4-H Boys Test New Variety

A new variety of black-eyed peas, Early Ramshorn, is being introduced to Knox County by 45 4-H Club boys who have demonstrations in nine communities. One hundred pounds of the new variety were planted.

The new variety, which has been tested experimentally at College Station for the past two years, produced 4,692 pounds of green pods per acre as compared with 1,966 pounds per acre of the common variety, according to R. O. Dunkle, county agricultural agent.

When the peas began coming into production recently club members and their families reported the new variety had a much more desirable flavor. Donald Nix, 4-H Club member o fthe Sunset community, described the flavor as "less tangy" than the commonj variety, and he found them to be less stringy.

All 45 members plan to save the seed of Early Ramshorn black-eyed peas to sell to their neighbors for 1947 planting. Market price for the edible peas has been 30 cents a pound, and if this price is maintained, the boys will receive a substantial profit from their demonstration, Dunkle says.

Girl Injured at Canadian Pool

Idelle Parnelle, 15 year old daughter of Ralph Parnell of Phoenix, Ariz., received a painful back injury at the Red Deer Beach swimming pool in Canadian last Tuesday evening about eight o'clock. The girl was attempting to go down the slide feet first and face down when she wrenched her back in some manner, the Hemphill County News stated in its account of the accident.

The newspaper went on to state that she was treated by Canadian physician at the pool and was then taken to the Moody Hotel in a Stickley ambulance. Mr. Parnell and his daughter are visiting in Canadian with his brothers, Garrett, Wallace and Tee Parnell and their families.

Mr. Parnell left this part of the country about 24 years ago. He opened up the first business house in Perryton, the Panhandle Cafe, on August 19, 1919. He says that if his memory serves him right, the second business to open was the Perryton National Bank.

Jackson and Devers Win Commissioner Races, Precinct One and Four; Good Turnout

Ochiltree County voters turned out with a better than expected ballot under ideal weather conditions in the Democratic Primary, July 27, despite the fact that only four local offices were contested. Sheriff W. H. Lance was returned to that office by a vote of 630 as compared with Fred Huston's 538. Beula K. LeMaster remained in the County and District Clerk's office on a 793 to 359 ballot with Mrs. Golta L. Tandy opposing. Clyde Devers defeated J. S. Slaughter 186 to 138 as Commissioner of Precinct No. 1. George B. Jackson barely edged out J. H. Calliham as Commissioner Precinct No. 4 with a vote of 45 to 41. Unofficial returns indicate that approximately 1150 votes were cast.

Returning servicemen made it almost impossible to calculate a total of eligible voters.

In the governor's race Beauford Jester was the local favorite polling 502 votes to lead the race. Homer P. Rainey came in second with 206; John Lee Smith, 137; Jerry Sadler, 105. All others polled under 100 votes each.

Tom Connally swept Ochiltree County for U. S. Senator with 738 votes. The closest contender was Floyd E. Ryan with 70 votes.

Boyce House lead in the race for Lt. Governor with 441 votes as compared with Allen Shivers, 274 and Larry Mills, 93. Others received a small vote.

With only four state offices to be decided in next months run-off election, latest tabulation figures show 1,018,795 cast in the governor's race. Candidates in the run-off and votes cast in 248 of the 254 counties (144 complete) in the state are:

Ochiltree Farmers May Regain Losses of 'Forced Selling'

Wheat farmers of this area who were required to sell half of their wheat between May 23 and the lapsing of OPA on June 30 will be future price increases, it has been given a chance to take advantage of announced by the Agriculture Department.

About 30,000,000 bushels of wheat were bought by the government under a requisitioning program whereby farmers who delivered their wheat to elevators between May 23 and June 30 were forced to sell half at the time of delivery. They could store the rest if they desired.

These farmers now may pay to the Commodity Credit Corporation the amount for which the wheat was sold and receive a certificate instead.

This certificate will require the CCC to pay the market price for the wheat sold as of any date the producer elects before next April 1—but he producer may not select a date prior to the date that he elects to get his certificate.

Thus, the farmer can not take advantage of the temporary jump in grain prices that occurred after the OPA died June 30 or prior to the time he elects to participate in the new program.

A major Panhandle grain dealer predicted that the new wheat order would have little effect for the time being. "The price now is about 2 cents per bushel higher than the ceiling pprice at which the farmers were forced to sell 50 per cent of their elevator-stored grain," he stated. Very few wheat raisers will probably secure the certificates for the difference.

It is also pointed out that absence of a retroactive purchase clause in the new certificate plan will keep farmers from realizing the higher price they may have received if sale had been at the high price point between June 30 and July 23.

Top price during this interval was about 1.85 for No. 1 hard wheat, but the raisers will have no chance to realize anything on that price level because of the wording of the USDA order.

Practical situations, such as already spending the money from the 50 per cent sale, will contribute to keeping the number of farmers participating in the new program to a low ratio compared to the numbers selling under the old forced sale order, it is thought.

Better Treatment of Migratory Workers Pay Farmers Dividend

Improved treatment of migratory harvest hands in putting extra dollars into the pockets of Texas farmers and is helping to dispel the distrust that has long existed between Texans and U. S. citizens of Mexican ancestry, according to Lewis Nordyke, author of "Texas Cleans Up a Mess," in this week's Saturday Evening Post. Mr. Nordyke is feature editor of The Amarillo News.

From 60,000 to 100,000 persons who live in the Rio Grande Valley of Texas annually follow the harvest from one end of Texas to the other, or into the sugarbeet and vegetable fields in Colorado, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota and North Dakota.

Without the migration of these workers, agriculture in this country couldn't continue at its present production level, Mr. Nordyke says. Yet until war demands for capacity performance in all lines forced a change the conditions under which these seasonal workers were required to live and work constituted a particularly ugly blot on the record of Texas.

Program Successful

"In 1944, the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College, as a part of the $7,000,000-a-year, wartime, national farm-labor program, went out to improve working conditions and farmer-worker relations," Mr. Nordyke writes.

"Forty-two shelters, or reception centers, as they are called, were located at strategic spots on the labor routes in Texas. Extension Service field men guided the workers to places where they were needed most.

"Meanwhile, local county agricultural agents did missionary work among farmers, villagers and migrants. The program, wholly voluntary on the part of farmers and workers, was based mainly on the simple idea of maximum profits for all concerned. It has been remarkably successful."

The reception centers were set up as labor clearing houses, and as places of refuge where the migrants could have the use of showers and toilets, laundry facilities, recreation grounds and gas stoves and electric lights, Mr. Nordyke says. They are not living quarters, and workers seldom stay in a center more than one night, except in severe weather. The field men stationed at the centers direct the workers to the communities where their labor is needed most.

All along the routes there are indications of "changed relations," Mr. Nordyke reports. "Many movie now show Spanish-speaking picshouses that once excluded migrants ulges on week-ends. In some cases, the children of the workers attend local schools."

Workers Watch Reports

"The migrants have cooperated remarkably well in the labor deal. Through guidance and confidence created by the program, they have gone where needed. Instead of quitting at noon on Friday, an old custom which made farmers see red, nearly all of them have worked until dark on Saturday.

"The over-all result has been that the farmers get their crops harvested, and the migrants are earning on the average, nearly twice as much money as before, although the 1945 cotton crop was extremely short."

The workers know how to deal with unfairness and discrimination, Mr. Nordyke says. They dodge places that give rise to bad reports, leaving the farmers who live near the towns in a pretty bad fix. If wages are cut, as sometimes happens, the migrants depart, and no others show up until the wage is restored.

"In talking with migrants, farmers and villagers, I gained the impression that the program has been successful mainly because it has been profitable for all concerned and hasn't involved efforts to ram things down anybody's throat," Mr. Nordyke says. "It has cost about $150,000-a-year government money, or a few dollars per migrant."

Freezing Dairy Products Seen

Butter, cream and some kinds of cheese may be preserved successfully in a home freezer unit if a few precautions are taken, says Gwendolyne Jones, specialist in food conservation for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Butter to be frozen should be made from pasteurized milk or cream. If the milk has not been pasteurized the butter gets rancid or acquires off flavors in two or three months.

Prepare and season butter as for eating. Although some authorities say unsalted butter keeps fresh longer than salted butter, Miss Jones says salt will not cause it to get old if the butter is of high quality and is kept only three to six months. Pack in half pound or one pound rectangular molds, wrap in cellophane paper and package tightly in waxed cartons or clean, dry, lain tin cans. Avoid leaving air space or excess water in the package.

Only the best quality heavy cream should be frozen. In handling milk, avoid containers and equipment which are made of copper or iron. Pasteurize the cream at 175 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Stir well. A teaspoon of salt or a tablespoon of sugar or corn syrup per cup of cream helps to keep a better texture. Chill the cream and then put it into leak-proof containers to freeze. When ready to use allow to thaw in the refrigerator. This cream does not whip as the original cream does, but it may be used otherwise as fresh cream.

Well-ripened cheese is cut in about ¼ to ½ pound blocks, wrapped in cellophane and frozen. When cheese thaws it dries out rapidly and should be used soon. Cottage cheese does not freeze very well.

The other fellow's economic grass may look greener to us because it's farther away and deliberately clouded in mystery.

But before we fall in love with any foreign "isms," let's remember that, in spite of temporary troubles, we have the sweetest set-up on earth right here, according to all facts and figures.

Right now we have nearly 57 million people employed. Normally, with only 7 per cent of the world's population we have 80 per cent of the automobiles, 50 per cent of all telephones, 60 per cent of all life insurance policies. Before the war we used 75 per cent of the world's silk. We had 1 radio for every 3 people, against 1 for every 90 in Russia.

And we still have more freedom and less harness on us than any other people on earth.

I wish to take this means of thanking the friends who supported me in my race for county and district clerk. Your influence was appreciated.

Rev. Alfred E. Willett, a missionary of the Methchurch in Foochow, China, w pastor of the Paterson Methodist Church, PatterJ. and his 17-year-old son, sailed recently from an American port as part of the "seagoing cowboys" caring for the load of heifers sent abroad under united Protestant church auspices for relief in Europe. The gift, one of many such contributions from American church groups, will go to Gydnia, Poland.

The Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. recently commissioned seventy-six new missionaries — fifty-one for life service and twenty-five for three-year terms—who will sail within the next few months for evangelistic, educational, medical, nursing and welfare services in fifteen different countries. The lands to which these missionaries and ten reappointed former missionaries will go include India, Africa, China, Brazil, Chile, Venezuela, Syria, Siam, the Philippines, Iran, Mexico, Iraq, Czechoslovakia, Guatemala, and France. The Board is seeking two hundred more trained young people for foreign service.

The Rev. Thoburn T. Brumbaugh, executive secretary of the Detroit (Michigan) Council of Churches and a former missionary of the Methodist Church to Japan, has resigned his Detroit post to become executive director, of an interdenominational committee to establish, with American voluntary gifts, a Christian university in Japan. The group represents the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America and the Foreign Missions Conference of North America. The proposed university will in a measure be a token of "atonement" by the church people of America for the nation's atom bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Dr. Brumbaugh will visit Japan before launching upon the actual raising of funds for the project. Many church leaders have expressed sympathy with the project and are listed as its sponsors.

Ray Ahmaogak, Eskimo Presbyterian lay leader of Barrow, Alaska, has flown thousands of miles along the Artic coast, but had his first car ride recently in Fairbanks. He has hunted whales and shot polar bears, but saw his first horse this spring. He goes fifty or sixty miles on a hunting expedition, but was seriously worried about getting lost in Fairbanks. His native language is Eskimo, but he speaks English fluently. This Eskimo Christian leader is now completing at Bloomfield Seminary, New Jersey, the theological training he gained from missionaries in the Artic. He has been teacher, interperter, preacher and elder in charge of two churches. On graduation he will be ordained. While in the U. S. A., Mr. Ahmaogak is working with a representative of the American Bible Society in translating portions of the New Testament into Eskimo.

From funds received from its membership in its recent "Crusade for Christ," the Methodist Church (in the U. S. A.) is assisting thirty-three Methodist churches in South America in rebuilding, repairing, or otherwise improving present church edifices. In Brazil, thirteen churches are receiving $60,000 for church improvement; in Argentina, seven receive $27,000; in Chile, eleven receive $14,400; in Peru, two receive $4,000. "Crusade" funds also provide $10,500 toward an expansion of Candler College, Havana, Cuba, and $5,000 for the famed Boca Social Settlement in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

"Just as good homes give good citizens to society, broken homes frequently give society human derelicts and criminals," said Director J. Edgar Hoover, of the F. B. I., recently. "The love which binds the family together diffused throughout the world and brings to fulfillment the ideal of the brotherhood of man. The selfishness and lack of love which destroy the home spread desolation among mankind. Parental love and authority are prime forces toward good citizenship and we must cherish them."

Attend Housing Conference at Canyon, July 25

"Chances are that the peak will be reached in farm income this year," Tyrus R. Timms, Economist, Extension Service, College Station, stated in discussing, "The Economic Side of Farm Building," at the District Housing Conference held in Canyon, July 25.

This was an outgrowth of the growing interest on the part of farm families in building new, or remodeling the farm home. Approximately twenty families and thirty home demonstration agents and county agents saw demonstrations, heard discussions, and had questions answered.

Virdie P. Wheeler, and Hood G. Wills attended from Perryton.

Mr. Timm, said that indications are there will be continued lower farm income for the next four or five years, with an upward trend in costs of most things farm families and others will be buying. He referred to past wars and the economic changes following them, to back up his statement that control or no control cost prices are going up.

Speaking on the sources of credit, Mr. Timm said, "Money is looking for us," and suggested before you borrow "shop around" and see where you can borrow to save yourself interest. He named as sources of credit, banks, land banks, Production Credit, F. H. A., G. I., F. S. A. and then he said a lot of individuals have a little money now that they would like to loan. Look at your old credit and if you can gain a savings in interest, do not hesitate to amortize your loan. If you are paying more than 5% interest you haven't shopped around for your credit.

Conservation of space in the farm kitchens is important, according to Bernice Claytor, Home Improvement Specialist, College Station, Texas. She gave a demonstration on "Storage in the Farm Home." Mrs. Wheeler states that farm women, home demonstration agents, county agents, some of the college faculty, and others, saw Mrs. Claytor demonstrate conservation of shelf space by the use of adjustable shelves, the addition of small shelves, and dividers. Mrs. Claytor gave important pointers as follows:

1. Discard all articles that you never or seldom ever use.
2. Arrange large equipment where it will be needed.
3. Store smaller equipment where it will be used first or most often.
4. Never stack equipment unless it is identical, or unless the pieces are always used together.

Others on the program were C. R. Burrow, Lumber Dealer, Canyon, Martin L. Reese, FSA Architect, Dallas, Prof. John A. Gillis, Head of Industrial Arts Department, Canyon, Clarence Thompson, President Panhandle Hardware and Implement Association, Canyon and W. H. Upchurch, County Agent, Canyon.

Miss Ann Osborne had as her guest the past week her cousin, Edilyn Turner of Duncan, Okla.

VACATION DAYS By NATE COLLIER

Beware Rabid Animals Now

With a sharp increase in the number of persons being bitten by rabid animals in East Texas, and similar occurences reported in other sections of the state, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, recently warned all Texans to be on the alert for symptoms of this disease when around domestic or wild animals.

The 2,166 animal heads receivec for examination by the State Health Department during the past year have shown 637 positives, including incidence among cats, dogs, horses, rabbits, rats, squirrels, skunks, quines pigs, coyotes, gophers, raccoons, hogs, sheep, and prairie dogs.

Rabies is transmitted to man through a bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. Bites through clothing are not as dangerous as bites on exposed surfaces, because the saliva is wiped off as the tooth passes through the cloth.

If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be penned, if possible, for a period of ten days observation. If the animal is normal at the end of that time, the case can be dismissed. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this should be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed, otherwise an examination to determine whether or not the animal had rabies will be impossible. If the head is sent to the State Health Department, care should be used in properly icing it to prevent decomposition.

Miss Winifred Butler of Los Angeles, Calif., was a dinner guest Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Tevis and family.

Mrs. L. T. Tucker returned last week from a three week's vacation in the Western States. She made the trip with her daughteer and family, the J. C. Clucks of Gruver.

Lumber Dealers Provide Veteran Training Program

Washington, D. C., July 23—"Veterans desiring to enter the lumber dealer field will be provided this fall with a 30-day approved course at a number of universities throughout the country," stated Secretary H. R. Northup, National Retail Lumber Dealers Association today.

"The three 30-day experimental courses held at the University of Washington in Seattle and the one course held at the University of Denver in Denver, have provided experience upon which we will base the extension of courses to other interested universities and colleges," Northup explained. "The Universities of Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio State, Syracuse, Louisiana and Massachusetts State have already shown an interest in offering the course."

"Enrollment in these courses is open to any veteran with a certificate of eligibility from his local Veterans Administration Bureau and also to lumber yard employees," Northup stated. "A veteran can apply for enrollment at any university where the course is given through the State or Regional Lumber Dealers Association Secretary in his area. Any lumber dealer can provide the veteran with the name and address of the local Association."

"The National Retail Lumber Dealers Association educational program will not stop with the actual university curriculum itself," Northup pointed out. "From the courses offered lecture and lesson material approved by State Boards of Education will be made available to lumber yards operating under the Government's "on-the-job" training program for veterans. Application for "on-the-job" training in the lumber dealer field can also be made through the State and Regional Secretaries."

"Whether veterans elect to attend a 30-day course at a university offering the lumber dealer training or whether they elect "on-the-job" training with a lumber dealer concern offering related training, the same amount of subsistence pay can be obtained from the Government through the Veterans Administration," Northup said.

"Married veterans can obtain $90 per month and un-married veterans $65 per month with tuition, books and incidentals paid for by the government in either case."

In this way lumber dealers can obtain untrained but potentially valuable men and train them for the jobs, while paying them a reduced salary. The veteran through the subsistence allowance provided by the Veterans Administration plus the income received from the lumber dealer firm obtains an adequate living wage while learning a good business.

"All graduates of the first 30-day courses held last spring immediately secured good jobs in lumber yards," Northup asserted. "One of the women students who took the course is now a manager of a lumber yard. Former lumber yard employees state that the course was worth two years experience in a yard."

The 25 subjects in the lumber dealer course covers all phases of lumber yard operation from bookkeeping and lumber estimating to marketaing and purchasing.

Martin Chamberlain, former Commander, U. S. Navy, an actual graduate of the first 30-day course at the University of Washington is Director of Education for the entire National Retail Lumber Dealers Association educational program for veterans and lumber yard employees.

4 Brothers Face Draft Evasion Charge

Children Should Be Included in Spending Plan

When working out a family spending plan, remember to include the children, suggests Virdie P. Wheeler, who is leading Home Demonstration Clubs in a study of family relationship this month. A child's experience in handling money is part of the training home life provides.

Some families start the youngsters off by making them responsible for a small allowance. Then as the children grow older, they learn more and more about the needs and problems of the family as a whole. Children are usually more willing to go without some of the things they would like to have, if they see their share in relation to the needs of others.

Even a 4 or 5-year-old can talk over his needs with his parents and agree on a weekly allowance. For a youngster of this age, a small allowance to divide by the old 3-penny-formula is often a good plan. A penny to spend, a penny to give, and a penny to save for something later. This will not take care of the child's need for spending, but will begin valuable training in managing money.

With help from their parents, many teen-agers handle the money for most of their clothes and other personal needs. This way, they learn to make decisions, and to meet wisely situations they will have to face when they grow up. Even mistakes in spending will help them avoid mistakes later. It is wise to encourage adolescent youngsters to save part of their allowance for something they need but can't afford to buy all at once.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Perry, Jane and Gene, and Miss Clara Revis were in Red River the past weekend for an outing. Miss Revis returned home Tuesday, but the Perrys remained in Amarillo where Mr. and Mrs. Perry are receiving medical attention.

NOT BIG ENOUGH FOR THE JOB

Is your home wiring system BIG ENOUGH for its job?

Just as many a returning veteran has outgrown his civvies, many a home has outgrown its wiring system.

Whereas the home wiring of 15 or 20 years ago was called upon only to conduct current for a few low-wattage lights and small appliances like an iron, vacuum cleaner or toaster, today's wiring systems must supply many additional appliances and a much higher level of lighting. Tomorrow's electrical living will place even greater demands upon home wiring. It must be big enough for the job.

Before you build, buy or remodel a home, it will pay you to check the wiring system with your electrical contractor. Make sure it has large enough wire, enough circuits and enough outlets and switches to take care of your electrical needs, now and in the future. Adequate wiring is the key to better electrical living.

What is adequate wiring?

Adequate wiring simply means a service entrance large enough to bring in as much electricity as your home may need at any time, enough branch circuits of large enough wire to conduct a full measure of electrical energy to your lights and appliances, plus plenty of outlets and switches, properly located.

Building Fund Shows Small Gain in Week

A check with Omar Truax, Legion fund raising chairman, and C. B. Rogers, finance officer, Wednesday revealed that the total amount contributed to the building fund being sought by the Pierce Johnson Post No. 254 of The American Legion was $19,354.98. The post is seeking a goal of $50,000 for the erection of a new Legion home on land donated by the city in the Municipal Park.

The campaign for funds was started in the early part of this year. Funds were solicited at first only from the direct membership of the organization, resulting in a little more than $7,000.00 contributed. The general public is now being solicited for contributions. When completed the building will be used as a municipal building and will be available for non-veteran activities.

Any person wishing to make a contribution to the erection of a new home for the veterans of Ochiltree County are urged to get in touch with either of the above or any member of the Pierce Johnson Post No. 254 of The American Legion.

Approve 'Bottled in Bond' Terminal Pay For Servicemen

Ochiltree county servicemen and veterans may receive compensation for unused furlough time if a "bottled in bonds" terminal pay plan approved by a Senate-House conference committee is made effective. The plan has been sent back to the Senate and House for final approval.

The five-year bonds in which the major portion of the payments would be made are non-negotiable, but the committee which worked out the final form of the bill made the provision that they could be used for payments on government life insurance.

An estimated $2,400,000,000 would be paid to present and former service personnel in lieu of furlough time they were unable to take during service. Grants would be made on the basis of 2½ days pay for each month of service since Sept. 8, 1939, with a limit of 120 days. On next Sept. 1 the carryover limit would drop to 60 days.

Enactment of the bill would put the enlisted personnel of the armed forces on somewhat the same basis as officers, who have been enjoying paid terminal leave all along. The officers, however, get paid in cash.

The House originally voted for cash payments for enlisted men, too, but at the insistence of Treasury and budget officials, the Senate wrote in a bond plan. The conferees compromise under which the bonds, while not immediately cashable, could be used to pay premiums on National Service Life Insurance or to convert it to permanent policies.

It is observed that only 276,000 of the 5,600,000 outstanding service insurance policies have been converted to the permanent peacetime federal policies.

The bonds, bearing 2½ per cent interest, would be issued in $25 multiples, matruing five years after a given veteran's discharge. Amounts due under $50 would be paid in cash. So would the "breakage" in excess of $25 multiples. Thus a veteran to whom $103 was due would receive $100 in bonds and $3 in cash.

An estimated 15,000,000 veterans are expected to apply for the payments.

Service and ex-service enlisted personnel from Ochiltree county stand to receive in the neighborhood of $80,000, according to estimates made on a national scale, providing all make application for "terminal pay" to which they are entitled.

Early Resident Dies in Colorado

Word has been received of the death of Charles L. Gechter, 62, of Kim, Las Animas County, Colorado on July 11. Mr. Getcher will be remembered by old timers as an early day resident of Ochiltree county, though he moved his residence to Colorado in 1916 before Perryton was begun.

The son of Oliver and Mary Getcher, he was born at Willis, Kansas, December 14, 1883 and passed away at Trinidad, Colo. July 11, 1946 at the age of 62 years.

He moved to Las Animas county in 1916 from Texas and located on a farm near Kim, where he resided until the time of his death.

In 1917 he was united in marraige to Linne K. Scott of Kansas City, Mo. To this union were born two daughters and one son. The eldest daughter, Zoma, preceded her father in death a number of years.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Willis, and a daughter, Norma all of Kim; three brothers, Harry of Cimarron, Kans., Will of Horton, Kans. and Oliver of Kansas City, Kans.; two sisters: Dorah Noe, Kansas City, Kans. and Mary Larsen, Kansas City, Mo.; one uncle, J. W. Freeman, Topeka, Kans. and a number of other relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services for Mr. Gechter were held on July 13 at the Trinidad Mortuary Chapel; the sermon delivered by Rev. B. H. Harmon of the First Christian church of Trinidad and burial was in the Masonic cemetery, Trinidad.

SUNDAY LESSON

'Day of Rest' Has Come to Be Day of Pleasure-Seeking

The International Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 4
Scripture: Exodus 20:8; Mark 2:23-28; Matthew 12:9-13

ONE great heritage for which we can thank the Jewish religion is the institution of a day of rest in every seven. In Christian observance it has become the first day of the week instead of the last; but the principle of Christian Sunday is the same as that of Jewish Sabbath.

It is a good principle, too, even though today this heritage which we ought to prize is too lightly regarded.

In the Jewish conception, the Sabbath had two aspects: It was a holy day, dedicated to the worship of the Lord, and it was a day of rest from toil.

Christian practice has maintained this dual aspect. But in the widespread secularism of life today, Sunday has lost much of its significance in both respects—It is neither a holy day nor in any very real sense a day of rest.

For vast numbers of people Sunday is frankly a day of pleasure, on which pleasure-seekers frequently work harder than at their accustomed toil.

The modern observance of Sunday as a day of pleasure means that, in addition to the great number of people who must work on Sunday in furnishing the services necessary to our complex society, many must toil in the unnecessary business of supplying pleasure for others.

But beneath all this is the fact that many who have made Sunday for themselves neither a day of rest nor a day of worship fail to realize how much they are missing.

The people who do observe Sunday as a day of rest meet their work on Monday rested and refreshed.

The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath. But man, for whom the Sabbath was made, ought to make the most of it. The Fourth Commandment cannot be abrogated without the loss of basic human values.

Christian Science

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 4.

The Golden Text is: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (II Corinthians 13:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also" (I John 4:21).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established" (page 467).

AUSTIN — "From a health standpoint children are not ready to enter school until they have been successfully vacinated against smallpox," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, reminds parents who expect to enroll their youngsters in September. "Many school districts make vaccination an entrance requirement, and children who have never been vaccinated, and also those vaccinated in babyhood, should be taken to the physician for vaccination now, so that the scar will be well healed before school opens."

Immunization against diphtheria is also strongly recommended for further protection. Parents are urged to have their children protected from diphtheria by immunization with toxoid. Children who had this protection in infancy should receive a booster dose before entering school in order to maintain immunity at a high level.

"These two types of protection against disease should be considered 'musts' for preschool children," Dr. Cox declared. "Any other immunizations that the physician may recommend will, of course, provide additional health security."

In addition to this protection against specific communicable diseases each child getting ready to enter school should also receive a complete physical examination by his private physician or at the nearest clinic. Any treatment or correction of defects advised by the doctor should be undertaken immediately in order that the child may enter school in the best possible physical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Barnes, Miss Lola Bell Barnes and Lester Barnes left Monday for Murtle Creek, Ore. where they will visit Mr. Barnes' sister, Mrs. Doc Herndon. They expect to be gone about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanly Key, Jimmie and Jerry, are vacationing in Colorado this week.

Railroads Seek Rate Increases To Curtail Losses in Operation

CHICAGO—Increases in wages, pay roll taxes and prices of materials since 1939 have added more than $2,000,000,000 a year to operating costs of the railroads, while freight and passenger increases in the same period have added less than $450,000,000 a year to their revenues, Dr. J. H. Parmelee, Director, Bureau of Railway Economics, said here today testifying in the Interstate Commission's hearing on Ex Parte, 162, the railroads' application for increased freight rates and retention of present passenger fares.

"Although railroads expect to handle in 1946 the greatest traffic ever moved in peace time," Dr. Parmalee said, "the rise in wages, prices and other operating costs has been so great that even with the increases already granted in this proceeding which went into effect July 1, the result of the year's operations of the railroads will be a net loss."

Dr. Parmalee based his statement on detailed reports for the first five months of the year, preliminary figures for June, and estimates for the remainder of 1946. In the first period, the witness showed, revenues decreased by more than 23 per cent, as compared with the same months of 1945, while operating expenses actually increased as a result of rising prices and the 16 cents an hour wage increase made effective as of January 1, 1946. The net result, even with reductions noted in Federal income tax payments, was "a downward swing of 317 million dollars in net income in a period of five months." This downward trend, he added, had continued through June and is expected to continue for the balance of the year, and for 1947.

In estimating results for the remainder of 1946, Dr. Parmalee stated that he had taken into account the increase in freight rates authorized by the Commission to take effect on July 1, but that the added revenue from this source, estimated at approximately $322,000,000 on the basis of a full year, will be largely absorbed in meeting the additional 2½ cents an hour wage increase which went into effect May 22, and the continuing rise in the prices of materials and supplies. These increased prices include, he added, an average of 40 cents a ton added to the price of bituminous coal as a result of the settlement of the recent coal strike.

The price index of railway material and supplies, he said, has risen from 129 in June, 1939, to 174 in June, 1945, and to 194 in June, 1946, making the average increase approximately 50 per cent.

"This continued rise in prices, along with a similar increase of more than 50 per cent in wage levels, as a result of the general pay increases of 1941 and 1943, and the two increases in 1946, plus added taxes on pay rolls for social security purposes," the witness continued, "has created such an unbalance between costs and revenues that in the first five months of 1946 the railroads' reserve of current assets over current liabilities declined by $287,000,000, or more than 17 per cent in five months.

"The unusual reserves of cash and current assets with which the railroads came into 1946 were largely the result of accelerated amortization charges, especially in the latter months of 1945. These amortization charges were authorized for industry generally, including the railroads, to permit charging off the cost of facilities created for war purposes during the period of war earnings. In the case of the railroads these charges and the cash reserves built up through them represented a method, in effect, of financing facilities which were worn out during the war period but which could not be replaced at that time. Nor has it been possible to replace such facilities to any considerable extent since the war ended. Much deferred maintenance and capital replacement work needs to be done to compensate for the service life taken out of railroad facilities during the period of heavy war traffic. To use reserves designed for such purposes to pay current bills and meet the increased costs of current operation is to defeat the purpose for which they were authorized."

Referring further to the rapid depletion of railroad working capital as a result of current costs exceeding revenues, Dr. Parmalee pointed out that a higher level of working capital was necessary now because of the higher prices per hour of labor and per unit of material, requiring more cash on hand to meet current bills and pay rolls. "Obviously," he said, "the deicine of railroad cash and its equivalents, which averaged $50,000,000 a month during the first four months of the year and was $87,000,000 in May, cannot long be continued before necessary reserves are completely exhausted."

Looking ahead into 1947, Dr. Parmalee estimated that frieght traffic would be sustained at approximately the 1946 level but that a further decline of approximately 25 per cent in passenger traffic would make total revenues for 1947 at present freight and passenger rates, less than in 1946 by at least $100,000,000.

In estimating the effect of the freight rate increases asked by the railroads, Dr. Parmalee introduced figures as to the relationship of freight charges to the value of commodities which, he said, "indicated that as a whole, commodities moving by rail could take an increase of 25 per cent in freigh rates without being called on to pay any greater proportion of their value in freight charges than in 1941." Increases for major commodity groups which would not bring the ratio of freight charges to value above what it was in 1941 were given as 67 per cent for farm products, 35 per cent for foods, 19 per cent for manufactures and miscellaneous goods, 13 per cent for fuels, and 17 per cent for the "all other" group.

"The railroads confront an extraordinary combination of recent developments in increased wage rates, increased materials prices, and decreased traffic and revenues," Dr. Parmalee said. "If they are to maintain themselves in the strength and efficiency made necessary by commercial requirement and national safety alike, railroads must be allowed rates which will enable them to bring their revenues in balance with their expenses."

Veteran Forum

Q. May a veteran pay off a guaranteed loan before it becomes due?

A. Yes, the regulations give the veteran that right.

Q. Can a guaranty be obtained if the proceeds are to be used by a minor or a person under legal disability?

A. This can be done only if the loan and liens are valid under the state law governing the transaction. Many states have enacted statutes removing disability of veterans and for the wives of veterans who are minors to enable them to make such loans.

Q. May widows or children of deceased veterans obtain guaranty of loan?

A. No. The privilege is limited to veterans. A guaranty on a loan may continue, however, after the veteran's death.

Q. Are veterans of World War I eligible for benefits under the Act?

A. No. Its benefits are for World War II veterans only.

Q. If a loan is for farming purposes, must the veteran live on the farm?

A. No, but the Act requires that he actually conduct the farming operations.

Q. Is there any limit on the size of the loan?

A. No. The limit is on the amount which may be guaranteed or insured.

Q. May funds from a guaranteed loan be used to pay operating expenses on a farm?

A. Yes.

Q. Must a veteran put any of his own money into a business, a home, or a farm in order to get the guaranty?

A. No. This is not a requirement for guaranty or insurance. It is a question which is settled with the lender. The only bearing it has on the guaranty or insurance of a loan is that in the case of a farm or a business it may affect the likelihood of the veteran's success in the venture.

Q. May a loan to buy an automobile or truck be guaranteed or insured?

A. Yes, but only if the automobile or truck is necessary to the conduct of the veteran's own business or farming operations, or the conditions of his employment require that he have such a vehicle for use in carrying on his work but not merely for transportation.

VETS STILL USE QUONSET HUTS.—The highly convertible Quonset hut, which the veteran found all the way from Iceland to Guadalcanal, is still serving those who fought in World War II in a variety of ways. They're homes for students, recuperative wards for wounded, and work shops for on-the-job trainees. This one became a recreation building at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Livermore, Calif.

Entries in the Rodeo Contests should be made not later than noon, August 16. Much interest is being taken in the Cutting Horse Contest where first prize is a beautiful hand-stamped saddle. One-half of the entry fees will also be added to the purse in the Cutting Horse Contest as well as all Rodeo events.

Veterans' NEWS

Last week's column explained the conditions under which the Veterans Administration will pay pensions to the widow, child or children, or dependent parents of a veteran who dies as a result of a disability incurred in (or aggravated by) service during World War II. This week's article will deal with pensions payable to survivors of veterans whose death is not a result of their war service. Note that all veterans' surviving dependents are eligible for pensions:

Pension is payable to the widow and children, but not the parents, of a World War II veterans whose death was not the result of service. IF at the time of his death the veteran was receiving or was entitled to receive pension or retirement pay for disability incurred in World War II. Also eligible are the widow and children of a veteran with at least 90 days' service, or one who was discharged for disability incurred in service. IF the veteran had a service-incurred disability for which he would have received a pension if the disability had been 10 per cent or more.

Pensions payable under these conditions are: For the widow, $35; for the widow and one child, $45, with $5 more for each additional child. If there is no widow, $18 for one child; $27 for two; $36 for three; and $4 for each additional child. No pensions are payable to parents in this case, and the total pension payments cannot be more than $74 a month.

If the veteran's death was not the result of service, pension cannot be paid to a widow without a child, or to a child, whose annual income exceeds $1,000, or to a widow with one or more children whose annual income exceeds $2,500. However, the fact that the widow's income exceeds $2,500 does not bar payment of pension to the veteran's child or children. Social security and old-age pension payments are counted as "income" in these cases, but payments from National Service Life Insurance are not counted.

Any Veterans Administration office will be glad to help surviving dependents apply for pensions, if they are eligible. But remember, not all veterans' survivors are eligible under present regulations.

Guests this week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Coon Jr., were his father, V. R. Coon Sr, of Cheyenne, Okla. and his sister, Mrs. H. L. Marcum and Mr. Marcum who were enroute to their home in Kilgore from Billings, Montana where they had been vacationing.

Hats Off to this Fellow...

HE fed us, our soldiers, our allies, and a lot of other people while we won a war. Now he's asked to keep the world from starving.

He's the American farmer.

He deserves the thanks and appreciation of everybody. He deserves it more than most folks realize because he increased his production by 30 per cent in five years without enough new tools to replace the labor he lost.

But, American farmers are disappointed—and they have a right to be. They expected that the end of the war would bring them an opportunity to replace their patched, repaired, weary and over-worked farm implements.

Of all of our shortages, that in farm tools and implements is the most serious.

Strikes have caused the shortages in farm implements—strikes in steel, strikes in coal, and strikes in the farm implement industry itself.

In the steel industry alone, the production of steel in the ten months following VJ day was 19 million tons short of expectations, enough to supply farm needs for at least five years. Most of the decline was due to strikes.

That is why the steel industry has not been able to catch up with the demand for new roofing, wire, fencing, tools and all the things of steel needed on the farm.

That is why the farmer is being penalized through no fault of his own. This nation cannot move ahead under the threat of ever-recurring labor strife.

Steel mills need all the scrap iron and steel they can get. Farmers can help increase steel output by sending worn-out machinery, etc., on its way to the furnaces. AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL INSTITUTE, 350 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, N. Y.

"WAKE UP, AMERICA!"

Are Postwar Strikes in the Public Interest?

Moderated by FRED G. CLARK Chairman American Economic Foundation

By popular request we present this continuation of our debate of six weeks ago.

As debated by

Harry Fleischman	Dr. Alfred P. Haake
National Secretary of the Socialist Party	Industrial Economist, Author, Lecturer

MR. FLEISCHMAN OPENS: Dr. Haake argues postwar strikes are against the public interest by asking "Does it increase mass purchasing power to raise wages so that $300 must be added to the price of a Ford?" As a General Motors economic consultant, Dr. Haake ought to know the question is phoney because increased prices are not due to increased wages. In 1941, the wholesale price of the average passenger car was $714. To produce that car the auto industry paid $215 in wages. Today OPA has given three unnecessary price boosts which bring the average wholesale price to $948 while wages per auto have risen only to $270. Thus the auto industry charges an additional $234 per car to meet a wage increase of no more than $55. And even increases in steel prices (the other major car cost) add only $8 per car turned out. High OPA prices will enable auto magnates to make skyhigh profits while producing far below actual capacity, and will prevent full employment for workers and full production of cars for the American people. The pattern holds true for other industries. Prices go up in an elevator while hourly wages slowly climb the stairs. In fact, while retail prices of food and clothing have gone up more than 50%, the end of war overtime has cut average weekly earning for factory workers from $47.50 in January, 1945 to $40.60 in February, 1946.

DR. HAAKE CHALLENGES: I will try to bring a little order out of Mr. Fleischman's arithmetical chaos. The typical 1941 car he mentions consisted of approximately the following costs:

Goods and services bought from others	$359
Taxes	57
Payroll	258
Worn out tools	18
Payments to owners ("profit")	22

No large manufacturer can get very far away from the above pattern of costs: payroll is normally about 10 times as great as "profit." This is publicly admitted by labor spokesmen.

MR. FLEISCHMAN REPLIES: When Dr. Haake talks about "payroll" he includes $362,304 as "wages" for a "worker" like General Motors president C. E. Wilson. Private enterprise is primarily interested not in production but in profits. Its boom will bust because it is based, not on high enough incomes to clear the market, but on high profits. Labor tries to keep up with the boom by strikes for wage increases, but that isn't enough. What is needed is a new party of farmers, labor and professionals which will work for democratic socialist planned economy. That ballot-box "strike" will do much more than picket-line strikes to create real prosperity, peace and freedom.

DR. HAAKE OPENS: I welcome this opportunity because Mr. Fleischman left you with a distorted picture of "zooming war profits." Following is a simple picture of the steel industry reduced to income per hour per worker presented to the National War Labor Board on May 16, 1944 and not challenged by the CIO or anyone else: it is recorded fact.

Received from customers for each man-hour of work	$2.27	$3.09
Distributed as follows:
For goods and services bought from others	1.00	1.31
For the wearing out of tools	.14	.14
For taxes	.12	.27
Payments to workers using the tools (payroll)	.87	1.24
Payments to owners of the tools ("profits")	.13	.10
Special war costs	.01	.03

Even a child can understand this. The worker's pay increased from 87¢ to $1.24 per hour. "Profits" decreased from 13¢ to 10¢ per hour. These are not some statistician's dream—they are recorded facts accepted by the National War Labor Board. And what was true in the steel industry was true of most industries during that period.

MR. FLEISCHMAN CHALLENGES: Dr. Haake likes to play games with statistics. What difference does it make if profits dropped from 13¢ to 10¢ per hour on the labor of each worker if total steel profits after taxes more than doubled, (and Dr. Haake does not challenge my figures) rising from $576,000,000 to $1,225,000,000? The same for other industries. Profits after taxes for 14 steamship lines rose from $10,000,000 in 1938 to $32,000,000 in 1944, more than 200%. The rising volume of profits foreshadows inflation, wild boom and a terrific bust. Only elimination of the profit system plus democratic planned production for use will stop new depression.

DR. HAAKE REPLIES: Mr. Fleischman doesn't like the truth about how corporate income is divided—he wants to talk totals without regard for individuals—so let's play it his way. The average annual payroll (1936-39) for the 31 leading steel corporations was $853,000,000; in 1943 it was $2,531,000,000—about three times as much. The average annual profit (1936-39) for these corporations was $187,000,000; in 1943 it was $197,000,000—or approximately the same. These verified figures are on page 23 of the report to the National War Labor Board referred to above. Just where is the "rising volume" of Mr. Fleischman's—in wages or in profits?

Added to the all-star juvenile cast is a newcomer to Hollywood, Dorothy Patrick, former Powers model, who is seen as James Craig's wife in the film.

The picture centers around Cal Farley's "Boy's Ranch" locale near Amarillo and the location company spent two months in the Texas Panhandle capturing the ranch settings and the natural beauty of the surrounding country. An authentic Western rodeo, complete with bucking broncos and prize steers, was staged and filmed for the production.

The picture has the advantage of Roy Rowland's directorial talents. Rowland has scored outstanding hits with two previous productions involving juvenile thespians: "Lost Angel," starring Margaret O'Brien, and "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes" with Margaret and "Butch" Jenkins.

Durango Kid Scores Again

There's twice the Western action and twice the Western fun and melody in Columbia Pictures' "Gunning for Vengeance," playing at the Ellis Theatre Saturday, Aug. 3, as two top Western stars, Charles Starrett, the Durango Kid, and Smiley Burnette roar into action together on the side of law and order.

In the role of the new marshal of Rim Rock, the Kid has a field day, smashing a vicious group of outlaws; Smiley, playing his deputy, provides all those belly-laughs for which he's so famous. As a team, they're a natural, furnishing a double-barreled load of wild West action, tunes and laughs.

Marjean Neville as a rancher's daughter, and Phyllis Adair as the proprietess of a saloon, handle the feminine leads expertly. The pleasant tunes of the Trailsmen spark the proceedings; and the whole business has been skillfully directed by Ray Nazarro.

Gay Star Team Coming to Ellis

Dennis O'Keefe and Helen Walker are co-starred in Universal's latest comedy innovation, "Her Adventurous Night" at the Ellis Theatre, Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 6-7. An imposing supporting cast includes Scotty Beckett, Fuzzy Knight and Tom Powers.

Teamed previously in "Abroad with Two Yanks" and "Brewster's Millions," O'Keefe and Miss Walker have their most exciting vehicle to date in "Her Adventurous Night". The story deals with the wild imagination of a little boy who lands his parents in jail.

Directed by John Rawlins, the new picture was made under the executive producership of Marshall Grant.

Action Film is Spine-Tingling

"Strange Conquest," Universal's romantic drama of medical research in the Sumatran jungle, comes to the Ellis Theatre preview Saturday, August 3.

In the cast are Jane Wyatt, Lowell Gilmore and Peter Cookson, all seen as medical scientists on biological research, with Milburn Stone as a technician, Julie Bishop as a tenderfoot wife, and Abner Biberman as native.

Also featured in the picture are sixteen trained monkeys, Hollywood's entire available supply of simian talent. The monkeys appear as "guinea pigs" in a search for a tropical fever cure.

Boyer, Jones in "Cluny Brown"

Charles Boyer and Jennifer Jones are romantically teamed for the first time on the screen in Ernst Lubitsch's production of "Cluny Brown," the 20th Century-Fox film showing Thursday and Friday, August 8-9, at the Ellis Theatre.

In addition to being the first picture to co-star the suave Boyer with Academy Award-winner Jennifer Jones, "Cluny Brown" is the first film since the memorable "Heaven Can Wait" that Lubitsch, the sly genius of sophisticated romantic comedy, has both produced and directed.

The picture is based on Margery Sharp's best-selling story of two unpredictable people who after a series of hilarious mis-adventures finally come to the realization that their troubles—romantic and otherwise—will be over if they can just be unpredictable together.

Charles Boyer is seen as "Belinski," the carefree and restless refugee writer whose unstereotyped ideas on achieving happiness leads him from one unroarious situation to another. In her first comedy role, Miss Jones is seen as "Cluny," the uninhibited madcap with an urge to be a lady plumber, who is rescued from a "perfect marriage" by "Belinski."

The outstanding supporting cast of the picture is headed by Peter Lawford and includes Helen Walker, Reginald Gardiner, Reginald Owen and other top names.

Mrs. C. A. Zirkle was in Moreland, Okla. this week-end to visit with her mother, Mrs. W. L. Haskew.

Butane Dealers Association Met Here Thursday

More than 15 Butane and Propane dealers from the Panhandle area met at the Hotel Perryton Thursday, July 25, for a meeting of the Texas Butane Association. In attendance was Lyle Blanton of the Blanton Gas Co. of Hereford, who is president of the Butane association. He was accompanied by William J. Lawson, secretary of the association from Austin. Those attending were guests of O. A. Schuster, local Butane dealer, at a steak dinner in the coffee shop preceding the business meeting and discussion.

The purpose of the get-to-gether was for a general discussion of the Butane dealer's problems and rem-dicts. Similar meetings are being held over the entire State of Texas, it was said.

Mr. Lawton in commenting on the Butane and Propane industry stated that from a humble beginning the industry had grown by leaps and bounds especially since V-J Day and that dealers must keep on the alert in order to keep up with the trend and to insure a steady supply of fuel to purchasers of units. It was estimated that between 250,000 and 300,000 butane tanks are on farms in Texas at the present time and this amount is being increased everyday. The industry is rapidly becoming big business inasmuch as only about 100,000 tanks were in operation in 1941. Approximately 4,000 a week are being installed by Texas dealers, Mr Lawton continued.

Among other pertinent facts regarding Butane and Propane it was pointed out that one of the major needs of the young industry was an education program for the general public to explain the many uses of the gas and to also dispel the "bogey man" in the minds of many who believe that Butane or Propane is too dangerous in the way of a fire hazard. Actually, Mr. Lawton said, it is no more dangerous than any other type of fuel.

Included among those in attendance in addition to the association representatives were O. A. Schuster, Bob Schuster, Joe Watson, Vance Apple, Charley Kent, Glen McGibbon, and Morris M. Payne, all of Perryton, W. A. Cone, Meade, Kans. J. E. Gunn, Spearman, Fred Boren, Follett, Joe Pierce, Liberal, Kans. John Egan, Amarillo, R. W. Teeter, Dumas, and D. Blackburn and W. R. McMillen of Amarillo.

Mrs. Ira M. Hutchins, who before her marriage was Miss Avis Lee Wooten, and Mrs. Edna Tucker were in Amarillo Saturday to attend the annual meeting of Gamma Phi sorority. Both Mrs. Hutchins and Mrs. Tucker were members of the sorority when they attended college at Canyon several years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jines will leave Friday for Lowell, Ark. where they will visit Mrs. Jines' parents, Mr and Mrs. D. B. Danford for the next four weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bryan left Sunday for ten days vacation which they will spend at Eagle Nest, Red River, Taos and Las Vegas, N. Mexico.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Need of Medical Personnel

More than 500 doctors and 300 dentists with 2,500 nurses have been added to the staffs of Veterans' hospitals during the past few months under a recruitment program which takes doctors and nurses from under civil service regulations and offers them more attractive employment opportunities.

This makes a total of 3,112 doctors, 345 dentists and 7,623 nurses now on duty under the Veterans' administration medical program in the department of medicine and surgery as set up by Dr. Paul R. Hawley, chief medical director.

The immediate need for dentists in VA hospitals has been met by the recruitment program but there is still need for physicians and nurses especially in neuropsychiatric and tuberculosis hospitals in the south, midwest and far west.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am a veteran of World War I. Would it be possible for me to get a cash surrender on my service insurance policy? — A. R. D., Pasadena, Calif.

A. The Veterans' administration says that upon proper execution and filing of cash surrender value of U. S. government life insurance and the return of the policy certificate to the Veterans' administration you will receive whatever cash surrender value may be payable.

Q. How much can one of those Veterans' administration appraisers charge a veteran for appraising a house the veteran wants to purchase with his G.I. loan?—J. H. A., Seattle.

A. There is no set amount. In some instances the banks do not make this charge, but appraisers appointed by the Veterans' administration may charge whatever fee is customary in your area. The average fee is something like $15.

Q. While I was in the navy I purchased bonds through deductions from my pay, but to this day I have ever received the bonds. Can I do anything about it?—E. C., Yonkers, N. Y.

A. Write to War Bond office, Central Field Fiscal office, 4300 Goodfellow blvd., St. Louis, Mo. Be sure and give your full name, serial number and the pay periods for which the bonds are due. Also give your correct home address.

Q. It seems to me veterans' disability pensions are too low. How do they compare in this country with other countries?—Mrs. S. R., Denver, Colo.

A. The United States pays higher pensions to disabled veterans than any other country. In England, Australia, Canada and New Zealand pension payments vary according to the number of dependents and the rank of the disabled veteran.

Q. I am drawing the readjustment allowance for self-employed veterans. If I don't draw the full $100 each month for the 10½ months is the balance available to me after the period is up?—Jackson, Miss.

A. No. No matter how small an amount you draw each month, that is considered a full month's payment.

Q. My son has a bad-conduct discharge. He is a veteran of World War II. Is he entitled to any benefits under the G.I. bill?—Mrs. J. H., Hartford City, Ind.

A. He may be, but since he holds neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge, it would be necessary for him to contact his nearest Veterans' administration office for a decision as to whether he was discharged under conditions other than honorable. He has a right also to apply to his service for a revision of his discharge.

Q. I was retired from the service with retirement pay for a service-connected disability. I get $125 a month. Am I eligible for any payment from the Veterans' administration for on-the-job training? Will I lose my retirement pay if I sign up for such training?—A. R. S., Oakland, Calif.

A. No, I don't think so. You can take on-the-job training and draw the regular subsistence allowance, plus what the company for which you are working will pay you, plus your retirement pay. Suggest, however, you check with your regional Veterans' administration office.

Q. Can a member of the armed services retire on a medical pension after serving 20 years in the army and still get retirement pay? —Mrs. K. L., Anadarko, Okla.

A. The army says no. But the soldier might be able to draw a service-connected disability pension from the Veterans' administration.

Q. I have an honorable discharge from the WAVES. Am I entitled to my old job?—L. S., Sikeston, Mo.

A. Yes, provided you are qualified and make application for reinstatement.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Osborne, Ann and Buddy this week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Burton and children of Lawton, Okla.

Community Failure

In a letter to President Truman suggesting a conference be called to consider problems of readjustment of veterans, American Legion National Commander John Stelle pointed to the failure in meeting this problem on the community level.

The public is already adopting an indifferent attitude toward veterans, declared Commander Stelle.

One example to prove this contention is found in newspaper stories from Leonia, N. J. The stories stress a "hanging in effigy" after the Borough Board of Adjustment by a two-to-two vote rejected an application by veterans for permission to erect 34 temporary housing units on two sites in the city. Objection to the housing had been made by two dozen of "the best people."

In an editorial on the Leonia situation, the Bergen [N. J.] Evening Record stated: "The significant social danger is that such an attitude may leave a permanent scar, a conviction in the veteran's mind that he is not wanted, that he is an outcast, that he has been a fool, and that his community has failed him. Is that the best we can offer?"

The Leonia situation is one example. There are others—far too many of them. The situation should be studied now; it should be corrected soon. There is too much basis these days for believing that the veteran spoke truthfully who stated: "When the first 10 men returned from the war, it was 'Hail the conquering heroes!' When he next 50 returned it was, 'Glad to see you back,' but when the remainder returned home it was, 'These veterans are becoming a problem.'"—National Legionnaire.

Babson Discusses Young People

ROGER W. BABSON, Editor-in-Chief

Gloucester, Mass. July 26—This city, like most communities, is having trouble with juvenile delinquency. It shows here especially in the breaking open of summer cottages and unoccupied buildings. In Wellesley, Massachusetts, where I spend most of the year, it has been evident in the ruthless destruction of school property for which there is absolutely no excuse.

Parents Are Blamed

The police and school departments put the blame upon parents. They state that too many parents are either at work—or else out on parties, etc.—while the children are running fast and loose throughout the town. Perhaps this criticism is justified, but it should be remembered that the parents are paying the salaries of the policemen and school teachers. Of course, the parents should help more, but the police and the teachers have no right to dump it all back into the parents' laps.

In some homes both parents are obliged to work in order to pay the high living expenses and taxes that we have today. When I was a boy, the parents and school teachers cooperated. In fact, when I got a licking in school and my parents heard about it, I got another at home! But for some reason corporal punishment has entirely gone out of style in most school systems of today. The first step in eliminating juvenile delinquency is to restore corporal punishment in both the schools and the homes.

Coddling Young People

Professional psychologists (most of whom have no children of their own) say that children should be entertained more and at the public expense. In some cities, the police department is even getting up parties for the boys on Halloween so that they won't smash windows and destroy property. This philosophy seems very crazy to me. I spek both as a large employer of young people and as an educator with 300 students now on the Babson Institute Campus.

I believe in supervised playgrounds; also in the work of the YMCA, YMHA, CYO and similar organizations. More people should contribute to such activities; but appeasing young people to prevent them from destroying property will accomplish no more than did the appeasing of Germany to prevent her from destroying Europe.

What is the Remedy?

One remedy for juvenile delinquency is to repeal certain state laws as to employing minors. Boys who are strong enough to destroy buildings are strong enough to work in a store or on a farm. The original purposes of these labor laws may have been sound; but they have been carried too far. Corporal punishment may do something for these boys when the schools are in session; but only hard work can relieve them of their excess energy in the vacation period.

I have a granddaughter of college age whim I personally desired to employ as a secretary this summer. To my great surprise, I was threatened with the law for not first getting permission from the town authorities to have her help me! Because of the various officials upon whom she was obliged to call, it took her two or three days to get the proper blanks filled out in order that she could work for me for a couple of weeks!

New Point of View Needed

President Truman is not the only person who is cockeyed on labor problems. There are just as bad examples among the legislators of every state and especially among the school committees of most communities. Labor legislation is necessary and I am for it; but it should apply equally to employers and young people. Furthermore, habits of work should be taught in our public schools along with French, Latin, Music, and the so-called Social Studies. But first of all, churches, YMCAs, YMHAs, CYOs and other groups interested in reducing juvenile delinquency should get the laws changed so as to encourage the vacation employment of young people.

The clothes that make the woman are the same that break the man.

Dairymen Form Associations

Three artificial breeding associations have been established in Texas and several others are in the process of organization, according to G. G. Gibson, dairy husbandman for the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. Membership in the association totals 30 dairymen who own more than 2,500 cows.

First artificial breeding association to be organized in the state is in Cooke County. This group has been operating for nearly a year, and its first calves were dropped in February, 1946. Since then, associations have been formed in Wharton and McLennan counties and now are in operation.

A look at the records of other states shows the success of the practice, Gibson says. Last year 50,000 cows were owned by members of 185 associations in the nation. Dairymen see this form of service as a means of improving the quality of herd replacements at a lower cost than they could hope to meet through private ownership of bulls of equal quality. The plan is especially suited to the small herd owner who cannot afford to own a high-priced bull.

Gibson says dairymen don't assume that artificial breeding eliminates all breeding problems, but it does make possible full use of bulls of proven transmitting ability.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rupprecht and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rupprecht, Charles, Walter and Yvonne all of Follett, were Sunday guests of Geo. Rupprecht, Sr., Eldon and Lucille.

HOMEWARD BOUND—Word was received here this week that Paul Dowers, S 1/c, sailed from Shanghai, China, July 20, and expected to arrive in Seattle, Wash., within the near future. He states that he is enroute to the Naval Personnel Separation Center at Norman, Okla., for release from the armed services. Entering service in 1945, he received boot training at San Diego, Calif., before shipping out for overseas duty. He has been in the Pacific area for the past six months. Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dowers of this city are his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Witt, Bonnie and Kay left Thursday for their vacation; they will visit in Colorado and other Western states, as well as in Yellowstone National Park.

the Canadian government set the value of the Canadian dollar at par with the American.

The old price of $67 in New York meant ten per cent more in Canadian currency to the producers, or $73.70. Thus the producers would have had to increase the New York price to this figure just to offset the change in exchange. The price to Canadian and British consumers is expected to rise with the American price. The traditional $4 differential below the New York price will be maintained for Canadian consumers, so that the perrentage increase will be slightly higher in the dominion.

The Canadian government has no price ceiling on newsprint, but stipulates that seven per cent of production must be sold at home.

Although the new price will be announced by the individual companies, the industry as a whole cooperates through the newsprint association of Canada and the companies are expected to line up together.

Legion Sponsors National Youth Forum in Gov. Affairs

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A Boys' Forum of National Government will be sponsored in Washington, August 5 to 9, by The American Legion to give 100 selected high school students an insight into what makes the executive, judicial and legislative branches of the federal administration tick.

Announcement of the new American Legion youth-training project in its program to build citizenship leaders for the future, was made by National Commander John Stelle.

"The Boys' Forum of National Government," said Commander Stelle, "in effect will be a Boys' Congress, Boys' Supreme Court and Boys' White House, all rolled in one. It will be a postgraduate course in national government for outstanding members of every American Legion Boys' State. The selected boys will stage simulated governmental sessions.

To Be Housed in WAVE Barracks

Commander John Stelle also announced that arrangements had been completed with the Navy Department to house The American Legion students in the WAVE "D" Barracks in Washington. The national organization of The American Legion will defray all costs of the program, including transportation and feeding the boys.

Included among the boys to be brought to Washington for the project will be the governors and lieutenant governors of 33 Boys' States sponsored in 1946 by The American Legion. Continental departments which did not participate in the Boys' State program were given the privilege of nominating two high school seniors each.

The boys will arrive in Washington, Sunday, August 4, and register. The following day will be devoted to sightseeing. They will lay wreaths on Washington's Tomb at Mount Vernon and on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington, visit the Smithsonian Institute, Mellon Art Gallery, Library of Congress, Ford Theater, and other points of interest.

High government officials, including members of the Senate and House, Congressional clerks, court justices, cabinet officers and others will be invited to address the forum.

TODAY IN NEW YORK, TOMORROW IN PARIS WITH AIR FRANCE'S COMETS

Paris, city of light, has again opened her heart and her arms to the world.

The tread of hobnailed feet is gone from the Champs Elysses and again smartly dressed men and women are strolling along the boulevards. In the beautiful Bois de Boulogne there are the merry voices of children and there is the lilt of laughter in the sidewalk cafes. The taxicabs are darting in and out of the streets, tooting their funny little horns and along the Seine the book stalls are open.

Paris—the new Paris—has not lost any of her old charm, but there has been added the touch of streamlined business and industry. Released from the bonds of war, Paris has been quick to revive her throttled industry, remove the barriers that blocked her avenues of trade and reestablish herself as the center of business. Again she has become a fashion hub and again fashion designers, stylists and affiliated artists are knocking at her gates.

Most of the Americans who are traveling to France today are bent on business, but it won't be many more months before others will be able to see again Paris, where old world culture, artistic genius and modern chic combine to form a perfect pattern of living. Around each corner of this gay capital the visitor may discover some new source of interest and environs afford excursions into one of the beautiful sections of France.

Paris, long the style center of the world, has now become the air center.

The Comets of Air France, pioneer international airway, are flashing across the Atlantic between New York and Paris on regularly scheduled flights, making connections at the French capital with services to London, Dublin, Oslo, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Amsterdam, Brussels, Geneva, Zurich, Bordeaux, Lisbon and points in Asia, Africa and South America. Later, it is expected Air France will operate from Chicago, Montreal, Boston and Washington, under the terms of the agreement between the French and United States governments and service between Puerto Rico and the French islands in the Caribbean is also likely in the not too distant future. The Comets also fly between Saigon in Indo-China to Manila via Hong Kong.

There is service to the French Riviera, which like the rest of France, is quickly recovering from the staggering blow of war and is looking forward to a good season.

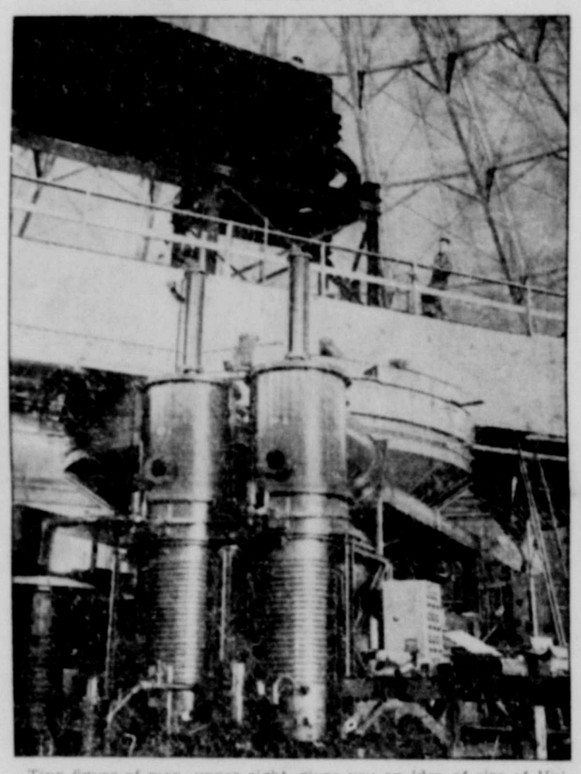

Air France is now flying giant Douglas Skymasters in its trans-Atlantic service. The planes are called Comets and each is named for a French province.

The Skymasters are commodious, but Air Comets are more than that. They have every comfort and convenience it is possible to put into an airplane.

It is the expressed desire of Air France to make its passengers experience real French atmosphere from the moment they step into the Comets. The interior decorations, the food, the hostesses are all delightfully French.

With the inauguration of Air France's trans-Atlantic service the French National Airlines now reach 5 continents and 51 countries and some of the world's most remote places are within reach of the traveler.

Three Big Worries Among Families

Just now there are three big worries that are bothering many families . . . For one thing, there seems to be less stability in modern marriage . . . There's been an increase in venereal diseases in the past few years. And, finally, American youth is confused by conflicting ideas on sex and marriage.

Fortunately not every rural family in Texas has been directly touched with these three big worries. But, Mrs. Eloise Johnson, A. and M. Extension specialist in family life education, says that sooner or later most families will be concerned with at least one of these problems.

To combat them she's urging rural adults to provide better home training and sex education for their boys and girls. It's also important, she says, for parents understand more fully the stresses and strains of adolescence. If they are sympathtic, they can be of a lot more help to young people.

"We need to encourage youth to recognize its responsibility to self and society," Mrs. Johnson says. "That's our best way of combatting a great many harmful ideas about sex."

Mrs. John Beck has returned from Hollis, Okla. where she has spent several weeks visiting relatives.
