250 + Attend Fly-In

Sky Divers, Model Airplanes Thrill Crowd

The second annual fly-in at the city-county airport in Colorado City Wednesday was termed a huge success as more than 50 planes were on hand for the event. The event is sponsored by the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce.

More than 50 local residents also turned out for the day's events which started at 7 a.m. and ended at 10 a.m. A total of more than 250 persons were on hand.

The planes came from many points throughout West Texas. Probably attracting the most attention was an all plastic plane, one of five in existence, which was made in Midland.

A parachute jump by sky-divers from an Abilene parachute school was the highlight of the day's events. Three sky-divers, including Lew Sparks, the operator of the school, jumped from about 5,000 feet.

Sparks landed exactly on the jump site while two others landed in a field across the road from the airport.

Also a popular attraction was a model airplane demonstration by Jim Rhodes of Lubbock and several other model airplane enthusiasts.

The planes were put through a variety of acrobatic maneuvers as the large crowd looked on.

Those giving the demonstration are members of the South Plains Aeronautical Radio Controlled Society (SPARCS).

In addition to all this, airplane rides were sold for $3 a person with pilots J.O. Dockrey and Frank Deregibus flying riders over the Mitchell County area.

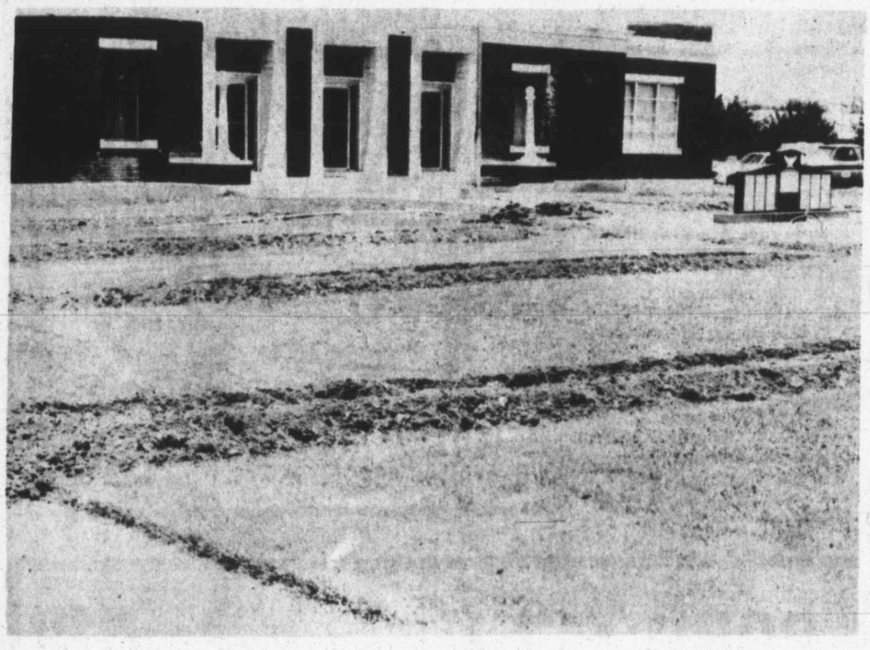

The attendance at this year's event was substantially higher than last year's successful fly-in.

The crowd was much larger than anticipated, so much larger that chamber officials twice ran out of food being served for breakfast. Those who flew-in were served breakfast free. For drive-ins, the breakfast was $1.50 per person.

Ready

Newly hired Colorado City humane officer Glenda Love and Police Chief Jesse Browning look over a tranquilizer gun purchased by the city to help stop stray dogs that cannot be caught any other way under the new city dog ordinance. Enforcement of the ordinance has been delayed by a week by the shortage of rabies vaccine.

Rodent?

No gophers haven't been at work on the courthouse lawn. Plumber Ed Love is in the process of putting an underground sprinkler system in the courthouse lawn. After the sprinkler system is in, the grounds will be landscaped. Cost of the beautification project is $2014.33.

Church Leagues Set Schedule

Dog Vaccination Clinic Set 9-11 Saturday

Enforcement of a dog ordinance passed by the City Council of Colorado City has been delayed for a week due to a shortage of rabies vaccine.

During last week's dog clinic at the local training clinic, there was such a heavy response, the Veterinary, Dr. J.D. Williams Jr., ran out of the vaccine.

During the past two weeks, 250 dogs have been vaccinated and some 450 dogs have been vaccinated this year, which according to Police Chief Jesse Browning, is more than have been vaccinated in the last several years combined.

The vaccination has always been required, but in addition to that, the city has hired a humane officer, Glenda Love, and have provided for fines for anyone violating the new dog ordinance.

The new dog ordinance also requires that all dogs be kept in an excape proof enclosure or on a leash. This has led to a lot of fence building in recent weeks and many people have gotten rid of their dogs.

The ordinance went into effect Sunday but city officials decided to wait until this coming week to enforce the ordinance because dogs cannot receive a city tag unless they have been vaccinated and all dogs must have city tags under the new ordinance.

The ordinance provides for the capture and impoundment of all stray dogs. The dogs can be reclaimed within five days by paying $5 for each day they have been in the pound. If after five days, dogs are unclaimed, they will be disposed of in a humane manner, under the ordinance.

The ordinance also allows for the immediate destruction of dogs with a "manifestation to bite" and animals that appear to be rabid.

Castillo Only Texan Selected

Mario Castillo who has been an integral part of the Colorado city schools bilingual program since its inception, is one of the chosen few to be named to an internship in education.

Out of 350 applicants from throughout the nation, Castillo was one of 30 to be selected. He has resigned his position here to take the internship.

He was requested by Ambassador Telles (retired) to Costa Rica, now Chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to which Castillo will be assigned.

Among Texas educators chosen for this honor in the past is Dr. Nolan Estes, superintendent of schools in Dallas.

Castillo apparently is the only educator from Texas chosen to receive this honor this year.

During his two years in Colorado City, Castillo has been involved in a number of activities. Among those activities in addition to his teaching duties were field-curriculum consultant for a large South Texas school district for two years; Spanish language columnist for the Colorado City Record; the conducting of seminars for other school districts; consultant and lecturer for the Speech and Hearing Department at Texas Tech; teacher for adult basic education programs; district vice president for Pi Kappa Alpha National Social Fraternity for the State of Texas and helping develop fraternities at Angelo State, University of Texas at Austin, schools at San Marcos and Georgetown.

In addition, Castillo has traveled extensively in Mexico, Portugal, Spain, Italy, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, France and England and is planning a trip to Yucatan Peninsula before moving to Washington.

Castillo expressed his thanks to everyone for their help in the programs in which he has been involved in Colorado City. "Without the support of many people, many of our goals could not have been achieved," Castillo said.

Castillo has prepared the following report to inform everyone on the internship program which he is about to enter, and its purpose:

"Persuasive critics have eloquently analyzed the shortcomings of our educational system in meeting the needs of today's society, and they and others have offered innovations or alternatives. There is no shortage of ideas for change, but there is an evident need for people with the dedication and training necessary to understand the effects of specific proposals, to choose wisely among them, to bring about change.

"The purpose of Washington Internships in Education is to help develop such leaders. Each year WIE and its sponsors from public and private agencies bring together a group of young people from widely diverse backgrounds who share the goal of improving American education. WIE interns are given the opportunity to work and study for a year in a unique and intensive learning environment.

"The program is designed to help them think in policy terms about national and state issues and their relationship to educational and human goals, to become more sophisticated in dealing with the processes of decision making, and to become more familiar with the structures and procedures of large organizations.

"Beginning in September, each intern spends three-quarters of his or her time working at the executive level of a private or public education agency in Washington or in a number of state capitals. Working closely with a carefully selected "sponsor", each intern is able to observe and participate in the creation and implementation of policy and programs. He is further able to explore the relationship of his assigned agency to its constituents and to other agencies and interest groups who may attempt to shape and mold its policies.

"The rest of the intern's year is spent in the "Educational Component." As a group, the interns attempt to integrate their individual job experiences into a broadened understanding of the complex workings of the governmental process. Through intensive seminars with sponsors and other national, state and local leaders, they explore issues such as the financing of elementary and secondary education, the role of the federal government in the support of higher education, proposed programs in career education, etc. Field trips provide an opportunity to compare the Washington or state "view" with the school and community outlook, and to experience the actual operation of programs proposed and developed at those higher levels.

"As a total program, WIE offers the participant a challenging and rich individual experience as well as an opportunity to broaden beyond his own immediate horizons his understanding of education policy issues and the processes through which those issues are resolved.

"During the year WIE interns will be working with sponsors who occupy key positions in the planning and implementation of public policy on education or who are executive directors of education associations and private policy research institutions. The combination of both highly diverse backgrounds and assignments leads to the rich educational mix that is integral to the WIE experience.

"Washington Internships in Education is a project of The George Washington University Institute for Educational Leadership. WIE was established in 1964 under a three year grant from the Fund for the Advancement of Education. In 1967, the Ford Foundation provided additional funds for a three-year renewal on an expanded basis. The 1973-74 activities are sponsored soley by the Ford Foundation."

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By ELMER MARTIN

Tourism is one of the fastest growing industries in Texas. With our wealth of State and National Parks as well as a varied landscape that includes mountains, forests and sandy Gulf coast beaches, visitors from all over the Nation and the world are coming to Texas in ever growing numbers.

In many communities throughout our district and the state, there has been a growing interest in preserving the history of the area through the creation and development of local museums that would seek to tell residents more about their neck of the woods and also to attract visitors with unique and informative exhibits of local history.

One of the problems encountered by local museums has been a dire lack of even modest funds for development and maintenance. To encourage this sort of historical activity, the Museum Services Act was introduced and passed which allows political subdivisions to now be able to contribute to museum upkeep.

Passage of the bill has brought praise from the Texas State Historical Committee and local leaders.

Investing in the preservation of local history is important to save some of the past for future generations and to bring tourism' Dollars into local economies in the state.

ANNUAL SESSIONS

One of the greatest needs now facing our state is the need for annual sessions of the Legislature.

During the past 140-day session, Legislators introduced 1,749 bills in the House, 997 in the Senate, 38 Constitutional Amendments and 59 House joint resolutions. This is almost 3,000 pieces of legislation. And it does not take into consideration the numerous House-Senate resolutions and Senate resolutions.

The 140 days allowed every two years simply does not allow enough time to give this number of bills the study, thought and consideration deserved. Time after time members of the Legislature are faced with making a decision on important bills without having the time beforhand to do proper research. Yet, these decisions have an important effect on the citizens of our state.

There are simply not enough hours in the day to consider such a wealth of Legislation in just 140 days. Thus, the present system allows some bills to be passed that should be defeated. And some good bills fail in the same fashion that should become law.

Some lament about the expense of annual sessions, but in the long run they would be economical. Both by eliminating the need for costly special sessions such as have been very numerous in recent years, and also by allowing legislators the time to give bills more consideration and thus avoid costly mistakes.

Annual sessions are a must in a state the size and complexity of ours. The people would be much better served.

Women's Baseball Game Saturday

Practice sessions have been underway most of this last week as the Tangy Tomatoes and the Chatty Chicks prepare for their annual baseball game.

The Tomatoes and Chicks are the two teams of mothers of Little League boys.

They will play at the Little League Field in Ruddick Park at 8 p.m. Saturday. Purpose of the game, other than just fun, is to raise money for the little league.

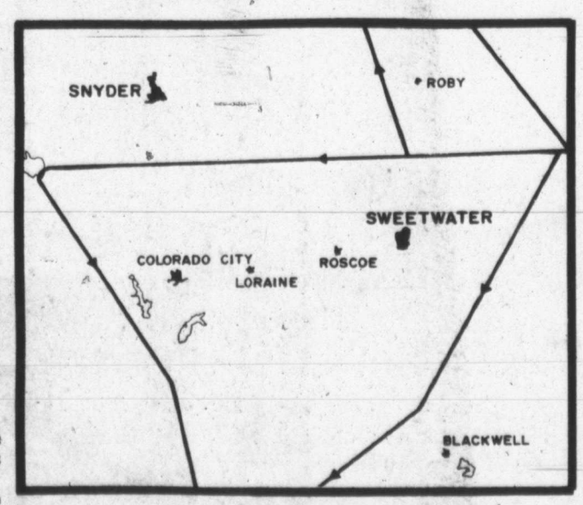

The hat will be passed for everyone who wishes to pay an "admission" fee. In addition, cakes baked by mothers of boys in the major league of the little league will be auctioned off. Auctioneer will be Keith Neff.

The game will be umpired by Joe Phariss and Arnold Parker.

Spectators at the practice sessions report that the players are rapidly getting into condition for the game. The game is expected, as usual, to be a crowd pleaser with some good baseball and a lot of laughs.

The Tangy Tomatoes are coached by Porkey Proctor and Pat McPhaul. Members of the team are Lavonne Schauwecker, Shirley McPhaul, Deanna Feaster, Mary Paul Proctor, Glenda Stinson, Ruby Carter, Jo Erwin, Jo Ann Merket, Carolyn Northcutt, Quentie Ausbie, Viola Iglehart, Myrtle Salmon, Charla Galey, Virginia DeLoera and Wilma Reynolds.

On the Chatty Chicks team, coached by Mac McKinnon and Danny Galey, are Hortense Neff, Marie Wyrosdick, Sue Noel, Joyce Shoemaker, Barbara Clifton, Lucy Turner, Leah Swann, Naomi Jordan, Bonita Englert, Mary Rowe, Mavis Marsh, Jean Robinson, Carol Sue Dakan and Trudy Bodine.

Farmcast

Report Of Agri-Business News

Compiled From Sources
Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

National and International Leader . . . Poultry Declines Noted . . . Vaccinate Horses Now.

Texas, already recognized as a giant in agricultural production in the nation, will become a major factor in international agriculture in the years ahead. With exports becoming an increasing part of this nation's agriculture, Texas will be a key state in supplying farm products as well as providing facilities from which commodities will be shipped.

Texas has excellent port facilities along the Gulf Coast. The Port of Houston was utilized in shipping the 400,000,000 bushels of wheat to Russia. Texas now has excellent export livestock pens which will increase the state's dominance in the livestock industry.

The pens are already in use in Houston, Del Rio and Eagle Pass. Additional pens are to be built soon at Brownsville, El Paso, and Laredo.

The pens have specially designed loading and inspection chutes, concrete floors throughout, offices and laboratory space, a new hydraulic-type multi-vat for dipping animals as well as other accessories which exceed federal regulations. The pens are also covered.

"Through use of these pens, you can be assured Texas will be a leader in the world in international agriculture affairs," Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said.

The Texas Department of Agriculture is responsible for operating the pens. Texas livestock export business this year is expected to exceed $40,000,000.

Throughout the nation, Texas continues to be the number one livestock state. Texas has more than twice as many cattle and calves than the second place state. It has almost three times more beef cows than the second ranking state.

The cattle and calf production population for Texas as of Jan. 1 this year is 15,350,000 head; this is an increase of about 2,500,000 head from 1972.

Beef cows--the factory of the livestock business--numbered 6,320,000 in Texas; this compared with second place Oklahoma's 2,283,000 head.

Texas is also first in the nation in cattle on feed and first in the nation in numbers of sheep and lambs.

THE MAY hatch of egg-type chickens in Texas is down nine per cent from a month ago. The May hatch of broiler chicks is down two per cent from a month ago. The total turkey poult hatch was up eight per cent from a month ago.

Egg production in Texas during May was seven per cent below a year ago, but four per cent above a month ago.

Nationwide, egg production during May was three per cent below a year ago. Layers on hand declined four per cent from May a year ago and two per cent below April.

VACCINATE your horse now for the three types of equine encephalitis. The types are Eastern and Western equine encephalitis (EE and WEE) as well as Venezuelan (VEE) which ravaged horses in Texas in 1971.

The three diseases are caused by different viruses that are carried by mosquitoes, and can be transmitted to humans. Effective vaccines are available for all three. However, vaccines for EE and WEE do not protect against VEE; likewise, VEE vaccine does not protect against the other two.

Outward signs of the three diseases include depression, lack of appetite, and drowsiness. Animals may frequently grind their teeth and stagger when moving. Death is common.

Medicare To Pay For Chiropractors

Beginning July 1, medicare can help pay for limited chiropractor's services under medical insurance, but only under certain conditions, according to Erven Fisher, Social Security District Manager in Big Spring.

Fisher pointed out that the chiropractor must be licensed or leagally authorized to furnish chiropractic services by the state and also meet Federal standards in order to qualify for payment of eligible services by Medicare.

In addition, Fisher said, "We want to emphasize that coverage of chiropractor's services under Medicare is very limited.

It is important for beneficiaries to know that Medicare can help pay only for manual manipulation of the spine for the purpose of correcting a subluxation which can be demonstrated by X-ray.

No payment can be made for any other kind of chiropractic treatment or for any diagnostic services by the chiropractor, such as X-rays or laboratory tests."

A subluxation is defined as an incomplete dislocation, off-centering, misalignment, fixation of abnormal spacing of the vertebrae. Fisher asked that beneficiaries with any question about chiropractic coverage get in touch with their social security office.
