Tournament hopes in doubt at noon with lawsuit filing

From Local, Wire Reports

Coach Albert Lewis and the Snyder Tiger baseball team were waiting Wednesday morning for the outcome of a hearing on a suit which could delay the Class 4A State Tournament.

The Tigers were to have left Snyder at 9 a.m. for Austin, but were still waiting to hear word from the University Interscholastic League at 11:30 this morning. Snyder was scheduled to play Brenham at 3 p.m. Thursday in the state semifinals.

The Waco school district and Richfield High School filed suit Tuesday asking for an injunction to postpone the Class 4-A state tournament until Richfield can finish its best-of-three series with Austin Westlake.

A hearing on the suit, which names the University Interscholastic League as defendant, was scheduled at 9 a.m. Wednesday before state District Judge Bill Logue.

The quarterfinals series between Richfield and Westlake was plagued by rainy weather, and repeated postponements of the games finally forced a UIL decision on a winner after only one of the three had been played.

Westlake won the first game of the series 4-3 on June 5, and the second and third games were rained out. The UIL ruled that Westlake be declared the winner and advance to the state tournament.

Weevil threat prompts plan to spray

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

Boll weevil counts three times greater than the same period last year have been identified in Scurry County — causing a local cotton farmer's group to propose plans for an early season spray program here.

To succeed, however, it is estimated 80 percent of county producers who were able to plant in May must participate. This would entail some 5,000 acres, it is estimated.

Participation will basically entail notifying the local group that the cotton was planted in May, identifying where the crop is located and estimating how many acres were planted.

These affected farmers — again only those able to plant in May — will then be asked to allow an aerial spray of their cotton to kill the boll weevil.

All costs of this spray program will come from funds held out from cotton production "at the gin" — an assessment program begun two years ago after a referendum vote of county cotton producers and land owners.

The decision to attempt the early spray program was reached Wednesday by members of the Scurry County Producers Association.

The early spray plan is not without some risk, supporters note. The spray for the boll weevil can also kill beneficial insects to cotton.

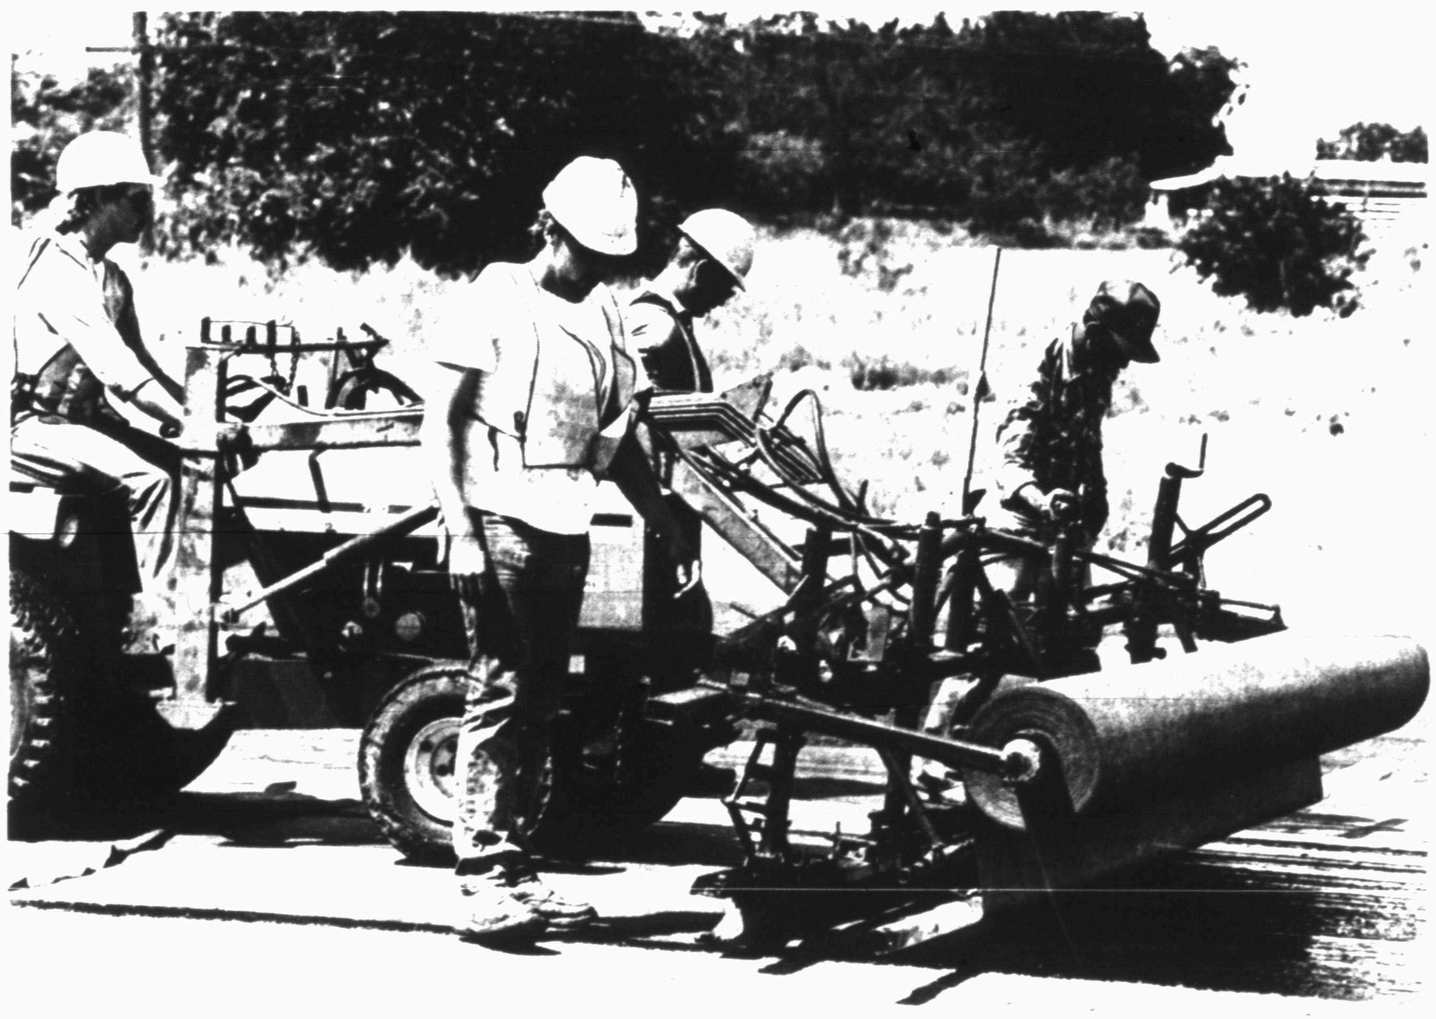

"In this case, we feel like the good far outweighs any bad that might come of it," said David Kattes, a former county entomoligst and now an officer with the producer group.

To finance the early spray program, the group will ask for some $30,000 from the fund established through the "at the gin" assessment of cotton.

This assessment has been taken out the past two years and the fund now contains some $80,000.

Abortion rights affirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, issuing another ringing reaffirmation of its 1973 decision legalizing abortion, today struck down Pennsylvania regulations that would make abortions more difficult to obtain.

By a 5-4 vote, the court said the Pennsylvania regulations impermissibly interfere with women's constitutional right to end their pregnancies.

The Reagan administration had urged the justices to use the case to overturn their landmark decision legalizing abortion, a bold move even pro-life forces believed had little chance of succeeding.

The 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in 1984 struck down various provisions of Pennsylvania's 1982 abortion control law.

Those provisions would have required:

—That doctors obtain the "informed consent" of women seeking abortions after telling them about "detrimental physical and psychological effects which are not accurately foreseeable" and about medical assistance benefits available for prenatal care and childbirth.

Advisors to eye teen pregnancy

The formation of a community advisory committee was approved by Snyder school trustees Tuesday to recommend action regarding instruction to students in such areas as teenage pregnancy, alcohol and drug abuse.

The concept of the committee was presented to the board by Snyder ISD administrators, who noted an increase in teen pregnancies here this past year had prompted the idea for such a committee.

"You would think that teenagers today would be more knowledgable about such things," said Assistant Superintendent Dr. Tom Scannicchio.

"In fact, we find that misinformation is rampant. They just

Career ladder notices due

The list of some 27 new teachers to be added for career ladder supplements this year was approved by Snyder school board members Tuesday.

Assistant Superintendent Jack Gorman said Wednesday morning these teachers will be notified of their selection by mail Wednesday.

The district will release the list Thursday after those affected have been notified. The 27 will bring the total of those receiving career ladder payments of $1,500 each to 98.

The approval came during the regular June meeting of the board, a two-hour session that saw trustees address new dress code regulations for students and offer direction for insurance policies available through the district to students and teacher retirees.

At meeting's end, trustees went into executive session to discuss teacher hirings for the coming school year. No action followed the session, but Gorman said Wednesday the district will holdoff on hiring new teachers until later in the summer.

At this time, he said, the district hopes to have a better profile of enrollment for the coming year.

A downturn in the county's oil economy has raised the possibility of reductions in the school student population by fall.

Gorman said there is currently no indication of this, however.

Administrators slated for two-day gathering

The membership of the Big Country School Administrators organization will be in Snyder Thursday and Friday for two days of educational workshops.

Mayor Rod Waller, Western Texas College President Dr. Harry Krenek and Snyder School Board President Mike Jordan are expected to be on hand Thursday to welcome the group.

This will be at 8:30 a.m. following a registration session at the Willow Park Inn.

Programs related to school administration will follow during the morning and afternoon hours Thursday. The day is expected to include work sessions on finance and school budgeting and curriculum strategies.

The Friday session is to include a general business meeting of the membership. This will include an awards presentation, a nominating committee report and the election of officers and executive committee members.

A legislative update is to be offered also by Dr. Wayne Blevins.

Snyder Superintendent Bob Hawes currently serves as president of the Big Country School Administrators.

The group is comprised of superintendents and assistant superintendents from throughout this region of West Texas.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Living within your income is possible if the government doesn't try to live within it too."

There are a lot of folks planning to be in Austin for the state baseball tournament. The black and gold of Snyder is no stranger to the Austin playoff scene.

Back in January, we attended a Texas Daily Newspaper convention in Dallas. At a luncheon, we were seated next to a journalism professor from the University of Texas.

Our name tag with Snyder, Texas on it brought up the conversation of baseball. "You guys have great baseball teams in Snyder. How do you get those coaches–Speedy Moffett (former coach) and Albert Lewis?"

The professor went on to say that he watches almost every game of every state tournament, and Snyder has obviously left a lasting impression on him and others.

Go Tigers!

We were surprised to learn that the UIL has a rule. Should any player question an umpire's call, the player is automatically ejected from the game.

From what we've seen from TV, the pros might want to adopt such a standard.

It reminds us of an old baseball story. Skipper Joyce probably told it to us–or at least he intended to tell it.

An umpire watched as an excited hitter threw his bat into the air to protest a called strike.

Said the umpire, "Son, if that bat comes down, you're out of the game."

Speaking of baseball, did you hear about the pee wee leaguer who had to turn down an invitation to go swimming.

"Sorry, I have to play ball today–my Dad's going through a phase."

Ask Us

Q — Why do the names of teachers on the career ladder have to be published in the newspaper?

A — The SDN and most other newspapers approach the career ladder list as information the general public has the right to know. The school board is elected by public vote because it administers how public funds are spent. Decisions that require school board votes — like the career ladder list — are deemed public information by law. This follows the legal guideline that taxpayers have the right to know, in the case of Snyder ISD, how $147,000 of their tax dollars are being spent.

Drug roundup

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin police are rounding up 55 suspected drug dealers, culminating a 6½-month undercover investigation designed to slow heroin traffic in the city.

"I can sum it up by saying that this operation is going to put a major crunch on the heroin trafficking business in Austin. It will be felt for a long time," said Sgt. Lupe Trevino of the police narcotics division.

The sweep, which began Tuesday, is the largest roundup of suspected drug dealers ever in the city, Trevino said. The suspects were named in 77 sealed indictments.

Leaders say...

Senate might restore IRA deduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced with intensifying calls for action, supporters of a sweeping tax-overhaul bill pending in the Senate have agreed they may have to go along with restoring tax-deductable Individual Retirement Accounts.

"There is the strong feeling that there should be some changes as far as IRAs are concerned," said Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan.

However, Dole and Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., the Senate Finance Committee chairman, are resisting making the change while the full Senate considers the bill.

Instead, Dole and Packwood are supporting a non-binding resolution that calls for giving the "highest priority to retaining maximum possible tax benefits for Individual Retirement Accounts" when congressional negotiators meet later to work out the differences between the pending Senate package and a tax bill passed late last year by the House.

The non-binding resolution was offered late Tuesday by Sen. William V. Roth, R-Del. But some senators said the resolution was meaningless, and they vowed their IRA amendments would not be sidetracked.

"We're being confronted by a ploy. ... It's a tactical ploy to convince the American public that we're taking care of an issue which they are deeply concerned about," said Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn. "I don't really want to be a participant in this charade."

The action on the IRA amendments was the first sign of life in an otherwise slow-motion proceeding on the landmark tax legislation.

During the first three days of debate on the measure no one would offer amendments.

At one point Tuesday, Sen. Robert Stafford, R-Vt., offered to break the ice with a tongue-in-cheek amendment that "no person over 75 years of age with net income less than $40,000 shall pay any income tax so long as such person's hair does not turn white."

Packwood, who has pursued a no-amendment strategy in an effort to keep the delicate package intact, has talked confidently of having enough votes to defeat any moves to make major changes in the bill.

But there has been growing support for restoring the deduction for IRA contributions.

Data General Corp. plants in Texas are to shutdown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Data General Corp. plans to close plants in Texas and Hong Kong in the next two months and lay off 400 people to consolidate computer assembly operations.

About 200 of the 250 workers at the Austin plant, which assembles such accessories as computer printers and storage cabinets, will be laid off when the plant closes by the end of July, the company said in a news release Tuesday.

The remaining assembly workers will be transferred to other company plants in the United States, and some workers will move to a new laboratory in Durham, N.H., that develops display terminals and other accessories.

Data General said its sales and service operations in Austin would not be affected by the announcement. The company did not release any figures concerning the number of sales and service personnel in Austin.

The computer manufacturer, based in Westboro, Mass., decided to "eliminate redundant manufacturing capacity" and improve its competitive posture, company spokesman Edward Russell said.

The laid-off workers will receive full pay for one to four months, depending on their length of service, and full company benefits through October, the company said. The company has set aside $6 million in the current fiscal quarter to cover the costs of providing pay and benefits to the affected employees, Russell said.

The company also will set up a counseling center to help the workers find jobs, officials said.

All but 50 of the 250 Hong Kong workers, who assemble display terminals, also will be laid off when the plant phases out over the next two months and will receive similar benefits.

Opera record set

NEW YORK (AP) — Just prior to the third act of "Don Carlo" at the Metropolitan Opera on April 26, Jerome Hines received a proclamation from Gov. Thomas H. Kean of New Jersey, where the bass lives.

Hines was celebrating the 40th anniversary of his Met debut, singing the role of the Grand Inquisitor in "Don Carlo." Forty years are a record at the Met for a principal artist.

He made his Met debut Nov. 21, 1946, as the Sergeant in "Boris Godunov." Seven years later he sang the title role for the first time. It became one of his most noted portrayals.

By April 26, Hines had sung 594 performances of 45 roles at the Met. He sang Ramfis in "Aida" 61 times, Sarastro in "The Magic Flute" 45 times, Colline in "La Boheme" 36 times, Mephistopheles in "Faust" and Gurnemanz in "Parsifal" 30 times, and Boris 20 times.

Right idea, wrong direction

If you have to give up a trick to establish a suit but you want to prevent a particular opponent from gaining the lead, you must think ahead and play carefully. First, watch how South erred.

After dummy's heart nine had held the first trick, declarer played a club back to his ace. Because the game was informal, West casually remarked, "Well, now maybe I'd better signal my distribution," as he smoothly unblocked the queen. The consequence of that astute play by West was that East could not be kept out of the lead. Had West failed to get rid of the club queen, declarer would simply have led a second club and allowed West to hold the trick with that queen.

What should declarer have done? At the second trick, South should come to his hand with the spade king and lead a club. If West plays low, declarer plays dummy's king and then ducks a low club to West, who must now win the queen. If West puts up the club queen when the suit is first led, declarer lets him win the trick. Either way, declarer develops the suit for the tricks he needs without giving up the lead to the dangerous East hand.

This play may also work when West holds the club jack rather than the queen, for he may carelessly fail to play the jack when the club is led from the South hand up to the North hand. Then, winning the king in dummy and ducking a club on the way back will once again stick West with the lead and keep the declarer from harm.

Two bodies are discovered in derailed train wreckage

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Investigators are hopeful that autopsies on two burned bodies found in the wreckage of a derailed freight train will provide the identities of the victims.

A Union Pacific Railroad spokesman said all crew members have been acounted for. Neither has anyone in the area of the accident, which occured about 12:50 p.m. Sunday, been reported missing, said spokesman John Bromley.

Bromley speculated that the victims may be hobos who were hitching a ride on the ill-fated train.

The bodies were discovered about 3 p.m. Tuesday as crews worked to douse the still-burning wreckage.

About 700 area residents remained barred from returning to their homes Tuesday night because officials feared further explosions.

Seven tank cars filled with hazardous chemicals were among the 32 railroad cars derailed from the 80-car Union Pacific Railroad train as it crossed a trestle over Salado Creek in San Antonio.

As many as 2,000 people had been evacuated during the ongoing cleanup.

Five of the seven chemical tank cars carried butadiene, used to manufacture synthetic rubber and plastics. Another tanker contained formaldehyde, and the seventh tank car had ethylene glycol, or anti-freeze.

One of the tank cars filled with butadiene exploded and a second one caught fire. Two box cars carrying cotton seed and wooden pallets also continued to burn late Tuesday.

Scientists, citing pollution, say climate already warming

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists are warning Congress that the long-theorized, life-threatening overheating of the Earth from man-made air pollution is now a frightening reality.

"The fact that the greenhouse effect is real is proven," said James Hansen, director of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Goddard Institute for Space Studies.

"Global warming is inevitable — it's only a question of magnitude and time," said Robert Watson, director of NASA's upper atmospheric program. "We can expect significant changes in climate in the next few decades."

Hansen, Watson and other scientists delivered their somber assessments Tuesday as the Senate Environment subcommittee on environmental pollution opened two days of hearings on the greenhouse effect.

Backed by recent findings of severe ozone layer depletion in the atmosphere over Antarctica, they reiterated scientific predictions that the warming threatens the globe with floods, drought and more skin cancer by the middle of the 21st century.

And for Sherwood Rowland, a chemistry professor at the University of California, the picture further down the road is even bleaker, "If you have the greenhouse effect going on indefinitely, then you have a temperature rise that will extinct human life" in 500 to 1,000 years.

The greenhouse effect is a shorthand term for global warming caused by chemicals such as chlorofluorocarbons, carbon dioxide, methane and nitrous oxide accumulating in the atmosphere and trapping heat. The pollutants also destroy the ozone layer, which helps protect humans from the cancer-causing ultraviolet rays of the sun.

Under the greenhouse scenario, the Earth gets baked. Rich farmlands turn into deserts. Forests wilt and die. Coastal areas are inundated by oceans swollen by melted polar and glacial ice.

Hansen predicted that global temperatures should be nearly 2 degrees higher in 20 years, "which is about the warmest the earth has been in the last 100,000 years."

Libido and hysterectomy

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In a recent column you responded to a reader's question by stating that hysterectomy plays no role in causing the loss of sexual interest. In my case, I had a real falloff in sex drive following my hysterectomy; in fact, I went through an early menopause. Don't you want to modify your position?

DEAR READER — I have received letters from several women who lost their libido (sexual interest) after hysterectomy. While I am not inclined to alter my position, some further explanation is in order.

Hysterectomy refers to removal of the uterus and cervix, neither of which is necessary for sexual gratification. Female hormones appear to aid sexual fulfillment, and these substances are produced by the ovaries. Therefore, when the ovaries are left in place, there is no physical basis for the loss of sexual desire after surgery.

On the other hand, sometimes the ovaries are removed, too. This produces a hormone deficiency that may affect sex drive. Under these circumstances, the surgeon usually will prescribe hormone pills to restore proper levels in the body. This is not always the case, however, especially if the woman required a total hysterectomy for a tumor of the reproductive tract.

Most post-hysterectomy patients (those with ovaries) experience no loss of libido. Of course, some individual variation is bound to occur, but loss of sex drive is not a common result after an operation by a skilled surgeon. Those women who have had hysterectomies (with ovaries removed) may undergo changes in sexual interest; this can usually be successfully treated with hormone pills.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My wife acquired Tourette's syndrome and kleptomania after she took an old country medicine (cow's urine) when she was very young. Is there a cure for this condition?

DEAR READER — Gilles de la Tourette's syndrome is an unusual neurological disease that ordinarily begins in childhood. It is characterized by facial twitching and involuntary vocalizations (grunts, snorts and obscene words). It is treated using clonidine, clonazepam or haloperidol. The syndrome may go into remission (disappear) for long periods. Kleptomania (uncontrollable stealing) is not usually a part of the disease.

I doubt that the cow's urine caused your wife's difficulties; more likely, it was given at the time the disease began in her childhood. I think she needs an examination and medical supervision by a neurologist, a specialist in nerve disorders.

For more information, contact the Tourette Syndrome Association, 41-02 Bell Blvd., Bayside, NY 11361; the phone number is (718) 224-2999.

DEAR DR. GOTT — There's a lot of heart trouble in my family, and I'd like to have stress tests to make sure I'm OK. The problem is that I have severe asthma, which is pretty well under control except when I'm under physical stress. What accommodations are made for asthmatics in stress tests?

DEAR READER — Asthmatics often use bronchodilator sprays shortly before (or during) physical exertion. The inhaled vapor may abort an attack or permit the asthmatic to continue physical activity with a minimum of breathing restriction. I suggest that you see a cardiologist, who will examine you and — if a stress test is needed — will give you specific instructions about what to do before and during the test.

We made a better coffee. You'll enjoy the change.

New "Custom Roast"™ Coffee.

Now better coffee flavor costs less. "Custom Roasting" is a new coffee roasting process that gives you more coffee flavor at a lower coffee price.

How?

Two ways. First, custom roasting involves the carefully controlled movement of coffee beans through the roaster under exacting conditions of heat, air velocity and time. This intensifies the natural coffee flavor.

Second, this special process expands coffee beans significantly more than ordinary roasting. The result is more coffee surface area to interact with the water in your coffee maker. And this gives you more flavor from the coffee.

The result is that you need less coffee to get more flavor. Which means you save money.

And to help you save even more, here's a special introductory offer. Just use the coupon below and you'll get 70¢ off your next purchase of new Maryland Club Custom Roast Coffee.

Try it. You'll enjoy the change.

Shuttle report will restore power to astronauts corps

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Astronauts may get more power in the wake of the Rogers commission report on the Challenger disaster, but several are likely to resign because of the long wait before shuttle flights resume, says one member of the corps.

The astronaut, who spoke on condition that he not be identified, made his comments Tuesday, the day Owen K. Garriott, 55, the nation's most experienced current space traveler, resigned saying he would rather become a private consultant than endure another long wait before flying in space.

Garriott, who was selected as a scientist-astronaut in 1965, spent 59 days aboard Skylab in 1973, and nine days in 1983 on the shuttle's first spacelab mission. He spent a total of 1,650 hours in space, more than any of the other active astronauts.

He said he was leaving because the shuttle has been grounded as a result of the Jan. 28 Challenger accident and he expects a three-to-four year wait before he could fly in space again.

"I don't know exactly how long it will be, but it will be at least a year and a half before the first flight, and another year or two beyond that before we're flying a science mission," Garriott said Tuesday.

Three senior military pilot astronauts, Richard Truly, Thomas Mattingly and Robert Overmeyer, have left the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in recent months, though Truly returned to take a management job after the Challenger accident.

With Garriott's resignation, chief astronaut John Young is the most experienced space traveler. He has spent 811 hours in space on six missions.

The source astronaut said others are also planning to quit because they don't expect to fly for years.

"When they look into the future and realize they'll not be flying for three or four years, they start looking around for a career move," he said.

The astronaut said colleagues are happy about a commission recommendation that more astronauts be given jobs in NASA management.

Report is fueling opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of chemical weapons say a report critical of the Pentagon's Bigeye bomb will provide them with ammunition to oppose the Pentagon's chief nerve gas weapon when Congress considers the defense budget.

"This bomb is a turkey to end all turkeys," Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Tuesday as he released a General Accounting Office report. "I'm willing to dig my heels in and fight this."

Pryor and two other opponents of chemical weapons, Reps. Dante Fascell, D-Fla., and John Edward Porter, R-Ill., made the report public at a news conference and pledged to oppose President Reagan's request for $56.9 million next year to build Bigeyes.

The trio were the main Capitol Hill opponents last year when Congress finally reversed itself and approved production of new U.S. chemical weapons for the first time since 1969.

Dear Abby

Mountain of Socks Presents Roadblock to Wedding March

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My fiance is in the Army, stationed in England. He will be coming home in three weeks and our wedding is scheduled for exactly one week later. He shipped all his clothes home for me to launder. One of the boxes had a funny smell when it arrived, and when I unpacked it, I found a large pile of socks at the bottom. You probably won't believe this, but there were 203 pairs of dirty, black dress socks in that box. I counted them — 406 dirty socks!

My question: Should I go ahead and marry a man who would leave such a dirty job for a woman to do? I am afraid that this might be symbolic evidence of an unconscious lack of respect for women, and after we are married I will be expected to do the dirty work.

Hurry your answer, because if you agree with me maybe I should call off the wedding.

NOT SURE IN LOUISIANA

DEAR NOT SURE: I advise you to cancel the wedding plans until you know him better. Maybe your fiance just doesn't like to wash his socks, which is evidence that he's lazy — or a bit of a slob. But to assume that he's a male chauvinist who will expect you to do all the dirty work may be unfair. So don't sock it to him till you're sure.

DEAR ABBY: My granddaughter who is 2 years old goes to nursery school five days a week. The problem is that the children hit her. She doesn't hit back. She goes and tells the teacher. The lady in charge says, "You should hit them back!"

Abby, why do babies have to start fighting in nursery school? I find that so very sad. Please comment.

DELAWARE GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Our society has become a violent one, and while I am opposed to hitting, I think it's a good idea for all children to learn how to defend themselves. (Martial arts — karate?)

I would disagree with the "lady in charge." Rather than teaching the children to "hit back," she should teach the hitters to communicate verbally.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for informing your readers that the effectiveness of birth control pills can be diminished or canceled out if the woman takes antibiotics.

As a practicing certified nurse and midwife, I have known this to happen many times. The woman then says, "But nobody told me!"

The problem is that the doctor who prescribed the antibiotics is not the same doctor who prescribed the birth control pills. Also, when a doctor asks a patient, "Are you on any kind of medication?" the patient says, "No" — not thinking of the pill as "medication."

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: Next Sunday, June 15, is Father's Day. If you're a little short on cash, don't fret, because I have a gift suggestion that is sure to make a big hit with every man who has ever fathered a child. And it doesn't cost a dime.

Sit down and write your dad a letter. Tell him how much he has meant to you over the years. Don't be shy about telling him how much you love him, and why.

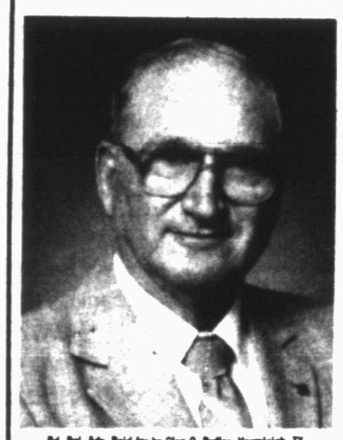

I promise you that it will mean more to him than any gift you could buy. Trust me.

Culprits brought in aliens

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Illegal aliens were transported in trucks that carried U.S. mail to Texas and Arizona, according to federal officials who claim they have broken up a 12-year-old smuggling ring.

Ten people were arrested in a week-long sweep by agents of the U.S. Border Patrol here and in Fort Worth, said Jim Selbe, agent in charge of the Border Patrol's anti-smuggling unit in El Paso.

Three others were still at large Tuesday night, officials said.

All 13 were indicted by a federal grand jury in Fort Worth on May 27 on "multiple felony violations of federal statutes relating to the transportation and conspiracy to transport aliens illegally into the United States," said a news release Tuesday from the Border Patrol.

The ring started operating in 1974 and has smuggled more than 10,000 illegal aliens from the Caribbean and Central America into the United States, using "safe houses" in Mexico, Texas and Arizona, said Selbe.

The ring has reaped at least $15 million in its 12 years of operation, Selbe said.

"They're not required to keep a set of books, but it averages $1,500 (per alien), a little heavy on some, a little lighter on others," Selbe said. "They've got a good 12 years of good business. They're doing pretty good."

Prolonged shutdown would hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Housing Administration's sixth shutdown in nine months is having little immediate impact on home sales, but industry experts warn it could be troublesome unless Congress acts quickly to put FHA back in business.

"We've been out of business for a month" since last October 1, Silvio DeBartolomeis, FHA's acting administrator, said Tuesday. "Congress has given us a vacation and they didn't even know it."

Since last fall, Congress has granted FHA a series of short extensions of its statutory authority, at times using the legislation as a vehicle to which other bills are attached.

FHA's authority was suspended for 11 days last December and 10 days in March before Congress enacted extender bills.

The latest shutdown came last Thursday, when the agency's statutory authority expired a month after it was extended by emergency legislation signed May 2 by President Reagan. That bill was flown to Reagan for his signature in Tokyo, where the president was attending the economic summit.

Congress sets shuttle probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress, pledging to be tougher on the nation's space agency in the wake of the Challenger accident, asked top NASA officials to testify today and show a 20-minute film of the shuttle explosion.

James C. Fletcher, the new administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, along with William R. Graham, who was acting administrator at the time of the Jan. 28 disaster, and Adm. Richard Truly, director of the shuttle program, were scheduled to testify before the House Science and Technology Committee.

They were to show the panel a film containing computer-enhanced 70 mm footage of the breakup of the shuttle 73 seconds after it was launched.

Lawmakers said they wanted to ask the NASA officials about the accident and how the space agency plans to respond to the recommendations made Monday by the Rogers commission investigating the accident.

Among the commission's recommendations were that NASA redesign the shuttle's solid booster rockets and other shuttle systems and improve agency management and safety.

Commission Chairman William P. Rogers and Vice Chairman Neil Armstrong appeared Tuesday before both the House committee and the Senate Commerce Committee as Congress launched a lengthy series of hearings into the tragedy that killed seven astronauts.

The lawmakers began with criticism of their own past supervision of the agency and promises of a tougher stance in the future.

"Congress has been too shy in finding fault with NASA," said Rep. Robert A. Roe, D-N.J., of the science and technology committee.

Another Democrat, Rep. James Traficant Jr. of Ohio, said, "Everybody should take off the gloves," and get to the bottom of the problems at NASA.

The Rogers commission report blamed the disaster on a badly designed joint in the shuttle's right booster rocket and faulted the space agency for insufficient safety precautions and bad management.

Asked if the commission received complete cooperation from NASA in its investigation, Rogers said the only problem was with the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala.

If a family in Banaras, India, cannot afford enough firewood to burn their dead, sometimes they throw the corpse into the sacred Ganges, says National Geographic.

Leader: teachers, employees should reflect conservatism

ATLANTA (AP) — The Southern Baptist Convention needs more love and fewer liberals, a Tennessee preacher suggested after being swept by fundamentalists to the presidency of the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

The Rev. Adrian Rogers, of Memphis, said Tuesday night he hopes his term as president, marking the eighth straight year fundamentalists have held the post, will bring a lessening of feuding among the 14.5 million Southern Baptists.

However, Rogers showed no sign of softening efforts of the denomination's most conservative wing to cleanse Baptist seminaries and agencies of teachers or other employees who don't share their view that every word in the Bible is historically and scientifically true.

"We're not trying to tell any professor what he must believe or any denominational employee what he must believe — that is between him and God," Rogers said at a news conference.

"But we are saying that those who work for us and those who have their salaries paid by us ought to reflect what the great majority of us say we want taught" as spelled out in a Baptist statement of faith, he said.

Rogers, 54, who was also president in 1979, won this year by 54 percent to 46 percent over the Rev. W. Winfred Moore of Amarillo, Texas, in voting by about 40,000 church messengers crammed into the Georgia World Congress Center.

Moderates supporting Moore say Rogers and recent predecessors have won because of superior political organizing that gives them convention influence far beyond their support in the denomination's more than 30,000 churches.

However, Rogers said he felt Baptists holding his literalist view are not a minority or even a mere 54-46 percent majority, but actually make up 90 percent of the denomination.

Asked how that reading of support would affect his appointments to groups that control seminaries and multimillion-dollar mission agencies, he said, "I don't think that we need to say that liberalism, classic liberalism or Southern Baptist liberalism needs to be reflected."

Rogers had previously said the denomination's seminaries were infected with "liberal theology," which he defined Tuesday night as doubts about the literal accuracy of various biblical accounts.

Moments after his victory was announced, the crowd was read a message from President Reagan very much in line with the prevailing conservative sentiment.

"In the past decade or less, the liberalism that seemed triumphant has been thrown on the defensive," Reagan said. "So many of the proud liberal myths about man's self-sufficiency, government's omniscience and our ability to do everything without God have shriveled up and look as though the next great wind should blow them away."

"But we cannot become complacent," Reagan said, declaring that he was counting on believers such as the Baptists to help him on such matters as fighting abortion and bringing back public school prayer.

One messenger, the Rev. Bob Setzer of Middleburg, Va., complained from the convention floor that reading the message just after the vote deciding the hotly contested presidential contest was "ill-timed and hostile."

The convention's outgoing president, the Rev. Charles Stanley of Atlanta, disagreed, winning loud applause.

Moore, 66, himself a Bible-quoting pastor of a big Texas church, championed what he said was the denomination's traditional tolerance of individual churches' views of just what the Bible means.

Runners swapping charges

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White and his November challenger, former Gov. Bill Clements, are getting an early start on their campaigns.

Clements, who won the Republican nomination to challenge the Democrat who ousted him in 1982, Tuesday charged that under White's leadership the Texas business climate has deteroirated.

In an attack of his own, White said Clements as govenor was more interested in enhancing his own office than he was in education.

According to a new survey by the Grant Thorton Co. of Chicago, Texas' ranking has fallen from No. 2 to No. 18 since White took office, Clements said.

"Texas continues it's decline under Mark White. Texas is ranked 18th in business climate. Mark White's economic policies are an absolute disaster for Texas," Clements said in a statement released by his campaign headquarters.

"The lower ranking today comes on the heels of horrible May unemployment figures," he added, noting that Texas joblessness last month hit a record high 9.6 percent, two points higher than the national average.

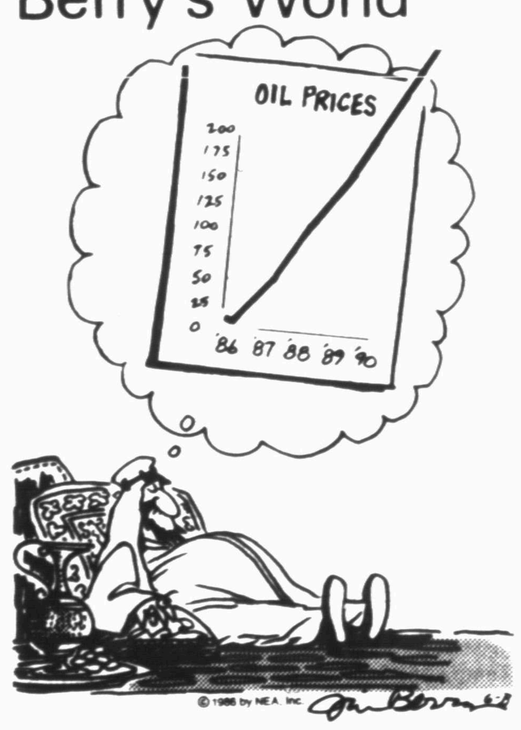

"Mark White has followed the path of big government. Increased taxes, increased bureaucracy, ever-increasing crises. The time for change is clear," Clements said.

White, meanwhile, issued a statement of his own charging that Clements in 1979 urged substantial cuts in state spending for education and denial of a teacher pay raise despite near double-digit inflation.

"It is particularly ironic to note that while Clements was suggesting that education be cut, he was, at the same time, proposing more money for himself," White's campaign said in a written statement.

Leadership key to Tiger success this season

EDITOR'S NOTE: Schedule for the Class 4A State Baseball Tournament was still pending at 11:30 this morning for the outcome of a suit filed against the University Interscholastic League by Waco school district and Richfield High School.

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

He stood with members of the team circled around him, each listening attentively. The subject was the state baseball tournament.

"I don't want anybody to come back and say 'we could have'. I want us to lay it all on the line - no holding back - and go into it with a positive attitude. If we do that, no one will have to come back and say 'we could have' because we'll know we did our best."

Coach Albert Lewis? Assistant Ricky Howell or Levon Webb? No. The words of encouragement came from a player, senior catcher Ricky Hunter, a tri-captain, and as a team leader, one of the reasons Snyder is playing in the semifinals Thursday afternoon at Austin.

"Leadership, that's the big ingredient," acknowledged Coach Lewis. "The biggest difference between this team and last year's team is the leadership quality. A lot of good teams never make it and that's why. They don't have that leadership.

"Our tri-captains, Ricky, Justin Webb and Jimmy Velasquez, have really given us a lot of leadership this season. Justin and Jimmy aren't as vocal as Ricky, but they show it with their actions."

Hunter, who can remember the 1985 season all too well, was determined this year's squad would have leadership from at least one player.

"Last year we had a good team but we really didn't have any leadership. I put it in my head then that this team was going to have leadership - even if I was the one that had to speak up. I guess it just follows from one person to the next. We have a lot of leaders. We've got leadership not only with our seniors but with some of our underclassmen, too. I think they'll pick up next year where we leave off. I think you'll see it for some time to come," said Hunter.

With leadership there is confidence. Almost every player on the team has been through a batting slump or made an error or two at sometime during the season. But the Tigers are a confident team because they also know that every player has also made a key contribution in one game or another.

"It's knowing that the job has to be done and knowing somebody has to do it," Hunter said. "If the guy in front of you doesn't do it then you know you have to. And if you don't the next guy will. It goes that way through the team. Somebody is going to do it."

Snyder, at 24-9 on the season, will go into Thursday's 3 p.m. game at Disch-Falk Field as an underdog. Their opponent, Brenham, is 28-3, on an 18-game winning streak, and has two unbeaten pitchers. None of that flusters Hunter, who is as concerned with giving his best as he is with winning.

"All we know is what we've heard. We don't know anything about Brenham really, who they've played or what kind of fields they have played on," he pointed out. "I don't want anybody on this team to get the feeling that Brenham is so good they can't be beat. We don't want to get down there and find out too late that we could have beaten them. I don't want anybody to come back and say 'we could have.'"

For Hunter personally, the game with Brenham could be a special challenge. The Cubs are supposed to have good speed on the basepaths, and it's almost certain they'll try to test his arm.

"It will be a challenge for me when they get on base. But I look at this as a time to shine. Hey, we're at the state tournament. We're there. We don't have anything to lose. It's just a time to shine."

Leadership. And confidence.

Duncan sprints home with win

by The Associated Press

Cincinnati relief pitcher John Franco saw the Dodgers' Mariano Duncan dash home from second base with the winning run on a ground ball. And then saw red.

Duncan's daring ninth-inning baserunning gave Los Angeles a 1-0 victory and the Reds cause for protest Tuesday night.

Duncan led off the bottom of the ninth with a single and advanced to second on a sacrifice. Enos Cabell was intetionally walked by Franco and Bill Madlock followed with a hard grounder to third baseman Buddy Bell.

What followed was a page right out the Maury Wills' playbook.

Bell threw to second for the force on Cabell and when Madlock was called safe at first by umpire Terry Tata on a bang-bang play, Duncan kept coming, never breaking a stride.

First baseman Tony Perez, surprised by Duncan's dare, winged home a throw to catcher Bo Diaz. On came Duncan and the call from veteran umpire Harry Wendelstedt: Safe!

"I don't mind losing, but it was a bad call," an angry Franco said. "There were two bad calls on one play. Duncan was out by three feet."

"I think the guy at first base (Madlock) was out, too," Perez said.

When the dust had cleared, Franco, Diaz, Manager Pete Rose and several Reds charged Wendelstedt to argue as the Dodgers celebrated.

"I was right on top of the plate," Wendelstedt said. "I called it the way I felt it was. I thought the runner's feet got to the plate before their man tagged him. So I called him safe. That's all you can do."

"I think I was safe," Duncan said. "He tagged me right here (pointing to his upper chest) and my foot was on the plate."

Elsewhere in the National League it was, New York 8, Philadelphia 4 in 11 innings; Montreal 4, St. Louis 2; Pittsburgh 6, Chicago 4; Houston 12,

Take wild, 14-10 victory...

Rangers outslug Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Ten pitchers took 3 hours, 48 minutes to give up 37 hits and 24 runs.

So Minnesota Twins Manager Ray Miller can be forgiven for what might be the understatement of the year.

"Tonight, our pitching wasn't very good," he said after Texas' 14-10 victory Tuesday. "Hell, theirs wasn't any thrill, either."

The thrills in this game came from the Twins' defense and both teams' offenses - Minnesota pounded out 20 hits, Texas 17.

Pete O'Brien was thrilled because he snapped an 0-for-16 slump with a 3-for-5 outing that included three RBIs and a home run that pulled the Rangers into a 9-9 seventh-inning tie.

Toby Harrah was thrilled because he added three hits and two RBIs after season-long struggles.

Geno Petralli was thrilled because he entered the game with no RBIs and finished it with five. He'd never driven in more than two runs in any previous major league game.

And Rangers Manager Bobby Valentine was thrilled, even though the game was the longest in team history, because Texas demonstrated again it could battle back.

"Was it a long game? Feels like it just started," Valentine joked. "When you win, they don't seem as long."

The game probably seemed like an eternity to Twins shortstop Greg Gagne, who went 0-for-4 with two rally-killing strikeouts and also made two of the three outs in Minnesota's four-run third inning. Worse yet, Gagne booted what appeared to be a sure double-play grounder, allowing Ruben Sierra to score the go-ahead run in the seventh shortly after O'Brien's game-tying homer.

"You can't say nothing about a physical error," Miller said. "When you're standing on the field for four hours, you're bound to make an error."

The Twins were bound to make three, with second baseman Steve Lombardozzi's second-inning miscue paving the way for four unearned runs.

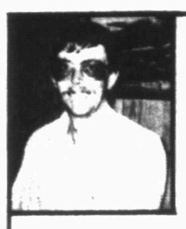

"Sure we got the break, but we put ourselves in position to benefit from (Gagne's error)," O'Brien said. "This club hasn't beat itself."

And the Twins have, which is one of the big reasons why Texas leads the American League West by three games while the Twins are in sixth place, 9½ games behind the Rangers.

Jeff Russell, 1-0, got the victory in his first major-league appearance of the season while Greg Harris, the fifth Texas hurler, got the save. Less than halfway into the 1986 season, Harris already has matched the 11 saves with which he led the Rangers last year. Ron Davis, 1-5, the third of five Minnesota pitchers, took the loss.

Minnesota's attack included four Kent Hrbek singles and three Gary Gaetti doubles but the Twins' pitching left Miller shaking his head.

"Twenty hits and 10 runs should be enough to win," Miller said. "The only logical thing you can do is throw this game out of your mind."

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) - Although she didn't score a point, Nancy Lieberman became the first woman to play in a regular season men's professional basketball game.

Playing behind guards Michael Adams and Oliver Lee, who finished with 29 points each, Lieberman saw little time on the court. But she was the center of attention as the Springfield Fame opened the United States Basketball League season Tuesday by downing Staten Island, 122-107.

Parties deny Sentinel story judge urged settlement talk

NEW YORK (AP) - The focus in the USFL's $1.5 billion antitrust suit against the NFL returns to the courtroom after a day in which both sides finally reached an agreement - they both denied a published report that the judge had urged them to settle.

After no trial Monday and limited testimony Tuesday because of the illness of Harvey Myerson, the USFL's lead attorney, USFL Commissioner Harry Usher is expected to return to the witness stand today to be cross-examined by NFL lawyers about his league's shifting of franchises. The NFL is trying to prove those shifts are the result of a master scheme to merge into the older league.

Usher is expected to be followed by Roone Arledge, the president of ABC News and Sports.

Both sides were kept busy Tuesday denying a report in the Orlando Sentinel that U.S. District Judge Peter K. Leisure had urged them to reach a settlement.

There was no evidence to indicate there was anything to the report, which said the settlement would include six USFL teams being merged into the NFL.

The only testimony Tuesday came from New Jersey Generals' running back Herschel Walker, who acknowledged that he was paid $3.25 million over three years in his initial contract with the Generals. Under cross-examination by NFL attorney Robert Fiske, Walker denied knowing that before he signed his contract the USFL had put a salary cap of $1.8 million per team.

The Sentinel report said the NFL would pay $20 million to present and former USFL teams and would receive a $50 million franchise fee from each of the six teams absorbed into the NFL.

It quoted an unidentified USFL owner and a "ranking league official" confirming that Leisure, who had urged both sides to settle the case before the trial started, had told NFL lawyers they were losing and should seek a settlement.

A call to Leisure's chambers were answered by a recording device saying he was not receiving calls.

But both leagues vehemently denied the report, with the USFL blaming the NFL.

"I can only assume the NFL press machine has been working overtime to create whatever misleading impressions work in their interest," Usher said in the statement.

NFL spokesman Joe Browne said simply: "There have been no settlement offers. None is on the table. And there are no talks going on."

THIRD BASE ACTION – The ball sailed past Indians third baseman Jim Pat Griffin in this scene from Tuesday's Little League action as Marcus Best of the Braves dives back to the base. Best was able to get up and race home. The Braves, Little League champions this season, went on to win the game 12-0. (SDN Staff Photo)

At University of Houston...

Johnson named interim AD

HOUSTON (AP) - The University of Houston board of regents has named Michael Johnson, the school's Southwest Conference faculty representative and SWC president, as interim athletic director.

Johnson, also executive director and counsel to the Houston system board of regents, replaces Tom Ford, who resigned Friday saying he was unhappy with the investigation of the school's football program.

Johnson, who will not be a candidate for the permanent athletic director's job, must also oversee an athletic program that is more than $3 million in debt.

The board of regents will conduct a national search for a new director, expected to be named in three to six months, Houston spokesperson Wendy Adair said.

Ms. Adair said Johnson's duties as athletic director would begin immediately, although Ford said his resignation would be effective July 31.

Ford stopped as he left town on vacation Friday and told The Associated Press by telephone that he was resigning. His resignation came one week after a Houston Chronicle reporter requested an interview to answer questions raised during the newspaper's investigation of athletic department expenditures.

The interview never was granted and the Chronicle reported on Sunday that Ford accumulated more than $4,600 in meal charges over a four-month period in 1985.

The newspaper also said that Ford was reimbursed for meal expenses incurred on a cruise ship, although a spokesman for the cruise company said such expenses were covered in the basic cost of the cruise.

Ford's replacement will be the school's fourth athletic director since Harry Fouke retired after serving as Houston's first athletic director from 1945 through 1979.

Cedric Dempsey replaced Fouke but resigned in 1982 to become athletic director at the University of Arizona. Dempsey was replaced by John Kasser, who resigned in 1984 to become athletic director at Long Beach State. He was replaced by Ford.

Houston's football program has been under scrutiny since March when allegations arose that Coach Bill Yeoman and his assistants made cash payoffs to players.

Former players charged the school also made other payments, such as for wedding gifts, an abortion and rent for a player's mother.

Tim Wallach drove in three runs with a double and a sacrifice fly and Jay Tibbs combined with two relievers on a five-hitter to drop the defending NL champions 16 games behind first-place New York in the NL East.

Tibbs won for the first time in eight starts.

Pirates 6, Cubs 4

Sid Bream hit a three-run homer and Rafael Belliard drove in three runs as Pittsburgh defeated Chicago.

Belliard is batting .218 on the season, but 9-for-17 (.429) against Chicago.

Astros 12, Padres 1

Bob Knepper became the NL's first 10-game winner by tossing a four-hitter against San Diego.

Knepper, 10-3, did not walk a batter and struck out five in recording his sixth complete game of the season. His shutout bid was dashed in the eighth inning when Terry Kennedy led off with his fourth homer.

Giants 3, Braves 0

For the second time this season San Francisco's Vida Blue and Jeff Robinson teamed up to pitch a shutout.

Nicklaus knows Shinnecock well

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) - Masters champion Jack Nicklaus is getting to know the Shinnecock Hills Golf Course very well. And it's no accident.

Nicklaus has played the course where the U.S. Open Golf Championship begins Thursday six times this year, testing the precocious winds, the stifling rough, the changing conditions that can affect a player's game.

"I haven't prepared for an Open for a long time with the enthusiasm I have prepared for this one," Nicklaus said.

And why is that?

"I don't know how to answer that," Nicklaus said coyly. "Let's just say the way I was playing before the Open was not foremost among my priorities until I won the Masters."

The Grand Slam - one of the few things Nicklaus has not accomplished in this sport - starts with the Masters and requires victories in the U.S. Open, British Open and PGA. A triumph here, in a tournament he has won a record-tying four times, would put him halfway home.

Shinnecock's links layout and seaside location give the place the look of a British Open course, a tournament at which Nicklaus has prospered. He has won three British Opens in his brilliant career and he knows that could help him here this week.

The message seems to be: look out for the Golden Bear. He's hunting.

Rains causing evacuations

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — As many as 5,000 businesses and homes were without electricity and about 50 residents forced from their homes as heavy rains flooded streets and creeks and high winds toppled utility poles in Wichita Falls.

More than a week of heavy rains across Texas abated in most areas, but North Central and Southeast Texas continued Tuesday night to battle downpours and accompanying flood and tornado warnings.

Near Angleton, civil defense workers were carefully monitoring the Brazos River, which was expected to reach the 22-foot level today. Flooding can be expected at the 30-foot level, and Civil Defense Coordinator Jack McCann said minor flooding in rural southwestern Brazoria County is likely.

As many as 2,000 Wichita Falls residents were expected to remain without power much of today after wind gusts of up to 60 mph knocked down trees and power lines, said Helen Burt, a Texas Electric Service Co. spokeswoman.

Almost 5 inches of rain pounded the city between 4:15 p.m. and 9 p.m. Tuesday, forcing residents out of two apartment complexes and a street of houses near the Holliday and McGrath creeks.

"We will have crews out all night," Ms. Burt said late Tuesday. "But because the damage is so sporadic and widespread, we may have some people still without power in the morning. We have had a tremendous amount of damage in the outlying areas."

The area was under a flash flood warning and a tornado watch for much of the night as a line of thunderstorms brought heavy rains from Oklahoma City through the rolling plains to southeast Texas.

On a more optimistic note, about 160 families were returning to their homes near Splendora outside Houston after rising creek waters forced them to evacuate Monday night.

"Hopefully, it's gone away. I'm going to get webbed feet if it doesn't," Splendora police Lt. D.D. Harris said.

Firefighters using boats evacuated residents from two subdivisions near Peach Creek. The residents spent Monday night at a nearby church and at a roller skating rink.

In nearby Casey Ridge, though, rescue workers were still braced late Tuesday for an all-night watch as the east fork of the San Jacinto River continued to rise.

"We'll be on stand-by with boats," said Bob Yancy, fire chief in nearby New Caney. "It's only a matter of time before the water will start coming into those houses. People might not seem concerned now, but they'll have to pay later if they stay."

No injuries were reported Tuesday night in any of the flood-stricken areas.

The evacuation in Wichita Falls began about 7 p.m. Tuesday, said city street superintendent Dave Tracey.

Police set up a command post at a nearby street intersection, and the Wichita County American Red Cross opened two emergency centers.

Misdemeanor complaints allege three thefts locally

Police are investigating three misdemeanor complaints filed Tuesday.

Ramona Cain of the J.E. Cain Welding Co. reported a theft of services complaint to police at 4:15 p.m.

Reportedly, it involved an individual who had hired work done and then refused to pay.

Other complaints filed Tuesday include two bicycle thefts.

Jason Bynum of 4119 Jacksboro Ave. filed the first of those at 10 a.m.

He told police that his 20-inch BMX type bike had been taken from outside his residence sometime between 9 p.m. Monday and 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

Max Phipps of Snyder filed the second report at 8:52 p.m.

According to Phipps, his son's 10-speed bike was taken while parked in the Varsity Square Shopping Center earlier in the day.

City officers also logged seven misdemeanor arrests Tuesday including one individual jailed for a bicycle theft reported Monday.

A 33-year-old suspect was taken into custody just before 4 p.m. and charged with Class B misdemeanor theft in connection with a 12-speed bike reported stolen by Ray Alarcon.

Also jailed was a 34-year-old woman charged with criminal trespass for failing to leave her grandmother's residence when asked to do so.

The grandmother had filed a complaint against the woman — who had reportedly been staying with her for several days — on Monday and she was jailed on a warrant issued in county court.

Other arrests include three suspects jailed for public intoxication, and one arrested for driving with a suspended license.

Two other individuals were jailed on county warrants for offenses last week.

don't realize the implications of what they're doing."

He noted the problem is not limited to Scurry County, but added that current figures for teen-related pregnancies here are above the national average.

How to address this problem — in addition to the problems of alcohol and drug abuse — would be asked of the communitywide committee, school officials say.

Important to its formation would be representation from the entire community, they noted, to include parents, teachers and administrators.

No specific plan was proposed Tuesday, but the school board endorsed the idea in concept. Details are now to be worked out by school officials.

Superintendent Bob Hawes said an expanded program to address drug and alcohol problems in the district would be in place before the fall term.

An awareness program for elementary and junior high age students regarding drugs and alcohol will be expanded also, he said.

TROY MARTIN

Troy Martin is named chairman

Troy Martin, former crime prevention officer for the county, has been elected chairman of the board of directors for the Scurry County Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse.

Other volunteers named to board posts included Bob Lemons, first vice president; Sue Smith, second vice president; Bobbie Box, secretary; and Laura Jones, treasurer.

Others serving on board are Dr. Nelson Brice, Dr. Gil Fleer, Rev. James Merrell, Charles Henderson, Anne von Roeder and Peggy Kennedy.

Last year the organization received some grant money for films and supplies to present programs to schools and various civic groups. Members hope to provide more educational programs to the community.

Spray proposed to fight weevil not treated, producer group representatives say a boll weevil buildup could occur in late fall. This would be due to the spread in the cotton age and maturity from field to field since rains here disrupted the "uniform" planting date of May 19.

As early fields stop producing squares and begins to mature bolls, the weevil will move to later planted fields and continue to multiply if not killed, they say.

The purpose of the early season spray program is to kill the weevils in the May planted cotton before they reproduce. In this way, a late season buildup is prevented and the number of weevils going into diapause in the fall is reduced.

Producers say they fear unless the early season spray program is completed, a countywide fall diapause spray program might be necessary.

While the early-season plan is estimated at some $30,000, a fall diapause program could cost some $1.5 million, they say.

Not only would an early-season spray entail less acres; the fall programs normally entail as many as six sprayings to be successful.

The $30,000 expense now estimated would cover aerial application, chemical and personnel to "scout" the fields after the spraying.

Kattes said the sprayed fields would be scouted for at least two weeks afterward to determine the effects of the spraying — to include any possible outbreaks of boll worms.

Cotton producers who were able to plant in May are now asked to call the Snyder Chamber of Commerce or the county extension agent's office.

These producers will be contacted by members of the association to determine field location and the percentage of participation.

Those with questions may call the chamber at 573-3558 or the county extension office at 573-5423.

School actions from meeting told meeting included Mike Jordan, who presided, Charlene Light, Allen Grimmett, G.A. Parks Jr. and Mike Reed. J.D. Hinton was absent.

During the session, the board voted to:

—Approve new dress code regulations for students at the elementary, junior high and high school levels. The basic changes include eliminating a requirement for boys at the high school that socks must be worn with shoes; allowing high school and junior high girls to wear knee-length shorts; and allowing both boys and girls at the elementary level to wear knee-length shorts.

—Change the firm offering student accident insurance to Heritage Insurance. The company bid a one-time charge of $66 for 24-hour coverage and $28 for at-school coverage. In addition, the district will pay some $11,550 for accident insurance coverage of all UIL-related activities involving students. The firm was not the low bidder, but was recommended by staff since a local agent would be available to assist with claims. The low bidder, First Agency Inc., offered payment schedules for many claims which the staff characterized as too low. The next low bidder of the three bids was Keystone Life, bidding $22 for at-school and $62 for 24-hour coverage.

—Allow retired school personnel to stay with the district group health insurance plan for at least another year. This group now has the option of joining a health insurance plan offered through the Teacher Retirement System. It was noted that those failing to join the TRC plan now are not guaranteed they will be accepted for it in the future.

—Approve new district policy for the appeals process for teachers questioning career ladder selections. Teachers applying for career ladder consideration will be notified by the district and any appeals of this selection must be filed within 15 days of this notification.

—Award the low bid of $19,665 to Bailey Boiler Works of Lubbock to replace the boiler at Central Elementary. Two other bids were received from out of town companies. The boiler will be paid for out of budget monies for 1986-87.

—Award the low bid of $11,706 to purchase a 1986 station wagon to Mal Donelson Chevrolet. A second local bid of $13,750 was received from Howard Gray Motors. It was noted the recent sale of used buses by the district will provide funds for the purchase.

—Approve the district's fourth year of applying for federal funds basically used for Computer Assisted Instruction (CAI). A public hearing regarding this application was conducted also. Funding sought includes $155,000 in Chapter I funds, targeted for students who qualify for the free lunch program here, and some $26,000 in Chapter II funds, used for CAI instruction for all students.

—Accept the resignations of Betty Monroney, librarian at Central Elementary; and Wynola Early, math teacher at Snyder High School.
