COL. CHESTER J. BUTCHER

NAMED FOR B.G.

Butcher Due To Get Star

The title soon will be Brig. Gen. Chester J. Butcher.

The wing commander at Webb Air Force Base was notified this morning that he has received presidential nomination to general rank. Actual date that he dons his star depends upon the Senate formality of confirmation, and the priority of general-rank spaces in the Air Force.

The colonel today was receiving congratulations from all sides — from his own personnel, friends in the city, and those throughout the Air Force.

He is the sixth among wing commanders at Webb who have been advanced from colonel to brigadier general.

Colonel Butcher formally assumed command of the 3560th Pilot Training Wing on Dec. 5, 1965.

During his tour here, the Webb operation consistently has won top ratings in general inspections conducted by the Air Training Command, and the wing has had an excellent safety rating, even while the pilot training load has sharply increased.

Distinguished Background

Colonel Butcher has a distinguished academic and flying background. He holds a masters degree from Princeton University in aeronautical engineering and a masters degree in business administration from Georgetown University. He also has completed the advanced management program for senior executives at Harvard University and is a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

A native of Lafayette, La., he attended the University of Southwest Louisiana before entering West Point. He received his commission there Jan. 19, 1943.

He served in the European Theatre during World War II and was a prisoner of war after being shot down and wounded in 1944 over Southern France.

His decorations include the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster; the Distinguished Flying Cross; the Air Medal with three clusters; and the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

Every Type Of Plane

Colonel Butcher has had flying time in virtually every type of fighter aircraft. In the early 50's he was assigned as chief of the Fighter Branch of Research and Development and initiated such aircraft as the F-100, F-101, F-102, F-104, F-106 and experimental aircraft such as the X-3, X-5, F-88, F-90, F-91, F-92, F-93, F-107 and F-108.

The wing commander came here from the Pentagon, where he was chief of the Space Division of the Directorate of Operational Requirements and Development Plans. In this role he was concerned with all Air Force satellite space activities and initiated the Manned Orbiting Laboratory and Communications Satellite programs.

Garbage Talks Resume

NEW YORK (AP) — The garbage crisis comes full circle today as Mayor John V. Lindsay and the sanitation union send negotiators back to the bargaining table for new efforts at reaching a permanent contract settlement.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and legislative leaders were unable Tuesday to break the deadlock over his mandated end to New York City's nine-day garbage strike and turned to Lindsay for help — as he had turned to the state six days earlier.

Civilian Toll High

SAIGON (AP) — Nearly 20,000 civilians were killed or wounded in 12 days of fighting in the Communist offensive against South Vietnam's major population centers, U. S. officials said today.

Continued light rain and freezing drizzle today. Cloudy and cold tonight. Decreasing cloudiness and a little warmer Thursday. High today 31; low tonight 23; high tomorrow 40.

Red Chinese Down Stray Navy Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unarmed propeller-driven U.S. Navy plane was shot down by Chinese Communist MIG aircraft after it "inadvertently strayed into air space" off Red China's Hainan Island, the Defense Department announced today.

The Pentagon said the incident occurred Tuesday night when two unarmed Navy A1 planes "experienced navigational difficulties" while on a ferry plane trip from Cubi Point in the Philippines to the aircraft carrier Coral Sea in the Gulf of Tonkin.

"One of the planes was shot down by Communist MIG aircraft," the announcement said. It placed the spot about five miles off the east coast of Hainan Island.

The second A1 left the scene and landed at Da Nang in South Vietnam, the Pentagon said.

"Its pilot reports he last saw the other plane in a vertical dive and smoking," the statement said.

A preliminary report in Washington said that the pilot who made it to Da Nang had seen a parachute descending from the plane that was shot down.

Asst. Secretary of Defense Phil G. Goulding said the pilot who reached Da Nang reported one Chinese MIG was involved.

Traffic At A Crawl On Treacherous Roads

More Snow Predicted Tonight

By The Associated Press

Up to six inches of snow in the Panhandle-Plains sector and a treacherous mixture of freezing rain and sleet or snow coating wide stretches over the rest of West and North Texas slowed motor vehicles to a crawl today.

ICING SPREAD

Icing gradually spread eastward across the north part of the state and cold rain fell through the night and early morning nearly everywhere else in the state.

With snow and ice expected to keep on thickening through the day in many places, hazardous traffic conditions threatened to cause widespread suspension of public school classes.

Plainview, with six inches of snow on the ground, was one of the first to announce the closing of schools.

Official travel warnings were out for most of the northern half of Texas and for the southwest section west of the Pecos River, where forecasts called for as much as five inches more snow to accumulate.

Chilled Canadian air enveloped all but the state's southern fringes, and warm, moist air overrunning this cold mass aloft was credited for the snow and rain.

Temperatures before dawn dived to 16 degrees at Lubbock, 17 at Childress and Dalhart and 18 at Amarillo.

Travelers were warned of slick roads in Central and South Oklahoma, and the northern two-thirds and extreme Southwest Arkansas.

Around dawn, points reporting freezing rain or drizzle included El Paso, Midland, Abilene, Fort Worth, Dallas, San Angelo and Texarkana. Wichita Falls had snow at that time.

A traffic accident killed two persons near Denton today to bring the weather-related death toll for the week to five.

Snow depths by this morning, as clouds started thinning toward the west, appeared heaviest around Plainview, with six inches; Childress, with five inches, and Amarillo, with four inches. Measurements of two to three inches were common in that part of the state.

HEAVY FALLS

There also were reports of heavy snow in Guadalupe Pass east of El Paso and falls of one to two inches of snow plus sleet and freezing rain farther south in the Davis Mountains.

The snowfall extended across the state all the way to Texarkana in the northeast corner.

Before daylight fog and snow reduced visibility to no more than one mile in parts of the Panhandle, including Dalhart and Childress. It also was foggy with drizzle at San Antonio in South Texas and at Del Rio on the Mexican border.

FORECASTS

Forecasts called for such conditions to continue into tonight over most of the northern half of Texas and in the southwest, while occasional rain was expected elsewhere in the south. Slow warming was predicted for the chilliest sections.

Long range predictions, covering the period through next Monday, indicated more wintry weather after a brief letup—snow by about Thursday in the northwest, north central and northeast parts of the state, and temperatures average about five degrees below normal in the north and as much as seven below in the south.

Bandit Backs Out

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — A bandit holding up the Citizens Bank of Maryland Tuesday shouted "I can't go through with it" and ran out the door.

Two MIGs Are Downed

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers shot down two MIG17 jets today, blasted three North Vietnamese airfields and lent a hand to U.S. Marines trying to drive diehard Communist holdouts from the walled Citadel of Hue.

2 ON 2

Two Air Force F4 Phantoms encountered the MIGs 30 to 40 miles northwest of Hanoi and brought them down with missiles and 20mm cannon, the Air Force said.

This raised the total number of MIGs claimed downed in aerial combat in the last three years to 110, compared with 40 American warplanes lost to MIGs.

The U.S. Command said that during strikes against North Vietnam Tuesday, Air Force and Navy bombers attacked the airfield six miles southwest of Haiphong, the Bai Thuong field 70 miles south of Hanoi, and the Vinh airfield 140 miles north of the demilitarized zone.

As the battle for Hue continued into its third week, U.S. Marine jets streaked down on the former imperial capital of Vietnam to bomb, strafe and rocket an outer wall of the old Citadel behind which remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment stubbornly held out.

The jets made pass after pass, attempting to blast a path through the wall for the Leathernecks on the ground. But the North Vietnamese continued to lay down heavy barrages of fire on the Marine positions a few hundred yards away.

The interior area held by the Communists apparently was still off limits to the U.S. fliers because it contained historic 19th century monuments and the imperial throne room.

A senior U.S. officer said the North Vietnamese holed up in the Citadel were believed running low on ammunition and other supplies. He said they apparently had managed to hold out this long by getting supplies at night from the nearby north bank of the Perfume River.

HIT FRIENDS

The Air Force also announced it is investigating reports of "friendly casualties" when half the bombs dropped Tuesday by U.S. B52 bombers on the closest raid they have ever made to Saigon landed outside the target area.

The spokesman said 100,000 pounds of bombs went astray, indicating three or four of the high-level Stratofortresses made the raid. The target was Viet Cong troop concentrations 10½ miles north of the city, and the spokesman added that even the bombs that went astray landed in an area for which South Vietnamese officials had given target clearance.

HELP FOR DRIVERS

Heavy Snow Closes Most Schools, Hampers Drivers

A soggy snow measuring up to 3½ inches, which fell with driving intensity most of Tuesday afternoon and on into the night, brought closed doors to most of the schools of the county and left roads and streets slippery and difficult to navigate.

There were 18 traffic accidents checked by police during the storm, but none was serious and no one was injured.

ADDS MOISTURE

The welcome snow added importantly to the supply of moisture needed to insure this year's crops. Grady Randel, at the U.S. Experiment Station, said that the 3.5 inches of snow at the station, produced .42 inch of moisture — exceptionally heavy for a snow of that depth.

A continuation of the same weather as last night is forecast for today and tonight. A cold, freezing drizzle was falling at mid-morning, increasing the traffic hazard. The forecast saw decreasing cloudiness and slightly warmer conditions Thursday.

The temperature Tuesday never got above 25 degrees and was 20 at the station for the night's low. The 20 degree reading was holding at 8 a.m.

The moisture from the snow brought February rain totals to 1.16 inches and the year to 2.68.

Communications were hampered in the county as the wet snow clung to phone lines and interrupted service. The rural roads were slippery, it was reported, but traffic was still moving over most of them. Federal and state highways, particularly on bridges and overpasses, were being given gravel treatment by the highway department to abate the danger of skidding.

In the city, street crews gravelled intersections and hills to aid motorists and avert accidents.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

All of the city schools, and those at Coahoma, Gail, Forsan, Garden City, and Colorado City were closed.

Also shut down were St. Mary's Episcopal Day School, Immaculate Heart of Mary School, Howard County Junior College, Big Spring Christian Day School, Farrar Private School, and the Berea Baptist Day School.

The Stanton schools, Sands School at Ackerly, and the Jack and Jill Day School were open.

From all reports, the snowfall covered the entire county, but there were slightly lighter falls to the south and southwest.

Henry Parmenter, to the west, said his area had three inches and the snow had interrupted phone service.

Leland Wallace, who lives near Wild Horse Creek, said there was 2½ inches of snow on his pastures and that roads were extremely slippery and difficult to navigate.

Forsan had about an inch of snow and the same amount was reported at Lomax. In both communities, the roads were reported dangerous.

NO PHONES

North toward Vealmoor it was reported that the snow was similar to Big Spring, but the phone service in that area was out and no first hand measurements were available. The same report applied to Vincent.

Coahoma had two inches on the ground and, like Big Spring, was having a freezing rain at 11 a.m.

NATIONAL GUARD

Pressure For Call-Up Rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hurry-up shipment of another 10,500 combat troops to Vietnam cuts deeper into a strategic reserve of fulltime soldiers which senior military officers say has been dangerously depleted.

These officers, say privately they believe at least one division should be called up from the Army National Guard to bolster the strategic reserve of divisions available in the United States for swift deployment around the world.

PRESSURE

The question of a call-up of group reserve units is under study and no decision has been reached. But pressure for such a call-up is rising.

Military officers in the Pentagon express belief further ground force deployments to Vietnam will be necessary and that the current buildup objective of 525,000 will be raised. This also is under study.

A Congress member who declined to be identified said the dispatch of more troops to Vietnam in addition to the 10,500 would be announced shortly. "They're already programmed," he said.

Three days after the Viet Cong opened their devastating city offensive, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen "we believe that the American forces there at present are adequate."

In the interim, Gen. William C. Westmoreland sent out a call for more ground troops, in view of that offensive and the continuing North Vietnamese threat to attack the Khe Sanh stronghold in northwestern South Vietnam.

Either McNamara was overruled or has changed his mind since his Feb. 1 statement that U.S. forces in Vietnam are adequate.

Civilian officials at the Pentagon dispute the idea U.S. military strength is being stretched perilously thin. They say there are nearly one million men—not counting reservists—in uniform in the United States who could be drawn on for overseas deployment.

MISLEADING

But senior officers argue such numbers are misleading, since a large part of this total is in basic or other training or performing rear-area functions.

Key elements of the strategic reserve, these officers say, are the combat-ready regular Army and Marine divisions in the United States.

N. Korean Hurls War Threat During U.N. Armistice Talks

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — A North Korean representative said today there will be war unless the United States gets out of Korea, and the U.S. delegate replied that the North could insure peace by stopping acts of aggression.

The harsh exchange came at a meeting of the Military Armistice Commission called to discuss charges by the U.N. Command of armistice violations by the Communists. There was no discussion of the fate of the 83 crewmen of the Pueblo, the U.S. intelligence ship seized by North Korea Jan. 23.

Meanwhile, U.S. special envoy Cyrus Vance extended by still another day his visit to Seoul, where he is trying to patch up U.S.-South Korean differences over U.S. priorities in Korea.

The South Koreans have complained that the United States is paying more attention to the Pueblo incident than to the attempted assassination of South Korean President Chung Hee Park Jan. 21 by 31 North Korean commandos who invaded Seoul.

Rear Adm. John V. Smith, senior U.S. representative on the armistice commission, cited the assassination attempt today and said there had been 74 other serious truce violations by the North in the last 44 days.

"The decision whether there is peace or hostility depends upon the whim of an apparently irresponsible North Korea," he said. "Your side can have peace merely by unilaterally stopping acts of aggression. You must stop dispatching armed murderers into the Republic of Korea."

North Korean Gen. Pak Chung Kook glared at Smith and replied: "We don't want war but we are not afraid of it."

U. Thant Rushes To Get Hanoi Message On Peace

PARIS (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant made a hurried trip to Paris today and went immediately to the headquarters of the North Vietnamese mission, presumably to get a message from Hanoi.

Thant delayed his return to New York, previously scheduled for Tuesday night, after a tour of New Delhi, Moscow and London seeking to open the door to talks to end the Vietnam war. But British officials were not optimistic that peace negotiations were any closer.

Thant talked in New Delhi with a North Vietnamese representative, and there were reports in London a message from Hanoi was waiting for him in the office of Mai Van Bo, North Vietnam's representative in the French capital.

Information Minister Georges Gorse, asked by reporters about Thant's visit, replied: "We are not unaware that there are indirect contacts going on to try to settle the Vietnamese affair. But nothing for the moment permits us to think that this is a prelude to veritable negotiations."

Gorse made his statement after a Cabinet meeting and before Thant met with President Charles de Gaulle.

GOVERNOR HOPEFULS SPEAK OUT

TLCB Controversy Spreading

AUSTIN (AP) — The controversy over the Texas Liquor Control Board spread to the Texas governor's race Tuesday.

TAX WASTE

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, candidate for the Democratic nomination as governor, said in Fort Worth he thought the appointment of a House liquor law study committee by Speaker Ben Barnes, candidate to succeed Smith, was "totally unnecessary" and a "waste of tax money."

Eugene Locke, former South Vietnam deputy ambassador who seeks the nomination also, jumped to Barnes' defense. "Smith obviously fails to recognize the importance of the existing situation in the area of liquor control laws," Locke said. "He has assumed a position of opposition in an area where he should exert leadership if he has any capacity for leadership."

Waggoner Carr, a third Democratic governor nominee hopeful, commended Barnes. "It is never a waste of taxpayers' money to strengthen our laws or to take action to improve the respect our people hold for their government," Carr said.

CONFIDENCE

Then Smith, who had traveled on to El Paso, made another statement saying he had full confidence in everybody taking part in the TLCB investigation and stood ready to help and cooperate with any and all agencies involved.

"With the experience I have had in government, I know that devisiveness and controversy in themselves are not helpful in solving problems..." Smith said. "I would hope this governor's race can be based on enlightened views on the situation and hopefully avoid any mudslinging based on errors in judgment about Texas affairs."

NO WITNESSES

Meanwhile, Rep. R. H. Cory, Victoria, who faces both a Democrat and a Republican in his re-election campaign, announced the House study group would hold an organizational meeting Saturday, with no witnesses called. Cory, 49, a Victoria attorney and chairman of the House State Affairs Committee, said the other subcommittee members would be Reps. Cletus Davis, Houston, former assistant district attorney; Roy Garwood, San Antonio attorney; Bill Clayton, Springlake rancher, and James Slider, Naples real estate man.

Cory said each subcommittee member had been checked carefully to be sure he had no involvement in any of the alleged TLCB irregularities and had not represented any client or constitutent before the board. Slider and Clayton come from dry areas, the rest from wet areas.

After the first meeting, Cory said, the group probably will meet at least once a week and maybe several days at a time.

Cory said the subcommittee welcomed any information, either in writing or as testimony at a hearing, of needed changes in the present Liquor Control Act.

The three-member Liquor Control Board has said it will have specific recommendations for the subcommittee.

Other recommendations are expected to come from O. N. Humphreys, 43, chief of the Department of Public Safety's intelligence section, who was announced Tuesday as new assistant TLCB administrator. He replaces William L. Ferguson, 43, who quit Jan. 31 in the midst of the TLCB investigation. Humphreys has been actively involved in the DPS part of the investigation.

O. R. Crawford, Liquor Board member who announced Humphreys' employment, said Humphreys "already has made a number of important suggestions which are being implemented as quickly as possible. Many of these will be announced in the near future."

There was published speculation in Dallas that Humphreys might succeed the present TLCB administrator, Coke R. Stevenson Jr., after several months. Stevenson, 54, son of the former Texas governor, has been chief administrator since 1949.

However, there were reports in Austin from within the industry that if Stevenson leaves, he likely would be replaced by an attorney since much of the LCB administrative duties are similar to court work. These sources said Humphreys apparently would be expected to bolster the LCB enforcement efforts throughout the state.

Flood Control Plan Gigged

HARLINGEN, Tex. (AP) — Opponents of a proposed internal flood control and drainage plan for Cameron County said Tuesday the $20 million project "won't work."

The project, planned by Lockwood, Andrews and Newman Inc., Corpus Christi, would take five years to complete and would be capable of draining 4.2 inches of a 6.2 inch rainfall within the first 24 hours.

Ed Thomas, area conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, said the total cost would be $20,020,744 and would require an annual maintenance cost of $307,870.

The cost would be shared by the federal government, Cameron County and the La Feria Water district. The federal government's share, according to Thomas, would be 75 per cent of the total excluding the cost of obtaining right of way and easements for construction of drainage ditches.

The plan calls for construction and enlargement of 741 miles of new and existing main and lateral ditches, five miles of water control channels and 4,359 water control structures. In order to accomplish the proposed plan, Thomas said, 495 bridges and culverts in the Lower Rio Grande Valley county would have to be relocated or modified.

Jack Garrett, president of the Southmost Soil Conservation District, presided at a meeting attended by about 40 county farmers and citrus growers.

TALKING PEACE

Biafrans Try Counterattack

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — The hard-pressed Biafrans are talking peace but making daring attempts to counterattack in the seven-month-old Nigerian civil war.

The Nigerian federal military regime claims it has beaten back Biafran efforts to regain Nsukka, a university town which fell to federal soldiers 10 days after the civil war erupted last July.

High federal officials also discount a Biafran bid for peace talks which brought British Commonwealth Secretary-General Arnold Smith to Lagos for intensive talks with the federal regime over the weekend.

GENOCIDE CHARGE

Authoritative sources in the federal regime said Tuesday that before peace talks can begin, they must see more concrete signs that Biafra, the former eastern region of Nigeria, is willing to return to the federation.

In the talks with Smith, they said, there was no consideration of using Commonwealth or other foreign troops to guarantee security of the predominantly Ibo Biafrans during a ceasefire.

But there was some sentiment for using "observers" as "moral pressure on federal soldiers and to enable the Ibo psychology to change to permit a new frame of mind," they added.

About eight million of Biafra's 13 million people are Ibo tribesmen and they claim the federals are waging a war of genocide against them.

MORTAR SHELLING

Smith arrived in Lagos Friday with what sources said he considered strong evidence the Biafrans were ready to renounce secession and return to the Nigerian federation. The highest government circles, however, still consider the Biafran stand basically unchanged and unacceptable for peace talks.

Two days before Smith arrived, a small Biafran force launched attacks on the main supply artery south of Nsukka to Enugu, an area long held by the federals.

Reinforced units started mortar shelling of the southwest corner of Nsukka Thursday, according to eyewitness reports arriving in Lagos.

The Biafrans claimed the capture of Nsukka Sunday. Red Cross workers in Nsukka have withdrawn to Makurdi, 100 miles to the north, and the situation remained confused today.

Reports said more Ibo inhabitants are being seen in the Nsukka area but most live in villages off the main roads and have dug deep elephant traps to discourage federal patrols.

Trio Apollo Flights Eyed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Recent successes in America's man-to-the moon drive may permit the space agency to squeeze in three manned Apollo flights this year, with the first launch perhaps two months sooner than scheduled.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration's announced schedule calls for astronauts Walter M. Schira Jr., Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham to ride the first manned Apollo moonship into earth orbit in the "last quarter" of this year, meaning no sooner than October.

Unofficially, however, sources say the flight could occur much earlier, perhaps August. They point out that current schedules call for the spacecraft to arrive at Cape Kennedy toward the end of March, the planned launch preparation time is about four months.

The success of America's second Saturn 5 superrocket launching, now scheduled for March 21, plus some key administrative decisions to be made in the next few weeks by NASA planners will determine whether the Schirra-commanded mission is in fact moved up and whether two manned Saturn 5 flights are attempted this year.

Navy Capt. Schirra, Air Force Maj. Eisele and Cunningham, a civilian, will be orbited by a Saturn 1 rocket, a smaller booster than the Saturn 5 which will be used to launch men to the moon.

The official schedule now includes another Saturn 1 launching this spring for a second unmanned test of a lunar module, the craft that will ferry astronauts between the moon's surface and an Apollo command ship in lunar orbit.

Although a decision is not expected until March, most experts now agree that the first lunar module test last Jan. 22 was so sucessful that a second unmanned flight will not be necessary, permitting launch crews to concentrate on the Schirra mission.

The first manned flight aboard a Saturn 5 now officially is not scheduled until the fourth launching of the superrocket. However, project officials have left open the possibility that—if the second Saturn 5 is as successful as the first—NASA may decide to skip a third unmanned test of the mighty booster.

In this event, the Apollo spaceship now scheduled to fly on the fourth Saturn 5 could be launched aboard the third, possibly in October or November.

Another trio of Saturn 5 pilots then possibly could be launched in December for a dress rehearsal in earth orbit of the man-to-the-moon flight.

Meany Reportedly Bets LBJ To Rebuild Slums

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany reportedly is betting that President Johnson—despite Vietnam war problems—will sharply accelerate rebuilding of the nation's big city slums this year to ease the threat of new Negro rioting.

"Meany is very anxious that there should be a massive attack on the ghettos," an informed labor source said, and he wants the labor movement to take the lead.

Meany, who supports Johnson's war policies, views slum problems as the nation's most pressing homefront crisis and believes the United States can handle both problems, the source said.

MORE NEGROES

This thinking reportedly is behind the new pledges of 18 AFL-CIO construction unions to cooperate fully with federal officials in solving labor problems stemming from the federal model cities program, and to actively recruit more Negroes into the building trades unions.

The 18 construction unions representing some 3.5 million workers have long been the targets of racial bias complaints and charges of dragging their feet in settling labor disputes growing out of plans to rebuild the cities.

Meany is one of three labor members on a White House committee headed by industrialist Edgar Kaiser, appointed to work out procedures for city rebuilding projects.

From a self-interest point of view, the construction unions expect the rebuilding of the cities to create thousands of new jobs for their members.

They concede it all depends on how Congress reacts to Johnson's request for funds.

Romney Voices Riot Warning

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Gov. George Romney has counseled Republicans against a "negative and repressive" response to racial turmoil in the cities, saying that would play into the hands of militant Negroes bent on violence.

Romney sounded that warning in Haverhill, Mass., Tuesday night as he headed for New Hampshire to resume his presidential primary campaign.

His voice raspy from a sore throat, Romney planned a day of strategy talks and rest, then an evening of vote hunting in his race against Richard M. Nixon.

He told some 600 Republicans at a Lincoln Day dinner in Haverhill that for the Negro, "the promise of America has been a broken promise and the American dream a broken dream."

As a result, Romney said, some Negroes have become enraged and are ready to destroy what they do not possess." Romney said the law must be upheld but this must be coupled with public and private efforts "to strike down the denials of basic human justice. . .

"If we respond only to the symptoms of the crisis—if our response is purely negative and repressive—we will only strengthen the hands of those who use the denial of justice as a provocation and excuse for violence," Romney said.

Panel Slated To Rule Riots Not Result Of Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's Commission on Civil Disorders is reportedly moving toward the conclusion that last summer's urban riots were spontaneous—not the result of a conspiracy.

Unless new evidence is unearthed within the next few weeks, commission sources said that will be a major point in the panel's final report, now being written for release about March 1. Another section will make urgent recommendations on steps to prevent disorders.

AGITATION

"In each case we found agitation before, during and after the riots, but not any planned conspiracy," one official said. "As far as we can tell, all broke out spontaneously.

"That part of our investigation is proceeding right up to the last moment."

Thus far, the commission's findings correspond with testimony it received last August from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover. In the six months since then, some of the commission's top aides have devoted much of their time to searching for evidence that the riots were planned.

CLAID CREDIT

One investigator reported he encountered, in quiet visits to several urban areas, individual agitators "who like to claim credit for disturbances they had in their cities. But they really can't."

The 11-member panel was appointed by President Johnson last July 29 to investigate the causes of riots that scarred Detroit, Newark and other cities and to recommend preventative action.

The first two sections of the report—what happened and why—are virtually complete, sources said, and members "are down to the nitty-gritty, the real tough decisions" on the third segment—prevention.

Recommendations will cover employment, housing, education and welfare programs, one source said, plus proposed steps to improve police-community relations.

Katherine Graham Peden, former Kentucky commerce commissioner and the panel's only woman member, said in a telephone interview that "I was shocked at the inequality of education" in urban slums.

JOBS VITAL

In Watts, she said, the "poor quality of education is the number one burning issue" cited by most mothers she talked with. "They realize this is the only way to break out of this trap they are in."

Employment and job training programs also are vital, Mrs. Peden said. Slum dwellers "realize that housing conditions and living conditions cannot be improved unless they have gainful jobs . . . and you've got to have a better education to get a better job."

"They become so intertwined that you can't separate one from another," she said of the programs. "All of this has got to be accomplished."

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois, commission chairman, has predicted the findings "will be uncomfortable for the people of the United States."

Another commission member, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., told a reporter, "We all have to understand that this is a crisis and we've got to get at it in an orderly manner. We can't keep on with business as usual and hope these things can be straightened out."

Nixon, Romney Battle Narrows To War Issue

By RELMAN MORIN
AP Special Correspondent

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The battle in the New Hampshire primary campaign between Richard M. Nixon and Gov. George Romney of Michigan now appears to be narrowing to a single issue—the war in Vietnam.

"In the main, New Hampshire is a hard line state," said Stewart Lamprey, president of the State Senate and Nixon's fiscal agent. Nixon has been taking a hard line in respect to the war.

DOESN'T DIFFER

A top Romney lieutenant, who asked not to be identified, said, "If we can draw him (Nixon) in on a meaningful basis, I am prepared to make Vietnam the issue." And he added, "What really are his solutions to Vietnam?"

He indicated that Romney's aides would argue that "Nixon's view of the war doesn't differ much from President Johnson's."

As further evidence of the importance attaching to the war issue in the campaign, the Romney chief said that starting immediately only one highway billboard slogan will be posted for Romney, instead of the four now seen throughout the state. He said it will read, "Romney's right. We must be told the truth about Vietnam."

Until now, the Romney billboards have touched on four separate issues.

CHIEF TOPIC

Nixon and Romney are the principal Republican candidates in the New Hampshire election, scheduled March 12.

The war in Vietnam is the chief topic presented to Nixon in question-and-answer sessions, especially among students.

CONGRESSIONAL VACATIONS

Dent Adjournment Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — After three weeks of work, Congress is taking the first in a series of scheduled vacations that will do little to insure the Aug. 1 adjournment its leaders claim is possible.

This recess, which began last Thursday, is in honor of President Abraham Lincoln's birthday anniversary two days ago. Republicans traditionally spend the week making speeches in honor of the first president of their party.

FILIBUSTER

The Senate, which met for five seconds on Monday, meets today to resume regular business. But with a filibuster in progress against civil rights legislation, little if anything is expected to be accomplished.

The House, which met for 33 minutes Monday, plans a token session Thursday in order to adjourn until next Monday, when legislative business will be resumed.

Next week will also be a short week, because Washington's birthday falls on Thursday.

Although the leaderships of both houses talked optimistically of adjourning before the start of the political conventions Aug. 5, little has happened since to warrant that optimism.

EASTER RECESS

While most presidential messages detailing proposals outlined in the State of the Union message have come to Capitol Hill faster than in past years, accompanying legislation has not always been ready. As a result, committee work is just starting.

The Senate's first order of business for the year was to decide on vacation dates. Deliberation since has been confined to civil rights.

A handful of bills have been passed in the House, including the interest disclosure measure passed last year by the Senate.

Although the official vacation dates announced in the Senate showed no layoffs for as long as a week, the actual schedule is likely to be more liberal.

The next vacation, for example, is the Easter recess, which is scheduled to last from April 11 to April 17, a Wednesday. If history is any example, activity will not be resumed until April 22, a Monday.

Dear Abby

Too Much A Boy's World

DEAR ABBY: I am a teenage girl with the same kind of problem every other teenage girl has. BOYS! First, let me explain that I am not "boy crazy." I'm just tired of going out with my girl friends.

In our social setup, the boys reserve the right to ask the girls to go out with them, marry them, etc. This is stupid. All the boys I know are shy and have no initiative. It is very frustrating!

Could you do me a favor and tell the boys of the world to open up their eyes and notice that there are girls around, and to please pay some attention to them, to call them up and show some interest?

And, Abby, if you know of a planet where it is acceptable for a girl to ask a boy for a date, please let me know. I am packed and ready.

A PROTESTER

DEAR PROTESTER: I agree. The system is all wrong. Not only do the girls outnumber the boys, but they mature earlier and are ready, willing and eager to commingle while the boys stand around with their hands in their pockets, blushing it up.

No wonder the women are becoming the more aggressive breed. And even more frightening is the undeniable increase of men who don't care whether they lead or follow.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This is for the girl who wants to change her fiance's name to something shorter and easier to pronounce. Don't do it.

My name has 14 letters in it, too, but I've known how to spell it since I was threee. (I'm 10 now.)

Nobody can spell it, and very few people pronounce it right, but do I care? No, Sir!

I am proud of my name, and your fiance is probably proud of his, too. Just think of someone with a name like "Eleuthere Irenee du Pont de Nemours." How would you like to sign a check with a name like that?

You would be doing your fiance a great favor by keeping his name like it is. You may even learn to like it yourself.

A "BRETTSCHNEIDER"

* * *

DEAR ABBY: To the girl who was engaged to a man whose last name had 14 letters in it: NO name is unpronounceable. Some just require a little more practice.

I wouldn't recommend changing one's name, but it might simplify matters if one were to change the spelling. For instance, Hyszczynsky can become Hisschinsky. And Ardziewsky can become Arjeffsky. There isn't much you can do with Baccigaluppi, but as it stands, it isn't ridiculous to one who has used it all his life.

There are 39 William Johnsons in the Seattle telephone directory. Why not enjoy an unusual name?

CARE Seeks Relief Funds

DALLAS—An emergency appeal for public support was made today by CARE to enable the nonprofit agency to continue its relief program in South Vietnam. Al Russell, southwest director, estimates $500,000 is needed to support its aid program for refugees and other civilian war victims in the next 12 months.

Russell said the Vietnam Relief Fund has provided $1,548,310 in food and supplies in the past two years and is now running out. The fund is specially planned to relieve the most pressing human needs: food, clothing, health, education, and a means of earning a living.

Uprooted families who arrive at relocation centers in tattered clothes are given textile packages, each of which can clothe a family of five, and sewing kits. CARE provides hand tools, irrigation equipment and livestock for farmers and tool kits for carpenters, masons, blacksmiths and other craftsmen. CARE also distributes school kits to children, medicines, etc.

You may send your dollars to CARE, South Vietnam Relief Fund, 216 Empire Bank Building, Dallas, Texas 75201.

Temple College Adds New Center

TEMPLE, Tex. (AP) — Temple Junior College has a new $325,000 student center. It is designed to seat 500 at meals. Also in the building is a book store, conference rooms, lounge area, publication rooms and offices.

Sick Yegg?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hospitals were alerted to watch for a burglar who might be feeling ill after ransacking a house and making off with $500 in loot. Police said the house was being treated to rid it of termites and that the intruder had exposed himself to a toxic chemical.

Bunch Of Cream Puffs

The cars on this sales lot looked like real cream puffs under their blanket of snow this morning. They were also more fortunate than about 35 cars that ventured out and were involved in minor accidents on the slippery city streets.

Books To Aid Pokey Blues

Things are going to be a little less boring in the Howard County jail.

Prisoners with bookish tendencies will be able hereafter to borrow books from the Howard County Library, to while away the tedium of their 30 days or so in pokey.

Sheriff A. N. Standard said that he had arranged with Mrs. Opal McDaniel, Howard County librarian, to have a library card issued in the name of the county jailer, Cleve Reece.

Any prisoner who wants a book will tell the jailer and the jailer will sign out for it at the library

"It will be up to the jailer," the sheriff pointed out, "to see that the prisoner gets the book back to him ahead of the deadline when a fine could be assessed for keeping it too long."

Capital Improvements, Planning Work Okayed

A program of capital improvements, estimated to cost $11,700, and revision work on the Master Plan, to cost $24,000, were approved by the Big Spring City Commissioners Tuesday, meeting in regular session at City Hall.

The immediate improvements given the green light included 15 blocks of sidewalk at various school locations, $3,500; removing and rebuilding the 800 and 900 blocks of Scurry Street, $4,000; reconstructing drainage on the north side at Goliad, Ninth, Eighth, Seventh and Sixth, $3,000; and constructing a paved road from the City Park to the old original big spring spring area, $1,200.

Larry Crow, city manager, told the commissioners this work could start immediately, weather conditions permitting.

In addition, the commission is studying the advisability of some seven other major imments, which would cost an estimated $171,200. It will make decisions later as the budget is firmed up. These include, with estimated costs by Ernest Lillard, director of public works:

Repaving Scurry Street, from Fifteenth Street to FM 700, city share, $39,300; property owner's share, $14,500.

Forty blocks of sidewalk in school areas, $16,000.

Signal equipment to synchronize signals on Gregg Street, $9,000.

A paving program of 50 blocks, $50,000.

Drainage program in the 200 and 300 blocks of Runnels Street, to prevent periodic flooding of businesses, city share, $12,000; property owner's share, $12,800.

STREET SIGNS

Seal coat maintenance for 100 blocks of streets, $10,000.

Street signs of more permanent reflective type, $8,000.

Commissioners were hopeful the projects planned for immediate work can be completed in the current budget year, which ends April 1. The projects under consideration would be financed in the new fiscal year budget.

Marvin Springer, city planner who gave the city its initial start with the Master Plan of 1959-60, will be employed to update that plan in the revision work.

His work this time will include:

A review of the past planning program (which ended in 1965), and a report to residents of the accomplishments. A listing of future goals, planning objectives, and an outline of the next planning phase, to be determined by a citizen's planning committee.

ECONOMIC REPORT

An economic base report will be published to be used for industrial and commercial promotion.

The present zoning ordinance will be revised and updated, using a tabular form of schedules.

A revised thoroughfare plan and "land use plan" will be prepared.

A housing survey will be made to be used in a program of housing and neighborhood improvement.

A revised park plan will be prepared, including the original big spring restoration, as well as other park areas and open spaces.

A capital improvements program, outlining needed projects as a guide for future investments, reflecting sources of outside financing from state, federal and private sources.

A planning administrative manual to be used as a guide for future zoning, subdivision and improvement action.

Ample copies of the various reports will be made, Springer advised, and the fee can be divided over three fiscal years.

FOR APRIL 2

City Commission Election Called

The election to name three members to the Big Spring City Commission was called Tuesday by the commission for April 2. The terms of Mayor Arnold Marshall, Jimmy Morehead and Walter Stroup are expiring.

Five voting places were set up and the judges named. These include Central Fire Station, L. R. Mundt; Eighteenth and Main Fire Station, George Melear; Eleventh and Birdwell Fire Station, Lawrence Robinson; Northside Fire Station, Andrew Tucker; and Airport Fire Station, C. R. McClenny.

Commissioners told Kent Morgan, who is planning to pave two blocks on Bilger Street, that $2,000 that had been previously forfeited by a subdivider on paving, would be used to help pave the street. Morgan told the commission he had commitments for four new homes on the street, but that paving must be done in order to get financing.

WATER LINE

He agreed also to build curb and gutter on the opposite side of the street (adjacent to the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church property). The commission advised him that building permits would be issued for the houses once a performance bond has been posted by the contractor for the paving.

Commissioners agreed to a $4,194.13 expenditure to replace a water line in the Coronado Hills Addition, as part of the area improvement program. Owners of the property, with Louis Rochester as spokesman, have agreed to pay the balance of the cost, $2,500. The water line will replace a smaller line in place and a similar line proposed for the area, and take a better route, Ernest Lillard, director of public works, said.

PIPE CONTRACT

Lone Star Steel was awarded the contract to provide the city with cast iron pipe, to be used in the water improvements program designed to improve supply and pressure in the southwest corner of the city. The city had called for bids on 1,800 feet of 12-inch pipe, 1,000 feet of eight-inch pipe; 1,500 feet of six-inch pipe, and 1,300 feet of four-inch pipe.

In order, Lone Star bid $4.42 per foot; $2.65, $1.86, and $1.32. Other bids were received from U.S. Pipe and Foundry, James B. Clow & Sons, and American Cast Iron Pipe. The bids ranged up to the high of $4.485, $2.69, $1.885, and $1.33.

Larry Crow, city manager, demonstrated an unique garbage can rack which he said the city could build for less than 50 cents each, not including labor. He said about 50 of them are being made, and will be placed in the Kentwood, West End and North Side areas on a trial basis. If successful, he hopes to place them throughout the city.

Commissioners denied a sewage damage claim of Mrs. Clyde Angel, 706 Hillside, for $62.50.

Guilty Pleas Slice Docket

Guilty pleas and bond forfeitures kept a jury panel, which had braved slippery streets and 20 degree weather to report for duty, from having any work to do in Howard County court today.

Henry Fox Miller and Andy Miller, each charged with two cases of theft, pleaded guilty and were sentenced to 30 days in county jail plus costs. Fox Miller also pleaded to a charge of DWI and drew a fine of $50, costs and three days in jail.

Johnny Ramirez charged with aggravated assault was fined $50 and placed on six months probation when he entered a guilty plea.

Elbert L. Ford charged with carrying arms, and James Harvey Mitchell, aggravated assault, failed to answer when their names were called. Their bonds were ordered forfeited and warrants issued for their arrest.

Felix Gonzales, charged with aggravated assault, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs.

The jurors were instructed to report to court again on Thursday morning.

Buy Bonds where you work.

They do.

They work for freedom. It isn't a white collar job. Or a safe one. But it is a satisfying one. And the men who work at it think it is so important that more than seven out of ten of them are supporting freedom with their dollars, too—through investment in U.S. Savings Bonds. When you buy Bonds, you can save up for a rainy day, a home, a free and comfortable future—and at the same time show these brave men you're on their side. Join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or buy Bonds where you bank. You'll walk a bit taller.

New Freedom Shares

Now, when you join the Payroll Savings Plan or the Bond-a-Month Plan, you are eligible to purchase new U.S. Savings Notes, "Freedom Shares," as a bonus opportunity. Freedom Shares pay 4.74% when held to maturity of just four and a half years (redeemable after one year), and are available on a one-for-one basis with Savings Bonds. NY MAY ABANDON IT

Lottery Proves To Be Puny Baby

NEW YORK (AP) — Born last June, the New York State lottery has proven to be such a puny baby that its legislative midwives now are talking about abandoning it.

The lottery is probably the biggest financial disappointment since the 1964-65 New York World's Fair.

Since sale of the $1 lottery tickets began last June, revenues have been less than one-third of the anticipated $30-million-a-month gross. The net profits of the lottery are earmarked for education.

ONE MORE CHANCE

This led Earl W. Brydges, State Senate Republican majority leader, to say a few days ago when the state legislature was reconvening: "I never wanted the lottery and always opposed it. I think now when it is a relatively insignificant part of our total revenue, maybe this is the time to decide whether you want to get rid of it."

His Democratic counterpart in the State Assembly, Speaker Anthony J. Travia, who originally supported the lottery, agreed it should be made a worthwhile enterprise or abandoned altogether. But he favored giving it one more chance.

Their remarks were occasioned by a legislative proposal to extend the sales outlets for lottery tickets to supermarkets, newsstands, shopping centers and railroad and bus terminals.

BANKS BAN

Tickets are now sold only in hotels, motels, government offices and banks, the latter being the chief outlets. But the U.S. Congress has banned the sale of the lottery tickets in banks after April 1.

For over 70 years there wasn't a single lottery in the United States. During that period, however, Americans spent untold amounts on Irish sweepstakes and other imported lottery tickets.

Then, in 1964, New Hampshire launched its state lottery. Like New York's, it hasn't come up to expectations. It was hoped it would produce $7 million a year in revenue for schools, but actually it has produced a little over $2 million a year.

New Hampshire last year expanded the number of ticket sales outlets.

SOME SNIPING

There has been some sniping by critics who claim the New Hampshire lottery has failed to yield sufficient revenue to justify itself. But the voters have continued to approve it at local option elections, the legislative leaders and the governor like it and there are presently no moves afoot to abandon it.

One of the staunchest advocates of government lotteries is Rep. Paul A. Fino, R-N.Y. As a college debater in 1933, he argued for a municipal lottery to raise funds for New York City, hard pressed financially in that depression year.

Fino introduced his first state lottery bill in 1945 after his election to the State Senate. His first action following his election to Congress in 1952 was to introduce a bill calling for creation of a national lottery.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Most everyone is overly critical today and tonight and it is essential that you realize this and try to keep from making the mistake of pointing out flaws to others. However, if you are very objective, you can discuss and get others' standpoints about what is best to do in the days ahead.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Keep busy at your work and have an excuse when a pal you don't know very well tries to take you out to some place you do not like. Keep your eye on the goal. Then you labor efficiently, rightly.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Be sure you handle that civic duty wisely that you have promised to do before you go out for a happy time with others. Talk over with pals how to have more success in the future. They have fine ideas.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) It is important you have all in fine order at home, though you are interested in business matters in the outside world. Take the opportunity while at the house to call those out-of-town. This could be either for business or personal matters.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handling business affairs and shopping is vital during the day, but be most devoted to mate in p.m. Follow your intuition, even though it seems a bit way-out. This could save you much trouble.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Have serious talks with associates and find out what is expected of you and then get monetary affairs in fine order. See that your bills are paid on time. Cement for better relations with all others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Even though you are very busy with personal affairs, be sure you keep promises you have made to others as well. Take health treatments that make you more dynamic. Have a very good time socially in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can be happy with pals right now, but be sure you entertain those who are not so fortunate as you. You have fine creative talent. Be sure to use it. Forget everything but the romantic in p.m.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You make yourself more popular by keeping promises you made to your friends, otherwise they could get pretty huffy with you. Then be out with pal who lifts your ego when you are feeling low. Be happy again.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do nothing to jeopardize the reputation you now enjoy and come out with the right answers to queries from allies. Be very careful in driving and ward off an accident. Be sure of what you are doing — don't talk so much.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Present conditions are quite boring so be on the alert for wonderful new ideas and outlets for the days ahead. Stop being so extravagant. Remember that the money you don't spend is money earned.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Discuss with close ties what your finest aims are, but don't neglect to take care of insurance, taxes, etc. Make new contacts. However, don't become so embroiled you forget mate altogether.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Associates expect your full cooperation now, but if you cannot in all conscience go along with their ideas, take a little trip. Private anxieties could ruin your business chances. Social life would suffer also.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow he, or she, will be one of those interesting young people who wavers from being very social one moment and a recluse the next, so teach early to plan his, or her, time so that life can run on a very even keel. There can be much success in this life, and two careers can be followed quite easily, both profitable. College.

The bidding:

Pass	Pass	1 ♡	1 NT
Pass	2 NT	Pass	3 NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Eight of ♡

Nimble footwork by the defense was essential to the upset of South's three no trump contract.

East's opening one heart bid was based on distributional values and the fact that his partner was a passed hand. South displayed good judgment in overcalling with one no trump. There is little to be gained in bidding two diamonds, inasmuch as the best chance for game is in a nine trick contract. When North mustered up the ingredients for a raise, South carried on to three no trump.

West opened the eight of hearts, East signaled encouragingly by covering with the nine and South won the trick with the queen.

Declarer counted six quick winners, five diamonds plus one heart—and his second heart stopper might be relied on to bring the total to seven. There would not be sufficient time to develop dummy's clubs, so South decided to work on the spades for his eighth and ninth tricks.

The queen of spades was led at trick two. Had West played the ace, the contest would have been over, for declarer cannot be prevented from taking nine tricks. West bided his time, however, by following with the four.

South continued with the jack of spades and West now rose with the ace and continued with the ten to dislodge dummy's king. By so doing, he was establishing the nine of spades, while East still retained control over the heart suit.

Declarer led a heart from dummy in a desperate attempt to steal his ninth trick. East put up the ace, cashed the ace of clubs and returned a club to West's king. The latter took the setting trick with the nine of spades.

Questions Her Honor

Los Angeles Municipal Judge Joan Dempsey Klein (right) tells newsmen yesterday that the conduct of Superior Judge Noel Cannon, pictured at left demonstrating defensive weapons for women last year, is "not befitting a member of the court." The platinum-blonde Judge Cannon has sometimes dazzled newsmen with her miniskirts or pink girlish frills under her robe. Judge Klein, also a blonde, says she finds it "embarrassing," although she is personally fond of the glamorous Hollywood spinster.

Two Teens Seek Pageant Crown

Two girls have entered the junior division of the Miss Big Spring Pageant, Jimmy Anderson, entries chairman, announced today.

They are Georgia Hutcherson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Hutcherson, 2715 Carol, and Rebekah Ann Brady, 17, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Brady, Coahoma.

Miss Hutcherson is a sophomore at Big Spring High School and plans to attend Victoria Junior College after graduation. She stands five feet, four inches tall, weighs 109 pounds, and has brown eyes and brown hair.

Miss Brady, a sophomore at Coahoma High School, also weighs 109 pounds, has brown hair and brown eyes and is five feet, four inches tall. She plans to attend San Angelo Nursing College after graduation.

John Anderson, pageant coordinator, reminded girls that deadline to enter the pageant is Saturday, Feb. 24. The winner of the senior division will be awarded a $100 scholarship, a $300 wardrobe, which she may select herself, and an all-expenses paid trip to Fort Worth to compete in the Miss Texas pageant. To be eligible for the senior division, Anderson said, the girl must be 18-28 years old, single, and must enter the talent competition.

Girls 16-17 can enter the junior division. There is no talent requirement, Anderson added.

The pageant will be held March 8-9. Entered in the senior division are Patricia Adams, 19, daughter of S. M. Sgt. and Mrs. B. K. Adams Jr., 196-A Hunter, and Carla Jan Grisham, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tolbert Grisham, 504 E. 23rd.

Arrest Made In Couple's Beating Deaths

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — Police arrested a man for investigation today in connection with the apparent beating deaths of an elderly man and his wife whose battered bodies were found Tuesday night.

NO MOTIVE

Denison police said no motive had yet been established for the murder of William J. Staton, 86, a retired farmer, and Mrs. Staton, 85. She was a semi-invalid.

Officers also disclosed that a piece of flooring board had been found which may have been the blunt instrument used on the woman. The board, found under a stove, had nails sticking out of one end.

A neighbor who became curious about the couple's failure to be seen found the bodies in the Staton home.

Justice of the peace Leon Hayes estmated both were killed 24 to 48 hours earlier. He ordered autopsies.

SUMMONED

Police said the neighbor summoned them after spotting the body of Mrs. Staton n her bed. She had been beaten about the head.

Investigators then found the body of Staton in a chicken coop outside the house, also clubbed with what appeared to be a sharp instrument.

Silent Screen Star, 72, Dies

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Mae Marsh, who was Flora, the little sister in D.W. Griffith's silent screen classic "The Birth of a Nation," is dead of a heart attack at 72.

The actress died Tuesday at her home in Hermosa Beach, 20 miles south of Hollywood, where she and her husband Louis Lee Arms had lived for 47 yars.

Griffith was captivated by her "frail, wispy look," he said, when he discovered her on a Hollywood lot at the age of 14. Five years later, in 1915, he cast her in his epic.

The auburn-haired girl became one of the silent film era's most popular actresses, earning as much as $250,000 a year.

After appearing in Griffith's "Intolerance," she left him to star for Samuel Goldwyn and become the original "Goldwyn Girl."

Although her career survived the transition to talkies, Mae Marsh's face appeared older than her age and she was cast in character roles. She retired in the late 1920s but returned in 1931 in the early sound film, "Over the Hill."

She played minor roles in several later films and appeared as a mother in a number of Westerns.

Born Nov. 9, 1895, in Madrid, N.M., she attended Convent of the Immaculate Heart in Hollywood and was a bright-eyed 17 year old when she began playing in films for Griffith.

King Seeks His Release

Tom Norman (Tooter) King, facing charges of kidnapping, has filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in a final effort to evade being returned to New Mexico.

Dick Milstead, attorney appointed by the 118th District Court to appear for King, prepared the petition. It holds he is being held illegally by Sheriff A. N. Standard and prays that the court grant the petition and order his release.

Judge Ralph Caton has set the petition for hearing at 10 a.m. Friday.

An order from Governor John Connally ordering King's removal to New Mexico has been received here. The Texas governor granted the extradition order at the request of the governor of New Mexico.

King has been held in jail here since Jan. 11 when he was arrested by the state highway patrol and city police officers on the Andrews highway. He was in a car with a young Carlsbad housewife. The woman, it was alleged, had been compelled at gunpoint to drive King from Carlsbad to Big Spring.

Charges of kidnapping were filed against the man in Carlsbad. He refused to waive extradition and the New Mexico governor lodged his request with Governor Connally to get custody of the man.

Water Pipeline Project Pushed

STANTON (SC) — The pipeline which will supply Stanton's water needs is nearing completion, according to C. R. Crim, city engineer. The 12-inch supply line from the Colorado River Municipal Water District is approximately two-thirds completed, with about four of the six necessary miles finished. The filter plant under construction is about halfway completed. Crim reports that the project should be completed and ready for operation April 15, in plenty of time for summer. Contractor is Clyde Construction Co., of Odessa.

Junior College Plans Presented

Representatives from Howard County Junior College have returned from the annual meeting in Austin of the Texas Association of Junior College Board Members and Administrators.

Dr. P. W. Malone, vice president of the local board, was on the nominating committee, and John Coffey, local board president, headed the auditing committee at the state association meeting. One of the highlights of the program was a presentation of new school construction in various colleges.

Stanton Gains Office Building

STANTON (SC) — Recently opened in Stanton is a modern office building, built by C. R. Crim, city engineer, that houses three government farm agencies, the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil Conservation Service and the Farmers' Home Administration.

Other occupants of the building will be Stallings Insurance Agency and Crim's consulting engineer office.

Hootenany Set For Heart Fund

GAIL — The Borden County Heart Association will have a Hootenany at the Sheriff's Posse building Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Plenty of entertainment has been planned, and everyone is invited to this affair for benefit of the Heart Fund, said Pauline Clark, chairman.

Blind Spot Spotted

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration has discovered a blind spot in its attempt to control all Dallas and Fort Worth airplane flights from a radar at Greater Southwest International Airport and will continue using some control from Dallas' Love Field. The blind spot was in far eastern regions of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Studies Hint Warm Moon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New studies indicate the moon may have moist, warm areas—possibly conducive to microbial life —a lunar scientist reports.

Dr. Jack Green told a seminar of the University of California at Los Angeles chapter of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics Tuesday that evidence of moisture was found in specially filtered telescope pictures of an area near the crater Aristarchus.

Aristarchus, in the upper left portion of the lunar disk, is the site of red flares—possibly indicating volcanic activity—reported by several astronomers.

Green said his belief that there may be warm, moist areas near the crater is based on apparent detection of sulfur with a filter, producing photographs in which that mineral shows up black. Large black areas several miles square were found in photographs recently made to investigate earlier indications, Green said.

"On earth sulfur, the most abundant volcanic mineral, is always found in the presence of hydrous or water-bearing rock," he said. "If this holds true on the moon, then there must be large areas near volcanic craters which are warm and moist and conceivably could support small organisms.

"Bacterial life has been found in boiling water in numerous hot springs on our planet."

Green, research scientist for McDonnell Douglas Corp. and a consultant on the space agency's Surveyor program, said his study covered only an area near Aristarchus but he hopes to survey other craters later.

Green said a soil-testing device taken to the moon by recent Surveyors was not equipped to detect sulfur.

Water-bearing rocks near sulfur deposits on earth, he said, can be made to yield up to a gallon of water per cubic foot of rock by heating them to 500 to 800 degrees Fahrenheit. On the moon, where surface temperatures rise to 250 degrees at noon, such temperatures could be achieved by focusing solar rays on hydrous rock, Green said.

He suggested that if his interpretation of the "black" areas is correct, manned bases on the moon should be established near volcanic craters to take advantage of water and warmth.

"The possibility of finding water seems to me to be far greater near volcanic craters than in the plains areas tentatively selected—because they are smoother—for astronaut landings," Green said.

Youth Parley Support Urged

STANTON (SC)—Support of a local youth conference requiring adult supervision and guidance was urged by Pug Deavenport and Doris Howard, Stanton High School students, at the Lions Club meeting Tuesday.

Both girls told members they had attended the Texas Youth Conference, sponsored by Texas law enforcement agencies, on the University of Texas campus in Austin in August, 1967.

Tom Angel, president, reported another inter - club visitation to the Big Spring Downtown Lions Club. Eighteen members and three guests attended the noon luncheon session at Belvue Restaurant.

Cultural Panel Lists Six Goals

A six - point program of cultural activities for Big Spring was outlined Tuesday at the reorganizational meeting of the cultural affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. E. H. Boullioun Jr., chairman, listed goals of the committee: (1) study ways and means for a cultural center or a community center; (2) appoint interested persons to work in various areas where they will more effectively generate interest; (3) focus attention on cultural events; (4) sponsor city park activities, including concerts and plays held in the park; (5) start a museum; (6) participate in the city's beautification program.

The committee was divided into four divisions, publicity, civic center, heritage and activities. Members discussed the governor's "Conference on the Arts," which is to be held in Austin, March 31, April 1-2. It was announced that a calendar of events from April 1 through Oct. 31 will be ready for distribution at this conference, and committee members decided to include the Fourth of July "Let Freedom Ring" celebration, the "Starlite Specials" (July 7-14) and the "Historic Big Spring" in the calendar.

Mrs. Boullioun pointed out that the calendar of cultural events will serve as the basis for a similar publication to be distributed at the Texas Pavilion during HemisFair '68 in San Antonio.

Dr. M. W. Talbot Jr., chamber president, emphasized the total community concept of cultural affairs to the 15 members present, and stressed that cultural affairs are not confined to the fine arts.

Ex-Newspaperman Lands C-C Post

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Jerry Richmond, assistant manager of the Longview Chamber of Commerce, has been named executive assistant and assistant general manager of the Odessa chamber. Richmond was a newspaperman for nine years in Dallas and Longview.

County Attorney Switch In Spur

SPUR, Tex. (AP) — Alfred Walker, County Attorney of Dickens County since 1950, has resigned to accept a position in the Attorney General's Office at Austin. The county commissioners' court appointed R. A. Conner to fill Walker's unexpired term of one year.

Greeks Draft Constitution

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek military regime is considering submitting two drafts of the new constitution to the national referendum it has promised, a spokesman said today.

Michael Sideratos, undersecretary to the premier and official regime spokesman, said in an interview that the government "has no intention of scrapping a draft constitution submitted by a 20-member committee of legal experts."

But, he said, "I am personally dissatisfied with the draft because it does not fill Greece's contemporary needs.

"The government is working on its own version. Both the government's and the committee's versions possibly will be submitted together for public discussion in the press and abroad" before being submitted to a national referendum about Sept. 15, he said.

Sideratos said he believed the government's version of the new constitution will be "more liberal" than the committee's.

The committee which worked for six months, presented a draft last Dec. 23 which reportedly does not alter King Constantine's powers as much as the regime would like.

Sideratos also denied press reports that a secret memorandum wes circulated to all government agencies outlining press censorship.

Insurance Agents To Hear Thorburn

The Big Spring Association of Life Underwriters will have their monthly luncheon meeting Tuesday at 12 noon in the Downtown Tea Room. George Thorburn, CPA, will be the speaker for the meeting. Directors will convene at 11 a.m. for their pre-meeting session, according to T. A. Thigpen, president.

Coahoma Soaked

COAHOMA (SC) — Burr Brown reported that during January Coahoma received 2.40 inches of moisture, well above average for this time of year.

HCJC Posts New Record

The final registration figures for Howard County Junior College's spring semester show a record signup for the second half.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that 980 signed in the academic section, of which 557 are full-time students. This is an increase of 113 (or 13 per cent) over the spring semester of last year. The full-time student load is up 56 over last spring, or 11.2 per cent. It also is two more than for the fall semester.

Counting vocational programs allied with the college but not in the catalogue program, there are 1,025 enrolled for the spring semester.

Baptist Event Is Called Off

Rather than risk the possibility of injury to anyone, the First Baptist Church today called off its Wednesday activities.

Church officials said that in view of the extensive icing on the parking lot and sidewalks, the nature of the terrain, as well as street conditions, it appeared prudent to call off the mid-week activities. The decision was made when the forecast did not offer hope of improving conditions.

Stallion Places In El Paso Show

COAHOMA (SC) — Bud Rankin's stallion placed sixth in the halter division and tenth in the cutting horse event in the recent El Paso horse show.

R. A. Foster's gelding placed eighth in the cutting horse event.

Bitter Pill For Drug Industry

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The $5 billion a year drug industry, which has produced so many modern miracles and profited handsomely for it, is now being forced to swallow the equivalent of some old fashioned castor oil.

A federal jury has just found three of the industry's most prominent members guilty of conspiracy to control production and distribution of antibiotics. Two of the companies were accused of making "enormous" profits thereby.

The conviction leaves Chas. Pfizer & Co., Bristol-Myers Co. and American Cyanamid subject to fines of $150,000 each, and opens the way for triple damage suits from big purchasers.

But the dosage may be even more bitter. Dr. James Goddard, Food and Drug Administration head, said his agency is now considering the forced withdrawal from market of many scores of drugs in the next two years.

Among the products that have been found ineffective, he said, are some of the best known patent medicines in use today. As many as 1,600 brand names might be affected, he said, a number shocking to both industry and users.

Little wonder then that this industry, which was recently and understandably acclaimed by a national magazine as the most profitable in the business world, should suffer losses in the stock market also.

On the first day of trading after the New Year holiday, Pfizer dropped $10.12 to $65.25 a share. Bristol-Myers $5.62 to $68.37 and American Cyanamid $2.25 to $26. Other drug makers also suffered sizeably.

If anything is proved by this it is that an industry cannot continue to thrive without aligning itself with the aims of the society in which it operates. Otherwise society reacts, sometimes with new laws.

As stated by businessmen repeatedly this year, a company must concern itself with social units as small as the neighborhood in which it operates a factory on up to the national economy itself.

This concern expresses itself in the preservation of clean air and water, the hiring and training of the underprivileged, the elimination of discrimination and a regard for the consequences to the national economy of price increases.

Where this concern has been lacking, the government generally has acted with such ammunition as new laws, with rollback pressure on prices, with such a barrage of adverse criticism that an industry's consumer markets are endangered.

In other words, the environment for business today is one in which the ground rules can be changed swiftly. Many industries, not just the regulated utilities, suddenly can find themselves out of bounds.

On the other hand, the interests of society also are providing a huge opportunity for many companies responsive to its needs. This responsiveness is called the "new capitalism" by M. A. Wright, past president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and present chairman of Humble Oil & Refining Co.

It is a capitalism, he says, "of stewardship, of social action, of responsiveness." To preserve freedom and initiative, he feels, business "must devote an increasingly large proportion of time to meeting the nation's social needs."

Bargains Are Always Available
Tom Vernon, manager of National Building Center, looks over the bargains on the sale table.

Many Items Stocked At Nat'l Building Center

Though it carries a complete stock in many items, National Building Center, 301 E. 2nd, is primarily in the lumber business and its main interest lies in remodeling and new construction of homes and businesses.

Take your ideas for remodeling and new construction to National Building Center for a plan drawing service. With experience in the building business, the staff can turn your ideas into workable plans and the firm carries all material needed for residential and commercial construction.

Tom Vernon, manager, invites you to the National Building Center for a demonstration of the Spartan Combo Storm Door for a demonstration will convince you of its safety features. The glass section of the door is made from tempered glass called Herculite that is shatterproof. It takes an amazing amount of punishment without breaking. A demonstration will prove that this particular glass is almost break-proof.

The Spartan Storm Door is of all aluminum construction 1⅛ inch thick which is rustproof and rot proof. The heavy gauge frame parts are held rigidly in place giving the door great strength. It is ready to hang and easily installed. The door is adjustable and the bottom expander is weatherstripped.

This storm door converts to a full aluminum screen door in seconds. This Combo door is really two doors in one, full glass door for complete bad weather protection and a full screen door for warm weather ventilation. All storm or screen panels are the same size and the panels are instantly removable and easily replaced.

Besides the safety factor of this door, there is another feature that makes it excellent for a home with children. There is a heavy duty embossed kick plate, 22 inches high, and adds strength to the door.

Another line in stock at National Building Center is the Vac-Cyclonic, the built-in power cleaning system, the answer to the homemaker's dream. When you are planning to remodel or build a new home, this modern cleaning system is a must. It can be quickly and neatly installed in your present home with no interruption of the household routine. The special tubing with safe, low - voltage wiring is concealed in the walls, attic or under floors.

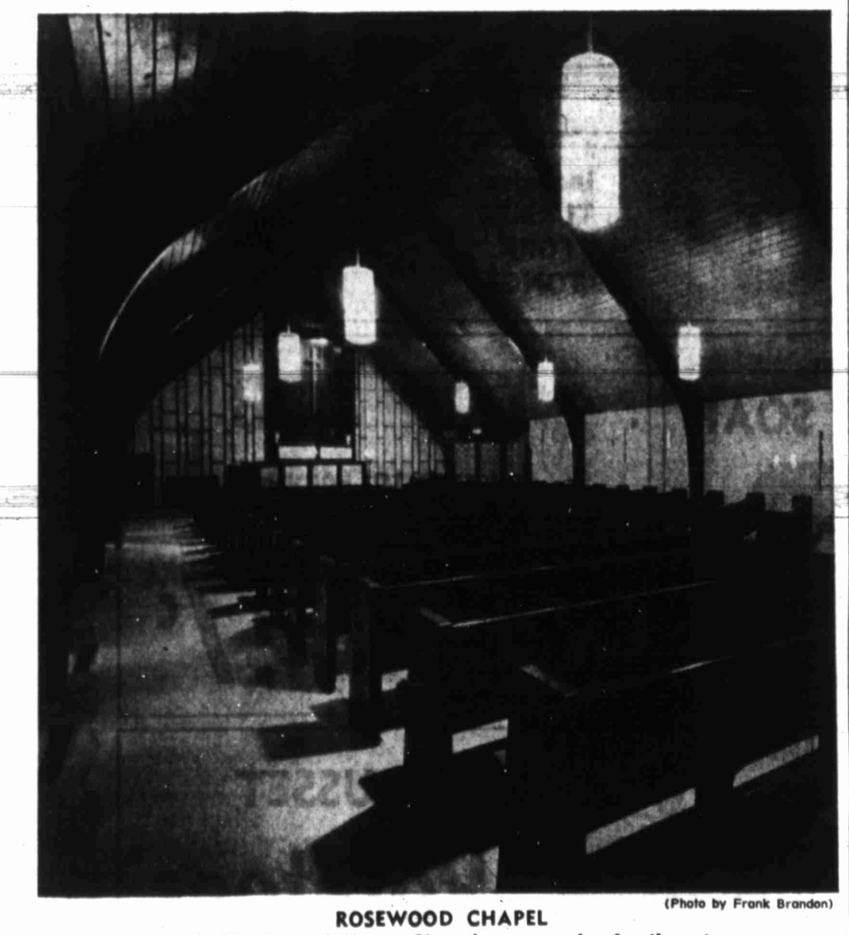

The Vac - Cyclonic has no heavy, awkward unit to push or pull. There is no electrical cord to tangle and no bag to empty. The unit turns on automatically when you plug in and only three or four outlets are needed for the average 6-room house.

This modern vacuum cleaner with its wall outlets conveniently located to give complete accessibility to any part of the home is up to five times as powerful as portables. This extra power picks up more dirt and dust in less time. It cleans quieter for the power mechanism is installed completely outside the living area. Babies can sleep undisturbed and you can hear the doorbell while you are using this modern cleaning system.

Since all dirt and dust is carried outside the living area and not recirculated within the living space to irritate asthma and allergy victims, it is healthier. With the Vac - Cyclonic cleaning system, ash trays are emptied easily and even fireplace ashes can be cleaned up in minutes.

If you need some furniture and like do-it-yourself projects, National Building Center has the answer in the unfinished furniture department. It has a complete line of unifinished furniture of superior construction and in wood that is easy to work with. Stop by 301 E. 2nd and see the desks, chairs, rockers, bookcases, tables and chests.

After you have selected the furniture you need, one of the sales staff will help you select finishing materials to secure the desired effect to match or compliment other decor. The stock includes kits for antique finish or decoupage.

Nalley-Pickle Staff Offers Long Experience Of Service

The staff at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home, 906 Gregg, has a combined 114 years experience in the funeral directing business. These people can give you the answer to your problems during the loss of a loved one.

Complete confidence placed in the trained men and women of Nalley-Pickle has led to a long-standing custom of turning all arrangements over to them, knowing that everything will be carried out in the smallest detail. The long years of service have become the symbol of comfort during the time of bereavement.

Coy Nalley and J. C. Pickle, owners, have kept pace with the times and yet always keep in mind the demand for efficient and dignified services. Modern, comfortable facilities are combined with the dignity the occasion demands.

At sometime in their lives all are forced to face the loss of a loved one. Since this is true, Nalley-Pickle suggests everyone should visit a funeral home. It is important to know what is available and what plans are necessary.

In an effort to spare the family during the time of bereavement, some desire to make prearrangements. This individual has placed the entire plans for the service in the hands of the funeral home and during the shock over the loss, the family is spared the necessity of making arrangements.

When the Rosewood Chapel was designed, the privacy of the family, as well as the comfort of those attending, were carefully considered. The quiet dignity of the chapel creates the proper atmosphere for the funeral service. Controlled central heating in the winter and air-conditioning in the summer, makes for year-round comfort. Every detail was taken into consideration and covered entrances have been provided for shelter during inclement weather.

Parking is no problem at Nalley-Pickle for space has been provided to insure sufficient space.

For over 25 years the people of the Big Spring area have been going to Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home during times of bereavement. For any needed information call 267-6331 and the owners or professional employes of Nalley-Pickle will assist you at the time when planning is most difficult.

FHA Reveals Awards At Valentine Banquet

Awards went to two girls, and recognition to another, when the Future Homemakers of America held their annual valentine banquet Tuesday evening at Big Spring Country Club.

Nikki Thomas, a senior, was named the 1968 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for Big Spring Senior High School, and Robbie Smart, also a senior student, received the Future Homemaker of America award. The presentations were by Karla Wadsworth. Mrs. Jack Alexander, home economics teacher at the high school, recognized Jo McMillan, a freshman, for her outstanding work in FHA during the past year.

Lori Watkins served as mistress of ceremonies and introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Ellis Langston of Spade, a Methodist minister. The invocation was by Carolyn Crawford.

Dean Gilstrap, who was unable to attend the banquet, was chosen as the chapter's "dream beau" and will receive a gift. Chapter parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smart.

NIKKI THOMAS

ROBBIE SMART

Other homemaking teachers introduced along with Mrs. Alexander were Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. Wilbur Cunningham, Miss Helen Willard, Mrs. Tolbert Grisham and Mrs. C. W. Willbanks. A special guest was Mrs. Ivah Lou Ashley, Area Two Consultant, Home Economics Department of the Texas Education Agency.

Miss Thomas remains in contention for state and national scholarship awards given by General Mills which range from $500 to $5,000. She will receive a silver charm to mark her local achievement. Winner of the state award, along with a school advisor, will receive an expense-paid educational tour of Washington, D.C., as well as a $1,500 scholarship. The national winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship.

Winner At Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC)—Because she finished first in a written examination for senior girls, Patricia Bell has been named 1968 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow at Westbrook High School. Her achievement makes her eligible for state and national scholarship awards and earned her a silver charm from the sponsoring company.

The 603,798 girls from 15,079 schools registering for the contest set a new record for the program which is in its 14th year.

Mu Kappas Plan Progressive Party

Mrs. Robert Pritz presided at the Monday meeting of the Mu Kappa Chapter, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, in her home at 3615 Calvin. Tentative plans were made for a progressive supper to be held Feb. 23. Refreshments were served to five. The table was laid with a red cloth and centered with a red and white heart arrangement.

A LOVELIER YOU

Give Fine Fragrance For Sweet Valentine

By MARY SUE MILLER

The ancient Roman honored Love with a feast in February. Gifts and messages were exchanged. But Valentine's Day as we know it is celebrated in honor of a young Christian priest, one Valentine. He was martyred on Feb. 14, 269 A.D., for secretly marrying young lovers in defiance of an edict of Emperor Claudius.

The custom of gift giving became part of Valentine's Day. Gifts were sought from all corners of the world, and the more highly prized were those of precious attars and fragrances.

Today we don't have to go to such lengths to express our sentiments with perfume. Fine fragrances are readily available. To choose the perfect one for your Valentine, just follow these tips:

If you can, find out if she has a favorite perfume and take the hint. Another sure thing is to select a truly classic perfume. Or try to match a fragrance to her personality — something exotic for a sophisticated woman, sparkling for a vivid lovely, floral for the ultra-feminine type.

To quote the great Madamoiselle Chanel, "If you give a woman a perfume you really like, she will have the best reason in the world to wear it. To adore it."

WINNING MANNERS

To open a door on increased poise and popularity, send for our booklet, Winning Manners. Topics included are Introductions, Invitations, Table Manners, The Charming Hostess, The Guest, Dating Manners, Formal Dances, Travel Tips and Tipping Small Points, like when to wear a hat or check your coat. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 25 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Rebekah Lodge To Buy Drape

The Past Noble Grand Club of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 made plans to buy a drape for the Rebekah charter at the Monday meeting and salad supper in the home of Mrs. J. E. Brown, 1606 Wood.

Mrs. J. R. Petty presided and announced that a floral dove will be purchased for the degree team of the Rebekah lodge, and a cleanup day will be held Feb. 29 at the IOOF Hall. A covered dish luncheon will be served.

A chili supper was slated for March 1 at the IOOF Hall.

Twenty attended.

What greater joy can come to a child of West Texas than to have several inches of snow on the ground and no school? Even if the Valentine Day party has to be postponed it's worth it to have a free day to make a snow man or slide down the hills on makeshift sleds . . . some may even use the tops to the garbage cans. There is always a way to have fun if there is snow on the ground and several buddies available.

We're proud of MRS. ELLIOTT D. TAYLOR, daughter of MRS. Y. C. GRAY and the late Mr. Gray, who has been selected to be named in the 1967 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America. Mrs. Taylor, the former HELEN CLAIRE GRAY, is now a resident of Lubbock where she was graduated from Texas Technological College with a major in home economics. She was sponsored for the edition by St. Mary's Hospital Auxiliary.

Mrs. Taylor taught home economics in the Lubbock schools and has been grand regent of the Catholic Daughters of America. She was vice president of her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega, and is a trainee for the junior volunteers of St. Mary's Hospital.

The Taylors have two children, Philip and Allison

This might be the only time in history when the men vie with the women for unusual hairdos. If you happened to see the Golden Globe Awards show Monday night on television you couldn't help noticing the young men with the long hair and bangs, yet. As idiotic as they appeared to me, they looked better than Carol Channing with her uncombed, uncut mop with the sheep dog bangs. And Candace Bergen in an English riding habit among all that formal dress!

Mrs. B. Hagens Presents Program

Mrs. Bernie Hagens brought the program, "Citizens In A Changing World," at the Monday evening meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Coahoma Methodist Church. Mrs. Marshall Day, hostess, gave the benediction.

Mrs. Lynward Harrison led prayer. Mrs. H. C. Harrington presided and urged attendance at a guild conference Feb. 23-24 at the First Methodist Church in Midland.

An Easter bake sale was set for April 13.

Refreshments were served to 10. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with valentine decorations.

TOPS Queen Will Go To Convention

Miss Judy Shockley, TOPS Salad Mixers queen of the year, will receive an all-expense paid trip to the TOPS state convention to be held April 19-20 in Fort Worth, it was announced by Mrs. Dan Brasher, president, at the Monday evening meeting. The women met in the Knott Community Center.

Mrs. C. M. Coldiron was named queen of the week, and Mrs. Jerry Myers was introduced as a guest. Games were directed by the president. Sixteen attended, and a 10 pound total weight loss was noted.

Happiness Club Hosts Breakfast

Mrs. H. F. Jarrett was presented a birthday gift at the Monday morning Happiness Club breakfast at Coker's Restaurant. Mrs. O. G. Burns was hostess, and members gave thoughts on friendship. The club prayer was repeated, and the next meeting slated March 11.

Beauceants Plan Visit Of Dignitary

The official visit of the Supreme President of the Social Order of the Beauceant, Mrs. John Blue of Denver, Colo., was announced at the Monday meeting of the Beauceants. The women met at the Masonic Temple with Mrs. H. C. Hooser Sr. presiding.

Mrs. Blue will be at the Masonic Temple in Big Spring, Feb. 20 when the Midland assembly will meet jointly with the group.

The work of the order was exemplified, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Steve Baker and Mrs. Lee Porter. The Valentine motif was carried out in decorations.

Sixteen attended.

Royalty Is Named During Banquet

A Valentine banquet was held Saturday evening at the Grace Baptist Church honoring the Intermediate and Young People's departments in fellowship hall.

Miss Ladona Honea was named queen and Jonathan Honea was selected to reign as king for the evening. The group presented a gift certificate to the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Harper.

Sponsoring the event were the Rev. and Mrs. Harper, youth directors; and Mrs. Floyd Howell and Mrs. Harold Woods, departmental teachers.

A film entitled "The Angry Jungle" was shown.

Thirty-seven attended.

Beta Omicron Talks Describe Landscapes

Mrs. Monroe Casey, 1801 Hamilton, hosted the meeting of Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, in her home Monday evening. Mrs. Bill Patton was cohostess, and both women presented the program.

Mrs. Casey talked on nature's landscape, as seen by most people, and Mrs. Patton spoke on painting nature's landscape and viewing it through an artist's eyes. Each member gave a brief talk on "The Loveliest Spot I Know."

Mrs. John Turner presided and read a letter from the BSP state convention president requesting suggestions for 1968 state projects. Mrs. Jack Blizzard reported on the BSP City Council meeting, and plans were announced to select a "Woman of the Year" from the local area.

The chapter will donate to the Danny Johnson travel fund and the Heart fund. Also, it will buy groceries for a needy family, which is the club project.

Refreshments were served to 13 from a table covered with a lace cloth and centered with a valentine arrangement. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Valuable Valentines Recall Romantic Past

"Roses are red, Violets are blue, On Valentine's Day, Cards come to you."

People have been celebrating this festival of love and affection since long before there were Valentine cards — in fact, before it took its present name.

Back in ancient Rome, people celebrated a festival called "Lupercalia" every Feb. 15. It honored Juno and Pan, and was celebrated with feasting, dancing and revelry. After the spread of Christianity the festival was changed to Feb. 14, the feast day of two Christian martyrs, both named Valentine; but the sentimental meaning of the old festival has remained to the present time.

People have been giving gifts at Valentine's Day for centuries, but the custom of sending sentimental messages developed gradually with the mail service.

The oldest Valentine cards in America, according to World Book Encyclopedia, are some small cards with German script, probably made by nuns and monks in the early 1700's.

The custom became very popular in North America during the 1800's. Esther Howland is credited with being the first person in the United States to publish Valentines, in 1840.

Many Valentines of that period were hand painted. They usually showed a fat cupid whose arrows pierced a heart. Some had satin, mother - of - pearl, tassels, imitation gems, sea shells and even dried flowers and seaweed

Magazines of the 1850's gave glowing accounts of the celebration of St. Valentine's Day. In one, an editor remarked: "A blessing on St. Valentine, the patron of the Day fraught with many heart flutterings and heart enjoyments!"

Many of these old Valentine cards have been saved and are quite valuable today in cash. You may wish to save the cards you get this Valentine's Day. They too may be very valuable, if only in sentiment.

A Devotional For The Day

"Are the consolations of God too small for you?" (Job 15:11, RSV)

PRAYER: Father of mercies and God of all comfort, in whose will is our peace, we thank Thee that Thou art sufficient. Amid our problems and pressures, may we rest on Thy precious promises. Steady, strengthen, and settle us, for our trust is in Thee; for Jesus' sake. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Not-So-Lame Duck

For a "lame duck" governor, Gov. John Connally isn't acting so lame.

Uusually when a governor announces that he will not again be a candidate, he loses considerable of his leverage. Legislators figure they are no longer beholden to him, and candidates may take an independent course, and even board members may feel their oats.

In his press conference last week, Gov. Connally gave notice he plans to keep his hand in the situation. For one thing he dropped the liquor-by-the-drink hot potato into the gubernatorial and legislative campaigns when he threatened to make it one of the issues in his call for a special session. He whacked Lt. Gov. Preston across the knuckles for Smith's suggestion that the state pay all costs of its medical school teaching hospitals. He even needled House Speaker Ben Barnes a bit, and held back the possibility he might have something directly to say in the governor's race: "I'm not going to sit here and let the year run out without articulating a great many of these things that I feel very strongly about . . . and to that extent I may become involved in the campaign myself."

Moreover, not only are all the boards in state government Connally-appointed ones, but a respectable number of them are serving now beyond their means that any time the governor could replace them with another appointee right up to the moment that he leaves office. This more or less promotes attentiveness by boards to what the governor might have to say.

Too-Long Campaigns

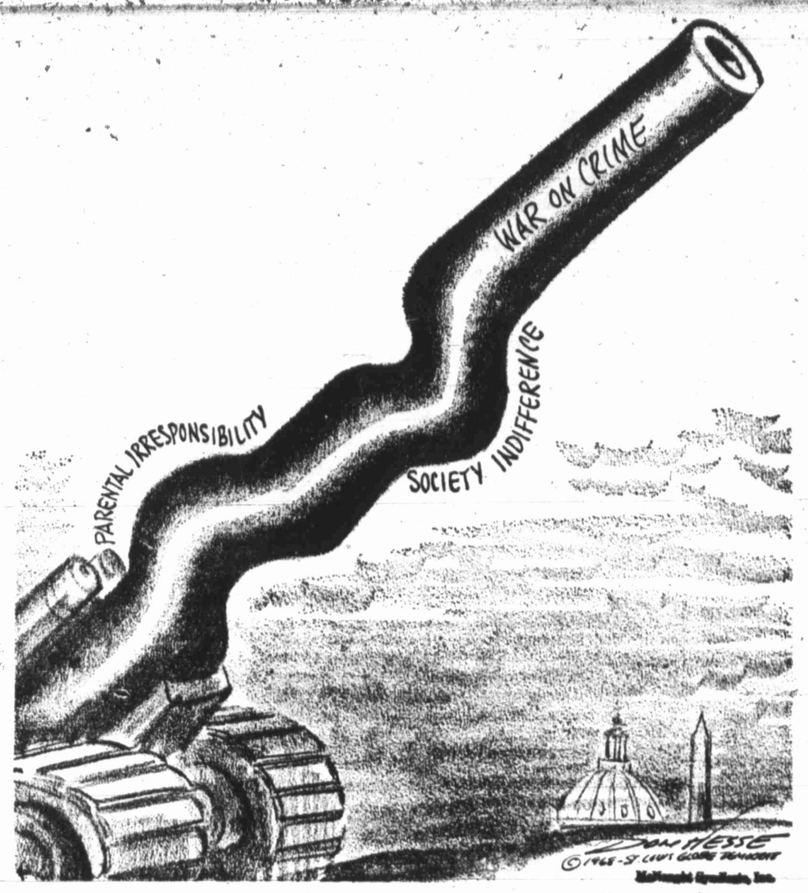

Texans in 1968 will again experience the longest campaign period of any of the states. And perhaps the strain on the candidates, their financial backers and the voters themselves will build up sentiment to go back to the more sensible election pattern followed in other states and by Texas until 1960.

Texas has the earliest voter-registration deadline, Jan. 31. This moves many candidates to announce before that, now that they have to file officially by Feb. 5 anyway, to try to get more of their potential supporters to qualify to vote.

The candidates' filing date in Texas is earlier than in any other state except West Virginia, where it is Feb. 3. And Texas' May party primaries come earlier than those of any other state except North Carolina. All other states have voter registration and candidate filing much later and their party primaries in the summer and early fall, making for short campaign periods.

Texas changed from May filing and summer primaries in 1960 to accommodate Lyndon Johnson's dual bid for re-election as U.S. senator and the presidential nomination. That was a dubious temporary expedient that should not be frozen permanently into the state's election machinery.

Now that this state is developing a two-party system and campaigning is becoming so expensive, there are those and other strong reasons to go back to a shorter campaign period, shorter even than that before 1960.

Those Mysteries Of Life

Life is full of little mysteries, the perplexing coincidences that defy explanation.

WHY IS IT, for instance, that when you have decided at long last to restrain yourself at the table, exercise great strength in avoiding potatoes, gravy, butter and dutifully trim crisp fat off your steak or roast, the desert turns out to be a double helping of ice cream topped with chocolate fudge, whipped cream and a candied cherry in the top?

Why is it — no matter what you are looking for — it will always be on the bottom?

WHY IS IT that when you are hopelessly bogged and fighting desperately to meet a deadline, everything will fall in on you or somebody will come by just to kill a little time?

Why is it, in newspapering, that that long awaited call will come 10 minutes after deadline?

Why is it that the person who greets you most enthusiastically and most familiarly is the person whose name you can't remember?

WHY IS IT that your dog could care less when you come home until you are wearing a light-colored suit and it is raining — and then he has to jump all over you?

Why is it that your windshield wiper will work like a charm in the driest weather, then balks when a shower comes?

Why is it that the gasoline gauge is always sitting on "empty" when you get the car?

WHY IS IT when you sponsor a big event — a sale, a show, a picnic, a track meet — the weather will be lazy spring the day before and after, and lousy on the day itself?

Why is it that you can't remember important dates like anniversaries, birthdays, St. Swithen's Day, etc. until six minutes before the stores close?

Why is it that just as you finally begin to get your head above the financial waters that the plumbing konks out, the car goes on the blink, the roof springs a leak, you get word the insurance is going up, or that Junior has to have braces on his teeth?

WHY IS IT that the female of the species can never get her thermostat attuned to the existing temperature?

Why is it that the phone starts ringing violently just as you pull up to your door and stops after you frantically fumble and finally find your key?

Why is it that the phone always rings just as you collapse for that desperately needed nap?

WHY IS IT that a long train pulls over the crossing just before you get to it, or a big truck blocks the street when you haven't three seconds to lose?

Why is it that just as you are walking out the office door or are backing away from the curb, someone will rush up and say: "Can you give me just 30 seconds?"

Why is it that when you finally catch an error in your account, it's against you? — JOE PICKLE

Pros And Cons Of Mart Specialists

NEW YORK (AP) — While some large traders urge the addition of more specialists to the floor of stock exchanges, the very opposite is taking place. Although larger in capital, specialists are growing fewer in number.

The role of the specialist firm is an awkward one. Each is assigned about 13 or 14 stocks in which it must keep a fluid market, bringing buyer and seller together and keeping price changes following one another in narrow sequences.

IN ORDER to do all this, specialists sometimes must buy for their own accounts at prices higher than anyone else will pay and sell at a price nobody else will sell at.

This function is generally conceded to be necessary, but as the Securities and Exchange Commission said in its 1963 report, the role involves "an inherent conflict of interest." But even the SEC says it "appears to be an essential mechanism."

As a policy to which it is firmly committed, the New York Stock Exchange has in four years reduced to 84 from 110 the number of specialist firms that now operate on its floor. Firms have been merged. Capital requirements have been raised.

ONE REASON for this is to make certain that specialists have sufficient capital to buy and sell the huge blocks of stocks that now are commonly traded by institutions such as mutual and pensions funds.

But, in so doing, competition among specialists has been ended. As a substitute, the New York Stock Exchange has greatly improved its surveillance, constantly checking on the spreads permitted by specialists.

However, some of these large traders say that more — not fewer—specialists are needed to handle this business, that competition should be returned to the specialist ranks in order to assure even closer markets.

THEY GRIPE that the point spread between sales sometimes is too great, surveillance notwithstanding. By having competition, they feel, a big trader could search for the very best price, saving thousands of dollars on small fractions of a point difference.

Queried about this, a young specialist claimed that part of the fault was with institutions themselves. "They buy carefully, a bit at a time, but they sell carelessly," he said, indicating they sold in great blocks.

This specialist was against competition, a view shared by a brokerage house executive who maintains that competitive specialists would fragment the market. By concentrating orders among stronger firms, he said, the spread actually will be limited.

"NOT SO," said a broker who handles institutional accounts. "Competition would automatically go into the areas where the bid and asked spread is now too great." This view is shared by Fred Carr, portfolio manager of Enterprise Fund.

Right now, Carr maintains, a narrower spread exists in some over the counter stocks, those not traded on major exchanges, because of multiple competition for the business of buyer and seller.

To which supporters of the fewer-but-bigger concept of the stock exchange ask: Where are you going to get additional specialist members with enough money to handle large transactions?

"THERE WILL be no difficulty in finding them," Carr maintains, "not only from among people presently in business but from new people."

Said a broker who agreed:

"I'd like to see a system where more money can be made available for specialists who need it. Perhaps the public can be brought in. With public ownership the SEC also would be less inclined to feel they need to police so closely."

Billy Graham

Is it possible for a man to be a Christian and a leader in the church when he curses his parents, and abuses his wife and children? My husband never misses church and puts on a very religious front, but he is a devil at home. V.Y.

Your husband is not the only hypocrite in the world. There are many though they do not manifest their hypocrisy always in the same way. Some people are dishonest in business and yet pious in church. Some people are evil-minded in their thinking and sensual in their desires and can still take a prominent place in the house of God.

If you will read Matthew, chapter 23, you will notice that seven times Jesus pronounced a woe upon the hypocrites of His day. Someone has said that "Hypocrisy is the tribute that vice pays to virtue."

As mean as your husband is, he is paying a great compliment to the church because he is admitting that the church presents the true way which he is refusing to follow. For those people whose only religion is made up of outward display, Jesus said in Matthew 6:16, "They have received their reward."

Medal Awarded After 20 Years

HONOLULU (AP) — It took 20 years of waiting but John A. Weber of Honolulu received a Norwegian medal of merit for rescuing a man 650 miles off the Massachusetts coast.

Weber was a pilot of a Martin Mariner for the Coast Guard in 1947 and made an emergency landing on a rough, choppy ocean to take a sick Norwegian sailor off a ship.

Later Congress objected to the awarding of foreign medals to Americans. However, 20 years later, the red tape removed, Weber received the medal from Rear Adm. Benjamin F. Engel, U.S. Coast Guard commandant in Honolulu.

Free Computer Mating Tips

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — I am 48-001-947 and to a computer that means love.

For hundreds of us observing another Valentine's Day on the brink of spinsterhood, it means an endless string of bachelors who are returnable, exchangeable and, believe it or not, refundable.

THE SOURCE of all this good news is Computer Matching International, Inc., which proposes to find the perfect man for you and me, or our money back. It's a proposition hardly any of us at 25, or a bit older, can afford to turn down.

The idea is to match men and women who are compatible mentally, physically and emotionally. We all have 50 areas of compatibility, it seems, and when 30 of your areas match 30 of his areas, zap! it could be love.

THE FIRST step in computer mating is $225, a small price, indeed, when you consider that this man somewhere is going to support you for the rest of your life. For an additional $70, CMI offers a money-back warranty providing a full refund if you are not married off at the end of five years.

Once assured that your bank account is reasonably stable, CMI proceeds to look over the rest of you. Information fed into the computer is drawn from two tests—a one-hour intelligence test and a multipage personality test.

MOST PEOPLE lie a little about their personalities. Some cannot draw the line between what they are and what they would like to be and others, like me, want to make themselves sound as appealing as possible to avoid ending up with a series of machine-picked duds.

Once the tests are processed, you just sit back and receive callers—up to 10 of them every 60 days for the next five years.

My first date was 48-001-822 and I judged from his number that he had been trying a while. Trust a first impression.

48-001-822 was a white collar worker, 29, Protestant, 6-foot-1, 185 pounds, black hair, brown eyes, did not smoke, did not drink, was never convicted of a crime and was never committed to a mental institution.

IT WASN'T gentle questioning on my part that disclosed all this, but a photostat fact sheet that precedes every man channeled my way. CMI also rates every member—they said he was very good— and includes a picture. His was a little overexposed and for all I knew, I would be going out with a pair of teeth.

Without going into detail, let me say the computer struck out on this one. Perhaps someone bent my IBM card.

MY SECOND date is supposed to be 48-001-539, although it's been more than a month now and I haven't heard from him. He lives in Prosser, Wash., some 170 miles away, and since it appears he's too busy to write and too cheap to call, that could be a major hang-up.

In all honesty, I have nothing to complain about. This service was given to me free so I could write a story about it— and I was happy to do it. As one brochure points out: "Only faith, love, patience, understanding and each member working to increase our membership will bring the happiness and success you desire."

I've done my part. Now it's up to IBM.

Interest Hike Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Liberals in Congress and the executive branch are being forced by unyielding economic pressures to search their souls on the possibility of changing sides on a deeply-felt issue.

The question is whether interest-rate ceilings written into some laws can be maintained although inflation and credit demand have pushed much higher the returns that investors can expect.

President Johnson, certainly not a high-interest man by past performance, signaled he had made a painful decision when he recommended in his economic report that Congress lift the 6 per cent limit on interest charged for loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration and Veterans Administration.

THE REACTION in Congress was swift—and discouraging to some administration strategists who were reported hoping that at least a temporary lifting of the ceiling could be passed quickly. If Congress does act, there is every indication it will be only after long, agonizing debate.

The other principal federal provision on interest rates applies to government borrowing. It specifies that long-term government securities may not carry a rate higher than 4¼ per cent. For more than a decade, secretaries of the Treasury of both parties have been recommending in vain that this limit be raised. At present, the government simply can't raise money at 4¼ per cent.

But the 4¼ per cent limit has long been a rallying cry for those who believe in government action to keep interest rates down.

CONGRESS LAST year relaxed the rule indirectly. It allowed Treasury notes to be issued for terms up to seven years, instead of five. Notes are not subject to the ceiling.

So now what actually are medium-term Treasury securities are selling for more than 4¼ per cent, while the limit remains on the statute books for whatever symbolic value it may have. The Treasury still can't sell longer-term securities because of the ceiling.

To Your Good Health

He Sobers Up On Beer? Self-Delusion!

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please comment on severe alcoholism, an attack once a week. My husband says he can sober up very quickly on beer and sometimes it does seem to work.

However, he has spells about once a month when he is quite ill, and will perspire so profusely that he cannot leave his bed for a couple of days. Is this alcohol poisoning and could it be fatal?

Is there a cure or treatment that could help this vicious habit without going to a mental institution, which he fears tremendously?

Why is there not something being done by the medical profession to find a cure for alcoholism? — Mrs. I.B.D.

He "sobers up on beer?" He's kidding himself. By switching to beer, he may reduce his rate of alcohol consumption, but he doesn't sober up from the beer.

It's possible but not too likely that he will die in the midst of one of his alcoholic collapses, but it doesn't take an expert to see that he is well on the way to killing himself by ruining his liver and wrecking his health in general. Some other illness may then prove fatal.

There's probably no need, even for him, to go into a mental institution, but he may have to go to a hospital or a place that specializes in "cures" for alcoholics, so he can be forced to stay away from booze until his system, daily nutrition and attitudes are brought into passable balance.

Even that won't cure him unless he wants to be cured — really wants to, and is willing to admit that liquor has him whipped, and for him the only answer is to quit drinking entirely. He's already one of those fellows for whom the first drink means disaster, because his first drink will always lead to another.

There's an active chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous in your city. The best thing he can do, for himself and for you, is to join it and discover that others have whipped the habit after having it as bad as he does. If he has as much guts as the next guy, he can do it.

Otherwise he'll be dead in a few years, but he'll have to go through a lot of misery first.

I recommend that, besides joining AA, he go to a doctor and find out how badly he has damaged his liver already. The doctor can give him a lift with appropriate diet and medication, but he can't quit booze for your husband. He'll have to do that himself.

A lot of physicians who conduct alcohol clinics, or are helping alcoholics kick the habit, or are conducting research into everything that can help alcoholics, will resent your implication that nothing is being done by the medical profession to cure alcoholism. Most of these same physicians resent the fact that so many alcoholics want the doctor to do it all, with no effort or will on the patient's part. Much is being done and is available for the alcoholic who wants help.

Tell your husband that there's plenty of help available for him once he starts to try. And no hope for him if he doesn't.

How To Back Into An Emergency

WASHINGTON — Back on December 16, 1950, President Truman issued as eloquent a proclamation as we have in our federal literature. The paper was cosigned by Dean Acheson, Secretary of State, and he may have been its author.

In any event, Mr. Truman said that events in Korea required him to issue a statement of emergency. He denounced the Communist conspiracy, by name, asked God's help, and "summoned" (again by name) all farmers, workers, businessmen and political leaders to "make sacrifices" and "keep the faith" to meet the dangers that then confronted us.

IT WAS THIS State Paper of Mr. Truman's that President Johnson used last New Year's Day to assert himself on the subject of foreign investment and foreign travel. As to the foreign investments, he decreed by executive order that the Secretary of Commerce should pass upon all "transfers of capital" outside the country and should require "repatriation" of many earnings and deposits abroad. He also provided the Federal Reserve Board with standby authority to "investigate, regulate and prohibit" any bank under Federal jurisdiction from moving money outside the United States. As to foreign travel, LBJ said he would seek restrictive legislation.

CONGRESS WAS out of session on New Year's, and is only now giving attention to what the President said and did. Not many Congressmen, and far fewer citizens, realized what liberties the President was taking — not for the first time, either — with his credibility.

To nod concurrence with the President, one must believe that the specific emergency proclaimed by Mr. Truman, namely the Korean War, had never lapsed. Two Presidents, Eisenhower and Kennedy, have served in the meanwhile without recourse to the Truman proclamation, and a ceasefire of sorts has existed in Korea since 1953. President Johnson did not declare an emergency of his own, related to matters of this year. He backed into Mr. Truman's outdated emergency.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON found this a convenient way to deal with the balance-of-payment problem (which didn't exist and wasn't mentioned in 1950), but he failed to choose a very trustful way in approaching the American people, and there's rising doubt about his method's legality. If a proclaimed emergency can last 18 years without renewal, then it can last in perpetuity, and we've got a dictatorship. If a bygone military emergency can be transfigured into a financial emergency, involving the seizure of money, then we can have presidential confiscation any old time.

IN ADDITION to the Truman proclamation, Mr. Johnson reached back to an old law, an Act of 1917, to justify himself. In 1917, Congress gave President Wilson wartime controls over "transactions in foreign exchange." That old law doesn't use the term "repatriation" of moneys, and has no visible relationship to the current balance-of-payments problem.

Of course, the President may be right in moving to stop runaway dollars and spendthrift travelers. The Lord knows we've got a financial emergency, among others, that relates to national safety. The country should be willing, and I think it is, to suspend all the personal freedoms among which foreign travel is nothing but a trinket) and to impound all its economic assets, in order to survive as a nation.

BUT THE PRESIDENT shouldn't lean on Mr. Truman. He shouldn't hark back to a deadletter law of World War I. He ought not to suit his convenience by legalistic jobbery. He ought to stop squandering his equity of believability.

This man, Lyndon Johnson, knows how to be candid and forthright. He has inborn qualities of leadership. He is perfectly capable of proclaiming an emergency in his own name to fit the time and needs.

A Case In Point

WASHINGTON—Oft-repeated is the comment that times are worse today than ever before. But are they? Even the Vietnam War, which is supposed to be unprecedented—a conflict of a kind in which the United States allegedly has never before participated—isn't really a novelty in American history.

THERE WAS, for example, the guerrilla warfare which raged in the Philippines from December, 1899, until April, 1902, when 70,000 American troops were engaged in putting down a Filipino uprising after the islands were ceded to the United States following the Spanish-American war.

This happened thousands of miles from this country—in fact, it was the farthest away from our own territory that any American military force had gone up to that time. Was it all worthwhile? Did any good results flow from it?

THE ANALOGY between developments with respect to the Philippines and what is occurring now in Vietnam can be vividly recalled by persons who lived in the early days of this century. Many others have been told by their parents about those agonizing years. The conflict was as unpopular then as the war in Vietnam is today. All sorts of organizations inside the United States were opposed to America's presence in the Philippines. Indeed, the United States was accused by various groups within its own borders of having yielded to imperialism.

BUT WHAT has taken place since the guerrilla warfare ended in 1902—the evolution of an independent nation after many years of financial and military support by the United States—is an example of altruism unequalled throughout the world by any other power. The United States helped the Filipino people in the fields of education, agriculture, law, government, industry and public health. America contributed billions of dollars to the development of the Philippines, enabling the people to obtain materials and machinery for transportation and for industrial growth.

It took several decades for the Philippines to become independent, but, as the history books show, the islands constitute today an example of a successful conversion of a colonial people in Asia into an autonomous democracy.

WHEN THE United States was attacked at Pearl Harbor in 1941 by Japan, the Philippines became a key factor in the American strategy for waging the war in the Pacific. The Japanese later occupied principal points in the islands, but they were driven out by American forces. The Philippines, as a military base, was an essential element in the ultimate victory by the United States over Japan.

AMERICA'S experience with the Philippines demonstrates that an independent nation capable of self-government cannot be set up overnight. The United States could eventually reconstruct Vietnam, too, if the North and South were reunited, economic aid could be extended that would transform a primitive nation into a modern environment in which the people could enjoy the fruits of true independence.

PROTECTS LOAN SHARKS

Garnishments Hike Debtors' Dilemma

By HARRY ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In ancient times the man who couldn't or wouldn't pay his debts became a slave. In a later period he went to prison. The modern way sometimes is to garnish his pay—to withhold a part for the creditor.

It is estimated there are as many as four million garnishments a year, that between 100,000 and 300,000 people lose their jobs annually because employers don't like the extra bookkeeping involved in garnishing wages, or for other reasons.

ONLY $50

In one state, garnishments may leave a man with only $50 a month to maintain his family. Only three states forbid them entirely.

Defenders of garnishment call it a last-resort tool to collect from the deadbeat debtor. Joseph W. Barr, undersecretary of the treasure, concedes that the federal government through the Internal Revenue Service is one of the greatest garnishers.

Garnishment has been called the one overriding cause of the 200,000 consumer bankruptcies last year; it has been blamed for causing more unemployment than prison records; it has been listed as a reason for suicides and a major cause of last summer's riots.

Because the courts and law enforcement officers are involved, one witness before a congressional committee called garnishment "state intervention in its most drastic and naked form." Another said, "The county sheriff becomes a backstop for the salesman." A third pense of garnisheeing wages, tion that makes a loan shark "most eager to entice the wage earner into his tender trap."

PUSH

The AFL-CIO at its national convention in December urged a push for a federal law to prevent garnishments, saying: "Some employers, rather than accept the annoyance and expense of garnisheeing wages, simply discharge the workers involved, or the workers, fearful of discharge or loss of reputation, eventually wind up in the clutches of unscrupulous loan sharks in their efforts to pay off the original debt."

Now Congress is considering severe restraints. The legislation would put a jumble of state laws into a national framework.

A bill approved by the House Banking Committee would exempt 30 per cent of pay, then make only 10 per cent of the remainder garnishable—and permit only one such attachment at a time. The measure also would prohibit an employer from discharging a worker for a single garnishment.

PROTECTION

The provisions would be part of a Consumer Protection Bill which is scheduled to come before the House shortly. Basically, the bill covers disclosure of credit terms and is similar to the Truth-in-Lending bill passed by the Senate in July. But the Senate version—culminating a seven-year fight by proponents—does not touch on garnishment.

If Congress accepts the garnishment limitations supporters say it will have a sizable impact on the dollar-down, dollar-when-I-catch-you merchants whose only stipulation for credit is that the buyer has a job.

Clive W. Bare, referee in bankruptcy for the eastern district of Tennessee, told a subcommittee hearing on the House bill:

"I have observed hundreds of bankruptcy cases where five or 10 loan companies hold hundreds of dollars of loans against the same household furniture which, if foreclosed upon, would have almost no value. These loans were not made on the debtor's ability to repay or the security which had been pledged, but simply because the loan companies knew that the debtor's wages could be attached if he did not pay."

STUDY

Sidney Margolius of Port Washington, N.Y., a writer on consumer economics, cited a study that determined in one county's 6,744 garnishees in one year, 805 were by one finance and loan company, 783 by one credit clothing and jewelry store, and 640 from a single furniture and appliance store.

Americans bought $100 billion in consumer goods on credit in 1966 and paid $13 billion for the privilege. The finance charges roughly equal what the government paid the same year on its $329 billion debt.

Speaking of the ever-more-popular use of credit, Margolius also told the subcommittee:

"Some of America's largest merchandisers and manufacturers in effect have become combination stores and finance companies, including many who until a few years ago sold very little on credit."

With garnishment as a weapon, Margolius said, "consumer exploitation has replaced labor exploitation as the real problem of our times." He told of a woman who signed what she thought was a receipt for $65 worth of tableware a salesman persuaded her to try. When the tableware was delivered it was not the same quality she had been shown and the receipt turned out to be an installment contract.

ANSWER

"She wrote the seller to take it back," Margolius said. "The only answer was a demand for payment.

"Her employer's personnel office called her in and told her a garnishee had been filed for $120, including finance charges and legal costs and that the employer would not tolerate garnishees. To keep her job she had to settle with her seller.

"She settled for $75 for a set of tableware which another retailer subsequently estimated was worth $15. This woman earns just $60 a week. So she really had worked one week without pay because of the $60 she had overpaid for the tableware."

"Is it any wonder that in riots in Detroit and other cities, rioters also destroyed installment records in local credit stores?" Margolius asked.

The subcommittee heard testimony that half of all American families now are paying installment debt and that two-thirds either had no money set aside for emergencies or had less than $500 to tide them over in case of illness, death, loss of job or other disaster.

MORE

Barr, the Treasury official, said the money spent by consumers on interest and other credit charges—exclusive of mortgage credit—"is more than consumers spent for men's and boys' clothing; for furniture and appliances; for electricity, gas and water; for doctor and dentist bills; or for alcoholic beverages."

Says It's A Record

Mrs. Ethel Granger, 62, displayed her 13-inch waist at Peterborough, England, recently. The British Guiness Book of Records has listed her waist as the smallest in the world. When she married astronomer William Granger she had a trim 22-inch waist. With his help and the use of laced corsets she slowly reduced her waist to its current span.

Swedes Study Effects Of Easing Sexual Taboos

STOCKHOLM (AP) — "It used to be that marriage led to children," a Lutheran churchman said the other day. "Nowadays children lead to marriage."

His comment came in the midst of a re-examination of what effects a broad easing of sexual taboos has had in Sweden.

PREGNANT

Social workers estimate that every third bride goes to the altar pregnant. The rates of illegitimacy and venereal disease, and probably those of divorce, are rising. Peddlers of pornography, "por" as the Swedes have nicknamed it, are becoming bolder all the time. Published estimates put their annual turnover at $8 million to $10 million.

Nearly every Stockholm street has shops with windows crammed with booklets and pictures. The portrayal of a naked female no longer seems to be enough. Photos now go into anatomical detail, and show more than one person together in the nude. Clusters of men regularly stare into the windows.

Movies show extended nude sequences and details. Afternoon papers particularly are heavy with sex stories, nude pictures and sex advertisements. Some sample ads: "Homosexual club for men and women"; "Are you looking for uninhibited women eager for sex? You'll find them in the—Club". Strings of ads from "professional models" give telephone numbers.

PROHIBIT

A commission is studying laws which broadly prohibit all publications and pictorial matter offensive to "propriety and decency." This principle, Justice Ministry officials say, is open to wide interpretation because of changing public attitudes. But 39 pornographic publications have been confiscated this year, against none last year.

A shocked businessman, Harry Hedman, almost a lone voice of protest, is circulating petitions to put pressure on authorities to tighten the law.

"We are asking people to protest against writers and film directors who earn money by stripping bare sexual life, by distortions and by offering women for sale as though they were toys or stimulants," he said. "It isn't only our womanhood which is being defouled by the immorality which is spreading over the land. Now even males are beginning to figure in the photographs."

Are this flood of pornography and open discussion about sexual freedom damaging Swedish youth and the family structure?

Psychologist Aake Edfeldt says:

"During a certain period of youth, pornographic literature and photos are the normal form of sexual experience. In my view, it is a symptom of the fact that sexual instruction in the schools hasn't advanced far enough, that it isn't sufficiently realistic. Instruction is limited too much to books on biology."

COMPULSORY

Sex education is compulsory from the age of seven. The teaching manual is under review. One issue is what children should be taught about contraceptives.

"There's no doubt our children have much greater freedom in sexual matters than ever before," commented a Swedish father, "but at the same time, if it's a comfort, they also know how to take better care of themselves than ever before."

Safety Sought For Deadly Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The four million men who make their living building the nation's skyscrapers, bridges and other major projects, earn nearly the highest workmen's wages. Their jobs are also the deadliest.

There were 2,350 deaths and 240,000 severe injuries suffered by construction workers last year. Union leaders are demanding a federal safety code with stiff penalties.

FIGHTING

"We are for safety," says an industry spokesman, but big contractors are fighting the legislation as just more federal interference and duplication that won't cut the accident toll.

"The only way to make improvements in safety in construction is to educate the individual further as to his operating on a safe basis," says William E. Naumann of the Associated General Contractors of America.

C. J. Haggerty, president of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, replies that the industry is just dodging the issue by trying to imply that "the worker is directly or indirectly responsible for practically each and every one of his accidents."

The safety legislation, sponsored by Rep. James [illegible] O'Hara, D-Mich., would provide a $3,000 fine or 90 days in jail for any contractor refusing to correct a safety hazard at the request of federal inspectors.

Congressional sources say there's a good chance of passage for some type of construction safety bill particularly if industry fears of too many duplicating inspections can be eased.

DANGERS

How do the men on the job feel about the dangers of heavy construction work?

"Any time you're working off the ground it's dangerous," said Henry Rooks, 50, an ironworker who has been walking the narrow girders at giddy heights on big bridge and high-rise projects for nearly 30 years.

"We try to make the work as safe as we can but you get used to the danger after a while," said Rooks, who was working on a Delaware River Bridge project when a million pounds of wet concrete burst from forms and swept 11 men into deep water last April.

Nine of the men were rescued.

Latest Labor Department figures show that construction workers average $4.85 per hour—plumbers make more and construction laborers less—while the average wage for auto workers, for instance is $3.41.

Even on the ground, construction work is dangerous. Cases of men crushed while digging a ditch, hit from above by falling equipment, the sudden collapse of a building being torn down piece by piece, men crushed by earth movers and death-dealing debris unexpectedly hurled by dynamite excavation blasts all add up a mounting toll.

RISING

The number of deaths on construction jobs has been steadily rising from 2,500 in 1959 to 2,800 last year, and disabling injuries from 218,000 to 240,000 a year over the same period, Haggerty said.

Keeps Wolf In His Yard

By PATRICK DUNN

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Neighborhood vandals give a wide berth to William D. Gilmer's house.

Maybe it's because of that timber wolf in the back yard.

Gilmer, a major in the Kansas City Police Department, plans to breed the wolf with a German shepherd dog to create a better animal for police canine patrols.

BETTER

He hopes the shepherd-wolf pups will grow taller, heavier, faster, more powerful and more alert than the shepherd and Doberman pinscher dogs now being used.

"I'd like to breed an animal which possesses the acute sense of danger of a wolf," Gilmer said, "but yet has the training and handling ability of a domestic dog."

Finding a timber wolf wasn't easy.

"It's nearly impossible to obtain a wolf for a pet in the United States," said the police officer.

"In the United States, wolves have become nearly extinct and are protected by stringent conservation laws.

"But I learned that in Canada the laws still consider wolves as predatory beasts, as animals which are exterminated when they are found."

RECEIVED

After many inquiries, Gilmer received a month-old wolf pup from a Canadian conservation officer who found it in a den some 200 miles north of Winnipeg.

When the wolf arrived via air freight, "it was a little bundle of silky fur," he recalled. "It weighed about four pounds."

Now named Shanty, it weighs in today at 100 pounds of muscle and sharp fangs. And it's only 10 months old.

Gilmer erected a doghouse in his back yard and also dug a wolf den where Shanty spends his time during extremely cold or hot weather.

"I've asked my neighbors if they were bothered by howling noises, and they said they weren't," Gilmer said.

Israelis In Race For A New Weapon

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel has embarked on a crash program to develop a new weapon against the Arabs—television.

It's a race against time. The Israelis fear the Jordanians will have the same propaganda weapon operational sooner.

Considered to be at stake in the budding Middle East television war are the loyalties of hundreds of thousands of Arabs in the halfway land of Jordan's west bank, now under Israeli occupation.

COST

For the Israelis, trying to win that loyalty is worth $6 million a year—the estimated cost of four hours of entertainment and news programs daily.

It is Israel's first venture into mass consumption television and, ironically, it will be mainly the Arabs who tune in on the result. Three program hours each day will be in Arabic, only one in Hebrew.

"Propaganda is propaganda," one government official explained. "We understand Jordan is planning to have their own television working in a couple of months. We have to be smart about it."

The provisional target date for Israeli emergency television, —as it is called—is April 1. Preparatory work is moving at a sharp pace.

TASK FORCE

A task force of Arab affairs and communications experts, headed by an American professor, will be closeted in a seaside hotel all this week to hammer out guidelines for Arabic-language programming.

A $150,000 truck purchased in West Germany with measuring devices to find suitable locations for transmitting stations has been shipped in.

The television sets are already there—about 40,000 in Israel and an as yet uncompiled number on the west bank and in the Israeli-held Gaza Strip.

The Israelis can watch a few government-sponsored instructional programs and, along with the west bankers, casts from Syria, Lebanon and Egypt.

The Arabs' television monopoly irritated Israelis during the war last June.

"Everybody else in the world was watching what was happening except Israel," says the television task force chairman, [illegible] Jerusalem's Hebrew University and at Chicago University.

Katz, 41, is a mass media research expert who was born in New York City and resides for most of the year in Jerusalem.

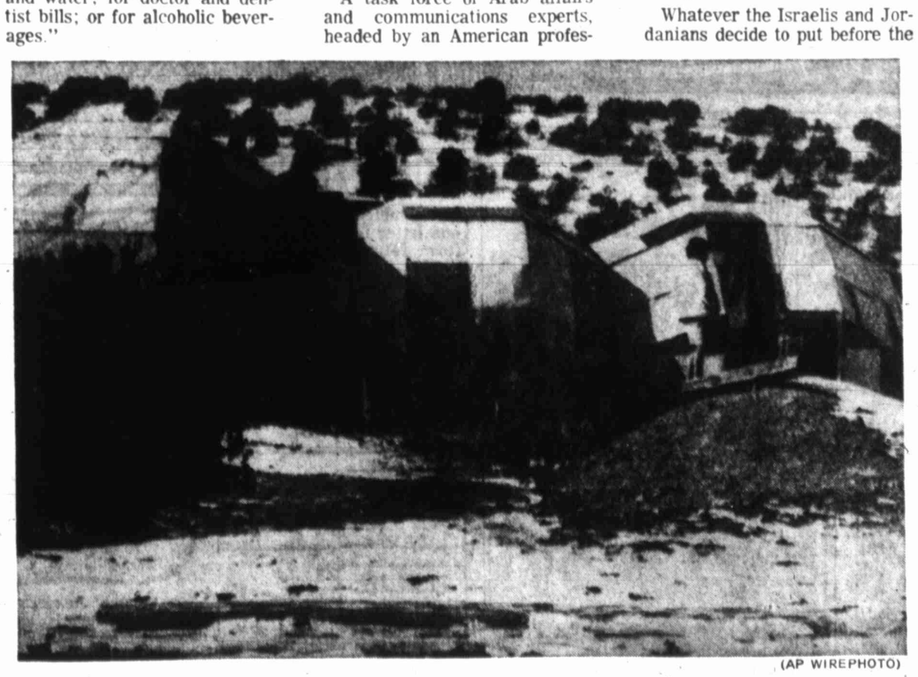

He says the project should aim for more than just propaganda.

RAPPORT

"It's a matter of establishing a rapport with these people," he says. "I hope this operates much less in politics and ideology and much more in the exchange of ideas and culture."

Whatever the Israelis and Jordanians decide to put before the cameras is assured of an eager audience.

As an Arab intellectual in the now nearly lifeless Old City of Jerusalem put it: "What do we have to do but watch television?"

EL PASO, HUDSPETH

Time Problem In West Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two counties in far West Texas, one of them containing heavily populated El Paso, are banking on Congress to solve their time problem.

El Paso and Hudspeth counties, located west of the Pecos [illegible] always have observed mountain time. And their residents want to retain that time zone.

FEARS

But under a law on the books since 1921, all of Texas is required to observe central time. No effort was made to apply the law, however, and the counties did not change their clocks.

But the Uniform Time Act of 1966 provided legal enforcement of time zones, raising fears that the West Texas section not only would be required to go on central time but also observe daylight time in summer months along with the rest of Texas.

Central daylight time in El Paso would mean the sun would not set until about 9 p.m. on summer nights. Dawn would be after 8 a.m. on fall mornings.

The fundamental problem facing the area is the gigantic size of Texas.

El Paso is the farthest western city in Texas, on the borders of both Mexico and New Mexico.

It is 850 miles to the eastern border of Texas from El Paso, 621 miles to Dallas and 748 miles to Houston.

On the other hand, El Paso is relatively close to several cities in New Mexico, which observes mountain time. Two thousand El Paso residents work on military bases in New Mexico.

Distance thus has meant that El Paso has developed stronger ties in many ways with New Mexico than with Texas.

BENDS

Furthermore, El Paso would be 100 miles inside the mountain time zone were the zone line projected directly south. Instead, the time zone line bends to take all Texas into central time.

Recognizing the problem, the federal government agreed to allow El Paso and Hudspeth counties to observe mountain time until Congress can decide on an exemption bill.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough and Rep. Richard White mapped a plan to have Congress officially place the two counties on mountain time.

They hope to have the exemption tacked on as an amendment to a noncontroversial bill before daylight saving time goes into effect again next April. There is no vocal objection in El Paso to observing mountain time.

White, whose district includes El Paso, said the strategy is aimed at preventing more moves in Congress to obtain time zone changes for other areas of the United States.

AMEND IT

He said there is a fear that if a time exemption for the two Texas counties came before Congress as a separate bill, many members would seek to amend it to change their own districts' time belt.

That, White said, would create the same patchwork of time zones that the Uniform Time Act eliminated.

National Guard Officer Retires

Hawks Flog Odessans For 11th Loop Win

By TOMMY HART

HCJC's Jayhawks moved a step nearer their second straight Western JC Conference basketball championship by flogging Odessa College, 97-82, here Tuesday night.

The Big Spring contingent rewarded the faithful who braved ice and snow to show up — and the gym was more than half full — with a good, solid performance.

The Wranglers, now dormie three in the race for first place, tried and tried but couldn't mount the firepower the Hawks showed.

Larry Linder had one of his finest nights ever in an HCJC uniform, teaming with Hiron Hubert to give the locals a one-two punch that staggered the Odessans. Fed perfectly by their teammates, they beat a tattoo on the goal that kept the Hawks far out in front most of the time.

N. S. Hurd, Odessa's chief gunner, was tremendous on the boards but, in the scoring duel, he was no match for Larry Linder. Linder wound up with 38 points while Hurd had only 16.

Linder had gone into the contest with a two-point lead over Hurd in the race for WC scoring honors (but had played in one more game).

Hubert tallied 27 points for HC and helped in countless other ways. He teamed with Terry Fields to time and again pilfer the ball and turn defensive sets into HC scores. Fields and Simon Terrazas were other Hawks to hit in double figures, Terry getting 12 and Terrazas 11.

The win was the 11th in 13 starts for the Hawks within the league. Over-all, the locals are 19-10. Odessa is 7-5 in conference play and 14-9 on the season.

HC hit 40 per cent of its shots from the field the first half for 43 per cent and connected on 19 of 38 after the intermission for an even 50 per cent.

Larry Linder grabbed off 12 rebounds while Fields came down with ten.

Roger McGlothlin led the Odessans with 20 points. Stan Hutson chipped in with 14 while Jerry Ballard had ten.

The Hawks get an acid test Friday night in Hobbs, when they tangle with the salty NMJC Thunderbirds.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The first Region V Junior College Basketball tournament here, scheduled Feb. 29-March 1-2, will get off to a modest start and the sponsoring American Business Club will consider itself lucky if it gets off the $3,000 nut.

The meet, if it is returned here, could lead to bigger things and certainly will be an asset to the community.

In Hutchinson, Kansas, scene of the National Tournament, the sponsors can point with pride to the intrinsic value of the 16-team meet.

Last year, gate receipts at Hutchinson amounted to a record $44,882.25—when capacity crowds attended all night sessions.

The Hutchinson American Legion, which sponsors the four-day event, has increased seating capacity of the tournament gym from 6,000 in 1952 to 7,000.

One of the Legion workers in Hutchinson predicted that if the city didn't provide additional seating within the next few years, the city would lose the NJCAA tournament.

When the tickets at Hutchinson go on sale, tournament officials are predicting they'll be sold out within three hours.

With a little better putting touch here, Thompson—then of Wichita Falls—might have won the local tournament.

There had never been a player from a Negro school in pro football until Tank Younger went from Grambling College in Louisiana to the Los Angeles Rams in 1949.

Two decades later, the Negro colleges in the South and Southwest are one of the pro football scouts' favorite sources of talent.

The school that had the most players picked in the recent pro draft was not USC or Notre Dame. It was Jackson State in Jackson, Miss., a Negro college of 2,990 students.

Jackson State had 11 of the 462 players named. USC, the national champion, had ten selected.

Lem Barney of the Detroit Lions, an all-pro cornerback, came off the Jackson State campus last year.

Jackson State's Tom Funchess, a tackle, was picked just ahead of Big Spring's Charley West (by Boston) in the second round of this year's draft.

Go Go Goofs Are Second In Meet

MIDLAND — A Big Spring team, the Go Go Goofs, won second place in the Midland Reporter-Telegram's Classic Women's Bowling tournament, which ended here last weekend.

The Big Springers registered a score of 2,711. The winning score of 2,727 was posted by Ward Lanes of Monahans.

In open singles, Dot Hood of Big Spring, first week's leader, wound up fifth with a 571 tally.

Joyce Townsend of Andrews copped first place in that phase of competition with a 628.

Lahita Warner and Mary Ellen Osborne, Big Spring, finished fourth in Class A doubles with a score of 1,034. Jeane Virden and Ruby Pate, Hobbs, were first with a 1,064.

Games Flop Financially

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Competitively and artistically it may be a success, but financially the 10th Winter Olympic Games are turning out to be a bust.

"We had expected 40,000 people a day," explained a Grenoble city official who asked to remain unnamed. "Frankly, we had that many opening day and last Sunday, but the rest of the time we have run far below expectations."

Ticket sales for the Olympic events are also running far below the 1964 attendance at Innsbruck. While the figure skating and important hockey games in the 12,000 seat Stade de Glace are officially sold out, the outdoor events have had sparse attendance generally.

"Television is a great factor but so is the international political situation," the Grenoble city official added. "About one-third of the Americans who made reservations still have not shown up or have cut their stay short.

"The business people are very upset. Many expected to make back their investment in the 12 days of the Games, and it is just beginning to hit them what a mistake that expectation was."

Some of the shopkeepers have already given up. Many had set up stalls in an area near the Olympic Village, but some of these have already closed.

"It is a catastrophe," exclaimed a seller of souvenirs and small enamel pictures. "We are working less here than usual. I sold seven articles Sunday, three Saturday and one or two the other days."

Tech, Ponies Lend Bruins Assistance

By The Associated Press

First-place Baylor got an unexpected helping hand from tail-end Texas Tech and Southern Methodist but the Bears wasted the opportunity to gain almost unrecoverable ground toward a Southwest Conference basketball championship.

Baylor lost to Texas 79-65 at Austin Tuesday night while second-place Arkansas and Texas Christian also were losing away from home. Southern Methodist upset TCU 70-63 and Texas Tech edged Arkansas 74-72 on Lee Tynes' tip-in with two seconds to play.

Texas A&M made it a clean sweep for the home teams by whipping Rice 78-58.

A Baylor triumph would have put the Bears three games in front with five games remaining, three of them at Waco. Now they are 7-2 but still two games ahead of Arkansas, TCU, Texas and Texas A&M, all 5-4.

Rice, Texas Tech and SMU share the last three places with 3-6 won-lost records and are eliminated from title contention.

Texas Tech's last-moment victory was almost foreordained. Earlier Tuesday Arkansas' chartered airplane developed engine trouble and made a forced landing at Wichita Falls. The Razorbacks switched to another plane and arrived in Lubbock several hours behind schedule.

After taking a 43-29 halftime lead, Arkansas lost on fouls its leading scorer, James Eldridge, with 4:13 to play and Gary Stephens with 3:59 remaining. Eldridge scored 15 of his 17 points in the first half and Stephens got 10 of his 12 in the same period.

Then with the score tied 72-72 on Tynes' long basket, Arkansas' Bobby Vint missed a free throw with 13 seconds to play. Tech got the rebound, Jim Nelson's shot bounced off the rim and Tynes tapped in the winning basket.

Gary Overbeck and Billy Arnold, both of whom collected three fouls early in the game, scored 20 points apiece as Texas scored on 67 per cent of its field goal attempts.

The Longhorns never trailed and the score was tied only twice, 2-2 and 6-6. Texas increased a 38-30 halftime lead to 49-32 with four minutes played in the second half. Tommy Bowman led Baylor with 19 points.

Southern Methodist combined a pressing defense in the second half with 47-point scoring by Bill Voight and Lynn Phillips to avenge an earlier loss at TCU. Voight scored 24 and Phillips 23.

The Horned Frogs led 39-35 at intermission. TCU's Mickey McCarty, the conference's leading scorer, got 21 points before fouling out. James Cash, the Frogs' second top scorer, managed only eight.

Premium Is Put On Power In $100,000 Open Event

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and a number of the pro golf tour's longer hitters put their muscles to good use today in the pro-am kickoff of the $100,000 Phoenix Open over a soggy Phoenix Country Club course.

The 6,765-yard, par 71 course has been hit by five days of intermittent rain. This, coupled with a new fairway carpet of rye grass, put a premium on power.

The Phoenix Open, at the $100,000 figure for the first time this year, has lost only one day to rain in recent years.

Tom Weiskopf, who found out last weekend that winning could be fun by capturing the $30,000 top money in the Andy Williams San Diego Open, is another one of the longer hitters rated a good chance to cart home the $2,000 winner's purse here.

Defending Phoenix Open titlist Julius Boros, fourth best money winner on the tour last year, has been having his troubles this winter. But he always plays well at the Phoenix CC.

Other top names here are PGA champion Don January, Frank Beard, Bob Goalby, Dan Sikes, Al Geiberger, Doug Sanders, George Archer, Dave Marr and Gardner Dickinson.

Layne, Young Join Shrine

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Layne, Claude "Buddy" Young, Clark Shaughnessy and six others have been named to the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame.

Chester LaRoche, president of the hall, said the nine would be inducted into the hall Dec. 3 at a banquet in New York.

The others to be inducted are Claude Monk Simmons, Johnny Pingel, the late Eddie Casey, Adam Walsh, Albert "Ox" Wistert and Henry Ketcham.

Layne, quarterback for the Detroit Lions for many years, played three backfield positions for the University of Texas. Young, a top running back at Illinois, played for several professional teams.

Shaughnessy was coach at Stanford where he developed the T-formation that in 1940 gave the Indians an unbeaten season. Simmons was a great running back at Tulane, Pingel was a triple-threat halfback for Michigan State and Casey was a back at Harvard.

Walsh was on the line at Notre Dame, where he captained the team in 1924. Wistert played at Michigan and on the line for the Philadelphia Eagles for nine years. Ketcham was a lineman at Yale from 1911 to 1913 and won All-American honors.

Local Autos Win Awards In Dallas

Monroe Casey and Jim Welscher each won first place trophies in the International Car Association competition in Dallas during the past weekend.

Monroe showed his 1932 Ford in the five-window coupe class. It was finished in a high gloss violet pearl, had the fenders cut off and redesigned, the engine chromed, and interior in rolled, pleated naugahyde. He had put in about six months of work.

Jimmy showed his 1934 Ford sedan, which he has had since he was 13 years old. The complete undercarriage is chromed, along with the brake drums, shoes and wheels. It is finished in black lacquer and had the interior restored in black naugahyde.

Also exhibiting in the show was Jimmy Hopper, who entered his 1940 model Ford in the stock restored class. The car was finished in green lacquer and had the original interior.

Grand winner of the show was a Jaguar finished in pearl with gold suede interior. Should this car win in three other shows for its Houston owner, it will earn him a Ford experimental car. Judging in the show is based on body, safety, equipment, undercarriage, engine, interior and over-all appearance and design.

The local exhibitors plan to enter the state show in the near future.

All Schools Score Well In Harvest

By The Associated Press

The wealth that is symbolized in Texas schoolboy football underwent a thorough distribution Tuesday, the first day of signing young athletes in the Southwest Conference.

But the young man considered the big pot of gold by college recruiters, quarterback Jack Mildren of Abilene Cooper, remained as elusive as a rainbow.

OUTSIDE FOLD

This 185-pounder, who kept Cooper undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the state all season until the championship game with Austin Reagan, says, "I'm not going to make that decision until I am completely satisfied."

He has said his choice will be between a Southwest Conference school and the University of Oklahoma and it might be another week before he makes up his mind.

Tuesday was a day of ups and downs—spiritually as well as physically — for conference coaches. Jet aircraft were used by Gene Stallings of Texas A&M, Frank Broyles of Arkansas and Hayden Fry of Southern Methodist.

Darrell Royal of Texas pioneered this type of air travel in last year's recruiting rounds but he made Tuesday's junket in a propeller-driven plane.

Stallings was probably the most traveled head coach, covering more than 2,100 miles. His day started in Dumas, where he signed highly sought halfback Steve Burks from under the nose of Oklahoma recruiters, and it extended to Baton Rouge, La., where he grabbed off 200-pound Mike Lord, rated the No. 2 high school back in Louisiana last fall.

In between he obtained the signature of Steve Luebbenhusen, 190-pound Fort Worth Eastern Hills linebacker who was one of the 20 blue chip players in Texas.

The Aggies, last year's conference champion and Cotton Bowl victor over Alabama, announced 35 signings but it was known they signed at least 41 boys.

Rice and Southern Methodist each announced recruiting 29 boys although the names of 31 future Mustangs have become known.

HOGS SIGN 21

Arkansas announced signing 21, including nine from Texas, Texas 20, Texas Christian and Texas Tech 18 each and Baylor 11.

The Razorbacks and independent University of Houston claimed five of the blue chip players.

Arkansas landed 250-pound tackle Ronnie Carroll of Houston Spring Wood and 230-pound center Harvey Chapman of Odessa Permian. Houston got prize linemen in Frank Ditta of Houston Waltrip and Terry Chumley of Houston Sam Houston and halfback Tommy Mozisek of Inez Vanderbilt.

Rice and Texas Christian each recruited a blue chip quarterback. The Owls' selection was Phillip Wood of McKinney and TCU acquired Steve Judy of Longview.

Baylor snatched 225-pound tackle Gary Sutton of Ozona.

Eleven blue chip players named by Southwest Conference coaches remain to be signed. Among those are quarterback Gary Hammonds of Port Arthur Jefferson and two members of state champion Austin Reagan, quarterback Dale Rebold and halfback John Kleinert.

The University of Oklahoma reported signing these Texas schoolboys:

Glen King, Jacksboro tailback; Phil Jordan, Amarillo Tascosa tackle; Mike Mullen, Dallas St. Mark's tackle-linebacker; Jim Gilmore, Jacksboro linebacker; Steve Aycock, Midland linebacker; Bill Holden, Fort Worth Arlington Heights tackle.

The Sooners also signed David Geren, Fort Smith linebacker, who was chosen the outstanding high school lineman in Arkansas last year.

One Of Two Signed

Coaching aide John Young of SMU is shown here with Lonnie Clanton, one of two Big Spring boys he signed to football scholarships with his school. The other local player who inked a letter-of-intent with the Mustangs is Mike Irons, third of three brothers to win BSHS football letters.

Steers Shaded By Angeloans

SAN ANGELO — San Angelo romped past Big Spring, 71-55, here Tuesday in a battle of District 2-AAAA also-rans.

The Bobcats built up an early lead and had no trouble with the Steers, who are now 2-4 in the last half race. San Angelo evened its record at 3-3.

The downtrodden Longhorns wind up play for the year Friday night at home against Midland Lee.

By the end of the opening period, San Angelo held a six-point edge, at 19-13. The Cats continued to outscore the Steers in every quarter.

The win was the 21st in 27 starts this season for San Angelo. Big Spring is 16-14 overall.

Don Bradley led the San Angelo attack with 28 points and pulled down 19 rebounds. Carl Johnson counted 22 points for the Felines.

Snake Tucker stepped out to pace Big Spring, counting 18 points. Danny Clendenin tallied 16 and Goose Johnson 13 for the Longhorns.

Chris Fredrick led the San Angelo JV's to a 51-47 victory over the Big Spring junior varsity in a game that was decided in overtime.

Fredrick tallied 23 points. He was the only San Angelo player in double figures.

James Brown had 15 points and Tommy Butler 14 for Big Spring in that engagement.

In the varsity contest, Big Spring led only once in the game. That was with 3:25 left in the first half, at which time the score was 26-25.

In the last half, Big Spring couldn't move closer than seven points to the Tabbies.

Mears Is Named Stockton Coach

FORT STOCKTON — Gene Mears, line coach at Clear Creek High School the past six years, has been named head coach and athletic director at Fort Stockton High School.

Mears, one-time center at the University of Oklahoma, was given a two-year contract. He began his coaching career at El Campo and later coached at Norman and Holdenville in Oklahoma before joining the Clear Creek staff.

Stanton Fashions 80-71 Win Over Denver City

DENVER CITY — Stanton hung tough in the District 4-AA basketball race by defeating spirited Denver City, 80-71, here Tuesday night.

Now 8-2 in the race, the Buffs catch Morton at home Friday night and host the conference leader, Midland Carver, next Tuesday.

The Buffaloes played the boards well and got good scoring performances out of Jimmy Jones and David Jones to win. David led with 25 points while Jimmy settled for 23.

The game was nip and tuck going into the fourth period but the Buffs refused to fold and benefitted from fine rebounding on the part of Tommy Glynn, Rickey Corbell, David Jones and David Avery.

In B team play, Stanton won a cliff-hanger, 59-56, in a game that saw Carl Dean toss in 12 points for Stanton and Taylor 16 for Denver City.

In the varsity contest, Mike Hubbard led the Mustangs with 22 points.

Westbrook Girls Capture Crown

HERMLEIGH — Hermleigh captured the District 70-B boys' basketball championship by thumping Westbrook, 70-63, here Tuesday night.

Westbrook's girls sewed up the title in a preliminary engagement, turning back Hermleigh by a score of 70-55. Westbrook swept through conference play without a loss.

In the boys' contest, Bob Chambers bucketed 22 points for Westbrook while Tom Chorn had 23 for Hermleigh.

Pulattie's Son Signs With TCU

Coach and Mrs. Frank Pulattie received some good news Tuesday when coaching aide Allie White of TCU dropped by to see them.

White revealed he had signed the Pulattie's elder son, Mike, to a football letter-of-intent. Mike, who played his high school football at Kermit, is 6-3 and weighs about 225 now.

Mike has been attending Arlington Sam Houston High School working for a high school diploma and has been employed part time at the Ling - Tempo - Vought aircraft plant in Arlington.

The Pulatties' younger son, Danny, is a junior in the local high school.

Hunt, Oliver Go To Giants

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants as well as the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators came up with trades in major league baseball Tuesday, with the start of spring training just a few weeks away.

The Dodgers traded second baseman Ron Hunt and utility infielder Nate Oliver to the Giants for catcher Tom Haller and a minor league player to be named later.

The White Sox traded shortstop Ron Hansen, pitchers Dennis Higgins and Steve Jones to the Senators for second baseman Tim Cullen and pitcher Bob Priddy and Buster Narum.

Duffy Could Go To Court

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State football Coach Duffy Daugherty said Tuesday he is considering filing a libel suit against a student newspaper that said treatment of MSU athletes may have violated Big Ten rules.

Daugherty said he hadn't decided whether to file such a suit, but would leave the decision up to an attorney.

The newspaper, the Michigan Daily, student organ of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, was asked about Daugherty's statement, and managing editor Steve Wildstrom said, "We have no comment other than that we will stand by our stories."

The stories involved were written by Clark Norton, the newpaper's sports editor, who cited certain acts he said had taken place involving Michigan and Michigan State athletes in possible violations of Big Ten rules.

Meanwhile, John Dewey, assistant Big Ten commissioner, continued questioning Michigan Daily staffers and athletes and coaches at Michigan. He could not be reached for comment.

Oiler Business Is Picking Up

HOUSTON (AP)—Season ticket sales for the Houston Oilers' football games this year have been brisk since the team announced it was moving into the Astrodome.

The Oilers, who had been playing home games in Rice University Stadium, announced last Saturday they had switched to the domed stadium.

Monday and Tuesday the Oilers sold 2,200 new season tickets. Monday's order for 835 season tickets was the largest single-day sale in the club's history, but the record lasted only one day as 1,365 tickets were sold Tuesday.

Hotshot Salesmen Feeling Effects Of LBJ's Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 200 of the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s top wholesalers won't see Tokyo and Hong Kong and the 100 best air conditioning salesmen for Westinghouse Electric aren't going to do Europe.

They're among the first to feel the effects of President Johnson's proposals to keep more tourist dollars at home. The companies have decided to reward their salesmen with travels in the United States, not abroad.

TRAVEL TAX

The administration plan—which includes a tax on all travel expenditures above $7 a day outside the Western Hemisphere—also has begun to affect some airlines and travel agencies.

An Associated Press survey has disclosed these reactions:

—An unwritten agreement among some airlines not to talk about the problem. Other airlines, however, did discuss it.

—A decision by the University of Pittsburgh to call off two overseas alumni trips, changing them to "See America First" tours.

—An announcement from the Leisure Village senior citizens community in Lakewood, N.J., that travelers from the retirement community will visit Alaska and Hawaii instead of Europe.

—This comment from a travel agent's spokesman in Atlanta: "The damage has already been done."

The survey showed that some airlines have increased their foreign travel advertising budgets by as much as 50 per cent, but with the peak summer travel months ahead, most would say only that it's "too early" to tell about the effect of the President's proposals.

"They don't want to appear to be opposing the Johnson administration," an airline industry source said, "and they are afraid of possible retaliatory actions from the countries involved."

One airline survey—not yet made public—indicated that soon after the President made his proposals, there was a definite trend toward cancellation of trips by business groups, which normally travel in April and May.

Advertisements have begun to appear in newspapers across the United States containing claims by foreign airlines that they spend their profits on American-made aircraft.

PROMOTION IDEAS

A special task force completed work Tuesday in Washington on its first recommendations for increasing foreign travel to this country.

American travelers spent about $2 billion more abroad during 1967 than foreign tourists spent here. The administration hopes to close the travel gap by $500 million this year.

The overall balance of payments deficit last year exceeded $3.5 billion.

Robert M. McKinney, chairman of the Industry-Government Task Force on Travel, described the report as "very fine." It is to be submitted to the President this week. McKinney is publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican.

The report is certain to call for expanded promotion abroad of U.S. tourist attractions. It reportedly includes some form of accident and medical insurance for visitors and also is expected to recommend lower fares for transportation to and within the United States and special rates for foreign tourists.

Original Drama Called Powerful

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "My Father and My Mother," the third original drama of this season's "CBS Playhouse" series Tuesday night was a powerful, absorbing but not altogether successful effort to drive home playwright Robert Crean's thesis. His message was that we must accept others for what they are, not what we wish them to be.

The 90-minute drama took off to a slow and confusing start, but as one became accustomed to Crean's rather curious method of moving into and out of flashbacks, the material gathered momentum, and the meaning built up strong emotional impact.

LESS THAN HERO

It was the story of Ned Piper, a successful editor with a pretty, devoted wife and two bright young daughters. It opened at a tormented moment when he reluctantly turned over his mentally ill five-year-old son to an institution for care.

With the departure of the little boy who could not communicate, Piper's life seemed to be disintegrating. His wife and daughters turned away from him in despair, and he found himself returning, as if in a dream, to his boyhood in a placid town and to the happy, uneventful home of his parents.

Although the old life at first seemed halcyon, in the course of the flashbacks his father began to be revealed as something less than a hero. He even was finally able to remember some bitter quarrels between his parents.

The drama really told the story of a man maturing quickly and painfully as he faced, helplessly, a situation he could not change.

'BATMAN' ZAPPED

Gene Hackman, playing the part of the man caught up in a personal tragedy, was sensitive and persuasive in the part. Ralph Bellamy played the intransigent father beautifully while Jane Wyatt and Inga Swenson were most effective as the two patient, loving wives.

The constant backing and filling between past and present, the real and the unreal, failed to come off as effectively as one could wish.

Now that "CBS Playhouse" has repeatedly shown that it can find these meaty and terribly serious original dramas, it would be nice for a change of pace to drop in a bright, amusing original script. After all, it has often been alleged that comedy, too, can be meaningful and carry a point of view.

ABC has officially announced the pending demise of "Batman." The series will depart in mid-March. It will be replaced in its time period on Thursday nights by "The Second Hundred Years," which is considered a probable candidate for renewal next season.

The latter's Wednesday night's half-hour will be filled in turn on March 27 with one of those low-budget game shows, "Dream House," which will also make its debut at some date soon as a daytime show.

Recommended tonight: "He's Your Dog, Charlie Brown," CBS, 8:30-9 EST, another in the adventures of the little people in Charles Schulz's cartoon world.

Oxygen Mask Error Cited

DALLAS (AP) — Edwin G. Duncan has been a commercial airlines pilot for 25 years and his failure to put on an oxygen mask on a routine flight may cost him $1,000.

A Federal Aviation Administration inspector said Duncan, a Braniff International pilot, made no move to put on his oxygen mask on a recent flight to Vietnam when the co-pilot left his seat for a time.

The flight carried servicemen to Vietnam.

FAA regulations require oxygen-mask use if the man flying the plane is alone in the cockpit at altitudes of more than 25,000 feet. Carl Whitman, the inspector, said in federal court that the plane was at 31,000 feet at the time of the incident.

Rice University To Hike Tuition

HOUSTON (AP) — Tuition in undergraduate levels at Rice University will be increased from $1,500 to $1,800 next year.

Tuition for graduate students will increase from $1,700 to $2,000.

University officials cited rising costs as the reason for the increase in tuition.

The increases for undergraduate students does not apply to those already enrolled or enroll before Sept. 1969.

However, the new tuition for graduates becomes effective in Sept. 1969 for all students regardless of when they enrolled. The Rice announcement said that entrance requirements will continue as they are. When the University established tuition in 1965, about $1 million was set aside to help students who could not afford the full tuition.

Maj. Angel Performs Heart Surgery In Viet

First heart surgery performed at the 12th USAF Hospital at Cam Ranh Bay Air Base has been sucessfully completed in a Vietnamese child. The operation was performed by Air Force Maj. Robert Angel, a former Big Springer and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel.

Maj. Angel is chief of thoracic surgery at the hospital. He performed the operation on eight-year-old Vo Mai, to close an opening in the heart which caused an abnormal flow of blood.

Vo Mai's case was brought to the doctor's attention during a weekly medical civic action visit to the village of Myca, according to an account in the Pacific Stars & Stripes. The child had been seen by Vietnamese medical personnel who failed to discover the abnormality. She was refered to Air Force doctors who made the diagnosis.

Without the heart surgery, the child's life expectancy was 26 years. She apparently has recovered from the operation. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel have received a picture of their son with the little girl.

Maj. Robert Angel's wife and three-year-old son, Bobby, are residing with the Clyde Angels while the major is on his tour in Vietnam.

Houston, Tatum Marines Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Marines from Texas have been killed fighting in Vietnam, the Defense Department reported Tuesday.

It listed them as Cap Ronnie L. Terry, son of Mrs. Josephine Young, Rt. 1, Tatum, and Pfc. Kenneth W. Hudson, so nof Mrs. Florence K. Thomas, 515 Peden, Houston.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our kind friends and neighbors for their many kind expressions of sympathy and condolence during our recent bereavement.

Mrs. Bill Boyd In Hospital With Spinal Trouble

Word has been received here that Mrs. Bill Boyd, wife of the Rev. Bill Boyd, a former rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, is a patient at the University of Virginia hospital.

According to available information, Mrs. Boyd awoke about two weeks ago in a state of paralysis. She was taken to the university hospital, approximately 30 miles from the Boyd home in Orange, Va. Examination revealed that an arthritic spur had punctured Mrs. Boyd's spinal cord. The extent of damage is still uncertain.

Rev. Boyd is pastor of St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Orange, Va. His address is Box 147 in that city.

INCOME TAX--3

Pointers To Save You Money

Editor's Note: Yes, you can save more money on your income tax return if you know all the rules. This is the third of five articles on income tax filing telling you some of the things you ought to know.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before filing your tax return on 1967 income here are points to remember about husbands and wives and those single individuals who get a lower tax if they can qualify as "head of household" or "surviving spouse."

In almost all cases husbands and wives save by filing jointly instead of separately. To be joint a return must be signed by both. Start from scratch: A husband filing a return gets a $600 exemption for himself—meaning that much of his income before what's left is taxable—if he was under 65 in 1967 or $1,200 if he was 65 or older—plus another $600 if he was blind.

(He gets a $600 exemption for each dependent he can claim but no extra exemption if a dependent was blind or over 65.)

He can claim the same kind of exemptions for this wife as for himself if she files jointly with him. She can file jointly with him whether or not she had income of her own.

EXEMPTIONS

He can claim the same exemptions for his wife if his wife fails to file jointly with him but had no income of her own and is not claimed as dependent by someone else.

Note: Even though a husband can claim all the proper exemptions for a wife who had no income, was not claimed by someone else and fails to file jointly with him, the tax on his income is higher than if she had made a joint return with him.

A wife who had $600 or more income would, like everyone else, have to file a return, either separately or jointly with her husband. She would claim her own exemptions on her own return. He could not claim any for her.

Note: The tax on couples filing separately is generally higher than if they had made a joint return.

JOINT RETURN

A wife with less than $600 income would not have to file a return. But if she had any income at all—no matter how much less than $600—her husband could claim no exemptions for her unless she filed jointly with him.

Note: Here's an example of how a couple would lose money if the wife had less than $600 income but failed to file jointly with her husband. Say she had $200 income.

The husband could not claim that $600 exemption for her or $1,200 if she was 65 or older—which he could have claimed if she had made a joint return with him.

And there's a rule on what married couples must do in taking deductions for personal expenses if they file separately: If one itemizes deductions, both must; if one uses the 10 per cent standard deduction, both must; and if one uses the minimum standard deduction, both must.

DIVORCE RULES

You were considered married for all of 1967 if you were married anytime last year, even as late as Dec. 31. You were considered divorced for the whole year if you were divorced anytime in 1967, even as late as Dec. 31.

You cannot claim any exemption for a divorced wife, or file a joint return with her, even though you paid more than half her support in 1967.

If you filed separate returns in 1965 or 1966, or in both years, and now think you would have saved by filing a joint return for those years, you can correct the mistake now by filing a joint return for 1965 and 1966.

"Surviving Spouse"—

Certain widows and widowers get a lower tax rate if they can qualify as "surviving spouse."

If your wife or husband died in 1967, you can generally claim a $600 exemption for him or her on your return now, if you did not remarry in 1967.

You file it as a joint return, reporting any 1967 income the deceased had, and using Tax Table B or Tax Rate Schedule No. 2, both of which have the lowest tax rate.

Further, if you meet the following conditions, you can still use Table B or Schedule No. 2 even though your wife or husband died in 1966 or 1965:

HOUSEHOLD HEAD

You must have been entitled to file joint return with him or her for the year of death; you have not remarried; you have a child or stepchild who qualifies as your dependent; and you furnish over half the cost of your home which is the principal residence of your child or stepchild.

If you meet those conditions you can use Table B or Tax Rate Schedule No. 2, listing your own income, exemptions, and deductions. But you cannot claim an exemption for a wife or husband who died in 1966 or 1965.

"Head of Household"—

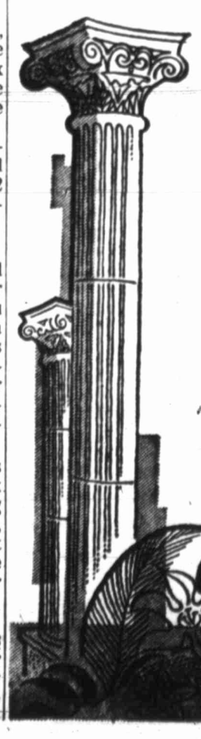

Individuals who can qualify as "head of household" get a lower tax rate than allowed if they were filing a return as single persons.

You may qualify if:

You were unmarried or legally separated at the end of 1967 or were married by the end of the year to someone who for part of the year was a nonresident alien; you must have furnished over half the cost of maintaining your home which was the main residence for the year for yourself and your unmarried child, stepchild or grandchild, even though not a dependent of yours, or of any relative you can claim as a dependent or, if you paid more than half the cost of maintaining a home for your mother or father, if either can qualify as your dependent.

You cannot claim you maintained a home for a parent if you were paying for him or her in a home for the aged. But, if you meet the qualifications listed above, you can use Tax Table B or Tax Rate Schedule No. 3.

Next: Your dependent.
