Pirate Band Gets Unanimous First

Friday, Nov. 20 at 1:40 p. m. a very eager, excited, and anxious group of young people and adults left the Pirate Band Hall in anticipation of the forthcoming Region 14 Marching contest.

Upon arriving in Robstown, each band member in turn put on his uniform—carefully belting the overlay—snapping the shoulder nests in place, meticulously donning his hat—and stepped forward with instrument clean and shining to present himself in the best possible manner.

As is most often true, careful planning and many hours of work and practice bring great rewards. After an on-field performance of fanfare, precision drills, and special finale, the band, directors, sponsors, and other interested spectators sat in the stands awaiting the results.

At long last—the announcement was made—Rockport's Pirate Band—a unanimous first division rating. Following are some comments made by the three judges: Robert Botello, Austin: "Nice job on fanfare—I like your turns. Band, you have done a nice job with the evidence of fine work. I enjoyed it."

Joe Rogers, New Braunfels: "Gee—an impressive looking band. Fine fan fare, fine and. Congratulations to band and directors."

Bob Lewis, San Antonio: "Good fanfare—good sound, very musical. Band marches with good alignment and good uniform style. Good show, fine playing and marching. Congratulations to an outstanding band and your fine director."

Anyone every involved with a group of young people who have worked for a goal and achieved it, knows the feelings at this time—shouts of exhilarating happiness mixed with tears and joy and relief.

The Pirate Band was then treated to a barbecue dinner at the Cotton's. This was sponsored by the Band Boosters Organization.

The Fighting Pirate Band and its directors wish to express their sincere appreciation to the Band Boosters and public in general for their excellent support—both physical and moral.

Paul Harris Sues For $4 Million

Paul Harris of Aransas County filed a $4 million damage suit No. 20 in district court here against Coastal Gas producing Co. and Robert Wetzel, a survey official.

The petition, for Harris by Corpus Christi attorney George W. Shaffer, alleges the defendants caused Harris to be arrested in San Marcos on a false charge of burglary and undertook a course of action that caused the bankruptcy of Apollo Industrial X-Ray Co.

Harris seeks $2 million in actual damages and $2 million exemplary damages.

Navigation District Awards Contract

The Board of Commissioners of Aransas County Navigation District No. 1 met in special session on Nov. 21 for the purpose of opening bids for the reconstruction of damaged piers at the north end of Fulton Harbor. Present were Commissioners Matthew W. Scott and Richard J. Fox and Attorney Ellis L. Clark.

Maritime Constructors, Inc. was awarded the contract on a low bid of $3,323.59. Second bidder, Services, Inc., bid $3,900.00. Only two bids were received. Attorney Clark will prepare a contract for Maritime Constructors, Inc., low bidder.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Commissioners, scheduled for Dec. 2, is postponed until Dec. 9 because of a previous commitment to attend biennial conference in Houston with other Navigation District Commissioners and their attorneys.

7th and 8th Grades District Champions

Both the 7th and 8th grade football teams captured district titles this year by soundly defeating the Calallen kittens in their final game. The 7th grade won by a score of 36 to 6 and the 8th grade won by a score of 38 to 14. This is the first time that both 7th and 8th grade teams have won titles the same year and both teams ended the season with 6-1 records.

We are certainly looking forward to next year's football season, so these fine young men can continue their winning ways.

Christian Life Revival Set

Dr. Perry F. Webb, nationally known lecturer and preacher, will lead a Christian Life Revival at the First Baptist Church Nov. 29-Dec. 6. Sunday services will be at the regular hours, and evening services each weekday will be at 7:30 p.m.

The First Baptist Church, whose auditorium was heavily damaged by Hurricane Celia, has built back and the facilities should be complete enough to have the scheduled series of services by Nov. 29. The public is invited to the services.

"We would like for everyone to come and hear a great man of God and see our redecorating building," said Rev. Charles Fake, pastor of the local church.

Let's Be Thankful!

As we bow our heads before having Thanksgiving Day dinner on Thursday, let's pause and be thankful.

Those of us who live in the Rockport area have much to be thankful for. To mention just a few of the things for which we should give thanks:

—We live in a friendly community where people still take time to say, "How are you doing?"

—The climate is nice, enabling residents and visitors to enjoy the outdoors year-round, fishing, golfing or just taking it easy.

—Our children have the advantage of attending schools, preparing them to go on to college or giving them the vocational training to get good jobs when they finish high school.

—Real estate taxes are still reasonable which helps keep down the cost of living.

—The Rockport area is experiencing a steady growth and all indications are that this growth will continue, bringing more and more permanent residents and visitors. This means, among other things, that people who own houses, lots, business buildings and tracts of land will see the value of these properties steadily increase in value.

—There are many friendly churches which welcome all residents and visitors.

—Unlike many areas throughout the nation, Rockport has few youth problems. Instead of throwing rocks and protesting, most local youths concentrate on acquiring an education, working, having some fun and preparing themselves to be the men and women who will assume important places in this, or some other community in the future.

So let's be thankful for the many things we have to be thankful for!

United Fund Reaches $5,397

With approximately 100 volunteer workers taking part in the current Aransas County United Fund campaign, a total of $5,397 in pledges was reported early this week.

The goal is $10,400, with the Rev. Cecil H. Lang, Jr., serving as general chairman of the drive. Teams of solicitors under the direction of group captains are making a house-to-house solicitation, as well as in-plant solicitations of larger business firms.

In addition to campaign leaders already announced, Lang reported Ed Newbauer has accepted responsibility for solicitation of Oak Terrace residents. Solicitation in Little Bay Shores is almost completed and employees of a number of business organizations have completed their pledges.

Several conventional and relatively painless methods of making contributions are available, especially the bank draft plan in which a contributor pledges a fixed amount to be withdrawn each month for a year from his checking account. The contributor authorizes the United Fund to write a check against his account each month for the specified amount of his pledge.

Under this plan, a contributor is able to pledge a larger total amount without disrupting his budget. A similar plan is to have the United Fund bill the contributor each month, each quarter or semi-annually.

The monthly gift plan, in effect provides a gift each month for one of the 12 agencies participating in the United Fund. If he wishes a contributor may designate one or more of the agencies to which he wished his gift to go.

C of C Happenings

Marineland Boat Center furnished the refreshments for visitors at the C of C building this week and also provided some dandy styrofoam cups which will come in handy for some time. Many thanks, Gordon Stanley.

The South Texas Chamber of Commerce met in Corpus Christi last Thursday and Friday in its 44th annual conference and from our area was attended by Mrs. Loyce Landrum, Chamber secretary, and directors, Bill Janacek and Lee Eckman, all of whom reported this to have been a most interesting and informative conference.

Lee Eckman, who is chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Rockport C of C, gives the following brief report of the highlights of the program:

"The highlights in the two-day conference were the Industrial Development Clinic, the Legislative Forum, and the comprehensive report submitted by George T. Jambers, chairman of the Wildlife Conservation Committee.

"The Industrial Development Clinic stressed the importance of advertising, particularly in attracting business firms looking for new locations.

"Mr. James Yancy, vice president and general counsel for the Texas Manufacturers Association, explained the various laws covering taxation and the bills to be introduced at the next session of the Texas Legislature. He pointed out that it is urgent for all business people to keep abreast of these laws and keep in touch with their representatives and senators.

"Mr. Arnold Mathias, division manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, gave a very interesting talk and particularly stressed the laws and pending bills concerning the field of discrimination, not only the amount of discrimination between employers and employees but he pointed out new bills which most business people will find astounding, especially those bills styled "class discrimination".

"As to Mr. Jambers report, the South Texas Chamber adopted two formal resolutions urging completion of arrangements covering the proposed mass between the Gulf of Mexico and Laguna Madre across Padre Island, and urging the Governor of Texas to lend his assistance in making this a reality."

Those who participate not only add to the enjoyment of the season for local residents and winter visitors but derive a great deal of pleasure from their efforts and knowledge of the joy they have afforded others.

M. E. Croft, 41, Houston, is in the county jail in lieu of $5,000 bond, facing felony theft charges.

Croft, who was arrested in Port Lavaca and returned here by Hewes, will have his case placed before the next Grand Jury.

The skill, hard work and long hours of fire fighting by local area volunteer firemen paid off Monday and brought under control an extensive brush fire which threatened to cause widespread destruction of property.

Close to 100 men from the Fulton Fire Department, Rockport Fire Department, Lamar Fire Department, Aransas County Emergency Corps, Aransas Pass Fire Department, Aransas County Road and Bridge Department and the Sheriff's Department worked together as a team to put out the numerous blazes which developed after sparks from a fire at the Fulton dump were blown southward by strong winds.

The fire started around noon and it required about four hours of coordinated fire fighting, aided by walkie-talkie equipment, to extinguish the blazes. One fire official said more than 20 acres of land was scorched by the flames which skipped over roads as the fire roared toward Rockport.

It was reported that no one was injured and that no houses were burned although there were several instances in which flames came perilously close to homes.

One of fire fighting techniques which limited the spread of the flames was the use of county road graders to clear areas south of the fires to prevent the spread of the blazes.

Even Monday night, firemen had to hurry to the area several times to put out blazes that started up again.

The entire fire fighting operation was a fine example of efficiency, teamwork and dedication by local firemen and authorities who deserve the thanks of everyone in this community.

Three Vandalism Cases Solved

Three recent instances of vandalism have been solved by a painstaking investigation by Sheriff's Department officers.

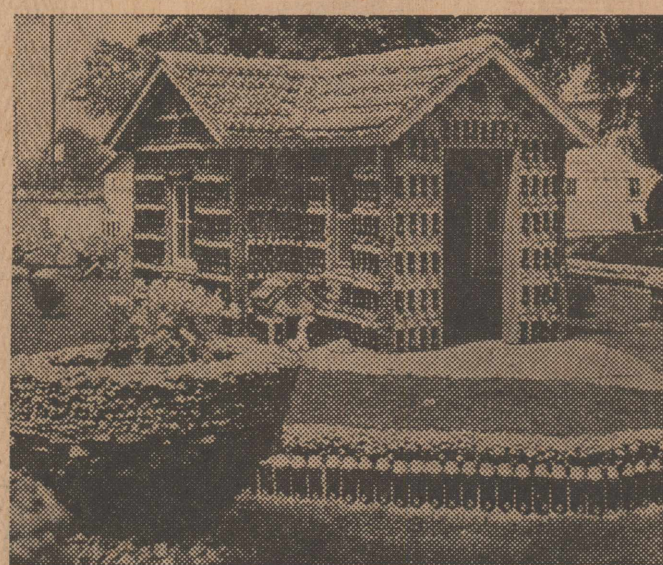

The cases investigated were: a window at Security Real Estate office shot out Nov. 4; a window at the high school shot out the same day; and windows at the Post Office smashed on Nov. 5.

Deputy Sheriff Ernest Stautzenberger and Deputy Marcelino Ramirez investigated the three acts of vandalism and found that four local youths, ranging in age from 16 to 19, were involved.

Sheriff Bob Hewes said these cases will be taken before the Grand Jury at its next regular session.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) My wife hired a cleaning woman last month. Where can I get information about the social security tax that has to be paid for this help?

A) Send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for a copy of Form 942, Employer's Quarterly Return for Household Employees. It has the information you will need to fill out the form.

The deadline for filing the return and paying taxes due for the July, August and September quarter is November 2.

Q) I bought a lot of raffle tickets that my church and the volunteer fire department were selling at the county fair. Can I add these to my other charitable contributions?

A) No, they are treated as gambling losses under Federal tax law. If you itemize deductions, losses may be deducted but only to the extent of winnings. This would reduce the tax due.

A car or other merchandise won in a raffle must be included in income at its fair market value.

Q) Where can I get help with my taxes? I just opened a business of my own.

A) Contract your local IRS office. They have a special publication "Mr. Businessman's Kit" designed especially for you. They will arrange to meet with you to present your kit and to explain your obligations under the tax laws.

Eco-Talk

By EDDIE BRADLEY

There always seems to come a time when a writer has gathered a drawer full of pieces of information that are not long enough for an entire article, so he usually com- poses a column using all the random bits together. Some- times he will give such an article a name such as BitsN- Pieces, or Popourri. I think I will call mine, 'Fallout' . . . We might as well begin with the name of this column, which is Eco-Talk. I don't think any two people pronounce it the same. The Eco, of course, is short for Ecology, which is pronounced with a long EEE. I got after one fellow for pronouncing it like Echo-Talk, and he told me that was be- cause it seemed like he had heard all this before! Ha, ha . . . Say, did you see the advertisement for land on Padre Island in a recent edi- tion of Life Magazine? The salesman quotes part of a bulletin by the National Parks Service which says in effect that we have very little nat- ural shoreline left, and that which we do have is disappear- ing rapidly. Therefore, goes the sales pitch, you bet- ter get out and buy some of Padre Island now, 'cause it ain't gonna last long. Don't be the last kid on your block to destroy a natural beach . . . In 1920, the garbage collector carried off 2.75 pounds per person of trash each day; in 1970, the amount of garbage per person has doubled—no wonder garbage collectors are always wanting raises! I would too . . . Boy it sure is comforting to note that some of the television stations are beginning to give out pollu- tion reports with the weather. Now we can know whether it is safe to go ahead and breathe or not. I don't imagine it will be too long before we will have occasional pollution al- erts, like those in Los Ange- les, in which our children will not be allowed to go out- side or to do any kind of physical exertion . . . Ocean- ology International magazine re- ports that San Francisco Bay area residents are upset over the recurring fish kills along their coast. Patholo- gists have found "grossly cor- roded" tissues in the liver, stomach, and intestines of the dead fish. It seems that the amount of toxic materials in the water has been compound- ed by a disease in fresh water coming down the rivers. It is predicted this problem will be increased by a plan to divert river water to Southern Cali- fornia from the San Francisco area. I wonder what the ef- fects will be if the plan to divert fresh water to West Texas from our coastal areas is put into effect . . . You know, it seems, around election time, that the plea to vote because your individual ballot is im- portant always falls on many deaf ears. Well, I have a similar plea, and it will prob- ably fall on many deaf ears, but here goes anyway. Our country ran through, or maybe I should say, drank through, 43 billion beverage containers last year. That number is a 43 followed by NINE zeros! Most of these containers were thrown away. My concern is where they were thrown away. Every time I see a can floating on the surface out in the Gulf, I am reminded that the Great American Sportsman has been by. How many cans do you go through in a year? Where do they end up? People are al- ways asking what they can do about the destruction of our environment. Well one thing you can do is get rid of your personal waste so that it can be disposed of prop- erly, and won't end up as a blight on the side of the road.

THE PRINCESS steps out. Britain's Princess Margaret made a hit in Yugoslavia when she joined a group of folk-love dancers, leading them in the Macedonian national "Oro" dance at a hotel on Lake Ohrid.

HER WINNING WAYS have made Mary Bacon outstanding in a "man's world." At 20, and only in the pro circuit a year, Mary has won more than 100 races to become the winningest woman jockey in the world.

criminate and wasteful hunting took a heavy toll and the antelope roamed the entire to an all-time low of 2,000 head in 1920."

Through informed game management and restocking, the herds were rebuilt by 12,000 head by 1960. Since then, increased farming, sheep ranching, disease and adverse weather have caused a reduction in the numbers to 9,000 head in 1966.

Without disease studies and informed range and farm management programs to point the way, the pronghorn antelope is destined to become a rare animal in Texas.

Deer have been studied through extensive trapping programs, and now transistor radios are being utilized to study the deer's everyday habits.

A banding program and collection of wings from killed birds are being used to study the habits of mourning doves, just as bands have been used to follow the flights of ducks. Shrimp migration habits are being scrutinized by the use of shrimp stained bright colors. Plastic streamers also are being affixed to saltwater species, to study their habits and migration tendencies.

All these programs are necessary for better fishing and hunting programs for outdoorsmen. Good hunting and fishing are no idle accidents. Dedicated biologists are constantly working for a better Texas for the outdoorsman.

NEWS for OUTDOORSMEN

by VERN SANFORD

Fish and wildlife are in the spotlight as never before. Due to the great demand for recreation today, programs to study the various species of game and fish and to improve our favorite outdoor sports are being accelerated.

As our population grows, available land is shrinking. This means more hunters concentrated on fewer acres. Because of this supply and demand, biologists are working overtime to increase the yield of fish and wildlife per acre of habitat.

It has been done quite successfully in farming and there is no reason it can't be accomplished with outdoor subjects. Right now it is a matter of hitting the right formula.

On land that can carry more wildlife, for example, studies are being made with various imported exotics. The number of animals like the black buck antelope, Mouflon sheep and axis deer is growing each year, and there is much work being done with imported game birds.

With native birds and animals, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is speeding up its research. One need is more wildlife management areas. The department hopes to obtain several more areas "of sufficient size to permit needed wildlife research and management studies in each major ecological region of the state."

One need is a management area in the Trans-Pecos region to study the pronghorn antelope.

In a report on the subject, the Parks and Wildlife Department pointed out that "historically the pronghorn antelopes roamed the entire western half of Texas in uncounted thousands. However, fencing of the land and indis-

October Shrimp Landings Up

Domestic landings of headless shrimp at Texas ports in October amounted to seven million pounds, valued at $6.4 million. This was 25 percent above the volume and 17 percent above the value of October 1969 shrimp landings. Landings for the first 10 months of 1970 were up 23 percent in volume and down two percent in value compared with the corresponding 1969 period. Brownsville - Port Isabel accounted for 34 percent of the state's current landings; followed by Aransas Pass-Rockport, 23 percent; Freeport, 18 percent; and Galveston-Seabrook, 11 percent.

The following represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Port Arthur-Sabine area: Oct. 1970, 138,300 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 1,176,100; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 746,200.

Galveston - Seabrook area: Oct. 1970, 770,500 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 6,035,700; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 4,658,100.

Freeport area: Oct. 1970, 1,255,400 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 8,817,400; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 5,496,800.

Matagorda - Palacios area: Oct. 1970, 322,300 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 1,329,900; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 964,000.

Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift area: Oct. 1970 552,600 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 2,864,700; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 2,211,300.

Aransas Pass - Rockport area: Oct. 1970, 1,604,400 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 9,770,600; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 8,566,000.

Brownsville - Port Isabel area: Oct. 1970, 2,375,100 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 17,070,100; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 13,511,300.

Totals: Oct. 1970, 7,018,600 pounds; Jan.-Oct. 1970, 47,064,500; Jan.-Oct. 1969, 36,153,700.

Trawl vessels worked adjacent waters through October and made short trip catches of 350-600 pounds of brown shrimp per night. Vessels working white shrimp in in-shore waters made good catches of 300-600 pounds per day in the immediate areas of major passes. White shrimp moved from bay systems into Gulf waters as winter temperatures fluctuated between record lows and highs for October. Irregular fishing patterns were reported throughout October as many vessels worked brown and white shrimp both day and night. Bay catches were fair to good in all major systems until late October, however, weather conditions hampered shrimping activities several days during the month.

Landings of blue crabs amounted to a record 775,000 pounds in October, surpassing the July 1969 record of 746,000 pounds. Crab landings for the first 10 months of 1970 are still some 750,000 pounds below the corresponding 1969 volume. Fishermen received 8-11 cents per pound for live crabs.

Five new vessels entered the domestic fishery from Texas ports and several large vessels returned from foreign waters to work local waters. Two vessels were lost at sea.

Prior to the day of the reception, the Corpus Christi group will contact radio and TV stations and newspapers to obtain as much free publicity as possible for the coast area. The "Sparklers" have conducted two of these programs previously and found them to be highly successful.

This is the first time Rockport has participated and will also participate in the Houston program planned for the Houston area early in February.

Next Door to the CPL Office

The Kinsey Report

Many years ago, bosses laid down strict rules for their employees. An example is the following list of nine rules which County Clerk Ed Beasley came across recently:

1. Office employees will daily sweep the floors, dust the furniture, shelves and show cases.
2. Each day will fill lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks. Wash the windows once a week.
3. Each clerk will bring a bucket of water and scuttle of coal for the day's business.
4. Make your quill pens carefully. You may whittle nibs to your individual taste.
5. The office will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m. daily, except on the Sabbath, on which day it will remain closed. Each employee is expected to spend the Sabbath by attending church and contributing liberally to the cause of the Lord.

6. Men employees will be given an evening off each week for courting purposes, or two evenings a week if they go regularly to church.
7. After an employee has spent 13 hours of labor in the office, he should spend time reading the Bible and other good books while contemplating the glories and building up the Kingdom.
8. Every employee should lay aside from each pay a goodly sum of his earnings for the benefit during his declining years, so that he will not become a burden upon the charity of his betters.
9. Any employee who smokes Spanish cigars, uses liquor in any form, gets shaved at a barber shop, or frequents pool and public halls will give me reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity and honesty.

It's a Fact—
Pilot Want ads are well read. In smaller communities want ads rival news stories for the attention of readers. They are far better read than in large city newspapers. So—take advantage of this situation. Use want ads. Subscribe to the Pilot.

A LITTLE EXTREME seems to be the reaction of John Day, 10, right, on seeing the Mohawk haircut on his friend, 10-year-old Joe Anger. Joe followed his brother's lead in getting the hair style, but John wasn't sure he liked the fashion.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by State Selective Service Board, 209 W. 78701. They will welcome your questions.

Q—I understand that at the end of this calendar year, men with random number higher than the highest number ordered by their board during 1970 will go into the Second Priority Group for 1971. What does it mean to be in the Second Priority Group?

A—Men who are assigned to the Second Priority Group will not be processed for induction until all the carryovers in the Extended Priority Group and all of the men in the First Priority Group have been processed.

Q—What men will be in the First Priority Group for 1971?

A—Those who were born from 1944 through 1950 and are classified in I-A, I-A-O or I-O in 1971 and those born in 1951 who are so classified.

Q—I am in I-A and my random number is 197. I understand that no registrant above 195 will be ordered in 1970. What will my situation be in 1971?

A—On January 1, 1971, you will be placed in the Second Priority Selection Group because your number was not reached.

Q—My random number is 162 and my local board reached random number 170 in July 1970. What will be my situation next year if I am in I-A on December 31, 1970?

A—On January 1, 1971, you will be a carryover in the Extended Priority Selection Group because your number is lower than the highest number reached by your local board in 1970.

Q—Must a student be placed in II-S if he's requested it?

A—Yes, if he's in a full-time course and satisfactory toward a baccalaureate degree and hasn't reached age 24. He must be making normal progress toward the degree.

ress toward the degree.

Q—If a student is classified in II-S, how does his draft board determine if he is making proportionate progress?

A—By determining whether he is making sufficient credits to receive his degree in the normal period required.

Q—Will the board accept and act on a certificate of satisfactory progress from the school?

A—Yes. The student can request his school to inform the board on a prescribed form that he is making satisfactory progress.

Q—What are the subjects a graduate student can pursue to be eligible from a II-S deferment?

A—Any graduate student who is satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of graduate study in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, optometry, or podiatry, qualifies for a II-S classification.

Q—Can other subjects be added in the future?

A—Yes, if the National Security Council decides other graduate subjects are necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest and the President prescribes deferment by regulation.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Driving Without a License

When Jeff's car knocked down a pedestrian he felt no great sense of guilt. After all, he had been driving properly, well within the speed limit. Clearly it was not his fault that the man had stepped from behind a parked car.

Then Jeff remembered, with a sinking feeling, that his driver's license had expired. Sure enough, the pedestrian seized upon this point in suing for damages.

"Anyone without a driver's license," he argued at a court hearing, "has no business driving a car in the first place."

Nevertheless, the court decided Jeff could not be held legally liable. The judge said his lack of a license, even though wrongful, had no connection at all with the accident.

Generally speaking, the mere fact that a motorist has no license does not make him automatically responsible for accidents. For this would be imposing an extra penalty upon him, in addition to the regular penalty the law already imposes for driving without a license.

Furthermore, an unlicensed driver is himself entitled to collect damages, if someone else negligently injures him. Otherwise, noted on court, he would become a helpless target for any other driver on the road.

On the other hand, there is no doubt that the state does have a right not only to require a license but also to enforce that requirement rigorously.

In one case a citizen became incensed at the idea of police roadblocks, which were used from time to time to check up on the licenses of passing motorists. Finally he went to court for an injunction demanding an end to this practice.

"Until a motorist has done something wrong," he said, "the police have no authority to stop him. He has a right to use the public streets without any interference."

But the court rejected his demand, saying that the right to use the public streets is subject to restrictions necessary for the public safety. A roadblock, said the court, is a logical and practical method for weeding out drivers not fit to drive.
