By Nanalee Nichols

Well, well, well...here we go again. I hate to pick on the "visual media" (better known as TV) any more, but I can't let this one pass!

How many of you heard them last Friday morning on a major network morning show asking people to spend fifty cents to call in one of those 900 numbers. The question they were seeking a yes or no answer to was "do you think the news media is covering the Gulf War in a fair and accurate manner."

Shortly thereafter the calls began coming in, and it was pretty obvious that the commentators were having a little trouble with the figures. It seems that 83% of those that called said "NO".

They finally finished out their hour with a lame "more on this Monday".

Monday came, and the figures hadn't changed...it was still 83%. They had over 60,000 callers.

They had the answer though. They put on some so-called expert to explain to the viewers that this didn't mean that these people really didn't think the coverage was unfair or inaccurate...it meant that they were tense and upset about the situation!

This man continued explaining that it was like in the old days when they "killed the bearer of bad news". He stated that people had very strong feelings about this crisis, which they were expressing in this manner.

Oh, come on, give us all a break here!

Why don't they just admit that people are sick and tired of hearing speculations by the millions. People are weary of hearing servicemen and families alike asked stupid questions.

Personally I think it is the ultimate in bad taste for reporters and cameramen to rush into the lives of grief stricken families.

One of the most ridiculous questions they ask of these people is "how do you feel about this loss". How do they THINK people feel! Of course they are devastated!

Other questions (which I have addressed previously) is "What action will you take next general" or the ever popular "Will you attack this location next?"

Then there is that absolutely brilliant query of "Do you know what Saddam Hussein is thinking or doing right now?"

Sure they do...they have a crystal ball right into his brain.

No, I just won't buy the "that isn't what they really meant" theory...I know people have strong feelings about the war...and I also think they had strong feelings about the coverage...and 83 percent of them said exactly what they felt!

Local Families Still Hearing From Troops Stationed In Gulf

The news may be slow as anxious families await word from their loved ones...but news does come in.

Remember, we want to hear from ALL those who get word from service men and women in the Gulf war.

Joseph Wesley reported Tuesday morning that his nephew, Daniel Billy, who is in the Medical Corps of the U.S. Marines, called about 2 a.m. Tuesday morning to report that he was doing just fine and enjoyed reading the Deport Times and hopes to be home soon. Pauline Wesley received a package from him.

Nelda Harrell, whose son Rodney is in the 82nd Airborne, says she has received a letter, but it was dated the 18th of January. At that time Rodney was well and still on standby alert.

Mary Bove's son Charlie Weaver called her last Thursday. He is part of the air refueling squadron and reported that he had to wait in line 2 1/2 hours to use the phone to call her as there are only 2 phones for over 2000 people. He is on 8 hours, off 8 hours, and well except for being weary.

Helen Ball reports Lonnie McKel is in the Marines in the ground troops. She has another grandson who joined up in January. Lonnie hasn't been heard from since before Christmas except a short visit with Danny Billy.

Tony Livingston's mother reports that he is doing fine.

Talco native Corporal Rodge (Bubba) Edge is a Marine in the 2nd Tank Battalion in Saudi Arabia.

He is a tank mechanic, and was stationed in Camp Lajune in Jacksonville, N.C. before he left for duty in Saudi Arabia on January 2nd.

Rodge phone his wife Lori last Sunday to report that he was fine.

Although mail is still slow, all service people love to hear from folks supporting them. Here are a few addresses, remember, just give us a call and we will be sure and include YOUR service man or woman's address for people to write to.

Talco Junior High Sports Report

The Talco Junior High girls traveled to Sulphur Bluff on January 31 to begin play in their end-of-year tournament. The girls played the Sulphur Bluff team at 7 p.m.

The first jump of the ball came off the hand of Karen Williams to Jennifer Bond of Talco, starting the game on a good note.

First quarter action ended with a 4-3 score, Talco on top but by halftime the girls had lost their touch.

Fouls ate the score away. Halftime was 19-7, Sulphur Bluff. Good hustle on the court was shown by all the girls with Jennifer Bond and Michelle Savage doing extra well. Karen Williams did an outstanding job under the goal, blocking several attempted shots and pulling down rebounds. Shaunda Jones had a slow first half, but she pulled out of the slump in the last half of the game.

Sulphur Bluff was dead-eyed at the free shot line, and that is where they won the game.

Tawala Padgett fouled out with 3+ minutes left in the game and Julie Nolen also left the court without less than a minute left. The Talco team committed 28 team fouls, shot 20 free shots making only 6 count. High scorer for the team was Shaunda Jones followed by Karen Williams. Final score was 30-22, Sulphur Bluff.

The girls returned Saturday morning at 10 a.m. to play Avery, taking a one point win, leaving them to meet Bogata on Saturday afternoon to play for consolation. Bogata took a 2-point win over Talco and won the consolation trophy.

The Talco girls and boys traveled to Harts Bluff Monday and both teams were defeated.

The boys begin their end-of-year tournament at Sulphur Bluff Thursday, February 7. Everyone is encouraged to come out and support the local teams.

Country Cooking

By Jennie Bankhead

Country Cooking is coming from the home of Earl and Margaret Crawford this week. They have been married for 56 years and have lived in the Blossom area all their married life. They are members of the Church of Christ and are the parents of three daughters, Sandra Graves, husband, John Henry, and children Phil and Jeannie and Mandy, all of Blossom; Billie Hammond, husband, Christy and children Julie, Mark and Amy, all of Desoto; and daughter Judy Landers, husband Phil and children Jason and Jon, all of Paris.

Margaret's first enjoyment is cooking. She loves to cook and bake. When she gets in the kitchen, she forgets about everything else. One could easily see this by the beautiful pie and cake on the table just ready to be eaten. Margaret loves to cook fancy foods, but Earl enjoys plain cooking, just good ole potatoes and vegetables. She also loves to have her family in her home for meals. Earl doesn't contribute to the cooking area at all just the eating.

Another enjoying of Margaret's is quilting. She belongs to the Mt. Olive Quilting Club of which she thoroughly enjoys. She has made some beautiful quilts, comforters and pillows which she has on display throughout her house. Through the years she has made many quilts and given them to her children and grandchildren.

Earl and Margaret enjoy playing 42. She belongs to a club that meets twice monthly. They also enjoy playing 42 with their grandchildren. Margaret also does watercolor painting. She has many of her works hanging in her home.

Margaret also collects cookbooks. She can take a cookbook and sit for hours and read it. She thinks she has bought only one cookbook in her life, but always gets them as gifts. She also likes Southern Living magazine because they have such good recipes.

Margaret has chosen to share her Super Scratch Cake recipe this week, which is one of her children and grandchildren's favorite. It has been in her family for over 50 years.

Also included are several of her other favorite recipes.

We hope you enjoy the recipes this week. If you have a feature suggestion, please call 652-6032 or write to Rt. 1, Box 67A, Deport.

PJC Enrollment Increases

Paris Junior College officials announced an increased enrollment in the spring semester, saying that a total headcount of 2,316 students means an increase of 12.64% over 1990 figures.

In addition, the college's contact hours, which are used to determine state funding, were reported to be 632,182, an increase of 10.73%.

Of those seniors who graduate from area high schools, increasing numbers are enrolling in Paris Junior College.

Dr. Griffith, vice-president for instructional affairs said, "People understand the supportive environment you get at a two-year college, and we have a solid foundation for an educational environment along with a caring faculty."

Rebel Sports Report

Rivercrest Claims Victories

The Rivercrest Rebels claimed two important victories Friday night to keep play-off hopes alive.

The ladies emerged victorious 46-45, as the Rebels won their game by 69-63.

Coach Velind Arbuckle's game plan was to make the Lady Tigers play the Lady Rebels' type game. She wanted to slow down the pace and make them come to the Lady Rebels and force mistakes. And the Lady Rebs did just that. It was a do or die situation and all the Lady Rebels wanted the game. The Lady Rebs played outstanding ball as a team and they knew they could win.

It was a dramatic first quarter with the Lady Rebels trailing by five points at the end.

The second quarter of play was the time for the Lady Rebels to shut down the Lady Tigers' Mary Jane Pennington from the three point play. They did it and the Rivercrest squad completely shut Leonard down to 5 points in the quarter with senior Katy Ross rebounding and jumping shots back up to put the Lady Rebels up 27-23 at halftime.

The third quarter was mainly defense as neither team scored many baskets and the Lady Tigers pulled within 1 point of the Lady Rebels 33-32 at the conclusion of the quarter.

Going into the last quarter, the ladies seemed to be cautious but committed fouls, sending Tiger Jill Lewis to the line several times. With 1:07 left to play, the game was tied at 41 all. Coach Arbuckle decided to take the last chance with :40 left on the clock as it hit the rim and came off, sending the game into overtime.

Rivercrest took the overtime tip. They continued to hold the ball but a turnover and foul put Mary Jane Pennington on the free throw line resulting in a two point lead for the Lady Tigers.

Lady Tiger Jill Lewis committed her fourth foul of the night, sending Krista Weatherall to the line, amking only one free throw, but a steal from senior Jerilyn Russell and an outstanding pass, the Lady Rebels once again took the lead.

With :10 left, senior Kristie Eudy popped the net for 2 points giving her and her teammates the victory they needed, 46-45.

Coach Wake Wood also needed a victory for his Rebels. Senior Jim Purviance took the first three buckets for the Rebels. His momentum set the pace as his teammates followed. The Rebels led by the end of the first

Dependents and Exemptions

These are typical of questions asked by taxpayers and are presented as a public service of this publication and the IRS.

Q. What qualifies a person to be claimed as a dependent on my tax return?

A. Five tests are used to determine dependency in order to claim an exemption on your tax return. They are: member of household or relationship test, citizenship test, joint return test, gross income test and support test. Each of these rules has its own criteria. If you have a question as to whether or not to claim a dependent, consult the instructions in your tax package.

Q. Even though my dependent did not live with me the entire year, does he or she still qualify as a dependent on my tax return?

A. Yes, if he or she meets all of the tests mentioned above, he or she may still qualify as a dependent.

Q. How much is each exemption for a dependent worth?

A. For tax year 1990, each exemption, including yourself, is $2,050.

TAX TIPS
from MARK BOWER CPA
UNTAXED MONEY
he earned income credit originally enacted in 1975, is a refundable tax credit.

That means the credit can reduce the amount of income tax you owe, and if the credit exceeds what you owe, the IRS will send you the difference. The credit is intended to provide tax relief for low-income workers with children. Over the years, the maximum amount of the credit has been increased to offset the impact of inflation and social security tax increases. Before passage of the 1990 tax law, the credit was 14% of earned income (maximum credit of about $950), reduced by 10% of earned income exceeding $10,730. Earned income means wages, salaries, or self-employment income.

The Revenue Reconciliation Act of 1990 made significant changes to this credit, effective for 1991, (on tax returns that will be filed in 1992). First, the credit has been adjusted for family size. Taxpayers with two or more qualifying children will receive a larger credit than taxpayers with only one qualifying child. Second, the credit percentage will increase over the next four years from the 1990 rate of 14% to the 1994 rate of 22% for households with one qualifying child and 25% for households with two or more qualifying children. The reduction percentage as income goes up increases from 10% in 1990 to almost 18% in 1994.

A supplemental 5% credit is available to taxpayers with a qualifying child under age one at the close of the tax year. A new health insurance credit of 6% is available for premiums paid on health insurance coverage for one or more qualifying children.

For purposes of the credit, the taxpayer must have a "qualifying" child, stepchild, grandchild, or foster child. The child must reside with the taxpayer for over half the year (full year if foster child). Temporary absences due to education or illness are disregarded. Finally, the child must be either: (1) under age 19, (2) a full-time student under age 24, or (3) permanently and totally disabled at any time during the tax year. Contact our office if you'd like further details.

Call our office for more information or for assistance with these and other required tax filings.

Fleming Accepted To Ski Camp

Ronny Fleming of Bogata, a 16-year old student at Rivercrest High School, has been accepted to attend a winter ski camp in Colorado for blind or visually impaired young people from 14 to 28 years old.

The camp is free and is provided by Christian Record Services, which also provides taped and braille books of all kinds.

The only cost to participants is transportation.

Two years ago, Ronny was able to attend the camp with the help of David Rozell and the Bogata Lions Club, which provided air transportation. The camp has so far coincided with the school's spring breaks. Last year transportation arrangements didn't work out, but this year Kevin Hargett of Jefferson, with Christian Record Services, is attempting to get together a van to take nine blind and visually impaired students from this area to Colorado and back. One volunteer may possible be needed to go along who would be able to help with ski instructions. Anyone interested in participating in the camp may call 632-4508 or Marcie Glass of the Texas Commission for the Blind at 903/793-6779 during business hours for information.

Ronny, son of Sarah Fleming of Bogata, enjoyed the camp the first time. One of the highlights was the 20 hours spent waiting in the Denver airport. Meeting other blind students is always rewarding, but they met people from all over the world as well. Other activities they enjoyed were snowmobiling, cross country and downhill skiing, a sleigh ride, a snowball fight, swimming, shopping, talent night and fellowship meetings. Texas Commission for the Blind also provides glasses and other coordinating services for qualifying blind and visually impaired.

Fruit Trees Need Dormant Spray In Late Winter

Most fruit trees, including peach, plum, pecan and pear, are susceptible to sucking insects such as scale and aphids and winter is the best time to control these pests.

"These insects can overwinter in the rough bark of the trees and survive most winters," says Dr. James Robinson, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "During the tree's dormant season is the ideal time to control or suppress the insects with an application of petroleum oil."

"The insects are the weakest in late winter," Robinson said. "Therefore, the best time to apply the petroleum oil spray is usually in late January and February just prior to bud break. Do not apply the oil spray after bud break because of possible damage to the fruit buds."

Petroleum oils can be mixed with some insecticides. This combination usually gives greater control than if either were used alone.

Robinson says that producers should purchase the best petroleum oil available for the dormant application. Make certain the oil goes into suspension and have enough agitation in the spray tank to keep the mixture in suspension.

Only one application should be made per season.
