SOUTHWESTERN CONFERENCE NOT ALARMED

CHARGES OF FOUNDATION TAKEN EASY

OFFICIALS ADMIT SOME FINDINGS TRUE BUT HAVE OPINIONS

(By Associated Press)

DALLAS, Oct. 25. — Although there was no tendency to question the accuracy of the findings of the Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching in its research into professionalism in college athletics, officials of the Southwest Conference disagreed widely in their opinion of the significance of the report and the conclusions to be drawn from it.

Many officials, admitting the findings were true, were inclined to see some good in the practices of offering students inducements to attend college.

At the University of Texas, Dr. T. J. Ettlinger, director of athletics, remarked the report covered the dark side only, and he blamed the situation, as far as the Southwest Conference was concerned, on laxness of officials supposed to enforce the conference rule. Dr. Ettlinger said it was admittted by those who knew, that no school in the conference had been entirely free from the practice of obtaining athletes through one method of persuasion or another.

Uncle Billy Disch, dean of American college baseball coaches, was not shocked at the idea of helping athletes obtain an education. He said he had gone on notes for athletes amounting altogether to $25,000 and that all but $50 had been repaid and that he expected he would receive that money before the year was over. University athletes, he said, were students with high ideals.

President H. Y. Benedict of the University refused to comment on a report that required three years to assemble, without first giving the report the courtesy of a close study.

Dr. R. N. Blackwell, business manager of athletics at Southern Methodist University, was inclined to believe the report contemplated too rigid a standard of amateurism. He thought the report might engender considerable adverse criticism among uninformed people.

"I gather from reading the press reports," he said, "that the foundation would suggest that no jobs be given athletes, that sweater awards are too elaborate, that the boys should furnish their own equipment and meet on the field without an admission charge. Every effort made to obtain students seems to be construed as proselyting. Is it any more harmful for a college to seek new students than for a city to try to induce businesses to locate in the city?"

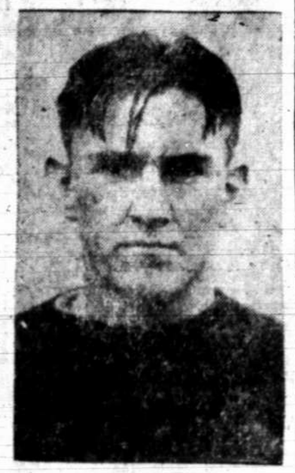

These views were echoed to an extent by Dr. Gaylord Johnson, business manager of athletics at Rice Institute, who pointed out that more people than ever desired college educations the days and athletics opens the way to college for many. He emphasized the fact that a bright boy could win numerous scholastic scholarships but that the athlete, by rules of the conference, was barred from receiving athletic scholarships.

L. C. Wright, athletic director at T. C. U., made no comment on the Carnegie report, which did not mention his institution as far as could be determined from press dispatches.

READY TO CHECK HORNED FROG ATTACK TOMORROW

When the Matadors of Texas Tech come to blows with the T. C. U. Horned Frogs Saturday afternoon on the Tech gridiron, the West Texas institution will pin its hopes on these stalwarts of Tech's forward wall to turn back the dazzling scoring attack of the Purple crew. Co-captain Chubby Dewitt, veteran guard, is shown in the top, left corner. Jack Durham, scrappy Tech center, is shown in the center and Simmons, sophomore guard is the other husky, shown on the right. Below in standing position is Sidney Knowles, co-captain and tackle.

ROVING THE SPORTS WORLD

JOURNAL SPORTS EDITOR

Interest in District One football will be put off at least another week until the Lubbock Westerners journey to Amarillo for their battle with the Golden Sandstorm. Amarillo's tea party with the Quanah Indians this week-end means nothing with respect to the outcome of the race for the district championship. Jim Bradford's Redskins can not possibly expect anything but a sound trouncing and the extent of the slaughter will depend upon how much Coach Smith wants his club to score.

A game of considerable importance in the District One race is being played at Wichita Falls between the Coyotes and Electra Tigers, who recently came to Lubbock for their first conference game of the season. Barry Holton's Wichita crew has been coming along at a rapid gait and should defeat the Bengals decisively.

The hotbed of the state's Interscholastic football race will spring up with a pair of important games this week. We refer to the Oil Belt district where the Abilene Eagles rule supreme. Two undefeated teams meet at Cisco when the Big Dam Loboes clash with the Breckenridge Buckaroos. At Abilene Dewey Mahew's Elephants face a tough assignment in taming the Ranger Bulldogs. Coach Esker Curtis lost his first Coach Esker Curtis lost his first game of the season but has one of the most powerful high school teams in that section.

All advance reports on the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs who are in Lubbock today for their battle Saturday with the Tech Matadors, indicate that Coach Schmidt has the fastest running attack that a T. C. U. team has ever been able to produce. Many scribes over the state have held that the Frogs undoubtedly have the fastest-stepping backfield in the Southwestern conference this season. This highly-touted corps of ball carriers will be given an opportunity tomorrow to match its speed with a quartet of Tech backs who are just liable to give the Frogs all they are able to handle in the way of sprint contests. T. C. U.'s starting backfield combination of Grubbs, Leland, Hinton and Green can not possibly be figured to be faster than the Matador's first quartet of starting backs composed of Walker, Cappleman Crites and Wooldridge. Here's a quartet of steppers that would be hard to match in any Southwest conference school.

All arrangements have been completed to accommodate the enormous crowd that is expected at tomorrow's game at Tech field. Visitors need not get alarmed at the squad of city policement and the R. O. T. C. ushers on the west side. The war-like looking fence on the inside of the field likewise mean nothing harmful. This temporary obstruction has been put up to bring about 1,300 spectators from the highway, around through the turnstiles to see the game. City policement will be on hand to keep order and Lt. Killen's army boys will serve as ushers. Additional parking space has been provided on the campus and there will be plenty of officers to handle the automobile crowds.

OLTON TEAM HERE TODAY FOR CONTEST

WESTERNERS TO HAVE LIGHT GO IN TILT WITH CLASS B

Another strong Class B football aggregation will be in Lubbock this afternoon to battle the Lubbock Westerners on the college gridiron. Olton comes here with a scrappy grid machine, boasting one of the leading B aggregations on the Plains.

Today's battle, which starts at 4:15, will give the Lubbock crew its final opportunity to test its scoring attack before the crucial battle next Saturday with the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm.

The Westerners will be sent into the game this afternoon to open up with both barrels and give their full catagory of plays a chance to be sized up. Coach Frnka is anxious to see his new offense in action against outside competition and today's contest will furnish ust that.

Although the Lubbock coaches are starting their first string gridders the majority of regulars on the squad are likely to see action during the course of the game.

Members of the T. C. U. and Texas Tech football teams will be guests of honor at the game this afternoon.

Babe Ruth is leading the annual drive of baseball players into the duck blinds.

OUT TO REPEAT

RANDSOME WALKER

Playing his last game against the Christians of T. C. U., "Handsome Randsome" Walker will don his fighting clothes tomorrow on the Tech field in an effort to repeat his phenominal performance of past seasons against the Southwestern conference eleven. The Frogs have found Walker to be one of the hardest backs in the southwest to stop. Last year, Tech's "galloping gazelle" was the first man to cross the T. C. U. goal line.

SOUTH TO GET GRID BATTLES

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE SITUATION TO GET CHANGE SATURDAY

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 25—Football battles tomorrow should clarify the Southern conference situation.

Georgia Tech, weakened by injuries to two of its main cogs, at New Orleans will encounter Tulane's Green Wave. Tulane is confident.

Georgia plays Florida at Jacksonville. Cannonball Clyde Crabtree's Florida's All-Southern quarterback, has been on the side lines with injuries.

Evenly Matched

Tennessee and Washington and Lee, almost evenly matched in weight, battle at Roanoke.

North Carolina and Virginia Poly meet at Chapel Hill.

Alabama will be shy its captain, Billy Hicks, when the Crimson Tide meets Sewanee at Birmingham.

Virginia Military is set for Maryland, and a battle royal is forecast at Richmond.

North Carolina State goes to east Lansing to play Michigan State.

Mississippi invades Dallas to meet Southern Methodist, and Duke visits Philadelphia to take a crack at Villa Nova.

Clemson went to the war yesterday, giving South Carolina a drubbing in their annual state fair battle at Columbia 21-14.

SCHMIDT BRINGS SQUAD ON FIRST INVASION OF SOUTH PLAINS; EXPECTING FIGHT

Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, 25 strong, landed in Lubbock early today, fit and ready to engage the Texas Tech Matadors in the fourth annual gridiron battle between the two institutions. Coach Francis Schmidt, serving his first season as commander of Frog-grid destinies, accompanied the squad on its first visit to the Plains.

Met at the Santa Fe station by a caravan of automobiles the title-bound Horned Frogs were brought up-town by a welcoming committee of football enthusiasts. The Southwestern conference aggregation embarked at the Hotel Lubbock where they will make their headquarters during their stay in this city.

Guest of Matador Club

Impressed with the cordial welcome that was extended to himself and his team, Coach Schmidt played the part of host this morning to newspapermen, members of the local Matador club and numerous football fans. At noon today, the T. C. U. mentor was the guest of the Matador club at a luncheon at the Hotel Lubbock.

"We're expecting anything but a set-up", the cordial Horned Frog coach responded to questions concerning tomorrow's game at Tech Field. "I have a fast corps of ball toters to throw against the Matadors but on the other hand, the Tech team has its own "jackrabbits" that will be hard to stop. Both clubs employ a style of attack that is of the same type and the game should evolve into a wide-open battle, featured by plenty of speed and plenty of aerial works.

Satisfied with Two

"I'll be more than satisfied with a two-touchdown victory over the Tech boys and so will every member of the T. C. U. team. The Matadors have always been tough eggs for the Horned Frogs and this year is no exception. From all reports, we are facing the most aggressive Tech team in the history of the Lubbock college."

The Frogs were called out to "beans" at 11:45 and following a rest period at their hotel quarters, went to the college field shortly after noon to take a light workout on the site of their battle tomorrow with the Matadors. Coach Schmidt sent his charges through a lively limbering up session, with the entire squad appearing in the pink of condition.

Cy Leland, former Lubbock High school athlete, and at present one of the leading scorers in the Southwestern conference, was as happy as a lark as he dug his cleats in what he still claims to be his native soil. Leland is anxious and ready for the opening whistle tomorrow and is likely to play a leading role in the Horned Frogs' running and passing attack.

With four days intensive training behind them, the Matadors of Tech were out on the field early today to take their final limbering-up session before their crucial battle Saturday afternoon. The Bull Fighters appeared confident that their newly-perfected offense will "work" against the conference eleven.

Signal drill found the Matador plays clicking to perfection and close followers of the team were firm in their belief that the Scarlet-clad warriors will make the best showing they have ever made against the Purple crew.

Coaches Higginbotham and Payne are well-pleased with the condition of their charges and the performance of the gridders during this week's practice.

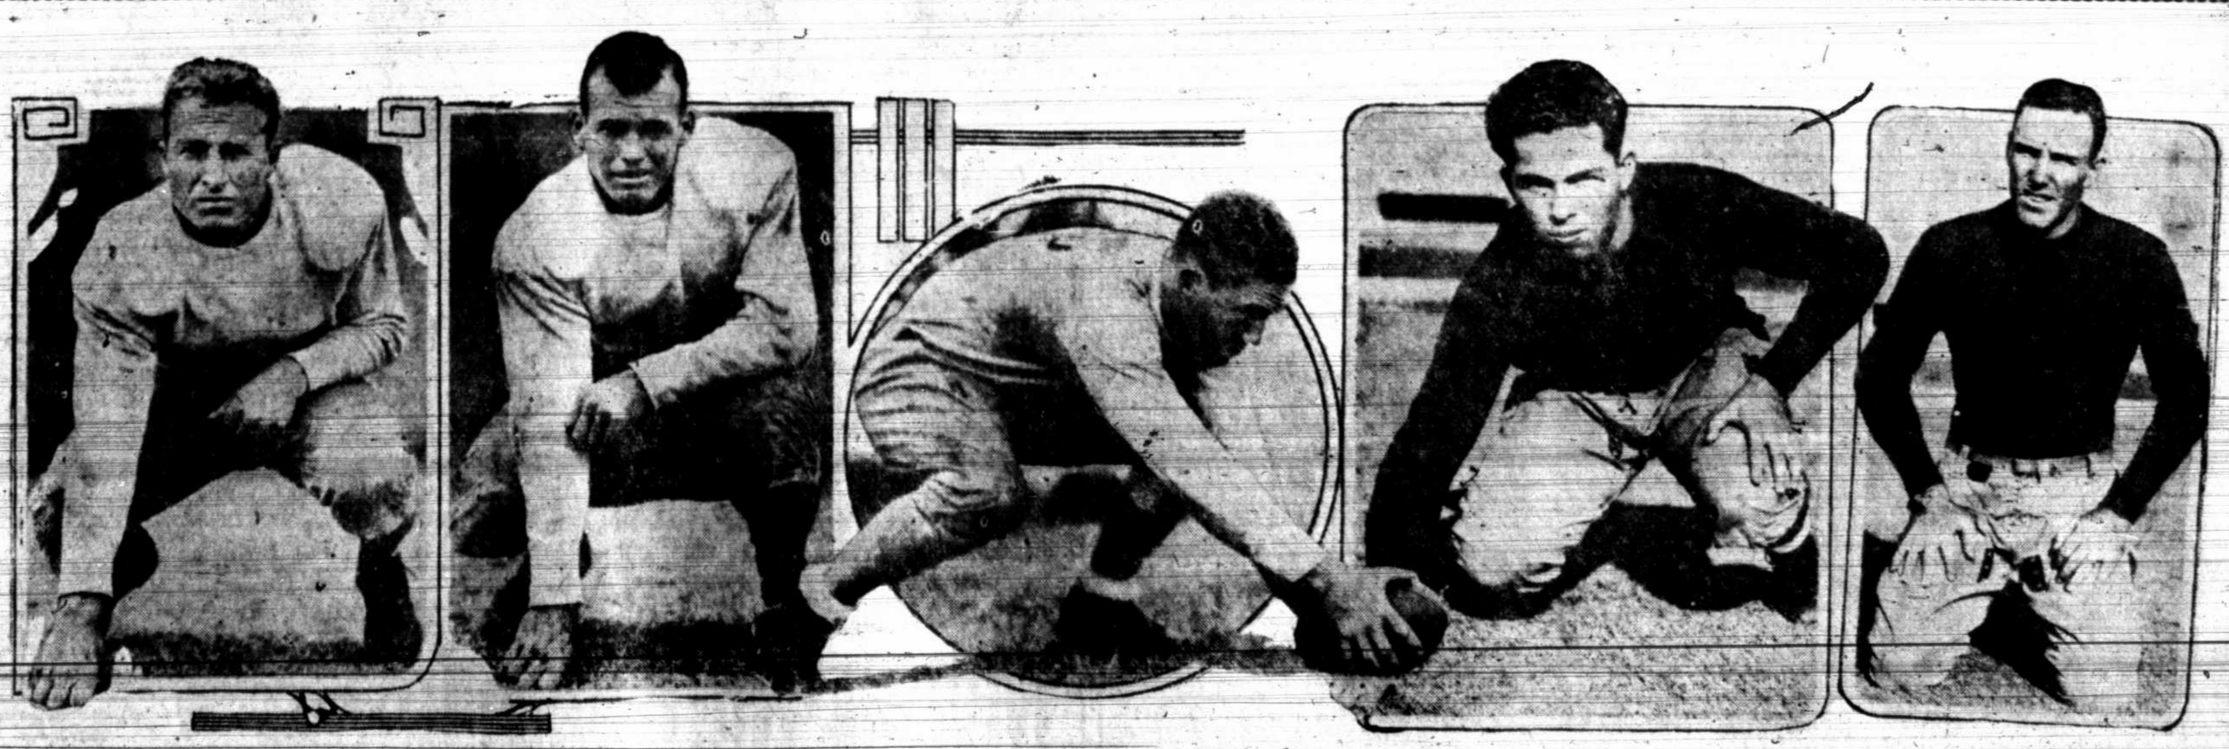

Late reports from Tech athletic headquarters indicates that all seats will be filled when the opening whistle sounds Saturday. Out-of-town visitors have been arriving in Lubbock throughout the day and an even greater influx of grid fans are expected tomorrow morning. Tonight's bonfire and pep rally on the Tech campus is expected to draw thousands and generate high enthusiasm for the outstanding attraction of the football season in Lubbock.

Matador School Boasts Unusual All-Time Record

Showing Of Bull Fighters Against Southwestern Conference Eleven Saturday To Be Set

Texas Tech will be making a supreme bid for recognition among the state's leading institutions Saturday afternoon when the Matador football eleven takes the field against the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs.

With a student body outranked by only two of the older members of the Southwestern conference, the Texas Tech college continues to knock at the door of the major athletic loop of the southwest and the chances for her admission are brighter than ever before.

The record of the Lubbock institution during the first four years of its history is one which commands the attention of every sportsman and football enthusiast.

Come to Front

Boasting a well rounded athletic department, headed by experienced directors, the local institution of Matadors is fast taking its place alongside the ranking colleges and universities of the southwest. Matching their prowess from the outset with the state's leading aggregations, the Matadors have come to be recognized as dangerous opponents for the strongest clubs in Texas.

When Texas Tech opened its doors for the first time in September, 1925, a vast horde of the Lone Star state reported for Coach Ewing Freeland's first Matador football team. More than 100 ambitious grid candidates were on the field the first day and this number increased to 137 before many days had passed.

Fight for Positions

The usual number of men dropped out in this "survival of the fittest" shtruggle, and when the time for the first game rolled around, 90 gridsters were still grimly battling for positions on the football eleven which was destined to attract statewide attention through its first-year record.

Football at Tech contined to grow in popularity as the institution advanced in years. The fall of 1926 found another large squad hustling for position on the Freeland machine. The number of candidates reached 105 at one time during early season training, but this was reduced to a much smaller number by playing season. Thirteen letter men from the first year's squad were back for further laurels on the gridiron as Coach Freeland led his cohorts forth to battle. Among these was Winfield Nicklaus, first Matador football captain. A lanky-red headed lad hailing from Sudan, Hurley Carpenter, led the Matadors through this second season, which brought additional fame to the new institution.

Reed is Leader

Sixteen letter men from the first two years reported for the football opening in 1927. Bruce Reed, a hefty guard who had covered himself with glory in the two preceding seasons was named captain of the bull fighters and proved himself a capable leader. Ninety eight candidates were on hand for the training camp.

Playing under Southwest conference rules for the first time, the 1928 edition of the Tech Matadors found the competition a little stronger than usual and manager to break even in games won and lost. Two Southwest conference teams were included in the most strenuous schedule the Matadors had ever gone through. Holding the Texas university Longhorns to a pair of touchdowns and gaining regonition for crossing the T. C. U. goal line for the first time during the season, the Tech eleven emerged from the hectic season, stamped as one of the most powerful defensive clubs in the state.

A Great Record

Texas Tech has a football record for the first four years of its existence that will undoubtedly go down in history as one of the most remarkable on the books for a new school. The Matadors have piled up a total of 492 points and have held their opponents to 293. This record has been made against strong teams from the Southwestern conference, the Texas conference and the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association.

During the first year, the Tech eleven played nine games, winning six, tying two and losing one. This record stands unchallenged in the annals of college competition when new institutions are considered.

The Matadors waited but one year to step out into big-time company, meeting the Texas Christian university eleven on the Horned Frog gridiron. This battle with Matty Bell's warriors was the only game lost by the Matadors during the 1926 season. This season's record of six games won, three tied and one lost included two Texas Conference clubs, five T. I. A. A. teams, one Southwestern Conference eleven and two junior colleges.

The season of 1927 proved to be an off year for the Scarlet and Black gridsters from the standpoint of games won and lost as compared to previous years. Nine games were played, five were won and four were lost. Coach Freeland stepped a notch nearer state-wide recognition for the institution by meeting two Southwest Conference teams. In both instances the Matadors made an impressive showing.

Matador Head

Ewing Y. Freeland, director of Tech athletics, has worked untiringly for the interest of the Matador institution since the school opened in 1925. Possibly no other one individual has put forth more effort than Freeland to gain the admission of the college into the Southwestern Conference.

WEARS NO. 13

Barr Doesn't Mind Wearing Feared Numeral

FORT WORTH, Oct. 25. — "It's a wonder you don't get killed."

That is what football fans tell Milford (Buck) Barr, giant Frog tackle from Kaufman, when they see No. 13 on his football uniform. Barr is playing his third year for Texas Christian university. This is his second year to wear No. 13 on his football jersey.

"I'm not superstitious," Barr says. "When Matty Bell last year offered No. 13 to me, after several other players had refused it, I took it. So far it has had no effect one yay or the other. Some persons believe 13 is good luck, but—well, maybe so."

HIS FORM IS PERFECT

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. (AP)—Bill Lancaster, who drives a bus for the Flossmoor country club, has practically perfect form. There's a tradition at the club that the driver must climb the flagpole when he misses a train. Bill has never climbed it and has been meeting 30 trains a day for 16 years.

TY COBB'S MOVE IS BIG QUESTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—Baseball has Ty Cobb's word that he will be back in the game next year. And that makes the suspense just that much worse.

Ty at 42 won't play. He will try the executive end. So the question is:

Will he become a major league manager or content himself with a position as assistant manager?

The Georgia Peach has been asked to manage at least one major league club. But baseball men who know the great old slugger doubt if he cares to accept such weighty responsibilities.

After 24 years in the game, Ty may prefer to serve in an advisory capacity.

Cobb is coming back to baseball only because of his love for the game. The financial end of it has no attraction to him since he applied his baseball earnings to investments that proved highly profitable.

HAS BIG ASSIGNMENT

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 25. (AP) All the Wolverines are asking of Harry Kipke, new University of Michigan football coach, is that he duplicate Fielding H. Yost's first year record. It may sound easy until one glances at the records. Yost came to Michigan in 1901 and that year his boys played 11 games. Their total point score was 550 to 0.

Old Grads Gather Here For Second Big Celebration

No Formal Program Mapped Out For Returned Tech Students; Luncheon Set For Saturday Noon

When the Texas Tech Matadors trot out on the field Saturday against the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs, their support from the sidelines will be further strengthened by several hundred loyal fans.

That group will be composed of graduates and ex-students who are journeying back to their old alma mater to witness the varsity Scarlet and Black in action again on the grid. The occasion will be the second annual "Home Coming" of the state's youngest institution.

No formal program is to mark the day which will be given entirely over to the visitors to do as they please, meet old friends, visit familiar places and meet new students. The only cheduled meeting of the day will be the luncheon program for all former graduates to be held at Our Cafeteria at 12:30, C. W. Ratliff, president of the alumni association has announced.

Even here no formal program will be held, the grads merely gathering for an informal lunch and discussion of affairs of the association. The only speaker will be Dean James M. Gordon, who is to make a short talk.

Meet At Bonfire

Friday night all ex-students and graduates gather at the gigantic bonfire and pep rally Friday night before the game, pep talks being scheduled from a number of students of former days.

On Saturday an information booth will be maintained in the east rotunda of the administration building where all ex-students and graduates will register and give desired information of their addresses, occupation and etc. Saturday night, an all-college dance at the gymnasium will mark the final event of the day.

At the game Saturday, an effort is to be made to have all graduates and formey students to sit in a special section with the students and aid again in rousing the old Tech spirit. All of the lettermen of the college will be honored in a special section on the sidelines immediately behind the team.

In the four short years that Texas Tech has been a college, more than 3,000 different students have attended school here and it is expected that more than 500 will be will be present for the Home Coming on Saturday.

McGRAW MAY FIND TRADERS APLENTY

BY JAY VESSELS

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—When John McGraw gets ready to do his heavy winter trading he may find a surprising number of baseball men ready to do business.

For the Giants' veteran manager has been handing out some very choice players in recent years.

In fact McGraw has made possible some of the greatest bargains in the history of the game.

Boston Profits.

Boston jumped in and grabbed Hornsby for some money and two players—Jimmy Welsh and Shanty Hogan. Within 10 months, the Braves picked up around $200,000 in cash and four or five players for the Rajah. Meanwhile Welsh and Hogan proved to be just ordinary ball players.

Pittsburgh eagerly swapped Vic Aldridge for Burleigh Grimes whom McGraw just as eagerly put on the block. Grimes developed into one of the best Pittsburgh pitchers since the days of Babe Adams. And Aldridge didn't even last one season with the Giants.

Then Philadelphia came forward for its slice of the McGraw cake by getting Lefty O'Doul in a trade involving Fred Leach. Lefty promptly set his sights on the National league batting championship which he copped with the princely average of .00. And Leach did no better than play in his usual Philadelphia style.

McGraw is looking for pitchers, outfielders and a second baseman this time. He probably will find plenty of takers for whatever he has to offer.

Texas Tech Grid Notables Gather For T. C. U. Tilt

Football Captains Of Entire School History To Be On Bench During Battle Saturday

Matador leaders from the beginning of Texas Tech in 1925 to the present date will be on the sidelines Saturday when the 1929 Tech eleven takes the field against the T. C. U. Horned Frogs.

Men who have furnished the fighting spirit for Texas Tech football teams for the past four years will be back to take their old places on the players' bench and cheer on the wearers of the Scarlet and Black in the crucial encounter with the Southwestern Conference aggregation.

Two of these former Matador captains are now engaged in the coaching profession but are expected to leave their teams in order to be present for the Home Coming battle.

Winfield Nicklaus, a product of Amarillo High, was the first Texas Tech captain, leading the first Matador eleven on the field of battle in 1925. "Windy" was a smashing fullback who gave the Matadors plenty of drive and was a worthy leader. Tahoka High school now claims Nicklaus as its head coach.

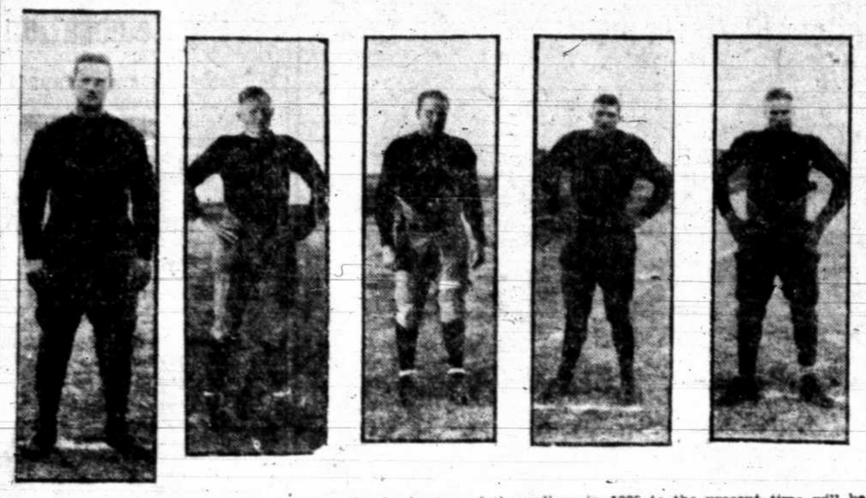

Hurley Carpenter, red thatched gridster from Sudan, was named captain of the 1926 Tech aggregation, proving himself one of the most deadly tackles in this section. Carpenter finished his college career last year and is now employed as an assistant to Rhodes Ingerton, Tech freshman coach.

Bruce Reed, who gained fame as a star linesman on the Vernon High school eleven, led the Matadors through the season of 1927 in his third year on the varsity eleven. "Os" was one of the most aggressive guards on the squad through his four years of service.

The outstanding athlete in Tech's athletic history was the 1928 Tech football captain. In addition to leading the team, Ransom Walker was the Matador's sole scoring threat registering the first touchdown of the year against the T. C. U. Horned Frogs. Walker is playing his last season with the Scarlet and Black.

Vaughn Corley, captain-elect for the 1929 season, who left school to take the position of head coach at Las Cruces High school, is expected to be among the Matador notables at the game Saturday. Corley was a center who knew nothing of the word "quit."

Former Tech Captains Back For Home-Coming

Leaders of Matador football teams from the beginning of the colleye in 1925 to the present time will be on the sidelines Saturday when the Bull Fighters tackle the T. C. U. Horned Frogs in the annual battle between the two institutions. They are standing, from left to right—Winfield Nichlaus, Hurley Carpenter Bruce Reed, Ransome Walker and Vaughn Corley. The last named was named captain of the 1929 eleven but left school to enter the coaching profession.

Seating Capacity Of Tech Athletic Plant To Be Taxed To Capacity When Frogs And Matadors Clash On Field

Spectators From All Sections Of West Texas Send In Applications For Seats In Stands

Telegrams, telephone calls and personal applications have been pouring in daily at Tech athletics headquarters for the past week and indications point to the largest gathering of football fans that has ever witnessed a gridiron battle in Lubbock when the Texas Matadors take the field Saturday afternoon against the invading Horned Frogs from Texas Christian University.

Workman have been busy for the past several days erecting additional bleachers to accomodate the influx of spectators from all sections of West Texas and New Mexico and college authorities are expecting every available seat to be taken when the opening whistle sounds Saturday.

Marvin T. Warlick, manager of athletics at the college, has estimated the crowd at approximately 7,500.

With the grandstand reserved for regular customers, the bleacher sections on the east side of the field will be occupied by the Tech student body and visiting football teams from surrounding high schools. Word has been received from Slaton, Crosbyton, Lorenzo, Brownfield and Ralls that the high school football squads from these towns will be on hand to witness the season's grid classic in Lubbock. A message was recieved today from Clayton, N. M., from Grady Burson, high school coach in that city, who is gringing his squad of 40 gridsters to the game.

In addition to the Texas Tech student band, the Lubbock High school and Crosbyton High school band will be on hand to furnish music for the occasion

Pete Wright, director of athletics at T. C. U., has wired ahead that a large delegation of Fort Worth boosters will follow the Horned Frogs to Lubbock. A special section in the stands will be reserved for the Purple rooters.

Although the Canyon-Simmons tilt in Amarillo Saturday will hold a number of Panhandle football fans away from Lubbock, Plainview and other north Plains cities are reported to be coming strong to Lubbock Saturday, Tahoka, the home of Coach Winfield Nicklaus' Tahoka Bulldogs, is likewise sending a large delegation.

The Tech athletic field will be in charge of a representative body of the Lubbock police force who will guard against all violence and assist in handling the crowd A corps of ushers, under the personal supervision of Lt. H. E. Killin, R. O. T. C. commander, will direct the throngs to their seats in the stands

In order to put a stop to the practice of viewing games from the highway and road in front of the stadium, a temporary fence has been erected inside the permanent iron fence. This will make it impossible to see the game unless inside the field.

About 75 high schools are competing for the state football championship of Montana this season.

At least 14 states are represented in the coaching ranks of Montana high schools.

FOUR BIG TEN ELEVENS ARE WITHOUT CAPTAINS ON GRIDIRON THIS SEASON

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. (AP) — School politics and fraternity jealousies largely were responsible for four of the 10 schools in the western conference doing away with elected football captains for this season.

Last season, Ohio State, suffering from Greek letter managers and corner cigar store coaches, dropped the custom of naming captains by franchise. This year Minnesota, Indiana and Purdue did likewise. The coaches appoint a captain for each game.

Of the six Big Ten captains for the 1929 season, five are linemen. Willis A. Glassgow of Iowa is a halfback. And to further contradict the popular fiction that gridiron heroes must be individualists, three pilots are guards—a place usually filled by disappointed tackles.

Russell Crane of the championship Illinois team; Henry Anderson of Northwestern and John Parks of Wisconsin are guards. Joe Truskowski of Michigan and John M. Kelly of the much-defeated Chicago team are ends.

Hewitt Is New Star For Columbia Squad

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—Generally regarded as the best football player at Columbia since the days of Walter Koppisch, the all-American back in 1924, Ralph Hewitt is setting the gridiron afire this year.

Hewitt, whose home is in Lawrence, Mass., is a sophomore but he already has clinched a varsity berth.

He scored four touchdowns in a recent game and added the extra point each time.

Ralph is a three-sports star. He plays football and baseball and is one of the Lions' best trackmen.

Moody Will Address Tax Assessors' Meet

BEAUMONT Oct. 25. (AP)—Governor Dan Moody is scheduled to speak during the convention of the Tax Assessors' association of Texas here November 21-23, according to the program announced by A. L. Leonard, county tax assessor and secretary-treasurer of the association.

The session will be presided over by F. W. Hitt, assessor of Harris county, president of the organization. After the opening meeting is called to order, a message of welcome will be made before the assembly by J. W. Anderson, city manager.

Marion Kennedy of Trowbridge, Ill., a blind telephone operator in the country. He has held his post 28 years, and is a livestock dealer on the side.

Montana university has adopted the system of naming a captain just before each game for its football team.

Pony Backs In Tip-Top Shape For Intersectional Clash With 'Ole Miss' As Final Fair Attraction

Coach Morrison Expects Stiff Battle Saturday From Mississippians; All S. M. U. Backs Ready

DALLAS, Oct. 25.—"Beat Mississippi" is the battle cry of the Southern Methodist University Mustangs as the big intersectional gridiron classic between the Mustangs and "Ole Miss" draws near. The game is scheduled to be played before the tate Fair patrons in the final football attraction of the '29 fair. Interest is running high in Dallas and on the campus of S. M. U. over the game. Big pep rallies and bonfires have been arranged by the Pony yell crew for the remainder of the week to further arouse the spirit for the game.

No Set-up For Ponies.

The S. M. U. professor of football science, Ray Morrison, gathered his pupils around him Monday and let them in on the big secret that the Mississippians are not weak and that if the Ponies were to come out of the game with a victory they would have to put out fight and plenty of it. The general opinion that has circulated around the Southwest conference that the out-of-state visitors would be a set-up for the Red and Blue machine of the Mustangs got a set back Saturday when the Mississippians defeated the powerful Lavola University Wolves, 26 to 24. The Wolves defeated the Rice Owls earlier in the season by a top-heavy score. Pony scouts who saw the Saturday game in New Orleans came back with plenty of warning for Morrison's men.

Line Players Shifted.

Line Coach McIntosh is having his troubles this week. He is shifting his line to meet the peculiar offense of the Hazelmen. A week is a short time to mold a defense to function properly.

For the first time this year Morrison will probably let his backfield constellation loose. Every Pony back is in great shape for the go. Quarterback Gilbert's limp is no longer noticeable as the young signal barker sends his mtaes through their various plays. Davidson, the promising young gridster whom Morrison shifted from end to half back is showing up great and will make a good running mate for Mason, the Pony triple threat backfield ace.

Reports from across the Father of Waters state that Coach Hazel's Mighty Mississippians are going to the limit to win and that the 'Ole Miss mentor has some little specialties in his bag of tricks that he hopes will catch Morrison's men asleep. The out-of-staters have poured to this game all season. Those fortunate enough to attend the game Saturday will no doubt be well supplied with 60 full minutes of breath-taking football.

President Horn Welcomes T. C. U. Visitors To City

College Head Praises Spirit Between Christian Institution And Texas Tech College

Addressing a special welcome to the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs and all Fort Worth visitors during the home-coming festivities at Texas Tech, Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of the local institution emphasizes the friendly relations that have existed between the two schools and expresses hope that this cordial spirit will continue through the years.

Dr. Horn's official welcome follows:

During the next few days the football team of the Texas Christian University will be a visitor upon the campus of the Texas Technological college. Doubtless there will be some members of the faculty of the Texas Christian University and some other friends of the institution who will accompany the football team on their visit.

To each and every one of these the Texas Technological college extends heartiest welcome. Every one of us is glad to see you. We hope each and every one of us, that your visit to our campus will be pleasant.

The relations between the Texas Technological college and Texas Christian university have always been friendly and cordial. During the past several years, our team has paid an annual visit to your campus. In each instance we have been hospitably received.

There is not the slightest occasion for any unfriendly rivalry between a state supported institution and an institution maintained by one of our great Christian denominations. Each institution has much that can be said in its favor. They are colleagues and co-laborers rather than rivals or even competitors.

So far as the game is concerned, each team expects to do its level best to win. We both expect a sharp battle to be fought out on the gridiron, owever, the only fighting that will be done will be upon the football field. Each team is going to give the very best that it has to give. May the best team win.

But whatever the results of the game may be, win lose, or draw, the kindly and courteous feeling which in past years existed between the two institutions will continue to exist. There is room in West Texas for friendly contests and for generous rivalry. There is room for the two institutions to serve to the full extent of their power. There is not room, however, for the slightest trace of ealousy or bitterness.

Again the Texas Technological college welcomes the visitors from the Texas Christian university to the campus and the buildings and to the hearts of Texas Tech.

Aggies Set For Clash With Hogs In Title Game

Farmers Determined To Win First Conference Battle With Arkansas Aggregation.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 25.—Undaunted by their reversal at the hands of the T. C. U. Horned Frogs in Fort Worth last week, Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggies are looking forward with renewed determination to their clash with the Arkansas Razorback eleven on Kyle field Saturday. The game will be the first conference clash of the season Kyle field and the Aggies' first performance on their own gridiron since their opening game four weeks ago.

"We are not out of the race yet," Coach Gell said in commenting on the prospects of his gridsters. "What we have to do now is to csrap all the harder the remainder of the season. It has been some time since a team winning the conference title got through the season undefeated or without a tie."

McFadden Out

The Aggie eleven will meet the Razorbacks minus the services of Paul McFadden, scrappy end from Abilene, and Walter Ewell, veteran guard from Dalls, both of whom were injured in the clash with the Horned Frogs McFadden and Ewell are both expected to be out of the game for some time, the former with a broken hand injured in the second play of Saturday's game and the latter with an injured shoulder and collar bone With these exceptions, however, the Aggies suffered no material damage in the Fort Worth game and the team will be in excellent shape for the Porker tilt.

Despite their two losses in as many conference starts, the Porker team with which Coaches Thomsen and Bassett will invade Aggieland is not rated the underdog of the contest. In holding both Texas and Baylor in check for more than three-fourths of the game the Porkers displayed a powerful eleven which they led Baylor Bears durnight fear. A passing attack, with which hy led the Baylor Bears durig a large part of the game, is expected to be the Porkers chief offensive weapon against the Aggies.

LARGE DELEGATION FOLLOWS BULLDOGS

SLATON, Oct. 25.—A delegation of 300 or more citizens of spur will come to Slaton today to witness the clash between the Slaton High Tigers and the Spur Bulldogs, according to telephonic advice received Wednesday from W. B. Lee, president of the Spur Chamber of Commerce.

The game is holding the spotlight this week-end in South Plains' football circles, and both elevens are keen for the fray. Both are known to have powerful machines, and neither has been defeated this season in its own class.

In avoirdupois the Spur crew are said to have some advantage over the Tigers, while it is conceded that the Slaton eleven has the Spur aggregation outclassed in some other particulars. The "dope" has it that the two are closely matched, however. The game will begin at 3 p. m.

One of the biggest crows ever assembled at a football game here is expected to see the game Friday afternoon. Local interest is at high pitch, and many visitors are expected from other South Plains cities, besides the largest delegation from the Dickens County capital.

INGERTON LEAVES WITH 25 PLAYERS TODAY FOR NMMI TILT

Twenty-five members of the Texas Tech freshman football squad leave early today for Roswell, N. M., where Saturday afternoon they will meet the New Mexico Military Institute eleven in the first game of the season for the Picadors.

The squad will make the trip to the New Mexico city by bus, arriving in Roswell this afternoon in time to take a light workout on the Broncos' field. Coaches Rhodes Ingerton and Hurler Carpenter accompanied the players.

Following are the squad members making the trip:

Ends—Crabtree, Teal, Wallace and Armes; Tackles—McWilliams, Murphy, Gammon, Hazlewood, Parris; Guard—Lumsden, Shipp, Ross, Howard; Centers—Allen and Janes; Quarterbacks — Gilmore, Moffett, Mathews; Halves—Navarro, McDonald, Pickett, Glover; Fullbacks—Dose, Smith and Gorman.

Conference Tilt On Tap At Uvalde Between Teachers

San Marcos And Sul Ross Pedagogues Clash And A. C. C. Wildcats Meet Sam Houston Eleven

CANYON, Oct. 25.—Two very important football games in the T. I. A. A. feature the week's go with reference to Conference standing. Sam Houston Teachers of Huntsville journey to Abilene for their first conference game. They have played some very strong teams, including Rice and Centenary, and have made a creditable showing, holding the Rice Owls to a 7 to 2 score. A. C. C. will be playing their third conference tilt, having won from West Texas and tieing San Marcos Teachers.

San Marcos Favored.

The other conference game will be that of San Marcos Teachers and Sul Ross Teachers, which will be played at Uvalde. Guessing for that is what it is, at the outcome of either of the above games is difficult, however, most football critics will pick Sam Houston over A. C. C. and it is believed that San Marcos Teachers should defeat Sul oss.

North Texas meets Trinity university at Waxahachie and should win from the Texas conference school. McMurry has an open date. Daniel Baker will entertain for St. Edwards at Brownwood. St. Edwards is doped to win by at least two touchdowns. The Nacogdoches Lumberjacks move over to Natchitoches Louisiana Teachers for their annual tussle. This should be a whale of a game, but dope favors the Louisiana Teachers by a slight margin.

East Texas also has an open date, they have played two conference games, losing one and tieing one.

Buffs Meet Cowboys.

The West Texas Buffaloes have the hardest assignment of any T. I. A. A. team this week. They meet the much touted Cowboys from Simmons university. The game being played in Amarillo under the auspices of the Amarillo Tri-State fair. Simmons, under the tutelage of Frank B. Bridges, former Baylor coach, has whipped the Cowboys into a fast stepping bunch. His starting line-up of 11 men will weigh a few pounds over a ton, and their record is more or less impressive. They defeated Texas University Team B, held the Texas Christian university to a 20 to 0 score and last week defeated the Daniel Baker Hill Billies, last year champions of the T. I. A. A., 15 to 0.

The Buffaloes are adding momentum to their offense and it is being predicted that before the season ends, will have the greatest offense in the conference. The center of the line proved the weak spot when the Buffs played A. C. C., but this was tight as a jug at Commerce and it looks like forward wall although light in weight will be able to function very creditably against the Cowhands from Simmons.

Extends Welcome

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological college, has extended a warm welcome to all returning graduates, ex-students and T. C. U. visitors, paying special courtesies to the Frog visitors.

Berkley Bell Gets Distinguished Award

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. (AP)—Berkeley Bell, captain of the University of Texas tennis squad, is the fourth Longhorn net star to wi nthe Distinguished Athlete Award of the University of Texas.

Bell, national intercollegiate singles champion, was presented the award by Dr. H. J. Ettlinger, director of athletics. The award is bestowed on University of Texas athletes who become national champions in any sport.

HAS 20 SIXFOOTERS

MORAGA, Cal. (AP)—Regardless of the showing the 1929 St. Mary's college football varsity, an imposing lot of freshmen candidates promise "heavy gridiron business" as first stringers next year. Twenty of the 59 yearlings are six feet tall, or better and a team could be picked averaging 196 pounds. Twenty-three of them were team captains in high school.

JOCKEY ACTIVE AT 78

LA CROSSE, Kan. (AP) — At the age of 78, Levi Burlingame still competes with jockeys one-fourth his years. His son, Charlie, who rode "big time" circuits a few years ago, was forced to retire when he exceeded the weight limit.

SCOUTS PREFER END SEATS

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Football customers yell for sideline seats, but football scouts prefer to watch the game from an end of the field seat, so they can observe play formations. So the box for scouts at Duke university is at the end of the field.

Local Gridsters Smothered By Score Of 22 To 0 In Thrilling Grid Classic Before 6,500 Fans

Cy Leland Is Star

Former Lubbock Boy Proves Claim Of "Fastest Man In Football" By Scoring Two Touchdowns

By ALLAN CARNEY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

A WING-FOOTED halfback and a quarterback, shooting like a rocket through a crimson forward wall, proved too much for a fighting Texas Tech eleven Saturday afternoon and the powerful Texas Christian university Horned Frogs from Fort Worth smothered the Matador horde, 22 to 0, before a colorful throng of 6,500 mad football fans.

The scintillating performance of this fast-stepping pair, Cyrus Leland and Howard Grubbs, gave the huge gathering of West Texas grid fans a treat that will not soon be forgotten. Leland, the former Lubbock High school lad, showed the home town fans why he is ranked as "football's fastest human," and Grubbs gained the admiration of the entire crowd by his bullet-like runs and beautiful passing.

Fighting against overwhelming odds, with more at stake than a mere football game, the football wizards of Tech covered themselves with glory by a never-say-die defensive performance that completely demoralized the Horned Frog attack at times. ONE THIRD PICKED

Estimate That Two-Thirds Of Cotton With Farmers

DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP)—Estimating that possibly as much as two-thirds of the cotton crop was still in the hands of the farmers, W. B. Yearey, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers' Marketing Association of America declared in a statement today that it would be "financial suicide to permit further selling at present prices."

Yearey estimated that spinners had taken 3,332,000 of the 10,000,000 bales ginned and that the buyer has not more than 1,500,000 bales on hand. He also estimated that a third of the crop remained to be gathered.

With good demand and short supply," he said, "the farmers certainly are taking no risk by ceasing to sell."

Two Youths Are Burned to Death

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 26. (AP)—Two small boys, brothers, one eight and the other 12 years old, were burned to death here tonight when their home was destroyed by fire in the absence of their parents. Their parents who were attending a motion picture show downtown were apprised of the tragedy by an announcement flashed on the screen of the picture theatre.

The bodies of the lads, Jack, eight, and Phillip Wells, 12, were found in the ruins of the house. The fire was of undetermined origin.

Pantages Jury Is Deadlocked After Day Deliberation

No Verdict Returned After Twenty-Four Hours In Trial Of Theatre Head On Assault Charges

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26. (AP)—After a full day of deliberation, the jury in the assault case of Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire vaudeville impresario, appeared to be deadlocked tonight.

No official word had come from the closely guarded room where the seven women and five men considered the testimony involving the charge of Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old university dancer, that the theatre magnate attacked her in a little room adjoining his offices August 9.

Results Unknown

Tonight, only the jurors knew what alignments their ballots had taken, although rumors and guesses of attorneys in the case were current about the crowded courtroom. These whispered that the jurors were deadlocked seven to five, eight to four or ten to two, one way or the other.

Miss Pringle's father, Dr. Lewis Pringle, represented her among the throng of spectators that awaited the verdict.

Pantages, who since his case was given to the jury last Friday afternoon has been in custody of sheriff's deputies constantly, paced back and forth in a narrow witness room most of the day. He had been at liberty under $25,000 bail throughout the four weeks of the trial.

A noticeable change in the showman's bearing followed the announcement that, with the jury deliberating over his fate, he would not be allowed his bail freedom. He appeared dejected.

Amarillo Declines To Buy Gas Plant

AMARILLO, Oct. 26. (AP)—Amarillo voters today refused to authorize bonds for the purchase of the Amarillo Gas company's distribution system, or for the purchase of an additional municipal water supply site.

The election polled 4,009 votes, the largest the city has known on such a question. The gas project lost 1,894 to 1,291 and the water project 2,041 to 929.

Ralph Fleagle Is Condemned To Die For Bank Robbery

Bargain Of Elderly Bandit With Officers For His Confession Disregarded By Jury In Verdict

Court Room Packed

Jurors Deliberate For Four Hours; Defendant Hears Verdict Without Signs Of Emotion

(By Associated Press)

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 26.—Ralph Fleagle, elderly bank robber, was condemned to death in a verdict tonight by a jury which disregarded a bargain made by officers for his confession.

The jury found him guilty of first degree murder in the holdup of the First National bank of Lamar in May, 1928, in connection with which four men were killed.

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 26. (AP)—Ralph Fleagle, convicted bank robber and slayer, tonight was spirited out of his cell in the county court house here by peace officers and, heavily guarded, taken to an unknown destination.

Out Four Hours

The jury was out four hours and fifty minutes.

Fleagle received the verdict without a shot of emotion. Judge Hollenbeck gave defense counsel until November 9 to file a motion for a new trial.

The district court room was packed when the jury returned to render its verdict. Many other persons unable to gain admittance waited outside.

Third Sentenced

Fleagle is the third man to receive a death penalty verdict for the robbery and killings. In consecutive trials prior to Fleagle's, George Abshier and Howard Royston were convicted and sentenced to die.

Jake Fleagle, a fourth member of the bandit gang, is still at large.

Petitions Will Be Circulated Monday

Road Program Will Get 3rd Chance In Lubbock County Soon; Petitions Call For Four Routes

Petitions were prepared here Saturday afternoon and will be placed in circulation Monday morning for the purpose of securing a sufficient number of signers to ask the Lubbock county commissioners' court to order an election for voting $1,025,000 bonds for paving highways in road district No. 2.

The new petition, prepared by the Lubbock County Good Roads association of which Charles F. O'Neall is chairman, leaves routing of the highways to the decision of the state highway department.

Present Petition.

"We expect to secure the required number of signers within a few hours Monday," said Mr. O'Neall last night. "We will be ready to present the petition before the commissioners' court within a few days."

The road bonds are to be expended as follows, as outlined in the petition: Highway 7 from Hockley county line by Lubbock to south line of road district two, $251,500.

Highway 9 from Lynn county line by Lubbock to Abernathy, $274,000.

Highway 53, by Idalou and Lubbock to the Hockley county line, $370,500.

Highway 134, from Lubbock west to the Hockley county line, $129,000.

Husband Of Cult Leader Found

NEA Los Angeles Bureau

Having located Ward Sitton Blackburn, 29-year-old husband of Mrs. May Otis Blackburn, 48, cult leader now in jail at Los Angeles, authorities look for further sensational disclosures in California's newest "death cult" investigation. Blackburn is shown above with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blackburn, also cult members. He was known in cult circles as the "Concord of the North Star," his father as the "Concord of Taste" and his mother as the "Concord of Equal Balance and Justice." Blackburn's long mustache enabled him to simulate the appearance of an oriental in the cult's rites, authorities say. At right, below, is Clifford Dabney, wealthy oil operator and a cult member whose complaint that Mrs. Blackburn had swindled him of $40,000 led to the investigation.

Ginning Total Is Boosted By 5,000 During Past Week

Lubbock County Production Unofficially Estimated At 23,218 Up To Present Time; Half Through

Lubbock county cotton ginnings showed a gain of 5,362 during the past week, according to an unofficial estimate made by the Sunday Avalanche-Journal. Total ginnings up to Saturday night stood at 23,218. Many ginners reported their belief that half of the crop has already been gathered, some of them thinking more than 50 per cent is now baled.

Fair weather accelerated picking for the week and it is anticipated that, if good weather prevails, this year's crop will be gathered within another two weeks time.

Local Gins Lead

Lubbock leads the county in total bales bundled, having gained 1,620 during the past week and bringing all handled by the city's seven gins to 6,910.

Slaton, with six gins, has ginned approximately 4,448, and gained 915 bales over the previous week. Idalou's four gins have a total of 2,970 to their credit this season, gaining 764 for the week, while Shallowater, with two gins reports 2,720 bales, ginning 763 of these during the past seven days.

Since the killing frost of Wednesday night cotton fields have taken on a whiter aspect, the green leaves and other growing plants in the fields having curled up. Some expect complete opening of all bolls within the coming two weeks and others are stating that a greater yield than expected will be obtained when final fleece has been poked into the sack.

Insanity Charges Are Filed After Suicide Attempt

Man Held At El Paso For Wild Story That He Is Doomed To Die For Being In Love With Woman

(By Associated Press)

EL PASO, Oct. 26. — Insanity charges were filed today against James Clifford, 28, who attempted suicide by shooting here last night, later telling hospital employes a wild story of being doomed to death by a secret cult to which he belonged.

He was given the option of killing himself or being killed, he said, as a penalty for falling in love with a married woman. Clifford previously had filed theft charges against the woman and her husband accusing them of stealing bonds valued at $5,000.

Officials intimated today the theft charge would be dropped, in view of Clifford's mental condition.

He was reported resting easily in the hospital with two bullets through his abdomen. Physicians say he will recover. It was necessary to chain him to the bed, following an operation for removal of the bullets.

He said he lived for a time at the Hillsdale hotel in San Francisco, supported by a wealthy uncle in Chicago. He also told of being in hospitals at Tucson and Nogales, and at the Mayo Brothers clinic for treatment of nervous disorders.

His two companions at the time of the suicide attempt last night, Ben Powers, 19, and Paul Harper, 21, both of Oakland, Cal., were not held.

CONDITION NOT TOLD

PARIS, Oct. 26. (AP)—The physicians of former Premier Georges Clemenceau continued rather guardedly tonight to express themselves as satisfied with the condition of their patient. The latter continued today his work of correcting the proofs of his new book and indulged in a characteristic pleasantry by conducting Dr. Degennes to the door himself.

Clay Lester Case May Be Probed By Grand Jury Here

Defendant Is Held Without Bond In Lubbock County Jail On Charges Of Slaying Estranged Wife Here

Quick Trial Asked

Statements Assembled By District Attorney To Be Used In Hearing; Plea Is Accidental Shooting

OFFICERS last night indicated that the case of Clay Lester, charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Virgie Lester, his wife, here last Thursday, probably will be taken up by the Lubbock county grand jury Monday. The grand jury is to convene tomorrow for October term of the 99th district court.

It is understood that Lester has asked for a preliminary hearing, but due to the fact that a defense attorney has not been selected, the hearing has been necessarily delayed.

Statements Assembled.

District Attorney Durwood Bradley has been assembling statements during the past two days from witnesses and has declared his intention of asking for a speedy trial.

The district attorney also has announced that he would fight any attempt to obtain bail for the prisoner. "In my opinion this case is not bailable," said Mr. Bradley, characterizing it as the "most heartless case I have ever investigated in several years." Though signed statements have been secured from several witnesses the contents have been refused newspapers.

Lester Friday night broke the silence he had maintained since the shooting and declared his innocence to newspapermen, explaining that the woman's death was "purely accidental."

Robbed Bank Head Identifies Money

Three Men Are Arrested In Connection With Hold-Up At Brownwood; Prisoners Give Different Names

By Associated Press

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. Oct. 26 —Wrappers found with money, alleged to have been in possession of three men arrested here last night were identified today by O. C. Walker, president of the Brownwood State bank, as those of that institution.

Shortly after the wrappers were identified, the trio was started for Brownwood in custody of C. N. Davis and J. E. McDonald, Brownwood policemen.

$5,600 Recovered

Officers said that with the money taken from the men here $5,600 of the $7,061 claimed to have been taken from the bank Tuesday had been recovered.

The men made statements to George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney here, signing names different to those they gave when arrested, officers said. Officers announced that two of the men denied knowledge of the robbery.

One of the trio was suffering from a wound in the leg. The cashier of

Loan Fund Given To Tech College

Substantial Gift Made To Institution In Will Of Late Dr. R. J. Hall; To Be Tenth Of Residue

Announcement was made late Saturday afternoon by officials of Texas Technological college of a substantial gift to the institution by the late Dr. R. J. Hall, pioneer physician of Lubbock and the South Plains.

The gift was made possible through a clause in the will of Dr. Hall which stated that after his estate had been settled, one-tenth of the residue was to be presented the college as a revolving loan fund to worthy young men and women seeking educations. The exact amount of this gift has not yet been determined.

Announcement of Dr. Hall's bequest was made by Dean J. M. Gordon at the alumni banquet last evening. Dean Gordon, in a few well chosen words, expressed the appreciation of the officials for such men. He ended this expression of gratitude by proposing a silent toast to Dr. Hall.

Rum Launch Is Abandoned By Crew After $75,000 Of Christmas Liquor Supply Is Found By Officers

(By Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Oct. 26—Whereabouts of the crew of the rum launch I. F. Russell of New Orleans remained unknown tonight as the key to the mystery surrounding the abandoning of the vessel 12 miles west of Galveston early this morning, apparently remained safe within the waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

In the meantime between 600 and 700 cases of assorted liquors valued at upwards of $75,000 at "east lot" prices for Christmas delivery, found on the vessel, were under government lock and key and the launch in custody of coast guard officials.

Launch Was "Outlaw."

The launch, an "outlaw" subject to seizure, was picked up in the Gulf by the United States army engineering department ocean-going tug Ignan, captured by S. S. Daniels. The tug was coming to Galveston from the mouth of the Brazos river.

The launch was deserted, although a fire was going in the galley stove and an abundance of ice and fresh food was found in the refrigerators.

Theory was advanced that the crew became frightened at the approach of the tug and put off in a skiff. The waters of the Gulf were unusually smooth and the heavy enveloping mist of the early morning gave opportunity to escape, the tug officers said.

There were no signs of struggle on board the ship which would give basis for the theory that the launch had been abandoned after a battle with hijackers, it was said.

Fall Not Moved By Jury Verdict

Former Cabinet Member Is Least Demonstrative Following Guilty Verdict; Sheriff Collapses

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Among the least demonstrative persons in the hotel suite of Albert B. Fall after the verdict were the family of the former cabinet officer and the convicted man.

Fall refused to discuss the case for publication, but he talked at length with friends and read the many telegrams that came to his room as well as newspaper accounts of the ending of the trial. His daughter-in-law in El Paso, Mrs. Jack Fall, talked with the family over long distance telephone. She assured them that Falls nine grandchildren in the southwest were all well. One grandchild is in New York and another, the seven-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jouett Fall Elliott, raced about the hotel corridors.

Sheriff Collapses

Albert Fall Burch, sheriff of Otero county N. M. where the Fall home is located, and lifelong friend of the man for whom he was named, collapsed and was under a doctor's care most of the day. He revived at various times to ask, "How is the Judge," as Fall is known in New Mexico. Fall was not informed of Burch's condition and did not see him.

Robert Geronimo, chief of the Mescalero Apaches and like Burch, a character witness, had lost all his Indian stoicism. He said he had "had enough" of Washington and left in the afternoon to rejoin his people in the southwest.

Upstairs, meanwhile, Mark Thompson of Phoenix, Ariz., friend and attorney of the former interior secretary was sleeping under a sedative. Thompson fainted in court with a heart weakness and it was ten minutes before he was revived.

Southwest To Ask New Air Mail Line

Large Delegations Will Be In Hearing For Project; Weather Bureau Asks For Funds In Work

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Large delegations from cities in Southern and Southwestern states are expected by Representative Swing, Republican, California, to present proposals to the inter-departmental air mail board at hearings on a proposed Southwestern air mail route here November 25.

Swing, who recently visited a number of cities that would be on the route, said that every encouragement possible would be given by the delegation.

Route Is Chosen

The route is to be from Los Angeles to San Diego, California to Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona, and from there to El Paso, Fort Worth and Dallas, Texas, and thence to St. Louis or from Dallas to Atlanta, Ga., or by alternate route from El Paso to Houston to New Orleans and Atlanta and thence to New York.

Swing said that air mail routes should follow the greatest colrst of commerce and trade and that the southwestern route offered better weather than the northern. He also pointed out that there would be fewer mountains to cross.

Request Weather Data

Congressional delegates from Southwestern states, he said, had requested the weather bureau to ask for substantial increase in funds for establishment of weather bureau stations along the route. Weather bureau officials, he said, have approved the request.

Swing said that weather data was a most valuable asset for successful operation of an air mail route and that had there been adequate information on the weather the Transcontinental Air Transport disaster in New Mexico could have been averted.

He added that all bidders on the proposed route were making plans to offer adequate landing facilities for aircraft.

FARMERS HOLD CROPS

Stokes Says Co-Operatives Now Gaining In Work

DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP)—Cotton farmers of Texas are holding many hundreds of thousands of bales of cotton, according to reports reaching the state offices of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association. A representative amount of this holdover is finding its way now to the channels of cooperative marketing, Lynn Stokes, president of the organization, said.

"During the peak of the ginning season growers usually disposed of only enough to meet pressing obligations," he said, "and being dissatisfied with the existing local street prices either stored the balance or hauled it back to their farms, awaiting a higher market level. They are now finding it to their advantage to ship to the cooperative marketing association."

Five Charged In Dry Agents' Death

Four No-Bills Returned In Bexar County Grand Jury Over Case; Three Still Being Sought

(By Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 26—Five persons were indicted for murder Friday by the Bexar county grand jury and four were no-billed by the Atascosa county grand jury at Jourdanton in connection with the shooting September 24 of Captain Charles Stevens, prohibition agent six miles from San Antonio on the Pleasanton road. Those no-billed were charged in complaints with conspiracy to commit murder and were Lynn Stephens, Lee Cottle, McMullen Shank and Joe Rhomer. The four, and Alice Smith, Mrs. Louisa Guadjardo, Joe Hobrecht and Martin Casbeer are charged with murder in Bexar county.

Those indicted here were Joe Hobrecht, Mrs. Guadjardo and three others. Alice Smith was expected to appear to make a new bond in connection with the indictment since she was freed under a $2,500 bond made a short time after the charges were filed. Lynn Stephens, Martin Casbeer, and Joe Rhomer have not been arrested while the others all are in the Bexar county jail.

The Atascosa county grand jury received the conspiracy cases about two weeks ago when charges were filed by Bexar county deputy sheriffs.—Although no formal statement was made by the grand jury, it is understood there was not sufficient evidence to indict the persons charged, according to C. D. Slaton, district attorney.

FILMS ESCAPE FIRE

Hollywood Loss Not To Be Over $2,000,000

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 26. (AP)—Five vaults in the laboratory building of Consolidated Film Industries, swept Thursday by explosions and fire which took the life of Mechanic Albert Lund, and injured five workmen, were opened today by inspectors who afterward said some of the master films they contained apparently had been damaged.

Most motion picture producing companies having films in the building still declined to estimate their losses, adding however that $2,000,000 was a conservative figure.

Mrs. Hart Forced To Move From Chelsea District

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (AP)—Mrs. Tillie Hart today abandoned a four months struggle to keep wrecking crews away from a house in the Chelsea district where Dr. Clement Moore is said to have written "Twas the Night Before Christmas."

Failing in her attempt to get a decree to keep her home from being torn down to make way for a $25,000,000 apartment project, Mrs. Hart ruefully ordered an expressman to cart her furniture away from the sidewalk where it had been dumped yesterday by a marshall.

STATION DESTROYED

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 26 (AP)—A dispatch to Excelsior from Guaymas, Sonora, says fire destroyed the Southern Pacific railroad station there with a loss estimated at $10,000.

City Police And C. Of C. Officials Co-Operate In Visiting Car Parking

There are many ways of advertising a city.

Take for instance, the blue tag for the restricted parking zone. Lubbock city police, in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, have designed a guest card to be placed on all out-of-town automobiles. The tag entitles the visitor to park his car, as long as he pleases, while in Lubbock, without any consideration to time limit.

"Lubbock Welcomes You and Hopes You Will Return Often" reads the tag. The card does not exempt one from arrest for parking near fire hydrants and alleys, says Chief of Police John Lemond, who said further that there is a severe penalty is used by residents of Lubbock.

On one side of the tag are the following Lubbock facts: "Population: Approximately 20,000. Home of Texas Technological college. More than 2,000 students enrolled, October 1, 1929. 186 wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns doing business in this city. In the heart of the greatest agricultural section in all the great Southwest. City of Lubbock 1929 building permits to October $3,037,559. Two most modern hotels between Fort Worth and El Paso. Most desirable climate to be found in the state. Cool summers and mild winters."

On a site at Copenhagen, Denmark, costing $1,340,000, will be built a warehouse, vaudeville theatre hotel, garages, offices and an apartment house at a total cost of $7,020,000.

Wells In Howard Area Are Prorated

Production Cut Down Friday To Allow Distribution To Be Better; More Producers Completed

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

BIG SPRING, Oct. 26—All wells in the west extension of the Howard-Glasscock county field which has had the major part of the oil play for the past two months and where the largest discoveries are being brought in was put under proration rules here yesterday when E. E. Andrews decreased the potential for all wells west of the Big Spring-San Angelo highway, from 75 per cent to 40 per cent on account of pipe lines refusing to purchase the oil. The cut is simply a pipe line adjustment to comply with the maximum amount the pipe lines would use daily said Mr. Andrews.

The pipe lines are refusing to purchase more oil each day than their storage capacity. The Shell and Humble lines two of the major pipe line companies operating in the field are unwilling to construct more storage in the field and their pipe lines are handling all the oil that can be delivered through various outlets. The biggest production of the week was the Schermerhorn Oil company Phillips No. 1, located 330 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 33, block 33, township 2 south, Texas and Pacific Ry. Co., survey which tested 2,034 barrels on 24-hour test. This is the largest potential ever made in the field with three inch tubing. This well is offset on the west by Kirby Atlantic and Black Arrow and on the north by the Sun Oil company.

Other Wells Completed

Other wells in this extension completed and added to the list of producers, and given official tests this week were the Sun Oil Company No. 1 Phillips offsetting the Schermerhorn on the north, located 330 feet from the south line of section 14, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey.

Continental No. 1 Kloh, et tal, 990 feet from the north line and 330 feet from the east line of section 13, block 33, township 2 south T. & P. Ry. Co., survey, Kirby Atlantic & Black Arrow's No. 1 Phillips, 2,310 feet from the west line and 330 feet from the north line of section 33, block 33, township 2 south, Texas & Pacific Co., survey.

Lyon Oil & Refining company No. 1 Baker, in the west one-half of the northeast quarter of section 33, block 33, township 2 south, T. & P. Ry. Co., survey.

Locations for Howard county reported this week are: Godley Oil & Gas company Hooks No. 7, 2,440 feet from the north line and 1650 feet from the west line of section 140, block 29, W. & N. W. survey. Rigging up with rotary Humble Oil and Refining company Clay No. 6, 330 feet from the south and west lines of section 136, block 29 W. N. W. survey, digging slush pit. Gulf Production company, Clay No. 9, 330 feet from the north and west lines of section 155, block 29, W. & N. W. survey.

California-Doral Rc[illegible]ease No. 1, well No. 4, 2,197 feet from the east line and 1,650 fet from the south line of section 137, block 29, W. & N. W. survey, moving in rotary.

CONVENTION ENDS

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 26 (AP).—The four day convention of the American Title association ended Friday night with a typical Mexican dinner and dance at the Plaza hotel where the daily sessions have been staged since the convention opened Tuesday.

A final check revealed 350 delegates from 31 states attended the convention. Texas was represented with 170 delegates and California was next with 37 delegates.

Interest Is High In Activities Of County Club Work

Miss Thelma Greenwade Has Lead In Demonstration Work; Achievements Of Members Are Many

BY FRANK P. HILL
Special Staff Correspondent

TAHOKA, Oct. 26.—Starting in a small way five and one-half years ago and with much doubt in the minds of a majority of her citizens as to its practicability, Lynn county's home demonstration and 4-H club work has grown to be a tremendous factor in the county's life.

Only after much reluctance was it agreed by the county to institute the teaching of modern home methods on the farm. Miss Millie M. Halsey, the first demonstration agent, was sent here from A. and M. College department of extension, but, at first, only a few women and girls showed interest in the work. Interest gradually grew until today the thirteen women's clubs have a membership of 350; twelve girl's 4-H clubs 145; and four boys' 4-H clubs 115; a total of 610 farm women and young people receiving instruction in home-making and farming through club study.

Miss Greenwade Director

Miss Thelma Greenwade, who has been county home demonstration agent here for the past thirteen months, supervises women's clubs at O'Donnell, Wilson, Grassland, T-Bar, Midway, New Home, Three Lakes, New Lynn, Newmoore, Morgan, Edith, Draw-Redwine, and Lakeview, and girls' clubs at Edith, Grassland, T-Bar, New Lynn, New Home, Petty, Newmoore, Lakeview, Morgan, Joe Bailey, Dixie and Draw.

Although county agent work was not begun until last March, County Agent Ray E. Shaver, formerly with the Swisher county cow testing association, has organized a boys' pig club of 43 members, poultry club of 17 members, Jersey calf club of 17 members, and grain sorghum club of 38 members. Ten registered Jersey bulls have been brought into the county since January 1st, and a car load of Jersey heifers and six more bulls will be imported the second week in November. A movement to plant longer staple cotton is now under way, as are many other projects.

Home Living Learned

Since farm products are the county's principal commodity and since the larger portion of the population is a farming people, this work is doing much to bring about a more happy and comfortable life for the county in general. Girls and women learn to sew, can, garden, raise poultry, arrange more comfortable rooms, and a dozen other such things. Boys and men through experimentation and keeping of complete records learn the value of high grade livestock and how to feed them, proper seeds for this section, and the value of diversification.

All the clubs are active and are achieving success. The girls' 4-H clubs recently won $95 in prizes at the Lynn county fair and eight prizes at the Panhandle-South Plains fair at Lubbock. Eight girls attended the form short course at A. and M. Forty-one attended the club encampment held here last July.

Win Much Distinction

The women's clubs have won more than county-wide distinction, and have come to be recognized as being one of the best county groups in the state. When seventeen women from here attended the A. and M. short course, Mrs. R. W. Fenton, president of the county council, was elected president of the state home demonstration association and was selected by "Farmer's Wife" as one of the five master farm home-makers of Texas.

Each year the women hold a living room contest. This year thirty-seven women participated and sixty rooms were improved. Mrs. J. E. Weightman winning first in the county and third in the northwest Texas district, spending less than $50 on her room. In a second contest where more than $50 was spent Mrs. S. M. Clayton won first. Twenty-three women entered a tailored wash dress contest in which Mrs. L. C. Crews won first. In July they held a joint encampment at Two Draw lake with the Garza county women, thirty-three attending from this county.

Prizes Awarded

Eight women's clubs placed complete exhibits at the county fair last month and won $50 in prizes. All first and second place exhibits were taken to the South Plains fair, where twelve prizes were won; and eight exhibits were carried to the Dallas fair.

Last April 24, when the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce met in Tahoka, the women's clubs served the official luncheon to 800 people, the largest paid district WTCC delegation ever assembled in West Texas. The $430 derived by them from the luncheon was used to pay one woman's expenses from each club to the short course.

Besides the regular weekly meetings of the clubs, a county council, composed of the officers from all the clubs, meets in Tahoka once each month. Women's clubs have furnished twelve demonstrators to girls' clubs, and each of the two groups has completed 110 demonstrations although there are still two months of the year left.

These activities and accomplishments are selling the idea of better farm life to the women and girls', and by another year County Agent Shaver hopes to show even greater results from the boys' and men's work.

Boys Club Work Responsible For Big Portion Of Agriculturl Development In County! Achievements Are Marked

BY GEORGE F. SMITH
Special Staff Correspondent

SNYDER, Oct. 26.—Scurry county with more than 50,000 terraced acres stuck beneath its belt and ranking third for West Texas for the number of terraced acres has been doing constructive work in all phases of dairying and poultry, with the foundation work started through the 4-H club boys. Outstanding records have been made this year in club boy work that makes Scurry county stand out in the front ranks of agricultural diversification.

Last week Ambrose Trussell, Fluvanna; Terrill Bowlin, Hermleigh; Otho Gilmore, Bethel and Ed Jones, Fluvanna, champion ton litter raiser were guests of the Dallas State fair along with County Agent W. O. Logan. Expenses of two of the boys was borne by the Scurry County Fair association while the other went at the expense of the county commissioners court. Eighty-eight counties were represented at the Dallas State fair with 400 boys.

Seeking Records

Scurry County club boys are now seeking other records and this week County Agent Logan has been selecting the more complete 4-H record books for sending to A. and M. college to compete for the prizes that have been offered by the Santa Fe for trips to the International Livestock show, Cottonseed crushers association; Armour & Co. and a trip to the Wort Worth Fat Stock show.

Outsanding among the boys seeking records from Scurry county are the following and what they have done:

S. D. Hays, produced over two tons of milo on one acre with a labor cost of $10.00.

Some Record

Iver L. Johnston grew a pure-bred pig from 6lb pounds to 285 pounds in 150 days at a food cost of $12.85.

John Henry Trussell paid $5.00 for a pig, fed it 150 days, making a gain of 320 pounds (well over 2 pounds a day) at a cost of feed, labor and first cost all amounting to $20.00 and the pig sold at Sweetwater for $35.19, leaving him a profit of $14.59 and a nice money prize won at the county fair.

Bordon Gray fed a calf last fall winter and spring, winning $60.75 in prizes, a trip to the Dallas fair, at a feed, labor and cost of calf at beginning of $114.80, his calf gained 505 pounds in 170 days at a feed cost of 11c per pound and showing a profit with prize money of $121.09.

Grady Wallace starting late with a calf and feeding only 101 days showed a feed, labor and cost of calf at $78.05 and finished the calf weighing 830 pounds, a gain of 2.5 pounds per day and showing a profit of $28.58.

Lucy Crabtree shows a profit of $60.00 on an acre of cotton with $25 costs.

Gained Two Pounds Daily

Ambrose Trussell grew a 300 pound pig in 150 days, the pig weighed 40 pounds to start with and gained two pounds per day, at a feed cost of $15.00 and sold for $35.19 leaving him a profit of $16.29 and the loving cup as champion pig club boy of Scurry county.

Terrell Bowlin shows a profit of $111.50 on 5 acres of milo. He had real first class milo, mature, and free from hybride and tall stalks.

Otho Gilmore showed a nice profit on milo, the actual figures are now being compiled.

According to County Agent Logan other county boys who made fine records included: Jack Harless, Jack Watson, Jeff Favor, Joseph Goodlett, Lester Turner, Jim Stirling and Hugh Merritt, also one young lady, Miss Jessie Cook in making a fine record with milo.

The records being made in Scurry county in a great measure are due to the efforts of County Agent W. O. Logan, a veteran of 10 years of A. and M. college service, backed by a live-wire commissioners court, and a group of boys who want to learn from actual experience. Along with a fine camp held recently in which more than 250 boys spent two days of fun and work, they are proving to their dads likewise that the breeder-feeder thought must be brought ad used in West Texas.

RETURN MANY BILLS

Webb County Grand Jury Turns Out 81 Bills

LAREDO, Oct. 26. The previous record was 79 bills. Thirty of the bills returned so far have been against persons driving automobiles while intoxicated.

British Premier Leaves For Home

MacDonald And Daughter On Way Across Atlantic To England After Visit To America For Peace

(By Associated Press)

QUEBEC, Oct. 26.—Bidding farewell to Canada and the United States, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, his daughter Ishbel and their party boarded the steamship Duchess of York here last night, ending their historic visit in the interests of peace and international friendship.

The ship, carrying the premier to his homeland is as snug, cozy and comfortable as an English cottage. Instead of the splendor of the imperial suite on the great liner which brought him to New York, MacDonald is going home in a modest, homelike cabin of a boat built last year in his native Scotland.

There will be plenty of opportunity for quiet and rest in preparation for his meeting with parliament, which will already be in session when he lands.

CATTLEMAN ABDUCTED

JALAPA, VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Oct. 26. (AP)—Pino Pozos, wealthy cattleman, has been abducted by bandits and is held for $3,000 dollars ransom.

In a letter to Pozos' family, the bandits said their prisoner would not be harmed if the money was delivered within a period of three days. Troops have set out on the bandits' trail.

Porkers Hand Texas Aggies Second Conference Defeat

Arkansas Team Displays Defense That Sparkles In Turning Back A Bell-Coached Aggregation, 14-13

Wear Schoonover Blocks Aggies' Attempt For Extra Point To Give Hogs Victory

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 26. (AP)—Upsetting tradition as well as the dope bucket the powerful Arkansas Razorbacks came from behind here today and nosed out the Texas Aggies 14 to 13, in the opening conference game of the season on Kyle Field before 3,500 spectators.

The game was replete with smart football and beautiful passing.

Despite a rain Saturday morning the field was in good condition and open field tactics were as effective as they would have been on a dry day, thanks to the new field cover which was used for the first time today.

The Porkers gained their close decision on straight football, although they frequently passed. Miller's passes to Schoonover in the second quarter figured strongly in the march which scored the first Porker tally, but it was the running and plunging of Miller, Geis, Kyle and Uptmoor which turned the tide to Arkansas. Wear Schoonover in the final analysis won the game for Arkansas, however, when he threw his body in front of the ball as the Aggies attempted their second point after touchdown. The kick, if had been good would have tied the score.

The Aggies were heavily superior in the opening quarter combining a running and passing attack against the stubborn Porker defense. The end of the period came just as the Aggies had placed the ball on the Arkansas four-yard line via an 18-yard pass. Another pass across the goal line scored the Aggies' first touchdown in the early moments of the second quarter and Mills circled end for the extra point.

This seemed to waken Arkansas and in the next period the visitors carried the ball to the nine-yard line, chiefly on heaves from Miller and Schoonover. Uptmoor rammed the line twice and scored the touchdown, Schoonover kicking the point. Definitely upon the offensive the Porkers took the upper hand and had the ball on the Aggie 12-yard line when the half ended.

The rally carried on into the third period an Aggie fumble helping it along by giving Arkansas the ball on A. and M.'s 41-yard line. Geis, Kyle and Uptmoor carried the ball to the two-yard line and Miller polished off the drive by going through left tackle for a touchdown. Schoonover again kicked goal.

Starting deep in their own territory the Aggies carried the ball to their own 49-yard line, chiefly on kicks by Mills. A 40-yard pass, Mills to Alsabrook took it to Arkansas 10-yard line, where Clark, with the aid of a Porker penalty drove across for the touchdown. It was here that Schoonover blocked the kick that would have tied.

In the air the Aggies were superior completing 10 of 22 attempted passes for a total of 127 yards. Arkansas tried 14, but made only four of them good and gained only 49 yards by that method. The Aggies also made more first downs, scoring 12 to Arkansas' 9 and gained 264 yards from scrimmage to 176 for Arkansas. The Porkers won on their punts and on A. and M. fumbles. Arkansas kicked nine times and averaged 45 yards while the Aggies were gaining 34 yards on each of six kicks.

The lineup:

Arkansas	Pos.	Aggies
Creighton	left guard	Richter
Robinson	center	Brown
Secrest	right guard	Van Zandt
Strahan	right tackle	Moulden
Dietz	right end	Alsabrook
Geis (c)	quarterback	Mills (c)
Uptmoore	right half	Floyd
Dilk	fullback	Dorsey

Summary: Scoring — Arkansas: touchdowns, Uptmoor, Miller. Points after touchdown, Schoonover (2). Aggies touchdowns, Tracy, Clark (sub for Dorsey). Points after touchdown, Mills. Officials—Cawthorn (Southwestern), referee; Boynton (Williams), umpire; Roach (Baylor), headlinesman; Boswell (Centre), field judge.

Score by periods:

Trojans Triumph Over Stanford U

Gruelling Battle Before 89,000 Spectators Won By Southern California Over Cardinals

STANFORD STADIUM, Cal., Oct. 26.(AP)—In a gruelling battle Southern California's Trojans triumphed over the Stanford Cardinals today, 7 to 0, before 89,000 spectators.

The lone score came early in the second quarter, Tappana taking Duffield's toss from the 24-yard mark and dashing 10 yards across the goal line. Musick added the extra point with a place kick.

Lineup:

Stanford	Pos.	S. Calif.
Artman	left tackle	Hoff
Heinecke	center	Dye
Dawson	right guard	Galloway

Westerners Open Training Monday For Sandy Clash

Lubbock High School Grid Forces To Work Behind Locked Gates This Week; Odds Favor Amarillo

The laborers of an entire football season will be at stake this week as the Westerner grid forces of Lubbock High school get down to intensive training for their most crucial battle of the year next Saturday with the Amarillo Golden Sandies on the latters' gridiron.

Lubbock coaches will leave no stones unturned this week as the defense is set and an offense perfected to make the supreme bid for the district one championship against the powerful forces of Smith and Mac Daily practice sessions at Merrill Park will be behind locked gates with no visitors allowed, not even old squadmembers or close friends.

Although clearly the underdogs the Westerners will be whipped into their best playing form of the season during this week's practice with Coaches Penka and Morgan concentrating on a style of attack that is most likely to be effective against the Sandstorm stalwarts.

A large delegation of Lubbock boosters will follow the Westerners to Amarillo Saturday, plans having been completed to run a special train of 15 coaches to the high school classic. The Lubbock High school band and pep squad will lead the trippers into Amarillo for the invasion.

Ralls Eleven Is Hurt By Injuries

RALLS, Oct. 25.—The Ralls Jack Rabbits will be handicapped during the rest of the season by loss of players through injuries received in recent game. In scrimmage, E. Harris familiarly known as "Stubby" was severely injured in the game with Levelland here last Friday, when his collar bone was broken. Rufus Jordan, one of the promising young Jack Rabbits had a bone broken in his right leg, just above the ankle during scrimmage on Monday.

Harris, a veteran high school linesman and rated as one of the best high school guards on the South Plains will be out for the rest of the season and his loss will be keenly felt by the team.

Westerner Pep Squad To Stage Vaudeville Act

A 16-act vaudeville is to be given at the high school auditorium Wednesday night by the Lubbock high school pep squads for the purpose of raising funds for the trip to Amarillo next Saturday when the Westerners go into the crucial game of the district race. The program is being sponsored by the pep squads but a number of town people are to appear in the acts which will consist of dancing, singing, dramatical sketches and novelty skits.

Steers Are Only Conference Team With 2 Victories

Littlefield Men Run Roughshod Over Owls In Title Battle; Shelley And Rees Perform

BY HARRELL E. LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 26. (AP)—Running through the game at an easy clip and making and taking advantage of the breaks, The University of Texas eleven trampled the Rice Owls here today, 39 to 0.

The Longhorns scored two touchdowns in each quarter, except the fourth, when the footing was so slippery that neither team could launch a successful drive, as a result of their conquest, the Steers tonight were the only Southwest conference team which had two loop victories.

Perhaps anticipating the S. M. U. game next week the Steers declined to show anything but straight football. They tried only two passes, both of which were incomplete.

Cold Chills Crowd

A cold rain chilled the small crowd, but two spectacular plays sent them away from the game partly recompensed for their discomfort. In the second quarter, Nona Rees, Longhorn quarterback, caught a punt and raced 75 yards for a touchdown and early in the third period, Dexter Shelley, who was in the game only about five minutes, got loose around end and stiff-armed his way 62 yards across the final chalk mark.

The Steers scored before the Owls got awake in the early minutes of the game. Taking the ball near sustained drive of the fray, Rees, Beular, Sheeley alternated to carry the oval to the 22 yard line and on a reverse play the elusive quarterback ran around right end across the goal line. Perkins converted.

Bad Pass Costs

Near the end of the quarter Thomas, Rice center, got off a bad pass and Kennedy attempted to kick the ball despite the delay only to have it blocked by Mestly and Hargrave. The ball rolled across the goal line and Beatty fell on it for a second counter. Perkins again kicked goal.

Then came Rees' long run and near the close of the first half "Skinny" Cheatham, who substituted for the injured Vining at end and played an aggressive game, blocked a punt and followed the sphere back of the goal line to

Schmeling's Boss Sails For Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. —(AP)—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling sailed today for Berlin to lay before the German heavyweight two proposals for bouts in the United States early next year.

Jacobs has an offer from a syndicate consisting of Herman "Mugsy" Taylor and Bob Gunnis, of Philadelphia, and Bill Duffy, Broadway cabaret owner, of $250,000, for Schmeling to fight in Atlantic City early in January against an opponent as yet unnamed.

The other proposition is a bout at the Miami, Fla., Kennel Club, in March, sponsored by G. R. K. Carter, partner of the late George L. "Tex" Rickard.

Magnates Reduce Chances To Split Season In Texas

Hereafter Six Members Must Vote For Season To Be Halved; Eligibility Ruling Cleared

DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP)—Chances for a split season in the Texas league next year were reduced materially today when the club owners at their annual meeting, decided that hereafter six members would have to vote for a split season, before the schedule could be divided. The vote must occur not less than five days before the end of the first half of the season, according to the new rule. The magnates also decided that the season could not be split thereafter by any kind of a vote if the league, at either of its regular meetings votes against a division.

The owners also cleared up a muddle as to eligibility by deciding that hereafter, no player may appear in the league play-off, in the event of a split season, unless he is eligible to play in the Dixie Series.

Want Another Acting Head.

Acting President William B. Ruggles of Dallas recommended, in his annual report, that the meeting select another acting head with a view to making the selection permanent should the condition of President J. Doak Roberts not permit him to return to active duty next year.

Alvin Gardner, former head of the Wichita Falls club, and prominently mentioned for the presidency should Roberts resign, was allowed to "sit in" the meeting, although the meeting earlier in the day had formally acknowledged the transfer of Gardner's stock in the Wichita Falls club to W. E. Huff, who represented his club in the session.

The magnates also voted to permit the Waco and Houston clubs to play in Brenham two days during the annual Mayfest celebration there. It is understood that these games will supplant the two-game series between A. and M. and Southwestern, which has been a fixture on the Mayfest program.

The meeting today was brief, the club representatives postponing consideration of many important questions until tomorrow to enable them to attend the Southern Methodist University-Mississippi football game this afternoon.

are written among the immortals of Texas Tech grid history today as a result of their brilliant play against the highly-touted Frogs.

Durham, playing roving center for the Matadors, was all over the field yesterday, smearing plays and taking a hand in the majority of the plays that came at Tech's line. Vinzant proved another thorn in the side of the T. C. U. backs, sifting through the Frog interference to throw the ball carrier for losses time after time. Big Sidney Knowles, Matador co-captain, rose to the occasion after he was sent into the lineup and proved a tower of defense.

Walker Injured

After Ransone Walker had been removed from the game with a broken arm, Harold Crites stepped into the shoes of the Tech backfield ace and gave the Tech supporters reason to believe that here is a ball toter, who is destined to make a lasting name for himself on the college gridiron before his day has passed. Charlie Wooldridge, sent in to replace Hodges at fullback for Tech in the second half, assumed the leading role in Tech's running attack by his driving thrusts at the strong Frog line.

Grubbs and Leland, coupled with Fullback Green, gave the Horned Frogs two counters in the first quarter and the conference eleven appeared headed for a run-away, but the Bull Fighters stiffened in the second and third quarters to repulse the Purple threat in all departments. After Grubbs and Leland had been removed, a second-string T. C. U. backfield was practically helpless in its attempt to penetrate the charging Matador line.

Moore Replaces Leland

Football Moore, diminutive Frog halfback who went in for the fleet Leland, scampered around Tech's flanks for occasional gains, but the unsustained drive was unequal to the occasion.

Leland counted the visitors' final touchdown in the last quarter and ran his scoring for the day to 19 points, having gone across in the first quarter on the receiving end of a pass from Grubbs. The fleet cinder star utilized his speed as no other has done on the Tech field leaving his interference and completely out-running his opponent secondary.

Safety Scored

T. C. U.'s final two points came in the closing minutes of the game with the Matador line showing marked signs of fatigue. Brother had recovered his first attempt to kick, which was blocked, and his second rolled across Tech's goal line, where he covered the ball to give the Frogs a safety.

Howard Grubbs carried the lion's share of the Frogs' first drive down the field in the first quarter. Jack Durham spilled Leland for a 3-yard loss on the first play of the game but, on the next, Grubbs shot through right tackle for 15 yards, Leland fumbled but recovered for a 10-yard loss. Two incomplete passes lost 10 more for the Frogs and Hinton was forced to kick.

Fails To Gain

The Matadors failed to gain on their first two running plays of the game and Walker kicked. From their own 31-yard line, the Purple gridders started their drive. Grubbs went off tackle for 19 yards and Green added 6. Leland was stopped at tackle for no gain but on the next play, Grubbs broke through tackle and ran 35 yards before he was downed, out of bounds. Leland made one at tackle and Green went through for 8 more. Leland made first down on Tech's two-yard line. Green went over the touchdown on his second attempt at the center of the line and then kicked goal for extra point.

Grubbs and Leland gave the Frogs their second touchdown few minutes later. Dewitt kicked off to Brumbelow and the Frog captain plunged back to his own 40 yard line. A pass to, Grubbs to Roberson was incomplete. Grubbs crashed over left tackle for 10 yards, placing the ball on the 50-yard line.

Leland Scores

From this point, Grubbs tossed a 10-yard pass to Leland, who raced 40 yards down the sideline for the touchdown. Green added the extra point.

T. C. U. threatened again in the opening quarter but lost the ball on the 2-yard line when Grubbs fumbled and Hodges dived over the line to recover the ball for Tech.

Walker kicked out of danger in the opening of the second quarter and the Frogs were penalized 5 yards on the play for clipping. Football Moore was injected into the lineup at this point, replacing Leland at left halfback and the Toreadors were forced to kick. Cappleman was downed on his own 14-yard line and on the first down Brothers kicked out to Moore on Tech's 49 yard line. Again the Frogs were forced to kick and on the return Brothers got off a beautiful 75-yard boot, rolling the ball out of bounds on T. C. U.'s 5-yard line.

Attack Repulsed

Woolwine's kick went out but for 5 yards and Brothers made the catch on the Frogs' 28-yard line. This presented the Matadors with a golden opportunity, but the Tech aerial attack was repulsed. Payne was smothered when he leaped for Co

Intersectional Battle At Dallas Results In Runaway For Ponies; Visitors Lack Punch

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP)—Using second and third string players most of the way, Southern Methodist University splattered a weak Mississippi University eleven all over Fair Park Stadium here today, 52 to 0.

It could have been declared "no contest" almost any time after the Mustangs scored their first touchdown in the early minutes of the game. There is no telling what the final count would have been had Coach Ray Morrison withdrawn his first team in the second period, or until the last batch of substitutes on the Southern Methodist bench had been injected in the last quarter, did "Ole Miss" display an appreciable punch. Even then they could not score.

Mason Comes Through

Although he was yanked after he had scored his third touchdown on a 90-yard sprint through the entire Mississippi team early in the third quarter, Weldon "Speedy" Mason, Mustang half, left no doubt in the minds of some 8,000 spectators that he is one of the Southwest conference's greatest backs. The shifty sophomore star battered Mississippi into submission almost single-handed before he was recalled. He was the mainspring of a Mustang team that is destined to make a serious bid for a conference title.

The prediction that the Methodists had more than their early games indicated was well borne out by the deadly efficient manner in which the Red and Blue machine rolled into Ole Miss today. From the start it functioned with perfect rhythm, its varied assortment of plays bewildering the boys from the deep south and its defense smashing everything thrown against it. With the exception of a pair of nice gains by Captain Burnett on sweeping end runs in the opening period, the Mississippi offense almost was smothered by the Big Pony forwards.

Long Runs Made

Frequent long, sensational runs by the fleet Mustang backs brought the crowds to their feet. Mason broke the visitors' spirit in the first two minutes of play when he broke off tackle, rounded the secondary and dashed 60 yards before dumped by the safety man on the 26 yard stripe. A short pass over the line of scrimmage, Mason to Koontz, carried to the six-yard line, and Mason rocketed over. He place-kicked a perfect goal the first of three for the day.

Bruce Kattman, another of the Ponies' sophomore scintillants, paved the way for a second touchdown just before the quarter ended when he circled Mississippi's left wing and raced 51 yards to the six yard stripe. Mason took two stabs at the Mississippi line, the second going over. Almost every play run by the Mustangs in this quarter was a fake of some kind. Coach Homer Hazel's boys were totally unable to fathom the Methodists' trickly formations, especially the frequent flat passes.

Ponies Flash

Early in the second period the Ponies gave probably their best exhibition of sustained drive. Starting from their own 22-yard line, they went across the visitors' goal in four successive first downs. Kattman took it over from the one-yard line after he had covered 27 yards on a lateral pass from Mason. Included in the drive was a pass, Mason to Long, that picked up 20 steps and a pretty 13-yard push by the same Mason off tackle.

The ball barely had been put back in play when Mason, so to speak, was too good for the ball game and Coach Morrison decided to save him for the Texas Longhorns next week. Wilcox sent a beautiful spiral to "Speedy," who fumbled it, recovered on his own 10-yard marker, and then got a 90-yard run out of his team. He shook off three Mississippi tacklers at the start, fought his way over to the sideline and, aided by perfect interference, ran right on up the field, unmolested for the last 40 yards.

From there on the Mustang reserves took things over and gave the Mississippians a sound licking in their own right. They scored another touchdown before the half, tacked on another in the third period and two more in the fourth.

"Ole Miss" Pitiful

Mississippi for the most part was pitiful on offense. During the first half the visitors made only three first downs and never in S. M. U. territory. Late in the game, with Brown and Woodruff carrying the ball, they penetrated once to the Mustang's five-yard line and again to the 16-yard mark but each time the Pony reserves rose up to smear them and avert a score. Ole Miss's passing attack was a failure against the alert Mustang backs.

Two S. M. U. first string linesmen, Gammon and Skeeters, were injured on the same play in the first quarter and had to retire from the game, but it was announced neither injury was serious.

For those who like statistics, the Mustang chalked up 22 first downs, 12 of them by the first team before it was relieved. Mississippi made 10. The line-ups:

Huskers Battle Missouri Tigers To 7-7 Deadlock

Nebraska Matches Missouri's Aerial Attack In Strong Comeback; 22,000 Witness Battle

MEMORIAL STADIUM, COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 26. (AP)—Coach Dana X. Bible's Nebraska Cornhuskers matched the Missouri Tiger aerial attack here today, and staged a sensational late rally to gain a 7 to 7 tie score with the Missourians in their feature Big Six conference football game, witnessed by a crowd officially estimated at 22,000.

Missouri scored first, early in the second quarter, with Coach Gwynn Henry's pet tower pass play used to place the ball in scoring range. Nebraska's touchdown resulted from a 15-yard pass from Clair Sloan, mainstay and punter of the Husker eleven, to Hokuf, who tumbled across the goal line in the arms of several Tiger tacklers.

Longhorns

fall on it for a touchdown. This time Texas missed the extra point, Craig fumbling the ball.

Coach Littlefield was saving Shelley for the Mustangs but he let Dexter in for a few minutes at the start of the third quarter and the Austin boy reeled off his long run. He missed the kick for extra point.

Beular intercepted a pass and returned it deep into Rice territory to pave the way for the final score. The same reverse play on which Rees scored worked again and Weaver took the ball to the 21 yard line from where Beular carried it across in two stabs at the line. Perkins missed goal.

Kennedy Stars

Rice never got within 35 yards of the Texas goal but the center jabs and tackle thrusts of Kenedy and Ralph Jones, especially the former, in the first half caused the Steers considerable worry. The Owls actually made one more first down than the Longhorns during the first two periods and registered six during the game to the Steers 10.

Even against the Longhorns' great pass defense, the feathered flock would have made several nice gains through the air if the receivers had not muffed perfect flips time and again.

Frank Power, helmetless Rice end, was a thorn in the flesh of the Longhorn ball luggers and "Red" Mims played a bang-up game at tackle.

Littlefield did not use Meadows, quarterback, Elkins, halfback, Emerson, tackle, Gatoura, guard or Vining, end, all of whom were suffering from minor injuries. Curtiss, Beatty and the roving MacBurnett were towers of strength in the Longhorn forward wall while Doell did at good job of alternating with Captain Gordy Brown at tackle.

By virtue of today's defensive work, Texas will enter November without having had their goal line crossed.

The Nut Cracker

By Joe Williams

Joe Williams

After the defeat of the Cubs this year, there has been quite a bit of talk about American league superiority. Maybe there's something in it, after all, with Lew Fonseca, National league in hitting for the season.

Looking around at a few of the crowds football has been drawing, Tex Rickard was in the wrong business.

However, to judge by the number of bottles found under the stands after the games, there aren't so many "nice people" at the football contests as Tex used to entertain at his fights.

Once there was a spectator so well versed in the new rules that he not only when to applaud, but could answer his wife's questions.

Somebody said the other day that there isn't enough demand as yet to make the dirigible business pay in this country. He must have forgotten that there are football scouts.

Midland college in Nebraska has a harmonica band. Fans come to the games prepared to suffer if not to die for dear old Midland.

Sidelights On Frogs and Tech

The Arena Ritas in their brilliant scarlet and black uniforms gave the 6,000 Tech-T. C. U. football fans a real demonstration of feminine coordination in drills between halves. After marching in perfect precision up and down the field in single and double file formations, Tech's girl pep squad formed an impressive T near the 50 yard stripe.

* * *

An enebriated spectator, after watching the Arena Ritas perform for the length of the field, caught the spirit of the occasion and rushed on the field to follow the antics of the pepsters. But his enthusiasm was short lived, for a flock of freshmen escorted him from the turf and placed him in the hands of a policeman. Weighing about 220 pounds, the man gave the green-capped youths a hard struggle.

* * *

Los Gauchos, Tech boys pep squad, dressed in scarlet and white, fell to the ground in adroitly planned positions and spelled "Tech," after departure of the Arena Ritas.

* * *

Believe it or not—Buddy Brothers, Matador half, caught his own punt. One of his boots went haywire when blocked by Eury, Frog end, in the final stanza, but Buddy dashed about six feet to his left and caught the oval before it hit the ground, and then gained about six yards.

* * *

Brothers' performances upon several occasions attracted attention because of unusualness. Twice he tackled receivers, who made only slight gains, after he had sent off good punts. He electrified the stands by his remarkable booting. Once he kicked from Tech's own 25-yard line to a point out of bounds on T. C. U.'s five-yard line.

* * *

The Frogs, who know a real end when they see one, a knowledge gained by association with Rags Matthews were no doubt made to respect Dennis Vinzant, Matador wingman, who smeared many Frog plays for losses. Vinzant hit them from behind, in front, on top and beneath. On several occasions he made the fleet "Football" Moore appear ineffectual.

* * *

Lettermen of Matador squads of other years saw the game from a row of seats in front of the grand stand. There were 24 scarlet clad visitors to the alma mater.

* * *

Crites, lanky and speedy Tech back, made the first down for the Matadors on a 16-yard end run in the second quarter.

* * *

"Chubby" DeWitt, highly respected co-captain of Matadors, playing his last year, obviously did not want to leave the field when Nixon was sent in to substitute in the fourth quarter. A graduate of Central High school, Fort Worth, DeWitt had expressed that he wanted to defeat the squad from his home city before his last year had ended.

Louisianans Take Breaks To Down Waco Eleven

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 26. (AP)—Centenary upset the dope bucket here today with a mighty kick that sent them out in front of Baylor University of Waco, on the long end of a 27 to 12 victory.

The Texans who were topheavy favorites to win were unable to get their aerial attack working except in the third period when they scored two touchdowns by that route. Centenary, fighting a strong defensive game outplayed the Texans, making ten first downs to Baylor's seven, but the local eleven got the breaks and took advantage of them.

An intercepted forward pass paved the way for the first touchdown, recovery of a fumble scored the second and in the last quarter a forward pass for 12 yards, Hanna to Finch, who scampered 12 yards for the touchdown and an intercepted Baylor pass in the last minute and a half of play added the two last two touchdowns, Hanna kicked both goals in the final period.

Centenary pushed to Baylor's 12 yard line in the opening minutes of play, only to be held for downs. Baylor punted out and the Gents started a drive down the field that ended when Welsh went off tackle for the touchdown.

Jake Hanna, a speedy Centenary back, tacked on another touchdown when he recovered a ball fumbled by Jake Wilson and romped 25 yards across the Bear's goal line.

Bears Come Back

Baylor came back strong in the second half and gained ground in a punting duel. Starting from midfield, two passes from Wilson to Potter carried the ball across. Shortly after a second touchdown was scored by Lewter after a drive from the 22-yard line. Both extra points were missed, giving Centenary a one-point lead.

A pass, Hanna to Finch, scored Centenary's third touchdown from the 22-yard line.

In the closing minutes Baylor opened up a desperate aerial attack that threatened several times to score. In the last 60 seconds of play Finch intercepted one of Wilson's heaves and ran 30 yards for a touchdown. Hanna kicked three out of four extra points.

Score by periods:

Centenary	7	6	0	14	—27
Baylor	0	0	12	0	—12

Class B Chase In District Two Narrowed To 3

Post, Lamesa And Slaton Remain Undefeated In Hot Race For Regional Championship

The race for the regional championship of class B teams in district two was narrowed down to three outstanding contenders last week as a result of hostilities scattered over a wide sector.

Post Antelopes, 1928 champions, Lamesa Tornadoes and Slaton Tigers emerged from important battles with the long end of the scores and from here on out the chase will center around the progress of these powerful class B teams.

Post made an impressive showing in defeating Paducah, 82 to 0, Friday but at the same time, the Golden Tornadoes from Lamesa ran roughshod over the Carlsbad, N. M., eleven to win by the commanding score of 77 to 12. Carlsbad had previously gone down before the Slaton Tigers, 20 to 0.

Slaton met a crippled Spur aggregation Friday afternoon and came through with flying colors, winning 30 to 12. The Bulldogs entered the battle on even terms with Coach Wright's Bengals, but gave way to the slashing attack staged by the Cannons and Cecil Austin.

Ralls Jackrabbits boast a splended record to date, but the injury jinx, which recently hit the Rabbit camp, will likely put Coach Lovvorn's boys out of the running.

Broncos Complete Three Long Passes Against Tech Frosh To Cop Hard Fought Tilt At Roswell

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

ROSWELL, N. M., Oct. 26.—Presenting a line that completely smothered the running and plunging attack of New Mexico Military Institute but a secondary defense with a weakness against long passes, the freshmen team from Texas Tech today outgained and outfought the N. M. M. I. Broncs, lost, 20 to 6.

The Broncos scored all three touchdowns as the result of long passes. In the second quarter the Broncos tallied, taking the air after the Tech line completely smothered their rabbit backs, Corn and A. Foley. M. Foley threw a perfect pass 62 yards, over the goal line to Graham for the first score. The half ended 7-0 in favor of the Broncos.

In the third quarter M. Foley passed from midfield 40 yards to Hill, Institute end, who ran to the 5 yard line. From there Corn broke through center for a touchdown. The other Institute score came a few minutes later when A. Foley on punt formation shot a perfect pass over the goal for 47 yards to Graham, Institute end. Then started Tech's comeback. The freshmen registered 10 first downs in the second half to two for the Institute and otherwise outplayed the home team.

A pass for 20 yards coupled with near running by Smith and Gilmore gave a touchdown in the fourth quarter and the Freshmen threatened twice again in the closing period. A desperate goal line defense of the Broncos saving the game.

Smith, Moffett Dosse and Gilmore, in the backfield along with the two ends, Teal and Crabtree, and the tackles, McWilliams and Murphy were the Tech stars.

The margin of play in the second half was decidedly in favor of the Freshmen who showed vast potential power and the advantage of Captain Rhodes Ingerton's excellent defensive coaching.

pleman's first pass. Electing to carry the ball, Hodges made 4 yards at right tackle and Brothers added another at the same spot. Crites hurled another long pass but Adkins batted it down and the ball went over.

The remainder of the first half saw the Frogs trying desperately to get their scoring machine in action, but they were met by a determined Matador defense.

Tech fought the Frogs on even terms through most of the third quarter, with the result that Coach Schmidt sent Leland back into the lineup at the close of the period. The Matadors not only stopped the visitors' running attack but prevented any damage from the overhead route. Sain's heaves were, for the most part, long and wild.

T. C. U. passed over the goal line at the beginning of the fourth quarter, but the heave was grounded. Taking the ball on their own 20-yard line, the Matadors started off on a march that had all the earmarks of serious business. Wooldridge made 7 yards at tackle and added six more on the next play for a first down. Brothers took 3 yards at the line and Waller was stopped for no gain at right end. Wooldridge came through with another 7-yard gain through tackle, but Tech was forced to kick. Brothers' punt was blocked by Roberson, and the Frogs recovered the ball on Tech's 24-yard line.

A pass, Hinton to Roberson, placed the ball on Tech's 10-yard line. Green was stopped at the line but on the next play, Leland raced around the Matadors' right flank to cross Tech's goal line untouched. Hinton's kick from placement hit the left upright and the point was missed.

Tech held the visiting gridmen for downs a few minutes later and then followed the safety that has been described above.

Princeton Ties Navy Crew, 13-13

Long Runs And Intercepted Passes Feature Spectacular Battle On Princeton Gridiron

PRINCETON, Oct. 26. (AP)—A wild game in which long runs and intercepted passes brought the spectators to their feet throughout, Navy and Princeton played a 13 to 13 tie.

Spring ran 60 yards for the Navy's first touchdown. Hughes ran almost as far for the second and Bennett's dash of more than 50 yards put the Tiger in position to score its first. The last Princeton counter was on a pass of 27 yards.

Texas Harriers Defeat Rice Crew

AUSTIN, Oct. 26. (AP)—Although Captain Willis of Rice paced the field, the Owls were defeated 26 to 31 by the University of Texas Harriers in their cross country race here today.

Both teams were slowed up considerably over the 3.8 mile course by the mud. The winning time was 19 minutes, 20.6 seconds.

The Harriers finished as follows:

Willis, Rice, first; Storm, Texas, second; Schiller, Texas, third; Cole Texas, fourth; Jacobe, Rice, fifth; Kaplan, Rice, sixth; Arnold, Rice, seventh; Williams, Texas, eighth; Meredith, Texas, ninth; McKinnon, Texas, tenth; Duncan, Texas, eleventh; Wilmoth, Rice, twelfth; Wortham and Brunett, Rice tied for thirteenth.

Captains 1929

In spite of the loss by graduation of Paul Scull, all-American back in 1928, Coach Lou Young expects his eleven to be one of the strong teams of the east. From end to end the Penn forward wall averages 185 pounds, while the entire team averages close to the 180-pound mark. Outstanding on the Penn schedule this year is the intersectional contest in Philadelphia with the University of California, marking the first eastern trip of the Golden Bears.

Most Spectacular Upset Of Eastern Gridiron Campaign Occurs When Cadets Are Beaten

YALE BOWL, NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 26. (AP)—The lightning struck in Yale Bowl today—but not where it was expected.

Instead of the red headed terror from Louisiana, Red Cagle, it was the black haired, bare legged boy from New Haven, little Albie Booth, who ran wild as Yale conquered Army, 21 to 13, in the most spectacular upset of the eastern gridiron campaign.

Sam Houston In Win Over A.C.C.

ABILENE, Oct. 26. (AP)—Dashing Doyle Coe, all-conference half back of the Sam Houston Teachers, led his team to a 13 to 12 victory here today over Abilene Christian College, in the opening confefence game for the Huntsville eleven.

Off to a six point lead when they flashed down the field from their own forty yard line the first time they got the ball, the Christians saw their advantage tumble during the second quarter when a passing and running game brought the visitors all their scores.

Christian's final touchdown came in the last quarter but the failure to make the extra point spelled their defeat. Most of the Sam Houston offensive revolved around Coe.

U.S. Army Band To Play Two Concerts At Palace Today

Second Leader Of Band Exemplifies Life Of Musician

Men Have More To Do Than Play Instruments

LIFE OF musicians who serve in regimental bands of the army is full of more things that the playing of their instruments during war times.

Army bandmen do not carry rifles and enter front line action while battles are raging. If they did their lot would perhaps give them a more even break. As stretcher bearers, working immediately behind the lines, bandmen perform multitudinous acts of mercy to wounded soldiers.

Play Here Today

The experience of Second Leader Thomas F. Darcy, of the U. S. Army band, which will appear in Lubbock in two concerts at the Palace theater Sunday afternoon and night, exemplifies the diversity of activities in which a bandsman may be called upon to engage.

Darcy, son of an Army bandleader, went to France as conductor of the Eighteenth Infantry band of the First Division at the age of 22. The band always moved up to the line with its regiment and, when the firing zone was reached, laid down its instruments and went into action as stretcher bearers. Young Darcy worked heroically at his task on eight fronts until a piece of shrapnel brought him down. He lay for several weeks in a hospital, his right arm—his "conducting arm"—almost severed where the shell had torn through the bicep. There was talk of sending him back to the States to convalesce.

One morning patient Darcy was gone. He had run away from the hospital and rejoined his regiment.

Toured Europe

Early in 1918, just after having been in the lines Darcy was ordered to take his band on a tour of Europe with the Cuards Republique band of France, the Carribinera band of Rome and the Massed Bands of Great Britain, as "representative band leader o fthe U. S. Army."

At an allied concert at a theater in Rome for the benefit of the Italian Red Cross, he was presented to the Queen of Italy. The leaders of the various bands lined up, Darcy being youngest, taking his place at the end of the line.

In some fashion the men marched past the Queen's box, so that when she emerged Darcy was at the head of the line. He had expected to take his cue as to the procedure in meeting royalty from the men in front of him, and was non-plused.

She'll see I'm an American and may forgive my lack of knowledge in such matters, so I'll just greet her American style, Darcy said describing the incident later.

Just Shook Hands

So I didn't try to kneel or kiss her hand or anything. I just shook hands.

Fortunately the Queen spoke English and took my action in good part. So we conversed together for about ten minutes, and I found Her Majesty most charming.

Later, at a special concert at the Palace, the bandleaders were presented with silver cigarette cases by the Queen as a token of her appreciation.

Darcy wears the French decoration "La Pourgere" and as a result of his stretcher experience has a Citation for Gallantry in Action and a spirit of self-sacrifice, and treasures the cigarette case as a memento of his encounter with the Queen.

Mr. Darcy will be seen in the local concerts both in the role of trumpet soloist and leader Captain Stannard surrendering the baton to his youthful assistant for several numbers on each program.

Critics everywhere have applauded Darcy as a soloist, as well as for his success in leading the famous band organization. His clarity of tone, graceful facility, wide range and musicianship, coupled with his charm of manner having won him hosts of admirers.

"Pershing's Own" Army Band To Be Heard Here Today

The official U. S. Army band, originally started by General John J. Pershing, is pictured above as it sailed on the Leviathan for a concert tour of Europe. Under the leadership of Captain W. J. Stannard, the band will appear in two concerts at the Palace Theatre here this afternoon and tonight.

George K. Arthur And Karl Dane To Start Here Today

Comedy Pair Are Starred in Late Lyric Film

George K. Arthur and Karl Dane become world travelers in their new funmaker for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, "China Bound," which comes today to the Lyric Theatre. They are on their way to the Far East, Karl as a stoker of a liner, and George as an unwilling but not unwilling stowaway.

Both their sweethearts are on the liner, but so is Angus McAlister, a Scotch antique dealer who is taking the daughter, Joan Josephine Dunn, and her maid Sarah, played by Polly Moran, with him on a buying trip to China—and away from George, to whose attentions he objects.

The laugh riot lands the party at a Chinese port just as bandits raid the town and loot the local garrison. But Karl and George are garbed as Chinese and the bandits think they belong to their gang, some of whom arrest Josephine and Polly. Angus too gets pinched with other American tourists, but Karl is an expert with the shovel and dig them all out of their prison as George too, plays the hero, winning at last the approval of Angus, his ex-boss.

Charles F. (Chuck) Reisner, who directed the funmakers in "Brotherly Love," has overlooked no opportunity in the new film and "China Bound" is consequently an eloquent proof of his genius for comedy. The story is an original from the pens of Sylvia Thalberg and Frank Butler.

Palace To Have New R. C. A. Unit Installed Soon

Opening May Be On Saturday, November 2

Within another week the Palace theater will have installed the very latest R. C. A. perfected talking picture equipment, according to announcement from Cliff C. Lindsey, of the Lindsey Theater Enterprises.

The equipment is expected to arrive here Monday and installation will start immediately. The new machines and other paraphernalia were made by the General Electric company and are identical to that used in all of the Keith-Albee theaters throughout the country and will make the Palace up to the same standard of perfection established at the Lindsey.

Open Nov. 2

"If possible, Lindsey remarked, we will open the Palace next Saturday night, Nov. 2 with a midnight performance of the Show Boat, if we can secure that great production for this date."

With the new equipment the Palace will offer the very latest releases, first run, all-talky productions of such companies as Paramount, First R. C. A. and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Ladies consider it modest to see with the naked eye and out of style to bear with the naked ear.

"Marianne" Will Be Offered This Week At Lindsey

Six New Song Hits In New Film Of Marion Davies

Six new song hits from the pens and pianos of popular composers make their debut from the talking screen in "Marianne," which is slated for an opening Thursday at the Lindsey Theatre.

In this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer musical talkie, in which Marion Davies is starred, tuneful melodies play an important part, having been written as an integral part of the dialogue and plot motivation.

These numbers are "Just You—Just Me" — the love ballad — and "Hang On to Me," written by Greer and Klages; "Sugar" and "Oo La La La La!" by Turk and Ahlert who also wrote the theme song "Marianne," and "Blondy," by Brown and Freed.

Remembered For Hits

Greer and Klages will be remembered for "Once In A Lifetime," "Flapperette" and other musical comedy song hits. Turk and Ahlert wrote "Mean to Me" and "I'll Get By" among their successes and Brown and Freed were responsible for "Doll Dance," "Wedding of the Painted Doll," "You Were Meant for Me," and the recent song hit, "Singing in the Rain."

Miss Davies sings "Just You—Just Me" in French as well as English in the picture and Lawrence Gray, who plays opposite her, voices it as his love song in the tender moments of the picture, "Marianne," also is sung by Miss Davies and Grant Cliff (Ukelele Ike) Edwards sings "Sugar" and "Hang On to Me," and "Blondy" and "Oo La La La La," is used to advantage in novelty scenes.

Her First Talkie

The picturization of the romantic comedy-drama is Miss Davies' first talking feature and marks a new achievement in the production of sound films, Robert Z. Leonard, who directed the feature, handled his story with a rare appreciation of the value of the musical interpolations, each song number fitting perfectly into the dialogue and action and adding dramatic emphasis to the spoken lines.

Included in the supporting cast of the picture are Benny Rubin, Robert Edeson, George Baxter, Emil Chautard, Scott Kolk, and others of note.

Miss Davies made her song-and-dance debut in the big "Hollywood Revue" but "Marianne" is the first feature talkie in which she has appeared.

In the dialog of "So Long Letlie," the stage play that now becomes a talkie, Patsy Ruth Miller offers this side light on mere man:

"Men are peculiar," Miss Miller admits. "They spend their courting days telling girls how unworthy they are and live their married life in a manner to prove it."

"Gold Diggers of Broadway" must now be content with midget money instead of giant nuggets.

"One Stolen Night" has been returned to a thousand screens and no questions asked.

For "Double Feature Day"

"What Happened to Father."
"Mother Knew Best."

Mystery Picture Starts Today At Lindsey Theater

The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu Is Thriller

Excitement, fast action, suspense—these are the thrilling elements which provide superb entertainment for those who see Paramount's latest gripping, all-talking mystery drama, "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu," which will open a 4-day run at the Lindsey theater today.

The famous Sax Rohme, story has thrilled millions all over the world in story form and Paramount has incorporated all the tense, emotion-arousing incidents into a never-to-be-forgotten picture with Warner Oland as the cunning, diabolical villain, Dr. Fu Manchu. Rovland V. Lee, the man who made "The Wolf of Wall Street," has utilized all the absorbing situations of Sax Rohmer to heighten the awfully moving effects.

Scenes at the opening of "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu" depict the defense of the British Legation in Pekin against the rebelling boxers. The action scenes are remarkable. With this background, the story follows the vengeful career of the fanatical Dr. Manchu, his wily machinations which bring a beautiful girl into his clutches and his attempts to force her to work his will against his enemies.

In addition to Warner Oland, the cast includes Jean Arthur, O. P. Heggie, Neil Hamilton and William Austin. The actors were picked from Hollywood's best with special reference to particular fitness for the parts. Jean Arthur and Hamilton carry the romantic leads.

'Hardboiled Rose' Feature Film At Palace This Week

Myrna Loy Starred In Picture To Start Monday

Myrna Loy, ruddy haired, green eyed, slim figured young film player, heads the all-star cast of the Warner Bros. production, "Hardboiled Rose," which comes to the Palace theater on Monday for a three days' engagement. Miss Loy started her public career as a dancer in film prologues staged in Los Angeles picture theaters. Her grace and beauty soon brought her a contract to act in films and she is now one of Warner Bros'. featured players.

Other members of the all-star cast are William Collier, jr., Gladys Brockwell, Edward Martindel, Lucy Beaumont, John Miljan, Ralph Emerson and Otto Hoffman. F. Harmon Weight directed from a story by Melville Crosman which Robert Lord adapted to screen purposes.

"Hardboiled Rose" tells a dramatic story of the aritocracy of New Orleans and of a tragedy brought to one of the city's "first families" by the menacing shadow of a roulette wheel. Myrna's father, in the film, steals bonds from his bank to pay a big gambling debt, and then shoots himself. The daughter's love takes the guilt of the bond stealing upon himself to shield the suicide's honor in the eyes of the stricken widow. It is to save her lover that the gentle, convent bred girl transforms herself into the hardboiled girl of the title and goes to the gambling house to recover the stolen bonds. She is plunged into a series of colorful and dramatic incidents that keep the interest at fever heat until the very end.

Lindsey To Build New Playhouse In City During 1930

Theater To Have Vaudeville On Completion

A new and ultra-modern theater patterned after the famous Spanish atmospheric Aztec theater, in San Antonio, to seat not less than 1,500 people and designed for the presentation of both talking pictures and big time vaudeville, is proposed for construction in Lubbock within the next nine or ten months, according to Cliff C. Lindsey, of the Lindsey Theater Enterprises.

Location of the new combination picture and vaudeville theater has not yet been decided, Mr. Lindsey announces, but options on several suitable sites have been secured and architects are now busy drawing the plans for it.

A deal for Interstate Vaudeville will probably be made in the near future, Lindsey stated, and Lubbock will then be getting the same shows as Fort Worth, Dallas and other metropolitan centers.

With an eye on the Union Jack, Warner Bros. have planned "Show of Shows" to display more stars than the American flag.

Some men prefer silent pictures because they can watch a woman rave and still not hear a word she says.

Congregational And Christian Churches Are Merged

Convention Votes To Unite Forces For Christianity

Offer Of Congregationalists Accepted By The General Convention In Ohio; General Council Formed

(By Associated Press)

PIQUA, Ohio, Oct. 26.—Merger of the National council of Congregational Churches and the general convention of the Christian church bringing 1,800,000 members of the two denominations into a single organization was effected here today when delegates of the Christian church unanimously approved.

The merger was offered by Congregationalists at their national meeting in Detroit last May, it was adopted with only minor changes.

The action was regarded by many clergymen as a first great step toward Christian unity. The combined denominations will be known as the General Council of Congregational and Christian churches and an invitation will be extended to other evangelical bodies to join. The merger permits members of both denominations to retain their respective beliefs and to develop their own forms of expression, but the general council will perform on behalf of both churches the functions formerly exercised by both governing bodies.

The union will be completed as soon as necessary legal steps can be taken. It is the plan during the first four years to have the moderator of the Congregationals and the President of the Christian convention serve co-ordinately in directing the affairs.

The Rev. Frank G. Coffin of Columbus is president of the general convention, and Fred B. Smith, of White Plains, N. Y., moderator of the national council. The Christians originally were scheduled to elect officers for the new year today but the election was postponed in anticipation of the favorable vote on the merger.

The heads of both denominations were present when the vote was taken. The balloting followed a report from a commission of the general convention recommending approval of the consolidation.

The Christian church, as distinguished from the disciples of Christ is a smaller body, with 1,000 congregations and 112,000 members.

Lamesa's Civic Groups Are Busy

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LAMESA, Oct. 26.—Efficient organizations make the services and programs of work for Lamesa as shown by a recent check made here by the United States Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce, the Lamesa Luncheon Club, the Lions Club form the Business Men's Organizations, while, the Women's Study Club, the Delphian Club, the Mother's Club and the Parent Teachers Association constitute the women's organization. The check reveals that all these organizations hav definitely outlined programs of work and are functioning toward the completion of such programs. On every hand one can see in Lamesa results of some civic activity it is pointed out by the representative.

W. D. Arnett is president of the local Chamber of Commerce. V. Z. Rogers is president of the Lamesa Luncheon Club. T. S. Christopher, is president of the Lions Club. Mrs. J. T. Teal is president of the Women's Study Club. Mrs. John Cason is of the Delphian Club; Mrs. E. T. Bailey is [illegible] Mothers Club and Mrs. Pat Manning is president of the Parent-Teachers Association.

GRANTSVILE, Mo., Oct. 26. (AP)—Lieut. John F. Bowman, 26, a United States army flier, was instantly killed two miles east of here this afternoon, in an airplane accident. His plane crashed and burned. His body was found nearby, tangled in the straps of an unopened parachute.

Donn Byrne's Last Novel, "Field of Honor" Eptomizes His Life Work; Is Story Of The Napoleonic Struggles

"Field Of Honor" by Donn Byrne, author of "Messer Marco Polo," "The Wind Bloweth," etc. Illustrated. Century.

* * *

"FIELD OF HONOR" is the last novel that Donn Byrne ever wrote. In it he has epitomized, as it were, his life work, for the many strong and abiding qualities which were in his earlier books here combine to make a story as brave and swinging as "The Wind Bloweth," as radiant as "Messer Marco Polo," and as full of poetry and heart-wringing tenderness as "O'Malley" and "Blind Raftery."

It is a novel of the Napoleonic wars. Two massive figures stand out above the rest, two bitter foes—Napoleon and Castlereagh, British minister for war. To Castlereagh, sitting in London and spinning his cunning web of soldiers, spies and money around the head of Bonaparte, comes young Garrett Dillon, an Irishman bent on serving his country. He has left behind him at Derrymore on Lough Neagh his loved wife, for she hates the bloody Castlereagh with an almost perfect hatred, and will have none of her husband while he is in the service of that lord.

Tells Two Stories

"Field Of Honor" tells two stories in one. It tells the love story of Garrett Dillon and the beautiful, untamed Jocelyn who is his wife. In its wider scope it is an epic of the overthrow of chivalry with the vanquishing of Napoleon. Sea battles, land battles; intrigues of ministers London balls; the fallen emperor pacing St. Helena; still, heaven-sent evenings of magic Irish summer on Lough Neagh—a hundred vivid scenes flash by one another with the fiery richness of style that is Donn Byrne's and no one's else.

For a writer as widely read and admired as was Donn Byrne, astonishingly little was written about him during his lifetime. Although he will write no more—"Field Of Honor" was completed only a brief while before his death—the name of Donn Byrne will be remembered as long as his hauntingly beautiful and poignant tales remain in the library of modern prose classics.

Macauley Has Estimate

Thurston Macauley, who wrote in The Bookman the first estimate and appreciattion of Donn Byrne to be published here since his death, recently went to Ireland to obtain material for this complete biographical and critical study of that writer. He spent much time at Coolmain Castle, where Donn Byrne spent the last part of his life. He also roamed up and down the green land, visiting many places familiar to Donn Byrne's readers, places that he had depicted so glowingly in his books.

Mr. Macauley, in revealing Donn Byrne the man as well as Donn Byrne the writer, will bring to his countless admirers a new understanding of him and will introduce him to others to whom glimpses of this Irish bard's artistry had previously been denied. The book includes a complete bibliography of everything of Donn Byrne's that has been published, from his earliest stories and poems.

STUDYING VARIETIES

Farmers Of Howard County Studying Cotton Types

BIG SPRING, Oct. 26 (Special)—A farmers meeting will be held here Saturday, Nov. 2, by the members of the Coopertive Gin & Supply company to discuss the various varieties of cotton. It is planned by this organization to assit the farmers in planting one kind of cotton. In connection with the meeting A. K. Short with the Houston Federal Loan and Land bank will talk on terracing as well as proper selection of cotton planting seed. Others appearing on the program will be County Agent J. V. Bush and Fred Keating, superintendent of the Federal Experiment Station located here.

CO-OPS GAIN FAVOR

In 1927 cotton co-operative associations handled 811,000 bales, or six and one-half per cent of the total crop. In 1928 they handled 1,151,387 bales, or 8 per cent of the crop.

Turns Of A Bookworm

Book News Notes For This Week

AS the fall rush opens, we note that, for one reason or another we have overlooked several volumes which now are several months old—a ripe old age in these hactic days of publishing. Thus, that eminently popular and famous French women, Collette was translated for the first time for American readers, the first offering being "Cheri" (Boni). It it the naughty tale of a gigolo and his elderly keeper and is, we are informed, some ten years old in France.

And there was a beautiful and fragile little comedy, "The Love of the Foolish Angel," as fine a piece of writing as you're likely to meet this year.

Thelma Woodhill presented in "Love Story" (Simon-Shuster) a portrait of a dominant mother which ranks with the season's best. The title is bitter irony, for the love story is far from that—a carefully manipulated arrangement which as the book closes, can make only for tragedy. It is this finish which sends the blind career of the mother-dominated child crashing and breaks down all the defenses the mother has so carefully built. She is a sacrifice to her mother's ego and selfishness. The mother has nag-ridden her poor husband, who is a decent defeated man, and made the rearing of the child her life task. There is much shrewd writing in this work—it's a book many well-intentioned mothers might do well to read.

Not Either

"Windlestraws," the title of Phyllis Bottome's forthcoming novel which Houghton Mifflin Company issued on October 16, has nothing to do with either windmills or jackstraws, but is the name of the historic English country seat in which the scene is laid. According to B. K. Hart of the Providence Journal the word goes back to the East Saxons who had "Windlestraws" of their own. "A 'Windlestraw,'" he says, "is apparently a rush or reed used for making baskets or cords and hence (since it is of trifling value) an unkindly name for a worthless person. There is also a little English bird who carries the name."

What Is A Caddis

The public will be offered a new and much needed word next month when Marjorie Bartholomew Paradis' novel "The Caddis" is published by Century. The readers of Kingsley's "Water Babies" will recall the caddises. "Very fanciful ladies they were," wrote Mr. Kingsley, "none of them would keep the same material for a day." Mrs. Paradis uses the term to denote a certain type of modern American woman all too common at the present time.

Polk's Diary

The diary of President James K. Polk, edited down to one volume by Allan Nevins, becomes a record of White House politics from 1845 to 1849, covering the Mexican war, the acquisition of Oregon and the conquest of California and the southwest.

Quoting Nevins, "we see in these entries a man too serious and burdened ever to unbend." Even the president's notes on Gen. Tom Thumb's visit and on the Portuguese minister's gossip about his queen's maternity experiences are matter of fact and humorless.

Yet the diary serves to show the writer as not "Polk the Mendacious, but 'Polk the Mediocre."

"He rose from step to step by a combination of plodding, careful industry and strict integrity." He wore himself out in office and died but a few months after he left it.

FUTURE FARMERS MEET

More Than 1,400 Students Gather At Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP)—More than 1,400 high school students of vocational agriculture arrived here Saturday for the first annual convention of the Future Farmers of Texas, to be held at the State Fair of Texas.

Formed in July, 1928, this organization now has 112 chapters.

Hemingway's New Book Stirring Up Much Discussion

'Farewell To Arms' Is Acclaimed As Fine Work

There is the new Ernest Hemingway opus, the moment's center of literary interest—in New York, at least—to provide a striking departure from the routine. Hemingway's work, "A Farewell to Arms," not only has become a best seller over night, but is greeted by Heywood Brown, for instance, as the finest bit of writing done by any living American.

That's a large order, and could lead to many arguments The fact is that whatever disagreement one may have with Himingway's methods and style, he has written a book so stirring and human and even tender—a strange thing for a young man with such a hard-boiled literary reputation — that, for myself, I could read no other book for several days after closing the covers on the picture of Catherine's death.

Writer Accused.

Already several major Manhattan reviewers are accusing Hemingway of all sorts of writing tricks, and as predicted in a previous brief review he is being discussed up and down the reading lanes by persons whose voices drop to an awed whisper and rise to a shrill cry of protest. Certainly he is affecting and a fine story teller.

"A Farewell to Arms" seems to me to be Hemingway's best. It begins in Italy during the war, with an American ambulance driver and an English nurse stationed in the Italian sector. Both are lonely and disillusioned and drift together. Henry, the driver, deserts, escapes Italy and makes his way to Switzerland with his old love, Catherine. As usual, Hemingway upsets the grammatical conventions and goes out of his way to produce shockers for the respectability.

The book will not be accepted by Boston and it will be dragged up and down the literary discussions.

OFFERING BOUNTY

Randall Farmers Bothered By Wolf Packs

CANYON, Oct. 26 (Special)—G. W. Cox and W. T. Hazelwood, farmers living six and nine miles northwest of Canyon are offering a bounty of $10 for each wolf killed on their places. Wolves are killing turkeys and geese and are a menace to calves and sheep.

Mr. Cox states that a litter of wolves were raised in the vicinity of his farm this year. It has been a long time since there was a complaint about wolves in this section.

Curves Returning

Sausage Shops In Fine Spirits

WARSAW, Oct. 26 (AP)—With the return of curves in feminine fashion, business is returning to the pastry and sausage shops of Poland.

When fashion dictated slimness the women of Poland religiously forsook their traditional cakes and sausages, and the vendors of these edibles lost much business.

But there is rejoicing among the grocers now, for the women are once more their best patrons, trying to acquire again the curves of fashion.

Suzette Jailed

Billy Plays Havoc In Loop Cafe

CHICAGO, Oct. 26. (AP)—Goat meat on the hoof was not listed on Victor Santozzi's Central cafe menu this noon, but that was because Santozzi had not counted on Suzette.

Suzett sought nourishment after escaping from Paul B. Wagners back yard today.

The aroma from Santozzi's inn was appealing, nay irresistible. So, Suzette entered, ignoring the screen door. She coyly knocked over a table, sent six patrons and Mr. Santozzi scampering for safety, and fed freely of the Santozzi fare.

The wrathful resturanteur, hastily called police.

"A dozen rolls, an apple pie, a head of cabbage, a half loaf of bread, a bunch of—"

"But—" the desk sergeant began.

"Yes, that, too" interrupted Santozzi.

"I went in three times and she butted me out every time."

So, Suzette was in jail tonight. It will cost Wagner $34.14 to get her back—in case he wants her.

ENGINEER IS KILLED

Whitey Walker Is Victim Of Port Arthur Shooting

PORT ARTHUR, Oct. 26. (AP)—Whitey Walker, marine engineer, about 26, was shot and fatally wounded on a downtown street about 9 p. m. Friday.

An electrician, was lodged in the city jail in connection with the slaying. He was arrested at the scene of the shooting and has made no statement.

Only one shot was fired, the bullet taking effect in Walker's breast. He was rushed to a Mary Gates hospital but died before he reached there.

PARK PLAN PERPETUAL CARE

Another milestone in the growth and development of Lubbock is about to be passed. From New York to Los Angeles and from Minneapolis to Houston every large city has its modern park plan burial park. The founders of Memorial Park think Lubbock is entitled to the best. These men of great experience in this special work have determined that this institution shall represent the outstanding project of its kind in the South. Thousands of dollars are being spent at this time in carrying out this idea. Every feature of this development is being planned by the best engineering and architectural talents in the country. Old time obselete cemetery methods have been cast aside and only the modern park and landscape features are a part of this installation.

An imposing entrance is being constructed which with the winding drives, green lawns, beautiful shrubs and flowers, together with restricted monument or memorial regulations will always permit Memorial Park to carry on as a wonderful civic park project.

Then too, Memorial Park will be properly protected through the establishment of an ample perpetual care fund, the income which will forever keep this project as safe as human knowledge and experience will permit.

And all this at a modest price and convenient terms.

Radio Proving Valuable Asset To Farm Life In U.S.

Half Of Nation's Farm Population Reached Over Air

Newly Formed Mid-West Chain Gives Service For Vast Agricultural Area; Markets Foremost.

By NEA Service.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Radio is to the modern farmer what the ticker is to the stock broker.

As short a time as five years ago the average farmer in America's great agricultural belt loaded his grain on a wagon, drove to his nearest elevator and asked what he could get for corn—or whatever grain it was—that day.

The dealer, in turn, looked at the previous day's close, deducted a certain percentage for drooping markets and made his bargain. To-day that is a thing of the past.

The modern farmer has a radio set in his home. He watches the grain, cattle and produce markets as closely as the dealer in stock watches the ticker from the stock exchange, and he is kept almost as instantly informed. Today he waits until the market is favorable, loads his grain on an auto truck, drives to his nearest elevator and tells the dealer what he will take for his crop.

This market service to farmers from WLS alone, the key station for the newly-formed National Broadcasting Company's Agricultural Network, is estimated to have saved its listeners more than $20,000,000 already this year. This figure is given by Burridge D. Butler, publisher of the Prairie Farmer, which owns WLS.

NBC Realizes Worth

The growing importance of radio to the farmer and the realization that rural residents from the beginning of the industry have had probably a greater stake in radio than any other group, prompted the recent formation of the NBC agricultural network.

While the NBC for the past year had, in co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture, broadcast a farm program for listeners in the central time zone and this year extended that service to include the eastern zone, there was a marked demand for a service that would enable the more than 1,000,000 farmers in the great Mississippi Valley to be linked together with a special radio network.

WLS, Chicago, had long been the outstanding farm station of the Midwest, and was already an associated member of the NBC system. When the new farm network was formed it was picked as the logical broadcaster to link the group. Long sight other strong stations in that section of the country agreed to form the basic network. These are KSD, St. Louis; WDAF, Kansas City; WHO, Des Moines, and WOC, Davenport; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul; WTMJ, Milwaukee; KSTP, St. Paul-Minneapolis, and WEBC, Superior-Duluth.

Covers West and Southwest

In addition to these, supplementary groups have been named which when added to the basic network would give coverage to include all of the cotton belt, the grazing sections of the southwest and the grain country of the far west. This network, under the personal direction of Frank E. Mullen, director of agriculture for the NBC, operates from 6 a. m. to 6 p. m. central standard time.

The National Farm and Home Hour, the official program of the United States Department of Agriculture, the Federal Farm Board and leading agricultural organizations, including the National Grange, the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National 4-H Boys and Girls Club and the Association of Land Grant Colleges opened the network. The last four named organizations include an aggregate membership of more than 6,000,000 farm residents, while the United States Department of Agriculture and Federal Farm Board, of course, hold the interest of every agriculturist in the country.

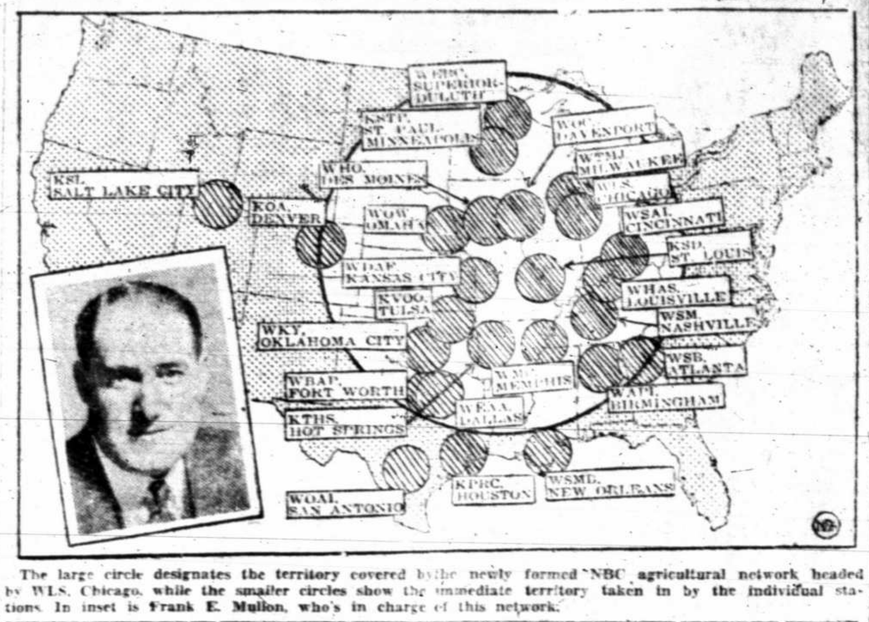

Get Government Reports

Officials of the Department of Agriculture use the period to inform listening farmers of the latest developments in the agricultural industry in every part of the world, as well as to give them the latest federal crop estimates, crop reports, market indications and other information indispensable to the modern farmer a few minutes after it is released.

In the area blanketed by the new network are 43 per cent of the farm people of the country, and an equal percentage of the nation's farms. Forty-five per cent of the farm property values of the United States are found in this greatest of agricultural regions and 35 per cent of the farm-owned radio sets can be reached by stations of the basic network alone.

Additional market reporting facilities and other farm aids are planned for the near future, which should make the farmers of America additional millions of dollars in selling their produce, as well as welding them together into a more compact and efficient group.

Other interesting features planned for the network are such events as the detailed broadcast of the International Livestock Exposition and Hay and Grain Show, state and national corn husking contests and other outstading farm events of wide scope.

The large circle designates the territory covered by the newly formed NBC agricultural network headed by WLS, Chicago, while the smaller circles show the immediate territory taken in by the individual stations. In inset is Frank E. Mullen, who's in charge of this network.

Dr. Shumaker Is Victim Of Tumor

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 26 (AP)—Dr. F. S. Shumaker, for the last 22 years superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, died at his home here Friday following an illness of several months.

It was recently revealed by Dr. Shumaker's physician, Dr. Charles E. Sowder, that the dry leader was afflicted with a malignant tumor. Dr. Shumaker early in 1929 spent 45 days on the witness stand, perpetual farm, the sentence having been imposed by the Indiana supreme court on a charge of contempt. He was accused of having published articles criticizing members of the court for their decisions in liquor cases.

T. C. U. Junior Is Operator Of Radio

FORT WORTH, Oct. 26 (AP)—In 1920, 10-year-old Elbert Haling was the youngest amateur radio station operator in Texas.

Today Haling is a junior in Texas Christian university and owner and operator of Radio Station W5HY. He recently celebrated the station's eighth birthday by conversing more than an hour with Station 2AG, New Zealand.

"This makes the twelfth time my signals have been heard in New Zealand and Australia," Haling said. "I have communicated with every continent in the world and all the states in the union." He broadcasts on a wave length of 40 meters, with 50 watts power.

Offered Relay Station

Haling's station is an official relay station of the American Radio Relay League and one of the control stations if the Army Radio League.

"I can get Commander Byrd at the South Pole nearly every morning about 4 o'clock," Haling said. "When the Graf Zeppelin sailed over New York, I heard the crew's signals. I also kept in touch with the Shenandoah as it flew over Texas a few years ago." The secretary of the navy sent him a note of thanks for this last service. When Capt. Bill Erwin, the lost flier who was lost in the Pacific, sent out his distress call station W5HY was one of those which caught his message and informed newspapers.

Haling is majoring in journalism.

BEFORE The MIKE

Many are the proposals radio artists receive. Edward A. Davies, director of WIP, Philadelphia claims the following: "The most serious of eight proposals was from a mother of eight daughters, who offered not only her portly self of 210 pounds, but a 90-acre farm, 20 head of cattle, three horses and a 1913 Ford." That's plenty of inducement.

Radio Fans Help Provide Unique Program For Station WPG; "Dr. Hokum" Hour Created by Delay In Studio

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 26.—An emergency program, caused by an unavoidable studio delay, has created the most popular sketch that radio station WPG puts on the air here. It is the period conducted by Doctor Hokum—in real life Norman Reed, chief announcer for the station—and consists in the main of contributions by listeners.

When WPG moved into its new studios at the Convention Hall recently, large throngs of visitors came and went. Numerous contributions in the form of monologues, poems, jokes and songs were left at the station for consideration. These were not seriously considered until an emergency arose.

When it was impossible to put on a scheduled feature, Reed dashed madly about, picked up the odds and ends contributed, and when on the air with no idea that his offerings would score. Following the initial showing of this period, "Doctor Hokum" received numerous requests for new and long-forgotten songs, verses, a questionnaire and a variety of material.

So the program was given a regular period of the station's time. Every Tuesday at 4:45 eastern time it goes on the air with a variety program, compiled largely by the audience itself. Assisting Reed are John Brown, WPG reception room host, and Margaret Keever, contralto and pianist. Anyone else who happens to be in the studio at the time of the program, is vamped into the "Hokum Hour."

Norman Reed of WPG . . . "Dr. Hokum."

"This presentation runs from the ridiculous to the sublime," WPG reports, "and is one which the radio audience is asked to plan for themselves."

23 Amendments To Tariff Rates Are Passed In Senate

Eight Hours Are Devoted To Debating As Record Is Set By Action Taken On Chemical Schedule

BY HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26. (AP)—The senate devoted another eight hours in debating the tariff today and established a record by approving 23 amendments to the chemical rate schedule.

The majority of them were secondary reductions, important sections such as coal tar dyes and vegetable and animal oils and fats being passed over for later discussion.

Record Votes Taken.

Only two record votes were taken during the day. Both turned down finance committee republican amendments.

By a vote of 48 to 30 in an amendment to increase from 40 to 50 cents a pound the duty on transparent cellulose sheets used in the manufacture of safety glass for windshields was defeated, and a compromise reached on 45 cents as proposed by the house.

Proposal Rejected.

A vote of 44 to 25 rejected a committee proposal to add 15 cents a pound to the 25 per cent ad valorem rate on agar agar, a medical product manufactured from dried seaweed. This action restored the existing rate of 25 per cent as proposed by the house.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Massachusetts, made a vigorous plea for the increase in duty on cellulose sheets. He argued it was an infant industry in this country and the prospects were for an extension of its utilization in windshields and safety glasses of all descriptions. Germany, he said, already controlled one-third of the domestic market.

Tells of Blast.

Relating how an explosion in New York had overturned street cars and hurled passengers through the windows, cutting them seriously, Senator Copeland, democrat, of that state, who is a physician, said the question involved in this duty was one of "life and limb" and if he had his way he would compel all vehicles for hire to be equipped with the non-shattering glass.

FUNERAL IS POSTPONED

TEXARKANA, Oct. 26 (AP)—Representative R. M. Hubbard, in charge of arrangements for the removal of the body of Gov. Hardin R. Runnels to Austin, today said the state funeral in honor of the former executive had been indefinitely postponed. It had been set for November 3.

Secretary Of Agriculture Speaks On Farm Problems

Arthur M. Hyde Explains To The American Country Life Conference Purposes Of Federal Farm Board

Individual Farmer, Acting Alone, Can Not Overcome Agricultural Difficulties Session Is Told

Agriculture has inherent difficulties which cannot be overcome by the individual farmer acting alone. The production line of agriculture, consisting of small production units, is stretched entirely across the continent and from the Lakes to the Gulf. It is divided into six million producing plants, each managed by that most independent and individualistic of all industrial captains, the American farmer. Agriculture is not one industry. It is as many industries as there are agricultural commodities. Each commodity has its own separate set of problems. Competition between commodities is keen.

The farmer competes not alone with foreign standards of ages and living, but with different domestic standards as well.

The Proper Use of Land Important

The proper utilization of land is one of the most important elements in farm problems. Our national heritage covers 1,903,000,000 acres. Of this, 505,000,000 are classed as improved farm lands, capable of producing crops. Only about 350,000,000 acres are actually producing crops. On those 350,000,000 acres American farmers are annually producing vast stores of foodstuffs which supply the demands of our own people and overrun into the markets of the world.

It is hardly too much to say that American farmers could, by using intensive methods on the whole 505,000,000 available acres of farm lands, double this crop. This would disastrously break the price.

There are those who like to jibe at agriculture on the ground that farmers are impervious to change. We still farm, they say, as our grandfathers did. If they speak of the production side of agriculture, nothing is further from the truth. Agriculture has made great strides in adapting the discoveries of biologists, scientists and inventors. Contrast the beef animal of the show ring with the best beef animal our great grandfather possessed. Measure the milk production of our best dairy cows against those of sixty years ago. Consider the changes in seed, in fertilization, and in all the various applications of pure science. Examine the operation of mechanized farm and compare it with the farms of our grandfathers.

Compare Industry and Farming

The distribution of farm products is to a large extent wasteful and inefficient. The market for agricultural products are with few exceptions, "buyers' markets." What chance of success would the manufacturer of automobiles, or of cash registers, or of any other industrial product, have if his output had to sell at the factory door to the best bidder, or had to wind through many middlemen before it reached the consumer? Disorderly price cutting and trade would inevitably result. Agriculture with some few exceptions, is [illegible] to farm products.

Agriculture needs services devoted to bring and keep markets to distribute the flow of commodities and to assure to the producer a square deal on his product.

The modern organization of business and industry has complicated and enlarged the problems of agriculture. Competition in industry is no longer between individuals, but between organizations. Labor is organized. Agriculture alone interposes against the competitions of powerful organizations the bared breasts of its individual producers.

The Best On Earth

Those six million farmers are the most efficient farmers on earth. In number they are one-seventeenth of the world's farmers, but they produce two-fifths of the world's crop, three-fifths of the world's cotton, one-half of its tobacco, one-fifth of its hogs, one-third of its poultry, one-fourth of its oats, one-fifth of its wheat, one-seventh of its rye, and one-tenth of its sheep.

We Americans are at once the most individualistic human beings on earth and the greatest believers of organization. And why not? It has coordinated the efforts of thousands of producers and welded them into a responsive force. It has taken its toll from us in certain attributes but it has given to home a high standard of living, schools which are models of efficiency, and an industrial development which is the envy of the world. The personal paradox of organization is that by the sacrifice of some of his personal rights the individual finds a greater freedom.

Given a multitude of producing plants, a production too large for the demands of the market, and an annual surplus so great as to seriously depress the price, industry would meet the problem by mergers. Such has been the record. But you can not merge 6 million farms. We have no desire to do so. The farm family is a social unit of value so great as to demand its preservation. Its independence, its compactness, its ideals, must be maintained, but in maintaining them we must remember that we are preserving a small producing unit in a society in which all other forms of production are organized into large units. The farmer must have help, not only to remove the competition within his own industry, but to see that the social, economic and industrial adjustments and combinations which are going on all about him do not bear too heavily upon him.

Farm Problems Are Worry

The farm problem is not one problem, but scores of problems around each of a score of farm commodities. The [illegible] than has two alternatives. He can depend on private agencies to market his products, or he can develop his own cooperative agencies. He can continue to sell on a "buyers" market, or he can create a "sellers" market. There can be but one choice of these alternatives.

If agriculture were well organized it could standardize its products, control and distribute their flow to the consumer, eliminate much of the waste, duplication and inefficiency of the marketing system. By organization the farmer can control his own industry, reestablish the independence of his calling, win his own place in the sun of economic equality, and having won it, hold it against all the changing vicissitudes of the future.

The mere contemplation of these elements in farm problems compels the conclusion that the organization of agriculture is one of the first and most important steps to be taken in the direction of economic equality.

To assist in the organization of Agriculture, to take the problems of the various farm commodities out of the realm of politics and to meet them in the realm of economics, to set up an authoritative tribunal which shall study each separate problem, and afford financial assistance when necessary, this is the aim and purpose of the Agricultural Marketing Act.

Board Blazing New Trails

In seeking solutions of farm questions, the board is to a large extent blazing new trails. The elements of any special problem and the circumstances under which the board will be called upon to act, can not be foreseen. Wide latitude of power and of discretion is therefore necessary. The act makes no attempt to describe or limit the powers of the board, save only to direct that the board shall deal only with the farmer-owned and the farmer-controlled organizations. The heart of the plan is to set up the instrumentality and to arm it with power, the money and the discretion to deal with farm conditions, organizations, commodities and problems as they arise. This is the vital feature of the plan. All the rest is detail.

Agriculture itself appointed the Federal Farm Board. It is true that the president named them, but agriculture selected them.

The board does not but or sell. It has no right to engage in business. Its main job is to foster and to encourage the organization of agriculture, to finance farmer-owned and farmer-controlled cooperatives and stabilization corporations. The cooperatives and the stabilization corporation have all the powers granted to them by their state charters and may buy, sell, process or store farm commodities. In general they have all the powers enjoyed by business or industrial corporations to engage in such activities as are necessary or proper to their business.

Study of Board Is Wide

The board is authorized to study and make reports on the following subjects: land utilization, the reduction of acreage of unprofitable marginal lands in cultivation, methods of expanding markets at home and abroad, methods of developing by-products from farm commodities, and new uses for such products, transportation conditions and their effect upon agriculture.

There is promise of results valuable to agriculture in every one of these fields. The department of agriculture has already made considerable progress and analysis of them, and is still prosecuting its study. The information it has is immediately available for the board.

There is nothing economically sound or socially desirable about producing crops to sell at less than the cost of producing them. Profit, not production, will determine the farm standard of living. We seek a rising tide of well-being.

Other subjects are embraced in the Federal Farm program. Taxation, waterways, reducing production costs, tariffs, here also are fruitful fields.

Farmer Needs The Tariff

The farmer is entitled to the domestic market. The farmer also needs the flexible tariff provision with power vested in the president to make changes upon the recommendations of the tariff commission. The rapidly changing economic condition of modern times have made it, and will continue to make it of peculiar value to agriculture.

Out of 33 increases made in tariff schedules under the flexible provision, 13 have been on farm products, 12 on chemicals, 4 on earthenware and glass, and the rest scattered. Wheat, flour, butter, cheese, cherries, onions, peanuts, eggs, flaxseed, milk and cream are the agricultural products upon which the tariff has been increased. It is not too much to say that increases made under the flexible provision saved the dairy industry from disaster.

In 1922, agriculture was told to write its own schedule. Those rates proved to be too low. Only by virtue of the flexible provision could they be changed. Congress refused to entertain changes in butter and flaxseed rates. The present session of congress proves the impossibility of revising a few schedules without a bitter fight. Both on experience and expectation, agriculture should demand the retention of the flexible tariff provision as embodied in the house bill.

I have tried to point out some of the parts of the Federal Farm program. I am aware that other friends of agriculture have other ideas and other programs. I am aware that many minds are engrossed in the farm problems and that in council there is wisdom.

Nevertheless, I urge all friends of agriculture to concentrate their efforts behind the Federal Farm Board. The job of organizing agriculture is fundamental to any program. I do not minimize any other plan, but I submit that the organization of American agriculture is the first step toward success, no matter what the program.

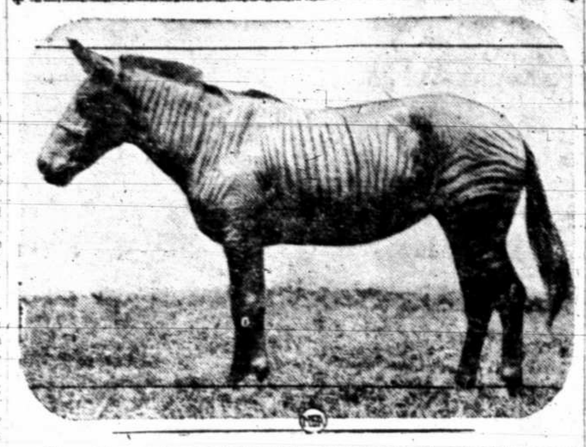

The job of organization is big enough and difficult enough if we all work at it. This plan has the advantage over any other plan that it has been enacted into law. It may go too far to suit some thinkers on the subject. It may not go far enough to suit others. But it is now the law. It does lead somewhere. It will accomplish something. That something is the creation of the farmers' own organizations through which he can make himself felt in the markets of the world.

Improvements Looked For

The present law will be changed. Such is the record of laws creating new institutions. We are traveling an uncharted course. We shall make mistakes, we shall try to guide each succeeding step by the knowledge gained from the last one. We shall recommend changes as rapidly as experience may prove them to be desirable, but, I insist, no matter what the changes, no matter if another and different plan is finally adopted, the organization of agriculture is the first and the elemental need.

We shall have opposition enough without being compelled to contend with diversity of action and dissention in the ranks of the friends of agriculture. Let no one fondly imagine that there is no opposition to this law. I believe that all agencies of agricultural distribution which renders a worth while service at a reasonable charge will continue to be useful and profitable. But, some, not so situated, will be compelled to readjust themselves. Already there arises a chorus of doubt and objection from those who fear their business may be affected. That chorus will grow louder and the opposition stronger. I hope we may have the support of those who claim to be the friends of agriculture.

Neither This Nor That

'Tis neither mule nor zebra, this quaint animal who looks about ready to give a hearty "hee-haw." But it's a zebroid, the result of cross breeding a mule and a zebra on the farm of Dr. W. E. Hastings near Mount Vernon, Ind. This cross is as large as a mule, although better formed. The body is brown with black stripes and the animal withstands the heat in a long pull even better than the mule. This cross breed is rare.

South Plains Cotton Is Being Cut To Pieces By Bad Quality Ginning And High Speed; Loss Considerable

Certain Type Cleaners Are Said To Be Whipping Life Out Of Cotton And Fibre Is Being Cut

Much of the quality of South Plains cotton is seriously injured because a large portion of it is ginned badly, according to a number of cotton men who have been engaged in buying cotton on the Plains for several years.

In the language of one of these men:

"South Plains cotton is ginned badly. The cleaners whip the life out of the cotton, cutting the fibre all to pieces. When it comes from the [illegible] stapple has not got any strength to it. Instead of ginning making the cotton higher in grade, it ruins it, in many cases.

Rich Speed Cleaning Is Bad.

"One cause of the loss is that when ginners have from 50 to 60 bales of cotton on their yard waiting to be handled they start their machinery and run it at such speed that the fibre is torn up by the means.

Opinion is [illegible] that South Plains cotton would sell more readily and at a higher price if it was sometimes delivered from the gin not quite so clean, with a little of the trash left intact.

Last Year Cotton Unsold.

Another [illegible] of a large firm stated that some cotton bought last year by his concern, had not yet been sold. "We will have to sacrifice this cotton, a waste mill of eight cents per pound because of its fibre being torn up," he said.

"A cotton having a staple of fifteen-sixteenth of an inch in length or better is ruined in ginning when [illegible]

CHEESE GAINS FAVOR

Hundred Million Placed In Hands Of Grain Groups

Federal Farm Board Makes Move To Aid U. S. Grain Interests; Promises To Give More Help

CHICAGO, Oct. 26 (AP)—The federal farm board placed $100,000,000 at the call of the grain cooperatives today, pledged its aid in demanding more from congress if necessary and gave its opinion that prevailing prices for wheat were too low.

While the Farmer National Grain corporation was perfecting its organization, Chairman Alexander Legge of the farm board issued its statement of policy climaxing the week's final organization conference. His statement follows:

Prices Too Low

"The federal farm board believes that based on known world supply the present prevailing conditions for wheat are too low. The board believes that this unsatisfactory price level is chiefly due to the rapid or disorderly movement which is putting a large part of the year's wheat supply on the market within a short time.

"The unprecedented liquidation of industrial stocks and shrinkage in values which is entirely unwarranted and wheat producers should not be forced to sell on a market affected by these conditions.

Marketing Remedy

"The board also believes that the remedy lies in more orderly marketing and at the same time have money with which to pay their obligations, the board proposes to loan wheat cooperatives, qualified as borrowers under the Capper-Volstead act, sums sufficient to bring the total amount borrowed from all sources by such associations to the amount shown on the attached schedule. These loans will be carried on this basis until the close of the marketing season. The wheat cooperatives are now borrowing certain sums for advances to members from commercial banks, the federal intermediate credit banks and the farm board. The board will make supplemental loans to cooperatives in amounts equal to the following price schedule, taking into account the customary differentials:

"No. 1 white amber $1.12 per bushel, basis Seattle.

"No. 1 northern $1.25 per bushel, basis Minneapolis.

"No. 1 durum $1.12 per bushel, basis Duluth.

"No. 1 hard winter $1.18 per bushel, basis Chicago.

"No. 1 red winter $1.25 per bushel, basis St. Louis.

"No. 1 hard winter $1.15 bushel, basis Kansas city.

"No. 1 hard winter $127 per bushel, basis Galveston.

"No. hard winter $1.15 per bushel, basis Omaha.

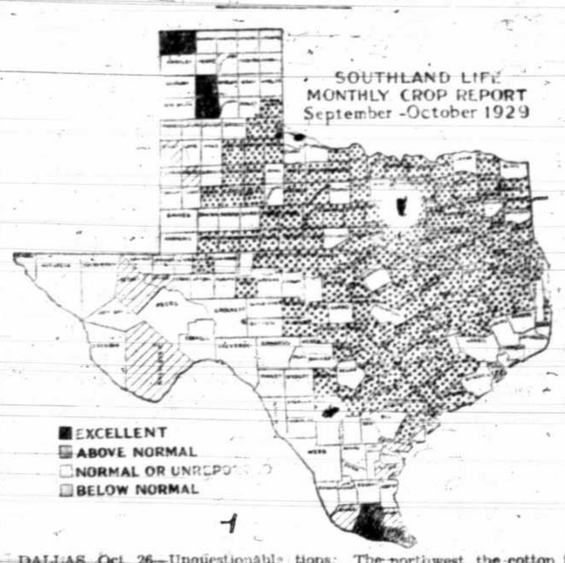

"This schedule is based on a grade price and does not take into consideration premiums for higher quality wheat.

"In many sections of the country the board believes that the net advances which wheat cooperatives can make to their members under this loan plan will almost, if not quite, equal the amounts which are being paid by the speculators and others on actual purchases from farmers.

"There is a grain cooperative in every wheat state. It is open to the membership of every wheat farmer. The farmer may join, ship his wheat to a designated concentration point where it will be graded, and cleansed, and draw his advance. The cooperative will market the wheat in orderly fashion through the year, and will settle with the farmer on the basis of the final price obtained.

"The board is confident that, considering the soundness of underlying conditions which affect the price of wheat, the plan described above furnishes a completely safe basis for making loans from the board's revolving fund. The board places no limit on the amount of government money to be so loaned. Nearly $100,000,000 is available for the purpose and, if necessary, the board will also ask congress to appropriate more.

Crop Diversification Throughout Texas Has Advanced Extensively

DALLAS, Oct. 26—Unquestionable advance in Texas of the idea of crop diversification is more than ever noticeable in the crop reports gathered by the department of public relations of the Southland Life Insurance company up to October. In this, the concluding crop report of the year, the situation largely summarizes itself as follows:

In spite of a disappointing cotton crop, the situation has been more than offset by a profitable grain crop and extremely rapid development of dairy products.

Many Crop Reports Quoted

A very large number of crop reports gathered from every section of the state contain statements similar to the following:

"Business conditions are holding up surprisingly well in view of disappointing cotton crops. Very few report poor business conditions any [illegible] normal or better."

Analyzing the situation as to sections: The northwest, the cotton is reported still maturing; in northerly counties. Grain crops not yet harvested but reported in excellent condition.

Cotton is Below Normal

North and northeast Texas report cotton generally below normal with other crops normal or better.

East and central Texas report cotton below normal with grain crops about normal.

South Texas with a cotton crop decidedly under normal reports optimistically because of other crops and diversification.

In almost every section of the state counties report the crop situation decidedly helped and in some cases actually saved by income from dairy products, cattle, chickens and hogs. The bright spots on the map this month are the irrigated sections of the valley and the two or three extreme northwest counties.

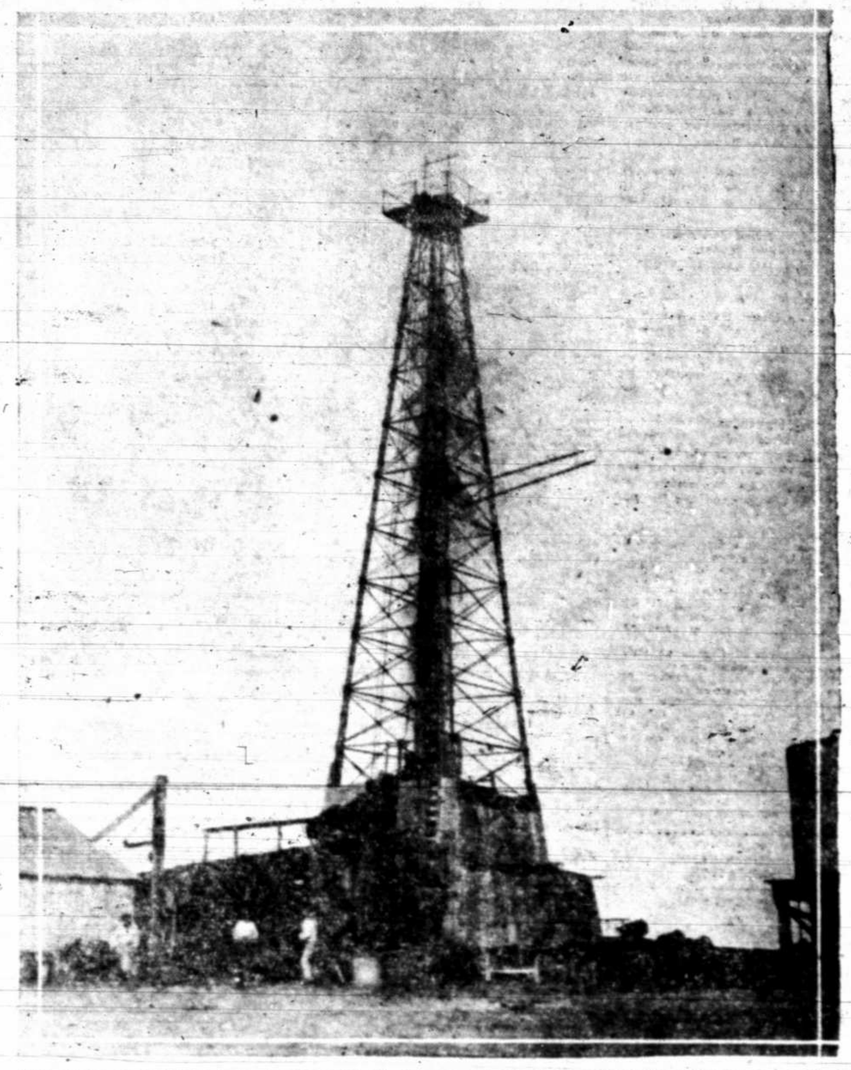

Bankers Life Now Represented Here

"Lubbock and the South Plains, because of marvelous development in the past few years, has attracted both the attention and close inspection of practically all of the big finance concerns engaged in the practice of making loans on farm property," declares Charles E. Enlow, representative of the Bankers Life company of Des Moines, Iowa, who recently moved to Lubbock from Wichita Falls.

"There is no other agricultural section in the United States, in my belief," continues Enlow, "that has made such rapid strides forward and that still holds forth an unlimited future."

Enlow announces that the Bankers Life company, with its millions of available capital, is now in the South Plains area for the first time, and expects to stay. He is also engaged in handling oil and gas leases and royalties, with offices in the Myrick building.

How A South Plains Oil Test Looks After Taking Big Shot

The photo above shows how the Marland oil and gas test, No. 1 Slaughter behaved following a "shot" of 140 quarts of nitroglycerin Friday afternoon, October 18. The well was shot at a depth of 4,745 feet and immediately following a showing of 2,500,000 cubic feet of gas came in. The gas may be seen rising in the derrick in the above picture. The test, 5 1-2 miles southwest of Lehman in Cochran county, is attracting considerable attention from the oil fraternity. The well is 65 miles west of Lubbock and 30 miles west of Levelland.

FOR SALE OR TRADE

New brick veneer on 100 ft. corner lot. Nearly 1-2 acre land, 5 rooms, bath and breakfast nook, 12 built-in features. Same finish inside as $20,000 homes. Also double garage, let us show you the home everyone is raving about. It's a little dream palace. Think of it, all for $4,500. If this home was down close in you could not buy it for less than $6,000. But why not buy it now, located in Maddox addition, one of Lubbock's largest and choicest suburbs, where homes are sensibly restricted to brick, stucco, and stone construction. Where homes in the near future will be worth more money than close in homes. Our homes are built to out-last the loan. It's a steal at the price. We can save you money.

Transportation Around World To Be Featured By Dirigible Service Over Two Great Oceans; Companies Formed

Developments During Past Week Seen As Forerunner To Establishment Of New Lines In World

(By Associated Press)

AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 26. (AP)— The flying of giant dirigibles like the Graf Zeppelin, with passengers, mail and freight on regular routes over two great oceans, within a few years has been brought nearer to possibility by developments of the last few days, it was indicated here today.

The developments are in accord with predictions Dr. Hugo Eckener, head of the German Zeppelin corporation, made recently at Akron in conference with officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation and New York banking representatives. The commander of the giant Graf said a Zeppelin transport system girdling the earth was planned, with the Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation as nucleus.

Units Co-Ordinated

Airships, airplanes, steamships and railroads would be co-ordinated.

The first definite step to fulfill this prediction came a few days ago, when the International Zeppelin Transport company and the Pacific-Zeppelin Transport company were incorporated in Delaware.

The former, according to Goodyear officials, represents a union of the German and American Zeppelin interests, with tentative plans for building two 6,500,000 cubic foot Zeppelins at Akron, two more at Friedrichshafen, German and suitable operating docks on both sides of the Atlantic. Regular schedules would be set up.

Plans of the Pacific company call for the construction of Zeppelin airships here and building of hangars in California and Hawaii, and later in the Philippines or Japan. A California-Hawaii service would be followed by completed trans-Pacific routes, co-operating with steamships.

Mail contracts for both companies are sought, and big New York financil houses are involved, it was revealed.

In addition to the ocean route revelations was the recent announcement that the General Motors corporation had been given the right to make in this country motors for the huge Dornier planes. The Zeppelin-Dornier metal monoplane patents are controlled by the Luftschiffbau-Zeppelin, parent company of the German Zeppelin company. The announcement appears to line up Goodyear and German Zeppelin with General Motors in carrying out Dr. Eckener's projects.

Zeppelin Rights Sold

The parent Zeppelin company sold its American airship patent rights to Goodyear several years ago, when the Versailles treaty stopped Zeppelin construction in German.

In view of the fact that the two great dirigibles being built here for the United States navy will carry planes, it has been predicted that the Zeppelin company would use its airplane patents and provide a way to construct Zeppelin-Dornier planes on a commercial scale in this country. What type of plane will be carried in the dirigibles, however, depends on a decision of the government, it was said.

More developments are expected to be revealed by P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear-Zeppelin when he arrives Monday in New York from South America.

Cotton Quiet; Stock Market Stable

Week End Evening Up Features Early Decline In Cotton

Rallies Follow Decrease Promoted By Relatively Easy Cables; Buying In Late In Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (AP)—Cotton market was quiet and the comparatively narrow fluctuations were attributed largely to week-end evening up. An early decline promoted by relatively easy cables was followed by rallies on trade buying and covering with December selling up from 18.10 to 18.25 and closing at 18.22. The general market closed steady net unchanged to 3 points lower, except for November which was nominal at a net decline of 17 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 4 points under southern selling and some local or commission house liquidation promoted by the indifferent showing of Liverpool and a rather more favorable view of the weather news. Active months sold about 4 to 7 points net higher under these early offerings with March declining to 18.56.

Contracts Advance

January contracts advanced to 18.36 and March to 18.65 or some 8 to 10 points from the low levels of the morning and 1 to 3 points net higher.

The close was a few points off from the best.

Liverpool cables reported that Bombay buying and trade calling had been supplied by liquidation in that market.

Cotton on ship-board awaiting clearance at the end of the week was estimated at 202,000 bales against 169,000 bales last year.

Light Trading Features Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 26. (AP)—Light trading and narrow fluctuations featured today's short week-end session in cotton. Evening up of commitments for over the week-end provided most of the transactions, although at the start the tone was influenced by the lower Liverpool cables. There was also the usual hedge selling near the start. Prices later rallied on moderate covering prices, advancing 8 to 9 points from the lows and closing at or near the best of the day and virtually unchanged from the previous close. January after selling at 18.23, down 7 points, early advanced and closed at 18.30, or net unchanged for the day. The general market closed steady net 1 point up to 2 down.

Liverpool Lower

Liverpool came in 3 points lower than due and first trades here showed losses of 4 to 9 points, and December soon traded down to 18.10 and March to 18.50, or 5 to 9 points under the previous close. Some hedge selling developed in early trading as well as long liquidation.

Cattle Trade Marked In Uneveness On Killing Classes Around Circuits

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 26. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit this week was marked by considerable uneveness on killing classes. The in-between grades of beef steers and long yearlings were under pressure at most points, prices weak to unevenly lower. Choice light weight steers and yearlings were firm except at Chicago, where the supply of long yearlings was liberal. Country demand for replacement stock continued fairly broad, with values generally working higher. Stockers plentiful. Aggregate receipts 331,000, as compared with 298,455 last week and 305,821 the same period a year ago.

Prices Fluctuate

Hog prices fluctuated and sharp declines on late days left closing values 10@40c under a week ago. Several markets reported prices lower than any time since January. St. Louis had a late top of $9.75. Total offerings 504,100, an increase of 26,000 over last week but 18,000 short of a year ago.

The sheep supply was 540,800, against 590,735 last week and 466,439 the corresponding week a year ago. Lighter receipts stimulated demand for fat lambs, and prices were unevenly strong to 40c higher. Moderate upturns were also registered on aged stock at some centers.

Buoyancy Feature Of Wheat Market

Grain And Stocks Dissolve Partnership As Wheat Shows Activity Missing In Recent Sessions

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN.
Associated Press Market Editor

CHICAGO, Oct. 26. (AP)—Grain and stocks dissolved partnership today. Largely as a result, the wheat market showed a buoyancy that of late has been missing. Instead of being swayed by stock exchange depressions, wheat prices reflected immense buying of North American wheat for shipment to Europe, and also proved responsive to President Hoover's declaration that the overriding fact regarding the wheat market was that this year's world wheat harvest was estimated to be 500,000,000 business less than that of last year, and would result in a low carry-over this season.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at nearly the day's top level, 1 5-8 to 2 3-8c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed at 1-4c to 1 1-4c net decline, oats unchanged to 1-8c up, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 20c.

Trend Upward

From the outset, the wheat market here showed a distinctly upward trend today.

Before the day was over, it was estimated export purchases for Europe from North America in the last 48 hours had mounted to the huge total of 5,000,000 bushels, including a large share both of United States hard winter wheat and Durums.

Throughout the day, President Hoover's references to the wheat market situation aroused increasing notice, especially his statement that declines of grain prices had been mainly in sympathy with disturbance in the stock market.

Memorial Park Is Opened To Public

New Cemetery Three Miles Southeast Of Lubbock Is New Type Of Engineering Project

Announcement is made today of the opening of Memorial Park, three miles southeast of Lubbock, and an invitation extended all citizens for its inspection. Executive offices of the company have been opened in the Leader building.

The park plan is being used in the engineering projects planned for the spot and old time cemetery methods are discarded. The park will be properly protected through the establishment an ample perpetual care fund, the income which will keep the lots clean and beautiful at all times.

Has Imposing Entrance

An imposing entrance is being constructed 100 feet wide with four large stone pillars at the gates. Just inside the gates an 18 foot parking center has been laid out to extend the full length of the 30 acre tract. The center section will be planted in shrubs and flowers. The entire acreage will be put to grass while trees will be planted at vantage points. A modern water plant is being installed and hydrants placed in the grounds every 100 feet.

Associated in the enterprise are Sam K. Vierson, A. D. Cochran, Will C. Mee and L. E. Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ethridge Eagan, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pace and daughter, Frances, are spending today in Lamesa as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Garvin. Dr. Garvin is pastor of the First Methodist chuch in Lamesa.

New Stability Of Market Tested By Heavy Liquidation

Substantial Declines Are Seen During Session Of Mart Saturday But Close Is Fairly Steady

NEW STABILITY

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26. (AP)—The renewed stability of the stock market was tested by a rather heavy stream of week-end liquidation today. Substantial declines appeared here and there, but on the whole, the list closed fairly steady. Trading conditions returned to normal, with 2,087,660 shares changing hands during the two-hour session, and the ticker keeping fairly close to trading.

Moderate gains and declines were fairly evenly distributed throughout the list, but a few stocks dropped about 5 to 13 points. The oils and rails displayed considerable firmness. Pressure was not pronounced against the utilities. With few exceptions, fluctuations in leading shares were restricted to narrow margins.

No Call Money.

Although there was no call money market today, credit conditions were regarded in banking circles as vastly improved. Improvement for building and related industries, which have suffered considerably from high money rates, was predicted.

U. S. Steel, Radio, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Anaconda and Standard of New Jersey held steady. General Electric slipped back 3 points.

Foreign exchanges were inclined to sag, further attesting completion of foreign liquidation of stocks on this market, and removing the threat of exports of gold. Sterling cables sagged slightly to $4.87 13-16.

Selection of Hamilton as president was an upturning of the dope bucket. Pat Williams, Mineral Wells banker, came to convention with the presidency in his pocket and then turned it down rather than relinquish a principle. Williams urged empowering the new president with dominance in the organization and rather than take the honor himself withdrew as a candidate. Hamilton was elected after it appeared that C. E. Coombes, Stamford, chosen with Houston Harte, San Angelo, and Tech regent, as vice-president, had the election.

The El Paso convention has been outstanding from two points. It has proven that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is far from dead and that it can be a working organization even in the face of a more decided "whoopee setting" than it has ever had before.

BY FRED DYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

EL PASO, Oct. 26. (AP)—The eleventh general convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was adjourned here late today with the selection of W. E. Hamilton of Wichita Falls as president and Abilene as the 1930 convention city.

Hamilton, oil man, is chairman of the oil and gas bureau of the organization. He succeeds A. M. Bourland, Vernon, who also had been serving as manager since July 15. Two vice-presidents were elected by the new board of directors, which, under newly adopted by-laws, had the naming of the president. They are Charles E. Coombes, Stamford and Houston Harte, San Angelo.

Divide Area

By resolution the president and vice-presidents were empowered to divide the West Texas territory into ten geographical areas, name one executive committeeman from each, select a treasurer and call the executive committee together for the purpose of nominating a general manager. All of these selections are subject to ratification by the new board of directors.

Announcement was made that the executive committee will be selected the coming week and be called together early in November at Stamford, the headquarters, to ballot on the general manager. Tonight the delegates were being given a Spanish fiesta at Juarez.

The annual "My Home Town" contest, oratorical feature of the convention, was won this afternoon by Miss Elizabeth Jobe, 16, of Sweetwater. Her home town will take possession of the Thomas H. Etheridge cup held two years by the Abilene representative, Walter Ely, jr., who did not compete this year.

Miss Lynn Dougherty, of Levelland, is visiting friends in Lubbock this week-end.

Bank Robbers

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 26. —(AP)— A crowd of 1,000 people, which gathered at the county jail at noon today to see the return of three men arrested in Wichita Falls in connection with the robbery here Thursday of the Brownwood State bank, was disappointed when the prisoners failed to arrive.

The crowd gathered when it was learned that officers had started from Wichita Falls with the three men, all of whom live here, in custody. At a late hour tonight the officers had not arrived and it was not certain where they had gone.

Suspects Questioned

The three men were questioned by Wichita Falls police last night when it appeared that they were intoxicated. Considerable money was found when they were searched and a bag of money was found in their car. Some of the currency was wrapped in stickers from the Brownwood bank. In all about $6,000 was recovered.

The issuance of a small building permit Saturday only brought the building valuation total in Lubbock for the week to $1,825 while the total for the month stands at $59,820, for 28 permits.

The year's valuations aggregate $3,064,284, representing 539 permits.

TO DELIVER LECTURE

J. F. Mathews To Talk Here On Masonry Thursday

J. F. Mathews, of this city, evangelist of the Christian church, will deliver a lecture on masonry next Thursday night at the Yellow Rose lodge of the Masonic order in Lubbock.

All master Masons are urged to attend the lecture.

Pastor Back From Nazarene Session

Rev. Charles Robertson, home mission evangelist, arrived in Lubbock last night and today will open a two-weeks revival campaign at the Nazarene church.

Rev. Robertson will preach his first sermon this morning and also will speak at the evening hour. During the week only one meeting will be held and that at night.

Rev. S. H. Erwin, pastor of the Nazarene church, returned yesterday from Abilene, where he attended the district convention of Nazarene churches, including representatives from 22 organizations west of Fort Worth. Approximately 600 delegates visited Abilene during the period of the convention, October 22 to 28.

J. B. Chapman, of Kansas City, presided at the gathering while Dr. A. G. Morrison was one of the principal speakers.

Mr. and Mrs. Pope Gilbner are leaving for their home in Spearman today after visiting relatives and friends here for the past few days.

Turner Kirby, of Pampa, attended the Tech-T. C. U. football game yesterday. He joined his wife who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stanton for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. George Samson, of Post, attended the football game yesterday. Mr. Samson is secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Post.

BURTON HOLMES

FOR nearly a generation, thousands of Americans have been taking foreign trips de luxe with Burton Holmes as an interesting guide. To do this one need not leave his home city; such an opportunity will come to us here in the near future when this famous globe trotter speaks here and shows his remarkable films. Mr. Holmes this season is taking people to enjoy "The Beauties and Frivolities of Paris," or to "Siam—Land of Chang." Whichever he presents all will be pleased.

W. P. Florence, Slaton, Claims Distinction Of Producing First Bale Of Cotton On South Plains

Pioneer Of County Recalls Days Of Old In Area

(Special to The Avalanche-Journal)

SLATON, Oct. 26—The distinction of being the first man to produce and market a bale of cotton from the South Plains section of West Texas—of having introduced a new industry into a new country which now admittedly ranks as one of the greatest cotton-producing areas in the Southwest—this distinction is claimed by W. P. Florence, of Slaton, who has lived here ever since, and before, there was any such city as Slaton in existence. Florence produced that bale of cotton in the year 1901.

The importance of the first beginnings of cotton culture in the South Plains section becomes forcefully significant when it is shown that for the four years of 1925 to 1928, inclusive, fifteen counties composing the South Plains area produced 1,135,000 bales of cotton, an annual combined output of 283,000 bales or a yearly average of over 18,000 bales per county.

Maintains Leadership

The county in which Florence produced the first bale, Lubbock county, has kept its place of leadership in cotton production, growing 191,000 bales in the four years of 1925-28, an average of 47,750 bales annually. Other counties in the order of their rank in cotton production for the same four years are Lynn, Crosby, Dawson, Hale, Lamb, Floyd, Garza, Terry, Hockley and Gaines. Figures are not compiled for Cochran, Yoakum and Borden.

It was in the summer of 1900 that W. P. Florence first came to the South Plains section, from his former home, Aspermont, Texas. He came unintentionally with a friend, the two of whom were seeking a ranch location. Finding nothing below the "caprock" which suited them, they started on a northwesterly course in the bed of the Yellowhouse Canyon, coming to the level of the Plains just four miles north of Slaton. The first house they saw was that of R. C. Burns, now a Lubbock citizen, who then lived on the "Idle Wild" ranch, part of the original L O. A. ranch.

Filed on 5 Sections

Florence chose a location on public land in what is now the southwest part of Lubbock county, picked out five sections, surveyed and filed upon it.

In 1901 Mr. Florence planted ten acres of cotton and 60 acres of foodstuff on this new land. Three bales of cotton were grown on the ten acres, of which only two were ginned. The feed crop was fine.

Florence's brother, Sam, and another man, Ben Montgomery, hauled the two bales of cotton to a gin near Big Spring, a distance of 80 miles, and after ginning it, they sold the cotton in Big Spring, the men buildings on the ranch and buying a year's supplies for the farm. Montgomery received for his work of hauling one of the bales to the gin nothing more than the seed from that one bale of cotton.

Entered Realty Business

In the late summer of 1901 Mr. Florence entered the real estate business in Lubbock. He thinks he was the first man who widely advertised agricultural possibilities of the South Plains area. He issued a booklet, called "A Prospector's Guide to West Texas and Llano Estacado," giving complete descriptions of the country and prevailing conditions, together with a list of land leases which were to expire within the succeeding five years. Copies of the booklet were broadcast throughout the country, resulting in the coming of many of the first families who were destined to play a large part in developing the South Plains section as an agricultural empire. Florence yet has in his possession a copy of this land booklet which, to the modern-day Plainsman, is a most interesting volume.

Entered Texas University

At the end of the first year here, Florence sold his rights to the ranch claim he had filed upon and in the fall of 1901 he entered Texas University as a student. He returned to this county in the summer of 1902, again filing on public land. In 1903 he taught the first public school ever conducted in Terry county—at Gomez.

Disposing of his land claims again in 1909, Florence attended college at San Marcos. In 1911 he returned to Slaton to become the first superintendent of Slaton public schools, Slaton having been founded that year by the Santa Fe Railway company. Florence had over 100 pupils in his school that year and employed two assistant teachers to help him with the work. He bought a farm that year, one south-west of Slaton. His farm residence now is within the corporate limits of Slaton.

In 1904, according to Florence, the first gin was operated at Lubbock. Slaton's first permanent gin was established in 1913. Lubbock now has seven gins and Slaton has six, while Lubbock county has about thirty plants, and there are 162 gins in the fifteen South Plains counties.

Farm Board Man Visiting In Texas

J. W. Jones Confers With Agricultural Officials In State; Marketing Of The Crops To Be Discussed

By Associated Press.

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 26—J. W. Jones, representing the Federal Farm Board, conferred with Director A. B. Conner, of the Texas agricultural experiment station here Friday regarding requests received by the board from Texas relative to help in the marketing of cotton crop.

Jones was accompanied by Dr. I. B. Gabbard, chief of the division of farm and ranch economics of the experiment station when he departed last night for Waco to confer with Lawrence Westbrook, chairman of the cotton committee appointed by Governor Moody to cooperate with the farm board.

While in Texas Jones expects to confer with authorities of the University of Texas and with numerous groups and individuals interested in the marketing of the Texas crop.

ADVERTISING PAYS

Unidentified Ad Brings Big Crowds To Store

BOSTON, Oct. 26.—A large Boston store recently used hundreds of columns of newspaper space to advertise a single sale. The advertising matter in one issue of a single newspaper filled 12 pages. The store was not mentioned.

Apparently the deliberate omission of the name of the firm did not hurt the drawing power of the advertisements for customers filled the store from early morning until late in the evening.

The secret of the success of these unidentified advertisements lay in the distinctive style of advertising always employed by the store. So well associated are store and its advertising in the public mind that many read the advertisements without noticing that the advertiser's name was not mentioned.

Claiming that his living was affected by the injury, a Paris dress designer has been awarded $7,000 damages by a commercial court for the loss of a finger in a street car accident.

Girls Say Being Twins Not Unusual

Six Sets Of Twin Girls Enrolled In Tech; Faculty Members Get Mixed Up And So Do Their "Dates"

BY FAYE FOOTE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Haven't you always wondered what you would do if you were a twin? Nearly every one has at some time or another; people think that to be a twin would be the queerest thing in the world but to the six sets of twins at Tech life is not a bit unusual.

As one of them expresses it "I've been a twin ever since I can remember so I don't know how it would feel to be anything else!"

Five of the sets are girls. They are Ellen and Mary Folk, Santa Anna; Wilmer and Wilda Spikes, Ralls; Estelle and Lorelle Harris, Roby; the sixth set is Wayne and Wallace Varley of Collinsville.

"I learned something new about myself the other day in class. I have always been told I was an identical twin and the other day we discussed it," said Estelle Harris. Lorelle, her twin, looks so much like her that one time a writing teacher gave only one grade to one girl when both were enrolled in the class.

"Even if our teachers don't get us mixed up they always pretend that they do. It is very easy to answer roll call for each other because no one ever knows which is which in a large lecture class."

One set of twins found it very easy to answer oral questions in a history class. The teacher wore heavy glasses and her vision was none too good. The girls always managed to answer the questions for each other.

It is usually hard enough for one girl to decide on the dress she will wear but what would she do if she had to dress to please her twin?

"Our chief differences arise over what dress we will wear; one of us usually gives in though. It makes it rather hard to dress to suit your mood if your twin doesn't feel just the same as you. We always dress alike though, no matter how we feel."

In the matter of boys the girls find that usually one prefers blondes and the other brunets but once in a while both will favor the same type. That is when the trouble comes. When both try to date the same man complications are bound to show up. It happens sometimes that two girls change dates on their best friends. They leave with one and come back with the other all unknown to the unsuspecting youth.

"We would love to marry at the same time but I imagine we would have to wait and see which one asked proposed to first. It would be ideal to marry twin brothers."

There is not always such marked similarity between a set, interviews revealed. For instance one prefers to read while another can not bear to do so. Another does the driving of the family car, for her twin has never attempted to drive. In one case one of the girls can out talk the other in any conversation. In nearly every set one of them is weaker physically than the other. It is not always the strongest though who does the bossing declared the girls.

Texas Technological Alumni Meet Saturday At Noon For Luncheon As First Home Coming Gathering

C. W. Ratliff, President Of Group Presides; Tables Decorated With Banners Of Classes

FORTY alumni members of Texas Technological college met in the banquet room of Our Cafeteria yesterday at 12:30 o'clock for the first home-coming banquet ever held by members of the college.

Tables were arranged in the shape of a huge "T" while at the end of the wider part of the letter was hung the three banners made by the three graduating classes at the close of the years 1927, 1928 and 1929.

C. W. Ratliff, president of the alumni association was in charge and called upon Dean James M. Gordon to say the invocation after which Ratliff made a short introductory address. Each person introduced the one seated at his right. A four-course lunch was served.

H. B. Carroll, faculty member and alumni representative to the athletic council made aspeech and general announcements followed.

At the close of the luncheon a talk was made by Dean Gordon about bonfires and school loyalty and who closed his remarks with the proposal of a silent toast to Dr. R. J. Hall, who was one of the school's benefactors.

Those attending were Misses Lea Ledger, Mary Hazel Hurn, Jo Dunman, Zelda Ray, Sylva Wilson, Lynn Dougherty, Margaret Turner, Murle Fowler, Mamie Crump, Gladys Leary, Norma Hulme, Alma Spikes, Faye George, Margaret Williams, Billy Jones, Anna Belle Collins, Jane Mast, Naomi Halsell, Lois Harkey, Mary Childress of Fort Worth.

Mesdames R. T. Groves, Mary Dale Buckner, Alfred Van Dyke, Rosa Mae Burford, and Messrs. H. B. Carroll, E. M. Barnett, Buck Weaver, Kenneth Hemphill, Floyd Honey, Tom B. Morrison, Fred Rollins, James Alldredge, C. W. Ratliff, Winfield Watkins, T. V. Weaver, Martin Haythorn, and Alfred Van Dyke. Dean Gordon was a special guest.

Mrs. S. L. Harrison Writes Story Of Mexican Customs

Former Lubbock Woman Is Author Of Novel After Doing Research Work In Mexico

At last there has been written a book about Mexico which is a true history of the country and although written by a foreigner to Mexico, nevertheless by an author who through intense research work and visits to that country has familiarized herself with the people—their customs and costumes and art.

The author is Mrs. Salomay Lauderdale Harrison, formerly of Lubbock and at present teacher of Spanish in the Main Avenue high school at San Antonio. The book "Mexico Simpatico" when translated means "Delightful Mexico"—land of magic.

Although an elementary text and intended for use in high school and first years of college Spanish, this book is one which will prove a delight to teachers and students alike according to critics who are high in praise of the work.

"Mexico Simpatico" is a survey of Mexican life and includes a sketch of the history of Mexico from prehistorical days with the Indian background continuing with the coming of the Europeans and describing the cultural and aesthetic life of these people of the country to our south.

Illustrations for the book are from noted artists who read and criticized the articles for Mrs. Harrison.

They are reproductions of paintings from such artists as Adolfo Best Maugard, Dr. Atl, Roberto Montenegro, and Diego Rivera. These artists are leaders of a cult of modernists and interpreters of a period of art which dates from 1910. Mural paintings from their brushes adorn the walls of public buildings and are interpretations of Mexican and Indian art which shows a distinct absence of European influence.

The frontispiece is a reproduction of a famous painting of Mexico and from the first to the final page the book is one showing a distinct style of beauty and care. The publishers have announced it as one of the most pleasing and artistic of their Spanish series.

Four years of preparation went into the writing of "Mexico Simpatico" and the result is a book which is worthy the high praise which it has received during the few months that it has been published.

Dedication of the text is to Richard Clarence Harrison, deceased husband of the author, who was the first head of the English department at Texas Technological college.

During the months that she resided in this city Mrs. Harrison was head of the Spanish department at Lubbock high school.

LES CIGALES CLUB

Florence Lawson Hostess To Group

Members of Les Cigales club were hostesses at lunch yesterday, Friday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the home of their president, Miss Dorothy Rylander.

The rooms were a profusion of autumn flowers with orange marigolds predominating in the floor baskets and table vases.

A three-course luncheon was served with pumpkins used as plate favors and later the bridge and forty-two tallies were of these yellow field products.

At the close of the morning four pledges were presented: Mrs. Hal Yoder and Misses Katherine Holsted, Nina Gordon and Lola Thompson.

Members attending the delightful affair were Misses Alyne Odom, Corene Ratliff, Murvel Rankin, Garnie Nix, Florence Lawson, George Drake, Mildred Harris, Johnnye Bess Richards, and Mrs. Weldon Snodgrass and Mrs. Ethridge Eagan.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—The leaves are turning fast—on trees and on the date-books of smart society folk.

Many are returning from abroad, others from the country, charity functions are beginning, debutante balls are scheduled and weddings have dotted the days with the fragrance of orange blossoms.

Bertha Norton, when she became Mrs. Lawrence Jacob 2nd, wore a lovely, long-trained deep ivory satin princess wedding gown that toned in perfectly with the yellow orange and rust colors of her attendants' gowns. When Caroline Olyphant Anderson became Mrs. Aubrey H. Martin 3rd, her gown was a rich moyen age creation, glorified by regal old rose point lace that flowed down over the court train. Another recent bride who chose a medieval period gown was Adelaide Meares Parker, who now is Mrs. John Graham Morrisses. Rose point lace fashioned the drop shoulder yoke and long sleeves.

Hunts Attract Many

The Meadow Brook hunts out on Long Island have had an enormous following of early-risers three times a week this fall. Perhaps it's the fine weather. Maybe it is just another sign of the supremacy of interest King Horse holds. Mrs. W. P. T. Hazard, Mrs. Theodore Grosvenor and Mrs. Robert McAdoo all wore stunning tweed topcoats when they answered the 7:30 call at the Harry Payne Whitney estate near Westbury for a thrilling cross-country hunt with hounds.

Black shadows fall more and more frequently on chic Park Avenue at lunch time these days. There's a positive fad for smart daytime things in black. One of the very smartest black-clad women I saw at Pierre's one day was Mrs. John W. Kiser. Her suit of nappy dull-finished worsted was extensively furred in shaved Persian lamb with a vestee and collar of the fur, sleeve capes and narrow cuffs and wide, triangular front panels down the skirt of the tight-waisted coat. To perfect the altogether ravishing outfit, she had a black felt hat, with Persian lamb draping it for a turban brim, with a jeweled pin stuck through one side.

The Isle de France brought in more than its usual quota of socially prominent folk. Gloria Gould Bishop arrived on it with her captivating little daughter, Gloria, who looks a lot like her popular mamma. Mrs. Bishop's little frock and coat ensemble in medium blue and beige was distinctly Paris in its little ruff color and ties and its flaring wide cuffs that showed the beige of the frock's figure. Little Gloria wore the kind of clothes all little girls should have—a soft, dressmaker tweed coat with a feminine cape and tie, plain felt hat and plain, little hand-made frock.

Beth Leary came on the Isle de France, too, wearing a jaunty little French suit, short jacket, fitted then flaring skirt, and individually cut collar and cuffs in flat caracul.

That velvet touch that sets off the face superbly comes via smart chapeaux these days. Mrs. Winslow Lovejoy wears a black velvet turban with exaggeratedly full sides and back that flare away from the face. She wears it perfectly atop a suit with a huge muff of broadtail fur.

Cornelia Kip has some of the cutest little hats I've seen this year, a veritable little cap-turban that points up alluringly in front and ends in the back in a big flat bow that sticks out both sides. I met her walking up Park Avenue, incidentally with a stenographer's short-hand book under her arm (everybody is working now!) and wearing a spray of orange and yellow orchids pinned against the leopard collar of her suit.

Still on the subjects of hats, the tendency to use two materials instead of one grows apace. Natalie Laimbeer, presiding as chairman at one of the Silver Lance Committee informal luncheons, wore a close-fitting black hat, one side felt, one side broadtail. Mrs. Deering Howe has an individual looking navy blue hat, topping a dress-maker suit of blue with speck of silver in it, that has hatters' plush for the turban, with black felt to match for the brim that swings out rather straight on the sides and back.

Hallowe'en Party Given For Two Groups

The Pastor's Partners B. Y. P. U. and the Reagan B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church were entertained with a Hallowe'en party Friday evening at the church.

The parlors were decorated with the Hallowe'en suggestions and the Hallowe'en atmosphere obtained by weird lighting effects. Games were played during the evening.

The guests were met at the door by a ghost who presided over the "Book of Death," in which the following names were registered: Misses Ruby Atwood, Janet Barnett, Onita Groce, Eva Eaton, Inez Davis, Louie Wright, Elizabeth Knight, Zelda Pearl Glaze, Eudora Trice, Johnnie Mullins, Ernestine Lockhart, Louise McCrummen, Oladys Hall, Ruth Allen, Austine McDonald, Mabel Jackson, Ruth Zeh, Arline Harris, Fay O'Dell, Doris Law, Charley Davis, Loyette Lindsey, Etolle McLeod, Julia Irene Carroll, Geraldine Davis, Louise Burkhalter, Minta Mae Magers, Ava Sandlin, Billie Jo Magers; Messrs. Spooks And Witches To Venture From Hiding Places Each Evening Observing Ancient Superstitions

Many Church And Social Groups Planning Affairs In Keeping With Spirit Holiday

When the prying old witch rides her fiery broomstick stead across the clouded skies and stops a second to stir the fortunes of all in her caldron of mirth, when wide-eyed owls add their evening serenades, and bats dart hither and thither between the rafters, when skeletons greet all with a chilly hand and white-gowned spirits roam the world—be careful. "The goblins 'll git you if you don' watch out."

For 'tis the night of Hallowe'en when the spirits of the world roam at will.

Each country has its customs for this particular night of autumn, and in many of them there's that superstition that one's future mate may be found by means of tricks that have been handed down through the ages. In the United States, the celebration of Hallowe'en also has its tricks, some of which are not fully enjoyed by those upon whom they are played. It's nothing to be surprised about to hear a tap,tap, tapping on the wall at midnight, or arise in the morning to find the front gate gone, or a carpenter's bench blocking the entrance to the door.

Then there's the legends of the celebration of the holiday that applies to the season, with its colors of orange and black, the first said to represent the harvest season of the year and the other a color that drives away the evil spirits.

With the many superstitions to build around, the hostess today has a wealth of material to draw from in planning her party for the week. Lighted pumpkins always hold the center of the decorations, whether they're for the front porch or the luncheon table. Pumpkin pies with whipped cream and cheese balls add to the atmosphere of the evening as well as being delicacies, while apple bobbing adds to the laughter.

Many groups are planning Hallowe'en parties during the week, and the Hallowe'en suggestions have been used during the past week in appointments for a number of the bridge parties.

Perhaps the largest of those during the past week was the Hallowe'en carnival which was given Friday evening at the Dupre school. It was at that time that Melba Dawn Pearson was crowned Queen of Hallowe'en and John Thompson acted as king of the court. The members of the court included Barbara Jane Phipps, Jimmie Murdough, Garret Fox, Helen Ruth Gruver, Lee Jackson, Nell Stubblefield, Douglas Hardt, Kathleen Levens, John Robert Moxley, Betty Jean Jones, Harold Parson, Rachel Ellison, Tom Sherman, Virginia Hays, John Beauchamp, Mattie Beauchamp, Tom Prideaux, Emma Jane Warlick, Walter Myrick, Florene Richman, Buddy Foy, Jacquely Sampson, Billie Wood, Mary Helen Taylor, Billie Spikes, Norma Bradshaw, J. B. McCarley, Bettie Alice Gordon, Francis Jackson and Jean Sheppard.

Mrs. T. G. Shaw was in charge of the carnival, being assisted by the room mothers and teachers.

The Mary Helm society of the First Methodist church is planning a Hallowe'en carnival for Friday evening at the church. On the same day Mrs. Raymond Allen will entertain at 6:30 in the evening for her kindergarten pupils.

Monday evening the Akitsia Camp Fire group will have a Hallowe'en party at the home of Miss Mary Cammack, 1902 18th street. The same evening the W. H. O. group of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Bap-

LOS TOROS DANCE

School Group Entertains At Country Club

The Los Toros society of the Senior High school entertained with an informal dance Friday evening at the Country Club.

The Hallowe'en theme was effectively carried out in the decorations for the occasion, with the ceiling and walls being adorned with streamers of orange and black, while around the walls were placed skeletons, owls, and other Hallowe'en suggestions.

Chaperoness for the evening were Mrs. C. M. Ballenger and Mrs. Howard. Hosts were Messrs. Orval Marshall, Edgar Neal, Bob O'Hair, Marlin Hamilton, Will Ed Watson, Felix Ballenger, Mina Watkins, Bob Pressley, Aubrey Edwards, Raymond Barrier, Jack Copeland, Billie Murray and Dallas Cheser.

Mrs. Ellsworth Is Honored At Party

Bridge Party For Visitor Has Novel Hallowe'en Theme; Variety Of Favors Given

Mrs. Emily T. Ellsworth of Richmond, Utah, who is visiting in Lubbock as the guest of her son and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Ellsworth, was named as honor guest for the attractive Hallowe'en bridge party given Friday evening at the Ellsworth home.

Motifs in keeping with the approaching season were used effectively in the decoration of the home, with the yellow chrysanthemums carrying out the Hallowe'en colors of orange and black. On either side of the mantel were black cats and in the center a pumpkin face with teeth of seeds. On the teeth were numbers and as bridge scores were won, the prizes were awarded by the numbers on the teeth. Tallies for the games were witches, with spider webs as score cards.

Guests for the evening party included Messrs. and Mesdames Alfred Cunningham, W. L. Stangel, A. H. Leidigh, E. Y. Freeland, S. J. Boller; Misses Twyford, Katharine Harper Mrs. Holden; Messrs. Carroll and R. J. Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Heffington and Norman Earl, of Fort Worth are visiting in Lubbock as the guests of Mrs. Mattie O'Hair. Mrs. Heffington was formerly Miss Gladys Babcock.

Little Theater Director Names Cast For First Play Of Season

Ellis Heineman And Mrs. McCelvey Are Leads In Popular Comedy To Be Given By Local Group In November

Mrs. Allan T. Strout Directs "The Queen's Husband"; Mrs. France Baker Is In Charge Of Tickets

Mrs. Allan L. Strout has announced the cast for "The Queen's Husband", the first play to be presented by the Little Theatre this season.

Ellis R. Heineman and Mrs. G. E. McCelvey head the list of characters, being cast in the roles of the king and Queen.

Mrs. Strout is a graduate of the Speech department of Northwestern University and has directed college and little theatre plays having been with the Swarthmore Chautauqua in Swarthmore, Pennsylvania for two seasons and in addition winning a prize for the best original pageant in Nova Scotia at one time. She is also famaliar with non-professional stage work.

Mrs. France Baker has charge of the season tickets sales, a season ticket costing two dollars and admitting one to four plays during the coming season.

"The Queen's Husband" which will be staged at the Lubbock high school auditorium is a clever satire of country life.

Characters are as follows: King Eric played by Ellis R. Heineman; General Northump Prime Minister played by Frank McKnit; Lord Birten, Dr. Leroy T. Patton; Granton, the King's secretary, Johnnie Campbell; Laker, an anarchist, James Gordon; Prince William Lewis Baker; Petley, a footman, Bowen; Major Blent, aide-de-camp, Charles Rodeffer Queen Martha, Mrs. G. E. McCelvey; Princess Anne, Miss Sophie Favor; Nan, the two ladies-in-waiting, Misses Graves and Rutherford, a Rutherford, soldier, Gordon Dickey and a sergeant, Benjamin Powell.

"Mother Singers" To Appear Before P.T.A. Convention

Music Chairman Requests That Singing Be Made A Part Of The Program For Club Meetings

"Mother Singers" will make their first appearance at an annual convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations which is to be held in Waco, November 18-21.

At that time Mrs. F. L. Jacquard, of Fort Worth, state music chairman, will direct groups of singers from different parts of Texas in singing selections such as the "Bridal Chorus" from the "Rose Maiden" by Cowen and songs from the national music sheet.

This movement to have "mother singers" at the twenty-first convention of the Texas Congress, is a part of the plan of the national chairman of music, who according to Mrs. Jacquard, has urged the formation of groups of singers in each council and has asked that singing be made a part of every regular meeting.

"I am hoping to have," said Mrs. Jacquard, a real 'sing-song' at our state convention and have asked the parent-teacher units in the state that have choruses that might attend as a unit or in part to notify me at once. We have gradually built up a real department I feel, and I believe the time has come when we should demonstrate the value to the congress. From all over the state have come reports of the work of the music chairmen. Our own chorus in Fort Worth has been very helpful on many occasions and is planning real work for this coming season."

Mrs. Helen McBride, of Louisville, Ky., the national music chairman, Mrs. Jacquard continued, in a letter to state presidents and state chairmen urges them to have singing a part of each meeting, using P. T. A. and community songs. She asks for material and suggestions for a new P-T. A. song book. Each state is asked to organize groups of singers to learn the choruses listed below and to send representatives to the national mothers singers chorus which will sing at the national convention next year in Denver. The choruses selected are Psalm 150, "The Thrushes", "Where Go the Boats", "Drowsily Come the Sheep", "My Lover is a Fisherman", "Vira Bianca Tutor."

Scarf Plays Double Role In Smart Fall Ensembles

Scarfs change from sporty, nonchalant affairs to take on subtle feminine character and thus re-establish themselves as vanities indispensable to the winter's mode.

New scarfs are retiring in their color, usually agreeing perfectly with a costume's predominating tone. Some tie under the chin, in saucy manner; some swing to great length, with circular ends that make veritable sheer capes of loveliness for evening gowns.

Many Social Activities Are Held In South Plains During Past Week, Clubs Meet For Regular Program

Father And Son Banquet Is Held In Slaton At First Baptist Church; Dinner Honors Visitor

This has been a week of parties in South Plains towns. The clubs have met in regular session and there has been a variety of socialities evidenced. Many students are in Lubbock this week-end having come to see the football classic between Texas Christian university and Texas college. Tech students from over the South Plains are planning to be away from the city during the season per entertaining their parents in many instances.

Miss Thelma Lee and Rachel Daniel, of Slaton, entertained last Friday evening at the home of Miss Daniel, 350 South 10th street.

After an evening spent in playing games, refreshments of cake and punch were served to eighteen guests.

The Royal Ambassadors of Slaton held a meeting Thursday night at the Baptist church and 15 new members were initiated by the leader, O. M. Ramsey.

The initiation was followed by a father and son banquet furnished by the mothers of the regular members. An interesting feature of the evening was a toast, "To Fathers" given by Morris Ward while other numbers were a solo by L. A. Wilson and an address by Dr. W. R. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, Lubbock.

There were about 75 in attendance.

Mrs. J. C. Stimson, of Snyder, entertained at dinner last Thursday at 7:30 o'clock in honor of her husband's birthday.

A three-course meal was served after which games of bridge and forty-two were played in the living-room which had been converted into a miniature golf course, each table complete with sand boxes and putting green.

The guests presented Mr. and Mrs. Stimson with a silver basket.

Included in the [illegible] in attendance was Tom Grayum, of Lubbock.

Members P. C. Chenault, E. J. Richard[illegible] and W. B. King were [illegible] most delightful [illegible] at the home of Mrs. Chenault last Thursday morning. Lovely autumn flowers lent beauty and charm to the attractive home. Following a series of games the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Jenkins gave a six o'clock dinner Friday evening honoring their son Dan, who is at home on a two weeks' furlough following his graduation from the Army Air Corps flying school at Kelly Field October 11. The guest with the exception of three were Dana classmates and all were members of the graduating class of 1924 from the Floydada high school.

The invitation was carried out in the decorations and table appointments. Games of bridge were played after dinner had been served.

Miss Mary Gene Owens is visiting with friends in Dallas for several days.

Artist Course To Open With Lecture By Burton Holmes

International Travelogue Man To Speak On "The Glories Of Paris" At The College

Burton Holmes, nationally famous travelogue man, is to appear at the gymnasium at Texas Technological college on the evening of Thursday, October 31, bringing his world films and slides together with his fascinating travel talks.

The Burton Holmes travelogues have been an institution in seventeen of America's largest cities for as many years. In his particular line of work, Mr. Holmes is an international figure. Each year he visits some far-off corner of the world, gathering material in the form of remarkably fine films and still pictures. Because of his reputation as the dean of travelogue men, both here and abroad, he is given an entree in far-off places that are inaccessible to others who seek rare pictures.

Mr. Holmes is featuring two subjects this season "The Glories of Paris" and "Siam, the Land of Chang", the first of which will be given in Lubbock.

Throughout all of the years of his lecturing in the metropolitan centers of America, he has maintained a very high standard of excellency in his pictures and in his fascinating interesting talks. It is a noteworthy fact that the largest lecture halls in America are usually filled to capacity when a Burton Holmes travelogue is announced.

BURTON HOLMES

The WOMAN'S DAY

London may be a man's town—they say it is—but there are indications that it plays up to its women, just the same.

For instance, the Savoy Hotel has just redecorated and renovated itself, and instead of doing its chairs in one consecutive color—say a dull, drab, denim—they run the gamut of color; reds from shrimp pink to lobster, browns from beige to sable, and a wide selection of blues.

This effect was not inspired by the rainbow, or by Joseph's coat, but inaugurated so that a woman may complete her theater ensemble right in the chair itself. If she is wearing a red dress, she will find upholstery that will just complement or properly contrast it.

The box office plans, from which seats are selected, are tinted the color of the seat, so that the whole effect may be calculated when the tickets are purchased. Just how a woman will reconcile this service with her well known and generally accepted practice of changing her mind at the last minute about what she wants to wear, it is too soon to tell.

And of course an important consideration is here overlooked—the fact that the upholstery may be prettier than the gown, and thus spoil everything.

Personally, I should favor the idea of paying more attention to what was put on the stage and less on the chairs. Good plays, in these days, are much rarer than good upholstery and the perfect ensemble can be carried so far it loses its point. If [illegible] you've got to match the universe I quit.

GLAMOR FOR SHOPPERS

In line with this, one of New York's newest department stores has tried to add further glamor to shopping.

If you want to buy a riding habit, there is a life-sized horse to mount, to know exactly what sort of a picture you will make. If you want to buy a mattress there is a boudoir bed, hard by with a chaise longue and many pillows among which to nestle, so you carry the atmosphere of leisure to the limit. You get your luggage from a department store done up to look like the hold of a ship, and you can parade through a pillared foyer and imagine you are in the lobby of the Metropolitan Opera House when you try on your evening wraps.

If they would only furnish a bank account to match your desires!

Cooking School Recipes Are Given

Mrs. Myra Oliver Dougan Gives Menus As Used In Bread Combinations On Wednesday

Judging from the interest that has been taken by the women of the city, the Wednesday afternoon program of the sixth annual Avalanche-Journal cooking school was one of the most successful sessions of the school.

It was at that time that Mrs. Myra Oliver Dougan, the famed home economist, gave several combinations to be used in the preparation of rolls and buns, including orange rolls, a new experiment with her as well as with the audience.

The recipes, which she used on that day, are given below:

BREAD DAY

Ice Box Rolls

7 1-2 cups flour, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-2 cup warm water, 2 cups sweet milk, 1 tablespoon salt, 4 tablespoons Crisco, 2 yeast cakes.

Scald and let Crisco melt in milk while heating. While this is cooling to luke warm temperature, sift 7 cups of flour into mixing bowl. When milk is right temperature, pour into flour and stir gradually, using spoon until stiff enough for hand. Add other half cup flour as needed to work in pan. Work thoroughly and grease inside of pan and top of dough. Set to rise at 78 to 80 degrees until double in bulk. Then work thoroughly again and make into desired shape to rise again to double in bulk and bake. Any dough not used may be put in covered, greased vessel and kept in refrigerator. This will rise unless refrigerator has normal temperature of 45 to 50 degre Farenheit.

Sticky Cinnamon Buns

Roll part of ice box roll dough into oblong slab, about 1-2 inch thick. Spread with melted Crisco, sugar, cinnamon and chopped nuts if desired. Roll and cut crosswise. Place in Criscoed pan with brown sugar, cinnamon and nuts distributed evenly over bottom. Turn roll on to cut side and grease tops. Let rise to double in size and bake in 400 degree oven. When done, invert pan so nuts will be on top.

Bread Stick Birds

Use strip of ice box roll dough. Roll out 1-2 inch thick; cut in strips 1-2 inch wide; roll gently, cover with cloth and let rise 15 minutes. Pie and shape like birds. Let rise again, brush with egg white and bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Reduce to 350 degrees and bake until delicately browned. Make eyes by dipping wet brush in cinnamon.

Quick Bread—Standard Recipe

2 cups flour, 4 tablespoons Crisco (heaping), 2 level teaspoons Calumet baking powder, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt.

Forget-Me-Not Biscuit

Shape biscuit dough into tiny round balls. Put 5 balls into each greased muffin ring; bake 15 minutes in hot oven (400 degrees); brush with egg white, and sprinkle with colored sugar, pink, blue and yellow. Serve with salads.

Santone Rolls

Use biscuit dough—roll in oblong shape, 1-2 inch thick, spread with Gebhardt's deviled sandwich spread. Roll up and cut across roll. Turn cut side down into greased muffin rings and bake in hot oven, as any other biscuit. Serve in place of sandwich for luncheons and parties.

Georgia Peach Custard

1 1-2 cups flour, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon K. C. baking powder, 1-4 cup milk, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 teaspoons Crisco, 1 egg.

Sift all dry ingredients together, cut in Crisco, add egg and milk. Mix carefully and spread in pie plate with spatula. Fill crust with peaches cut in half.

Pour over peaches a custard made of one egg, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup milk and a dash of Schilling's pastry spice. Bake about 30 minutes in a 375 degree oven, or until custard sets.

Tropical Gingerbread

1-2 cup Crisco, 1-2 cup sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, 1-2 cup dark syrup, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 1-2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon Schilling's ginger and cinnamon each, 1-4 teaspoon each nutmeg, cloves, allspice and salt, 1 package southern style moist cocoanut, 1-2 cup cold water.

Cream Crisco and sugar and eggs well beaten. Dissolve soda in molasses and add to first mixture. Sift all dry ingredients together and add alternately with the cold water. Lastly, add the cocoanut. Turn into criscoed pan and bake 30 minutes at 375 degrees. Serve with whipped cream.

Orange Rolls

Dissolve 1 yeast cake in 1-2 cup lukewarm water, add one beaten egg, 1 tablespoon melted Crisco, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 cup lukewarm water, juice, rind and pulp of two oranges, 3 cups bread flour.

Knead and let rise on hour. Knead again and shape like Parker House rolls and put 1-2 section of orange pulp in center. Let rise until double in size. Bake 25 minutes. While hot spread on top and between the orange butter icing.

Icing: 1 1-2 cups powdered sugar, 4 to 6 teaspoons orange juice, 1 teaspoon melted butter. Beat until smooth and spread.

Ark Revival Is Meeting Success

With a total of 92 responses, including reclamations, re-dedications and baptisms, already recorded, the revival at the Broadway Church of Christ, conducted by Elder Hugh Pitzer, of Breckenridge, will be closed tonight.

Of the total number of responses, there have been 25 baptisms.

Services start this morning at 10 o'clock and this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Leaders of the local church proclaim the present revival one of the most inspirational in history of the Broadway Church of Christ.

Despite of prohibition, it is estimated nearly 20,000 bars in London.

DEAN MAKES TRIP

Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the School of Home Economics will be in Austin November 1 and 2, for a conference of the heads of the Home Economics departments in Texas colleges. The meeting has been called by the committees on child development and parental education of the American Home Economics association.

Its purpose is to discuss how college departments of Home Economics can best make their contributions to the pre-parental education of students. Similar conferences have recently been held in Kansas, Iowa and Minnesota.

SCIENCE CLUB PLANS

Members of the science club have worked out a temporary schedule for the meetings of that organization this year. It includes a field trip in November, study of phases of nutrition in December, and exchange speaker from A. & M. College in January, phases of engineering in February, aeroplanes and designs in March, aspects of Physics in April and in May an address from the retiring president, Dr. W. T. Reed.

Other officers of the club are: R. A. Studhalter, secretary, and C. L. Svenson, treasurer. A plan is being made to send an exchange speaker to A. & M. at some time this year.

LUBBOCK CLUB OFFICERS

Graduates of Lubbock High school organized for this year and elected officers at the first meeting of the club. Frank Maddox was elected president. Other officers are: David Powell, vice president, Alice Claire Teague, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Zella Riegal was chosen sponsor. Plans for a Hallowe'en party were partially made and it was decided to hold a call meeting soon to further them. About forty students are members of the club.

SELLING WEST TEXAS TO THE WORLD

It was a timely suggestion that the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce made to the convention assembled of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at El Paso Thursday, to the effect that an advertising campaign be waged for the purpose of letting the world know about West Texas.

While there has been much publicity broadcast throughout these United States of and about West Texas during the past several years, and while there are thousands of people somewhat cognizant of this vast empire, hardly a pebble's worth of impression has yet been made upon the sea of public consciousness outside the state.

As results obtained by the Lubbock Board of Civic Development in advertising the South Plains through the unit of the South Plains, Inc., have proved exceedingly gratifying, it stands to reason that an adequate campaign carried on through the columns of national magazines of wide circulation would secure similar results for West Texas.

It is difficult for citizens of West Texas to realize the amazement and astonishment aroused in the minds of citizens of other states when they are told the complete story of the marvelous development, the wonderful undeveloped natural resources, the character of our citizenry and the gigantic size of the domain.

Unvarnished truth is that few West Texans themselves are full aware of what has been and of what is being accomplished everywhere in this area.

Few West Texans comparatively speaking, have become imbued with the complete spirit of their section.

To us this spirit is best expressed through an application of the following statement, made recently by a visitor to Lubbock who came from Washington, D. C.:

"There is no other part of America, it seems to me upon first impression," this gentleman remarked, "where the sky is so big."

Applied to all West Texas, this expression can be meant in saying:

"Another sky is bigger here so do our people possess a bigger vision."

Had it not been so the West Texas Chamber of Commerce could not have become the largest regional organization of its nature in the universe. Accomplishments of the WTCC have already affected every portion of our entire great state.

Comes now the time to send word out of the state. Time now comes for publishing everywhere the romantic appeal of a robust and youthful giant — a new land of sunshine and vistas of home surrounding eternity of unlimited and undreamed-of opportunities.

CORONIUM

Two men, when telling me to move that a tree in the valley, stretching their arms outward, each left just a little distance for knowledge. Helium, presence, symmetry, the sun, was searched for and found on earth and in a small reflector, found for fundamental machines.

What can there be, I suppose, as in the stars as the same reason than indicate of matter, a new element to which establishment has given the name coronium?

Dr. John A. Miller, director of the Bureau Observatory of Smithsonian Affairs, delivering the first of the annual Bergstresser lectures before the Franklin Institute, told scientists gathered there that coronium is the element responsible for the mystery of the corona, that luminous ring which appears around the sun's disk during total eclipses. Coronium, he said, is to be found and what is to be done with it.

Dr. Miller's announcement may become good to know about when we have more time.

LIVING CHRISTMAS TREES

Already in the Northland preparations are being made for the great harvest of Christmas trees. In a few weeks carloads and shiploads of conifers will be speeding toward thousands of cities and towns throughout the country. Each year millions are cut, transported, decorated and cast off as rubbish or cut into firewood.

This tremendous and growing demand for Christmas trees, coupled with forest conservation talk, has in recent years been the cause of no little worry for the lumber corporation and those of the older generation who harvest their crop of this favored culture. For the United State forest service, however, a word of consolation.

It has pointed out that Christmas trees are not necessarily enemies of conservation. Within reason their use may be made beneficial. This is in answer not to tight-minded Scrooges, but to those who are disturbed by the thought that they may be taking the tree from economic uses of greater good to man. The forest service has found that in this case the economic use is not necessarily the highest use.

There is no other use to which the trees could be put that would contribute as much to the joy of man as their use by children on the greatest holiday of the year.

Perpetuation of an adequate supply of trees for this use is promised in a movement under way to set young living trees instead of cutting down great evergreens of the forest. Planted in tubs, these trees not only blossom in the symbolism of the Christmas season but also carry the clinging freshness of the pine and their fragrance through the winter and later on add their strength to the young growth of the forest or transfer their beauty to the garden or the field. And then may be obtained by thinning out the conifer forests with benefit to the remaining trees.

Back in the old days in England they hanged men for lesser offenses than tarnishing a corncob pipe before putting it on sale.

DESPITE ADVERSE SENATE VOTE, CUTTING WOULD TRUST U. S. PUBLIC WITH CHOICE OF OWN LITERATURE

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Staff Writer)

A public too benighted to be trusted with the choice of its own literature certainly is not enlightened enough to be trusted with the choice of its own lawmakers.

So argued Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico on the senate floor a few days ago.

Up in the press gallery we generally agreed that it sounded reasonable. By no means all of us concurred, however, in Senator Cutting's implied claim that the American public throughout all our 48 states is enlightened enough to be trusted with the choice of its own lawmakers—considering the kind of lawmakers that some of these states actually do send to Washington.

The senate promptly verified the judgment of the skeptics in the press gallery.

By a majority of 48 to 22 it voted that the public is not enlightened enough to be trusted with the choice of its own literature. It seems as if the American public might be interested to know who the senators are, who place so low an estimate upon its intelligence.

They are:

Senators Heflin, Alabama; Shortridge, California; Phipps and Waterman, Colorado; Bingham and Walcott, Connecticut; Hastings, Delaware; Trammel, Florida; Thomas, Idaho; Deneen and Glenn, Illinois; Robinson and Watson, Indiana; Allen and Capper, Kansas; Barkley and Sackett, Kentucky; Broussard and Randdell, Louisiana; Gould and Hale, Maine; Goldsborough, Maryland; Gillette, Massachusetts; Couzens and Vandenburg, Michigan; Schall, Minnesota; Stephens, Mississippi; Patterson, Missouri; Oddie, Nevada; Keyes and Moses, New Hampshire; Overman, North Carolina; Fess, Ohio; McNary and Steiwer, Oregon; Reed, Pennsylvania; Metcalf, Rhode Island; Smith, South Carolina; Brock, Tennessee; Connally and Sheppard, Texas; Smoot, Utah; Greene, Vermont; Glass, Virginia; Jones, Washington; Goff and Hatfield, West Virginia; Warren, Wyoming.

Forty-one out of these 48 senators rate the American public's literary judgment (hence also, presumably, its competency to choose its own lawmakers) at absolute zero.

Seven of them grade the public a little better than that.

As they explained, they do not believe the public safe in permitting itself to be incited to violence against its government. Otherwise, they gave it as their opinion that the public may suffer itself at no very serious risk to wallow in whatever sort of reading matter may happen to catch its fancy.

Senator Tydings of Maryland tried to convince them that the public will not necessarily rebel, even though incited to rebellion.

Senator Cutting reminded them that incitement to violence may be positively a good thing in certain emergencies—mentioning in illustration the Declaration of Independence, which he referred to as a very revolutionary document at the time it was written.

The anti-violence senators talked nevertheless, saving three times are "different."

Finally Senator Cutting yielded.

Very well—he agreed. Suppose we bar violence. Has the public sense enough to choose the rest of its own literature?

This time he got a majority—though a small one. Senators Broussard, Connally, Couzens, Gillett, Glenn, Ransdell and Walcott flooped over to the view that the public has got that much sense.

Senator Blease of South Carolina, rather peculiarly flooped the other way. Senator Norbeck of South Dakota, who originally voted that the public's judgment is okay, was absent the second time but Senator Pine of Oklahoma, absent on the initial vote made up for the loss by voting as Norbeck had done previously.

Diet and Health

ADD CALORIES EVERY DAY, IF YOU ARE UNDER WEIGHT, ADVISES DOCTOR PETERS

BY LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

This Is On How to Gain Weight!

It seems to me that "general interest" chiefly means how can I lose weight! To those of us who would make any sacrifice for just five pounds of good, natural flesh, this expounding on losing weight is almost boring. Take me, for instance: I am 5 ft. 5 in. in height and weigh 100 pounds. Folks say I look stylish, but I would rather be pleasingly plump. However it doesn't run in my family. Do you know anything that would overcome hereditary tendencies to the extent of a few pounds? The only ailment I am aware of is catarrh, especially on arising in the morning. Now I am going to read your column every day with the hope of seeing something of personal interest. D. G.

We get severe doubtings like this every once in a while. But it doesn't ruffle us. We keep right on meeting them, because we know that there is no subject that we can harp on persistently that will produce such returns in physical health and happiness as this subject of how to reduce and stay reduced, an dhow to prevent the necessity of having to reduce. But my dear Miss D. G., and others who belong to the T. T. T. (Too-Too-Thins), I DO write to your sorority rather frequently, and you should know—as I point it out frequently—that this advice on losing can be put into the reverse and used by you just as profitably as it can by the F. F. F. (Friendly Fat Fraternity).

For instance, I tell them to cut off 1000 C a day from the diet that their weight remains stationary on the maintenance diet—and they will lose one-quarter of a pound a day. Now what should you read, for your case? . . . Certainly! ADD 1000 C a day.

Of course, as I have warned you, you mustn't add the full amount all at once. Do it gradually by taking some foods between meals, a glass of half milk and cream, say, or an egg nog, or a handful of nuts; and do this every day. And be sure to get your vitamin B, the appetite-stimulating vitamin. Have a dailful of tomatoes or cabbage, or three or four oranges, or other fresh fruit, every day. At your meals when you think you have reached the point where you can't take another mouthful, do take two or three more mouthfuls. That's the way those of us who have to fight overweight do—we continue to eat after our hunger has been satisfied—always, simply because it tastes good and that's one of the reasons we are overweight. If we would never eat except to satisfy natural hunger, we wouldn't be overweight.

Of course, I'm assuming you have no physical disorders which is the cause of your thinness. You say you have catarrh, D. G. That may both be a cause and the result of your thinness. You must be on a very deficient diet, which is proved by your great underweight, therefore your mucous membranes (as well as other organs) have a lowered resistance, and lowered resistance of the mucous membranes often results in the slow infection which causes catarrh. Then the catarrh makes for added thinness—so a vicious circle is formed.

There is no such thing as hereditary thinness, no more than hereditary fatness, D. G. The type of framework of the body can be inherited, but not the amount of padding—that depends upon your diet. Members of the same family are not infrequently of the same type so far as padding is concerned because they eat at the same table, and children are brought up to like the same things their parents like.

Have you our pamphlet on Reducing and Gaining, D. G.? Send for this and better ask also for our Rhythm Test exercises, and for the article on Colds, Catarrh, etc.

"MY TRUE-LOVE HATH MY HEART"

From the Arcadia

My true-love hath my heart and I have his,
By just exchange one for the other given;
I hold his dear, and mine he cannot miss;
There never was a better bargain driven.
His heart in me keeps him and me in one,
My heart in him his thoughts and senses guides;
He loves my heart, for once it was his own,
I cherish his because in me it bides.
His heart his wound received from my sight,
My heart was wounded with his wounded heart;
For as from me, on him, his hurt did light,
So still me thought in me his heart did smart,
Both equal hurt, in this change sought our bliss,
My true love hath my heart and I have his.

Obregon's Name In Gold Letters To Be Unveiled

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Oct. 26. (AP)—The name Alvaro Obregon, in gold letters on the inside wall of the chamber of deputies will be unveiled at a joint meeting of congress, attended by President Portes Gil and his cabinet next month.

The name has been added to the list which covers the wall to the left of the speaker's desk. Only the outstanding of Mexican heroes are represented in the list.

RUSTLERS SOUGHT

Cattle Stealing Practiced In Shadow Of Houston

HOUSTON, Oct. 26. (AP)—Almost within the shadow of the taller buildings in this, one of the big cities of Texas, cattle rustlers still sally forth now and then under cover of darkness.

Recognizing the menace, the Tomball chamber of commerce has appointed a committee to look into the proposed formation of an anti-cattle theft association for northern Harris county. A reward of $10 would be offered for each theft conviction.

HAS O'HENRY SUITE

Austin Man Has Furniture Used By Famed Author

AUSTIN, Oct. 26 (AP)—K. C. Miller, Austin furniture dealer, has an old bedroom suite which a junk dealer probably would scorn but for which he has refused several valuable offers.

The suite consists of a faded old dresser and mirror, a small washstand and a rickety bedstead which O. Henry used when he lived here. Back in the nineties, Miller gave the famous short story writer a few dollars for the furniture.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Helen Page thinks she is in love with her guardian, Leonard Brent who changes his plans for her future after meeting a dying man named Nellin. Brent presents the girl to a millionaire, Cyril Cunningham, as his heiress and offers proof which the lonely old man accepts without much question.

Among Helen's new friends are Eva Ennis and her brother Robert. Brent finds another locket like the one he had taken from Nellin to prove Helen the heiress and plots to get Cunningham out of the way quickly. He slyly administers a shock which proves fatal and the servants find the old man dead in bed. Then he wins Helen's promise to marry him. Later she and Bob realize they love each other, but she tells him she is engaged. She tries to get Brent to release her, but he refuses and makes dire threats if she dares to marry Bob.

Eva resents Helen's treatment of her brother, which has driven him to flirting with Shallimar Morris. She scolds Bob and he tells her Helen is engaged to Brent. She collapses after admitting that Brent has been making love to her and then in a fit of hysteria tries to take poison, but they prevent it. Helen and Bob try to tell her what sad Brent is, but Eva insists that she must see him. Helen decides to see him first, and they quarrel. When she says that she and Bob have made up, he tells her that she is not the Cunningham heiress but the daughter of a noted crook and if she refuses to marry him he will expose her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII

"Bob will believe me!"

Helen declared her faith in her lover's trust without a moment's hesitation.

Surprisingly Brent nodded his head in agreement. "Won't you sit down now?" he said. "I've something more to say to you." He glanced at his watch. "Or perhaps you'd better send your friend Shallimar off to the station before we go on with this."

Helen sank into a chair. "She's in the breakfast room," she said weakly. "Tell her I'd like her to take a later train; I can't see her off now."

Brent left to do her bidding, but was quickly back. He noted, as soon as he entered the room, a change in Helen. Given a few moments to think she had decided he was lying to her, tricking her.

How simple it was, of course. She felt like laughing, only somehow there was, strangely, inexplicably, an odor of truth about it all. She fought against it.

"I hated to tell you this," Brent began, deceived by her manner into thinking she was not going to take it so hard after all.

"I don't believe a word you have said," she stated emphatically.

"You don't?" Brent came close, grasped her wrists with cruel strength, forced her down into the chair and towered over her in a menacing attitude.

"You don't?" he repeated. "Then listen to me. I can prove that you are Helen Page and not Cunningham's granddaughter. That will be easy."

Helen still defied him. "But you cannot prove what is not true," she cried. "You cannot prove that I had anything to do with your fraud."

"It will not be necessary to prove it," Brent retorted. "If you persist in marrying young Ennis I shall make your story front page newspaper stuff inside 24 hours. What then? You aren't Helen Nellin, don't forget that. You'll be toppled from your high and mighty seat to the gutter—possibly you'll have a chance to learn what women's prisons were built for."

"But you . . . you would go to prison too," Helen stammered.

"Don't be a fool," Brent snapped at her. "I'll be safely out of it. You'll be left to stand the gaff alone. Your exposure will come through information that I shall supply indirectly to the authorities. I'll give the whole thing to the newspapers at the same time. Let your boy friend stand by you then. Suppose you went free—there'd always be a doubt in the public mind about your innocence. What would that mean to Ennis?"

Helen saw at once that it would be irreparable injury to his career, but only the deepening pain in her eyes answered Brent. It was enough.

"Do for him, wouldn't it? Even if he believed you, and there's a good chance that he won't."

Helen had one lucid thought. "He will believe me," she said, "because he will know that I wouldn't have dared to think of marrying him if this were true and you held me in your power."

Brent regarded her admiringly. "Rather clever," he praised. "But not weighty enough. He's apt to imagine you thought you could handle me."

"Oh, you are fiendish!"

"Merely determined, my dear that no upstart like Ennis is going to spoil my plans now."

"Then you think I will consent to go on with this deception . . . , this imposture?" Helen cried, amazed that he should know her so little he could believe such a thing possible.

"For the sake of millions, and your liberty, yes," Brent admitted.

"It's unthinkable!" Helen stormed. "You will have to prove what you have said—that I am not Helen Cunningham's daughter—and if it is true I shall renounce the fortune myself!"

"Oh, you will?" Brent sneered. "Well, my noble young lady, do that trifling little thing and you'll have plenty of time to repent behind the bars."

"But you can't prove that I—"

"Are you really so dense that you fail to see your position itself will prove it for me?" Brent cut in. "Confession on my part will throw the burden of defense on you, and what will you fight with? You haven't a penny of your own. And you will need money, and friends. Public opinion, public sympathy will be against you from the start—taking in a dying old man—giving him Judas kisses—lying to him, just waiting for him to—"

"Oh, no, no," Helen wailed.

"A pretty picture, no?" Brent pressed on. "Daughter of once famous crook comes into her own as queen of imposters. Blindly infatuated young law student remains loyal, turning his back upon his career for the sake of a bewitching face. No so bad, eh? I'll make it dramatic enough, don't worry!"

* * *

Helen bowed her face in her hands and Brent observed her shaking young body without pity.

"On the other hand," he said at last, "you can have everything. And love is not a lasting thing, Helen. Don't be hoodwinked by that notion. It's been exploded too many times. Astonishing that anyone continues to believe in it. You will forget Ennis, even if it takes time. But you never could forget—the world wouldn't let you—that you had ruined his life, robbed him of his chance to look every man in the face—that seems to be the absurd ambition of any number of brainless idiots," he added dryly.

"I . . . I don't have to marry him," Helen gulped. "I can give the money back to Mr. Cunningham's lawyer and go away somewhere."

"Yes, if the police will let you," Brent agreed.

"You will tell, whether I marry Bob or not? You wouldn't let me restore the money and—"

"Certainly not," Brent returned firmly. "You will either marry me or face exposure. And I warn you, Helen, I won't stand for any nonsense. You'll come through all the way or you'll take the rap—underworld jargon," he smiled with mock apology. "It means plenty. You've led a sheltered life, my dear, you know nothing whatsoever of the hell that awaits you if you let yourself in for a stretch up the river. Better give it a lot of thought before you decide."

"There isn't anything to decide," Helen said brokenly. "I cannot marry you."

For a moment Brent said nothing. "You may feel differently about it when you've had time to think it over. In the meantime you might go into social service and find out at first hand what happens to jailbirds. And—if you can arrange it—go take a look at the poor devils in prison. Don't settle your fate blindly, without knowing what you're doing. You'll never be able to undo it. You'd be in the morgue in no time at all after they let you go with your prison pallor and your prison-marked soul. A girl like you! God, you'd become a dope fiend!"

Helen shrank down into her chair. The back of her hand flew to her mouth to stifle a scream.

"I think life with me would be preferable to that," Brent continued. "As your husband I should be far more interested in your fortune than in you, Helen. I am not fortunately, in love with you."

"You mean," Helen looked at him hopefully, "that you wouldn't want to live with me?"

* * *

Brent shrugged. Having gained a point he was willing to concede one, as promises meant nothing to him. Helen's question signified the a weakening wedge had entered her horror-filled mind, giving him his first tangible advantage.

Her next question was less pleasing. "Why?" she asked, "couldn't I give you half the money if. . . . if you can prove that I am not Helen Nellin, and I decide to keep it?"

"What a bright idea!" Brent exclaimed sarcastically. "Don't you know that the money isn't under your control, and that it would direct suspicion upon both of us if you gave away any large amount of it?"

He did not add that it was his intention to gain possession of her entire fortune in time.

The ray of hope, if she'd really entertained it, faded out of Helen's mind. Her native honesty conquered it.

"I can't do it," she sobbed.

"Snap out of it," Brent commanded harshly. "I'm not an ogre. I'll keep out of your way. It is merely a matter of convenience."

Helen wiped her eyes. "But if I'm not Helen Nellin I can't keep the money," she declared.

"Why not? Even when you consider it on the basis of fairness, you have a right to it. The right of possession. Different perhaps—even I will admit it—if there were other heirs—a real Helen Nellin—Evangeline, rather. You see, you never had her name. Helen is your only given name, and not Evangeline Helen as you supposed."

"Evangeline," Helen repeated after him. "I can't believe you yet Leonard but if there is a real Evangeline Nellin I'm going to find her."

"Don't get excited," Brent advised, "I've attended to that. I've had her searched for practically all over the face of the globe."

"Do you expect me to believe that?" Helen blazed at him.

"Well, you know that Mr. Cunningham could not find her. And if he could not, how can you? No, it's hopeless, Helen. She's probably dead, and if she isn't she'd not likely to turn up. There is no reason but a mad infatuation for an obscure fortune seeker why you should wreck your life and make it a hell forever."

Helen jumped to her feet.

"Oh please go," she cried; "and let me alone."

"In a moment," Brent said; "but first there is one thing more."

WEEDS ARE COSTLY

The loss through weeds in the United States every year is more than a billion dollars and every state but Georgia has passed laws promoting pure seed to remedy this according to Dr. George Smith of the Farm Seed association.

BIRDS BANNED

SMYRNA (AP)—Prisoners in the Turkish jail here, who have been allowed for many years the diversion of training carrier pigeons, have lost that privilege. It was discovered that the birds brought opium and hashcesh into the prison.

Easterwood Will Speak At Snyder

Dallas Man Addresses Legion Reorganization Session At Snyder Today; Many To Attend

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

SNYDER, Oct. 26.—Col. William F. Easterwood, Jr., of Dallas, member of the National Acronautics committee of the American Legion will be the principal speaker and guest of the re-organization of the American Legion Post for Snyder and Scurry county Sunday afternoon, October 27th.

Col. Easterwood has only recently returned from completing plans in Italy, Germany, France, England, Spain, Belgium and Switzerland for the $25,000 flight prize he has personally offered to the first aviator making a successful flight by airplane heavier than air from Rome, Italy, across the Atlantic Ocean to New York City, thence to Dallas, the flight to be completed previous to midnight of Sept. 19th, 1930.

The colonel who was one of the principal speakers at the meeting of the West Texas Press association at Abilene promised a local group of American Legion boys that he would attend the Snyder meeting and give them an address on his trip to foreign shores and of what the Legion were doing at other points. Invitations have been issued to all posts in West Texas to join in the local meeting which promises to be one of the largest gatherings ever held in this section as in addition to Legion visitors, citizens and their families have been invited.

ATTORNEYS TO MEET

City Officials To Gather In Galveston, Dec. 6-7

GALVESTON, Oct. 26 (AP)—City attorneys of Texas will assemble in Galveston Dec. 6 and 7 for their annual state convention. Hon. John McGlason of Waco, president of the association, is general chairman of arrangements for the two day session.

CHINESE LIKE SOFT DRINK

SHANGHAI (AP)—The demand for a certain American summer drink became so strong here that retailers were unable to meet it. The price went up from a nickel to fifteen cents a bottle and even then it could not always be had.

Honest, Fair, Helpful, Constructive Service

—— No Other Service Will Stand The Test Of Time

Practically every individual in America who is actively engaged in some enterprise, advertises in some form, a particular brand of service. He must do this, either to his employer, or for the business he is conducting. But it is only when the public speaks that a firm realizes the value of its service—it always being portentious, significant, consequential. Whether the verdict applies to a national project or personality, a public utility, a private business or an individual.

The public demands service—honest, fair, helpful, constructive service—no other sort of service will stand the test of time—no other sort of service will develop confidence and trust or perpetuate loyalty and patronage. It is our pride that our patrons and public have stood loyal and steadfast in ever increasing numbers. We like to believe that it is a commentary to our unswerving efforts that our business continues to grow and meet the demands of this new country in the great Southwest. It is ours to keep the public trust we hold, and it shall be our greatest pride in giving the kind of service that guarantees public faith.

Man Has To Tie Up Redfish

SAN BENITO, Oct. 26 (AP)—This fish story was believed by a game warden so it ought to go over big everywhere else.

A. R. Tanner of Point Isabel had hooked a bull redfish 40 inches long—six inches more than the legal limit. The game warden pulled over and discovered the catch.

Tanner explained that the big one deliberately had swallowed his hook eight times, each time being thrown back. When it interfered with his fishing for the ninth time he staked it on a line, holding it in custody until his sport was done.

"All right" or words to that effect, the game warden said.

The eyes of such birds as eagles, vultures and buzzards have a telescopic arrangement. Those of smaller birds have microscopic powers.

WILL REMOVE EYE

Elias Paschall, former resident of Crosbyton but now of Abernathy, was in Crosbyton Wednesday night enroute from Dallas to Lubbock.

Paschall's eye was injured three weeks ago when a piece of metal from an ax flew up into it while he was sharpening a wedge. After examination at both the Temple and a Dallas sanitarium, he was told that the eye would have to be removed, and he went to Lubbock where the operation will be performed.

RETURNS FROM ST. LOUIS

W. T. Dunn, secretary of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce, returned Monday from St. Louis where he has been with the exhibit of the Panhandle-South Plains, Inc., for the past ten days at the St. Louis dairy exposition. Prior to this, Dunn spent ten days at Memphis with the exhibit at the Mid-West fair.

Ten hours a day standing in front of a booth telling everybody about the great Panhandle-South Plains section, handing out fifteen thousand pamphlets advertising this section each day, inducing people to uproot themselves from the old soil to come to a new and better one were the daily duties of Secretary Dunn at these expositions.

"The people over the nation are interested in this section of the country," said Dunn. "Many who have been thinking of moving from the old states were convinced by this exhibit that West Texas was the place for them."

RED CROSS DRIVE PLANNED

With initial plans made for the greatest Red Cross membership drive ever staged in Crosby county, the executive committee of the organization adjourned after an hour and a half session in the office of Edgar Hutchins, county judge, Tuesday night.

The spirit of the meeting revealed clearly that it was not merely an annual job in the eyes of the committee, but that they were determined that it be a spirit to launch a great movement in Crosby county for the betterment of conditions here and elsewhere.

Those present at the meeting Tuesday night were Edgar Hutchins, county judge, chairman; the Rev. T. M. Johnston, the Rev. C. E. Dick, Mrs. Percy Lamar and Jim Williams, war veteran chairman.

Miss Pauline Thrower, special representative of the organization for the Panhandle-Plains region, was present and consulted with the committee as to the kind of campaign that was to be conducted in the county.

Committees for each of the towns and communities in the county were elected to manage the campaign. A luncheon was planned for Nov. 5, at which these committees will be invited to complete plans for the drive.

ATTEND MEET AT QUANAH

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wren went to Quanah last Friday to attend a state meeting of the Co-operative Gin association.

This is a new organization, said Roberts here Monday, or rather it is now in the making, and it is the purpose to perfect a super organization of the co-operative ginners of the state soon. There was a good representation of co-operative ginners from over the state at this meeting and another meeting will be called for the near future, he said.

PASTORS EXCHANGE

The Rev. F. S. Vance of Crosbyton and the Rev. Early Arceneaux are exchanging pulpits Sunday night. Vance will go to Lockney to deliver the sermon while the Lockney pastor will speak in Crosbyton at the Church of Christ.

GOES TO AUSTIN

C. E. Huddleston is in Austin this week in the interest of road contracts to be let in Brown and Comanche counties, according to information reaching here Wednesday.

Mrs. Huddleston returned to Crosbyton from Anson for the week while her husband is in the capital city.

GIRLS BASKETBALL BEGUN

With sixteen girls reporting the girls basketball squad of Crosbyton high school came into existance Tuesday afternoon for the 1929 session of the sport. Four others are expected out in the next few practices, which will swell the number to twenty.

Prospects are as good this year, if not better than last, when the team won the county and got up into the district meet. Few players were lost from last year's squad.

W. Robbins and Miss Hazel Mitchell are coaching the squad this year. Miss Mitchell has played for six years, three in high school, and three as Simmons university, having lost only one game during the entire period.

Two practice games have already been matched with Cone to be played in the near future, Robbins stated Wednesday.

Lorenzo News

MRS. R. L. BOWMAN
Staff Co-respondent

BAPTIST W. M. S.

The ladies of the Baptist Woman's Missionary society held a combined meeting of all the circles this Monday at the church. The program was a missionary one on the subject of tithing. Mrs. W. C. Fry had charge of the program and Mrs. W. L. Patillo led the devotional. Members present were Mesdames John Gentry, W. C. Fry, Irl Robertson, Zona Russell, R. Jones, Goode, W. P. Fullingim, M. C. Henry, L. N. Stevens, Emry Pieratt, I. T. Lott.

I-DEAL BRIDGE CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hendrick were host and hostess at an attractive bridge party Tuesday evening at their home on Harrison avenue for the members of the I-Deal Bridge club. Gorgeous red and pink roses grouped effectively in bouquets together with tall floor vases of chrysanthemums formed house decorations.

Four tables were in play with Mrs. Fred Robb and H. F. Pearson totalling high counts in the games.

A delicious salad course with date pudding was served by the hostess assisted by Miss May Tom Howell to the following players: Messrs. and Mesdames J. L. Suits, R. L. Bowman, L. J. Sanders, Roy Abell, J. T. Howell, Fred Robb, H. F. Pearson, Mrs. F. B. Hoople and Mr. Hendrick.

BLUEBONNET CLUB

Mrs. E. L. Nicholson proved a gracious hostess to members of the Bluebonnet club when she entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. P. Nicholson on Van Buren avenue.

Mrs. John Gentry played high for the club members in the games of forty-two, and Mrs. Marvin Pruitt played high for the guests.

THE PEARSONS ENTERTAIN

Among the attractive affairs for the week was a bridge party that was given Wednesday evening at the H. F. Pearson home in west Lorenzo when Mr. and Mrs. Pearson entertained the younger set with a six table party.

The Hallowe'en theme was effectively carried out in the decorations in the home, the same predominating in appointments for the games and in the refreshments.

In the games Miss Pearl Laird and Easter Smith were high score winners with Miss Polly Taylor and Harry Hoople winning second high, each receiving Hallowe'en favors while the same were given as table cuts to Hugh Anderson, Tom Morrison, Mrs. Bruce Hannah, Jack Agee, Buck Stobaugh and Miss Taylor.

A delectable refreshment plate was served to Misses Illene Wampler, Mary Ray Dodson, Nancy Hale, Polly Taylor, Pearl Laird, Lily May Fitzhugh, Inez Cherry, Althea Ragsdale; Messrs. T. P. Scott, Buck Stobaugh, Hugh Anderson, Dick Linn, Harry Hoople, Easter Smith, Buster Blakemore, Elbert Lott; Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Agee, Tom B. Morrison, Bruce Hannah and Payton Powers.

RECEIVES DISTRICT CHAMPSHIP

Mrs. R. L. Bowman is in receipt of a letter this week from Mrs. J. T. Whitmore, of Snyder president-elect of the Seventh District, Texas Federation of Women's clubs, tendering her the division chairmanship of motion pictures in the department of applied education, in the Seventh District for the next two years. Mrs. Bowman has formerly served her district in the capacity of chairman of health during Mrs. W. B. Price's administration, 1925-27, and as chairman of county co-operation during the past administration of Mrs. F. L. Collins, 1927-29, and has attended all district conventions, except the last one at Snyder, since the organization of here home club, the Woman's Study club, in 1922. She was kept away from the Snyder meeting in April by illness.

CHICKEN BANQUET

The men of J. L. Suit's adult class of the Methodist Sunday school being the losers in a recent attendance and studied lessons contest, entertained the ladies of the class, the winners, on Wednesday evening with a barbecued chicken banquet at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Terrell in north Lorenzo.

The meal was planned, cooked and served by a committee of men composed of Paul Dennison, Roy Terrell, J. L. Suits, Floyd Pearson and A. B. Terrell. It was served at one long banquet board and the menu consisted of soup; barbecued chicken, pickles, bread, coffee; pumpkin pie with whipped cream. The Hallowe'en motif was used for house and table decorations while vases of beautiful roses and dahlias were also used to make the table more attractive.

The class teacher, Mr. Suits, made the principal dinner speech, which brought forth many laughs, and a response on behalf of the ladies was given by Mrs. E. Smith.

Following the banquet fun producing games and radio music furnished the diversion. Those present at this unique and very enjoyable occasion were Messrs. and Mesdames S. E. Abernathy, S. B. Upton, Paul Dennison, A. B. Terrell, J. L. Suits, R. L. Bowman, Roy Abell, R. P. Nicholson, Joe Catching, R. L. Durham, E. Smith, Roy Terrell, Floyd Pearson, Mesdames Dewey Sullivan, W. M. Blakemore, Oscar Thornton, Mr. Ferguson and Lee Anderson.

HALLOWE'EN CARNIVAL

Big plans for a Hallowe'en school carnival are under way in Lorenzo. The carnival is to take place next Thursday evening, October 31, at the Sam Powers building north of the bank and now occupied by a used car department. The Lorenzo public school is sponsoring the affair and each club in town has been asked to conduct a booth from which some kind of light refreshments will be sold. Popularity contests will also be featured as a money-making project. A big Hallowe'en parade is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. and everything points toward a big success in the undertaking.

LORENZO MASONS ATTEND

Last Friday evening Messrs. R. L. Durham, E. Smith, Roy Terrell, C. R. and C. E. Westerman, H. C. and H. P. Pearson, Emry Pieratt, Bruce Hannah, S. E. Abernathy, Irl Robertson, Fred Wiese, W. W. Anderson and perhaps others, went to Lubbock to attend a celebration of the "Feast of the Tabernacle" staged by the South Plains Scottish Rite club. R. L. Durham of Lorenzo, who is vice-president of the club, was toastmaster at the celebration. A splendid program was enjoyed, followed by a big feast and all who went from Lorenzo report a wonderful time.

SYDNEY (AP)—Australia's big engineering undertaking, the bridging of Sydney harbor, has progressed so that those in charge assert they will open the span for traffic in 1932. The two sides of the arch will be joined in 1931 but it will take another year to complete the decking.

GANG BROKEN UP

PARIS (AP)—"The Broken Arms," a gang of four youths all under twenty and led by a boy of fifteen, have been captured after a spectacular attempt to revive the traditions of the Paris apaches of twenty years ago. They committed highway robberies and raids on stores in all parts of the city.

MAPS WRONG

IRKUTSK, Siberia —Survey of an air route connecting Yakutsk with the gold fields of Aldan, revealed that maps which showed a mountain range between Yakutsk and Tommot were wrong. The district it was found, is flat and cut up with rivers.

The brick industry in the United States amounts to around $163,000,000 annually.

CRISIS MAY LAST

Overthrow Of Government Of Briand Blamed

PARIS, Oct. 26. (AP)—The French cabinet crisis, brought on by the overthrow of the Briand government on Tuesday, is likely to last well into next week.

Edouard Daladier, leader of the radical socialist party, the largest single group in the chamber of deputies, today accepted President Doumergue's invitation to attempt to form a new government, but its strength is uncertain from the start.

M. Daladier, who spent three quarters of an hour discussing his plans with President Doumergue, is reported to have said that he would bring a government before the chamber even if he risked being overthrown immediately after reading his declaration of policy.

GOITRE NOT A DISEASE

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Koch, Dept. E-43, Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The Doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goiter at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today. Adv.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

The regular quarterly conference of the officers of the Tahoka Methodist church was held at the church Sunday evening immediately following the preaching service.

Rev. D. B. Doak, D.D., presiding elder of the Lubbock district, preached the sermon and also presided at the conference. Routine reports were received from each of the organizations of the church, all of them reporting progress. The appointment of Clyde Sargent and G. M. Reid as assistant superintendents of the Sunday school were confirmed and Mrs. R. W. Fenton was added to the board of trustees in the place made vacant by the removal from the city of J. A. Brashear. All of the other officers of the church were retained. On motion of the pastor, on exhorter's license was approved for C. L. Dyke.

YOUNG WOMAN BURIED

Miss Nettie Alma Edwards, a resident of this county for many years, died at Wichita Falls Friday. The remains were brought her for burial and interment was made in the city cemetery here Saturday, following funeral services at the Methodist church conducted by Rev. R. T. Breedlove, the pastor.

Deceased leaves to mourn her death one sister, Mrs. C. C. Whipp of O'Donnell, and four brothers, A. Y., H. T., C. and A. F. Edwards of O'Donnell and C. H. Edwards of Americus, Georgia.

Miss Edwards was born in Richland, Georgia. She came to Texas and to Lynn county in 1906. She has been a member of the Methodist church for many years. The friends of Tahoka join with many friends elsewhere in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

INSTRUCTORS TO ATTEND INSTITUTE

The county institute to be held in Tahoka on November 7th and 8th is to be favored by the presence of two professors from the school of education of the Texas Technological college. Dr. R. E. Garlin is to direct the section meetings of the high school division on Thursday and will also address the general assembly once during the day. Dr. Garlin is professor of education at the college. Miss Bonnie K. Dysart, associate professor of education, is to have charge of the primary section on Thursday. Both of these instructors are highly rated and will give some worthwhile lessons to the teachers. Dr. Garlin is conducting an extension class each Thursday evening at the high school building. Some eighteen or twenty teachers are taking advantage of this opportunity to improve their scholarship. Friday morning is set aside especially for members of the school boards of the county. A general discussion of matters of vital importance to school board members and the public in general is to be had. An effort is being made to get all school board members to attend this session.

Bobbing Decried

English Clergyman Rather Bitter

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Oct. 26 (AP)—Women who bob their hair are committing "sexual suicide", believes the Rev. C. F. Aspinwall, vicar of St. Bartholomew's church.

"They are suffering from a mental disease akin to lunacy," he wrote in the current issue of the parish magazine. "It is the greatest sin committed by women since Eve took the apple in Eden.

"Can anyone imagine a woman less like what God intended her to appear than with a short cropped head, horn-rimmed spectacles, a man's waistcoat, arms burned a nasty copper color like a red Indian, socks like a comic child in a pantomime, or stockings like a draught-board or a bookie's waistcoat?"

TO ... SERVICE

DALLAS, Oct. 26. (AP) — Motor-electric car service between Dallas and Paris will be begun Tuesday by the Santa Fe railway, the division passenger agent here announced today. Steam trains 67 and 68 will be supplemented by motor service on the schedule, making regular intermediate stops.

Deposits Good In Brownfield Banks

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 26 (Special)—Under the last call of the comptroller for bank statements which came on October 4, the combined loans of the two banks at Brownfield, were shown to be $375,310, and the deposits as $667,392 with resources of $925 311.

At the time that the call was issued, cotton had just commenced to come on the market and it is authoritatively stated that if a statement was issued at this time that deposits would be very much greater and loans very much less than they were thirty days ago.

"Wonderful," Says Amarillo Woman

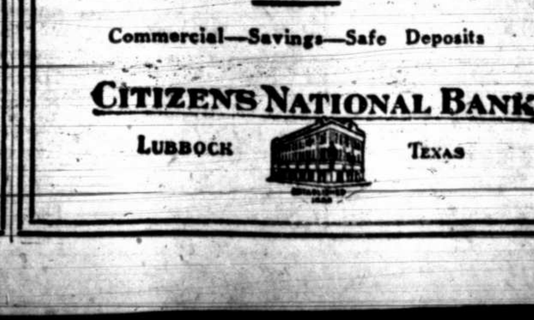

Wants Everybody To Know About The Good Orgatone Has Done Her

"It is certainly wonderful how a few bottles of Orgatone restored my health after I had spent many dollars on other medicine that did me no good," said Mrs. F. C. Floyd, Sr., living at 1613 Pierce Ave., Amarillo, Texas.

"For fifteen years," she continued, "my stomach gave me no end of trouble and tho' I was constantly trying to get relief by taking something or other I was steadily getting worse. I didn't have a bit of appetite and just had to force down what little I did eat. After every meal my food soured on my stomach and I would be miserable for hours from gas that bloated me up so I could hardly breathe. At times my head would feel flushed and throb something terrible. In the mornings I would get up feeling so tired and worn out it was all I could do to drag myself around the house.

"From the statements I read in the papers I was led to think that Orgatone might do me some good, so I bought a bottle. I was surprised to see the way I began to pick up before I had finished my first bottle, and my improvement continued till after taking two bottles my stomach is in first class shape and I can eat heartily of anything I want and not suffer the least discomfort from gas or anything else. My nerves are all right. I sleep like a baby and wake up in the morning feeling as fresh and bright as I ever did. My troubles are now at an end and I am so grateful for what Orgatone has done for me that I want everybody to know about it."

America As National Of New Day Mechanical Students Versed in Engineering, Unrolled By Officials

KENOSHA, Wis., Oct. 26.—America as a nation of mechanical students, versed in the finer points of modern engineering and highly appreciative of every advanced step and economic development made by the automobile industry, unrolled itself strikingly before officials of The Nash Motors company recently.

The significant alertness and understanding of present day motorists was instantly apparent when C. H. Bliss, general sales manager, made a final analysis of the written comments which have poured in from every section of the country following introduction of the new Nash Twin-Ignition and the Twin-Ignition Six and Single Six—its companion cars of the company's "400" Series for 1930.

Interest Changes.

Contrasting vividly with the public interest, which a few short years ago centered in relative car speeds, "looks" and obvious features, the wide range of intelligent approval and comment which has come to Nash on the new car announcement side and in reply to the thousands of personal letters addressed by President C. W. Nash to owners of its original "400" Series cars, have engineering advancements, motor refinements and performance subtleties as their major subjects, one of the many mechanical advancements such as dual manifolding as adapted to twin-ignition operation in the new Eight, perfected operation of the new internal wheel brakes, intregal counterbalancing of the new nine-bearing crankshaft and co-ordination of appointments and equipment to individual needs of all of the cars, has escaped the expert ...

In this day of highly improved highways where one can drive hundreds of miles without ever leaving a paved road, long journeys by automobile, oftimes from coast to coast, are quite the usual thing. It is on such trips as these that the riding qualities of the motor car mean so much to the driver and passengers.

Comfort Provided

Willys-Overland engineers declare that in the design of the Whippet lines of fours and six cylinder cars, marked attention was centered in providing a car that would bring to the owner a new sense of comfort regardless of the length of the journey. Exhaustive tests were conducted over every type of highway, these tests finally resulting in the perfection of the current Whippet lines which, among other things, have won an outstanding reputation for their superior riding qualities.

Studebaker Price Reductions Made

The price reductions made by Studebaker on all models result in notable motor car values. One of the most striking is the Commander Eight Sedan for five, according to C. E. Gough, Studebaker-Erskine dealer here.

"This model typifies the ideal combination of championship performance, arresting beauty and low price. Such unusual value is made possible only by the complete consolidation of Studebaker's One-Profit manufacturing facilities.

"Reliable indices show that the six is now succumbing to the eight just as the four gave way to the six a few years ago. In 1923 only 10 per cent of all makes of cars were sixes. Today that figure is 41 per cent. Studebaker, foreseeing this trend, introduced popular priced sixes two years ago. Today Studebaker is the world's largest builder of sixes.

"Beware The Super-Salesman!," Says Leader Of Nation-Wide Sales Group

Paul G. Hoffman Tells Buyer To Choose Right

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
NEA Service Writer.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 26.—If you were to talk to Paul G. Hoffman, vice president of the Studebaker Corporation, for a short while, you would probably end the conversation by referring to him as a super-salesman. His mannerisms, his ideas, his very expressions seem to bespeak those qualities that have come to be accepted in this country as representing the super-salesman, the high-pressure go-getter of America.

Yet no one could beat Paul Hoffman to the front in resenting such intimation. He hates the term and he lets you know it, too. In his resentment he reveals the real qualities that have made him one of the best automotive salesmen and executives in the United States.

"Beware the high-pressure, super-salesman," he warns us. "More bunk has been written about salesmanship and more crimes committed in its name than any other subject in the world. Beware of the hypnotic salesman. He very likely hasn't got the goods.

That from a master salesman tells what kind of a man he is.

Young, but a Leader.

Paul Hoffman is only 38 today. His smooth but mobile face, his keen brown eyes permit him to maintain his youth, yet back of these is a self-confidence and strength of character that have set him up on equal terms with the much older executives of the automotive industry.

Eighteen years ago Hoffman began like any other youngster—as an ambitious auto salesman for a Los Angeles dealer in Studebaker cars. In all these years he has remained Studebaker, climbing to the very top of the selling organization.

But he hadn't been selling automobiles a year when he won first prize in a national sales contest and got a free trip to the Studebaker factory in South Bend as his reward. By 1915, after four years of selling, he became retail sales manager at the Los Angeles branch. He was only 24 years old then.

The war interrupted his automotive career, but soon after his return in 1919 Hoffman organized his own Studebaker firm and, in the next six years, built up an organization that sold 4000 cars a year. Today Hoffman still has an investment of $1,000,000 in this firm, while he is chief sales executive of the entire Studebaker organization.

Builder and Seller

Hoffman's activities soon came to the attention of A. R. Erskine, president of the Studebaker Corporation, and that's how the young salesman of Los Angeles finds himself vice president in charge of sales of Studebakers and still part owner of one of the largest Studebaker distributors in the country.

Hoffman can give the prospective automobile buyer just as good advice as he can the hopeful automotive seller. For example:

"Don't buy unless the salesman can prove to you that he has a worthwhile product to sell you.

"See that he is representing you a much or more than the seller. If he's a good salesman and a square one, he'll do that.

"Convince yourself that he goes on, that the man selling you the car is selling it on a basis that will leave you pleased with your purchase. Don't let him bog down with the theories and technicalities of supersalesmanship. How I hate that word!

His two score years of training have enabled him to tell us with authority just what to look for in an automobile we are about to buy. Here, then, are in the order of their importance, according to Hoffman: 1—Character. 2—Appearance. 3—Performance. 4—Value. 5—Comfort. 6—Safety. 7—Economy.

But it may not be an average person's values. So he goes on to qualify his arrangement.

"An elderly woman, presumably, would put comfort and safety first," he says. "A young man just out of college, appearance and performance first. A man who can afford only a low-priced car, value and economy first."

Whatever it be, adds Hoffman, lay your problem frankly before your salesman. Make him stick to the point of the car. Nail him down to facts. Ask plenty of questions and insist on sound answers. And buy only when convinced.

Heads Other Activities

Of course, Hoffman has much more than this to tell his salesmen in his primary interest is selling automobiles. There is so much to the business that he has established a retail sales course for the 8,000 Studebaker salesmen in the United States and a factory school for all ... unwilling representatives of the 22 Studebaker branches. He has even gone so far as to organize a retail management department which helps dealers in handling sales, accounting, and service layout problems.

But he hasn't concentrated on selling alone. At one time he was president of the Los Angeles traffic commission, which formulated a street plan program for the city. He was chairman of the roads committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and he is director of the National Planning Foundation which helps cities improve their traffic systems.

Besides these activities Hoffman was instrumental in the founding of the Albert Russel Erskine Bureau for Street Traffic Research at Harvard University, which has developed traffic improvement programs for Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Boston, New Orleans, Knoxville and the state of Massachusetts.

Paul G. Hoffman of Studebaker . . . the buyer's salesman.

A GOOD SALESMAN REPRESENTS THE BUYER AS WELL AS THE SELLER, SAYS HOFFMAN.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors Corporation announces the resignation of C. C. Cooper from his various official positions within the General Motors group, his principal position being the presidency of General Motors Acceptance Corporation and the chairmanship of General Exchange Insurance Corporation.

Mr. Cooper, who has been president of the Acceptance Corporation since 1921 is relinquishing his duties to devote his time to other activities which however have not sufficiently developed to warrant announcement at this time.

Mr. Cooper is succeeded as president of General Motors Acceptance Corporation and chairman of the General Exchange Insurance Corporation by John J. Schumann, Jr., formerly vice president. Mr. Schumann has been identified with the management of these organizations since their inception.

Gets 1,200 Miles At One "Sitting"

Eastern Motorist Drives Pontiac From Kansas To Pennsylvania During A Coast To Coast Trip

Here's one for the long-distance motorists to shoot at—1,200 miles of continuous driving with only a few brief stops for gasoline.

The tireless pilot was Marshall W. Forrest, prominent young golfer of Lowell, Mass., who recently drove the 1,200 miles between Lawrence, Kan., and Lancaster, Pa., at one "sitting" while east bound on the last stage of a coast-to-coast round trip of 11,675 miles. The car was a 1927 Pontiac Six roadster which previously had been driven 19,000 miles. Forrest left the Kansas town at 8 a. m. one morning and reached Lancaster at midnight of the next day after 40 hours on the road. The entire trip from Los Angeles to New York required only six days.

Results Remarkable.

Forrest drove moderately but achieved his remarkable results through long hours at the wheel. He was accompanied by Harry S. Buzzell, also of Lowell. In addition to the driver and passenger, the Pontiac Six carried some 400 pounds of camping equipment and other baggage. Enroute they passed through 22 states and four Canadian provinces. According to Forrest, the most interesting and difficult part of their tour involved 250 miles of driving through wooded trails and over the road bed of the Grand Trunk railroad for a distance of 250 miles between Jasper Park and Edmonton in the Province of Alberta.

EASY to handle and control

The more time you spend behind the wheel of a Dodge Six—driving on crowded streets and busy highways—the more enthusiastic you will be over its easy handling. The roller-bearing steering guides with minimum effort. The clutch is easy-acting; so is the gear shift. Weather-proof, internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes afford easy operation and are positively equalized. The lively motor with its 7-bearing crankshaft, Invar Strut aluminum alloy pistons and other refinements, responds instantly with a quick surge of power. In every way, the Dodge Six is easy to handle and control. That is why it is particularly prized by people who do a lot of driving.

These are the Oakland features which make driving a real delight ..

Today's Oakland All-American Six embodies many basic advantages which are combined in no other car of its price. Its powerful, 228-cubic-inch engine is incomparably smooth and quiet. Its 117-inch wheelbase assures easy riding and unusual road balance, and its short turning radius promotes handling ease. And in addition Oakland offers a number of features of a supplementary nature—convenience features which make driving a real delight.

Foremost among these is the Cross-flow radiator. The Cross-flow radiator practically eliminates losses of water and alcohol through boiling. As a result, it requires less attention than radiators of the down-flow type. Furthermore, the flow of water is thermostatically controlled. No need for radiator shutters—no heat indicator to watch.

Let us show you with a demonstration what a fine car you can get at a moderate price—and how inexpensively you can own an All-American, America's finest medium-priced automobile!

The 2-Door Sedan, Body by Fisher

Proof that Oakland is America's Finest Medium-Priced Automobile

The following facts were obtained from a comparison of the Oakland All-American Six with 20 other medium-priced automobiles. All told, 878 individual comparisons were made. Of these Oakland proved to be distinctly superior in 451 or 51.37 per cent. The 20 cars combined were at best equal to Oakland on 382 or 43.50 per cent. And 13 of the 20 were higher-priced than Oakland.

CROSS-FLOW RADIATOR
Only Oakland in the entire field has the Cross-flow radiator or anything similar to it. All other cars use the down-flow radiator, this despite the fact that 13 of the 20 are higher-priced.

FOOT-CONTROLLED HEADLIGHTS
Only Oakland and one other car in the field offer this convenience. And the second car costs more than Oakland. Eleven more expensive cars fail to provide it.

SEMI-COINCIDENTAL LOCK
Only Oakland and three other cars in the field use this lock. One of the three costs $450 more than Oakland, another $100 more.

SPRING COVERS
Only Oakland in the entire field is equipped with spring covers, according to our data, which cover 19 of the 20 cars included in the field.

Oakland All-American Six, $1145 to $1175, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Spring covers and Lovejoy shock absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers and rear fender guards extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Chevrolet Starts New Kind Of Shop

Youths Will Be Learned A Mechanical Trade Instead Of Educational Sources With School Books

At Flint, Michigan, 50 picked youths between the ages of 16 and 19 years will soon begin an educational course in which books will be conspicuous because of their total abscence. They will attend class in overalls, and drafting boards, micrometers, wrenches and screw drivers will take the place of fountain pens, blackboards and note books. Diaries will suplant credits in this the world's most novel educational plant.

It will be an institution endowed by Chevrolet Motor company, and its faculty will be composed of hard-headed production men with years of factory experience. At the head of the school will be C. F. Barth, vice president in charge of manufacturing, one of whose life dreams will be realized when the first class is [illegible]

Not "School".

Here it might be well to explain that this unique training place is not a school. The word "school" which Mr. Barth wants permanently dissociated from this new Chevrolet undertaking. It is definitely a shop, operated under shop discipline, and maintaining shop hours. It is to be known officially as the Chevrolet Apprentice Shop.

There will be many features to this novel training place, but it is doubtful if any are more interesting or more significant than the reason for its conception. And no one can make this more clear than Mr. Barth, himself.

Shop Necessity

"The Appreptice Shop is actually a necessity," he told his visitor last week. "Chevrolet Motor company, like all other large manufacturers has for several years past noted a decrease in good all around mechanics. When the automobile industry started there was no such shortage. The founders of the industry were themselves super mechanics and in every instance they surrounded themselves with competent all around men."

New Hupmobile In Striking Journey

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 26.—Hurtling over mountain passes at breakneck speed, crawling along through normally dry deserts flooded by torrential downpours, and speeding at more than 70 miles an hour—such were some of the exciting experiences recently encountered by a Denver man during a ten day trip of 1630 miles with his new 1930 Hupmobile Six.

Mr. C. S. Norton and his wife and daughter left Denver on September 17th for an extended trip to various cities and towns on the western slope of Colorado. After leaving Ouray, Colorado, the party ran into the "worst rainstorm I have ever encountered, and the worst flood conditions that ever existed in this territory." To recount some of the experiences of the Norton family in his own words:

Passed Over Mountains

"We passed over seven mountain passes, and through normally dry deserts that were flooded to a depth of 20 inches on the level. Whereas we had expected to return direct to Denver, we were compelled by the road conditions to go to Gallup, New Mexico, then to Albuquerque, on to Santa Fe and finally back to Denver. A count showed more than 1100 automobiles stranded in the mud and water between Holbrook, Arizona and Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Rust Proof Metal Features De Soto

The effect of rust on the fenders and other metal parts of automobiles, especially along the seaboard states where the salt air from the ocean causes an unusual deteriorating effect on these parts, has long been a problem of paramount importance to automobile engineers.

To correct this condition and to insure owners of De Soto Sixes longer life and a more permanent finish to these metal parts, it is announced by the De Soto Motor Corporation that the De Soto Six has been added to the Chrysler Motors line of cars using a rust-proofing process which eliminates to a great degree this chance for rust.

The new rust-proofing process known as "bonderizing," applied to parts such as fenders and splash guards, adds another operation to the finishing of these parts. It was developed after many months of experimentation at the factory in Detroit.

Hudson Tests Are By Actual Driving

Fall, the season of beautiful foliage enlivening the countryside with picturesque scenery hued in all the shades of yellows, browns, reds and tans, brings with it a message that should spell caution to the motoring public. It is nature's signal of the approaching rest period and precedes the dropping of the leaves which are pushed from the stems as the succeeding buds set preparatory to their reign in the spring.

As these leaves fall and cover the roads they make for more difficult driving for all but those who are prepared by a proper knowledge of correct use of their car brakes under any condition.

Establish Precedent

Hudson Motor Car Company engineers who have established the precedent of carrying on their experimental tests under actual driving conditions, have made an exhaustive series of tests to determine correct brake operation when driving over wet fallen leaves. The instructions that they have issued on correct brake operation during the fall while the leaves are on the ground are of interest to all drivers.

How Is She Hittin'?

Pertinent Facts About Automobiles By Israel Klein, Science Editor For NEA Service

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service.

The lamps are the tell-tale of the lighting system. If one or more of them fail to light, there is a long series of causes to seek and remedy.

The first place to look is the line of fuses, usually back of the dash. If one is blown out, it is probably that which controls the line on which the unlighted lamp has been found. In this event, it should not be replaced with a new fuse before the real cause of the trouble has been located and corrected.

This may be either a short circuit in that particular line or an accidental ground. The short may be in the lamp socket or it may happen along any part of the entire line. The lamp socket and the wire terminal to it should first be examined to see that it is wired properly. Then the wiring should be examined closely from the lamp down to the fuse and back of this to the main line. Usually a burned or abraised insulation will reveal the location of the short or ground.

* * *

If no fuse has blown out, and one of the lamps is out the trouble is probably in the lamp itself. It should be replaced by a new bulb. But if the new bulb refuses to light, the cause may again be in the socket. It should be examined for an open circuit. If there were a short circuit here, the fuse would blow out, but if the fuse is intact and the lamp does not burn, there may be a break in the line. This also can best be located by starting from the lamp socket and working back to the main line back of the fuse box.

Sometimes the lights either go out altogether or remain dim. If they are dim only while the motor is idling and light up brightly while the engine is speeded up, the trouble is a weak or run-down battery. The battery should be charged to full capacity. Sometimes loose or corroded terminals on the battery will cause this. These therefore should be examined and cleaned.

Another cause for dim lights is failing of the generator due to a worn brush or loose brush connections. The generator need not be examined before the ammeter on the dash is noted. If, when the motor is running and the lights are turned off, the ammeter shows that the battery is being charged properly, you may conclude that there is no trouble with the generator. The ammeter, therefore, is an easy tell-tale for the efficient operation of the generator.

If the trouble is neither in the battery nor the generator, the cause for unlit lights or dim lights may be found in a defective wire connection to the switch, or to a loose lamp socket terminal, or to fairly well burned-out bulbs, or to poor connections of the bulb bases to their lamp sockets.

* * *

Loose connections in the wiring may be detected by flickering lamps. The way the man at the steering wheel can tell from his position whether his lamps are flickering, is to look at the ammeter. If the needle of this instrument jumps back and forth more than the roughness of the road would throw it, the driver may suspect flickering lights.

This unsteadiness of the ammeter needle, however, may point to an intermittent circuit in any part of the ignition or lighting system. Therefore, if an observation the lights do not flicker, the loose connection should be sought in the ignition circuit.

Usually this can also be detected by missing of the motor, for every time a line of the ignition circuit breaks there's a missing spark.

The remedy, as in other cases of the electric system, is to go over the wiring for the loose connection or accidental ground.

Louis Meyer Buys 5 Chrysler "77's"

Nearly everyone interested in automobiles and racing has followed the career of Louis Meyer and will readily admit he knows a whole lot about both.

His introduction to "speed" came as a boy when he watched his father Edward Meyer, pedal past the winning post to many a championship in the oldtime bicycle races. He took to the track like the proverbial duck takes to water. A brother, too, has built up a reputation with racing cars.

According to the senior Meyer, his sons, since the time they were old enough to drive, have been buying as many cars as they could, rebuilding them for increased speed and performance. It was only natural for them to graduate to the race track.

It was in 1928 that Lou first gained his right to a niche in the Hall of Fame by winning the 500-mile Memorial Day classic at the Indianapolis speedway. He was not quite 24 years of age then. In 1929, he followed this victory with second place in the same race and established a record as the only driver to win the American Automobile Association championship for two successive years.

Plymouth Breaks Non-Stop Record

Cars Stops Voluntarily In Endurance Run Of 632 Hours And 36 Minutes At Tyler, Texas

An average year's driving in 26 days! 11,419 miles of travel in 632 hours with no stops and with never a momen's rest for motor or chassis. That is the record recently established by a stock model Plymouth Sedan running day and night over all kinds of roads and under all conditions of temperature and weather.

The endurance run, conducted by the Walsh-Woidert Motor Company, Plymouth dealer in Tyler, Texas, was made with a car taken from the dealer's showroom floor for the purpose. It was observed by a group of city officials and competent observers who have made complete sworn affidavits on every detail of the run.

Traversed Streets

During the run, the car traversed the streets of Tyler and on occasions made trips to nearby cities and towns. Gasoline, oil and water were added while the car was in motion and, what was even more difficult, tires were changed several times due to punctures while the car traveled onward in its determined effort to break the world's endurance record for automobiles.

"Not only is the length of the run in both hours and miles a remarkable feat," commented A. VanDerZee, Plymouth general sales manager, "but the economy with which the car operated during this grueling test is worthy of note.

"For the entire run of 11,419 miles, the record-breaking Plymouth used only 598 gallons of gasoline—an average of 19.09 miles per gallon. It consumed only 19 1-2 gallons of oil."

Keller Promoted In Chrysler Co.

With Walter P. Chrysler's announcement of the promotion of K. T. Keller from vice president in charge of production to vice-president and general manager of all divisions of the Chrysler corporation, a genius in America's greatest industry has been rewarded for outstanding executive ability.

Since Mr. Keller's connection with the corporation, Chrysler Motors has leaped forward to a place among the three greatest producers of motor cars, and no small part of this achievement has been attributed to "K. T." as he is known among all his associates. Between Mr. Chrysler and Mr. Keller is a bond of experience, manufacturing wizardy and enthusiastic idealism extending over many years.

Skill Shown

Mr. Keller stepped into his first major production responsibility at the Northway Motor Company, where skill in factory organization won him the position of superintendent of that company. This field of activity was interrupted for two years when Keller went to Indianapolis as Master Mechanic and assistant to the general manager of the Cole Motor Car company.

Better Facilities Given Oldsmobile

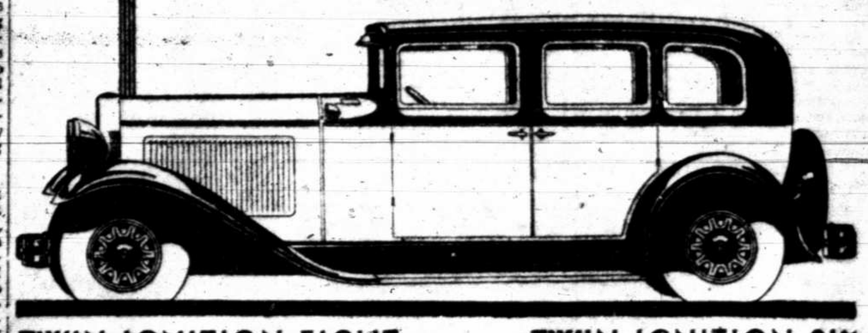

Still greater facilities for the manufacture of the Oldsmobile Six and the Viking Eight will be made available by a building expansion program just announced by the Fisher Body Corporation. This company is starting the erection of two new buildings which will bring their total floor area at the Oldsmobile-Viking factories to approximately 530,000 square feet and, at the same time, will release additional space for Oldsmobile-Viking activities.

Besides enlarging their peak capacity space by more than 100,000 square feet, these two new buildings will concentrate all of the body building activities at the Oldsmobile Viking factories under one roof. This provide even greater efficiency in the manufacture of these Fisher built bodies.

Factories Expand

For the past two years the Oldsmobile-Viking factories have been carrying on a continuous building expansion program of which this new construction announcement by the Fisher Body Corporation forms an integral part. With these new body plants now announced, more than 1,400,000 square feet of new floor area will have been added to the Oldsmobile-Viking factories.

THE FIRST MOTOR CAR EVER DESIGNED TO PRESENT A UNIT OF

Harmonized Beauty

100 horsepower and 80 miles per hour sheathed in the smartness of an original decorative idea

Revolutionary in its lower price, its extreme comfort and spaciousness, its velvet-smooth performance . . . Yes . . . And revolutionary in body design as well.

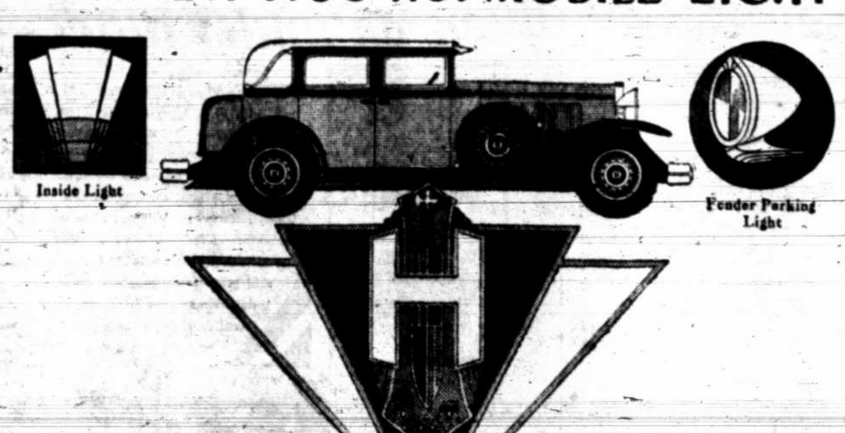

For in this new and original motor car, a single modern style motif is used throughout the car.

Never before has one decorative design been used to create a perfect and harmonious ensemble, inside and out . . . For the first time, lamps match instrument board. Radiator cap matches door-handles. The triangular peak in the visor is repeated in the top and back of the body. And again and again in the bumper plates, the emblem, the tops of the lamps, and horn button.

Even the little robe-carrier attachments, the ends of the foot rests, and the face of the rear light carry the same motif. The inside lights chime with the cap to the gasoline tank. And the decoration on the window sills combines flawlessly with the vanity case! . . . Not a discordant note is struck. Not a single fitment is out of key. From radiator to gas tank, from top deck to tires . . . this new Hupmobile is planned to harmonize in a single chord of beauty . . . For power and speed that give an unparalleled performance, for notably luxurious riding, and for an ideal of harmonized beauty never seen before in any motor car . . . visit your Hupmobile dealer today.

BODY TYPES . . . 5 Passenger, 4-door Sedan $1595 . . . 4-door Town Sedan $1670 . . . Coupe $1595 . . . Convertible Cabriolet $1670 . . . 7 Passenger Sport Phaeton $1695. Custom equipment for all models at slight extra cost. All prices f.o.b. factory. D-170-C

Millions of Miles of Constant Testing

to maintain the outstanding quality and dependability of The Chevrolet Six

This ingenious device accurately weighs the pressure required to operate the clutch pedal of the Chevrolet Six.

The decelerometer records the rate the new Chevrolet Six slows down at any pressure on the brake pedal.

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway,

—the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground!

This passion for proof—this consistent refusal to accept any tests as final—is one of the fundamental reasons for the overwhelming popularity of Chevrolet cars. For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of a car, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. It is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!

The Roadster, $525; The Phaeton, $535; The Coach, $595; The Coupe, $590; The Sport Coupe, $645; The Sedan, $675; The Imperial Sedan, $745; Sedan Delivery, $595; Light Delivery Chassis, $400; 1½ Ton Chassis, $565; 1½ Ton Chassis with Cab, $650. All prices f. o. b. factory, Flint, Michigan

A 50th wheel speedometer accurately measures speed and mileage on all Chevrolet test runs at the Proving Ground.

The effort required to steer the Chevrolet Six is accurately measured at the Proving Ground by means of this "second" steering wheel.

The instrument illustrated above records the pressure necessary to apply Chevrolet brakes to insure easy, positive brake action.

Moody-Ferguson Fight May Be Renewed In 1930

Governor May Decide To Run Again If Ancient Enemy Enters Fight For Chief Executiveship; Nothing Known

Dan Silent On Plans But Many Think He'll Not Be In Race; Penitentiary May Be Deciding Factor

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 26.—Fergusonism, the disturbing factor in Texas politics for the last 10 years, threatens again for 1930 and, as little as some think, the situation is shaping itself to make probably a race between Gov. Dan Moody for a third term and former Gov. James E. Ferguson, with the penitentiary problem the uppermost issue, observers believe.

There are some to dismiss the Moody third term talk lightly, but the governor himself has lent a little dignity to it by his silence with reference to it.

Keeps Plans Secret

Gov. Moody is a man of his own mind and his closest friends are not likely to know exactly what his plans are. This much is certain. He has his heart set on accomplishing some kind of a solution of the vexatious penitentiary problem and make a modernized, industrialized and centralized plant something of a monument to his administration.

Now comes the former Gov. Ferguson with the challenge that he is some pumpkins when it comes to penitentiary matters. He threatens to enter the governor's race and make the matter the real issue. He said in a formal statement that he would spend about $3,000,000 fixing up the buildings at Huntsville instead of expending $3,000,000 for a new plant, and pardon some 2,000 convicts whom he says are entitled to pardons.

Ferguson Looks On

Several weeks ago when the legislature's penitentiary centralization commission came to Austin to hold hearings, former Gov. Ferguson was acting outside for the session [illegible]. He was an interested spectator during the discussions.

Moody showed plainly while in the room that the former governor's presence was distasteful to him. When he was not occupied otherwise Gov. Moody could be seen studying Ferguson and the effect he entertained could be clearly interpreted by the look on his face.

Ferguson's poking fun at Moody's penitentiary recommendations and his threatened entry into the race for governor [illegible] is pretty well known. Moody, after his plans [illegible] and go to bat with [illegible] antagonist.

Democrat Democrat

Gov. Moody is too [illegible] for a third term, but [illegible] Democrats will have [illegible]. Witness former Governor E. Smith of New York [illegible] four terms as Governor of Empire State. Democrat is a "Wilsonian Democrat rather than a "Jeffersonian" democrat. He said so himself last winter in the course of an address before a joint session of the legislature and then went on to explain that the only difference between the two is the "Wilsonian" Democrat is a little more up to date and believes in doing modern things.

It seems certain that the penitentiary problem will be the issue in next year's gubernatorial campaign. The prediction is now frequently made by many who formerly believed the matter would be solved by the special session in January that the legislature will be so much split on the proposal of locating the central plant on which to locate the central plant that there will exist a deadlock.

If this should be the case Gov. Moody could be expected to take the matter to the people and ask them to give him a third term and elect to office with him a legislature in accord with his views.

Fact is there is such a wide divergence of opinion among the [illegible] now that the move [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] do this [illegible] visiting [illegible] the legislature [illegible] tralization [illegible] it is virtually [illegible] mend centralization [illegible] Austin would [illegible] hundred thousand dollars [illegible] they have left out [illegible] sufficiently to kill [illegible] not vote to do this, but on the contrary likely would express [illegible] are that the prison system [illegible] lands now owned.

Four-Year-Old Is Drum Player

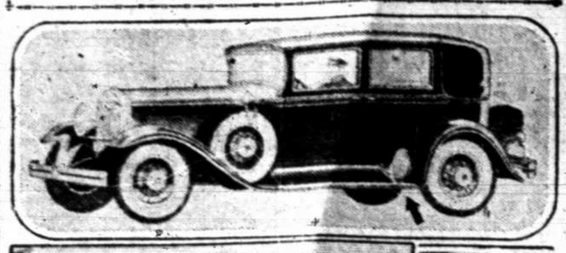

JEFFERSON, Oct. 26. (AP)—John Lea, Jr., is only 4, but he can handle drums and traps of modern orchestra as well as many grown persons. His teacher, who conducts a symphony orchestra, insists John with his sense of rhythm is her most talented pupil. Six other members of the Lea family have had musical instruction.

CATHOLICS TO HOLD FETE

HOUSTON, Oct. 26. (AP)—A massed choir's mighty outpouring of song will be the central note in a spectacular demonstration in honor of the feast of Christ the King to be participated in by about 10,000 Catholics of the diocese of Galveston here Sunday afternoon, Oct. 27.

The amount of heat generated by one tallow candle can be accurately measured three miles away.

New Anti-Glare Idea Is Developed

A suggestion furnished him by his five-year-old daughter, Barbara, has enabled Christian Channing Gross, United States charge d'affairs to the republic of Haiti, to develop a solution to the problem of glaring automobile headlights. On the left running board of an automobile is mounted a strong headlight which flashes light to the rear and across that part of the road where an approaching car must pass. When two cars approach each dims its front lights and by the same switch turns on the running board light, illuminating the road in front of the oncoming car. Gross has been granted patents on this idea in France. A sketch of Barbara's idea is show above, with an inset of the little girl.
