John L. Lewis To Take Stump For Stevenson

CINCINNATI. (AP) — Labor leader John L. Lewis rolled up his sleeves today for a personal campaign stump tour for Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson.

Lewis already has charted two quick speeches in West Virginia for Stevenson and the Democratic ticket, and the implication was plain party leaders only had to ask to get Lewis to invade other states.

The United Mine Workers Convention quickly and with seeming enthusiasm followed Lewis in formally endorsing Stevenson yesterday.

There was talk that the miners union chief will make some radio or television appearances.

It was the first time Lewis has gone unreservedly into the Democratic party column since he supported the late President Roosevelt in 1936.

Later, he broke with Roosevelt and in 1940 supported GOP nominee Wendell Willkie. He opposed choices of both parties in 1944 and 1948.

The decision of the 72-year-old miners chief put virtually all organized labor in Stevenson's corner. Both the AFL and CIO previously had come out for him.

Marine Spanks Air Force In Korean Tactics

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—The Marine Corps commandant says the Air Force's program to disrupt enemy supply lines in Korea is a "fizzle." He said Communists have brought up more guns than ever before.

But, Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd said yesterday, he thinks the continuing Air Force and Navy bombings of big power plants and key industrial centers in North Korea must have hurt the enemy, judging from the "awful screech and cry that has come from Moscow and Peiping."

The Leatherneck chief was sharply critical of the Air Force interdiction program launched shortly after the Korean truce talks got under way.

Not only has the program failed in Korea, Gen. Shepherd told a news conference called on his return from an inspection tour in Korea and the Pacific, but he said he questioned whether deep interdiction—efforts to knock out such supply lines far from the front—ever could succeed completely.

If it has not succeeded in Korea, he asked, how could it be effective in Europe where communication lines are highly developed?

Ike's Words On Tidelands Quoted Direct

Editor's note: The following is taken directly from Gen. Eisenhower's speech made in Houston this morning. The portion of his speech quoted here gives, in his own words, his stand on the tidelands issue.

As I said last night in New Orleans, this has been my position since I first looked into this matter in 1948 long before anybody persuaded me to go into politics. I have always felt that the titles to these submerged lands should be recognized in the states out to their historic boundaries.

Not just Texas—all the states. Not just tidelands—all submerged lands within such historic boundaries.

The Supreme Court has said that Congress has authority to confirm title to these properties in the states. Congress has twice tried to do so. The President has twice vetoed that effort.

My opponent says he agrees with these vetoes.

I do not.

My opponent says he is uncertain where I stand on the tidelands issue. I hope I have relieved him of any uncertainty. Nobody who is interested in my views has any reason to doubt my position.

For political advantage, the opposition has been trying to muddy the water.

Now my opponent says he wants to be fair about this thing. Let's see what he calls fair. He wants to take over the tidelands and dole out to the states whatever Washington decides you ought to have.

That isn't what I call a fair shake. I call it a shake down.

WELCOMING THE BOSS

Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky (left) and his deputy, Jacob Malik, appear in good humor as they shake hands on the deck of the liner Queen Elizabeth in New York. Vishinsky, accompanied by Andrei Gromyko (center, background), the Russian ambassador to Great Britain ,arrived to attend the seventh session of the United Nations general assembly .Malik headed the delegation of Soviet officials on hand to welcome the Russian arrivals.

Draws Big Crowd On His Birthday

HOUSTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower celebrated his 62nd birthday in his native Texas today by calling for the Southland to rise up in political rebellion against the Democratic Party.

A midmorning crowd estimated by police at more than 15,000 gave the GOP nominee a warm welcome to Houston, the first stop on this push into Texas.

State Atty.-Gen. Price Daniel—Democratic senatorial nominee—introduced Eisenhower and declared: "Because of you, Texas can no longer be taken for granted by any political party."

Daniel said he spoke as a Texas Democrat who was going to vote for the general as president—and that the Texas Democratic Party was "fed up with Trumanism," and with being used as a "whipping boy."

"This year," he said, "I predict Texas is going to do something about it." The crowd cheered.

RIPS INTO DEMOS

Eisenhower responded by ripping into the Truman administration with such harsh words as "weak-kneed and soft-headed'. . . "power hungry". . . "power mongers'. . . "reckless drivers". . . and "discredited.'

Chief Police Inspector W. P. Haley estimated 65,000 persons in the crowd that gathered in the square outside the Civic Auditorium. But others sized up the crowd as being considerably smaller.

Eisenhower said experienced politicians had told him not to campaign in the South because "the administration has those states in the bag." A swelling yell of "No, No," went up from the crowd.

They laughed and cheered when he called the administration "weak-kneed and soft-headed."

It was a clear, warm day and a majority of the people were in shirt sleeves and summer clothes. A number of businessmen had declared "Eisenhower Hour" so they could attend the speech.

FETE STARTS EARLY

The towering City Hall, opposite the rostrum, was packed with spectators standing on the parapets of each of the three tiers. Others watched from windows.

The city started celebrating early.

Eisenhower's campaign train rolled to a stop shortly after 7 a.m. and some crowds already were waiting. A high stepping brass band, wearing red Zouave uniforms, serenaded the general and his party. The birthday celebration, with a gaily decorated cake big enough for a regiment of hungry marines, was held beside the rear platform of the car.

Mrs. Eisenhower, wearing a trim, dark-blue tailored suit and carrying a huge armful of red roses, took a bow at the microphones. Then Eisenhower stepped to the microphones.

The Houston speech was a followup to his hard hitting states' right speech last night in New Orleans.

In that speech he again supported state ownership of the rich tidelands oil deposits—and he warned against the encroachment of federal government on the rights of the states.

Roaring thousands in New Orleans greeted this assault on the administration, giving him a welcome at least as great—and many thought greater—than that given to Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson last Friday.

The Eisenhower command hoped for similar receptions throughout the day in Houston, Waco, Lubbock and San Antonio—from Texans in revolt against the Democratic party and its leaders.

3rd Try at Parsons Case on January 25

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 14 (AP)—Dist. Judge Arthur Tipps today set Jan. 25 as the date for a third attempt to try Mary Jean Parsons on a charge she murdered her Army officer husband.

Blonde Mrs. Parsons, 21, won a second postponement of her trial yesterday. As before, her attorneys succeeded in having the venire dismissed because of a technical error in the way the prospective jurors were selected.

Judge Tipps did not set a date for drawing of the third venire. However, he instructed Dist. Atty. William Clayton, El Paso, chief prosecutor in the case, to be present and to assist in the venire drawing. Clayton was not here when the first two venires were drawn.

Mrs. Parsons, daughter of a wealthy Tulsa oil equipment dealer, is charged in the fatal shooting of Lt. Richard O. Parsons, 24, Feb. 16.

Her father, Burtner Fleeger, said he would return her to a private hospital in Dallas for the mentally ill. She has stayed there, except for court appearances, since she was released on bond after the shooting.

The trial was originally scheduled Sept. 29 but was postponed when the defense made a successful objection to the way the venire was drawn.

The case was transferred to Wichita Falls after it received wide publicity in El Paso.

Pair Indicted For Murder By Jim Wells County Grand Jury

ALICE, Oct. 14 (AP)—Nago L. Alaniz and Mario (El Turko) Sapet were indicted at noon today on charges of murder with malice and conspiracy to murder.

Sapet and Alaniz have been held without bond since being charged with the murder of Jacob S. Floyd Jr. The indictments alleged a conspiracy to murder Jacob S. Floyd Sr. which resulted in the murder of Jacob S. Floyd Jr.

Judge Arthur A. Klein received the indictments from the grand jury which has been investigating the Floyd murder since Oct. 6. Judge Klein set bond at $5,000 in the conspiracy to murder charge but denied bond on the murder with malice indictment.

A motion to quash the indictments was immediately filed by Percy Foreman, Houston, attorney for Alaniz. At the same time, Fred Semaan, San Antonio, attorney for Sapet, moved to disqualify the presiding judge. Arguments on the motions were scheduled this afternoon.

Yesterday's session was highlighted by the appearance of five Duval County deputy sheriffs. Duval is the bailiwick of Political Kingpin George Parr.

Young Floyd was shot to death in what was termed a misdirected assassination attempt on his politically active father, Jake Floyd Sr.

SAENZ IS HEARD

Charged with murder in the case are Nago Alaniz, Alice attorney, and Mario Sapet of San Diego. But neither is accused of actually firing the shots that cut down the 22-year-old University of Texas student as he walked to the family garage the night of Sept. 8.

The elder Floyd has testified that he was killed in a political plot aimed at himself and Dist. Judge Sam G. Reams.

Oilman Blasts Crude Ceiling

FORT WORTH, Oct. 14 (AP)—This nation's future supply of petroleum has been placed in jeopardy by the Office of Price Stabilization's continued control of crude prices, says R. F. Windfohr, Fort Worth.

He made the claim in his presidential address to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn. meeting today.

Windfohr told the gathering that the first public responsibility of the oil industry was to supply oil, but it couldn't continue to meet its responsibility trying to operate in an economic strait jacket.

"We have to send dollars to hunt oil," declared Windfohr. "We can not send patriotism, OPS directives, government reports or resolutions. The oil hunting dollar must come from oil's sales in the market place."

John White To Speak For Adlai Saturday

John White, state commissioner of agriculture, will speak in favor of Adlai Stevenson on the east steps of the Courthouse Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

C. F. Sentell, local Stevenson booster, said plans were indefinite concerning a parade before the speech. "I think the speech will be of special interest to the farmers," Sentell stated.

Chinese Reds Throw Strongest Attack In One Year At Allies

SEOUL, Oct. 14 (AP)—Allied infantrymen lashed out today with their heaviest ground attack in nearly a year and grabbed portions of two Chinese-held hills on the Central Korean Front.

The attacking troops, backed by heavy tank and artillery fire, knocked the Reds off two knobs of Triangle Hill, north of Kumhwa. Two miles to the east, they swept over a portion of Sniper Ridge. Both hills are about 1,500 feet high.

The initial charge carried the attack force to the crest of Triangle but the Chinese regrouped and regained the crest.

After trying to scramble back up the sharp shale-covered slope, the U.N. soldiers abandoned their frontal attack. They began working their way across the nearby hill saddle for a thrust from the east. A front line officer said Triangle is "a very difficult hill to climb, let alone assault."

An estimated Chinese battalion held the crest of Triangle and rolled hand grenades and rocks down the slope. Front reports said Red resistance on Sniper Ridge was considerably lighter.

The twin peaks anchor the eastern base of the old Communist Iron Triangle supply and troop massing area. A U. S. Eighth Army officer described them as "very strong outpost positions outside the normal Chinese main line of resistance." He emphasized they were not part of the main Chinese line.

About 17 miles to the west, South Korean soldiers pushed ahead doggedly in an attack to drive Chinese Communists from their last foothold on White Horse Mountain. The Reds held desperately onto two low knobs on the northwest ridgeline.

The fighting on White Horse has raged for eight days and has cost the Chinese an estimated 10,000 casualties.

OFFICER OF LAW LOOKED SICK TO MIAMI POUND MAN

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 14 (AP)—Boxx, a sad-eyed bloodhound owned by the sheriff's office, turned up in the city pound five days after he apparently disappeared during a manhunt.

Angry sheriff's deputies charged today that city officials practically kidnaped the bloodhound while he was hot on the trail of a fugitive. They said a police inspector lured him into a car and took him to the pound.

City officials replied that wasn't so. A woman reported a sick dog out near the city limits and they picked him up.

The dog just looked like a sick dog to the men from the pound. They said they had no way of knowing he was an officer of the law out on official duty.

Cool Weather Due In State

(By The Associated Press)

A cool wave, vanguard of a cold front sifting snow over Wyoming spread slowly over Texas Tuesday and was due to drop temperatures from Shreveport, La., to Texas fabled Big Bend Country by nightfall.

The Weather Bureau said the development, which sent temperatures to 47 degrees in Dalhart early today, possibly could bring rain to drought-stricken Texas areas by Wednesday.

Early Tuesday the front stretched from the Eastern Great Lakes region across Southern Indiana, Eastern Oklahoma and into the Texas Panhandle. Westward, it covered most of Wyoming with snow and put a white mantle over parts of Western Montana.

Union Leader Before Panel

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities committee called new witnesses today after hearing Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, head of the Central Intelligence Agency, qualify a previous assertion that he believed Communists "are so adroit and adept they have infiltrated every security agency of the government."

Called before the House group to explain the meaning of that statement, Smith testified yesterday that it had been "predicated on pure theory and past performance." He added that he believes President Truman is doing a good job of fighting communism in the federal government.

UN Employes Not Talking

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (AP)—A search for American Communists on the U.N. payroll has been stymied in part by the refusal of five witnesses to answer questions by U. S. Senate investigators.

The five—four present U.N. employes and one former U.N. stenotypist—refused yesterday to say whether they ever were Communists or whether they knew any Reds in the U.N.

All based the refusals on the constitutional grounds of protecting themselves against possible self-incrimination.

The three-man U.S. Senate Internal Security subcommittee continues its hearing today.

Adlai Says Ike Afraid To Take Stand; GOP Only Has Slogans

CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson declared today that the Republicans "prefer slogans, emotion and confetti" to facing up to their record on the campaign issues of peace and prosperity.

The Democratic presidential nominee, beginning here a 6,000-mile flying trip to the West and Texas, voiced a ringing indictment of what he called a long record of "Republican isolationism in foreign affairs and inaction in domestic affairs."

In a speech prepared for a Casper campaign rally, the Illinois governor expressed "sorrow" and "dismay" at the tactics adopted by his Republican opponent, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Asserting that the "Old Guard reactionaries" of the Republican party had "opposed every measure to build up America's strength and America's alliances against the Communist conspiracy," Stevenson added:

"Moreover—to my sorrow and dismay—they seem to have induced or forced the general to alter his own positive principles and to adopt equivocal and hesitant views that savor more of isolation and retreat than security and confidence."

Firing a broadside at his opponents, the Illinois governor declared:

"There are some desperately important issues, although you would never guess it from listening to the Republican candidates. They don't like to talk about issues very much. They prefer slogans, emotion and confetti.

"Eisenhower's advance men have furnished confetti for the crowds which turn out to greet him.

"It's easy to understand why when you look at the voting record of the Republicans in Congress for the last 20 years, you can see right away why they decided that the less said about the issues the better."

Stevenson said that in cattle country language "Old Guard reactionaries" now "own the Republican party, hoofs, hide and tallow."

"They control the Republicans in Congress," he said. "The Republican candidate for the presidency does their bidding, by conviction, persuasion or intimidation, I know not which.

"They have grabbed control of the Republican campaign—and they are quite frank about their plans to dominate the White House and the Congress if they ever get a chance."

Obviously optimistic about the results of next month's election, the Illinois governor echoed the sentiments of Wilson Wyatt, his campaign manager, when he said, "We confidently expect to win in November."

Indicating that he believes he has found the basic road to victory, Stevenson bore down hard on what has come to be known in his camp as the "You never had it so good" theme.

In this connection, he said he doesn't believe the voter has "much choice as to which party he can most hopefully trust to keep this nation prosperous, and to lead the way to an enduring peace."

Democrats For Ike To Hold Meeting Tonight

An organizational meeting for all Scurry County Democrats for Eisenhower will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the district court room.

James Rosser, Snyder attorney, will preside over the meeting. Rosser said he expects about 30 persons to attend the first meeting.

This is the first such meeting ever held in Scurry County.

Seventh Session Of UN Opens Today; Atmosphere Is Gloomy

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 14 (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly opened its seventh session today in an atmosphere of diplomatic gloom contrasting with the shining beauty of the spanking new building on New York's East River.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky sat in front row of seats as the retiring Assembly president, Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, banged the gavel at 11:20 a.m. EST.

The leaders of the opposing free world and Communist blocs did not greet one another as they entered the 12½ million dollar hall where they will clash during the next few weeks on such subjects as Korea, disarmament, Germany, Australia and independence for colonial countries.

Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri, New York, greeted the delegates, admitted the "original optimism and even perhaps some of the goodwill "which hailed the U. N. seven years ago was missing today. But, he declared as the representatives of 60 countries listened intently, time "has not diminished the hopes which rest with you.

After organizational work, naming Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson as Assembly president, the Assembly will get down to its diplomatic duties.

The session began amid reports of a split among the Three Big Western Powers over colonial issues.

The crack in Western unity was revealed in reports that the U. S. delegation, headed by Secretary of State Dean Acheson, had decided to support a move for full debate on Tunisian and Moroccan complaints against France's rule over them.

The U. S. delegates, sources added, has not decided how it will vote after the issue has been debated.

Both France and Britain oppose putting the Tunisian and Moroccan questions on the agenda. The French also have voiced strong irritation over the U. S. attitude on colonial questions.

In Paris last winter and later in New York last spring, the U. S. refused to back Moroccan and Tunisian demands for a hearing on the ground that direct negotiations still were under way outside the U. N.

The opening session of the assembly was set aside primarily for formalities, but even the introductory speeches of Secretary-General Trygve Lie and others were expected to point to the Korean and colonial questions as the most important before the assembly.

The U. S. delegation has disclosed that Acheson will take the initiative quickly in bringing up the Korean War when he leads off the general policy declarations tomorrow. He was reported ready to urge an Assembly appeal for Communist acceptance of an armistice at once along the lines proposed by the U. N. Command.

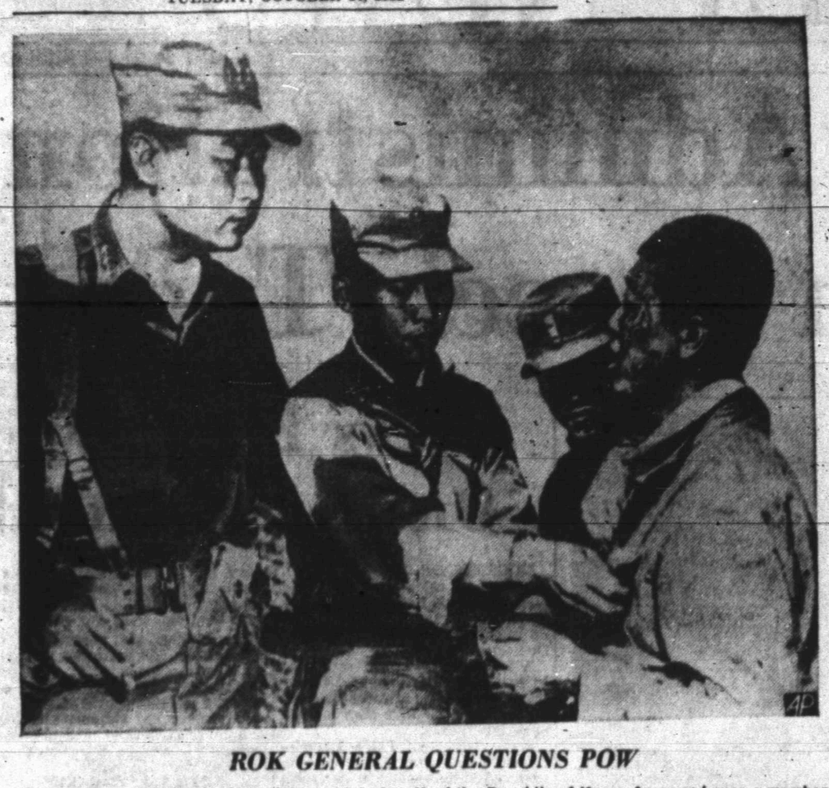

The U. S. wants the Assembly to declare its support for the U. N. Command's position that no prisoners of war should be sent home against their own will.

The importance the Russians attached to the session was indicated by the high-ranking diplomats in their delegation. These included Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Gromyko and Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin.

British Reject Last Demand By Iranians

LONDON, Oct. 14 (AP)—Britain sent off a note to Iran today rejecting Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's terms for settling the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, official sources said.

The Iranian leader demanded seven days ago a British down payment by today of 56 million dollars as an essential first step towards a settlement.

ROK GENERAL QUESTIONS POW

Lieut. General Paik Sun Yup (left), chief of staff of the Republic of Korea Army and once a member the United Nations armistice delegation, questions a Chinese prisoner of war captured on White Horse Mountain in Korea. Officers in center are unidentified. White Horse Mountain has been the scene of savage fighting for the last seven days between the South Koreans and Chinese Reds.

Lutherans Say They Are Not Keeping Up With Population

SEATTLE (AP)—A great population shift to the West and South has created the major problem confronting the Lutheran Church in this country, clerics and laymen of America's largest Lutheran group reported today.

They were in virtually complete agreement on this answer in a sampling made of delegates to the 18th bienniel Convention of the United Lutheran Church in America.

"We're finding it hard to keep up with them," said the Rev. Charles G. Tusing, Pulaski, Va. "Unless the church gets into an area at the same time the people do, those who were active in their home congregations do not normally take their place in the religious life of the new community into which they move."

Gilbert Olson, Phoenix, Ariz., businessman and prominent Lutheran layman said:

"We are experiencing the greatest migration in this history of the world. People are coming west across the Rocky Mountains in staggering numbers. Either we serve these people when they arrive or else we lose them for the church."

The South's growth was pointed up by the Rev. John Yost, formerly of Savannah, Ga., but now of New York City. He said Southern cities were swelling more rapidly than most other areas, bringing a changed economic situation and a changed attitude toward racial groups.

"We need Negro leadership," he said. "We must help the Negro to help himself."

In action yesterday, the convention voted to increase pensions of pastors and their widows by 50 per cent if congregations double their contributions to the pension fund from 4 to 8 per cent.

A report on "mixed" marriages of Lutherans and non-Lutherans brought the recommendation by the Board of Social Missions that their pastors "extend education and counseling service" rather than require both parties to a marriage to join the Lutheran Church.

The Rev. O. Frederick Nolde of Philadelphia, convention delegate and a member of the Commission of the Churches on International Affairs, told the delegates yesterday before his departure for United Nations, N. Y., that the churches must help "counteract a wave of neo-isolationism in the United States which is centering its attack upon the United Nations."

"Blind loyalties which embrace all decisions must obviously be avoided," he said. But there is urgently needed an upsurge of popular support for the U. N. as it seeks to accomplish the purposes for which it is designed. This is a Christian responsibility."

2 West Texas Counties To Hold Local Option Elections On Liquor

Nolan County residents will vote Nov. 8 on whether or not to permit the legal sale of alcoholic beverages there.

Lubbock County has set Nov. 4 as the date for the fifth vote on the legalization of the sale of beer by local option. County commissioners there chose to make the date coincide with that of the general election, and will conduct the election at the same places and with the same officials as the general election.

The Nolan County commissioners turned down a request to set Nov. 12, choosing instead the date falling midway between. A total of 561 signatures were affixed to the petition presented the commissioners' court asking that the election be called, with 461 of these certified to be qualified voters after examination. Only 407 were required for the calling of the election.

Playboy Back With Air Force

BILOXI, Miss., Oct. 14 (AP)—Paul Harbaugh Jr., son of a Perryton, Tex., rancher, is back at Keesler Air Force Base, ending an intensive nation-wide search of more than four months.

Keesler officials said yesterday the 21-year-old airman, listed as AWOL since last May, turned himself in to his squadron commander Sunday night and was not immediately placed under arrest. He was accompanied by his father, who flew the youth from their Texas home to Keesler in the rancher's private plane.

The father said in a letter to New Orleans police that his son showed up at the ranch Thursday night. He said young Harbaugh seemed "anxious to get back and get his punishment over with so he can make them a good soldier."

The airman, described by his father as a "free spender," disappeared in the New Orleans French Quarter during a visit from Keesler. Soon afterwards, Keesler reported him AWOL and his father went to New Orleans in July to help in the search.

The father quoted young Harbaugh as saying that he left New Orleans and went to Miami, Fla., then up the East Coast to Massachusetts and then to Chicago.

Blue Prints Of New

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — British secret service sleuths today were trying to find out how blue prints of one of Britain's latest bombers got scattered over a golf course near here.

Man Held, His Sisters Freed From Jail Here

Two girls have been released to the custody of a Snyder family after spending several days in the county jail with no court charges filed against them here, but their brother remained in jail today.

The brother a 22-year-old man was jailed here, purportedly for Odessa authorities, although it remained uncertain here whether any charges have been filed against him or the sisters in Odessa. They were placed in jail Wednesday after it was purported that a marriage license was issued to the man and the older of the two sisters in Odessa.

Today, it was generally believed by authorities and other persons knowing of the situation that there still were no charges in Odessa.

The sisters, one 17 and the other 15, were released last night after a Snyder couple requested that they be freed to their custody. The couple is not related to the girls, who have legal parents here by adoption.

Only Five Personal Claims Outstanding From Tanker Collision

HOUSTON, Oct. 14 (AP)—An attorney for the Esso Company said yesterday all but five of some 50 personal injury claims resulting from the disastrous collision of two Esso tankers have been settled.

Thirty-nine men were killed when the Esso Greensboro and Esso Suez collided in fog-cloaked Gulf of Mexico waters off Morgan City, La., in April, 1951.

At one time personal injury claims totaled 11 million dollars. Attorney Denman Moody said yesterday that only five claims are now outstanding, although he could not say exactly how much the company has paid out in settlements.

A hearing on a petition by the company that its liability be limited to the value of the vessels after the collision was continued indefinitely in federal court yesterday.

Senator McCarthy Denies He Is Out To Get Into White House

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) says he wants to remain in the Senate and has no aspirations to become president of the United States.

Here for a speaking engagement, McCarthy told a newsman yesterday:

"I am not running and I never have aspired to run for the presidency. I hope to stay in the Senate as long as the people of Wisconsin will keep me there."

His comment was in denial of a report in a biography, "McCarthy, the Man, the Senator, the 'Ism'," published yesterday in Boston. The book was written by Jack Henderson and Ronald W. May.

The biography quoted McCarthy as once telling a friend he would "end up either in the White House or in jail."

The senator denied making the statement.

Huge Plant To Produce Chlorophyll Full Blast

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 14 (AP)—Construction has started on a million dollar plant of the National Chlorophyll and Chemical Co. which the firm says will be the world's largest for continuous extraction of chlorophyll.

At ground breaking ceremonies yesterday, J. C. Hearn, company president, said the new plant would speed development of chlorophyll for medicinal as well as its present uses.

The plant will be in full operation by April.

"The vast amount of research now being carried on and the already encouraging results obtained with chlorophyll in the treatment of cardiac conditions, hypertension, sinusitus and tissue regeneration are fields to which chlorophyll will, I believe, make important contributions," Hearn said.

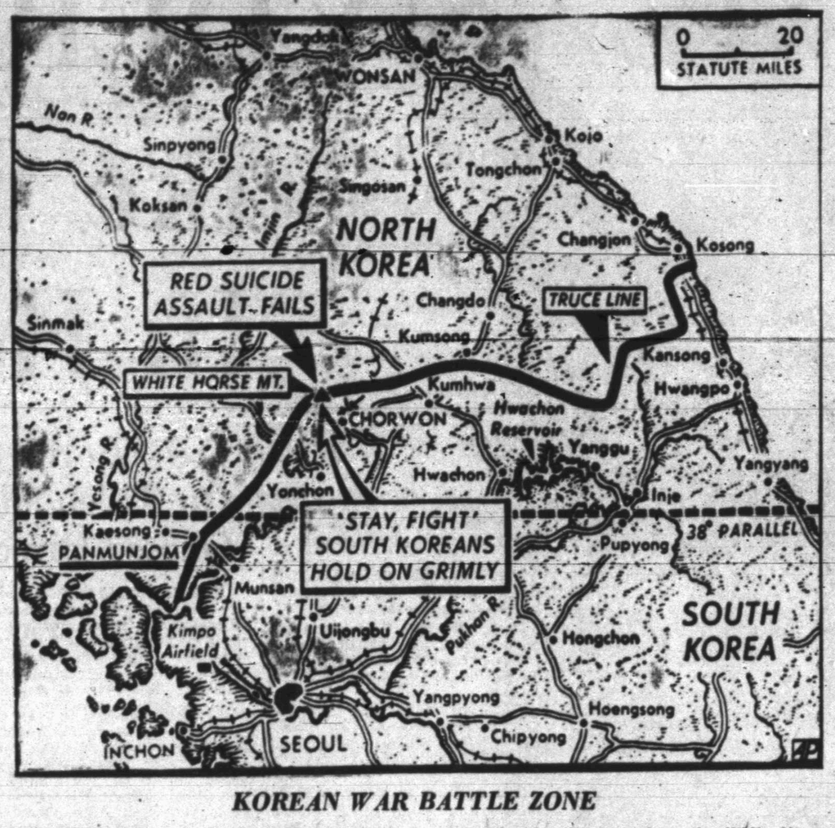

He added that many possible industrial uses of chlorophyll also are being developed "including the addition of the product to paints, plastics and textiles."

TALK OF THE TOWN

By SUE HOLMES

The one thing most envied by women of other countries is the beauty and availability of American nylon stockings.

In the making of stockings, as in the manufacture of motor cars, there's no beating U. S. know-how. Year after year American manufacturers put the sheerest and most flattering nylons within reach of every budget, and year after year American legs grow more glamorous, according to one writer.

This year a number of new gimmicks are offered for the further glorification of glamorous gams One is the new high luster in nylons developed by Roy E. Tilles, of Gotham Hosiery Co., who says:

"For the first time since the ingrained silk stockings of Ziegfied Follies days, the leg with a gleam can be yours again."

New decorations such as jeweled clocks and embossed velvet motifs are in vogue for after-five wear this year. The latter, designed by Ardmore, features a black embossed lacing at the back of the stocking.

No matter how beautiful your stockings may be, they won't look well unless they are the right length, says Leonard J. Solomon, of Manchester Hosiery Mills, who gives the following rules for determining correct hosiery length:

"Lay your present hosiery on a flat surface and measure from the middle of the turn of the heel to the top of the stocking. If you have found them to be a comfortable fit, remember the number of inches so that you can order the same length again. If they are too short or too long, estimate the length that is right for you—and remember it."

Anniversary dates are usually happy occasions, but not this one. The Communist Peiping radio has trumped up a series of 61 slogans to celebrate the third anniversary of Red rule over China. Brevity is not a virtue of the slogans. Take for example: "Hail to street workers, transport workers, medical and health workers, radio and communications workers, rear service and front line cultural workers who are assisting Chinese People's Volunteers!"

TODAY'S WOMEN

Women Taking Major Part In Getting Out The Vote

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

America has 52 million women of voting age and a record number of them are registering for the coming presidential election.

It has taken a long time, but now the gals are going full-steam ahead in the campaign to get out the vote.

"Women deserve the major credit for today's record registration," says a spokesman for the American Heritage Foundation, a nonpartisan, non - profit organization whose job is to co-ordinate the efforts of the scores of organizations waging individual campaigns to get citizens to the polls.

"There are 26 million workers on the job at present, pledged to get out the vote, and most of them are women."

Virtually all the women's organizations in the country are working on campaigns to get voters to the polls.

If their plans are only 50 per cent effective, we'll have the biggest vote in the history of the nation.

The General Federaton of Women's clubs, for instance, has pledged each of its 11 million members to get 10 of her friends to the polls.

The DAR with 158,000 members is engaged in the same project.

The Business and Professional Women's Clubs also are working through their organized groups in practically every community.

The Girl Scouts and the Campfire Girls are volunteering as baby sitters for mothers who want to register or vote. The girls, with complete instructions for the job, will even walk the puppy.

It seems that the long and tireless efforts of such organizations as the League of Women Voters are paying off at last. It has dawned on the nation's women that they haven't lived up to their hard-fought battle for suffrage. Now they're going to put it to work.

Ray Admits He Can't Sing, Packs House Every Night

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Johnny Ray admitted today that he is a lousy singer, even though he looks like the biggest boxoffice attraction to hit town since Rin Tin Tin.

The crooner with the built-in crying jag is on the second and final week of his first Hollywood appearance at Ciro's. He has busted all records at the famed Sunset Strip nitery, even those set by Martin and Lewis, the usual boxoffice kings.

Johnny, who says he is a real cornball about movie people, is stunned by the nightly turnout of big stars for his performances. Some people like Joan Crawford and Jack Benny have seen him several times. Joan even brought her 13-year-old daughter Christina to catch one of the early shows.

"Man, it's crazy," said Ray in a dressing room interview. "I can't sing. to tell you the truth I'm actually a lousy singer. I just sing the way I feel.'

Does he feel that sad all the time?

"I sing the sad songs sad and the happy songs happy. No one ever tells me to sing them otherwise."

Probably one reason for Ray's success in sophisticated Hollywood is the fact that there's never been anything quite like him before. Many Ciro's customers have commented that it's like paying a cover charge to witness a revival meeting.

His gestures are much like a hell and brimstone evangelist. On his sad numbers like "Cry," he goes through all the torments of Hades, finally working himself into a frenzy where he's apt to smash piano tops, microphones or anything else loose.

Then he'll switch to a rythum number like "Please, Don't Talk About Me When I'm Gone" and bounce through it like Al Jolson. Come to think of it, even Jolson could have learned some tricks of showmanship from Ray.

Ray, of course, lets the tears fly during his frenzies.

It seems like a hard way to make a living but Ray claims it is sincere emotion.

"Singing affects me that way. It used to bother me when critics wrote that my crying was phoney, just an act. I don't let it bother me any more. I realize now that it's just something between me and God."

Doesn't it get tiresome?

"Perhaps. I do get tired of 'Cry,' sitting around like this talking about it, but when I start to sing it, it hits me just like when I sang it for the first time. It's just like an evangelist who gets tired of preaching about sin until he gets started on it."

Ray's tent meeting histrionics have a peculiar effect on his listeners. Barbara Stanwyck came in one night with Nancy Sinatra and Milton Berle. A few tables away sat her ex-husband, Robert Taylor, with German star Ursula Thiess.

Taylor spent the whole night trying to attract Barbara's attention. She just as consistently avoider him. Then Ray sang and two nights later Barbara and Taylor were back, this time holding hands during Ray's performance.

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers" Snyder Daily News.

Hints for caring for glassware have been in order, since the American Glassware Jubilee has been underway.

Even though your everday glassware is inexpensive and durable, proper care will add to both its utility and attractiveness.

Hot—not boiling—water will not harm well-made glass and makes washing easier. But glasses which have just contained ice should not be put into hot water. Give them a quick rinse under the cold water faucet first.

If you put a small amount of ammonia in the washing water, simply rinse in water of the same temperature and air-dry the glasses, rims down. If you use soap, glasses should be towelled dry.

Use a rubber mat or towel in the botton of the sing, especially when you're washing stemware. Glasses should be dried in a rubber -covered rack or placed rim down on a towel.

Don't crowd the sink or the drying rack. Some modern -made glasses have protective-edge rims, but precautions will lengthen the life of any glassware.

Sticky milk glasses will come clean quicker with the help of a preliminary lukewarm rinse. Soften rinsing water with soda to remove stubborn stains.

Rinse wine glasses as soon after use as possible.

Lime deposits which are sometimes found on the bottom of water bottles or pitchers will yield to a scrubbing of tea leaves in vinegar.

A solution of chlorine bleach is an effective deodorant in washing flower vases.

To free glasses which stick together fill the inner glass with cold water and immerse the outer one in warm water.

When stacking glass plates, separate them with doilies or napkins.

Air Force Orders Supersonic Delta Wing Plane In Numbers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force announced today it has ordered "initial production" of America's first supersonic delta wing fighter plane, the F102.

The new aircraft will be built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. (Convair), at San Diego, Calif.

The Air Force said the F102 will resemble in general the Convair-built XF 92, the first known delta-wing aircraft to fly. A delta plane is triangular in shape, roughly like a half diamond, and it has no horizontal tail.

"Designed for very high speeds in the stratosphere, the F10 will incorporate significant improvements in armament and electronics," the announcement said.

"Performance and configuration details may not be revealed for security reasons."

The XF92 was built as a research interceptor and has been flown many times since 1948, chiefly at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. It has been in the "high subsonic" speed range, but is reported never to have exceeded the speed of sound.

The speed of sound varies, depending upon temperature, humidity and other factors, from about 760 miles an hour at sea level to 660 at 40,000 feet. An airplane which barely exceeds that speed is in the trans-sonic range. However, the F10 will be definitely supersonic, as are several other Air Force and Navy swept-wing aircraft now flying.

Because it must function as a high-altitude interceptor of enemy bombers, the F102 also will have a terrific rate of climb.

Like all supersonic aircraft it will have complex automatic electronic controls. These are necessary because the human brain and hands are not quick enough for the split-second responses required when supersonic aircraft approach each other.

Aircraft industry experts guessed, also, that the plane might carry guided missles to be fired automatically when the interceptor reached the correct distance from a target.

Although the first airplanes of the Air Force order may be off the assembly line sooner, it was considered unlikely that crews would be trained and that delta interceptors would be operational as a unit for a couple of years yet.

Allen Russell Buys Beaumont Franchise, Stadium, 1 Player

BEAUMONT, Oct. 14 (AP)—Allen Russell had a franchise, park and one player around which to build a Texas League ball club today.

The Houston man bought the Beaumont franchise and Stuart Stadium yesterday from Guy Airey, who had operated here seven years.

The lone player going to Russell was Hank Robinson, a catcher, and he represented the Beaumont roster.

Russell, who resigned as president of the Houston club in order to purchase the franchise here, reportedly paid $150,000 for it. He borrowed $60,000 from a group of Beaumont business men to finance the deal.

Russell obtained the franchise and Stuart Stadium, the Texas League park, and also bought the concessions rights.

AIREY TO MOBILE

Airey, who is expected to make a connection with Mobile, Ala., in the southern association, sold out because declining attendance lost him considerable money here.

The Texas League board of directors met here yesterday and unanimously approved the transfer of the franchise. President J. Alvin Gardner welcomed Russell as a club owner with the statement: "We are glad to have you although we regret to see Guy Airey go."

Russell probably will be succeeded as president of the Houston club by Art Routzong, who has been business manager of the club. Fred Saigh, president of the St. Louis Cardinals who own the Houston franchise, said Routzong would head the Houston club "while we are giving it consideration." Every indication was that Routzong would be named permanent president.

MEMBER 40 YEARS

Beaumont has been a member of the Texas League since 1912. When Airey announced in the latter part of the season that he would dispose of the franchise, it was first thought it would be moved, with Austin a likely site. But Airey agreed to sell to those who would keep the club in Beaumont.

Austin, as far as known, never made a bid for the franchise. Austin is in the Big State League.

Russell comes here after seven seasons as president of the Houston club. He started with baseball in Houston as a parking lot attendant, entered other phases of plant operation such as selling tickets and working in the concessions. He had a knack for crowds and how to please them.

MADE STADIUM PAY

In 1943, when the Texas League closed down, Russell was asked to take over the Houston stadium and operate it jointly for the city and for the Cardinals. Staging various types of promotions at the stadium, Russell made it pay off until the league again opened in 1946. On resumption of baseball activities, Russell was named president of the Buffs.

Houston won the Texas League pennant in 1947 and 1951 and was third in 1948, the year Russell set a new Texas League attendance record with 401,383 paid admissions.

With control of the concessions, Russell is expected to make the Beaumont franchise a paying proposition. He has announced that he will get a major league tie-up. Beaumont had a working agreement with the New York Yankees until recently when the Yanks severed relations.

Only Two Starters As Tech Starts Cage Drill

LUBBOCK, Oct. 14 (AP)—Texas Tech opens basketball practice tomorrow with only two starters returning from the team that won third place in the Border Conference last season.

Those back are Paul Nolen, 6-foot-10 center, and Virgil Johnson, a forward, both seniors. Other lettermen returning are Forward Lew Martin, guards Bob Bouldin, Jimmy Sexton and Rex Hitt.

Coach Polk Robinson announced the filling of two tentative dates on the 1952-53 schedule. Tech will play Midland's 66 Oilers here, Dec. 9, and West Texas State at Canyon, Jan. 31.

13 Teams With Perfect Marks

(By The Associated Press)

Strong teams stand out all along the line in Class AA of Texas schoolboy football. There are more undefeated, untied outfits than any other class and all season the elevens in this division have been making fine showings in interclass play.

Teams that appear to be tops are Phillips, Pecos, Comanche, Terrell, Mt. Pleasant, Huntsville, Killeen and Uvalde with Pecos and Huntsville probably rating the nod when it comes to championship calculations.

Uvalde has the unusual record of not being scored on in five games. The team has rolled up 184 points for an average of better than 36 per contest.

LOOP PLAY STARTS

Emphasis goes on conference play this week in this division with five districts opening the championship race and four others continuing.

The feature game of the state matches Burkburnett and Nocona, both undefeated, untied teams. They are not in the same district, however.

Five districts have two undefeated, untied teams. They are District 1, Dumas and Phillips; District 4, Burkburnett and Quanah; District 5, Anson and Stamford; District 8, Pecos and Seminole; District 12, Jacksboro and Nocona.

13 TEAMS UNDEFEATED

Other undefeated, untied teams are Floydada, Comanche, Refugio, Terrell, Diamond Hill, Mt. Pleasant, Pewitt, Center, Huntsville, Killeen, Gonzales, Alvin and Uvalde.

There are five teams that are undefeated but have been tied. They are LaPorte Edcouch-Elsa Memphis, Cleveland and Humble.

Salas Is Good Crowd Drawer

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (AP)—Mexican hero Lauro Salas, the lightweight champion, is far from those who normally give him the old "Viva Lauro!" but he'll have hundreds of Latin supporters at ringside Wednesday night.

Salas has picked up a terrific following among Mexican and South American-born Chicagoans and is promised a vociferous cheering section for his 15-round title fight with Jimmy Carter at Chicago Stadium.

The Monterrey boy has become something of a national idol in his native Mexico and he's been making appearances before various south-of-the-border groups here.

L. L. Cuplan, Mexican consul general, says "Lauro has many, many friends in Chicago who will be there cheering for him." He said several hundred fans of Mexican descent will be on hand to give Lauro "every bit as enthusiastic support as he got in Los Angeles."

This is something of a sore spot with Carter, who lost the lightweight crown to Salas in Los Angeles last May.

Carter claims the California judges were influenced by brief round-end spurts by Salas that Carter said were flashy but not particularly effective.

"He had the ringside loaded with Mexican friends who cheered madly as he flurried and this resulted in a home town decision," Carter declared.

With a crowd expected to top 5,000 for the nationally televised bout (CBS-9 p.m., CST), the New York Negro expects to have plenty of those present on his side.

"He won't have any of that home town influence here," Carter observed.

Gameless Teams Only Undefeated Ones Left

By The Associated Press

The only Southwest Conference freshmen football teams that are undefeated are those that haven't played a game—Southern Methodist and Texas. They'll both swing into action this week, SMU playing Rice at Houston and Baylor meeting Texas at Austin Friday.

Texas A&M edged Baylor, 21-20, last week to give the latter its first defeat of the season. Rice lost to Del Mar Junior College, 29-26. The Arkansas freshmen took a 28-27 trimming from Little Rock Junior College.

Texas A&M and Texas Christian start the week's work Wednesday night when they play at Fort Worth. Arkansas meets Louisiana State at Eldorado, Ark., Saturday night.

About 38,000 sheep were shorn in North Carolina in 1952.

Southwest Teams Try To Take It Out On Each Other Now

(By The Associated Press)

With a disastrous intersectional schedule behind them Southwest Conference teams Tuesday prepared to regain glory in their own backyards.

The defending champions, Texas Christian, go up against the Texas Aggies at College Station; Texas plays Arkansas at Austin; and Southern Methodist plays Rice at Houston. Baylor takes on a non-conference foe, Texas Tech, at Lubbock.

The Saturday games at College Station and Austin begin at 2 p.m. The others are Saturday night contests.

As practice for the important conference tussles went into their second day, four teams had injured players who might not see duty this week end.

EXPENSIVE VICTORY

Arkansas' Razorbacks paid dearly for their 20-17 win over Baylor last week. It appeared All-Conference Quarterback Lamar McHan —a knee ligament torn—might be on the sidelines when the Hogs meet the disappointed Texas Longhorns, losers on successive week ends to Notre Dame and Oklahoma.

Razorback Coach Otis Douglas said he would use Soph Southpaw Bob St. Pierre at quarter if his star is not ready. St. Pierre would run at quarter in the split T and at full in the deep formation with Ralph Troillet operating at quarter in the latter.

Coach Jess Neely's Rice Owls appeared in good shape except for End James Heflin who probably won't play against SMU because of an ankle injury sustained in the Owls' loss to UCLA last Saturday.

BAYLOR END HURT

Baylor also had an injured player—Ronnie Black, defensive end—who may be out indefinitely. Black was hurt in the bruising game with Arkansas and it's almost a cinch he won't be used at Lubbock.

The other injured player was Halfback John Harville of Texas Christian.

Harville was improved, but still is a very improbable starter after hurting a knee in Saturday's rout of little Trinity University.

Few of the teams went through rough workouts Monday. TCU Texas, Baylor, SMU and Arkansas took it easy. But Coach Ray George sent his Texas Aggies through their hardest workout of the season Monday night for their conference opener with TCU.

And Rice regulars held a rough workout as the Owls prepared for Southern Methodist.

Tuesday, all hands were expected to see hard practice with contact work scheduled on every campus.

Yankees And Athletics Put Most Men On All-star Team

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's World Champion Yankees and Philadelphia's Athletics dominated the 1952 Associated Press Major League All-Star Team, capturing half of the 10 positions.

Seven of the 16 big league clubs, four in the American, were represented in the AP's seventh annual All-Star Team, selected today by 7 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The American League had six players to four for the National.

The Yankees and A's were the only clubs with more than one representative.

The All-Star Team:

First Base—Ferris Fain, Athletics (.327)

Second base—Jackie Robinson, Dodgers (.308)

Third base—Al Rosen, Indians (.302)

Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees (.253)

Left field—Hank Sauer, Cubs (.270)

Right field—Stan Musial, Cardinals (.336)

Centerfield — Mickey Mantle Yankees (.311)

Catcher—Larry (Yogi) Berra, Yankees (.273)

Righthanded pitcher — Robin Roberts, Phillies (28-7)

Lefthanded pitcher — Bobby Shantz, Athletics (24-7)

Four players are holdovers from the 1951 team. They are Fain, Robinson, Rizzuto and Musial. Musial made the team for the sixth time.

Mich. State In 1st Place Standing

NEW YORK (AP)—The combination of Michigan State's one-sided victory over Texas A & M and Ohio State's upset triumph over Wisconsin sent the power-packed Spartans back to the top of the heap in the third weekly Associated Press football poll.

The four last-period touchdowns which turned State's game into a 48-6 rout apparently were enough to convince the nations sportswriters and broadcasters that the Spartans, who were first in the preseason poll and led the first weekly ballot, should be ranked No. 1.

Thirty-nine of the 13 writers who participated in the poll picked Coach Biggie Munn's team for first place.

Wisconsin, which had jumped from eighth to first on the strength of its Oct. 4 win over Illinois, fell to 12th as the result of a 14-23 loss to Ohio State.

Maryland's powerful Terrapins moved up from fourth to second place.

Georgia Tech and Duke, the power of the Southland, who meet in a big one Nov. 1, both moved up a notch, with Tech now fourth and the Blue Devils fifth.

OPEN SEASON

By DALE WALTON

Quarterback Club members will gather in their regular meeting at 8 o'clock tonight in the high school cafeteria.

Definite schedule for the meeting has not yet been announced, but Clyde Godwin, president of the organization, urges a large attendance of members and other fans.

The Snyder Tigers are far ahead of the Cisco Lobos as far as score is concerned.

Cisco, in winning one game and losing four, has scored only half as much as has its opponents. In the five games, Cisco has tallied total score of 72, while opponents have gathered 149 points.

The Tigers have won two and lost two, scoring 60 points to opponents' 55.

Bob Black, Cisco, back, seems to be the biggest threat against Snyder score-wise. Black is the leading ground gainer for Cisco, and he has made four of the squad's 11 touchdowns this season. Ervin Brunderhoefer, a quarterback, follows Black with three. "Boy" Gallagher, the passer on the team, has a fair record of completions this season, most of them to Ends Jim Webb and Ed Ingram.

Hermleigh, whose football eleven remains the only undefeated team in District 5B, has rescheduled its game with Ira this week.

The team will meet Ira at Hermleigh at 8 o'clock Thursday night instead of on Friday night.

Orville Paty, school superintendent, said he believes the game will draw a better crowd if the game night is changed so it will not conflict with other high school games in this immediate area.

Hermleigh has a 5-0 season record, while Ira's record is 0-4.

Pressure Cabin Necessary For Travel By Rocket Ship

By The Associated Press

ALBUQUERQUE — Better make sure your space suit is not full of holes and your rocket ship has a pressurized cabin before you take off for the moon.

Otherwise, the chances are pretty slim that you'll live to tell the boys:

"There I was, 52,000 feet up, when the cabin seams split and my oxygen supply quit."

The scientists say that about that time, your blood will start boiling and you'll drown in your own vaporized breath.

What the best-informed brains of the nation figure are the odds that you'll really be buying a ticket on the moon express are contained in a book from the University of New Mexico Press. The 650 page volume is called "Physics and Medicine of the Upper Atmosphere."

"The conquest of the atmosphere is a revolutionary event comparable to the transition of aquatic animals to land animals in geological time," writes one of the scientists. "That took 100 million years." But most of the advances in space research have in the past decade, many of them at White Sands proving ground in southern New Mexico.

The book is a result of a round-table on rocketship travel in San Antonio, Tex., last November, and incorporates the findings of 35 military, scientific and medical minds. They conclude, in effect, that a trip to the moon certainly isn't impossible.

Dr. Lincoln La Paz, associate editor of the book and head of UNM meteoritics department, goes even farther.

"The next step probably will be sending men up in the rockets," La Paz said. "It may well have happened already—although that's only an educated guess."

But he says meteoriticists—metal fireball experts—have been asked to check into the possibilities of a rocket traveler's (1) running head-on into a meteorite in a lunar traffic jam and (2) his being cooked alive in radiation from cosmic rays.

Further, he says, the picture in front of the book—taken nearly a year ago—is an early model of the Navy's skyrocket jet plane, which recently flew more than 1,200 miles an hour—twice the speed of sound—at an altitude of more than 79,000 feet.

This is nearly four miles higher than the space studies contained in the book, and La Paz says current space charts he has seen indicate that rockets have gone as high as 500 miles—although not with a pilot aboard.

If this is the case—and any confirmation still is in the drawer marked super - duper top secret—it tops the previous record altitude mark set two years ago by a two-stage rocket launched at White Sands. That WAC corporal, shot from the nose of a V2, went only 240 miles up.

But before you head for the moon, half-cocked, take a look at what you'll need besides that space suit:

An ejector pod to catapult you from the rocket ship in case anything goes wrong, automatically opening a parachute to let you safely to earth.

A parachute made of something that won't melt when you generate a heat of 540 degrees Fahrenheit—more than twice the boiling point—by falling 500,000 feet at 100 feet a second. Nylon melts at 480 degrees. The Air Force is working on something that won't.

Six-Day-Old Girl Is Stolen From New York City Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — A 6-day-old girl and an unidentified woman who took her from a hospital ward before the mother could claim her were sought today by police.

New York City police sent out a 13-state alarm for the pair yesterday after they were informed of the child's disappearance Sunday from a Bellevue Hospital ward.

Police said the infant, the child of Anna and Raphael Hernandez, was claimed by an unidentified woman who gave a hospital attendant the impressions that she was a relative of the child's parents.

It was not until yesterday that the disappearance became known. Mrs. Hernandez, being released from the hospital, asked for her baby and the child could not be found.

PICKETS GREET VISHINSKY

Pickets of Slavic and Hungarian organizations display signs and placards opposite Pier 90 in New York in an anti-Soviet demonstration during the arrival of Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky on the liner Queen Elizabeth. Vishinsky and Andrei Gromyko Soviet ambassador to Great Britain, arrived to attend the seventh session of the United Nations general assembly opening in New York. There was no disturbance as the pickets were held behind police barricades.

Transit Companies In Bind; Fares Up As Fewer Ride And Service Gets Worse

NEW YORK (AP)—What's wrong with the nation's big-city transportation systems?

"Plenty," say the millions who fight their way into jam-packed buses, streetcars and subways every working day of their lives. "Every year the service gets worse while the fares go higher."

Transit managements, struggling to get out of the red, complain of mounting labor and equipment costs, "ruinous" federal, state and local taxes," "inadequate fares," competition of taxpayer-subsidized city transit systems, competition of private automobiles, and growing traffic congestion.

"It's murdering us," says John E. McCarthy, president of New York City Omnibus Corp., which operates 21 bus routes in crowded Manhattan.

To probe the why and wherefore of the nation's transit woes, and to find out what's being done about it, The Associated Press queried transit executives, municipal traffic experts and straphangers in 19 major cities across the United States.

The picture pieced together from the survey is one of growing financial difficulties for both municipal and privately owned transit systems and of steadily deteriorating service. Some of the companies are bankrupt. Some others are in dire financial straits. All but a handful say they are losing money.

High on transit management's list of gripes is the huge postwar increase in ownership of private automobiles.

"The private automobile," says President Fred Ossanna of Twin Cities Rapid Transit Company, Minneapolis and St. Paul, "has wrecked a number of transit companies and will wreck the rest of them, too, unless public opinion is aroused and enlightened."

More people driving to work mean fewer bus and streetcar riders. More automobiles pouring into narrow, horse-and-buggy era downtown streets add to traffic tie-ups that slow trolleys and busses to a crawl. Riders, maddened by the interminable delays, quit public transportation for car pools or take their own cars to work. The result is more congestion more disruption of bus and trolley schedules, more disgruntled riders.

Management offers a three-fold solution: Restrict private car use of downtown streets. Ban all downtown parking. Build big parking ramps on the city's outskirts.

While downtown traffic jams and the resultant decline in rush-hour patronage are bad enough, many companies are worried even more by nonuse of their facilities during nonrush hours.

They blame television, which keeps people home at night. They blame suburban branch stores and outdoor movies.

An official of the Portland, Ore., Transit Company points out that "we can't maintain a fleet of extra buses to handle peak loads that last only four hours a day and let them run empty 18 or 20 hours."

One of the big things transit company officials say worry them is higher operating costs.

A big diesel-powered bus with hydraulic steering could be bought in 1940 for about $12,500, delivered in New York. Today the same bus with a few minor improvements in interior lighting and decor costs $21,000—an increase of more than 80 per cent.

Replacement parts and diesel fuel cost about 85 per cent more than in 1940. Labor costs in some cities are up as much as 118 per cent, and as living costs rise, more wage demands and new strike threats are in the offing.

A ntw federal excise tax recently put into effect will add still more to the costs of parts and fuel.

There are also public utility taxes, franchise taxes, corporate income taxes, federal transportation taxes, state gasoline taxes and other levies, many of which vary in different localities and states.

That's the universal complaint of the transit people, particularly when they are pleading with public regulatory bodies for higher fares. Often the regulatory commissions deny the fare boost requests on the ground that the operating deficits claimed by the applicant resulted from poor management or were exaggerated.

Despite frequent refusals, practically all of the 19 cities surveyed report two or more fare increases since 1945. The same trolley ride that cost 6 cents in Detroit seven years ago costs 20 cents today. Twenty cent fares are likewise in effect in Chicago and Kansas City. The going rate in most other cities is 15 cents.

Officials of competing private bus companies predict New York's municipally owned transit facilities, including the entire subway system and a few bus lines, will pile up a year's deficit of 125 million dollars.

It's common knowledge among transit officials that every fare boost results in a decline in the number of riders carried. Up to a certain point, the decline in riders is more than offset by the increased revenue. Then the law of diminishing returns comes into play.

Atalanta, Ga., bus riders have just experienced their second fare increase in two years. The Brimingham, Ala., Transit Company hiked its fares 50 per cent in April and has been losing $5,000 a month since. Boston's public transportation systems have effected fare increases averaging 33 per cent in the last few years.

Despite fare increases, Schenectady, N.Y., experienced a complete breakdown of public transportration this year when the Reconstruction Finance Corporation liquidated the bankrupt Schenectady Railway Company.

What other solutions are being offered?

The American Transit Association is waging war against free riding privileges enjoyed by police, firemen and postal employees in many cities.

To boost traffic during evening hours, Twin Cities Rapid Transit is offering a "family night" plan. On family nights you ride free into the Loop districts of Minneapolis or St.Paul. You pay regular fare going home.

Monorail transit lines are receiving the serious attention of authorities in Los Angeles and San Francisco. San Francisco is also considering reversible one-way streets.

Philadelphia's city planners are suggesting new zoning laws which would require builders of large residential, commercial and industrial structures to make provision for off-street parking.

Pittsburgh's Mayor David Lawrence wants bigger parking lots around commuter stations and stepped up commuter service on the many railroad lines which criss-cross the steel city girdiron-fashion.

Boston is building a 6-million-dollar thruway to its crowded downtown section.

A fed-up rider in Philadelphia offered this suggestion:

"Streetcars, buses, subways—phooey," he said. "The only answer to this mess—and all big cities have it, I guess—is helicopter service."

More Americans Than Ever Will Be On Move This Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP)—More Americans than ever are on the move. Some 36 million will cart their possessions from one city to another this year.

This will be 20 per cent more than the record breaking number of migrants last year, according to members of the Movers Conference of America.

And another observer of the trend—the National Industrial Conference Board—comes up today with some reasons for it.

Part of this shifting about will be due to the natural restlessness of Americans. But a large part will be due to the record breaking expansion of industry, which is building new plants and expanding old ones, and in many cases spreading them widely.

The Movers Conference notes that most of the people its members' vans tote are bound for the South, the Southwest or the West.

CITES DECENTRALIZATION

It sees the defense expansion program as a principal cause but also notes that since the war there has been a decentralization trend in industry. Higher freight rates have led companies to put branches closer to their customers or source of supplies, the conference believes.

In a study of trends in plant location, the National Industrial Conference Board queried 138 companies, which together operate 1,446 separate plants.

In the period 1946-51, they made 614 additions to their capacity, or an average of four expansion projects per company in six years. Before the war, 60 per cent of their plants were east of the Mississippi and north of the Mason - Dixon Line.

During the war, new plants were built in the South and West. Since the war the pattern of industrial growth has changed again somewhat.

SOUTH LEVELS OFF

"The West is still growing more rapidly than any other portion of the country," the conference reports. "And the New England-Middle Atlantic area is still losing out.

"While the South appears to have dropped in national importance, as far as new or acquired facilities are concerned, the North Central States have increased their rates of growth appreciably. And the trend toward the smaller towns, which was established during the war, has levelled off."

Since the war, the top rankers in number of plant expansions have been California, Ohio, New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Texas and Michigan, according to the Conference Board's survey of the 138 companies.

It finds that 40 per cent of the expansions were made in cities of more than 100,000, one-third in cities of 10,000 to 100,000; and about one-fourth in cities under 10,000.

New plant construction however, was most in evidence in the smaller cities. Large city activity was dominated by additions to existing plants.

Man On Trial For Murder

BALTIMORE (AP) — G. Edward Grammer, husky former counterspy, went on trial today, charged with murdering his wife and trying to disguise the crime as the result of an automobile accident.

About 120 witnesses were listed for the case being heard in Baltimore Circuit Court by Judge Herman M. Moser without a jury.

Grammer, 35-year-old former Baltimorean and more recently office manager for a New York mining firm, was indicted by a grand jury less than two weeks after the death of his wife last Aug. 20.

Two Baltimore County policemen saw her car, a $3,000 wedding anniversary gift from her husband, careen wildly down a hill on the northeast outskirts of the city and overturn on the roadbank.

When they reached the spot seconds later, they found her unconscious and she was pronounced dead a short time later.

Suspicious because the car was not badly damaged and the woman was so severely injured, the officers began an investigation which resulted in a medical examiner's verdict that Mrs. Dorthy May Grammer was a victim of homicide.

Police said Grammer told them he and his wife had been visiting her widowed mother in Baltimore and on the night of her death Mrs. Grammer had driven him to a railroad station for his return to New York.

Ex-Wife Turns Out To Be Bigger Asset

LONDON (AP) — Sculptor Robert Davies has learned his ex-wife is worth exactly 600 pounds—$1,680—more to him than he thought she was. Or she is in the eyes of a divorce court.

Davies divorced his Pamela on the grounds of misconduct and claimed 200 pounds ($560) damages from the co-respondent, Fritz Naumann.

But the judge decided 800 pounds ($2,240) was what Davies should get for the loss of Pamela. The wife, the judge explained, "was earning money for them both."

Only 155 Bales Cotton Ginned

The two cotton gins open for operation in Scurry County have turned out 155 bales of cotton this season.

D. V. Merritt, Planters Gin manager, said very little cotton will be gathered until frost when strippers will go into operation. Merritt and Ovid Lawlis, Paymaster Gin manager, estimate that 500 to 800 more bales will be ginned.

Most of the cotton that is coming into Planters is coming off dry land, Merritt said. The irrigated fields will probably not be ready for a second picking for over a week, he added. However Lawlis said he is still ginning cotton mostly off irrigated fields.

Both managers state that 50 per cent more cotton could be picked if labor were available. "Many farmers haven't got a boll pulled," Merritt stated. Most of the cotton going through both gins is middling or strict middling with 7-8 staple. Western Prolific is the leading breed with a small per cent of Lockett Stormproof, the ginners said.

Paymaster has ginned 49 bales while Planters has turned out 106 this year. Last season about 12,000 bales were ginned in the county.

Woman Prepares For Her 5th Set Of Twins

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—A Chinese woman who has had four sets of twins in four years prepared today for another visit to a maternity home here—with another two sets of clothing. She said she was not worried when the doctor told her she will have a fifth pair.

But her husband, a general merchant, said: "This must stop."

Winter Cover Crop Planned By Most Farmers In County

Efforts are being made by conservationists to help Scurry County farmers conserve their land during the drought.

Farmers are trying to save their soil through cover crops this winter, according to Jake Hodger, work - unit conservationist. The tight black land farms wil be covered with wheat, but hairy vetch, and abruzzi rye will be used on the sandy lands, if enough rain falls to plant. The vetch, a winter legume, and the rye will be used to enrich the soil and keep it from blowing, Hodges stated. Sandy land is too cold for wheat, Hodges explained.

A summer legume, either peas or guar will be used next year on the black land farmers to build up their soil, he stated. The wheat which will be used only for grazing on the black lands will be plowed up early in preparation for spring planting if rain comes. About 90 per cent of the farmers are using cover crops of some sort, he stated.

The land was too dry during the summer to put up terraces to any extent on the farms. However, since the rains last month Hodges said the conservationists have surveyed 65 to 75 miles of terraces. Ireland Finely of the Production and Marketing Administration which ordinarily pays the farmers for carrying out the instructions of the conservationists said, "We have exhausted our program funds for this year. Anything the farmer does in the way of terracing or deep plowing for the rest of the year will have to be done on his own." Finley added that a committee is visiting the farmers to find out what programs they want to carry out next year.

If more rain falls additional terraces will probably be built as the cost is reduced when dealing with damp soil because less time is spent, Hodges pointed out.

Frank Patterson, a teacher in the Scurry County Vocational School, said if guar makes a good showing as it has in the Big Spring vicinity that farmers will make it a practice to plant cotton one year and guar the next. The legume doesn't have any grazing value, but the seeds can be harvested to sell to other farmers to plant, he said. "I don't think this plant will revolutionize farming in this part of the country, but I do think farmers will have to realize that they are going to be forced to put something back in the soil," he stated.

The legume not only puts nitrogen back into the soil, but also has the same function as deep plowing, that of breaking up the hard sub-soil, Patterson explained. He went on to say that he has a student, Manley Burrow, who is experimenting with guar on his Scurry County farm.
