SIBLEY-TAYLOR OFFERED NEW TRACTION LINE

Mass Meeting Accepts The Offer of Company For Car Line

OVER 3,000 FEET

Some Details Yet to Be Worked Out Over The Right-of-Way

An appeal that has been made by residents in the Sibley Taylor addition for the past two years was answered last night when definite action was taken on the long felt need in that section of Wichita Falls for a street car line.

In answer to a request, traction company officials called a mass meeting at the South Side Baptist church last night at which time L. L. Albritton, general manager of the company, presented a proposition to a representative body of citizens there. The offer was immediately accepted by those present but due to nothing having been decided on in regard to proposed right of way, it was impossible to finally accept the proposition.

Committee Appointed.

A committee was appointed to work on the matter this week, and a final raport and disposition of the project will be made next Friday evening.

Approximately 3,000 feet of new line will be laid in the event the offer is accepted as it was made last night. The tracks will leave the Seventeenth street line at Broad and Seventeenth, one block west of the Wichita Mill and Elevator. The line then will proceed on Broad to the railroad tracks, passing through some privately owned property. Crossing the tracks it will continue south on Broad for about three blocks to Twenty-third street. One of the features not yet worked out is whether cars will make a loop around a block there or will change trolleys and start back.

Due to the line having to cross railroad property and through some privately owned land, the project will have to be taken up with interested property owners before anything definite can be decided. The traction company agreed to bear the expense of laying the line and the cost of all equipment, its only stipulation being that it must have the right of way furnished, the land to revert back to the original owners should the tracks be moved.

Fare to Be Same.

Mr. Albritton stressed the fact that the company was going to a big expense to offer transportation facilities to the addition but added that it was willing to build the new line if it would be assured of support. The support was accordingly voted. The manager also stated that car fare would be the same as elsewhere in the city.

Another angle of the case that will have to be taken care of before the rails can be laid is the matter of obtaining consent from the city council. Little trouble is anticipated from this source, however, as the council several months ago endorsed the project and offered its support.

Lynch's Ticket For Mineral Wells Will Make It Total 123

When Lynch Davidson of Houston, former gubernatorial candidate, walks into the chamber of commerce rooms today and purchases his ticket with the Wichita Falls delegation, exactly 123 will have purchased ducats from this city for the West Texas chamber of commerce convention at Mineral Wells.

The former lieutenant governor arrives at 1:25 o'clock this afternoon; will be met at the station by a group of friends and escorted to the Kemp hotel where an impromptu reception has been planned. Tonight he will be the guest of honor at a dinner.

According to Fred Haskett, assistant chamber of commerce manager no reservations have been given out yet as all drawings will be made in the chamber of commerce rooms Monday morning, the entire delegation then proceeding direct to the station where the train will pull out before 11 o'clock, it is hoped.

DARE HEALTH TO PLUNGE

Juvenile Aquatics Seize First Opportunity at the Swimming Pool

Joy reigned unfettered in the ranks of juvenile aquatics Friday when, for the first time this year, the municipal swimming pool at the Seventh street fire station was opened.

It was chilly plunging, no one denied, and that the bathing element craved aqa pura of less frotsy tinge was evidenced by the few who gave the pool its 1925 inaugural. There were some, however, who dared pneumonia and perhaps parental dictum to take a sample plunge.

THE WEATHER TO NORMALCY.

Little Bit Cooler Than Natural for May First, However.

The weather man tried to act more natural Friday and succeeded to some extent. He produced a temperature higher than Thursday's and gave a day much more pleasant, but at that it was a day still cooler than an average May 1.

The sky was partially overcast although the sun, peeking through at constant intervals, did much to warm things up. A light breeze provided most of the chilliness.

Sterner Human Nerve And Muscle Meets Rodeo Brutes on Friday

FOX IN MINUTE

Feminine "Puncher" Delivers Telling Defeat as Curtain Riser to Show

J. Frank Norfleet, the Hale Center rancher who won international fame several years ago in his running down of a notorious gang of confidence men headed by Joe Fury, has been invited to attend the closing performance of the Triangle ranch rodeo Sunday. Tom L. Burnett, producer, has asked Mr. Norfleet to come to Iowa Park as his guest to witness the events.

IOWA PARK, May 1. — They bucked and pitched just as hard yesterday but they met sterner stuff, did those Brahma steers and plains-trained ponies. They battled as long and as valiantly as on the opening day, but after it was all over Tom Burnett's cowboys and cowgirls had more or less subdued their mounts of the Triangle ranch's second day rodeo performance.

In place of an arena full of flying arms and legs, with chaps and fringes flying out into space atop a cowboy's anatomy, Friday brought kicking hoofs and whipping tails. And above them, usually, a grim rider clung to his precarious seat. The afternoon was one in which only infrequent occasions did a steer or horse come out on top. Thursday afternoon, the opening day of the big round-up, was punctuated with the frequent thud of a cowboy's head and solid turf.

Shorty Kelso Wins.

Of particular interest in the day's events was the steer bulldogging in which, on the average, exceptionally fast time was made. Shorty Kelso of Watango, Okla., won first money by laying his steer down in the fast time of 15 seconds flat. He beat Jack Davis of Vernon and Shorty Ricker of Ranger by three seconds. These two downed their animals in 18 seconds flat. Third place went to Jack Kerscher of Ringling, Mont., who topped his steer in 24.1.

Time made by other entrants included Jack Wilson, Fort Worth, 41.3; Nowata Slim Lenapah, Okla., 1.15; Jim Massey, Fort Worth, 1.45; Mike Hastings, Iowa Park, 47.1; Blackie Rossel, Grandfield, Okla., 1.35.2-5; Doc Bib, Las Vegas, N. M., 42.2; Roy Quick, Harrold, 51.4. Entrants who made no time were Carl Beasley and Fred Alvord.

As a curtain raiser to the main bulldogging event, Miss Fox Hastings, presented as the only lady-bulldogger in the world, "laid one down" in a little over a minute.

The boys had tougher sledding when it came to the gentle art of trussing up an obsterperous calf's legs so it couldn't run. Faster time, on the average, was made Friday than Thursday but nothing like a record was approached. As usual, the ropers found it more difficult to put a rope on the bleating, fleeing heifers than to throw and tie them after they were roped.

In 21 Flat.

Chester Byers of Fort Worth took first money in 21 seconds flat. He Lesh-Leahman Well In Peter-Kemp Area May Make 150 Bbls.

Lesh and Leahan's No. 8, Kemp, TE&LCO Survey, block 401, southwest of Olney, after producing a small amount of oil from sand at 1,070-80 feet has been deepened with a Star machine through a shale break lasting from 1,080-2 feet into a new sand at 1,082-87 feet and have what is estimated at anywhere from 125 to 150 barrels a day at that depth.

The well is making small flows through the 6 5-8 inch casing. The semi-completion should have the effect of deepening other wells there, since all, so far as can be ascertained have been stopped in the upper stratum. It is much the best well ever drilled in the Peter-Kemp area.

Picture in the Mullins Case

Upon protest of the defense in the Mullins perjury trial before Judge H. R. Wilson in Thirtieth district court yesterday, the court sustained objections of the above picture. District Attorney James V. Allred sought to identify Mrs. Mullins as having at one time served a term in state's prison. The above is a picture of Convict No. 42,355, Mrs. R. C. Hardy when an inmate of the penitentiary at the Goree Farm, sent there upon conviction of forgery in Hale county. She was pardoned by Governor W. P. Hobby, February 19, 1919. On the stand in the Collier habeas corpus action Mrs. Mullins swore she had never eben convicted of a felony nor served a penitentiary term.

Chas. Featherstone Throws His Lasso At Calf, But Misses

ONE feature of yesterday's card at the Triangle Ranch rodeo was the entry of Charley Featherstone, prominent Wichita Falls oil man, who took his turn in the calf-roping contest. He chased the heifer down and swung his lariat in approved fashion, but missed his mark on the first cast.

The rodeo opened with a polo game between the Kennemer club of Wichita Falls and a team made up of cowboys The latter won in four periods, five to three. Some dog and rabbit races wound up the show in the afternoon.

CONGRESSMAN'S LIFE IS NO ROSY BED -- WILLIAMS

Representative Tells What Makes it Tick In Washington

Depicting the colossal undertaking it is to get a bill through congress, how it has to be argued by the special committee under which it comes, the number of hours it takes and how it is oftentimes passed for months before it is calendared for final decision, Congressman Guinn Williams explained the inner workings of congress and gave an interesting insight connected with the job of being a congressman to women of the Civic department of the Women's Forum at the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon.

Thousands of Bills.

Speaking of the vast number of bills introduced each session of congress, Mr. Williams said that the number runs well up into the thousands, and it is necessary for a man in congress to specialize. He must know men on the various committees who can give him the most information concerning the bill that would fall to that particular committee, that he may know which way to vote. At the close of congress all bills die, the speaker said, and 10,000 died

MULLINS JURY TO BED AFTER 3-HOURS WAIT

Perjury Charge, Aftermath Of Collier Case, Tried Before Judge Wilson

WOMAN ON STAND

Witness Declares She Wanted Pen Past to Be Secret in Wichita Falls

The jury in 30th district court went to bed at a quarter of ten last night after almost three hours of deliberation on whether Mrs. W. F. Mullins was guilty of perjury when she testified, in Frank Collier's habeas corpus trial early two moths ago that she had never served a sentence in a Texas penitentiary

From the time the jury entered the jury room after supper about seven o'clock until 9:30 o'clock last night, no word was heard from it. At that time, in answer to a question as to their progress at the order of Judge Wilson, members requested that certain of Mrs. Mullins' testimony in the trial be re-read to them. They were brought into the court room and the extracts which referred to Mrs. Mullins' mental state at the time of her statement were read from court record

Vote To Go To Bed

A vote was then taken among the jurors as to whether they would debate their decision any more last night, the result of which wos a decision to go to bed and review the argument this morning.

The trial of Mrs. Mullins resolved itself with the first testimony yesterday into a fight over the legal status of the defendant's falsehood.

"I was surprised, excited, and didn't know what to say," Mrs. Mullins testified with reference to her emotions at the time the question as to whether she had ever served a penitentiary sentence was put to her by District Attorney Allred. "That was eight years ago. They had sentenced me at Plainview. I served a year and a day when the governor gave me an unconditional pardon. As I left the penitentiary the prison commissioner told me to hunt a new home where no one knew me, to forget it myself, and never to tell anyone about that awful year.

"I came to Wichita Falls, married, and lived happily until I was brought as a witness in the Collier habeas corpus trial. No one here knew of my prison sentence other than my husband, and my mother and father, Mr. Weeks or Mr. Cummings neither knew. Then Mr. Allred asked me if I had ever served a term there. I didn't know what to think.

"I decided not to tell him, that it didn't matter one way or another, and that if there was the least possible chance I wanted to keep it all hidden".

It was on this plea that Mrs. Mullins based her defense; that it didn't matter one way or another in the Collier trial about the sentence, that the pardon absolved the crime, and that her false statement was made for the sake of continuing a life in Wichita Falls where no one knew of the year at Huntsville.

Claims It Wilful

The state claimed the falsehood was wilful and was perjury in every sense of the word and that it was a violation of her oath as a witness, and contended itself in presenting its testimony in proving the statement, second that the witness was not greatly excited at the time the statement was made, and third that she had actually served the year and a day in the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

Arguments of the case developed the charge from defense lawyers, Fred Weeks and B. Y. Cummings, that the district attorney was satisfying a whim in prosecuting the case, and "off on a National Elimination Race Starts Friday Afternoon At St. Joseph, Mo.

SOARING SOUTHEAST

One Airman Disobeys Physician's Orders to Make Race With Leader

BULLETIN.

LIBERTY, Mo., May 1.—Three of the balloons in the national elimination balloon race passed over here at 8:45 p. m., tonight. They were comparatively close together and were drifting in a southeasterly direction at a high altitude.

ST. JOSEPH, May 1.—(AP)—Five balloons tonight were traveling southeastward over the United States in the national elimination balloon race. Four of them were contesting for the honor of representing the United States in the international races. The fifth a pilot balloon, led the way for the others.

Sixth Falls to Start.

A sixth pilot, Captain Raymond E. O'Neill, saw his hope of representing his country in the national race blasted in the early afternoon when the net about his balloon, the "S-16" of the army was irreparably torn. The big bag was then ripped open and deflated. It was a crestfallen Captain O'Neill that saw his fellow aeronautics sail away from Rose Crans Field.

It was his first chance to participate in a national balloon race.

The first of the contesting balloons, the army balloon S-14, piloted by Lieutenant William J. Flood, took off at 5:59 p. m., and sailed away to the southeast before a stiff breeze. Lieutenant Haynie McCormick is lieutenant of the Flood's aid in the race.

Off at 6:09 P. M.

The Goodyear III, piloted by W. T. Van Orman with C. K. Wollam as aide, followed Lieutenant Flood at 6:09 p. m.

The St. Joseph with Captain H. E. Honeywell, as pilot, and Harry Preston as aide, took off at 6:41 p. m., and the Detroit, piloted by Herbert V. Thaden, got away 16 minutes later at 6:57 p. m., F. C. Naylor went as aide.

The start of the race was delayed by a strong wind from the northwest that hampered inflation early in the afternoon and the gas was turned off for more than an hour. Pilots said damage might be done to the big bags if inflated in the heavy wind. They swayed back and forth, some times nearly touching the ground.

Tribute to Daring.

Tribute was paid officials of the race to the nerve of W. C. Naylor, aide to Herbert V. Thaden, who was overcome by gas shortly before his balloon, the Detroit, was to start. Naylor was revived by pulmotor and insisted on accompanying Thaden against the advice of physicians. The aide was lifted from an ambulance and placed in the basket just before Thaden took off on the flight. Physicians advised that the trip might result in pneumonia since his lungs were in a weakened condition from the gas.

It was not until 5:47 p. m., that the pilot balloon, in charge of Major Maurice Smith of Kansas City, took off to lead the way for the contestants. He had been scheduled to depart at 5:10 p. m.

Refused Permission.

Major Smith was refused permission to compete in the race with the other balloons by Major A. B. Lambert of St. Louis, the referee. Major Lambert said he acted upon the advice of Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service who was here to see the start of the race. The pilot balloon is less than half as large as the other balloons and was filled entirely with hydrogen gas. The contention was that it would not be fair competition since the larger balloons were filled with sixty per cent of water gas which does not have the lifting power of hydrogen. The contest committee of the National Aeronautic association yesterday granted Major Smith permission to compete in the race.

Anticipated Disorders Fail to Materalize in Communist Center

NEW YORK, May 1.—An idle May Day was the lot of the additional policemen and detectives on duty today to keep a lookout for possible disorders.

There was no repetition of last night's raids in which ten meetings of supposed radicals were broken up by the authorities.

Cal Is Pessimistic Over Crowded Status Of Population Centers

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Discussing transportation problems particularly those of increasingly congested cities, President Coolidge declared in an address to secretaries of automobile clubs in conference here today, that instead of using new transit facilities to end overcrowding, the people seem determined to crowd themselves more than ever.

Declaring that in planning the layout of cities years ago it was impossible to foresee the "transportation revolution," Mr. Coolidge said, that some recent studies of engineers and sociologists "have led to doubts whether the superior efficiency of the very great cities as business, industrial and cultural centers can be taken altogether for granted."

"They have advantages," he added, "but they also have disadvantages; and the disadvantages seem to be multiplying faster."

fishing expedition" at the time the first question was actually put to Mrs Mullens.

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court was the first witness called in the case. His testimony brought out that the oath had been properly administered to Mrs. Mullens and that he noticed no undue excitement when the question regarding the former sentence was put her as she answered. In answer to a question in the cross examination as to whether any evidence of Mrs. Mullens had anything to do with his allowing Frank Collier bail in the murder charge, Judge Martin stated that it was evidence brought by Mrs. Frank C Collier that made him of the opinion that the case was bailable.

Rennie P. Allred, official court stenographer, was the next witness, reading that portion of Mrs. Mullen's testimony at the habeas corpus which had reference to the sentence.

Mrs. W. P. Covington of Plainview, Hale county, testified to knowing Mrs. Mullens in 1917 as Gladys Hardy at Plainview. J. C. Terry, a farmer of Hale county and sheriff from 1916 to 1922, testified that he knew Mrs. Mullens as Mrs. Hardy and that he knew the defendant had been indicted and sentenced to the penitentiary in Hale county court. He testified to taking her to the penitentiary.

Read Indictment

A certified copy of the indictment was read by the district attorney. An attempt was made to introduce pictures of Mrs. Hardy at the time of her incarceration at Huntsville but this was overruled by Judge Wilson on objection of defense counsel. A certified copy of a prison record was also introduced

The state rested its case at three o'clock and Mrs. Mullens was called as the sole defense witness. Argument was finished shortly after six o'clock and the jury went to supper, returning at seven and beginning deliberation then.

CONGRESSMAN'S

when congress adjourned this spring. They will have to be introduced again and the same routine gone over when congress convenes again in December, he stated.

"The greatest emigration bill ever known was passed this last session of congress and was introduced by Secretary Davis, who is chairman of emigration. This bill cut the quota of undesirables from southern Europe so deep they are going back faster than they are coming in. The bill heretofore was not sufficient. It only allowed them to be sent home and they merely took another route and entered the country from another direction. Now if they come in they can be sent home, fine or imprisoned. The deportation act is the best that ever was, the speaker said.

Different Views.

Mr. Williams explained how congressmen are from different sections of the country, and how their viewpoints are different, and how hard it is for them to get together on a measure. He said it is hard for the public to understand why congress does not work faster and do more, but he assured the audience if they could only be there and see for themselves the vast amount of work it is to get a measure through that they would not wonder at the slowness.

He closed a forceful address which was both interesting and enlightening on the subject of the political workings of congress and congressmen, with the admonition that all women pay their poll tax and vote. The bad women will vote, he said, and it is up to the mothers and good women to vote for cleaner men, men of dependability, if we are to have good government.

RODEO

was followed closely by Bob Crosby of Kenne, N. M., who caught his calf in 22.2. Third went to Lee Rhoinson of Fort Worth in 27 flat and fourth to Merl Jowell of Seymour in 27.6. Other time included Richard Merchant, Carlsbad, N. M., 35.2; Elmer Jones, Midland, 35.6; Roy Adams, Los Angeles, 49.4; W. R. Kelly, Wortham, 38.2; Louis Jones, Christoval, 30.8; Herbert Myers, Joplin, Mo., 43; Jonas De Arman, Fort Worth, 47.4; Oscar Bell, Wichita Falls, 1.12 4-5; Carl Arnold, Stanley, N. M., 34; Breezy Cox, Klondyke, Ariz., 38.6; Dee Bibb, Las Vegas, N. M., 51; Ike Rude, Bakersfield, Cal., 29.2; Jake McClure, Lubbock, 49.2; Mike Hastings, Iowa Park, 50.4; W. B. Lyons, Fort Worth, 1.11. "No time" was made by George Daniels, Seymour; Hugh Strickland, Fort Worth; Roy Quick, Harrold; Tom Standifer, Bluit, N. M.; W. O. Evans, Iowa Park; Sam Mather, El Dorado, and Fred Beeson, Arkansas City, Kan.

Whereas several doughty riders went sailing with nothing under them Thursday, not a single one was pitched from his bucking bronco in the cowboy's bronco riding yesterday. Nowata Slim on "Excuse Me" was awarded first by the judges, while second went to Shorty Creed, Liberal, Kan., who strode "Fatty Arbuckle." Two cowboys shared third place, the judges being unable to decide between Perry Ivory of Pineville, Ore., who rode "Steamboat," and John Henry of Cheyenne, Wyo., whose bronco, "R. E. L. Knight," gave him plenty to do.

Others in Meet.

Others contesting, with the horses they rode in brackets, were as follow: Roy Mays, Errick, Okla., (Tip); Bryan Roach, Fort Worth, (Dumb Bell); Happy Jack Brown, Canyon, (Longtime); Chief Correlis, Brenham, (Black Jack); Shorty Gideon, Abilene, (Black Hawk); Guy Dodgin, Roscoe, (Jack Dempsey); Paddy Ryan, Miles City, Mont., (Buzzard); Dan Utley, Belton, (Tango); Bill Sawyer, Oakland, Cal., (Grey Eagle); Carl Beasley, Mill Creek, Okla., (Denver); Bob Askin, Ismay, Mont., (Rose Bud); Blacky Russell, Grandfield, Okla., (Billie Statton); Al Maddox, Bozeman, Mont., (Punkin); Oklahoma Curley, Fairview, Okla., (Black Devil); Norman Mason, Iowa Park, (Tom L. Burnett).

A Wichita Falls man, Elmer Splawn, took first money in the Brahma steer riding, while second prize went to Booger Boo Dorsey of Groveston. J. W. Harris of Breckenridge copped third and if a fourth had been awarde dit might have gone to Red Sublett, king of the cowboy clowns, who dug his spurs deep in the flanks of the squirming animal until it had bounced the ful length of the arena. Then he climbed the fence and made a face at the steer.

"Bovolopus," the wild Brahma who has only been ridden once in his life, and then not for long, kept his record clear yesterday by sending Fred Bristow of Fort Worth i na graceful, parbloic curve over his twisting horns. The cowboy held his seat only until Bovolopus had cleared the pens and reached the open arena. Bristow then dismounted with more speed than grace. He and Jonas De Arman, by the way, were the only two cowboys unable to ride their animals. All the other entrants stuck.

In the steer riding for women, Mabel Strickland, light but wiry, kept her seat despite the lunges of the big brute she strode. Rose Smith of Boise, Ida., however, didn't fare so well. She went flying just as did Bristow when he tackled Bovolopus. The girl was not hurt, though, in her stiff fall.

Cheer the Cowgirls.

Red Sublett was entered in this event, and though it was labeled "steer riding" he came out on a spavined pony that slid him off over its tail which he used as a handle to push the bronco all over the arena. He had hard work running as fast as he pushed.

The cowgirls came in for rounds applause in their bronco riding stunts. Especially was this true after all successfully stuck to their seats. The judges had not decided last night who took first place. Entrants were Fox Hastings, Iowa Park, (Blinky); Ruth Roach, Fort Worth, (Keno); Florence Fenton, Fort Worth, (Wasp-nest), and Bea Kirnan, Iowa Park, (Cickasha Boy).

No awards have as yet been decided in the fancy roping, contested by Chester Byers, Bob Calen and Tommy Kirnan; nor in the trick riding, contested by Ruth Roach, Florence Fenton, Mabel Strickland, Rose Smith, Bea Kirnan, Bob Calen, Buck Stuart, Tommy Kirnan and Red Sublett. Red and his swaybacked mule gave them all a run for their money.

Heroine of Civil War Days Dies In Confederate Home

AUSTIN, May 1.—Mrs. Amanda Inge, 81, one of the most famous confederate women of the civil war, died at the Confederate Women's home here today at 5:40 p. m. following an illness of several months. Funeral services will be conducted in the parlor of the home tomorrow and interment will follow in the state cemetery.

Burned a Bridge.

Mrs. Inge gained a reputation for bravery shown during the civil war in Tennessee when she burned a bridge crossing the Tennessee river to prevent federal troops from pursuing confederate soldiers who had already crossed. According to officials of the home, Mrs. Inge was 16 years old at the time and had a sweetheart serving with the confederate troops which had crossed the river.

Sent to Prison.

Later federal troops discovered her and she was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment in Fortress Monroe, Va., where she became rheumatic from the damp dungeon cell where she was confined. The illness contracted in prison caused her to suffer through the rest of her life. According to her story told officials of the home, General Grant and President Abraham Lincoln visited her during her imprisonment and extended special courtesies.

Mrs. Inge was born in Ireland, moved to America with her family and settled in Tennessee, where she lived until the civil war closed. Then she came to Brewer county, Texas, and has lived in this state since. She has been a resident of the confederate home since 1915.

NEW WAR ON CRIME.

International Code Formed to Aid in Identification Over Whole World.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—An international code is being formulated to speed up machinery for the apprehension of criminals throughout the world through the exchange by cable of complete criminal record and identifications and will be placed in effect first between the United States and important countries and later extended to other nations.

The project was made known today by Rush L. Holland of Colorado upon his retirement after four years' service as its attorney general with supervision over the entire personnel of the department of justice including the bureau of investigation.

WORKERS STAY ON JOB THROUGHOUT ALL ITALY

ROME, May 1.—(AP)—With the exception of a few factories in the Lombardy metallurgical district, where nearly fifty per cent of the workmen did not report for duty, there was almost no idleness in Italy this May day. It is estimated that not more than 15 per cent of the laborers throughout the realm took a holiday and the day passed off with almost complete calm.

GOLD STANDARD IS NEEDED

Caillaux Declares French Finances Demad Return To It

PARIS, May 1.—(AP)—Explaining his recent statements that France must seek ways and means for returning to a gold standard, Finance Minister Caillaux today told correspondents that the gold standard was one of the necessary elements of the French financial program.

He said his proposals were divided into three categories, the first of which was a permanent and absolute balanced budget, so that there could be no fear anywhere of a deficit in French finances. He asked to be excused from detailing the rest of the program, because, he said, it was proper that the French parliament be informed first.

PARDONING POWERS IS UP BEFORE LAWYERS

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The pardoning power of governors, a proposal of extradition of witnesses, a report on defects in criminal justice and suggestions for a clarifying restatement of the law of contracts were considered today at the third annual meeting of the American Law Institute.

Three More of The Buds Growing In Rose Garden Play of Junior College This Monday and Tuesday

Miss Janie McCallister, who will take the part of Babe Joan, a mountain vampire, the lead comedy part in "Mammy's Lil' Wild Rose" the Junior College play which will be presented Monday and Tuesday evenings at the college.

Below—Miss Glayds Faye Johnson, another member of the caste of "Mammy's Lil' Wild Rose," the Junior college play which will be presented the first of next week. Miss Johnson will take the part of Drue Allison, chum of Peggy.

Miss Margaret Akin, who takes the part of Hester O'May, the maiden aunt of Rose O'May, in the college play which will be given Monday and Tuesday evenings at the college.

"Mammy's Lil' Wild Rose," the Junior college production which will be presented at the college auditorium Monday and Tuesday, May 4 and 5, is the most prominent thing in the minds of the students of the college this week.

The play s a comedy-drama of the highest type. The dramatic situations are frequetly said to be of such an intense nature that the audience is held in suspense that is almost a fear, but in each case the moment is followed by comedy relief so humorous that peals of laughter are the result. The main dramatic plot is so subtly interwoven with the comedy sub-plot as to hold individual attention from curtain to curtain.

The play is a well known work by Lillian Mortimer, author of "Little Miss Jack," "Eyes of Love" and other noted plays, and is probably the best play ever attempted by the Junior college actors in school or in amateur performances outside.

Several of the students taking part are now considered as semi-professionals. They have starred in so many local productions and some have had definite offers from the managers of the professional legitimate stage.

What's Doing Here and There In West Texas

At Childress

NEW BUILDING

The new building to be erected by the Allen-Figh Motor company, local Dodge dealers, will be ready for acceptance about May 1. The building adjoins the La Grande theatre and is up to date in every respect.

SELL FISHING PERMITS

The city council of Childress will sell fishing permits for use at Lake Childress this season. Every precaution is being taken by the officials to prevent any pollution of the waters, as Childress is now enjoying "certified water" and nothing will be permitted around the lake that would in any way contaminate them. A keeper is employed, whose duty is to patrol the banks and see that there are no violations of the ordinances.

DENVER PICNIC

The committees having the arrangements in charge for the annual picnic of the association of mechanical employes of the Fort Worth and Denver railway at Childress July 4, 1925, have been appointed and the general chairman states that arrangements have been made with J. L. Roach, master-mechanic for free transportation for all employes and their families. The chamber of commerce is assisting in every way to plan for the entertainment of the visitors and it is said that some amusement features are planned for the occasion.

ENFORCE ORDINANCE

The city council of Childress is planning to enforce the sanitary ordinances. Many homes and business houses have not connected with the sewer and this is a menace to the health of the city. There is an abundance of water for sanitary purposes and the city plans to compel connections are to be made.

HI-Y CLUB

The Hi-Y club will go on a seven-day camp to Crabville, Okla., immediately after the close of school. They will be under the charge of Walter S. Knox, the director.

Immediately following the Hi-Y camp, Mr. Knox will take the Boy Scouts for a seven-day camp.

Ex-Aggie Leaves School Board As Protest On Highway Dep't. Change

SAN ANTONIO, May 1.—A sacrifice of the ideals of Texas A. & M. college for the sake of a few buildings, is charged by J. H. Briggs, civil engineer of San Antonio, in a letter of resignation from the A. & M. ex-students' association.

This resignation, Mr. Briggs said, was brought on by a change of the entire meeting of the Texas section, American Society of Civil Engineers, to be held at College station Thursday and Friday.

Fear of the governor's office and the activities of certain ex-students he charged, has changed the program to eliminate a discussion of the state highway department and the interruption within the department that caused many former, and students to lose their positions.

"The boys who stepped out of the state highway department because they would not sacrifice their principles are mostly A. & M. men and then when the engineers of the state espouse their cause the Alma Mater of those boys berays them for fear of closing a new building or two. They teach them ideals and then they are party to kicking them when they practice them," is the way Mr. Briggs has expressed himself in a letter to Colonel Ike Ashton, executive secretary of the ex-students' association.

Need Funds to Keep Water Measurements Steady Over State

COLLEGE STATION, May 1.—Half of the water measurement stations maintained by the state board of water engineers to obtain accurate data for water conservation projects must be abandoned unless a special session of the legislature grants increased appropriations, John A. Norris, chairman of the board, announced here today at the meeting of the Texas section, American society of civil engineers.

Engineers attending pledged their support toward obtaining an adequate appropriation to continue the work. Irrigation and Levee bonds are being discounted 10 to 25 per cent by investors because engineers do not have the necessary information on water conditions to substantiate their work, Mr. Morris said.

Vernon Pool Opener Goes To Pumping

Makes 70 Barrels in First Twelve Hours, Sand 1,935

The Consolidated Oil company and Staley and Wynne got their No. 1, Waggoner, in the center of the east line of the west 40 acres of the east 120 acres of the H&GNRRCO survey, abstract 907, eastern Wilbarger county, on the pump Thursday and showed 70 barrels of oil and a little water in the tank as a result of the first twelve hour's pumping. The well was reported decreasing very little at the end of the first twelve-hour period.

The oil is black, but is expected under test to show about 38 degrees gravity. The well is a definite pool opener in a sand tapped at 1,935 feet.

Location has been made for No. 2 and the rig is being installed, changed over from the original No. 2 location to the new position as follows: 1,200 feet from north line and 150 feet from the west line of the west 40 of the east 120 of the survey, same tract that well is on.

The rig is being moved 800 feet west for the No. 2 location.

WHO'S WHO IN THE DAY'S NEWS

—WHOS WHOS

WILLIAM G. LEE

PRESIDENT of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen since 1909, William G. Lee, will be a candidate for re-election in the convention of the brotherhood which starts in Cleveland, Ohio, May 12, he has announced.

W. G. LEE

By next August, if he is re-elected, Lee will have completed 30 years of service as a salaried official of the trainmen's organization.

Though he is 65 and his life as head of the largest and sometimes most turbulent of the railway brotherhoods has been anything but peaceful, he is not yet ready to retire.

The convention will be the first the big union has held in Cleveland and will bring for its three or four weeks' deliberation the representatives of 180,000 brakemen, conductors and switchmen.

When Lee became first vice-president of the brotherhood in 1895 it had only 17,000 members and a debt of $130,000. The debt was the result of the disastrous American Railway Union strike in 1894 led by Eugene V. Debs. Lee, who was a freight conductor running out of Kansas City on the Union Pacific did not participate in that strike, but the Kansas City switchmen did.

When Lee became head of the brotherhood in 1909 its membership had built up to 100,700 and it had a treasury of $1,600,000. Today with 180,000 members, its insurance, general, protective and tuberculosis funds amount to $9,200,000, most of it invested in bonds. It also has an eight story building in Cleveland.

Lee got into railroading via the Morse code, which he learned in Bowen, Ill., 50 years ago. His father sent him to a ranch on the Kansas frontier and after a year there he got a job breaking on the Santa Fe road, running out of Emporia, Kas.

His knowledge of telegraphy brought him quick promotion to conductor and by 1880 he was taking freight trains over the mountain division between La Junta, Col., and Las Vegas, N. M.

Got Orders Off Wire

At that time settlements were so far apart that train crews got many of their orders direct from the wire by connecting up key and sounder at poles every five miles or so.

Later Lee was with the Wabash and the Missouri Pacific and finally the U. P.

In 1904 Lee took personal direction for the brotherhood of the first general wage movement for the New York harbor district. In 1906 he was in charge of the Pittsburgh yard movement and participated in the first collective western wage movement for train and yard men.

After he succeeded "Pat" Morrisey as president in 1909 he led the trainmen's movement for the ten-hour day jointly with the conductors, and in 1916 joined with the other brotherhood chiefs in the concerted eight-hour movement, successful with the passage of the Adamson law a year later.

In 1920 Lee fought the outlaw switchmen's strike, and in 1921 against strong opposition prevailed on the other brotherhood officials to accept the labor board's wage reduction.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thins, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual breakdown of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! We know that as blood cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders, known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

Start taking S.S.S. today and get back that power in your blood!

TIMELY VIEWS ON WORLD TOPICS

"Department of Defense" for U. S. Within Two Years Is Col. Wm. Mitchell's Prediction.

GEN. WM. MITCHELL

"PEOPLE all over the country now realize that aviation is the dominating arm of defense in modern warfare," says Col. Wm. Mitchell, until recently assistant chief of the army air service and now deposed and head of the flying field at San Antonio, Texas.

"They realize that commercial aviation has been utterly neglected, except for the splendid air mail, which, by the way, is one of the greatest achievements in the aviation world.

"We have impressed congress with the need of complete reorganization of all our military affairs.

"Those three things are the net result of the recent controversy. The air is cleared of smoke screens. Hidden truth has been revealed. That means action by the country.

"This discussion has been the first one in this country in which matters were brought out into the open and discussed as they have been discussed for years in European countries.

Department of Defense Forecast.

"As a result of the investigation we'll have a department of defense within two years. We're the only country that hasn't one. Our military forces will soon be divided up into air, land and water forces.

"We've shown plainly that there is nothing on the ground that can successfully stop an attack from the air. We've shown that airplanes can destroy any ship that floats on the water, regardless of its size.

"This discussion didn't arise out of nothing. Our group of air officers, who have the welfare and safety of the future United States at heart, have thought about these things ever since the war. I consider that what we have done is the best winter's work done for a number of years."

Your Greatest Source of Revenue—

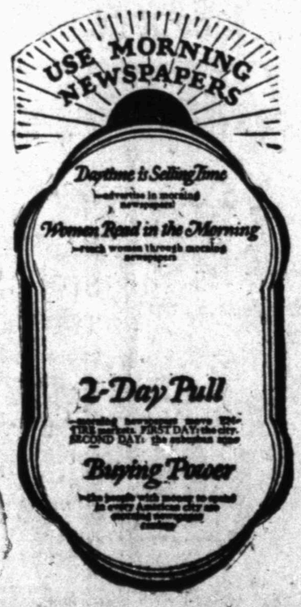

—the Family Purse!

All of the dollars in the millions spent for family necessities in this trading area have a common starting point!

In the beginning they are found in the family purse! The arguments that cause this purse to open, the "fac's and figgers" that start these dollars into circulation must prove themselves to the satisfaction of SOME WOMAN!

GIVE woman her just due. Whatever may be said in scorn of her judgment, her logic, her pursuit of bargains, the fact remains that her endorsement MUST be gained before the sale is made in almost every retail transaction that may be proposed.

The most profitable advertising investment is that which produces inquiries or sales at the lowest cost each. A house-to-house analysis of newspaper reading habits in a group of representative American cities shows that 92% of the home-delivered circulation of morning newspapers remains in the home TEN HOURS EVERY DAY. It follows, therefore, that the greater portion of the advertiser's dollar invested in morning newspaper space buys contact in the home with the proper object of most retail merchandising efforts---THE WOMAN.

Study These Statements

taken from nation-wide interviews with women home economists, physicians, educators, lawyers, regarding the influence of newspaper advertising:

"I have more time for my newspaper in the morning than any other time of day and believe that morning newspapers are the logical newspapers through which to reach American women."—Mrs. Chas. H. Milby —Public Official of Harrisburg, Texas.

"Morning newspapers have more important articles of advantage to women as citizens and family managers. Why should there be a 'Woman's Page?' The entire paper is the woman's paper."—Harriet B. Jones, M. D., Glendale, W. Va., Home Economics Association.

"Newspaper advertising plays a very important part in the economics of the home." —Lois P. Dowle, State President, Georgia Home Economics Association.

"The housewife usually devotes her evening to her family or to social affairs. She has more time for newspapers from eight in the morning until five in the afternoon."—Judge Virginia Henry Mayfield, Birmingham, Ala., Domestic Relations Court.

"The school girl today reads the daily paper more than ever. The morning newspaper is part of her training in English, Economics and Civics."—Sarah A. Packard, Dean, Naston Institute, Springvale, Maine.

"The newspaper published in the morning with ten hours daily life in the home is the logical medium through which to deliver messages to thoughtful women of America." —Mrs. Victoria Gardner, President Women Trade Union League of Seattle.

For May Day,

May Day offers another opportunity for a happy day for the children The celebration of May Day with a dance is an old custom. It was long ago customary to start before dawn, making excursions to the woods and bringing in wild flowers for the May festival. A bough was brought from the forest, stripped of its branches, planted, decorated with garlands of flowers and became the center of dances and games.

In planning the May party, nothing could be more in keeping with the day than the May Pole dance. Attach strips of bunting of varying colors to the top of the pole. The children will be delighted in their white dresses, or in a costume the color of the bunting ribbon. In tripping around the pole the ribbon will wind on it to produce the very pretty effect of the gay colored pole. To unwind the ribbons, the dancers must reverse, beginning with the last to wind her ribbon on the pole.

What child is there who will not be eager for the refreshments after their out-of-doors festivities? If the day is warm and sunny the refreshments may be served on the lawn. A small colored basket containing dainty sandwiches made from the jams and jellies on the emergency shelf, a small bottle of graps juice, and cookies with colored icing, or a piece of cake, may be handed to each of the children. Direct them to form a circle around the May pole to partake of the countents oftheir baskets. Or, a luncheon may be prepared and served at the dining table. Peas in patties, peanut butter, and ham or lettuce sandwiches, ice cream, rolled oats and date cookies will make a satisfying luncheon and the preparations will not leave Mother too tired to enjoy the party with the children.

Greens for Grown-ups And Children

Do you ever serve sulphur and molasses to your family as their spring tonic or don't you depend on anything like that to coax back their appetite to normal — cure the drowsy feeling and renew the healthy color of their skins?

Indeed, there is less and less need for the old-fashioned remedies that were made or considered so necessary because of the restricted diet of the long winter months. Nowadays however, modern methods of food transportation, canning, preserving by refrigeration and storage makes it possible to have a varied menu and to enjoy green fruits and vegetables all year round.

A diet of spring greens is the best of all medicines to make that tired feeling disappear. Nature appreciating this, has wisely provided young green things in abundance to appeal to our appetites.

The large class of leafy vegetables belongs to this spring group—spinach, lettuce, chard, turnip and beet tops, dandelion, lambsquarter, field salad, watercress and cabbage are the most common, though in different sections of the country there are many other of the field-greens that are available. All these vegetables possess dietary proportions that are unique in themselves. They serve to correct the deficiencies in certain groups of foods by supplying vitamines and minerals, and they supplement the cereals, legumes and meat by adding the growth materials and bulk needed to make a well-balanced diet.

Aside from the leafy vegetables we have the crisp radish, flavorsome spring onions, baby beets and tiny golden carrots; pink stems of succulent rhubarb, the green and white aspargus and hothouse tomatoes.

The roo tvegetables—radish, beets and carrots—are good correctives for constipation as they supply bulk or indigestible fiber in considerable amount. Carrots are also useful as a source of lime, and beets supply some sugar.

Young tender carrots, radishes, most of the leafy vegetables, tomatoes and onions can be combined to make delicious salads. Their freshness and crispness stimuate the appetite and they also furnish iron, lime, potassium and other min-

HOW MRS. ALEXANDER WON 280 PRIZES WITH CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

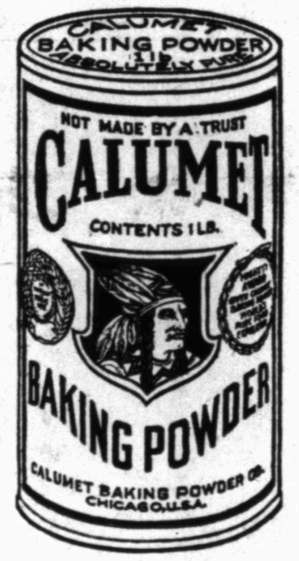

Read what Mrs. Alexander says

"Baking Powder of course is one of the most important ingredients that goes into the baking of cakes and especially those intended for the rigid inspection of the judges of the Iowa State Fair.

"When I entered my first cake at the State Fair thirteen years ago I used Calumet Baking Powder and won a prize. I have been using it ever since and for the last eight years have won the greater share of first prizes for cakes at the State Fair, with my greatest success this year when I received 23 Blue Ribbons, 8 Seconds and 3 Thirds, or 34 winners out of my 37 different kinds of cakes entered.

"I have always found Calumet to be the dependable, reliable and consistent winner."

Mrs. Jesse Alexander

$700.00 in Cash Prizes —that's exactly what Mrs. Alexander of Indianola, Iowa, has won with her Calumet Baking Powder cakes.

A few years ago, she decided to try for a prize at the Iowa State Fair. She baked a cake and she didn't neglect to use Calumet—she won and she's been using Calumet and winning ever since.

Calumet bakings have been winning prizes and praise for over thirty-five years. And today this perfect leavener is the preference of America's housewives.

Calumet goes farther, lasts longer and never fails to raise the baking to its highest nutritional value.

rals that make them splendid tonic foods.

One of our leading food writers suggests that when the young vegetables must be cooked, be careful not to overcook them. Wash them thoroughly, add just enough water to cover, cover closely and boil for fifteen to thirty minutes, according to the vegetable. By that time most of the water should have been absorbed or have evaporated. In most cases do not drain the vegetables, simply season with butter—plenty of it—salt and pepper and serve very hot. The leafy vegetables will have to be drained and chopped, then seasoned in the same way.

Recipes.

Grapefruit and Strawberry Cocktail.

Remove pulp from two grapefruit and mix with one-half cup shredded pineapple, and strawberries cut in halves, using half as much pineapple as grapefruit, and allowing four strawberries to each serving. There should be two cups fruit. Pour over a dressing made of one-third cup fruit juice and one-half cup sugar. Chill thoroughly; serve in cocktail glasses, and garnish with candied cherries and leaves.

Cucumber Salad.

Remove thick slices from both ends of a cucumber, cut off a thick paring, and with a sharp pointed knife cut five parallel grooves lengthwise, keeping cucumber in its original shape. Arrange on lettuce leaves, and pour over French dressing.

Shrimps a la Newburg.

1pt. shrimps, 3 tbsp butter, 1-2 tsp. salt, few grain cayenne, 1 tsp. lemon juice, 1 tsp. flour, 1-2 cup cream, yolk 2 eggs.

Clean shrimps and cook three minutes in two tablespoons butter. Add salt, cayenne and lemon juice, and cook one minute. Remove shrimps, and put remaining butter in double boiler, add flour and cream; when thickened add yolk of eggs slightly beaten, and shrimps. Serve with toast, or in pretty shells.

Hot Water Sponge Cake.

1 3-4 cups flour, 1 1-2 level teaspoon baking powder 3 eggs, 1-2 cup boiling water, 2 teaspoons lemon extract, 1 cup granulated sugar, pinch of salt.

Sift flour once, then measure; add baking powder and sift three times; beat yolks until thick and lemon-colored; beat whites until stiff; put whites in mixing bowl; add yolks to whites; beat in sugar; then fold the flour in lightly, add flavoring and hot water, and bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) in an ungreased pan about forty minutes.

Questions and Answers.

Q. Will you give me a new way of using left over potatoes?

A. No. 1. Warming over mashed potatoes has always been unsatisfactory in our family until I discovered what delicious potato puree it makes. I use one quart of milk, a small onion, teaspoon of butter, salt and pepper. These I put in a double boiler and boil until onion is tender, when I add a pint (or more) mashed potato. Stir thoroughly, let heat again and serve. This makes a delicious as well as nutritious luncheon for six people.

Q. No. 2. How long should spinach be cooked?

A. N. 2. Most persons cook spinach far too long a time; fifteen to twenty minutes is long enough. After washing the leaves, do not add water, but let the spinach cook in the water left on the leaves after washing.

Q. No. 3. Are the vitamins destroyed when cereals are cooked for more than an hour in a double boiler? How long should cereals be cooked?

A. N. 3. We do not yet know precise how great is the destruction of vitamins by heat in our ordinary cooking process, but we think it is unlikely that it is large. However, the loss of vitamins in cooked cereals does not concern us greatly, since cereals are not our main source of vitamins. Milk and milk products, fruits, vegetables and eggs are outstanding as sources of vitamins. Cereals such as cracked wheat need longer than an hour to cook. Overnight cooking by the fireless cooker or several hours on the stove is required for cereals such as those which are made from the entire grain. The darker cereals in general, being made of the entire grain, need the longest cooking; at least three hours should be given to cooking these cereals. The whiter cereals have had some of the tough outer coats (bran) removed, and cooks much more quickly.

Using up The Leftovers.

There is no need for the most fastidious housekeeper to hesitate at serving a dish made from leftover food—if care has been given to see that, if it is a meat dish, it is well flavored and brown and savory with seasoning and gravy; if a pudding, that it is wholesome, tasty, without being either soggy or too rich; if a vegetable, that it is so cooked that its original flavor and vitamins are not destroyed.

The plebian hash may either be one of the best or most unappetizing dishes we eat and it is surprising to see how many people order the delicious baked hash served at some of our popular tea rooms. When our food budget warns us that we must be cautious in our purchases, an expensive dish may often be balanced by another that will be inexpensive because we are using up our leftovers.

Perhaps some of the best means of utilizing leftovers is in soups. In cream soups, which seem to be the most popular and are wholesome, there is certainly great variety. There are cream of tomato, spinach, celery, potato, pea, asparagus and cauliflower, all of which can be made from leftover vegetables. The pulp strained from a large can of tomatoes, the juice of which has been used the day before, can be used in cream of tomato soup. Tomatoes too ripe for salad can also be used in this way.

In cream of spinach, a small amount of that vegetable left over is finely chopped and used in cream stock with a garnish of grated, or rounds of, hard-boiled egg.

For a cream of potato, left over mashed potatoes are saved, and at first only a small amount of boiling milk or cream is added to even out all lumps. This is run through a sieve, and enough milk for the desired amount added, with butter, celery salt, and a bit of onion, then thicken slightly, and a garnish of parsley.

Cream of asparagus may be made from the water in which the vegetable is boiled with the addition of stock, or butter, milk or cream and with some of the left over vegetable run through a colander for additional flavor and a few tips for garnish.

Three pounds of beef stew of a cheap but nutritious cut simmered slowly gives enough bullion, with flavor of onion, pepper and salt for one day and a vegetable soup the next. The meat can be used with carrots and peas in a baking dish; or for baked hash with green peppers; as a basis for croquettes, or meat loaf; or ground and baked with left over rice or bread crumbs as a stuffing for peppers or tomatoes. These two latter dishes are in great demand in tea rooms—why not serve them more often at home?

Meat from the last meal, ground up or fresh hamburger, combined with tomato, chili sauce, green pepper—even scraps of bacon or ham—highly seasoned, and mixed with spaghetti or macaroni, makes a very substantial main dish to serve for dinner and it is a time and labor saving one for these trying days of housecleaning.

And now let's see what can be done with the ever increasing scraps of dried bread. The most well-known, I believe, on the list of dishes prepared with dry bread is Bread Pudding, and I am sure you all have many splendid recipes for that.

Bread crumbs should be dried in a very slow oven until a light brown and then placed in a glass jar and covered with a piece of muslin or a fitted tin cover in which holes have been punched. Then there is no need to grate a small quantity of crumbs each time there is a need for sprinkling over an au gratin dish, for rolling croquettes or meat, for use as layers in a casserole dish and for the countless other uses.

Dried bread mya be used for soup garnishes, as croutons—which are pieces cut into cubes, buttered and placed in a pan annd browned in the oven. Soup sticks are cut in one-third inch strips from slices of dried bread, from which crusts have been removed, then spread with butter and browned in the oven.

Left over bread may be used for bread patties or canapes by cutting in two-inch slices, shaping into squares, diamonds, oblongs, or rounds, removing centers and leaving cases, and either fried in deep hot fat and browned in the oven and filled with creamed heated meat, fish or vegetables.

Bread dumplings, too, with or without the addition of chicken or calf's liver are most worthy of mention.

The above are only a very few of the many, many excellent dishes to be made from leftovers.

Through A Woman's Eyes

"The Others Do It."

"The others do it"—we have all heard it. And every day one sees people doing things that they know will harm them, which frequently they do not even enjoy, simply because "the others do it."

People who need nine hours of sleep get only six hours because "everybody stays late."

Women who admit that "a drop of liquor makes them sick," will enthusiastically consume anything "with a kick" because "the others do it."

Men who would rather spend the evening with their families go out for "a game" losing money, time and nervous energy, because "the other fellows do it," and they can't say "no."

And women who "hate wasting beautiful days indoors at those teas," that give them neither benefit nor pleasure, do it just the same—because "the other women do it."

One feels tempted to ask these people whether finding themselves in China they would tie up their feet and mince painfully on their toes—because the others do it?

Or if traveling among the Eskimos they would go months without changing their clothing or taking a bath—because the others do it?

Or would they if on an expedition to the South Sea Isles perhaps have their noses slit and wear brass rings through them—because the others do it?

Any of which are not much more foolish, wasteful, unbecoming or deadly than some of the things we see men and women doing every day—"because the others do it."

THE MARRIED MAN FAD

What is the main idea, I'd like to know, in this sudden craze for married men?

Of course, we all know that certain silly young things have always fancied themselves in the role of home-wreckers, and have taken an inordinate amount of pleasure in talking about their flirtations with husbands of their girl friends, but we never paid any attention to those girls.

However, within the past few weeks, I've been receiving so many letters from all kinds of girls telling me of their hopeless infatuation for men who have wives and children to look after, that it occurs to me something ought to be said on the subject.

In every case, the girl who bewails her luck in falling for a man already married assures me that he is equally infatuated with her, and "would marry her tomorrow" if only he were free.

Um—maybe he would. It would be interesting to put him to the test.

Anyway, whether HE would or not is beside the point. The big idea is that the girl herself, in nine cases out of ten, wouldn't dream of noticing him, probably if he were free.

Only the glamour of a flirtation with an older man—the thrill of disobeying one of the strictest laws of propriety—the self-importance which comes with the knowledge that she is sophisticated enough to be carrying on a clandestine friendship with a MARRIED MAN—these elements combine to produce an emotion in her which she calls love.

And truly, entirely aside from the moral viewpoint, it's such a profitless business—when she might be employing her time to so much better purpose with boys of her own age—gaining popularity that will give her many evenings of enjoyment—acquiring friends who might provide her with good times for years to come. What can a married man do for her?

Entirely aside from the fact that he's proving himself untrustworthy and unreliable, and generally worthless by neglecting his wife to bestow attentions on a silly little flapper—he usually proves useless in the matter of good times.

He can't run around with the "girl of his heart" because that would cause gossip.

Consequently she misses out on theatres and dances and good times of all kinds.

Also she misses out on the joy that comes from anticipation. What can she look forward to when the only man she knows is already the unfaithful husband of someone else?

By BLONDY CROSS.

WELL, ANYHOW THE GANG HAD 'EM SCARED TO DEATH FOR AWHILE THERE YESTERDAY. THEY PITCHED WACHTEL TO A MIGHTY STIFF CLIP, AND IF THEY'D BEEN GIVEN THE PITCHING WOULD HAVE WON HANDS DOWN.

Might as well chalk up win for this afternoon over the Steers in Dallas. Bob Osborn's going to pitch.

They're expecting Dave Keefe, hurler purchased from Portland, to join the club today.

Dave has a couple of staunch supporters in Cap'n George Distel and Wray Query. These athletes are willing to wager their last dime that he'll go over strong in the Texas league.

COST A LOT.

Dave's a veteran in experience, but is a comparatively young man. He was with Connie Mack in '20 and '21. Went to Cleveland in '22, Milwaukee in '23, and last year was with Portland. It's said the Spudder management thought enough of him to pay something in the neighborhood of $6,000 for him.

Part of Keefe's middle finger on his pitchin' hand has been lost to him. Cut it off some way or another while still a kid. This doesn't seem to hamper him any. May help(for he's got a great curve ball, say Distel and Query. Chunks a screw ball that makes you drunk to look at it, quoth George.

NO RELATION TO JACK.

Speaking of Dave, L. E. Cowling writes in to ask if he's a brother of the well known Jack Keefe. He isn't. But Dave's almost as good a pitcher as Jack thinks Jack is, avers Query.

Nope, Sniper Didn't Do It.

Old O. B. Hunt of Burkburnett, who's a real Spudder fan, by the way, wants to know if Snipe Conley, veteran Dallas hurler, ever won 20 straight games in the Texas league. Sorry we can't satisfy O. B., but Sniper only won 19 in a row. That was back in 1917. Jimmy Zinn beat him in his twentieth start something like 7 to 4. Sniper was trying so hard to win that game that he got all excited and nervous while trying to field bunted balls, and jungle heaved three high over the first base man's head, just about beating him self, single handed.

STILL WITH DICK.

Notice by the papers that Dick Morgan got bumped in the late rounds of that Spudder-Panther affair down in Cowtown yesterday. All of which proves he's a real punishment glutton. Out of six ventures onto the slab this season, Dick has been mauled unsparingly in five.

Still have a hankering the big fellow will get going soon. Fact is, we believe it so strong that we've entered ino a Stetson hat wager with the prima donna of the editorial force that Big Dick will come through for 15 wins before the season's over.

"I see Babe Ruth is lost to the Yanks until June," says Cowbells, the young end enterprising head writer. "By that time they'll be so far behind the rest of the league he can't save 'em."

Vic Pigg, the doughnut maker, Marty Callaghan, the skating champ, and Bob Osborn, the gawlf expert! There are three of our noblest Spudder celebrities.

Vic pokes holes in doughnuts during the off season. Cal throws an occasional skate up in Norwood, Mass. Sure, he's kingpin ice skater of the town. And Robert could teach Ouimet, Hagen or any other of the boys new punches at the golfing game. He learned his strokes as a caddy on the El Paso Country club links.

Versatile bunch, these three Spudders. Vic hasn't poked any holes in Texas league batting averages yet this season, but give him time; he's been hampered with a sore arm. Cal's been skating all over the outfield grabbing everything poled to the starboard garden. And Bob's shot a birdie three already on the Texas league baseball course.

FELINES BEAT SPUD LEAD IN LATE ROUNDS

Koney Parks Agate With Two on In Eighth Frame

CAP'N. GEORGE SLUGS

Homelings Make it Tough For Veteran Paul Wachtel

PANTHER PARK, FORT WORTH, May 1.—Fort Worth defeated Wichita Falls here Friday afternoon 10 to 5. The victory gave the Cats a one-game margin over the Spudders out of the six played this season. One was tied, Wichita won two and Fort Worth won the other three.

The Panthers won Friday's game with their bats. They collected 12 hits of three Wichita pitchers, and for the most part they were clustered. The Spudders touched Paul Wachtel for ten hits, but after the fifth inning could not get them at a time when they mean runs.

Cat Fans eGt Thrill.

Big Ed Konetchy, who relieved Kraft on first base and has been a disappointment as far as hitting goes since the season opened, came to life in the Friday fray and lined out a brace of beautiful hits. One of them was a home run which came in the eighth inning with two on. It sewed up the game for the Panthers and sent a thrill of satisfaction up and down the spine of fans who have been watchfully waiting on the big fellow who stepped in to fill the shoes of their idol for several seasons, and home run king of the minors last season.

Wichita started the scoring in the second inning when Dorman singled after one was out. Mullen booted Turgeon's grounder and White singled to score Dorman. Jonnard walked to fill the bases. But Ira Morgan fanned and Callaghan rolled to Koney.

The Spudder lead didn't last long. Fort Worth scored four in the last half of the second. Palmer and Edington led off with singles to right. Windle flied out, but Moore walked, filling the bases. Wachtel walked forcing Palmer across the plate. Edingtonscored as Davis forced Wachington scored as Davis forced Wachtel. Moore and Davis with a sharp bit to right. Mullen was out at the plate on the play.

Spuds Lead Again.

Wichita kept after Wachtel and went into the lead by scoring two runs in each the third and fifth innings.

In the third Distel led off with a single to left. It was the first of four hits he registered on five trips to the plate. Fitzgerald walked. Bodie scored Distel and sent Fritz to second with a single through short. Dorman advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt and Fitgerald scored from third on Turgeon's slow roller to Windle. White struck out.

A double by Distel, a single by Fitzgerald and an error by Palmer gave the Tannermen their two runs in the fifth.

Jackie Reed, who relieved Ira Morgan at the start of the third inning, held the Cats practically helpless until the seventh inning. In that frame Sears led off with a single to left. White kicked Koney's hot grounder. Palmer grounded to Dorman. Edington was purposely passed, filling the bases. Doc Smith, batting for Windle, dropped a dinky fly by third for a single that scored Sears and Koney. Moore lined a single to center to put Edington across. Wachtel walked and the bases were full again. Dick Morgan was sent to Reed's aid. Davis hit into a double play, Morgan to Jonnard to Distel.

Then Koney came along with his home run in the eighth to score three more for Fort Worth.

After two were out in the ninth Distel and Fitzgerald singled for the Spuds but Bodie grounded to short to end the game.

Derby Eligibles Enter Last Two Training Weeks

LOUISVILLE, May 1.—Kentucky derby candidates today entered the final two weeks of training for the $50,000 classib to be renewed for the fifty-first time at Churchill Downs, May 16. The Downs course was heavy today and no pretentious work was attempted.

Lee O. Cotner was breezed half a mile in 54 4-5. He was accompanied by Bourbon Boy and was under a hard pull throughout the trip. Quatrain cantered around the track and was returned to his stall.

Aberact and Annibilator, the Anderson and Kendle elgibles, were breezed through the heavy going five-eighths of a mile in 1:05 3-5. Both colts appeared ready for a race. Borderland and Needlegun, of the Zeigler stable, stepped a half mile in 51 2-5, and galloped out three-quarters in 1:20. These colts are maidens but critics predict they will not be long in winning brackets. Our General, chief derby dependence of the stables, was out for a gallop but was not asked for speed.

Mark Master, the international stable derby possibility, quartered at Douglas park, went through the stiff going at the Beechmont course, a half mile in 52 seconds.

A SPARKLING POOLE Is Athletics' New First Baseman

JIMMY POOLE

Meet Mr. Poole, the young man called from the sunset slopes of the U. S. A. to the bier of Connie Mack's pennant hopes to cheer the long one up as he wept over the glory that was Zip Hauser's before he busted his leg —or whatever it was.

The interesting thing about this man Poole, aside from the fact that he is making the fans forget Hauser, is that he wasn't even mentioned in the winter stove league gossip as being some pumpkins. Few persons outside of Portland, Ore., and the Athletic offices had heard much about him when he stepped to the plate the afternoon of opening day and socked out a home run and two singles.

The public still knew little about him when he had collected a batting average of .535 in the first five games by socking out nine hits in 17 trips to the plate.

Meanwhile Jimmy was laughing up what sleeve there was to his big league uniform.

Up to the day Hauser was injured Poole was figuring on remaining out of baseball this year. He had had a run-in with the Portland officials and, in preference to standing for a fine imposed, was going to stay right at home in Winston-Salem, N. C., until the matter was straightened out. When Connie sent out an S. O. S. for a first sacker the Portland club was glad to dispose of him. And Poole's presence in the south enabled him to report within 24 hours instead of consuming several days in making a transcontinental trip.

In anticipation of playing some place, however, Poole had been working out daily near his home and was in fair condition when he reported. At least his batting eye was in fairly good shape.

Mack gave Portland two players for Poole, Pitcher Meeker and outfielder Bill Bagwell were the two. Meeker ought to add strength to the Portland pitching staff wih his southpaw shoots, and Bagwell can sock the ball. So the deal was a satisfactory one all around.

And the interesting part of it is that when Hauser is ready to resume his place in the lineup Connie will be faced with the problem of finding some way of keeping Poole in the game—or benching the best hitter he now has in uniform.

Which makes things more involved, as the scientists say.

Approximately $250,000 Diverted From School Fund to Game Fund By Provision in Oil Royalties Bill

Speaker of House Declares Transfer An Error, and Asks Commish Not to Use Money

AUSTIN, May 1.—A provision diverting approximately $250,000 yearly, according to past figures, from the public free school fund to the game fund has been discovered in the bill transferring University oil royalties from the permanent to the available fund, it was announced today by J. T. Robinson, land commissioner.

One section of the measure provides that royalty from submerged and river bed lands, which previously had gone ot the school fund, shall be credited to the game fund. In accordance with the provision the land commissioner has received, since April 3, and designated to the game fund, $23,528.34.

Transfer of these funds is obviously an error, Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the house, declared today after investigating the statutes, Mr. Satterwhite was author of the bill, passed by the thirty-seventh legislature, which placed the royalties in the school fund.

"I am confident that Representative Westbrook, author of the bill, had no intention of changing this money and it is apparent that in re-drafting the bill making oil royalties from university lands abailable for buildings, a section o fthe statute dealing with submerged oil lands was omitted", he said. "The Westbrook bill re-enacts a previous law which placed the money in the game fund

"The error seems so palpable that I trust the game, fish and oyster repartment will not use any of these funds until the constitutionality of the bill is settled, or the error corrected at a special session".

After searching the statutes today, Speaker Satterwhite declared he had failed to find the amendment of the thirty-seventh legislature placing the money in the school fund to be included in the revised statutes as compiled by the codification board. It was thought possible this might have caused the error.

Mr. Robinson declared he was opposed to the change, believing the money was needed worse by the schools than the game department. This royalty was taken from the game fund during the thirty-seventh legislature because it was said the department had a surplus at that time.

S. M. N. Marrs, superintendent of public instruction, said he was unaware that the change had been made.

15 FAN IN 7 STANZAS

Floral Sews up Contest In Second by Scoring Three

Behind the splendid pitching of James Parker, the Floral Heights Methodists took the First Presbyterians into camp by the count of 4 to 0, Friday afternoon on the Twilight league diamond. Parker whiffed 15 of the Presbyterian batsmen. Horton's catch of Habern's pop fly in the third was the fielding feature of the game. He ran into the back stop and snared the ball. Parker led the hitters with two singles in three trips to the plate. The only time Parker was in real danger was in the second when with one away Taylor reached third after walking. He came out of it by fanning Norman Adams and Fisher in succession.

The only hits made off Parker came in the third when Riley and Marvin Roberson connected for singles, but couldn't score.

The game was put on ice in the second when Floral Heights put a trio of markers over the pan. Verna Bullard walked. Harris singled to left, sending Bullard to second. Hershi was safe on an infield bobble, filling the bags. C. Adams fanned. In an attempt to pick Bullard off third, Habern sent a jungle heave into left field, Bullard scored and all other runners advanced a notch. Another bobble of outfield origin let in the remaining pair.

Another tally was netted in the fifth by the Methodist nine. Horton was safe on an error, and then stole second. Parker singled to right and Horton spiked the rubber. The next men were easy outs and Parker died on the bag.

Steel Roofs Form Lightning Arresters

With the approach of the open season for lightning, the minds of home owners and farmers turn toward methods of protecting their property from this devastating force. Increasing attention is being given to the lightning protection afforded by steel roofs which are properly grounded, for the reason that they provide protection not only from lightning but from fire as well.

Many persons formerly believed that a metal roof would attract lightning. The contrary is true as shown by records of modern steel skyscrapers which have been proved lightning safe. A roof of steel, properly grounded, lessens danger of lightning strokes, because it allows a silent discharge of electricity between cloud and earth during an electrical storm, and thus has a tendency to prevent the "piling up" of a difference in potential great enough to cause a stroke. Should the stroke come, it will be carried harmlessly into the ground.

Some experiments have just been completed that show the action of lightning. These experiments were started under the direction of the late Dr. Steinmetz, the world-famous electrical wizard. According to Dr. Steinmetz three common forms of human habitation are lightning safe—an all-steel ship, a steel-framed building, and a steel-roofed building grounded at all four corners.

The method of grounding is of great importance. Conductors must be fastened to the lower edge of the roof with an adequate electrical connection and carried down into the ground to a depth sufficient to insure permanent moisture. If there are water pipes extending down to permanent moisture, these make excellent grounds. The building should be grounded from at least two corners, and more, if it is large.

Dietary Excesses Given as Cause for Big Rise In Disease.

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 1.—Diabetes in the United States is increasing by leaps and bounds and the sugar eating American public must be taught to avoid overstrain, over eating and indulgence in dietary excesses, if the disease is to be checked, Dr. C. J. Barorka, Mayo clinic physician, said in a public lecture here last night.

Ludlam-Riggs Loses Disputed Tilt to Monore

Game Halted by Rain Last Week in Fifth Goes To Travelers

Under league ruling made this year, it was decided in special session of Twilight league team managers Friday night that the game played between the Ludlam and Riggs nine and Monroe's Travelers Thursday of last week and which was halted in the fifth inning by rain with the Travelers holding the upper hand, shall be awarded to the latter outfit instead of being declared no game. At the close of the fourth inning, Monroe's Travelers were leading, 7 to 5. This team did not score in the first half of the fifth, but rain caused cessation of hostilities in the last half of the inning with Ludlam and Riggs runners on bases and nobody out.

The league ruling is that in weekly games, all of which are scheduled to go seven innings and no more unless in case of tie and it is still not too dark to play, are to be classed as full length contests after four innings of play, if because of darkness or weather conditions the games are called by the umpire. In Sunday games, all of which are scheduled for nine innings of play, five innings will suffice in case the contests are halted before the allotted number of innings have been played.

If, however, the team batting last is in lead at the close of the first half of the fourth inning of a scheduled seven-inning contest, and at the end of the first half of the fifth inning of Sunday a titit and weather conditions then cause the game to be tsopped that game goes into the record as a full-fledged contest.

The standing of the league with the Travelers-Ludlam and Aiggs change is as follows:

Clubs—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Monroe's Travelers	2	0	1.000
Texhomas	1	0	1.000
Security Nat. Bank....	1	1	.500

Hull Pours It On Simpson In Ten-Round Go

Clyde Hull, St. Paul welterweight, won the referee's decision over Johnny Simpson of San Antonio in the ten-round main event of the Triangle ranch rodeo fight card held Friday night.

The bout was a slugging match all the way with Hull having the better in a majority of rounds. Simpson gave Hull plenty of opposition, but the St. Paul scrapper won the last five couplets by a goodly margin.

There was one knockdown. Simpson mingling with the rosin in the ninth. He was hanging on at the bell. In the tenth round, the San Antonio fighter took a terrible beating, but gamely stayed in and tried to fight back.

Kid Snyder, Burkburnett lightweight, outpointed Chief Keetah, Chickasha battler, in six rounds.

Southwest Conference Open For Membership Applications May 8

AUSTIN, May 1.—Applications for a berth in the southwestern conference to fill the vacancy made by the withdrawal of Oklahoma A. & M. will be considered Friday, May 8, at College Station, at a general meeting of the conference officials, it was announced tonight by Dr. R. N. Blackwell, athletic director of Southern Methodist university, following a meeting of the committee of schedules of the directors and business managers association here today. Other members of the schedule committee who attended the meeting of the schedule makers are L. Theo Bellmont, University of Texas, and Frank B. Bridges, Baylor university.

At present no applications have been received for conference membership, although conference officials are expecting Austin college of Sherman to make its application.

The schedule committee today decided to draw up two different sets of schedules, including basketball, baseball and track. One schedule, similar to the 14-game arrangement now being used in baseball, and to the one used during the past basketball season, will be drawn up to take care of an eight-member conference. Should no other institution come into the conference by the beginning of the 1926 schedules, a 21-game schedule would be used. Under the 21-game plan with seven conference members, each institution would have three games with every other team, one to be played at home, and two on foreign territory, or alternating as the case might be, the home and foreign games to be alternated the following year.

The GILDED ROSE

by May Christie

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

Rosilyn Page, the hard-worked daughter of a Long Island inn keeper, finds herself on his death, heiress of a huge fortune. She is deeply in love with

Landis Ridgeway, a charming young fellow in financial difficulties, who visits the inn regularly for 10 years, and was always kind to the lonely girl. His heart has been broken by the faithlessness of

Lydia Harbrook, beautiful and utterly heartless woman of the world who is planning to marry

Stevie VanVorst, a wealthy old roue, although she is fond of Landis.

Mrs. Florence Ridgeway, Landis' mother fearing poverty invites Rosilyn to visit her and her son, and induces Landis to marry Rosilyn, although he loathes himself for taking her advice. Immediately after the ceremony, Rosilyn overhears gossip in which she learns that Landis has married her for her money—she hears herself spoken of as a Gilded Rose. Heartbroken, she prepares to leave on her wedding journey.

Lydia Harbrook meanwhile is in Paris, revelling in a glorious spring day.

Toinette wheeled round, an odd look on her sallow face.

"Pardon me, madame, if I say you make an error. You are forgetting something greater, more important ..."

"And what is that?" Lydia withdrew her cigarette for a moment to stare at the speaker.

"Love. Romance. La grande passion," said Toinette, simply and sincerely, folding up a silken garment and putting it in the wardrobe.

The lady in the Louis XIV. bed flung back her shingled head and laughed.

"You sentimental child. It's only money makes these possible. To me, this city is a great lake fed by rivers of money flowing into it from every corner of the universe. It reeks of money—money to make women beautiful and 'chic'—money to set women on a throne of power—" her eyes dilated.

"Madam, you do not know the real Paris, only the Paris of the foreigner," rejoined Toinette, her young face serious. "I—a humble servant girl—tell you the truth when I say that we blue love far above riches—that although there is this seeming madness for pleasure in the big hotels, the restaurants and in Montamarto, we French deep down in our hearts are sad and anxious, and with reason. Under the surface now we are not gay. Tell me—" she stopped in her task of tidying up, for a moment, and looked searchingly at the lovely creature in the bed—"tell me, madame, if on your pleasure jaunts you have visited the grave of the Unknown Warrior in the Arc de Tromphe? The heart of France is there, and women who hide deep in their souls a wound that never can be healed—"

The beautiful Miss Lydia Harbrook shivered.

"Be silent, girl! You spoil everything for me when you talk like that. Every morning when I ride in the Avenue and the Bois, don't you know I have to pass your Arc de Triomphe? And that reminds me the Victome will be calling for me with the horses in half an hour, so—quick!—turn on my bath, and lay out the riding things, Toinette."

CHAPTER XIV.

Thoughts of Landis

The maid moved dexteriously about the apartment. Wherever she went, self-centered Lydia—who none the less had her own quota of that magic and commanding quality known as "charm"—obtained excellent service. At times absurdly generous, at other times abominably bad-tempered and capricious and exacting, she yet contrived, in her own selfish, headless way, to weave her spell over those who worked for her, so that they accorded her a measure of affection that—though oddly mixed with irritation and resentment—yet persisted.

"The Vicomte is in love with Madame," murmured Toinette, helping her mistress to dress. "He is so young and handsome—"

"And as poor as a church mouse," supplemented Lydia, laughing. "No, thanks, not for me, my child!" Of course I'd love to have the title—I'd make a charming Vicomtesse—but neither of us have a bean! Just the same, I love to tease that stuck-up old harridan of a mother of his, by cantering in the Bois on Sunday mornings with her darling son! She knows I haven't got a dowry, and she's terrified I'll grab him!"

Toinette sighed sympathetically.

"Here in France it is difficult to marry if one has no dowry. And the shortage of young men—" she flung her hands out in expressive gesture.

Lydia's lip curled. This worship of the male she could not understand.

"Oh, rubbish! I could have ten husbands tomorrow, if I wanted them."

"And the handsomest, and the one I'd choose if I were Madame," announced the French girl unexpectedly, "is the tall, dark young man from ing smile, who was here in Paris last summer, and always Madame's devoted cavalier! I cannot say the name right—it was Reedg—Reedge—"

"Landis Ridgeway," Lydia's face was suffused with sudden colour. "Yes, he's good looking. I grant you. But as hard up as I am myself. I'm not keen on bread and cheese and kisses. I prefer champagne and caviare." Her laugh rang out, but the sharp ears of Toinette caught the false note in that laughter.

The 'phone bell tinkled. The maid went to answer it. Her face changed, stiffened, as she listened. She listened. She turned towards her mistress.

"Mr. Van Vorst desires to speak with Madame."

Lydia made a little "moue" as she darted to the instrument. Tiresome that he had called up just now of all times! Such an enchanted Sunday morning of spring sunshine, and young leaves, and soft, balmy air! Youth! Romance! Happiness! They all called to her—.

And now Van Vorst was going to spoil it all!

But her voice was cooing as she murmured into the telephone:

"That you, dear? Isn't it wonderful to hear your voice! So sorry I've a tireome engagement for this morning, but I could lunch with you at the Ritz, or at Paillard's, at half past one. What's that? Longchamps this afternoon? Would suit me splendidly! I've no decent clothes to wear—but you won't mind? What's that? I always look lovely in any old rags? You gay deceiver! Little do you know—Oh, I'll come—but I haven't a bean to put on the horses! You'll see to that? How awfly kind of you! And we'll go to the Pre Catalan for tea? How charming! What's that you say? You've been taking dancing lessons, to be upsides with me? You gay creature! Then we ought to dine at the Cafe de Paris tonight, and you can practice the new steps! Yes, they cook frogs' legs better there than anywhere. I'll say au revoir now. Don't forget—the Ritz at half past one."

She replaced the receiver on its hook, turning to her maid. Her lovely face had a comical rueefulness upon it.

"Good Lord! Toinette, isn't it too awful? The man's been taking dancing lessons! Think of his tummy, and of his weight upon my toes!"

Toinette's lips were pursed into a disapproving line.

"His millions weigh still heavier," she said sententiously. "They will give Madame fortitude."

Lydia burst out laughing.

"Quite epigrammatic! Your head's screwed on all right, Toinette!" She caught up her riding crop and a pair of heavy gauntlet gloves. "I mustn't keep the Vicomet waiting. Don't forget to lay out the three-piece Premet model—the beige one with the cloak edged with sable. I'll be back to change at one o'clock. Have everything ready."

And away she went, immaculately smart in her riding clothes.

It was indeed a heavenly Sunday morning. As Lydia and her Vicomte rode up the Champs Elysees that was gay with gorgeous cars, and young, adorable green leaves and new spring clothes and sunshine, she forgot her youthful escort, and old Van Vorst, and her mind reverted uncontrollably to one Landis Ridgeway, who was far away, but—she was sure—definitely with her in spirit at this moment.

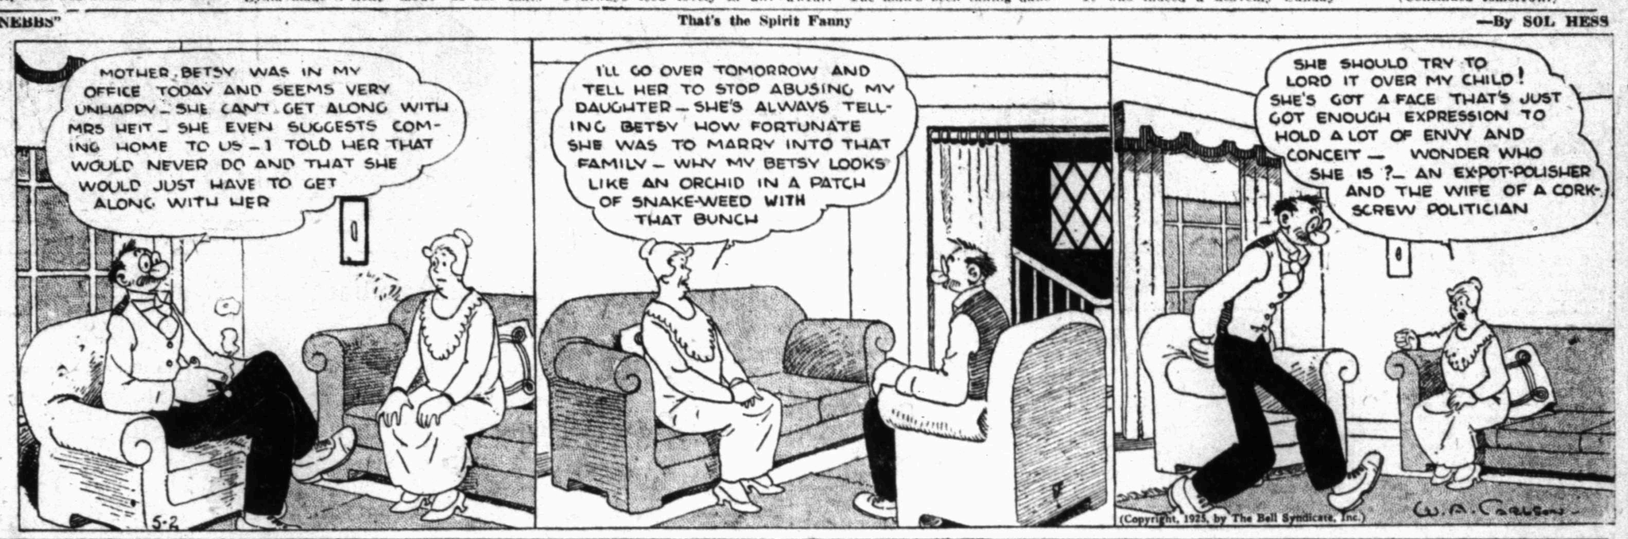

Dear, handsome Landis! She had been a beast to him these many, many times.

And he had loved her through it all.

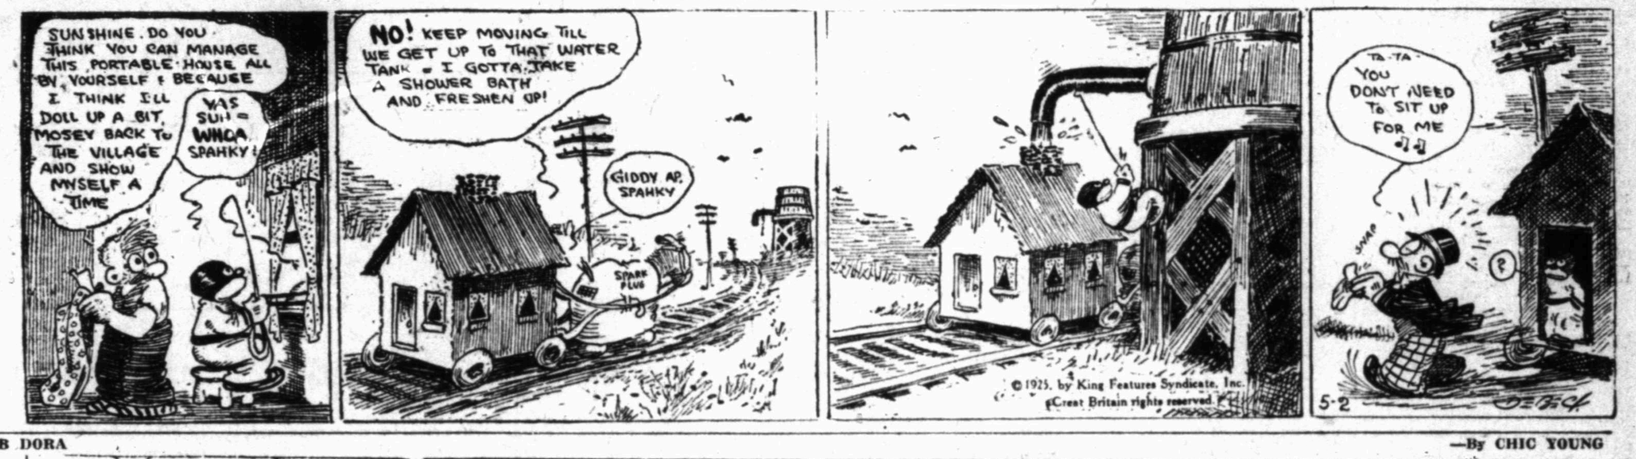

She had enjoyed their many "scenes" together. How he had wriggled on the hook in futile effort to escape her potent charm!

New York Reds Are Raided on May Day Only as Precaution

NEW YORK, May 1.—May day eve was marked here by police raids on ten meetings of communists, socialists and alleged anarchists, at which all the participants were driven into the street. Only two arrests were made during the day and those were young men handing out pamphlets of a reputedly inciting nature to school children.

Raid Workers Party.

The most important raid last night was at the Manhattan headquarters of the workers' party of America, where all members, including classes of the workers' league and the trade union educational league, were driven into the street. Desks were broken open and literature confiscated.

There was no violence in any of the raids. At the Bronx headquarters of the workers' party where police found three separate meetings being conducted in three separate languages, samples of litterature were taken and the names and addresses of leaders obtained after which the meetings were permitted to continue.

Other meetings, however, were broken up, the members being given their choice of quitting the hall or being thrown out. In every case they elected to quit the hall.

Foster Is Dethroned.

William Z. Foster, who was at the Manhattan headquarters of the workers' party when it was raided, demanded that the raiders show their search warrants for breaking into the meetings and their authority for ordering those present out into the street.

Foster said he would make formal complaint with Police Commissioner Enright.

Police today are guarding all public buildings and the homes of all noted men and public officials. All special squads are on duty.

Mexican Labor Show Power on May Day

MEXICO CITY, May 1.—(AP)—The May day demonstration of power by organized Mexican labor cast its shadow to such an extent that American Ambassador Sheffield late last night had not received the necessary permit for the operation of his automobile and announced that he and the other embassy officials would walk from their homes to the embassy building.

ROME QUIET AS TROOPS PATROL THE STREETS.

ROME, May 1.—May day was reported to be tranquil throughout Italy as a result of mobilization of police and fascist militia in all large cities and thorough precaution by the authorities everywhere to prevent possible attempts at violence.

NO TAXI SEEN IN PARIS ON MAY DAY

PARIS, May 1.—Paris wore its customary aspect this May day morning except that there were no taxicabs on the streets, due to the drivers' 24-hour abstention from labor.

Forty Cars to Carry Henrietta Delegates To C.-C. Convention

HENRIETTA, May 1.—Forty cars will assemble at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning and carry the Henrietta delegation to the West Texas chamber of commerce convention at Mineral Wells. Brad Staggs, chairman of the local arrangements committee, said Friday. There will be at least 75 in the party, is expected.

The 80-mile trip will be made in hours. Honorees chosen to represent this city in the pageant and other social events are Mrs. Lauren Hapgood, who will be "Madam Henrietta" and Miss Dorothy Bear, who will be "Miss Henrietta".

The delegation from Ringgold will join the Henrietta party here for the trip and possibly the Bellevue crowd.

RAIN BEATS RAINMAKER.

He Loses His Chance at $8,000 as Water Comes too Soon.

NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—Charles M. Hatfield of Los Angeles, widely acclaimed as a rainmaker, who has been here several days awaiting a decision on his offer to local agricultural interests to produce two inches of rain within thirty days for a consideration believed to be $8,000, today prepared to return to his home after a committee of sugar and cotton planters yesterday rejected his proposal. Rain was falling as the decision was announced.

Much Texas Grain Is Ruined From Drouth Is Official Report

HOUSTON, May 1.—Much of the Texas winter wheat, fall sown oats, and barley crops are beyond hope of the drouth, H. S. Schultz government statistician here reported today, following state-wide inquiries. More than four-fifth of the state was in the throes of the severest and longest drouth in recent years when the scattered rains came.

"Some of the spring oats can still be saved, by rainfall", he said. "Corn planting has been greatly delayed and much of the early planted is suffering. Usually most of the cotton has been planted by this time, but outside of favored sections in the south, southeast, east and northeast, very little has been planted. A normal survival of weevil is reported. There is still ample time for planting feed crops. Potatoes and fruit need relief from the abnormally high winds and temperature.

Cattle are generally in poor to fair condition and are still being fed where grass and weeds are lacking. In much of the western part of the state, there is hardly enough grass to make a bird nest. The lamb and kid crops were good but large numbers have been lost through the drouth. Goats and sheep are shearing lighter than last year.

AUSTIN, May 1.—Miss Elizabeth Eby, University of Texas student, daughter of Dr. Frederick Eby, University instructor, was declared not guilty on a chage of speeding when she faced trial by a jury in police court here this morning.

The case grew out of a collision April 24, when a car driven by Miss Eby collided with another, injuring Miss Eleanor Pantermuehle of Dallas and Miss Agnes Aubrey Nichols, and wrecking the car they were driving.

War Imposter Case Is Brought to Trial

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 1.—Fifty government witnesses coming from all parts of the United States and as far as the Philippine Islands were summoned today to appear in federal district court here Monday, May 11, for the trial of the Frazier-Lopez identification case.

The suit was instituted in an attempt to prove that the man whom the government contends is Arthur Lopez, a Mexican, is actually Arthur Frazier, an Indian veteran of the world war, who lost his identity as a result of shell shock. The war department lists Frazier as killed in France and charges that the claimant is an imposter seeking to collect total disability compensation illegally.

"Life Is Good and Kind," Says Superior Judge On Return From Life of Hobo

OAKLAND, Cal., May 1.—Superior Judge Daniel Kinsell, 51 years young, former member of the Alameda county superior court bench, returned to his home here yesterday with highway-hardened feet and a new perspective on life as what he describes as being a casual hike to St. Augustine, Fla., and return, a distance of 4,000 miles.

Judge Kinsell resigned from the bench several months ago after complaining of the stuffiness of the court room. Two months ago, he expressed a desire to "hike about." Attired in rough clothing he took to the road.

From that time on he became a wayfarer. He had many adventures, several of them when his widely respected conducting of jurisprudence stood him in good stead. He reached St. Augustine and then started back here.

Judge Kinsell said he had learned many things on his jaunt, during which he shared his blankets and food with fellow wayfarers.

"I learned that the world is good and that the people in it are good", he said. "Life is good, life is kindly; life is true".

However, he did not walk the entire distance. When the going became hard he admits he "bummed a lift" from an autoist when he was able to establish that he was not a road bandit.

Irwin Claims Man Just Pardoned One Who Assaulted Him

DALLAS, May 1.—Representative T. K. Irwin declared here today that he had concluded, from evidence gathered, that a convict, who was granted a pardon yesterday by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, was the person who had made an assault on him at Austin during the legislature. Irwin was struck in the head by a brick as he crossed an alley to his hotel.

"There is absolutely no question in my mind but that the assault made on me at Austin was made by that man," said Mr. Irwin. "There have been many officers working on this case at Austin, Houston, Huntsville and Dallas, and all the officers are of the same conclusion that the convict made the assault."

He declared it his belief that the convict had been permitted to go to Austin from Huntsville prison to make the assault.

Mr. Irwin said he had given his evidence to the governor's office and had asked that the man be denied a pardon.

"I am sure," he said, "that he went from Huntsville to Austin to make the assault on me. I think we are going to prove beyond a doubt that he was in Austin and participated in the assault with others.

"His record in prison is unequalled, I believe, in the criminal records of the penitentiary. He has been charged and punished for almost every known crime while in the penitentiary, ranging from drunkenness to killing a fellow prisoner."

Bashful Boys and Girl Leave May-Day Basket at White House Door

WASHINGTON, May 1. — Two bashful boys and a little girl slipped into the white house grounds today, placed a May Day basket of flowers and candy at the front door of Mrs. Coolidge, then scampered away to hide behind pillars of the portico.

A moment later the wife of the president came out, threw up her hands in surprise and asked:

"Who left this beautiful basket"?

The giggling of the children betrayed them and Mrs. Coolidge took each one in her arms to kiss them and thanked them for their gift.

Prominent Pioneer Of San Antonio Dies

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 1.—J. L. Kerr, prominent pioneer of this city, died at his home in a fashionable suburb here today.

Cause of death is unknown, except that two physicians, hurriedly summoned to the home, later were in communication with the coroner. Neither the physicians nor the coroner could be located and undertaking establishment, having the body in charge, refused to talk concerning Mr. Kerr's death.

Mr. Kerr was 63 years old and had been in ill health for six months.

Washington U. Has A Murder Mystery In Athlete's Killing

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—Dr. William A. Dillon, 46, former St. Louis university and Washington university athlete of note, who had had a checkered professional and personal career, was shot and instantly killed early today. His body was found on a cinder track at Francis Field, Washington university.

A bullet from a .38 calibre revolver had entered his neck below the right ear and had penetrated his brain. There also was a wound in his left knee. Officers said this wound and the absence of a weapon near the body pointed to murder rather than suicide.

No one was found who had heard shots or had seen any encounter in the vicinity. The circumstances left it in doubt whether the shooting occurred at the spot or elsewhere.

A prominent football player in his school days in the two local universities, Dr. Dillon had kept up a physical culture system and was accustomed to taking long early morning walks which frequently took him past the Washington university campus. His wife divorced him two years ago.

Fort Sill Has Big Fire Loss Thursday

FORT SILL, Okla., May 1.—More than $100,000 damage was sustained at the United States army post here last night in a fire that destroyed two quartermaster warehouses and their contents. The cause of the blaze has not been learned. Sparks several times set fire to enlisted men's quarters and efforts to prevent the conflagration from spreading extended throughout the night. The warehouses were frame buildings.

Dead Girl Sought Bright Lights, Claim

GARY, Ind., May 1. — An early marriage that became unhappy and finally was wrecked with an attempt on her life by her husband, desertion of her three babies and a brief splurge in the night life of Gary and Chicago was the life history of 21-year-old Mrs. Josephine Desidario, whose partly cremated body was found along side a country road near here. The girl was identified today in a morgue at Chesterton, Ind.

With identification regarded as conclusive by all the Lake and Porter county officials search was begun for the man or men responsible.

Louis Desidario, the husband, at large on $10,000 bail after he fired two bullets at the young woman, and two men who were in an automobile with Mrs. Desidario and another girl the last time she was seen are sought.

Sam Ross of Gary, through whom first identification of the body was made, was held as a material witness.

MARKETS

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, May 1. — Stock prices showed more strength today than they had at any other time for the past two weeks. Revival of speculatvie activity in the railroad shares was the feature of the day's trading, which showed a marked expansion in volume. A few weak spots cropped out here and there, but they failed to halt the upward trend in other parts of the list, net gains of 1 to 3½ points being quite common at the close.

The announcement that the Delaware and Hudson had leased the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh for a long term of years stimulated the buying of the rails. Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh which soared 37 points to 85 yesterday moved up to 90 today and then fell back to 86⅛. Delaware and Hudson closed a point higher at 150¾. New peak prices for the year were attained by Norfolk and Southern. The control of which has passed from Marsden Perry to Ernest Williams, who will succeed him as chairman; Gulf, Mobile and Northern and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico.

Southern Railway duplicated its high of 93½ and then sagged back to 92¼ for a loss of ⅜ on the day. Atlantic Coast Line jumped 3½ points to 160½. Other strong spots in the railroad group were Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago and Northwestern, Ann Arbor preferred, Chicago and Alton, Chicago Great Western preferred, Lackawanna, Kansas City Southern, "Katy" preferred, Norfolk and Western, New York, Ontario and Western, Northern Pacific, Frisco common, St. Louis-Southwestern, Texas and Pacific and Western Pacific, all of which closed 1 to 2½ points higher.

Trade news was rather colorless. The weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularity, although Bradstreet's stated that "a slightly more cheerful note is sounded in the business situation this week."

American Can led the advance in the standard industrials by climbing 5 points to 176¾, closing half a point from the top, Baldwin, Studebaker and United States Steel improved fractionally, United States Industrial Alcohol common and preferred, Maxwell B certificates, Coca Cola, Glidden company and American Ice, all moved up to new high levels.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and then dropped to 3½. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates displayed a firm tone. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 ¼ and French francs at 5.23½ cents. The Norwegian and Danish currencies established new high records for the year at 16.61, and 18.71 respectively.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 1.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"No other economic event of the week has compared in interest and significance with the return of Great Britain to a gold basis. This action, which had been foreshadowed by the recent close approach of sterling exchange to parity marks further progress toward normal conditions in international commerce and its effect on American export trade should be constructive. Strictly domestic consumption of goods large though it has been, has not kept pace with production in numerous industries and this has forced readjustments from the high rate of manufacture reached on the expansion which followed the national election last November. Such a phase appears in iron and steel, copper and certain textiles, among other commodities, and for 14 consecutive weeks declines have predominated in Dun's list of wholesale quotations.

Weekly bank clearings $7,965,818,000.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—The cotton market was comparatively dull today and prices fluctuated for the most part within a very narrow range, although the general trend was upward. The sustaining influences were the cold wave and the rather liberal mill takings for the week. While the cold weather which did not produce any very serious frost anywhere in the belt will probably be a passing influence, the influence that the mills of the world still are taking cotton in liberal quantities was considered by traders as a more substantial constructive influence. The market opened little changed and eased off 3 to 4 points right after the call on the indifferent Liverpool cables to 23.43 for October and 24.16 for July which proved to be the day's low.

The market soon rallied on a sharp upturn in Liverpool and large spot sales there, 10,000 bales. After scoring a gain of 17 to 20 points the market became very quiet and reacted slightly but rallied again around mid-session when Secretary Hester announced mill takings for the week to have been 249,000 bales against 188,000 last yar. This bulge carried July up to 24.41 and October to 23.68, or 25 points up on both positions from the early lows and 21 to 22 points net higher compared with the previous close. Prices eased off in the afternoon and the close showed net gains of the day of 10 to 11 points. Although the weather was cold all over the cotton belt and considerable frost occurred in the most northerly portion, it was for the most part light and not expected to work much injury if warmer weather follows immediately as looks probable.

Exports for the week of 83,405 bales compared with 125,934 for the corresponding week last yera. This is the first week in a long while that exports have fallen behind last year.

Exports today, 8,313 bales.

DALLAS SPOT COTTON

DALLAS, May 1.—Spots steady, 5 points higher; sales, 574 bales. Middling fair, 26.85; strict good middling, 25.20; good middling, 25.08; strict middling, 24.83; middling, 24.45; strict low middling, 23.82; low middling, 22.85; strict good ordinary, 21.70; good ordinary, 20.65.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, May 1.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The wool market has been depressed still further this week. The Australian selling policy evidently has done more to de-stabilize the market than its sponsors dreamed possible. Certainly the effect has been deplorable. The result probably will be a curtailment of the London colonial series commencing Tuesday and possibly a curtailment of restrictive selling policy again in Australia for they have not been able to sell more wool there at the lower prices than before.

Sales during the week, both here and abroad, have been brought about largely through necessity or expediency. Few prices have been made anywhere on the merits of the wool. Quotations are extremely difficult.

Mohair is slow. The Kerrville accumulation is reported sold at 55 and 70 cents, respectively, for grown and kid hair. Quotations:

Scoured basis, Texas fine 12 months (selected), $1.25; fine 8 months, $1.12@1.15. Mohair, best combing, 20@85c; best carding, 70@75c.

LOSES RAW CABBAGE BET

Breckenridge C-C Member Forced to Eat Raw Head For Bad Bet

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, May 1. A head of raw cabbage was the reward of a member of the Breckenridge chamber of commerce for a bad guess in a campaign for selling fair stock, and he had to eat it. The member said he would eat a raw cabbage if a certain citizen bought fair stock. The citizen did. Whereupon a committee of the chamber, composed of W. H. Harrisson, George Bingham, Charles Brown, and Curtis Hancock waited on their fellow member with the cabbage and compelled him to eat it publicly.

Rebuke and Praise For Parking Laws In Wichita Falls

"One hour parking is ruining Wichita Falls as a trade center, as the farmers are going to other towns rather than come to this city and pay fines for overtime parking," was the manner in which Walter S. Curlee summed up his short talk before the business council of the chamber of commerce at its regular meeting yesterday noon.

Mr. Curlee produced a map of the business section, showing that over 3,000 feet of parking space was reserved by order of the police department. This, he declared, tended to hurt the merchants more than perhaps anything else. He explained his statement by showing that it was impossible for the average women to complete a day's shopping in one hour's time, and due to the parking congestion caused by the reservations for merchants' trucks made it so inconvenient for them that they were patronizing the neighborhood stores in preference to coming downtown.

Claude Miller followed Mr. Curlee and seconded the statements of the first speaker.

The other side of the question was set forth by Fred Couper and Police Commissioner Frank Quiesser, both of whom stressed the opinion that one hour parking kept the traffic moving and prevented the use of streets by garages as parking places.

City Recorder J. S. Whitelaw stated that contrary to general belief, farmers and visitors in Wichita Falls were always released when they committed some traffic violation.

At the conclusion of the talks the council appointed a special committee to meet with the city council next Monday night. At that time the present traffic laws will be discussed and a resolution commending the police department for their courteous manner of enforcing the traffic laws will be read.

Burton Stayton reported that 122 tickets had already been sold for the Mineral Wells special train.

An effort was made to speed up the proposed paving of Holliday street to the city park, as the city agreed to do last year when Fred Weeks donated the site for the park to the city. Due to difficulties that have arisen, W. B. Hamilton announced that Mr. Weeks had agreed to deed the Muncipal Golf club land to the city as soon as the road was paved through the park, instead of holding Wichita Falls to its contract to pave the road through to the lake road pavement.

USE DISHES IN BATTLE.

Robbers Fire Pistols and Get $3,000 But Are Driven Off.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Using chairs, dishes and silverware as weapons, 75 men patrons in the Cafe de l'Europe, in Second avenue, today routed five armed robbers who fired six shots and then fled. They left four injured victims in their wake in fighting their way to freedom with blackjacks and revolver butts.

The robbers escaped with money and jewelry estimated to total $3,000. Police believe the holdup men escaped by running to the East River and boarding a launch awaiting them.

Led by a tall man with two revolvers, the robbers attacked a lone patron in an anteroom through which they entered the cafe. After knocking him to the floor with a blackjack the robbers took $7 from his pockets. Then they went to the other room, where 75 patrons were sitting.

All were lined up against the walls at revolver points.

Adolph Silverstein, 60, objected to being searched and was knocked to the floor with a revolver. Scrambling to his feet, Silverstein made an outcry, but collapsed to the floor just as a bullet whizzed into the wall. Stirred into action by the shot, the 74 other men attacked the robbers.

The robbers backed out of the room, beating off their assailants and firing five more shots before making their escape.

WILLS WINES TO CHURCHES.

Man Leaves Letter Directing Distribution of Pre-Prohibition Stock.

NEW YORK, May 1.—His stock of wines and liquors, "bought before the present prohibition law for medicinal purposes," is bequeathed to hospitals and Protestant churches, and scholarship trust funds are provided for two southern negro schools by the will of Charles William Troughton, filed today.

A letter to the executors accompanying the will directs how the liquors are to be distributed. No valuation of the estate is given except "more than $10,000."

NEW YORK, May 2.—It was reported today that the Hippodrome had changed hands and that a large financial institution had taken over the property to erect a bank and office building on the site.

H. S. Black, chairman of the board of the United States Realty and Improvement company, owners of the property, said the lease held by the Keith interests still had a year to run. He refused to comment on the report of the sale.

Folk Dances of Ireland, Scotland and Wales Need Strength To Be a Success

By GLORIA GOULD BISHOP

The folk dances of Ireland, Scotland and Wales are interesting, as they require great muscular agility and skill. The sword dance and the highland fling are the two better known dances of Scotand.

The sword dance is not usually taught in dancing classes but Miss Barker and I were fairly successful in teaching this Scotch dance to several of our boy pupils. The boys stand opposite one another with the two swords crossed on the floor. They then dance around them in a slow dignified way. The step used here is a step, point, first with the right foot and then with the left.

The dances must be very dexterous and must not touch the swords with their feet. If either of the dancers touches the swords with his feet, he is eliminated from the dancing.

Boys usually love this dance because it gives them a chance to make believe that they are playing with swords. I sometimes think that the children's game of hopscotch comes from this dance, for you will recall that in this game the children draw chalk lines somewhat in the same positions as the swords.

In the highland fling, there are two essential steps that must be learned before one can become proficient at this type of dancing. The first is the kicking step, then the Schottische militaire, which consists of petit et grand battement (pointing the toe and kicking the leg out straight to the front.)

The Scotch reel is performed by 20 or more couples. The objective of this dance is to trace a perfect figure 8.

Everyone who knows anything about Ireland, will recall that the Irish jig, the hornpipe, and the reel comprise the dances of Ireland. The hornpipe is not to be confused with the Sailor's hornpipe of England.

Great agility is also needed in the dances of Ireland, but the essential thing is the rhythm of the music. It may be said that Irish dances are practically identical with clog dances.

Tomorrow I will tell you about Spanish folk dancing and give you some fundamental steps used in both of the folk dances originating in Spain.

Willing To Be Hubbies At $200 Per

For $200, it was said, a woman of foreign birth could obtain the services of one of the men as a husband, who being a native of the United States, could procure a passport for her entrance into the country.

The alleged temporary wives of Maccias included an Italian woman and a Spanish woman, while those of Thompson were said to have included a Costa Rican for whose trans-Texas, and two other women in New Orleans.

$535,372,872 Lost By Fires in 1923, U. S. Experts Find

If five hundred and twenty-three millions of dollars were loaded onto a barge, towed out into the ocean and dumped overboard at a depth of one hundred fathoms, the loss would not be so great as that caused by fire in the United States during 1923, because only the actual money would be destroyed, and the many other losses which follow in the wake of fire would be avoided.

Fire insurance covers only the actual property destroyed and takes no account of the often greater losses, such as loss of sales, impairment of credit, loss of time, loss of employment. Fire sometimes wipes an entire business out of existence, even though it may have been insured.

The staggering fire loss of over five hundred millions yearly enters into the cost of everything we eat or wear or enjoy. Those who suffer no losses by fire have to pay for the losses of those who do.

In their studies of the causes of fires and the best means for preventing them, experts have found that what is known as the "exposure hazard" is of great importance. In practically every large conflagration the fire has been communicated from room to room, from floor to floor and from building to building, through unprotected openings in walls and partitions. And probably there is no single agency of greater value in checking the spread of fire than fire doors of sheet steel.

"Take Your Time," Is To Be Watchword In Hindy's Baliwick

BERLIN May 1.—(AP)—When the new master enters Germany's "white house" on the Wilhelm-strasse the executive staff there will have to learn that one of the chief peculiarities of Von Hindenburg is his aversion to hurry, butsle and fluster. Everybody in his presence must move calmly and deliberately. Even in the most exciting moments of the world war the field marshal insisted on calmness and poise.

One of his political followers, Lieutenant Colonel VonFeldman, recently told a story of an adjutant at the great army headquarters who, during the closing days of the world war, came rushing into Von Hindenburg's presence with what he considered an important communication.

"Slowly, slowly, young man. Keep your shirt on. I know of no news important enough to demand haste," admonished the field marshal, cutting short the intruder.

The new president's staff will have to learn further that Von Hindenburg insists upon giving a personal touch to communications submitted for his signature. It is known that he often recast messages at army headquarters if the communications were in a stilled formal style.

Boy, 18, Dives Sixty Feet To Save Despondent Girl, 17, Falls In Love, Married

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 1.—A dive, a rescue, then romance. This is the story of the engagement of William Price, whom everybody but his mother calls "Bill" and Ada Scott.

Ada, 17, leaped off a bridge into the Kaw river in a fit of despondency. Bill, 18, passerby, leaped 60 feet after her and succeeded in getting her ashore.

The next day they became engaged.

Ada fell into love; Bill leaped into it.

"I wouldn't have leaped off the bridge in a thousand years if I had known Bill," says Ada, who has forgotten the other fellow.

Fire Department Too Late.

Bill says he was glad he had sense enough to jump into the river after her in time to make the rescue.

And, Mrs. Piersee, the only mother Ada has, pats Bill's broad shoulders and calls him a "mighty brave boy."

Nearly everybody says Bill had more than his share of nerve, to say nothing of the chivalry of the knights of old.

Bill knew nothing of the river beneath the bridge. He didn't know whether the water was three or thirty feet deep. He risked his life in the 60-foot dive.

Again, Bill didn't know whether he could swim that 100-yard stretch to shore with Ada clinging to him like the proverbial drowning man to a straw.

But Ada, by the time her rescuer had reached her, had determined to live rather than drown. So she helped Bill all she could, and together they reached shore about the time the Kansas City fire department arrived to do the rescue act.

Ada is Orphan.

Ada is an orphan. She has lived in Kansas City, Kan., with Mrs. Piersee for 18 months.

Her attempt to kill herself followed a quarrel with her fiance—now former fiance, Harry Morgan.

Despite the quarrel, Ada expected Morgan to call. When he did not arrive at the schedule time Ada went away. She walked eight blocks to the river, hung her coat on the railing and leaped in.

Just about that time Pierce, driving his Ford roadster with his sister, Mrs. Nellie Neslerode, with whom he lives, and his sister's friend, Miss Ida Conley, crossed the bridge.

He saw the coat. A woman with a baby in her arms told him a girl had leaped into the river. Without hesitation he took off his shoes and dived into the river.

Someone called the fire department, but Ada was safe before they arrived.

Safe because Bill acted without regard for his own safety.

Some of the blase members of society might say Bill was foolish to risk his life so recklessly.

But you can't make Bill believe that—now.

STOKEHOLERS APPEAL PAY.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The engine room today lifted its voice against the officers' cabin. Contending that the officers were getting too much more pay than the men in the stokehole, 104 ferry boat engineers of San Francisco arose, not in mutiny, but in appeal to the United States railroad labor board. Three roads, the Santa Fe Coast lines, the Western Pacific and the Southern Pacific, were respondents.
