Petrolia Bank Bandits Given Life Sentences In Court At Henrietta

PAIR PLEADS GUILTY BEFORE JUDGE STINE

Third Member of Trio Given 12-Year Sentence For Theft of Car

HEAVY TERMS HERE

Judge Martin Assesses 80 Years in Penitentiary Against Robbers

Pleading guilty before Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court Monday morning to 10 charges of hijacking and theft, and before Judge Vincent Stine at Henrietta Monday afternoon to bank robbery and kidnaping, two young ex-convicts captured here on May 30 by Sheriff Perry Browning and two deputies were given life imprisonment and a third received sentences totalling 24 years.

Quick Trials

After being convicted in 10 Wichita county cases Monday morning, the trio was taken to Henrietta by Sheriff Jeff Donnell of Clay county. They were brought to trial promptly before Judge Stine. J. O. Russell and Ted Rogers, pleading guilty before the court to charges of robbing the Continental State bank at Petrolia and kidnaping Miss Mary Frazier, cashier, were sentenced to life imprisonment. Max Berryhill, third member of the group, entered a plea of guilty before a jury to a charge of car theft, and was given a sentence of 12 years. The three prisoners were returned to the Wichita county jail about 7 o'clock Monday evening for safe keeping.

Prison sentences meted out by Judge Martin Monday morning after the three defendants had entered pleas of guilty and waived right of jury trial totalled 80 years. Russell and Rogers received four sentences each, totalling 24 years, but running concurrently by the court's stipulation to send each man to the prison for 25 years. Berryhill, third member of the trio, was sentenced on two charges to 12 years in the penitentiary, terms of 10 and two years to be cumulative.

Taxi Driver Stripped

Heaviest punishment was assessed by Judge Martin for the kidnaping and hijacking of Wilbur Wilks, Four Treys taxicab driver, on May 14. Wilks testified to having answered a call to Fourth and Travis, of being ordered to drive out the Petrolia road, and of being made prisoner a few miles out of the city. There, he related, the two bandits took all his clothing but his socks, and drove away with his taxicab and money. The court imposed 25 years' imprisonment on each defendant.

Rogers and Russell were given five years each for the hijacking of the Kemp Kort drug store on May 28; two years each for theft of an automobile from R. L. Nelson about the middle of May; and two years each for theft of a medicine bag from the automobile of Dr. L. Mackechney here. The Nelson car, they said, was used in the Petrolia bank robbery.

Berryhill was given 10 years in the Kemp Kort case and two years in the theft case. District Attorney

Gaston B. Means Found Guilty On Larceny Charges

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—Gaston B. Means tonight was found guilty on two separate accounts of the larcenies of $100,000 and $4,000 which he took from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McNeal to "ransom" the Lindbergh baby.

The jury, composed of 11 men and one woman, deliberated two hours.

The $100,000 was the sum given him for actual ransom and the $4,000 was expense money also given him by Mrs. McLean to conduct the "negotiations."

Following the verdict the former government sleuth was committed to jail without bond. Defense Counsel T. Morris Wampler was granted an appeal which will be heard Saturday.

Maximum sentence for Means would be 20 years, 10 on each conviction, but a concurrent maximum sentence of 10 years remains in judicial discretion.

Former Hoover Aide Summoned to White House

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—George Akerson, former confidential secretary to President Hoover, was hurriedly summoned to the White House today to be at the chief executive's right hand during the Chicago convention.

Other important developments were that Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley definitely eliminated himself as a vice presidential candidate. Mr. Hoover made plans to conduct his campaign as far as possible from his camp at the headwaters of the Rapidan river in Virginia.

The return of Akerson, who resigned a year ago to accept an executive position in the motion picture industry, came as a complete surprise.

FORMER VERNON TAX COLLECTOR INDICTED

C. D. Greene Held In $30,000 Bond On Six Charges

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, June 13.—C. D. Greene, former tax collector of Wilbarger county, was indicated by the grand jury here today on six counts of misapplication of public funds. The six indictments charge the misapplication of $75,000.

Greene, accompanied by his attorney, surrendered to Sheriff R. L. Rhesa at the latter's office at 10 o'clock tonight, a short time after the grand jury had made its report. He was released on $30,000 bond, $5,000 on each indictment. Bond already had been made at the time of his surrender.

Greene is a member of a prominent Wilbarger county family. About 38 years old, he was born in this section. His family came here about 50 years ago. He resigned his office of tax collector on May 21, while serving his eighth year in that capacity.

Charges allege misapplications of funds of his office over a period of several months. The several indictments involve amounts ranging from $1,000 to $35,000. They are as follows: First indictment $35,000; second, $9,000; third, $2,500; fourth, $25,000; fifth, $2,500; sixth, $1,000.

Officials of the district attorney's office indicated that an early trial would be sought. Greene is represented by J. A. Storey.

VETERANS WIN FIRST ROUND

House to Take Direct Vote Today on Bonus Bill

WASHINGTON, June 13. (US)—With 20,000 ragged, wet and muddy veterans here as a living appeal for their 4,000,000 buddies of the world war, the house answered today by voting 226 to 175 to consider the $2,400,000,000 cash bonus bill.

The men of the bonus expeditionary forces encamped in the city of shacks on the outskirts of the city went mad with joy as the news reached them that they had won the first round of the battle that brought many of them across the continent.

While the majority of 51 by which bonus advocates in the house forced the bill to a direct vote tomorrow was impressive, it fell 124 short of the necessary two-thirds to pass the measure over the expected presidential veto.

Faces Adversity

The bill faces hard sledding in the senate also. Republican leaders asserted that 56 senators, a substantial majority, already have pledged themselves to vote against the measure. Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, leader in the pro-bonus fight, however, said he was still confident of victory.

The first vote in the house came on the question of discharging the War mweather prevailed. The maximum temperature registered 93 degrees. The minimum was 66 degrees. The mercury stood at 75 at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Railroad dispatchers here reported showers over the entire region Monday morning. Rainfall at other points was in proportion to the fall here.

TEXAS DEMOS WILL VOTE ON RESUBMISSION

Executive Committee Gives People Opportunity To Express Views

SPECIAL BALLOT

Party Adopts Proposal Of Tyler Publisher By 16 to 13 Vote

AUSTIN, June 13. (UP)—Texas Democrats will vote on resubmission of the liquor question in the state primary election July 23.

The proposal goes before the voters in the home state of U. S. Senator Morris Sheppard, author of the 18th amendment, by a 16 to 13 vote of the state Democratic executive committee here today.

Special Ballott

A special ballott will be submitted at the primary election, separate from the ballot upon which names of candidates appear. This ballot will provide opportunity to vote for or against calling on the 73rd U. S. congress to submit the retention or repeal of the 18th amendment to the people through conventions especially elected in the separate states to consider that issue by itself.

The proposal was drafted by Carl Estes, Tyler publisher, member of the executive committee and a delegate at large from Texas to the national Democratic convention at Chicago.

Estes is a prohibitionist and says that when congress submits the question he expects to vote against repeal. He declared, however, he is against any attempt to gag the people and against "steam roller methods."

Opposition Heard

Recalling that the 18th amendment was passed while many of the voters were overseas, Estes declared enforcement cannot be expected until the whole people have a chance to be heard.

J. L. Wheeler of Texarkana, home of U. S. Senator Sheppard, opposed the action taken today. He asserted that prohibition should not be submitted in connection with the primary election because it will overshadow other issues. Submissionists took him up on that expression, declaring he admitted that it is the one on which the people are clamoring to speak.

The liquor vote offered the only excitement in an otherwise perfunctory meeting of the executive committee called to arrange the primary election ballot to fix a state convention site. Lubbock was chosen.

Names of Wright Morrow of Houston and W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales, were dropped from the list of candidates for governor, leaving nine contenders. Their friends had filed their names by petition and each declined to run. A majority vote is required to nominate.

Both Gov. Ross S. Sterling and former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, who went into the run-off election two years ago, are candidates. Frank Putnam of Houston who ran on a prohibition repeal platform two years ago, again is a candidate also.

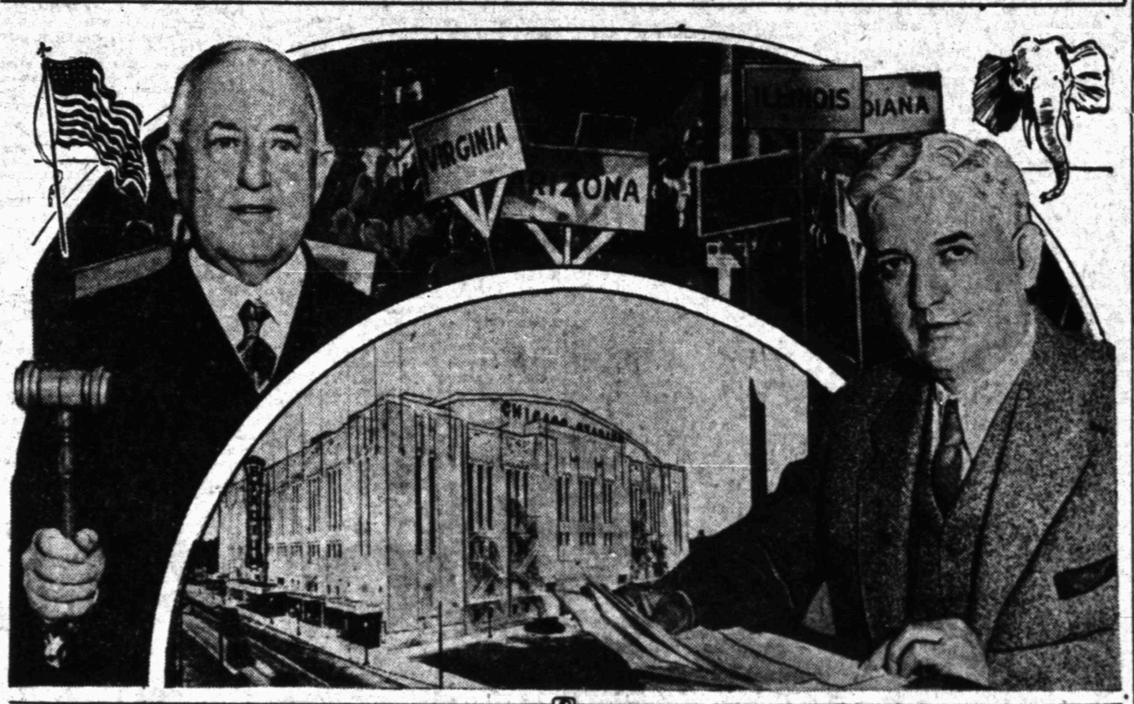

Fourteen candidates qualified to run for congressman at large, place one; 12 to run for place two, and 14 for place three. Among them are four women. J. H. (Cyclone) Davis, a former congressman at large from Texas is a candidate and Joseph Weldon Bailey, son of the late U. S. Senator Bailey. Mrs. Fred Real, one of the women candidates, is the widow of the late Congressman Martin Dies.

A proposal by Mrs. Ferguson that election officers calling ballots be required to initial them to reduce the chances of fraud was adopted.

King Albert Decorates Amelia Earhart Putnam

BRUSSELS, June 13. (US)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam today was decorated by King Albert of the Belgians with the insignia of a Knight of the Order of Leopold, in honor of her three-record transatlantic flight. The Royal Aero club also presented the American aviatrix with a gold medal commorating her achievement.

G. O. P. STAGES WET PARADE

Runyon Declares Demos By Far Best Paraders

By DAMON RUNYON

(Copyr't, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

CHICAGO, June 13.—Say what you please, a Democrat can always give a Republican cards and spades and little casino, and still win at wet parading. I suppose it is a matter of sheer instinct, or something of that kind.

They had a wet parade here this afternoon made up of Republicans. At least most of the paraders were supposed to be Republicans, although a number paraded suspiciously like Democrats. The parade was under the auspices of the Republican citizens committee against prohibition. An organization known as the Crusaders was also doing some auspicing, but I couldn't tell 'em apart.

Walker Is Expert

Well, I guarantee that Mayor James J. Walker of New York, could put on a better wet parade all by himself. I am wondering if Mayor Walker hasn't grounds for a libel action against the Chicago Republicans for travesty on his idea that produced in New York City 100,000 of the greatest wet paraders the world has ever seen, mainly Democrats.

There wasn't anything like that number of wet paraders in the Republican parade today. One of my operatives claims that several thousand who expected to join the parade missed connections by being delayed in the local talk-softlys.

Beer Shipment Delayed

My operative claims that a shipment of beer expected in the local talk-softlys was unaccountably held up, so the potential paraders had to wait until it arrived. They did not wish to start wet parading until they had the proper urge. I am not inclined to credit this information, however. I think the comparatively sparse wet parading was due to the fact that the Republicans are not naturally wet paraders.

Another thing about this wet parade this afternoon, the paraders rode in automobiles. I am glad

Will Rogers Shames Republicans For Trying to Sacrifice Curtis

It Isn't 'Injun Charley's' Age, It's Votes That Prompt Opposition to Vice President

By WILL ROGERS

(Copyright, 1932, by McNaught Syndicate, Inc., for The Record News.)

CHICAGO, June 13.—Well, got some scandal for you today, for it wouldn't be a Republican convention without some sort of undercover "finagling." They are out now to throw poor old Injun Charley Curtis off and get another vice president.

Now they are trying to do this at the last minute. They wouldn't tell him a few months before and let him run and get his seat back in the senate. They wait till now to root him out. Their alibi is that he is too old in case something happened to the president. Well, they knew a few months ago how old he would be about now. Anyhow, how can you tell when a vice president makes good and when he don't. They have never given one anything to do yet to find out.

What they are after, only they haven't got the decency to come right out and say it is, "we are in the hole and we got to try and dig up somebody that will help us swing some votes. It's not your age, Charley; it's not your party loyalty. You got to be the goat, not us. So any one we can think of that can carry the most votes we are going to nominate em, be it Charley Chaplin or Amelia Earhart. You been a good Injun, but it's votes not sentiment we are after this year. So long, Charley, take care of yourself."

My candidate for president on both parties blew in here today, John D. Rockefeller Jr. He and I may huddle tonight on plans.

The alternates are camped on the edge of town and are being cared for by the Salvation Army. They say they are going to stay till they get badges as big as the ones the delegates has.

If the house votes the soldiers the bonus tomorrow we are arranging a window for the secretary of the treasury to jump out of.

The vice presidential candidates, in case they throw out Curtis, is Charley Dawes, Pat Hurley and Hanford Macnider.

Lots of beautiful ladies lobbying for the wets. If a man will just act doubtful he can get a lot of attention.

Garner Improving But Can't Work Yet

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Confined to his bed by bronchitis but feeling better, Speaker Garner was told today by his physician he "cannot go back to work before Thursday at the earliest."

Dr. George H. Calver, house physician, said he had given this advice to the speaker, "although he is improving rapidly enough that I think there are not likely to be any additional complications."

Party leaders who visited him said he was particularly interested in the status of relief legislation.

These visitors indicated no definite house action on relief would be taken until the Texan returned to work.

The house adopted a resolution electing Representative Rainey of Illinois, Democratic leader, "as speaker pro tempore."

DAWES DENIES HIS CANDIDACY

Refusal of Vice President Nomination Made

WASHINGTON, June 13. (AP)—Charles G. Dawes said formally tonight he was not a candidate for the Republican vice presidential nomination and requested his friends not to embarrass him by their support.

After press reports the Illinois delegation to the Chicago convention was considering presenting his name for the nomination, General Dawes issued the following statement:

"I am not a candidate for the nomination for vice president. No one is or will be authorized to present my name to the convention and I request my friends not to embarrass me by their support."

After his resignation unexpectedly last week as president of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to return to private business in Chicago, General Dawes again was drawn into speculation as a possible successor to Vice President Curtis.

His statement was the second of the day from a high governmental official disclaiming ambitions for the vice presidential nomination, Secretary Hurley having said earlier he was not a candidate and would not be.

AKRON ARRIVES ON EAST COAST

Dirigible to Refuel at Parris Island, S. C.

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., June 13. (AP)—Completing its transcontinental flight from Sunnyvale, Calif., without mishap, the navy's giant dirigible Akron arrived here late today and tied up at the marine station mooring mast for the night.

A light rain was falling when the big silver-hulled craft sailed over the marine barracks at 5:15 p. m. (central standard time).

Lieutenant Commander Charles H. Rosendahl, in charge of the Akron, advised the marine station by radio this afternoon the craft would refuel here.

Marine station officials were advised the Akron would leave early tomorrow to complete its return trip to Lakehurst, N. J., its home base, unless unfavorable weather delayed its take-off.

Mine Blast Kills Three, Six Others Believed Dead

SPLASHDAM, Va., June 13. (UP)—Three miners are dead and six others are believed to have been killed in an explosion today in the Splashdam mine.

Rescuers using equipment from Norton, 35 miles away, reached the men entombed by the explosion, which is thought to have been caused by gas or coal dust.

Three bodies have been recovered, three more were believed located and the rescue party hoped to discover the others tonight.

The known dead are Oscar Dowele, survived by a widow and five children; Cecil Stock, and a miner named Stump.

Sidetracking of Prosperity Issue Sows Seeds of Discontent in G. O. P.

CHICAGO, June 13. (US)—Growing discontent among delegates to the Republican national convention over the side-tracking of proposals for expeditious recovery of the nation from its economic ills was indicated today.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, who will be permanent chairman of the convention, said:

"All they are talking about here is prohibition. It is important that this issue be settled, but I hear little about what should be done immediately to bring back prosperity.

"With factories closed and millions of men out of work I think we should consider that situation."

Though Snell was attempting to whip up conversation among the delegates on economic questions, it was learned that the administration's plank for unemployment relief carries no plans in addition to the program repeatedly uttered by President Hoover.

The administration plank on unemployment relief makes the federal Reconstruction Finance corporation the chief agency to bring back prosperity so far as federal machinery is concerned.

Planks demanding insertion of pledges to embark on a vast river and harbor development program will be offered.

Western delegates want the platform to say something for relief of the mining areas, especially a plank to work for stabilization of the price of silver.

The resolutions committee will meet Wednesday.

By ROBERT BARRY

Universal Service Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 13.—The Republican national convention opens tomorrow with the administration forces still struggling to find a prohibition plank.

All of the hopes to avert anything smacking of a "smoke-filled room" famous in Chicago's previous Republican pow-wow went by the boards.

The Hoover field agents burned the midnight oil struggling over phraseology acceptable alike to the president and to a convention inclined to conform to rising popular tides for outright scrapping of the whole structure of the 18th amendment.

With agreement near on prohibition the midnight council found the movement to nominate Gen. Charles G. Dawes for second place on the ticket assuming disturbing proportions.

Texas for Dawes

Texas voted to cast her 40 votes for Dawes, after R. B. Creager, national committeeman, had pleaded that Vice President Curtis was too old to be re-elected.

Texas will place Dawes in nomination, by asking Alabama to yield its place on the roll call.

"We will have enough votes to nominate General Dawes on the first ballot," Creager asserted confidently.

Iowa was the next state to fall in with the Dawes movement pledging 25 votes for him.

Ten of Colorado's 15 delegates were reported to favor the general. Illinois which planned to start the boom for him was unable to get around to starting the boom, due to friction over the national committeeman.

Advises Asking Dawes

"Before they get themselves too excited they had better ascertain whether he will take it," declared Raymond Benjamin, of California, one of the Hoover high command.

In all other respects, the administration forces appeared to have the routine of the convention well in hand. Possibilities of stormy scenes subsided so steadily throughout the day as to be almost negligible when Mr. Hoover finally hung up his private telephone and called it a day.

The administration's plan to release a "trial balloon" prohibition plank recommending resubmission with provision for a substitute to be framed by congress was abandoned tonight. The drafting experts asked for further time. Hence the midnight session.

The idea had been to try out the administration idea on the Pennsylvania delegation. The caucus of that group was adjourned, however, until tomorrow, following the opening session of the convention, announcedly to enable the Hoover

Business Leaders Honor Doak at Luncheon

CHICAGO, June 13. (US)—Fifty railroad executives and presidents of some of the biggest industrial concerns in the country attended a luncheon given in honor of Secretary of Labor Doak today.

Among others who paid tribute to the cabinet member was Mayor Anton J. Cermak, mayor of Chicago. The luncheon was arranged by Walter L. McMenimen, an executive of the Pullman company.

Doak and his wife, accompanied by Secretary of State Stimson, arrived this morning to attend the Republican convention.

Jap Rescues Bodies Of Lovers From Volcano

HILO, T. H., June 13. (US)—After passing five hours in the pit of Halemaumau volcano, a Japanese contractor had today recovered the bodies of two lovers from the crater where they had rested since the murder and suicide of a despairing youth.

R. Konishi, contractor, after more than a week of preparation, was lowered into the smoking depths in a cage. Despite the fact that he did not use a gas mask, he suffered no ill effects from the adventure.

The two lovers were Sylvester Nunes, 20, and Margaret Enos, 17. The young man killed the girl when she spurned his advances and with her body in his arms leaped into the pit.

New Jersey Police Probe May Follow Criticism Aroused by Maid's Suicide

ALPINE, N. J., June 13. (AP)—Repercussions, state and international, rumbled in the distance today as the state police investigation into the Lindbergh kidnaping and murder reached an apparent dead-end and Gov. A. Harry Moore come to the defense of the police handling the case.

An investigation into the police tactics in the case was said to be a virtual certainty by Senator Emerson L. Richards, Republican leader. He asserted the case "has been slaughtered to make a Democratic holiday."

Meanwhile, in London, labor members of parliament, aroused by the suicide of the English waitress, Violet Sharpe, in the Morrow home on Friday, signified an intention to ask the British government to make representations to the United States government over the suicide. Newspapers there expressed indignation against New Jersey police, some accusing them of driving the girl to suicide by their questioning.

Governor Moore took cognizance of the situation in an official statement in which he said he stood "squarely behind" Superintendent H. Norman Schwarzkopf.

Ernest Brinkert, New Rochelle taxi man, was preparing a written statement for police. Schwarzkopf said Brinkert "has volunteered to stay at Alpine until it (the statement) is completely verified."

BANDITS DRAW LIFE TERMS

Wichita and Clay Courts Assess Penalties

Sam B. Spence stated to the court that Berryhill had aided officials materially in clearing up the cases.

The bank of Petrolia was held up and robbed about 12:40 o'clock on Wednesday, May 18, while H. W. Perkins, its president, was at home for lunch. A customer's telephone call notified the president shortly before 1 o'clock of the absence of Miss Frazier, who had been left in charge during the noon hour. Approximately $1,000 had been taken from the counter and tills.

Boy Robbed of Car

Miss Frazier was released by the bandits near Ringgold about three hours later, having been held captive in their car during that time. She identified both Russell and Rogers three hours after they were arrested here May 30.

The Clay county charge of car theft against Berryhill was the outgrowth of a "raid" said to have been made by the trio into the southwestern portion of Clay county on the morning of May 30. Tyra Roper, 19, of Shannon, was robbed of the car he drove, was tied to a fence post with bailing wire, and left with his mouth sealed with adhesive tape. The car later was recovered at Jacksboro. The youth released himself within about half an hour, and notified officers at Henrietta.

According to statements of the defendants introduced in court, Russell and Rogers met in Amarillo early in May, rented a service car which they abandoned near Big Spring. There they kidnaped a taxi driver and forced him to drive them to a point four miles from Wichita Falls on the Seymour road, where they ejected him. The taxi was abandoned by the bandits in this city.

They stole the Nelson car and robbed the Petrolia bank on May 18, four days after having hijacked Wilks, the Four Treys taxicab driver.

Former Convicts

Russell and Rogers then were joined by Berryhill. They bought an old Ford and drove to Dallas, where a DeSoto car was stolen and driven to Shreveport, La. There they stole the Packard recovered here when they were arrested. The Kemp Kort drug store robbery and theft of the medicine chest took place shortly before they were arrested.

Rogers told the court he was 23 years ol dand was released from the state prison last March 14. He had been given two years each in car theft and burglary cases from McKinney and Dallas, Texas. His home is at Denton.

Russell was released last Oct. 1, after serving a two-year sentence from Wichita county for car theft. He is a Wichita Falls youth.

Berryhill is 24 years old and his home is at Houston. He left the penitentiary last May 12 after serving six years for auto theft from Paris, Texas.

Prohibition Hullabaloo Drowns Out G. O. P. Talk of Economic Recovery

strategists to continue their efforts to evolve phraseology.

"We platform carpenters have some very knotty lumber to work with," one of the Hoover "master minds" asserted.

Agreement Near

James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican national convention, brought about the postponement of a show down in the Pennsylvania delegation on the plea that various administration leaders believe that an agreement was near on language which he was confident would prove acceptable to the convention.

Administration leaders accepted the decision of the Pennsylvania delegation, which recorded itself as opposed to any stampedes in Chicago this year, as proof positive the convention would prove tractable and that the Hoover program would go through smoothly.

In many other respects the handiwork of the administration was visible. The selections by state delegations of the men to serve on the resolutions committee left small doubt that a carefully chosen conformist would be found representing an overwhelming number of the states.

Three members of the president's cabinet were designated for the platform-making committee. Mr. Mills will represent New York: Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde will be there for Missouri and Secretary of War Patrick Hurley was chosen for Oklahoma. Mr. Hyde did not win his post without a battle. Wets from St. Louis opposed him vigorously in the state caucus and succeeded in polling 13 of the state's 39 votes.

As state after state disclosed the name of its resolutions committeeman it became apparent the administration would have the situation well in hand for the reporting of a prohibition plank acceptable to Mr. Hoover.

Due to an almost continuous exchange of reports and instructions between the White House and a second-floor room in the Congress hotel, the regulars began to get abroad the notion that the president wants this convention to stress the economic situation to the exclusion of others and to go to the country on the issue that his re-election is imperative to the welfare of the one-time great American pocketbook.

Mr. Hoover wants more emphasis on bread and less on beer.

The repeal submission plank adopted by the New York delegation was a focal point of the prohibition squabble. It was satisfactory to many wets. It was unsatisfactory to the administration forces who said it was too wet. It was unacceptable to the militant and hard-riding wets because they said it committed the party to neither repeal nor retention.

Mills Gives Tip

Secretary of the Treasury Ogden L. Mills tipped off the administration sentiment toward the New York plank when he said he felt no binding obligation to present it to the committee on resolutions on which he will represent New York and did not regard himself as having any inflexible instructions to follow that plank to the extent of joining a minority report in its behalf should more moderate phraseology prevail among the platform carpenters.

Mr. Mills left a very distinct impression that the New York language was stronger than the president desires, that it embodies too much of a concession to the extreme wets.

Senator Hiram Bingham, Connecticut's member of the resolutions committee, declared the New York plank did not go far enough. He wants something stronger than a mere resubmission. He wants the Republicans to say that in resubmitting the question to constitutional conventions they will exert their best efforts to obtain ratification of the repealing resolution.

No one appeared to lend ear to the pleas of the die-hard drys that the convention reassert the fidelity of the Republican party to the 18th amendment and pledge itself to continue its efforts at enforcement.

Repeal to Be Slow

In the realization that the machinery of repeal would be a slow and possibly tedious process, requiring several years to bring repeal to reality, some of the wets desired a declaration for ad interim modification to permit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer as a revenue raising measure. They obtained little, if any encouragement, from the forces at the throttle of the administration steam roller.

In spite of the feverish activity at the Chicago end of the special long distance telephone line running to the executive offices in Washington, the cabineteers and other Hoover outriders blandly persisted in the fiction that the president was keeping hands off the steering wheel of the old juggernaut before which revolters and insurgents were scattering like leaves in an autumn storm.

So complete was the discipline the president demanded through his two secretaries, Lawrence Richey and Walter H. Newton, that even the members of the Hoover cabinet shied from giving utterance to even the most innocuous or bromidic observations on the convention. Some of them would not go so far as to express an opinion on the color of the water in Lake Michigan.

Support Hoover

Yet, in delegation after delegation some trusted emissary arose and announced politely but firmly:

"This delegation is for Hoover. We are not to go around making statements about discord over this or that issue. We are going to support the administration up and down the line and that's all there is to it."

Soon thereafter the signs abounded that efforts to take that noisy little gavel of Vice President Curtis away from him were getting nowhere and getting there fast. Many of the administration regulars were not averse to substituting some one from a state less irreconcilable in its adherence to the 18th amendment, but the administration master minds desired no part of anything which might provoke a quarrel on the convention floor.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, of New York, and other wets conferred repeatedly throughout the day as to their program to obtain an out-and-out commitment for repeal, but they found evidences of erosion in their building material. They want the convention not merely to resubmit the prohibition question to a vote on repeal. They desire to commit the Republican party to pledging its best efforts to bringing about ratification of the repeal resolution.

The New York plank does not do that, yet it represented such a long stride from the extreme dry stand of 1928 toward the wet side most convention observers called it satisfactory.

BODY OF AUTO VICTIM SHIPPED

Rites for Tom Sanford To Be Held in Arkansas

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 13.—The body of Tom Sanford, 24, who was fatally injured when his automobile overturned on the Electra-Vernon road Sunday afternoon, was forwarded at noon Monday to his home in Helena, Ark., where funeral services will be held.

The body was accompanied by Mrs. David G. Gray. Mr. Gray is the uncle of the young man and in manager of the Waggoner refinery here.

Scores of friends and members of the Lions club, of which he was a member, formed an escort of honor to the train.

Mr. Sanford had lived in this section for slightly more than two years. He came from his home in Helena to join Mr. Gray at Wichita Falls, where his uncle then was president of the Dale Oil and Refining company. When Mr. Gray removed to Electra in November to become manager of the Waggoner plant, young Sanford accompanied him and took charge of the operation of a Waggoner filling station.

Following the accident, in which his car turned over several times, he died early Sunday night in a hospital at Vernon.

Senator McGill Seeks Kansas Post Again

TOPEKA, Kan., June 13. (AP)—Senator George McGill of Wichita formally entered today the contest for the Democratic nomination for a full six-year term as United States senator from Kansas.

From Washington he mailed to E. A. Cornell, secretary of state, a declaration of his candidacy. Senator McGill has served in the senate since 1930 when he defeated Henry J. Allen, Republican, who was appointed to fill Vice President Curtis' unexpired term in the senate.

Chauncey B. Little of Olathe, Senator McGill's avowed "wet" opponent, also filed today.

that none of the survivors of the New York wet parade were here to witness this deplorable spectacle. You may remember that the New York wet paraders paraded almost exclusively on their own dogs, or feet. Of course there was logic in this idea. They didn't have so far to fall when they fell over.

G. O. P. Idea Crude

The Republicans took this chance proving that their idea of wet parading is very crude. They paraded along Michigan avenue in automobiles of every kind and vintage. Thus it was no more exciting than a traffic jam on the Queensboro bridge. Bands were distributed at intervals along the line of the wet paraders, and these bands occasionally broke out in their own versions—and tunes—of "How Dry I Am."

It is said there were 1,500 automobiles in the parade. I didn't count 'em. They went past a given point too rapidly. Some of these autos carried prominent citizens looking somewhat abashed. Others carried members of different clubs. A few were decorated, and all carried signs imploring the repeal of the 18th amendment.

A crowd stood along the sidewalk on Michigan avenue and watched the paraders, but there wasn't much applause. You can applaud a guy wet parading on foot, because you feel that he is offering something to the cause, if it's only a brace of aching dogs. But a guy sitting comfortably in an automobile is something else. What's he giving?

I thought the wet parade was sized up very well by a young lady in a green dress who stood in front of the Blackstone for half an hour watching the fleeting autos.

"Well," she said, finally, "It isn't so exciting, but it saves us hearing a lot of complaint from Paw tonight about his sore feet."

HOUSE TO VOTE ON BONUS BILL

Proposal Passes by Vote Of 226 to 175

unfriendly rules committee from further consideration of the bill, after 20 minutes of debate. The house then adopted, 225 to 169, a special rule to vote on the bill tomorrow at the close of a four-hour debate.

Passage Certain

The test vote makes the passage of the measure by the house a foregone conclusion, by perhaps a more substantial majority than that of today.

Although the atmosphere in the house was tense as the vote was taken, the action came without any demonstration from the veterans themselves either within or without the capitol building. Scores of them occupied the public galleries and scores more trudged capitol corridors, but not even a hand was clapped when the result was announced.

This orderly conduct was observed when acting Speaker Rainey warned the veterans against any outburst. But that did not apply to the bonus advocates on the floor of the house. A lusty cheer went up when the victory was announced.

Vets Gain Ally

The party line-up on the discharge vote was: For the bonus, Democrats, 165; Republicans, 60; and Farmer-Labor 1. Against the bonus, Democrats 42; Republicans, 133. Eighteen members were paired, 13 were absent, including Speaker Garner, who is ill, and three vacancies in the house accounted for the full membership of 435.

Democratic as well as Republican leaders generally voted against the bonus. The Democrats such leaders as Rainey, Chairman Collier of the ways and means committee and Representative Crisp of Georgia. Representative Hawley of Oregon and Treadway of Massachusetts were among the opposing Republican chiefs.

The bonus forces, however, gained a powerful ally when Chairman Byrns of the appropriations committee, voted for the measure.

Hailstorm Leaves Fields Of Ice in Kansas

ROBINSON, Kan., June 13. (UP)—An island of ice today broke the monotony of the scorching Kansas prairies.

It was the unique presentation of a freak storm, the like of which pioneer farmers said they had never seen before. The ice pack was from two to 12 inches in depth, three miles wide and seven and a half miles long.

Hailstones the size of billiard balls began peppering down on the farmland of Brown county. All crops were leveled. Thousands of acres of corn were mowed down.

Roofs were shattered on farm homes. Fruit trees were stripped, and the area was dotted with dead birds and rabbits.

There are 16,000 members of 500 farm women's clubs in Georgia.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the affected parts. The parts become weak, flabby, almost dead. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's prescription, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it removes congestion, restores circulation, heals and strengthens the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record of quickly ending even piles of long standing, that Allison's Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your pile agony or money back.—Adv.

Wealthy Osage Woman Buried With Ceremony

FAIRFAX, Okla., June 13. (UP)—With pagan ceremonies of her tribe and solemn rites of the Catholic church, Mary Elkins, wealthy Osage woman, was buried near Grayhorse today.

Mary Elkins died last week at Colorado Springs, Colo., from acute alcoholism, according to physicians.

As a climax to a day and night of feasting on "jerked" meat, and fruit, several score Osages accompanied the body to the church here today.

In accordance with Indian custom, food and blankets were placed in the grave. The dead woman's eight and one-half headrights in the Osage tribal oil pool and other property were given to relatives and friends.

Mary Elkins was known as a lavish spender.

Parents Pour Water On Youths' Plans to Wed

LOS ANGELES, June 13. (US)—Unless they elope, Richard M. (Mickey) Daniels 18-year-old screen actor, and Dolores Blanchard, 16, daughter of a prominent family, won't be able to get married—for a long time.

This was the edict today of the prospective groom's father, Richard Daniels, also a film actor.

"The wedding is off," he said, "unless the children sneak away and get married. They're too young now. My son certainly has not my consent."

At the girl's home Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Blanchard said: "Of course we will not allow our daughter to get married."

Meanwhile the principals maintained a stony, hurt silence. They were thwarted after they filed a notice of intention to wed at Santa Ana, where they gave their ages as 21 and 19.

A total of 22,526 teachers have been allotted to the public schools of North Carolina for next year.

TUNE IN ON LUCKY STRIKE—60 modern minutes with the world's finest dance orchestras, and famous Lucky Strike news features, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening over N. B. C. networks.

"Let sleeping dogs lie"

Why should smokers accept this old-fashioned notion of the cigarette trade?

BY this time you must be pretty well convinced of the fact that other cigarettes do not like to talk about inhaling.

And yet—this subject—so "untouchable" in cigarette advertising—is very close to your welfare! For you do inhale—we all do—knowingly or unknowingly, every smoker breathes in some part of the smoke he or she draws out of a cigarette.

"Let sleeping dogs lie" may be the cigarette trade's answer to us! But what's their answer to you? Do you inhale? Lucky Strike does not avoid this vital question. It meets the issue fairly and squarely—because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Lucky Strike's famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Floral Heights Methodist W. M. S. Has 'Guest Day'

Spring flowers of many colors in the auditorium of the Floral Heights Methodist church furnished a pretty setting for the "Guest Day" program given by members of the Woman's Missionary society at the church Monday afternoon. The event is of national significance and is observed by Methodist women during the month of June.

An informal receiving line included Mesdames H. W. Barton, Finis A. Crutchfield, M. E. Crowell, O. W. Harvey, T. F. Hunter, Horace Lankford, J. O. Presley, Murrell Hooper, E. V. Friberg, and Edgar B. Alexander.

Mrs. H. W. Barton made a gracious address of welcome, after which Mrs. Lester Jones played softly while the assembly bowed in silent prayers. After a song, "Work for the Night Is Coming," Mrs. Herbert Gray read the Scripture lesson and gave a most inspiring devotional on the topic, "The Need for Workers."

Mrs. W. H. Roper, of Oklahoma City, formerly a member of this society, offered prayer.

Miss Lucile Freet sang, "A Prayer Perfect," in an impressive manner, and was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. G. Wayne Barker.

"Modernizing Young Mrs. Patton" was the title of a dramatic missionary story interpreted in an interesting manner by Mrs. George Truitt, and the skit was followed by a violin solo played by Miss Loraine Mathis accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. C. Mathis.

Mrs. W. W. Cook, Wichita Falls' district secretary of Methodist Missionary societies, was the speaker of the afternoon and gave an informative address on "The Appeal of This Organization to the Women of the Church." Mrs. Cook gave a splendid resume of the Woman's Missionary society work for the past 54 years, describing the first society organized in 1878 by five women on a rainy afternoon at McKendree church in Nashville. "The work has grown by leaps and bounds, she said; 36 schools have been established and supported by missionary councils and conferences as well as local auxiliaries. They concentrate on work from kindergarten to college, and there are 6,992 societies in Southern Methodism, with approximately 200,000 members. Rescue homes, settlement houses, Bethlehem centers and missions in all cities and ports have been organized. It has been estimated that their monetary value is $23,000,000. "The aim of women's societies in today's endeavor is to press on and enlist every woman in this great work of religious wealth and advance the kingdom," the speaker said.

Words of reminiscence and invitation were presented in a clever manner by Mrs. P. B. Cox, followed by deep appreciation expressed by Mrs. S. E. Trevathan in behalf of the society for Mrs. M. T. Clements was presented a silver water pitcher and the Wesley Girls' class of which she is a member gave her a beautiful silver sandwich tray.

Mrs. Clements is a past president of the missionary society, and has been a zone leader and held responsible offices in the various circles. She is at present superintendent of the children's division, and teacher of the Junior Matrons class in the Sunday school. She gave a gracious response to the presentation talks.

Mesdames S. E. Trevathan and T. R. Boone arranged the program, and after it's presentation, a lovely refreshment plate was served to 200 members and guests.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Summer is here. Despite the cool mornings, there are many signs of the season. The day lilies that send out a sweet odor in the May day sun. The fishing canes that stand propped before the suburban stores. The rank growth of grass that follows the summer storms; the fishermen who sit on the brinks of the drainage canal.

But in the clear summer evenings, so many quiet and beautiful things relieve the heat of the day. Not the least of these is church bells. We listened Sunday evening to the Catholic bell, not so far from our home. It was beginning to be cool and there was almost an absolute quietness except for one impertinent bird that had one ever-recurring note.

Of course, there will be no church bells in heaven, where the angels and cherubims will need no guidance from a celestial pastor and where, we understand, they will have their own harps. (Thank heaven, no radios.)

And another thing that cheers us on this summer day, is that in heaven there will be no "moving on." A home will be established for good, unless the angel becomes such a rebel as Lucifer was reputed to be. There are doubtless those who think we will never get to heaven. But if we do (and we hope to do so), we shall mind our behavior.

People who know how to be friends deserve a special place in heaven. The thought of friendship brought the thought of heaven to us. One whom we have known and cherished for years is moving, for business reasons, to East Texas. It hurts. Churches and clubs and friends will miss Mrs. M. T. Clements. We knew her as one of her first friends in the city; we will miss her. Even though we did not get to be with her often, we felt the friendship; no tie is much stronger.

We remember when that person known to the readers of this paper as "Dorinda," moved away, she said "for the fourth time, economic reasons have made me break up a loved home." She, like Mrs. Clements, and like hundreds of others, have found their heart strings tugging at leaving this city.

Wichita Falls has a personality not often found in a city. It may come from that old saying, "the city that faith built." When we first arrived here, that was a slogan we thought incomparable. Something, however, has happened to the faith. Or maybe not to the faith—to the city.

An interview in Sunday's paper stated the belief of a veteran citizen that manufacturing establishments make growth. We feel the same. One cannot depend on cotton and oil, that have no stabilized prices, to make a city prosperous. The wheat that furnishes the staff of life is not a dependable crop.

There are scores of vacant homes and rents have gone down amazingly. But so has everything else—almost.

Not having yet been buried and not having buried any of our dear ones, we cannot speak for undertaker's charges. We have, however, heard that people cannot afford to die, even if one "mortician" has offered a free burial plot to his customers.

But the birds still sing and the flowers still bloom and life holds beautiful memories.

And we would like to add, that, after seeing the pictures of the national officers of Isaak Walton League of America, we feel a quick admiration for that veteran seller of "bait" in a New York stall who sells to any fisherman on credit. "Fishermen are sports," he said, "and all sportsmen are honest." The statement appeals to us quite as much as any we have heard.

Mrs. P. P. Langford Leads Lesson For First Methodists

With Mrs. P. P. Langford, mission study director in charge of the lesson, Mrs. Bert Bean gave the discussion of the textbook, "Women of the Bible," at the mission study program held at the First Methodist church Monday afternoon. Mrs. Stanley M. Raub led the song service, with Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano, and Mrs. S. S. McKenney gave the devotional, which proved an impressive summary of the characteristics of the good women. Mrs. Langford offered prayer, and Mrs. Wayne Somerville, the president, presided at a brief business session.

Mrs. Bean gave the special topics, "Women of Self Importance," and "A Woman of Sacrifice."

Michael, the wife of David, was used to illustrate the woman of self importance, and she was described as a woman who expected the best of everything. A woman of this type was described by the author, as a small minded woman and too proud to be a follower of Christ.

Jephtha's daughter was used to impersonate the woman of sacrifice. She was described as one who had no talents, but dedicated her life to Christ, duty and love.

There were 40 present, and in the count, circle four led in attendance.

Mahaffey Recital Will Feature Adult Voices

One of the final recitals of the year by Wichita Falls studios will be given Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church when pupils of A. H. Mahaffey, teacher of singing, will be presented in that studio's fourth annual spring recital here.

Presentation of an unusually interesting program of vocal music has been made possible by the predominance of adult voices in the Mahaffey class. Concert numbers of the highest musical standards are conspicuous in the announced program.

In addition to a group of singers well known by virtue of solo work in local church choirs, the group to be heard Tuesday night includes singers from Walters, Okla., and Burkburnett.

Following the presentation of short groups of solo numbers, the program will close with an ensemble of five voices singing a composition by Deems Taylor, eminent American composer. Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey will be the accompanist.

The public is invited to attend.

Cumberland Group Plans for Rally

An all-day Presbyterial rally for Thursday, beginning at 10 o'clock, was announced for members of the Cumberland Presbyterian Woman's Missionary society at the meeting held Monday afternoon at the church.

Mrs. G. J. Towles gave the devotional on the subject, "A Little Time Apart With Jesus," and also taught the lesson from the "Missionary Messenger." Mrs. B. L. Baits gave comments on the Scripture and the program was closed with prayer by Mrs. J. B. Scarbrough.

Guests present were Mrs. Arthur Willis and Miss Era Collins and there were six members in attendance.

Highland Heights Council Has Luncheon And Program

Members of the Highland Heights Christian council met at the church Monday in the final meeting until September. Mrs. Frank Creighton, president, presided, and Mrs. P. B. Curd gave the devotional on "The Good Samaritan." Mrs. Paul Barnett presided at the piano while two hymns were sung by the congregation and the musical program concluded with the "India Song," the missionary song of the council.

An interesting talk was made on "India's Daughter," by Mrs. Creighton, who questioned if the daughters of the west appreciated and thought all was well with the daughters of India. She told the pitiful story of one child married at 7, whose husband died just before she was taken to his home as wife. Save for her mother, the child was an outcast, and when her mother died, all her property was taken from her and she was an outcast completely. Facts in Katherine Mayo's "Mother India" were discussed, but it was announced that the law of 1929 which prevented the marriage of girls under 14 was the salvation of that country and that men were awakened to the rights of women.

"A Lovely Daughter of Old Mexico" was the theme treated by Mrs. Paul Barnett in an interesting talk. A Mexican girl, Concha Cheves, who received her education at a mission school, determined to be a missionary to the helpless, shiftless and ignorant Indians, native of the country, and her faith and determination made her into one of the most attractive and winsome personalities in the Christian field. She had been in the employ of the Christian Evangelical council for only one year and is now employed as secretary.

Interesting Reports

Splendid reports were made by Mesdames Edgar Weehunt, B. D. Sartin, J. R. Collier and Jack Rudy preceding the luncheon hour. Plans for the coming year's work were discussed.

Members of division three, of which Mrs. Collier is chairman, were hostesses at luncheon when the tables were lovely with gladiolus and other summer flowers in pretty colors.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Montgomery and out of town guests presented included Mesdames O. J. Norwood and T. Hunter of Archer City; Paul Steed of Marshall, Ruth Lowe of Athens and A. Kubala of Sherman.

The meeting was adjourned until the autumn season.

C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle, from most relief giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds, and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics, or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (Adv.)

In the book of pictures showing the horrors of war, the most gruesome one was left out. Meaning, of course, a shot of a plate of army beans.

A writer says there hasn't been an original plot in a story in years. Husbands have even quit thinking up new excuses.

The Junkers Return

NEWSPAPERS in Paris have been discovering a revival of the old spiked-helmet, 1914 brand of German imperialism lately.

With Von Papen sitting in the chancellery at Berlin, with the stiff-necked, die-hard Junker aristocracy laying strong hands on the government and with grotesque Hitler rising behind like a black cloud, it is quite evident that the French editors are just about right.

Germany is turning once more to the class that led it up to and into the war. And in that fact there is an indication of the woeful way in which the world at large has failed to handle an acute problem.

The imperialism that guided German policy under the Hohenzollerns was not peculiar to Germany, of course. Every large European nation was more or less infected. But Germany seems to have had the worst case, and the things that happened from 1914 to 1918 proved rather clearly that that imperialistic attitude, and the actions which it gives rise to, are extremely dangerous to the world's well being.

After the armistice in 1918 imperialism went reeling. It is the fashion now to sneer at that "make the world safe for democracy" slogan of war days; but, really, there was a whole lot in it. At the end of 1918 a long step had been taken toward accomplishment of that ideal. If the right kind of program could have been followed, imperialism would have been dead forever.

But today, nearly 14 years after the armistice, the old imperialism is returning to Berlin; and it is impossible to escape the conclusion that the world's blindness and stupidity helped to revive it.

If a fairer, less vengeful peace could have been made, if the victors had not gone beyond all reason in trying to squeeze gold out of the conquered, if a real world-wide disarmament program could have been accepted—then the old Junker imperialism would not be getting a new lease on life.

What happened in 1914 was tragic proof that world statesmanship had been incompetent. The events of this year seem to be offering us another proof.

Pushing Economy Too Far

THE mayor of that Minnesota town who has been auctioning city jobs off to the lowest bidder, replacing policemen, street sweepers and clerks by men who were willing to work for less than the existing wage, stands out as one of the most peculiar municipal executives the nation contains.

But his case is an isolated one, and it would not be worth mentioning if it were not for the fact that he has just been doing what a lot of other cities have been subconsciously thinking of doing.

His idea, after all, is that the one important thing is to get city work done as cheaply as possible. A lot of cities are working on the same general notion. They haven't got to the point where they're willing to auction jobs at starvation wages, but they're approaching it. In these hard times we need to remember that economy on public pay rolls can be pushed too far.

The Seabury Evidence

MR. SEABURY'S communication to Governor Roosevelt about Mayor Walker seems to leave a very thorny and troublesome issue squarely on the doorstep of the executive mansion at Albany.

To us who, living outside of New York City, have no direct concern in the matter, it seems quite clear that the determined New York lawyer has made out a case which will take some answering. That is, there is solid meat in the charges, and they can't be tossed aside with the simple retort of "politics."

A reply will be made in due time, of course, and until then we do not need to try to prejudge the case. Meanwhile, one can only repeat—Governor Roosevelt has been handed a very tough and unpleasant problem.

Good News From 1931

MOST of the reports on things that have happened during the past year make rather dismal reading. But we needn't get the idea that all of the records were worse than those of the year preceding.

For instance: The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People reports that during 1931 there were 14 lynchings in the United States—which compares with 25 in 1930.

This is good news, especially when it is remembered that a bad depression year usually intensifies class and racial antagonism and makes lynchings more likely rather than less. To make a reduction of nearly 50 per cent in the number of lynchings during a year like 1931 is a real achievement.

SO THEY SAY!

It is quite explainable that a government of powers widely distributed into careful segregated and insulated compartments should function under normal conditions and should fail us altogether when the avalanche comes on.—Owen D. Young, chairman of the board, General Electric company.

The Letter

I cannot write of love to you, my dear,
The facile phrases that so often flow
Are empty words I spill along the drear,
Blank paper where imperfectly they glow
To loves imagined, gone, or yet to be—
A dream detached—irrevelant to this.
Strange glimpse of some immortal ecstasy
That makes you kiss, so oddly, not a kiss.

My Heart, love-filled with essences of Spring
Has exercised a spell on reason's ways
And that which moans between us I would sing
In words that are inadequate to phrase,

So mark my love in other ways of choice . . .
At sight of you—my heart is in my voice.

—JANE SAYRE.

Capsule Cruelties

The firing squad which collects at all first-nights were merciless again the other evening when "Hey, Nonny Nonny!" limped all over the 44th Street theater stage. One of them observed that Joe Miller was erroneously listed in the programs as Master Electrician instead of the author.

Another wit remarked: "'Hey, Nonny Nonny!' came with the heat. It looks like the heat will stay." And when someone pointed out that the producer's name was Forrest C. Haring, a meanie moaned: "It certainly smells like Haring."

Ouch!

Then there was the short-lived show, "Heigh Ho Everybody!" by Herbert Polesie, which aroused an opening night oaf to nifty: "Help, Polesie, Murder!"

Heheheh

One of the composers of a musical show, which is tottering, was asked: "Howz business?"

"Well," was the glum reply, "you ought to see the balcony at night. It looks like a party to a critic."

Wives Are Like That

When Chico Marx of the 4 Marx-men was in that motor crash on the coast recently he was rushed to a hospital where the first moments were tense. Would he live or die?

Mrs. Marx hastened to his bedside. He looked up at her wistfully and groaned: "Oh, my darling."

"Don't give me no darlings," she thundered. "You weren't at the club when I phoned—so where were you?"

Nifty

And Izzy Elinson hopes that the tax on rouge and lipstick will take the government, rather than a lot of pretty faces, out of the red.

New Yorkese

A Lad, About Town, recently returned from Russia, was anxious to catch up on the news during her holiday. She phoned a girl chum. "What is this I hear about him?" she said, "what's the lowdown?"

"Oh, nothing, really," replied her friend, "absolutely nothing to those wild reports."

"Come now," coaxed the typically cynical New Yorker, "what are the Wise Guys saying?"

Have a Shudder

J. Chapman recently chronicled a ghost story which he said could be testified to by at least four persons in Brooklyn, where the incident happened. It appears that a couple were motoring home about 3 a. m. and as they passed a cemetery they observed an old lady coming out. They paused and offered her a ride home. She got in. During the ride she gave her name and address. Suddenly the motorist's wife, who was seated by the old lady, discovered that she had disappeared.

They thought this strange, indeed. But remembering her name and address, they proceeded there. "Isn't this where Mrs. Soandso lives?" the old gent at the door was asked. "She did live here," the husband answered, "but she died 3 weeks ago."

This is a honey of a ghost yarn, but the same tale came in the mail a week ago, the sender vowing that it actually happened in Newark. So we forwarded the letter on to Mr. Chapman to show him that his ghost has a daughter!

Kidding a Kidder

To hear Bob Fender tell it the depression has hit the circus business so hard—that now they're capturing only those wild animals with at least 10 weeks experience on the big time.

Pardon Her Shove

Irwin O'Dunn vows he overheard it at the Ziegfeld stage door.

First Chorus Girl—"I don't look a bit like myself today."

Second Chorus Girl—"Then this is a good chance to have those pictures taken."

At Dawn

As dawn creeps through the window lace
And paints a pattern on your face,
I kiss each sleepy eyelid close,
Then, fold you in my arm's repose . . .
I curse myself that I should bring
Such tire to a lovely thing.

—Earl Lawson Sydnor.

The Shop-Talkers

Two of the Canyon's better known racetrack bookies ankled into Ramon's El Garron the other midnight, after a disappointing day at the track. "Look at that Barbara Hutton sitting over there," said one of them, "she's really worth $60,000,000 in her own right!"

"Ouch!" ouch'd the other, "if we had any part of it think of all the bets we could lose!"

Are Times Tough?

David Murray says the circus has been playing his town for four weeks—it can't get enough coin to move away!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A HANDLESS RAZOR—Randion was born of Hindu parents in Bemerera, on the northern mainland of South America about 56 years ago. Although he never had either arms or legs he can thread a needle, feed himself, roll a cigaret, and do many impossible things. His most astounding accomplishment, however, is shaving himself unaided, using an old-fashioned razor. He has been exhibited in every part of the globe and greatly admired for his accomplishments and patience.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive"
By FRANK BUCK with EDWARD ANTHONY

For 18 exciting years, Frank Buck has been gathering live animals, reptiles and birds for American zoos, circuses, and dealers. He hunts them barehanded in jungle and mountain-fastness, in wildest Africa, in darkest Thibet—but he always brings 'em back alive.

He now tells about a 16,000-mile journey into the interior of Nepal to capture, at the order of Dr. William T. Hornaday of the New York Zoological park, a great armor-plated, single-horned Indian rhino—rare as the unicorn of fable. He obtains help from General Shum Share, a nephew of the Maharajah of Nepal. Buck's plans are frustrated by the Ganges river which is on a rampage. He starts back for Singapore. Later he returns to collect the rare rhinos the Maharajah has captured for him. The most difficult part is transporting them to the rail head in India. After an exciting journey, he arrives in Calcutta with his rhinos.

Of the thousands of monkeys and apes Buck has brought to America from Asia, the most interesting was a female orang-utan picked up in Borneo which he named Gladys.

CHAPTER XVI
Holter's Traps

If Asia had an official census-taker and one of his jobs was to list the soldiers of fortune, that task alone would keep him busy for a long, long time. From everywhere they come, these picturesque legions who obey the silent but overpowering commands of General Boredom. On, on, they march in all directions, swarming all over the continent and waging grim and determined warfare against the dread scourge of ennui.

Some years ago—I believe it was in 1918 or 1919—I was in Medan, which is the biggest city in Sumatra. I was sitting on the veranda of the DeBour hotel sipping a gin pite, a drink that suits the climate perfectly and which consequently is very popular there.

I was on the island rounding up some animals and birds, and my work done, I was taking my ease, I was to return to America soon after picking up some other specimens that I had gathered together at two or three other points, and I was enjoying one of those few periods of relaxation that a collector of animals manages to squeeze into his strenuous program.

As I slipped back in my chair revelling in the fact that I had no immediate task to perform, a servant touched me on the shoulder. Would I be good enough to step to the telephone?

I got up, hoping this wasn't going to be another call from some animal trader who had something to offer for sale. I had collected all the specimens I needed to fill the orders I had from zoos, circuses and dealers back home and I did not feel like listening to any more Medan sales talk.

I was delighted when I found that the call was from an old acquaintance, Albert Holter, an interesting soldier of fortune. The last time I had seen Holter he was running a tea estate in Ceylon and I was agreely surprised to find him in Sumatra. He had heard from a trader that I was in Medan at the DeBour hotel and had rushed to the nearest telephone to call me. I invited Holter to join me for a gin pite and dinner. He was a colorful chap and the prospect of a few hours with him appealed to me. I also welcomed the opportunity to reciprocate in a small way the hospitality he had shown me when I was a guest for a week on the tea plantation he managed in Ceylon. He explained hastily that new interests had recently taken over the tea estate and that in the reorganization that took place he had lost his job and he was now in Sumatra to—But he would tell me all about that as soon as he reached the hotel.

Holter had dedicated his life as a very young man to the goddess of adventure and he was still at it. Before he took up his work in Ceylon he had been a trader in pearls in the Persian gulf and a minor executive in a tin mine in the Malay country. Then there was a whole string of other interesting assignments he had had. All in all he was as striking a trooper as I had met in all my experience with Asia's great army of soldiers of fortune.

Holter was half English and half Dutch. At the time of the visit to turned to America with me but never Ali. Several years before, Ali was brought to America by the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus. He was a picturesque figure in his baja and sarong, and added a nice touch of color to the circus' many parades. He also served as an animal caretaker. But Ali never liked America. He thought the people were a little crazy. Nobody seemed to know what he was doing. Having visited America, he understood why the tuan spent so much time in Asia. He was picked up by a circus representative in Singapore where he sold pets to sailors. With a basket of parrots and monkeys he would go out into the bay in a dinghy where foreign ships lay at anchor, and hawk his wares. After two years with the circus, he yearned for the Singapore waterfront and his monkeys and parrots and a good chew of betel-nut; and he left America with a sigh of relief, vowing never to return. I picked him up some years later after he had wandered all over Asia, leaving his waterfront for the wilds, and in the process acquiring an amazing knowledge of wild animal life. He had lived with the Dyaks of Borneo, the Batiks of Sumatra, the Sakais of the Malay peninsula, and with other forest tribes; and he knew these strange Asiatics and their jungles as well as he knew Singapore harbor. I told all these things to Holter in answer to a series of rapid-fire questions. All fascinated him.

"I'm going to ask you to do me a favor, Buck."

"Shoot."

"I want to borrow your boy. He'd be a great help to me in trapping my tigers. With a boy like that to give me pointers I can't go wrong. Don't turn me down, Buck. This is the greatest work I've ever undertaken. It's going to put me on the map. I can fell it in my bones."

"It's all right with me if it's all right with Ali. It may be eight or ten months, perhaps a year, before I return to Singapore. His time is his own till then. Let's ask him."

"Urge him to do it, will you, Buck? I know he'd do anything in the world for you. It means a lot to me."

After dinner we talked the matter over with Ali. He readily agreed to work for the tuan's friend, his compensation being fixed at $25 in Singapore money per month. As much as I liked Holter, a fascinating adventurer if I'd ever met one, I couldn't help feeling that I was dumping a rather unstable amateur on Ali's doorstep. Unquestionably he was more than a little bughouse and Ali was on record as being opposed to crazy people. But perhaps he would not find in this Dutch-Englishman the kind of insanity that displeased him in Americans. Holter's insanity after all was the kind that passes for sanity in Asia. And, on second thought, why worry about Ali? He was the soul of resourcefulness and few problems having to do with the world of animals worried him.

A few days later I left Medan with my Sumatra collection. My own affairs occupied my mind so completely from then on that I didn't have much time to think of Holter and his tiger-trapping expedition. Once or twice I thought of him and wondered how much success he had had. I found myself hoping that he had bagged at least enough tigers to keep him in gin pites for a few months.

Sumatra to which I make reference here, he was about 36 or 37. As I sat waiting for him I kept wondering how badly the loss of his tea estate job, the best he'd ever held, had affected his morale. I recalled that he had met with a long series of reverses and when finally he had landed this post in Ceylon he had acted very much like a more than usually tired soldier of fortune, footsore and weary from the march, and grateful for a billet that promised a comfortable living without a struggle. The work was light—and there was good food, good lodging, a pretty fair salary, and wine and women in abundance. After all, as he pointed out, these were inducements not to be lightly dismissed. Even a restless soul such as he, a chap with something stewing in his guts that gave him that urge to roam from place to place, could see the practical advantages of a berth such as the one he had in Ceylon. And if I thought the work was dull I was mistaken.

As I sat waiting for Holter to join me on the veranda I found myself framing a few sympathetic words to say to the poor devil. It was tough losing a post like that.

Not long after his telephone call, Holter turned up. He swung up the path leading to the hotel as jauntily as if he had never had a stroke of bad luck in his life. Certainly no one would have taken him for a man who had recently lost the best job he had ever held.

We shook hands warmly, Holter releasing his hand of greeting to pound me on the back. Beaming his delight, he stepped back a few yards like a man seeking to improve his perspective on a picture, and fairly shouted as he surveyed me from head to feet: "Well, if this isn't a treat! You're looking great!"

I found myself admiring the cheerful front he was putting on. Soldiers of fortune do their share of belly-aching when things go wrong and it was refreshing to meet one who knew how to take a sporting attitude toward his reverses.

"To hell with the tea business," he went on. "Too tame. I'm going into a man's game. Of course you've heard of the bounty on tigers that Sumatra's big rubber and tobacco interests recently established? Fifty guilders for every tiger you kill. I can live on a hundred guilders for a month here if I have to. And think of the excitement. You don't know what it means not to have to talk to the tea people any more, to have the kind of work I like again. I can't stand bores, Buck; the tea people are all like that. Think of it! Two tigers a month—just two—support me. And I'll get 10 a month or know the reason why."

I asked Holter if he had ever hunted tigers before.

"No. Why hunt 'em? That's too much like work. I'm going to trap 'em. Lots of 'em."

And he went on to tell me that he had located just the right trap for his purpose—an importation from America with great jagged interlocking teeth. It was tremendously powerful, reminding him of a giant bear-trap. He had located a half dozen of the devices in Medan after a search that took three days and he was ready to start out for the interior after his tigers.

When he got through there wouldn't be a tiger left in Sumatra to kill off the bullocks and water buffaloes (that served as work animals) and the goats (that were widely used on the plantations for meat). The big cats would stop terrorizing the plantation workers. Life would again be normal in Sumatra.

Holter, to a greater extent than ar. yother man I've ever known, had the capacity for being carried away by his own words. It wouldn't have surprised me a bit if he had suddenly jumped up from his chair on the veranda, shouted, "I can't wait any longer!" and gone off after his tigers.

In the midst of one of his most impassioned outbursts, Dahiam Ali walked in to report that all was well with my birds and animals.

"That's a great boy you've got there, Buck!" exclaimed Holter when Ali had left. (Ali, though past 50, was still a "boy," as all native workers are.)

I cheerfully agreed. Ali, I told him, was probably better posted on Asiatic animals than any man in the world, brown or white.

"Is that a fact?"

"So far as I know it is."

"Come on, Buck. Do you mean to say he's better posted than you?"

"Yes, in the matter of wild life in its original state. A good deal better. I know more about handling animals once they're caught. That's my job, knowing how to feed and take care of 'em, how to make 'em behave when they get too fresh, how to make 'em survive a strenuous voyage across the Pacific, and things like that. Bringing 'em back alive—that's my specialty."

I was trying to change the subject. Holter's enthusiasm over his tiger project seemed a little pathetic.

But he was soon at it again. Without knowing it at the moment, I was providing him with more ammunition.

"You're leaving for America soon, aren't you, Buck?"

I nodded.

"What will you do with that boy of yours?"

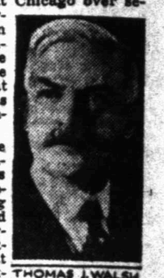

"Send him back to Singapore. On my return I'll pick him up there."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, June 13.—If there is to be a fine old row among the Democrats at Chicago over selection of a permanent chairman for the party convention, quite likely it will be the first time that particular job has been a storm center.

THOMAS J. WALSH

Usually by the time the permanent chairman is named, the preliminary fussing over contested delegations, parliamentary strategy and all that has been completed under rule of the temporary chairman.

If steam roller tactics are to be applied, the temporary, not the permanent chairman, is the customary pilot for the machine.

That being true, just why the Roosevelt forces, speaking through "Big Jim" Farley, announced that Senator Tom Walsh of Montana would be their candidate for permanent chairman is not directly visible to the eye.

Hair-Splitting Words

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the party executive committee, was at least "commended" for that honor by the committee on arrangements which also picked Senator Barkley of Kentucky for temporary chairman.

There was this difference. Shouse was "commended" and Barkley "recommended."

There was more than a suspicion that Governor Roosevelt had a personal voice in picking those two words.

The two alleged reasons publicly discussed for the Rooseveiters' turning to Senator Tom Walsh as permanent chairman are that Shouse as a party officer has aided the "block Roosevelt" campaign, and that he plans a "keynoting" as permanent chairman.

In other words, it now appears that word "commend" had a conditional quality as viewed by Governor Roosevelt and his friends. The Barkley "recommend" was definite; the Shouse "commned" conditional on his neutrality in the nomination fight.

Viewed only from that aspect, the thing might not be so very serious. Mr. Shouse has disclosed enough hostility to the Roosevelt candidacy, presumably, to justify dropping him from the Roosevelt convention slate.

The Two-Thirds Angle

But there is a more significant side to it. Farley, just a day or two earlier, declared the Roosevelters would not hesitate to attempt overthrow of the two-thirds nominating rule itself in view of the expected first ballot majority for the New Yorker.

Just how or when that move might be made is not clear. Nor does there seem to be agreement among party authorities as to what the parliamentary situation might be. Rulings of the permanent chairman might take on vast importance.

YOUTHFUL GOLFERS TIE FOR GREENBELT MEDALIST HONORS

BOYS SHOOT TWO UNDER PAR

Shamrock and Vernon Pair Lead Procession

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

ELECTRA, Texas, June 13.—Shooting sensational golf under adverse weather conditions, Billy Holmes of Shamrock and Roy Farrell of Vernon tied for medalist honors in the qualifying round of the seventh annual Greenbelt Golf association tournament here today. Each carded a splendid 70, two under par, for the difficult nine-hole Electra course to hurl defiance in the faces of an imposing array of golfers assembled here for the championship. Each is 19 years old.

Nine Birdies Between Pair

Holmes blasted five birdies in his two rounds, while Farrell turned in four. Farrell missed an excellent opportunity to beat Holmes when he dubbed his tee shot on the 18th hole. His second went to the edge of the green, his pitch went just to the rim of the cup and he sank a four, one above par. His feat in equaling Holmes' card, which had been posted earlier in the afternoon, caught the fancy of the gallery, however, and Farrell was given a round of applause.

Their cards:

Par	434	454	543	36
Holmes out	334	464	443	35
Holmes in	334	374	443	35	70
Par	434	454	543	36
Farrell out	435	454	433	35
Farrell in	434	444	444	35	70

The two will stage a play off for the medal during the tournament. The date had not been selected tonight.

Second to the two youngsters was the defending champion, L. S. (City) Walker of Quanah, with a 73, one above par. Third was Jack Parr of Electra, with a 75. Paced by young Holmes' par shattering efforts, the Shamrock six-man team won the association team trophy with an aggregate score of 495 strokes. Team play is new to the association, and excited quite a bit of interest. The Shamrock golfers put in a strong bid for the title when five of their six players on team registered in the 70's.

Shamrock's team score follows: Holmes 70, Lyle Holmes 76, Charles Staggs 80, Frank Mitcham Sr., 77, James Smith 78, and Walter Pendleton Jr., 78.

Electra Team Second

The Electra team, which recently won the junior chamber of commerce team trophy at Wichita Falls, ran second to the Shamrock aggregation today with an aggregate score of 473. The Childress team was third, with 493, Vernon fourth with 504, and Quanah last with 506.

The team scores follow:

Electra—Jack Parr, 75; James Parr, 79; John Marriott, 81; E. W. Marriott, 81; A. C. Hill, 81; and Roy LeBus, 76.

Childress—C. P. Saunders, 78; Jack Turner, 86; J. D. Michie, 78; J. D. Barkley, 77; G. M. Klutts, 88; and J. P. McConnell, 88.

Vernon—Bill Rogers 78; Roy Farrell, 70; Whitney Anderson, 84; R. B. Gibson, 84; Cope Gibson, 92; and Hank Myer, 96.

Quanah—Eugene Smith, 82; L. S. Walker, 73; Herman Caskey, 83; Jim Moore, 88; J. T. Hughes, 89; and H. T. Marshall, 91.

Rain Delays Play

Rain which fell until 11 o'clock in the morning delayed the start of the tournament. Just as the field of 87 entrants was finishing the first nine holes of play, about 3:45 in the afternoon, a hard rain again descended, lasting about an hour. Final scores were not posted until after 8 p. m. Despite the rain, scores were unusually good. Many of the sharpshooters registered better scores on the back nine than they did on the first.

Tonight the golfers were guests at a barbecue, after which the Calcutta pool session was held. Match play will start early Tuesday morning, with two rounds scheduled Tuesday and Wednesday and the 36-hole finals on Thursday.

Easterling Hits Homer to Give Shippers Victory

DALLAS, June 13. (AP)—Paul Easterling's home run in the sixth with the bases loaded gave Beaumont a 7 to 4 victory over Dallas here tonight. It was the closing game of a four-game series. Dallas won the first three. Luke Hamlin pitched five-hit ball for the league leaders. Murray, with one day of rest, tried to come back and beat the Exporters but was routed in the sixth.

CATS 1, INDIANS 0

FORT WORTH, June 13. (AP)—Dick Whitworth bested Joe Vance in a pitching duel here tonight for a 1 to 0 verdict and enabled the Fort Worth Panthers to sweep the four-game series with the San Antonio Indians.

The veteran Whitworth allowed but two hits of which was of the infield variety, the other almost tore him from the pitching box as it went sizzling into center field. Neither of the two hits came in the same inning and Whitworth was never in danger, despite a walk to Schofield, first man up in the sixth who advanced on to third, but two were down by the time that bag was reached and the third out was easy. WASHINGTON.—In its efforts to utilize all waste farm products, scientists of the U. This material, the base for rayon, can be made into women's dresses.

Athletics Sock Detroit 8 to 1; Yanks Keep Pace With 8-7 Victory

DETROIT, June 13. (AP)—Robert Moses Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics won his 11th consecutive game today, beating Detroit 8 to 1 and allowing only four scattered hits.

Isadore Goldstein, young Tiger right-hander, gave Grove a fair pitching battle for seven innings, although at that point the Athletics were leading 2 to 0, both runs being made by Max Bishop after he had doubled in the third and fifth innings.

Tommy Bridges replaced Goldstein in the ninth with Jimmy Foxx the first man up. With the count at three and two, Foxx slammed his 23rd home run of the season over the left field fence. It was one of the longest hits ever seen at Navin field. Score:

Babe Ruth clouted his 21st home run of the year in the fifth inning with one on.

VERNON LOSES TO FREDERICK

Electra's Oilers Hold Lead In Valley League

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, June 13.—Vernon's Orphans, pace-setters in the Red River Valley circuit for two-thirds of the first half season, Sunday were blasted from a chance for the championship of the initial half as Electra's Oilers virtually cinched a tie for first place in the loop. In the battle to determine Electra's chief competitor in the fight for the pennant, Frederick, Okla., bumped Vernon, 9-4, at Frederick, while Electra defeated Tipton, Okla., 2-1, at Electra to maintain its lead of one game with but two games remaining before the end of the first half. At Oklaunion, the Cardinals eked out an 8-7 win over Crowell, while the scheduled Chillicothe-Quanah game was unreported.

Roscoe Sargent, hurling his first game for the Oilers, was the bright star in the Electrans' victory, limiting the Sooners to six hits. He needed help before the game was over, however, and was relieved by Vanhern. Both Simpson and Waldrop hurled fine baseball for Tipton, allowing but five hits, but four Sooner errors spelled defeat for the invaders.

At Frederick, the Boosters jumped on Bland White, Vernon ace, for 13 hits and took advantage of a half dozen Vernon errors to win easily. The Orphans scored four runs in the initial inning, and appeared to have the game on ice. A combination of errors, however, that sent seven unearned runs across the plate cost the Texans the contest. C. Zeller, after the first inning nightmare, held the Orphans to four hits. Bill Awbrey's home run capped Vernon's first-inning scoring spree.

Oklaunion and Crowell staged a hitting fray at Oklaunion with the home club finally eking out a decision. Bert Williams started on the mound for the Cardinals, but failed to last the game. Crowell also used a pair of pitchers, with Jake Myers being called into finish the contest.

Silent Condell To Meet Kuffer In Return Bout

Upon his own request, Silent Condell, the popular Scotch wrestler, will get another crack at Fred Kuffer, the Portland badboy, next Friday night on the main event of the weekly wrestling card at Govro arena. The bout a couple of weeks ago was ended by Kuffer in a near free for all to stop a perfectly good wrestling show. Following the battle in the ring in which Kuffer took on Condell, Les Grimes, Whitey Govro and Condell again in the order named, Kuffer issued his challenge for any one of the three for a battle in the ring without such bothersome things as a referee being around.

Billy Love and Mike Howard meet on the semifinal this week in what promises to be another slam bang affair, carrying out the program of speed and action promised for this week.

WE MADE A MISTAKE

—A STATEMENT BY THE GILLETTE SAFETY RAZOR COMPANY

THE Gillette Safety Razor Company feels called upon to make a confession and a statement that are undoubtedly unique in the annals of American business. It is with deep regret and no little embarrassment that we do this in order to tell you frankly what actually happened when we introduced a new Gillette razor and blade.

Soon after this was done, we found that, although the great majority was pleased, some users complained quality was not up to standard.

We learned why. Our equipment had not been equal to the task of producing millions of blades at high speed without a certain variation in quality that affected a small portion of our output. As a result some blades that left the factory were not as good as you had a right to expect. Immediately we directed our principal effort toward the achievement of uniformity. Everything within our power was done to end variation. More than this—impossible as it seemed of accomplishment at the time—we set out to develop or find a better production process, having as a major requirement the elimination of varying quality.

We discovered and purchased for our exclusive use and at the cost of millions of dollars a manufacturing process that was amazingly superior to our own.

By this method, modern and automatic, millions of blades can be made at top speed without variation in quality.

We incorporated refinements of our own invention and installed the new machinery, throwing out all of our old equipment.

Now we announce today's Gillette blades, made by the new management. The usual superlatives have no place in this sincere statement of ours, so we will let the quality of the blades speak for itself. The green Gillette package remains unchanged, but the blades are new in every respect, quality, performance, and method of manufacture.

The Gillette Blue Super-Blade

The $2 Kroman De Luxe blade has been withdrawn from production. We offer the Blue Super-Blade as its successor. This sensational blade is far superior to the Kroman and costs considerably less. You pay only a few cents more than for the regular blade and get unmatched shaving comfort. Its extraordinary shaving performance will convince you that the Blue Blade is the sharpest ever produced. A blue color has been applied to the blade for easy identification. It is contained in a blue package, Cellophane wrapped.

You can try today's Gillette blades without risking a cent. If you don't agree they are superior, return the package and your dealer will refund your money. Our reputation depends upon the proof of these claims. Being absolutely certain of the quality of these Gillette blades, we do not hesitate to make this statement over our signature.

MURRAY STAYS FOUR DEATHS

Doomed Men Given Time To File Appeals

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13. (UP)—Four convicted slayers now in death row at McAlester penitentiary awaiting execution were given 60-day stays of execution today by Gov. W. H. Murray. A murderer serving a life term was given a year leave of absence.

Nathan Rightsell, 26, sentenced to die in the electric chair July 1, was granted a stay of execution until Aug. 26. Rightsell was convicted of slaying J. V. Buchanan, railroad special agent, in the railroad yards at Hugo.

His mother at Carbon, Ind., wrote Governor Murray her son pleaded guilty on the assumption he would be given life imprisonment.

Ignacio Gomez, 18-year-old Mexican, convicted of killing Jerry Armstrong, Ponca City merchant, was given a stay until Aug. 19. Armstrong was killed when the Mexican held him up to get money to be married on.

Proctor McDonald, 23, was convicted of killing Raymond Butler in Oilton.

Jess Hollins, 22-year-old negro, was sentenced to death for attack on a white girl at Slick.

The four stays were granted that the convicted men may appeal their cases to the criminal court of appeals.

Barney Whitmore sentenced to life imprisonment in the district court of Jefferson county for murder, was given a 12-month leave of absence so he could support his aged mother and father.

Belle Goldsmith, wife of the man Whitmore was convicted of slaying, wrote Governor Murray she thought he was innocent of the crime.

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

HOOVER DISCUSSES IT WITH HIS ASTRAL BODY

(Copyright, 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

CHICAGO, June 13.—Mr. Hoover is America's first television candidate.

He ain't coming to Chicago. Nobody mentions his name in Chicago. And for the first time in the history book there are no pictures of the candidate in the convention city.

This is a convention without a cheer, without a parade, without enthusiasm and probably without a reason.

Mr. Hoover gets all his information over the long distance telephone. His secretary is here drinking tea and gadding about.

Secretary Richey is the administration ear. Mr. Hoover remains in Washington to make good his oath to haunt the White House night and day for four years.

Any time Secretary Richey thinks he has some info, that will interest Mr. Hoover and be of no value to the rest of the country, he picks up the nickel broadcasting set and murmurs soft and low:

"Mr. Hoover, this is your astral body. I'm out in Chicago."

Hoover: "Has anybody mentioned prosperity?"

Richey: "Nope. That's a fighting word this year."

Hoover: "How about the 18th amendment?"

Richey: "Well, Nicholas Murray Butler is trying to pick that nail out of the tire."

Hoover: "Don't let him do that. You know that's my pet puncture. Ask Butler if he wants to be ambassador to somewhere."

Richey: "Why not give him the vice president nomination?"

Hoover: "That ain't a nomination. That's a grand jury recommendation for solitary confinement."

Richey: "Well, Herbert, this Butler is a tough woman to shave. He's been scolding college students for 30 years and he aint used to being contradicted."

Hoover: "Well, what does he want?"

Richey: "He wants beer."

Hoover: "Well, does he have to go to Chicago for that? Any Columbia student can steer him to a speaky within a hundred yards of his college."

Richey: "That aint all, Prexy. Guess who got here yesterday? John D. Rockerfeller Junior, and Rudy Vallee."

Hoover: "What are those two crooners doing?"

Richey: "Rudy is singing the Maine Stein Song and John D. is hanging on the table."

Hoover: "How about the delegates? Have they all been instructed? They aint going to bolt, are they?"

Richey: "They think the convention is being held in three places. In the Turkish baths in the morning, the stadium in the afternoon and the beer flats at night. They gotta vote for you or they don't get their carfare home."

Hoover: "Then you think I'll get the nomination?"

Richey: "Think you'll get it? You're sure of it. They're going to make you stay there another four years and suffer with the rest of us."

Hoover: "Has anybody in Chicago got a letter from Coolidge?"

Richey: "Not since stamps went up to three cents."

Hoover: "That's good. Now, listen to this. Shove me through on the first ballot. Don't give those delegates a chance to think."

Richey: "Okay. Call you back in a few minutes. Say, how about those legionnaires camped around the White House? Are they annoying you?"

Hoover: "Oh, I took care of them. I pulled the shades down."

Richey: "So long."

Negro Slayer Expected to Go To Electric Chair in August

Richard Johnson, negro, probably will be executed sometime in August for the slaying of A. N. (Ted) Nodruft here last September, District Attorney Sam B. Spence announced Monday after Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk, received the mandate from the criminal court of appeals giving official notice that the condemned negro's motion for rehearing had been overruled.

Mr. Spence indicated that Johnson probably will be brought from Dallas, where he is being held for safe keeping, late this week for a sufficient length of time to allow assessment of the death sentence by Judge Allan D. Montgomery of the 30th district court. Judge Montgomery will be engaged in Graham during the early part of this week in court business.

Setting of the execution of Johnson in August, officials explained, was probable in order to give time for action in the case of Richard Brown, negro, also under death penalty from Graham in the same case. A motion for rehearing filed on behalf of Brown after the appellate court had affirmed his death sentence has not yet been disposed of by that court.

Indictment of both negroes for murder, robbery with firearms, and criminal assault grew out of the killing of Nodruft, followed by robbery and assault of his fiancee. Johnson was convicted on the murder charge. Brown obtained a transfer to Graham, where he promptly was convicted on the robbery charge and given a death sentence.

Thefts reported to Salt Lake City police recently included two gravestones.

TAXI PLEA DENIED

Operators Appeal Cases To County Court For Retrial

After being denied writs of habeas corpus Monday morning by Judge Irvin J. Vogel of the county court at law, J. W. McCutchen and G. C. Williams, dime taxi operators, appealed their cases from corporation court to Judge Vogel's court and were released on bond about 3 p. m.

O. T. Robinson, third member of the trio which applied for writs of habeas corpus last Wednesday, was returned to the city jail to serve time equivalent to a fine of $1 and costs. Having been tried on June 1, his allowed 10 days for appeal to the county court at law had elapsed before his application for a writ of habeas corpus was denied Monday morning. Robinson will have to serve less than two days under the June 1 conviction, it was said.

Kiwanis Hears Talk By Rev. Corbin

Social and economic conditions in British Burma, one of the largest provinces in the British empire, were discussed before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Wichita club by Rev. Bruce B. Corbin, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, and formerly a missionary in Burma.

The speaker told of the racial composition of the Burmese population, and of the industries which occupy those peoples.

Two songs by Mrs. William E. Young, accompanied by Miss Jean McIntosh of Dallas, were included in the day's program. Dr. O. W. Wilson was in charge, and Jacob B. Price presided.

Reduced Fares Offered To Disabled Vets Meet

Disabled veterans who wish to attend the national D. A. V. convention in San Diego beginning June 18, may secure reduced railroad fares through the filling of special forms now available at the office of Fred C. Mayers, commander of the local D. A. V.

Mr. Mayers announced that disabled veterans, members of their families, members of families of disabled veterans now dead, and auxiliary members are entitled to the reduced fare. He said that those wishing to attend the convention should secure and fill in the forms as early as possible. Mr. Mayer's office is at 203 City National Bank building.

Legion Post to Lead July 4 Celebration

Milton J. Gaines was named chairman of a special committee of the Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion at a meeting of the executive committee of the post Monday night to handle plans for the 1932 celebration of American Independence day on July 4. Other members of the committee are Floyd Friberg and Victor Nobles. The legionnaires will close the day's celebration with a parade at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, it was voted at a discussion of preliminary plans.

City Officials Attend Municipal Meeting

City Manager V. R. Smitham, Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., and Aldermen J. M. Spoonts and J. N. Prothro left Monday evening for Dallas, where they will attend the meeting of the Texas League of Municipalities on Tuesday and Wednesday, according to City Clerk W. E. McBroom.

The city officials are all traveling "on their own expense" for the session at Dallas, Mr. McBroom specified.

TWO AUTOS RECOVERED

Two missing automobiles were recovered by police Monday and a third was reported stolen early Monday morning. The sedan of B. C. Brooks, 2005 Eighth, was taken from the 900 block on Travis Sunday and was recovered by Patrol Officers Bob Miller and Joe Moore at Twenty-first and Bluff Monday night. The car was unharmed.

The large sedan owned by Mrs. W. C. Heath, 1008 Travis, was taken at Lake Wichita Sunday night and was recovered Monday near the Junior college. Billie Lack, negro, of Graham, reported a Chevrolet sedan taken from 1815 Lucile at 12:30 a. m. Monday.

Commodity prices have decreased as much as 67 per cent at Greenville, S. C., during 36 months, a survey revealed.

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 13.—R. H. Cook, local oil man, won a suit and $15 in rebates from the Community Natural Gas company in justice court here today. The plaintiff alleged the gas company had overcharged on his gas bills during the past two years. A jury returned a verdict in favor of the oil man.

Oil Test May Extend Carolina-Texas Field

LAREDO, Texas, June 13. (AP)—Oil men today considered it probable that the Carolina-Texas field would be extended as a result of drilling the Philip Rosenberg well in Webb county 36 miles east of Laredo and five miles north of Oilton. Oil sand was topped at 2,240 feet. A drill stem test drew oil into the crown block. The casing was set and plans were made to bring the well in later this week. The well was located on the Laurel ranch, which was purchased recently by Rosenberg and a group of Los Angeles associates.

Movie Industry Faces Bankruptcy, Producer Says

HOLLYWOOD, June 13. (UP)—The billion dollar motion picture industry faces bankruptcy within 90 days unless drastic measures are introduced to save it, Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of R-K-O and the National Broadcasting company, warned fellow producers tonight.

The first company that "sacrifices its pride" and applies for receivership will find every other major studio following, he declared.

Court Delays Trial Of Buster Canada

Trials of R. W. (Buster) Canada, charged with robbery by assault and violence, and of Jack Hollis and Ellis Bonham, charged with burglary in separate indictments, were continued Monday by Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court to next week.

Canada is under a five-year sentence for burglary, imposed last month in his third trial for robbery of the home of Dr. Frank Harrison in March. The robbery charge resulted from an attempted jailbreak staged by Canada and W. H. Bybee, in which Night Jailer Sid Johnson was seriously injured when slugged, and his pistol was taken.

Bandit Secures $20 In Holdup of Gas Station

A lone hijacker on foot walked into the American Refining company filling station at Ninth and Brook at 9:30 o'clock Monday night holding up Hollis Mendenhall, 1704 Buchanan, and escaping with $20.04. The bandit forced Mr. Mendenhall to accompany him as he left the station and walked with him to an alley a block east, where the hijacker continued on foot, making his escape. Patrol Officers Flenniken and Warfield investigated.

(US)—A bench warrant for the arrest of Jack Johnson was issued in municipal court today after the city prosecutor's office filed five complaints charging the negro former world's heavyweight champion with failure to pay employes of his cafe. The wage claims total $463.50. Bail on each of the complaints was set at $100.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, June 13. (AP)—Quoted domestic wool values appear somewhat firmer, as many feel that the recent movement of wool, though limited, resulted from an increase in sales of goods. A firming tendency of wool prices and prospects for some improvement in the goods market led some buyers of semimanufactured products to give more attention to future needs in raw material. Receipts of domestic wool at Boston during the week ending June 11, estimated by the Boston grain and flour exchange, amounted to 4,456,800 pounds, as compared with 3,254,500 pounds the previous week.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

P. W. T., Wichita Falls.—Kindly give me some information on Cities Service company 5 per cent gold debentures of 1950.

Answer—Cities Service company reported net earnings of $34,879,871 in the 12 months ended March 31, 1932. Interest and discount on debentures amounted to $11,950,432, which indicates that interest requirements were earned nearly three times over. Net earnings to stocks and reserves in the first quarter of this year showed a gain over the like 1931 period. Company has made a relatively satisfactory showing during the depression and the debenture 5s of 1950 appear attractive as a long term holding.

A. B. S.—Please give me some information on the outlook for Scott Paper company stock.

Answer—First quarter tonnage sales of Scott Paper company were well sustained, but owing to lower prices, net income declined 12 per cent below that of the first quarter of 1931. Earnings equaled $1.32 a common share, compared with $1.82 in the like 1931 period. Aggressive advertising of paper towels and tissues continues and prospects point to relatively favorable maintenance of sales and profits this year. Financial condition at the end of March was stronger than a year before; respective ratios of current assets to current liabilities were 6.1-to-1 and 4.8-to-1. Cash on March 31, 1932, totaled $688,849, compared with current liabilities of $390,646. In view of satisfactory earnings, consideration may be given this year to upward revision of dividends, now being paid at the rate of $1.40 a share annually.

K. T. F.—What is your opinion of the continuance of the $5 dividend on Safeway Stores and the outlook for the company.

Answer—Earnings of Safeway Stores this year are expected to compare favorably with the $6.34 a common share reported for 1931 and the $5 annual dividend rate appears reasonably secure. Results from the McMarr stores were included from July 1 and since the acquisition of this company over 400 stores have been closed in order to eliminate intra-company competition. Number of stores in operation now total 3,527, located chiefly in the Pacific coast states, but extending into nearly all the states west of the Mississippi, as well as Canada and Hawaii. New outlets have recently been added in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. The long term outlook for Safeway Stores is considered distinctly favorable and further profit gains seem assured when public purchasing power recovers.

G. L. A.—What is the outlook for Warren Bros. Co.?

Answer—Outlook for road construction is so obscured by uncertainties of foreign and domestic government financing that the near term outlook for Warren Bros. Co. is clouded. A small profit may be shown for 1931, including interest on Cuban bonds accrued but not payable until June, 1933. Actual current operations are showing a loss, despite the fact that overhead has been reduced by about 75 per cent in the past year and a half. The only foreign business being done is on an Argentine contract which is expected to be completed this year.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 13. (AP)—While somewhat irregular, cotton was generally higher today on trade buying and covering promoted by talk of "boll weevil" weather in the South, and the firmer technical position.

July contracts sold up from 4.96 to 5.11 or 14 points above Saturday's closing quotation and closed at 5.08. The general market closed steady at net advances of 9 to 12 points.

A little local and southern selling was absorbed by trade buying, however, while covering or rebuying by recent sellers seemed to be stimulated by apprehensions that the continued wet weather in the eastern belt would be followed by increased weevil infestation.

December closed at 5.46 and closing quotations on most positions showed slight reactions from the best under realizing.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying on the firmness of Egyptian cotton, supplies by Bombay selling at the advance. Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 23 to 40 points higher. Exports today 3,649, making 88,156,894 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,711,354.

Futures closed steady, 9-12 higher. Spot quiet; middling 5.15.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 13. (AP)—Cotton although only moderately active today, developed a gradual improvement in prices, due to showery weather in the belt, talk of boll weevils and a late rally in stocks. The close showed net gains of 10 to 12 points.

The British statistics for May showed exports of yarns of 13,000,000 pounds against 11,000,000 last year and exports of cloths 201,000,000 square yards against 141,000,000 last year.

The market continued fairly firm all afternoon supported by showery weather in the belt and firmer stocks. Despite some profit taking at times, July traded up to 5.11, October to 5.31, and December to 5.46 up 12 to 13 points from the lows of the morning. The close was near the top with July and December showing net gains of 10 points and October a net gain of 11 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 4 to 5 penny points up.

Port receipts 4,819, for week 9,564, for season 9,767,597, last season 8,875,098. Exports 3,649, for week 22,620, for season 7,909,254, last year 6,303,547. Port stock 3,733,248, last year 3,150,624. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 101,409, last year 63,462. Spot sales at southern markets 1,341, last year 1,052.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 10 to 12 points.

Stock and Bond Markets Inactive Awaiting Outcome of Bonus Vote

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 13. (US)—Stocks marked time today while the soldiers' bonus legislation was moving through congress. Not that the market was much excited over the vote on the point of order, which went in favor of the bonus advocates.

Rather, it was an indisposition to celebrate prematurely the anticipated possible defeat of the legislation in the senate or the almost certain veto by the president.

Bonds probably were more affected, since every threat to the balanced budget revives that nervousness which the powers-that-be are aiming to overcome marketwise.

Neither market, however, was suffering acutely in the waiting process, in fact, stocks performed in a manner which seemed to win them new friends.

Industrial news of the day was disheartening, steel operations being revealed as down to a new low mark, and the railroad loadings figures due today were forecast in discouraging volume.

Therefore, the stock market was left chiefly at the mercy of its own technical condition and this apparently was sufficiently favorable to overcome the day's developments.

Auburn still was continuing its antics, finally closing two points net higher. The report continued that the exchange authorities were closely watching this situation for signs of just such type of manipulation as brought into being the senate investigation now on its last lap. This was little cheering to the shorts, but there were signs that the stock's sponsors were more anxious to "fill bids."

New York's traction stocks, especially Brooklyn-Manhattan issues, recovered sharply on announcement of a new unification plan which would have the city acquire the properties at prices for outstanding securities almost twice their present market valuations.

The B. M. T. stocks seemed to be responding even more directly to the increasing belief that the preferred dividend may be continued. The management and the bankers apparently have undergone a change of heart regarding the preferred dividend, which for a time has been threatened by the terms reported laid down by the bankers as part-price for B. M. T.'s refinancing of its August maturity.

Or, perhaps, they lost courage in the face of the threatened uprising of B. M. T. stockholders. As a matter of fact, it is understood that some important stockholders still contemplate formation of a protective group.

Their plans, however, are being held in abeyance pending outcome of the latest unification proposals. Some powerful stockholders favor immediate convening of a conference involving all interested groups, the city, the bankers, and the transit officials, for the purpose of attempting to arrive at an amicable all-round agreement. The B. M. T. powers are blamed for the delay thus far.

With Brooklyn-Manhattan shares enjoying a vigorous run-up—the common was up 3⅝ net and the preferred 7—the entire list showed an improved tone. There wasn't much spirit to the market, the volume of trading dropping to 600,000 shares, lowest since May 23.

But there was a promise of strength with the development of any good news, perhaps final defeat of the bonus proposals, or promising developments at Lausanne.

From preliminary advices, the Lausanne meeting of the European powers is capable of producing genuinely satisfactory results, at least from the standpoint of removing the uncertainties surrounding the purely European problems. A decision at Lausanne one way or the other at least would have the advantage of informing the entire world of the decisions which seemingly already have been reached in European chancelleries.

For the first time in six weeks, the gold movement today favored the United States by a small margin. This may be only a temporary lull in the vast outflow which has induced the renewed questioning of the gold standard here, but it appeared to responsible authorities to mark "the beginning of the end" of our gold loss on gigantic scale. Unless there is a tremendous internal fright, and run on gold here, the national problem has successfully called the bluff of Europe, especially France by furnishing all of the precious metal that has been demanded.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 13. (AP)—Fifty-cent wheat instead of the old-time standard of a dollar a bushel formed the rule in the trading pit today.

With buyers backing away from sellers, the market flattened out, and all deliveries of wheat wavered uneasily around the season's bottommost figures. Reports that the 1932 wheat harvest was in progress as far north as Hutchinson, Kan., led to widening of the price difference between Kansas City and Chicago, and had a bearish effect here, together with persistent absence of export business in wheat from the United States.

Wheat closed nervous, 1@1⅛c under Saturday's finish, corn ⅛c off to ⅝c up, oats ⅛@⅜c down, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of 5c.

It was admitted that the critical time for the United States spring wheat crop was still ahead, but bears contended that the conditions so far had proved remarkably favorable. On the other hand, a leading authority expressed fears regarding the crop outcome in large sections both south and north of the Canadian border.

Corn showed resistance to selling pressure, notwithstanding declines in wheat and despite official reports indicating that the new corn crop was in good condition. In some quarters, the relative firmness of the corn market was ascribed to talk that the Republican convention would adopt a prohibition repeal plank. Oats sagged with wheat and on account of favorable reports about progress of the oats crop.

Sixty-five tickets have been sold for the third annual business men's tour of the Wichita valley on Wednesday it was announced Monday by leaders in the Valley Development association. Final plans for the tour will be made at a meeting of the association directors Tuesday afternoon at the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce offices.

Every business man in Wichita Falls is urged to arrange his business in order to join the tour Wednesday morning for first hand information on the real value of the irrigated valley to the city, President B. A feature of the tour will be a stop for lunch en route, the cost covered in the ticket price of $1. Scores of irrigated farms will be visited and concrete evidence of the productiveness of the valley will be given. Regarding the irrigated valley as one of the greatest assets of Wichita Falls, leaders of the tour aim to acquaint Wichitans with its possibilities.

The "56" Oil Corporation of Texas has abandoned as a dry hole No. 1 W. P. Stephens in block 14, section 3412, T. E. & L. survey, Young county, as dry at a total depth of 3950 feet. The test had been watched with considerable interest due to the fact of its location being one-half mile east of the King Royalty-Windfohr in the same survey, originally started to the 2750-foot production in the Dewey Knox test. This formation was tested but failed to produce with the result that the well drilled to the deeper level but failed to pick up the pay.

JACK COUNTY TEST

The Brazos River Gas company No. 2 York, located in the W. Barwise survey, abstract 1907, Jack county, is showing for a nice well. The formation of broken sand from 2869 to 2883 is producing about 200 barrels of oil and an estimated gas flow of 1,000,000 cubic feet per day.

COOKE COUNTY COMPLETION

W. B. Hamilton and associates have completed their No. 4 Clint Jacobs test in the north 121 acres of the J. Strickland survey, abstract 929, southeast of Gainesville in Cooke county. The well, which is rated at 150 barrels, topped the sand at 1513 and was drilled four feet.

SOUTH YOUNG COUNTY

Long and others No. D-1 Williams, a deep test located in the J. B. Walker survey, abstract 1279, south Young county, is shut down preparatory to drilling deeper into the sand at 2488-89 feet and is showing 1,000,000 feet of gas and about 60 barrels of oil.

N. H. Martin and Son No. 1 G. W. Lewis, located 150 feet from south and 150 feet from the west line of block 23, Wichita Valley Farm land subdivision, one-half mile west of Kemp City in Wichita county, has set and cemented pipe on a sand at an approximate depth of 1750 feet and will drill out the plug Wednesday.

NORTHEAST OF HOLLIDAY

The Petroleum Producers No. 1 J. W. Campbell, located in block 1, league 4, Denton county school lands in Archer county, is rated at 150 barrels from the sand at 1785 feet and will be put on the pump during the next day or so. The same interests have staked out location for No. 2 J. W. Campbell 300 feet north of the producer.

WILDCAT TEST

Beer and associates No. 1 W. L. Andrews, located in the southwest part of the J. Collingsworth survey, abstract 68, in Archer county, is drilling at a depth of 1250 feet.

KING ROYALTY-WINDFOHR

The King Royalty and Bob Windfohr No. 1 Lowe, located in block 15, section 3412, T. E. & L. survey, northeast of Graham in Young county, is shut down for connections at a depth of 3860 feet. The well, which has attracted considerable interest, drilled to a total depth of 3908 feet. Later the hole was plugged back to the grey lime formation from 3846 feet to 3860 where a shot was placed. The shot responded by increasing the output from 40 to 80 barrels accompanied by 5,500,000 cubic feet of gas.

Convict-Made Shoes Sent Hospital Here

Several hundred pairs of shoes, made by convicts in the state penitentiary at Huntsville, comprised the cargo unloaded here Monday by Bud Russell, state penitentiary agent, at the Wichita Falls State hospital.

The big motorbus which "Uncle Bud" Russell uses to transport prisoners to Huntsville was used on this trip to bring shoes from the prison to the local hospital.

MANY ATTEND SWIM CLASSES

Free Lessons Provided For Women, Children

In spite of the cool weather, Monday devotees of the water, entered free swimming classes for women and children at Westmoreland park that will continue during the summer months. After 5 o'clock Monday, senior life saving classes were in order with an encouraging outlook for the season.

The wind rippling the wide expanse at the swimming pool made a pretty picture Monday morning. At night, the spotlights and the constant attention of guards make a safe pleasure for those, who in the parlance of the day, are "water-minded."

The pool this year is in charge of John W. Thomas. Jack Williams, who worked in all Fort Worth swimming pools but who specialized at Forest Park, will be in charge of the swimming lessons for women. Laverne Malone, Tom Beaty, Morris Lee, Miss Cecelia Terrell and Mrs. C. E. Deaton will be in charge of other classes.

The free swimming lessons for women and children will be conducted on Mondays and Thursdays at 9:30 a. m. and the life saving lessons will be given Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings after 5 o'clock.
