USE COMMITTEE IS
INVERTED: MILLIONS
ARE TO BE NEEDED

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—The six weeks of silence on the new Swing-Johnson Boulder Canyon dam measure was broken in the House today when its irrigation committee reported the bill with a favorable recommendation.

The bill would authorize the expenditure of $125,000,000 for the construction of a 550-foot dam and power plant at Boulder or Black Canyon, on the Nevada-Arizona boundary, and the opening of an all-American canal from the Colorado river to Imperial and Coachella valleys, California.

The additional time granted by the committee to enable the river commissioners of the seven Colorado basin states to continue their negotiations for a compact allocating the waters of the river among the states had brought to intimation of the perfection of any agreement.

No Early Vote Expected
While the bill now is out of committee, there is no indication that it will be brought up on the floor for early consideration. Representative Swing, Republican, California, co-author of the measure, said he was uncertain as to the place the House leaders would give it on the schedule.

The report described the paramount purpose of the bill as "the protection of human life and property in Imperial valley, Calif., which is under constant menace of destruction from the floods of a rebellious and treacherous river. The project, it added, will put water to work in the interest of society, creating new homes, building up new industries and adding to the wealth of the nation."

In addition to ending the flood menace, the committee deemed the measure the solution of an "intolerable situation which now exists in Imperial valley."

The valley now secures its sole water supply by a canal which runs for some 60 miles through Mexico, the report said. "The all-American canal will furnish a substitute for this and at the same time carry the water at a elevation sufficient to make possible, at some future date, the irrigation of additional land, mostly public, lying about the rim of the cultivated area."

PENCE CASE A MYSTERY STILL

VICTIM OF HIJACKERS
EXPECTED TO GET HOME TODAY

Although no further word has been heard from him since last night when he telephoned from Lamesa that he was on his way back to Lubbock, T. H. Pence, local wholesale man, who was hijacked near Amherst Tuesday night and forced to drive his car to Midland, had not returned to Lubbock this afternoon.

Members of his family were expecting him to arrive at any moment, however, they said.

In his call from Lamesa to the family at 2105 15th Street last night Mr. Pence verified the rumor that he had been hijacked, temporarily kidnapping him, and that he was being driven to Midland at the point of a gun. Further details of the incident were not given last night, his family said. It is not known how much money he lost but it is thought that he had between three and four hundred dollars with him. Concern was maintained for his safety when he did not return to Lubbock from one of his periodic trips Tuesday night and increased upon the receipt of a long-distance telephone call from Midland early yesterday morning, bits of which could be understood, from which the information of the robbery was obtained.

Another Spanking
For Miss Lorene

KANSAS CITY, March 15.—Lorene Jones, 16, another spanking. It was with the palm of her mother's hand this time and there were no hard feelings. In fact, Lorene said she deserved it.

Lorene, 16-year-old high school girl, returned home last night after a week of absence, during which the mother, Mrs. Christine Wodside, 34, former carnival snake charmer and lion tamer, was prosecuted for whipping Lorene with a wooden coal hanger and spent a night in jail for refusal to pay a $100 fine.

The girl and her mother were in agreement over the latest spanking.

"I asked mother to," Lorene said. "I felt I deserved it. Think of the trouble, the tears, the notoriety to my own darling mother."

They hugged.

ARTHUR MARSH
TESTIFIES ON COTTON SLUMP

KNOWS FEDERAL BOARD OF ANDERSON-
CLAYTON DOINGS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—A charge that cotton market operations of Anderson, Clayton and company, Houston, cotton factors, in March 1923 which amounted to price manipulations were "conducted under the direct auspices of the Federal trade commission" was placed before the Senate cotton slump investigating committee today by Arthur R. Marsh, a New York cotton broker.

Marsh is the chief sponsor for allegations that the 1927 market crash was due in part to operations such as those he described. He said "one of the powerful interests, the Anderson-Clayton company, which came out of the war richer than it went in," was said to be conducting covering operations here and there for the purpose of forcing prices for certain months out of proper relation with other market factors.

This continued into 1923, he said, and the March operations of Houston firm were under "direct auspices" of the Federal trade commission.

"Some months after the conclusion of these operations," the witness said, "the principal representative of the Federal trade commission, Mr. Twombly, told myself and others in New York with a kind of triumph that he had been fully informed of the Anderson-Clayton market transactions."

Marsh added that Twombly, meaning Walter Twombly, now dead, had told him that "here in my pocket, I had daily information as to what Anderson-Clayton were doing all the time."

Other boys in the car were Dan Penley, 17; Jack Williamson, 16; and Lum Holcomb, 16. The car was badly damaged.

MARINES TOLD

SANDINO ARMY

GRIM ANSWER MADE TO
NOTE SENT BY REBEL
CHIEF TO SENATE

(By Associated Press)

MANAGUA, N.C., Mar. 15.—American marines today were under orders of their commander to make stringent efforts to wipe out the Sandino revolt.

For weeks supplies have been moving steadily in northern Nicaragua where Sandino has been active. Airplane, motor truck, pack train and oxen were used in the effort. Today observers pointed to the memorandum of Brigadier General Logan Feland, to his command as the explanation for the movement of supplies and munitions. General Feland urged untiring effort in the immediate future in order that the task of the marines might be completed in the shortest possible time.

"General" Demands Action

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15 (AP).—The occasional pleas in congress for withdrawal from Nicaragua of the American marines now hunting down "General" Sandino in an effort to restore peace have been added to by one from Sandino himself.

In a message indirectly delivered to the senate, the Nicaraguan leader declares that unless the marines are taken away he could "not be responsible for the safety of any North American official resident in Nicaraguan territory."

Would Replace Diaz

Replacement of Adolfo Diaz, now president of Nicaragua, by some Nicaraguan not a candidate for the office and supervision of the coming elections in that country by Latin-American representatives instead of the marines are two other conditions for peace laid down by Sandino.

His message together with correspondence between himself and Rear Admiral David F. Sellers, commander of the American Special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters, relating to peace negotiations, were made public after their submission to Chairman Borah of the senate foreign relations committee by Lewis S. Gannett, associate editor of

INQUESTS SET LIST OF

PROBE OPENS

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 15.—Testimony produced at the first inquest of the St. Francis dam flood victims, held at Moorpark today indicated that a total of 285 bodies had been recovered in Los Angeles and Ventura counties, where all the deaths occurred. This figure, clashing with previous estimates, caused a sharp upward jump in the death toll.

The coroner's jury made no attempt to fix blame for the disaster, but brought in a straight verdict of "accidental drowning due to the breaking of the St. Francis Dam."

Bitterness At City Is Rampant

SANTA PAULA, Calif., Mar. 15 (AP).—Bitterness against the city of Los Angeles began to show itself in San Francisco today as the Santa Clara river valley today as interest centered upon numerous inquests and other investigations to determine responsibility for the loss of hundreds of lives and millions of dollars in property in the St. Francis dam break.

While the bodies of nearly 200 valley residents lay in improvised morgues and 300 or more still remained unaccounted for, the issue of responsibility for the disaster was thrust into the foreground when rehabilitation committees charged that the Southern California metropolis had usurped the water rights of the valley in building St. Francis dam.

Mott Flays City

Dr. D. W. Mott, former state senator from Santa Paula, informed Gov. C. G. Young that "the responsibility is that of a selfish city that took the water belonging to us." Mott said his opinion had been expressed in answer to a question put by the chief executive, who had asked for an opinion on responsibility for the disaster.

C. C. Teague, chairman of the Santa Clara valley committee in an address said: "We want Los Angeles to know that it has taken millions from us."

The City of Los Angeles, will try to minimize the damage and prove that we are not entitled to

MARYE and MOM Their Letters

Marye dearest,
It's really too bad the way you've suffered at the hands of man. Isn't it? No fine motor car, no nice, modern apartment with every luxury! No beautiful clothes—not even a permanent wave!

Marye, I do hate to hear a woman ranting about the injustices man has imposed upon her through the ages. Last week, at the sewing circle, we had an "emancipated" woman present and she talked the same kind of nonsense your last letter contained.

It's true that men have always looked to women to preserve the finer things of life, the spiritual and cultural as well as the moral. And in return for putting us up as a pedestal and "acknowledging" us as they have given us comforts and luxuries and beauty.

Besides, though we may have lost sight of this in our displeasure at having our experiments with life limited according to their ideas of proper conduct for us, we have had the best of the bargain in respect to the two standards.
One grows in beauty and goodness. Marye, and perishes in ugliness and evil. Man may have been thinking of his own interests along when he "put across" the single standard—granted it was his doing—but if so, he unconsciously thrust more happiness upon woman than she ever could have got by following in his footsteps.

You may say that man is as happy as woman. True, dear, but would either be happy if woman had embraced the single standard, too? I doubt it.

I'm sure you were more hurt because people gossip about you than you let on. I didn't tell you to upset you, dear, but just to show you that there are still people in the world who don't approve of the disregard of established customs and conventions. I'm afraid you've failed to realize certain truths that always have and always will exist between men and women. So I wanted you to know that if you won't protect yourself from the consequences of too much liberty you will have to face the censure of those who disagree with you. It is for you to decide if it's worth while, Marye darling.

Dearest love,
MOTHER.

INJURIES STALK TRAINING CAMPS OF MAJOR LEAGUE BALL CLUBS

RED SOX AND SENATORS FEEL WEIGHT OF MISHAPS; OLD MAN ALEXANDER SHINES ON MOUND

MOST OF CLUBS WORK STEADILY AHEAD AS SEASON NEARS

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, Mar. 15.—The Boston Red Sox are going to be without the services of their crack first baseman, Phil Todd, for a while. He wrenched his knee in the eighth inning of the 4-4 tie game against the Baltimore Orioles yesterday and had to be carried from the field but an examination showed that his injury was more painful than serious.

Horseshoes Banned By Jack Slattery

PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 15.—Horseshoe pitching doesn't make the Boston Braves especially proficient in the state of Florida. Manager Jack Slattery has decided to place the pastime under the ban, at least until the winter product improves. He wanted Kent Greenfield play with the Braves yesterday just before the Chicago shut out the Braves 1-0, and then he saw Greenfield, who started for the Braves, yield four hits in five innings. Bob Smith finished the encounter.

Fonseca Is Absent As Indians Play

CLEVELAND, Mar. 15.—Only Lew Fonseca, counted on as regular second baseman for the Cleveland Indians, was missing from the regular lineup which Peckinpaugh announced would oppose the Toledo Mudhens at New Orleans today.

Red Vets To Play Against Rookies

ORLANDO, Fla., Mar. 15.—The veterans and rookies of the Cincinnati Reds scheduled a practice contest today in preparation for their two games with Washington at Tampa tomorrow and Saturday. The Browns won yesterday, 6 to 4.

Two Hurt In Camp Of Washington

TAMPA, Fla., Mar. 15.—Today was the first of which Washington players could sharpen their batting by facing a crack club, but since the Senators had a game at Clearwater with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Buck Harris' golf ball may just as well have taken effect yesterday. Two casualties marred yesterday's drill in preparation for the game. Doug Wycoff, former Georgia Tech star on his first trip to the plate in a Washington uniform, smacked Bob Reeves in the small of the back with a line drive. Paul Hopkins wrecked a wild pitch and put a small dent in Sam Rice's right elbow.

Detroit Given Chance To Swap

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 15.—Reports that the Detroit Tiger management will barter the team's surplus infield and outfield material for seasoned pitchers has resulted in a flood of offers for the talent. Three teams have made offers for Nolan Richardson, recruit third baseman and as many more are after Charlie Sullivan, a pitcher. Others are negotiating for Frank Hammer, shortstop; Dutch Holland, an outfielder; and Bill Sweeney, first baseman. Moriarty indicated he will not part with Richardson.

Robins Hit Hard And Also Often

CLEARWATER, Fla., Mar. 15.—The hitting prowess of the 1928 edition of the Brooklyn Robins has measured up to the fondest hopes of Manager Robinson in the first exhibition test of the training series. The flock collected 17 hits for a 17 to 3 decision over the University of Florida yesterday. Jay Partridge spanking out a homer and a double in three times at bat. Jigger Stutz came through with a triple and Babe Herman contributed a double.

Pirates Have Full Squad Once More

PASO ROBLES, Calif., Mar. 15.—The Pittsburgh Pirates again have a full squad in uniform and Manager Donie Bush feels that all will be in shape to take part in the exhibition games scheduled for the last two days of this week. Although Pitchers Ray Kremer and John Millus are still weak from their recent illness, they participated in the workout yesterday prior to the practice game. The youngsters again took the regulars to camp, winning 4 to 2.

McCarthy Will Use Pruning Knife

SANTA ANA, Calif., Mar. 15.—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Chicago Cubs hoped to make a few definite decisions as to a first string line-up when his proteges matched bats with the Portland Pacific Coast League team today. McCarthy has a wealth of material, but after today's games and the following contest on the mainland during the week-end with the Los Angeles and Hollywood clubs, he expects to use the pruning knife.

White Sox Ready For Texas Tour

SHREVEPORT, La., Mar. 15.—Invited by three victories over the Shreveport Sports, the Chicago White Sox today prepared for their invasion of the training camps of the Texas leaguers. Nine games are on schedule, starting tomorrow at Fort Worth.

Ruppert And Hoyt Still At Out

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 15.—Difficulties between Walter Hoyt and the Yankees' management over an increase in salary for the pitching star culminated other matters at the New York training camp today. Reports prevailed that Col. Jacob Ruppert had virtually conceded to Hoyt's demand for a two-year contract but was not in accord with the $27,000 annual wage sought by the hurler who won 22 games for the World champions last year.

Buck Lai May Go Into Laundry

AUGUSTA, Ga., Mar. 15.—Buck Lai, the Chinaman with the New York Giants, will open up a laundry in preparation for joining Little Rock's Manager McGraw sent Lai to the Little Rock camp the other day but he is still in camp here. "I'll go in the laundry business first," Buck declared in refusing to quit the Giants.

Manush Arrives At Brown Camp

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 15.—Outfielder Henry Emmet Manush who is expected to be one of the pillars of the reorganized St. Louis Browns, has arrived in camp from Detroit. His arm which was injured in a fall was still in splints. His hand was almost totally paralyzed as the result of the injury which has been treated at Detroit for three weeks.

Cards Come Back To Meet Orioles

AVON PARK, Fla., Mar. 15.—The Cardinals came home today to meet the Orioles over whom they gained an easy 8 to 4 victory Saturday. Old Pete Alexander was in the lineup again as the result of his performance yesterday in retiring nine men in three innings in the game with the Braves at St. Petersburg.

New Star Shines In A's Infield

FT. MYERS, Fla., Mar. 15.—Connie Mack, boss of the Athletics, believes he has found a jewel of a shortstop. He is Joe Hassler, late of Fort Smith, Ark. Hassler got into a regular game with the Buffalo Internationals yesterday because Jack Boley, regular shortstopper, developed a sore arm. Hassler, Mack said after the game, covered the short field in a manner that was worth setting to music. He handled 15 chances with cut the semblance of a bobble and engaged in three double plays. The Matineen Buffalo 4 to 0 in a game that was marked by light but timely hitting.

Phillies Adopt Grim Attitude

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., Mar. 15.—Every day from now until March 25, the Phillies are booked to engage big and little opponents. A three hour practice yesterday brought all hands into action, with the exception of Mitchell and Decatur pitchers. Manager Shotton said he would make every effort to win exhibition games and play his strongest team.

J. Pluvius Orders Cats From Diamond

FORT WORTH, Mar. 15.—Because of rain and wet grounds the game between the Fort Worth Panthers and Oklahoma City Indians scheduled at Weatherford today has been called off. The Cats will meet the Chicago White Sox here for a three day series beginning tomorrow.

Japanese Radicals Are Being Jailed

TOKYO, Mar. 14.—Wholesale arrests of extremists were reported from all parts of Japan today. They were the result of investigations conducted since the general election when handbills attacking the present form of government were seized. Police raided communist headquarters here. They also occupied the offices of the proletarian newspaper, Musan Shimbun. Twelve arrests were made in the Saita district. Thirty persons were seized at Osaka, including Professor Ikusevama, leader of the farmer-peasant party's left wing.

BASEBALL BOOSTERS CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

NEWTON HOLDS TO LEAD IN RACE OF ENDURANCE STARS

(By The Associated Press)
PEACH SPRINGS, Ariz., Mar. 15.—When the more than 100 foot-racers remaining in the Los Angeles to New York marathon lined up today for the twelfth lap of the 9,400-mile course, Arthur Newton, 44-year-old British endurance marvel, topped the list by the comfortable margin of nearly eight hours in elapsed time. For the 397.4 miles covered since the start March 4, the snow-bound route from Rhodesia, South Africa, had a total of 61 hours 23 minutes. He came in first yesterday on the 51.7 mile lap between Kingman and Peach Springs to add 1:05:30 to his lead over Andrew Payne, of Claremore, Okla., second in elapsed time, standings. Payne checked in fourth yesterday and his total time read 69:07:02. The route today led to Seligman, 26 miles eastward, bringing the racers into higher country.

TEXAS RAINS

ers to heavy rain and snow last night and today. Intermittent rain last night turned into a steady rain today. Three-quarters of an inch of precipitation was recorded here.

Lightning At Childress

CORSICANA, Mar. 15.—A heavy rain, which started at 7 a. m. today, soon flooded streets here. An electrical storm accompanied the rain.

TEXAS LEAGUE OUTFITS FIND MAJORS TOUGH

BIG BOYS WIN ALL OF GAMES SO FAR BY EASY SCORES

(By Associated Press)
Texas league teams are finding big league clubs hard nuts to crack. Although in other years they slipped across an occasional win in pre-season games, this season they have yet to register a victory. In four contests the big leaguers have had things their own way. The Sports at Shreveport yesterday threw a scare into the Chicago White Sox, however, when they out-hit the American leaguers nine to seven and but for a wobbly start in the first inning and a series of errors might have topped the contest.

Tigers Win Handily
At Frederickburg, where the Detroit Tigers and the San Antonio Bears tangled, there was little doubt as to the outcome from the beginning. The Tigers eluded the outcries of Robertson, Hinkle and Cox and tucked away a 13 to 2 victory.

Two other Texas league teams went through brisk workouts in preparation for tilts with the clubs which Shreveport and San Antonio found were such tough customers. Manager Jake Atz announced he would send only rookie pitchers to Weatherford for a game with the Oklahoma City Indians today and would save his veteran hurling stars, including Pate, Johns and Walkup, for Friday's battle with Chicago.

Snyder Leads Buffs
Manager Frank Snyder at Houston treated his men to a seven-inning practice game. Snyder showed the Buffs how the game should be played by hitting a homer and a triple, and his second baseman, Carey Selph, followed suit a fourthly blow.

Although late in starting even-temper games, the Wichita Falls Spudders, last year's Texas league and Dixie champions, had one yesterday, a snappy six inning affair. Jackson, a rookie, and the veteran, Payne, looked the mound, while Rietz, new infielder, showed good work at shortstop.

At Dallas the Steers beat Schepps' ace, local amateur champs 5 to 11, in a nine inning game featured by good hurling on both sides. Manager Ellison planned speed games and intensive batting practice Thursday and Friday as preliminaries to a contest Saturday with Oklahoma City.

Infant Prodigy

Probably the youngest player in the major leagues at this time is Joseph Douglas Glerco, 17-year-old rookie with the Boston Red Sox at Bradenton, Fla. Cicero, a shortstop, came from Easton, Pa., where he batted more than 330 last season.

HOREMANS COMES FROM BEHIND AND CAPTURES CROWN

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 15.—The world's 122 balking billiard crown stimulated today on the head of Edward Horemans, Belgian challenger, who snatched it from the possession of Jake Schaefer by overcoming a big lead with phenomenal runs. The match ended here last night. Horemans crossed 1300 point mark as the title holder chalked up only 1190. The match was played in five blocks of 300 each. In the final block the challenger made runs of 117, 71 and 62, his high run for the match being 132. Schaefer's high run in the final block was 67—a last minute effort to save off defeat. Horemans needed only 31 to take the title. Schaefer missed.

DECISION NOW RESTS BEFORE LUBBOCK FANS

COMMITTEE SEEKS AID IN LINING UP TEAM IN NEW LEAGUE

While a flow of letters from Lubbock baseball men is pouring in to the offices of S. D. Hunter, temporary chairman of the local baseball team plans, bidding for the management of the local club in the West Texas league, a committee composed of B. Sherrod, Spencer A. Wells, Harry Meyers, Dick White, Boyd Adcock, F. G. Shepard, and S. D. Hunter is soliciting training camp expenses for the local franchise.

If the funds are secured for the training expenses then it is a sure cinch that Lubbock will be represented in the West Texas organization, which opens its season on April 25. On the other hand, should the committee fail in the event, then Lubbock's baseball chances are doomed.

"Today is absolutely the last drive the committee will make and the answer whether in the affirmative or negative will be determined by the support shown by the local fans," Mr. Hunter told the Journal this morning. A check on the outcome of the drive will be made late this afternoon.

Return Funds Set For Sinclair Gift

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—Donations of about $5,500 intended to be used in refunding the sum which the Republican National committee received from Harry F. Sinclair have been received by Senator Borah.

He announced this today after a conference with President Coolidge at the White House, and added that he was keeping the checks until he is advised definitely as to the policy of the committee in this connection.

The Idaho Senator recently wrote William M. Butler, chairman of the committee, suggesting that the Sinclair donation be returned. Butler replied that, in his opinion, any restitution of these funds devolved upon those who accepted them.

CONNIE MACK AND HIS HIRELINGS ARE SET FOR SEASON'S OPENING WITH ALL POSITIONS EXCEPT PITCHING DECIDED

BY BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
FORT MYERS, Fla., Mar. 15.—So far as Manager Connie Mack and his Philadelphia Athletics are concerned, the American League may open its season. The White Elephants are ready. The tall tactician has decided on the personnel of his club in every branch but pitching and has until June to reach a final decision on the hurling corps.

The outfield peaks a punch with Ty Cobb, Ty Speaker and Al Simmons as regulars from right to left, and Bing Miller and Walter French in reserve. All five hit well over 300 last season. Simmons led with 362, Cobb was satisfied with 357, Speaker clicked for 327 with Washington, Miller wearing a St. Louis uniform, registered 325 and French finished at 304.

Hanser Comes Back
Joe Hanser, with his trick knee as good as ever, started playing first base without a limp and took his old place back without opposition. Max Bishop was assigned to second, Joe Boley retained shortstop and the hard hitting Sammy Hale again took over third. Captain Eddie Collins who can play in a pinch, the versatile Jimmy Dykes and Joe Hauer, a Fort Smith, Ark., product of impressive physique will make up the infield reserves.

There was no catching problem to vex Mack. His 1927 receiving staff returning intact, Gordon Cochrane, Ralph Perkins, and Jimmy Fox, satisfy behind the bat. Carry Ten Hurlers
Selection of ten pitchers to go along through the season presents only doubt and this is causing little wear and tear on the veteran manager's baseball gray matter. Lefty Grove, the equally left handed Babe Walberg and Oase O'Neil who plays the outfield or first base and puts as well as pitches, will be the three southpaws making the grade. Five right-handers who seem to have the inside track are Howard Ehmke, the veteran Jack Quinn, Ed Rommel, Jim Johnson, who came back last year, and the much-traveled Joe Bush.

Bill Shores, with Waco last year, has shown enough to warrant individual inspection and he will be in Athletic uniform at the start of the season. John Lyons, Ike Powers, Claude Jonhard and several other pitchers who would like to play with the Athletics must fight it out for assignment which will be reduced to a minimum by the time the season gets under way.

The return to form of Joe Hauer, a great first baseman when right, addition of Ty Cobb to play again, make up a combination causing Manager Mack to smile and hope that fickle baseball fortune will smile on him again, after a series of frowns over a period of 14 years.

EDWARD COSTIGAN, MEMBER OF TARIFF COMMISSION, RESIGNS THEN ASSAILS COLLEAGUES AND COOLIDGE FOR ACTS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—The long smoldering fires of disagreement in the tariff commission were rekindled momentarily today with the sudden resignation of its oldest member, Commissioner Edward P. Costigan of Denver, who simultaneously delivered an outspoken attack against three of his colleagues and President Coolidge.

The last of the original Woodrow Wilson appointees, Costigan terminated exactly eleven years on the commission yesterday by tendering his resignation and taking a parting shot at the "high tariff" or "Marvin group" in the six-member body.

Writes to Robinson
In a letter to Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, who two years ago headed a committee investigation of the tariff body, the retiring commissioner, long at loggerheads with the administration's tariff policies, assailed President Coolidge for failure to lower duties when evidence clearly demanded it and charged the executive had "helped to wreck the commission's usefulness."

Chairman Thomas O. Marvinne of Massachusetts and Commissioners Sherman J. Lowell of New York and Edgar B. Broome of Utah were those against whom Costigan leveled his attack within the commission.

Declaring they had been "reckless on occasions in their treatment of facts and the law," he said this group had consistently worked for higher rates and against important reductions and that the "manipulation of the commission since 1922 is but a part of the total picture of present-day Washington in an era which history may yet summarize as the age of Daugherty, Fall and Sinclair.

Marvin Draws Fire
Marvin was pictured as a "tireless" and fanatical protectionist, known in Washington as a tariff lobbyist for New England protected interests.

Broome, Costigan asserted, had long been known in Washington as a political protégé of Senator Smoot, who has created the impression of a biased, as distinguished from a scientific or judicial mind.

"Members of the senate investigation committee," he wrote, in further reference to Broome, "are aware that while testifying under oath, he appeared at times to be cautiously hiding material information within his knowledge which was sought by such members."

'NOT GUILTY', STEWART SAYS

OIL MAN GRANTED HIS PLEA OF PUTTING TRIAL OFF

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 15.—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, pleaded not guilty today to charges of violating the law in refusing to answer questions asked by the Senate Teapot Dome committee.

The oil man was arraigned in the District of Columbia supreme court and his counsel asked for twenty days in which the defense might determine the method by which it will attack the indictment. Chief Justice Mc Coy granted the request and continued Stewart's bond of $5,000.

Less than five minutes were required for the arraignment and Stewart hurried away from the court house in company with his counsel, Jesse C. Adkins and Frank Nesbitt of Washington and Albert L. Hopkins of Chicago.

Stewart was indicted after he had refused to reply to questions of the oil committee regarding whether he had discussed the bonds of the Continental Trading company with Harry F. Sinclair. He was arrested by the senate sergeant-at-arms but obtained his liberty on a writ of habeas corpus which still is pending.

KIWANIS CLUB HAS PROGRAM

AGRICULTURE IS TOPIC FOR DISCUSSION AT SESSION TODAY

Members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club were entertained with another of their series of agricultural programs at the regular Thursday luncheon meeting at Hotel Lubbock. E. W. Providence, business manager of the club, was chairman of the program, and introduced Dean A. H. Leidigh, of the school of agriculture and Ray Mowery, coach of the Tech stock judging team which won first prize at the North Worth Fat Stock Show last week.

Both Dean Leidigh and Mr. Mowery explained the system of judging while the handsome young cup won by the student team was on display. J. C. Anderson of Anderson Bros. jewelers volunteered to engrave the cup suitably with the name of the winner.

The principal speaker on Mr. Providence's program was Prof. L. D. Hensley, who gave a very thorough discussion of "Cooperative Marketing." Ray E. White, vice-president of the club presided.

Proceeding the regular business the Kiwanians turned up their vocal cords under the direction of H. W. Richardson, with Mrs. Mamie I. Neal at the piano.

anything. Teague continued, "We probably will have to appeal to the courts."

Inquests Are Begun
Inquests were ordered started at Farmers, Moorpark, Bagley, Paul and Oxnard today. Governor Young signified his intention of launching a state investigation and the state railroads commission announced plans for a quiz. A committee of eleven Ventura county citizens was chosen by the board of supervisors to determine the extent of damage in the county.

Meanwhile, the opinion was expressed by several persons in the stricken area that the 300 still unaccounted for had been buried forever in the ruins of the salt deposit by the escaping waters as they rolled toward the Pacific. Hope was maintained in some quarters that many of these had left the canyon and valley on warnings and were safe.

Bodies Lost Forever
It appeared improbable that all of those still buried in the salt would be recovered because of its depth. It is nearly thirty feet deep in some places, and the tangled wreckage embedded in the quartzite has made digging for bodies a most difficult operation.

Shattered communications and a mud-bound countryside, making strangers of towns that formerly were neighbors, rendered impossible the positive checking of bodies moved from one machine to another. The tentative list of bodies in morgues, compiled today from official and semi-official sources, showed a total of 191.

In a number of instances only one member of a family of five or more was reported alive, and searchers for the missing argued that the natural instinct of family groups to reunite would have accounted for scores of such before now if those on the rolls of the missing were alive.

Rescuers Work Thoroughly
A burning sun and a dry wind from the low barren hills to the east seemed to have bleached out the miles and miles of salt which, almost at a wave of the hand of fate, replaced happy homes and smart little orchards.

Everywhere over that long winding stretch of the sea were visible the marks made in the feverish work of retrieving bodies. A hole dug here, a splintered plank dragged out of the mire there, a pile of horse heads everywhere, attested the thoroughness of yesterday's search. Three hundred mounted men each with a pick and shovel along over saddle horn, plodded in the heat and the darning reflection from the whitening sands all through the day.

Where the yellowish, sandy muck was deepest, steam shovels were brought into play. Mules and pack horses did their part when bodies were found too far from passable roads for automobiles and trucks to reach.

Transformation Begins
To the south of the stricken area where the river bed had been combed thoroughly and the bodies removed to Newhall a transformation took place. Reconstruction began in intense earnest.

Men swarmed around broken highways, bridgeless railway lines and destroyed power and wire companies.

thinking they heard the motor of a plane. These finally culminated in a report that the plane had landed at Menlo Park, N. J., but this proved unfounded.

The same possibilities that buoyed up hopes for Nungesser and Goll prevailed today for the English war ace and his daring woman companion. Those were that they may have managed to reach land far off their course somewhere in the wilderness of Newfoundland or the bleak interior of Labrador.

Might Land On Ice

There was also the hope that they might have landed on the ice pack, if their fuel gave out before they reached the mainland. This hope was based on the experience of two Canadian pilots and their Eskimo guide who only a fortnight ago won their way across sixty miles of ice after a forced landing. It was eight days from the time they disappeared before they won their way back to civilization.

If the "Endeavour" had been on its course and had passed the coast of Newfoundland undetected, the fliers would have been heard from long before this as the whole Atlantic seaboard was on the watch for them and they could hardly have escaped notice.

Lights Kept Burning

While officials had almost given up hope that the plane was still in the air, the lights at Mitchell and Curtis fields, Long Island, and at the Philadelphia airport were kept burning last night.

The planes previously lost in attempting the flight across the Atlantic, were the "White Bird" (The Nungesser-Goll plane), the "Sir John Carling" in which Captain Tolly and Lieut. Medall perished attempting a Canada-to-England flight; the "St. Raphael" carrying Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and two pilots in a flight from England to Canada; the "Old Glory" with Lloyd Berland, St. John Hill and Philip Payne, attempting an America-to-Rome flight; the "Dawn" in which Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and three men were lost on the first stage of their projected flight to Denmark from New York.

No Confirmation On Rumors Given

NEW YORK, Mar. 15 (AP)—Despite widespread but unconfirmed reports of planes heard winging through the night sky, increased today that a Vaucourt's daughter had followed a Princess to death in the latest attempt to fly the perilous western air lane of the North Atlantic.

There was still hope that the Honorable Elsie MacKay and Captain Walter Hinchliffe, British war ace, had somehow escaped the fate met last summer by the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim and her two pilots, and by Nungesser and Goll, but it was the hope of desperation.

Took Off Tuesday
Miss MacKay and Hinchliffe took off in England at 3:40 o'clock eastern standard time Tuesday morning and by the most optimistic computation their machine could only have kept them aloft until dawn today. But hours after that no definite word had been received of them and aviators generally feared that the North Atlantic, never yet crossed by airplane in the westerly direction, had devoured the number of its victims by two.

American representatives of Hinchliffe admitted that the situation was of the most gravity but they refused to abandon hope. They cabled Mrs. Hinchliffe they felt there was a reasonable chance that the gold and black plane "Endeavour" had landed on the ice of the frozen north in some inaccessible portion of New Foundland or Nova Scotia, or had been picked up at sea by some small vessel equipped with wireless. They assured her that everything possible would be done to run down every rumor and exhaust every possibility of rescue.

Fifteen hours were kept alive in some quarters by almost countless reports of persons who had heard or seen planes scudding through the skies on the air course from New Foundland to Boston or New York or Philadelphia. But all of these reports were vague. None of the planes seen or heard was identified to reach.

BOULDER DAM

dam and reservoir, besides providing for irrigation needs below, will provide for a much-needed domestic water supply for cities on the Pacific coast.

The dam and reservoir will incidentally create a large amount of hydro-electric power from the disposal of which the project will be a large part financed.

The dam will improve navigation, safeguard interstate commerce and protect government property. Under the operation of the project the flow of the river below the dam will be regulated and even. With its flow unregulated the river can not be successfully used as a highway for commerce. In its regulated form it will be susceptible to use by power boats and other small craft. The great reservoir will, of course, be susceptible of navigation.

The report called attention to the 1926 estimate of the Secretary of the Interior which fixed the annual surplus above operation, maintenance and interest charges at $6,100,000, or sufficient to repay the entire cost of the project within twenty-five years.

Referring to the long controversy over the Colorado river compact, the report declared the present compact was "satisfactory to six of the seven states affected."

Arizona Is Holding Back

Arizona alone has continued to withhold her approval. It added, "More than five years have been consumed in the effort to satisfy Arizona and obtain her ratification, thus making it unanimous. The compact was signed by her commissioner and at one time lacked only one vote of having the approval of her legislature."

Passage of the bill, it was said, would make the compact effective and settle an interstate controversy of long standing.

By enjoining the Colorado compact, the report said, "It assumes the status of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming, the water rights so essential to their future."

New Directors Of Retailers Chosen

W. W. Rix, A. G. Hunt, H. L. Allen, J. D. Hassell and Joe Bell are the new directors of the Lubbock Retail Merchants association selected by the members in their annual meeting last Friday night. Vote tabulations made by the election committee this morning revealed:

'Jesse James' Put

The fearlessness of the Lubbock officers is not to be denied for last night they corralled one of the most famous outlaws in Southwestern history in the city lock-up.

He was none other than "Jesse James," or rather he thought he was as bad as Jesse himself. Officers said, and would not give any other name.

He paid a fine of $15 for drunkenness this morning.

BETTER HURRY! Income Tax Has To Be Settled Up Today

If you haven't settled with the income tax man, you had better do it today for he won't be back again until next year.

John Toomsmeier, deputy collector, closes his work in Lubbock today, he said at noon. In order to be of assistance to tardy tax payers, Mr. Toomsmeier stated that he would be in an office in the 72nd district court room on the second floor of the court house until late today and then could be found at the Wheelock house, 1216 Broadway, until 12 o'clock tonight. He wanted to give everybody a chance to pay on their incomes, he said.

Persons not paying on their income will be subject to a penalty, he said.

In speaking of his work on the South Plains this year, Mr. Toomsmeier said that he had been busier this season than ever before, especially last year. "The collections show that the country is in a very prosperous condition," he said.

Twenty-Four Nations At League Session

GENEVA, Mar. 15 (AP)—With a new member, Turkey, among them, twenty-four countries, including two non-members of the League of Nations—the United States and Soviet Russia—met here today to discuss their efforts to get a practical start toward disarmament.

The agenda comprised a report by the board of disarmament, to select a committee to lay all preparations for a financial drive. Between $20,000 and $25,000 will be spent in the building, it was decided.

of the security committee and the Russian proposal to wipe out all armaments and means of producing them.

Jonkheer J. Loudon, of Holland who presided, opened the session by saying that security posts were the only means of preparing for disarmament. He declared the Russian proposal failed to take into account the present state of mind throughout the world.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Mar. 15 (AP)—The cotton market opened barely steady on a decline of 3 to 5 points, active trading soon having been absorbed by 9 to 10 points under liquidation and commutation house or local selling. Insured by rains in West Texas and Oklahoma and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

They sold off to 16.65 and October 18.11, but enough buying by the close to cover the absorbed offerings and a few points by the end of first hour.

Trading was quiet later. Conditions seemed relatively scarce after the early selling had been absorbed. Prices were up to 18.74 for May or about 1 to 2 points net higher on a little trade buying and covering. There appeared to be some doubt as to whether the West Texas rains had been sufficient to compensate for earlier deficiencies and the rally was accompanied by talk of a better spot demand in the south. Prices were within a point or two of the best at midday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 15 (AP)—The cotton market was easy in early trading today owing to less favorable Liverpool cables and good rains in the western belt. May traded off to 18.23, July 18.05, and October 17.78, 10 to 12 points down from the previous close.

As New York did not weaken as much as the market here, prices rallied towards the end of the first half hour and May recovered to 18.33, 10 points above the lows and to within 2 points of yesterday's close. The market then quieted down.

Demand increased as the morning progressed induced by more favorable reports from the spot market and prices recovered all the early loss. May traded up to 18.25, July 18.15 and October 17.85, unchanged to 2 points down compared with the previous close.

At noon the market was quiet but steady and prices were at or near the high.

Continental Baking A which has been subject to frequent spells of liquidation, took another nose dive to around 30, a new minimum. WALL STREET REPORT
NEW YORK, Mar. 15 (AP)—Although there were a few outstanding spots at the opening of the stock market today, the list in the main was substantially higher with gains of 1 1/2 to 2 points in such leaders as General Motors, Radio, International Nickel, Hudson Motors and New York Central. American Lined, yesterday's star performer, began the day 3 points lower on realizing following resumption of 7 per cent dividends on the preferred issue.

The distribution of strength was more general in subsequent transactions, various railroads, especially the southwestern group taking a commanding position on rumors of peace in the merger situation. Levee roads, such as Wabash, rose to 723-4, a new high record and St. Louis-Southwestern reached a new top for the year. Best prices for the year were received for St. Paul

CHICAGO REPORT
CHICAGO, Mar. 15 (AP)—Further weakness of Liverpool wheat quotations led to an early setback today in wheat values here. Chicago wheat rallied a little and then sagged lower than before. Corn started unchanged to 1-1/2 to 5-8c higher, and held near initial figures. Oats were easy. Provisions also tended to sag.

"The Nation." Borah had no comment to make on the documents which were brought to this country for Sandino by Charleston Bess, special correspondent of the magazine.

Here's the Message: Signed, "For the Fatherland and Liberty, A. C. Sandino," the message addressed to the senate said:

"In the name of the Nicaraguan people I protest against the continued barbarism of your forces in my country, such as the recent total destruction of the town of Quilali. I shall never recognize a government imposed by a foreign power. I demand the immediate withdrawal of the invading troops."

Admiral Sellers, the document disclosed for the first time, wrote Sandino January 26 warning him that the American forces were preparing to take up his trail to "insure complete peace" in Nicaragua and calling attention to the obligations of the United States, under the Sumner agreement, to protect American lives and property and those of other foreign powers in that country.

Sandino Adamant: The naval officer's letter urged Sandino to follow the example of other factions by laying down his arms in accordance with agreement, but Sandino replied with a demand for withdrawal of American forces. The Nicaraguan, whose exploits have cost the lives of many American marines, added that the origin of the trouble in his country was not only the recent revolution, but a feeling on the part of the "entire Nicaraguan people" that the "foreign invasion" must be ended.

The documents also contained a letter addressed by Sandino to the Pan-American congress which recently met in Havana, protesting against the "illegal delegates" from Nicaragua and attacking the "tyranny of Coolidge, who speaks of good will and sends an army to murder Nicaraguans."

WOMEN TALK OF PROBLEMS

PEACE AND ENFORCING LAWS DISCUSSED AT CHURCH SESSION

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 15.—Law enforcement and world peace are engaging the attention of the women of this nation as never before. Mrs. F. P. Stephens, of Columbia, Mo., president of the Women's Missionary council of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, declared today in an address before the Golden Jubilee convention of the organization here.

"The problem of the century is the international problem," Mrs. Stephens said, "and upon us who have a common bond in many nations there rests a double responsibility for solving the problem, first because we are women and second because we are Christian women."

"International relations established through educational and spiritual contacts are more likely than any other influence to bring about peace and friendship between peoples."

Two enormous problems, one national and one international in scope, are engaging the attention of the women of this country to an extent not reached before. Both need the thought and active assistance of church women. They are law enforcement and world peace."

THE JAZZ SINGER

Novelized by Arline De Haas
Taken from the scenario "The Jazz Singer," Starring Al Jolson.
Copyright, 1927, by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Because Jakie, son of Cantor Rabinowitz, prefers jazz to synagogue music, he leaves home. Ten years elapse. Through Mary Dale, a dancer, Jakie, now Jack Robin, becomes a musical comedy jazz singer. The Cantor, discovering his son's profession, disowns him. Jack's show opens the eve of Yom Kippur. Dillings, the backer of the show, jealous of Mary's love for Jack, withdraws his money, leaving Lee, the producer, dependent on Jack for success. The Cantor is ill and Yudelton, his friend, begs Jack to sing in the synagogue that night. Torn between his desire Jack talks to Mary. Then his mother arrives at the theater.

Finished, he left the stage and burst into the dressing room. He looked around wildly. There was no one there. He turned about helplessly, bewildered. A little group of people surged forward—Carter, Mary, Lee, Gene—all pulling him, shaking his hand, thumping him on the back.

"Marvellous! Simply great!" "You certainly can put over a song, Jack." "Congratulations, Mr. Robin, you were wonderful!" "Say you won't need any press agent after tonight!"

A medley of sounds. Jack stared, unhearing, unseeing. "Get out for the next number!" Lee was pushing the crowd back, scattering them right and left. "That was wonderful, Jack," he turned for a moment to the singer. "Say, you actually cried. Do it that way tonight and you'll be a knockout sure!" He hurried out the door. "All right, Gene. Ready for the next number," he called.

Jack moved slowly towards a chair and sank into it. He wiped his white-gloved hand across his eyes, leaving a streak of light flesh showing grotesquely across the black. He rested his elbows on his knees. His head sank down, but his face to his cotton gloves.

CHAPTER XVIII

Mrs. Rabinowitz pushed open the door of the apartment and came slowly into the room, followed by Yudelton. Automatically she removed her shawl, folded it and put it away. Her legs barely supported her, but she started warily towards the Cantor's room. The nurse appeared and held her finger to her lips.

"Sh-h-h!" she cautioned. "The Cantor's asleep. You mustn't go in now. Why, you look terribly pale, Mrs. Rabinowitz. She took the older woman's arm and helped her to a chair. "There, now, sit down for a little while. The doctor left some medicine for you. I'll get it."

"No, I don't want none," Mrs. Rabinowitz obediently sat down, but she shook her head at the word medicine.

The nurse, however, was already stirring up a powder in a glass of water. She brought it over to her patient. "Now, suppose you drink this," she held out the glass smiling. "It'll make you feel better."

"He wouldn't come home," Mrs. Rabinowitz shook her head. "My Jakie wouldn't come home."

"Now, now, he'll be home later," the nurse was simply trying to soothe her charge without knowing what she was talking about. "No—no, he ain't coming, I tell you. He ain't coming."

The nurse looked at Yudelton perplexed. Yudelton nodded his head and came over beside the nurse.

"It's her son, Jakie. He sings in a theater. He ain't coming home to sing in the synagogue tonight," he explained.

"Oh," the nurse responded, "I see. Now, Mrs. Rabinowitz, please drink this. And then the doctor says you must be down for a little while. After that you must have something to eat. You know you promised the Cantor you'd attend the services, and you must have something nourishing if you're going to fast tonight and tomorrow."

She held the glass to her patient's lips. "Yes, drink, drink," Yudelton urged.

Obediently Mrs. Rabinowitz swallowed the liquid.

"Tell me the truth, nurse," The Cantor, he is dying?" Mrs. Rabinowitz caught the nurse's hand and waited patiently for her answer.

"The doctor said," the nurse paused for a moment, "the doctor said that if we keep him very quiet he may pull through. Now suppose you let me help you to your room."

She lifted the older woman gently from her chair. "You can have a little sleep, too, and then when the Cantor wakes up I'll call you."

Mrs. Rabinowitz nodded drowsily, the opiate already beginning its work on her weakened system. She allowed herself to be led to her room and made comfortable on the bed.

Yudelton sat down and wrapped himself in thought. Once more he was faced with the proposition of getting someone to sing the "Kol Nidre." A worried frown appeared on his brow. Lipaki, Clarence's cousin, was his last resort. He might as well walk over and talk to him, as there seemed no other prospect in view. He felt this had almost sing himself before he'd allow Levy to sing. As his thoughts turned to the "shamus" that gentleman knocked, opened the door and walked in.

"So! Mr. Yudelton! You're just the man I was wanting to see," he began, rubbing his hands.

"No, Mr. Levy, what could I do for you?" Yudelton queried coldly, knowing well what was on his visitor's mind.

"I want I should get from you official the order I should sing to-night," Levy was enjoying his present position quite thoroughly.

"Oh, no, I couldn't give you yet,"

Yudelton returned determinedly. "If you couldn't give me, who could?"

"I could give you, but I couldn't give you yet," Yudelton was stalling for time now.

"What kind answer is this? It's nearly dark and you couldn't give me officials the appointment yet. You ain't got nobody else," Levy spoke knowingly.

"I ain't saying I have order I haven't," Yudelton returned dogmatically. "I told you I couldn't give you yet. In half an hour I'll know."

"In half an hour it will be too late. I got to practice a little bit in advance with the choir, ain't it?"

"In half an hour it'll be too late! Thirty years you waited the Cantor should get sick, you can't wait another half hour!"

"Brother Yudelton you are the chairman from the executive committee, no."

"Brother Levy, I am the chairman from the executive committee. Make yours at at summes from it."

"All right! Then you are the chairman from the executive committee. So I want I should ask you, who is the shamus of the Orchard street synagogue? Am I the shamus, or ain't I the shamus?"

"Brother Levy," Yudelton's remark was cut short. The two men stopped and stared open mouthed at the door. There, his hand on the knob, stood Jack. He closed the door quietly and entered the room. His face was drawn and pale, but there was an air of determination about him. "Jakie!" Yudelton found his voice at last. "You come to sing?"

"You come to sing?" He turned a belligerent eye on Levy.

"Yes, get me a praying shawl and see if you can find a plush skull like the Cantor's only a little smaller."

"A praying shawl and a skull cap! Jakie is going to sing!" Yudelton was reveling in his escape from his worries and his victory over the shamus. "Levy, get a praying shawl and a skull cap, quick!"

"Where could I find—" Levy began bitterly.

"Are you the shamus or ain't you the shamus? For a shamus it ain't hard to find plenty shawls," he turned sarcastically on Levy.

"All right—all right," Levy moved scornfully towards the door. "I'm going to sing! A kid from Broadway! What does he know from school? The committee is making a mistake—" He retreated, muttering imprecations to himself.

"Jakie, I'm glad you come. I'll tell your mama," he knocked on the door of Mrs. Rabinowitz's room. "Mrs. Rabinowitz! Mrs. Rabinowitz!" he called. "Jakie is here! He's going to sing!"

"Jakie was already turning to his father's door when the nurse appeared, disturbed by the sound of voices.

A few years ago, however, she became very ill and her health was threatened by stomach trouble. After the attending physician had prescribed a diet practically everything known to medical science—all without noticeable results—he finally suggested orange juice as a last resort.

The effect was astounding. Within two weeks Christine had returned to normal health. She was able to retain solid food on her stomach and gained quickly in every way. Thereafter she continued to develop rapidly into a strong, healthy, happy child.

The wonderful results of orange juice in his own family caused Gaylord J. Stone, Christine's father and president of Universal Mills, to investigate what orange vitamins would do for chickens. He reasoned that if oranges would do so much for his little girl, their rich vitamins should also be very beneficial for poultry.

The Development of Superior Orange Vitamine Chick Starter

Months of investigating and testing followed. It was determined that dehydrated orange peel and pulp contained orange vitamins in their most concentrated form and provided the only practical means of including these health-giving vitamins in poultry feeds. Dehydration (which merely removes the water) does not injure the orange vitamins or destroy any of the elements or ingredients. Therefore dehydrated orange peel and pulp is the greatest green food substitute yet discovered. In the digestive system, it comes back to its original tenderness, juiciness and freshness much quicker than any other green food substitute.

Our experiments on about 10,000 little chicks proved out so well that dehydrated orange peel and pulp was finally included in all Superior chick mash. Since our original tests, thousands of poultry raisers all over the Southwest have fed Superior Orange Vitamine Chick Starter with great success. It is the perfect preventive of Coccidiosis.
