Arab Legion Near Capture Of Jerusalem

By MAX BOYD
Associated Press Staff Writer

CAIRO, Egypt, May 20.—Trans-Jordan's Arab legion claimed possession or access to 80 per cent of Jerusalem's old city tonight and advanced steadily against retreating Jewish fighters in the new city.

AP Correspondent Daniel De Luce reported from the old city that legionnaires captured Tiferet Israel synagogue, Jerusalem's tallest building, today. He said Haganah and Irgun Zvai Leumi's Jewish fighters had withdrawn into another old city landmark, Beit Yaacov synagogue, for a last ditch stand.

Finish In Sight

The end of the three-day battle for the old city appeared to be in sight. An unofficial report said the Arab legion had possession of Zion gate, possibly the best escape route for Jewish fighters if the Arabs finally drive them out of the old city.

In the new city, legion gunners forced back Jewish detachments from the northern edge of the Meah Shearim quarter and carried them into position for a raging battle to clear the Jews from Allenby square. Arabs also bombarded Senbedriya, a Jewish quarter northwest of Jerusalem which temporarily is menacing the right flank of the Arabs' southward sweep.

Jews Raid Syrian Camp

The Egyptian defense ministry announced that Egyptian mobile forces occupied Beersheba, southernmost limit of the Holy Land in Biblical times, and captured two strong Jewish positions on the Palestine coast beyond Gaza. To capture Beersheba the Egyptians had to cross a belt of territory allotted to the Jewish state by the UN partition scheme.

Jewish military headquarters in Tel Aviv announced that Jewish troops carried out a successful raid across the upper Jordan and blew up a Syrian army supply camp on the Syrian side of the frontier.

Both Jews and Arabs claimed successes in the fighting immediately south of the Sea of Galilee near the juncture of the borders of Palestine, Syria and Trans-Jordan.

Jewish Planes Attack

In that region the Jewish air force made its first announced strike since the termination of the British mandate early Saturday.

Jewish planes bombed Arab positions in Samakh, at the southern end of the Sea of Galilee, and returned safely to their bases, a Tel Aviv announcement said. Earlier a Jewish informant in Haifa said counter-attacking Jewish ground

UN Picks Holy Land Mediator

LAKE SUCCESS, May 20 (AP)—Count Folke Bernadotte, of Sweden, was chosen tonight as United Nations mediator for Palestine.

Count Bernadotte, vice president of the Swedish Red Cross, was picked up by the five great powers after he had accepted a proffer of the assignment.

Wrangle Continues

His selection came after the UN Security Council wrangled in two sessions today over whether to use strong measures against warring Arabs and Jews in Palestine or adopt peaceful mediation.

The council adjourned until tomorrow without a decision.

Count Bernadotte, 53, will go to Palestine as United Nations mediator backed by the authority of the 58-nation General Assembly.

The Assembly approved last Friday the appointment of a mediator to work to obtain a peaceful adjustment in Palestine.

The Swedish count, nephew of King Gustav, acted as intermediatory between Heinrich Himmler and the Allied authorities in the closing days of World War II.

Ukraine Makes Charge

He will receive $26,000 annually, tax free, with traveling expenses.

Federal Bureau Reports Living Costs Hit New High In April

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Living costs as measured by the Bureau of Labor Statistics rose to the highest point yet during April.

In another government report, the Federal Reserve board said today that inflationary pressure will be stronger in the last half of the year than in the first half. It said price increases will be hard to forestall.

Duffy and his fellow patrolmen wore everything from overalls to old Army clothes in a mass protest. Barkley And Rayburn Get Key Posts

Demos Name Leaders For National Meet

By HERB ALTSCHULL
Associated Press Staff Writer

PHILADELPHIA, May 20—Two borderline southerners were chosen today to direct the Democratic national convention.

But Senator J. Howard McGrath, the party's national chairman, insisted the selections were not designed to appease Dixie Democrats revolting against President Truman's civil rights program.

The 16-member executive committee of the Democratic National committee chose Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky as keynoter or temporary chairman and Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas for the permanent chairmanship.

Men Are "Liberals"

A short time later, Barkley said in Washington "I appreciate the honor, which comes to me wholly unexpected."

Rayburn said he considers it "a high honor, and I shall accept the post."

McGrath termed Barkley and Rayburn "very liberal men who supported in every way the program of Presidents Roosevelt and Truman. Recognition is due both for long and valiant service to the Democratic party."

Barkley has taken no stand on the controversial civil rights program but in his capacity as minority leader in the Senate has been a staunch supporter of the administration.

Election Not Discussed

He was keynoter of the 1932 and 1936 conventions, served as permanent chairman of the 1940 conclave and in 1944 placed President Roosevelt's name in nomination.

Rayburn, former speaker of the House and now minority leader of that body, has come out against the civil rights program but has not been vigorous in his objections.

McGrath came from the two-

Dr. Condon Says He 'Lied' To Foreigner About Atom Bomb

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 20—Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the Bureau of Standards and an atomic scientist, said tonight that he has "never tried" to give away the nation's atomic energy secrets.

He admitted that a foreigner had asked him in 1944 if he were working on a uranium bomb. He said he "lied to him, saying that I know of no such project." He said that was the only occasion any person sought unauthorized atomic information.

Monopoly Temporary

Dr. Condon, who has been described by the House un-American Activities committee as "one of the weakest links in our atomic security," told the Washington Academy of Sciences, however, that he has repeatedly emphasized that the U. S. could profit from the work of foreign scientists.

He said that America's atomic secrets are "a very temporary monopoly," but added that this advantage should be retained "for what it is worth."

Dr. Condon, whose loyalty records were impounded by President Truman some ten days ago, declared that "a lot" of the current investigating is "in extremely incompetent hands" and "a waste of the taxpayers money." He said he has never had anything to conceal.

DRAFT DELAYED

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Rules committee chairman Leo E. Allen (R-Ill) said today the House will not consider the draft bill until after June 1.

Senate Rejects Move To Open Way For Hawaiian Statehood

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — The Senate today virtually killed all chances for Hawaiian statehood this year.

It refused 51 to 20, to take the House-approved bill to admit Hawaii as the 49th state away from the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs committee. The committee has kept the bill bottled up since last year.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif), who wants to get the bill passed, moved to take it from the committee. The vote came after two hours of debate.

The committee recently voted to withhold any action on the bill until senators have had a chance to visit the islands for an on-the-grounds study.

Aim Of U. S. Is To Make Atomic Age Work For Peace, HST Says

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 20 — President Truman declared today that the dominant aim of the United States is to make the atomic age work for world peace and betterment instead of "its destruction."

The President spoke extemporaneously for 11 minutes at a centennial celebration of the founding of Girard college.

He told the student body of 1,300 boys that the present age holds greater possibilities than any that has ever existed in world history.

After his brief address, scattered crowds cheered the President as he drove in an open car to the Broad street station where his special train left for Washington.

Speaking in a halting voice and often repeating expressions, he said his one thought is to achieve world peace, and to realize the full possibilities for human advancement in the scientific developments of the atomic age.

Mr. Truman's voice picked up speed as he criticized the overcrowding of public schools and teachers' low salaries. He declar-

Non-Strikers Get Threats

(By International News Service)

WATERLOO, Ia., May 20 — A spokesman for the Rath Packing company in Waterloo tonight said the plant, beset by violence in which one man was killed, "definitely will reopen tomorrow."

His announcement came in the face of reports by non-striking workers they have received anonymous telephone threats of violence if they return to their jobs.

In a radio address shortly following the announcement, Gov. Robert D. Blue, who ordered out the National Guard last night to prevent further violence, promised to use "the whole power of government" to protect the right of men to work.

Liquor Stores Closed

Blue spoke from his statehouse chambers over 15 Iowa radio stations.

He expressed the opinion that yesterday's violence was "urged on to a substantial degree by persons outside the state."

He warned that order must be restored.

A state-owned liquor store at Waverly in Bremer county to the north was ordered closed by the liquor commission, in addition to stores in Black Hawk county.

Soldiers Move In

National Guardsmen today used bayonets and rifles to keep the peace around the plant.

The soldiers moved in at dawn, and several manned machine guns mounted on a half-track as orders were given for the strikers, members of the CIO-Packinghouse Workers, to clear a 500-foot nonpicketing zone.

The guardsmen then forced the small crowd of early morning pickets back with their bayonets. There were no incidents of any importance during the day as the soldiers patroled the cleared area around the plant.

More Disorders Loom

The possibility that more disorders may develop arose, however, as the company said it would resume operations tomorrow and some non-strikers announced that they had received anonymous telephone threats.

A number of the workers indicated they planned to carry guns as a result of the threats which were the latest Waterloo develop-

Lewis Urged To Re-Open Talks

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Soft coal operators urged tonight that wage contract talks be reopened, but they and John L. Lewis still appeared firmly spit on the issue of admitting a southern group of operators.

The negotiations broke up at their outset on this issue yesterday. Lewis opposed letting the Southern Coal Producers association in, saying that in the past that group had attempted to veto contract agreements.

Tonight, all the operator groups wrote Lewis:

Mistake Claimed

"The position taken by the mine workers to exclude from the conference the Southern Coal Producers association, which represents a large part of the tonnage of the industry, was a mistake and should not have been insisted upon to the point of breaking up the conference."

As for the veto point, the letter said "no single group on the operators' side has veto power." It said there is no unit rule on matters of policy.

Lewis had said that the operators had always used the unit rules by which one negotiator could block a contract settlement.

Joseph E. Moody, president of the southern association, said that tonight's letter merely expressed management solidarity and that it pointed out that the unit rule was abandoned 18 months ago.

Scattered Showers Again Are Forecast Over South Plains

The Weatherman shook the dust off his umbrella last night and came up with another forecast for today, scattered thundershowers for Lubbock and the South Plains.

Apparently ignoring a question as to what happened to Thursday's showers which had been predicted, the man who forecasts such things, said chances for today's showers were somewhat brighter. It seems that those intended for this area were reported over in New Mexico instead.

Today's forecast of partly cloudy weather was expected to continue through Saturday with little change in temperature. Maximum temperature Thursday was 88 degrees.

Bus Strike Deadline Is Set For 10:45 P. M. Today

Drivers Walkout Threatens To Tie Up TNM&O Motor Coaches

BUS TRAVEL from and through Lubbock to South Plains towns and major centers in the Southwest today faced the threat of a walkout which will involve 72 drivers of the Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches and affect more than 2,500 persons which pass through the terminal here on the 90 daily schedules.

The walkout of drivers, which also threatens to involve all machinists, has been set for 10:45 p. m. today by J. W. Thompson, of Kansas City, representative of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, with which Lubbock Lodge 1022, BRT, the local unit of the bus drivers, is a ffiliated.

Groups Hold Meeting

Company and union representatives met with E. A. Walker, of Oklahoma, Federal Mediation Conciliation service commissioner, Thursday in an attempt to iron out differences, but union representatives said Thursday night no progress had been made.

"We are wide open to negotiations," Thompson declared last night, "we do not want to strike. We have agreed to arbitrate the issues, but nothing was accomplished at the sessions held Thursday."

Walker, company and union representatives are scheduled to meet at 9 a. m. today in a renewed effort to reach grounds for a settlement. "I hope to be able to issue a statement after the meeting," the commissioner said.

Walker said Thursday discussions were "routine."

Thompson said that at a regular meeting of the Lubbock local Wednesday night, the grievance committee composed of T. J. Armstrong, chairman, J. H. Pace, vice-chairman, and R. E. Hefner, secretary, the opinion was expressed that the "drivers hope to avoid a strike, but are sincere in their efforts to obtain more equitable pay."

Statement Is Expected

Hurley Carpenter, director of schedules and operations for the transit firm, said last night he had "no statement for the press at this time, but we may have something to say after the meeting tomorrow morning. We are keeping our powder dry."

Carpenter estimated that 2,500 persons pass through the Lubbock terminal each day. The TNM&O Coaches has direct connections with El Paso and Oklahoma City, and other schedules from the terminal tie in with other lines at Big Spring, Odessa, Amarillo, Clovis, Fort Worth and Wichita Falls.

The strike, for which Thompson said a call was issued after several months of what he called futile negotiations for wage increase, will, if it takes effect, tie up all bus operations. It was said at the bus company office here that 72 drivers would be involved on the 90 daily schedules in and out of this city.

Thompson said the machinists have reached a temporary agreement with the bus management, and are not immediately involved in the strike, but would be called out or picketed, as the case might call for, unless an agreement is reached with the drivers.

The drivers are asking an increase from five cents to 6½ cents per mile, and there were indications in some circles Thursday that the drivers would be willing to accept less than their original demand. This scale would involve drivers of three years service or more.

Negotiations on a new contract started in January, Thompson said, although he was not called into the case until February. He said a strike ballot among employes, taken in March, carried by a large majority.

Commissioner Walker called a meeting for April 21 and 22, but Thompson said the union's agreement to arbitrate was refused by the company on the grounds the drivers were being paid on a parity with others in the area.

An announcement said the stoppage, if it occurs, would involve all schedules on or after the 10:45 p. m. deadline, and that inbound buses out on a run would complete the run before tying up.

Thompson cited other rates he said were or should be comparable to those for operators here. Southwestern Greyhound, he said, pays 5.85 cents a mile. He added that Continental and Dixie Trail-

Opinion Asked On Canadian River Work

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) — The Interior department was asked today for its opinion on a proposed irrigation and flood control project for the Canadian river in the Texas Panhandle.

Rep. Worley (D-Texas), sponsor of a bill to authorize the project, said the House Public Lands committee asked the department to study the legislation and submit recommendations.

The committee may hold a hearing late next week on the legislation. It would authorize the construction of one or more dams and an irrigation system to supply water to thousands of acres.

Municipal, industrial and agricultural water users would pay part of the undetermined cost of the project. The federal government would pay for the flood control, recreation and wildlife preserve features.

Workers Expected To Vote End To Meat Strike At Most Plants

CHICAGO, May 20 (AP)—The director of the CIO meat strike tonight predicted that striking workers would vote to return to work at all struck plants except Wilson and Co.

Some 100,000 CIO Packinghouse workers voted throughout the country today and tonight at mass meetings whether to end their nine weeks old strike—on company terms.

Herbert March, UPWA strike director, said the vote would be close for returning to work at Swift, Cudahy and Armour plants but that the union was urging Wilson workers to vote no. He said the voting was being conducted company by company.

STASSEN, DEWEY RATED EVEN

Record GOP Vote Seen In Heated Oregon Test Today

(By The Associated Press)

PORTLAND, ORE., May 20.—A record Republican vote is in prospect for tomorrow's primary election on which Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen are staking much of the presidential hopes.

A good 65 of 70 per cent of Oregon's all-time high 322,490 registered GOP voters are expected to ballot, and election interest reached an unprecedented pitch today in the closing hours of the slambang primary campaign.

Political prospectors were finding little worthwhile pay dirt in their search for clues to the outcome.

Tussle Rated Even

In most qualified quarters, the Dewey-Stassen tussle for Oregon's Republican presidential preference and its 12 GOP convention votes was rated about even.

As the last presidential preferential primary before the June 21 nominating convention, the Oregon primary bears significantly upon the course which the convention may take in nominating a Republican standard bearer for 1948.

The favorable psychological impact of a primary victory tomorrow has been recognized by both Dewey and Stassen. As a result, the chips were down in a play for stakes considered to be far more important than Oregon's relatively few convention votes.

Demos Enjoy Spectacle

An Oregon win would represent an unbroken string of primary successes for the big, balding Minnesotan.

For the man with the mustache, a win would cast him in something of the role of giant-killer and the one Republican contender so far able to stop the barnstorming Minnesotan in a clear test of strength.

Oregon Democrats, meanwhile, enjoyed the Republican spectacle from the sidelines.

President Truman was unopposed for the Democratic preference and his designation was just a formality.

Post Plays Host At Annual Rodeo

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

POST, May 20—Only a few hands stayed at home to do the chores around Garza county ranches this afternoon and tonight as the county turned out almost en masse for the opening of the annual Post Stampede and Rodeo.

Streets of this little oil and cattle town, nestled under the Caprock, were thronged with people this afternoon as more than 300 riders rode in a gigantic parade opening the four-day event. Tonight more than 3,500 persons witnessed the opening performance at the rodeo grounds on the Lubbock highway northwest of Post.

Good Crowds Seen

The crowd was the largest ever to attend a rodeo in Post and larger attendance is expected for performances Friday and Saturday night and Sunday afternoon.

Everything went fine except for the contestants vying for $3,000 in prizes in the rodeo events who had tough sledding in all divisions. The bareback broncs and wild brahma bulls bucked higher and longer than usual and fortunate was the cowboy who stayed to

U. S. Fighting Arms Report New Long-Range Air Power Advances

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 20 — Two striking advances in long-range air power were notched up today by U. S. fighting arms as Russo-American "peace exchanges" locked on dead center.

The Navy disclosed that one of its P2V Neptunes—the plane that holds the 11,235-mile world's distance record—has been launched successfully from a 45,000-ton carrier.

The Air Force reported that a huge six-engine B-36 bomber had made what is probably the longest flight in history with a payload. It shuttled 8,000 miles between Texas and California, carrying a "sizeable, useful load of dummy bombs" which were dropped about midway of the flight.

Jets Are Used

The new strides in American warplane operations were announced just as some U. S. diplomats appeared about ready to write off recent Soviet peace feelers as so much humbug. The implications of today's announcements certainly were not lost on Russia's air marshals or the Kremlin's strategists.

Future Plans Kept Secret

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, May 20—W. Lee O'Daniel withdrew from Texas politics, at least temporarily, tonight and announced that he would not seek re-election to the U. S. Senate. He refused to recommend his successor, and said he has not decided what he will do for a living.

But he told a radio audience that he has not "forever and completely" eliminated himself from politics or from seeking office in the future.

And he said that if the public dislikes the candidates in the senatorial race, they should pick a man they do like and put his name on the ticket. In talking with reporters after the broadcast, he refused to discuss that statement as possibly leading to a draft movement.

To Return To Capitol

He likewise refused to discuss rumors that he will join a large milling company in an executive position.

In the speech he said:

"I, therefore, chose not to seek reelection . . . As I announce my intention to retire for the present from public service, I do it with a clear conscience".

He noted, however, that he will maintain an interest in public affairs and said he is "burning no bridges behind me or in front of me".

O'Daniel said he will return to Washington, complete his term, and return to Texas to "again rub shoulders with the common citizens".

Reviewing his record as governor and later as senator, O'Daniel said he believed he has earned the right "to come back home and take a rest and, at least for a time, devote my efforts to my own personal affairs".

In laying aside his toga, O'Daniel declared he does not intend to aid or endorse any candidate for the post he is vacating. But he told the people that if they dislike the present line-up of senatorial candidates—George Peddy, Coke Stevenson and Rep. Lyndon Johnson—they should pick a man they want and put his name on the ticket.

Speaking of his personal plans,

Austrian Peace Parley Fails

LONDON, May 20 (AP)—Official United States sources said tonight that the four-power talks on an Austrian peace treaty will be called off indefinitely.

The breakdown, which follows a temporary suspension two weeks ago, came after nearly two years of futile efforts to resolve the differences between Russia on one side and the United States, Britain and France on the other.

Russian Stands Firm

The sources said the indefinite suspension came yesterday when Samuel Reber, chief of the American delegation, met privately with M. P. Kotimov, head of the Soviet delegation, to talk over chances of reaching an Austrian accord.

Kotimov, an American informant said, told Reber he had received instructions from Moscow to stand firm in his support of Yugoslavia's territorial claims and reparations demands against Austria.

Yugoslavia has claimed approximately 800 square miles of Austrian territory in two southern provinces—mineral rich Carinthia and scenic Tyria—both of which have large numbers of Slavic residents.

BRITISH POLICIES REVIEWED

Reds' War Of Nerves Greatest Threat To Peace, Bevin Says

By HOMER JENKS
United Press Staff Writer

SCARBOROUGH, England, May 20 — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said today that the greatest danger of another world war lies in Russia's present war on nerves.

He stated flatly however that he was against "any step to carry on agressive war against Soviet Russia or any other country."

Reviews Foreign Policy

Making a broad review of British foreign policy before the 47th annual Labor party conference, Bevin also said:

1. Britain was facing the necessity of asking the United States for another loan when Secretary of State George C. Marshall came to his rescue with the European recovery program.

2. Britain is not prepared to sit idly by and see the Communists seize power in western Europe.

3. Western European union defense talks are not directed against anyone in particular but are designed to give the government the means of life or death for their people in event of attack and enable them to negotiate with others in the proper manner.

4. The Council of Foreign Ministers should agree to convene an immediate peace conference among the 15 or 16 nations which participated in the war against Japan.

5. One lift of a finger "from the place you know" would halt the civil war in Greece.

Opposes Aggressive War

"I am against any active steps to carry out aggressive war against Russia," Bevin told delegates to the conference.

"I don't believe this war is inevitable. But the danger of war being likely to arise is in the hands of Russia. It is a war of nerves Russia is conducting.

"It started against Turkey and then was carried out against Greece. It recently started in Berlin, where there was an airplane incident, and also included the unfortunate incident on the Yugoslav frontier.

"Whatever the provocation, we intend to stay in Berlin. I don't think such a war of nerves does any good to peace. I think those who started it might stop it."

Japanese Dog Lovers Arrange To Replace Famous Statue

TOKYO, May 20. (AP)—Dog lovers have arranged for a new statue of Hachiko, Japan's most famous dog.

Hachiko became famous in the '20s. Each night he met his master at the bucy Shibuya railway station here. When the master died, Hachiko did not understand. Nightly he met the commuter trains for 11 years looking for his master.

After he died in 1934, a statue was raised by commuters to his memory. They grew accustomed to meet "in front of Hachiko."

During the war the statue was melted down for the army. People made much ado over Hachiko going to war and a farewell ceremony was held.

Now they are bringing him back.

Modern Improvements In Television And Radar Shown At Dedication Of Laboratory

NUTLEY, N. J., May 20 (INS)—Trans-continental and inter-hemispheric television transmission, by means of microwaves, are within reaching distance of science, it was declared today at the dedication of one of the world's oddest telecommunications laboratories.

An aluminum-sheathed tower, rising more than 300 feet in the sky above flat, suburban Nutley, was unveiled by the Federal Telecommunication laboratories, research unit of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Possibilities Are Studied

In what amounts to its top three floors is housed equipment which, if placed in similar towers spaced at strategic intervals across lands and seas, would perhaps enable a television set owner in New York to see General MacArthur reviewing his troops in Tokyo. Or they might permit Californians (as well as all others) to bring Moscow's Red Square into their living rooms.

The vast and still almost virginal spectrum of microwaves holds the key to the international expansion of television, electronics authorities said.

They explained that spaced towers, which catch a fading video wave, strengthen it and send it along to the next tower, will be the accepted method of such work, rather than the use of the costly coaxial cable which requires continuous patrol and booster stations every seven or eight miles.

New Developments Shown

Incredible additional gear in the modernistic tower, all of it on display for visiting scientists and reporters, included a remarkable new development in radar. This was a device which enables a plane to measure its distance from a similar tower to the accuracy of one-tenth of a mile.

Also displayed was a compact "pulse-time" transmitter which sends 24 separate transmissions on the same waveband at the same time, and an improved radiophone service for automobiles.

The new radar development is called "two color radar" and is just that. A small sending device on approaching planes shows up as a colored light on the radar screen.

Hereafter, planes stacked up on a fog-blanketed landing field, will be easily located and contacted by the control tower. The collision hazard will decrease and long delays in landing eliminated, for the tower can readily spot the circling plane which is in the best position to come in for a landing and give it the signal to let down.

As for its war uses, friendly planes will be spotted by their color; enemy planes by their lack of color—though neither are visible to the human eye without that electronic searchlight known as radar.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

"AREN'T people funny? If you tell a man that there are 270 million stars in the universe he'll believe you—but if a sign says "Fresh Paint" the same man has to make a personal investigation."

ON BEING "TWO-FACED"

ONE face is enough for a woman and when she is two-faced she doesn't get along very well. An honest answer to these questions will give you a good idea if you have two faces—and are putting the worst one forward.

Do you rave over how well a friend looks and then say to another friend, "Isn't it a shame the way Dora has let herself get fat?"

Do you invite people to your home and then pick them apart to your husband the minute the door is closed or the next day when you are having a cup of coffee with a friend?

Do you pretend to be a friend of someone you actually dislike?

Do you agree with the shocked disapproval expressed by one friend of another when you honestly think his actions are justified?

Do you say you are tolerant and yet blame an individual's faults on his race?

DO you do social welfare work and yet refuse to give your maid any time off?

Do you listen sympathetically to a friend's troubles and then tell other people what a dope she was for getting into such a mess?

Do you pretend around certain people that you do not drink and think it is terrible—when you do drink?

Do you tell two people who are disagreeing that you think each of them is exactly right?

Do you pretend to be a friend of a woman and say such things to her husband as "I've never seen your wife look so nice. That weight is becoming to her?"

If you have more than two "Yes" answers—it might be time to start getting rid of that second face.

CONFUSED SISTERS

WHEN two persons constantly are mistaken one for the other, there may come a time when they are a trifle confused about their own faces and names. At least this is the case with two Lubbock sisters, Mrs. Sam G. Dunn and Mrs. Chas. A. Guy, who several years ago grew accustomed to saying, "No, I'm not Mrs. Dunn, I'm Mrs. Guy," or vice versa, almost any time they appeared in public.

Although the sisters shop in Lubbock stores together and alone and have been doing so for 18 years, they still are confused by merchants. Instead of conferences with the credit office, they go over their bills each month, setting the charges right and settling their differences.

Their husbands, too, are quite used to the confusion that has arisen over their wives' similarity in looks. At receptions or other gatherings they attend together, if the sisters are separated or if one is escorted about the room by her brother-in-law, guests, other than their intimate friends, usually get them mixed up, trying to place them by their husbands.

SINCE the mixup has never been serious enough to cause undue alarm, Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Guy years ago reconciled themselves that the mistake in identities was something to accept. At least, they said, they and their families knew the difference. But lately, even the sisters have begun to wonder.

Several weeks ago, Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Guy planned to meet at the perfume counter in a Lubbock department store. The latter arrived first and, after several minutes wait, turned around to see a face like her own.

"Well," she asked," how long have you been standing there?"

When there was no answer, Mrs. Guy discovered she had been conversing with her image in a mirror. More than somewhat embarassed, she glanced hastily around to see if anyone had seen her.

THE INCIDENT was humorous to Mrs. Dunn but her sister saw the tables turned this week when they were shopping in a jewelry store for commencement gifts.

After making her purchase, Mrs. Dunn asked if she might have a check.

"Yes," said the clerk, "You are Mrs. Stiles, aren't you?"

"No," answered Mrs. Dunn, "I'm Mrs. Guy." Then a moment later, she explained, blushing, "I mean I am Mrs. Dunn."

And Mrs. Guy, glancing from her sister's red face to the slightly startled clerk, got her return laugh.

New Bar Harbor Is Rebuilt In Maine From Ruins Of Fire

BAR HARBOR, Me., May 20 (U.P.)—Down-east brawn and western brains have combined to build a new Bar Harbor for the rich and famous from the ruins of a $10,000,000 fire which swept this summer play-ground last October.

The provincial-minded Yankees and the "furriners" pitched in to combine their talents hardly before the last ember was snuffed out.

Grimly, townsmen and a group of professional municipal planners from St. Louis set about restoring a town that was one-sixth destroyed. A score of new homes were started while nearly two feet of snow covered the ground.

Now Bar Harbor is preparing for its biggest season in 50 years.

Short of Housing

Only the housing shortage remains unsolved. For the expected 15,000 daily visitors this summer, the town has 17 per cent less housing than last year.

Officials are recording every available room. Home owners with spare rooms and large summer estates, some closed since pre-war days, will be enlisted in the drive for space for vacationists.

The planners from St. Louis have helped to modernize building codes and zoning regulations. Traffic problems have been corrected by the widening of streets.

Plans for a waterfront hotel, long sought by vacationists and townsfolk alike, are in the blueprint stage.

Forrests Cleared

Forrests surrounding the resort have been cleared of charred trees which marred scenic views after the fire. The scars are softened or covered by spring grass.

Transportation no longer is a problem with streets, trails and highways clear of debris. Trains run on schedule once more.

Though vast sections of Acadia National Park were swept by the fire, that recreational area has reopened to tourists.

Princess Elizabeth Defended Against Frivolity Charges

LONDON, May 20. (AP)—Responsible court sources defended Princess Elizabeth today against Scottish churchmen's criticism.

[illegible] complained that she went to horse races, a theatre and night club last Sunday in Paris. Court sources said the rebukes were unjustified, unfair and unmindful of continental amenities.

Buckingham palace, in traditional policy, had "nothing to say" officially. Commenting on their own, however, court sources said the criticisms" overlook the fact that the princess and her husband were doing in Paris what the Parisians do—and it was all perfectly harmless."

The general assembly of the free church of Scotland and the Scottish association of the Lord's Day Observance society complained in messages yesterday to Prime Minister Attlee that the heiress—apparent to the throne and her consort, Prince E. Philip, set a frivolous example to British youth by devoting so much of Sunday to light amusements.

Prospective Buyers Of Couple's Home Get Grim Warning

OVERLAND, Mo., May 20 (INS)—An Overland couple who plan to sell their home believe in telling all prospective buyers the truth about the building.

A sign posted today in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Eastman reads:

"For sale—Open for inspection. Basement floor and walls cracked. Doors won't close. Furnace smokes. Garage leans. Porches falling off. House only four months old. Any bids will receive careful consideration."

Eastman, who is a partially-disabled veteran of both wars, declared he bought the house last January for $8,300. He received a $6,000 FHA loan on the property.

He said he and his wife and three children moved in shortly before the purchase.

The for sale sign also gives the name of the firm which built the house and the real estate firm which handled the sale.

The builder's attorney, while not denying any of the Eastmans' complaints, said they insisted on having the house built on filled ground, against the contractor's recommendations.

High School Students In City Jobs To Forget Gambling Raid

ZANESVILLE, O., May 20 (U.P.)—Three high school students who took over municipal jobs on a nominal basis for one day yesterday agreed today to forget about the surprise gambling raids they conducted.

Without telling regular city officials of their plans, the youngsters took a police cruiser and staged three raids, confiscating a jar of gambling slips, a poll-tab board, and breaking up a poker game.

The real police chief, Clifford H. Courtney, caught up with them after the third raid and stopped any further operations. Jack Harker, student police chief; Aubrey Sibbring, student mayor; and Frank Shurtz jr., student solicitor, did not file charges, but declared they had the authority to do so if they desired.

Three other students planned an attempt to condemn their school building as a fire trap. They were Charles Cooper, student fire chief; Henry Able, student city auditor, and John Mohtgomery, student safety director.

They decided to drop the idea, however, after a hasty conference with superintendent of schools Donald Summers and the principal of the school, Ralph Stortz.

AUSTIN PIONEER DIES

AUSTIN, May 20 (U.P.)—Ewell Nalle, 70, former Austin postmaster, died at a hospital here today following a long illness. Nalle built a six-story office building and owned a number of other downtown business properties. A native of Austin, he was an engineering graduate of Cornell in 1901. He was a member of one of Austin's oldest families.

House Foreign Aid Group Urges Western European Defense Setup

WASHINGTON, May 20 (INS) —The House Foreign Aid committee today urged American adherence to a Western European defensive alliance to guarantee overseas economic recovery under the Marshall Plan.

In a 500-thousand-word report summarizing a year's study of the world wide recovery problem, the committee took a strong position in support of current congressional moves to provide political and military backing for nations receiving American economic aid.

Defense Pact Needed

Set up originally to advise the House on the Marshall plan proposals, the committee is headed by Rep. Eaton (R) N. J., witn Rep. Herter (R) Mass., as vice chairman, and has been generally identified as the "Herter committee."

Pointing to the absence of a common Western European defense system as a retarding factor in efforts to achieve economic unification, the committee emphasized the need for political tranquility and military security to speed recovery, and declared:

"These considerations would argue for the prime necessity of a common defense pact, underwritten by the United States, as the basic condition for a realistic approach to Western European union.

Hailing the five power Brussels defense treaty as an essential support for the European economic organization, the committee said:

"This is a development which should be given every encouragement by the United States, since it is the political nucleus for Western Europe, and is a necessary safeguard against totalitarian aggression both from within and without."

Houston Increases Profits Since Open Gambling Charge

HOUSTON, May 20 (U.P.) — The city of Houston today counted a profit of almost $2,000 since councilman Edwin Bailey charged "wide open" gambling was going on in the city.

In less than three weeks, 19 persons charged with gaming have forfeited $50 bonds each rather than face trial in corporation court.

Thirteen other $50 bonds have several days to run, but police doubted that those charged would go to court to get their money back.

The bonds are usually made by the owners of establishments where bets are made, and they frequently would rather lose the money than go to court and do a lot of explaining, police said.

Ben Franklin Preferred Sense Over Sound For Philadelphia

FRANKLIN, Mass, May 20. (U.P.) —This first town to be named for Benjamin Franklin is observing its 170th anniversary this year.

Still in excellent condition at the town library are 92 of the 116 books donated by the great Philadelphian.

Franklin was in France in 1778 when the town was incorporated and a friend wrote him that a bell for the church steeple would be an excellent gift.

"Sense is preferable to sound," Franklin wrote back. He said he would present the new town with books for its library. He asked his friend to select volumes "to about the value of 25 pounds."

The books, he said, should be those "most proper to inculcate principles of sound religion and just government."

PROMINENT TEXAS FARMER WANTS FRIENDS TO KNOW HOW RETONGA AIDED HIM

"Every Bite I Ate Seemed To Turn Against Me," States Mr. Lee McClung, Who Found Retonga To Be Everything Claimed For It. Tells Of His Case.

"When I find something good, I like for my friends to know about it, and that's the way I feel about Retonga," says Mr. Lee McClung, prominent Hill County farmer who lives at 101 Smith St., Hillsboro, Texas, in joining the thousands who have praised this famous gastric tonic in strong public statements. Mr. McClung gratefully states:

"Every bite of food I ate seemed to turn against me and form terrific gas pressure in my stomach. I suffered tortures from sharp, cutting pains in the pit of my stomach and at times it would seem to swell up as tight as a drum. At night it seemed to be worse and at times I thought the pressure would cut off my breath. I was on edge most of the time and I couldn't seem to get a good night's sleep. In the mornings I had to drag myself out of bed.

"I certainly found Retonga to be everything claimed for it and I'm thankful for the prompt relief it gave me. I can eat anything I want to now and not have to worry about that gas forming on my stomach. Once more I know what a good night's sleep can mean to a fellow, and I don't feel on edge like I did. I'm more than glad to recommend Retonga to anyone suffering as I did."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and constipation. The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal, combined with Vitamin B-1. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores. Adv

INSIDE STORY OF NEW DEAL'S NO. 2 MAN TOLD

Harry Hopkins' Ill Health Blocked FDR's Plan To Run Iowan For President In 1940, Author Reveals

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 20—The late Harry L. Hopkins considered himself President Roosevelt's first choice for the presidential race in 1940—before FDR decided to run for his third term.

This was revealed tonight in the first of a series of articles appearing in Collier's weekly, and written by Robert E. Sherwood, author and dramatist, on the basis of Hopkins' hitherto unpublished secret papers.

Lived At White House

Hopkins was the New Deal's unofficial No. 2 executive for many years, and for a time lived with his wife at the White House.

Sherwood, in his first article, writes that in an "extraordinary private conversation" in the White House in the spring of 1938, Roosevelt vetoed seven potential Democratic presidential candidates and told Hopkins that he (Hopkins) would be elected.

Roosevelt stated his opposition to the following candidates:

Cordell Hull, Henry A. Wallace, James A. Farley, Harold Ickes, Paul McNutt, Frank Murphy (then governor of Michigan), and George Earle (then governor of Pennsylvania.)

"The only apparent reasons noted (in Hopkins' personal notes) were that Ickes was too combative and Hull too old," Sherwood says.

Farley Considered Dangerous

"Roosevelt considered Farley 'clearly the most dangerous' of the candidates. Roosevelt objected to Farley on two main counts: His opposition to the New Deal and his attitude toward foreign affairs."

According to Sherwood, the Hopkins' notes show that Roosevelt, in the White House conference, reviewed Hopkins' political liabilities.

They were namely, that he had been divorced and that his health was bad—but FDR nevertheless ended by expressing the "belief that Hopkins would be elected and would do the best job as president of any of those in the running."

Roosevelt appointed Hopkins secretary of commerce on Christmas eve, 1938, as part of his reported strategy to get Hopkins elected.

But during the next year and a half, a near - fatal illness made it impossible for Hopkins to run for the presidency — even "drained him of all personal ambition," Sherwood writes. He adds:

Hopkins Had FDR's Help

"There is no question that Roosevelt did all he could—and that was a very great deal — to publicize Hopkins.

"When the President was photographed at a baseball park or on the back platform of a train or on a fishing cruise, he had Hopkins at his elbow. This was not by accident.

"In September, 1938, at the time of the Munich crisis, when the storm clouds were heavy over Europe, Hopkins was on the train with Roosevelt in Minneapolis listening to a broadcast of a speech by Adolf Hitler in Nuernberg.

"Roosevelt, who understood German, knew the true meaning of these hysterical threats. He sent Hopkins to the west coast to make a secret survey of the aircraft factories to build warplanes."

FDR Expected War

Years later, according to Sherwood, Hopkins wrote:

"The president was sure then that we were going to get into war and he believed that air power would win it."

Hopkins always made it "his job (and) . . . his religion to find what it was that Roosevelt really wanted," Sherwood says, "and then to see to it that neither hell nor high water, not even possible vacillation by Roosevelt himself, blocked its achievement."

"Harry is the perfect ambassador for my purposes," Sherwood quotes Roosevelt as saying. "He doesn't even know the meaning of the word 'protocol.". . . When he's talking to some foreign dignitary, he knows how to slump back in his chair and put his feet on the conference table and say, 'Oh, yeah?'"

In July, 1941, (a month after Hitler's assault on the Soviet Union), Hopkins first met and conferred with Stalin in Moscow and established a working relationship between Roosevelt and Stalin.

40 Crates of Documents

Collier's, in an editorial note, says it presents the articles "with a conviction that this is the most important document of its kind that has been or will be produced.

Hopkins started the job before he died, after which Sherwood was given 40 crates of official documents, memoranda and Hopkins' personal notes.

Sherwood was overseas director of OWI during the war and a colleague of Hopkins in Roosevelt's unofficial cabinet. He notes that Hopkins was a "studiously unsuave and often intolerant and tactless reformer," and that he was "generally regarded as a sinister figure, a backstairs intriguer, an Iowan's combination of Machiavelli and Rasputin."

Youth Seeks Job On Ranch Since Return From Brazil

Roger Bradley, 17, has had his fill of life in Rio, the coffee plantations and the rest, and now thinks he'd like to work as a ranch hand on the South Plains.

He took the money he had saved in three years of chauffering for the American owner of a large plantation, boarded the SS Cuba and returned to the States.

Wednesday night he landed in Lubbock, broke, but with hopes of employment, he told J. J. Moore, of Moore's Bonded patrol, who got him a room. Like most of the rest of those who never saw the Southwest before, he would rather have boots and spurs and big hat and a job on a ranch.

Young Bradley said his father died in Buffalo, N. Y., when he was a few months old. He and his mother moved to Miami, Fla. A few weeks after the youngster—he was 14 then—had worked his way to Rio as cabin boy on a tramp steamer, his mother died. He's been alone with his wanderlust since then, he said.

Mistaken Identity May Free Prisoner

PHILADELPHIA, May 20 (AP)—A case of mistaken identity may free 35-year old Howard Smith from Holmesburg prison.

Smith has served two years on a larseny charge. But yesterday, Mrs. Areeda Woodward faced him in police court and said:

"I am sorry but I made a mistake when I identified you as one of the men who took my money."

It was on the identification of Mrs. Woodward that Smith and Edward Bryant were convicted of tricking the woman out of $112 in a confidence game.

Smith denied the charges but received no support from Bryant. Before Bryant's recent death in prison he gave Smith the nickname and description of his accomplice.

The police permitted Smith to search the records but he found no trace of the man.

Last month in Holmesburg prison, Smith spotted 42-year old Foy Faison in the exercise yard. Faison was serving time on a separate larceny charge.

County prison agent Charles M. Gibbs said Smith raised such a racket they took both of them to city hall. There Mrs. Woodward identified Faison as the man who had tricked her.

Pending trial of Faison both men were returned to prison but Gibbs said:

"We're going to take steps immediately to have Smith freed. It is clearly a case of mistaken identity.

Peaceful California Lake Is Used As Torpedo Testing Ground

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20 (U.P.)—There's a spot in California where more torpedoes were launched in peaceful waters than were sent against the Japanese during World War II by our carrier torpedo planes.

The Navy Bureau of Ordnance here said the spot is a small lake, 20 miles from Pasadena, in the Sierra Madre Mountains. The Navy revealed that since 1943 more than 3,000 underwater missiles have been fired in the eight-mile man-made lake.

The Navy is conducting tests to aid future research on the lake.

Pioneers Drop Hubbers In Twin Bill

Clovis Takes First Game, 10-6; Pound Locals, 9 To 3, In Second

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

Fate dealt the Lubbock Hubbers two bad hands at Rosenthal Field last night and the home club went down to defeat in both ends of a doubleheader with the Clovis Pioneers, the tail enders winning the first game 10-6 and the second, 9-3.

It was a great night for the pitchers, the Clovis pitchers, Hal Smith letting the Hubbers down on eight hits in the first game and Lefty George Matthews almost duplicating with a nine-hitter in the second.

It was Smith's third win of the season and two of them have been at the expense of the Hubbers. He won the six-inning opener at Rosenthal Field and chalked up one other triumph against five losses.

Matthews, who is turning into one of the better chuckers in the loop, won his seventh game of the year last night against only two defeats.

Hubbers Lose Ground

The Hubbers lost only half a game to Borger in the race for the pennant, despite the twin loss, Pampa beating Borger 13-12, and sending the Hubbers into third place again. Meanwhile, Amarillo beat Abilene twice, only to have Albuquerque beat Lamesa.

The Hubbers took a 3-0 lead in the first game and it seemed as though they might be on their way to a second victory over Clovis. They held Clovis scoreless for the first three innings to hold their opponents runless for 12 frames. Then the dam broke.

CLOVIS AGAIN TONIGHT

The Clovis Pioneers conclude their four-game stint with the Lubbock Hubbers here tonight with a single game starting at 8:15 p. m. Manager Jackie Sullivan said that Cotton Rosenhall would go the mound in an effort to put the home club back on the win trail.

Ray Bauers led off with a single to center, but Ray Sanders struck out and Wilcy Moore flied out to make things look normal. Gene Machado kept the rally going with a single to center and Hal Hutchinson drew his second base on balls Smith drilled a single into center to score both Machado and Baures. Manager John Bottarni rifled a drive to the same spot scoring Hutchinson. Eddit McGuire walked. Chuck Novotney cleared the sacks with a homer over the left centerfield wall, hitting a one and nothing pitch.

Pioneers Add Two

The rally continued with Bauers getting his second single of the inning, but Sanders ended it by grounding out.

As it turned out, that was enough. The Pioneers added two more in the fifth, while the Hubbers came back with three.

In that inning, Jackie Sullivan beat out a bunt and went to second when Virgil Richardson walked. Floyd Walker, rookie catcher, slammed a one and one pitch over the centerfield wall to clear the bases and end the Hubber scoring for the game.

The Pioneers didn't wait so long in the second game. The fans had hardly settled in their seats for the second tilt when Bottarini picked out a Ramsey fast ball and sent it over the netting in left field. McGuire grounded out, but Novotney tripled to right center and, after Bauers looked at a called third strike, Sanders walked and Wilcy Moore scored Novotney with a single.

Hubs Score Runs

The visitors added four more in the second on four hits, a hit batter, an error on a ground ball to rightfield and a fly to center.

The Hubbers scored their only runs in the fourth. Frank McAlexander beat out a drag bunt and Charley Scarborough rifled a drive into left field. Ramsey struck out and Jackie Wilcox beat out a bunt to load the bases. Chick Fowler flied out, but Jackie Sullivan singled to score two runs and Richardson followed with a bingle to count another.

Clovis picked up two runs in the fifth and added another in the sixth, although they were superfluous.

Stan Musial Collects Four Hits

Slugging Cardinals Blast Dodgers, 13-4

BROOKLYN, May 20 (AP)—Stan Musial continued to pickle Brooklyn pitching today as the St. Louis Cardinals romped to a 13-4 victory over the Dodgers.

Musial, who banged out five hits Wednesday night against the Brooks, collected four today — a homer, two doubles and a single—as the Red Birds rapped three Dodger pitchers for 14 bingles.

The win was the league-leading Cardinals' sixth straight and their fourth in as many meetings over the Dodgers.

For four innings the game was a pitcher's duel between Howie with the score tied at 1-1, the Cards jumped on Hatten for six runs.

REDS BEAT GIANTS

NEW YORK, May 20 (INS) — Howard Fox, rookie Cincinnati pitcher who was knocked out of the box in his first four starts, held the slugging New York Giants to six hits today. He beat them 3 to 1 as the Reds salvaged the last game of the three-game series.

Dave Koslo was the losing pitcher.

The Giants, in second place in the National league, now trail the pace-setting St. Louis Cardinals by 2 ½ games.

CHICUBS EDGE PHILS

PHILADELPHIA, May 20 (INS) The Chicago Cubs defeated the Phillies 5 to 3 today thanks to a first-inning collision which gave the Cubs three runs.

When Bill Nicholson lifted a short fly to left in the first frame with two runners on base, Eddie Miller and Johnny Blatnik ran into each other while chasing the ball.

Nicholson got a freak triple out of it, and before the inning was over, the Cubs had three runs and enough to give them the margin of triumph.

Tigers Trounce Athletics, 4-2

DETROIT, May 20. (AP) — The faltering Philadelphia Athletics fell dangerously near third place in the American league today as the Detroit Tigers shellacked three Philadelphia pitchers for 15 blows, taking the opener of a three-game series 4 to 2.

Freddie Hutchinson, talented Detroit righthander, rationed the A's to five hits, one of them Sam Chapman's two-run homer, as Philadelphia dropped its third straight game, retaining a narrow half-game second place edge over the New York Yankees.

Everybody in the Tiger lineup but Eddie Mayo hit safely at least once as the Macks paraded Carl Scheib, Bob Savage and Charles Harris, all righthanders, to the mound.

And though the Tigers had at least one hit in every inning, the run came hard.

YANKS POUND CHISOX

CHICAGO, May 20. (INS)—The New York Yankees toured the Chicago White Sox with gun and camera today as Joe DiMaggio led the 22-hit, 13 to 2 Yankee triumph by batting in six runs on a single, a double, a triple and two home runs.

The White Sox, losers of 19 games in 23 starts, today demonstrated how to give baseball back to the Indians without playing Cleveland. They managed to needle Vic Raschi for seven hits, including a Taft Wright homer, but in dropping the 13th game of their last 14 starts they were never in it after DiMaggio homered with two aboard in the top of the first.

Johnny Lindell had a homer with one on for the Yanks in the top of the ninth, this one struck against the remnants of a White Sox pitching parade which started with Orval Grove, the loser.

CLEVELAND, May 20. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians were aided by a pair of wild southpaw hurlers tonight as they collected 18 bases on balls while defeating the Boston Red Sox 13 to 4 before 43,158.

The total free passes obtained by the Tribesmen from pitchers Mickey Harris and Maurice McDermott tied the American league record set by the Detroit Tigers on May 9, 1916.

Two Texas Tech Track Stars To Enter Tryouts

Charley Reynolds, Border Conference 100-yard dash champion and captain of the 1948 Texas Tech track squad, and Ed Clepper, leading scorer for the season on the Red Raider squad, will try out for the United States' Olympic track team in trials at San Antonio in July.

Texas Tech officials announced yesterday that both men had been invited to attend the trials and to compete for places on the Olympic squad.

Reynolds Dash Specialist

Reynolds, a junior from Odessa, turned in several good marks in the century event during the season and anchored the mile relay team. He also competed in the 220-yard dash, but was nosed out at the Border loop's annual meet, where he was defending both the 100 and 220 marks.

Clepper was the backbone of the Tech squad, scoring repeatedly in the high jump, broad jump, high hurdles and low hurdles. Clepper tied for the high jump at the Border Conference meet and turned in other place victories.

Clepper High Scorer

The Mobeetie junior led the Raider track squad with 64 7/12 points for the season, followed by Reynolds with 42½ points and Charles Pinnell, freshman from Andrews, with 37½ points.

Reynolds will run the 100-yard dash at San Antonio and Clepper will compete in the high jump.

Other point makers for the Tech track team during the years were Ernest Hawkins, 23¾; Costin Bufkin, 17¾; Seth Murphey, 18; Joe Wilson, 13¼; James Cruser, 11; Edgar Hawkins, 10; James Mullins, 7; Harold Barber, 4; Gerald Davis, 4; Ed Wilson, 3; Walter Hobgood, 3; Henry Briscoe, 2; Ike Stuver, 2.

Blind Athlete Will Enter Golf, Bowling Meets Next Month

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 20 (U.P.)—Bob Anderson is going to be a busy man next month.

The former U. S. champion blind golfer will participate in a four-way blind championship golf meet in San Antonio, Texas, June 5-6. Two days before the golf tournament, he will defend his national bowling championship for the blind.

In the links tourney, Anderson will be pitted against Charlie Boswell, Birmingham, Ala., who annexed Anderson's title. Marvin Shannon of Fort Worth is the only other player also announced.

Borger Nine Drops Plainview, 8 To 3

BORGER, May 20 (Special)—Borger's surging Bulldogs tallied eight runs on eight hits and six Plainview errors to defeat the South Plains nine, 8-3, in a District 1-AA tilt here tonight.

The Plainview schoolboys tallied two runs in the first frame, but Borger whittled at the lead with one-run markers in the first, second and third stanzas to go into the lead. A four-run outburst in the sixth inning clinched the victory.

The linescore:

SHIPPERS BLANK BUFFS

BEAUMONT, May 20 (AP)—Brilliant Cary Ray fired a three-hitter at the Houston Buffs to salvage the finale for the Beaumont Exporters, 3-0 here tonight. For six frames, the slight built righthander with the tricky changeup had a no-hitter. But Roy Huff burst the bubble in the seventh when he looped a bingle behind second baseman Wayne Tucker.

Sprint Stars Will Tangle In Coliseum Relays Today

LOS ANGELES, May 20 (INS)—The nation's track and field spotlight centers on Los Angeles tomorrow for the eighth annual Coliseum Relays, an invitational affair to which all of the top American Olympic team prospects have been invited.

The big meet is to be held in the Los Angeles Memorial coliseum, huge oval which was built expressly for the tenth Olympiad in 1932. It is expected to draw a crowd of 70,000, the largest western track turnout since that tenth Olympiad.

Star event of what is certain to be an outstanding day will be the 100-meter dash. Three of the current world's fastest humans will vie in that race and in the course of their vying may set a new world mark of the 100 meters.

The three are USC's Mel Patton, who set a new unofficial world record of 9.3 for the 100 yards in Fresno last week; Panamanian Lloyd LaBeach, who finished only a foot behind Patton, and the Australian star, John Treolar, who has clipped off the dash repeatedly in 9.5 on a grass runway.

Treolar, stopping in this country en route to London, is making his first American appearance and fans are eager to see what he can, and will, do on a cinger path.

Two other speedsters in the race will be Barney Elwell of Penn State and Charlie Parker of Texas.

LaBeach Is Favored

The 100 meters are LaBeach's best event and the forecasters expect him to edge out Patton by a foot or two in tomorrow's competition.

Probably second in interest will be the 400 meters, featuring the fast stepping of Jamaican Herb McKenley. McKenley holds the record—46.2—for the 440 yards. He is rapidly getting back into shape, but his 36.9 in Denver last week was far short of his record-breaking best.

Since it is an Olympic year, the metric system followed in the Olympics is being used in all of tomorrow's events.

Dukes Trample Lamesans, 12-3

LAMESA, May 20 (Special) — Albuquerque's hard-hitting Dukes pounded three Lamesa hurlers for nine hits here tonight to coast to an easy 12-3 triumph over the Loboes.

The New Mexico nine went ahead in the first stanza when big Ron Bowen blasted out a home run with Frank Gosney on base, then added five more tallies in a wild fifth frame.

Frank Shone, who plays the outfield for the Dukes when he is not hurling, went the route for the Albuquerque crew, giving up nine safeties while striking out nine batters and issuing six free passes to first.

Calien McPike, making his first appearance with the Lamesans this year, was tabbed with the defeat.

Sunbeamers And Coffeemen Win Softball Tilts

League-leading Bluebonnet Sunbeam and lowly Golden Light Coffee chalked up wins in South Plains Softball loop tilts Thursday night at Jumbo Webster field, with the Sunbeamers blanking Baldridge Bakery, 4-0, and the Coffeemen nosing out Thomas Jewelers, 4-2.

The Sunbeamers, who have won nine of their 10 starts in conference play, coasted to the impressive win behind the four-hit hurling of baffling Jackie Neel. It was an even battle until the fourth frame, but then Willis James connected for a double and Floyd Lawhorn slammed a round-tripper over the left field wall to ice the triumph.

Carr Bests Holder

The Sunbeamers added two more runs in the sixth when Willis again led off with a double, Lawhorn smashed a two-baser and Claude Spears singled to center.

The nightcap featured one of the most exciting games played at the local field this season, as Dewey Carr bested Wee Willie Holder in a hurling duel. Thomas held a one-run lead until the fifth, when the Coffeemen capitalized on a hit, a walk and four Thomas errors to push across four tallies.

Alexander Leads Field

Penna, Snead Trail Leader

ST. LOUIS, May 20 (INS) — Twenty-nine year old Skip Alexander, playing in his first P.G.A. championship tourney, tore seven strokes off par today to break one record, tie another, and become the man to beat when match play starts tomorrow.

Faced with a competitive course record of 65 set this very same afternoon by swart little Toney Penna, Alexander stalked the steppes of Norwood Hills like a hunter and produced a 64, for the 36-hole qualifying total of 134 strokes. This latter sum tied the P.G.A. qualifying record set by defending champion Jim Ferrier two years ago.

Tony Penna Trails

Penna was only a stroke behind at 135, and it was a crazy bit of golfing fate, one they'll tell again and again, that both Penna and Alexander went one over par on the final hole!

All scores of 149 or better qualified their owners to join Ferrier in the 64-man first round of elimination play which starts tomorrow morning. Six players shot 150, and there were four remaining places available, so the six went striding off into the gloaming on a sudden-death playoff round designed to fix things ere nightfall.

Most of the better players didn't have to worry. Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret turned in identical 68-68—136's to tie for third behind Alexander and Penna, and Ben Hogan, who tied with Bob Hamilton for the first round lead yesterday with a 66, went one over today with a 72 but still was in there at 138. Hamilton had a 73 for the 36-hole count of 139.

Sarazen In Group

At 140 were Lloyd Mangrum, Porky Oliver, Ky Laffoon, Chick Harbert and Herman Keiser, able craftsmen all. There were four other par-beaters, all with 141's—Lawson Little, George Fazio, Pete Cooper, and three-time P.G.A. winner Gene Sarazen.

Sarazen it was who eliminated Snead in the second round of P.G.A. man-for-man stuff last year, but he said afterwards it was an "awful journey for an old man like me"—he's 46.

He faces the same journey tomorrow. After the 18-hole first round, the 32 survivors play an afternoon second round of 18 holes, which leaves 16 survivors for third-round warfare Saturday, at 36 holes.

Sunday there will be the eight-man quarter-finals, Monday the semi's, and Tuesday the 36-hole finale between the upper and lower bracket survivors.

Alexander's bogey on the 18th hole today was the only one of a round that otherwise saw him score eight birdies and nine pars. On the 18th, the Mid-Pines, N. C., pro drove off the fairway into a rut to the left and his second went into a trap near the green. His "out" was 16 feet past the pin and he took two putts for a bogey 5.

BRITISH PROSPECTS 'GLUM'

United States Golf Team Opens Defense Of Curtis Cup Today

BIRKDALE, England, May 20 (AP)—A highly respected U. S. women's golf team begins the defense of the Curtis Cup tomorrow, heavily favored to retain the trophy against the challenge of Great Britain.

Glum was the word for British golf experts tonight as they surveyed the lineups of the teams that tee off at 1:30 p. m., GMT, (8:30 a. m. EST) in three foursome matches.

Here are the foes:

Louise Suggs of Atlanta, Ga., and Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., vs. Jean Donald of Scotland and Jacqueline Gordon of England.

Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta and Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Merion, Pa., vs. Philomena Garvey of Ireland and Mrs. Zara Bolton of England.

Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N. C., and Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles vs. Maureen Ruttle of England and Mrs. Val Reddan of Ireland.

Mrs. Vare, captain of the American team and only invader with experience in the tricky English winds, picked strong pairs for the two-ball foursomes.

Each pair shoots one ball, hitting it alternately. Mrs. Vare excluded Polly Riley, 22-year-old Fort Worth, Tex., insurance saleswoman, who has been playing erratically.

Illinois Slated To Clash With Indiana In Big Nine Tilt Today

CHICAGO, May 20 (INS)—Illinois' drive towards another Western conference baseball crown puts tomorrow's Big Nine spotlight on Champaign, Ill., where Illini southpaw ace Marv Rotblatt seeks his 12th straight victory against fence-busting Indiana.

It'll be the first game of a weekend set between the Illini, riding atop the standings with seven wins in eight conference games, and Indiana's Hoosiers, who have the loop's two leading hitters in Shortstop Willard Litz and Left Fielder Bill Stearman.

Second place Michigan plays at the University of Detroit in a non-conference game tomorrow, then travels on to play at Western Michigan Saturday in another non-league argument. Conference weekenders will be Iowa at Ohio State, Minnesota at Purdue and Wisconsin at Northwestern.

It is estimated that about 3,000 Negroes served in the American revolutionary armies.

Colleges Quit New Circuit

KINGSVILLE, Tex., May 20 (AP)—Only three colleges remain in the athletic division of the newly-formed Pioneer Intercollegiate conference following withdrawal of Sul Ross State.

In a telegram to Dr. E. N. Jones, Texas A. & I. college president and acting conference chairman, President R. M. Hawkins of Sul Ross said that his school's decision to join the conference last week was based on the assumption that all schools entering would take part in all four divisions of competition—athletics, speech, journalism and fine arts. Daniel Baker college, St. Mary's university and St. Edward's university still plan to participate in the conference's athletic program.

Sul Ross and the other schools will continue their current athletic programs but outside the Pioneer conference.

Entered in the journalism, speech, and fine arts divisions are Sul Ross, Daniel Baker, St. Mary's, St. Edward's, Southwest Texas State, Southwestern university, Texas A. & I., and Texas Lutheran college. Texas Lutheran is still a possible athletic entrant

'Lippy' Not Impressed By Showing Of Cards

NEW YORK, May 20 (INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals have beaten the Dodgers three out of three this year, but Leo Durocher still doesn't "like" them to win the National League pennant and said so today.

He seemed oddly chipper for for a guy who had taken over the 1947 pennant winner from managerial stand-in Burt Shotton and run it into sixth place. But Leo, the lozenge, didn't seem to see it that way, saying with typical Durocher verve:

"Why shouldn't I be on the upbeat? This is a better Brooklyn club than the one I brought north a year ago."

He didn't go any further, which seemed appropriate enough. It was a year ago in April that he didn't go any further with the Dodgers, being instead appointed by Commissioner A. B. Chandler to go sit on a nearby gimlet under a year's suspension.

So all Leo knows of the league-leading Cardinals is what he has seen so far this season; and apparently that left him wondering why Eastern writers have been going into a gush about the '46 World Champions. For, said he briskly:

"They beat me three times and just haven't looked good either (he pronounced it eye-ther) time here or in St. Louis.

"That right side of their infield just doesn't make it with me—that Ralph La Pointe at second base, for instance. Besides, no club is having easy sailing which has a young catcher like that Garagiola, and can't seem to use him."

Incest Charge Is Filed Here

A 38-year-old laborer, Cyrus Edward Drake of Twenty-ninth and Ave. D, was charged Thursday afternoon with incest.

A 17-year-old daughter was the complaining witness against him.

In lieu of $5,000 bond set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, in binding Drake over to grand jury investigation, the defendant was remanded to county jail.

Accusation Denied

Drake denied the accusation.

The daughter told E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, and Dep. Sheriff George Eubank, who made the arrest, that the father had been mistreating her approximately three years, since the time she and a sister, 16, returned from an orphanage.

Pharr said the younger girl also would be a witness against her father who, however, was said not to have abused her.

There are no other children in the family.

Suspect Held At Clovis

Drake has been divorced from the mother of the girls since they were quite young, investigators were informed.

The defendant said he was born at Dickens, and that he has been employed to lay building blocks and to assist plasterers.

The sheriff's department has placed a "hold" request with Clovis, N. M., officials for custody of Chester L. Witcher, charged here with passage of a forged $50 check, after disposition of a Clovis case, it was announced.

Extradition Waived

Capt. Paul E. Pierce of the criminal division of the Riverside, Calif., sheriff's department, and P. V. McOsker, transportation officer of that department, are here to accept custody of James D. Graham, 24, a Lubbock taxicab driver who will be transferred to Riverside to face a two-count charge of obtaining property with intent to defraud by giving worthless checks. Graham waived contest of extradition after his arrest Wednesday by Dep. Sheriff Leonard Lott.

East Broadway school officials informed the seriff's department of theft there of lights and other equipment, and named a suspect who will be questioned by juvenile officials.

Two Men Released

Two men, 20 and 18, who had been arrested by police for questioning into breaking and entering of a tailor shop here were released Thursday afternoon after payment of drunkenness fines. Nothing was believed removed from the tailor shop, officials were informed by Russell Hardin, owner.

A waiver of extradition was signed yesterday by William Lee Walker, 39, who was arrested at Idalou for Jackson county, Okla., where a wife and child abandonment charge had been filed April 12.

Arrest was by Dep. Sheriff George Eubank. Date of the alleged offense was Dec. 23, the charge showed.

Fines Are Assessed

Milton Joe Istre, 20, of Lubbock, was fined $50 and county court costs on a plea of guilty of drunk driving, a judgment showed. Police who made the arrest early yesterday, said he also had a loaded pistol in his car at the time and that, earlier in the night, he had been given a ticket for negligent collision, after a mishap at Ninth and Ave. K.

A Lubbock young man paid $10 for his yen to "sound off." Police said he drove his car, which had a "straight exhaust pipe" to the station, put it in low gear" and almost blasted the boys out of the station."

A radio call resulted in his arrest four blocks from the station.

Another fellow, 30, of Pampa paid $15 for disturbance growing out of his threat of another person with a chair.

Police were informed by L. G. Coffee, of Veterans Village, that about $85 worth of baseball equipment had been stolen from his car near the Veterans administration building yesterday. He said the equipment was in an orange army bag.

Company Marking Time

Mrs. Joe Bowman, widow of the late founder of the bus company, is president of the company, and Jess Levens is vice president and manager. Carpenter said the company now is "marking time."

Levens, who was in conference with Walker and the union officials Thursday, said that a strike notice had been served.

"It's true that they have served the strike notice, but in my opinion there will be no strike," Levens said.

In the Security Council today, the Soviet Ukraine charged that the British are attacking Israel through the Arab legion of Trans-Jordan.

The Soviet view was given by Vassily A. Tarasenko, Ukrainian delegate, who declared Britain is a belligerent in the Palestine war.

The delegates must chose between a United States resolution calling for strong measures to stop the fighting in Palestine or for Cadogan's plan.

Neither proposal so far has enough votes pledged to pass the council.

Oregon Ballots Today

state offices also comes up in tomorrow's primaries. The state incumbents—all Republicans—were sitting tight relishing the furore which has all but blacked out their comparatively unknown opponents.

Paradoxically, the state races are doubly important this year.

Up for renomination by Republicans are Gov. John Hall, who seeks a full term after succeeding the late Gov. Earl Snell; U. S. Senator Guy Cordon, unopposed; Representatives Homer Angell, Walter Norblad, Lowell Stockman and Harris Ellsworth; and several lesser state officers.

The big stars of the Oregon political show meanwhile ended their three weeks of campaigning on an acrimonious note.

New Bombers Tested

two-engine patrol bomber, normally is land-based. But a Navy official who declined to permit the use of his name, disclosed that it took off, with the assistance of jets, from the flight deck of the USS Coral Sea off the Virginia Capes last month, and flew to a landing on shore.

Planned For Patrol

It was a Neptune which in 1946 flew the 11,235 miles non-stop from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, Ohio. For that record flight, however everything was cleared out of it but the crew; extra fuselage tanks and wing tanks were added. Its take-off weight was around 86,000 pounds compared with a design gross weight of 45,000 pounds.

The Navy says the P2V has a non-stop cruising range of 5,000 miles, which means a tactical operation radius of about 2,000 miles. Designed primarily for patrol work, it has a bomb-bay capable of carrying four 2,000-pound bombs.

Dummy Load Carried

Its wingspan is 100 feet, its length 78 feet.

The B-36's simulated long-range bombing mission was carried out last Thursday and Friday, between Carswell air base at Fort Worth and California. The flight was described as just another step in a long-range testing program of the huge carft, which weighs nearly 140 tons. The average speed on the mission was reported to be 220 miles per hour.

The Air Force calls the B-36 a "10,000-mile bomber." The principal significance of last week's long flight was that it carried a useful load for about half the flight, just as it would do in combat.

There was no certainty that inter-service rivalry brought out the two announcements in one day, but there is no mistaking the fact that the Air Force is looking with a very fishy eye on the Navy's new plan to build a 65,000-ton carrier from which long-range air assaults could be launched. The Air Force considers long-range strategic bombings its own baby.

Arabs Advance

forces stabbed into Arab positions and partly reoccupied Samakh. The Syrian army had moved into the town Tuesday.

Tel Aviv itself was subjected to four air raids during the day. In the last one the attacking planes zoomed down to within a few hundred feet of the housetops. Two persons were injured when Egyptian planes made the first run over the city this morning. Some casualties also were reported in an outlying business district. Tel Aviv dispatches said shipping had been scared out of the harbor.

Shrines Damaged

The fighting in Jerusalem's old walled city swirled around the shrines and places of worship of three religions. Some of these already have suffered damage.

Among these were the Franciscan Monastery Church of the Last Supper and the Adoration convent. Two days ago the Franciscan brothers reported fighting around the Assumption Cathedral of Notre Dame, the Christian Brothers college and the French hospital. They said the combatants violated the neutral status of these institutions, which flew the French and religious flags.

While the Amman communique told of "rapid progress" by Arab legion troops in Jerusalem following the occupation of the Sheikh Jarrah quarter as far south as the Damascus gate, Trans-Jordan officers in the city did not minimize the hard fighting their troops still faced.

Move Puzzling To Candidates

AUSTIN, May 20. (AP)—Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel tonight dropped a political puzzler into the camps of candidates for the U. S. Senate.

What they all wanted to know was: Could the junior senator's announced "intention to retire for the present from public service" be changed if sufficient pressure were brought to bear on him?

Invitation Seen

Another statement in O'Daniel's radio speech that set off the head-scratching was that if the people don't like Coke Stevenson, Rep. Lyndon Johnson or George Peddy as candidates for the Senate they should pick a man they want and put his name on the ballot.

Some off-the-record comments on this were that it could be construed as an invitation for people to write O'Daniel urging him to run. They recalled he got into his first political race—that for governor in 1938—under similar circumstances.

JOHNSON "GLAD TO HEAR" O'DANIEL NOT CANDIDATE

DALLAS, May 20. (AP)—Rep. Lyndon Johnson, candidate for senator, said tonight he listened to Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel's radio speech tonight and was "very glad to hear" O'Daniel will not run for reelection.

Referring to O'Daniel and to former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, another candidate, Johnson stated: "One of the twins is out. Now we stand one down and one to go."

"I ran against the same crowd in 1941," Johnson added. "O'Daniel knew he couldn't win this one by default. I think it was very significant he waited to give his decision until after I announced."

Johnson announced last week.

Asked whether he was surprised at O'Daniel's decision, Johnson replied: "No one is ever surprised at anything O'Daniel does."

Johnson opened his Dallas headquarters tonight with Carl Phinney, former 36th Division officer, in charge.

PEDDY SAYS ISSUES, NOT PERSONALITIES, IMPORTANT

JASPER, May 20. (AP) — George Peddy, Houston attorney, tonight said "personalities are of little importance" in his campaign for the U. S. Senate.

When advised of Senator W. Lee O'Daniel's announcement he will not seek reelection, Peddy said he had no comment except that "the issues and not personalities are of importance."

"When I announced my intention to run for the U. S. Senate I had no idea who else might run for the office," Peddy said. "I have conducted my campaign without considering who my opponents might be. I shall continue my campaign on this basis."

O'Daniel Bows Out

O'Daniel said "New Deal destruction of our private enterprise system", may make it difficult for him to be a good provider for his family, "but I am willing to try".

"I have made no decision, however, as to what line of work I shall take up", he added. "My health is still good. I want to keep it that way."

Turning from personal talk, O'Daniel warned that the nation faces a fifth column threat in an organized and determined effort to seize control of the national legislative branches, and exhorted his audience to elect only "the right kind of public officials".

America "Menaced"

Russia took over Czechoslovakia not with troops but with "home grown stooges" of a type which present a menace to America, he declared. He branded them as labor racketeers, Communists, parlor pinks and "worst of all, some folks who are looked upon as decent business and professional men who make a living out of politics".

He claimed with pride a share in drafting the constitutional amendment, now before the various states for ratification, which will limit the presidential tenure to two terms. More, he said the same limitation should be imposed on the terms of senators and congressmen.

Party Claimed Ruined

Because the Democratic party was "sold" to Communists, Socialists, labor racketeers and "other subversive groups", O'Daniel said, the Democratic party "lies in ruins, sabotaged from within by its own leaders".

Collapse of the party, he declared, is but a forerunner of the fall of the American form of government unless there is "a complete reversal of our foreign and domestic policy".

O'Daniel's friends have mentioned him as a possible candidate for vice president and the senator himself stated a few weeks ago that he would accept the vice presidential nomination as Gen. Douglas MacArthur's running mate.

hour meeting to speak with newsmen, He said Mr. Truman's election prospects were not discussed at the meeting but that the committee members had talked them over privately.

Selection Unanimous

Regarding the President's chances of re-election, McGrath said "I am the greatest optimist in the United States when it comes to that."

Former National Chairman Edward J. Flynn of New York said "it's up to the President" to decide who will place Mr. Truman's name in nomination.

Among those reportedly considered to nominate Mr. Truman were Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois, Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, Sen. Francis J. Myers of Pennsylvania and Sen. [illegible]

McGrath said the selection of the two chairmen was unanimous. He said others discussed were Mrs Franklin D. Roosevelt, Sen Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Lucas and Myers.

The committee set 12 noon (CST) July 12, for the opening of the conclave at Convention hall.

Authority is vested in the committee to select a keynoter, but it only recommends a permanent chairman to the convention which then elects the chairman.

For the first time in history, the committee recommended a woman for a key convention post. It chose Rep. Mary Norton of New Jersey as chairman of the important credentials committee. Her choice must be okayed by the convention.

Coal Dispute

got out a statement tonight. It said the southern operators wrecked the conference, that it "died a-borning because of the action of a minority of the operators."

Lewis said earlier today he deplored talk of a new coal strike July 1. He singled out three leading operators as having the key to "peace or war in the coal industry."

Ordinarily the members of Lewis' United Mine Workers do not work without a contract and their present one is due to expire July 1. But Lewis told reporters:

Three Men Named

"We deplore the suggestions that are being published that an end of the contract is in itself a suggestion of a stoppage of work."

The power to bring about peaceful settlement of issues, Lewis said, rests with these men: President Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel, President George Humphrey of the M. A. Hanna Coal company; and James Francis, head of the Island Creek Coal company.

Lewis said that Fairless is the No. 1 industry man in the coal mines owned by steel companies, that Humphrey has heavy interests in the midwest and that Francis controls southern production.

tough customers to handle in the roping event and the fastest time in this event was chalked up by Bill Lambert of Levelland—23.4 seconds.

But the boys in the wild cow milking contest really had trouble. Only one or two came running to the judge with enough milk in his bottle to be counted.

Plenty Of Action

It was the type of show which offered plenty of action for the paying customers and spills were plentiful.

In the cowgirl sponsor contest, Miss Monte Murfee of Rotan led the list of five contestants with 12.3 seconds time. Other girls finished as follows: Betty Rush, Levelland, 13.2 seconds; Snooks Craighton, O'Donnell, 13.4 seconds; Mary Black, Lovington, N. M., 13.8 and Jo Ann Davis, 15.8 seconds plus five seconds penalty for missing one barrier.

Sandy Cross, representing the Lone Star Station, won first prize in the merchants' sponsor contest in the parade—$10 in cash. Second prize of $5 went to Nonnie Rogers, representing the Post Dispatch; and third prize of $2.50 to Alma Floyd, representing Floyd's Service Station.

Other Winners Named

Contestants in the bareback riding were: Gene Frazier, Abilene; Kid Morley, Lamesa; John Farris, Wichita Falls; Bud Miller, Wichita Falls; Guy Weeks, Abilene; Charles Boyles, John Wilson, and Joe Boone, Lubbock; Red Fisher, Snyder; Doug Bloodworth, Denver City; Jim Pippin, Vernon; Jack Brown, Tuscola; Sherman McBeth, Thalia; and Bob James, Ranger.

Results of the first night's calf roping were: Bill Lambert, Levelland, 23.4 seconds; Tommy Hodges, Tuscola, 23.9 seconds; Chock Black, Lovington, 24.6; Frank Young, Tuscola, 25.2; Weldon Rutledge, Brownfield, 30.7; Jim Smith, O'Donnell, 21.2 plus ten seconds for breaking barriers; John Wallace, Haskell, 22.4 plus 10 for breaking barriers, Willie Mize, Post, 36.5; Willard Brock, Brownfield, 34.5; Roy Smith, O'Donnell, 48.4; and no time for Bill Jones and R. E. Rainwater, both of Clovis.

Saddle bronc riding, winner of which will be announced Sunday, saw Slim Meteer, Spur; Bud Miller, Wichita Falls; Kid Morley, Lamesa; Bloodworth, Farris and Pippin making tries at animals.

In the wild cow milking contest, John Wallace, Haskell, came in first with 24 seconds; G. W. Rodgers, Jayton, second, 30 seconds; Roy Smith, third, 32.1; Tommy Hodges, 38.3; and no time was recorded for Vernon Craighton, O'Donnell; Doug Hinson and Puny Jones, Kalgary; Frank Young, Tuscola; Jimmy Moore, Post; and Bill Lambert, Levelland.

Contest Close

In the bullriding division, Kenneth Wilson, Colorado City, was adjudged the best rider for the night. Others in the contest were: J. N. Eicke, Jimmie Beck, Glenn McCowen and Rex Milholland, Snyder; Johnny Burnham, Levelland; Gene Frazier, Abilene; John Farris, Wichita Falls; Jim Pippin, Vernon; Bobbie Williams, Putman; Buddy Watron, Odessa; Roy Grider, Tahoka.

Louis Blair, rodeo clown from Dundee and his mule, "Gun Powder," kept the crowd in laughter throughout the program with their antics.

In the cutting horse contest, closing event, Wilson Connell of Polar, riding "Silver" topped a field of six contestants with 519 points. Jack Hart was second with 478 points; John Widsom, Haskell, 470 points; Martin Taylor, Gail, 459; Raymond Blue, Post, 441 and Giles Dalby, Post, 336 points.

Delegations Present

Visiting delegations from Levelland and Crosbyton attended the opening program to advertise their approaching rodeos. Crosbyton's will be on May 28, 29 and 30 and Levelland, July Fourth week-end. Bert Eads headed a delegation composed of Homer Johnson, Elmer Barton, Paul Rodgers, Guy Swain, Miss Christine Dysert and Patsy Slaughter from Levelland. Crosbyton was represented by R. C. Woods, president; Tilman Reeves, Gilbert Brunson, B. L. Anderson, J. C. Reed and Alex Claiborne.

Posth rodeo is headed by Giles W. Connell, president; Walter S. Duckworth is vice president; Phil S. Bouchier, manager; Homer McCrary, secretary; Novis Rodgers, arena director; and Sonny Nance, E. A. Warren, Harold Voss, Ira Greenfield, Earl Hodges, Elton Nance, Nathan Mears and E. W. Williams, directors.

Dance Follows Rodeo

Robert Cox and Dean A. Robinson were timekeepers; Nat Fleming of Byers, announcer; and Charles Miller, Joe York, Snyder; Lee Byrd, Post; Neil Collier, Wichita Falls and Buster Whitlock, Borger, were judges.

Bill Lyons of Petrolia is furnishing stock for the event.

Boy Scouts have the concessions for the show and a chuck wagon borrowed from the U Lazy S ranch is furnishing western style food to the visitors.

Boots clunked and spurs jingled on a dance floor near the arena until the wee hours of the night to bring down the curtain on the first day's events. Shows will be held at 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday nights and 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

ed that the financial situation in public schools "is something disgraceful in the richest country in the world."

He told the Girard boys, in a "father to son" tone, that they were "exceedingly lucky" because their teachers were able to give them personal attention. In the public schools, he commented, teachers face such crowded conditions that they often do not know the names of all students.

It was a one-day pre-convention trip to Philadelphia for the President. He will go to that city in the latter part of July to accept his nomination as the Democratic candidate for President, which is generally believed to be assured.

The address was purposely "off the cuff," and is in line with the new Truman strategy of speaking extemporaneously. The President's advisers feel that this will bring out his personality. There had been considerable comment that his prepared speeches were flat.

The President paid a lengthy tribute to the founder of the school, Stephen Girard, a French-born American patriot who made millions in the mercantile business in Philadelphia and helped finance the revolution.

Black Hawk county Sheriff H. T. Wagner said anonymous telephone calls warned Rath workers their windows would be broken and their houses splashed with paint if they attempted to work tomorrow.

Superintendent A. D. Donnell, who closed the plant said operations would be resumed tomorrow.

Patrol cars of both the Waterloo city police and the sheriff's office stepped up their tours of the city and surrounding areas. At least nine hundred National Guardsmen were on duty at the plant.

A murder charge was filed against Fred Roberts, 53, a negro non-union worker. Police said Roberts was trying to enter the plant when he fired the shots which killed William J. Farrell, 39, and wounded Mrs. Margaret Dreheim, 34, both CIO pickets.

The Rath plant normally employes 6,500 workers, About 4,000 now are on strike.

Reds Have Power To Ease Threat Of New Conflict By Peaceful Act

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Four events which have occurred in the United States this week are a far better indication of the state of the world than all of the says that Washington and Moscow have been exchanging.

The house of Representatives decided by a vote of 319 to 58 that the international Communist movement is conspiring to set up a totalitarian dictatorship in this country through organizations it controls from abroad. That means control from Russia.

Armed Aid Studied

The Senate Foreign Relations committee decided unanimously that, contrary to a century and a half of tradition, the United States could join European or other regional defense alliances to bolster the world-wide line of defense against Communist imperialism.

The government let it become known that it was trying to find the means of meeting requests for arms from Norway and Denmark who, under constant bombardment by the Moscow propagandists, have decided that they must put some muscle behind their traditional neutrality.

The Russians at Lake Success, after two years of blocking the desire of all other nations for a workable plan of international atomic control, would not even agree to disagree. They voted against the decision of all the others to suspend negotiations as fruitless until there is a change in the whole world political picture.

Cost Is Heavy

This latter event, in particular, represents international resignation to the armaments race which has been under way ever since the war and which reaches a new and higher tempo every day.

While the nations need desperately to rehabilitate economies which had not recovered from the depression when they were struck by the greatest war in history, they are forced to pour their resources down the rathole of military preparedness.

Peacetime military preparedness represents a waste that is only exceeded in totality by actual war. Yet failure to provide it leads just as surely to a super-Munich as French and British unpreparedness led to the war of 1939.

Heads or tails, if the Bolshevik propagandists can frighten the world into enough of such waste they win just as surely as though they won a war. As long as they can pose the threat of war they can keep the western world on this road to economic destruction, which is the primary Communist aim. Only when the Kremlin can see that western unity and preparedness has made war suicidal will it be possible to level off this drain on living standards.

And yet it is all so simple. As Ernest Bevin says of the Greek civil war:

"One lift of a finger from a place you know would stop it tonight."

QUEEN—Carol Held of Lusk, Wyo., was chosen "Miss Wyoming of 1948" in contest at University of Wyoming at Laramie. She'll compete at Atlantic City pageant next fall.

High School Seniors Slate Picnic Today

Members of the Texas Highway patrol will escort Lubbock High school seniors when they leave the school shortly after 9 o'clock this morning for an all-day outing at Buffalo lake.

Seniors planning to attend the traditional picnic will meet east of the high school before 9 a.m., and all those taking cars are asked to stop and wait until the entire group is ready to leave, H. J. McCabe, head senior sponser, said Thursday afternoon.

McCabe also requested that students planning to go boat riding or swimming during the day at the lake secure the written permission of their parents.

Attending the group as sponsors will be McCabe, Miss Bessie Bullock, Mrs. Ben McGregor, Miss Linoel Hilliard, Miss Irene Armes, Omer R. Bantz, Rogers Orr and N. J. Robnett.

Bill Tatum, class president, and Jo Simmons are directing arrangements for the picnic.

Cows' Stomachs Are Canned For Market Along Border

McALLEN, May 20, (U.P.)—Cows' stomachs are being canned here.

Menudo, a popular hot meat dish in Mexico and along the Texas border, is being put on the market from a processing plant operated in McAllen by Artemio Carranza.

Principal ingredients of menudo are the lining of the stomachs of cattle and goats, and pepper. The McAllen canning plant is believed to be the only menudo cannery in the United States.

ON CARS FOR AMPUTEES

Discrimination In Program To Help Injured Vets Is Scored

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 20—The passing show:

A Congress that had been struck humbly grateful by the sight of boys who had lost a foot or a leg in defense of America readily provided funds two years ago for the purchase, at government expense, of cars for the amputees.

But, with terrible irony, the House is withholding similar concessions for handless, armless and sightless veterans.

A man who has lost one or both arms, and who has been schooled in rehabilitation centers in the use of artificial substitutes, can operate a car just as readily as can a leg amputee.

Could Be Driven

Yet such boys today must travel by bus and street-car, go through the excruciating or embarassing process of getting out their fare money and often are forced to hang on to a strap in lieu of a seat. All because they lost hands instead of legs.

The case of the blind veterans is even crueler. Many are hopelessly buffeted by rush-hou. crowds, pushed off platforms and the like. Because they lost their eyes instead of a foot or a leg . . . Or, rather . . . Because the House apparently has forgotten that all of them have either a member of the family or a friend who could drive them to and from the work they may have found or the places they must go.

The tragic part of this error of omission is that funds are available for cars for hand and arm amputees and the blind. But a clause in the original bill ruled that the veteran must be able to drive a car—and that seems to have stumped what should be the world's most enlightened and deeply concerned Congress.

Stories Are Doubted

Pardon me if I view with some skepticism the stories out of Las Vegas, Nev., concerning the "killing" made there at roulette by two university of Chicago students and a New Yorker named Jack Cortez.

It made nice reading. The boys were said to have ended some $30,000 ahead on a system vaguely described as "Playing No. 1 systematically around the clock."

But personally, I never met a big winner (at least since the tax laws became what they were) who ever called a press conference to tell the lads and lassies how much he had made . . . And give his right name and address.

But, as I say, it makes nice reading. So go, if you wish. If you don't lean against a Las Vegas table long enough to chafe, you'll enjoy the town. It's right out of an old Tom Mix.

I'm happy I missed a recent ordeal which my friend Bill Bendix underwent at the Yankee Stadium.

In line with his job of impersonating Babe Ruth on the screen, Bill was asked to step up to home plate at the Stadium, with 40,000 people in the stands, and give an imitation of the 60th home run Babe hit in 1927.

To the actor's everlasting credit, he pulled the first pitched ball into the right field stands, foul, and, after being coaxed back to the plate for a re-take, hit a long fly to right center.

That was something like asking Lana Turner really to croak in "Homecoming" or Tracy actually to take that parachute jump in "State Of The Union," or Walter Pidgeon and Greer Garson to discover radium or Van Johnson to bomb Tokyo.

DOG CAN TAKE IT TOO

SAN GABRIEL, Cal. (U.P.)—Pat, a prize Dalmatian owned by Dr Clinton Baxter, finds a dog's life isn't so bad. She's back from a visit to man's nemesis, the dentist. Dr. Roland Grapentin filled Pat's tooth without too much trouble. He said she "took it like a man."

Additional Carloads Of Wheat Reach Market At Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, May 20 (U.P.)—The parade of new wheat from west Texas today gained momentum as the second and third carloads hit Fort Worth.

Kimbell Milling co., received 1,800 bushels from its elevators at Knox City. The second car was received by the C. M. Carter Grain co., and came from Hamlin in Jones county.

Kansas City Officers Ready To Fly To Scene Of Law Violations

By SAM MELNICK
United Press Staff Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 20—This will not be good news to the law-breakers who might be planning to operate in or near Jackson County.

Sheriff J. A. Purdome proposes to make it hot for them. He has gone strictly modern and organized an air squadron to combat crime.

The air squadron is composed of volunteers. It operates at no cost to the taxpayer. There are 200 members, including trained personnel—pilots, physicians and surgeons, nurses, pharmacists, parachutists, etc. The squadron boasts some 20 planes of various types, including amphibian.

Even the equipment has been donated to the cause.

"We're ready for any situation, anywhere in our area," Sheriff Purdome said. "In a matter of minutes, we can serve any sector of the county. If the emergency is within 50 miles of Kansas City, we can be there just like that," snapping his fingers.

Purdome got the air squadron idea soon after he took over as sheriff in 1945. There is a definite need for speed in the event of crime or disaster, he reasoned.

With planes and trained personnel, quick relief could be supplied in case of such happenings as tornadoes floods or water accidents. And, of course, excellent service to the community in the speedy apprehension of criminals.

Polio Victim Saved

The air squadron has an iron lung in its equipment. Recently members flew it to St. Joseph, Mo., to aid an infantile paralysis victim in a hospital.

Placed in the iron lung, the patient was flown to a Kansas City hospital. The man is alive today.

Later, the squadron flew to Springfield, Mo., to pick up bloodhounds, needed by Kansas City, Kan., police to track down a murderer. The squadron got the hounds and the hounds got their man.

Minutes Count

"Time is of the utmost importance," the sheriff says. "So often a minute saved can be the difference between life or death; breaking a case or putting it into the unsolved category."

The planes can be equipped hurriedly with the latest guns and tear gas in case of riots. There are ten parachutists in the squadron, ready to drop into areas that otherwise might be inaccessible.

Since 1937 there have been 16 murders in Jackson County and only three remain unsolved.

Kansas Presidential Elector To Have Short Trip To Vote

TOPEKA, Kan., May 20, (U.P.)—One of the shortest trips a United States presidential elector will make to cast a vote after the November elections will be that of Bert Mitchner.

In turning in an official Kansas ballot for president, Mitchner will have to go only from his fifth floor state house desk, where he is a revenue and taxation commissioner, to the second floor capitol office of the secretary of state.

And there'll be no mileage. The elevator service is free.

Nothing ELSE BUT... RAIN DROPS DOES ALL OF THESE THINGS:

1. makes any soap go twice as far.
2. makes any water soft as rain.
3. blues as it washes . . . never streaks.
4. protects clothes, hands and all automatic dish and clothes washers.

It's sheer concentrated 'Magic' ONCE YOU TRY IT . . . YOU'LL NEVER BE WITHOUT IT!

Grocery Shopping Is Made Easy In New Method Perfected By Enterprising Houston Merchant

HOUSTON, May 20 (AP)—When Herschel H. Shugart was a kid he often was scolded by his mother for failing to remember what she had asked him to purchase at the grocery store.

Now Shugart—the groceryman—has perfected a device which he says will save little boys such embarrasment and also offer a restful means of shopping for mothers grandmothers or even forgetful husbands.

They Need No List

Several years ago Shugart set about set about building a machine which parades all the merchandise in front of the customer.

Today, customers who enter Shugart's Relax-N Shop, Houston, need no list of desired purchases.

You simply take your place at any one of a number of comfortable chairs, sip a coke, light a cigarette, and do your shopping!

A large conveyor belt carries more than 1,000 items of merchandise past your chair and within easy reach.

At each chair is a small pad with numbered sheets on it. As the grocery shelves pass by, you choose the item you want, put a number with them and place them on a second conveyor belt which passes down to the cashier.

Ready And Waiting

The cashier takes each item off the belt and places those bearing the same number together. Prices of the various items are added up and your bag of proceries is ready and waiting when you appear at the cashier's desk.

Shugart isn't kidding when he says he received many scoldings for forgetting what his mother sent him to the grocery store to purchase.

"I used to get so busy looking at the merchandise I'd forget," he explained.

Shugart said his traveling grocery store has a 47-foot counter that is pulled by a one-third horsepower motor. The conveyor belt which carries the groceries to the cashier is pulled by a one-fourth horsepower motor. The counter moves nine feet a minute.

At present he is working on a 100-foot conveyor which will include a meat counter.

Shugart currently is waiting for a patent on his invention, which he says had created interest throughout the country. He says he has a number of orders on hand for purchase of his "mechanical grocerymen."

He smiles when he recalls what one of his customers recently told him.

"She said everytime she comes in the store for just one item she leaves with a whole bagful of groceries," he explained. "But I told her I probably was saving her steps since she would have to come back for the other items anyway."

Shugart keeps his mechanical store open from 8 a. m. 10 p. m. daily.

SHOPPING MADE EASY—Grocery store customers sit in comfortable chairs and make their selections from among 1,000 items which move by on a counter-belt in the store of Hershel H. Shugart in Houston, Texas. Shugart calls his store the Relax'n Shop.

Three Old Sailors To Stick To Caretaking Jobs On Ship

HOUSTON, May 20, (U.P.)—Three "old salts" who have 91 years of service among them will spend their final active days aboard the retired battleship Texas as takers.

The "Big T" has been given to Texas by the U. S. Navy as a shrine. A special parmanent berth has been built for her near the San Jacinto monument, a symbol of Texas independence.

Joseph M. Strickling has been named chief caretaker of the beloved battlewagon. He served on the ship from 1914 to 1918. Assisting him will be Johnny McKeown, chief machinist mate, USN, who has been aboard the Texas for the past 13 years of his 31 years Navy service, and Chief Boatswain E. E. Levy, who was retired last Jan. 1 after 30 years service.

Missouri Mules Added To Cargo Of Clipper Planes

MIAMI, Fla., May 20 (U.P.)—The roll call of barnyard passengers on Pan American World Airways cargo clippers is growing.

Six Missouri mules have been flown from Miami to Havana.

Cattle by the clipper load, scores of horses, a family of pigs and millions of baby chicks have traveled by PAA all over the hemisphere. But until now no "jugheads" had been aboard one of Pan America's "flying barns."

Surprise the family tonight!

Smart is the man whose appreciation keeps diamonds in his wife's eyes as well as on her fingers.

Hot weather tip guaranteed to keep you and your kitchen cooler this summer. Mrs. Lynn W. Osborn, Muskogee, Okla., gets $10:

Make the pastry for a two crust pie; bake the lower crust as for a pastry shell, then roll out the top crust and bake it on a baking sheet. While the pastry is baking, cook the fruit filling on top of the range. Cool both pastry and filling, then pour filling into pastry shell. Slide the top crust in place and you have a pie with the minimum of effort and heat.

Never get in a hurry for starch to cool? Mrs. O. C. Christenson of Houston gets $10 for this suggestion:

Add a tray of ice cubes to the hot starch. The starch cools and is not diluted too much.

$10 instead of a penny for your thoughts, if published! Send recipes, menus and home-helps to Mrs. Tucker's Homemakers' Department, Sherman, Texas.

"FEATURING QUALITY FOODS"

FAB

WITH SUPER-WETTING ACTION

Demonstration shows FAB gives FABULOUS SUDS, even in hardest water

FAB with Super-Wetting Action makes far more suds, much faster suds than soap.

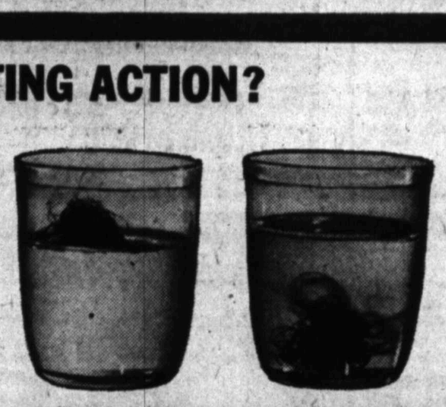

Proof? Two washing machines were filled with hardest water. One cup of FAB was put into washer on left. Into the one on the right—one cup of soap. Both washers ran 7 minutes. Result! A washer brimful of hard-working suds from FAB. Almost no suds from soap.

WASHES EVERYTHING FASTER, CLEANER, WHITER, BRIGHTER THAN ANY SOAP...IN HARDEST WATER!

WHAT IS SUPER-WETTING ACTION?

Here's the easiest way to see for yourself. Go to your sewing basket. Take a length of cotton sewing thread. Roll it into a ball. Drop it into a glass of water. It floats; does not become completely wet for a long time.

Now drop another little ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks, becomes completely soaked at once. This simple home test illustrates how FAB makes water wetter... instantly penetrates all washable materials faster and more thoroughly... pushes dirt out! That's FAB's *fab*ulous Super-Wetting Action ...something no soap on earth has!

New scientific washing preparation by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet is a FABulous work saver for the dirtiest overalls, work shirts, children's clothes, towels, shirts...everything that's extra dirty!

THEIR eyes had never beheld the like! Housewives marveled at the *fab*ulous new product for every washing need... a product that does away with dulling soap scum... FAB with SUPER-WETTING ACTION!

Super-Wetting Action is a new scientific washing principle. When you wash with FAB, the FAB-and-water solution instantly penetrates materials... soaks them more thoroughly. Yes, FAB with Super-Wetting Action gets inside materials; pushes dirt out!

This means faster, cleaner, easier washing for the dirtiest overalls, towels, work or play clothes... It brings extra-dirt-removing power for extra-dirty wash!

And FAB contains a *fab*ulous new ingredient that gets white wash whiter... gets colors brighter. In addition, with FAB, there's never any soap scum to "gray" white wash or dull colors. Don't miss *fab*ulous FAB. At your dealer's now!

FAB WASHES DIRTIEST CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP

FAB with Super-Wetting Action instantly penetrates materials; pushes out dirt. Washes grimiest overalls faster than soap! Makes tough dirt like the "line" on shirt collars disappear like magic! FAB leaves no soap scum to "gray" or "yellow" white wash... Wash is whiter, cleaner when washed with FAB!

NEW INGREDIENT WASHES WHITE WASH WHITER... COLORS BRIGHTER

FAB contains a *fab*ulous new ingredient that gets white wash whiter... gets colors brighter. And besides, FAB with Super-Wetting Action does away with dulling soap scum. FAB brings new-looking freshness to all family wash!

FAB WASHES CHEAPER... IN HARDEST WATER

Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. This economy is another *fab*ulous miracle. Yes... FAB with Super-Wetting Action is up to twice as economical as soap in hard water. You'll notice that all of FAB washes... Nothing is wasted in soap scum!

FAB WASHES DISHES TWICE AS FAST!

No need to wipe dishes. Just wash with FAB, and rinse. FAB leaves no soap scum or film to polish away. Even glassware sparkles! FAB with Super-Wetting Action slashes through grease as no soap can do! Dishwater never feels greasy. Pots and pans get clean with almost no scouring. No dishpan ring. FAB is mild to hands!

Faster And Better for all family wash and Dishes

Fire Prevention Contest Prizes Won By Three Lubbock Students

AUSTIN, May 20—Lubbock students took three prizes in the statewide annual Fire Prevention Poster contest, Marvin Hall, state fire insurance commissioner, announced today.

The State Fire Insurance department sponsors the contest each year for Texas public school children, and the cash prizes are donated by Cravens, Dargan and company, insurance managers of Houston.

Joe Frank Johnson, third grade grade student at the George R. Bean school, won third place in the primary division and a prize of $3.50. Deborah Decker in the sixth grade of Roscoe Wilson school won a fourth place in the intermediate division and a prize of $2.50.

Another fourth place winner was Norma Holton who won $2.50 in the high school division. Norma is in the twelfth grade at Lubbock Senior High school.

"It was a real honor for a student to win in this contest as over 300 Texas schools from 78 cities entered this year," Commissioner Hall stated. "And the excellent quality of the posters was as high as the quantity."

Joe Frank's poster pictured a fire devil gushing out of a can of gasoline with a smoking match laying beside the can. A hand holding up a flaming match illustrates Deborah's theme of the danger of matches and keeping fire under control.

Norma's poster featured three witches, "poor house keeping," "faulty wiring," and "careless smoking," dancing around a flaming house. Her wording reads "Keep Them from Your Home."

As the contest was tied-in with the governor's statewide fire prevention committee, the judges were members of his educational committee. They were Dr. Pat Norwood, director of public relations, Southwest Texas State Teachers college, San Marcos; A. T. Deare, Dow Chemical company, Freeport; and W. E. Lowry, executive secretary, State Board for Vocational Education, Austin.

Posters were judged May 17 at the state insurance department in Austin. Having to meet requirements in each division as to size and design, posters had to be original and on any phase of fire prevention in general.

Prizes totaling $104 were given to the winners in the four divisions: high school, intermediate, junior high and primary. The seven equal prizes awarded in each division were first place, $7.50; second place, $5.00; third place, $3.50; next best four, each, $2.50.

Graduating Program At New Deal High School Announced

The commencement sermon at New Deal High school, which has a graduating class of 19 seniors, will be held in the school auditorium Sunday at 8:30 p. m., and the graduation exercises are scheduled for Monday evening at the same time.

The audience will participate in two songs, "Work For the Night" and "I'll Go Where You Want Me To Go." Invocation will be by Rev. C. E. Fike, pastor of the Monroe Methodist church, and Rev. Roy H. Priest, minister of the Monroe Church of Christ, will give the benediction. Rev. John S. Rankin, Monroe Baptist church pastor, will give the scripture reading.

Attorney To Be Speaker

John Lee Smith, Lubbock attorney, will make the principal address at the commencement services on Monday night, and A. L. Faubion, New Deal superintendent, will present the diplomas to the graduating seniors.

The valedictory address will be made by John Kveton, and the salutatory will be given by Loretta Shinn. Verlin Anglin will present the class's gift to the school, and Paul Crosnoe, class president, will talk on "In Memory of the Senior Class."

Forest Smith, high school principal, will announce the awards. A. L. Acker, grade school principal, will pronounce the invocation, and the benediction will be given by C. S. Wales.

Music will consist of two numbers by the class, a song by the senior girls' chorus and a number by a sextette of senior boys. Mrs. B. M. Hays will play the processional.

Deadline For Mustering-Out Pay Extended By President

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—World War II veterans now have until February 3, 1950 to apply for their mustering-out pay.

President Truman signed into law yesterday a bill extending the deadline to that date. The former law expired Feb. 3, 1946.

Veterans are eligible for $100 if they served less than 60 days and did not leave the United States $200 if they served over 60 days but were not outside the country, and $300 if they were overseas.

Timely Tips

Here spring:

Since garden vegetables are all important now, be daring and toss every kind together for a salad to serve with spaghetti and meat sauce. Either French dressing or mayonnaise will point up the many fine flavors.

Don't look down your nose at rhubarb any more. Right now it is cheap and wonderful! Maybe these hints will help you. Cut rhubarb on the bias in 1½ inch strips but never peel. Soak in cold water 10 minutes, and cook over a very low heat. Fresh strawberries stirred into the cooked rhubarb pep up the flavor.

Atomic Scientists Protest Accusations

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 20 (AP)—The suspension of two physicists from access to restricted atomic files brought the assertion from other atomic scientists here today that continued accusations against their loyalty will make it more difficult to get scientists to work for the government.

An official for the Atomic Energy commission announced yesterday that the two physicists had been suspended pending a check on their loyalty status.

In Washington, an AEC official said the investigation of the two "involves character and associations" together with the regular loyalty check made on all employes of the atomic commission. Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) of the joint congressional atomic energy commission said he wanted a report on the investigations.

The atomic scientists in their statement said that aside from making "it increasingly difficult to enlist the services of scientists on government projects," the accusations and inquiries into their loyalty have left them "seriously demoralized."

Most of the accusations, the scientists said, were trivial, and the accusations against the two physicists were based on unsubstantiated rumors.

Photo Engraving Process Is Explained At Kiwanis Meeting

A word picture and film, explaining the process of photo-engraving, were presented at the Kiwanis club luncheon Thursday noon at Hotel Lubbock.

Previous to start of the film, Winston Reeves, head of an engraving concern here, sketched a hypothetical word picture of the gradual development of early day man toward printing and engraving.

The film, with Jack Glasco as projectionist, traced a piece of "copy" or picture through the several stages of the engraving process. The program was introduced by Dale Buckner.

It was announced that next week's meeting will be held on the campus at Texas Tech college, after being postponed from earlier this month. Specially invited farmer-guests are to attend the meeting which centers largely around the college's artificial insemination breeding program. It is anticipated that 200 or more will attend the meeting.

Club President L. E. (Jack) Davis was in the chair, with invocation by Dr. O. W. English.

Foreign Governments Seeking Permission To Buy U. S. Arms

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 20—The State department disclosed today that "a number" of foreign governments have asked for permission to buy U. S. arms and that American military authorities are studying the requests.

Norway and Denmark are the latest applicants according to State department spokesman Michael J. McDermott. He declined to list other nations, although it is known that France and other western European powers are in the market.

Fear of Communist envelopment from without or within was recognized as the motivating force behind the request for American armaments.

Authorities pointed out that Norway and Denmark have been under constant Soviet pressure in recent months. The prime ministers of Norway, Denmark and Sweden recently conferred on a proposal to form a Scandinavian economic and defensive alliance similar to the British-French-Belgian-Dutch-Luxembourg pact of Brussels.

Efforts of western European countries to bolster their defenses come at a time when Congress is formulating a resolution encouraging the Truman administration to associate the United States with self defense groupings of democratic states.

A resolution to this end, sponsored by Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), received unanimous approval by the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Favorable sentiment likewise is apparent in the House.

The government does not require additional authority to sell arms to foreign nations. Once an application is approved, the munitions Control board issues an export license, without which no military equipment may leave the United States.

Representatives of the State department, the Army, Navy and Air Force sit on this board and thus assure approval both from political and military considerations.

Secretary of State Marshall and Undersecretary of State Lovett have conceded there is some pressure from abroad to divert some of the American dollars allotted for European economic recovery to the supply of arms.

It is argued that under certain conditions economic rehabilitation cannot be accomplished unless an adequately armed police and military force is on hand to insure non-interference from unfriendly sources.

Services To Be Held For Man Famous For His Hearing Sense

DALLAS, May 20 (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Saturday for William Leander Johnson, 71, who had such acute hearing that he knew hundreds of persons by their voices.

Johnson, who died Monday, trained his ears as most people do their eyes. When he was a boy in Tennessee, he met a blind man who could call by name anyone who spoke to him. Fascinated, young Johnson began to listen carefully to the voices of people.

Years later, when he became postmaster at Vickery, he could hand anyone his mail without a glance. He was postmaster there 13 years. He moved to Dallas county from Hill county about 25 years ago.

"There's more difference in people's voices than in their features," Johnson used to say.

China Most Likely Had Everything First Except Atomic Bomb, Record Indicates

(By The United Press)

CHENGTU, May 20—The Chinese are fond of telling you that they did it or had it first, and they are usually right.

The list of "China firsts" is an impressive one but new things pop up on it all the time.

One important China first that isn't published much is the sidewalk cafe generally associated with Paris. There are hundreds of them in Chengtu, Szechwan Province's capital.

Centuries before Parisians found it pleasant to sip an apertif at a sidewalk table the people in Chengtu knew all about it, except that they drank tea instead of Dubonnet. Same idea, though.

In either Paris or Chengtu you drop into your favorite sidewalk cafe to be witty among friends or enemies, to pick up the latest gossip, to collapse for a while from the day's work or, even, just to get something to drink. The point is, however that Cengtu had it first.

All the standard reference books explain that China had such things as gunpowder and printing first but they don't usually mention the Sunkist orange. It is supposed to have come originally from Chunking, also in rich, fertile Szechwan Province in China's west.

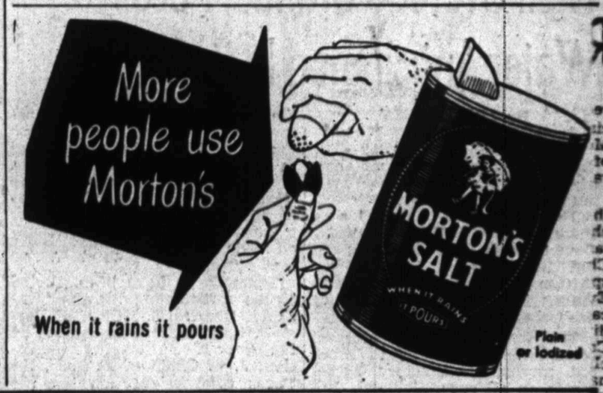

Of course, the Americans exerted their fabled ingenuity by developing a seedless variety of the Sunkist. But they didn't improve the flavor any. Chunking oranges will stand up against oranges produced anywhere.

Then too there is Italian ravioli. It isn't really Italian, your Chinese friends will tell you. Marco Polo picked up the idea during his stay in North China and took it back to Italy along with that particularly famous Italian dish, spaghetti. Spaghetti, it seems, came from the staple North China noodle.

Origin of Ravioli

Ravioli was developed from the Chinese "jaodze" but today they are both so much a part of their respective countries, and at the same time so much alike, that you are never sure of whether to think of them as Chinese ravioli or Italian jaodze. Chinese ravioli probably would be quite acceptable because no matter what the Italians call it, China had it first.

Those students of English literature who fancied the mead-drinking pre-Anglo Saxons can still get delicious mead around Kunming. Perhaps the early Britishers didn't copy their fermented honey brew from the Chinese, but the Chinese were drinking it long before Beowulf's clansmen served it at feasts.

Fight Over Rio Grande, Pecos Water Anticipated In Congress

By TEX EASLEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 20—The Texas and New Mexico members of Congress see eye-to-eye on most issues—but not on water.

Three separate fights have shaped over division of water flowing down the Pecos River and the Rio Grande. At stake are thousands of acres of rich farm lands, rich in production if they are irrigated.

The two states have compact commissions which try to work out mutually satisfactory agreements on all such problems. But they haven't solved this one. Until these commissioners, who are state officials, reach a complete agreement, the congressmen of both states are reluctant to yield on any points involving federal legislation.

The next fight in the offing involves repairs to the Fort Sumner, N. M., dam on the Pecos, at a cost of about $1,800,000.

Texas Position Stated

A bill authorizing the work passed the Senate in January. Senator Connally (D-Tex) then asked that the matter be reconsidered because he was absent when the vote was taken. He was attending a foreign relations committee meeting.

The measure has been held up since then, but last week Senator Hatch (D-NM) served notice he plans to call the question up for disposal as soon as he can get permission from floor leaders.

The opposition is part of a policy to precipitate an agreement between the two states on all water problems.

This week the Senate Public works committee took up legislation authorizing construction of two dams on the Rio Grande in New Mexico at a total cost of approximately $100,000,000.

On May 31 the Senate Interior Committee is scheduled to open a hearing on a bill for the rehabilitation of the Carlsbad, N. M., irrigation district, where an old dam and adjacent canals need repairing and rebuilding.

Texas's position in a nutshell, is this: It's all right for the New Mexicans to build and repair dams, especially for flood control purposes, but not to put new lands under irrigation if that means a reduction in the amount of water to which Texas is entitled.

Colorado Is Concerned

Colorado is a member of the Rio Grande Compact Commission, because the headwaters of that river are in its boundaries. Colorado has voiced greater opposition to New Mexico's Rio Grande dam proposals than has Texas, on the grounds they would precipitate priority claims on water which Colorado some day hopes to be able to use for irrigation.

Here's an exerpt from Gov. Beauford Jester's recent letter to Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall regarding the proposed Rio Grande improvements in New Mexico:

"It appears to Texas interests that reservoir capacity has been unduly stressed and channel capacity not fully exploited.

"It is requested that this feature be restudied in the light of our engineering reports enclosed. Texas interests desire much less reservoir capacity and far greater improved channel capacity.

Hearings Anticipated

"The reason for such desire is that, although it is stated that the reservoirs are for flood control only, future events might well lead to a reallocation of storage behind the dams when they come into existence, thereby placing in the hands of others not now responsible for operation of the dams the ability to withhold water due to the state of Texas, regardless of provisions of the tri-state Rio Grande Compact to provide water now due to the state of Texas for expansion of New Mexico irrigated lands inadvisedly improved for that purpose."

Texans who have been alerted to the forthcoming hearings include Charles H. Miller of Barstow, the Texas commissioner on the Pecos River Compact commission; J. E. Quaid of El Paso, the Texas commissioner on the Rio Grande Compact commission; Rowland Harwell, El Paso County Water Improvement District manager; J. E. Sturrock of Austin, manager of the Texas Water Conservation association, and Terrell Bartlett of the State Board of Water enigneers.

Supporting the view of the Texans on the Rio Grande water division issue are many irrigation farmers in New Mexico who are served out of the Elephant Butte dam, situated in New Mexico but downstream from the site of the two proposed dams.

Rep. Ken Regan of Midland is in charge of the Texas cause in the House.

Reports Show French Peoples' Health Is Steadily Improving

PARIS, May 20. (U.P.)—Heart disease was the No. 1 killer in France in 1946, the first post-war government survey or health showed.

Alcoholism, which reached its peak in the jittery depression year of 1933, hardly rates at all today as a cause of death in France.

The survey also showed that the death rate per 10,000 inhabitants in France was on a sharp decline since occupation. For example, in 1938, before the war, 155 people died yearly per 10,000 persons. That rose to 188 in 1942, a bitter year under the German occupation, but now has settled (for the year 1946) to 134, a proof that health conditions in France are improving.

Cancer and tuberculosis, two of the world's potent killers were on a slight decline in France over the occupation years.

Absent-Minded Professor's Watch Found With Detector

OMAHA, Neb., May 20 (U.P.)—A Geiger counter may be as useful to the absent-minded professor as it is to a prospector for uranium ore.

Kenneth Morton, University of Omaha physics student, demonstrated the possibility of finding the wrist watch misplaced by John G. McMillan, assistant physics professor.

Morton, who designed and built a Geiger counter for the university, claimed it was so sensitive it would react even to the small amount of radium on the dial of a watch.

He found the watch buried under a stack of papers on the professor's desk.

Sinbad The Pup Keeps Strict Schedule On Market Trips

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 20 (U.P.)—Charles Sharrow of La Mesa is never at a loss as to "where, oh where has my little dog gone?" at least at 9:30, 11:00, 2:30 and 4.

Sinbad, a sleek, black pet, always shows up at the same local meat market, barking and wagging his tail until the proprietor throws him a bone. Invariably it is at the above times.

Sinbad doesn't loiter, either. After he gets what he came for he runs right home.

Pick up and picnic this weekend. Fill your basket to over-flowing with ALL the picnic pleasures and smacking-good snacks that make the lunch the life of the party. Rival Demo Groups Set For Ballot Fight

Jester Forces Remain Silent

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 20—If the State Democratic organization has picked a slate of convention officers, it still isn't ready to talk about them.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester today showered his press conference with "no comments" in reply to direct questions on who might be favored for temporary chairman of the Brownwood convention, and on who might be put up for national committeeman.

Jester Has No Comment

He said he would confer with State Democratic executive committee chairman Robert W. Calvert, either at Hillsboro or Corsicana Sunday. Jester plans to spend the pre-convention weekend at home.

Jester said he had heard no talk of French Robertson of Abilene as the favored candidate for national committeeman to succeed Myron Blalock of Marshall.

"Is Wright Morrow of Houston still your man?" he was asked.

"No comment," said Jester. Reminded that he had once said Morrow would make a good national committeeman, Jester said he had nothing to add.

He said he thought the pro-Truman Democrats were making a tactical mistake to announce their slate of officers in advance of the convention.

"Something like hanging out a target?" he was asked. "That's right," the governor said.

"As a delegate from Travis county, will you support Mayor Tom Miller for national committeeman?" was another question that drew a "no comment" response. The Travis county delegation is pledged to back the Austin mayor.

Miller and Matt Davis of Gilmer recently proposed by Woodville Rogers of San Antonio, pro-Truman leader, as men who would make good national committeemen.

Support of Lee Lockwood of Waco for the committeeman post was described as "snowballing" today by Jessie S. Jones of San Antonio. He said Lockwood is "the one man who can bring the various factions that have developed within the party together again."

Lockwood, 49, is a Waco businessman. He is a graduate of the University of Texas and a lifelong resident of Waco, where he succeeded his father in business.

"While deeply interested in the political problems of his native state he has never sought any kind of political honors," Jones said.

Two States Are Refused Workers

WASHINGTON, May 20. (AP)—Mexico has "blacklisted" Arkansas and Mississippi, refusing to let Mexicans go there as temporary farm workers because of what it termed discrimination practices, U. S. government officials said today.

Officials of the U. S. Employment Service's farm placement division denied, however, that the U. S. government had encouraged the "blacklist." The USES said it has "made representations" to Mexico asking an explanation but has not yet received a reply.

Charge Is Made

Arkansas Governor Ben Laney charged earlier in the day that the federal employment service itself had denied Arkansas and Mississippi the use of migratory Mexican laborers because of the states' stand against President Truman's civil rights program.

"This is just the first of their squeeze plays," Laney said at Little Rock. He is chairman of the states rights Democrats organization which is opposing Mr. Truman's nomination for the presidency.

In Washington, a USES spokesman said the agency already has started attempts to get the two states workers from other sources outside the U. S., probably the British West Indies.

The spokesman said six Arkansas employers had made application for 1,035 Mexican workers and that three Mississippi employers had asked for another 260.

He said the first indication that any state was going to be blacklisted came Monday at Tampico, Mexico, when a Mexican government official told two Arkansas employer representatives there would be no migrations to either Arkansas or Mississippi because of race discrimination in those states.

Each U. S. employer seeking Mexican farm help must clear his request through USES and the U. S. immigration service, but he personally contracts for the labor with the Mexican government. The USES said no Arkansas or Mississippi applications for Mexican workers had been help up by this government.

The USES said a similar situation arose last year regarding Texas with the Mexican government threatening to "blacklist" that state.

Tech Club Honors 'Outstanding' Member

Baumgardner Wins Block, Bridle Award

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche Staff Writer

Robert W. Baumgardner, graduate of the agriculture division of Texas Technological college and now an assistant professor of animal husbandry at the college, was presented as the merit award winner for 1947 at the 14th annual banquet of the Block and Bridle club at Hotel Lubbock last night.

Chosen for the honor by a secret ballot of the club at large from a list of five candidates for the award Baumgardner was named the outstanding club member of 1947 on the basis of leadership and service. The award was announced by Delbert Devin, assistant professor of animal husbandry at Tech.

Ranch Manager Speaks

D. Burns, manager of the Pitchfork ranch and a schoolmate of Tech's Dean W. L. Stangel at Texas A & M college, made the principal talk of the evening. Burns emphasized the fields of agriculture and animal husbandry on the South Plains is still a wide-open field for the enterprising young man graduating from college and intending to enter such work.

He pointed out that the success of agriculture and ranching in this area will depend in the future upon successful programs of soil conservation, water conservation and development and range management.

Burns is one of two honorary members elected to the Block and Bridle club for 1948. The other honorary member, also present at the banquet, is George M. Boles, pioneer Lubbock county cattleman and breeder of registered Hereford cattle. Boles brought the first registered Hereford bull to Lubbock county in 1896, walking the animal down from Amarillo. Two Hereford heifers, some of the first Herefords given to Texas Tech, were gifts from the pioneer rancher.

Other Awards Presented

Winners Are Named

Herman Henson, superintendent of the recently held Block and Bridle club Junior Livestock Judging contest, presented winners in the various divisions of the contest with awards. Winners were: Robert D. Cox, high individual in all classes and high individual in swine production; W. D. Hancock, high in beef production; John Clark, high in sheep production; and W. D. Stalls, high in horse production.

Other judging teams which have competed for the college during the year were introduced at the meeting and commended for their work.

New Block and Bridle officers for the coming year, installed by Edd McLeroy, retiring president, are: President, Clinton Ritter; vice president, Will Hooks; secretary, Russell Sadler; treasurer, Jack Erwin and marshall, O. B. Freeman.

Edd McLeroy, president, presided at the banquet, which was attended by approximately 100 persons. Charles Hamilton was toastmaster for the occasion, and invocation was given by Robert Baumgardner.

FOSTER QUITS POST

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—The resignation of William C. Foster as Undersecretary of Commerce was accepted "reluctantly" by President Truman today, effective May 31. Foster is becoming chief aide to W. Averell Harriman, roving ambassador in the Economic Cooperation administration.

FREEDOM FROM METERS

MINOT, N. D. (U.P.) — Parking was free here the day the Freedom Train visited Minot. The city council voted not to enforce the parking meter ordinance that day.

Truman Faction Counts Support

SAN ANTONIO, May 20. (AP)—Pro-Truman Texas Democrats believe they hold nearly a third of the votes at the state convention in Brownwood Tuesday already instructed in their favor.

Their count gives a fractional advantage in numbers to forces backing Gov. Beauford Jester in his demand for an uninstructed delegation to the Philadelphia National convention in July.

Woodville J. Rogers, San Antonio attorney and leader of the Truman faction, adds up the list of votes by county delegations like this:

For Truman, about 550 votes. Against Truman and backing Gov. Jester, about 600 votes. Either instructed for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or with no instructions at all, about 650 votes.

Truman Issue In Balance

In such an alignment this latter group of 650 votes would hold the balance in the final settlement of the Truman issue for the state's 50 votes at the nomination convention in Philadelphia. In such a case the majority from the middle bloc could swing the state convention either way.

The Truman faction is wooing these votes with might and main.

Meanwhile, they have shown little warmth toward a proposal by Joe T. Steadham, who is chairman of the joint Railway Labor Legislative board of Texas and a member of the Bexar county delegation, to draft a candidate against Jester for governor.

As chairman of the Truman forces, Rogers has written to the chairman of every county delegation suggesting support of acceptable convention officers, national committeeman to succeed Myron Blalock of Marshall, who is retiring, and national committeewoman against Mrs. H. H. Weinert of Seguin.

Candidates Pushed

For committeeman, he said, "the Texas regulars are pushing Wright Morrow of Houston, who walked out of the 1944 Chicago convention. Two good men who would like to have this place are Mayor Tom Miller of Austin and Mat Davis of Gilmer. Either one of these men would suit me.

"Mrs. Jesse Andrews of Houston and Mrs. Currie McCutcheon of Dallas have been mentioned for committeewomen. Either of these two would add strength to our movement."

The Truman forces, Rogers said, will caucus at 8 p. m. Monday at the Brownwood hotel to prepare their lines for the convention floor fight. Floor leaders will be chosen and a decision made on the party officers to be chosen.

Texas Hater Thinks He Might Learn To Like State Better

HOUSTON, May 20 (AP)—Texas is "getting better all the time," Ray Halloran conceded today as he mopped lipstick off his grinning crimson countenance.

The young Cincinnati war veteran who cashed in on his wartime loathing of the Lone Star state had just been soundly smacked by four cowgirl cuties who met him at the airport.

Houston was his first stop on a postwar reappraisal trip over the state he panned unmercifully to win an essay contest held by the Madisonville Sidewalk Cowboys' association.

Lack of pretty girls and weather extremes during his training at army air fields at Wichita Falls, San Antonio and Hondo were two of Halloran's gripes. He even expressed preference for a Japanese prison camp, where he landed after bailing out of a B-29.

But today, both the weather and the girls were fair. Four beauteous models swarmed around him when he stepped off the plane and kissed him until his face looked like a pink calico print.

"It's getting better all the time," Halloran replied today when asked how he liked Texas now.

A reception committee of about a dozen officials and business men took over the welcome. Halloran was granted a mock visa to travel in Texas and branded on the forehead.

TWO BROTHERS HOLD AWARDS

Lubbock Men Have Impressive Record For Traffic Safety

"People want to get places these days, get there in a hurry, and they are not worrying too much about the other motorists in getting there." That was the opinion expressed Thursday by C. W. Hicks, one of two brothers who has worked 20 years in Lubbock's public transportation system.

The brothers, Chas. W. and Hub Hicks, both of whom now are officials in the transportation business, agree that courtesy on the part of motorists would decrease the number of accidents.

Watch Other Fellow

Watch your own driving and the other fellow's as well, one suggested. If the other fellow is anxious to get there faster than you, let him go on.

Each of the brothers has received a Texas State police, Department of Public Safety, certificate of merit "for operating a motor vehicle in such a manner as to reflect definite skill, courtesy and a knowledge of safe driving practices when observed by an officer of the Texas Highway patrol." The certificates were signed by Homer Garrison, jr., director of the state department.

Neither has had a chargeable accident in 20 years. C. W. Hicks this spring received a merit card from Royal Indemnity Co. certifying he had operated a commercial vehicle in the service of Lubbock Bus Co. 20 years "with a clear record for safe driving." He is superintendent of Lubbock Bus Co. The card was signed by J. A. Fortenberry, bus company manager.

Hub Hicks, who is superintendent of Transportation, Inc., which operates school buses of Lubbock Independent School district, has driven 833,000 miles without a chargeable accident. He received the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce award for safe driving in 1940.

The attribute their avoidance of accidents to two factors—being careful and being lucky. One has to be careful to avoid accidents, but luck also is important, they said.

So long a part of the transportation industry in Lubbock that they wanted to know what there was to write about, the two men were asked some of the changes in the transportation business over the period of 20 years. C. W. Hicks started work as a kid sweeping out for the City Bus company in 1927, then began driving in 1928. Hub Hicks began driving in 1928. Both have driven buses and taxicabs.

Relations Change

One of the principal changes have noted is in the driver-customer relations. They miss the old days when Lubbock was a sprawling country town, with the housewives coming out to the bus to give the driver a piece of cake or pie or a cookie, and when the bus occupants were like a happy family.

C. W. Hicks recalled that the same customers rode again and again and there were fewer of them than today. About a dozen men and one young woman were customers on one early morning run years ago, he said. After the

Navy Oil Shift Plan Rejected

WASHINGTON, May 20 (U.P.) — A Navy plan to transfer naval oil reserves in Wyoming and California to the Interior department was rejected by a House Armed Services subcommittee today after Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), warned it might lead to another Teapot Dome scandal.

The Navy said its reserves at Buena Vista, San Joaquin Valley, Cal., and Teapot Dome, Wyo. no longer have any military value. It said the Interior department could administer the lands better than the Navy.

Vinson Protests Plan

Vinson protested that this is exactly what happened in the 1920's when Interior Secretary Albert Fall was accused of turning over to Harry Sinclair oil rights in the Wyoming reserve.

Congress subsequently reversed the earlier shift, and created by law the two naval oil reserves. Vinson, in a warm exchange with Commodore W. G. Greenman, director of the naval oil reserves, asserted:

"You are asking us to do in Teapot Dome exactly what Secretary Fall did in opening it up to Sinclair, except that you're opening it up to everyone. Isn't that true?"

Bill Is Tabled

"No sir," shot back Greenman. "That's an unfair statement!"

Vinson said he had been approached by an oil man who wanted him to support the shift. He added that "for some reason the oil people are not interested in having the Navy exercise any control over these reserves."

At Vinson's insistence, a bill to authorize the shift to interior was tabled by a unanimous vote. This in effect kills it.

Greenman told the subcommittee the Navy never has been able to control production in the San Joaquin valley reserve because much of the surrounding area is being drained by private interests.

SHOOT STRAIGHT OR ELSE

RICHMOND, Va. (U.P.) — Take careful aim, brother, when you get set to shoot somebody in Virginia. The state law says that if you hit him and wound him, you will be charged with malicious wounding. But if you miss, there's the more serious charge of attempted murder.

Blind Student Meets Doomed Convict Who Will Give Up Eyes

HUNTSVILLE, May 20 (AP) — Alfred Johnson, blind Hardin-Simmons university student, today met Joseph Lee Saulter, doomed convict who is to give Johnson his eyes.

The meeting was held in the death house at the main unit of the prison system and lasted 30 minutes.

Johnson was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. James M. Shelton and Alfred Toombs of Abilene, who conducted a short religious testimonial service at which time Saulter prayed for the success of the forthcoming operation.

Experience Is Told

Saulter on bended knee stated that he held no malice towards anyone and asked God to have mercy on his soul.

Saulter told the group of the countless letters of praise he had received from people all over the nation and further said that it was then he realized that he must accept Jesus as his savior. This came about, said Saulter, one night recently when he could not sleep. Taking the book of John, he read to himself and thought of the letters he had received and from then on, he rested peacefully and felt better than any time since his arrival in the death house, he declared.

In the conversation with Saulter, Johnson told how he lost his sight and Saulter assured Johnson that everything would be all right. Saulter said "go ahead and have the operation and God bless you."

Private Service Described

The meeting closed with a religious song by Mr. and Mrs. Shelton titled "I Won't Have to Cross Jordan Alone" as Johnson and Saulter clasped each other's hands.

Shelton explained that the trip to Huntsville was a result of the wishes of a group of business and professional men in Abilene who meet each Saturday morning for a devotional called the upper room breakfast. Shelton is in the automobile business in Abilene. Toombs operates a real estate agency.

Upon leaving the prison, Johnson said: "I feel so much better about the operation because I know that my benefactor, Joseph Lee Saulter, has accepted Christ as his saviour. I know we will meet again in another world."

LAND SPECULATION LAGS

U. S. Farmers Make Good Use Of Prosperity By Reducing Debts

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
INS Economic Commentator

As the Congress faces the problem of converting emergency wartime farm support legislation into a more permanent pattern, it should be clearly understood that the subject is more than the special interest of one segment of the population.

When farmers are in balanced income relationship with industry, the whole national economy benefits. The market for automobiles and all varieties of industrial products is enhanced.

The adjustment also has far-reaching financial implications. For example, LeRoy Lincoln, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, recently pointed out that his company had disposed of all farm properties obtained during the period of wholesale foreclosures during the 1930's. Having the capital to wait and to improve properties, the company came out whole, and in nearly a fifth of the cases resold the properties to the very farmers who had earlier been subjected to foreclosure.

Farmers Better Educated

Better education of farmers has definitely taken them out of the hick class, and this has been demonstrated anew by the manner in which American farmers made use of the windfall of warbred agricultural prosperity. Instead of following the ancient fallacy of using good times as an excuse to go off on a speculative orgy, and borrow to buy additional land at fancy prices, farmers paid off debt.

In the old days farmers committed the error of greed which the late Andrew M. Mellon, one-time secretary of the treasury, described to me after the Wall Street panic of October, 1929. Referring to the inexperienced stock speculator, Mellon remarks: "People risk what they have and need for what they don't have and don't need."

While government and industry had been ballooning indebtedness, farmers were making hay—in a financial sense.

In the great agricultural belt served by the federal reserve bank of Minneapolis, farmers reduced their real estate debt sharply since 1940. Farm mortgage debt in the district is 35 per cent below that of January 1, 1940, and is down 70 per cent from the peak following World War I.

Besides, there has been a decrease in the number of farms mortgaged.

Moneylenders think that the decline in farm mortgages has already gone the limit, and is now in the process of reversing itself. For the country as a whole, there was a two per cent increase in the volume of farm real estate loans in 1946 and some further slight increase last year.

There is now a demand for credit to carry on deferred land improvements and to satisfy pent up demand for farm equipment, which was unavailable during the war years. Moreover, with farm prices back to the post-World War I peak and standing at 205 per cent of the 1935-1939 average, it takes substantial funds for new buyers to finance transactions.

Heavy Losses Recalled

In interpreting the reasons for the paying off of farm debt since 1940, the Minneapolis reserve bank points out:

"The pattern of farm real estate credit use during World War II was influenced by several factors:

"First, an extremely intensive educational program was directed against speculation in farm land and the use of credit to expand farm operations to any great extent. The memory of severe losses incurred from speculation after World War I made these educational measures doubly effective.

"Second, much farm machinery and equipment was not available during the war period. This trend to discourage the purchase of farm land by speculators and those who found it difficult or impossible to get equipment with which to operate. Operating farmers were thus the chief buyers of farm land.

"Third, production of crops olus a price level of farm commodities two or three times pre-war placed many farmers, particularly the grain farmers, in a very favorable financial position. Costs of farming have increased, it is true, but until quite recently these have lagged behind prices received by farmers. Therefore, farmers generally have been able to accumulate savings which cut down some of the demand for real estate credit."

FISH OUT OF WATER

GOSHEN, Ind. (U.P.) — Richard Klaveren insists it isn't a fish story when he tells friends that a 25-pound carp caused his motor trouble. Klaveren was returning from a trip when his car stalled. A filling station attendant found the big fish placed under the hood and atop the motor by some prankster.

73-Year-Old Waxahachie Mayor Is Also Town's Historian

WAXAHACHIE, May 20 (U.P.)—Ross Wheatley Davis is not only Waxahachie's new mayor, but also the town historian.

Davis, 73, was born in 1874 at South Prong Branch, three miles south of Waxahachie. His grandfather had lived in the area since 1854.

The First Lady of Waxahachie also comes from a pioneer family, her parents settling in this section of Texas in the 70's.

James S. Davis, the mayor's father, ran an oil mill here in 1892 and was a city councilman in 1897. The mayor and Mrs. Davis were married Feb. 3, 1897, in Waxahachie's First Methodist church. They have two daughters, Mrs. R. D. McCready of Houston, and Mrs. W. J. Graveling of Laredo, and one son, Mac Davis of Houston.

The Davises lived for a number of years in San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Houston before returning here in 1932, where they have lived since.

Davis was in the farm mortgage business a number of years but he lays claim to being a farmer as well as a city dweller. Mrs. Davis long has been active in Parent - Teacher association work, the Rebeccas, the DAR, church activities and garden clubs.

THEFT OR BARTER?

TACOMA, Wash. (U.P.) — Mrs. Paul A. Olson returned home from a trip and found that someone had entered her home and stolen several articles of her underclothing. But in return she found a two-piece woman's suit and four skirts lying in neat order on her bed.

Young To Seek Lines Control

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20 (INS)—Robert R. Young, chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, said today in San Francisco that he hopes to gain control of both the New York Central and the Virginia.. lines.

Young said he plans to make application to the Interstate Commerce commission and ask that he be allowed to have a voice in the affairs of both companies by reason of his stock holdings.

The fiery railroad magnate was bitter in his criticism of the ICC for turning down his recent application for a place on the board of directors of the New York Central. Young told a San Francisco news conference that he owns 400,000 shares of New York Central stock—more than any other individual stockholder.

Young blamed what he called the "banker monopoly" for opposing his attempt to get on the New York Central board. He asserted that the "Mellon, Harriman and Morgan interests" control United States railroads.

Young was also highly critical of President Truman and Defense Secretary Forrestal and said they had demonstrated "the height of naladministration" in seeking billions of dollars for overseas air ases without asking for funds

Famed Canadian War Ace Dies In Crash

ROME, May 20 (INS)—George F. "Buzz" Beurling, Canada's leading ace of World War II. was killed in a plane crash today while flying to help the Jewish state of Israel.

The 26-year-old former flight lieutenant, and Leonard Cohen, his co-pilot and also a Canadian Royal Air Force flier in the last war, died in the flaming wreckage of a light plane they were attempting to fly to Palestine.

The plane, one of three light Jewish planes enroute to the Holy Land war from the United States, crashed as it was taking off from an airport outside of Rome.

Beurling, who was credited with shooting down 32 Nazi and Italian planes during the war, became known as the "Hero of Malta."

He got 29 of the enemy planes over that tiny British island fortress in the Mediterranean.

A bullet-wound in the heel sent the Canadian "Achilles" to a hospital.

U.S. Public Ready To Approve Defense Pact With West Europe

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 20—There is strong evidence that the American people are prepared to give military backing to the new movement toward unity among Western European nations.

A coast-to-coast poll by the Institute shows that more than six out of every ten American voters would approve a military alliance between their country and the sixteen nations participating in the Marshall Plan.

GALLUP

This will come as important news to European statesmen who have lead the burgeoning movement for a union of Western European powers in the face of Russian threats. To date it has been an open question whether public opinion in this country would support a pledge of American military assistance in case one of the European nations were attacked.

Nation-wide setiment on this issue was tested in the following manner.

"Do you think the United States and all the Western European countries participating in the Marshall Plan should join together in a permanent military alliance—that is, agree to come to each other's defense immediately if any one of them is attacked?"

The answers:

Military alliance	65%
No military alliance	21
No opinion	14

The idea of a close political and economic union of the countries of western Europe dates back many years, indeed many generations. In recent times Winston Churchill has often advocated a United States of Europe, a scheme which he reiterated this month at the Congress of Europe at the Hague.

Last year General de Gaulle of France proposed a military alliance among England, France and the United States, declaring that success of such a venture would depend on United States military support.

Several months later Ernest Bevin, British Foreign Minister, made his famous suggestion for a Western European Union, which bore fruit last March in the Brussels past between England, and France and the so-called Benelux countries—Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

Polls conducted by overseas affiliates of the Gallup Poll show widespread popular acceptance of the unity movement in Europe.

English voters who had heard of Mr. Bevin's proposal favor the union in the proportion of 11 to one, according to a survey conducted by the British Institute of Public Opinion. Similar polls by the Netherlands and French Institutes of Public Opinion showed Dutch voters approving the idea by more than three to one, and French voters by more than four to one.

What today's survey of American sentiment indicates is that people here will support even greater strides toward European consolidation than the union already established. Voters are interested in building a bulwark against further Soviet aggression.

Apparently the stronger that bulwark is, the better Americans like it. Approval of an alliance with sixteen European countries is more widespread than it is for the same kind of an alliance with just England and France. An Institute poll last February showed only 51 per cent voting for that proposal and even fewer approving a pact with either France or England alone.

Hardin College Faculty Member Will Join Texas Tech Staff

Thelbert Miller, now heading the animal husbandry department at Hardin college, Wichita Falls, will join the Texas Technological college faculty as assistant to W. L. Stangel, dean of Agriculture, and as an instructor in animal husbandry. He will take up his duties June 1.

Miller received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Tech in animal husbandry in 1946 and will work toward the requirements for his masters degree in addition to his duties as assistant to Dean Stangel. During his senior year at Tech he served as president of the Aggie club and in World War II he was a pilot in the Army Air Forces.

Roy Rogers, 'Sons Of The Pioneers' Part Ways After Years Of Trouping Together

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Motion Picture Editor

HOLLYWOOD, May 20—I think it is extremely important that the fine work being done at the Lou Costello Jr. foundation will be the basis of a movie. But I am going to argue with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello that they are crazy to appear in just one short!

They have poured $350,000 of their own money into battling juvenile delinquency and have almost gone broke maintaining the center. Aren't they being a little too modest?

Instead, William Bendix will be the star of "$10,000 Kids and a Cop" and Bill appears without a cent of salary. Everything is gratis—the Nasser studio space, the music of Jan Garber, the direction of Charles Barton and processing of the film is by Pathe, RCA and Monogram.

Proceeds, of course, will be poured right back into the boys recreational center.

Stewart To Get Role

Wonder what happened with Roy Rogers and the "Sons of the Pioneers" to make them part company? Why, Roy has been as close to the "Sons of the Pioneers" as cheese is to apple pie. He was with them when he was discovered for movies.

They have been in every Rogers picture and in his radio show, as well.

Now Roy has stepped out and Bob Nolan takes over the star spot. Nolan will be on the radio and in the movies with the "Pioneers."

Jimmy Stewart is going to do the "Monty Stratton" picture. You will not hear a word about it, because the movie doesn't start until September, but I know that Jack Cummings, who never wanted anyone else but Jimmy, has stuck to his guns and postponed the picture to a time that will be convenient for the popular James.

It was Metro where Jimmy Stewart first became known as a movie actor, and he was there until the time he went to war.

Actress Is Praised

I am not surprised, after catching a sneak preview of "Key Largo" that Jack Warner may sign Claire Trevor. She is so good that you realize again what a swell trouper this gal is, and when given a chance, what a fine actress.

And believe me, it is some competition to go against Humphrey Bogart, who is also slightly terrific in "Key Largo"—and baby is good, too.

I am not supposed to write a review of the picture, but I happened to catch it, and I want to say it is good, good, good!

Chatter in Hollywood: When Deanna Durbin came to have a cup of tea with me one day last week, she said she was going to spend every minute of her vacation with Jessica, her two-year-old daughter.

"I've made so many pictures, and when I am working I have so little time to spend with her," Deanna said. "I want to have her all to myself."

So in spite of the fact that Hugo Fregonese, who is in Buenos Aires making pictures, sent Deanna a fabulous offer for a four weeks' personal appearance tour in the Argentine, I know she will turn it down. She was told she could name her own price and the money would be deposited in an American bank in advance.

Texas Tech Aberdeen Angus Bull Sold To Brownfield Men

El Dee's Lad D, sire of the Texas Technological college's Aberdeen Angus herd for the past four years, was sold Wednesday to Crede Gore and Money Price, who will use the bull to sire their Brownfield herd, according to W. L. Stangel, dean of the agriculture department at Tech.

The bull can no longer be used in Tech's herd without inbreeding, Stangel said.

AMAZING RESULTS WITH MERTOX TONIC

Mrs. Ben Grossman of Houston writes us as follows:

"For a long time I have had occasional billious spells. My head would hurt and I would vomit my food. My last spell was very severe and I just thought I would die. My appetite was poor and I couldn't sleep at night. I was so troubled with my limbs stiffening just before I would have a spell of gas and bloat. I would be dizzy and I would have a severe headache. My food soured and it just seemed as if everything was wrong with me. To anyone suffering like I was, I recommend Mertox highly."

This splendid medicine, containing 28 ingredients, works fast to eliminate poisonous matter from your system. Helps to build rich, red blood. Machine-Hungry Latins Resent American Aid Going To Europe

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP)—Below the Rio Grande, from Mexico to Argentina, there are men, both in and out of the government, who resent the large chunks of American aid going to Europe. Latin resentment on the subject is one of the large hurdles the State department has ahead of it in keeping friendly nations tied to the American plan for keeping the peace and rebuilding the peaceful sections of the world.

Latin resentment is not caused so much because American aid—much of it charity—is going to another portion of the world. It is rather because Latins want American machinery to build up their own manufacturing industries. And they fear that the Marshall plan for Europe will send most of the United States' extra machinery across the Atlantic and that little machinery will be left to ship to the Latin countries. And there is another difference. The Latins are not so much interested in aid—free help—as they are in just the right to buy the machinery which is now very short in the world. Many of the Latin nations are able to pay cash if they can just get the allocations.

Plead For Machinery

In conference after conference they have made this plea for machinery. At the United Nations, at the Havana conference on world trade, and at the recent Inter-American conference at Bogota, the Latins have argued that they must have the machines to set up some manufacturing industries. Historically, the Latin nations have supplied the industrial nations to the north with the raw materials for their factories and grocery stores—minerals, grains, leather, and meats. In return, they have bought autos, locomotives, radios, clothes, electrical equipment, and so on.

Now they are determined to turn out some of their own manufactured goods. But they need our machines to get a good start. In particular they want machines for transportation, power equipment, and some machines to turn out the most essential consumers goods.

From our side, various U. S. officials have argued: (1) The U. S. can't help Europe and Latin America at the same time to the same degree. (2) Peace and revived trade in Western Europe (which will be helped by the Marshall plan) is just as important to Latin America as it is to the United States. (3) Many of the dollars which Europe gets through the Marshall plan will be spent in Latin America. And Latin America will be free, in turn, to spend those dollars in the United States market. (4) Latin American governments must be careful to industrialize gradually enough so that when they get machines, their people will be able to run them efficiently, as fast as they arrive. (5) Some Latin countries are already buying more than they can afford, and hence should pull in their belts for a while before they go deeper in debt for more foreign purchases. (6) At the same time the Latins are demanding machines for their own manufacturing industries, they are talking about new tariffs to keep out foreign goods, including American goods. So, in effect, the United States is being asked to help start a Latin-American manufacturing industry. At the same time U. S. factories are being denied the right to sell in Latin American markets.

Talk on this subject with the Latin American countries has been intense for some time. Both sides show good will in trying to get a friendly solution. Both the North and South American continents recognize that they need each others' friendship, in the face of alarums from the Old World.

SAYS TRIAL UNFAIR—Willie M. Everett, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., lawyer and former Army officer, reads from proceedings of German War Crimes trial. Everett, who defended 74 Germans during the trials, said the men received an unfair trial. Army Secretary Royall intervened and stayed the execution, pending further investigation, of 17 of the Germans who were doomed to die May 20. (NEA Telephoto).

Funeral Services Set Sunday For Lubbock War Veteran

Funeral services for Pfc. John Henry Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. Day of 2124 Sixth street, will be conducted at 3:30 p. m. Sunday in First Baptist church, with Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Tech Memorial Park cemetery under direction of Plains Funeral home, with the Veterans of Foreign Wars in charge of graveside military rites. The body arrived in Lubbock early Thursday morning from the Fort Worth distribution center.

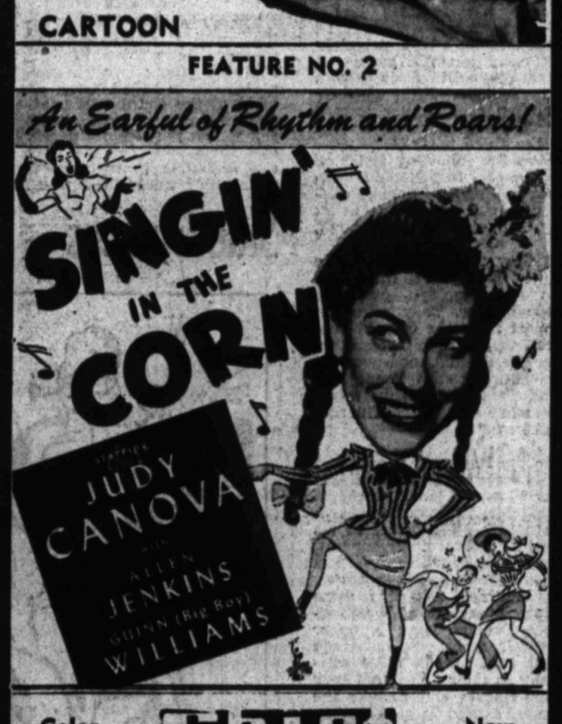

Day, who served in the 45th division with the 179th infantry, was killed by artillery fire on Jan. 10, 1945, during the recapture of Metz, Germany.

OMINOUS PRELUDE

Holy Land Fighting

THOSE who recall the Spanish Revolution as the prelude to World War II may view fighting in the Holy Land with foreboding. They wonder whether this is a dress rehearsal for another global conflict.

In some respects, present fighting seems less menacing to global peace than the Spanish war. In Spain, German and Italian men and materials gave victory to Francisco Franco, the present dictator. Russians fought on the other side. Foreign legions apparently are not helping Arabs or Jews now. Potential enemies in a world war aren't shooting at each other as they did in Spain, which offers some encouragement.

But some other aspects incite more alarm over Holy Land fighting as a menace to world peace than appeared justified because of the Spanish revolt. Interests of many nations clash much more sharply in the Near East than they did in Spain. Sympathies and prejudices are far more pronounced than when Spaniards were fighting each other. The scene of present fighting is infinitely more dangerous as a world powder keg than Spain appeared to be.

Furthermore there are evidences that some so-called neutral nations are not keeping hands off the Holy Land struggle. The belligerents there are using modern weapons they certainly did not manufacture themselves. Someone is supplying them, probably with the knowledge of the governments of the nations from which they come. Someone is profiting, or hopes to profit, from the Holy Land war.

In Spain, the great powers easily could have enforced peace had they chosen to act together. They didn't They pretended to "deplore" the bloodletting. But they did nothing to stop it.

They can put out the fire in the Holy Land now, if and when they choose. It remains to be seen whether they will so choose, and thus demonstrate that world diplomacy can learn from horrifying experience. Unhappily, the present outlook is none too encouraging.

Justified Intervention

OFFICIALS of the American Telephone and Telegraph co. have expressed displeasure with President Truman for ordering an immediate investigation into a threatened strike of long distance operators. Reasons for their objections are vague.

It is a safe bet, however, that Mr. Truman's forthright action meets with the approval of about 99 per cent of the telephone users. Common sense suggests that the sooner the problem is tackled, the greater the probability a strike can be avoided.

It would be absurd to wait until the last minute, hoping the company and the union workers would work out some satisfactory agreement among themselves. These groups in the telephone and many other industries have demonstrated too often they cannot, or will not, do that.

Their repeated failures or refusals to settle their own squabbles thoroughly justify the President in stepping in to protect the interests of the masses. They have been ignored too long already in such matters.

RUSH drew a deep breath. "Enos and I had agreed not to leave Laurie alone for a minute if we could help it. And then I started thinking about the lab and the possibilities of the bacteria . . . and I knew if she ever got on to that—well, I knew I had to get you away. I didn't give a hoot if she never got caught—I never went through such hell as when you thought it was me. You did, didn't you?"

She flushed.

"That's what I wanted to apologize for. That's why I said I'd eat crow. I can't even explain now—"

"You don't have to. The only thing is, I thought I had you sold and then, 10 minutes later, while you were packing, you turned into a terrified rabbit. What happened?"

"I opened your leather case looking for a toothbrush."

"Oh, Ann! Poor baby."

She shivered again at the recollection and said, "I had a few pretty bad minutes."

"I hid them because I was scared sick Blanding would find them. Enos and I didn't want the law in on it—not until we knew what was wrong with her. Knowing the police were after her might have — well, might have made it worse than it was. And by themselves none of those things meant anything. Sam didn't notice that the clock was locked but don't you see, until you mentioned it, he wouldn't have thought anything of it if he had noticed. Your note to Enos and the letter from Cheyenne I hid because I didn't want Laurie to see them. You left the note on your desk and the letter on your bed. I found it there when we came upstairs the night Tommy died."

SHE moved in his arms. She felt so warm and sofe.

"But the worst hell has been the things you kept saying while you were delirious. You kept warning Laurie not to let me in—you—even after Laurie died you kept screaming for them to keep me away."

"It was horrible, that delirium." She shuddered.

His arm tightened about her thin shoulders.

"And you'll forgive me for trying to convince you you were crazy? It was a hard thing to do but I couldn't see any other way."

"Rush!" She jerked upright, moved away from him so that she could look into his face. "Rush, you tried to drown me! You upset the canoe — and then when I thought you were trying to help me you dragged me under."

"Honest to gosh," he said and his voice was appalled still at the memory, "the things that can happen. Ann, that started out to be a very innocent on the up-and-up canoe trip. Before heaven it was. I lighted a cigaret for you and—"

"You leaned forward to hand it to me—" she said.

"And got stung by a wasp! Did you ever," he demanded indignantly, "get stung by a wasp? On your fanny? It was like getting hit by a bullet. Of course I jerked. Of course I upset the canoe. And then, when I got all set to play hero and make the big rescue from the paws of death, I got a cramp in my leg that pulled me right under the water. I didn't even have enough sense to let you go. So you end up with pneumonia!" His face as well as his voice was disgusted. "Me—trying to play Van Johnson—at my age!"

"I like your age," she said softly. "You suit me fine."

"THAT's because you're a dope," he said as he kissed her. "You got sick so fast you scared me silly. I had to get help. I phoned for Enos to get the doctor and get there pronto. And Laurie came along. That was just dandy, that was."

"Well, but if Enos knew"—Her voice was grieved again at the thought of Laurie — "why'd he bring her?"

"Bring Laurie? Did you ever succeed in talking Laurie out of something she wanted to do? So he stayed with her every minute —watched her all the time.

"She thought I'd gone for medicine—and she thought Enos was asleep. We were sure that if we gave her enough rope . . ."

Ann nodded. Her eyes were full of tears.

"Poor little Laurie," she said.

Rush raised her chin, looked deep into her eyes.

"We'll have none of that," he said sternly. "And you're not to blame yourself. Laurie was what she was and there wasn't anything we could do about it. She was sick — that's all—terribly sick. That's what you have to remember whenever you start—". His voice changed, he drew her close. "It's all over, Ann. All of it."

"I know." Her voice was muffled in his coat.

"But there's one thing I want to know, Ann. You're sure you understand it all? Why I did the things I did? You do love me?"

Her smile was tremulous. It almost wasn't a smile at all.

"Always," she said solemnly. "As long as I live."

THE END

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

A NEW YORK woman was adjudged guilty and fined because the police found a numbers slip in her Bible.

The judge was quite correct when he chided the woman for using the Holy Book for such a purpose and when he remarked that "this is another illustration of the old proverb that the devil will use the Decalogue to serve his purpose."

BRANDEIS

our own government which condemns fraud and crime, yet insists on being a partner in the gains gotten from fraud and crime?

Just recently the U. S. Attorney served a judgment and demand for payment of $307,947 on George A. Scalise, former union czar, who is now serving a three-and-a-half year sentence for income tax evasion.

In the first place, Scalise's income, on which the Government is trying to collect, was obtained by extortion and fraud, in other words, illegally.

In the second place he is now serving a prison sentence for his crime.

"You must not steal or blackmail or extort," says our Government. "If you do we'll send you to prison.

"But we want our share of your profits."

Nice ethics, isn't it? Just what you would teach your children, or what they would learn in Sunday school, isn't it?

Here's another good one:

The Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has ruled that the United States Treasury is entitled to its share in a swindle.

A fellow sold a wealthy Texas woman maps to a buried "Gold Hoard" for $272,000. She happily dug up "gold bars" all over her ranch, only to discover they were brass.

The swindler advised her to hide the "gold," as it was against Federal laws to have gold bars.

But finally, upon urgent request of the 82-year-old victim, the crook consented to sell her "gold."

But he came back and told her he had been held up and her treasure had been stolen.

The case was in the courts for a long time and finally the above-mentioned decision was handed down.

But, mind you, the Court made a fine distinction.

While the profit from an embezzlement is not taxable, the profit from a swindle is:

INCIDENTALLY, if you should ever think of cracking a safe, I want to remind you that you are responsible for the damage done to that safe, even if you are acquitted of the burglary charge.

A Surety Company has just brought suit against a yegg for $707.25 damages to a bank vault which he cracked open some time ago.

The fellow was acquitted of the burglary charge but is now serving a 15-to-20-year sentence for grand larceny.

TOP LEGION LEADERS

Oppose Military Pact

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Policy-making heads of the American Legion look with skepticism on any form of hard-and-fast military tieup with Western European nations in accord with unofficial proposals now circulating here and in certain foreign capitals.

In executive consideration of the role which the U. S. might have to play under possible untoward circumstances, ranking officials of the World War I organization have given a sharp negative to suggestions of an "alliance" as a means to check Communism and prevent another conflict. They even banned the idea of an advance pledge to "assist" foreign powers.

TUCKER

They finally settled on a decision favoring "cooperation" because this meant that all other nations would "work with" us in any general program rather than expect us to bear the heaviest share of the burden.

VETO: This analysis of Legion sentiment was recently presented to the House Foreign Affairs committee in a side comment by Anson T. McCook, distinguished World War I veteran and chairman of the Legion's Foreign Relations commission.

Mr. McCook also expressed disagreement with Secretary of State Marshall and Warren R. Austin, American representative to the United Nations, on the question of revision of the U.N. Charter.

In his opinion, there should be an attempt to strengthen the international organization by eliminating the veto insofar as it applies to action against an aggressor. While conceding that the U.N. needed amendment so as to make it more effective, he declared that revision could be accomplished within the framework of the world body.

Should that fail, he advocated an attempt to reorganize the U.N. without Russia on the ground that Moscow had "read itself out of the family of friendly nations."

IMBROGLIO: Committee members questioned Mr. McCook long and closely, and seemed to place considerable importance on his views, largely because he represented 3,000,000 alumni of the first world conflict. His attitude intrigued them because Capitol Hill foreign relations experts are still puzzled by our latest imbroglio with Moscow as a result of the Smith-Molotov conversations.

Although sore at what they call the "Kremlin's double-crossing," Congressional sentiment reflects a critical attitude toward the White House for initiating the embarrassing affair at all. They recognize that Secretary Marshall tried to save the day by insisting that all Russo-American differences can and should be settled inside the United Nations. They are inclined, however, to regard this comeback as an after-thought and face-saving device.

Unless Moscow agrees soon to the new Marshall formula, and adopts a more reasonable attitude at U.N. councils, there may be an overwhelming Congressional demand for creation of a new world body that will leave Russia on the outside looking in.

It may require all of Senator Vandenberg's influence and political statesmanship to suppress this movement. As of today, he sides with the Secretary of State, figuring that a Soviet ouster would kill all chance of any peaceable settlement of the two nations' differences.

REVOLT: Although few politicians expect the Wallace third party to muster enough votes to throw the presidential election into the House, the Southern revolt against President Truman may produce such a result, if it materializes. In that event, any sizable Congressional group loyal to the Iowan might have some influence in the final decision.

Mr. Wallace's board of strategy is not advertising its plans in advance, but if it should have any voice in such a rare contest, their presidential favorites on the Republican side are Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, president pro tem of the upper chamber, and Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. of the House. They swear they would never cast a ballot or use their personal influence for President Truman.

The Wallace strategists do not like Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, but they prefer him to Senator Robert A. Taft or Harold E. Stassen, who have been placed on their black list.

The only reason they give for their partiality toward Mr. Vandenberg and Mr. Martin is, to use their own words, that "they would be less likely to get us into war and use that as a pretext for scrapping the Constitution." Attempts to elicit a more detailed and logical explanation of this comment always prove unsuccessful.

RUIN: Wallace spokesmen admit privately that they will not carry a single state, but they quickly add that they will roll up enough votes to "ruin Harry Truman." Although their leader professes no personal enmity toward the President, Mr. Truman seems to be the private enemy of the third partyites.

They list, in order, the following states as those in which they expect to poll their largest votes: New York, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Ohio (if they can get on the ticket there), New Jersey, and, surprisingly enough, Oklahoma.

They insist that they will carry the three principal counties of New York City—The Bronx, Manhattan and Brooklyn—over the Democrats and Republicans. They count on drawing chief support from the colored people, the Jews, Italians, Puerto Ricans (in Manhattan's Upper East Side), non-overlapping labor units, church, educational and "peace" groups. These are the elements which once enabled F.D.R. and Fiorello H. LaGuardia to sweep the "big town."

RESENT: "Why do the Roosevelt people and the so-called liberals seem to dislike President Truman so violently?" asks T.M. of Brooklyn. "It seems to me that Mr. Truman has shown himself to be as strong a New Dealer as his predecessor was, and deserves their support, if they have any gratitude or political loyalty."

Answer: Many inquiries ask this same question, as do many observers at Washington. But the New Dealers were a queer crowd—temperamental, ambitious, one-track minded, impractical and, withal, quite serious and conscientious in their belief that they could "roll up their sleeves and remake the world" all by themselves and in a twinkling.

Mr. Truman is not their type. He is modest, slow-moving, not overweeningly ambitious. He does not regard himself as a genius or even a gifted statesman and world leader. He is more the Jim Farley than the F.D.R. kind of politician, and if the former can be believed, he did not stand too high with the Roosevelt family, the "brain trust" or the hangers-on.

In talking with many departed New Dealers, I find their chief complaint to be that Mr. Truman, although he professes his belief in Rooseveltian principles, does not follow through with performance. In their opinion, he gives only political lip service to his predecessor's program.

There weren't as many accidents in the horse and buggy days. A fellow wouldn't think of riding in a death-trap on the highway

ELECTORAL COLLEGE OUTMODED

Change In Voting Plan Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Congress has a splendid chance at this session to start a long-needed reform on its way. This is abolition of the antique and outmoded electoral college system and substitution of popular election of our presidents.

The opportunity is offered in a proposed constitutional amendment which has been reported favorably from the Judiciary committees of both House and Senate and is waiting on the calendar. Passage by the necessary two-thirds of each branch would send it to the states, of which approval by three-fourths is needed for ratification.

STOKES

The amendment would abolish the electoral college but retain the electoral votes. Under it, each candidate would receive the proportion of the electoral vote of each state to which his popular vote entitled him. For example, if the Republican candidate received 60 per cent of the popular vote in Ohio and the Democratic candidate 40 per cent, the Republican would get 15 electoral votes, and the Democrat, 10. As it is now, the Republican would get all 25, and so on with every state.

South Is Example

Congress not only has the opportunity to do something now, but it also has today a glaring example of how the electoral system might be abused. This is in the South where, as we are aware, plans are afoot among Democratic organizations in a few states to withhold the electoral vote from President Truman because of his civil-rights program.

There is no certainty that these states will go through with their plan, but if they do, the result will be to place in the hands of a few men the right to cast the vote of the state, no matter how the people voted. The people would be voting blind. Many might vote for President Truman. He might get a majority. But, if the plot goes through, these votes wouldn't count.

There's another possibility in the South this year. Because of southern resentment against the President, there is a chance that a Republican might carry one or more of the states that used this device — rather remote, it is true. But unless the electors decided to cast their votes for the Republican candidate in such an event, which they would hardly be likely to do, the people who voted for the Republican would be disfranchised. If the electors decided to cast their votes for a third candidate, then the people's votes for neither the Democrat nor the Republican would count.

This is merely cited as an example of what could happen. The proposed amendment would not apply to the 1948 election. But it does have application to the future and to such a contingency as has occurred three times in our history, when the candidate who got the biggest popular vote lost the presidency through the electoral system. The amendment would also open the way for giving us still more democracy and for strengthening our two-party system.

Under the electoral system, many voters do not get any recognition or representation, since the candidate who wins a majority in a state gets the entire electoral vote. A proportionate allotment would recognize the minority in the electoral count. We would not have had the lopsided electoral votes of the last few national elections had such a system been in effect.

Would Aid Both Parties

The proposed change would help the two parties to build up their strength in sections where elections now almost go by default—as with Republicans, for example, in the South. Recognition of their votes in the proportional-electoral-vote method would make it worthwhile for Republicans to vote in the South and become politically active, and also induce Republican presidential candidates to campaign in the South.

Senator Lodge (R., Mass.), sponsor of the proposed constitutional amendment in the Senate, pointed out that Governor Dewey of New York would have received 28,906 electoral votes in the South in 1944 under a proportional electoral system. Instead, he received none. Lodge suggested that, had the amendment been in effect in 1944, Republicans would have campaigned in the South and Governor Dewey might have got a million more popular votes there.

The senator also explained that the proposed change would prevent concentration of presidential campaigning in the states of big populations with the big electoral prizes that go to the majority — and often a thin one.

This would eliminate the desperate angling for votes in those areas, the use of all sorts of issues that stir up passions and prejudice, as is often done to appeal to minorities of various kinds, and the intensity that contributes to corruption.

STOCKS SHOW GAINS
NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—The stock market advanced on a broad scale today but failed to regain all the ground lost in Tuesday's break.
The final score showed numerous gains of fractions to around 2 points and more. Turnover increased to 2,470,000 shares from Wednesday's 1,850,000.
The Associated Press average of 60 stocks added .3 of one point at 70.7, or a little under the high of nearly two years standing which was hit Monday.
Of the 1,130 individual issues which appeared on the tape, 662 advanced while 253 declined.
Oil stocks favored for a long time, ran ahead of the balance of the market. Other groups in demand included rails, distillers, motors, and metals.
Some gainers: Sinclair Oil 28, Standard Oil (NJ) 80¼, Schenley 34⅜, National Distillers 21⅛, American Smelting 62½, Kennecott Copper 87¾, Studebaker 20¼, General Motors 59⅝, and Chrysler 60⅛.
A firm market again developed for U. S. government bonds in the over-the-counter market while in listed trading railroad obligations inched ahead.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, May 20 (AP)—Cotton futures turned irregular in slow trading today. The market was easy early on liquidation in nearby July which influenced commission house and New Orleans selling in the balance of the market. Later the market hardened on spot house buying of near months.
Traders were cautious pending new developments on the export situation. Some selling was influenced by further weakness in cotton textile prices and the lack of demand for goods for the second half of the year which pointed to some slowdown in textile production unless the picture rapidly changes.
Weather in the cotton belt was favorable.
Futures closed $2.35 a bale higher to 30 cents lower than the previous close.

Hicks Brothers

young woman announced she would not ride the bus again because she was moving, the group presented her with a bouquet and a farewell speech.
"I used to know their names, where they lived and where they got off," said C. W. Hicks. Some bus customers rode with him when they were going to Texas Technological college, then their children rode on buses he drove when they started to public school.

Have To Like People

"You have to like people to drive a bus," he said.
Both cited some of the problems of the bus driver requiring patience. People ask the same questions over and over, which is not a reflection on the people but a test of the driver's good humor. Hub Hicks recalled instances in which someone would be waiting on a corner knowing she would get on the bus, then when the bus stopped would fish frantically for change, then pull out a $5 bill—and complain if she received change in nickels.
It's all in the day's business, however, and the good driver develops patience.

Sometimes Drive

C. W. Hicks sometimes drives a city bus when a driver is ill or need develops for some other reason. Hub Hicks said he had driven a bus Monday for the first time in four months, and that he seldom drives. He said 23,000 children are transported weekly on school buses. That figure includes repetition of rides by the same children.
When the brothers began driving buses, there were two city buses. Sometimes, they drove taxicabs on the bus routes when a bus was not in usable condition. College avenue was not paved and many times a bus would get stuck in the mud on that avenue.
In those days, the bus crowds were easier "to handle," readily giving seats to women loaded with packages, making way for more customers and fulfilling directions of the driver. "If a man cursed on my bus, I'd tell him we wouldn't have any more of that," said C. W. Hicks. Now, the driver doesn't have much control, he said.
