Mrs. C. M. Terry Dies Thursday At Grand Prairie

Mrs. Clarence M. Terry, a long-time resident of the Loco community, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Owen King, in Grand Prairie, Thursday morning, April 22. She had been ill for about a year, and since her health failed, she had been with her four daughters ,all of whom live in the Dallas area.

Funeral services for Mrs. Terry were held at the Church of Christ in Wellington Saturday, April 24. Officiating were Minister Alva Johnson of Turkey, and Minister Van Bonneau of Dodson, both long-time friends of the family.

Pall bearers were Gilbert Hunt, Jack Stanley, J. A. Scott, Ross Swift, Earl Alexander and Howard Hunt. Flower bearers were Mrs. Earl Alexander, Mrs. L. F. Cox, Mrs. W. M. Durfey, Mrs. W. F. Harbin, Mrs. R. B. Scott, Mrs. C. B. Bearden and Mrs. Tom Parker of Santa Fe, N. M.

Burial was in the family plot in the Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Kelso Funeral Home.

Mrs. Terry was born Lena Juanita McKinney, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McKinney, in north Texas April 11, 1891. When she was still a child, the family moved to Lone Wolf, Okla., and she grow up there.

Her family had been prominent in the history of Texas since the days of the Revolution, and one member, Collin McKinney, was a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence. It was from him that the county of Collin and the town of McKinney were named.

She was married to Mr. Terry January 28, 1914, at Altus.

During the many years they lived here, Mr. and Mrs. Terry farmed in the Loco community. Her life was devoted to caring for her family, looking after the duties of her home, and being a kindly neighbor and good friend to those about her.

This farm had been her home during her entire married life, except for brief periods, and it had been in the family of her husband for more than 65 years.

Mrs. Terry was a member of the Church of Christ for many years.

Mrs. Terry is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Pat Bouchelle and Mrs. King of Grand Prairie; Mrs. R. W. Burch of Dallas and Mrs. R. E. Whitmire of Lewisville. Also surviving are three brothers and a sister, Sheriff Claude McKinney of Wellington; Ozro McKinney and Z. McKinney of Dodson; and Mrs. Floyd Branum of Amarillo.

Mr. Terry preceeded her in death March 22, 1953 and their only son, Marvin, died in 1931 at the age of 10.

Paul Spillman Elected 18th District Legion Commander

Paul Spillman Wellington Attorney was elected commander of the 18th District of the American Legion at the 2-day district convention in Borger Saturday and Sunday, April 24 and 25.

Immediately after his election, Mr. Spillman announced David Robinson of Wellington County Clerk as the district adjutant. Both men will hold offices for the two-year term.

Mr. Spillman succeeds Mike McCully of Clarendon.

Other officers elected were Jim Hallinburten of Vega, First vice-president; and Reynold Lang of Amarillo sergeant at arms. The officers will be installed after the Department of Texas Convention in July, and following the installation, Commander Spillman will announce the remainder of the appointive officers.

The two Wellington district officers entered the American Legion at the same time in 1951.

Mr. Spillman is now Post Commander of the Frank King Post in Wellington and is concluding his two year term as District Americanism Chairman. He served in the Navy during World Warr II, with service in both the asiatic-Pacific and the European Theatres.

Mr. Robinson ,whose district legion post corresponds to that of Change Announced In Couty FHA Office Setup

Re-organization of the Farmers Home Administration personnel in Texas on the county level has been announced by Arrell Cummings, supervisor who has been in charge of the work in Collingsworth, Cottle and Childress counties.

The change became effective Monday, April 26, and at that time Mr. Cummings became Loan Examiner (Disaster Supervisor) for that area. At the Same time, Noah Cleveland, county FHA supervisor of Emory, was transferred here to the position Mr. Cummings held.

Mrs. Louise Maberry will continue as clerk in the county office in Wellington.

The county office will continue in its present location, the southeast corner on the third floor of the court house.

The sub-office at Childress will continue with Earl W. Wilson as assistant supervisor and Mrs. Mary F. Buster as county office clerk. Paducah sub-office will have Charles C. Bishop disaster supervisor and Mrs. Priscilla Wilcox as county office clerk.

The Wellington FHA office was opened on January 2, 1950, with Arrell Cummings as county supervisor and Earl W. Wilson as assistant county supervisor serving Collingsworth and Childress counties with about 85 active loans. Cottle county was added to this unit on June 15, 1953 with 27 active loans. Since July 1, 1953 to April 1, 1954 a total of 475 active loans were made for a little over $1,000,000 which includes production and subsistence loans, disaster loans, special livestock loans and water facility loans.

Funds are still available for disaster and special livestock loans to farmers and stockmen who are unable to obtain financing from other credit sources.

Effective May 3, King county will be included under the local FHA office.

Mr. Cleveland has been with the FHA 20 years next August. He served in Bowie County and Upshur County in East Texas, then served as a district supervisor eight years. He then transferred to Lamar County, where he served eight years.

Active in civic work, he is a past president of the Paris Lions Club and a member of the Kiwanis Club. He is active in Chamber of Commerce work and was chairman of the C-C Agricultule committee four years, during which time the county made strides forward in pasture improvement, dairying and followed these up with better crop development.

He is an active member of the First Baptist Church.

In spite of his experience in East Texas, Mr. Cleveland is a West Texan. He was reared at Matador and taught school there in 1915.

4-H Girls to District Contest

A group of seven Collingsworth 4-H Club grils from Samnorwood, Quail and Wellington will participate in the district contests at Pan-Tex Saturday, May 1.

These include Joyce Amerson, who will enter the speech contest; Lois Amerson safety; Harriet Lowry, electrical demonstration; Ellen Messer, vegetable preparation; dairy foods; and Pat Keeter DeBord, dairy foods.

The girls will leave Wellington at 6:30 a. m. Saturday and will take a sack lunch, Miss Mary Trammel, county home demonstration agent, said.

Mrs. Nix in John Sealy Hospital

Mrs. Darvin Nix is in John Sealy Hospital, Galveston, where doctors have diagnosed her illness as being caused from a blood clot which formed on her brain. The diagnosis was made Saturday.

Members of her family are with her in Galveston.

At the latest word, there has been little change in her condition.

Spotted Rains Give County Up to Two Inches Tuesday

Wellington and the area immediately adjacent received 1.30 inches of rain Tuesday afternoon, April 27, but all other parts of the county reported lighter rainfall, with only a sprinkle falling in some sections.

After light showers had fallen during the afternoon, a heavy rain accompanied by light hail began falling about 5:00 p. m., and although it lasted only a short time, it accounted for most of the total moisture received.

South of Wellington, only .2 was measured at Loco, according to Mrs. W. F. Harbin. Enough hail fell there to cover the ground and a highwind accompanied the cloud. No property damage fas reported from the area, other than trailers and other implements blown and turned over.

One half inch was reported at Dodson by T. E. Lennon, accompanied by a little hail and some wind. Mr. Lennon, who has had a study of weather conditions, said the rain continued south and southeast toward Hollis in good quanities. He estimated it was about a 50-mile squall line.

At Quail, only .30 inch of rain fell, Roy Gene Pate reported.

Only a shower fell at Lutie, according to Mrs. Everett Fain.

East of there, however, around Aberdeen, the rain was estimated at about one-half inch, enough for the school bus to get stuck while making its run through that area.

This moisture gives Wellington a total of 2.24 inches for April, and 2.35 inches for the first four months of the year.

Quail, which had heavier rain during the April 10 wet spell, has had only about 1.80 inch total. Dodson about 1.50 inches, whil... the north part of the county st... relatively dry. Rain up to 2 inches fell south of town.

The extreme north part of the county, however, did receive a good rain Sunday night, but this extended only a short distance into Collingsworth.

South America in the Fall

Jo Helen White to France With Basketball Team

Jo Helen White will add still more basketball laurels to Quail and Collingsworth this spring and again in the fall, when with a small group of other outstanding players, she makes two foreign visits.

She has been selected as one of 10 girls throughout the United States as a member of an All-American team sponsored by the AAU, she participates in the International Women's basketball tournament in Marseille, France, next month.

In the fall, she, with other members of the team, will go to South America.

In addition to playing in the Marseille tournament, she and other members of the team will tour France, including a stop-off in Paris.

Miss White, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Obie White of Quail, is a graduate of Quail high school, where she became one of the outstanding school-girl basketball players, and was named to the AAU All-American team. While in high school she began playing with the Dowell's Dolls of Amarillo, coached and sponsored by Bob Dowell.

She is now a freshman in West Texas State College, and has continued her playing with the Dolls. Pat Tate of Dimmitt, another player on the team, was selected as an alternate.

Carl Mauldin, 2, Breaks Arm

By Mrs. George Adkins

Carl Mauldin. two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mauldin of the Loco community, had the misfortune of breaking his arm this week.

He fell out of dad's jeep pick-up. Carl spent two days in St. Joseph's hospital in Wellington, but is home now and doing very well.

Wayne Cudd For County Judge

Wayne T. Cudd this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of county judge, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary, Mr. Cudd says.

I was born and reared in Collingsworth County; am 35 years of age, and have lived all those years in this county.

I have never asked for public office before. I did serve as Chief of the Wellington Fire Department for 3 years, and as President of the Texas Motor Transport Association for one term, and am at present a Director of the Texas Safety Council. Otherwise my time has been devoted to the operation of my private business.

Collingsworth County, your county and my county, is a large business concern; it deals with the entire people, and collects and spends a large part of your tax money. It ought to be operated upon a business basis.

Should you honor me with the office of County Judge, I will plan

Mrs. Nowlin in Houston Hospital

Mrs. A. L. Nowlin, who has been seriously ill since Christmas, was moved last week to Houston for further treatment.

She was taken by ambulance plane, accompanied by Mr. Nowlin and Dr. Tom R. Hunter.

The last word received here by friends was Sunday, before she had seen the doctors who will be in charge of her treatment.

Mrs. Nowlin's address is Room 470 Hermann Hospital, Houston, Texas.

Banks Open New Statement System

The three banks in Wellington this week announced a new system of making bank statements, which will apply to each of them, the First National Bank, the City State Bank and the Wellington State Bank.

In the future, the statements will be made on the first business day of the month and they will be available to the bank's customers on the second business day of the month.

In this way, each customer will have a record of his business for the full month. Under the old system, deposits made on the afternoon of the last business day of the month were not included on the statements until the next month.

School, Community Co-operate

Quail Plans Series of Events For National Music Week

Plans for Music Week, May 2 through 9, have been announced for the Quail community by Mrs. Lowell Wells, public school music director. These activities are the most intensive of any in several years.

The Quail senior sextet, which consists of Sharlene Marsh, June Russell, Fayteen Peeples, Janelle Langford, Barbara Weaver, and Sonja Atkinson, has been asked to sing for an Art Exhibit in Clarendon on the afternoon of May 7th. This exhibit will feature the sculpture of Mrs. Curtis, who is the wife of Mayor Bud Curtis of Amarillo. Classical and semi-classical numbers will be given during the tea.

Miss Rebecca Jean King, violinist of Clarendon, will present several numbers for the Friendship Club at the Quail Cottage on May 6th. Miss King will bring her accompanyist, she is a niece of Mrs. Zella Noble of Quail. She is one of the five young artist selected by the Amarillo Orchestra for outstanding talent, and was guest artist with the Symphony Orchestra recently.

Judith Ann Wilson, young accordionist of Quail School, will appear on this program also. Judith Ann is the accordion pupil of Mrs. Lowell Wells and shows promise of artistic ability on this instrument.

The Quail Friendship Club is also sponsoring a Talent Show for all on May 4th, Tuesday night. All who desire will have the opportunity to take part in this program.

The members of the Quail High School Chorus plan a trip to San Antonio on May 14, 15 and 16. This trip will include a concert at the Municipal Auditorium in San Antonio, sight-seeing at the Witte Museum, Alamo, Missions, Sunken Gardens, etc. A great time is expected to be had by all, but the educational value of this trip will be expected to be worth the expense. A return route by Austin is being planned. Mrs. Wells, Mrs. Monty Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Parker will accompany the group.

Soil Conservation District Notes

Syrup Pan Terrace System Adds To Value of Lester Parrish Farm

One of the best syrup pan terrace systems built in the Salt Fork Conservation District so far is on the Lester Parrish farm on Elm Creek, in the Elm Valley community.

Mr. Parrish, who now lives in Shamrock, has this type of terrace on a field of approximately 100 acres, but it catches the run-off water from some 200 acres outside the farm, for this is one of the rougher parts of the county.

Personnel of the Soil Conservation Service was called in to help with the job.

"Mr. Parrish put in eight terraces on the field. He finished them last summer and got the big July 19 rain. Water from the 200 acres that flowed into that field never did get to his fourth terrace. It all soaked in. There never was a drop of water left his field," Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist said.

Briefly, a syrup pan terrace system is this: the water is brought to a comparitively level spot on the field where the terraces start. Gaps, approximately one foot deep by 100 feet long, depending on the amount are left in the terrace ridge. When of outside water that will come in, the terrace fills to that point, water starts spilling over, or it may spill around the end of the terrace, depending on how the system was built. The second terrace built like the one above, fills to the height of the gap, then spills over, and on like this all the surplus water is either absorbed or the entire system is covered.

The purpose is to take the outside water and spread it over the field, holding it long enough for most of the water to soak in. If it is an unusally heavy rain, a syrup pan system will dispose of the surplus without washing.

Probably one of the first systems put in in the county was on the John Brim Farm south of town.

Mr. Parrish's land had not been terraced previously. There was a raw gulley running down through the field, and where it left the cultivated land, was eating back into the field and working on a county road. It had already washed out a fence.

No additional work was done on the gulley, but it has healed from the standpoint of water erosion.

Mr. Parrish operates a stock-farm setup, and he has benefitted from the terrace system. This porticular field has rye on it, and Mr. Parrish has grazed it heavily, but he has never had to take the stock off. He plants over the terraces.

The cost of this system was about the same as for a regular terrace system. Approximately $50 a mile or roughly $2. per acre.

"On this particular place, Mr. Parrish is putting approximately 100 per cent of the moisture in the ground and storing it for use of a crop, and after all, its moisture that we must have to make a crop," Squyres declared.

TERRACING

The terracing season has been going at full swing since January first in the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District. Since the first of the year, about 125 miles of terraces and diversion terraces have been built or are being built at this time, according to Soil Conservation technicians assisting the district.

Having cultivated land terraced is he first step in stabilizing it against water erosion,, but should be followed with other soil building practices such as legumes and grasses in rotation with row crops. The main purpose for terracing it to prevent gully and and sheet erosion. A second purpose ti to hold the moisture that we get on the land to be used by growing crops.

Several types of equipment are being used in the district to build terraces. Among these are the Honcock terracing machine and the common grader. Four Hancock machines have been running since January 1 and three motor graders owned by the county have built several miles. Three farmers have shown their ingenuity by building their own terraces. They are A. L. Adcock near Swearingen, Keith Smith south of Ralls, and Orville Cunningham of Samnorwood. They used their regular form tractors with a terracing disk mounted on the side.

Those district cooperators who have built terraces since January first or have lines laid out and contemplate building them soon are: W. R. Benton, R. A. Nichols, Jr., C. B. Lutes, A. M. Thompson, R. L. Maberry, Conrad Melton, Willie K. Willard, Keith Smith, R. 5. Lowe, H. E. Dodson, A. F. Wischkaemper, Jr., James Doneghy, Shelton Nunnelley, W. R. Ward, Wister Harrison, Ruel Alexander, H. A. White, Mrs. Bessie Kicks, Otis Emmert R. R. Hightower, P. C. Cummings, Earl M. Hunter, Audie Morgan and C. L. Shanks.

The Salt Fork Conservation District has ordered more than 400 copies of Soil and Water Magazine, a copy going to each co-operator in the district, Fred Squyres, work unit convservationist of the Soil Conservation District, said.

The subscriptions will begin with the May issue.

This project is made possible by a group of business and professional men of the county.

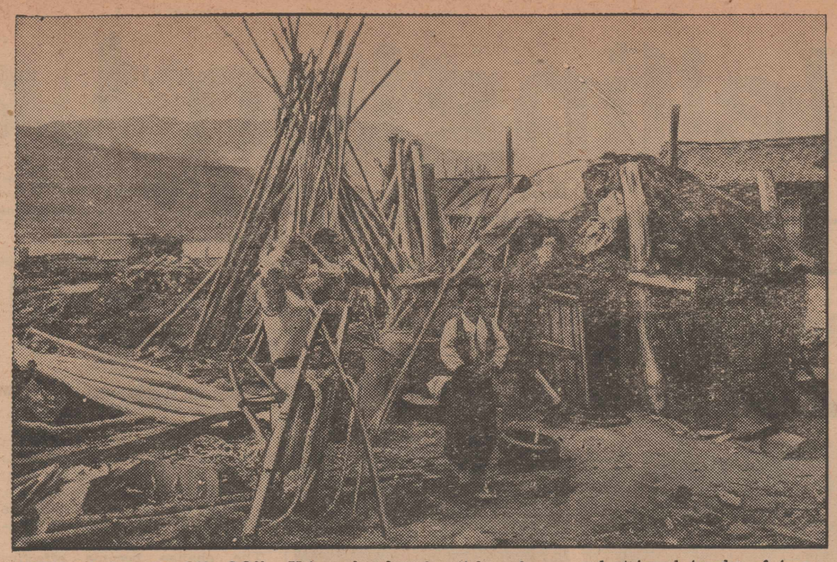

Soil and Water Magazine is published by the State Soil Conservat-primarily with soil conservation ion District Association and deals problems on the district level.

Editor of the magazine is H. B. Boswell, who will be remembered as the guest speaker on the Soil Conservation tour here last year.. The publication office it at Temple.

Sponsoring the subscriptions are the Wellington State Bank, Farmers State Bank, City State Bank, First National Bank, West Texas Gin, Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., J. M. Tindall Gins, West Texas Utilitei sWellington N.F.L.A. Chichasha Cotton Oil Company and the Wellington Livestock Commission.

Any district co-operator who does not receive his magazine is asked to notify the soil conservation service office.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Clark and children of Fort Worth were here during the week end to visit her father, G. H. Wallace, and sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCarver and children.

NEW ROOTS IN OIL SOIL—Using abandoned articles of war and stripped trunks of trees, South Korean refugees begin rebuilding in Yanggu, north of the 38th parallel. Some 100 families returned to the area, which they left before the Communist push south in June, 1950. While the main concern is constructing homes for their families, Korean men are beginning to till and plant the soil from which land mines have been removed.

Mrs. Tom Parker of Santa Fe, N. M. was here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Clarence Terry. The two were girlhood friends. Mrs. Parker, who moved from here to Santa Fe only a few years ago, also visited friends.

Clifton Bradford of Panhandle was here during the week end to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bradford. He was called back to his job with the telephone company Monday due to line damage from heavy rains there.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson and family of Amarillo spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Nelson and other relatives.

Farm Bureau to Sponsor Queen Contest Again

Waco—The Texas Farm Bureau will sponsor a state-wide queen contest again this year, according to J. Walter Hamond, president of the state farm organization.

The announcement is of special interest to Collnigsworth County since Fayteen Peeples of Quail was this year's state winner.

Purpose of the contest is to give recognition to the beauty, charm, and vivaciousness of Texas farm and ranch girls. Contestants will be judged on three main points: (1) appearance, (2) poise, and (3 personality.

Finals of the state-wide queen will be held the night of Nov. 8 at the 21st annual convention of the Texas Farm Bureau in Galveston. The girl chosen Texas Fram Bureau Queen will receive $500 for herself and a matron escort to attend the 36th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation in December in New York.

Only daughters or sisters of Farm Bureau members are eligible for the contest. To enter the contest, girls must be 16 by Sept. 1,1955, and not over 22 years of age on that date. Daughters of employees, officers, or directors of either the state or county Farm Bureau organivations are not eligible. Neither are previous state winners.

County Farm Bureaus over the state will begin holding eliminating in July. County winners will compete in 13 district contests to be held Sept. 13-25. District winners and their matron escorts will receive expense-paid trips to the Galveston convention. In addition, the contestants will receive beautiful wrist watches.

Miss Fayteen Peeples, 17-year-old blonde beauty from Quail, Collingsworth County, was Texas Farm Bureau Queen last year.

Patronage squabbles have developed. Sen. William Langer of N. Dakota announced he would block appointments of four postmasters to his state because he was not consulted.

4-H Tractor Group To Meet Friday Night April 30

A 4-H Tractor Maintenance Meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m. Friday, April 30, at Stevenson Implement Co. Tommy Stall and Richard Morton are the adult leaders of this training course, County Agent J. W. Thomas reminded.

The Stanolind Oil Company promotes the 4-H Tractor Maintenance program in this area of the United States. This Company is intrested in promoting safe, efficient tractor operation on the farms of America and in helping the 4-H Club Boys to be come better farmers tomorrow.

Agriculture rates third in accident frequency in all United States industries. There are 17,500 form accident fatalities in the United States annually, 1,500,000 disabling accidents and 35,000 farm buildings destroyed by fire. Accidents cost the farm people over one billion dollars in losses each year.

The tractor is the biggest killer on the farm today. Young boys need to know the hazards of tractor driving for their own safety. Since more than 10% of the cost of tractor operation can be saved each year by efficient tractor care, young drivers should have the opportunities afforded by this course.

"If your boy operates a tractor, see that he gets out to our school," Mr. Thomas said.

Jimmie Lee Addresses Fotarians

Co-operation and United Effort Needed to Improve the County

(Editor's Note: Jimmie Lee, vice president of the City State Bank and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce industrial committee, has written in article for The Wellington Leader on the address he made extemporaneously before the Rotary Club at its luncheon Tuesday, April 20. Much favorable comment was heard on this talk, and a number of the Rotarians asked if it could be published for the entire county to read.)

Gentlemen:

It is my understanding that I am supposed to talk to you today on the subject of Chamber of Commerce work in Collingsworth County and how we might approach and meet the problem of securing Maximum Co-operation from our citizens of the county.

It has long been my contention that in UNITY there is STRENGTH: Strength with which we can accomplish a particular task for the Common Good of our Town and County. This great and noble lesson, which is so self-evident in all our daily lives and tasks, I had to learn the hard way, but once learned you can just bet that I am a firm believer in co-operation of all-out effort proportions to get a job done.

Your Chamber of Commerce is not an organization which has a job that is peculiar unto itself, or one which could not be done through the combined efforts of our local Civic Clubs which are now established in Wellington. Rather, it might be defined as a Catalyst, or Leavening power through which can be channeled all the needs of ALL the different Clubs, Organizations and citizens, to the end that their various needs might be served in the promotion of community growth.

Sometimes, in an effort to awaken our people from lethargy and indifference, and issue a challeng for us to put forth the best efforts within us toward any given project or common goal, it is necessary to arouse their anger, step on their toes, or otherwise stir their imaginations. That is not my intention here today and no remarks will be made of a personal nature, no personalities will be involved. Rather, it is my will and desire to stir up within each of you that spirit of helpfulness and co-operation that is a part of your nature.

These statements made here today could be made, and will be made, if an opportunity presents itself, to any group, club or organization, or whatever now exists in our county where people band themselves together for the good of our community Our thoughts along this line today might then be aermed provocative. Therefore, keeping these thoughts uppermost in our minds, let us delve into some of the things we are now doing, or rather NOT doing, to promote Wellington and Collingsworth County in such manner as will induce others to want to live among us. First, as background, let us dwell briefly on the history of Socialism and Communism which I believe to be synonymous terms. Through the pages of history, wheather contemporary, ancient, or Bibical, the downfall of all Nations and its people, who have achieved prominence in any of our history, has been directly caused by these very things. Nations and people have sold their Birthright for a "mess of pottage" or sold themselves into slavery for a "guaranteed economy." Looking at some of our own troubles here today in our town and county, I strongly suspect that too many of us have been guilty of that same trend of thought. (Any of you who do not want to hear more, will, understandandably and sympatheticaly, be excused.)

It is my firm belief that we, as American people and as a Nation, have strayed too far from the precepts and fundamental beliefs of our forefathers when they drafted our great Constitution, motivated as they were in faith and belief in ONE Ominipotent God, the Primacy of Mankind, and his right to FREEDOM.

I am afraid that we, all of us, as Businessmen, as Farmers, as Professional Men, and as Ministers, have been prone to think too much in terms of our OWN interests, and have forgotten the over-all needs of our community and what it in the Best Interest of our community. I feel that, too often, we have neglected the stranger in our town and community and have failed miserably to let him know that we welcome him into our churches, regardless of race, creed, or religion, into our business places, into our schools, our clubs, our society, or to make the stranger or newcomer feel welcome in our midst.

I firmly believe that in unity in a common cause, wheather it be carrying out the great Commission of Jesus Christ, left to his disiples, that that of soul-winning, or of making our community a better place in which to live and rear our children and a place in which others would want to come in to do the same thing, if we will set our sights on a common goal and one that is worthy, working together in peace and harmony, IT CAN BE ACHIEVED.

So long as we let our work and thoughts be hindered by petty malice and jealousy, whether it be political, social, or otherwise, we can never attain the stature within ourselves which is necessary to improve our community.

Pecurliarly enough, any efforts invested for our community good have a way of coming back to us with individual rewards; And sometimes as much as a hundredfold. Let us adopt, then, our slogan in this cause, that trustworthy slogan which has served to make Rotary International one of the most respected organizations in and throughout the civilized world; "Service above Self, or, He profits Most Who Serves Best." It would be interesting and beneficial too, to see just what seemingly unsurmountable tasks can be accomplished by the combined efforts of more than 5000 people of Collingsworth County, if we dedicate ourselves to a Common Goal.

You might be interested to know that the Industrial Committee of your local Chamber of Commerce has compiled some thirty pages of a report, giving vital statistics on our Town and County, which is designed to attract Industry to our area. You might also be surprised to know that Industry has made it Very Clear that Good Community Spirit, Good Churches, Good Schools, and Recreational Facilities are a Very High MUST on their measuring sticks in determining wheather they want to locate in a Community or town.

We need your help and co-operation in trying to create just such a community that would meet these specifications of Industry because we need Industrial payrolls badly in an economy such as ours. Regular payrolls are the very livelihood in trying to establish a balanced economy which will accure to the benefit of us all.

We also need your help and co-operation with our Agricultural Planning and Research Committee. Now, when reductions are being made in our Cash Crops, is the psychological time for us to turn to other Cash Commodities but, most of all, to a sincere approach to Soil Conservation. We have Agencies set up to guide us in this work of Conservation so we need to give them our wholehearted support.

You may ask how all of these things mentioned refers to Chamber of Commerce work. Simply this, We need your membership in the local Chamber of Commerce. We need this not solely from a dollars and cents standpoint, but more important that we might have your ideas and your help in promoting these ideas which will be for the overall good of all our citizens. We need workers instead of joiners. You will be approached in an Annual Membership drive in the near future. Your first step in helping will be to JOIN. Needless to say, these things can not come about except through the COMBINED efforts of all of us here in Collingsworth County, working together in unison and harmony toward a common goal. Furthermore, and this thought might not be in agreement by all our people, Now is the time to insure FOREVER our freedom as individuals by using our God-given talents toward this aim, not forsaking one another or Jehovah, and not simply by calling on our Federal Government for HANDOUTS.

I would close on this theme, and it has been a pleasure and privilege to be here today; That, through our United Efforts, we can build here a community and county where there will be children playing and laughing in Safety, where the Stranger in our streets will want to come in and be a part of us, and a Community where the Freedom of the Individual will become known far and wide, and that Freedom will hardly DARE be challenged by and Force for Evil.

Thank you.

The banks of Wellington are making a change that seems like a sensible one to me. Hereafter they will use a delayed posting system in making out the monthly statements to their customers. Instead of making out the statements on the last business day of the month, they will make them out on the first business day of the new month. This will enable each customer to have all of a months business included in that months statement instead of having a fragment carried over to the next month.

Am getting interested in Guar, a summer legume, such as Trusten Thomas grew last year. It puts abundant humus and nitrogen in the soil and increases the water intake and water holding capacity of the soil. Saw a picture of a cotton field, one plot was where cotton followed cotton and the other was where cotton followed Guar in a dry year and there was no comparison as to the stand and size of the stalks. One represented a complete failure and the other looked like a good yield. Guar requires no special equipment—no hand labor—and there is a market for the beans.

The rains have started and the weather map shows that we may have chances for rain from now until May 15. Of course that does not mean there will be no chances after the middle of May. It was just that I was looking at a long range map that plotted probable weather conditions from April 15 to May 15.

There was enough water went down fifteenth street yesterday in thirty minutes time to have irrigated a good sized farm. And it probably happened in a lot of other places in this area. Wonder why this water could not be trapped in artificial lakes and used for irrigation purposes.

Avoid Intestinal Upset! Get Relief This Gentle Vegetable Laxative Way!

For constipation, never take harsh drugs. They cause brutal cramps and griping, disrupt normal bowel action, make repeated doses seem needed.

When you are temporarily constipated, get sure but gentle relief—without salts, without harsh drugs. Take Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative contained in Syrup Pepsin. The extract of Senna in Dr. Caldwell's is one of the finest natural laxatives known to medicine.

Dr. Caldwell's Senna Laxative tastes good, gives gentle, comfortable, satisfying relief of temporary constipation for every member of the family. Helps you get "on schedule" without repeated doses. Even relieves stomach sourness that constipation often brings.

Buy Dr. Caldwell's. Money back if not satisfied. Mail bottle to Box 280, New York 18, N. Y.

What Can The City Offer?

Dallas Bank to Publicize Wellington to Industry

A Dallas Bank last week volunteered to help Wellington attract industries — provided the town has what industry is looking for.

The letter was from P. B. (Jack) Garrett, president of the Texas Bank and Trust Company, to Jimmie Lee, executive vice-president of the City State Bank and chairman of the industrial committee of the Wellington Chamber of Commerce. The two men are friends.

The letter reads in part:

"We have a plan that we think can be helpful to your community.

"During the last 13 years some 3,000,000 new people have come into Texas and we are wondering how many of these settled in your community. We know you would like to bring new business enterprises to your city and we at the Texas Bank think we can help toward this end.

"Our public relations department is making a continuous seurvey of all sections of our nation to ascertain the names of business concerns who are considering moving to Texas. When we contact these phospects we want to have something to offer them.

"We would like very much for you to have your City Council or your Chamber of Commerce send us a brochure giving the economic and other factors that might attract enterprising firms or industries to your community. Also mention such inducements as free building sites, and or waiving of local taxes for some fixed number of years, etc.

"How does this idea strike you? We would like to hear from you in this connection as soon as possbile. We are bland to render this service to your community and hope that these mutual efforts will bring about some profitable results in your direction."

McClaskey To Dallas Bank

Richard McClaskey, who formerly was employed by the Wellington State Bank here, has accepted a place with the Fair Park National Bank in Dallas.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. McClaskey, he resigned his place with the bank here to enter Texas Technological College, where he studied during the first semester.

Trapper Kills Den of Coyotes

By Mrs. George Adkins

The Childress county trapper found a den of coyotes recently on the Cliff Campbell farm northeast of Loco. He killed a mother and five pups about four weeks old.

Most of us have seen the coyote pair catching our chickens early in the mornings, so thanks is due the trapper.

Mrs. Mish Dukeminier and Mrs. Creed Hill are spending this week in Mineral Wells.

To A Successful Man Past 40 Years of Age

Do you know the people in your community and are you in a position to explain an intangible asset to them? Do you wish to engage in a dignified business, setting your own hours, being your own boss, and having a potential of unlimited earnings? Can you intelligently present a plan to which anyone can say "yes" for their own benefit. No investment necessary — unlimited earnings in a profession you can engage in right from your own home, office or store.

If you are younger and have the ability of a 40-year-old man, you may be qualified.

Investigate today — only a few men in each community will be selected. Write P. O. Box 365, Fort Worth 1, Texas. 43-3-p

Delta Kappa Gamma Offers Scholarship to Graduate

The Gamma Kappa Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for women teachers, will give a $50 scholarship to a graduating senior girl from a high school in Collingsworth, Hall, Childress and Donley counties this year, Miss Bonnie Willis of Wellington, a member of the scholarship committee, has announced.

The girls must be planning to enter the teaching profession.

Application blanks have been sent to the superintendent of each of the high schools in the four-county area covered by Gamma Kappa Chapter.

All girls whose names are submitted will be invited to a tea at Clarendon May 8, and the selection will be made at that time.

"This is being done to encourage the entrance of girls into the teaching profession," Miss Willis said.

Sixteen girls had applied for scholarships by Saturday, April 24. They included Mary Sue Crawford, Beatrice Hutchins, Marilyn Dickey, Maxine Uselton of Wellington; Janelle Langford, Sonja Atkinson, and Fayteen Peeples of Quail; Shirley Brown and Joyce Offutt of Samnorwood.

Barbara Jean Kulp of Memphis; Bertha Reid, Roberta Lindley, Evelyn Wood, Genella Mooring of Crarendon; Betty Jean Reed of Lelia Lake and Doris Newberry of Goodnight.

Large Group Gathers at Open House For Mrs. Uuity Baker at Panhandle

A large crowd of friends and relatives gathered at Panhandle Sunday, April 25, to honor Mrs. Unity Baker, whose 100th birthday came Tuesday, April 27.

She is a former resident of the Loco community, and since about 1945 has made her home with her son, Jack Belew at Panhandle.

A fried chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served at noon, and the lovely birthday cake was decorated with sugar roses, and had written on it, "100."

In the afternoon, at her request, members of the Primitive Baptist Church from Wellington, Amarillo and Pampa sang her favorite song, "Amazing Grace," and several other of the old-time songs she loved to hear. Mrs. Baker sang these with them.

Elder E. J. Norman, pastor of the Primitive Baptist Church here, preached her requested srermon on the "Resurrection."

Many gifts were received by the honor guest.

Among those registering at the open house were Mrs. Doss Ringgold, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Society News

Winners of 4-H Achievement Program To District Contests on May 1

Winners of the 4-H Club Achievement program held Saturday, April 24, have been announced by Miss Mary Trammel, county home demonstration agent.

One hundered and fourteen girls entered the contests of the various divisions, more than twice the number entered last year, Miss Trammel said.

The district contests will be held at Pantex May 1. There will be at least 15 girls go to represent this county in the different contests.

Six girls entered the speech contest, with Joyce Amerson winning the senior division with her address, "I Speak for Democracy," and Karen Breeding winning the junior division with her speech, "Roofs."

Others competing received blue ribbons and included Sharon Phipps "Safety"; Ann Messer, "Home Vegetable Garden;" Sherry Crownover, "April Showers"; Sharon Ford, "Little White Lilly." Judges were Miss Katherine Boverie and Miss Effie Lee Richards.

Forty-one demonstrations were given by 60 girls. Harriett Lowry and Mary Beth Kelso scored 98 each for first place in the demonstrations. Harriett will represent the county at the district meet May 1, with her electrical demonstration on adequate and inadequate wiring.

Other demonstrators, with their demonstration and the type ribbons won included:

Joy Carolyn Smith and Alice Tyner, cabbage slaw, blue; Mary Beth Kelso, banana nut bread, blue; Beverly Atkinson, making a dust cloth, white; Lenoria Davis, equipping a sewing box, red; Barbara Denley and Jucy Glenn, cork ties, red; Patricia Judd, making a bag, blue; Reta Blades and Ronetta Young, washing dishes, red; Beverly Atkinson, "making a Monkey," red;

Patricia Keeler and Flora Mae DeBord, quality milk, red; Edith and Ellen Messer, safety in the bath room, red; Gale Souder, making cornbread, red; Judith Wilson and Gloria Atkinson, cleanliness of milk, red; Wynell Burch and Vivian Thomason, setting the table, red; Renee Patchell and Jackie Hill, setting the table, red; Ellen Messer, preparing green beans for the freezer, red; Darlene Rainey, shaker top, red;

Carolyn Keller and Alicia Ham, making earscrews, blue; Cheryl McGill, how to wash a sweater, white; Anita Moody, cherry salad roll, white; Jaikie Lee Hill, washing a sweater, white; Barbara Favor making a cold drink,red; Edna Wright, repairing an electric plug, red; Betty Patton Janice Downs, heavenly cheese salad, white; Wanda Bowen, coronation salad, white;

Alice Ruth Davis, and Alice Morrison, coronation salad, white; Genella Harrod, coronation salad, white; Glenda Norman, vegetable salad, white;

Judges were Miss Helen Dunlop, home demonstration agent at Pampa; and Mrs. Virdie Wheeler, home demonstration agent at Dumas. George Henry of the Greenbelt Rural Electric Co-operative, Inc., assisted in judging the electrical demonstrations.

Other groups who will go to the District meet to represent Collingsworth County are speech, Share-the-fun, dairy foods, quality milk, safety, vegetable preparation. One girl may enter only one event in the district contest, and since Joyce Amerson was first in two individual events and first in dairy foods demonstration, she will make her choice. The event she chooses will determine the others who go.

Forty-eight girls entered the "Share the Fun" festival at the community building Saturday afternoon. Placing first in the junior division individual entry was Carolyn Keller with a song, "Doggie in the Window;" second, Wanda Bowen, "Charleston." Both received ribbons. Carol Abuns, song, White ribbon.

Junior division, group entry: Samnorwood and Wellington tied for first. Samnorwood entered a septet, composed of Margaret Oldham, Carolyn Phipps, Rochelle Clark, Harriet Lowry, Marilyn Cook, Karen Breeding, Alice Johnson, singing, "You are My Sunshine." Wellington quintet, composed of Alta Jackson, Mary Beth Kelso, Alicia Ham, VaRue Sweat and Betty Patton, sang "Little Red Schoolhouse." Both received blue ribbons.

Other entries included: Sherrie Smith, Carolyn Keller and Alicia Ham, trio, blue ribbon; Katherine and Mary Lou Sanders, duet, white ribbon; Jolene Groves and VaRue Sweat, horn duet, white ribbon; Patsy King, Reta Linville, Betty Linville, Barbara Kester, Carolyn Gammill, Mary King, Allah Faye King, dance, red ribbon; Wynell Burch and Vivian Thomason, duet, red ribbon; Anita Moody, Vivian Thomason, Judy Forbis, Judy Glenn, and Wynell Burch, play, "Husband for Harriett," blue ribbon; and Barbara Kester, Shirley Kester, Peggy Harris, Faye Drade, Edna Briant, and Sue Johnson, dance, white ribbon.

Senior division: individual winner, Joyce Amerson, reading, "Boy Crazy." She received a blue ribbon. Another number was by Judy Glen, Wynell Burch, Judy Forbis, and Pat Judd, superstitious maid, white ribbon.

Miss Lennie Lou Coleman and Mrs. Jack Davis were accompanists.

"We thank the parents and leaders for the interest and co-operation in making this, the second such activity held on a county basis a success. A similar project was conducted last year with only 25 demonstrations, four speeches and 50 girls participating, and 15 parents and leaders attending. A total of 150 attended this year and there were 114 girls taking part," the agent said.

Mrs. Ray Hill Visits Here On Arrival From Germany

Mrs. Ray Hill and her son, Ronnie, arrived here April 8, from Berlin, Germany to visit in the home of her husband's mother, Mrs. Maude Hill of Wellington.

A native of Berlin, she was born there April 17, 1928, and has lived there all her life. Mr. and Mrs. Hill were married there in 1949, while he was stationed in the army.

Mrs. Hill is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Schulze of Berlin.

Their son, Ronnie, is five years old.

She says although everything here is quite different than in Berlin, she likes it fine.

Mr. Hill served 10 years in the Army, with 7 years overseas duty.

After a short visit here and at Hollis with relatives, they are making their new home at Coleman, where he is employed with Stringer and Brown Construction Company.

Mr. Hill has been living in Hollis since his discharge from the Army May 17, 1953. He is also a nephew of D. E. Wilson of Wellington. He is a brother of Buck Hill of Hollis and Teddy Hill, who is stationed at Fort Worth.

EDITORIAL COMMENT — THE WELLINGTON LEADER

Enthusiasm Builds a Better County

From any angle you look at it, the Rural Development project in this county is designed to build a better, finer Transylvania.

And it's working.

The county agent, members of his staff and other agricultural agencies are really building up community spirit, and competition is keen. If it continues to snowball, Transylvania could easily win the "County of the Year" award.

Last year we won an honorable mention with only one entry, that being the Little River community. This year there are six in the race, and we predict there will be a photo finish, with the winner victorious by a nose.

Civic groups and other organizations in the town and county are "cheer leaders" in the project, and it's very encouraging to see such widespread interest in the community development project. How true it is that "what's good for one is good for all."

While the primary purpose is to promote progress in the individual communities, the program is doing more than that. It's getting the people together, an old American custom. Townspeople, farmers and others all together around a table, eating, planning and dreaming of what can be done to improve our standards of living right here at home. And then they go out and do it. Just ride about the county and you can already see tangible evidence.

The Times salutes all persons who are taking a part in this vigorous and aggressive project that will mean much for Transylvania from a social, moral, and financial point of view.

Thoughtless Drivers Worry Volunteer Fire Department

Volunteer firemen should be given every possible assistance in their effort to protect property and save lives.

Here are some facts which should be remembered by the curious spectators who flock to fires like bees to a clover field.

With the number of automobiles on the highways at an all time high, Blair County volunteer firemen are being confronted with increasing traffic difficulties in responding to fire alarms.

Firemen from all parts of the county report that motorists are failing to yield the right-of-way to fire apparatus. The first few minutes of any fire are vitally important in determining whether it will be a minor blaze or a major conflagration.

Unthinking drivers may be responsible for the loss of property and even life when firemen are delayed in reaching a blaze.

The Vehicle Code of Pennsylvania provides that all traffic shall pull to the right side of the highway and come to a stop upon approach of a fire apparatus or other emergency vehicle responding to a call.

Many time motorists leave their vehicles parked in such a way that streets and highways are blocked. This hampers the arrival of additional apparatus and other emergency forces. Such parking is especially dangerous in rural areas where fire trucks may have to make several trips for water.

Drivers are asked to remember that their thoughtlessness may cause much loss and suffering to others if firemen are unable to get through traffic to reach a fire. At the same time, state and local police will be asked to cooperate in enforcing the traffic laws concerning fire apparatus.

Rabies Common All Year; Cases Increase in Summer

Rabies usually is more common among dogs and other animals during the summer months than during the cold months but it is far from restricted to the "dog days."

A Chicago health officer, for example, warns that incidence of rabies may increase sharply in that city despite a quarantine and vigorous control measures.

"There have been 38 rabid dogs found in Chicago thus far this year," Dr. Herman N. Bundesen reports, "and there is no knowing how many other dogs they have bitten and infected. The incubation period of the disease may extend as long as six months ."

The news story adds that in the preceding 24 hours 33 dogs bites have been reported to the Chicago board of health.

It's a year-round menace, and all parents should know what to do in case a child is bitten, and all children should be taught to be wary of strange animals.

Newspapers, Business Closely Related

Never before in the history of the nation's economy have the newspaper and business been so closely related. Never before have newspapers carried a greater variety of number of advertisements.

During the past 10 years there has been a general turning to the columns of newspapers by those who seek increased volume in business, with the results that selling in all lines has assumed peak proportions.

Back of this has been a general acceptance by the public of the newspaper as the principal source of news. All this is the opinion of a speaker as a convention of the Newspaper Advertising Executive Association in Chicago. Arthur A. Potter, vice president of an advertising firm, says newspaper circulation has never been in a healthier condition, and while still on a competitive basis the trend has definitely been in the condition of newspapers. Sixty-five new newspapers have been started in the U. S. in recent years.

Newspapers offer a specific local market and give the national advertiser a maximum percentage of coverage. On a local level the advertiser is given a "deliberate, voluntary readership." The newspaper is a community catalog sought and consulted, particularly by women, for items to buy.

Because news is a general commodity which all must have it offers a perfect background for those who seek business from the public.

Constitution Follows Flag?

We submit, a race of people fundamentally grounded in the basic principles of American liberty, by birth, by tradition and by training, loyal to the United States as proven by act and deed, should not be subject to experimental legislation based upon the theories of political expediency in connection with statehood for Alaska.

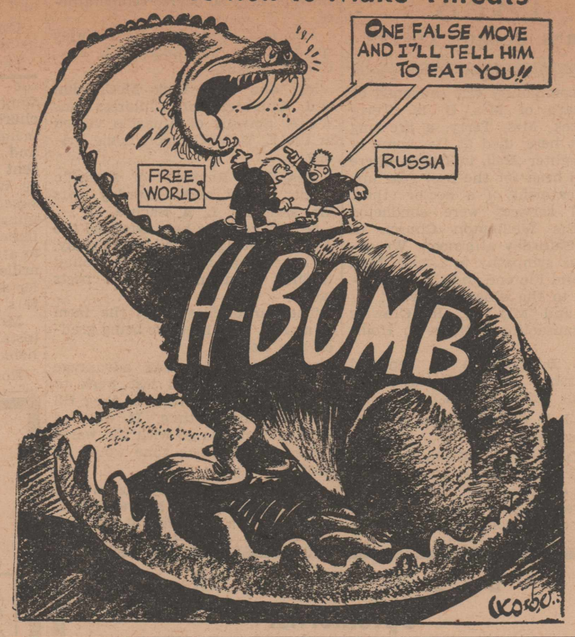

The people of Alaska may properly resent and condemn such stealthy encroachments upon constitutional rights inherently ours by right of birth, tradition, by service and environment.

There appears to be few men in our national public life who will give consideration to Alaska's number one problem of statehood and seek to extend to this great Territory and to its citizens our hertiage of liberty and ultimate goal!

In No Position to Make Threats

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note: The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson Grass Farm on Buck Creek has a lazy interpretation for a new use for television, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

I have never stood in the way of progress, as most progress has been able to go around me without its slowin down or me speedin up, like wind around the Rock of Gibralter, and it was with considerable interest I read the other day where the television industry is working on some new gadgets.

One of these for example is a television camera they put on the look-out tower where fire watchers now stay in forests, and the camera revolves slowly around, sending a picture to a control center fifty miles away. Under this system, forest fires can be automatically spotted, thus eliminatin the lonely work of a man sittin up there all by himself lookin through a pair of binoculars.

I thought this matter over all yesterday afternoon and have come to the conclusion it opens up vast new fields of time saving, although it has been my observation the more time saving gadgets mankind gets the harder people work, and I like to cite the example of myself as proof you can have plenty of time on your hands without goin the gadget route. As I have contended all along, a four-row cultivator is no improvement over a two-row if all it means is you're gonna work more land and still plow from sun-up to sun-down. If a four-row cultivator doesn't enable a man to stop again at noon, in the final analysis he may not be any better off than he was with the two-row, particularly if he works all year and winds up in the hole anyway.

At any rate, this television gadget intrigues me. Farmin would have a whole lot more appeal to me if I could sit in my livin room and direct a robot tractor up one row and down another, just by twirlin some dials. Ranchin wouldn't be no trick at all if a man could sit under an electric fan and check on his cattle as they grazed in front of a television camera, and I don't see why you couldn't set up another camera to watch your cork while you fished stretched out on the livin room sofa.

Understand, though, when they get these things perfected, they sure want to include a key so a man can lock up the set when he pleases. The last thing I want is a television gadget a wife can flip on to see if her heuband is plowin or is stretched out in the sun studyin the clouds.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Crossroads Report

Dear Mr. Ike:

Some of us local coffee-commentators have been talking over this matter which is getting a good deal of play in the press and on the radio these days, where there seems to be many people who are vocally in favor of curbing the Communist termites in our government but don't like the methods being used by one character or another in smoking them out.

—o—

I guess we are more ignorant than we had ever realized, because nobody in the group seemed to know just what is considered ethical combat procedure for citizens who are being attacked by Communists, rattlesnakes, hijaikers, or other anti-social forces trying to separate them from their lives and or property. Emily Post has left this point out of her books on etiquett, and there is considerable difference of opinion about what you and others specifically mean by "fair play" in a situation like this.

—o—

Personally, I have always leanedt to the low-brow viewpoint that if an opponent goes in for rabbit-punching, eye-gouging, etc., in a serious rukus, it is OK to counter with similar rudeness, unless I can think up something dirtier. Just depends, I guess, on whether you would rather be a fair-playing slave, or a free heel.

Bible Comment
For May 2

'O Jerusalem, Jerusalem . . .'

A study of the Gospels reveals how great a part Jesus' last journey to Jerusalem played in his life. Mark tells of the coming of Jesus into Judea, which led to the final scenes of the Crucifixion and the Resurrection.

In the very last week, the Master entered Jerusalem and the Temple. Huge crowds were there, sensing the climax of all that He was and said and did, conscious that "His hour had come."

What deep emotions the thought of the Holy City must surely quicken in the soul of anyone who considers with realism its long history of tragedy and glory!

Jerusalem has been repeatedly besieged, destroyed, rebuilt and dominated at various times by Jewish, Byzantine, Arab, Crusader and modern Mohammedan. It is still the scene of political and racial division.

Yet beneath all Jerusalem's tragedy is an unextinguishable glory. Scenes of triumphs stand above all tragedies of savage, cruelty, injustice and defeat.

And before all are the records of love and devotion, unsurpassed in all the experience of man.

It was Jesus who said, "O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stonest them that are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings, and ye would not!"

Was ever love and compassion deeper than that, And the world, like Jerusalem, still refuses that divine appeal, going its own way of violence and strife.

Keep Records To Save Tax Headaches Next Year

There is no time like the present, while the great battle of Form 1040 is still fresh on your mind, to start a procedure that will aid you with next year's income tax calculations. That is to maintain a record of your income and outgo. Such a record can be simple and brief but it may save you tax dollars.

The average man who works for a wage or salary doesn't have to concern himself about keeping books and records—at least so he thinks. His employer keeps a reliable record of his earnings and Uncle Sam looks primarily to the employer for information on his earnings and for the withholding of various taxes out of his wages.

But whether or not you run a business of your own, you have a partner who each year is claiming a substantial interest in your personal income. And the law requires that you keep books for him in case he ever asks for an accounting.

Perhaps you own your home or are paying it out in installments. It's likely that some day you may sell that house. When you do you'll want to be able to prove whether you realized a gain or a loss on that sale. If a gain in capital resulted, it probably will add to your income tax. If a loss was suffered, it probably will reduce your income tax.

You may have made certain capital improvements on the house while you lived in it, but unless you can show what out-of-pocket expense you incured while making them, you may not get credit for them in your cost basis so as to prove that you had no capital gain or that you had a loss.

Or perhaps you received that little summer cottage on the lake as a gift from your father. If you sell it, you should be able to show Uncle Sam not only the cost of improvements you made on it while you owned it, but also what its fair market value was at the time Dad gave it to you.

It way be that you are receiving an annuity on an insurance policy. If so, do you know how much that policy costs you and how much of that cost you have recovered tax-free to date?

There are many kinds of transactions you enter into that may some day affect the computation of your personal income tax. The best proof of the cost of anything you've purchased is a receipted bill or canceled check. If one of these pieces of evidence relates to any transaction that may affect your income in later years, it's a good idea to keep it. Your "pardner" may some day ask to see it.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

A DEFINITION OF FREEDOM

Some influential today are saying that "the American way of life" is an abstract term, that our political and economic system is "too complicated for anyone to define." In my opinion they are either not thinking straight or they are deliberately seeking to lead Americans away from the basic principles of our system. It does have basic principles and there is an acceptable definition. And the more clearly our citizens can define our system, the more certain we are that its fundamental elements will survive.

A young man one time came rushing to Jesus and said, "What is the greatest commandment?" The Master might well have said to him, "Young man, there are many, many commandments. There is the Decalogue, of course, but there is a great catalogue of additional commandments, all given of God. They are all important. Study and observe them all."

Said The Master

But the Master didn't say this. On the contrary, He frankly said, "Thou shalt love the Lord they God with all thy heart, with all they soul, and with all thy strength. This is the first and greatest commandment." And then He said, "A second is like unto it, namely/ Thou shalt love they neighbor as theyself." The Master continued, "On these two hangeth the whole of the law and the prophets." Thus, as Jesus saw it, the way of life that God had planned for man could hang on these two great principles.

We can hang the whole of our American way of life, I submit, on three great principles — faith in God, constitutional government, and a private enterprise economy. The Freedom Forum workshops, which are conducted on the Harding College campus, have developed a dramatic way of spelling out the full definition. Last week one of the workshops staff was on the program for the high school chapel period. Working with simulated granite blocks, he built, on the stage, "The Structure of the Amercian Way of Life."

The Foundation

The big gray foundation stone, five feet across and 12 inches thick, bore the chiseled inscription: "A Fundamental Belief in God." On this, the speaker placed another great stone, a little smaller in dimension, on which was inscribed: "The United States Constitution—Designed to Serve the People." As the speaker placed each stone in the structure, he commented briefly on its meaning.

On the left side of this foundation formed by the two great stones, he began to build the column of political rights, a thick granite slab for each: "Right to Worship, Right to Free Speech, Right to Assemble, Right to Petition, Right to Privacy, Right to Habeas Corpus, Right to Trail by Jury, Right to Move About F ly, Right to Vote Freely." V each stone, the speaker pointed up the significance of the right it contained.

A Great Structure

Then the speaker began to build a twin column of granite slags — the American's econoric rights: "Right to Own Property, Right to Choice of Work, Right to Bargain Collectively, Right to Go Into Business, Right to Opportunity, Right to Make a Profit, Right to Save, Right to Compete, Right to Contract." The speaker by now had a massive structure built, its two granite-like columns rising five feet above the foundation stones. Across the two columns he placed a binding stone inscribed, "Protected by Our Laws."

"Government agencies administer the laws which protect these political and economic rights," he explained. Then he placed the beautiful capstone on his pyramid-like structure. In the granite-like face of the stone was inscribed: "The American Way of Life," and just below this, "Our Freedom." And in the center of the capstone, the speaker thrust the stars and stripes, our Flag! Then he stepped back. The high school student body gave resounding applause.

This is a good way to define the Amrican way of life to the school youngsters of our nation. And the definition it contains should be acceptible to all Americans of all ages.

SALT FORK
By MRS. R. H. ISBELL

Sunday school at Salt Fork wasn't as well attended Sunday as usual. But had a very good service. Joe Thompson brought two of his boy pals out with him. They were Bill Gardner and Herman Lemons. Joe preached a good sermon, Herman made a short talk, everyone enjoyed the service.

Mr. Willie Biffle of Hedley, brother of Mrs. J. P. Cummings underwent surgery in a Memphis hospital Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Isbell and Mom Wright were Mangum visitorelast Tuesday. Miss Viola Isbell went to Mangum with them to spend a few days with relatives there. They were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hunt. Mrs. Hunt is a cousin of the Isbells The group also spent a short time in the J. R. Patterson home. Mr. Patterson is very low. He has been sick a long time The Pattersons are life long friends of the Isbells. They also visited Mrs. R. P. Wright before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs Buck Lancaster and boys, Elmer Gene and Stanley visited relatives and friends in Wellington over the week end. They live near Lockney.

Ernest and Ray Maxwell visited their families over the week end.

Everyone out this way are so happy that Kenneth Ward is back home from McKinney hospital. He is able to be up and about his business after a long sick spell. Mrs. Ward was very sick for a few hours one night last week. Glad she is better. The men of this community are planning to list up Kenneth's land Monday. The ladies will take dinner and have a picnic for them at noon.

Mrs. G. C. Wright was a lucky lady Friday at the R.E.A. drawing. She got the Electric deep fry. She has most all the electric appliances for her kitchen now.

Salt Fork was well represented at Aberdeen Sunday night. Every one missed Ted Parker. Bro Allen took Ted to his mothers home in Mangum Sunday afternoon. The mumps finally caught up with Ted.

The storm and rain clouds missed us Sunday night. Lightening got too close for comfort.

Notice On Bank Statements

(Effective Immediately)

Effective Immediately the three banks of Wellington will start a new system of making bank statements and these will be made on

The First Business Day of the Month

The statements will include all deposits made during the past month and will reach you on

The Second Business Day of the Month

The advantage of this system is that each statement will contain the full record of the business of each customer during the month that has just passed. Under the old system, the deposits made on the afternoon of the last business day of the month were not included until the next month. We are making this change because we believe it will be a distinct accomodation to our customers in keeping their records, and we ask you to remember that your statement will not be ready until the second day of the months.

Miss Narcie Willard Recalls Early Days

An Early Teacher of Needwood School Tells Its History

By Miss Narcie Willard

My father, J. H. Willard with his family came to Collingsworth County in covered wagons from Columbia, in South Texas, and landed on the present site of the home place, nine miles east and one and one-half south of Lutie, July 4, 1892.

In 1893, Mr. Willard got two acres of land donated by Col. Hughes for the purpose of a school yard and cemetery. This was a mile and a half north of the Willard home, on the place now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charley Hill.

Mr. Willard, with his neighbors, hauled the lumber from Childress and built the school house.

Then the first school trustee election was held on Mr. Willard's porch. J. H. Willard, Wm. Beck and W. W. Hamilton were elected trustees. The three trustees then employed Mrs. George Dunn as teacher. Mrs. Dunn was reared in one of the northern states, and her father had been United States Congressman not too many years after the Civil War. Part of her girlhood had been spent in Washington. She later moved to Mobeetie and remained there until her death only a few years ago. Mrs. Dunn taught two terms, 1894-1895.

Mr. Willard died February 4, 1894, and was the first one to be laid to rest in the new cemetery.

Marion Roberson was appointed to fill Mr. Willard's place. Mrs. Warren Johnson was employed to teach the term of 1896.

Wm. Beck and W. W. Hamilton moved out of Needwood district in 1896. Judge E. H. Small appointed John H. Walker as trustee with Mr. Roberson. They employed me, Narcie Willard. I taught the next four years, 1897, 1898, 1899 and 1900. The first three years I taught, we only had two trustees, Mr. Roberson and Mr. Walker. In 1900 Judge Small appointed Mr. Warren Johnson to serve with Mr. Roberson and Mr. Walker.

My pupils were Nevin Willard, Tommie Willard, Gordon Willard, Edith Willard, Willie Willard, Walter Roberson, Minnie Roberson, Fred Walker, Ray Walker, Hiram Guthrie and Harris Guthrie.

Today at eighty-past I can look back with great delight that I had boys and girls from six to fourteen years of age coming to school to me and I being three feet and nine inches tall and only weighing seventy-six pounds. I never had to correct one of them the whole four years of misbehaivor to speak of. We studied when we studied and we played when we played. After the year 1900 for the lack of pupils to make it profitable for them, the Needwood district was united with the Aberdeen district for five or six years or more. Aberdeen was named for Aberdeen Scotland, my mother named Needwood.

Nevin Willard lives here on the same place, Tommie Willard made his home in Denton and was head of the chemistry department of North Texas State College when he died; Goddon Willard lives in Corsicana; Edith Thompson, nee Willard, lives northeast of Aberdeen; Willie Willard lives four miles west of Needwood; Walter Roberson lives at Hollis; Minnie Nalor, nee Roberson, lives at Clarendon; Roy Roberson lives at Clarendon; Fred Walker lives on their home place; Ray Walker made his home in San Jon, N. M. until his death; Hiram and Harris Guthrie moved out of the county with their people. I do not know where they are today, but they were good boys while coming to school to me.

I have written this in memory of my father, mother and brother, for they all taught in public schools in Texas.

(Editor's Note: Miss Narcie, as she is best known to her friends, lives alone, although she is eighty, Her hobby is oil painting.)

(The Needwood School some years ago was brought into the Samnorwood district, and the half dozen or so children of school age living in the area ride the school bus to the Norwood school.)

McLean Rodeo April 30-May 2

McLean, The annual American Legion rodeo will be staged in McLean Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, April 30, and May 1 and 2, with three performances scheduled.

First performance will be Friday night at 8 o'clock, and the other two are set for Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 2 o'clock Bill Kingston, chairman of the rodeo committee, stated.

A parade will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and an old fiddlers contest at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The Sunset Ramblers will play for dances at the Legion Hall both Friday and Saturday nights.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Morris Stephens of Silverton. Rodeo events will include wild mare riding, saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, and ribbon roping.

News of Men in Service

Ronald Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell, enlisted in the Air Force at the Amarillo station Tuesday, April 6, and has been sent to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, for his basic training.

Bell, 17, attended high school here and plans to complete his work while in service.

The Busy Blue Birds met with Mrs. Johnny Graves Tuesday, April 20. From there the group went on a tour through Steve Owens ice cream plant. They were served ice cream while there.

Members making the trip were Mary Martin, Francis Warrick, Linda Holton, Judy Crawford, Carol Jones, Karen Richardson, Elaina Bearden, Nonness Graves, and Mrs. C. A. Crawford.

Fresno-Pleasant Point

Mrs. C. A. Kesler

Services at the Fresno Methodist Church was well attended Sunday evening April 11. We enjoyed very much the good message brought by Wayne Ketchum. We are happy to De Ray Uselton and Wallace Blassingame and others as visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kesler visited with Mrs. Oran Starkey and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dysart Monday afternoon in Mrs. Starkey's home in Wellington, Mr. and Mrs. Dysart of Mobeetie had been dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Loter.

W. C. Harwell has been plowing up the volunteer wheat this week and Lorraine has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kesler the days he plowed.

Mrs. C. A. Kesler visited in the home of Mrs. J. B. Killian Monday morning and the roads were really slick. It was nice to see them muddy. We had an inch of rain in some places. The rain fell so nice that every drop soaked into the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Williams and Mrs. C. A. Kesler attended the Easter Program at the First Methodist Church given by the Youth for Christ Saturday evening.

There were 38 at services at the Fresno Methodist Church Sunday morning April 18. James Glascock brought a real good message after the children had presented an Easter program. We want to thank each child who had a part in the program. Sunday night Mr. J. A. Killian brought an interesting discussion on a piece written by Wes Izzard of the Amarillo News and read by Mrs. Raymond Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Williams visited Brother and Sister W. B. Gilliam in their home in Shamrock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crowley and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Killian visited Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Gunstream in Memphis Sunday afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Greenwood of Alanreed were dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kesler Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Buss King had visited Mr. and Mrs. Glen Roberts and family in Hereford last week. Mr. Roberts does not like to live outthere. They said they don't know anybody hardly. The Kings were visiting their children in Amarillo and went to Hereford from Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Newel Burke, Janet and Mike of Lubbock visited Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wynn over the week end.

Mr.andMrs. Harold Morrow, Janice of Hobbs, New Mexico spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Lois Tyson's car caught fire on the way to Wellington Thursday. Mr. Tyson got his hands badly burned and stuck a wire clear through one hand while pulling loose the wireing and putting out the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Robinson, who have been living at Tempe, Arizona, moved to the Quail community to make their home. They are the parents of County Clerk David Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson formerly lived in Dickens County, where they still own land.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. McGill returned recently from an extended visit with their daughter, Mrs. C. F. Youngblood and family at Farmington, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bevers and children of Amarillo were week end guests of his parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. John Bevers and County Attorney Denzil Bevers.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Barjenbruch and son, John Albert and Robert Karnes returned last week from a visit to Harrison, Ark., where they visited in the home of Mrs. Barjenbruch's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wallace and her aunt, Mrs. J. A. Askey. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fuller. Both the Wallace and Fuller families formerly lived here. The four men fished at Bull Shoals, a new lake near Harrison, and one of the largest in the state of Arkansas.

Flite-Fuel

FOR YOUR CAR

Only in Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel do you get the added super aviation fuel component, Di-isopropyl (pronounced di-iso-pro-pull). This special clean burning power component is a Phillips exclusive—developed originally for highest powered military aircraft.

Phillips Petroleum Company was the first to make Di-isopropyl and HF Alkylate, so valuable to smooth motor performance that, until recently, their use was restricted by the U. S. Government to high performance aviation gasoline. Now authorities have removed restrictions and these powerful components can be blended into Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel.

New Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel provides increased power, higher anti-knock, greater fuel economy, and freedom from cold stalling.

In addition, Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel gives you the clean burning qualities that result from use of natural and aviation gas components. No anti-fouling additives are needed to insure maximum power and efficiency when you drive with Flite-Fuel.

Only Phillips 66 Flite-Fuel contains added Di-isopropyl. Get it at stations where you see the orange and black Phillips 66 Shield.

Wischkaemper Brings In Big Irrigation Well

One of the largest irrigation wells in the north part of the county was brought in Friday on the farm of A. F. Wischkaemper Jr. of Dozier. It will make possible some of the newest methods of agriculture, but the well was located on the farm by the oldest of methods, witching with a willow switch.

Wischkaemper described the more technical features of the well and his plans for their use, then added the interesting fact that Elmer Feemster of Lillie "doodlebugged" it for him.

This is believed to be the first 8-inch irrigation well in the north part of the county, the owner said. It was put on the pump late Friday and pumped throughout the night. It was backwashed every 15 minutes. When pumping began, it was flowing a 6-inch pipe from one half to two thirds full at one-fourth throttle. At 5:30 a. m. it was flowing the 6-inch pipe full on the same throttle.

It was pumped for two and a half hours Saturday morning at an estimmated 800 gallons per minute.

"That's the sweetest sight I ever saw. I'd rather have it than any oil well or gas well," declared Wischkaemper, who last year had an oil test drilled on his land.

The water from his irrigation well is from the same strata that was found in the oil test put down by Tatum, Bennett and Depauw of Lubbock and Drilled by the B. B. Carter Drilling Company of Amarillo. Mr. Carter described the water strata found to Mr. Wischkaemper.

The irrigation well, drilled by Carter Drilling Company of Wellington, owned by Buddy Carter, is a shallow well, 54 feet deep, with the pump set at 44 feet. Water rises to within 17 feet of the ground surface.

It is one-half mile from the A. F. Wischkaemper No. 1 oil test. The location of the water well is 600 feet east and 600 feet south of the northwest corner of southeast one-fourth of section 29, block 16.

Wischkaemper will use a sprinkler system to irrigate the 120 acres of cotton and 100 acres of native grass.

This fall he plans to drill three more wells on locations made by Feemster.

"If we could get a thousand wells like this, it would certainly put a different look in things—on the county, the town, and the community," the owner declared.

Feemster has "witched" or "doodlebugged" water wells for several years, but most of these have been ordinary farm wells pumped by windmill. He uses the traditional willow swith, although others who witch may use a peach or even a hardwood switch.

His is the usual method. He walks along, carrying the two forks of the switch graspe in his hands, and the third pointed upward. When he reaches a point over water, the point extending in the air turns downward, despite any efforts to hold it upright.

"Mr. Feemster wouldn't guarantee irrigation water, although he did say there was water at that place. He told me, too, that he, himself, didn't have any confidence in the method," Wischkaemper said.

and work with the other members of the Commissioners Court to put the County's business on a sound financial basis. I urge, and will work for, the full cooperation of all officials, because I believe that the first step towards successful management of any business is for all to cooperate.

In road matters I believe that school bus routes and mail routes should have first consideration. I shall favor and work for keeping these roads in the best condition they can be kept with available funds, and I shall oppose diverting any road money for any purpose; Ad valorem road tax money and automobile and truck license fees ought to be used on the roads and for no other purposes.

I believe in the principal "Pay as you go", and shall oppose the borrowing of any money for operating on the credit of the county which is not covered by anticipated revenues for the year; I do not favor spending next year's taxes this year.

At Home Night

Complete arrangements for the "At Home Night", programs will be announced next week.

A group of hostesses will open their homes for the evening, and neighbors and friends will attend. Invitations are not being sent and those interested are invited.

This is the presentation of a music week entertainment on the neighborhood basis.

Student musicians will be presented, with each student giving his number at each home during the evening.

The "At Home Night' is planned to be more informal in nature and the program will feature a variety of types of musical entertainment, including both classical and popular numbers.

Mrs. Charles Allen is in charge of plans.

Robinson—

Arthur Robinson, Cleo Robinson, Paul Wauer, Wesley Wauer, and Louis Allen, Honorary pall bearers were R. D. Wiley, Guy Bell, George Thomas, Tom Crabtree, Carrol Blevins, Ernest Pierce, Wilbur DePauw and G. C. Pettitt.

Mr. Robinson was born at Murfeesboro, Tenn., April 1904, and at the time of his death he was 50 years and three days of age.

He came with his family to this county as a youth.

Mr. Robinson was married to Miss Lois Cox at Quail December 24, 1922.

He had farmed all his adult life.

Surviving ar his wife; four sons and three daughters: Wayne Robinson and Bobby Lee Robinson of Spearman; J. W. Robinson, stationed with the Marines in Korea; Clifton Robinson, serving with the Army in Japan; Mrs. Bill DePauw of Lelia Lake, Sandra Kay Robinson and Diane Robinson of Spearman.

Other survivors include two brothers and three sisters: Ervie Robinson of Perryton; A. L. Robinson of Quail; Mrs. Dolly Holscher of Emporia, Kansas; Mrs. Lillie Allen of Amarillo; and Mrs. Joe Wauer of Wellington.

Soil Tour—

The tour will be conducted by John Robert Henard, a director of the Salt Fork Soil Conservation District.

Tentative plans are to tour the farms of Elvie Crawley southeast of town; Crub White and R. R. Hightower in the Kelley community; Truit Holland and Elmore Dodson at Dodson, then probably continue down the county road running alongside the Mill Iron Ranch to see grass plantings on land belonging to Morris Wells and J. W. Wells/ then to the Charles Allen farm on Salt Fork to see grass plantings and irrigation, and conclude the tour at the Dan Henard Farm on Salt Fork.

There will be guest speakers to appear at the noon stop.

Directing the tour will be Zook, Thomas, president of the board of directors; Tom Cunningham, vice-president; Frank Ford, secretary; Frank Coleman and Mr. Henard.

Dodson's Dempsey Pitches No-Hitter Against Hedley

It was a lucky day for Dodson Thursday, April 22, as they downed Hedley 5 to 6 in a thriller that saw Percy Dempsey pitch his first no-hitter this year.

Dempsey was masterful all the way allowing only one man to reach second in the whole game. This man reached second on a throwing error by the third baseman of the Dodson crew. Dempsey struck out twelve and walked only two men in seven innings. He aided his cause by striking a double and a single in three trips.

It looked like a tight game for the first two innings when the sides were retired in order, but the Mustangs exploded for five big runs in their half of the third inning. The Dodson nine assaulted two Hedley pitchers for eight hits. Leading hitters for the Dodson team were Dempsey, Roberson, and Swift who each had two hits. Dempseys record this year is three wins and one loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin O'Neil had as guests in their home during the week end their two small granddaughters, Leatrice Ann and Karen Adams of Childress. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams, were attending the Isecapades in Fort Worth.

Morris, Thomas High in FFA Speech Contest

Quail and Wellington walked away with the two top honors in the Greenbelt District FFA speaking contest held Monday, April 26, in Clarendon, Frank Kennedy, Quail vocational ag instructor, has announced.

Darryl Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Morris of the Marella community, placed first, with his speech on "Soil and the Individual."

Second was John Thomas of Wellington, son of County Agent and Mrs. J. W. Thomas. His speech was "A Challenge."

Third place winner was from Childress, while Memphis placed fourth and Estelline fifth.

Morris will participate in the Area FFA speaking contest at Tulia May 8.

Construction Jobs Open in Area

Construction workers are needed on two projects, one local and another approximately 120 miles away, County Judge R. L. Templeton announced Tuesday.

A few workers are still needed on the new Warrick Feed Store Elevator that is going up, the owners, Velmon and Lawrence Warrick told Judge Templeton.

On the other job, workers are needed on two shifts, 11 hours per shift with one-hour break. Workers can earn up to $95 per week on this job, Judge Templeton said.

Construction workers interested may secure more information from Judge Templeton.

St. Joseph's Recommended As Accredited Hospital

Word from Doctor Edwin L. Crosby, Director of Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, that the Board of Commissioners has approved the recommendation that St. Joseph's Hospital receive Full Accreditation. This is a result of the evaluation of the hospital survey conducted on February 15, 1954 by Dr. William R. Albus, a field representative of the Joint Commission.

The Board also approved the format of a Certificate of Accreditation which the Hospital will receive in the near future. This certificate is regarded as a mark of special commendation and is issued only to those institutions which have been on the Approved List for a number of years and which have a record of performance that assures their continued compliance with requirements for approval in a creditable way.

St. Joheph's Hospital applied for a survey in 1949 at which time Provisional Approval was granted. In June of 1950, the Hospital was fully approved and has retained this Status to the present date. Every two years, or oftener if necessary, a field representative is sent to make a detailed survey whether or not the hospital maintains its approved depends on the evaluation resulting from this survey.

St. Joseph's is one of the few hospitals in the Panhandle which has received Full Accreditation, the nearest in Amarillo.

Here is what a patient in an accredited hospital may expect, according to Sister Josephine Therese, hospital administrator:

The physical plant would be well-built, sanitary, with precautions against fire hazards. There would be adequate diagnotic facilities, including clenical laboratory and x-ray departments and provision for isolating communicable disease patients.

A complete medical history is kept of all patients, immediately available to the patient's doctor.

A thorough physical examination is given promptly after admission.

Every precaution is taken where an operation is performed.

The medical staff reviews at least monthly the case of every patient to determine whether diagnosis was accurat and the best treatment given.

All personnel is trained.

Glenda Phipps Wins County Essay Contest

Glenda Gay Phipps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Phipps and a student in Quail High School, recently was named the county winner of the Essay Contest on "Why I have Chosen Nursing as a Career."

Miss Phipps will receive the $25 county prize offered by St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary, according to Sister Mary Carol, area director of the contest, which was sponsored by the Texas Hospital Association.

The essay which won Miss Phipps this honor is printed here:

WHY I HAVE CHOSEN NURSING AS A CAREER

What urged me to make nursing my career? Just why have I chosen to be a nurse? These questions that are easy to answer.

I will be doing what I have always wanted to do. From earliest childhood I have dreamed of being a nurse. Somehow I have always known that nursing was the career for me. Nursing has that quiet dignity that draws me like a magnet.

Because I am a young girl just choosing a career I have thought of the practical advantages. The field of nursing is a vast field offering opportunity for advancement and achievement. I may decide to join the armed forces or be a school nurse. I may do home nursing or enter any of the many fields of nursing. The demand for trained nurses is increasing day by day. This is a field that is open and not overcrowded. The pay is good. One could live comfortably enough on a nurses pay.

These are my practical reasons but my most important reasons are sentimental. I want to help the people around me. I want to help the people I have grown up with and have known all my life. I want to help my own family if they should become ill. I want to do my share to take the place of the nurss who have helped me and my family when we have been ill. Above all, I want to feel that I am needed and that I am usful.

I must feel that I am doing everything in my power to stop suffering and make someone happier. My work must bring me peace within myself and give me the satisfaction of knowing that I am doing what God, Himself, would have me do.

I think nursing as a career is one, if not the only, career that answers to all of these qualifications. Therefore, choosing a career was not hard for me. Nursing was the logical one.
