The second issue of the Tiger's Tale, student publication at Snyder High School, calls attention to the enrollment increase at SHS in the past five years. The enrollment in the top three grades of the local system totalled 666 in 1966. At the middle of the past week the count stood at 820. By Friday it was 825.

Of course the enrollment, system-wide, is higher than it was in 1966, but the senior high school gain involves another factor as well. More pupils are remaining in school through graduation than they did in earlier years. That undoubtedly is the reason that graduating classes nowadays are considerably larger than they were in the late fifties when there was an enrollment peak occasioned by the big oil boom.

Meanwhile, Western Texas College is anxiously awaiting completion of its first building project and looking ahead to even more. Now that enrollment has gone over the 600 mark, the local two-year college can look to the future with confidence that it is being accepted by youngsters in area high schools.

Something over a quarter of a century ago, a college football coach told a Knoxville, Tenn., sportswriter: "I know what hell is like; I once coached at Ole Miss."

That pretty well described the athletic situation at about the end of World War II when a Texan named Johnny Vaught went to the Oxford, Miss., campus as the head coach. Now, after serving in that capacity for 24 years and bringing the University of Mississippi to national prominence, Vaught not only is being inducted in the Texas Christian University Hall of Fame on Oct. 15, but will have his autobiography, "Rebel Coach," published by the Memphis State University Press as well. Born on a ranch in Young County, Vaught was a public school drop-out, but went back to high school in Fort Worth when his grandmother insisted that he do so. A remarkable career that brought him All-America honors at TCU followed. And then came an even more remarkable period of 24 years as Ole Miss coach, which gives him the all-time record in the Southeastern Conference.

Shortly after Vaught went to Ole Miss, this writer recalls that he persuaded his Alma Mater to put the Rebels on its schedule. Obviously, Vaught was seeking some prestige for the lowly Mississippians. They reported the attendance that night as slightly over 11,000 and it was apparent that such a figure was a liberal estimate.

Before Vaught stepped aside last year to become "coach emeritus" at Ole Miss, the Rebels were packing them in at bowl games and wherever else they went.

Vaught will be on another assignment when he comes to Fort Worth for induction to TCU's Hall of Fame — as a member of the Liberty Bowl selection committee which will be watching TCU and Texas A&M play the next day, Oct. 16.

"I never thought of Ole Miss as a football factory for the pros," Vaught is quoted. "Over the years, most of the boys have gone on to other fields, just about any you can name from medicine to engineering. Three became Rhodes Scholars."

But few are as well known as such football notables as Charley Conerly, Barney Poole, Eagle Day, Jake Gibbs, Glynn Griffing, Charley Flowers and Archie Manning.

U.S., Japan Split On Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two days of cabinet-level talks have left the United States and Japan widely separated on strategy for keeping Taiwan in the United Nations while admitting Red China.

Members of the Japanese cabinet who attended a two-day economic conference with their American counterparts also parried U.S. efforts to bring a major revaluation of the yen.

Japan demanded elimination of President Nixon's 10 per-cent import surcharge, which applies to some 90 per cent of Japanese imports into this country.

The split over China policy took a dramatic turn at two news conferences late Friday. At the first, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said that if Japan failed to co-sponsor a resolution keeping Taiwan at the U.N. and adding Red China it would lessen the chances for passage of such a resolution.

Japan's Foreign Minister Tkeo Fukuda told another news conference about an hour later that he was sure the United States "has an adequate understanding why Japan cannot be a co-sponsor of the American resolution."

Fukuda also made his government's views on the China question known to President Nixon at a 40-minute meeting at the White House Treaty Room just before a dinner honoring the Japanese cabinet.

As the Japanese position was being disclosed, the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, George Bush, said in Philadelphia that he expected a "very, very close" vote on the China issue next month at the U.N.

The U.S. stand, he said, was for keeping Taiwan in. And "if that means that we might have to let Peking come into the Security Council," he said, "then we will consider that, too."

But in London, senior officials said Britain has decided to vote for Red Chinese admission even if it would cost Taiwan's place in the U.N., marking a second major setback for the American stand.

Meanwhile, Thailand's Foreigh Minister Thanat Khoman said in Bangkok, his country will vote to admit Red China, while keeping Taiwan.

President Nixon made no mention of the China problem in a toast he delivered to the Japanese delegation, nor was there mention of it in a seven-page, single-spaced communique issued late Friday.

Instead, Nixon stressed that Japan and the United States both recognize that peace in the Pacific is essential to peace in the world

Luna 18 Crashes

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's latest moon probe crashed into lunar mountains in the Sea of Fertility today and radio contact with the station was cut off, Tass said.

The probe, Luna 18, was launched Sept. 2 and it had made 54 revolutions around the moon during a flight on near-moon orbit, the Soviet news agency reported.

This was the first major Soviet space effort since the death of three Russian cosmonauts who perished on returning to earth last June after setting an endurance record for space flight.

It was the third consecutive failure in the Soviet space program.

When Luna 18 was sent on its course to the moon nine days ago, Tass described the mission as being "to carry out further scientific research of the moon and near-lunar space."

Western analysts had expected the Luna 18 transport ship to make a soft landing on the moon and either deposit a second remote-controlled moon rover modeled after Lunokhod 1, or to repeat an earlier experiment of recovering lunar soil samples, this time with an improved drill.

Thieu Sets Figure

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu, opening his one-man campaign for re-election, told a nation-wide television audience Saturday he will step down if he receives fewer than 50 per cent of the votes actually cast in the Oct. 3 election.

Thieu said there would be only one ballot and the people could vote for him by placing his ballot in the voting envelope and putting it in the ballot box.

Those wishing to vote against him may do so by invalidating or multilating their ballots and "voting illegally" Thieu added. The invalidated ballots will be counted as "no" votes or votes against him, he said.

Boren Art Will Be Shown Here

The highly-acclaimed art of James Boren will be presented by Texas Art Gallery in a one-man showing, Oct. 3 at the Diamond M Museum in Snyder.

The public showing will be held between the hours of 2 p.m. and 6 p.m.

Approximately 30 new paintings, both oils and watercolors, and limited edition portfolios of six watercolor reproductions, each hand-designed by the artist, will be included in the show.

Boren, recognized as a master colorist and fine painter of western scenes, served four years as the first air director of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center in Oklahoma City. The growing demand for his art prompted him to resign this position and devote his full time to painting, but he still is unable to completely catch up with the demand.

Although Boren is a member of the Cowboy Artists of America, an organization of 20 of the leading western artists the country, his work is far more comprehensive than that of the typical "cowboy artist."

A versatile artist who works well in all media, including oils, pastels and charcoal, Boren prefers the exacting techniques of watercolor, in which he excells. This year he has had the distinction of winning the Gold Medal in watercolor for the fourth year in a row at the annual Cowboy Artists of America exhibitions in Oklahoma City, which is an unparalleled record of achievement.

A native of Waxahachie, Boren was the second of five sons of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Boren. His father was a minister and the family usually lived only a year or two in any one place. Boren spent his impressionable years in West Texas, later moving to San Antionio and finally to Temple where he played end on the football team. After serving with the Fleet Marines in the South Pacific during World War II, Boren attended Kansas City University and Kansas City Art Institute, receiving both the bachelors and masters degrees in fine arts.

Khrushchev Dies At 77

By JOHN BAUSMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev, who ruled the Kremlin for 11 years and pushed his country into the space age, died today in the obscurity to which his rivals had banished him.

The successor to Joseph Stalin had suffered from heart trouble for several years, and he evidently succumbed to a heart attack. He was 77.

Hours after the death it had not been disclosed to the Russian people.

But the Foreign Ministry confirmed the bare facts to foreign correspondents. A duty officer there said: "I can only confirm privately that death has occurred."

One informant said death came at Khrushchev's country home outside Moscow, but other sources said the death was at a hospital for Kremlin officials—that he had been admitted to the hospital several days ago.

Khrushchev was top leader in the Soviet government from 1953 to 1964.

He was the only Russian leader ever to travel across the United States. That was in 1959, and it turned into a tumultuous affair. He complained bitterly because security arrangements kept him out of Disneyland.

But Khrushchev is remembered in the United States mainly, perhaps, for his colorful appearances at the United Nations, including one in which he rapped a shoe on a desk.

While he retired in disgrace, condemned by rivals bidding for Kremlin authority, many Russians felt that Khrushchev left them better off than they were when he took office.

NIKITA S. KHRUSHCHEV

In his retirement as a sort of "nonperson," rarely seen by the public except when he voted, the ousted premier could take pride in the fact that he reversed the terroristic trends established by Joseph V. Stalin, his predecessor. And during Khrushchev's reign Soviet cosmonauts orbited the earth and challenged the United States to a race for the moon and other planets.

Since his ouster in October 1964, Khrushchev had lived with his wife Nina in seclusion at his country home. His activities were never reported in the Soviet press, but his name did appear in connection with a statement denying that he had sent abroad the memoirs published in the United States last year.

His last public appearance was for an election June 13, when he once again voted for the Kremlin leaders who engineered his ouster. He appeared to be in good health, smiled and exchanged brief remarks with correspondents waiting to see him.

He was completely excluded from the celebration of the 50th anniversary of Soviet communism in 1967. His name was never uttered in public by his successors, the general secretary of the Communist party, Leonid I. Brezhnev, and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, as they led the anniversary festivities.

When he emerged onto the world scene, his wart-spotted face and his name were unknown outside the Soviet Union.

But by the time his remarkable career crashed 11 years later he had carved himself a niche in history. He rose to rule much of the Communist world.

Fight On Draft Bill Pledged

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a warning from Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird that the national security is threatened, Senate war critics are vowing to "use every parliamentary device available" to defeat a compromise bill extending the draft for two years.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., making that pledge Friday, said the compromise draft bill which comes before the Senate Monday is far worse than the original measure passed by the Senate in July after the Selective Service law expired.

Cranston, a leader among senators who filibustered the original bill, said he was particularly opposed to watered down language calling for early troop withdrawal from Vietnam and to trimming by a joint House-Senate conference committee of the largest military pay raises in history.

The conference committee approved $2.4 billion in annual pay hikes, about $300 million less than the Senate. Cranston and others, including some influential Republicans who usually support the administration, believe the raises are not enough to carry out the intention of the bill. That is, to attract enough volunteers to make the draft unnecessary by the time it would expire in 1973.

Japanese Royalty Visiting In US

NEW YORK (AP) — Prince Hitachi and Princess Hanako of Japan have begun a two-week U.S. visit that will include a meeting next week with President Nixon in Washington.

Some 75 U.S. and Japanese diplomats were on hand when the 38-year-old prince and his wife arrived Friday night at Kennedy International Airport. The couple plans a four-day visit here before Tuesday's meeting with Nixon, with other stops planned in Miami, Houston and Honolulu.

Fern Edges Down Coast

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Still generating hurricane force winds occasionally, tropical storm Fern edged down the coast southwest from Corpus Christi today loosing torrential rains.

Tides up to four feet above normal drove about 200 persons from the lightly populated Corpus Christi beach section on the city's north side, and water in low areas routed about the same number in other sections.

Although Fern quickly dwindled into a tropical storm after shoving ashore Friday 100 miles up the Texas Coast, gusts shot up to 78 miles per hour at Port Aransas and 77 m.p.h. near Refugio, on opposite sides of Corpus Christi. Minimum hurricane force is 75 m.p.h.

Official observers said the storm's diffusing center hovered over Port Aransas nearly three hours. It finally drifted on and by early morning was a little southwest of here and moving at about 5 m.p.h.

A sudden burst of wind tore free a big mobile home being towed to safety at neighboring Portland, and it broke into pieces beside the road.

Rainfall measurements varied from 3 to 8 inches in parts of Corpus Christi, and 3 to 6 inches more rain was expected.

A vote of thanks from hard of hearing

By Abigail Van Buren

(c) 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: If I knew Nanette Fabray's address I would send her an orchid. What a wonderful thing she did for the hard of hearing by writing to you and letting you tell the world that she has worn a hearing aid for years. Bless her! She is a fine performer, a great lady and a good sport.

I wear a hearing aid, too, and I'd like to add, it would help those of us with a hearing loss if people would not shout at us. They should look at us, and talk directly to us so we can read their lips more easily. Thank you. LIP READER

DEAR ABBY: You certainly hit close to home when you ran Nanette Fabray's wonderful letter!

My mother has been hard of hearing for years, but she's too vain to admit it. She sits there, pretending to hear, and she's missing 75 per cent of what's going on. She wears eye glasses but she won't see a doctor about her hearing because she's afraid he might tell her she needs a hearing aid. Meanwhile she's 58 and missing a lot because she won't let anybody help her. HER SON

DEAR SON: You don't need me to tell you how foolish your mother is. But her vanity can cost her her life if she ever steps into the path of an oncoming automobile which she has not heard approaching. Please show this to her. It may help.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for printing Nanette Fabray's letter saying she wasn't ashamed to let people know she wears a hearing aid.

I am a 15-year-old girl who is very hard of hearing. I had the measles and a high temperature when I was 3 and have been wearing a hearing aid ever since. It helps some, but not a whole lot. I had an operation, too, but that was not successful.

It is so hard for a person who can't hear to make friends, Abby. In school I hate to ask people to please speak up because they start saying, "Oh, don't talk to her—she's deaf!" Abby, I'm not deaf, I'm hard of hearing. If I ask someone to repeat something, they say, "Never mind. It wasn't anything important."

I sure wish you would tell people who can hear that they don't know how lucky they are. NOT THAT LUCKY

DEAR NOT: One of life's tragedies is being unable to hear. But sadder still are those who can hear, but will not listen.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for publishing Nanette Fabray's letter, urging the hard-of-hearing to wear hearing aids. Please advise those with a hearing problem to always ask to have repeated that which they have not heard. [So many will pretend that they have heard when they have not.] I am a nurse, and on one occasion the doctor instructed his patient in the taking of medication. She did not hear him correctly, and a tragedy nearly resulted. PORTLAND

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Lobbyist Reaps A Bonanza

WASHINGTON (AP) — Of the more than 1,500 registered lobbyists in the nation's capital, there is one that may have reaped a bonanza this year, with relatively little effort.

Official reports filed with the Clerk of the House include $211 spent in April, May and June, by the Committee for Automobile Excise Tax Repeal.

Measuring effectiveness is a tough chore for many lobbyists, but the tax repeal group is on the verge of losing its reason for being.

Repeal of the 7 per cent tax is one of President Nixon's major requests to the Congress as part of the Nixon anti-inflation policies. And the House Ways and Means Committee has indicated it will give fast approval to the request.

The $211 spent in the second quarter of this year by the tax repeal committee appears rather small next to over $5,000 spent by some 100 organizations or individuals "in connection with legislative interests." And it's smaller still next to the plus $15,000 expended by 22 of those lobbyists.

The lobbyists filed their reports as equired by the lobby registration law. Expenditures totaled $1,698,747, mostly for second quarter spending, although some late reports were in for January, February and March.

Not all of them listed how much they spent on legislative activities. Some reported only nominal expenses. A major criticism of the laws, now being overhauled, is that there is no effective enforcement and too many loopholes.

Top quarterly expenditure listed was $73,432 by the Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A., Inc., Alexandria, Va.

Osorio Will Return To Stand

DALLAS (AP) — John Osorio, former president of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., had not finished his testimony when the Texas stock fraud trial was recessed for the weekend, and will be back on the stand for further cross-examination Monday.

When Osorio finally steps down, his place will be taken by Frank W. Sharp, alleged by the government to be the central figure in a scheme to manipulate stocks to enrich state politicians and influence legislation.

Sharp, who was granted immunity from further criminal prosecution after being fined $5,000 and given a three-year suspended sentence by a federal judge in Houston, has not contested the civil suit brought by the U. S. Securities and Exchange Commission. But his bid to be dismissed as a defendant was rejected by U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

After appearing on subpoena on the opening day of the trial, he was sworn and released until needed as a witness. The call for him to return to court and testify may well come Monday.

Osorio, testifying all day Friday, told of arranging loans at Sharpstown State Bank so that Austin politicians could buy stock in his NBL company.

He also told of taking a draft of the controversial 1969 state banking insurance bill to Houston for Sharp to edit before it was introduced into the Texas Legislature.

WTC Course On Family Research Set

Beginning Sept. 14, a course will be offered in family history research at Western Texas College. The course is scheduled to meet from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. each Tuesday night for 15 Tuesdays. This non-credit course is open to all interested persons.

The course content will aid students in developing the techniques necessary to seek out their own ancestry. The instructor, T. R. Turk, has worked professionally in this area and he is an accredited researcher. The student will gain a familiarity with the sources and techniques available for genealogical research. The practical application of research techniques will be tailored to meet the individual needs of class members. Instruction will also be provided in foreign research.

Prospective students should contact Dr. Duane Hood, registrar, on Monday or Tuesday prior to class. This class is not affected by the September 10 registration deadline. Registration will be accepted through September 21.

Considerable damage resulted from a two-car collision in the 2600 block of College Avenue at 2:45 a.m. Saturday.

Involved were the 1966 Model Buick of Mark Steven Ramage, 2801 Thirty-eighth Street, and the 1961 Model Buick of Buford D. Nancleave, Jr., 1918 Coleman, Apartment 1. Officer Brian Blair investigated the mishap.

Wife Says Mills The Same

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Through more than 17 congressional terms, says Mrs. Wilbur Mills, her husband hasn't changed.

"He's the same to me," she said. "That is one quality I admire—he never changed. He is just as much at home with one person as with another."

Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Polly have been married 37 years, two more than he has served in Washington.

The committee is considering President Nixon's new tax cut proposals, spoken of favorably by the chairman, and Mills himself is subject of a presidential nomination boomlet.

Mills has disavowed a desire for the nomination, but has said he would accept "the mantle" if given to him.

Mrs. Mills said, "I don't speak for Mr. Mills. He does a good job and a lot of it. I'm not outspoken. I stay in the background."

She said her role is "giving moral support."

Mrs. Mills, 63, knew Wilbur when the two were growing up in the tiny north central Arkansas town of Kansett, where their families were acquainted. They did not date each other frequently until college, she said.

What's Next? Big Question

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With the economy locked into a 90-day wage-price freeze, the big question this past week for individuals and corporations alike was: What's next?

President Nixon's emergency economic game plan is scheduled to run its course by Nov. 13. The signals from the team captain and his quarterbacks for the next moves in their offensive against inflation and other fiscal ailments have been barely audible.

The President, Secretary of the Treasury Connally and other officials have said the wage-price freeze will not be extended beyond the initial life expectancy of 90 days.

But Nixon told Congress on Thursday that another system of wage and price stabilization would follow.

What is ahead for wage earners and business men in "Phase Two" will be decided, he said, after talks with leaders of Congress, business, labor and agriculture.

Nixon did not give some assurance that a deadlock on wages and prices was not a long-range government tactic. He said:

"Regimentation and government coercision must never become a way of life in the United States. Price and wage stabilization, in whatever form it takes, must be only a way stau,cunvu,co

Connally carried the ball for Nixon's complementary three-point tax program at a hearing of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The proposals would discontinue the 7 per cent excise tax on automobiles, allow fast tax writeoff on corporate investment in new plants and machinery, and speed up by one year to Jan. 1, 1973, a $50 boost in personal income tax exemptions.

Members of the committee generally expressed support for Nixon's tax program but indicated they were likely to make changes.

Connally said he didn't know what form "Phase Two" might take, but added: "I'm fairly certain things won't be turned completely loose. I think there will be some follow-on."

Many Are Arrested In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Five adults were under arrest today after a policeman reported a shot was fired at him Friday night in the racial unrest in this South Plains city. About 100 persons, mostly black were arrested for curfew violations.

The unrest began Thursday when a white pupil shot a 16-year old Negro classmate at Dunbar High School.

Patrolman Russell McKenzie, 27, was shot in the throat by a sniper Thursday night while on patrol. Three Negroes were charged with assault to murder.

The City Council put the city under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Mayor James Granberry said residents would be allowed to move to and from football games, movies and other public events so long as they returned to their homes immediately after the affairs ended.

Charged with shooting Patrolman McKenzie were Joe Jordan, 23; R. J. Lincoln 20; and Travis Lincoln, 18. A fourth Negro was arrested but not charged immediately. Justice of the Peace Wayne LeCroy set bond at $100,000 each.

Before Dunbar classes were resumed Friday, police arrested 10 or 15 persons—some of them not pupils—for loitering on school property.

Police said they recovered a rifle, a pellet gun and ammunition at the Negro housing project where the men accused of assault to murder were arrested. Officers said 10 or 12 shots were fired at the time McKenzie was hit in a neck artery.

Stetson Knocked Off By 'Copter

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Veteran actor Glenn Ford had his Stetson knocked off in his years of Western roles by bad guys, horses, Indians—and now a helicopter.

Ford was driving a Jeep at full clip through the hills north of Hollywood Thursday when a helicopter filming him from above suddenly hit an air pocket and dropped. One of the chopper's pontoons knocked his hat off and broke the Jeep's radio antenna. He was unhurt.

Ford is filming a new television series for CBS in which the 54-year-old actor plays a modern-day sheriff.

Designer Calls Young People Shrewd, Sophisticated Shoppers

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

"Everybody thought the youth market in home furnishings would be a bubble-gum one, but it is really quite sophisticated," observes William McCarty, 33-year-old Florida-reared London designer, who is winner of the 1971 Burlington House Young Designer's Award.

Young people account for the liberal reign young designers are being given in the homes field, McCarty points out. "They are shrewd shoppers," he says. In England, they use mod pieces with handsome inherited antiques. They have a lot of respect for the good old things, and they will cherish them, but they won't use something old, if it is hideous.

"They will have a good stereo even though they drive the least expensive little car. They will have lots of books that are read, not 42-linear feet of books that merely decorate a bookshelf. They buy what appeals to them and not what other people have. They will indulge themselves if the object is worthwhile—they want quality, but they won't spend money foolishly."

The height of sophistication is simplicity, so in a way, the sophisticated market is really going grass-roots.

But even the establishment is changing and perhaps it always wanted to, but couldn't get out of the rut as young people have, McCarty says. Status symbols are being shelved in California, Florida and New York, he has noted. People have new values about their home and its relationship to the family.

And when they decorate a second time around, they adopt a new viewpoint, he explains. They decide how they are going to live in the room and they choose furnishings that fulfill the function.

Before a room is redecorated, McCarty says everything should be taken out of it. That way, he points out, it can be seen in a new light. "You may decide to recolor your furniture, and perhaps you will use a different wall background. You may wish to make the room larger with mirrors," he says.

McCarty is a slim, gangling 6-foot-5, who looks far younger than he is. He grew up in Miami and lived in Korea and Okinawa when his architect-father was stationed there in the Air Force. In 1963, he went to England to work with David Hicks, well-known designer. In addition to designing furnishings, he has decorated many homes including "a bit of the peerage," he says.

He also studied architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, and worked as a draftsman for the Philadelphia Planning Commission. That knowledge was utilized in the design of his award-winning rooms for the David Rutherstons of London. He updated one large traditional room in their residence with concave plastic columns that gave better proportion to the old English room. He stippled the walls in dark green, navy blue and pinky beige effects that emphasized the periphery of white columns and brought out the full beauty of the antiques, he says.

Fun Wagon Is Barred

BALTIMORE (AP) — The city "fun wagon," replete with a sprinkler fountain and other recreational gear for children, has been barred from an East Baltimore neighborhood.

Officials led the wagon away after a protest petition was signed by 40 residents.

"There are a lot of sick, elderly people here," the petition said. "They need their peace and quiet. There are enough kids on the street already."

New Jersey received $11,533,269.25 in revenue from the 1971 Monmouth Park thoroughbred meeting.

Mamie Caton Honored On 80th Birthday

Mamie Caton was honored on Sunday afternoon, September 5, with an Open House in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Birdwell, 2611 Thirty-second Street. Mrs. Caton's eightieth birthday, August 31, was the occasion for this celebration.

Hostesses were her daughters, Mrs. Joe Alexander and Mrs. Hugh Birdwell. Serving at the refreshment table were Mrs. [illegible] Mrs. Gary Huffaker and Miss Tracye Alexander. Lovely floral arrangements of roses and other garden flowers decorated the house.

According to Mrs. Caton this was the most memorable birthday of her entire life. One of the highlights of the afternoon was the fact that the minister who performed her wedding ceremony sixty-one years ago made a special trip to be present and wish her a happy birthday. Incidentally, that wedding was the first for the young minister. Another happy surprise was the shower of cards from Medina, Texas, where she lived after her marriage, some of them being from members of the Sunday School class she taught fifty years ago.

More than sixty guests called during the afternoon to extend best wishes. Registering from out of town were friends from Roby, Hermleigh, Dunn, Ira, Hamilton and San Angelo.

Here's the Answer

Cutting your roses properly is very important to the health of your bushes. Horticulturists advise that incorrect cutting brings poor cut flower quality, injury and loss of vigor to the plant.

Sharp tools are a must as they help avoid breaking or twisting of the stems.

Dr. William H. Carlson of Michigan State University advises leaving flowers on the bushes in their first season of blooming, since this permits the bush to grow larger. "If flowers are cut during the first season, cut them with very short stems," he advises. "Cutting long-stemmed flowers removes foliage that is essential to the plant's ability to make food. This slows growth and future flowering.

"Don't cut older, healthy plants excessively. Keep at least two leaves between the cut and the main stem."

If flowers are not cut for inside display, remove them when their petals fall. Cut them just above the top leaf on the stem. Removing withered flowers within a cluster gives the remaining flowers more room to develop.

For the best cut flowers, cut just before the petals begin to unfold.

"The flowers will open normally and last longer than if cut when fully open," says Dr. Carlson who advises late afternoon cutting.

Cut Flower Hints

Flowers wilting prematurely may be revived by making a slanting cut an inch or so from the base of the stem, which should be put in very hot water—such as boiling water—for a few minutes.

Following the hot water treatment, immerse the stems in cold water. The hot water drives out any air bubbles from the stem and permits the cold water to rise and revive the flowers.

This treatment won't save old flowers or flowers that have wilted for hours.

Fourth Edition

The serious gardener will find of great assistance the fourth edition of the encyclopedic guide, "Diseases and Pests of Ornamental Plants," revised by Pascal P. Pirone, senior plant pathologist and senior curator of education, New York Botanical Garden. (Ronald Press).

The book is a standard reference on diagnosis and treatment of diseases.

Part I furnishes overall coverage of parasitic and nonparasitic diseases and explains growth patterns of various insects and animal pests.

Part II is an alphabetic guide to nearly 500 plants, their ailments, symptoms, control materials and methods.

There are many helpful illustrations. Culture, sanitation, resistance, poisons, spreaders, application equipment and biological control also are discussed.

The first edition appeared in 1943, with previous revisions in 1948 and 1960.

Cards Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Going along with the youthful desire to be different, many greeting cards now being printed contain no message at all, says Irving Cohen, head of a card store chain.

"Many cards now will have a photograph of a painting by one of the masters or just bear a colorful design," says Cohen.

New Library Is Planned

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP) — A four-story, $4.5 million library at Stephen F. Austin State University is expected to begin rising in 1972.

Comptroller C. G. Haas said the goal is for the library to be ready for use by the 1973 fall semester. It will contain 145,000 square feet of floor space.

It will be on the site of the present football stadium. As a result, a new stadium also will be constructed.

Plans for the library make possible expansion to 200,000 square feet. Haas said expansion will be in the form of wings.

Haas said the estimated cost includes approximately $4 million for construction and $500,000 for equipment and furnishings.

The library will have five times as much space as the present Boynton Library.

The church altar was decorated with a large arrangement of white gladioli, purple asters and candelabra with greenery and white tapers. Swags of greenery and lavender bows marked the family pews.

The bride's attendants were Kara Lee Downen of Odessa, Peggy Burkes of Kansas, Linda Gilliam of Hondo, Sue Egenbacher of Knox City and Mary Dickey of Snyder.

They carried nosegays of purple asters and baby's breath with white miniature carnations. Their floor length dresses were lavender and featured bouffant sleeves and cameo necklines.

Sorority Has Fall Meeting

The Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met Tuesday night, September 7, 1971, at the home of Virginia Johnston for its Fall meeting.

The meeting was called to order by President Virginia Johnston. "The Cares of ESA", with three main points of concern, 'Cares of Fellowman', 'Light of Education' and 'Cares of the World and Its Needs' was announced as the theme for the year.

Committees were appointed for the coming year as follows: program chairman, Faydean Hart; contact, Annabel Schattel; ways and means, Norma Book; welfare, Dean Blankenship; social, Betty Hunter; jonquil girl, Ida Stokes; publicity and photographer, Trudie Wood.

Several local projects for the coming year were discussed. Refreshments were served by the hostess to six members present.

Everyone Needs Breakfast

COLLEGE STATION — A hearty, well-balanced breakfast will keep you alert and ready for work all morning, reports Gwendolyne Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

After a long night's sleep, the body needs a chance to refuel from dinner the night before. Breakfast provides this refueling process, Mrs. Clyatt explains, and enables you to turn out more work in the late morning hours. Also, you won't tire as easily and your reactions will be quicker.

A "refueling" breakfast must be a basic breakfast, the specialist points out — one that provides from one-fourth to one-third of the day's nutrient requirements. Planning a nutritious breakfast can be easy if you follow a basic pattern, such as the one developed by food nutritionists. This pattern consists of fruit, cereal with milk and-or egg, bread and butter, and milk. The quantity of each can be adapted to the size and activity of the individual, but the types of foods needed are the same for all.

If breakfast menus at your house have fallen into a rut, Mrs. Clyatt suggests checking the pattern. Think of all the juices, fresh fruits and melons, ready-to-eat cereals and breads on the market; and how many different ways an egg can be prepared. Then surprise the family with a hearty morning meal that will spark them with new energy.

Woman Wins Top Honors In Chartered Accountants Field

TORONTO (AP) — Rayanne Niven says a feminist banner appears to come with what she's doing, but she doesn't really want to run out and march with it.

Miss Niven, 22, has won the intermediate medal of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario. With one year left to go before she is a CA, she has topped a field of several hundred students.

A spokesman for the institute says he believes it is the first time a girl has taken top honors. He says there are about 8,500 chartered accountants in Ontario, about 85 of them women.

Miss Niven is from Niagara-on-the-lake, Ont. She graduated from the University of Waterloo with a bachelor of mathematics degree, in computer science.

She says her decision to become a CA was made quickly after talking it over with people in the field.

"I can't really say that people tried to discourage me, although they said it might be difficult. It's been a man's field for a long time, like the legal profession."

She says what she is doing while she studies with Deloitte, Haskins and Sells is basically auditing.

"People are surprised when they meet me, that's the initial reaction."

She says the surprise soon fades, but the surprise, comments and questions have made her conscious of feminism.

"The banner kind of comes with it. But for women I know who are entering professions, it's a job and we're going to do the best we can. I think that's the only way to be accepted. I don't think marching can help.

"Someone my age has difficulty evaluating the situation. We seem to be in the last half of the transition. I don't think things are perfect, but I think the worst is over."

Miss Niven says she wants to keep working whether she marries or not.

"By the time you put in four years in university and three years more study, you've invested a lot of time."

Washable Leather For Fall Fashion

COLLEGE STATION — Colorful leather hot pants, a major fashion for fall, are now available as a completely washable garment.

According to Becky Dunlap, Extension clothing and textiles specialist at Texas A&M University, a new leather tanning process allows leather to retain its softness and prevents shrinkage after washing.

The same process makes possible dyes in a 14-color range. Wash-fast, the colors remain as bright after laundering as before.

The leather industry has become very fashion minded, says Miss Dunlap. And, you can choose from stenciled, painted or embroidered leathers, with textures from sheer suedes to chamois to buckskin. Just take your pick, the specialist advises.

Besides hot pants, washable leathers are also available in other clothing — shorts, shirts, golf gloves or decorative trims.

Whether buying leather as ready-to-wear or for home sewing, check the label for washability and instructions, Miss Dunlap reminds.

As a final suggestion, she says to keep leather hot pants cool, launder in cold water.

Lord Snowdon Found Guilty

HAYWARDS HEATH, England (AP) — A Magistrate's court has found Lord Snowdown guilty of careless driving in an accident in which his car rammed an auto driven by free lance photographer Ray Bellisario.

Queen Elizabeth's brother-in-law was ordered to pay $48 toward prosecution costs Thursday. He was acquitted of charges of dangerous driving and dangerous reversing.

Lord Snowdon denied he had deliberately put his car in reverse and rammed Bellissario, who has often taken candid shots of the British royal family.

Sato Can Expect Trouble On Japan's China Policy

By ROBERT LIO
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Eisaku Sato can expect more trouble next month when parliament starts a session coinciding with the U.N. debate on China.

Tokyo, like Washington, recognizes Nationalist China. For months Sato's Liberal Democratic party has been deeply divided in heated arguments over this policy.

The Diet is being called to ratify an agreement on U.S. return of Okinawa, but influential pro-Peking members of Sato's party and his political opponents have served notice they will turn the session into a major debate on Japan's China policy. They want Peking recognized. They could win added ammunition if mainland China as expected wins admissions into the United Nations.

Sato says Peking's attitude toward his government makes it difficult for him to achieve any reapprochement. There is talk, however, that the beleaguered prime minister may resign when the session ends in December, to allow Japan to adopt a more flexible policy toward China.

Sato, his aides say, is reluctant to resign earlier because he would like to confirm ratification of the Okinawa agreement, which he considers the capstone of his political career.

The prime minister feels, however, that Japan should avoid severing its diplomatic ties with Taiwan because of treaty obligations and respect for Chiang Kai-shek. The Nationalist president forfeited all reparation claims against Japan for atrocities committed against the Nationalists on the China mainland in World War II. Japan also had made extensive economic inroads on Taiwan.

Sato, 70, has been in office since November 1964, a postwar record. His current two-year term expires in fall 1972, but in the past year he has had one of his most troubled periods, haunted by a deterioration of U.S.-Japanese relations and by Japan's lack of diplomatic ties with Peking.

The prime minister built his political reputation on his close ties with the United States. The Japanese were stunned when President Nixon, allowing only minutes for advance notice, decided in July to visit Peking; then announced, a month later, drastic economic measures which restricted Japanese imports and increased pressures to revalue the yen currency upward.

The United States pleaded the necessity for maintaining secrecy, but the Japanese still felt they should have been consulted beforehand on matters of such importance.

Satō, normally a reserved individual, reacted bitterly at having been kept in the dark on the preliminary negotiations for Nixon's trip. He angrily told the Diet: "We can keep a secret: There should have been prior consultations."

Many Japanese feel that Washington has influenced Japan's policy toward China, and there are demands for less dependence on the United States. Any changes, however, are not expected to be radical or hastily taken.

Since World War II, Japan has oriented itself toward the United States. It has drawn heavily on American good will to rebuild itself to rank now as Asia's richest nation.

The United States is Japan's best trading partner, annually importing roughly one-third of Japan's total exports, which reached $19.3 billion in 1970. The United States also guarantees Japan a defense shield, under the U.S.-Japan security treaty. Otherwise this nation would have to spend heavily on military needs.

To a degree, the U.S.-Chinese confrontation has helped project Japan's importance in Asia, and nervous Japanese are wondering whether their nation some day may find itself a dispensable U.S. ally if the United States and mainland China succeed in establishing normal relations.

With its prosperity, Japan has experienced a resurgence of nationalism an patriotic fervor, spurring ambitions to become first in almost everything. These factors, in an insular nation of energetic people, are being blamed for strains which have developed in U.S.-Japanese relations, and have encouraged Chinese charges of a revival of Japanese militarism.

Critics say the Japanese happily parade their economic achievements but, in their drive to become first, continue to insist they are still underdeveloped and impose restrictions when confronted with projects which might cut into their markets.

Actions Earn Policeman A Citation

DALLAS (AP) — Police Officer Peter L. Anderson has received a presidential commendation for his actions last spring in saving the life of a 7-year-old boy.

Anderson, 32, was among the first on the scene of an April 29 accident in which Johnny O'Connor had been struck by an auto as he attempted to walk his bicycle across a street.

The boy had been hurled 30 feet and witnesses thought he was dead. His eyes were open and in a fixed stare. Breathing had stopped.

But Anderson breathed life back into the boy with three minutes of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Signed by President Nixon, the citation reads, "The President of the United States awards this citation to Peter L. Anderson in recognition of exceptional service to others, in the finest American tradition."

With the citation came a letter from White House Assistant Michael B. Smith which said, in part: "The President was pleased to learn of the outstanding manner in which you saved the life of a young boy. Your quick response to this emergency situation deserves the praise and admiration of all Americans and as a token of his appreciation for your splendid work, the President has asked me to send you the enclosed certificate."

Junior Editors Quiz on LODESTONE

QUESTION: What makes a lodestone magnetic?

ANSWER. The lodestone, a hard black stone, is made of magnetite which chemically is ferro-ferric oxide. According to legend, it was discovered in Asia Minor by a shepherd who noticed that black stones stuck to the iron end of his staff. Large amounts of this stone was found in the ancient Asian country of Magnesia. The stones were called magnes lapis, which means magnesian stone. Later, in Europe, it was found that a piece of this stone, dangled on a string, would point North. They called it a "leading stone" or lodestone. Lodestones made compasses possible, and mariners no longer had to steer their ships by the stars. In 1600, Dr. William Gilbert found out why the compass acted this way. He discovered that the earth is one huge magnet and attracts the magnetic needle of the compass. It has been found that a piece of iron acquires magnetism by passing an electrical charge through it. These electric magnets are used in industry in many ways. Scientists say that lodestone is magnetic because of the way its molecules are lined up in rows, with the North poles pointing North and their South poles pointing South. They all pull as a unit, and they can attract other things outside the bar. 9-11

(Stan Childs of Pickens, S.C., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Speech-Hearing Specialists

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I am very interested in becoming a speech therapist. - C.A.C., Port Arthur, Texas

Correction! "Speech therapist" is no longer the favored term for professionals who help persons with communication disabilities. Reason is because duties range beyond therapy. The speech-hearing specialist is concerned with identifying, diagnosing, evaluating and correcting all types of speech language and hearing problems for people of all ages.

Preferred terms are — "speech pathologist" and "audiologist" — separate occupations. However, speech and hearing are so interrelated that the pathologist and audiologist must understand each other's work.

SPEECH PATHOLOGISTS deal with speech and language disorders, including language-learning problems in children. A newer direction is working with minority groups for whom standard English is not a first language.

AUDIOLOGISTS are concerned with hearing problems. The audiologist is not a teacher of the deaf, but acts in a counseling capacity.

SPECIALISTS work in public school systems and clinical service centers; college classrooms, clinics or research centers; hospitals; government agencies; industry; or in private practice. About 70 percent are women, although more young men (and minority students) are entering the field.

SERVICE-ORIENTED. You must be sensitive, patient, have personal warmth, and be more motivated by the wish to give service than to make money. However, the pay's not bad. The 1971 median for professionals with a master's degree is $11,300, with a range of $5,000 (includes some part-time workers) to $50,000 (mainly those in private practice). 11 percent earn over $20,000.

EDUCATIONAL requirements are trending to master's degree, at minimum. Graduate work takes 1-2 years, depending on school. Financial aid, while not as lush as it was in the '60s, is still available but mainly on the graduate level for non-minority students. Additional state certificates and credentials are required for public school employment.

THE ACUTE SHORTAGE of speech-hearing specialists of recent years is subsiding, but opportunities are expected to remain good through the '70s. Specialists can find jobs, but may not have such a wide choice of offers. The greatest unfilled need is in urban ghettos and isolated rural areas.

Factors affecting demand include: increasing population, longer life, growing government programs, increasing awareness of need and of noise pollution, whether a comprehensive national health insurance program materializes, and the economy (government cutbacks).

SEVERAL RELATED FIELDS into which speech pathologists and audiologists are moving are: administrative duties for government health and education programs of many types (because training was broad-based, these specialists can talk across a range of professions); noise pollution (research, consulting); and service to "neglected" populations (dealing with cultural language patterns as well as functional disorders).

FOR MORE INFORMATION -- An excellent new kit of materials has just been published by the American Speech and Hearing Association. Booklets describe career information (30 pages), student financial aid, and institutions offering training. To request a single free kit, send postcard to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper, asking for "SPEECH-HEARING." Please specify grade or educational level (if out of school already).

Rebel Inmates Work On List Of Demands

By BEN de FOREST
Associated Press Writer

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — With the help of such citizen-mediators as racial lawyer William Kunstler, rebel inmates of Attica prison worked on a final list of demands today to barter for the freedom of hostages they have held since Thursday morning.

Six of the inmates met with 30 intermediaries into the early morning hours. The talks ended after 4½ hours and were to be taken up again at 10 a.m.

At one point, the meeting broke off for more than an hour when prisoners thought state troopers were moving into a nearby cellblock. It turned out to be a minor incident.

A newspaper pool reporter who sat in on the discussions said the mediators would ask the state correction commissioner to join the next session of the talks.

The reporter said Kunstler estimated the inmates now have 30 demands and were most insistent about a new demand — the removal of Attica Supt. Vincent Mancusi.

Kunstler, whose clients have included the Chicago 7 and Black Panthers; U.S. Rep. Herman Badillo, D-N.Y., the only native Puerto Rican in Congress, and Tom Wicker, an associate editor of The New York Times, were among the intermediaries. They were on a list of intermediaries requested by the 500 "hard-core" inmates still holding sway over one cellblock area.

The hostages, estimate to number as many as 39, and hundreds of inmates spent the night in an exercise yard. The captives were reported unharmed except for minor cuts and bruises.

They were seized when 1,280 convicts rioted, injuring 12 guards, and took over four cellblocks. State police eventually chased them from three of the cellblocks and surrounded the prison.

Prison officials have given no explanation of why the riot started.

Several lists of demands were issued late Thursday and again Friday afternoon, ranging from various prison reforms to political asylum in another country.

The demand for asylum was reported to have been withdrawn or de-emphasized later Friday. Word of the new step toward negotiations was announced by the Rev. Raymond Bradley.

Edwards Wants Budget Doubled

By CARL E. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Food and Drug Administration, saying he'll suggest more federal strength and a "totally new initiative" to guard what America eats, figures it would cost $200 million to build up his safety team.

FDA Commissioner Charles C. Edwards, during a House public health subcommittee hearing Friday on soup-contamination incidents, said he would send the panel his recommendations within two weeks. He estimated it would take at least twice his current $100 million budget to implement an effective food inspection system with a sharp manpower boost.

Edwards indicated his proposals may include licensing of food processors, requiring all discoveries of tainted food to be reported, providing for inspections and creating new authority in recalling contaminated products.

A comprehensive program, he added, should include more frequent inspections of the 60,000 plants under FDA responsibility, sampling at the retail level to determine product quality, greatly increased examination of imported foods, and "the extra capability to react promptly to natural disasters and the unavoidable emergency situation."

Edwards discussed the cases involving federal probes into findings of botulism toxin in vichyssoise canned by Bon Vivant in Newark, N.J., and in some chicken vegetable soup from the Campbell Soup Co. plant in Paris, Tex. A check of Campbell's operations also uncovered a single lot of vegetarian vegetable soup in swollen cans although no botulism toxin was found, he said.

E.M. Nuckols Jr., Campbell's senior vice president, said an investigation is continuing but it is too early to make statements concerning the cause of the chicken vegetable soup incident. He added that the firm has taken steps giving the cooking process a greater margin of safety, installing more duplicate control devices, and making a more comprehensive sampling and testing program for all products.

Trio Robs Texas Bank

HOUSTON (AP) — Three men, one of them dressed in hot pants and high heels, struck the Northgate State Bank Friday and left with $25,000.

Bank president Sterling Emens Jr. was pistol whipped during the robbery but was not seriously injured.

The robbers hit just as the bank started to close.

One of the men, in hot pants, black stockings, high heels and a short wig, first inquried about opening a checking account, then held up the clerk.

The two others, wearing stockings pulled over their faces, then invaded the bank and forced Emens to take all the money out of the five teller's trays which were in the vault.

No one else in the bank was injured but the trio made the employes lie on the floor behind the counter as they escaped in a gray car.

Tubes Dangerous

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Floating lazily off the beach in an inner tube may sound like the ultimate in cool, relaxing summer enjoyment, but the largest manufacturer of inner tubes and tires warns that tubes should not be a substitute for flotation gear.

Water equipment is the most popular off-the-job use for inner tubes, but they should never take the place of approved life jackets, ski belts or ski vests.

Negro Queen Killed

HOUSTON (AP) — The first Negro woman ever elected homecoming queen at the University of Houston, Lynn Cecelia Eusan, 23, died of stab wounds Friday.

Police charged a longshoreman, Leo Jackson Jr., 26, in her death.

She was pronounced dead at a local hospital after the car she was riding in was involved in a high speed collision with a Houston police car.

Miss Eusan was rushed to the hospital where the stab wounds were discovered in her back.

Officers said Jackson told them he had picked up the woman when she asked to be taken to town. He said she started screaming and stabbing herself and him. Jackson had minor wounds in one leg. He is also black.

Miss Eusan, formerly of San Antonio, was homecoming queen in 1968. She was also an activist in the black movement on campus and was among 14 UH students arrested in connection with a 1969 campus disturbance which caused more than $2,000 damage to the university center and book store.

Tigers Rally, Gain 24-24 Tie With 'Dogs

STANTON — Boy, it sure looked like we were whipped.

But the fighting Snyder Tigers got on a stirring rally in the 4th quarter to overcome a 14-point deficit and gain a 24-24 tie with Stamford's upset-bent Bulldogs in the season opener for both teams here Friday night.

It was an exciting contest from start to finish. The Tigers took a 10-0 lead, then Stamford scored 24 straight points while holding the Black and Gold scoreless to take a 24-10 lead. Then, when it appeared the Tigers were on the ropes, they just bowed their necks and tried a little harder to salvage the tie.

Trailing 24-10 late in the third quarter, Snyder marched 60 yards in 10 plays to get back in the ball game and cut the margin to 24-16. Quarterback Butch Buchanan tossed a left-handed pass to Jimmy Dyess for eight yards to the 48. Dyess gained one to the 49 on the first play of the 4th quarter, then Sammie Harrison picked up a first and 10 at the 41 with a 10 yard ramble up the middle. Dyess then gained to the 38 in two carries and Butch lofted a long pass to Gary Patterson. Gary was going at full stride and the aerial was on target, but speedy Robert Stevenson batted the ball away at the last second.

Not to be dismayed, Butch then fired to Patterson for a 13-yard gain at the 25 and then the Tiger quarterback scrambled around left end on a determined run for another first and 10 at the 13. Then, Sammie Harrison, who was a standout all night long at fullback for the Tigers, shot over right guard and fought his way to the goal. He was hit at least three times en route to the touchdown, but Sammie got the six points on sheer determination. A pass for bonus points failed to click.

Stamford took over and elected to try to maintain possession on a 4th and one situation at their 47, but the Tiger defenders refused to budge an inch.

On first down after Snyder took possession, Buchanan fired a long strike to Patterson, who made the reception at the 10 and fell forward to the two. It was a 45 yard gainer. Gary had maneuvered into the clear and waited for Butch's quick strike. On next down, Harrison went over right guard again to cut the margin to 24-22.

Snyder elected to go for the two points and was successful. Everyone in the stadium was on his feet as Buchanan sprinted around right end for the two points that tied it up at 24-24.

The Tigers were not ready to settle for a tie and did their best to score again. On the first play after they took over, Stamford's quarterback, Randy Leavitt threw deep. The Tigers' Jackson Brewster and Jimmy Dyess both went for the ball and collided, but Dyess had possession when he fell to the turf at the Snyder 28.

In 11 straight power plays, the Tigers drove 47 yards to the Stamford 25. Harrison, Buchanan, Dyess and Jackie Murray took turns lugging the leather and the Tigers steadily drove towards the Bulldog goal. Then, with seconds remaining in the game, the Tigers tried three aerials, but all fell incomplete. Butch hit Patterson at the goal line in the northwest corner of the field, but a Bulldog defender hit Gary just as he made the reception and the ball fell harmlessly to the ground. Stamford had time for only one play, and they failed to score.

Snyder turned in some offensive heroics in the last two minutes of the opening stanza after both teams failed to mount sustained drives on their first two possessions, although Travis Bunch, Tiger tailback, contributed a 20-yard ramble on the first Snyder drive.

Buchanan intercepted a Leavitt aerial at the Snyder 9 yard line to stop Stamford on their second possession. A 5-yard penalty pushed the Tigers back to the four, then Bunch took a pitch out from Buchanan and went wide right. The play completely fooled the Bulldogs. Bunch emerged in the clear after he got past the line of scrimmage. He raced 96 yards for the first touchdown, and Sandy Land kicked the extra point.

With 5:50 gone in the second quarter, Land booted a 32 yard field goal on fourth down for a 10-0 lead. The Tigers had driven from the Stamford 47 to the 14 before the drive had stalled. Dyess and Buchanan both turned in two nice runs in the march.

On their next possession Stamford apparently was stopped at their own 23, but two successive mistakes set up the first Bulldog score. A fumbled punt and a 15-yard penalty put Stamford in business at the Tiger 23. Rick Medford, Bulldog halfback, gained 12 yards to the 11, then fullback Bingo Bolin added six yards to the five and halfback Wayne Marsh gained four to the one. Leavitt, the quarterback, crashed over right guard for the touchdown, but Alan Plumlee's kick was blocked and the score remained at 10-6 at halftime.

The third quarter belonged to Stamford. They recovered a fumble—one of four lost Snyder fumbles—at the nine yard line. After a loss of one, and an incomplete aerial, the Bulldogs faked a field goal attempt at the 13 and Leavitt went wide left and cut up the middle to the goal line. The Dogs tried to run for two, but Buchanan made a great tackle to keep the Stamford lead at 12-10 with 9:36 remaining in the quarter.

About three minutes later, John Newsome recovered another fumble for Stamford at the Snyder 49. On first down, Leavitt hit Fred Washington going full stride up the middle for another touchdown. Again, a run for bonus points failed to click, but the hosts held an 18-10 advantage.

Then, with 48 seconds remaining in the quarter, Leavitt hit Washington in the end zone on a 12-yard touchdown pass as the lead soared to 24-10. The play capped a 46 yard drive following a short Snyder punt. Stamford tried to pass for the two points, but Mike Glasscock broke it up.

The Tigers must be commended for refusing to give up when they were 14 points down. There is great hope for a team that can come back and score two touchdowns in the fourth quarter.

It was a good team effort by the Tigers. Louis Loyd, Mike Line, Randy Wright and Gary Jones all looked sharp, but then, so did several other lads. Eddie Bane, playing his first varsity game at center, did a creditable job. Jones was shaken up in the third quarter and removed from the field.

Both teams hit hard and tried their best to win.

Except for a few costly mistakes on defense, the Tigers turned in a sound game.

Mike McKeever did a great job of punting for Stamford. He kept the Tigers in the hole throughout the third period.

Next Friday, the Tigers host Andrews in their first home game of the season.

Rockets Begin Drills Today

HOUSTON (AP) — The new Houston Rockets of the National Basketball Association greeted 20 rookie candidates Sunday to open pre-season workouts and there was a heavy Texas flavor to the newcomers.

The Rockets, who transferred here from San Diego last June 23, already had a natural drawing card in Elvin "Big E" Hayes, the former All-American at the University of Houston.

But just for an extra home state flavor, Coach Tex Winter, a Texan himself, of course, has invited three other former University of Houston greats, Melvin Bell, George Reynolds and Ken Spain, and Rice Gary Reist to try out for the Rockets.

The Rockets apparently openended camp without their No. 1 draft choice Cliff Meely, the 6-foot-8 All-American forward from Colorado. Meely and the Rockets have been unable to reach contract agreement.

Hayes, along with the other veterans report Thursday for drills. The Rockets open exhibition play Sept. 26 at Dallas against the Cincinnati Royals.

Their first appearance in Houston will be Sept. 30 against the world champion Milwaukee Bucs and Lew Alcindor in the Astrodome. The Astrodome game will be a return match between Alcindor and Hayes.

In the 1968-69 season, Hayes led the University of Houston to a 71-69 victory over the unbeaten UCLA Bruins led by Alcindor.

The top rookie draftee in camp will be second round choice Mike Newlin of Utah.

Other draft choices on hand include Rick Katherman, Duke, eighth round; Doug Rex, California at Santa Barbara, 11th round; Dick Gibbs, Texas-El paso. Reist was picked in the sixth round.

Winter held a rookie camp shortly before the franchise was shifted to Houston. At that time Newlin, Gibbs, Katherman and Rex were invited to pre-season drills which start Thursday.

Winter said two or three others of the second group of rookies may be invited to begin work with the veterans Thursday.

And Winter isn't just taking a light look at the rookies. He thinks some may make the team.

"I've got three or four rookies I would like to make this team over some of the veterans," Winter said.

O'Brien Socks Buffs, 63-16

O'BRIEN — Fluvanna's Buffaloes suffered a 63-16 loss at the hands of O'Brien here Friday night in the first football game of the season for these Six-Man teams.

The hosts took a 32-8 lead in the opening period, boosted it to 40-16 at halftime, and extended it to 51-16 in the third quarter.

Fluvanna got its first touchdown on a five yard run by J. W. White in the first quarter. Larry White kicked for two extra points.

In the second quarter, the Buffs' J. W. White passed 15 yards for a touchdown to Chuck Jones. Larry again converted.

Next Friday, the Buffs host Union Terry.

Hobbs Bows To Lueders, 46-0

LUEDERS—The Lueders-Avoca Raiders smothered the Hobbs Panthers under a 46-0 score and the game was called with 6 minutes to go. Six-man rules give the game to the team that leads by 45 points.

Quarterback Brian Harvey threw two touchdown passes to end Keith Henderson in the first period and Henderson kicked for four points. Harvey scored a touchdown on a nine-yard run in the second period. Henderson then kicked the extra points. Fullback Joe Tabor crossed over from the one-yard line for six and Henderson kicked for two more points. In the third period Tommy Camacho scored on a 39-yard pass from Harvey. The extra points were missed, but Henderson kicked a 26-yard field goal, making the score 46-0.

Borden County Flails Wellman

GAIL — Borden County got its football season off to a flying start Friday night against the Wellman Bobcats; winning 68-0.

In the first period, Charles Billeck scored on runs of 45 and 50 yards. Randy Hensley and Randy Crittenden also scored that period on short runs. Hensley again scored in the second period on a 28 yard run.

Junior Oliverez, Roy Don Hendley and Ken Don Jones scored in the third period for Borden County and Ross Sharp scored the last touchdown in the fourth period.

Brigham Young Routs Eagles

By Rod DE COLA
Assoticated Press Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Golden Richards was as good as his name Friday night, romping through a porous North Texas State kick coverage squad for a pair of long touchdowns that led Brigham Young to a 41-13 intersectional victory in a Cotton Bowl season's debut for both teams.

"The place where we lost was in the kicking game," North Texas Eagles Coach Rod Rust said, referring to Richards' punt return of 62 yards and kickoff return of 87.

BYU Cougar coach Tommy Hudspeth said Richards made some of his finest moves ever, "but the defensive coaches and their boys should get a lot of the credit."

Despite Richards' heroics, North Texas still had a shot at it after the first half. The Eagles cashed in on an 11-yard scoring pass from sophomore quarter-Rick Shaw to Preshie Hodge and a two-point conversion to make the score 27-11 in favor of BYU.

Brigham Young quickly put a damper on the surge in the third quarter as end Bob Larsen fell on a blocked North Texas punt in the end zone for a score. Seconds later Jim Van Valkenburg cracked in from the six to put the lights out for North Texas.

Cougar Joe Liljenquist served notice that the BYU kicking game will have to be reckoned with by future foes. Liljenquist booted a pair of field goals, including a soaring 51-yarder that had room to spare.

Both teams hit hard, although neither displayed much offensive punch. Hudspeth thought North Texas hit too hard on a play in the second half that saw back Brian Gunderson hurt.

"This has to be the dirtiest blow in football," he said. "I can say this about it... a film will be sent to the commissioner for his review." He said he expected Gunderson to be all right.

Tragedy in the press box marred the game in the second half. Salt Lake City Tribune writer William Coltrin collapsed from an apparent heart attack and died within minutes despite the efforts to revive him.

Lt. Gen. Albert P. Clark, a 1936 West Point graduate, is superintendent of the U.S. Air Force Academy.

San Francisco Had Good Year

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers were so successful in 1970 that it almost ruined John Brodie's golf game.

"I played terrible golf," said Brodie after reporting to training camp for his 15th season with the 49ers. "But I beat George Blanda."

Brodie, 36, also beat out Blanda, the Oakland Raiders' 43-year-old quarterback and kicker, in the voting for the National Football League's Most Valuable Player award last year.

The 49ers were 10-3-1 last year and won the first division title in their 25-year history. They upset the Minnesota Vikings, defending NFL champions, in the playoffs before losing to Dallas in the National Football Conference title game.

Brodie enjoyed good health, giving a lot of credit to the 49ers' record-setting offensive line.

Brodie, with a minimum of interference from rushing defensive linemen, completed 59 per cent of his passes last season for 2,941 yards and 24 touchdowns.

He was tackled only eight times on pass attempts—an all-time NFL low—and was intercepted just 10 times.

Brodie and his receivers, including All-Pro Gene Washington, and the defensive unit which made major improvements in 1970 are the biggest reasons the 49ers are one of the favorites to reach the Super Bowl next January.

"We know we're going to have to be a better football team this year, and we think we will be," says Coach Dick Nolan. "For one thing, we've got more experience."

The 49ers' starting line-up in the NFL opener Sept. 19 at Atlanta will be virtually the same as last year's. The only 1970 starter gone is defensive tackle Roland Lakes, traded to the New York Giants for a future draft choice.

Earl Edwards, a third-year pro, has taken Lakes' place. The 49ers carried eight defensive linemen last year and all stayed busy under Nolan's shuttle system.

Young defensive ends Tommy Hart, 26, Bill Belk, 25, and Cedrick Hardman, 23, got more playing time than veteran Stan Hindman, who was slowed down by injuries before the 1970 season.

Hindman also may play defensive tackle this year, backing up Edwards and 13-year veteran Charlie Krueger.

Young Frank Nunley and Skip Vanderbundt, who cracked the starting line-up in 1969, join Dave Wilcox, a four-time Pro Bowl selection, at the linebacker positions.

The defensive backfield includes cornerback Bruce Taylor, the conference's Rookie of the Year in 1970, and old pros Jim Johnson, Rosey Taylor and Mel Phillips.

Bruce Taylor broke into pro football by intercepting three passes, one of which he returned 70 yards, and leading the NFL in punt returns last year.

One quasi-rookie, running back Vic Washington, could break into the 49ers' offensive lineup. But Nolan will probably stick with the dependable Doug Cunningham and Ken Willard, who lack great speed but excell in blocking.

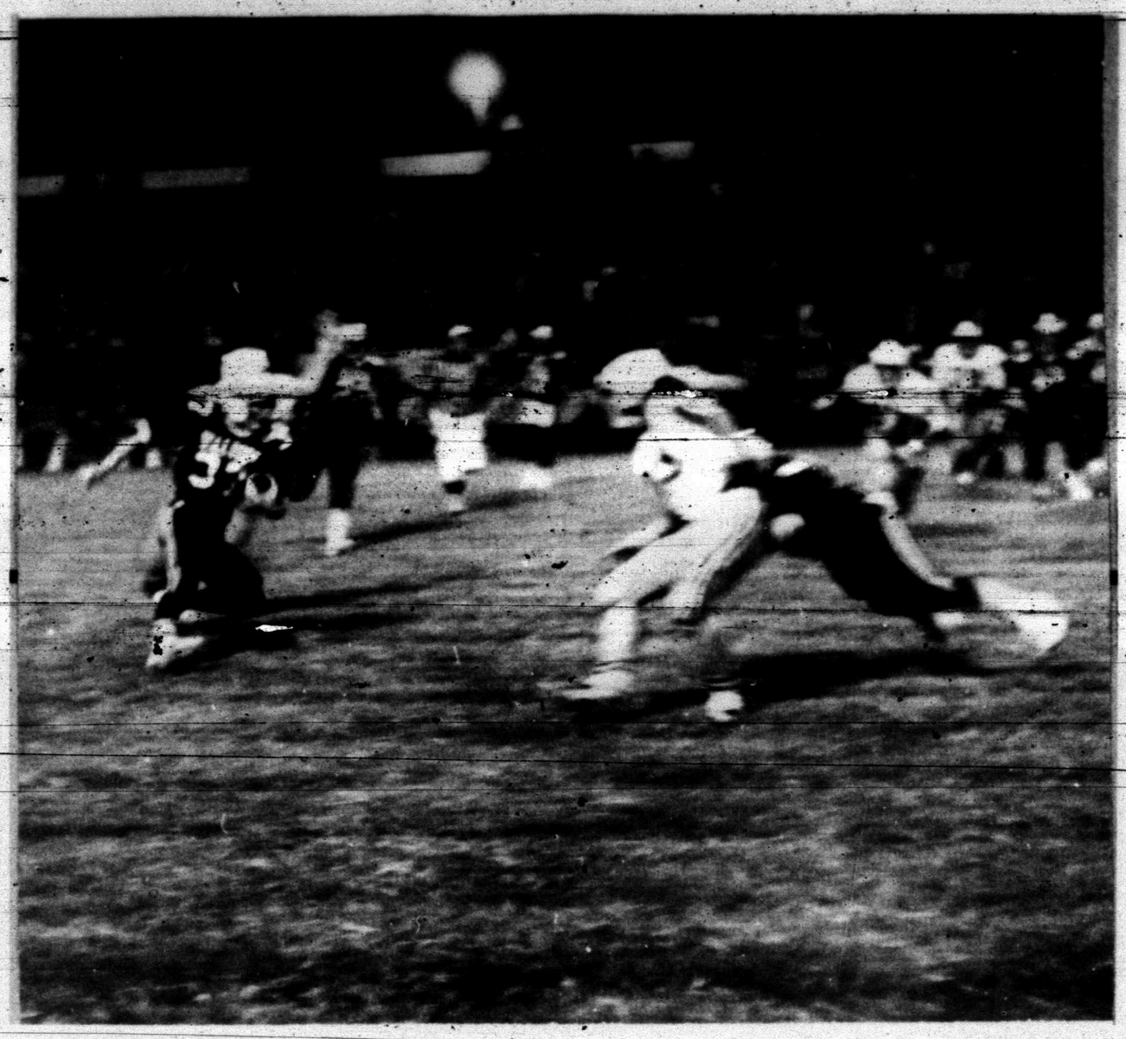
Washington was drafted in 1970 but was untouchable until he finished playing out a contract in the Canadian Football League. He averaged six yards per carry through the 49ers' early exhibition games this year.

Gene Washington led NFL receivers in yardage last year, his second in pro ball, with 1,100. Dick Witcher plays the other wide receiver position and Bob Windsor and Ted Kwalick are the tight ends.

The "Brodie Guards" in the interior line are tackles Cas Banaszek and Len Rohde, guards Randy Beisler and Woody Peoples and center Forest Blue.

The punting of backup quarterback Steve Spurrier, who averaged just 38.4 yards last year, is one of Nolan's major concerns. But the team's place kicking problems ended in 1970 when Bruce Gossett arrived and booted 21 field goals.

The 49ers will be going for their first NFL title in a new home, Candlestick Park, after a quarter century at old Kezar Stadium.



CUTS UPFIELD — Stamford's Rick Medford (37) made several nice runs against the Snyder Tigers Friday night during their thrilling non-district football clash. Here, the talented halfback cuts upfield with an unidentified Tiger zeroing in on him. In the background (right) moving up for Snyder are Jimmy Dyess (27) and Mike Glasscock (33). The Tigers host Andrews next Friday night.

Bulldogs Fall To Mertzon

MERTZON — Ira's Bulldogs sustained a 26-6 loss here Friday night in the opening action of area Six-Man football.

Mertzon took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter on a 40-yard pass. Ira tied it up in the second frame when Ricky Cox broke loose on a 35 yard run. However, the hosts went ahead 12-6 at halftime as they scored on a 10-yard run on the last play of the first half.

There was no scoring in the third period, but Mertzon collected two touchdowns in the last four minutes

They scored on a 10-yard pass and on a short run.

The Bulldogs defended well against the run, but their pass defense was leaky. Offensively, Ricky Cox was the leading ground gainer for Ira.

Next Friday, Ira hosts Paint Creek.

Tennis Tradition Is Pitted Against Hunt

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Stiff-necked tradition is pitted against Lamar Hunt's millions in a massive tennis tug-of-war that threatens the very structure of the game.

If the bitter battle follows its present course, the result will be tragic. Everybody will lose. The long, hard-fought efforts to bring about Open tennis will be nullified. The pros will become dull barnstormers. The traditional, age-old events—Wimbledon, Forest Hills Roland Garros—will become empty shells of championships.

The crux of the problem is money.

Lamar Hunt, the millionaire Texas oil man who has bought up 32 leading players, is demanding appearance—of expense—money for his blue-ribbon pros.

The report is that he asked $40,000 expense money to permit his stars to compete at Wimbledon next year.

Wimbledon balked. So did other nations belonging to the International Lawn Tennis Federation. The ILIF barred Hunt's pros for all events, including Forest Hills, starting in 1972.

The ILTF considers Hunt's money demands a form of blackmail—tribute money. It's repugnant to the blue coats. It's understandable.

If Wimbledon and Forest Hills must pay expenses for Hunt's athletes, why not for Stan Smith, Clark Graebner and Cliff Richey, who are equally well-known and equally capable?

Where would the demands end? Similar guarantees could be asked by the Virginia Slims, the pro women's group, and who knows what others?

Professional golf discovered years ago the impracticality of paying money to top stars—Ben Hogan, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus. In the PGA tournaments, everybody is equal in pursuit of the rich purses.

Hunt insists he has no desire to hurt Wimbledon, Forest Hills or tennis generally. He is a businessman. Just as he helped the American Football League into a power, he believes pro tennis can be made into a profitable spectator sport.

To achieve this, he has been forced to sign such stars as Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Arthur Ashe to lavish contracts with built-in guarantees.

To meet these guarantees, he has found it necessary to demand expenses for members of his troupe. The maximum is $20,000 a week for the 32 men, but Hunt contends the figure falls short of this.

Hunt and his tournament director, Mike Davies, are convinced that if the ILTF persists in its stand, he can still make a success of the pro tour.

Maybe.

Without the big backdrops—Wimbledon is nearly 100 years old and the U.S. Nationals date back to 1881—the biggest of the name pros become dull and repetitious.

Fans normally come out to see Rod Laver, John Newcombe and Arthur Ashe because of their exploits at Wimbledon and Forest Hills. To try to sell them week-in and week-out in limited tournaments is like trying to sell reruns of the "Perils of Pauline."

Also, the ILTF controls the big venues.

Ashe, who left the independent ranks to join Hunt's troupe, acknowledges the importance of the big tournaments.

"I thought some of the boys were short-sighted in not playing at Forest Hills," he said during the past week. "I tried to persuade Laver to play. It's what you do at Forest Hills and Wimbledon that goes into the record book. That's how people remember you."

The solution to the war seems simple enough. The ILTF should lift its ban against the Hunt pros and invite them to play everywhere, but make no special concessions. Hunt should withdraw his demands for expense monies.

Wimbledon and Forest Hills can struggle along without Lamar Hunt's pros.

Only tennis suffers

Oilers Cut Maples

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers cut seven-year offensive lineman Bobby Maples Friday. He was then picked up by the Pittsburgh Steelers, the club said.

Rotan Nips Spur 14-12

ROTAN — With only 30 seconds left in the game, Rotan's Gary Powell recovered a Spur Bulldog fumble to preserve a 14-12 win for the Yellowhammers.

Ironically, it was the only fumble loss of the night for the Bulldogs, while Rotan fumbled four times and lost all of them.

Spur jumped on the scoreboard first in the second period when Britt Blackwell ran through the middle for four yards. In the third period, Paul Wylie of Rotan, took a quick pitch from quarterback Norville Kennedy and raced 15 yards down the sideline for a touchdown. The enraged Bulldogs scored on the next play from scrimmage with a 66-yard pass from quarterback Terry Rainbow to end James Kelly. With two remaining minutes in the third period, Kennedy and Dave Springer came up with a scoring 28-yard pass to tie the score at 12-12. The extra points were made by halfback Neil Summers to bring the score to 14-12. With 90 seconds left in the game and Spur threatening at the Rotan 30, the Yellowhammer's defense held on downs, only to see the offense cough up a fumble on the first down. Spur returned the compliment on the first play, however, and Powell pounced on the biggest fumble of the night for the victory. Rotan then ran out the final 30 seconds on the clock.

Payne Signs With Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Tom Payne, 7-foot-2, center from the University of Kentucky, has signed with the Atlanta Hawks after being picked in the National Basketball Association's first hardship draft.

Payne was bound for the Hawks' training camp in Jacksonville, Fla., after the draft Friday.

"I had needs and necessities that had to be filled while I was in college and I couldn't do it on a scholarship," said Payne, who still had two years of eligibility remaining.

The No. 1 draft choice was Nate Williams of Utah State, who went to the Cincinnati Royals. Others grabbed up in the first round were Cyril Baptists of Creighton, picked by the Golden State Warriors, and Phil Chenier of California, who went to Baltimore.

Joe Hammond, who played in the Eastern League but not in college, was chosen by Los Angeles on the fifth round.

NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy went through 20 rounds without anyone picking Ed Owens of Weber State, after which the draft was ended.

The Royals said they would try Williams, who held a 19.6 average, at forward although he could also play the back court.

They said Williams could help them right away, while Payne, whom they also considered, would be two years away if he elected to finish his college eligibility.

"We were fortunate that we stumbled on him as a sophomore when I went out to scout Sam Lacey," said General Manager Joe Axelson.

"He did everything that night but sell tickets. Then our scouts stumbled into him two other times scouting other players," he said.

The Royals gave up their 1972 regular draft choice in the corresponding round in order to get Williams.

Cleveland, Buffalo and Portland passed on Williams before Cincinnati picked him up.

Striped Bass Are Released

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — An additional 22,000 striped bass have been released in Navarro Mills Reservoir near Corsicana, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The fingerlings were reared at the local fish hatchery after being hatched by the Virginia Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries earlier this year.

Reds Are Silent On Flood Toll

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Hanoi indicated today that rampaging flood waters have caused widespread damage to North Vietnam's industry and wiped out thousands of acres of farm lands.

The Communist regime continued to remain silent on the number of deaths, injuries and refugees caused by the nation's worst floods in at least 26 years.

Hanoi ordered its army commanders to carry out flood relief work and at the same time maintain defenses "against enemies who seek to take advantage of natural disasters." This was an obvious reference to the United States and its South Vietnamese allies who are conducting a major offensive south of the demilitarized zone that straddles the two Vietnams.

Radio Hanoi broadcasts called on North Vietnamese soldiers and civilians to cooperate in urgently needed reconstruction of electric power plants, transformer stations and transmission lines, factories producing industrial and agricultural tools, distribution centers for clothes, food and building materials, and oil pumping stations.

Hanoi also ordered top priority reconstruction and repair of dams and dikes and drainage of flooded farmlands.

Meanwhile, officials in Saigon said a misunderstanding had led to publication of a report that South Vietnam's government television station had said up to one million persons already had died in the floods.

The broadcast Friday night was based on a story produced by Vietnam Press, the official government news agency.

An official of Vietnam Press said the agency used the figure in reference to the estimated million who died in a 1945 flood and famine and "did not mean for the figure to be associated with the current floods."

There have been no reports by Radio Hanoi of famine thus far in the floods, but it has reported severe hardships in the northern sector of the country.

There was no major fighting reported for the sixth day in the allied operation south of the DMZ near Laos. South Vietnamese troops said they found the bodies of 20 North Vietnamese soldiers killed by air strikes, and they claimed killing five more in a brief skirmish. There were no South Vietnamese casualties reported.

In Phnom Penh, the commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific said that the Communists in Indochina no longer believe in eventual victory for their side.

"The ravages of war have torn at them and they realize that the situation is entirely different today," Adm. John S. McCain Jr. told newsmen after completing a 2½ - day visit to Phnom Penh to confer with Cambodian leaders on U.S. military aid.

State Traffic Accidents Up 3%

AUSTIN (AP) — Traffic accidents have killed 2,322 persons in Texas this year, up 3 per cent from the 2,250 fatalities during the comparable period of 1970, state police said Saturday.

The Department of Public Safety said the deaths occurred in 1,909 fatal accidents, compared with 1,860 such mishaps by this time last year.

Five Killed

AMARILLO (AP) — A Two-car crash seven miles north of here on Texas 136 killed all five occupants of the vehicles Friday night.

Officers said the automobile driven by Frances Clayton, 34, swung into the opposite half of the two-lane highway, passed two other cars and collided head-on with a third.

The victims were Mrs. Clayton and her daughters Kathy, 6, and Cynthia, 10; Galena M. Sober of Borger and Dorothy steele of Amarillo.

Larger Program Planned

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP)— A larger international program is being planned for Stephen F. Austin State University's School of Forestry.

"The scope of our foreign program could be tremendous within the next two years," Dr. Seymour Somberg, professor of forestry, said after returning from Honduras.

"Future of this program is unlimited for the School of Forestry, especially with the plans now being formulated," he added.

Somberg, director of research for the school, said planning now under way involves enlarging the student program with Honduras and also developing a new program that would include five nations in Central America.

In addition to Honduras, they would include Costa Rica, Nicaragua, El Salvador and Guatemala.

Approximately 15 students from Honduras are studying forestry at Stephen F. Austin, sponsored by a cooperative program between the government of Honduras and the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Somberg said the United Nations Development Program, administered by its Food and Agriculture Organization with headquarters in Rome, Italy, also is interested in a cooperative program with the Texas forestry school to provide advanced training for professional forestry students from five countries in Central America.

He said the United Nations organization has established a training program at Siguatepeque in Honduras, with approximately 100 students already enrolled.

Pigeons Not The Answer

BRUNEAU, Idaho (AP) — Brian Rowder, superintendent of Bruneau Sand Dunes State Park, thought a flock of pigeons might solve his communications problems.

As manager of one of the nation's largest stretches of sand dunes, Rowder has no communications in or out of his park headquarters. The nearest telephone is some eight miles away.

The Idaho Parks Department said it couldn't afford the $3,000 price to string a telephone line to the headquarters. The department doesn't have a radio communications system.

So Rowder negotiated with a school teacher for a flock of homing Pigeons.

If an emergency arose he had hoped to tie a message to a carrier pigeon, which would fly to the teacher's home about 25 miles away.

There was only one problem. The pigeons never returned, once they were set free.

US Chessman Hopes To Take Title From Russia

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Thud. Thud. Thud. Bobby Fischer slams his chessmen across a plastic foldup board with the intensity of a boxer training on the heavy bag.

The 28-year-old chess star is psyching himself up for the big one — a pawn-to-pawn confrontation with the Russians for the world championship in chess.

In the style of the lone American hero, he sees himself laying siege singlehandedly to the entire Russian chess establishment. If he wins, he'll be the first American to ever hold the official title and the first non-Russian victor in 25 years.

"There's one way to deal with the Russians—with power. That's all they understand," said Fischer.

He visits a Russian bookstore on occasion to buy chess books and riffle through newspapers looking for an article on himself.

"I read Russian. I know what they're saying about me, the creeps," he said. One story called him lucky in his last match. "Yeah, I picked up the right piece by accident."

Accident is not the word for the unheard-of wallopings he has delivered this year. After seven straight victories at the qualifying matches in Spain, Fischer went on to smash Russia's Mark Taimanov 6 to 0 and defeat Denmark's Bent Larsen 6 to 0.

Fischer has brought excitement, drama and hope to American chess since he was a prodigy from Brooklyn at age 14. Once considered the enfant terrible of chess, he has put aside temperament and quarrels with officials in his bid to take the title. He competes in a mind-twisting board game where tense competition has made men cry with disappointment or clutch their nervous stomachs.

Spirits are up. His supporters see his possible victory as a propaganda coup for the United States.

"For years, the Russians have held the world championship. They've said it is evidence of the superiority of the Soviet man and the Soviet system.

"How will they explain how one lone American without government support is able to defeat the entire Soviet system?" asked E. B. Edmondson, executive director of the U.S. Chess Federation.

Fischer plays Tigran Petrosian, ex-world champ, USSR, in the semifinals later this month. If he wins, he will face Boris Spassky for the world title next spring. Spassky, with three wins, two draws and no losses, has the best record of any Russian grandmaster against Fischer.

It might seem that Fischer is outgunned by the sheer organization and manpower of the Russian machine.

However, his weapons are impressive—eight U.S. championships, starting at age 14—the youngest-ranking international grandmaster at 15—and a long-time, fearsome reputation as one of the most brilliant, aggressive players the game has ever seen. He gives credit to his mother's early encouragement and support, but it is said they argued over her single-minded efforts to raise money for his chess trips. She eventually moved to London.

The Russians will fight back with players trained in a system where potential chess stars are culled from elementary schools, trained, financially supported and given research assistants called seconds.

In contrast, Fischer, a high school dropout, generally uses no assistants because, "it's hard to get anyone to do what you want them to."

A bachelor, he lives from hotel to hotel, supporting himself with prize money from chess tournaments and proceeds from his three books.

Prize money for a single tournament can range from $600 to $2,000, not counting his $500 honorarium. He admits he makes considerably more than $18,000, but it must be still a paltry sum compared to the top take in other sports.

Fischer stands to make about $11,000, including honorarium, if he beats Petrosian in the semifinals.

Why does he want to win?

"I want the money and the prestige," he said each time. But he adds once, in a quiet voice: "To show them I'm the best."

Baptists Dedicate New Unit

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Baptist leaders, who might have had to christen their new disaster relief mobile unit amid the havoc of Hurricane Fern, happily dedicated it here today as planned.

Dr. Charles McLaughlin of Dallas, chairman of the Baptist state disaster relief committee, said that the unit is ready to go into action.

He told a large crowd at the dedication near First Baptist Church in downtown Dallas that early reports indicated the Texas coast had escaped with less damage from Hurricane Fern than had been earlier feared.

The mobile unit is a truck and trailer outifttted with communications equipment, emergency supplies of food, water, medicine and clothing and facilities for generating electric power.

Funds for the unit will come through the annual Mary Hill Davis Offering for state missions to be taken in some 4,000 Texas Baptist Churches.

"It will be invaluable in helping to meet the physical and spiritual needs of people in hurricanes, tornadoes and other disasters," said McLaughlin, who is also secretary of the Texas Baptist State Missions Commission.

A volunteer construction team headed by John LaNouse of Dallas, associate in the Texas Baptist Church Services Division, and Robert Dixon of Dallas executive secretary of Texas Baptist Men, had been working around the clock to ready the mobile unit.

Biter Gets Fine, Suspended Sentence

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A woman who bit the finger of actress Katharine Hepburn last February during a dispute over wages has received a six-month suspended jail sentence and a $50 fine.

Superior Court Judge Anthony J. Grillo handed down the sentence Thursday to Louella G. West, 51, of New York City.

Miss West bit Miss Hepburn's finger nearly to the bone the night the actress returned to her parents' home in West Hartford at the head of the cast of the hit Broadway musical "Coco." The woman had been Miss Hepburn's chauffeur.

During the first eight months of 1971 nine New York City policemen were killed in the line of duty.

Mr. Waters is anxiously awaiting what he terms "the big blow-out", in his honor Sunday. (AP Wirephoto)

Restraining Order Is Extended

AUSTIN (AP) — District Judge Herman Jones has signed an order extending until next year the restraint from sale of a collection of historical documents known as the "Laredo Archives."

Jones said the restraining order, extended by agreement of all parties in the suit, will be in effect until March 1972.

The action Thursday marked the second agreed extension in the year-long dispute over ownership of the documents. An earlier extension was granted May 12.

In the suit, the Texas Library Historical Commission claims it is the rightful owner of the collection, reported worth as much as $1 million because the State of Texas is "successor government to the Republic of Mexico and the Republic of Texas.

Mrs. S. S. Wilcox of Laredo, William Sebron Cox of Austin and St. Mary's University of San Antonio claim possession of the documents because they have belonged to Cox's family since they were found in the basement of the Webb County courthouse in 1934.

Britain To Support UN Seating Of Red China

LONDON (AP) — Britain will vote for Communist China's admission to the United Nations even if it costs Nationalist China its seat in the world organization, senior officials said today.

The British decision was the second setback in two days to U.S. hopes of winning majority support for seating both Chinas during the forthcoming debate on the issue at the U.N. General Assembly session. Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda told a Washington News conference Friday night Japan would not cosponsor a U.S. resolution aimed at keeping Taiwan in the United Nations while allowing Red China a seat.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Japan's action would adversely affect the effort to keep the Nationalists from being ousted from the world body, which opens its fall meeting Sept. 21.

The British officials said Prime Minister Edward Heath's government has formally advised the Americans of its intentions and has coupled this with low-key criticism of the U.S. strategy suggested by Rogers.

The Rogers' formula envisages:

—American support for Peking's entry into the General Assembly and the Security Council as a permanent member.

—An American propositic that the expulsion of Nationalist China is, under the U.N. Charter, an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority vote by the 127-member-nations.

The British government has told Washington and several other capitals that the American position cannot be sustained either according to U.N. rules or on the basis of logic.

British thinking, officials say, runs like this:

—The United Nations is bound by its charter to consider only whether Peking or Taipei is qualified to occupy China's seat in the world body.

—If then majority of U.N. members decides the seat should go to Peking, then the Taiwan government has no option but to step down.

—Representation of Taiwan's departure as an "expulsion" and therefore an "important question" is illogical in fact and inconsistent politically.

The Heath government has made clear to Washington and others that it would like to see Taiway as well as Peking represented in the United Nations. In such circumstances Britain would not oppose an application by Taiway for membership in its own right, but not in the name of China.

The British insist there is no realistic hope of this happening. Even if it were to happen, Peking's delegate would have the right as a Security Council member to veto the Nationalists' admission.

The British still hope that Rogers will abandon his two Chinas stand, but they expect no change in U.S. policy.

London believes the United States will press its point in a number of procedural votes in the General Assembly. America's allies will be under pressure to back Washington's position.

The British plan to set up an open telephone line between New York and London when the China debate begins because they expect a succession of votes, not only on key resolutions but also on portions of resolutions.

They have decided to vote unequivocally for the perennial Albanian resolution, which calls for the seating of Peking as China's sole representative in the United Nations and the ouster of the Taiwan-based regime.

PIN PRESENTED — B. D. Bruyere Jr., 2406 Forty-second Street, field gauger with Sun Pipe Line Co., left, is presented a pin in recognition of 25 years of service. Making the presentation is Marvin A. Collins, West Texas Area Superintendent of Sun Pipeline. The presentation was made in ceremonies at the company office on Friday.

STATE CONCEDES

Residency Law Unconstitutional

AUSTIN (AP) — The state has conceded that a new law requiring voters under 21 years old to register where their parents live is unconstitutional, Gov. Preston Smith said Friday.

The state asked the U. S. District Court at Sherman to allow two persons who challenged the 1971 law to register in Denton, even though their parents live elsewhere if they can prove they are bona fide residents of the county.

"The state is saying that it is not reasonable, proper or constitutional for residency requirements to be different for one group, such as those between the ages of 18 and 21," the governor said in a statement. "As a result of this action, one single, equitable standard will be applied to all ages in all areas of the state with regard to residency requirements for voter registration."

The state's response by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin was to a lawsuit filed in the federal court at Sherman by Wesley Ownby and Steve Muncy.

The state's position was that if Muncy and Ownby can prove they are bona fide residents of Denton County they should be allowed to register there upon the same terms and conditions as other residents of the county who are qualified to vote.

The parents of Ownby and Muncy formerly resided in Denton. Muncy attends North Texas State University in Denton and his parents live in New Mexico. Ownby works in Degton. His parents moved to Fort Worth.

The new law regulating voting and registration by persons 18 to 21 has aroused dispute among college students who contend they should be allowed to determine their place of residence.

Voting registrars previously considered students living in dormitories to have the same home address as their parents but those residing in apartments and housing off the campus were considered residents of the city where the school was located.

Sen. Mike McKool of Dallas, sponsor of the registration bill, said he was opposed to the residence provision. He said it was put in the bill by House members who feared that persons in the 18 to 21 year age group in colleges or on military bases would form voting blocs and dominate local politics.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Police Chief Winston Churchill says about 40 per cent of the Indianapolis Police Department are taking some sort of college course.

Medal Is Sent To Snyderite

Earl J. McWhirter, 39, Snyder businessman, received a medal recently that he won while serving as a company commander with the U. S. Army at Killeen.

The medal—the Meritorious Service Medal—was signed by Maj. Gen. Verne L. Bowers, adjutant general, and secretary of the army Stanley R. Resor. It was authorized by the president of the United States.

Earl's wife, Siglinde, said that her husband won the medal for serving as a company commander. Normally, a company commander is a captain, but Earl served in that capacity as a sergeant first class.

"He didn't want us to put a story in the newspaper about the medal," said his wife, who is proud of her modest husband.

McWhirter spent 20 years in the Army from 1948 to 1968. He served in the medics and aviation branch of the Army. He has a private pilot's license and has passed his written test for a commercial license.

During his 20 years in the service, Earl served three years and four months in Japan, three years in Germany, one year in Korea, and one year in Vietnam.

He also was stationed at Fort Hood, in Georgia, in New Mexico and in California.

McWhirter operates the Snorgasbord House on the East Highway with his wife. She is a native of Bad-N-anhem, Hessen, Germany, and has been in this country since 1959. She became a U. S. citizen in 1963. They met while he was stationed at Killeen.

The Meritorious Service Medal is just one of 10 medals that McWhirter won while in the service. He has the Army Occupation Medal (Japan), the Korean Service Medal, the United Nations Service Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal, the National Defense Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Good Conduct Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Vietnam Campaign Medal.

EARL J. McWHIRTER

In addition, he has won numerous letters of commendation. He was named serviceman of the month while he was stationed at Sandia Air Force Base in Albuquerque, N. M., in 1956.

The Meritorious Service Medal arrived by mail Aug. 28. Earl was too busy with his restaurant to attend formal award ceremonies.

Teachers Raises On, Off

AUSTIN (AP) — The National Cost of Living Council has changed its mind again about Texas teachers pay raises.

First it notified state Education Commissioner J. W. Eggar Friday it upheld his interpretation that would give most Texas teachers their scheduled raises despite the presidential wage-price freeze.

Then, Friday night, Edgar got another telegram saying merely that the first message was in error and the error would be corrected later by an air mail letter.

The letter had not arrived Saturday morning.

In a telegram released by Edgar Friday, council director Arnold R. Weber said "interpretations you have made of council rulings are accurate."

The commissioner said in a letter to all Texas school superintendents that Edgar's interpretation, issued Aug. 31, "will be the policy of the Texas Education Agency as long as the wage-price freeze order is in effect or until otherwise advised by the council."

Edgar's interpretation says automatic pay raises under the state's minimum foundation school program will go to teachers who were teaching or who "had reached an agreement and established eligibility to perform with a local elementary or secondary school prior to Aug. 15, 1971," the date the freeze took effect.

Locally financed raises, Edgar said, are allowed under pay plans approved by school boards before Aug. 15 and put it into effect by paying some of their employes the raises before Aug. 15. Teachers eligible for raises under such plans include those who signed contracts before Aug. 15, he said.

Teachers hired after Aug. 15 are not eligible for raises until the freeze expires Nov. 13, Edgar said.

Texas Education Agency officials say Edgar's interpretation would cover 80 to 90 per cent of public school teachers and other personnel.

Foreign Problem Bugs Pesticide Control Bill

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drafters of new pesticide controls, covering everything from home sprays to farm products, are proposing broad power for protectors of the nation's environment—but a sticky foreign problem still bugs their bill.

By approving the final draft of landmark legislation Friday and ordering it prepared for formal action next week, the House Agriculture Committee climaxed several months of complicated negotiating aimed at producing new regulations on making, distributing and using pesticides.

While the bill would catch all pesticides in agricultural use and insecticide sprays used in homes across America, it would not cover fertilizers. The measure delegates new authority to the Environmental Protection Agency, but industry won a controversial point on hearing and review practices.

The provision producing the major split in the committee is one which would direct the President to bar importating commodities from nations that do not have at least equal pesticide restrictions. This section would apply only to products grown in substantial quantities in the continental United States—thus, it would not apply to coffee or bananas.

The equal-restrictions plan—strongly supported by committee Chairman W. R. Poage, D-Tex., and opposed by ranking Republican member Page Belcher of Oklahoma—has been fought by the State Department.

Although the committee approved the idea 25 to 6 Friday, efforts to delete the provision could come again when the panel formally acts on the measure next week. A floor battle before the full House appears virtually certain.

Some administration officials reportedly feel import restriction might lead to retaliation against American products abroad.

The bill would rewrite the Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act by broadening the scope and grant EPA the power to classify pesticides—either for general use, meaning no danger to man or the environment; or for restricted use, meaning highly toxic to humans or the environment and subject to use only by or under supervision of trained applicators.

Applicants who are turned down could put their cases before an advisory panel named on recommendation of the National Academy of Sciences. EPA had insisted on being able to consult its own scientists. But chemical-makers won committee approval for having scientists selected outside the government.

The bill would provide a top fine of $25,000 and a year in prison for companies and their responsible officials who violate the provisions—with a $1,000 maximum fine and up to 30 days in jail for a farmer who violates the law. Civil penalties are a $5,000 ceiling on a fine for violation by a company and up to $1,000 for a farmer ignoring a warning.

Continued Space Funding Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts have urged Congress to continue funding of space exploration to "expand the limits of the earth."

With reference to the Book of Genesis and its account of the earth's creation in seven days, David R. Scott, commander of the Apollo 15 team, told a joint session of Congress that mankind is now in its eighth day.

"And, gentlemen, I believe this great country is leading mankind into the dawn of the ninth day," Scott said.

With Scott were his two companion's on the United States' last moon mission, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden.

The major crop in Mississippi is rice.

Wells Logged

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas drillers completed 46 oil and 8 gas wells the past week, bringing the year's totals to 3,031 oil and 799 gas wells, the Texas Railroad Commission said Saturday.

The totals compare with 3,191 oil and 992 gas well completions during the like period of 1970.

Wildcatters logged seven oil and one gas discovery. Two wildcat oil wells each were in the Houston and Wichita Falls districts, with one each in the San Antonio No. 1 and 2 and Pampa districts. The single gas strike was in the Pampa district.

The commission said 168 wells were plugged, including 34 dry holes.

Birds Victims Of Botulism

HAYWARD, Calif. (AP) — More than 300 birds the apparent victims of wildlife botulism, have been found floating dead along the east shore of San Fernando Bay.

Wildlife experts said Friday they believe the botulism has developed in the warm waters caused by the recent heat wave in the San Francisco area.

The same scourge has destroyed nearly 100 mallard ducks on Lake Merritt in downtown Oakland, they said.

Some of the dead birds are being sent to a Sacramento field laboratory for analysis.

Mrs. Nelson Ends Her Work At WTC

Mrs. Eva Nelson, who, for the past year, has been working with Western Texas College ordering and processing books for "an opening-day collection" of more than 3000 books for the Learning Resource Center-Library, has left this work.

Mrs. Nelson has for 40 years been associated with Scurry County Schools. At the age of 17, after one year and one summer of college training, she started her long career as a teacher and librarian in the Scurry County Line School, a rural seven grade school. After returning to Texas Woman's University to receive her Bachelor of Arts Degree, with a double major in history and education and a minor in English, she taught English for two years in Hermleigh High School and was instrumental in gaining three years of affiliation in English and met the two years of experience requirement for employment in Snyder. She has had additional study in Hardin-Simmons University, Texas Technological University, and East Texas State University.

For 15 years she taught history and government in Snyder High School, and for 11 of those years she supervised the library while teaching a full load of five classes.

In the spring of 1949, before it was known that Snyder would be the center of a large oil field, she was offered the position as full-time high school librarian. She returned to Texas Woman's University for library study, and later received her library degree. She worked as full-time librarian in Snyder High School until her retirement in May, 1970.

Mrs. Nelson has been a member of The Texas Library Association, The National Library Association, Texas State Teachers Association and its local units and the National Classroom Teachers Association. She had a part in causing Snyder High School student librarians to be charter members in the Texas Teen-Age Library Association.

She is a member of The Chaparral Literary Society, an organization comparable to college sororities, Alpha Chi, a scholarship fraternity, and Beta Phi Mu, an International Library Scholarshp Fraternity.

To administrators, Board Members, patrons and former students she expressed her thanks for the privilege of serving the educational institutions of the county in which she was born and reared. Her pursuit toward excellence in education has been an intensive one because of her firm belief that the boys and girls of Snyder deserve the very best in educational advantages.

Upon leaving Western Texas College her interest in excellent schools will not abate, but rather she will have a continuing interest in the schools as a voting citizen and retired teacher and librarian.

The healing profession is one of the oldest of which man has any record. The Bible speaks often of the apothecary.

But new products constantly are coming from the laboratories, many of them with really astonishing properties to relieve human suffering. If you have not consulted your Doctor in recent years concerning some chronic condition, we suggest that you do so without delay.

And, of course, when you have your Doctor's prescriptions, we hope you will bring them to this fine pharmacy.
