GM Voters Expected To Favor Strike In Ballots Wednesday

DETROIT—(AP)—Automobile workers in General Motors' vast industrial empire cast strike ballots Wednesday, and it was considered certain, even by corporation officials, that the more than 300,000 GM employes would favor a work stoppage to enforce their 30 per cent wage increase demands.

As the workers voted in the CIO United Automobile Workers' "test case," General Motors officials and the union resumed their wage conference, but it was obvious they were far from reaching any agreement.

Walter P. Reuther, UAW-CIO vice-president, said corporation officials maintained an "attitude of complete indifference" during Tuesday's sessions.

There were no replies to Reuther's charges.

Emphasizing a strike would not necessarily follow the election, Reuther said a walkout would not be called "until every human effort has been made to settle this thing across the conference table."

Light Vote Expected

The union leader predicted only a light vote, which he said would be sufficient to make a strike legal.

The strike vote, first of three among the auto industry's big producers, was taken in union halls, school houses and other places because General Motors refused to allow it to be held on company property.

Similar votes will be taken among Chrysler Corp. employes Thursday and among Ford Motor Co. workers Nov. 7. The three disputes involve more than half a million workers.

In each case the main issue is the 30 per cent wage increase, which General Motors President C. E. Wilson rejected as "unreasonable."

Other issues include seniority protection for displaced workers in certain reconverted plants and the establishment of rules in each plant for permanent transfer between occupational groups and for filling vacancies and new positions.

Venezuela Seeks Recognition For New Rebel Rule

CARACAS—(AP)— The ultra-conservative newspaper La Esfera appealed for immediate international recognition of the de facto government of Venezuela as the nation gradually returned to normal Wednesday after the revolution which ousted President Isaias Medina Y Angarita.

La Esfera was a bitter opponent of the Medina regime, although it supported his predecessor, Gen. Eleazar Lopez Contreras, in the abruptly ended presidential campaign. At last reports, both Medina and Lopez Contreras were in the custody of the revolutionary government, which had promised swift trials on charges of graft.

There were only scattered instances of the looting and shooting which heralded the revolution on Oct. 18. Business was normal in most respects. The familiar brown khaki of the police was missing, but green-clad soldiers, civilians and Boy Scouts kept order as well as possible, and traffic was no more snarled than usual.

Another 7,500-Ft. Wildcat In Upton Staked By Gulf

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Gulf Oil Corporation has filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1-D G. E. Farley et al, as a 7,500-foot wildcat to test to the Silurian, in Southwest Upton County.

Location is 660 feet from west and 3,300 feet from south lines of section 12, block 3 1/2, CCSD&RGNG survey, and nine miles north of McCamey.

The project is 1,320 feet due east of Gulf's No. 1 Starnes, now drilling below 6,831 feet in an unreported formation. That exploration has not reported any indications of oil or gas from any section. Drilling on No. 1 Farley is to start by October 27.

1-BB Shows Oil

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-BB University, South Andrews County development, in northwest corner of section 17, block 11, University survey, and a southeast offset to discovery for flowing production in same company's No. 1-D University, to open the Three-Bar field, was virtually assured of production by a two-hour drillstem test at 7,931-8,074 feet, about 20 feet in the Devonian pay section.

Gas came to surface in 16 minutes. After 31 dry stands of drill pipe had been pulled the well flowed through the drill pipe for 15 minutes. Estimated total recovery was 4,500 feet of clean oil and 450 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud.

Stanolind No. 1 Mack Taylor, in southwest corner of section 8, block B-2, psl survey, one and one-half miles east of the closest Ellenburger production on southeast side of the Keystone field, in North Winkler County, was drilling ahead after a one hour drillstem test at 8,790-8,883 feet.

There ws a steady blow of air during the test, and recovery was 150 feet of lightly gas cut, and 90 feet of slightly oil cut drilling mud, with no water. Flowing tubing pressure was 200 pounds, and after a 15-minute shutin pressure was 300 pounds. The section tested was the Montaya.

More Oil From Buchanan

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Buchanan, Midland County discovery from 10,370-390 feet, in the Strawn-Pennsylvanian, flowed 24 hours through a 3/8-inch tubing choke.

Flowing tubing pressure varied from 350 pounds to 300 pounds.

U. S. Concludes Peron Rule Up To Argentina

WASHINGTON — (AP) — United States action against Juan Peron's Argentine dictatorship will continue to consist mostly of protests and "pin pricks," a survey of the situation made plain Wednesday.

Government officials concede gloomily that the Buenos Aires "strong man" apparently has come back stronger than ever, following his recent ouster as vice president.

But after studying courses of action which might be open to the U. S. and the 19 other American republics, these officials conclude that only the Argentine people can rid themselves of Peron's regime.

No desire to appease Peron figures in this conclusion.

C-54 Flies Ashes Of POWs Home

By VERN HAUGLAND

EN ROUTE FROM TOKYO TO MANILA—(AP)—The 14 wooden boxes were stacked neatly in the center aisle of the plane. They were lashed down firmly against the bumpy weather. Some were the size of orange crates. Others were larger, or smaller.

We 30 apssengers, mostly headed homeward, were aligned along the walls in buket seats of the big, four-motored C-54 transport. We could see the black stenciling on the side of each box. Each bore a quartermaster address and a notice "air shipment required—officer courier."

"Do you know those boxes have a No. 2 priority out of Tokyo, and that when we get to Manila, where more planes are available, they will have a No. 1 priority all the way to the states?" asked a crew member.

In them are ashes of 1,091 former prisoners of war. That lieutenant with the glasses is in charge of them."

Total of 1,091

A bit reluctantly, 2nd Lt. Roy Carter, Port Huron, Mich., talked about the boxes—weighing from 15 to 85 pounds each—containing earthen jars. Over half of the 1,091 were Americans. Most of the remainder were Dutch. There were seven Italians and one Norwegian.

Carter said:

"Most of them were fellows captured at the start of the war in the Philippines, East Indies and Malaya. Most of them died long ago, although there were some B-29 fliers who died within the last year.

"This is the first shipment of ashes from Japan to the United States, I am informed. But it is just the beginning. All of these jars were on shelves in just one temple—Ju Gangi, at Osaka. There were others all over Japan."

Taking information from dog tags and other records, the Japanese engraved the name of each victim—in Japanese—on a jar and also noted the date and "cause of death." Carter said the Japanese cremated the bodies and kept the ashes in a temple where a Buddhist priest prayed over them daily.

Shoe Rationing To End By Nov. 1 And Butter Points Will Be Cut

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Tentative plans call for an end of shoe rationing either October 28 or November 1, it was learned Wednesday.

Government officials also have considered the possibility of terminating the program earlier if these plans became generally known.

These are other developments and prospects on the rationing front:

1. OPA has decided to cut butter ration values from 12 points a pound to eight. It will announce this Thursday.

2. Passenger tire rationing may be ended late in December.

3. Truck tires are slated to come off the list by late November.

Choice of a date for ending shoe rationing is expected to be made Wednesday or Thursday by OPA and War Production Board officials.

Quisling Executed By Firing Squad

By NED NORDNESS

OLSO —(AP)— Vidkun Quisling, Norway's arch traitor, was executed by a firing squad before dawn Wednesday, paying the final price for dealing with an enemy his king and countrymen defied throughout the bitter years of the war.

The greatest secrecy surrounded the execution, a Foreign Affairs Office spokesman said.

Quisling was awakened in his cell at about 2 a. m. and rushed quickly before the firing squad of ten Norwegian military police. The only witnesses were an unidentified member of the state prosecution, a clergyman and the officer who gave the order to fire.

The youths who formed the firing squad had been forced to flee the country during Quisling's puppet regime. Members of the squad had been alerted for the past week for their task.

Quisling stumbled to his death through a murky, drizzling rain in the dismal execution square of the ancient Akershus Fortress.

To the very end he maintained that he was a patriot. He had sent a letter protesting his innocence to King Haakon VII.

The government had not planned to announce the execution for three or four days to avoid publicity and public curiosity.

However, one Oslo morning newspaper learned of Quisling's death in time to catch its last edition with a brief sentence that he was executed. The story brought forth a Ministry of Justice communique some seven hours later.

The body presumably will be turned over to relatives for burial in Quisling's native province of Tele-

Naked And Yelling, Infant Prince Is Baptized In Westminster Abbey

LONDON —(AP)— Naked and yelling, the infant crown prince of Yugoslavia was baptized in Westminster Abbey Wednesday before kings, queens, princesses and patriarchs.

Princess Elizabeth, heir apparent to the British throne, was his godmother and King George VI was his godfather.

The three-month-old son of King Peter and Queen Alexandra, barred from their Balkan thrones by the displeasure of Marshal Tito, was immersed three times in warm water and he did not like it.

His lusty cries rang through the ancient cathedral until Princess Elizabeth took him in her arms and quieted him. He slept through most of the orthodox ceremony in the arms of the princess, but awakened with a yell when Elizabeth handed him to King George. The monarch, arrayed in an ornate naval uniform, carried him three times around the font before the bearded patriarch, V. H. Gavrilo, anointed the crown prince with holy oil.

Named For Alexander I

The child was named Alexander for his grandfather, Alexander I, who was assassinated at Marseille in one of the preludes to the last World War. King George, in becoming the godfather, fulfilled a promise made to King Peter when he was best man at the Yugoslav monarch's wedding.

Among those in the cathedral were King George of Greece, the Duchess of Kent, Princess Aspasia of Greece, and Princess Helen of Serbia.

Victory Chest Gifts Still Well Under Quota For County

Victory Chest workers were on the job again Wednesday morning making their calls in an attempt to obtain the $5,855.95 in contributions still needed for Midland County to make its $23,077 quota.

Chairman R. I. Dickey announced $17,221.05 in contributions has been received.

Among those who are following the results of the campaign are the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. The extent of their future activities will be determined by whether or not the county makes its chest quota. The National Victory Fund gets the first $13,077 in the campaign and the remainder is for the Boy and Girl Scout activities.

Individual voluntary contributions are needed badly in order to meet the quota, Dickey emphasized. The contributions can be made with Ralph Barron, treasurer, at the Midland National Bank.

"The help and cooperation of all citizens will be needed to meet the county's large quota," Dickey declared. "Let us all pitch in and successfully complete the job."

Texan And Mate Killed In Flying Bomb Blast

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Premature explosion of a four-engined, radio-controlled "flying bomb" last year killed Lt. Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., and Lt. Wilford J. Willy, the Navy disclosed Wednesday.

The two pilots took the "bomb," a PB4Y Liberator laden with 21,170 pounds of explosives, into the air over England. The target was a buzz-bomb launching site in Normandy. They intended to bail out as soon as two accompanying ships had achieved radio control of the aircraft.

Before they could do so two explosions demolished the Liberator. The cause has never been determined, the Navy said. The accident occurred Aug. 12, 1944.

Kennedy was the son of the former ambassador to England. Willy's widow and three children live in Fort Worth, Texas.

Holland And British Employing American Weapons In Far East

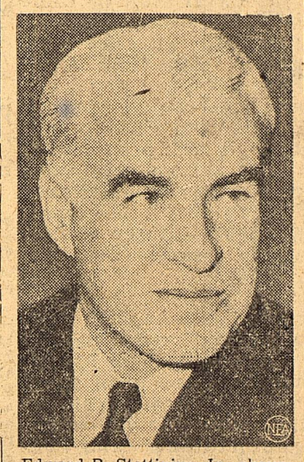

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes said Wednesday the United States objects to the use of lend-lease arms for political purposes as they have been employed by British and Dutch forces in the Far East.

All that has been done about the objection, Byrnes told a news conference, is to ask the British and Dutch to remove the United States emblem from the military equipment they are using against nationalists in Indo-China and in Java.

The policy of objection applies everywhere, Byrnes added, asserting that if it has not been invoked it should be in South America or any other section of the world.

He told inquirers that the United States had not received any protests from Venezuela or other South American countries, however. Some lend-lease arms were used by Venezuelan revolutionaries last week to put over what top officials here consider a liberal change in the government.

Jap Editors Told To Establish Free Press Or Step Out

TOKYO —(AP)— Japanese editors were told by Supreme Headquarters Wednesday to "establish a free and independent press or make way for papers which will."

Col. Kenneth R. Dyke, chief of Civil Information and Education, charged the editors with failing to permit "full and frank discussion" or of the war criminal problem or of the position which the imperial household will occupy in democratized Japan.

Dyke charged the editors with having "done practically nothing to explain the historic significance of General MacArthur's recent free press directive, which was regarded as the "magna charta" for the Japanese free expression.

The instructions to the conference specifically directed both the newspaper and radio editors of the nation to explain the order "in terms that the people can understand and encourage them to use their new rights."

"Free discussion of the issues confronting the Japanese people is necessary in order for them to decide intelligently on their future form of government," Dyke said.

Yanks Lose Sight In Prison Camp Because Vitamins Lacking

DALLAS—(AP)—Capt. Robley David Evans of Vernon, Texas, and 70 other American prisoners in the Japanese prison camp of Cabanatuan went temporarily blind because of vitamin deficiencies.

Evans said Capt. Julian Saldivar of Austin, Texas, a physician, found some old, rancid cod liver oil, some mineral oil and castor oil and lubricated the men's eyes with it.

Finally, from the South American Red Cross came a shipment of vitamins and food.

"We were put on liver extract for 45 days and then cod liver oil for six months," Evans related here. "Soon I could distinguish between light and darkness."

Evans, holder of the Silver Star and two Presidential citations for bravery, said the worst part of the blindness was the fact that the men could not see to hunt the lice that infested their cells.

Evans was once assistant agricultural agent at Corpus Christi. His sight now has been returned to normal.

94,000 Nazis Captured At Stalingrad Die In Russian Prison Camps

BERLIN—(AP)—British authorities Wednesday quoted German war prisoners liberated by the Russians as saying that of approximately 100,000 Nazi troops captured at Stalingrad barely 6,000 are still alive.

The others have died in Soviet prison work camps or in transit home on trains which have 200 to 300 corpses aboard when they arrive at Frankfurt-on-Oder, the prisoners were quoted as saying.

Capt. J. G. Johnson, commandant of the Invaliden Strasse transit camp where the bulk of these discharged war prisoners from the east are received, said he believed their reports are "not exaggerated."

"One can well believe that death rate when one sees the miserable wrecks coming through here at the rate of 2,000 per day," Johnson said.

"The Russians are not releasing able-bodied men. They are all sick or incapable of further work. Released women of the Wehrmacht Auxiliaries are either pregnant or venerally diseased."

DeGaulle Supporters Gain Majority Seats

PARIS —(AP)— Final official returns Wednesday of the Sunday election for France, Corsica and Algiers gave the Communists 152 seats in the Constituent Assembly, the Socialists 143 and the New Mouvement Republicain Populaire Party 138.

This left 38 seats of the 586 in the assembly still to be accounted for. The assembly is charged by an overwhelming mandate to draft a new constitution to replace the charter of 1875. The assembly will meet on Nov. 6.

Of 24,680,981 registered voters, 19,661,515 cast ballots, of which 19,152,876 were declared valid.

Two minor offshoots of the Socialist Party, the Independent Socialists and the Republican Socialists, won eight seats, giving the overall Socialist grouping 151 ballots. Both the Socialists and the M. R. P. are regarded as staunch supporters of Gen. De Gaulle.

Congress Awaits Public Reaction On Military Training

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON—(AP)— An uncertain Congress held up a moistened finger for the winds of public reaction Wednesday before tackling President Truman's universal military training program.

Brought up short against a problem many aren't ready to meet, legislators appeared to be separating into these three groups:

1. Those willing to approve lock, stock and barrel Truman's proposal that a year's training be given all physically able young men while they are between the ages of 17 and 20. This appeared to be a minority group.

2. Those who want a modified training program which won't interrupt young America's education. This seemed to take in the great body of middle-roaders.

3. Those who oppose any form of compulsion, think volunteer military training will meet the nation's needs. They form another minority group.

Leaders probably wished President Truman hadn't brought up the matter at this time. There was no measure on hand designated as administration bill to carry out his plan.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley (Ky) said he didn't know when any action might be taken. Neither House nor Senate Military Committees made any move.

Lets Political Chips Fall

White House advisers were quoted at second hand as having said Truman had decided to take his stand and let the political chips fall where they may. These advisers reportedly think universal training may be the chief issue in the 1946 Congressional campaign if the legislators don't act.

The President was represented as wanting no compromise of his proposal that every young man be tagged for a year of government instruction, except those physically unfit.

Capitol Hill's general interpretation was that Truman had decided power is going to do most of the talking in world affairs for some time to come.

Legislators thought he had come to this conclusion after long conversations with Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, and Secretary of State Byrnes, just back from the disappointing Five-Power Conference of Foreign Ministers in London.

Rep. Martin (Mass), the House Republican leader, issued a statement saying that before adopting compulsory military training the government should "seek an international agreement to abolish peacetime conscription as a policy among nations."

However, comment crossed party lines and many House Republicans said they thought Truman had made a case.

Senator O'Daniel (D-Texas) was against it.

There were a lot of legislators who either hadn't made up their minds or weren't saying. These included Senator Connally (D-Texas)

Postwar Military Thinking

Wherever military men gather these days the conversation always gets around to one of two subjects: minimizing the importance of the atomic bomb and the pros and cons of a unified command.

For some reason Army and Navy big shoes can't get excited about the revolutionary aspects of the atomic bomb. They look upon it as a highly specialized weapon with plenty of flaws in its effectiveness.

Army Air Force thinking runs something like this:

To drop an atomic bomb, the target must be completely freed of any defense. Unless there is no chance of fighter opposition or ground opposition you can't even run the risk of using it. For instance, at the peak of the bombing of Germany the odds that a bomber would get hit were pretty good. If a plane had been carrying an atomic bomb and exploded when struck by flak, every ship in the air for miles around would have been demolished. And if you sent a plane alone, it stood practically no chance of getting through without great fighter protection. If the bomb wouldn't go off until it hit the ground in a crashed plane, non-military targets—France or Belgium in the case of the bombing of Germany—would be devastated.

* * *

The Air Force men point out that when the first bomb was dropped on Japan, all air and ground opposition was eliminated. Then why, they ask, drop the bomb?

In addition they have photographs, and proof gathered since the occupation, that two days of routine operations at that time equalled the damage done by the atomic bomb. They can produce adequate statistics showing that if the Air Force had been able to concentrate its power on Hiroshima for two days, that city could have been obliterated as efficiently as was done by the atomic blast.

The Navy line is similar:

They say you have to get the bomb close enough to the target to make it effective. This takes a navy, constantly moving air ports forward and slugging it out with the enemy to clear the air for the one big mission.

They have a simple answer for defense against the bomb: just spread your ships out farther on the sea, and if it is possible to get a bomb inside the outer ring of protection, the most damage that could be done is the destruction of one ship.

* * *

The atomic bomb has sort of muddied the controversy over a unified command. Many who were for uniting the two services before, now think the U. S. ought to wait until there is more careful thinking about the ramifications of the bomb.

Most ardent for a unified command is the Army Air Force. Its top men would like to see the air forces put on a par with the Army and Navy. They would establish a single department of national defense with the air, land and sea operations on an equal basis.

Miss Jean Blythe Gives Talk At Luncheon Meeting Of League Of Women Voters Tuesday

Miss Jeanne Blythe, assistant organization secretary for the National League of Women Voters in Washington, D. C., was principal speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Midland chapter of the League of Women Voters. The luncheon was held at 1 p. m. Tuesday in the Scharbauer Educational Building of the First Methodist Church.

In giving her talk, Miss Blythe discussed the background of the policies and methods of the league in approaching a problem.

"This," she said, "is the 26th year for extension and growth of the Women Voters League with many new problems to be faced. The solution to these may be found by going back to events in the past. This organization grew out of a convention of the National Woman's Sufferage group in St. Louis in 1919."

The purpose of the unit is to organize together so that many may know how to use the tool of voting, and show how citizens can take part. From the first, the league has grown and expanded into state and local leagues with active participation of citizenship in government.

Officers of the league are to act as non-partisans while serving the organization.

At the conclusion of her talk, Miss Blythe answered various timely questions presented by the group.

A man can plan...

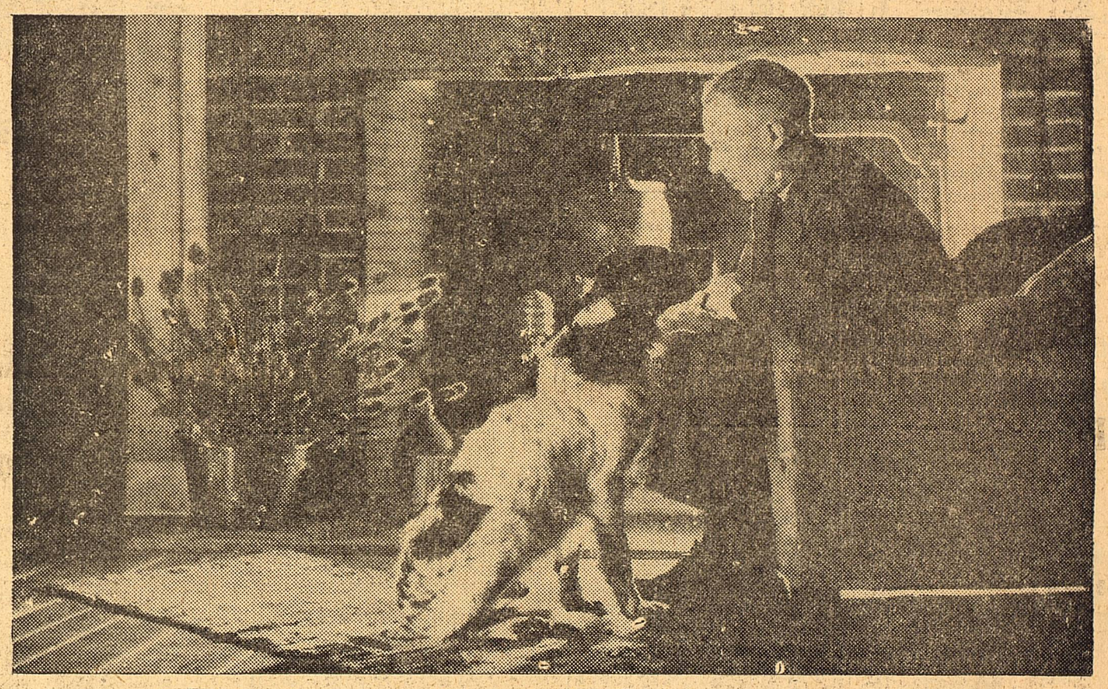

1. I think of a rolling country, and the farm I'll own some day,
When I swap my wrench for a milking bench, and my lathe for a load of hay!

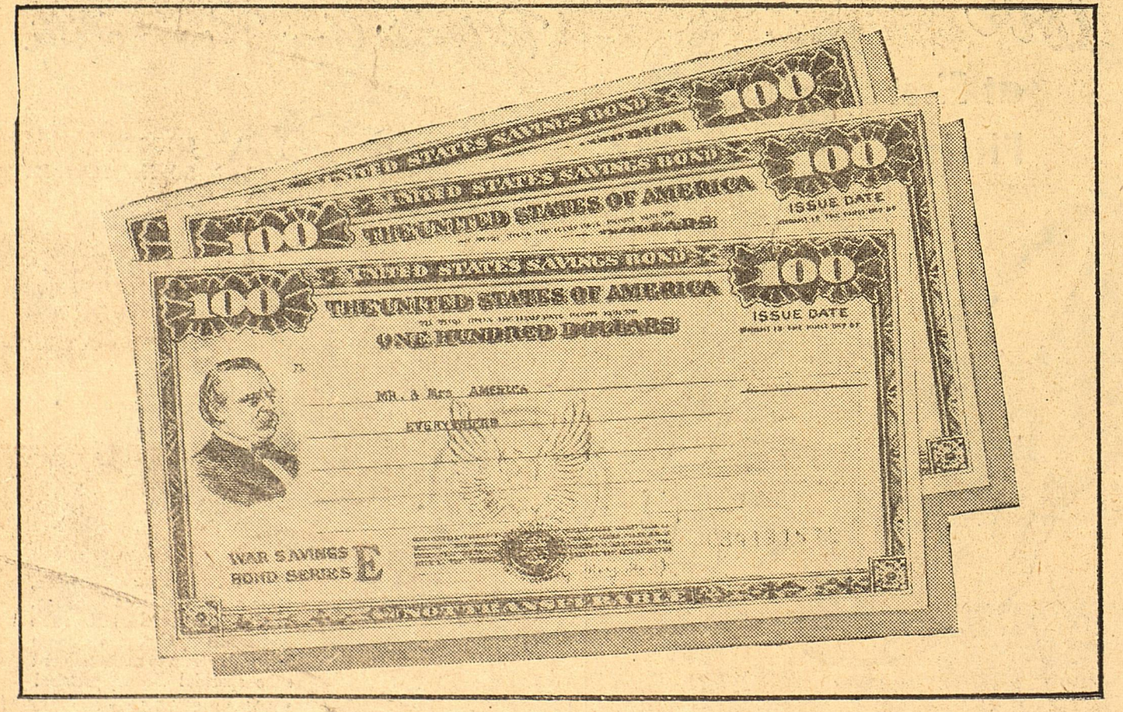

2. I've got my eye on a business I can purchase clear and free,
I'm saving my pay for the lucky day when I start to work for me!

3. We're planning a year of travel, now the flags of war are furled,
And each Bond we keep is another leap in our trip around the world!

4. Some day I want to retire, I'm saving my cash for then,
For with Bonds around I won't be found in a home for broke old men!

...and his plans can come true!

5. Whatever your plans for the future you'd better buy Bonds by the score,
Your dollars won't shirk, they'll pitch in and work...
Each three bucks will bring you back four!

So buy 'em and buy 'em and buy 'em, and keep every Bond till it's due,
The more Bonds you buy will be more you've put by
For the day when your plans can come true!

Total recovery was 185 barrels of fluid, with a shakeout of from 30 per cent to seven per cent water. Gas was at rate of 972,600 cubic feet per day.

Average shakeout for the period was 10 per cent water. Operator estimated oil production amounted to 167 barrels of 47-gravity petroleum. Gas-oil ratio was 5,820-1. Chloride content of the water was 53,000 parts per million. The well was continuing to test.

Humble No. 1 Cowden, in southeast quarter of section 35, block X, CCSD&RGNG survey, in East Crane County, cored at 7,966-81 feet. Recovery was 10 1/2 feet of lime, with no shows.

Operator was in the hole with a tester, with packer at 7,940 feet and total depth at 7,981 feet, and was to start an investigation at daylight Wednesday.

Means Ended in "Burgu"

Humble No. 88-X Means, North Andrews County wildcat, which is being plugged to abandon on a total depth of 14,093 feet, is reported by informed sources to have bottomed out in the Ellenburger. That section yielded bad water. No top of the formation has been reported.

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Coble, West-Central Hockley County exploration, in northwest corner of tract 34, league 68, Hardeman County School Land survey, two miles south of closest production on west side of the Levelland field, bailed salt water for 24 hours from total depth of 4,951 feet, in dolomite, and is to plug back to 4,872 feet, and test there.

Union Cemented Casing

Union Oil Comany of California No. 1-A McMillen, South Otero County, New Mexico exploration, was drilling ahead below 1,720 feet in lime, after drilling out plug on casing set at 1,608 feet, with 50 sacks of cement, to shutoff water from above.

The Texas Company No. 29 Connell, in northwest quarter of section 9, block B-16, psl. survey, in Southwest Ector County, was making hole below 7,769 feet, in lime.

A drillstem test at 7,550-7,757 feet, was open two hours. Recovery was 420 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A Jones, section 3, block A-6, psl survey, Northwest Gaines County discovery for flowing production in the Devonian, and now testing the Devonian at 9,085-9,110 feet, swabbed 185 barrels of fluid in 24 hours, of which 37 per cent was water—the remainder being oil. Gravity was 30.9 degrees. Testing was continuing. The section has been treated with 500 gallons and 2,500 gallons of acid.

Shows Some Oil

Skelly Oil Company No. 1 Slaughter, Central Cochran County post to discovery for production from the San Andres, three miles west of the Slaughter field, made by Texas Gulf Producing Company No. 1 Slaughter, was swabbed about 40 barrels of new oil per day, after treating at 5,039-63 feet, with 1,000 gallons of acid.

That is the lower pay section logged by the well. Operator is to perforate, acidize and test in the upper saturated zone. No water had developed.

Bomar Stops Water

Hunt Oil Company No. 1 Bomar, Central Fisher County wildcat, in sub-division 6, of T. H. Crosby survey No. 315, hd finally succeeded in shutting off water, and was drilling ahead below 4,350 feet in shale. This project has had more than its share of trouble, but it now appears to be in shape to drill ahead to its contract depth of around 6,600 feet.

Ben Banner of Fort Worth filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill No. 1 Shannon, 3,922 feet from north and 2,970 feet from the west lines of Richard Pillow survey No. 1 in West Crockett County as a wildcat to 2,100 feet.

Attorneys Not Notified

Anneaus Schjoedt, state prosecutor who presented the case against the pallid former puppet dictator, and Henrik Bergh, Quisling's defense lawyer, said they had not been notified in advance that Quisling was to be executed Wednesday.

The Norwegian Embassy in London announced that Quisling was shot at 2:40 a. m. and quoted a statement by the Royal Norwegian Ministry of Justice:

"The sentence of death passed on Vidkun Quisling on the 13th of October by the supreme court in Oslo was carried out by shooting at 2:40 a. m, Norwegian time.

"The supreme court did not recommend a reprieve. Neither could the state prosecutor.

"Quisling sent the king a letter in which he pointed out he was innocent, but added he did not ask for a reprieve.

Mrs. Quisling Asks Reprieve

"Mrs. Quisling, however, requested a reprieve on behalf of her husband. In a cabinet meeting Tuesday, the king rejected Mrs. Quisling's petition for mercy and decided the sentence would be carried out.

"Quisling's relatives were notified of the execution at 9 a. m. Tuesday morning.

In the slightly more than five years he ruled Norway as Adolf Hitler's puppet, the name of Vidkun Abraham Lauritz Quisling became a synonym for traitor.

In October, 1942, the exiled Norwegian government in London sentenced him to death for his puppet role, but his doom actually was sealed with the collapse last spring of his one support—German military might.

On May 9 he drove with six associates to the Oslo police station in a bullet-proof limousine and surrendered. Immediately he was arraigned on a charge of treason. Then, as he was later to do at his trial, he maintained that all he had done was for the good of Norway.

For "Norway's Interest"

Quisling's defense was that he acted solely to advance Norway's interests in a German-dominated Europe. Sometimes hysterically, he called himself "the savior of Scandinavia," the "martyr of Norway." In his final plea he was "Quisling the patriot."

Experts examined him and found him sane.

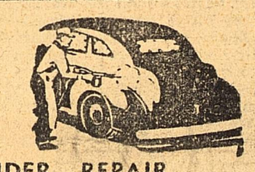

On Sept. 10 the court decreed him guilty and ordered his death before a firing squad. Allowed only to appeal his sentence, not the verdict, Quisling was granted unprecedented permission to appear before the supreme court personally to ask its leniency. His plea for mercy was unavailing, the highest tribunal confirming the death sentence Oct. 13.

The first regularly scheduled radio broadcast was a report of returns of the Harding-Cox presidential election presented in 1920.

LESLIE CHANGES MY PLANS

XVII

AFTER the show closed in Mar del Plata, the papers announced my forthcoming trip to Europe, and I was given a wonderful send-off at the station despite the early hour my train left.

A few days after my arrival in London, who should turn up but the "gallant captain," my husband, laden with flowers and as nonchalant as if I had only been away for the weekend.

I could see that father did not like him, although he asked him to dinner that night. He told me afterward that he thought Leslie a "snob." Father was such a simple sweet person himself that he hated people who talked about Society with a capital S and all the important personages they knew. Poor Leslie had tactlessly done this to impress father with his social standing. When I left them alone for a few minutes after dinner, to give father a chance to talk more frankly, Leslie had taken that opportunity to pour out a long muddled account of my conjugal shortcomings. This annoyed and embarrassed father who in the end cut the conversation short by saying he had no intention of taking me to task about private matters that were entirely my own concern.

He also said that, in his opinion, mother was to blame for the whole thing and should have minded her own business to begin with.

* * *

PARTLY to please mother and partly to make things easier for my father by doing so, I now went everywhere she wanted me to. So for the next two weeks I was plunged into a whirl of invitations and functions with all mother's old friends, some of whom, I was certain, were the ones who egged her on to try and get me settled down again with Leslie and London society. Every time she started on this theme, I would tell her about my contract with Da Rosa for the coming Colon season and about the successes I had had in Argentina.

Then all of a sudden, a chain of circumstances cropped up that obliged me to put my plans aside for a while. Mother's doctor wanted her to get away to Italy or the south of France for the good of her throat. Father agreed to take her Capri, and I was going along to be with him.

The gallant captain arrived to see me after the matter of the Capri trip was settled. He looked ill and said he was having trouble with the old wound in his arm, which had flared up badly during the past few days. The doctor declared that an emergency operation was necessary.

Leslie was very casual about the gravity of his operation, and we had been in Capri about a week when I received telegrams from his father and Reginald Grein, his doctor and personal friend, that they had been obliged to amputate his arm at the elbow and he was very ill. Of course I left immediately for London, and from the day I arrived there his condition improved. My parents came back shortly afterward, and mother saw my father off to Canada from Southampton.

Leslie's illness had upset everything, but the least I could do was to stay with him as long as possible. By the middle of April, however, I felt the time had come for me to leave. I knew Leslie cared a great deal more for me now, and I was trying to make up my mind how to announce my departure tactfully, when I received a letter from Nemanoff.

* * *

NEMANOFF had decided, with the approval of Evar Mendez, to close the show and store the decors, costumes, and so on, in my house in Buenos Aires.

Nemanoff now definitely knew he was not being engaged for the Colon and felt that his prestige had been hurt. Da Rosa had engaged a Russian called Paul Michailovitch from the Paris opera, as first dancer and choreograph, and he was to head the ballet with Galanta and myself. Nemanoff had been offered a tour through Havana to the United States with an American dancer named Loubovska and her company, and cabled me to ask if it was all right for him to accept.

Evar Mendez also wrote, giving me facts and figures regarding the tournee of my troupe. Fortunately, there were no debts. As a matter of fact, there was even a small profit waiting for me.

I had cabled Da Rosa regarding the date for rehearsals and received a reply asking me to get in touch with the dancer Michailovitch in Paris. I went at once to mother with Da Rosa's cable and announced my departure, bracing myself to meet the storm which I felt to be inevitable. To my surprise she did not seem to mind my leaving and was so absorbed in her own work that she merely said she felt sorry for Leslie and hoped I would treat him with as much consideration as possible.

Before speaking to him I had to talk with my father-in-law, and was glad to hear that he had been wire-pulling and thought it very probable that Leslie would be appointed to the Intelligence Service attached to the Sudan government. Leslie began to feel much better and spent considerable time at his club again (a very healthy sign). He asked me to see as much of his relatives as I could possibly bear, for they meant a great deal to him, all of them being extremely influential in military circles. He was so reasonable about my leaving that I decided if it would make him happy, I could curtail my visit to Paris for a few days and devote the time to coping with his family, thereby endeavoring to eliminate as much as possible any bad impression I had made upon them when we were first married.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Dr. Max Shindell, Forest Hills, N. Y., the veterinarian who takes care of our puppy, loves to play rubber bridge, and plays a good game, too. I like his theory on today's hand. "Doc" says he does not like to play a no-trump contract when holding a singleton of his partner's suit. His own suit was not worth rebidding, but he thought it might be a good idea to rebid to avoid a lead in that suit, and that is exactly what happened.

Dr. Shindell won the opening lead with the queen of spades, and laid down his singleton ace of diamonds. A small spade was led and dummy's ten-spot finessed. King of diamonds was played, followed by the jack. West won, and to avoid leading into the heart suit, which had been bid twice by declarer, he laid down the ace and queen of clubs in desperation. Then, of course, the show was over. "Doc" was able to take five diamonds, a club and four spades for four no-trump.

AAF Sergeant Teaches Japanese Chorus Girls Jitterbug Dancing

By HAL BOYLE

TOKYO—(AP)—An American Air Force sergeant, who is teaching jitterbug-swing to a group of professional Japanese dancing girls, says these sloe-eyed, but nimble-legged beauties are quicker to learn boogie than girls back home.

"They are crazy about jitterbugging," said Sgt. Harris Rosedale, of Cincinnati, the dancing instructor.

Their first show will be before a Japanese audience, but later they hope to dance at American soldier entertainments. Rosendale won't get to see them because his orders to return home are already in.

"They are naturals at jitterbugging," said the sergeant, "better than American girls. They simply eat up jazz and they would rather do tap dancing than anything in the world.

"You show them a routine once and they can follow through right away. They will knock the GIs right out of their seats," Rosedale said.

Age 16 to 21

Chorus girls in Tokyo range in age from 16 to 21 and have to rehearse new numbers after going through two or three shows each day.

They only get 80 yen a month—that is a little over $5.

"I don't know how they live," Rosedale said. "They must come from good families and dance for the fun of it. They are much more independent than American chorus girls."

Despite their small and stocky stature—GIs joke that "you can run over Japanese girls in a jeep without mussing their hair"—they are lithe and agile from years of ballet dancing and easily learn new rhythms.

Persons back home who oppose jitterbugging might be interested to know that at first Japanese chorus girls refused to practice some steps in the belief they were immoral.

As soon as they were told that such dancing was conventional in America, however, they enthusiastically adopted it.

Isolationism Disappears As U. S. National Policy

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new concept in American defense is growing up, based on the belief that the georgraphical reasons for isolationism as a national policy have disappeared.

The new defense lines of the United States are on the Mississippi—or at Pittsburgh—or Chicago—or St. Louis—if and when there is another war. President Truman is authority for that.

These are his words:

"In any future war, the heart of the United States would be the enemy's first target. Our geographical security is now gone—gone with the advent of the robot bomb, the rocket, aircraft carriers and modern airborne armies."

Fit this together with two pieces of information recently given Congress:

A scientist who worked on the atom bomb said that in a single night's attack on this country, 40,000,000 persons might be killed.

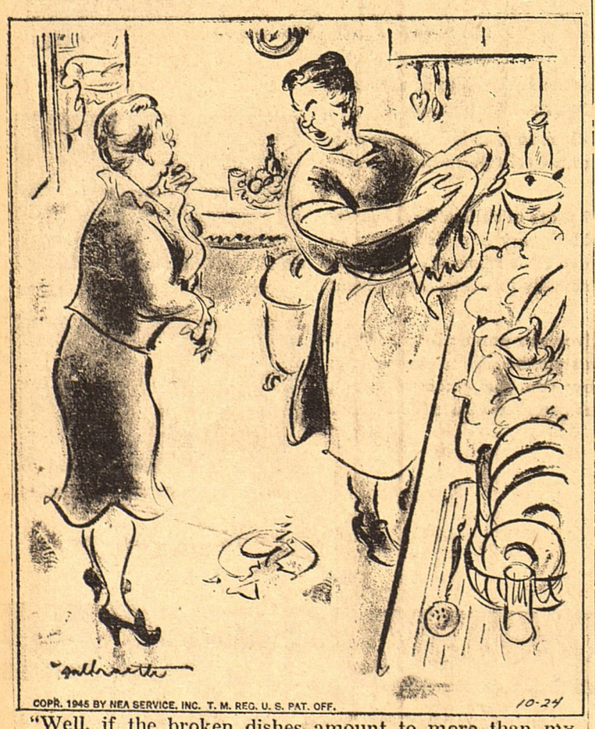

Gen. George C. Marshall said that victory over Hitler was possible because the British and Russian people could stand up and fight because they had time and space in which to recover from Hitler's terrible first blows and prepare for the counter-attack.

PURCHASES OF WOOL CLIP FOR 1946 STILL QUESTION

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Commodity Credit Corporation officials announced here that present plans of the CCC call only for purchase of the 1946 wool clip through next June 30. They conceded, however, tht the buying program might be extended to include the entire crop.

Corpus Christi May Oust Mayor, Council

CORPUS CHRISTI—(AP)—A mass meeting is planned here Friday to discuss the recommendation of one group of citizen's that the mayor and city commission be replaced.

Maston Nixon, Corpus Christi oil man, told city officials Tuesday that a group he represented as spokesman felt that lack of harmony in the city administration made it advisable the mayor and city commission be replaced.

Nixon invited the mayor and councilmen to attend the mass meeting. He praised a proposed city administration ticket headed by Robert T. Wilson of Corpus Christi. The ticket was proposed at a meeting of about 500 residents Monday as replacements for the present administration.

MacKENZIE'S COLUMN

There's this to be said of Russia, and we shall be smart to note it well: When the Muscovites have determined on a major objective, they drive head-on for it.

That characteristic is illustrated in the Soviet action in proposing to conclude unilateral trade pacts with the Axis satellites Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria—a move which Britain and the United States have protested as violating the spirit of the Yalta agreement for concerted policies among the Big Three. The significance of this development seems clear enough, and it supports the thesis advanced in this column long ago:

Moscow has laid out for its sphere of influence virtually the whole of Eastern and Central Europe up to the line running from the great German port of Stettin on the Baltic right down to the Adriatic. Just take a look at your maps. Within this zone is the new Poland, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Hungary, Finland and the Balkans, with the possible exception of Greece and Turkey, whose status remains to be seen.

Consolidates Vast Territory

The Soviet is determinedly consolidating this vast territory.

Now this isn't a new phenomenon. As this writer has mentioned in previous articles, Russia is taking over the Hitlerian sphere of influence. Germany's strength was politico-economic, backed by military power. Moscow's strength lies in similar factors.

Much of the Reich's prewar domination was due to the economic hold which it exercised over that whole area. Indeed, broadly speaking, this was Germany's main strength. The smaller countries in question were economically dependent on the Reich.

Take Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria—since these are the countries in the lime-light: More than 50 per cent of all their exports were absorbed by Germany. And they had no alternative markets! There's a situation for you—no alternative markets.

Position Summed Up

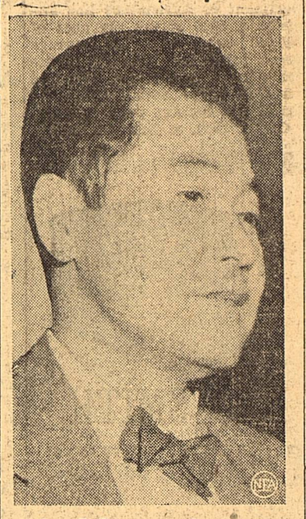

The position was crisply summed up for me in Budapest just before the war by a famous Hungarian statesman. We were chatting in his study and, after calling attention to the fact that more than half Hungary's exports went to Germany and that there were no other markets, he added:

"All Hitler would have to do would be bankrupt. Do you think Germany for six months and we woulud be bankrupt. Do you think we are going to play along with him? The answer is 'yes'."

So Russian trade is rushing into the vacuum caused by Geamany's disappearance. Time alone will tell whether this new economic set-up will be as effective as the old one. Germany could make it work because of the fact that she was a great industrial naiton and could meet the needs of the smaller countries for manufactured goods, while at the same time absorbing their agricultural products. It would seem that Russia will have to balance the economic situation in similar fashion.

Be that as may, meantime Moscow daily is tightening the lines in its new zone of influence. And that zone, of course, is extending in other directions—into the Mediterranean and Middle East. Then there's another great Soviet sphere being created in the Far East.

Bulldogs Practice Defense Against Abilene Plays

With the replacements using Abilene Eagle football plays, the Midland Bulldog starting lineup practiced defensive tactics during a long scrimmage session at the high school athletic field Tuesday afternoon.

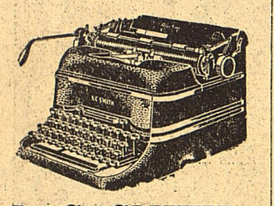

The Bulldogs came out of the victory over Big Spring last week in good physical condition, and Coaches Gene McCollum and Aubra Nooncaster are sending their charges through a week of grueling practice sessions in efforts to spring an upset over the favored Eagles in the game scheduled here at 8 p. m. Friday night.

Abilene is sending 500 rooters to back the Eagles in the District 3-AA contest that will give the winner the lead in the history of Bulldog-Eagle competition which began in 1939. Each team has won three games each to date.

In district standings Midland rates above the Eagles. Midland has a .500 rating in losing to Sweetwater and defeating Big Spring, while Abilene has lost its only conference game to Odessa.

Line Coach Cherry At Texas Calls Bechtol Best End In America

AUSTIN—(AP)— All-America as a sophomore, a better football player as a junior—Hubert Bechtol has folks down here wondering just what heights he will reach before he's through.

Blair Cherry, end coach of the University of Texas who has become known as "the maker of All-Americans"—he has had three in four years—doesn't know but he tells you:

"Hubert Bechtol can play just as good as he wants to play."

Bechtol came to Texas in the Naval Training program after football as a freshman at Texas Tech. Under Southwest Conference rules he could return to Tech when the Naval program ends and have three years eligibility there. But he isn't going to do it.

No, mates; Bechtol will be around still another season to be in the hair of Southwest Conference ballcarriers. He will finish out his string at Texas next year.

All-America In 1944

He earned All-America selection in 1944 with a great all-around brand of play. This season he has added sensational pass-catching to his repertoire and Cherry says he's also a better blocker.

In five games the 6-foot-1, 190-pound wingman has snared 16 passes for 265 and probably is the nation's leader along this line. He has made five touchdowns and is one of the Southwest's leading scorers. He kept Texas in the unbeaten ranks by personally ushering the Longhorns to victory over Oklahoma in a game in which he caught seven passes for 107 yards. Last week against Arkansas he took three for 74 yards, two for touchdowns. Coach Glen Rose of Arkansas called him the greatest lineman on the field.

"Bechtol is without a doubt the greatest end in America," says Cherry. "He is a perfect football player—perfect temperament, not satisfied with ordinary play and not satisfied to lose. Physically, he is fitted for the job. He has poise, is smart, thinks quickly and has football intuition."
