Prison Left In Ruins

By JERRY L. CARRIER
Associated Press Writer

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—An observer looked around at the rubble that was once the Oklahoma State Penitentiary and muttered: "It's a hell of a way to get a new prison."

A weekend riot saw 23 persons held hostage, at least two convicts killed, 17 inmates and three guards injured and the prison all but totally destroyed. Damage from fires set by the insurgents was estimated to be between $20 million and $30 million.

National Guardsmen and police gained complete control of the prison by Sunday afternoon, and officials found themselves faced with the problem of where to put the 1,750 inmates in what little remains of the institution.

Security was a major concern because the inmates destroyed the cell block locking system.

Since the only structures left relatively intact were the administration building and cell blocks, a military field mess was brought in to feed the inmates.

Meanwhile, the search continued through the rubble for any additional dead or injured.

The damage to the cell blocks was minor, mostly trash and garbage strewn about. But once in the prison yard, the destruction resembled a bombed-out city.

Empty shells of buildings, some four stories high, stood amid the ruins on the ground. Most were still smoldering Sunday night from fires that had burned since the uprising started Friday.

The rioting prisoners made four central demands during the uprising:

—Total amnesty for ringleaders.

—Formation of a popularly elected inmate council to represent the inmates in dealing with the prison administration.

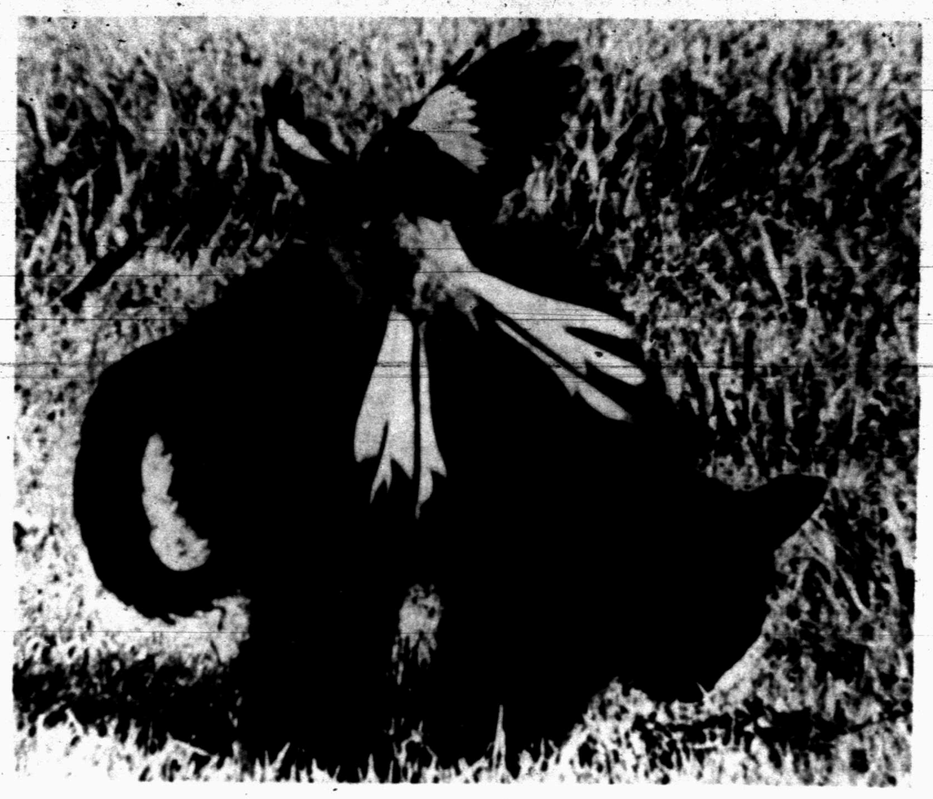

—Access to U.S. Justice Department attorneys and attorneys for the American Civil Liberties Union.

—Suspension of a long-time prison employe who they said hated the prisoners.

Officials said the riot stemmed in part from the inmates' being unaware of recent policy changes.

Officials said they can repair the cell blocks sufficiently to house the inmates temporarily. But when asked if the cell blocks could be used permanently, Ed Hardy, press secretary for Gov. David Hall, shook his head and said, "No way." Hall has asked the federal government about the possibility of housing some in federal institutions and may have to ask other states to take some.

Gov. Hall said on Sunday that U.S. House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., promised to try to get federal funds to help rebuild the prison. The Oklahoma Crime Commission will hold an emergency meeting Tuesday to determine if they can use some of the federal grants already in hand.

Cambodia Says 1,000 Killed

By DENNIS NEELD
Associated Press Writer

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian military command claims more than 1,000 insurgents have been killed around Phnom Penh's southern defenses since Friday.

It says U.S. bombing and strafing attacks in support of the Cambodian army's counterattacks played a major part in the heavy casualties.

There was no confirmation from any other source of today's casualty claim, one of the biggest ever made by the Cambodian command. Nor did the government say anything about its casualties.

But Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency said insurgent forces wiped out 15 tanks and 365 government troops on Highway 3 on Friday.

Col. Am Rong, the Cambodian command's chief spokesman, said some 60 armored personnel carriers were continuing a successful operation to dislodge the Communist-led rebels from the village of Prateah Lang, eight miles south of the capital.

He claimed that this force and its American air support killed 400 of the insurgents in an eight-hour battle northwest of the village on Sunday.

U.S. B52s and F111, Phantom and Corsair fighter-bombers accounted for another 200 insurgents south of Kompong Tuol, a village two miles behind the front lines, Am Rong said.

The Cambodian counterattack got under way Friday in an attempt to outflank a creeping rebel advance. The government claimed earlier that more than 400 insurgents were wiped out by air strikes in the initial stages of the operation.

Prateah Lang is the western pivot of the capital's southern defense line, and the government armored column has been attempting to sweep behind reinforced Communist battalions that have been pushing slowly up Highway 3 toward Phnom Penh.

Field reports say the government ground force bogged down in front of Prateah Lang and, if there have been heavy casualties among the insurgents, they were inflicted by the U.S. air strikes. But newsmen have been barred from the battlefront, and there is no way of checking the government's claims.

Some of the heaviest U.S. air strikes of the three-year Cambodian war are now being made around Phnom Penh.

Infiltators were being hunted only two miles from Pochentong airport, Phnom Penh's main link with the outside world.

Large rebel forces are concentrated in the area of Baseth Mountain, 13 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. Military sources believe the infiltration may herald a full-scale attack from this direction.

Full Reports Never Got To Nixon, Aide Declares

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon asked eight times between September and March for complete reports on the Watergate affair and never received satisfaction, his former top domestic adviser, John D. Ehrlichman, testified today.

Beginning a record-equalling fifth day of testimony to the Senate Watergate committee, Ehrlichman said he was kept in the dark about Watergate planning sessions until April. But he said he notified the President of the meetings within an hour after learning of them.

Ehrlichman said, however, he did not notify the President about the break-in to the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist because "there was nothing the President could do about it or was called to do about it."

As senators limited their questions in an effort to speed up the lengthy proceedings, Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, asked Ehrlichman if Nixon ever asked, prior to March of this year, for information of exactly how the Watergate break-in came about.

"Yes sir," said Ehrlichman. "On repeated occasions the President asked that a complete and definitive statement of the whole Watergate matter, how it was planned, how it was executed, the whole picture be set down on paper and released."

Q. Did the President ever receive satisfaction?

A. No sir.

Ehrlichman ticked off these occasions:

—In September, he asked campaign director Clark MacGregor.

—In November, he asked for a statement on Donald Segretti's role in the affair.

—Later in November, around Thanksgiving, "he asked in response to a letter that he received from a friend about this, expressing real concern about it, he said he wanted this out and cleaned up before the Congress came back."

—Asked White House counsel John W. Dean III on Dec. 8 to do a Watergate summary.

—Did the same Dec. 11 and said he wanted that statement by Christmas.

—Asked again prior to a California meeting of top aides on Feb. 10.

—Asked in a conference with Republican Chairman George Bush March 20.

—Asked in a March 22 meeting with Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell and Dean.

Evans Rites Are Pending

Rites are pending at Bell-Seale Funeral Home for George H. Evans, 42, whose body was discovered at his home at 2802 Avenue E Sunday afternoon by a sister.

Justice of the Peace J.P. Billingsley ruled that death resulted from natural causes.

He was born April 14, 1931, in Snyder, and he was a member of the First Baptist Church. He served in the U. S. Marines during the Korean War.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Minnie Evans of the home; two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Russell of Big Spring, and Mrs. Mary Lois Grim of Snyder; and, one brother, Ralph Evans of Singapore, Malaysia.

Nixon Probe Seen By California Bar

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — President Nixon and five California lawyers will be told today that the State Bar of California will investigate them because of the Watergate scandal, a newspaper reports.

The San Francisco Examiner reported in Sunday editions that the bar's board of governors voted here Friday "by a slim majority" to initiate formal proceedings against the six, starting with the investigation. Details of the board's resolution were unavailable, but the paper said it learned from unidentified sources the resolution dealt extensively with Watergate.

The newspaper reported that the sources said Nixon and the others would be notified by special delivery letter today.

The Examiner said Bar President Leonard S. Janofsky of Los Angeles denied the report as "absolutely absurd." He declined to say whether the matter was discussed during the board's three-day meeting here.

Board member Joanne Garvey of San Francisco said she could "neither confirm nor deny" the report.

The state bar has the power to investigate cases of alleged criminal or unethical misconduct. It can recommend penalties up to and including disbarment to the state Supreme Court. Disciplinary matters usually remain confidential until punitive action is recommended.

Bid Accepted For BCD Equipment

County Commissioners this morning accepted the bid of Stinson Drug Company of $507.50 for slide projection equipment to be used by the board of county development. It was the only bid submitted.

In other business, commissioners set the date for the public hearing on the county budget for 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 20.

Briton Freed By Kidnappers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Kidnapers released Charles Agnew Lockwood today, almost two months after the 67-year-old British businessman was abducted, his family said.

"He is in good health and resting in the house of friends," said one of Lockwood's relatives.

Lockwood is chairman of the board of the Roberts Corp., a British-owned financial company.

Buenos Aires newspapers had said in unconfirmed reports that the kidnapers were demanding $2 million dollars for his release. There was no immediate report of any ransom being paid.

Lockwood was kidnaped June 6 as two of his daughters watched.

Thalidomide Awards Made

LONDON (AP) — A High Court judge approved a $50 million award today to compensate children who were born deformed after their mothers took thalidomide.

The award will be paid by the Distillers Co., the huge whiskey and chemical firm that marketed the drug in Britain. Arguments over the size of the compensation had gone on for 12 years.

About $15 million of the award will be distributed to 443 victims and their families. The remaining $35 million will go into a trust fund to enhance the future of the victims, many of whom never will be able to hold a job.

The drug, developed by a German company, was taken by mothers between 1958 and 1961 as a tranquilizing agent. Some of the children born to the mothers had no arms or legs and a variety of other defects.

Phouma, Reds Reach Accord

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Premier Souvanna Phouma and the Communist Pathet Lao have reached a political and military agreement leaving the Communists controlling 80 per cent of Laos.

The North Vietnamese were left apparently undisturbed along the Ho Chi Minh trail to South Vietnam.

The Pathet Lao announced Sunday night that the agreement also provides for a coalition government and the withdrawal of all foreign forces within 60 days. Since the Communists have never admitted there are any North Vietnamese in the country, the withdrawal provision was expected to apply only to the 17,000 Thai mercenaries the United States has been paying to fight for the Vientiane government and to about 350 American military advisers.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the 72-year-old neutralist who has been premier for 11 years, will head the new government. His half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, who is the leader of the Pathet Lao, is expected to be named senior deputy premier. A rightist official of the Vientiane government, possibly Interior Minister Pheng Phongsavang, will be named junior deputy premier.

The signing of the agreement is expected late this week, at a time that astrologers agree is auspicious.

The political agreement was reached after five months of negotiations that began with the cease-fire Feb. 21 between the royal army and the Pathet Lao. Unlike the cease-fire in South Vietnam, the truce in Laos has been generally effective, with almost no continuation of fighting reported.

The agreement provides for the opposing Communist and rightist factions to control the territory they held at the time of the cease-fire. This recognizes the Communists' hold on 80 per cent of the country's area but only a third of the population. The rightists control the main cities along the Mekong River—Vientiane, Savannakhet and Pakse—where much of the population lives.

The provisional coalition government will include two neutralists, five Pathet Lao and five rightists. The Pathet Lao gets the foreign ministry, while the rightists get the ministries of defense, interior and finance.

"At long last, the diminishing of the Cold War is allowing Laos to play its proper role in the world—a political gray area of no great consequence to East and West," one diplomat said privately.

The accord is to end the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency's support of the war that Gen. Vang Pao's army of Meo tribesmen has been waging against the Pathet Lao. The approximately 1,200 Americans in Laos are to be reduced to about 600, mostly economic, social aid and State Department personnel.

Showers In Area Again

Rains returned to the Snyder area over the weekend, but only light showers brushed the city itself.

The south part of the county again was in the path of the heavier rains. Dunn got .90 inch Saturday, half an inch more on Sunday and two more showers were reported there this morning. Good showers also were reported in the Ira area, and a total of 1.45 inches fell Saturday at the Lake J.B. Thomas dam. There were reports of heavy rains east of Gail in Borden County and there were reports of some runoff into Lake Thomas. However, the extent of the catch was not known immediately.

Snyder had .13 inch in its official guage Saturday evening and picked up .06 more on Sunday as heavy clouds moved from the west and northwest on a southeasterly course. Reports of a quarter of an inch to around half an inch came from the Hermleigh area.

PROMISES REFORMS

Papadopoulos Wins Easily

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — President George Papadopoulos polled a lopsided majority today in a controversial referendum and immediately promised to proceeed with political reforms.

The yes-or-no referendum on his control of the nation gave him a seven-year term as head of Greece's new republic.

"I promise you once again that I will keep my word concerning the political developments of this land," Papadopoulos told his countrymen in a nationwide radio and television address.

He was referring to his pledge to restore political parties and hold parliamentary elections next year. He did not say when the rights would be restored.

"With your vote you confirmed the republic, rejected the monarchy and ratified the achievements of the revolution," he said. "You also provided an answer to those old bankrupt political interests."

With most of the votes counted, the Interior Minstry said there were 3,860,195 votes in support of Papadopoulos' authoritarian regime and 1,060,138 against, or 78½ per cent in favor of the president.

Abstentions and invalid ballots were about 16 per cent. There were 5,840,000 registered voters.

Leading opponents of the regime had appealed for a massive "no" vote even thought the government said its defeat would not change its course. After early returns ran overwhelmingly in favor of the regime, opponents conceded a top-heavy majority to it but questioned the validity of the count.

"No people in the world could have voted freely with such a one-sided percentage," said Panayiotis Canellopoulos, Greece's last parliamentary premier.

"The comedy is over; the results are what we expected," said George Mavros, a cabinet minister in another former parliamentary regime.

Papadopoulos, as an army colonel, led the military coup that ended parliamentary government six years ago. Eight months later, the king made an unsuccessful attempt to oust the military regime and fled to Italy.

Despite the king's absence, the regime continued to recognize him as head of state until last June 1, when Papadopoulos, after an abortive rebellion by the crews of two destroyers, proclaimed a republic with himself as president.

Papadopoulos called the referendum to ratify his acts and to confirm himself in the presidency for seven more years. He said a majority "no" vote would not affect his tenure or the government, it would just result in another referendum with somewhat different constitutional proposals.

To her way of thinking, she's got a 'whole' man

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 By Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: This is concerning "Heartbroken Parents" whose beautiful 28-year-old nurse daughter was marrying a young man who had lost both his legs when he stepped on a mine near Saigon. ["She could easily have gotten a 'whole man'," her mother moaned.]

May I tell my story? I am also a nurse. At 24, I married an athlete who thought all women should be kept pregnant and quiet, no matter what their husbands did. After two children and eight years of hell, I divorced him.

Then I married George, who had been paralyzed from his shoulders down for 24 years.

We have been married a year and a half, and I have never felt so loved, respected, honored, and needed. I thank God for every minute that He has allowed me to have with this wonderful man.

Abby, please keep telling people like those parents that it's far worse to marry an emotional cripple than a physical one. SYLVIA WILLIAMS

DEAR ABBY: What a coincidence! My husband also stepped on a mine in Viet Nam and lost both legs.

After spending a year in the hospital, Gary went to law school, where he was elected president of the student bar association. His other honors are too numerous to mention here. He is a partner in a prominent law firm, and is very active in community affairs. He plays golf, dances, drives a car, and does everything every other normal, healthy man does. He's a good provider, and we have a lovely home and three healthy children. The youngest two were born after his accident.

Gary Formet is more "whole" than some men will ever be. GARY'S WIFE, ORLANDO, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Heartbroken Parents: About 10 years ago a gentleman at a party asked me to dance. I recall thinking that I had danced with better dancers. That is all.

When I got to know him, I was amazed to learn that he was brought up in the slums of Philadelphia, and had lost both legs above the knees under a freight train when he was 12. He refused to let this defeat him, and thru hard work and determination he became hugely successful. He married a charming, intelligent woman, and they have wonderful children. This man has earned the admiration and respect of all who know him. Today he is the president of a thriving company, and he walks tall on two artificial limbs.

I would say he is not only a "whole" man; he is a man and a half. HIS FRIEND IN L. A.

DEAR ABBY: "Heartbroken Parents" would classify my husband as a "whole man." He is good-looking, beautiful, muscular, and he has a good mind. But according to my definition, he is far from whole because he lacks the qualities that make a real man. [Kindness, maturity, tenderness, sobriety, integrity.] His character is rotten, and his selfishness is not to be believed.

I'm not complaining. I married him for better or worse. I just want to tell that nurse how fortunate she is to be marrying a double amputee she knows to be beautiful on the inside. He will make her much happier than a lesser man of physical perfection. INSIDE IS IMPORTANT

Four Mishaps Are Reported

City Police investigated four minor motor vehicle mishaps over the weekend.

The first one occurred at 9:28 p.m. Saturday in the 500 block of the East Highway. There were three vehicles involved: the 1973 Model Chevrolet station wagon of Ronnie Clay Morrison, Paris, Tex.; a 1966 Model Pontiac operated by Connie Rae Lacy, Route 1, Box 21B; and, the 1967 Model Ford of Robert Warren Boyd, 1800 Nineteenth Street.

The next one occurred in the 3700 block of Sunset at 10:03 p.m. Saturday. Involved were the 1962 Model Chevrolet of Jerry Bloyce Dever, 3734 Avondale, and the parked 1972 Model Chevrolet station wagon of Albert Kenneth Redden, 2108 Fortieth Street.

One occurred Sunday on the parking lot at the National Guard Armory at 7:34 a.m. Involved were the parked 1973 Model Oldsmobile of Murry Charles Bell, Friona, and the 1967 Model Chevrolet pickup of Travis Eugene Johnson, Slaton.

The other one occurred in the 1300 block of Thirteenth Street at 5:50 p.m. Sunday. Police said Luis Salinas, 2009 Avenue E, swerved his 1966 Model Dodge to avoid hitting another car and ran into the ditch.

Market Is Forced Out Of Business

YREKA, Calif. (AP) — A meat market founded during California's Gold Rush was frozen out of business by the price freeze, says its owner.

"I just can't make any money the way it is," said Jim Bryan, 42, blaming a combination of factors caused by the price freeze and meat shortage.

The City Meat Market closed Saturday, and its two employes were dismissed. It was founded in 1854 by a German immigrant. Bryan started running it 20 years ago after his father put in 20 years serving this Northern California mountain community's meat needs.

Two Vehicles In Road Crash

Minor damage resulted from a two-car collision 9 miles west of town on FM 1606 at 3:55 p.m. Sunday.

Involved were the 1973 Model Oldsmobile of L.L. Lewis, 3001 Avenue X, and the 1972 Model Ford of Albert Highfield, Clairemont Road. Highway Patrolmen investigated the mishap.

Action Near On Voting Reform

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate appears headed for overwhelming approval of a massive election reform bill today after voting to tighten further its limits on individual political gifts and overall campaign spending.

A vote on passage of the bill was scheduled for mid-afternoon, sending it to an uncertain fate in the House.

The House, meanwhile, was scheduled to launch the year's first floor debate on whether to cut the 600,000 U.S. ground troops in Europe and elsewhere around the world.

A vote on a proposed 50 per cent cut is likely on Tuesday as the House acts on a $21.4 billion military procurement authorization.

Both houses planned busy schedules, including several appropriations bills, in the last week before adjourning Friday for a month-long August recess.

With the U.S. bombing of Cambodia due to end in the middle of the recess, Aug. 15, the House was expected to finish action this week on an unprecedented resolution granting leaders the power to call Congress back from vacation, if necessary.

The Senate passed the resolution Saturday. These were Saturday's major decisions:

—By a vote of 70 to 11, it approved an amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., cutting the proposed spending limits for House, Senate and presidential elections to 10 cents per voter in primaries and 15 cents per voter in general elections. Set figures remain, however, for smaller states.

—By voice vote, it approved an amendment by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., further reducing the amount presidential candidates can spend in general elections to 75 per cent of the amount permitted in each state for Senate candidates.

The net effect of the two amendments was to limit 1976 presidential candidates to about $29.5 million.

—By voice vote, the Senate approved an admendment by Sens. Stevenson and Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., reducing the amount a person can give in one year to all federal campaigns from $100,000 to $25,000.

—By a vote of 73 to 8, it approved an amendment by Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., extending the $3,000 ceiling on contributions by one person to a candidate to also include contributions from a political committee.

—By voice vote, it approved an amendment by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, requiring full disclosure of income and assets by members of Congress and candidates. A move by Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., to table and thus kill the amendment was rejected 64 to 16.

Earlier Saturday, the Senate passed a transportation appropriation totaling nearly $8 billion, much of it for highway construction. It now goes to conference with enactment possible this week.

The Senate expects to act this week on the Interior Department appropriations bill, while the House is due to act on the Treasury-Post Office measure.

The House is also due to act on the measure to speed construction of the controversial Alaska oil pipeline.

Suit Is Dropped

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas colony of the Children of God has dropped a $1.1 million libel and slander suit against a group of parents who had picketed in protest to the fundamentalist religious sect.

The request for dismissal of the lawsuit was made four days after a state court authorized an order by the parents requiring the Children of God to produce a financial and membership records.

The lawsuit was filed in October, 1971, after a demonstration by parents outside the Dallas federal building.

In their suit the colony maintained that the parents depicted the religious sect as a subversive.

The Children of God were also pictured as guilty of kidnaping young persons, using drugs and hypnotism on the, and extorting money from converts, the suit said.

In a printed statement, the sect said the lawsuit was dismissed because the parent's allegations "have proven to be only a repoach upon themselves."

Included in the court order that prompted dropping the suit were requests for names and addresses of all COG members, leadership charts, correspondence, tracts and periodicals issued by the colony and a listing of all personal and real property (including stocks and bonds and motor vehicles) and a listing of donations and donors to the organization.

The COG professes to be a fundamentalist movement which establishes commune-oriented sects whose members are said to follow the day-to-day living principles of the early Christians.

Crude Flow Drops Fast

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — American crude oil production is dropping fast and Russian production probably will surpass this nation's next year, the Oil and Gas Journal says.

A survey for today's issue of the trade journal says that U.S. production dipped 3.1 per cent to 9.2 million barrels per day in March, the last month for which figures are available.

The Russians report they are ahead of an 8.5-million barrel daily pace this year, up more than 7 per cent from 1972.

The decline in the United States' 30 producing states comes in spite of a general lifting of state production limits tied to market demand.

The decline will probably continue "until and unless crude oil prices rise enough to stimulate hefty increases in drilling," the Journal said.

Lebanon Budget Up Sharply

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia has approved a $6.4 billion budget—$2.5 billion more than last year—for the fiscal year beginning July 30, the Saudi news agency reported.

The report said 92.5 per cent of the budget would be met by oil revenues and the rest by taxes and customs dues.

The government earmarked 25 per cent of the budget for military expenditure, including the purchase of Phantom jet fighters and other arms from the United States.

Surviving are two sons, Doyce of Friona and Geral, who lives near Albuquerque, N.M.; four sisters, Mrs. Nellie Bunch of Colorado City, Mrs. Ruth Maedgen of Valera, Mrs. Maruine Starnes of Odessa and Mrs. Mattie Bell Hantes of New Iberia, La.; a brother, Alfred Barnett of Odessa; and seven grandchildren.

Board To Hear Plea Of Irving

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford Irving, jailed for duping a publisher with a fake biography of billionaire recluse Howard Hughes, carried a plea for freedom to the U.S. Parole Board today.

The world was startled at Irving's claim in late 1971 that he had conducted clandestine interviews with Hughes and that his book bore Hughes' authorization.

The story gained credence when a leading publishing house, McGraw-Hill, bought the book and turned over $765,000 in advance payments to the 42-year-old writer.

But as publication drew close, Hughes took a rare step from seclusion and issued a public denial of Irving's claims. In the ensuing investigation, Irving's story crumbled and he admitted the hoax.

In June 1972, Irving was convicted of conspiracy to defraud and sentenced to 2½ years in prison. He was jailed last Aug. 28 and is confined at the Federal Correctional Institute in Danbury, Conn.

At today's hearing, a closed session, the board will consider for the first time whether to parole Irving, who has repaid McGraw-Hill about $450,000 of the amount paid him. Courts have not yet decided whether he must repay the balance.

The board also scheduled consideration of whether to free four of the seven Ku Klux Klan members convicted of charges stemming from the 1964 murder of three young civil rights workers in Mississippi.

The Ku Klax Klan case involved the slayings of Andrew Chaney, Michael Schwerner and Jay Goodman, in Meridian, Miss., in June 1964 when they were campaigning for black civil rights at the height of racial upheavals in the South.

Seven KKK members were charged under civil rights laws with planning and accomplishing the murders and were convicted of conspiracy to deprive citizens of their constitutional rights.

Re-Evaluation Of Clean Air Act Scheduled

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, reacting to government proposals that would sharply restrict automobile use in urban areas, is preparing to order a re-evaluatiin of the 1970 Clean Air Act.

But supporters of the act deny abandonment of the goal of cleaning the nation's air by the end of the decade.

In fact, a Senate staff member who helped write the act says health standards the law is designed to protect are necessary and in some cases may not be rigorous enough.

The most-disputed section of the act requires that automobile manufacturers produce a virtually pollution-free engine by Jan. 1, 1976.

It is that deadline that prompted, in part, the Senate movement for a review.

At the request of original sponsors of the Clean Air Act, the Senate is expected shortly to authorize $300,000 for the National Academy of Sciences to review the health findings on which the 1976 deadline was based.

The key question is whether Congress placed too high a premium on clean air while ignoring economic and social disruptions that might result.

When the bill was being debated 2½ years ago, its chief author, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said repeatedly that the measure was based on protection of public health and not on economic or technological feasibility.

But now some environmentalists are taking the position generally adopted by automobile manufacturers: that given more time the industry might be able to develop an anti-pollution device more acceptable than the catalytic-converted system.

Muskie, whose public works subcommittee wrote the act, and other backers have noted public concern over proposals issued by the Environmental Protection Agency for implementation of the law.

For example, EPA has proposed pollution-fighting transportation controls that could eliminate the automobile from Los Angeles streets and could reduce driving in sections of New Jersey by 68 per cent by 1977.

In other areas, gasoline sales would be limited, on-street parking banned, and idling of auto engines restricted.

In announcing the proposals, EPA acting Administrator Robert W. Fri conceded they might cause disruptions. But he said he had no alternative because of provisions in the law requiring nationwide clean air standards by mid-1977.

However, Fri said EPA will ask Congress in September to consider extending the deadlines for hardest hit areas.

Lobbying Duties Expanded

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — John Shackelford's lobbying duties for the 15,000 students at North Texas State University have expanded to include all 500,000 Texas college students. He has become the first director of the Texas Student Lobby (TSL).

The senior from Ennis, the 1972-73 president of the North Texas U. Student Government Association, is now working for the legal interests of all the state's college students as director of their first official lobbying body.

"A lot of politicians out to get the student vote promise things that they don't come through with," Shackelford said. "We plan to analyze each legislative session and write a profile of each legislator to help people develop some consciousness about how our elected officials perform."

One of Shackelford's most important projects for the coming year, he said, is the establishment of an internship program for students to gain college credit while serving as TSL lobbyists in Austin.

TISA had some influence in the recent passage in Texas of the 18-year-old rights bill, which students wrote and gave to State Rep. Robert Gammage of Houston for sponsorship, said Shackelford.

Nixon, Whitlam In Conference

By WILLIAM DICKE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon conferred today with Australia's Prime Minister Gough Whitlam on the changing relationship between the two Pacific allies.

Whitlam had talks also with Dr. Henry Kissinger, the President's national security adviser. Their topics ranged from China and the future of Southeast Asia to the Australian protest against French nuclear testing in the Pacific.

Whitlam met with Kissinger before his talk with Nixon.

He will leave Tuesday for the United Nations, N.Y., where Australia is a member of the Security Council, and then will proceed to Ottawa for a Commonwealth heads of government.

Tech Group Overhauling Dive Bombers

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Aviation Maintenance Organization of the Texas State Technical Institute is undertaking the overhaul of one of the five remaining complete dive bombers to which historians attribute the U.S. success in the Battle of Midway during World War II.

The project on the James Connally Campus, will also double as class activity.

The aviation maintanance curriculum on the Connally campus is a two-year program approved by the Federal Aviation Administration. Graduates may find job opportunities with airlines, air charter or maintanance companies.

The plane, a Douglas SBD Dauntless, was purchased by a historical center. The aircraft was owned by a private citizen in San Fernando, Calif., and was brought to the campus via LTV Co. of Grand Prairie.

After restoration, which is expected to take approximately one year, the plane will be one of the major attractions at the Adm. Nimitz Center in Fredericksburg.

The plan will be on exhibit suspended in a nose dive position used during its bomb release.

World War II historians say that in four minutes on June 4, 1942, the Douglas SBD dive bombers from Enterprise and Yorktown destroyed Japan's carrier fleet in the area and reversed the tide of battle in the Pacific.

Winter In Argentina Is Severe

By ROBERT D. OHMAN
Associated Press Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — It's winter in Argentina, and it's one of the worst in decades.

Heavy snows blanket Patagonia, the 1,000-mile-long southern area that ends at Cape Horn. In the north, rains are sending rivers over their banks. Snow has fallen within 100 miles of Buenos Aires for the first time in years, and temperatures in the capital district have dipped to 36 degrees.

Nearly a million sheep are believed to have perished in Patagonia, a loss of $10 to $15 per head. Newspaper reports say that 50,000 to 80,000 cattle may have drowned in waters flooding the rich pampas of Buenos Aires Province.

Housewives bundled up against near freezing weather formed lines in poor districts of Buenos Aires, carrying pails to collect heating kerosene from tank trucks sent out by the state petroleum company.

Nearly five million acres of pasture and farmland in Buenos Aires Province have been under water. Agricultural experts said it would take some of the waterlogged land several years to be productive again.

National and provincial highways were cut either by floods or snowdrifts. Emergency auto caravans were formed by skiers leaving the mountain resort of Bariloche.

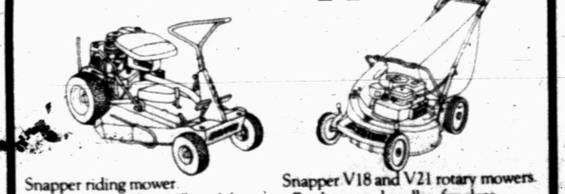

Human loss of life has been low in the cold wave that gripped most of the country the past two weeks, but thousands of persons had to flee flooded homes.

Improving weather over the weekend permitted thousands of families to return to their homes.

The severe livestock losses could be a setback to the economy, which was just beginning to recover after several disastrous years of bad harvests and a drop in beef exports.

Agricultural sources said that total losses in Patagonia alone could reach $100 million, including $15 million for sheep that perished.

Prize Winning Recipes Revealed

The Scurry County Fair is scheduled Sept. 13-15 this year, and it will include a division for baked foods.

For those who are thinking about entering the Fair, here are two prize winning recipes from the Ranch Headquarters Association baking contest held recently.

OLD FASHIONED LOAF

2 packages compressed yeast
¼ cup water
1 cup scalded milk
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
¼ cup shortening
5½ cups sifted flour
2 eggs

Soften yeast in warm water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening, cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups of flour and mix well. Add yeast and eggs and beat well. Add 3 to 3½ cups of flour gradually. Turn out on floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl and let rise two hours. When light punch down and divide into two equal portions. Place in loaf pans and let rise about 1½ hours. Bake at 375 degrees for 40 minutes.

This recipe was used by Mrs. Ida DeShan, honorable mention winner. Mrs. E.B. Rinehart, second place winner, gave her recipe as follows:

LOAF BREAD

6 cups flour
1 package dry yeast
2 cups warm water
½ cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 eggs

Mix ingredients and let rise 2 hours. Divide dough into two loaf pans and bake at 375 degrees.

Angel biscuits are a different kind of hot bread that are almost as easy to make as plain biscuits, yet because of the yeast they contain they are more like hot rolls.

Mrs. Retha Orr of Lamesa entered angel biscuits in the Ranch Headquarters Association baking contest. Her recipe is as follows:

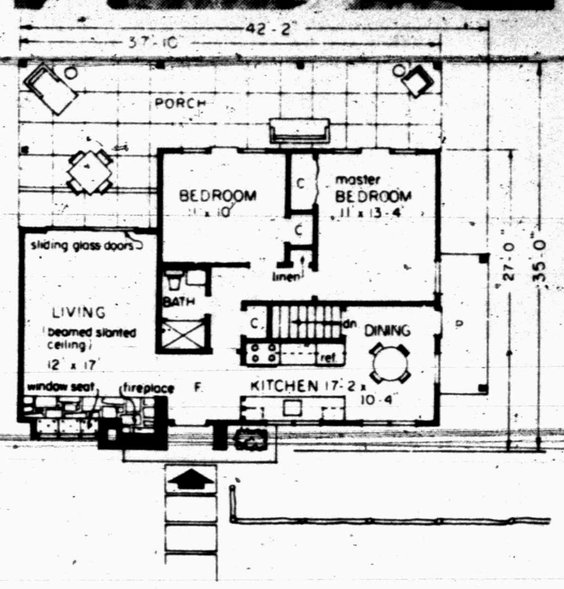

ANGEL BISCUITS

5 cups flour
3 tablespoons baking powder
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon soda
¼ cup sugar
Mix these ingredients together
½ cup Crisco (melted)
2 packages yeast, dissolved in ¼ cup warm water
Add 2 cups buttermilk.

Mix all ingredients together well and roll out. Cut as for biscuits. Dip each biscuit in melted butter and fold in half. Place in baking pan. Do not crowd. Do not let rise. Bake as many biscuits as desired 15 to 20 minutes at 425 degrees. Cover remaining biscuits and store in refrigerator to be baked as needed.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS WOODSY two bedroom vacation house is modest in size. Since outdoor living is of prime importance in a summer home, the rear porch provides almost half the amount of living space as the indoors. Both bedrooms and the living room have direct access to the porch. The fireplace and window seat are designed as an integral unit with a slate hearth spanning the entire width of the living room. The single bathroom is so located to serve as a powder room near the foyer. Plan HA788M has 863 square feet. Anyone interested in knowing the price of the blueprint may write to architect Rudolph A. Mantern, 89 E. Jericho Turnpike, Mineola, N.Y. 11501.

The Weeders Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Whether you go on vacation in summer, winter, spring or fall, you'll worry about your house plants. So here are a few suggestions for their care if you don't have a friendly neighbor to tend them.

Of course you'll need a plant sitter if you take a long vacation. We can help you care for plants so they'll get along without you for a week or two.

PLASTIC BAGS: They come in assorted sizes as do your plants. Water plants thoroughly the day, or day before, you leave, allowing pots to drain for an hour or two. Then slide each pot into a spacious plastic bag and close the bag over the top of the plant. If your plants are too large for available bags, get sheets of clear plastic or transparent clothing bags such as those which contain your suit or dress when it comes back from the cleaner.

Put the plant in the coolest room where summer heat doesn't build up greatly. If you keep air conditioning on in your absence don't move the plant. The basement is generally cooler but it should have some light. If no cool room is available, set the plant outdoors, but never in direct sunlight. The plastic will trap heat, which could harm the plants.

Indoors, keep plants near a north window. If you have no available natural light, use fluorescent lights, keeping plants a foot from the light fixture. You can keep the lights on constantly or use a time clock.

Try to keep the plastic off the leaves, since contact keeps them moist and makes them more subject to disease.

If you have a number of plants, you can assemble them on a table and cover them with a large sheet of plastic supported on a frame. Tape the plastic to the table to seal in moisture.

If you leave plants under plastic for more than a week there is danger of disease because of the high humidity. This may be reduced by treating your plants with the fungicide, benomyl (benlate). Spray the plants two weeks before your departure date and again 12 days later, or just before you put them in plastic. Plants should survive two weeks this way.

When you return, be careful in removing the plastic. Do it slowly because plants under plastic become tender. Open the plastic bags and allow plants to remain inside for several days before removing them completely.

PLANT WICKS: You can make a wick from sash cord or jute rope, placing one end in the base of the pot and the other in a water container. But test this system to make certain it is operating properly before you leave. You could set the plants in the bath tub with water reservoirs beside them.

Women Rather Spend Money On Furs

By ALLISON LERRICK
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — No one in her right mind wants to buy couture clothes to look just like the girl on the street.

At the close of the fall collections, the couturiers have shown that they've learned their lesson: Women would rather spend money on fur and ostrich than on schoolgirl gray flannel.

The clothes, therefore, were more rich and expensive-looking than in the past few seasons. If you've got it, why not show it?

Even the couture "dropouts," Saint Laurent, Cardin and Nina Ricci, were back showing again. Several seasons ago, they all were loudly proclaiming that the future of fashion was in ready-to-wear.

The normal smattering of celebrities were busy jotting down numbers at the premieres: Yul Brynner at Chanel, the Baronne Edmond de Rotschild at Givenchy and a flock of "habitues" at Saint Laurent, including actress Catherine Deneuve.

Some 'Old' Is Favored For New Constitution

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 37 private citizens trying to write Texas' new constitution have decided it needs an old look, such as the property tax, the highway users' tax and the various dedicated special funds.

The crucial decisions were made Sunday as the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission ran hours past its schedule to consider subcommittee reports on the first revision attempt.

Even the overtime failed to clear the agenda and the commission had to vote a special meeting Aug. 10-11 to finish hearing the reports.

"We are bogged down in language and wording," said Mrs. Beryl Milburn, Austin, vice chairman, at the end of the three-day session.

Some of Sunday's highlights included:

—Almost unanimous approval to keep the ad valorem or property tax in the new constitution as a form of state taxation. However, authority would be given the legislature to write separate and special laws for personal property taxation, apart from real estate levies.

—Approval, by an 18-6 vote, of the state motor fuel tax in the constitution. Three-fourths goes to highways and one-fourth to public schools. However, a 13-10 vote specified the tax could be removed later by two-thirds vote of the legislature and a statewide referendum.

—Approval of retaining the controversial Permanent University Fund within the constitution, and thus protecting it from legislative appropriation. The fund, whose income is used for capital improvements, was changed to include all present and future members of the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems. This means the addition of UT—Arlington, San Antonio and Permian Basin, among others.

—Approval of keeping the Permanent School fund for public schools within the constitution. The income is dedicated to school operations through the Available School Fund.

—Approved maintaining the present 10 cent state ad valorem tax which is used for capital improvements of state colleges outside those in the University Fund. The new provision would broaden use, allowing the monies to be used for enrichment and operations in addition to construction.

—Approval of a rewritten section of the constitution saying that Texas must provide "equitable" financial support of all schools, rich or poor, in addition to equal opportunity.

The commission voted to keep the State Board of Education within the constitution but added a provision giving the governor authority to appoint four board members to give the board more representation from the executive department.

On Saturday, the commission had voted to limit the constitutional members of the executive department to the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general. This provision, if it stands, would let the legislature decide if the comptroller, treasurer, secretary of state, land commissioner and members of the Texas Railroad Commission are elected or appointed by the governor. Present incumbents would get to serve out their terms.

Another Sunday approval would place in the new constitution a provision that the legislature could grant exemptions from city and county taxes because of age, disability or economic circumstances. However, the legislature would have to make up any local tax loss from such exemptions with state tax funds.

"You are not just opening a can of worms with this," said Robert W. Calvert, chairman and former chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court, "you are turning loose a wasps' nest."

Huge Wheat Crop Looms In Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada, traditionally a big wheat export competitor of the United States, could produce a whopping crop of 700 million bushels this year, the Agriculture Department said today.

That would be about one-third larger than 1972 production of approximately 535 million bushels.

Canadian farmers planted about 25 million acres last spring for harvest this year, short of the 28 million acre goal the government had in mind.

Even so, according to the Foreign Agricultural Service, prospects look bright.

"The crop is tentatively estimated at 650 million bushels, but favorable weather could bring a record 28 bushels per acre yield for a total production as high as 700 million bushels in 1973," the FAS said in a report.

Australia also is expected to boost wheat production this year, possibley to 425 million bushels which would be the third largest crop on record, the agency said in its weekly Foreign Agriculture magazine.

Despite the increases, plus a record crop expected in the United States, world wheat supplies are expected to be on the short side during the coming year.

The department last week reported that the July 1 wheat carryover in the United States was 428 million bushels. That is considered a bedrock level to have as reserve in view of expected export demands, officials say.

Russia is producing more wheat than in 1972 but still is importing large quantities, including nearly 150 million bushels on order from the United States for delivery through mid-1974.

In a recent report by the Outlook and Situation Board of USDA, world wheat production this year was put at 1 per cent above 1972. But the report added that foreign stocks have been depleted and that "there is unusual uncertainty" about supplies available to export.

Thus, according to one spokesman, there seems to be little chance that larger crops in Canada, Australia and the Soviet Union will do much to dampen prices during the 1973-74 season.

The Agriculture Department will issue a revised report Tuesday on how the U.S. wheat situation is shaping up in view of the record crop of more than 1.7 billion bushels being harvested now.

Wheat exports for the year ended June 30 totalled approximately 1.2 billion bushels, including flour equivalent, according to unofficial USDA tallies.

For the current year, 1973-74, exports are expected to run around 1 billion bushels.

Few Leads In Slaying

HOUSTON (AP) — Detectives here said late Sunday they had few leads in the investigation of the slaying of Cathy Dworin, 22, whose body was found stuffed in the trunk of her car late Saturday night.

Miss Dworin, a May graduate of the University of Texas and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Dworin of Longview, disappeared Thursday night.

She left her apartment to drive to another apartment of a friend and never arrived, her roommate, Sharo Cohen, told police.

"We don't know too much more now than when we walked out of here early today," Homicide Detective V. W. West said late Sunday.

West said Miss Dworin had been killed by a blow to the head with a blunt instrument. The approximate time of death would have to wait on tests performed today after a Sunday autopsy, he said.

West said they had one witness who told them of seeing a man get out of Miss Dworin's car Thursday night and run away.

Wife At Bedside 11 Weeks

By BILL GRAHAM
San Antonio Express

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — "If he ever again can look at me and smile and say, 'I love you,' then it will all have been worthwhile," says Mrs. Valerio Hernandez, who has kept an 11-week vigil at her husband's bedside.

The odds, once weighted heavily against Hernandez appeared this past week to be turning in his favor.

From the multiple injuries he sustained in a head-on car wreck near Seguin in the early hours of Mothers Day, a torn aorta has been repaired, a cast covers the mending broken bones in his leg, his lungs are responding to ventilation treatments and a artificial kidney machine is improving the kidneys which stopped functioning.

One physician says of Hernandez, a 53-year-old cement mason from Seguin "Four times he has been snatched from the brink of death as a result of cardiac arrest." The physician praised the critical care nurses who watch Hernandez.

Hernandez cannot speak because of a tracheotomy.

"I have to say things for him and he answers me with sign language, but I wish he could speak. I don't always know what he is trying to say," says Mrs. Hernandez, who can see her husband three times daily for up to 30 minutes at a time when his condition permits.

"Sometimes when I can't understand him, he just shuts his eyes and gives up," she says.

Medical officials say Hernandez needs a delicate operation to correct a problem with his windpipe and his esophagus and most such cases are referred to a specialist in Boston, Mass. The hospital says his hospital bill already is about $32,000.

Mrs. Henrandez says she realizes complete recovery for her husband "may be a year or five years away, but he has the will to live. We have eight children and 11 grandchildren and he wants to be alive with his family."

Blasts Damage Nicosia Shops

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Seven explosions before dawn today damaged shops, houses and parked motor cars in Nicosia belonging to supporters of Gen. George Grivas and his underground. Police said no one was hurt.

The blasts were assumed to be the work of supporters of President Makarios retaliating for the kidnaping Friday of Justice Minister Christos Vakis and for recent bomb attacks on police stations and government supporters' property.

Vakis sent a brief handwritten note to his wife Sunday saying: "Don't worry, darling, I am well."

It was the first communication since two masked gunman took the minister from his home in Nicosia Friday night. Makarios blamed the kidnaping on Grivas, who is trying to overthrow the president because he no longer supports the union of Cyprus and Greece.

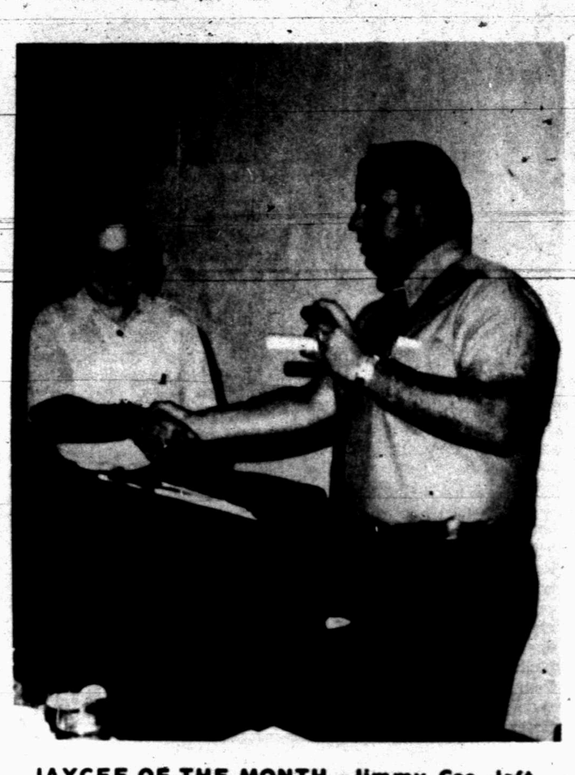

Blue Angels Are Grounded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has grounded the Blue Angels after a crash killed three members of the precision flying team.

Rear Adm. William Thompson, Navy information chief, said on Saturday that 23 demonstrations scheduled through November have been canceled and the program is under review.

Secretary of the Navy John Warner has asked key Navy officials to evaluate the program, which he said is used to attract public attention and aid recruiting.

The fatal crash in Lakehurst, N.J., last Thursday brought to six the number of Blue Angel aircraft lost this year, Thompson said.

Libyan Missiles Cause Of Concern

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officers are concerned that surface-to-air missiles installed by Libya near its coast could spell danger for American military planes patrolling the Mediterranean.

They recall that an unarmed U.S. Air Force C130 plane on an electronic reconnaissance mission was attacked over international waters by two Libyan jet fighters last March. The American plane escaped unharmed by ducking into a cloud.

Libya has claimed the right to restrict foreign aircraft flights within a 100-mile radius of its capital, Tripoli. The United States has rejected this claim.

Pentagon sources report that U.S. Navy patrol planes cruising over the Mediterranean recently detected evidence that surface-to-air missile sites are operational at Okba-Ibin-Nafa Airfield on the Libyan coast east of Tripoli.

The patrol planes picked up emissions from radar equipment used to track targets and guide missiles towards those targets.

American military experts have identified the missiles as Soviet-manufactured SA2s, the same type fired by the North Vietnamese against U.S. war planes during the Southeast Asian fighting.

The SA2s have a range of about 30 miles and could threaten planes flying over international waters.

U.S. intelligence says Libyan SA2 missiles and their radar equipment were supplied by Egypt, which probably got the weapons from Russia. Egyptian missilemen are believed to be manning the sites, perhaps until Libyan soldiers can be trained.

An increasingly security-conscience Libyan regime also has had mines laid in the waters off Tripoli, according to U.S. Navy sources. The explosives were believed intended to guard against possible raids by Israeli naval craft.

The U.S. sources have reported that a small Greek freighter was sunk by one of these mines several weeks ago. A second Greek freighter was said to have been damaged by mines.

Rock Enthusiasts Leave Acres Of Garbage Behind

By THOMAS S. BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP) — Promoter Shelly Finkel likes the Grand Prix race track where his weekend rock festival attracted 600,000 fans. He says he'd like to use it again for another festival in six weeks.

But try convincing local officials and townspeople of this rural western New York village they need another massive bottleneck of cars and people such as the one caused by the aptly named "Summer Jam."

By nightfall Sunday, nearly all the young people had left the track and only 1,000 acres strewn with garbage remained as testimony to the event that surpassed in size the 1969 Woodstock festival and was the biggest ever held in the United States.

A few hundred campers lingered, some of them searching for tents, cars, friends or pets lost in the earlier confusion.

"Summer Jam" started more than a week ago as people began trickling into the track for a leisurely wait for concert time Saturday.

On Thursday and Friday, the trickle became a tide, engulfing nearly all roads in the Watkins Glen vicinity.

When the Grateful Dead band opened the concert with "Sweet Magnolia" Saturday noon, about 600,000 persons had managed to reach the track area. Most of them pressed to get within at least hearing distance of the performers.

Finkel, 28, of New York City, who with partner Jim Koplik, 23, started organizing the concert in February, called the jam a tremendous success.

"We think things went incredibly well in terms of all the extra people we never expected," he said.

Asked why the turnout was three times what he anticipated, Finkel credited it to the drawing power of the groups—the Dead, The Band and the Allman Brothers.

"Also people wanted the experience of a big concert," he said. "The memory of Woodstock was certainly there."

Many people who attended said no one at the gates had bothered to check them for the $10 ticket. Finkel said he had suspended ticket checking when traffic started to build at the entrances.

Finkel said he was not yet sure whether he had made a profit. "I hope so," he smiled. He estimated his gross at $1.5 million and his expenses at $1 million.

He admits that a second show awaits further negotiation with the track owner, local and state officials and the entertainers.

Schuler County Sheriff Maurice F. Dean praised the youthful visitors as well behaved. But as for a second concert, he said, "The people will never allow it.

"Some of the farmers are boiling over about their fields' being trampled," he said. "And a lot of the more conservative folks just don't like seeing some of the things these kids do."

The behavior Dean referred to ranged from open drug usage and drunkeness to uninhibited romancing and a few instances of nudity.

Nader Group Goes After Alka-Seltzer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Removal of Alka-Seltzer from the market until it is reformulated was proposed Sunday by a Health Research Group headed by consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

The group asked that the product be reformulated without aspirin.

The Food and Drug Administration is considering standards for antacids, and an advisory committee report earlier this year recommended that Alka-Seltzer be allowed to remain on the market as a nonprescription drug provided it was relabeled to indicate that it should be taken only by persons suffering from both headache and acid indigestion.

The committee said combination products are inappropriate for persons with peptic ulcers and related disorders and could lead to gastrointestinal injury or aspirin poisoning.

The Nader group charged that Miles Laboratories, makers of Alka-Seltzer, withheld a study allegedly questioning the drug's safety until after the advisory committee made its report.

However, a spokesman for the firm termed the charge "outrageous and unjustified."

The spokesman said the research was conducted in Australia and it determined that the product did not produce any significant increase in gastrointestinal blood loss.

The FDA said it will fully consider the charge and other public comments before taking final action on proposed standards.

The Bedouins, nomadic tribesman of the African desert, have devised the best clothing for protection against the heat — thick, loose, voluminous garments which trap air that insulates the body.

Tom Weiskopf Is Canadian Champ

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — Tom Weiskopf talked about football and patience in the wake of his Canadian Open golf victory.

"I can think back to years ago when I probably would have panicked," he said Sunday after Bobby Cole's charging challenge fell short and Weiskopf scored his fifth victory in eight starts with a steady, two-under-par 70.

"It's like football," he said. "You've got to have patience and follow your game plan.

The 6-foot-3 Weiskopf, suddenly the outstanding performer in pro golf, scored by two strokes over young Forrest Fezler with a 278 total, 10-under-par on the 6,905-yard Richelieu Golf Club course.

Fezler, a 23-year-old tour sophomore looking for his first pro triumph, started the final round one shot back and finished second alone, two behind. He had a final 71 for 280.

Cole, a skinny little South African, made the biggest challenge in the final round. Playing about two hours in front of Weiskopf, Cole birdied the first five holes, turned in a six-under-par 30, had it seven under for the day at one point but finished with a 66-281.

Hale Irwin, second in his last previous start, was fourth alone at 282 and Chuck Courtney was at 283. Australian Bruce Crampton, still the season's leading money-winner with more than $240,000, was one of four at 284.

Arnold Palmer bogeyed the last two holes for a 70-285 while Lee Trevino said so-long after a shaky, 290 effort. He withdrew from next week's Westchester Classic and said he may not play in the PGA National Championship the following week.

"I'm going home to be with my wife," Trevino said.

Weiskopf, for years a moody, sometimes temperamental man, has put together one of the most remarkable records of recent years in the last three months.

In eight starts he has won the British and Canadian opens, along with the titles in the Colonial National Invitation, the Kemper Open and the Philadelphia Classic. He's won more than $171,000 in official money—including $35,000 in the Canadian—in those eight starts and now trails only Crampton on the money-winning list with $206,027.

His five victories stand alone. Crampton and Jack Nicklaus have won four each.

Here are the final scores and money winnings:

Tom Weiskopf $35,000	67-73-68-70—278
Forrest Fezler $19,950	67-71-71-71—280
Bobby Cole $12,425	68-74-73-66—281
Hale Irwin $8,225	65-75-74-68—282
Chuck Courtney $7,175	71-70-70-72—283
Jim Ferriell $5,447	71-70-70-73—284
Bobby Mitchell $5,447	69-70-71-74—284
Bruce Crampton $5,447	72-69-72-71—284
Jim Colbert $5,447	71-75-69-69-284
Arnold Palmer $4,025	70-75-70-70—285
Hubert Green $4,025	67-71-77-70—285
Tommy Aaron $4,025	74-71-72-68—285

Flames Win Tourney

MONAHANS—Snyder's Flames won three baseball games Saturday to wrap up the championship of the softball tournament here last weekend.

The Flames defeated Andrews's VW's 14-0 in their second game of the tourney after beating the Odessa Sidewinders in the opener Friday night. Barbara Moffett, Sue Jane Sullivan, Kathy Weber, Karen Weber and Regina Lewis each stroked two hits. One of Barbara's hits was a home run. Getting one hit each were Martha Braziel, Helen Rios and Jean Nicholas. Kathy Weber was the winning pitcher.

In their third game, the Flames beat the Kermit Lady Bees 19-6. Barbara Moffett paced the attack with four hits, including a double and a home run. Sue Jane Sullivan, Martha Braziel, Evelyn Wesley and Jean Nicholas each slammed three hits. One of Martha's was a homer, and one of Sue Jane's was a double. Two hits each were registered by Helen Rios and Regina Lewis while Mable Powell got one hit. Mable Powell was the winning pitcher.

In the championship game, the Flames rallied to beat the Odessa Sidewinders again 9-5. In the 3rd inning, Odessa was ahead 4-0 but Evelyn Wesley knocked a 3-run homer and Kathy Weber drove in another run to tie it up. I n the 4th, Martha Braziel socked a 2-run homer to put the Flames ahead for good. Barbara Moffett and Julia Green each collected two hits. Single base hits were registered by Sue Jane Sullivan, Regina Lewis, Helen Rios, Mable Powell and Jean Nicholas. Mable Powell was the winning pitcher. She relieved Kathy Weber in the 4th.

Three Snyder girls made the all-tournament team: Barbara Moffett in left field, Sue Jane Sullivan at shortstop, and Kathy Weber at pitcher.

The Flames are now 21-8 for the season.

Pittsburgh Wins Two

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates reached a couple of break-even points Sunday which they hope will help them come out on top of the National League East in October.

The Cubs, whose losing ways reached 13 of 15 games when they bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals 5-3 in their doubleheader opener, salvaged a split by taking the nightcap 5-4 with a three-run rally in the seventh inning capped by Billy Williams' RBI single.

"That's the happiest I've been to split a doubleheader in a long time," said Manager Whitey Lockman. "I wouldn't call it a disaster if we had lost, but it would have bee pretty bad. We'd have been 4½ out instead of 2½."

The Pirates, meanwhile, used home runs by Willie Stargell in the first game and Bob Robertson and Manny Sanguillen in the nightcap for a pair of 5-2 victories over the Philadelphia Phillies and reached the .500 mark—50-50—for the first time since June 5. They have won nine of 11 and trail the Cardinals by four games.

Elsewhere, the Los Angeles Dodgers downed the San Francisco Giants 6-2, the Cincinnati Reds lost their opener to the San Diego Padres 7-1 but won the nightcap 4-2, the Houston Astros beat the Atlanta Braves 8-5 and the Montreal Expos shaded the New York Mets 6-4.

Dodgers 6, Giants 2

Willie Crawford drove in three runs with a homer and a tie-breaking double in the eighth inning and Steve Garvey added a three-run homer to power Andy Messersmith and the Dodgers to victory.

Trailing 2-0, the Dodgers snapped a 17-inning scoreless streak in the bottom of the fourth when Joe Ferguson walked and Crawford hit his ninth homer of the year.

Padres 7-2, Reds 1-4

The Reds trotted out a couple of sore-armed pitchers and got a solid performance from Roger Nelson and a spotty showing from Gary Nolan.

Nelson, who was unable to pitch from May 28 until July 21, hurled seven strong innings, allowing one unearned run, to win the nightcap. The Padres spoiled Nolan's 1973 debut by scoring three runs on only one hit in the first inning of the opener.

Astros 8, Braves 5

Tommy Helms delivered a tie-breaking two run hit in the eighth inning and then scored on Tommie Agee's double.

Darrell Evans blasted his 28th home run, a two-run shot in the seventh, to put the Braves ahead 5-4 but the Astros tied it up in their half on Cesar Cedeno's double and Bob Watson's single.

In the American League, Milwaukee took a doubleheader from New York 7-2 and 6-3, Detroit trounced Baltimore 8-3, Cleveland swept Boston 8-2 and 6-3, Oakland lost to Texas 3-0 but bounced back to win the nightcap 7-4.

Wilbur Wood Is 20-Game Winner

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pitching his way to victory No. 20 wasn't what bothered Wilbur Wood. It was the waiting around for his Chicago teammates to wrap it up for him.

"It's too nerve-wracking to sit around and watch the game in the dugout," Wood said after becoming the first 20-game winner in the majors this year in the White Sox' 8-6 victory over the Minnesota Twins. "It's a lot easier to sit in the clubhouse with a cold beer and hear the game on the radio."

Wood's worries seemed justified. He'd already given up 11 hits, it was only the seventh inning and the Twins were making menacing noises. They kept making them when Cy Acosta came in and gave up two runs on a single by Jim Holt and a wild pitch that cut a four-run lead to two.

But Acosta fired a third strike past Danny Thompson, then shut out the Twins the rest of the way.

In the rest of the American League, the Detroit Tigers defeated Baltimore 8-3 and, in a quartet of doubleheaders, the Cleveland Indians swept Boston 8-2 and 6-2, the Milwaukee Brewers took two from New York 7-2 and 6-3, the Kansas City Royals grabbed a pair from California 7-0 and 7-6 in 11 innings and Texas split with Oakland, winning 3-0 before the A's took the nightcap 7-4.

Tigers 8, Orioles 3

Frank Howard did the heavy hitting in Detroit's 8-3 triumph.

He clubbed a three-run homer in the fifth inning, the fourth in four games for the mammoth designated hitter.

Detroit also scored three times in the third on singles by Tony Taylor, Al Kaline and Willie Horton.

Indians 8-6, Red Sox 2-2

Gaylord Perry, notching his first victory since June 25, snapped a personal six-game tailspin in the Indians' 8-2 opening-game victory, then Tom Timmerman toyed with a no-hitter for six innings before settling for a four-hitter in the 6-2 second-game triumph.

Rangers 3-4, A's 0-7

Jackie Brown stifled the A's on six hits in Texas' 3-0 victory in the opener and got power backing from Jim Fregosi and Vic Harris.

But the power shifted to Oakland in the second game with Reggie Jackson and Sal Bando hitting the homers and Gene Tenace kicking in with a two-run single in the 7-4 triumph over the Rangers.

National League scores: Pittsburgh 5, Philadelphia 2, then Pittsburgh 5, Philadelphia 2 again; St. Louis 5, Chicago 3.

Three Inducted In Famed Hall

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — "It's unreal, like it's happening to somebody else," Raymond Berry says of being immortalized in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"I'll come down to reality next week," Berry said Saturday as he joined former Baltimore Colts teammate Jim Parker and ex-Detroit Lions linebacker Joe Schmidt in the sport's shrine.

After the smallest class ever was inducted into the Hall, seldom-used San Francisco quarterback Joe Reed paced the 49ers to a 20-7 verdict over the New England Patriots.

The gridiron season began officially on Friday night when the Miami Dolphins turned back the College All-Stars 14-3.

Weeb Ewbank, Berry's first coach at Baltimore, reminded the enshrinement audience that the Colts end played with a back brace, elevated shoes to ease his back pain and contact lenses.

"Raymond proved hard work does pay off," said Ewbank. "He made himself into the great he was."

Ewbank was the presenter for Berry while Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes presented Parker and Lions owner William Clay Ford did the same for Schmidt.

The National Football League exhibition season goes into high gear this weekend with 11 games and one of them could raise the championship fever growing among Washington fans.

The Redskins entertain the Detroit Lions Friday night in a game which could mark the debut of Duane Thomas, the controversial running back who was recently traded to Washington by San Diego.

The trade, along with the appearance of Larry Brown, a short-time holdout during training camp, has conjured visions of dream backfields dancing in the heads of Redskin fans.

And if those dreams come true, it could turn what has been a dream—an NFL championship—into a reality for Washington Coach George Allen.

In other Friday night competition, the New York Jets will be at Houston while the Dallas Cowboys will be at Los Angeles.

The Miami Dolphins, suffering several pre-season injuries, come off the victory over the All-Stars to play the Cincinnati Bengals Saturday. In other Saturday games, Baltimore is at Pittsburgh, New Orleans is at San Diego, Chicago plays Green Bay at Milwaukee, the New York Giants are at San Diego, New Orleans is at Kansas City and Buffalo plays Philadelphia at Jacksonville, Fla.

Oakland is at New England Sunday while Cleveland hosts San Francisco Monday night.

Dodgers Meet Kermit Tuesday

The Snyder Dodgers, champions of the Junior Teenage League will meet Kermit at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow in the first round of the Colorado City Tournament.

Manager of the Dodgers is O.D. Brewer. Team members include Garry Greenlee, Pat Dryden, Mike Clifton, Barry Blalock, Roy Villanueva, Kevin Wright, Mark Mueller, Mike Dorman, Marcus Anderson, Brad Browning, Keith Early, Dennis Gary, John Hopkins, Randy Ship, and Nicky Chapman. In addition, the Dodgers picked up three other players from other teams in the league. They are Randy Gressett, Phil Robinson, and Ricky Beard.

Little League Playoff Set

Lubbock Eastern will tangle with Abilene Dixie at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Towle Park in a regional Little League game to determine the team that will go to the State Tournament.

Abilene Dixie eliminated the Snyder All-Stars from the playoffs last week by a 10-5 decision. The Snyder team had won three playoff games before meeting defeat in Abilene.

More Than One Kind Of Money Circulating

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — There's more than one kind of money circulating today, as most workers are well aware. They may be paid in cash or check, and that's money; and they might receive some of their pay in benefits, and that's another kind.

In fact, some companies permit their executives to choose the type of money in which they are paid, offering them what is called cafeteria compensation, or the opportunity to pick and choose their own combinations of cash and benefits.

You can also easily distinquish between current money and future money. Your take-home pay is current, but the money that goes into your pension or insurance program is future money, and might be worth less or more.

After-tax money is substantially different than before-tax money, a fact familiar to all, especially those who are lacking in deductions or who failed to find tax shelters.

There is also money that comes without instruction on how to use it, and that which comes with advise on how to invest, how to limit tax payments, how to build an estate—in short, money that begets money

It is this latter kind that in the past year has become, according to the Conference Board, the most popular new fringe benefit for executives of large corporations, partly because of complex tax laws.

Of 269 companies that responded to a survey, 80 said they have adopted a plan and 24 are actively considering doing so, almost half of them because they believe key executives will be able to devote more time to business.

Many, however, said the adoption of such plans demonstrates their concern for the well being of executives and while not rendering other reasons any less true, this answer could be the more pertinent response.

The fact is that two executives earning relatively similar salaries year after year might build up estates whose values differ by multiples of six figures because of the wisdom or lack of wisdom with which the money was invested.

Knowing this, many executives believe that compensation accompanied by expert advise is worth a lot more than money without any instructions or assistance on usage. It is considered premium money.

The study found that the majority, of the more successful plans are limited to officers earning more than $60,000 a year and that most of them emphasize estate planning and investing strategy and include preparatio of income tax returns.

Financial planning has long been one of the skills of corporation, and financial advice has long been one of the needs of executives, but many companies have been reluctant to enter the area.

According to the Conference Board, an education and research organization supported mainly by business, many companies still fear being blamed by the executive for misguided investments.

Nevertheless, the growing complexity of wise money management, and the obvious advantages of financial advise versus none at all, is clearly causing resistance to break down.

Eighty-three per cent of the plans used by corporations provide counsel in estate planning; 66 per cent give specific investment advice, 58 per cent help select compensation plan options, and 55 per cent advise on insurance planning.

Investments that most frequently result from these plans are in real estate, 34 per cent and equities, 31 per cent. Oil and gas drilling ventures figure in 25 per cent of the plans.

Contact Costly

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Moslem religious courts have convicted 250 couples in Selanger State on charges of close proximity.

Malaysian law forbids unmarried Moslem couples to embrace, hold each other, kiss or engage in more intimate contact. Fines usually run about $25.

Season To Study DoubleTalk

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Summer is the best season to study double talk.

This is the language most vacation resort literature is written in, and it is also the language most returning vacationers use to describe what a fine time they had on their holidays, no matter how bad a time they really had.

Double talk, as you no doubt recall, is the art of saying one thing while actually thinking another. More than at any other time of the year, however, in summer it is hard to tell the difference between double talk, which is usually only genteel hypocrisy, from downright lying.

Here are a few examples. First, in quotes, the double talk is given. It is followed in each case by a translation which tells the truth of the matter.

"Our resort has a lovely scenic setting from which you have an unobstructed view of the nearby beach and, of course, the ocean itself."—But to see any of these things you have to go up on the roof, which has a tar and gravel covering that makes it unsuitable for sun bathing.

"Our swimming pool is a perfect aquamarine gem."—But it's so small that two's company, three's a crowd.

"Spend an unforgettable weekend with us."—That's when it usually rains, and you don't have much to do to but sit around and remember better times you've had elsewhere.

"Avoid the mob and come during the week."—We have so few guests then that the hash we serve on Mondays usually lasts until Friday.

"Doesn't the idea of a vacation free from insect bites appeal to you?"—If it does, don't come now. Be our guest next February, and don't forget your skis. We've built the molehill on the two acres behind us into a mountain.

"Well, the reason me and my wife went there was because the fishing is great."—No, we didn't catch any ourselves, but I saw one guy reel in three in a row, each of them at least five inches long.

"I remember one stretch of highway where we averaged at least 35 miles to a gallon of gas."—It was all downhill, and we coasted.

"Here you won't be treated as a mere guest but as a member of the family."—You won't mind using the same towel for two weeks, will you? The rest of the family doesn't.

"Don't think you'll be a wallflower if you come by yourself. Our resort appeals especially to singles."—Most of them are widows over 70, or widowers and swinging bachelors over 65.

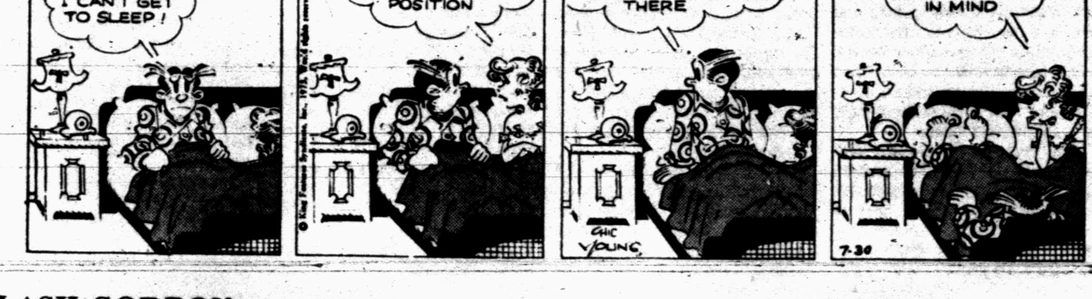

"You'll be thinking about your stay with us for years."—And cursing with every sentence.

Junior Editors' Quiz on BOWLING

QUESTION: How did bowling originate?

• • •

ANSWER: The idea of rolling a round object in order to knock over a number of standing objects presented itself to man as one of the first ways to play a game. Bowling was played in the monasteries about 700 years ago. The monks dramatized the game along religious lines. They set up a club representing the devil and rolled a large stone to knock down the club, or the devil. The priests of the Middle Ages were very enthusiastic about this game of hitting the club, which they called a "kegle". This explains why bowlers are called keglers. The nobility and wealthy landowners learned the game from the clergy. Bowling was very popular in Germany during the Middle Ages. In early modern times in Germany, Martin Luther was intrigued by the game.

This game spread throughout Europe. King Henry VIII ordered bowling alleys added to his palace. The people of Holland enjoyed the game, which they called skittles. They brought it over to the new world. There are many references to bowling in New York or New Amsterdam under Dutch rule. Bowling Green in New York derives its name from the game.

CONSUMER ALERT

BY JOHN HILL
TEXAS ATTY. GEN.

AUSTIN—Back in the days when the holder of a bank checking account could write a draft on a brown paper sack, or a piece of wood bark, it probably wasn't as hard to keep track of an account balance as it is today when Texas banks print personalized drafts, process checks with computers, and offer a myriad of helpful services.

But one of the major problems merchants encounter today is the proliferation of worthless checks which are given, in the main, it seems, by well-meaning consumers who simply find it hard to master the mathematics of checking accounts.

Hundreds of millions of drafts on Texas banks are written annually by people who find this a convenient way to keep a record of payment on everything from insurance premiums, to mortgage coupons, to sandwich luncheons and drugstore purchases.

Usually, everything works out to the satisfaction of the account holder, the merchant, and the bank depository.

Many times, however, checks do "bounce"—that is to say, get returned to the merchant with a bank explanation of "insufficient funds."

In that event, the merchant will notify the check writer by certified mail of the return, with a request that the insufficient check be redeemed by a certain date.

In most cases, the giver of the check responds right away, since a good credit record is one of the most-prized assets in today's society.

If the consumer does not answer the notice about a returned check for up to $50, however, the merchant can take the worthless check—together with his certified mail receipt—to the county attorney for collection and-or legal action on what is classified as a misdemeanor crime.

(As of August 27, 1973, when a new law takes effect, the county attorneys will have jurisdiction on worthless checks for up to $200. The legal penalty for prosecution will be up to two years in the county jail and-or a maximum fine of $1,000.)

Realizing that the average "worthless check" writer suffered from poor bookkeeping ability, rather than any intention of perpetrating a fraud, most county attorneys proceed with care from that point.

They understand, also, that the merchant's interest is only in keeping his books straight, by securing payment on the checks.

In Travis County (Austin) where some 300,000 Texans live, County Attorney Ned Granger begins by writing a letter to the person of which the merchant complained. "Generally," Granger says; "it's a housewife's or student's disease."

He says that his office received 16,802 complaints in 1972 regarding worthless checks totaling $262,185, and through contacts with those complained of, $130,929 was recovered for the merchants involved.

If the county attorney's letter is ignored, he asks the local sheriff to send the check writer a summons, asking him to appear in county court. If there is still no answer after 30 to 60 days, a warrant is issued for the person's arrest. And if he doesn't show up for the court hearing, the defendant is cited for contempt of court, as well as for worthless check charge.

Most cases are resolved before such drastic action could be required. When a case does come to trial, most defendants plead guilty and work out an arrangement through probation to repay the amount involved.

The citizens who get in this predicament are not the same as the so-called "hot check artists," county attorneys tell us.

The people who purposefully write bad checks usually are itinerant, and manage to be in the next county or state by the time their checks bounce. Another professional ploy is to counterfeit the checks, or forge them.

The "worthless check" charge most often involves an otherwise-honest citizen.

Officials such as district and county attorneys, and the Attorney General, are dedicated to law enforcement. But they don't enjoy the business of having to take action against persons who try to be law-abiding in all other respects, any more than the merchants do.

It would be so much easier if all of the check-writing public would make scrupulous attempts to keep their checkbooks balanced, and if they do receive "insufficient check" notices which they consider to be mistakes, take actions to get the errors corrected immediately.

Coed Is Named 'Miss Indian'

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — A 21-year-old Arizona State University student has been named as Miss Indian America.

Maxine Henrietta Norris, a Papago Indian from Casa Grande, Ariz., was presented a scholarship Sunday, among other awards.

She is a health education major who plans to teach school on the Papago reservation in the southwestern corner of Arizona.

Claire Manning, a Payute Indian from Awyhee, Nev., was chosen first alternate. She also was named Miss Congeniality.

Fiddling Preferred By Folks Central Illinois

By H. F. WOLLENBERG IV
Associated Press Writer

SHELBYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — While 600,000 young people converged on a rural western New York village for a rock music festival over the weekend, folks in central Illinois were leaving their farms for the community of Shelbyville to hear some fiddling.

More than 1,100 farmers, farmer's wives and country music lovers paid $1 each Saturday night to sit in the folding chairs and wooden stands in the gymnasium where the Shelbyville Rams play their high school basketball.

In Watkins Glen, N.Y., the music was provided by three rock groups, one with the macabre name of the Grateful Dead.

But in Shelbyville, the country fiddlers were people like Claude Coverstone of Newton, Cleve Fulton of St. Elmo, Burl Banning of Shelbyville and Oddie Griffith of Humboldt.

They stroked out tunes such as "Ol' Doc Henry," "Lop-Ear Mule" and "Boil Them Cabbages Down."

When it was all over, Bertha Bratton walked away with the state championship. She's a 59-year-old hometown woman who sells cosmetics door-to-door.

There were seven contestants for the over-70 division, four for the women and 18 for the Old-Time Fiddling State Championship.

Ernest Ringo, who had parked his 1953 red Chevy pickup truck just outside the front door of the gym, introduced the judges, sequestered in a room out of sight of the stage.

"That way we feel there can't be any prejudice or anything like that, and they'll select the fiddler that plays the best," said the balding, white-haired president of the Illinois Old-Time Fiddlers Association.

Another fiddling contest in Craftsbury Common, Vt., didn't go quite as smoothly.

For 11 years, the tiny Vermont town has hosted an Old-Time Fiddlers contest, drawing fiddlers from throughout New England and eastern Canada. But next year things may change.

There have been no guidelines and anyone with a fiddle and bow could step before the audience and play. Saturday, the contest's chief judge, Earl Wilson, shook his head in disgust at some of what he heard.

"We just haven't got the competition for an old-time fiddlers' contest anymore," said Wilson. He claimed the true fiddle music was being diluted by folk music and bluegrass, popular with the numerous young people in attendance.

"We're going to have to set some standards. We've either got to say, it's got to be a folk festival or an old-time fiddle contest," said Wilson, a retired Craftsbury farmer.

More than 11,000 people crowded the grassy meeting place in the center of Craftsbury, an area with a population of 632.

Bakers Are On Strike

DALLAS (AP) — Four major bakers were under strike here today after 850 bakers walked away from plants early Sunday morning.

More than 700 picketeers carried placards on rotating shifts.

The bakeries said there would be no bread shortages, but they also took out full-page ads in local newspapers asking grocers to pick up their own bread at loading docks.

Due to a completely unexpected strike...we will be unable to make regular deliveries to your stores," the ad read. "Grocers may pick up fresh baked products for your customers at our bakery docks."

Affected were the Manor Baking Co., Mrs. Baird's Bakeries, Inc., Continental Baking Co. (Wonder Bread), and A&P Supermarket Bakeries.

A contract between the companies at the American Bakery and Confectionary Workers International expired July 22, union agent Jack Kimberley said.

Disagreement was over wages and benefits.

Prime Time Issue Is Up For Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today begins two days of hearings on whether to repeal or change its controversial rule limiting network broadcasting by TV stations during prime time.

Over 40 witnesses have been allotted time, including the national and smaller networks, movie producers and actors, station owners, and such organizations as Action for Children's Television and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The prime time rule went into effect in October 1972. It forbids TV stations in the nation's top 50 markets to carry network programs for more than three hours during prime time, 7 to 11 p.m.

Last Oct. 1 the rule was expanded to bar stations from filling that extra hour with off-network programs or feature films which within two years have previously been broadcast by stations in the local market area.

An Associated Press survey last year showed two-thirds of the station managers disliked the prime time rule.

Release Of Funds Gives Teens Summer Jobs

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN
Associated Press Writer

More than 600,000 teen-agers are getting summer jobs during the last half of July in a frantic effort spawned by a federal court order. But hundreds of thousands of others who sought jobs will not get them.

An Associated Press survey of 10 major cities shows that more teen-agers will have jobs this summer than last, both in government and private business. But young people living in poverty generally will make less money and have less valuable work experiences than in the past.

Largely shut out of the private market which recruits along family lines and by word of mouth, poor teen-agers depend on federally funded Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) jobs with local governments. These are designed to keep them out of mischief, give them money for entertainment and school costs and introduce them to the world of work.

The $239 million for this program was withheld by the Nixon administration as part of its fight against inflation, until the administration lost two federal court battles over the money. The funds were released July 11, the latest start in the program's nine-year history. It covers youths 14 to 21 in 930 cities, counties and school districts and usually starts when schools recess for the summer.

City halls around the country were thrown into helter skelter activity to try to place enormous backlogs of applicants, with these results, among others:

—Some teen-agers in Detroit, which was placing 1,000 a day last week, will make only $256, almost $120 less than in previous summers.

—In Baltimore, girls will be mowing grass in parks for the first time, and teen-agers working in Boston's parks will do fewer jobs.

—A day care association in Houston had less than five days to find and train 60 supervisors while 280 people from three agencies worked until 9 at night telephoning, canvassing and processing more than 2,000 previously unsuccessful job applicants.

Before release of the NYC money, cities were scraping up summer jobs from their own funds and limited federal funds diverted from the Public Employment Program (PEP), under which cities hire adults full time.

The result was that up to mid-July the 10 cities surveyed had produced 95,995 jobs for poor teen-agers, down from the 145,240 jobs last summer with NYC money. The cities are Baltimore, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Houston, Milwaukee, New Orleans, New York, San Diego and San Francisco.

Nevertheless, unemployment in June for teen-agers was down to 13.3 per cent from 14.9 per cent the previous June. The big improvement was among whites, down from 13.4 per cent to 11.6, while minority teen-age unemployment dropped from 28.9 per cent to 28.1.

Most manpower administrators in the 10 cities attributed this to an improved private market this summer, but observed that their local situations were worse than the national figures.

In Boston the youth unemployment rate is 25 per cent; in some parts of Detroit as high as 50 per cent; in San Diego, as high as 20 per cent in some neighborhoods. Only Houston, with 8 per cent, was below the national figures.

Many cities will be providing less money this summer. Normally a teen-ager works 28 hours a week for nine weeks at either $1.60 an hour or at the state minimum wage, whichever is higher. But no teen-ager may work more than 234 hours a summer in the program.

The jobs produce dollar figures which may seem small, but it is estimated to cost a public high school senior in Chicago between $500 and $700 to get through the school year with school supplies and clothing just decent enough to prevent his being ridiculed. And NYC teen-agers come from poverty families, those which have less than $4,200 a year in income for a family of four.

The teen-agers also are expected to spend some of the money on movies, records or other entertainment to help keep them out of trouble in idle hours. But among the 10 cities surveyed only New York reported an increase in delinquency in the beginning of the summer when jobs were more scarce.

"That's been the surprising thing to me," said Lewis Earl, manpower planning officer in Houston. "It hasn't produced the ill effects I thought it might. But I'm glad we got the money so we don't have to test the hypothesis over the whole summer."

"Youth crime doesn't tend to get reported. It's mischief — an occasional broken window or boisterous behavior so we can't get a numerical fix," said Norm Miller, an aide to the mayor of Detroit. "But in my parents' neighborhood, there have been bonfires in the park at night and it scares the older people. If those kids were working there would be less opportunity for that."

The most severely affected aspect of the program is that which tries to give teen-agers a sense of the demands and possibilities of work. The program is intended to teach them to be on time, to meet the expectations of supervisors and acquaint them with careers.

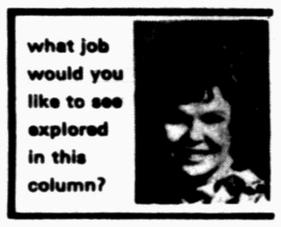

"Our program in parks and recreation rotated the kids through three different jobs — maintenance, playgrounds and field supervision — so they were exposed to different kinds of work and three different supervisors," said Jerry Bush, manpower aide to the mayor of Boston. "I don't think we have enough time to set that up this summer."

Every city complained of a lack of time to prepare the jobs and the supervisors. "Nothing is worse than having kids standing around asking what they do next," said Baltimore's Marian Pines. "It turns the kids off and gives them the wrong impression — that work is just goofing off."

Opportunites For Volunteers

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I am interested in doing volunteer work but not particularly in a hospital. Are there other fields in need of volunteer workers, such as prisons or children's homes, etc? How do I go about getting information about any of these? -- "D.M., Pittsburgh, Pa.

To paraphrase a leading career education expert, Dr Kenneth B Hoyt, University of Maryland, work – paid or unpaid – brings benefits to oneself and to fellow human beings. And in the unpaid sector of work – voluntarism – there are loads of fulfilling and useful opportunities. For instance:

WOMEN IN WASHINGTON, D.C., are providing female prisoners with educational, vocational and psychiatric counseling programs to prepare them for successful return to community life. On the other side of the bars, inmates of the Oregon State Penitentiary assist disadvantaged persons on the outside.

Individuals in Freeport, N.Y., are serving as volunteer toy demonstrators to improve learning abilities of disadvantaged children through selected toys and books. A woman of 80, in Huntsville, Ala., repairs and paints toys for residents of a children's home.

These are but a few of the services that many millions of Americans are performing without pay just because they want to help others. Few of their assignments are glamorous; many are tedious, involving filing, typing lists or answering phones. But the satisfaction quotient runs high.

THE VOLUNTARISM MOVEMENT has gained tremendous impetus in the last 3 years through local Voluntary Action Centers that have sprung up across the country under the sponsorship of the National Center for Voluntary Action (NCVA). The national center is a private, nonprofit, nonpartisan, tax-exempt organization dedicated to encouraging people to help one another rather than relying on local, state or Federal governments to step in.

DR. ROBERT HILL, NCVA's executive director, explains that the local centers compile up-to-date information on where the needs lie, on the agencies and organizations trying to fill those needs, and on sources of volunteers.

"Actually the centers function much as an employment agency does except that the volunteers they place are repaid in terms of personal satisfaction and accomplishment rather than in dollars," Hill says.

Voluntary Action Centers are operating in nearly 200 cities, and 60 more are in formative stages. In areas not yet served by centers, such agencies as the United Fund, United Way, Community Chest and the Red Cross are ready to counsel would-be volunteers. So are the staffs of many mayors' offices and social service agencies as well as Scouting councils, hospitals, nursing homes and museums.

"YOU NAME THE TASK and a volunteer fills it," Hill says. "Volunteers collect and repair books, aid in drug programs, help with preschool programs, raise money for college scholarships, read to the blind, take children on field trips, and work to improve our environment.

"In delivering meals or serving as chauffeurs, volunteers open new worlds for many old and infirm people. There is a heartwarming example of this in San Francisco, where volunteer drivers transport handicapped men and women to parties and religious services."

Seldom is remuneration offered volunteers although they are often reimbursed for out-of-pocket expenses by the agency they serve. Or, a volunteer may claim income-tax deductions for such expenses as use of a car, the cost and upkeep of uniforms or special clothing and per diem allowances for food and lodging.

FOR MORE INFORMATION. Send your questions – indicating your areas of interest – to the National Center for Voluntary Action, 1625 Massachusetts Ave. NW, Washington, D.C. 20036. NCVA will tell you whom to contact in your locale for various types of volunteer work. You can also request free literature on voluntarism.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Many Different Models Are On Hand At Snyder Trailer Sales

Snyder Trailer Sales, Seventeenth Street at Avenue I, features the Golden Falcon Travel trailers. The firm is owned and operated by Dawson and Alma Moreland. Clyce Miller helps them operate the business.

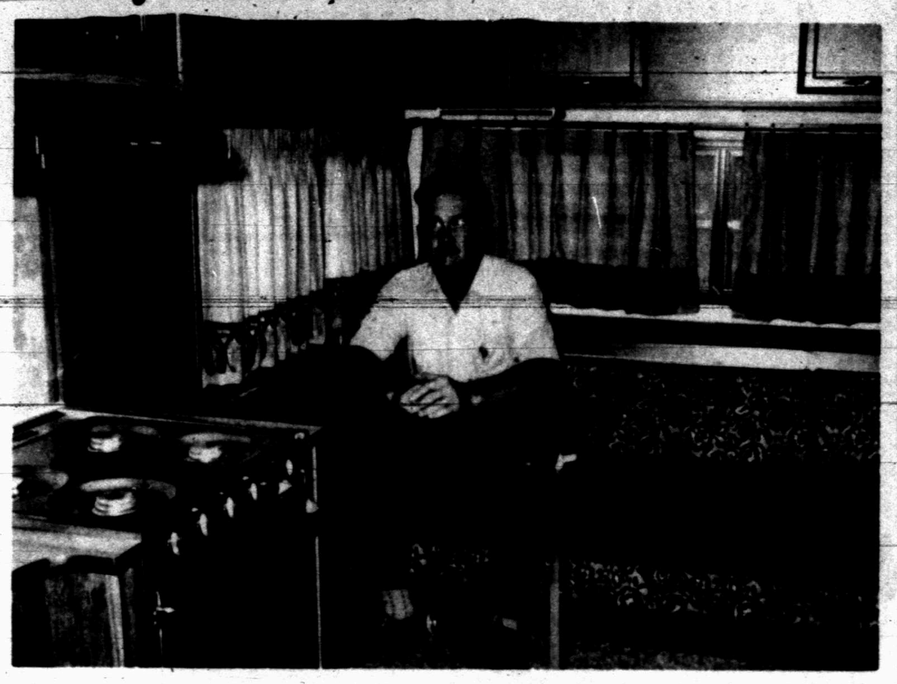

"We've got five different models on the lot and we can get you anything the company makes," said Moreland. The Falcons on the lot are in 17½-foot, 18-foot, 19-foot, 20-foot, 23-foot and 27-foot size. The 27-foot is in the Supreme line, and the others are in the Custom line.

The 27-foot one is centrally heated and has a lot of usable interior space.

Most of the travel trailers at Snyder Trailer Sales are completely self-contained. They are dressed-up quality trailers. They have all the conveniences of home. The 27-footer sleeps four people comfortably with two on the front couch and twin beds in the back. This trailer also featured a 4-burner cook stove and oven, and it has a refrigerator and large double closets with 12-volt lighting.

"We can install air conditioning on any of our trailers," Moreland pointed out. He said they specialize in Intertherm air conditioners and can get replacement parts overnight. All of their trailers are reasonably priced with comparable prices to any other firm in the area.

"We also have a fifth wheel gooseneck Double Mountain trailer—it's a new line with us," Moreland said. He said this trailer had been inspected by welders who were well-pleased with the way it was built.

COMFORTABLE TRAILER—Dawson Moreland, who owns and operates Snyder Trailer Sales, Seventeenth Street at Avenue I, with his wife, Alma, relaxes inside a new 27-foot Golden Falcon Travel Trailer. It is a completely self-contained trailer with comfortable sleeping quarters for four persons. It also has a 4-burner cook stove and oven, a refrigerator and large double closets with 12-volt lighting.

Also on the lot at Snyder Trailer Sales are Fun Time pickup campers and Hawk Top pickup covers.

"They are both lined and unlined and come in just about any shape you want," Moreland pointed out.

Snyder Trailer Sales also has fiberglass covers for El Caminos and Rancheros and fiberglass covers for all pickups. In addition, they have a complete line of all trailers supplies—everything from water tanks to clearance lights.

Snyder Trailer Sales rents trailers and has several used trailers for sale as well as tent trailers.

The firm opens at 8 a.m. and "closes when the traffic lets us," said Moreland. Snyder Trailer Sales is open seven days a week most weeks.

"We also do all types of repair work on trailers," Moreland pointed out.

He said he would be glad to show any prospective customer around the lot just about any time of day. The phone number is 573-7528.

No Need To Take Chances With Johnston's No-Roach Available

Some people never have the neighbors in....and it's understandable. Who wants to take a chance on a neighbor spotting a cockroach flitting across a counter, or down a drain? So it is that thousands of housewives, all over America, never join a Kaffee Klatch, because they know they can never take their turns having the girls in.

Or can they?

Of course they can. All they have to do is discover Johnston's No-Roach...the sure-fire answer to cockroach problems. Not to mention ants...and silverfish...and spiders...and so forth. No-Roach, the household insecticide that keeps the promise of its name. The seeming magic about No-Roach is the ease with which it is used. You just brush it on (No-Roach supplies the brush) anywhere that roaches or other crawling pests may assemble: across doorways, windowsills and baseboards; in cupboards and along the edges of kitchen cabinets. No-Roach dries to an invisible shield that is colorless and odorless. All the time you are serving coffee to the neighbors, No-Roach is killing cockroach eggs back in the nest...'cause every roach (or insect of any kind) that crosses No-Roach, picks it up on its feet and takes it home.

Do the neighborly thing. Serve the ladies on the block a cup of coffee in a roach-free kitchen...thanks to Johnston's No-Roach. Available at: Furr's, Piggly Wiggly, B&B, Safeway, Everybody's, Rainbow and all grocery stores, and distributed by Kimbell.

JUST BRUSH IT ON—Johnston's No-Roach is easy to apply. All you do is brush it on anywhere roaches or other crawling pests may traffic or gather.
