"AS I SEE IT"

By Jack McCarty

Oil is still the principal topic of conversation here and the local citizenship is eagerly awaiting the outcome of the test on the McCall tract. If this proves to be a paying producer, a large scale townsite drilling program is expected in the near future.

Leasing activity is brisk in the area surrounding the new Johnson & Warren discovery pool on the McAnally and Heyser tracts and several outpost trys are expected in the area soon. Virtually everything in the vicinity is now under lease, it is reported and drilling operations are expected to pick up in tempo with at least two trys being scheduled for Ellenburger production.

As a direct result of oil activity hereabouts. W. A. (Red) Huckaby is now busy with construction of a new two-story building on the lot he acquired last week from W. J. (Son) Sipes. The new building will be located between the Village Inn and George Hutchins' Magnolia Service Station on South Main Street. The structure will be 30 by 50 feet and will house an oil field equipment store on the ground level, with five offices upstairs. It will be modern in every respect and will be completely air-conditioned, according to Huckaby's announcement. He stated that he hoped to have it ready for occupancy by July 1, and expected to it all rented upon completion.

Grain harvest in this area is now in full swing and according to reports from farmers and buyers, wheat and oats are turning out much better than was expected, with some fields producing as much as 25 bushels per acre. However, a rain is badly needed now for feed crops. Ira Hall, local feed dealer, told this department that a one-inch rain on growing feed crops right away would assure farmers a good crop.

In conversation with our friend J. C. Bowden, sage of Burkett, we learned that this country is in good shape agriculturaly when compared to the Plains area to the west. He stated that he and his wife made a trip to Slaton the past week end and found that the country from Abilene west is completely burned up with virtually total crop failures even in the irrigated areas. J. C. said that the country from Abilene east looks like Paradise after traveling west.

He said that the cattle, all yearlings, were purchased in the Baird, Moran, Putnam and Cisco areas, at prices ranging from $17.00 to $19.75.

DeBusk stated that the Triplett Co. is planning on shipping 400 head of steers to Kentucky the first of next week where they will be grazed on blue grass until fall when they will be placed in feed lots to be finished.

New 2-Story Building Under Construction On South Main Street; To House Oil Firms

Lakewood Country Club Golf Course Being Rebuilt; Membership Drive To Be Launched

The rains which fell over this area in May revived the interest in golfers of this vicinity in the Lakewood Country Club course and work is being carried out to put the once popular golf course in top-notch condition, according to an announcement made last week by club president A. A. White, of Rising Star.

The club had ceased to operate because the lake which was the only source of water went dry during the prolonged drouth. However, the May rains filled the lakebed with sufficient water to run the club for approximately six or seven months and the membership voted at a recent meeting to rework the course and institute a membership program.

Club officers are: A. A. White, president; F. W. Roberds, vice-president; C. R. Tyler, secretary-treasurer. Directors are: Fred Cook, Otis Purvis, W. E. Tyler, J. F. Foster, L. B. Forbes, O. B. Edmondson and W. R. Gibson.

A committee composed of L. B. Forbes, Fred Cook and Curt Smith is now in charge of the rehabilitation work and are busily engaged in placing it in first class playing shape.

President White stated that a plan for re-instatement of delinquent members has been worked out and a drive will be launched in the near future to reinstate them. Anyone desiring to be reinstated or join the club is asked to contact C. R. Tyler at the First State Bank in Rising Star.

Construction on a new two-story 30 by 50 foot, blue tile building was started on the lot adjacent to the Magnolia service station on South Main Street, Monday of this week, and according to an announcement made here Tuesday by the owner, W. A. (Red) Huckaby, it is hoped that it will be ready for occupancy by July 1.

The new building is being erected on the lots purchased by Huckaby from W. J. (Son) Sipes, last week and will, according to the owner, house several oil firms when completed.

The ground floor of the building will be occupied by the Oilbelt Tool Co., of Coleman, which is owned by W. T. (Bill) Jones. Also, on the ground floor will be offices for the Oil Field Service Co., which is owned and operated by Adams & Harding, of Dallas. Jack Adams stated that their firm would render a complete service for oil operators in this area and would be staffed by an efficient office force.

Another oil firm which has already rented office space upstairs in the new building is the Whiteside Tank Co., of Kilgore. There will be five offices upstairs, according to Huckaby's announcement and all are expected to be rented by the time the building is completed.

Cost of the new building is estimated at approximately $7,500.00, and it will be completely air-conditioned with refrigerated air. The lot behind the new building will be attractively fenced and will be used by the Oilbelt Tool Co. for storage space for oilfield equipment.

When completed, the new structure will add much to the attractiveness of the town.

THE BAYOU PHILOSOPHER CLAIMS HE HAS PROOF THE SOUTH WON THE CIVIL WAR AND HE'S SATISFIED

Editor's note: The Bayou Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on the Bayou has an odd idea this week, which we publish without comment. May be a few Yankees living around here.

Dear editar:

All my life I've heard it said the Yankees have more stamina than the Southerners, more drive, more get-up about em, if you want something done, give it to a hard-drivin Northerner, don't turn it over to a drawlin slow-movin Southerner, and while this never has bothered me, in fact, it suits me fine, I recognize the wheels of industry and commerce and literature have got to keep turnin and if the Yankees want the job I'm perfectly willin, never did see a wheel that had a place on it to fit my shoulder, but there are some Southerners who don't like it.

They resent it. They argue about it. They get up before daylight to prove they've got as much energy as anybody. Now while it never has affected me that way, I figure energy is something you don't have to prove, it's like money, you spend it recklessly to prove you got it and you wind up without any, personally I've always conserved my energy, feelin that energy still inside me was better than energy used up goin up one row and down another, but as I say, while this claim of Northern superiority in this field of endeavor never has bothered me, it has a lot of Southerners.

I believe though I have run on to some evidence that will win the argument for the South.

I noticed in an article in a magazine the other day which I borrowed from a barber shop in town where I was visitin for social purposes, not professional, where there are now six survivors of the Civil War still livin.

And here's the overwhelmin fact that ought to end the argument from now on: Out of those six survivors, five of em are Confederates! The South had the stamina to out-survive the North five to one. In fact, you might say, from sheer numerical strength, in the final analysis the South won the war.

This is such a satisfying conclusion, such devastatin proof the South has more energy and stayin-power than the North, that as far as I'm concerned that ends the argument and I intend to rest on my laurels from now on. The South can rise again if it wants to, but as for me, personally I'll continue sittin.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

AUSTIN, Tex.—Return of the tidelands' title to the states by the federal government does not write finis to the long, dramatic story of submerged lands.

Texas, for example, owns the lands under the Gulf of Mexico to a distance of 10.3 miles (or three leagues). Beyond that line, the "continental shelf" is the property of the federal government.

It is expected that now the tidelands controversy is settled, both the state and the federal government will start leasing land for oil development.

What will that do?

Will great production from the continental shelf cut down the demand for Texas (including tidelands) oil?

These are questions that remain to be answered, and they have considerable significance for Texans, because the oil industry is the state's greatest taxpayer.

If, for example, the tidelands produce heavily and provide a tremendous revenue to the state, other tax sources will not have to be tapped heavily.

If, on the other hand, the continental shelf becomes a major oil producer, the tax revenue will go to the federal government, and Texas taxpayers will suffer accordingly.

Answers to the questions posed here may be long in coming, but in the meantime there are bound to be many columns of newspaper space devoted to them.

Top issues are involved. for instance, if the tidelands yield sufficient tax revenue, the teachers' pay can be increased—and therein lies one of the hottest governmental issues in Texas today.

It is an issue, by the way, that will certainly figure outstandingly in the political campaigns of next summer.

You may be certain that prospective candidates, who are writing their platforms now, are putting the question of teacher pay at the top of their lists.

There remains, of course, the possibility that a special session of the legislature may solve the problem by providing more money for teachers.

Even so, teacher pay will remain a political issue, both in state and local races.

Legislators seeking re-election may in some instances have a hard time if it is shown that they opposed the $600 per month pay increase for teachers.

Current demand for Texas oil was boosted when the Exchange Crude Oil Purchasing Company of Dallas offered to buy from the state 15,000 barrels of oil per day for a price two percent or five cents a barrel above the top market price.

New Mexico already has accepted a similar proposal, which is part of an overall project to operate a pipeline from Midland to Los Angeles.

The West Coast Pipeline Company would operate the 960-mile facility, which would cost a billion dollars and carry a total of 300,000 barrels of crude per day.

Land Commissioner Bascom Giles said he would probably ask for more money for the Texas crude, and that a decision on the offer would be made in about two weeks.

The state supreme court upheld its former decision by ruling against rehearing two test cases attacking the natural gas "gathering" tax.

This tax was passed by the 1951 Legislature and immediately challenged by the gas companies. It has been in the courts ever since, and the revenue from the tax has been piling up, unspent.

If and when the court's decision becomes final, it is expected that Governor Shivers will call a special session of the Legislature to appropriate the money.

Governor Shivers has signed a bill that hits at beer taverns and undertakes to keep liquor gangsters out of Texas.

The bill, sponsored by the state liquor control board and the liquor and beer associations, gives the board wider powers to close up beer and liquor establishments that are indecent or jeopaardize the public safety.

Under the new law there are 31 causes for which the Liquor Control Board may suspend or cancel a beer retailers permit, as compared with 15 in the present law.

It attempts to keep gangsters out of Texas by requiring that liquor establishments must be 51 percent Texas owned.

Another provision is that counties may vote to permit sale of alcoholic beverages for off premise consumption only. That would put the beer tavern out of the picture.

Four illict stills were seized by Texas Liquor Control Board agents during April, and Coke R. Stevenson Jr., the board's administrator commented that high federal taxes on whiskey encourages moonshining.

The administrator recalled that the national conference of liquor administrators, recently held in Minneapolis passed a resolution asking the federal government to reduce taxes on whiskey so that it can be sold at a price that is more competitive with the moonshine.

Dr. J. M. Bethea assumed his duties as executive director of the state board for hospitals and special schools. Thus he will be in charge of the care and treatment of 30,000 persons in state institutions.

A retired army general, Dr. Bethea was formerly commanding officer of McCloskey General Hospital at Temple. Previously he was head of Brooke Army Medical Center, San Antonio.

Hunters will be interested in a law passed by the recent legislature and granting the state game commission power to regulate seasons and bag limits in Gillespie, Kerr and Mason Counties—in the hill country where deer abound.

Previously, the regulations were set by the legislature itself.

One purpose of the new law was to bring about legalized killing of does which, game experts say, are getting too numerous.

A showdown test of the State Parks Board's power to borrow $3,000,000 to build three resort hotels in Texas is in motion.

Plans are drawn for three, one million dollar lodges and other facilities to be built with private capital in state parks at Lake Texoma, near Denison, Inks Lake near Burnet, and Possum Kingdom Lake near Mineral Wells.

A court test will undoubtedly be necessary to determine the validity of the financial plan.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd advised a legislative committee that issuance of negotionable revenue bonds for the purpose would be illegal.

Representative Jack Fisk of Wharton tried unsuccessfully to have the 1953 Legislature pass a law prohibiting erection of the lodges. He threatens to file an injunction suit against the board if necessary to stop the construction.

Fisk contends that the resorts would compete with private tourist courts and hotels and that if the projects failed the state would be liable.

SHORT SNORTS: Ed Reichelt has resigned as an assistant attorney general to join a law firm in Fort Worth . . . Jefferson Davis' birthday was mighty quiet here; not only the banks but also most state offices were closed . . . State employees will henceforth get seven cents per mile travel allowance on their cars, instead of the former six cents. The raise was provided for in a bill which the governor has signed . . . State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox announced that he had sent an observer to study the atomic blasts in Nevada. The expert will return and make a report on how to deal with radiation hazards . . . Twenty-seven touring landowners from Mexico visited the capitol, receiving certificates of honorary Texas citizenship, and visited several ranches in this area.

Mrs. Robert Clark of Iraan visited relatives in Cross Plains and Rising Star last week.

CITY DRUG STORE

There's only one answer...

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

Fleet operators, farmers, independent truckers—truck users everywhere—buy more Chevrolets than any other make. There can be only one reason for that: Chevrolet trucks offer more of what you want.

CHEVROLET

first in demand in value in sales

As the official registration figures keep rolling in, they keep telling the same positive story about truck popularity and truck value: Again in 1953, for the twelfth straight production year, truck buyers show a clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks.

If you're a truck user, this fact is mighty important to you. Why? Well, as you know, trucks are built and bought for just one reason—to do a job. So isn't it logical then that since Chevrolet trucks outsell all others, they must do a better job at lower cost?

That's why it will pay you to stop in and see us before you buy your next truck.

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Sabanno Community Homecoming Sunday

Mrs. Edwin Erwin, Reporter

The homecoming we had been looking forward to was one of the happiest days we have had at Sabanno in a long time. Even though so many that were here once before were not to be seen at this time and their presence was missed and many pleasant memories ran through our minds as our program was carried on.

The morning service was turned over to old friends and loved ones who wanted to say hello. Lauson King gave the welcome address, followed by talks from many old timers. Several songs were sung and W. E. Lusk gave the history of Sabanno which was very interesting and carried our memories back to some of the happiest days of our lives. Mrs. S. B. Webb and Mrs. Annie Brashear, both of Cisco, made interesting talks.

Six old timers past the 80 year mark were present. They were: Davis Montgomery, 86, Cross Plains; T. N. Minix, 81, Sweetwater; Mrs. S. B. Webb, 84, Cisco; Mrs. Emma Parkinson, 86, Romney; Mrs. Annie Brashear, 84, Cisco; and Mrs. Zed Green, 80, Nimrod.

At the noon nour a wonderful dinner was spread on the long tables under the tabernacle and there was plenty for everyone.

The afternoon was spent in singing and visiting and the president of the cemetery association, Truett Dawkins, made an interesting report regarding the cemetery. The secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Erwin, gave a report on the organization and other facts on the association. The cemetery is in good shape and the committee also wishes to thank those making donations to the association.

Charlie Goleanor, chairman of the entertainment committee, is certainly due the thanks of the entire community for the fine job he did in making the homecoming such an enjoyable one.

NOTICE To Water Consumers!

This is to advise you, the citizens of the municipality of Cross Plains, of a fact, which you are already aware, that the city is out of water. This is not a peculiar or exceptional circumstance in drouth-ridden West Texas. Many towns, villages and cities are out of or on the verge of being out of water.

The usual question is why does the City refrain from drilling more wells and the intelligent answer would be about like asking why not build more reservoirs on a water shed that fails to fill or supply water for the storage already provided.

In the opinion of your mayor, mutual and cooperative spirit and good citizenship would and will induce you to refrain from draining the last drop that you can bleed from your hydrant to sustain a garden, flowers or a lawn desirable and necessary as things are, and do your part to conserve our meager and dwindling supply for drinking and household purposes.

A water sand, like an artificial lake, can be drained dry and ours, the source of our water supply, is going to remain practically dry until nature restores the supply by a copious and abundant rainfall.

Your consideration and cooperation is earnestly solicited.

Respectfully,

S. F. BOND, Mayor
City of Cross Plains

Fort Worth.—Summer movement of cattle reached a peak at Fort Worth Monday that was a record for the season, and the largest run of grown cattle since 1934 arrived. Some 10,500 cattle and 1,500 calves were estimated and during the day both figures were eclipsed.

Biggest modern day run of cattle and calves to Fort Worth was the second week of October 1946, the week after OPA regulations were dropped. On that Monday, some 10,150 cattle and over 9,800 calves arrived. That being a season of heavy calf sales, which June is not, the combined totals far surpassed the Monday run at Fort Worth.

High grade cattle and calves found prices steady to weak, except prime drylot fed beeves were steady to strong. However, the cull, common, plain and medium to fairly good cattle and calves were weak to $1 lower. Shelly low grades were off fully $1 and more.

Another larger offering appeared in the sheep barn at Fort Worth Monday, as receipts hit 14,500. Choice fat lambs of over 70 pounds were fully steady, lighter weights and the medium and lower grades were weak to $1 or more lower. Ewes were $1 off. Old bucks lost $1. Choice fat yearlings were steady, but others dipped sharply.

Hogs were steady to 25 cents higher, topping at $24.50 and $24.-75. Sows were steady at $20 to $22, and feeder pigs cashed at $21 down.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings sold for $17 to $23.50, the day's top honors were shared by L G. Davis of Shackelford County and G. A. McClung of Johnson County. Davis had 37 steers averaging 1,070 lbs. at $23.50 and McClung had 20 yearlings of 995 lbs. at $23.50. Common and medium grassers sold from $10 to $16, and cutter grades sold from $7 to $10. Fat cows $8.50-12.00, a load of heiferettes averaging 1,025 lbs. from G. A. White, Brady, topped at $14.25. Canners and cutters $5.00-8.50. Bulls from $7.00-14.00, some shelly dairy breeds down to $6 and below.

Good and choice fat calves $16.-00-20.00, some yearling weights 500 lbs. and up, $21.50. Common and medium $10.00-15.00, culls $7.-00-10.00. Good and choice quality stocker calves $16.00-20.00, good and choice stocker steer yearlings $15.00-19.00, heifer calves and heifer yearlings $2 to $3 under comparable steers. Stocker cows $10.00-13.00.

Good and choice milk lambs $18.-00-25.00, few to $26.0026.50 and cull, common and medium to good sorts from 12.00-18.00. Feeder yearlings $10.00-15.00, cull yearlings $8.00-10.00. Fat yearlings $17.00-20.00.

Two-year-olds $9.00-14.00, and old wethers $10.00 down . Old ewes $3.00-5.00. Old bucks around $3.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Puckett and daughter, Ann, of Big Lake spent several days here the past week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Riley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rundell and children were visiting with friends in Cross Plains Wednesday of the past week. The Rundells moved to Austin following the close of school here.

Imogene Newton, Ralston P. Haun, Jr., Wed In Coleman First Methodist Church Ceremony

Imported rose point lace and Swiss organdy fashioned the gown worn by Miss Imogene Newton when she became the bride of Ralston P. Haun, Jr., of Comanche Wednesday, June 3, at the First Methodist Church in Coleman.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Newton of Cross Cut. He is the son of Mrs. Ralston P. Haun of Coleman.

The Rev. J. D. F. Williams read the double ring ceremony at 7:00 o'clock in the evening. Sprays and baskets of fern and greenery formed the background for the altar before which the ceremony was read. Assorted white flowers were banked in front of the greenery and at either end of the altar, which was lighted with six tall candelabra and covered in white. Isle runners were also white. The pews were marked with big satin bows and white carnations.

Mrs. Johnny Warren Jr., organist, played a melody of sacred music preceding the ceremony, and accompanied Mrs. E. E. McKinney who sang "Oh, Lord Most Holy" and "The Lord's Prayer," Mallotte. Mrs. Warren also played the Bridal Chorus from Lohrengrin for the processional and The Wedding March, Mendelsohn, for the recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of imported rose point lace over imported Swiss organdy and a very fine taffeta that extended into a short train at the back.

The dress was an original that was fashioned with a Peter Pan collar and a fitted bodice that extended to a deep V in the front and back. The bodice was fastened down the front with tiny covered buttons. The sleeves carried out the same lines with long points over the hands and fastened at the wrists with tiny covered buttons. In front the underskirt of organdy peeped between scalloped folds of lace that swept toward the back and extended down into the train.

The bride's fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught to a dainty cap of orange blossoms and lily of the valley. The bride's flowers were arranged in a light, airy fashion with white carnations, stock, lily of the valley and white satin streamers. The arrangement was centered with a white orchid.

To carry out the old tradition of something old the bride wore a petticoat worn by her mother in her wedding, something new was a pearl clip, a gift of the groom, something borrowed, a lace handkerchief belonging to Gladys Townsen and something blue, a satin garter. She also wore a penny, made in the year she was born, in her shoe.

Miss Anita Newton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore white eyelet organdy over white taffeta fashioned with a tight cummerbund and floor length full skirt. It had a low rolled collar and short sleeves. She wore elbow length gauntlets and carried a nosegay of spring flowers. Her headdress was a half-moon of spring flowers in pastel shades.

Candlelighters were Jane Haun, sister of the bride, and Weldon Newton, brother of the bride. Miss Haun wore white [illegible] taffeta over the shoulders, a fitted bodice and a floor length full skirt. Her headdress was a half moon of pastel flowers.

David Layton of Duncan, Oklahoma served the groom as best man. Ushers were Charles Leftwich of Fort Worth and Lewis Goss of Coleman.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue lace afternoon dress, black accessories and a gardenia corsage. The groom's mother chose an afternoon dress of blue lace with navy accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Miss Gladys Townsen. The home was decorated with spring flowers with yellow and white, the bride's chosen colors, being the predominating colors.

The bride's table was laid with a point Venice cloth. White carnations and stock formed the centerpiece that was highlighted by triple crystal candle sticks on either side. On one end of the table the three-tiered wedding cake, topped with wedding bells, balanced the crystal punch bowl on the other.

Mrs. Charles Leftwich of Fort Worth, sister of the groom, and Mrs. James W. Newton of Abilene, sister-in-law of the bride, served cake. Mrs. Ferrell Newton of Cross Cut, sister-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Marcus Hickerson of Waxahachie, served punch.

Mrs. Frances Stevens Dibrelll invited guests to the register, which was presided over by Mrs. Amon Johnston. Others in the house party were Mrs. E. E. McKinney, Mrs. Sam Dibrell, Mrs. Johnny Warren, Jr., all of Coleman, Miss La Juan Authur of Talpa, Mrs. William Palm of Brownwood and Miss Gail Millican of San Saba. Miss Drucilla Eberhart said goodbyes.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Waco, Houston and Galveston, the new Mrs. Haun was wearing a toast colored Irish linen two piece suit, black shoes and bag and white hat and gloves. Her orchid corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Haun graduated in 1950 from Texas State College for Women in Denton, where she was a member of the Philomathia Social Club, president of the Home Economics Education Club and vice-president of the Heart of Texas Club.

She was a duchess in the Queen's Court at the Cotton Bowl at A and M, representing her senior class, member of the Mary Swartz Rose Club, sophomore councilor and was on the honor roll her junior and senior years. In Coleman, where she has taught homemaking the past three years, she belongs to the First Methodist Choir and the Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority.

The groom graduated from A and M College in 1949 with a degree in Civil Engineering. While at A and M he was a distinguished student on the honor roll and member of the San Angelo Club. He is a marine veteran of World War II and served as a Lieutenant with the First Marine Division in Korea for a year, returning home on Christmas Day. He is now Resident Engineer for the Texas Highway Department in Comanche where they will make their home.

LIVESTOCK PEST CONTROL

Livestock pests cost the nation an annual loss estimated at over half a billion dollars.

Who bears the brunt of this loss? Everybody does—the farmer and the consumer pay higher prices for necessary goods due to wasted feed, damaged hides, and both lowered quality and reduced output in such essential animal products as meat, milk, eggs, wool and leather.

The common fly is a real culprit in this respect. He cuts deeply into beef and milk production. Insects keep grazing animals from grazing adequately when feeding costs are lowest. Cattle grubs do much damage to hides and may also reduce output of beef and milk.

Also high on the list of "profit robbers" are ticks, lice, screwworms, and sheep ticks which take an immense toll in unproduced meat and fibers that should go for food and clothing. Infested animals are "discontinted" and cannot produce good quality meat.

Fortunately, most of these losses can be reduced or eliminated. Individual farmers can do much to protect their own livestock but community cooperation can do even more. United action makes for better eradication.

To successfully control insect farmers and ranchmen must know what pests attack animals, what insecticides to use, the correct formulas and methods of application.

County agents, entomologists, veterinarians and other specialists can render important service in providing information and leadership to get the more harmful livestock pests in hand. A number of bulletins also are available for research and study.
