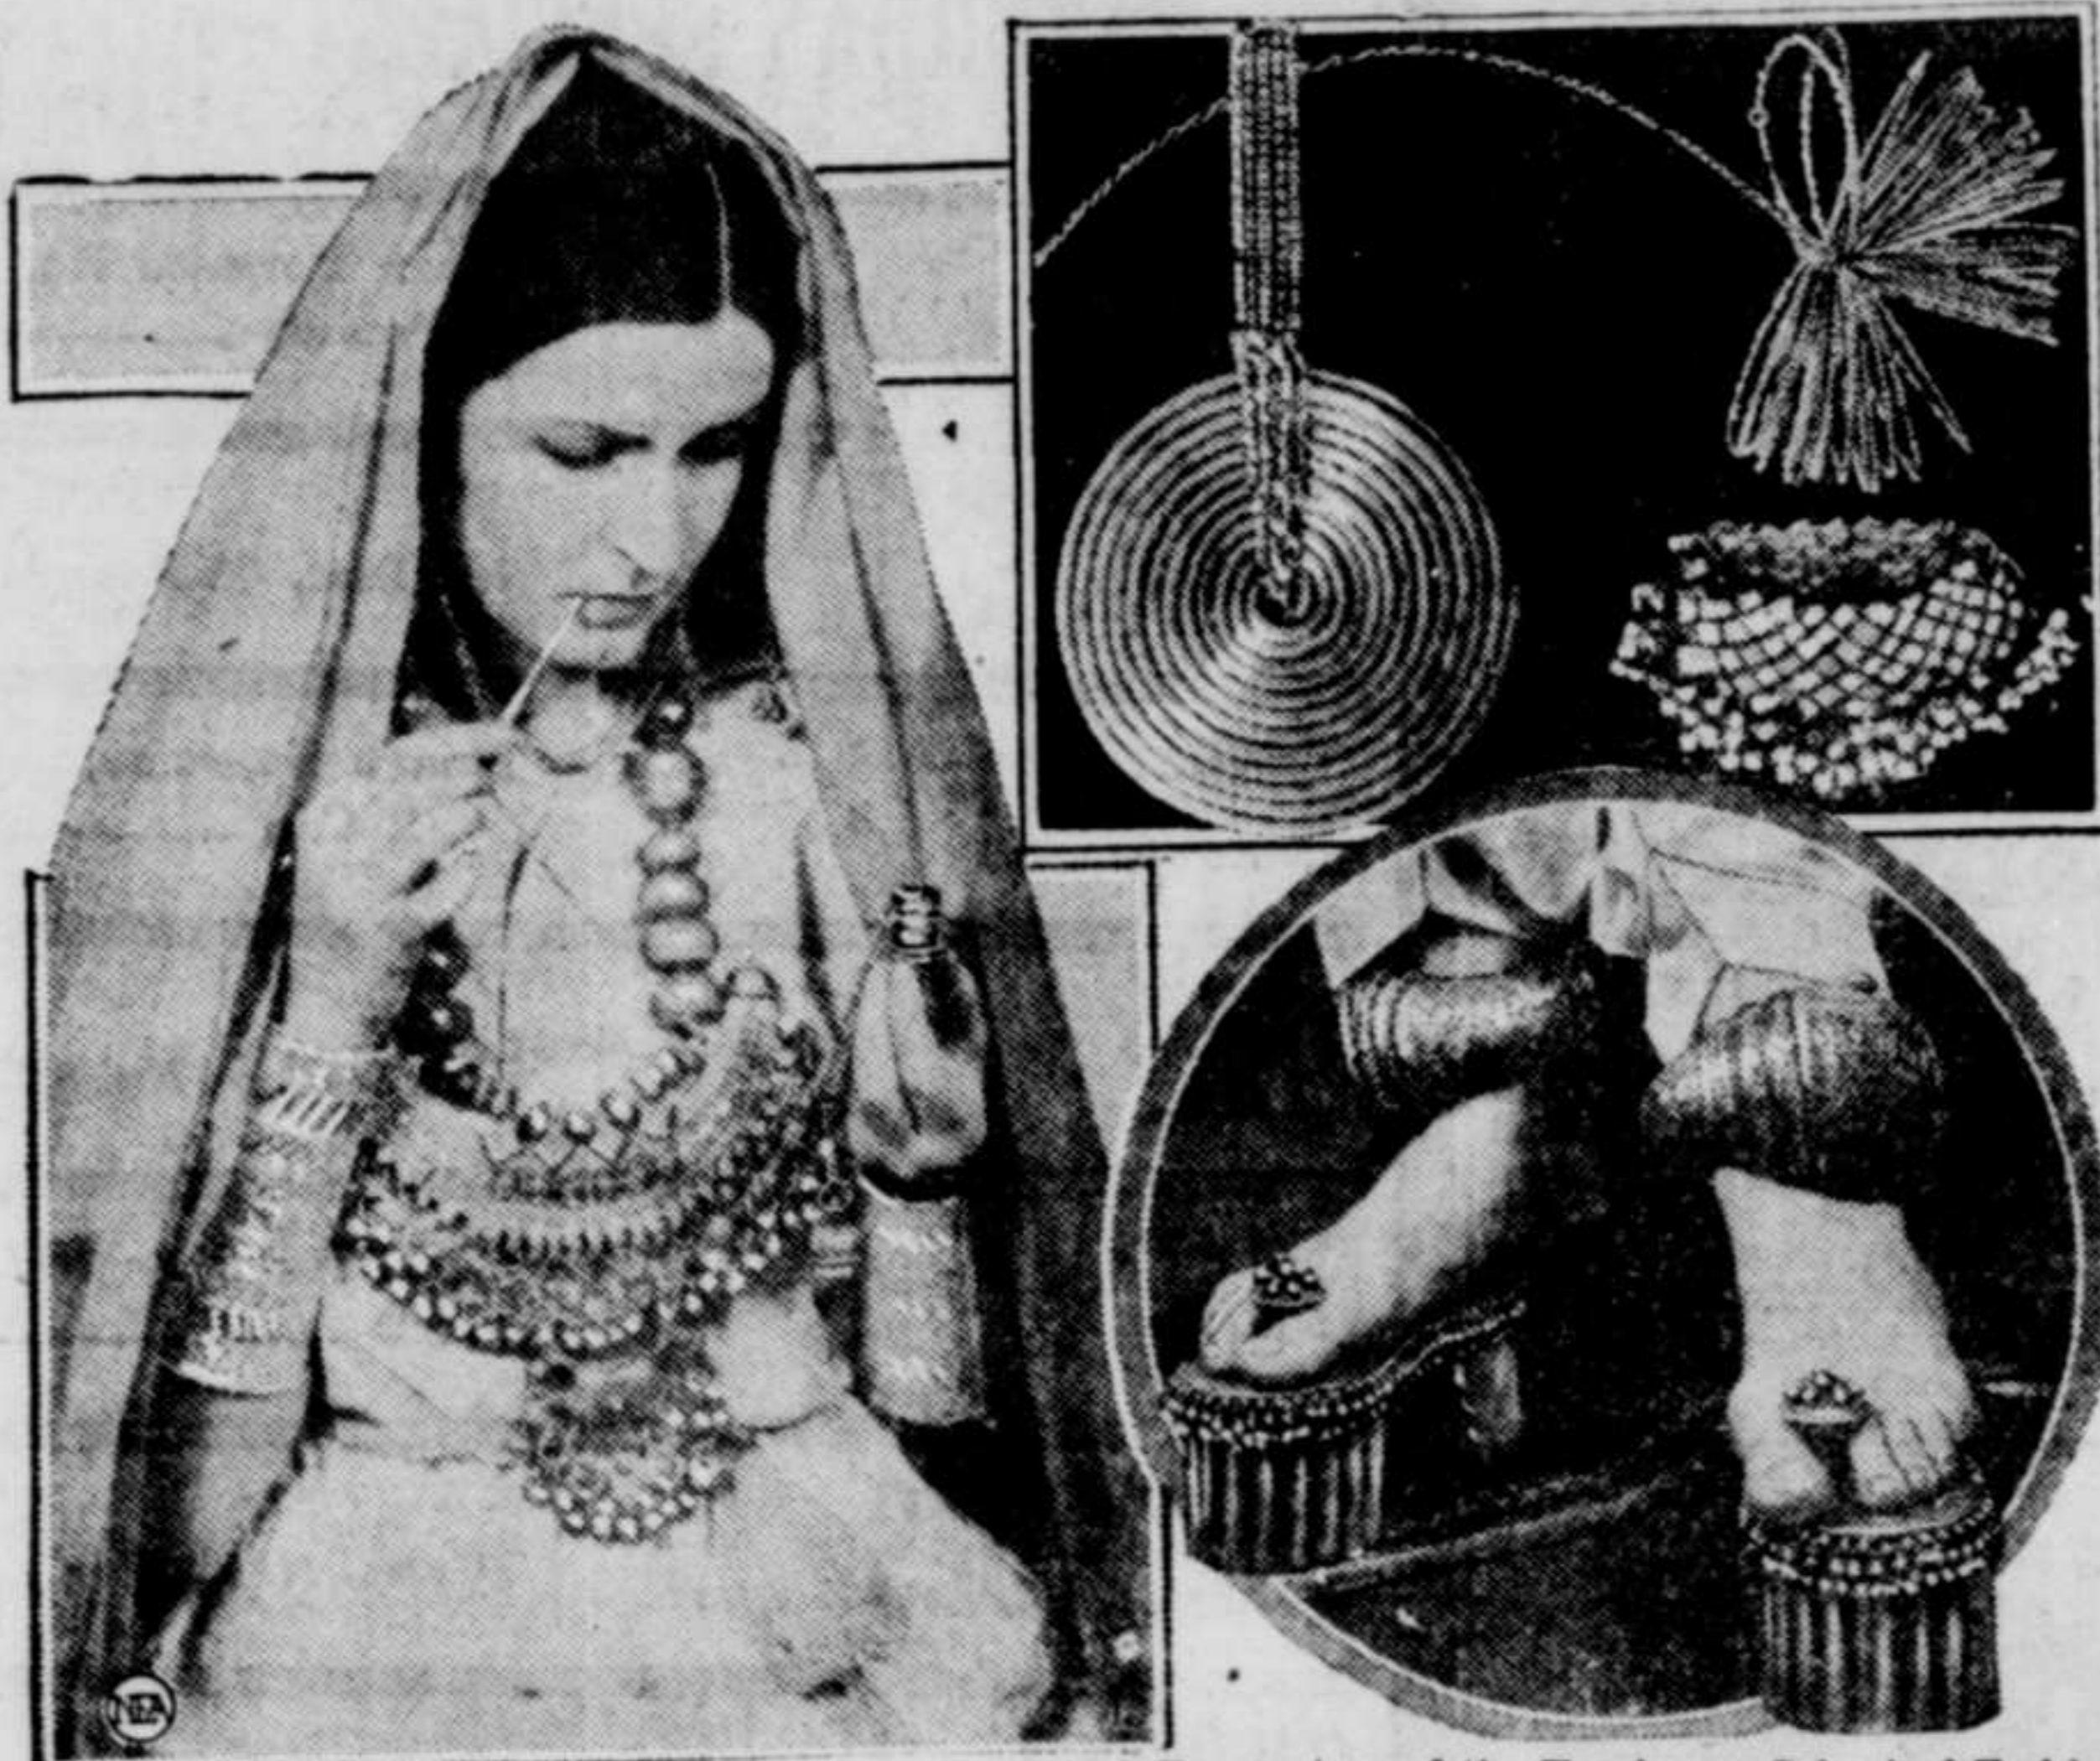

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Davis Scene of Party Given Thursday Evening By S. S. Class

A program tea was given Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam T. Davis, 1002 Avenue O, complimentary to Mrs. J. Lee Quillen who was married recently. Members of the Sunday school class of Mrs. E. W. Camp in the First Methodist church were hostesses. During the evening a program was given consisting of piano and violin numbers by Misses Mary and Beulah Dunn and Pauline Holland, and readings by Misses Eunice Cox and Lillian Hopping and little Mollie Davis.

Mrs. H. L. Munger presided at the tea table from which hot punch and sandwiches were dispensed. A cluster of sweetpeas centered the table and pink candles completed the decorations. The honor guest was presented with a gift.

Those who attended were Mrs. Quillen, Misses Ella Mae Lyle, Willie Mae Hawthorne, Ouida Busbee, Ann Ford, Lillian Hopping, Ora Little, Audrey Harman, Ivo Wilson, Eunice Cox, Zola Riegel, Beulah Dunn, Mary Dunn, Ethel Lawson, Pauline Holland, Elitabel Tillery, Edna Houghton, Rosabel Jones, Carrie Little, Charlotte Jackson, Mrs. Camp, Rev. and Mrs. H. Today's Recipes

Apple Pudding—Into the bottom of a buttered baking dish put a thick layer of chopped apples. Sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Into a mixing bowl sift one cup sugar, one teaspoon baking powder, into this break an egg. Mix all together until quite crumbly. Put over apples and bake in a moderate oven until apples are done and crust well browned. Serve with top milk.

Flank Steak With Rice—Have the butcher score a flank steak. Wipe with a damp cloth. Salt and pepper to taste. Pound in a little onion juice if desired. Pound one cup of flour into the steak. Try out a small piece of suet in an iron skillet or a roaster. Brown the steak on both sides in this. Then pour over it one cup of tomato pulp and two cups of water. Cover tightly and place in hot oven to cook. The time of cooking varies with the size of the steak but testing will tell whether or not it is tender. Add more water if necessary while cooking. Cook rice separately and serve with steak.

modern miss really may have "rings on her fingers and bells on her toes" before the year is out. For the latest source of inspiration for modern jewelry comes from the jewelry worn by the natives of Zanzibar and the British East Africa, and bells are one of their chief decorative notes. It really is conceivable that, with the current bare-legged vogue, women may take to the African ornaments that have been making their way to the United States.

Needlework intricate. More important than the bells, possibly, are the intricate designs on the native silver, gold and brass necklaces, ear rings, head-pieces, anklets and bracelets. In order that these designs may be studied at close range, Ethel M. Traphagen, recently returned from Africa, has brought back one of the finest collections of rare museum pieces of jewelry from Zanzibar and British East Africa. Her pupils will use the designs, not only for jewelry, but for decoration on new spring frocks.

The motif on an anklet may prove just the right touch, when copied in color, for a little frock that is strictly modern. Or the deep purple of a bracelet may suggest something entirely new in cuffs for a new suit.

Ideas From Africa

From the point of view of modern jewelry, there is a little of the ideas contained in this collection of African things.

Take, for instance, a necklace that formerly belonged to a Sultana. It uses some perfectly beautiful chunks of amber in conjunction with exquisite silver filigree that has perhaps two dozen different motifs worked out by hand. The shape of the necklace, moreover, is new, bizarre and changed slightly, might be quite the most stunning adornment any woman could dream of.

On this necklace there are fully a half hundred musical little silver bells, some of them attached by delicate little hand-made silver rings, each with its own little decorative touch at the top, any one of which is suggestive of a new design.

And it's Bells, Bells, Bells! The earrings that go with this necklace—for Zanzibar sultanas apparently had ensembles of jewelry just as Americans do—have clusters of three little bells, suspended by finely wrought silver chains of intricate links. The chin-chain, a new note in jewelry for us, repeats the charming links of the earrings.

Quite surprising is the lip stick of hand wrought silver, which really is a lip stick for the rouge is contained in a silver pot. The whole thing slips into Milady Sultana's waist when she is not making lip.

One of the bracelets in this collection is the equivalent in beauty to a whole forearm of different and intricately designed bracelets. For they are designed, in bands of different motifs, very different and very complicated, using flowers, tribal signs, bits of animal life and other native things for their source. These are in silver and some have gold used in conjunction with it.

While American women will scarcely ever take to such ornate anklets as the Sultanas wear, nevertheless one of the Sultana's anklets would make a stunning upper arm bracelet for American women. Moreover, each of those shown in this collection is handsomely designed with a wealth of fine scrolls, dots, fluted edges and other suggestions for jewelry.

Close are Exotic. The close themselves show an Oriental influence, both in their design and decoration. One pair of handsomely engraved silver ones, with double rows of silver bells, has toe posts of gold that

The boy's record of bad conduct is explained by what the X-ray showed in his brain, social workers explained, and the judge was willing to postpone sentence till science had proven what it could do.

LUCKY DAYS

TWO WIVES
 A 26-year-old bank teller on a yearly salary of $1,680 was found hundreds of dollars short in this account. Arrest brought forth the fact that he was a bigamist, supporting two establishments, buying $20,000 homes and luxurious furnishings for both wives, starting dinner in one home, eating dessert in another, and, in short, putting the deception across for several months.

POOR WOMEN
 The queer part of the whole mix-up is that both wives visit him at the jail, insist that they forgive all, will be waiting for him when his prison sentence is over, and love him, anyway. But it isn't so queer at that. We should be quite accustomed to the idea by now that most women will stand anything from and in a man, once they have chosen him for the object of their affections. This fearful fidelity of woman has been much lauded by the poets, but sometimes one is inclined to believe it her greatest curse.

TO MARRY OR NOT
 Washington and Jefferson College is the most recent school to forbid marriage of undergrads under penalty of expulsion. Any such arbitrary rulings which do not consider the individual case always seem a little blah. The general theory is that the distractions of matrimony cannot harmonize with the scholastic life; that readjustments necessary to the state of marriage are enough of a job in themselves without school activities. Perhaps true, in some cases. Other schools which do not expel undergrads for the matrimonial leap believe that the distractions of pre-marriage may be fully as interfering with the life scholastic as those of post-marriage.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

MME. RUBINSTEIN

In today's article I am going to describe three very distinctive and good-looking types of ranging your hair. In each instance the lines which frame the face are very important. The first of my three styles will be the pompadour. This very charming coiffure was designed by Monsieur Simeon particularly for the debonair type of girl—youthful, vivacious, pretty and slim. In this style the hair is parted on the side. The front is waved in a moderately-spaced marcel, and the entire back waved up in tight little curls which are not combed out. The hair must be cut in varying lengths to conform to the curling, which makes the entire sides and back a perfectly-shaped and well-groomed coiffure.

The Patrician, brushed straight down from a center part, is another exclusive style which is particularly adaptable to the American woman. It is somewhat restrained in feeling, and yet it is subtly flattering to the type which it becomes.

The third style you will probably find most interesting. This hair dress, possibly modified to suit the individual, is suitable for the woman who is well on into maturity. The most interesting part of this coiffure is the curved part from a point directly in the center of the top of your head. The part curves down in an arc to a position just above the center of the eyebrow. The hair is waved in rather wide waves, which follow the line of the part. On the short side the hair is brushed back, leaving the ear half exposed, and a short curl is brought around in front of the ear in an inverted question mark. On the long side, the waves are a little wider, and the same line is followed. It is not only designed for the average woman, but with slight modification I can confidently say that it is flattering to many women. Monsieur Simeon has called this the Princess. Here the hair is either marcelled or finger waved, as your choice may dictate. The finger wave is a little softer and a little more youthful in appearance. However, if the marcel is well given, and skillfully arranged, it is perfectly successful. This calls for a slightly longer hair than many other styles. The hair should be left well below the ears, parted on the side, and arranged very softly around the face, with the sides brushed back so that instead of the usual round line the hair is pushed slightly away from the temples. This style permits of many modifications. Merely through the different arrangements of the side pieces, you can accomplish any one of several suitable coiffures.

The best advice I can give you in cultivating the lines of your head is to spend anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour and a half before your mirror, or at your hairdresser's, experimenting with all kinds of possible hair combs. You will be sure to find one distinctly becoming to your own type. Once you have achieved it, stick to it. Fashions that are really successful are the ones that are modified to your own individuality.

Lunday Trial Is Closely Guarded

State Ranger and Deputy Search Spectators; Testimony Shows Victim Made Improper Advances

(By Associated Press.)
KARNES CITY, Jan. 25.—R. C. Bowen visited the Lunday home and made improper proposals to Mrs. Lunday several weeks before he was shot to death by Norman Lunday in a filling station here, it was testified in Lunday's trial for murder here today.

Mrs. Lunday said here husband was enraged when she reported the incident to him. Her testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Will Sims who said she was visiting Mrs. Lunday at the time.

A state ranger and deputy sheriff at the court room door searched everyone attending the trial today. Sheriff Brown is guarding Lunday closely, accompanying him during recess and sitting beside him in court, his face toward the crowd.

SPENT $1500 TRYING TO GET WELL

Then Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Relief

This startling letter from an ex-serviceman will interest everyone who suffers from constipation:

"I was discharged after the World War with heart trouble and bad stomach. I had saved about $1500. Since then I've spent that sum and a lot more on doctoring and operations and medicines. I always was bothered with constipation.

"I told my wife to get some kind of light breakfast food and I would try it. She came home with a small package of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. I ate it for breakfast, lunch and dinner, about a common tea-saucer full with milk at each meal. I have been doing this for about a month. I have stopped taking dope (medicines). I work 9 to 12 hours. I have a good appetite. And now I am gaining flesh and believe I am getting well."

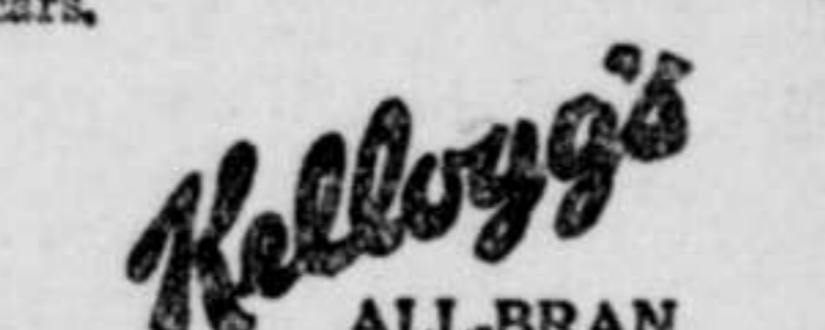

GEORGE C. O'CONNELL, Barker, N. Y.

Cleanse your system of constipation's poisons. Thousands have regained their old-time vigor and vim, stopped constipation forever, by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Relief is guaranteed. ALL-BRAN is 100% bran, 100% effective—doctors recommend it. Ready-to-serve with milk or cream. Use in cooking. See the recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers. Served in leading hotels and restaurants—dining cars.

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS
WITH ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Bobby Stow, business manager of the Fort Worth Cats, has recently completed the most ambitious pre-season schedule the Panthers have ever undertaken. Beginning March 9 and going through April 14, the Panthers will play eight major league clubs and play eight skirmishes with minor league opponents. This will be the first time in years that either the Giants or Yanks have played in Fort Worth, Detroit, Chicago and Boston have made frequent visits to Cowtown in recent years.

Between April 7 and 13, the Panthers may make a tour into West Texas, according to reports from the Fort Worth management. Stow has been in communication with West Texas League officials and there is a possibility that Lubbock will be included in the itinerary. Of course this will depend upon whether or not Lubbock baseball fans dig deep down into their jeans and produce the necessary kale to put over the Hubber franchise.

Baseball magnates in Dallas are showing no little concern over the lack of activity in the Panther City relative to building up a club for 1929. On the surface, management has confined most of its activity to selling players rather than acquiring new ivory. This unusual situation has naturally caused the Dallas fans to wonder if the crafty Jack Atz hasn't something up his sleeve earlier in the year. Atz announced that his style of training for the coming campaign would be quality rather than quantity. He will begin training with 24 seasoned veterans instead of the usual thirty-five or forty.

Grantland Rice says that football and golf are the most friendly of all sports, the two that start more arguments than all the others put together. Golf seems to get you, once you are concerned and captured by the spell of the game but, the famous sport authority points out football has it beaten when it comes to the burning enthusiasm of its adherents.

There is something about football that goes deep into the soul of those who teach it and play it—especially those who teach it. It is the most engrossing of all the professions. A football coach starts in to teach a year or two and then quits. But he is still hard at it 20 or 30 years later, even when he could make more money at some other and easier job.

Incidentally Grantland Rice defeated Rex Beach, the novelist, yesterday and retained his title as champion of the annual Writers and Artists' golf tournament.

Matadors Sweep Series With The McMurry Quintet and End Abilene Invasion With 3 To 2 Majority

Walker, Hodges and Reeves Lead Tech Outfit In Scoring; Indians Outclassed From Start To Finish

(Special to The Avalanche)
ABILENE, Jan. 25.—McMurry College penetrated the Texas Tech defense for but three goals tonight, the Matadors winning by a score of 28 to 11 to sweep the two game series with the Indians and end their five night visit to Abilene with a majority of 3 to 2 in games won and lost.

Handsome Ransome Walker, Clarence Hodges and Reeves split the scoring honors, Walker leading the field with five two-pointers. Reeves scored second with four and Hodges third with three. Most of their tosses were setups.

McMurray was outclassed from the opening whistle, the Matadors rolling up a total of 12-1 before Thard connected for the Abilene collegians' first field goal.

Summary: Referee, Hill (A.C.C.)

Stribling Takes KO From Western Giant In Third

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25.—W. L. (Young) Stribling, Macon, Ga., contender for the heavyweight championship throne vacated by Gene Tunney, won a technical knockout here tonight over Fats Smith, Los Angeles giant, in the third round of their 10-round bout.

Stribling floored his opponent four times in the first round, once in the second and one in the third. Then the referee stopped the bout.

When the massive Californian stood up before the fight the fans gazed pop-eyed at his 222 pounds and at his six feet five and one-half inches in height. Stribling looked like a dwarf beside his opponent. Stribling weighed 164.

Smith did not land a solid blow. This was Stribling's last fight before he reaches Jack Sharkey at Miami Beach, February 27, in his conquest for the heavyweight championship.

Smith and Dudley Lead Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Jan. 25.—Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., and Ed Dudley of Los Angeles, playing in the same threesome, burned up a wintry course here today for a pair of 69's to lead the field in the first round of the Texas open golf tournament.

Frank Walsh of Appleton, Wis., who played with them, caught the infection and turned in a 70 to tie for third place with Danny Williams of Shackamaxon, N. J.

Tommy Armour, Washington, D. C., Leonard Schmitt, Lima, Ohio, Henry Ciuci, Bridgeport, Conn., Millie McGuire of Houston were a stroke behind with 71's.

ASKS APPROPRIATION
Coolidge Wants Nineteen Million for Payments

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—President Coolidge has asked congress to appropriate $19,730,386 of which $1,344,200 would supplement other naval appropriations and most of the remainder provide salary increases in various departments of the government. The proposal contemplates the expenditure of $450,000 for modernizing the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada and carrying to completion work on the two vessels for which $13,150,000 already has been authorized.

Texas Aggies Win Over T. C. U. Frogs In Conference Go

Farmers Take Advantage of Purple Lapse In Second Period to Pile Up Comfortable Lead

FORT WORTH, Jan. 25.—In a contest marred by many personal fouls, Texas A. and M. defeated T. C. U. tonight, 40 to 31, at basketball. The game was on comparatively even terms except for a lapse by the Frogs at the beginning of the second period. The Aggies, taking advantage of the opportunity to chalk up a comfortable lead, withstood the spirited T. C. U. attack in the final minutes.

Matty Bell started a new combination at the beginning of the game and it performed beautifully until Eury departed via the personal foul route.

Lott Eliminated In Canadian Match

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—George Lott of Chicago, member of the American Davis Cup team, defending titleholder in the Canadian indoor tennis championships, was eliminated in the semi-final round today by J. Albert Hall, of Montreal, N. J. The scores were: 7-5, 6-8, 6-4, 10-8. Hall will meet Willard Crocker of Montreal, Canadian tomorrow. Crocker defeated Frits Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., 6-3, 6-4, 6-2, in the other semi-final match.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams

"The Pedagogy of Football" is the subject of one of Knute Rockne's winter addresses. Rockne thinks a good word like that helps to dignify the game. Perhaps that's also what the rules committee has in mind in trying to abolish the fumble.

It seems to O'Goofy that the modern million-dollar game football has been getting dignified quite enough without Rockne's effort.

When Marquette beat Michigan at ice hockey the other night, the Marquette captain had four stitches taken in one of his eyes, one player sustained a broken rib, another sprained his knee, still another smashed his leg and another had four teeth knocked out.

That makes it look as if hockey is the game that needs dignifying.

It finally has happened. Lowry McCaslin, star forward of the University of California's championship basketball team, has added evening courses to his studies and now he can't play basketball.

Chick Gandill has become a plumber, they say. Maybe he's trying to forget.

Billy Cage Hopes Suffer Stiff Jolt

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Jan. 25.—Daniel Baker College's hopes for a T. I. A. A. basketball title received a severe jolt when the Southwest Texas State Teachers' Bobcats from San Marcos downed the Billies, 47 to 30, in a rough game here tonight. Brandt played exceptionally for the winners, scoring 17 points.

AGGIE FROSH WHIP TEMPLE
COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 25.—The Texas Aggie freshmen cagers continued their triumphs over Temple High school, 41 to 19, in the first of a two-game series tonight. Carpenter, Frosh forward, was high with 14.

Boston Gob Takes Slashing Battle From Tire Twister

Loud-Speaking Battler From Beantown Fights In Slashing Fashion to Outbruse Burly Rubber Worker

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, smashed out a bruising decision over K. O. Christner, rugged Akron veteran, in a stirring 10-round battle here tonight.

His Miami Beach engagement with Young Stribling at stake, Sharkey fought in slashing fashion to outbruse the burly rubber worker who sprang into prominence through his recent knockout of Knute Hansen. A crowd of almost 20,000 saw the slug-fest. Although there were no knock-downs, one of the other reeled in almost every round in the wild swinging fray.

The crowd, in sympathy with Christner's game stand, boomed the decision lusty.

Sharkey came out cautiously and met Christner's rush with a left hook to the jaw. They wrestled, ripped wild torrents of gloves to each other's heads and bodies. The crowd roared as Christner slammed Sharkey across the ring and forced him to the defensive with a savage body attack. Christner ripped a right to Sharkey's chin that sent the Boston tar into faster retreat. Jack stopped in his own corner to slug it out on even terms with K. O. Sharkey ripped four left hooks to Christner's body, grunting loudly with each, just before the bell.

Sharkey boxed cautiously, then buried a right into Christner's body that made the Akronite clinch. Christner glanced a right off the sailor's chin but Sharkey whaled him with left hooks. Christner's lack of polish became apparent as Sharkey nailed him with left jabs and hooks to the head and body.

K. O. struggled in close where he hammered rights now and then to Sharkey's head. They were in a clinch at the bell.

Sharkey boxed indolently. He easily parried Christner's leads. K. O. ripped a right to Sharkey's chin that brought Jack back to work. Sharkey pumped left hooks and countered to Christner's body. Christner

Ralls Ends Streak Of Estelline Five

Special to The Avalanche)
RALLS, Jan. 25.—The Ralls Jackrabbits, led by the brilliant "Flashy" Walker, staged a sensational comeback here tonight to put an end to a 12-game winning streak enjoyed by the Estelline Cubs, winning the hard-fought contest, 30 to 19.

The two evenly matched teams battled hard tonight for basketball supremacy. The half ended with the teams tied at 11-all.

Ralls came back in the second half stronger than ever, giving the large crowd a thrill as they forged ahead of the visitors from Hall county.

Walker carried off high-point honors with 12 points while the bell of Estelline came next with 7.

Sharkey

blinking, nearly floored Sharkey with a right to the chin. Before Jack could recover, K. O. ripped another one that knocked the hair over Sharkey's eyes. Sharkey fought back and was outscoring Christian at the bell.

Round Four

Sharkey tore into the rubber worker with a left to the body. He threw aside caution and slugged with Christian in a wild melee on the ropes. As they came away Christian packed a swing on Sharkey's temple but Jack belted him on the body. The crowd roared as Sharkey stood in the center of the ring, hobbling and weaving away from a dozen swings to the head. They were in a clinch at the bell.

Round Five

Christian fell into a clinch and clubbed Sharkey's head with rights. Enraged by the right hand punches that bounced off Sharkey ripped into Christian with both hands. K. O. slugged back with both hands until Sharkey held, blinking. Sharkey missed frequently as Christian bulled him into a corner and smashed him lustily with both hands. A right to the chin dazed Sharkey and he was holding on grimly at the bell.

Round Six

Sharkey's seconds gave him smelling salts and he came out cautiously, evading Christian's right. As K. O. missed a swing, Sharkey stepped in with right and left uppers that shook K. O. to the heels. Sharkey pasted home another right and had Christian groggy after two uppers. Groggy but dangerous, Christian belted Jack in the face with a stinging right. Sharkey measured him coolly and buried a left hook deep in Christian's body. Christian rushed into steady body punishment until the bell rang.

Round Seven

Fighting a careful counter battle, Sharkey made Christian lead and then ripped both hands to the body. Christian lay back so Sharkey drove in with a booming left hook to the ribs. Christian, green, but game, pushed Sharkey into the ropes and nailed him again with two right drives to the head. Sharkey fought

Texas Solon And Indianan Mix Up In Buildings Row

Support Promise for Bills On Sweetwater and Coleman Federal Building Causes Sharp Encounter

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Representatives Blanton of Texas and Elliott of Indiana engaged in a sharp exchange in the House today and when they resumed it later in the House lobby were held apart by fellow members.

Several versions of the clash circulated through the chamber, including one story that Elliott had thrown a book at the Texan, but both men later said "nothing serious happened."

Demos Promise

The dispute began when Blanton charged on the floor he had understood the Indiana member to have promised a year or so ago that postoffices would be provided for Sweetwater and Coleman, Texas. Elliott would support the public buildings bill. Elliott denied he made such a promise and Blanton declared he would put into the Record a statement confirming his declaration.

back like a cornered cat, clawing at Christian's body and lifting his rights with thudding smashes to the head. Christian landed that jarring right again at the bell.

Round Eight

Tired missing frequently, both clinched and punched with one free hand. As they milled Sharkey dug his left hand steadily into Christian's body and bruised K. O.'s chin with short rights. One left started blood from Christian's nose, first apparent damage. Standing clear they traded right hand shots to the chin but neither wavered. Christian was very tired at the bell.

Round Nine

Sharkey, strange mixture of caution and savagery, loafed until Christian plunked a long right on his chin. Then the Boston sailor slugged K. O.'s head and body in merciless fashion and sent Christian reeling under volleys of smashes to the head. K. O. held on, apparently very tired, and his blood smeared face grimaced as Sharkey buried left hooks to the body again at the bell.

Round Ten

Sharkey with a goodly margin ahead played safe clinching frequently to whale at Christian's body. K. O. pinned Jack against the ropes and clubbed at his sides. When Christian's iron sides failed under Sharkey's pounding, Jack ripped a right uppercut to the head. K. O. fought back with all he had left but his best was a rather weak body cuffing Sharkey, smiling confidently and ready now to take all kinds of chances, brought left and right swings all the way from his sides in an effort to floor the Akronite. Christian was dazed but still trying at the bell.

CLUB PLANS PARTY

The Amarillo Tech club at a meeting held Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock decided to have a party in the near future. Plans are already underway for the annual Amarillo Tech banquet held in the dining hall of the Herring Hotel in the late summer. The main purpose of the club is to interest as many Amarillo young people as possible in coming to Tech to go to school.

INTRAMURAL TEAMS PRACTICE

According to Sidney Knowles a good representation of the three schools are coming out for the intramural football practice held every afternoon. Knowles, who is coach, declares that the Liberal Arts school has the weakest string of men. A game is scheduled for some time the latter part of next week.

Vaughn Corley, Captain-elect for next year, is coaching the Aggies, while Chubby DeWitt is coach for the Engineers.

EXHIBIT IS SENT OFF

The pictures in the exhibition of the Southern States Art League shown in the Engineering building January 10 to January 20 were sent to Greenville last Monday.

The pictures are scheduled to be shown by the Hunt County Federation from January 24th to the 30th.

Miss Elizabeth West, sponsor of the exhibition, expressed herself as being highly pleased at the response which the pictures received in the exhibition.

WRITES FOR BIOGRAPHY

Miss Elizabeth West, librarian, is preparing the biographies of three men which will be printed in the Dictionary of American Biography. This book is sponsored by Allan Johnson. Dr. S. S. McKay of the History department is also preparing some biographies of South Carolina generals to appear in the biography.

John Forbes, one of the men whose lives Miss West is portraying, was a trader in Florida with the Indians during the early days of our country.

Wesley Hardin was a Texas desperado. Living as he did in the period of reconstruction following the Civil War he has incentives to aid him in his evil deeds. Hardin rivaled Billy the Kid in his killings, because while the latter had a notch in his gun for twenty-one men whom he had killed, the former murdered many more before he was captured and in his life's history did not name all of the men he had killed.

Jack Hayes, the third man of whom Miss West is writing, was a famous Texas ranger. He was an intrepid and amazing man according to Miss West. One of his feats was to outrun an Indian and Mexican on a three mile course.

This biography which will be published within the near future will be of special interest to the students and faculty because of the work which is being done toward its publication by the two faculty members.

FACULTY PARTY TONIGHT

The Faculty club party which was postponed from last week is to be given tonight.

The event is scheduled to be held in the gymnasium and Miss Zelia Riegel, teacher of physical education, is to be in charge of the entertainment.

CLUB TAKES NEW PLEDGES

In a meeting at the home of A. V. Weaver, 1901 Broadway, Thursday night, six new members were pledged in the College club, new social organization in the city. A short pledge ceremony was held. The new pledges are: Elmer Broderick, Arthur Brice Burnett, Buster Honey, Gus Joiner, and C. L. Harris.

PETITION OVERRULED

Anti-Saloon Leader Denied Habeas Corpus Hearing

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 25.—Judge Robert C. Baltzell in federal court here today overruled the petition of Dr. Edward S. Stayed With Claim Okla. Man Filed On Land In 1893

NEWKIRK, Okla., Jan. 25.—Among the thousands of men and women who engaged in the famous Cherokee land race into Kay county in September of 1893, Sam M. Miller, 5 1/2 miles north of here, is one of the few who still occupies his original claim.

Where Miller paid his filing fees in 1893, a barren lonely country today he occupies a fine farm home with all conveniences radio, telephone, and automobile.

"All I had when I landed was $175 in cash, a wife and baby, and a few cows and a team," Miller said recently in relating his experiences.

"My first residence consisted of a frame shack 14 by 18 in size, with a shingle roof, the whole thing costing $80. I broke out 20 acres of sod in the spring and planted my first corn crop, which grew without cultivation and made 35 bushels an acre.

"The milk cows and a few chickens kept us through the first season, yet the first five years here were the happiest in my life. Everybody was poor and on the same level. We were sociable and every ready to go to the assistance of a neighbor in trouble. No school house or churches for some time, we merely lived in a primitive way.

Bodies Of Fliers Sent To Ft. Worth

SAN ANGELO, Jan. 25.—Escorted to the train by a guard of honor from the James J. Goodfellow Post of the American Legion, the bodies of Al Henley, W. E. Shytle and Don Frazee, killed in an airplane crash here yesterday, were sent to Fort Worth tonight.

The caskets containing the bodies of Henley and Shytle, former service men, were draped in flags. No services were held here. The three men were killed when a Ryan cabin monoplane piloted by Henley nosedived from 100 feet.

TO CONDUCT PROBE

Committee Appointed To Investigate Futures

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—A special committee was appointed today by the chamber of commerce of the United States to inquire into futures trading on produce exchanges, particularly in wheat and cotton. The purpose of the study will be to determine the effect of such trading on prices, apart from the normal influences of supply and demand, and how the system can be made to best serve economic purposes.

WAUKESHA, Wis., Jan. 25.—Bi-weekly parties in which girls were auctioned before parties of Waukesha and Milwaukee business men were brought to light here recently by county sheriffs.

Stomach Disorders First Revealed by Coated Tongue

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90% of all sickness starts with stomach and bowel trouble.

A coated tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders which lead to so many kinds of serious illness. It tells why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

Coating on the tongue is a sign that you need Tanlac—the medicine which has helped thousands who were physical wrecks from stomach and bowel troubles—who had "tried everything" in vain and about given up hope.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

WHY WAIT LONGER

We heard a lot of talk last fall about the Constitution and the observance of its mandates with reference to prohibition. The outstanding leaders of both parties solemnly declared that they honored the Constitution, and would defend it with their lives.

Now it's different. Congress is in session, and is confronted by a Constitutional mandate requiring reapportionment of the membership of the house with the 1920 census figures as a basis.

THREE SENATORS HOP INTO BIG TOAD POND By CHARLES P. STEWART Washington Correspondent for Central Press and The Avalanche

ASHINGTON, Jan. 25.-Senators Nye and Frazier of North Dakota and Brookhart of Iowa have been toads in so small a puddle heretofore that they looked large. Hence forward they are to mingle with all the other toads in the main G. O. P. pond.

How big will they look in this new company? So far as they themselves are concerned, they may never realize any difference. Others may see it, however.

The senate as the whole country knows, has consisted in recent years of an extensive Republican pond, a smaller Democratic pond and two puddles, of Republican and Democratic "progressive" toads.

Henry Shipstead, Farmer-Labor senator, has also had a puddle all his own, but that's immaterial for purposes of the present argument. We may likewise dismiss from our minds any consideration of the Jefferson pond and puddle insofar as they relate to this case.

Only the G. O. P. pond and its collateral puddle-especially the puddle-are germane to the question in hand.

The puddle, for the better part of the last four years, has been the recognized habitat of six sensational toads-"Uncle George" Norris of Nebraska, "Young Bob" LaFollette and John J. Blaine of Wisconsin and the trio mentioned above, Brookhart, Frazier and Nye.

Other toads often squatted on the puddle's edge and occasionally hopped in and out again. The sextet named really called that mudhole home. The others?-no.

Uncle George Norris is a whale of a toad in any society. Young Bob and John J. Blaine are formidable toads, too-no toad in the senate they cannot croak in competition with, and creditably.

As for the remaining three there was room for differences of opinion. True, they looked small alongside Uncle George, young Bob and John J., but that was recognized as hardly a fair comparison, the old Nebraska and the two Wisconsinians being such unusually husky toads.

The problem was: How would Nye, Frazier and Brookhart stack up against the main pond's average? Nobody ever could have answered that question while the three remained in their original puddle, but in the last presidential campaign they hopped, and "regularized" themselves by supporting their party's regular nominee.

This means they are eligible to the big pond. More, even if they want to return to the old puddle again later, it is doubtful if Uncle George, young Bob and John J. will let them in. These three faithful toads are pretty sore.

As yet it is a trifle over-early to estimate Nye's, Frazier's and Brookhart's actual size. The regular toads in the big pond are welcoming them just now, and they are jumping around nighly lively, considerably swelled up and perhaps appearing larger than they really are.

They took risks jumping into the big pond, anyway.

One of the greatest life insurance companies of the country has recently issued to all of its policy holders a statement under the title, "Your Friend the Doctor." It suggests the following questions to be considered in the choice of a physician:

- 1-Is he liked and trusted by the kind of people whose opinion you respect? 2-Is he a graduate of a recognized medical school that requires at least four years of thorough training? 3-Has he had broad practical experience or training in a first-class hospital, or both? 4-Does he keep in touch with the most recent scientific discoveries? 5-Does he belong to a local or national association of doctors of medicine? 6-When in doubt, write to your city, county or state department of health, or the secretary of your county medical society. 7-A specialist is a man who, in addition to a regular doctor's training, has spent several years studying one branch of medicine or one organ of the body. As a rule it is best not to go to a specialist until you have seen a regular doctor for a general examination. He can tell whether or not you need a specialist and advise you as to the best one to consult. Furthermore, the policy holder is warned to beware of five types of doctors who are likely to be quacks. These are: 1-The doctor who advertises his methods or "cures" in newspapers or gives out handbills. 2-The doctor who posts big advertising signboards outside his office. 3-The doctor who claims he can cure serious disease quickly and easily. 4-The traveling doctor who moves from town to town. 5-The doctor or group of doctors who have discovered some new "cure" that other physicians do not know about. No great discovery of science is kept secret.

SO THINK WE

We think there are many people in Lubbock who never see the sunrise, and have no idea when it happens unless they happen to see about it in the Almanac.

We think that East Texas editor who wrote the following announcement about a meeting of the Ladies Aid society is probably seeking protection in the mountains right now. His paper contained this statement in regard to the meeting: "The ladies of the congregation will have an opportunity to get rid of everything not worth keeping, and they are all specially urged to bring their husbands."

We think possibly the reason that the Question Mark, the plane that stayed in the air for six days and six nights and so many hours, and which is going to fly over Texas soon, might stop at Lubbock if we had a real airport, but as it is, it is scheduled to stop at Midland, a much smaller and less important point.

We think you should go and get your automobile fixed up with a new license number, for the first of February is not very far off, and after that time there is not going to be any questions asked as to why you were arrested for violation of the state traffic laws.

We think you had better equip yourself with a poll tax receipt, and your automobile with a license plate if you expect to be happy this year. We think if it took forty-eight car loads of postage stamps to supply the demand in the United States last year, there were at least seven car loads that found their way into the average newspaper editor's waste basket carrying stuff that was of no interest to anyone in particular.

We think that most people use slang when they do not have anything else to say.

We think possibly the reason that the evolution bill was voted down is that many of the legislators were afraid they might make monkey's of themselves.

We think that with the January building permits already at the $200,000 mark that there is indication that Lubbock is going forward in her usual steady way.

We think people will steal most anything. Dowa Toyah way one fellow says that he lost 105 coyote skins.

We think there is going to be a great interest in the extension of rail lines in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. These lines will mean a great deal to the land owners all along the line, and will mean much more to Lubbock as a wholesale center, and the other towns along the line, as trading points.

We think in the death of Senator Underwood of Alabama the United States loses a very influential and powerful politician.

We think it is a very wise move on the part of the citizens of Lubbock to get together on the road question in this county. There is no need for Lubbock county to get divided on a road question. The entire county needs paved roads, and if the matter is agreed upon in the preliminary meetings and a conservative road program laid out there will be no trouble experienced in putting the issue over in good shape.

There is no other class of people

The Way Of The World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

MAKING GOOD Now and then an old friend-perhaps somebody you knew in school many years ago - drops into the office. How quickly you can tell whether he has "made good" in the world. You don't discover it so much by anything he tells you as by the man himself. In fact some who have come a long way from making good talk the most. Perhaps they fool themselves. They don't fool others. If young men just coming out of school or just entering business could really see and understand what a poor figure a man who has not made good cuts in the world, and how fine a figure a really useful, successful, upstanding outstanding citizen presents to his friends and to his townsmen, they would be willing to make a great sacrifice to show real devotion and to give inconvenient service in the effort to get somewhere and be somebody.

NOBODY IS LOST It is hard to get lost in the world now. Go to the State Park but the country follows you. Commander Byrd speaks from far Antarctica, to hundreds of thousands through the newspapers. When Peary struggled toward the North Pole, nobody cared. The only incentive was the fact that you failed. No matter how beautiful the alibi it always leaves a bad impression.

ALIBIS There is no place in the young man's world for alibis. If you start to start again. But don't waste your time or the time of anybody else in building up and delivering an elaborate explanation of why you didn't finish. Nobody cares. The only important fact is the fact that you failed. No matter how beautiful the alibi it always leaves a bad impression.

FORGIVING It was Robert Louis Stevenson who said that a man was a green hand at life who could not forgive any mortal thing. Perhaps some of us do all our part of the pulling and pushing so that we may look back at the end of the year 1929 and feel that we have had a part in promoting and building here a greater prosperity and a more substantial city.-Ralls Banner.

PLACING WILBARGER FARMERS ON WEEKLY PAYROLL Texas Opportunities, a periodical devoted to the development of the Lone Star State, dedicated its current issue to dairying, and the issue reviews outstanding progress in that phase of agricultural industry during the past year. Counties in which extraordinary progress has been made in inauguration of a dairy program are given considerable space.

Wilbarger County is not mentioned. Any reader of the magazine who is familiar with the work in Wilbarger county can readily understand this. A few dairy cows were distributed in this county. However, in other counties hundreds of dairy cows were placed with farmers for every ten placed in Wilbarger. It is little wonder that this county is not given mention as one of the counties in the state that is active in development of the farm MUCH PROGRESS Notwithstanding the many adversities to visit this country this year the City of Ralls had one of the most phenomenal growths in its history. New homes, new business houses, paved streets, white way, new compress, city auditorium, and hundreds of other buildings and other improvements have been added to Ralls during the year 1928. The total building and improvement permits aggregate around one half million dollars which is by far the greatest growth this city ever experienced in a year.

So after all, 1928 didn't treat us so badly. And we are stepping off into 1929 under very favorable circumstances for a still greater growth. Ralls is one of the most substantial cities of its size in Texas and has a reputation as such wherever it is known. It has one of the best trade territories that was ever adjacent to any agricultural town, and with the concerted movement for diversification among the farmers this year, aided by the banks and Ralls Chamber of Commerce, there is no reason in the world why 1929 should not be the most profitable year in the history of the county. One thing we all found out this year is a cow gives more milk than a cotton stalk and is not so apt to be damaged by a hail storm or worms. A movement is now on foot to ship in good grade Jersey cows. The progressive farmers are indicating real interest in the move. The dairy business in this county has had phenomenal growth the past few years. It is just getting big enough now to know how to grow. And with the great amount of the best dairy feed obtainable anywhere right here on the many farms it is likely that 1929 will see the greatest dairy production ever experienced here. Of course, with the cows come the chickens, turkeys and hogs, which will round out the true state of diversification which has meant real prosperity in all countries where utilized. "Make a living" will be the slogan of the progressive farm citizens and no country on earth affords greater possibilities along this line than the Ralls country. This city and county made much progress in 1928, but the year 1929 bids fair to surpass it in real development and achievement. Let's all do our part of the pulling and pushing so that we may look back at the end of the year 1929 and feel that we have had a part in promoting and building here a greater prosperity and a more substantial city.-Ralls Banner.

We think the reason there are so many old maids is because too many girls waited for the right man to come along and he never comes.

PRESS COMMENT

There was a hurricane shelter built in the side of the mountain. It lay at the foot of the terraced gardens, a few steps from where they stood. The servants were carrying food and water there, and making the necessary preparations for a siege within the great stone chamber. "Close all the shutters in the house," ordered Hollis, "and barricade them firmly."

He hurried Ashtoreth along beside him. "We'll stay in the house," he told her. "It's as firm as the rock of Gibraltar. These people are panicky. After I'm sure there is no need of such elaborate precautions, I'll let them huddle together in the shelter if they prefer. We'll be quite cozy and safe in the drawing room."

Towns of scarcely more than 500 population have led and financed dairy programs that culminated in distribution of 600 cows in the county and establishment of a dairy products plant in the town. A number of such noteworthy accomplishments were reported in the issue.

Those who directed the work in these communities faced situations identical with that existing in Wilbarger. Farmers, hard pressed as a result of the one-crop system, were unable to buy cows. Solutions were found and the programs carried out despite this. In one county, not nearly so liberally endowed with natural resources as is Wilbarger, a finance company was organized under the direction of local bankers and other business men to enable the farmers to buy dairy cows. This similar to firms operating to handle automobile loans in almost every city in the state. The cows were insured, and the buyers were allowed to pay for them on the installment plan.

When one reviews the accomplishments detailed, the progress in Wilbarger county shrinks into insignificance. In comparison to what others have done, our progress, which we have taken pride, seems a but a gesture. It is not too late. The dairy products market is still far from the saturation point and experts in the industry are confident it will not be reached for many years even if present record development continues. Our opportunity is not passed. The success of the movements in other counties has pointed the way. We should be able to follow. The goal is a stabilized farming industry. The movement has placed farmers in other sections on weekly payrolls of considerable bulk. Wilbarger farmers need a similar tonic.-Vernon Record.

Orchid

THIS HAS HAPPENED ASHTORETH ASHE is spending an exciting evening with Hollis Hart in a little house on the top of a mountain that towers above a tiny island in the Caribbean Sea. A most romantic spot.

Ashtoreth is a stenographer. Mr. Hart is her employer. Rich beyond her wildest dreams and handsome. Considerable older-but then-a girl can't have everything.

Ashtoreth, who has been ill, is taking a West Indies cruise. She meets Hart quite by accident in Dominica and proceeds to make the most of it.

Her trip so far has been most adventurous. MONA DE MUSSET, a fascinating woman with whom she romped, died at sea. JACK SMYTHE, an Englishman, made love to her. And all the women aboard snubbed her outrageously.

Ashtoreth caps the climax by purposely missing the boat, and going to Hollis Hart to his little house on the mountains. She pretends of course, that it was an accident. And Mr. Hart seems not to suspect her little ruse.

They have been sitting on the gallery for hours, exchanging confidences. A little plucked by his exceeding respect, Ashtoreth endeavors to have him make love to her. At the moment, she is wearing through the gardens, dressed in her host's pajamas and dressing gown.

He had kissed her, and... there has been much talk of a beautiful island through the straits of a great girl and a man, thrown by chance together.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXX The sun had gone behind a bank of threatening clouds. Great gray clouds that came scurrying in over the ocean. Pleading from the fury of the wind. And the wind swept across the sea, and down into its depths. Churning, and whipping, and lashing the dark waves.

Servants came running from the house, Lisa, with her husband Cher, And Hortense, who laundered Ashtoreth's clothes, and drew her bath, And others, following them with little black children scampering like frightened chickens. They shouted in patrols.

Hollis jumped to his feet. And Hortense came running to Ashtoreth. She alone, of the servants spoke English. "It is another hurricane," she said. "They have given the storm signals. And now the waves from town has come with word from the wireless station. The wind comes sweeping from the south, traveling like God, so fast."

There was a hurricane shelter built in the side of the mountain. It lay at the foot of the terraced gardens, a few steps from where they stood. The servants were carrying food and water there, and making the necessary preparations for a siege within the great stone chamber.

"Close all the shutters in the house," ordered Hollis, "and barricade them firmly." He hurried Ashtoreth along beside him.

"We'll stay in the house," he told her. "It's as firm as the rock of Gibraltar. These people are panicky. After I'm sure there is no need of such elaborate precautions, I'll let them huddle together in the shelter if they prefer. We'll be quite cozy and safe in the drawing room."

Towns of scarcely more than 500 population have led and financed dairy programs that culminated in distribution of 600 cows in the county and establishment of a dairy products plant in the town. A number of such noteworthy accomplishments were reported in the issue.

Those who directed the work in these communities faced situations identical with that existing in Wilbarger. Farmers, hard pressed as a result of the one-crop system, were unable to buy cows. Solutions were found and the programs carried out despite this. In one county, not nearly so liberally endowed with natural resources as is Wilbarger, a finance company was organized under the direction of local bankers and other business men to enable the farmers to buy dairy cows. This similar to firms operating to handle automobile loans in almost every city in the state. The cows were insured, and the buyers were allowed to pay for them on the installment plan.

When one reviews the accomplishments detailed, the progress in Wilbarger county shrinks into insignificance. In comparison to what others have done, our progress, which we have taken pride, seems a but a gesture. It is not too late. The dairy products market is still far from the saturation point and experts in the industry are confident it will not be reached for many years even if present record development continues. Our opportunity is not passed. The success of the movements in other counties has pointed the way. We should be able to follow. The goal is a stabilized farming industry. The movement has placed farmers in other sections on weekly payrolls of considerable bulk. Wilbarger farmers need a similar tonic.-Vernon Record.

glad you're not brave, Orchid, if that's the way life goes."

He regarded her tenderly. "I'm going to make you a cup of tea. Holly. It takes too long, and I don't want you to leave me alone." "Come out in the kitchen then," he invited.

"No," she said. "Hortense swears it's haunted. You have a drink, if you want it."

She was glad that Hollis never tried to force liquor on her. Men were always trying to get girls to take a drink. Everybody said that prohibition stuff was so dreadful, whatever happened, it wasn't a girl's fault. Maybe rum in the tropics wasn't so dangerous. Just the same she was glad that Hollis never proposed they take a drink together.

"I don't want it," he said. "I couldn't kiss you, if I had a drink. Rum smells worse than anything in the world. Didn't you know that?" "No," she told him demurely. "I supposed they all smelled alike."

"Miss Innocence!" he approved. She wondered if he meant it. If he really believed her to be so very innocent. And she thought how strange it was that just simple little stenographer could twist a great big millionaire around her finger. But could she? Was Hollis Hart going to ask her to marry him? Or was it her, perhaps, who was going to do exactly as he chose with her?

The wind swept the mountain, and tore madly through the garden. There was a great crashing noise, and a gigantic wrenching. "It sounds as if a tree had been uprooted," Hollis told her. "Some of these trees are a great many centuries old. It would be cruel if they should die."

"What if that big mango fell across the house?" asked Ashtoreth. Hollis smiled.

"Then," he said, "the sins we sinned by two and two, we should pay for one by one."

"Aren't you frightened?" she demanded.

"Not a bit. If we're rendezvous with death—you and I—we aren't going to sidestep it, just because we're scared you know. If we're going to die in the arms of that ancient mango—we'll have had our little fun, won't we? Our little loves—our little dreams—you and I."

"Why, you're the same philosophy of life and death that Mona had!" she cried.

"But we're not going to talk about life and death," he reminded her. "You're going to tell me about that letter your father wrote."

He slipped a pillow behind her back, and drew his chair beside hers.

"Well," she said. "I told you about what a wonderful person daddy was. And how awfully clever. But I don't believe I told you about the dreams daddy had for me. You see, when he died, we thought at first that he hadn't left any money at all. But, by and by, we discovered that, besides his insurance, he had saved enough more to send me through college."

"Daddy didn't believe very much in marriage. That is, he had some awfully strange ideas about it. I don't know as I ought to tell you this, Mr. Hart—but mother—well, I guess I told you that she and daddy were about as mismatched as two people could be."

"Now, my mother's just the best woman that ever lived. Daddy used to say she was fearfully moral. Awfully, awfully virtuous, you know. I mean she is just as pure as any woman would be. In her hands and wives, marriage, in her world, was the most respectable state to be desired above all things."

"I know mother loved daddy with all her heart. But I think she'd have married almost anyone who had happened to ask her. And she'd have spent his money like water. And kept his house as best she could. And been loyal and loving and an exemplary wife according to her lights."

"It never occurred to mother to read or study, or become interested in the things that interested daddy. She thought a wife's share of marriage was to live with her husband, and cook his meals and take care of him if he was sick. . . . But of him, the very salt of the earth, Holly. She'd have died for daddy—and she'd die for me. . . . Only she failed him awfully in the big things of life. I think. Spiritually, I mean."

Ashtoreth paused.

"If I didn't tell you this," she explained, "daddy's letter would be quite meaningless. He wanted me, you see, to be another sort of woman."

Mr. Hart nodded.

"I see," he said. "Tell me about the letter, Orchid."

(To Be Continued.)

Ashtoreth recounts her father's amazing philosophy of marriage—and Hollis, in the next chapter, is rather shocked.

Thirty Issues Go To New High Level On Stock Exchange

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER Associated Press Financial Writer NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—A riotous bull celebration on the stock market greeted the week's federal reserve reports today. Nearly 30 issues rose to new high levels on gains running to a maximum of nearly 18 points.

Trade was carried on at a tremendous pace during the early hours of the session, stock changing hands in blocks of 5,000 to 30,000 shares but slowed up considerably during the afternoon as profit taking came into the market in heavy volume. Total sales aggregating 5,500,000 shares, approximated the 1928 record to date established on January 4.

Indices Rise 4 Points The Associated Press price indices for industrials and utilities rose 5 and nearly 4 points, respectively, to record heights. Metals, motors, utilities and industrial specialties led the upturn.

Despite the tremendous dealings, the buying was of rather selective character, and rails were somewhat heavy and there was a fairly wide sprinkling of net losses of 1 to 3 points at the close. The federal reserve brokerage would record a new high was taken for granted but the increase of $43,000,000 was much smaller than had been expected. The statement of the New York Federal Reserve bank showing that its reserve ratio had risen nearly to that of a year ago, was an important factor in the bullish enthusiasm.

Call money held at 6 per cent all day but the tone was firm. Reports that the new $100,000,000 petroleum investment trust will put much of its funds into the call money market for a time and unconfirmed rumors that New York banks are planning to offer $20,000,000 of Transval gold to be offered in London Monday were regarded as brightening the call money outlook.

U. S. Steel Leads U. S. Steel was brought forward as a market leader, mounting 9 points to a new record price at 197 3/4. When it began to slip on profit taking, bulls turned to General Motors, pushing the old stock up about 10 points. Steel shares were generally strong, reflecting the excellent last quarter earnings report of Bethlehem. Coppers were bid up smartly but ran into heavy selling realizing. American Smelting touched a new peak at 7 points, up.

Nash Motors was bought in tremendous volume, moving up 9 points to a record price of 117 7/8. Rumors of a merger with Packard and a 10 per cent stock dividend. It fell back somewhat on official denial of the merger report but rallied and closed near the top. Underwood, Elliot, Fisher was bid up nearly 18 points but lost about a third of its gain. U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Johns Manville jumped 18 points and then slipped back 4 points each. General Electric was pushed up nearly 17 points. Radio made an extreme gain of 10 points. Then it lost more than half of it.

Consolidated Gas and Peoples Gas led the utilities with gains of 6 and 9 points. The commodity markets were irregular. Wheat sold up on further anxiety over lack of adequate snow covering in the winter wheat area, and corn and oats improved. Cotton lost from 70 cents to nearly 61 a bale in quiet trading.

Foreign exchanges were dull with sterling cables easier at $4.84 29-32. Broadcast Head Opposes Classing Radio As Utility (By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Opposition to the view that radio broadcasting should be classified either through legislation or by judicial decision as public utility was voiced today by M. H. Aylesworth of New York, president of the National Broadcasting company, before the house merchant marine committee, at a hearing on a bill to continue the life of the federal radio commission for a year.

Daily Markets

LUBBOCK LIVESTOCK The following report furnished by McDonald Packing company, Lubbock, Texas: Cattle: calves, choice white face, 9.25 @ 10.25; good to medium, 8.00 @ 9.25; common and dogies, 5.00 @ 7.00; yearlings and heavy heifers, choice, 8.50 @ 9.50; good to medium, 7.00 @ 8.00; common, 5.00 @ 7.00; cows, choice, 6.25 @ 7.75; good to medium, 5.00 @ 6.50; common and cutters, 4.00 @ 5.00; canners, 2.00 @ 4.00; bulls, heavy butchers, 5.75 @ 6.25; heavy bologans 5.00 @ 5.50.

PORT WORTH LIVESTOCK PORT WORTH, Jan. 25. (AP)—Port Worth's cattle supply today about the same as last week's but only about half the number that came on the corresponding day in 1928. With a light supply of cattle, buyers were willing to take them about in line with yesterday's trading, hogs were a little lower, while not enough sheep offered to test the market.

With five loads of slaughter steers included in the receipts. Some steers sold early at 10.00, or fully steady with two loads of light weight common cattle arriving late and unsold at the noon hour. A heavy load of bulls sold at 6.50 with old head of the common light kind around 6.50. Traded in cows about steady and consisted mostly of mixed loads. A few sold up to 8.00, canners and cutters at 4.50 to 5.75. Slaughter yearlings and heifers confined to package lots that appeared steady, with most of the sales around 10.50, with the common kind around 7.50.

Very few calves here, with packers buying odd lots at steady prices. About two cars in the southern division sold at 10.00, with stocker calves unsold at the noon hour. About stocker supply of cattle very light, one carload of steers sold at 10.50, or about steady. Sheep considered steady with very few on hand to test the market. No early sales in the hog yards. With no early markets reporting very little activity and the limited trading at lower levels, values apt to be lower at Port Worth when trading opens.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK KANSAS CITY, Jan. 25. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Hog values encountered a set-back on today's market with prices ranging from 25 to 50c under yesterday's average of 50 to 80c. Lower than Thursday's best prices to shippers; the extreme top listed at 9.85 at St. Louis as compared with a 10.30 top for comparable kinds the preceding day; total arrivals were 123,350 as compared with 137,742 a week ago and 119,460 a year ago. A stronger undertone featured the fat lamb market and prices ruled strong to 35c over Thursday's level; choice fed lambs at Chicago ranged from 17.90 to 17.45 while comparable grades on the river markets went at 16.25 to 16.60; mature classes held on a generally steady basis with desirable ewes selling from 9.50 to 10.25; receipts totaled 29,200 against 44,927 last Friday, and 23,597 a year ago. Limited supplies of fed steers and yearlings held prices on a mostly steady basis, although some strength was reported at the Kansas City market with extremes sales of fed steers around 25c higher; nothing strictly choice was offered and the bulk of the short feds sold from 10.50 to 12.50; best 995 pound yearlings scored 14.35 at Omaha for the day's top; the stock was scarce and steady prices prevailed, not enough stocker and feeder steers were received to test values; receipts at the 11 markets totaled 11,450 against 11,567 a week ago and 12,954 a year ago.

FORT WORTH GRAIN FORT WORTH, Jan. 25. (AP)—Wheat: Up 1c. Export business dull but bids about 1.33, basis No. 1 hard delivered gulf. Mills bidding as follows: Basis delivered Texas common points No. 1, ordinary hard billing 1.34; 13 percent protein 1.35; 14 percent 1.39; 15 percent 1.42; 16 percent 1.47. No. 1, 75 percent or better soft red mixed quoted delivered at gulf 1.39. Corn: No. 2 mixed delivered gulf export rate 1.08 to 1.10; No. 2 white or yellow 1.10 to 1.11. Oats: No. 3 white delivered Texas group 1 to 62c; group at 1c more. Grain sorghums: No. 2 milo per common points 1.63 to 1.65; No. 2 kafir 1.53 to 1.55. Bearish Figures Send Cotton Down To New Low Price

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 25. (AP)—Cotton prices worked into new low ground for the present movement today under rather free offerings induced by bearish statistics, final liquidation of January position and a diminished spot demand. March contracts eased off to 19.14 and closed on a point above that figure for a net loss of 23 points. The general market closed steady at net declines of 13 to 23 points. Liverpool cables were relatively steady but the local market ignored that factor in the face of prices issued for delivery of 3,400 bales of January cotton which caused an opening slump of 2 to 9 points with January showing the major loss. Offerings persisted after the start and January sold down to 19.06 or 23 points net lower while March traded off to 19.25 and May 19.27 or 12 to 13 points under yesterday's close.

Uncertainty as to what the weekly statistics would show brought out some covering later and prices rallied 8 points from the lows. Reports that the notices were being cared for probably helped the recovery which carried aMarch to 19.33 and May 19.35. The rally, however, met a renewal of long liquidation which persisted for the remainder of the session. January expired at noon at 19.09 net, 20 points lower. The lows of the day were made in final trading when arch sold at 19.14 and May 19.20, or 22 to 24 points below yesterday's close. Final prices were 1 to 3 points above the lows. Receipts 31,392; for week 178,331; for year 7,878,605; last year 6,625,435. Exports 12,757; for week 161,197; for year 6,333,206; last year 4,378,703. Stock 2,308,975; last year 2,401,390. Stock on shipboard 131,096; last year 113,768. Spot sales 15,594; last year 15,517.

Theory Offers Much Einstein's Latest Has Wide Range

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—A most fascinating field of experiment lies behind Einstein's new theory that electricity and magnetism are related to gravitation, says Dr. H. H. Sheldon, head of the department of physics of New York University. "Such things," said Dr. Sheldon, "as keeping airplanes aloft without engines or material support as stepping out of a window into the air without fear of falling, or of making a trip to the moon, as far as hindrance of gravitation is concerned, are avenues of investigation suggested by this theory."

Weather Favors Indoor Activities

NEW YORK, Jan. 25. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Mid-winter weather conditions continue to favor indoor operations, especially in the factory industry, which maintains its lead in activity, as compared with other forms of business activity. Retail trade has been helped by the weather, mainly in population centers. In the list of favored industries, iron, steel, automobile, implement and machinery manufacturing lines seemed to have an unquestionable lead, but cold weather very generally helped the coal industry; copper mining was active under the stimulus of large foreign and domestic takings, and oil well and gas supplies, electrical goods and radio materials were bought freely. In the list of less fortunately situated trade,
