Gambrell to move...

City council vacancy eyed

A planned move from the city is expected to result in a vacancy on the Snyder city council.

Kenny Gambrell, Place 3 councilman, has taken a job in Abilene and plans to move his family within the next month.

Gambrell, who was elected to his second term on May 4, will attend Monday night's regular city council meeting where he is scheduled to be sworn in.

City officials said that Gambrell has not officially resigned and they did not know whether he would be administered the oath of office Monday.

When the office becomes vacant, the city council will appoint a replacement who will serve until the municipal election next May.

Gambrell was first elected to the council in 1994. He was unopposed in the past election.

Gambrell, who is a native of Snyder, had worked for Big Country GM Autoland here. He is employed in the parts department of Lawrence Hall Chevrolet in Abilene.

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Leland DeBusk, writer for the Hood County News in Granbury, must be getting prepared for Dr. Duane and Dr. Mary Hood to make their retirement home there.

DeBusk wrote:

"Lately, you've seen the phrase faux pas (pronounced fox paa) used a lot in the Hood County News. Look at the letter (to editor) below. Faux pas simply translated means "major screw-up."

How to pronounce faux pas. Some people say fox paws. This comes from early Roman days. One Roman asked the other what these strange tracks were in his garden. "Fax pas," the other said.

"Others say it's pronounced foah paw. Now we jump 1,000 years later to Arkansas. A hillbilly woman asked her son to go get another jug from the still. "Why? the son asked, "Faux pas," she said.

We figure DeBusk is using those high-brow words in preparation for the addition of two PhDs to the Hood County population.

—Think Rain!—

School plants are in the news. In Midland, the Reporter-Telegram says that a June 1 election will be held on a $110 million bond issue for school improvements.

—Think Rain!—

The Brownfield News reports a new business.

United Parcel Service has opened a "satellite office in Brownfield which will be a home-based distribution center for Brownfield, Plains, Denver City, Seminole, Lamesa and Tahoka.

Other West Texas satellite offices have been opened in Perryton, Hereford, Dumas and Clarendon.

Snyder has been serving as a satellite for about a year, with two drivers living here.

—Think Rain!—

James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, says if it doesn't rain by the end of the month, it won't matter.

"At least, that's what a woman in Belgium says.

"We're used to getting strange letters from strange people in strange places, but yesterday we got one that put this desperation over rain in perspective.

"The letter was in English and Greek — and we didn't really get the message in either one.

"Writing longhand from Belgium, the woman said she was three months pregnant and asked us to overlook her poor English because she was receiving messages from The Holy Spirit in French and she was having to translate into English.

"She wrote that she was notifying all media in the world and all church officials that the end is near.

"According to her, she has been given insight into all the prophecies of the Bible and the end is coming this June.

"She says that the world will come to to an end at 6 p.m. June 20th. But she didn't say whether that's Belgium time or Central Standard Time."

Any predictions on rain?

$70 million okayed for drought relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton on Thursday directed the Agriculture Department to free up $70 million in federal assistance, primarily for drought-stricken producers in Texas and Oklahoma.

"Specifically, small grain producers with federal crop insurance who have suffered major small grain and forage crop losses will be eligible for assistance under both the Non-insured Crop Disaster Assistance Program as well as crop insurance," Clinton said in a statement.

To be eligible, producers must have a previously established record at their local Farm Service Agency office of both grazing and cropping their small grain acreage.

In Texas, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry welcomed the assistance but called it "a drop in the bucket compared with the $2.4 billion in losses that Texas producers alone are expected to take."

"If the president wants to provide real help without costing American taxpayers a dime, then he needs to take a look at regulatory reform," Perry said. "Federal banking regulators must have more flexibility to work with agricultural producers who have incurred debt because of this drought."

Although the vast majority of public water systems in Texas are coping well so far, state officials say every individual must help save water as the withering drought continues.

Gov. George W. Bush and state water officials said conservation is the key to preserving adequate supplies of drinking water.

"I urge every Texan to join us in conserving our water, literally one drop at a time," Bush said Thursday.

"Conservation can take place every day. And we want Texans to heed this call."

Rain again skirts dry Scurry County

LUBBOCK (AP) — The second spate of thunderstorms to affect the South Plains in the past week didn't mark the end of the drought in this region, but weather officials say it certainly helped.

Many sections received 1-2 inches of rainfall Thursday, including agriculture-intensive areas in Floyd, Hale and Lubbock counties.

Snyder, meanwhile, only experienced teasing clouds, however, the forecast for this evening included a 40 percent chance of thunderstorms. Rains were also received to the south and east of thirsty Scurry County.

The 0.7 inch that Lubbock officially received Thursday meant the city has had 2.46 inches of rain this month, which is actually above the 2.17 inches Lubbock gets on average.

Storms last weekend dumped rain as well, but devastating hail and winds destroyed thousands of acres of newly planted cotton.

"I'd say we're still in a drought," said Bill Hopkins of the local National Weather Service office. "Although this has really helped a lot."

Hermleigh man pleads guilty

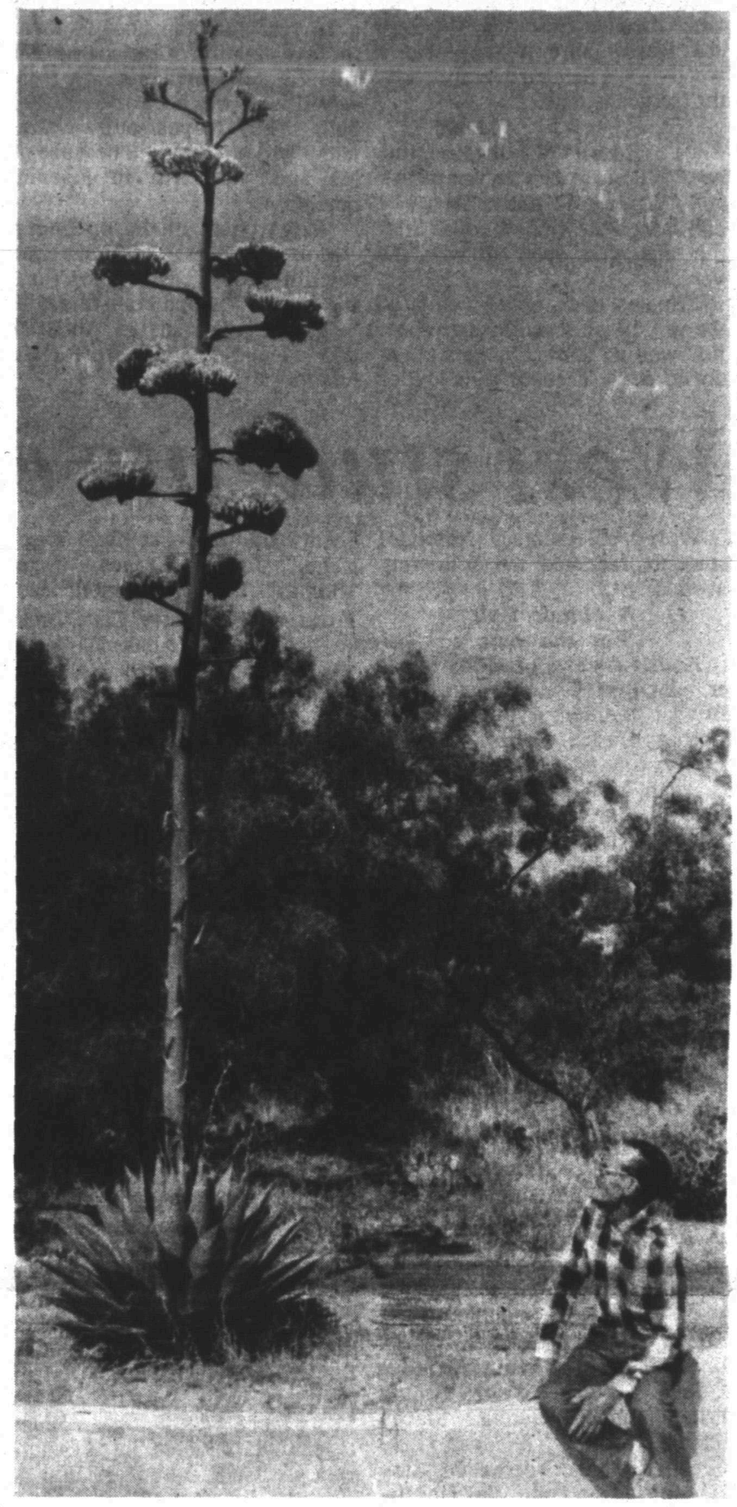

A 25-year-old Hermleigh man has pleaded guilty in 132nd District Court to a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The plea came Thursday and District Judge Ernie Armstrong sentenced Thomas Mar to serve 90 days in the Scurry County Jail and assessed him a two-year sentence in a state jail facility, probated for five years. Mar was also fined $300.

The court received notice this week that the 1995 conviction of an Ira man in 132nd District Court had been affirmed by the 11th Court of Appeals in Eastland.

Karlton Dwayne McMillan, 38, was found guilty by a jury on five separate indecency charges and ordered to serve a 15-year prison sentence. The offenses occurred in 1994.

Some 400 expected for summer school

Almost 400 students, some of them from outside the district, are expected to participate in Snyder ISD summer school that begins Tuesday.

Some 26 teachers will report for in-service on Monday. All summer school classes will be held at the Snyder Junior High and will be for students in kindergarten through the 12th grades who need additional help or remedial instruction.

Wendell Sollis, curriculum director, said some students will attend Snyder summer school from outside the district, some from as far away as Midland.

Kindergarten through junior high age students will have classes through July 16 starting at 8 a.m. and running until 11:45 a.m.

Classes for elementary age students will focus on math and language arts. Seventh and eighth grade students will have classes in math, science, language arts and TAAS math, reading and writing.

There will be two high school sessions, the first from Tuesday through June 27. The second high school session is from July 1 to July 25. Classes in both sessions will run from 7:15 a.m. until 12:45 p.m.

High school students will have class opportunities in various levels of algebra and geometry, English and TASS.

There are 11 different secondary teachers and 15 classes in the elementary area.

A bus will be available to pick-up students on their home campus and return them each day.

The bus schedule for high school students includes a departure from each location at the following times: Central, 6:35 a.m; East Elementary, 6:40; Northeast Elementary, 6:45; Stanfield, 6:50; Snyder High School, 6:55; West Elementary, 7 a.m.

Departure locations and times for junior high and elementary students are: Central, 7:20; East Elementary, 7:25; Northeast Elementary, 7:30; Stanfield, 7:35; Snyder High, 7:40; West Elementary, 7:45 a.m.

Israel elects leader

JERUSALEM (AP) — Benjamin Netanyahu, riding a wave of anger over Islamic suicide bombings in Israel, was declared the winner today over Prime Minister Shimon Peres.

Netanyahu became the next Israeli leader by winning 50.4 percent of the votes compared with 49.5 percent for Peres, according to final unofficial results released by the Central Election Commission today.

The results from Wednesday's election underscored how deeply divided Israelis are over peace negotiations with the Palestinians and the Arab world.

Peres called Netanyahu after the announcement today, wishing him good luck and promising an orderly transfer of power, according to Netanyahu spokesman Shai Bazak.

Netanyahu told Peres he had shared his hopes for peace and that he would do everything in his power to make them come true.

The two men have conflicting ideas about how to bring about peace.

Peres, who won a Nobel Peace Prize for his breakthrough autonomy agreements with PLO leader Yasser Arafat, was ready to give up most of the West Bank and Gaza Strip which Israel captured in the 1967 Mideast war.

Netanyahu, head of the opposition Likud Party, has said he would make Israeli security his top concern and give troops a free hand against Palestinian militants who set off four suicide bombs in Israel this spring.

The attacks, which killed 63 people, wiped out the 16-point lead Peres held after the November assassination of his predecessor, Yitzhak Rabin, by a Jewish militant who wanted to stop the peace process.

Fear was a major theme in the Netanyahu campaign, with the opposition leader saying he would make people feel more secure.

Child training classes slated

Two training sessions for parents with "challenging children" are set for Saturday, June 8 at the Trinity United Methodist Church.

The program, sponsored by the Oil Patch Foster Parent Association, is provided through the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services.

The sessions will be directed by Jim Palmer, the post-adoption program manager of Centers for Children and Families in Midland.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m., and those attending are urged to bring their own lunches. The morning session is titled "What To Do Instead...", and the afternoon session deals with stress management for parents of challenging children.

For additional information on the program, contact John Zalman at 573-4942 (work), or at home at 863-2276.

Sean Penn's wife survives carjacking outside her home

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Robin Wright survived a carjacking outside the home she shares with husband Sean Penn, and two alleged assailants were arrested shortly afterward, police said Thursday.

Wright was with the couple's two young children in a Toyota Land Cruiser when they were approached by two young men about 8 p.m. Wednesday, police Sgt. Frank Fabrega said.

The actress and her children, daughter Dylan Frances, 5, and son Hopper, 2, were doing fine, according to her publicist. actress didn't want to comment on the incident.

Wright, who played Tom Hanks' girlfriend in "Forrest Gump," was parking the vehicle either on the street of her posh neighborhood or in her driveway when the men appeared. Although she wasn't sure if they had a weapon, she handed over the keys, the sergeant said.

"I could tell it was the first time he did it, but I didn't want to risk it," Wright told police in a 911 call from a neighbor's house after the teen-agers sped off with the vehicle.

Minutes later, officers spotted the vehicle on a nearby street and followed it. The carjackers abandoned the car about three miles from Wright's home. One was captured immediately; the second was caught after he ran through an apartment complex and hid in a trash bin, Fabrega said.

Police arrested Dackery Williams, 18, of Los Angeles and a 16-year-old, and booked them for investigation of carjacking. No weapon was recovered.

Williams was held on $100,000 bail. The 16-year-old, whose name was not released because of his age, was also in juvenile detention.

Wright stars in the upcoming "Moll Flanders" and has had roles in "Toys," and "The Crossing Guard," which Penn directed.

The couple married April 27 after a lengthy on-again, off-again relationship.

by Abigail Van Buren

© 1996 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am in the military, stationed overseas. My girlfriend, to whom I have been engaged for almost a year, recently came to visit me. One evening I went into her purse to get a pen and came across a package of birth control pills.

We are not having intercourse, so I asked her why she needed them. She claimed that many women her age (27) take the pill for health reasons — she used some medical terms that I didn't understand.

My ex-wife used to tell me that the pill caused many side effects, so many women avoided it.

Abby, I caught my girlfriend cheating once before, so naturally I am having doubts about her.

I am also confused about the pill issue. Is she trying to pull the wool over my eyes? She had an abortion five years ago. Does that justify her taking the pill? She also takes prenatal pills for "iron," she says.

Please answer soon. I'm going out of my mind with these doubts.

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Your girlfriend could be telling you the truth. According to William E. Merritt III, M.D., OB-GYN, T.H.E. (To Help Everyone) Clinic, and Sydney Hardy, community health educator, UCLA Family Planning Center, women take the pill for a variety of reasons, and in much lower doses than they did years ago when birth control pills caused significant side effects for some women.

Today, many doctors follow the theory that if one takes the pill long enough, it may reduce the risk of ovarian cancer. The pill also helps to regulate menstrual periods, reduces or eliminates severe menstrual cramps (dysmenorrhea), and reduces severe bleeding.

Although prenatal vitamins are most frequently prescribed for pregnant women, some physicians prescribe them for patients who are not pregnant, and later switch the patient to regular iron supplements.

I hope this puts to rest some of your concerns so that you can work on your real problem: the lack of trust between you and your girlfriend since you caught her cheating. Unless you are confident that what she tells you is true, yours is an engagement that should not end in marriage.

DEAR ABBY: You began your column just as I began my marriage (in 1956), and I have been a daily reader ever since. I've often taken your advice, and I'd like you to know how your influence has enriched my life.

I married a bright, ambitious young man who was determined to succeed. Poor, and with no financial assistance at the time of our marriage, neither I nor my husband had a college education. My husband began taking evening classes, and within a few years, was on the upward track with a world-class organization.

During our fourth year of marriage, around the time our second child was born, my husband decided to study law. I tended to home and babies. He became immersed in experiences beyond my understanding, and I became concerned for our marriage.

Right around that time, you wrote that marriages were most successful when spouses grew together, not apart. You challenged one reader to match her husband's career achievements. So, at the age of 33, when our children were school age, I decided to enroll in college.

Over the next 26 years, I earned a bachelor's degree, a master's degree and a Ph.D. in educational administration. My marriage, education and career have enriched my life, and my husband has been proud to involve me in his professional career.

As we begin our 50th year of marriage, he refers to us as "Dr. and Mr." A lot of this is your "fault," Abby. Thanks.

If you print my letter, please don't use my name. Sign me ...

DOCTOR, WIFE AND MOTHER, ROSEVILLE, CALIF.

DEAR DOCTOR, WIFE AND MOTHER: I can't say enough for continuing education for adults.

Letters like yours make my job doubly rewarding. Thank you for letting me know I've been a positive influence in your life. It made my day!

Doctor sentenced to life for death of her two children

OLATHE, Kan. (AP) — On the night her home stood burning with two of her children inside, Dr. Debora Green calmly asked neighbors to call 911.

Through seven months of hearings that ended with her no-contest plea to arson and murder in the deaths of the children, she was stoic.

Tears finally came Thursday, when a judge sentenced her to two life prison terms. She will not be eligible for parole for 40 years.

Through sobs, she read a statement in court saying a combination of alcohol, psychiatric problems and family strife "set the stage for this tragedy.

"I do not seek to use that fact to escape my personal responsibility," she said. "I do hope, however, that the recognition of these problems, and the fact that signs of these problems could have led to earlier intervention, will be a lesson learned from their tragic deaths."

Green, a non-practicing oncologist, was sentenced for the Oct. 24 deaths of her son Tim Farrar, 13, and Kelly Farrar, 6, who were unable to escape the blaze at their home in Prairie Village, a suburb of Kansas City, Mo.

She also was sentenced to two eight-year terms for attempted murder for her 11-year-old daughter, Kate Farrar, who escaped the fire, and her estranged husband, Michael Farrar, a cardiologist who survived alleged poisoning attempts in the weeks before the fire. She also received four years for arson. All the terms were to be served concurrently.

Touring by car

Following the Surfer's Paradise Congress, I went on a two-and-a-half-week teaching tour of northern New South Wales, the Brisbane area and Cairns. It was great fun, but tiring. When I wasn't traveling, I was getting up early to sightsee or play golf.

The people who showed up for my classes were most welcoming and enthusiastic. Hopefully they learned something, but for me the most important thing was that they enjoyed themselves.

My first class was on defensive signaling at the Brunswick Valley Bridge Club in picturesque northern NSW. This deal was the trickiest of the afternoon.

After a simple auction to four hearts, West leads the club king. How should the play and defense proceed?

Declarer wins with the ace, draws trumps ending in hand and plays a club toward dummy's jack. West goes in with the queen and switches to a ... what? If he leads a diamond, one of declarer's spade losers goes away on dummy's club jack and the contract makes. But if he plays a spade, East cashes three tricks in the suit for one down.

How does West know? Because East discards a discouraging diamond two on the second round of trumps. As a club continuation can serve no purpose, West should trust his partner and try the spade attack.

Straightforward, but South can make life much harder for the defense by returning his second club at trick two, before East has had a chance to make a discard. How will West know what to do then?

At trick two, East must drop his highest club, the eight, as a suit-preference signal for spades.

Twin girls undergo separation operation

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — Cheers and shouts broke out in the operating room when a surgical team successfully separated month-old twin girls who were born facing each other and sharing liver tissue.

"We'll all be disappointed if we don't have two very lively girls walk out of here — so to speak," said Dr. Gibbs Andrews, who headed the 24-person team. "Their prognosis is very good."

Shawna and Janelle Roderick, who were born attached at the abdomen, went into the operating room at Loma Linda University Medical Center at 7 a.m. Thursday, and were placed in separate beds at about 2:30 p.m.

Shawna's blood pressure was lower than expected, but she's doing fine, their mother said.

The babies are the first children of teachers Jeff and Michelle Roderick, both 29. The couple were moving from El Centro to Prescott, Ariz., when she went into labor.

The girls probably will stay in the hospital for two more weeks.

They were born May 1 by Cesarean section, weighing a combined 11 pounds, 4.7 ounces. Doctors had been optimistic about separating them because liver tissue can be divided and because the girls have separate bile duct systems.

The parents were hoping the girls would be back in the same crib soon.

"It's like they've lost their teddy bear, that warm body there," their mother said. "They can't reach out and hug any more ... so we want to put them back together as soon as possible."

Meanwhile, Bessy and Doris Trujillo Gonzalez, 8-month-old girls from Honduras who are joined at the head, were in critical condition after a 10-hour operation Thursday in Salt Lake City.

The operation, the girls' fifth, was to reshape blood vessels. The surgery clears the way for a final operation, probably within two months, to separate their skulls and connective tissue, officials said.

Although conjoined twins occur only about once in 50,000 births, the Rodericks were the third case this year being handled by doctors in Southern California.

Doctors were scheduled to announce plans today on possible separation surgery for twin boys joined from the chest to the upper abdomen. The twins were born May 16 in San Diego after their parents, Andrea and Ramon Moreno of Tijuana, Mexico, illegally crossed the border.

On January 12, twin sisters joined at the chest and belly were born in a clinic in Tijuana, Mexico.

Jazz force game seven with 35-point blowout

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sit still, Chicago. You've got five more days of waiting before the Bulls can get back to business.

The NBA Finals won't start until Wednesday because the Utah Jazz won't let the Seattle SuperSonics knock them out of the playoffs.

The Jazz took advantage of a festive, frenzied and ear-splitting atmosphere at the Delta Center on Thursday night and forced a Game 7 on Sunday in the Western Conference finals with a 118-83 victory over the Sonics.

It was blowout No. 7 in the playoffs for a team that seems to have the ins and outs of a rout figured out. Utah has had eight home victories in the playoffs by an average margin of victory of 23.5 points — enough to make even George Karl shake his head in disbelief.

"I can sit here and criticize my team for a lot of things tonight, but the truth is Utah was a great basketball team," Karl said.

"I saw the game against Portland (a 38-point victory in Game 5 on the first round) and the game against San Antonio (a 27-point win in the deciding Game 6 of the second round). They destroyed those teams. I didn't think they could do it to us, but they did," Karl said.

Karl Malone had 32 points, 10 rebounds and seven assists, Jeff Hornacek scored 23 points and even John Stockton coaxed a good game out of his battered body with series-highs of 14 points and 12 assists.

Utah shot over 60 percent, scored the first 12 points of the game, led by as many as 36 and forced 23 turnovers from a Seattle team that's averaging more than 20 in the series.

"They had everything going — Stockton comes back and has a great game, Malone and Hornacek played their games, they get production from the 3 position with Chris Morris and Bryon Russell, their bench, Antoine Carr and Greg Foster, they all gave good minutes," Karl said.

"We fought, I didn't think it was a non-fought game, but you keep getting hammered and hammered by very good basketball plays and decisions, and it's tough to hang in there in a building that was electrified," Karl said.

Indeed, the Delta Center was as loud as it's ever been for one of the most important games in franchise history.

The Jazz had never won more than two games in the conference finals, but this city latched on to the momentum swing from Game 5 and made it a purely memorable night.

Bulls assistant Cleamons head coach for Mavericks

DALLAS (AP) — Ending two weeks of secret discussions, Chicago Bulls assistant Jim Cleamons has joined the Dallas Mavericks as head coach.

The Mavericks confirmed Thursday night that Cleamons would be introduced during a news conference today as the sixth head coach in the franchise's 16-year history, but declined further comment.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today that the Mavericks signed Cleamons to a four-year contract. The newspaper said Cleamons was flying to Dallas today, then would return to the Bulls for the NBA Finals against the winner of the Western Conference series between Utah and Seattle.

Bulls spokesman Tim Hallam confirmed that Cleamons will be on Bulls' bench throughout the Finals.

Jerry Krause, Bulls vice president of operations, had said no one could talk to Cleamons until the end of the playoffs, but gave Dallas permission on May 17 to interview Cleamons, provided negotiations remained secret.

"We were all aware that if word leaked, Jerry would pull the plug," Mavericks minority owner Frank Zaccanelli told the Star-Telegram. "Since this is the guy we really wanted, we had to live by that rule."

Cleamons, 47, emerged as the leading candidate from a list of interviewed finalists that included former Phoenix coach Paul Westphal, former Boston coach Chris Ford and former Mavericks player and assistant Brad Davis.

Cleamons' only previous head coaching experience was at Youngstown State, where he was 12-43 in 1987-88 and 1988-89. Earlier, he was an assistant at Furman and at Ohio State, his alma mater.

Cleamons is in his sixth season as a bench coach for the Bulls. His duties included coaching the guards and professional scouting.

Zaccanelli said Cleamons was a unanimous pick among the team's three owners and director of player personnel Keith Grant.

"Jim Cleamons' discipline, his determination, his mental toughness and his attitude toward the game just set him apart from everyone else we talked to," Zaccanelli said.

Hiring someone who has experience as an NBA head coach "was never a prerequisite, at least not in my mind," Zaccanelli said.

"I think Jim Cleamons is as defensive-minded and as tough and disciplined as anyone we talked to," Zaccanelli said. "But he has a finesse about him that enables him to coach talented players. If you take a look at this guy, he's a very well-rounded individual."

Women's top seed Seles moves into third round of French Open

PARIS (AP) — Monica Seles survived a second-set scare before advancing to the fourth round of the French Open with a 6-2, 7-5 victory today over Belgium's Sabine Appelmans.

Applemans was leading 4-1 in the second set, but Seles won seven of the next eight games to close out the match. The Belgian dropped the final game at love, double-faulting on match point.

Seles, the co-top seed, is a three-time French Open champion playing for the first time since she was stabbed in Germany by a fan three years ago.

Whistles and jeers sent 12th-seeded Mary Pierce off the court after she lost to Germany's Barbara Rittner 6-4, 6-2. Fourth-seeded Arantxa Sanchez Vicario cruised into the fourth round, defeating Russia's Elena Likhovtseva 6-0, 6-0 in 53 minutes.

Also advancing were sixth-seeded Anke Huber of Germany, who beat Sarah Pitkowski of France 6-2, 6-2. No. 10 Jana Novotna defeated Elena Makarova of Russia 6-1, 7-5; and No. 13 Magdalena Maleeva of Bulgaria, was a 6-2, 6-1 winner over Miriam Oremans of the Netherlands.

Chris Woodruff, the unseeded American who ousted fourth-seeded Andre Agassi in the second round, lost in a grueling match with Jonas Bjorkman of Sweden 7-6 (7-5), 2-6, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4. Woodruff won the 1993 NCAA title while at Tennessee.

No. 6 Yevgeny Kafelnikov of Russia was the first to reach the fourth round, downing Felix Mantilla of Spain 6-4, 6-2, 6-2, in 1 hour, 51 minutes.

Richard Krajicek, No. 13 of the Netherlands beat Australian Todd Woodbridge 7-5, 6-2, 6-2.

Unseeded French player Guy Forget was trounced by Francisco Clavet of Spain, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

For Pierce, the first women's seed to be eliminated, it was her second early round Grand Slam exit this year after being knocked out of the Australian Open in the second round in January.

As Pierce raced off the court to a chorus of boos, the crowd cheered the unseeded Rittner, who had lost to Pierce on four previous occasions. Pierce lives in Florida, but plays out of France.

"I had a lot of pressure on me," said Pierce, a French Open finalist in 1994. "I made too many mistakes.

"They can cheer who they want to cheer for. There's nothing I can do about it."

Rittner said, "The audience was great. They knew who was playing well and I played well."

Top-seeded Pete Sampras met fellow American Todd Martin. Sampras has defeated Martin 10 times in their previous 12 matches, but the two have never met on clay.

11-year-old girl charged in death of tot

AUSTIN (AP) — An 11-year-old girl was charged with fatally beating a 2½-year-old girl who was being cared for at the older girl's home by her grandfather, a Baptist deacon.

The 11-year-old, whose name was not released because of her age, could get up to 40 years in state custody. She was charged Thursday and held in a juvenile detention center.

"I don't know what happened to this child between the time she was born and turning 11," Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle said. "What we believe is that she committed a horrible crime. Why she did it is what we will investigate."

She was one of six children who lived at the home of the R.L. Murray, chief deacon at Ulit Avenue Baptist Missionary Church. Murray and his wife, Shirley, were running their home as an unlicensed day care center, caring for as many as five other children, including victim Jayla Belton.

Murray told police he took Jayla to the hospital on Friday after his 17-year-old daughter found the child lying on the floor. Jayla died of a ruptured liver and had suffered other injuries, including broken bones and bruises.

A child-care facility must be licensed if it cares for four or more children who do not live at the place, according to the Texas Department of Protective and Regulatory Services.

The Murrays have been cited several times for operating a day care center illegally, said department director Doug Sanders. The Murrays had either reduced the number of children or tried to get a license, he said.

Authorities removed the five other children living at the Murray home and placed them in foster care.

Prosecutors will also investigate the couple's role in the beating death, said Rosemary Lehmberg, director of the district attorney's family justice division.

"If the evidence unfolds and develops that the adults knew that (the 11-year-old) posed a threat or a danger and did nothing ... then we would have to be looking at whether they are responsible criminally," she said.

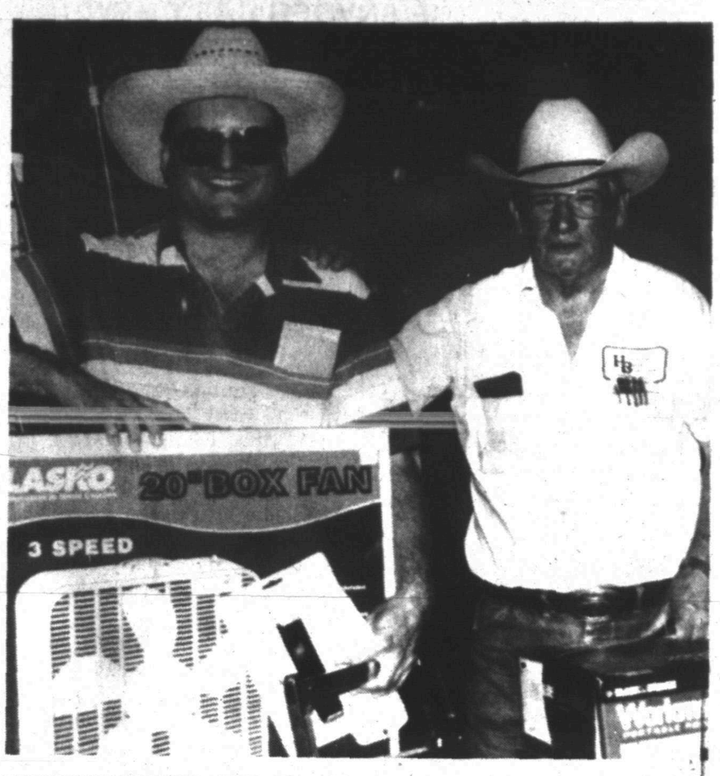

Buys 2-acre plot

FLIPPIN, Ark. (AP) — Just for laughs, cable TV's Comedy Central has bought a two-acre plot in Arkansas' Whitewater land development.

"Although it's not Boardwalk or Park Place, it's got a decent river view," said Doug Herzog, president and CEO of the cable channel.

The site, near Flippin, Ark., will be homesteaded by comedian Lizz Winstead in a rented U-Haul — decorated New York loft-style, with draperies and scented candles.

To that end, Winstead will throw a cocktail party for residents of Flippin, get her hair done in a Flippin beauty shop, interview the head of the local Chamber of Commerce, and visit a vacation Bible school.

Keep extra weight off for good

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 5 feet 2 inches tall and have been carrying around more than 200 pounds for some time. I have no energy, my legs swell and they hurt. I've been on every diet known to man, but the weight always returns. Should I consider having my stomach stapled? What are the pros and cons of such a procedure?

DEAR READER: Most overweight persons can lose weight if they diet. The problem is that many weight-reduction diets are all but impossible to maintain month after month, so people get sloppy, start over-eating again, and put the lost weight back on.

As I see it, the trick to maintaining a more ideal weight is to find a diet that is appropriate for long-term use. You need guidance in discovering a diet which is not so restrictive that it is unpleasant to follow.

Also, a support group — composed of people like you with an identical problem — wouldn't hurt. This is why organizations, such as Weight Watchers, have been so successful.

I urge you to join a support group. If you have already (and unsuccessfully) tried this option, your next best bet is to work with a licensed dietitian to solve your weight problem.

The stomach-stapling procedure is, indeed, effective for some morbidly obese patients. It works by reducing the size of the stomach so that people achieve satiety more quickly and eat less as a result. However, this is really a drastic solution to the problem and should only be considered as a last resort, because of the possible complications of surgery — any surgery. I think that you would be better served by exercising regularly and seeking a diet that you can live with.

To give you more information, I am sending you copies of my Health Reports "Winning the Battle of the Bulge" and "Eating Right for a Healthy Heart." Other readers who would like copies should send $2 for each report plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title(s).

DEAR DR. GOTT: What can you tell me about silver sticks? My friend says they can be used to stop bleeding noses or wounds.

DEAR READER: Silver nitrate is an extremely caustic chemical: It burns tissue. This makes it useful for cautery, during which a qualified professional can perform a variety of services, including stopping certain forms of bleeding.

Silver nitrate sticks -- long, thin sticks that have been tipped with the chemical — are widely used by many physicians to stop nosebleeds, treat superficial ulcers in the mouth, and provide therapy for gynecological conditions, such as ulcers on the cervix. I do not recommend silver nitrate as a home remedy, because of the risk of excessive tissue damage.

Most superficial bleeding can be arrested by firm, direct pressure. In the nose, this can usually be accomplished by pressing the nostrils together for several minutes.

Your Birthday

Saturday, June 1, 1996

In the year ahead, associating with industrious allies could help you to advance your ambitions. Each of you will perform complimentary functions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you and your mate disagree about a certain issue, resolve it in private rather than debate it in front of others. Outsiders will not want to get involved. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you may not work well under pressure, so don't add tasks to your schedule without giving yourself extra time to accomplish them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You will not be immune to bad luck today, so try not to depend on good fortune. When making critical assessments, at least be honest with yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Well-intentioned in-laws might create problems in your household today if you permit them to shape your domestic affairs. Try to stifle their input.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Issues you normally tolerate easily could irritate you today. Keep your temper under control and try to stay in character.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you strive to be a generous person and this is a marvelous attribute, but do not go to extremes today. Your helpfulness may make things harder.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may face opposition from an unexpected source today. Do not make matters worse by attempting to bully or bluff your way through the morass.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today you might have to account for a task you were supposed to take care of for someone else but failed to follow through with. Have an alibi ready.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Try to avoid letting peer pressure convince you to do something against your better judgment. When you say no, mean it sincerely.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not use your authority to bully others today. The people you push around now will find a way to get even with you later.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your ideas or suggestions may be challenged today, even though you thought others were in total agreement. Handle rebuttals as tactfully as possible.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Proceed cautiously in your business affairs today. You may think you have control of a situation, but your opponent may still have a few aces.

Fourth-grader sentenced in armed standoff incident

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — A fourth-grader who blamed the antidepressant drug Prozac for his armed standoff with a deputy was sentenced to at least nine months in custody.

"I can't remember much about this, but I'm sorry for everything I've done," 10-year-old Timmy Becton told a judge during a hearing Thursday.

Timmy was convicted earlier this month of aggravated assault, armed kidnapping and criminal mischief. In addition to his sentence in a youth alternatives center — which could last up to a year — the boy was ordered to write letters of apology to those he threatened.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE BIBLE'S HOLY MEN!

THE ORDINARY HEBREW WORD FOR "HOLY" IS KADOSH--SEPARATED, CONSECRATED--IN OTHER WORDS, "SET ASIDE" FOR SACRED USE, LIKE THE UTENSILS IN THE SANCTUARY, ETC., ETC.. PROPHETS, AND THE PRIESTS OF THE TRIBE OF LEVI, WERE ALSO "SET ASIDE" FROM THE COMMON MAN--THEY DID NOT WORK AS COMMON MEN BUT ATTENDED TO THE WORK AT THE TABERNACLE AND ITS SERVICE. THESE INHERITED DUTIES KEPT THE PRIESTS FROM EARNING A LIVING LIKE THE OTHER MEN OF ISRAEL! BUT MOST OF THE SACRIFICES THAT WERE BROUGHT TO THE TEMPLE BY THE PEOPLE--DOVES, LAMBS, BREAD ETC., WERE USED AS FOOD BY THE PRIESTS AND IT WAS MOSAIC LAW THAT EACH TRIBE HAD TO CONTRIBUTE, TO THE TRIBE OF LEVI, A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF EVERYTHING THAT THEY GREW OR MADE (DEUT. 18:1-8). SO, FOR THE LEVITE, MAKING A LIVING WAS OF NO CONCERN--THEY WERE CARED FOR BY ALL THE OTHER TRIBES. IT WAS SLIGHTLY DIFFERENT FOR THE LONE PROPHET! THE PROPHETS DID NOT INHERIT THEIR OFFICE LIKE THE LEVITE PRIESTS DID. THE CALL OR "THE WORD OF THE LORD" CAME TO THEM DIFFERENT WAYS AND, ONCE THE CALL CAME, THEY SPENT THEIR DAYS IN WANDERING FROM VILLAGE TO VILLAGE, PREACHING THEIR MESSAGE TO THE PEOPLE. FORTUNATELY, THE TRUE PROPHET WAS RECOGNIZED BY THE PEOPLE BY HIS WORKS, BY HIS PREDICTIONS, THAT CAME TRUE, AND HIS DOCTRINE OF TEACHING. THESE PROPHETS WERE TRADITIONALLY FED AND HOUSED BY PRIVATE INDIVIDUALS FOR THEIR GOOD WORKS! FOR EXAMPLE, AS THE RICH SHUNEMITE WOMAN TOOK CARE OF THE PROPHET ELISHA (II KINGS 4:8-11).

Weekend rally for children criticized

WASHINGTON (AP) — A weekend march in support of America's children will be a massive display of liberalism at a time of tight budgets and anti-big-government sentiment, conservatives say.

Conservative groups on Thursday criticized the "Stand for Children" rally, saying it's really a call for more government spending.

The rally is organized by Children's Defense Fund founder Marian Wright Edelman, a friend of President Clinton and his wife, Hillary. It is expected to attract thousands of children, parents, grandparents, teachers and other child advocates to the Lincoln Memorial on Saturday.

White House spokeswoman Ginny Terzano said today criticism of the rally is uncalled for. "Standing up for children should not be a partisan issue. Those are good intentions and it should not be turned into a political issue," she said.

Clinton is not addressing or participating in the march, but several children who are participating probably will be invited to see him broadcast his weekly radio address from the Oval Office, the White House said.

The rally is not a partisan political gathering, organizers say, but a day of commitment to children. The conservative Heritage Foundation, however, wonders whether it will be the "last stand for big government."

The think tank claims the real goal of the march is to defend the continuing growth of the welfare system and criticize those in Congress who have tried to reform it.

Kenneth Weinstein, director of Heritage's government reform project, says at least 100 of the 3,702 sponsoring organizations are federal grant recipients that received a total of more than $392 million in 1993-94.

Edelman responded that "The Children's Defense Fund has never taken a dime. If they think the Salvation Army or Catholic Charities should not take government money to serve the poor, then they should say what they mean."

Gary L. Bauer, president of the Family Research Council, claims the groups the children's Defense Fund invited to the rally were mostly those who believe government is a child's best advocate.

Wisconsin seeks fed waivers for welfare reform program

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the latest election-year salvo against President Clinton, House Republicans intend to pass legislation next week approving Wisconsin's request for federal waivers needed to implement its welfare reform program.

Clinton praised the state plan in a radio address earlier this month, and Republicans said Thursday they want to test his word. "We're asking the president to make good on what he already said," said Rep. Mark Neumann, R-Wis.

Countered Wisconsin Democratic Rep. David Obey: "It's clearly a political exercise, period." Obey said lawmakers haven't been apprised of the details in the plan yet. In a reference to the state's GOP governor, he added, "We're not elected just to be Tommy Thompson's tax collector."

The Wisconsin plan seeks to end welfare by 2000. In addition to requiring recipients to work or get training if they are able, it caps benefits at two consecutive years or five years in a lifetime.

Child care and health care benefits would be provided depending on income, with co-payments required of some recipients.

Customarily, waivers are issued at the prerogative of the White House, and Thompson delivered the state's request to the Clinton administration on Wednesday. He issued a written statement at the time challenging the president to act.

"He endorsed (the plan) in his weekly radio address on May 18. Now he is getting what he asked for: an opportunity to sign it," Thompson said.

One White House official said Thursday that Clinton favors Wisconsin's plan, and is particularly pleased that it provides child care and health care to "move people from welfare to work."

Timothy Leary dies of cancer at age 75

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Timothy Leary, the Harvard professor turned guru of LSD who encouraged the '60s generation to "turn on, tune in, drop out," died today of cancer. He was 75.

Leary, who had turned his battle with terminal cancer into a public event, died at his hilltop Beverly Hills home, said Carol Rosin, a friend for 25 years.

Fans could follow his deteriorating health through his site on the World Wide Web. Last month, he said he was exploring the idea of allowing users of the computer communications network to watch as he committed suicide.

In the end, though, he died in his sleep surrounded with family and friends, Rosin said. His home page announced the death with a simple "Timothy has passed."

It also said his last words were "why not" and "yeah."

"He had been alert for the last few days — he'd been traveling with one foot in this world and one foot in the other world," Rosin said. "Until yesterday, he was moving around in an electric wheelchair, but he was getting weaker."

His life seldom failed to polarize two generations — the parents and flower children of the 1960s. To some of the most gifted members of America's counterculture, he was host, confidant and drug supplier.

The popular '70s British band The Moody Blues even put him in their song "Legend of a Mind," singing, "Timothy Leary's dead. Oh, no no no...".
