Governor Sounds Call For Third Special Session To Convene At 10 A. M.

MONEY BILLS SOAR TOO HIGH TO PLEASE DAN

Executive Promises Veto if Appropriations Total Over $50,000,000

CONFERENCES HELD

Both Houses Adopt Bill Calling for 16 Millions For Education

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Governor Moody late tonight called the 41st legislature to meet in third called session tomorrow at 10 a. m.

In issuing his massage to both houses advising his decision to bring the legislature back, the governor quoted figures to show that the appropriations voted were in excess of the revenues.

"The duty to keep the expenses within the revenue of the state government is a mutual one; it rests upon the legislature and it rests upon the governor," he said in his message. "The duty to keep state expenses within proper limits is likewise mutual between us. I consider it my duty to veto the major appropriation bills if not all appropriation bills now before me. I shall veto the major appropriation bills, and it is my purpose to issue a proclamation tonight convening the legislature in special session for tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock."

Education Bill Adopted

The governor decided to call the extraordinary session a few minutes after both houses had adopted the conference report recommending adoption of the $16,496,545 compromise education appropriation bill.

The appropriation bill brought the total of major appropriations to $50,176,971. The governor announced earlier that at a special meeting of the state automatic tax board today it was ascertained that the available revenue under a 35-cent ad valorem tax levy would not exceed $49,000,000.

The governor stated that appropriations of the second called session aggregated $52,549,303. In addition the regular and first called sessions appropriated $2,349,884, he said.

He declared that this legislature had appropriated in regular and the two called sessions $54,899,187.

"So far as I am informed, this exceeds by several million dollars the appropriation of any legislature in the past history of this state," the governor said.

Figures Vary

"Varying figures have been offered as to the possible income to the general revenue fund of the state for the ensuing biennium. I know of but one way to figure this and that is after the formula prescribed by the statutes. When the income from sources other than ad valorem taxes as are reasonable, the maximum rate of taxation allowed under the constitution would yield approximately $49,000,000 and

Injuries Prove Fatal to Actress

LOS ANGELES, July 2. (AP)—Gladys Brockwell, motion picture actress, died tonight of injuries received in an automobile accident Thursday. Her physician, Dr. Norman P. Sprague, said death was due to peritonitis which developed as the result of internal injuries.

Senate Approves New Board of Education

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—The senate late today passed finally an amended bill creating the nine-member state board of education authorized last fall by constitutional amendment. The vote was 18-2.

Marjorie "Returns To Earth" To Close 1,760-Mile Air Vacation At Home Port

5 Days of Joyful "Sky Riding" Cost Wichita Girl $161

By MARJORIE MATHIS
The Record News Staff

Ah well, I suppose I'll have to be content to be on the ground looking up for awhile, having rounded off a neat 1,760 miles in the air when we circled down into Kell field Tuesday afternoon. I might feel like Washington writing his farewell address, except that it's more like Schumann-Heink and her tours of adieu. There remains the thought that there's plenty more air where that came from just waiting to be sliced into by an energetic propeller. I'm afraid its getting to be a habit.

We tapered off with just 330 miles on the last of the five day vacation, with a spicy little peppering of rain to give the whole a proper zest. The last of the rain that covered all this section Monday night lingered just outside of Fort Worth when we took off this morning. The ship and the pilot (my esteemed Captain Norton of the up-turned nose again) gallantly ignored the temperament of the skies, but I stuck an experimental hand out of the window. Stinging needles which were wind-swept rain drops led me to withdraw it again with alacrity. We flew low to avoid clouds which were heavy and dark this time, with occasional murky wisps slipping past beneath us, and now and then a thin vapor enshrouding the Miss Fort Worth herself. Past us like an overgrown bird flew the air mail, following yellow beacons into Meacham field. That was the only traffic congestion I noted on the entire trip.

Headwinds that slowed up everything in the air except the clouds themselves kept the Miss Fort Worth a trifle behind her schedule and it was almost 11 when we sighted Oklahoma City, having taken off at Fort Worth, 210 air miles away, at 9 o'clock.

The landing field at Oklahoma City was wet and all windows were closed to keep out the mud flung backwards by the wheels of the landing gear. Captain Norton considerately drew up immediately beside a graveled walkway and the travelers' shoes were saved.

Lawson Aboard Wichita Plane

The incoming S. A. F. E. ship from Wichita Falls followed us into the field, and T. H. Lawson, Continental Oil company official, emerged from her cabin. He was on his way to the Pecos section, he explained, and had made the first lap of his journey in the "only way to travel between Wichita

Applications for 100 Gin Permits Dismissed

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (UP)—The corporation commission today dismissed applications for 100 cooperative gin permits.

The commission's action was a matter of form as the legislature passed a law taking away from the commission authority to regulate cooperative gins and the federal court recently enjoined the commission from issuing permits, holding the law giving them that authority unconstitutional.

Southern Star Lands Safely in Canal Zone

COLON, Panama Canal Zone, July 2. (AP)—The airplane Southern Star of the American International Airways, on a pathfinding flight to Chile with a crew of six including Captain Montgomery, arrived at France field at 1:55 this afternoon from Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua. The fliers had left Tampa, Fla., June 20. Their first port of call was Tela, Honduras.

Boy Who Imported Fruit Flies Sentenced

LOS ANGELES, July 2. (US)—For bringing two papayas and 24 mangoes impregnated with larvae of the devastating Mediterranean fruit fly here from Hawaii aboard the liner Calawa despite his knowledge of the national law against it, Messboy Robert Matoba was sentenced today by Federal Judge James to serve three months in the county jail.

THREE BURNED SERIOUSLY IN FIRE AT HOME

Members of Oklahoma Family Injured in Blaze After Oil Blast

FIRE KILLS WOMAN

Hotel Destroyed at Corsicana; Guest and Fireman Hurt

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 2. (AP)—Three persons were burned severely and one probably fatally in a fire which destroyed the farm house of Jim Poorhorse, northwest of Marland today.

All of the injured, members of the Poorhorse family, were rushed to a Ponca City hospital where little hope was held for the recovery of Winifred, five-year-old girl. Other members of the family were Jim Poorhorse, the father; Ella, the mother, and Floyd, three-year-old son.

The blaze occurred when the mother attempted to start a fire in the kitchen stove with kerosene. The oil exploded.

STOVE EXPLOSION TAKES WOMAN'S LIFE

STRAWBERRY, Ark., July 2. (AP)—Mrs. Burley Morgan, 30, was burned to death and the business district of Strawberry was virtually wiped out by fire which originated from an explosion of an oil stove in the Morgan residence late Monday. The Strawberry postoffice was among the buildings destroyed.

WOMAN INJURED IN CORSICANA BLAZE

CORSICANA, Texas, July 2. (UP)—Fire originating on the third floor of the Rosenberg hotel here today caused damage estimated at more than $100,000. One woman was injured and a volunteer fireman was overcome by smoke.

Early reports that three children were burned to death were denied by Mrs. E. V. Morris, proprietress of the hotel, after a checkup had been made. Only five persons were in the hotel when the fire broke out, she said, and all were saved.

Mrs. Nell Ehrhardt, Fort Worth, received severe burns when she refused to jump to the ground from a third story window. She fainted before firemen reached her with ladders.

Cecil Adams, volunteer fireman, was the smoke victim.

The walls of the brick building caved in, completely ruining the stocks of the Ben Rosenberg Implement company, R. E. Cox dry goods store and the Lee drug store, which occupied the ground floor of the building.

SECOND BLAST IN OIL REFINERY

GOOSE CREEK, Texas, July 2. (UP)—Threatening to add to the death list which had already grown to two, the second explosion in two days rocked the Humble refinery at Baytown today, injuring one man.

Red Shirley, 34, was badly burned in the explosion today, and hospital attendants tonight feared he might die. He was leaning over some connecting pipes of a still when a flash of flame shot out, enveloping him.

Victims of Monday's blast, killed when the adjoining still exploded, were V. C. Decker, 40, of Pelly, and J. P. Owens, 38, of Goose Creek. They were burned to death on the first day of what the Humble officials had intended for a "no accident" month.

S. Champagne, of Pelly, also hurt in the blast yesterday, was in a critical condition today and physicians at Baytown hospital feared he might be the third fatality of the explosion.

Two Tankers Standing By Grounded Ship

SAN PEDRO, Calif., July 2. (UP)—With two tankers standing by, the lumber ship Anne Hanify was aground on a reef at Point Honda tonight. According to a message sent to the marine exchange here by Captain Zabert of the Anne Hanify, the ship was in no immediate danger. The two vessels which answered calls of the stricken ship and steamed to Point Honda were the tankers Los Alamos and F. H. Buck.

Even Stoical Britons Show Their Emotions When Rescued Men Land

GIBRALTAR, July 2. (US)—The seething volcano of emotion that has been Spain ever since the nation's heroic airmen vanished into the vastness of the Atlantic, today burst into flames of enthusiasm, hailing the heroes returned from the dead.

It is beyond human facilities of expression—words, music, pictures—to exaggerate the emotional atmosphere pervading all Spain. The very air is afire. The words "Los Aviadores" are on every lip in cafes, streets, homes, motors, trains and trams. The Spaniard in the bank and the Spaniard in the olive groves alike have a single interest—"Los Aviadores."

Anglo-Saxons Moved

Even here on this massive rock, which is the stalwart outpost of the British empire, the intensity of the Castilian enthusiasm has penetrated even the unemotionalism so typical of the Anglo-Saxon.

It was to this British garrison that more than 5,000 excited Spaniards rode, walked or flew this morning to welcome the rescued

He declined to talk to newspaper men over the telephone to amplify the story he told the police of Nutley to the effect that he had been kidnaped and held captive by two men, finally effecting his escape by means of a ruse.

VERNON CRASH KILLS WOMAN

Body of Mrs. Betty Graves Forwarded to Hillsboro

Special to The Record News

VERNON, Texas, July 2.—The body of Mrs. Betty Graves, 60, killed near here in an automobile accident last night, was forwarded to the family home in Hillsboro, Texas, tonight. Her husband, T. H. Graves, arrived here today.

Six other persons in the car were injured when D. B. Lewallen, Oklaunion, drove the automobile into that of Dr. J. E. Michie, Childress, which was parked on a highway five miles east of here. He was blinded by lights of an approaching car, he said.

The injured were Marjorie Lewallen, daughter of Mrs. B. D. Lewallen; Dudley Graves, Mrs. Josie Veal and her son, Billy Jim Veal, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewallen, who received slight bruises.

Mrs. Graves died in a Vernon hospital shortly after the crash. She had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lewallen, at Oklaunion.

French Evacuation Of Rhine Is Denied

PARIS, July 2. (UP)—The French war ministry today denied reports published in a Cologne newspaper that the French have started evacuation of troops from the second occupied zone of the Rhine valley.

The ministry said, however, that troop movements were under way, but insisted that the movements are part of a prepared program whereby new regiments will replace old ones with a slight reduction in total effectives.

18 Hurt When Train Quits Rails in Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 2. (INS)—Eighteen persons hurt when Rock Island passenger train No. 13 left the rails near Hets, Iowa, reached here early today for treatment. According to railway officials here nine of the ten cars in the train went off the track, but no one was seriously injured. The wreck was caused, it was stated, by a loose wheel on a forward baggage car.

Tulsan Held in Plot To Kidnap Youngster

WICHITA, Kan., July 2. (AP)—Charles D. Black, 35, of Tulsa, was held here today for extradition to Oklahoma on charges of kidnaping 10-year-old Orville Hogan from his home in Ponca City June 20. Black and the boy were located at Peabody, Kan., yesterday by Sam Tulk, former Ponca City police chief. The man is alleged to have enticed Orville from home with the promise of a job distributing handbills.

Men, Women and Girls Battle To Hear Hardinge Tell His Tale

CHICAGO, July 2. (UP)—Attracted by the spicy testimony in Ann Livingston's $250,000 breach of promise suit, scores of men, women and girls battled with bailiffs to gain entrance into the courtroom today where Franklin S. Hardinge, millionaire defendant, described how the "poor working girl" had made a "fool" out of him.

A girl fainted, a man and another girl were injured slightly, women screamed and the trial was held up for 40 minutes, during the struggle outside Judge Charles H. Miller's courtroom.

So great was the crowds and confusion it was only with considerable difficulty that bailiffs were able to clear a path to make way for the jury and principals that the trial might continue.

The gray-haired furnace manufacturer did not disappoint those who succeeded in obtaining seats for the afternoon's testimony.

His was a vastly different story of the romance of the 62-year-old furnace manufacturer and the 28-year-old Tulsa stenographer.

With a decided ring of bitterness in his voice, he told of how she "lied" concerning her relations with Charles Nax, St. Louis publicity man, and of how his love had changed when he found out she wanted only his money.

"She told me Nax was in love with her but that she had broken everything off and then he came here," the witness said. "She lied to me and went out to breakfast with Nax.

"I was a chump—I certainly was a big chump. I gave Nax opera

KELL TO SEEK ROCK ISLAND SERVICE HERE

I. C. C. Asked to Approve Use of Valley Tracks for W. F. & S. Trains

SMALL EXTENSION

Connections Made With Rock Island at Waurika, Okla.

Establishment of regular passenger and freight service connecting with the Rock Island lines at Waurika, Okla., is contemplated in an application filed Tuesday with the Interstate Commerce commission by Frank Kell, asking approval of a lease of the old Wichita and Oklahoma line (Wichita Valley) for the accommodation of Wichita Falls and Southern trains.

Rock Island Connections

According to Mr. Kell, approval of the lease contract would afford Wichita Falls direct through passenger and freight accommodations over the Rock Island to points north and south, due to "a very close working agreement made with that line."

The proposed use of the road generally known as the Wichita Valley to Waurika, Mr. Kell said, will carry out the plan which he announced at the chamber of commerce banquet Jan. 11 for extension of railroad lines through highly productive agricultural areas of Oklahoma. Had the lease of the existing road not been obtained for the operation of Wichita Falls and Southern trains, he said, application would have been made for the construction of a new line.

Explains Program

Mr. Kell made the following statement concerning the project:

"At Waurika connection is made with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific and a very close working agreement has been formed with the Rock Island which, in effect, would mean about the same as if the lines of the Rock Island entered Wichita Falls.

"If the trackage contract is approved by the commission, it is planned to install regular freight and passenger service, connecting at Wichita Falls, with the north bound and south bound freight and passenger trains on the Rock Island giving a through service on this route to all points north on the Rock Island and to Fort Worth and Dallas and other points south," he continued.

"This carries out the original intention on the part of the owners of the Wichita Falls and Southern for a close Rock Island connection serving Wichita Falls.

"The approval of this lease would mean the extension of the rails of the Wichita Falls and Southern 35 miles to a connection with the Rock Island at Waurika and would mean the same as if the Wichita Falls and Southern owned this piece of track."

Origins Clause Not Necessary on Border

WASHINGTON, July 2. (US)—Application of the national origins quotas to Mexican immigration is not necessary at the present time, in the opinion of Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, who led the victorious fight in the senate for retention of the origins clause.

The senator's views were revealed today in a letter to Capt. John B. Trevor of New York, chairman of the American coalition, made up of almost 100 patriotic organizations which supported the national origins clause.

Strike Ballot Taken by Engineers Threatens Tieup of Big Railroads

Brotherhood Votes on Walkout on Largest Lines Operating In Midwest; New Contract Demanded

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Tabulation of a strike vote being taken by the engineers of three large railway systems in the Middle West and the reported impasse reached in negotiations with six other lines threatened a widespread railroad tieup in this territory, it was said today by R. E. Edrington, assistant grand chief of the National Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Chicago and Northwest division.

The controversy over wage increases for engineers between the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the railroads of the United States and Canada has extended over a two-year period. The voting was begun four days ago among the engineers of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Missouri Pacific, and the Terminal Association of St. Louis.

Engineers of the Santa Fe system will next be canvassed and a vote ordered unless one side recedes from its previous stand, the engineers' officials say.

"If a strike is voted on the three railroads being canvassed," Mr. Edrington said, "it will spread, in all probability, to all systems of the country. Negotiations have failed and the international brotherhood approves the men using their economic strength to gain what we believe to be a just claim."

The engineers, paid on a basis of miles run instead of on an hourly or daily basis, seek a raise in the limitations now placed on the number of miles each man is allowed during 30 days.

Under the present working rules, the maximum allowed each man is 3,000 miles in 30 days. The union seeks to have this limit raised to 3,800 miles in 30 days.

AUTO-TRUCK CRASH

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, July 2.—A collision between an automobile driven by a Wichita Falls man and a trailer loaded with brick, which was attached to an automobile driven by A. L. Willis of Burkburnett, resulted in the demolition of the trailer and heavy damage to the car about 8 o'clock Tuesday night. The accident occurred about half a mile from here on the highway. No injuries were reported.

LABORITES LAY DOWN PROGRAM

Cooperation With U. S. On Arms Is Forecast

LONDON, July 2. (UP)—The hope of Great Britain's new Labor government to strengthen world security by solution of the naval arms problem with the United States and the necessity of parliament facing the world with a united front were stressed today at the formal opening of parliament.

Foreign affairs, especially progress on the naval limitations issue, had a prominent place both in the king's speech which was read by Lord Justice Sankey and in the debate which followed. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative party, and other prominent party leaders dealt with the necessity for harmony in considering the rather ambitious program outlined in the king's speech.

Program Criticized

The Labor program was criticized moderately as vague in parts. But it covered a wide range and plainly is of an ambitious nature. In the foreign field, as outlined in the

BILL BARS GUNS

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—The Graves house bill making it unlawful to use firearms on a public road was passed by the senate today, 29 to 1. The measure, if signed by Governor Moody, will replace a similar law left off the law books by codifiers in 1926.

'Bad Business,' J. Alvin Gardner Says of Texas League Split Season

"It's bad business." J. Alvin Gardner, owner of the Spudders, thus succinctly summed up his opinion of the abrupt splitting of the Texas league schedule. In a communication last night from Dallas with the sports editor of The Record News, Gardner said that the opposition of himself and O. L. Biedenharn (Shreveport club president) to the division of the season was based largely on the decision by the six other moguls to bring about an immediate split.

"It wouldn't have been so bad, if they had voted to start the second half July 4," Gardner said. "Shreveport and Wichita Falls had a chance to win the first half. But I was greatly opposed to the sudden termination of the first half, which handed the pennant to Dallas."

Gardner saw no reason for a division of the schedule, with the Texas league enjoying one of the closest races in its history. He said that the four southern clubs in the loop, Beaumont, San Antonio, Houston and Waco, naturally were joined in their stand in favor of the split by Fort Worth, which has a new manager and figures on renewed interest and Dallas, which won the first half.

The Spuddey president said that Jake Atz, deposed skipper of the Fort Worth Cats, has no plans for the immediate future and indicated to him that he probably would stay out of baseball for the remainder of this season.

PENITENTIARY TERMS GIVEN LAREDO PAIR

R. J. West Assessed 99 Years While Hernandez Gets Shorter Span

APPEAL UNDECIDED

Harry Williams Choked to Death in Hotel, Prosecution Claims

LAREDO, Texas, July 2. (UP)—A jury in district court here tonight found Thomas Hernandez and R. J. West, former Laredo peace officers, guilty of the slaying of Harry Williams, reporter for the Laredo Times. West was sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary and Hernandez was given 25 years.

Williams disappeared from Laredo last January and his body was found a month later in the Rio Grande.

The defense had not indicated tonight whether an appeal would be filed.

The state claimed that the defendants choked Williams to death as a result of a quarrel in the lobby of a local hotel when Williams refused to "go on a party" with them.

After four days of presentation of testimony, most of which was circumstantial evidence, District Attorney R. L. Bobbitt closed the argument for the state tonight.

Judge J. F. Mullally read his charge to the jury when court opened this morning and allowed each side three and one-half hours for argument.

The courtroom was jammed with spectators as the case was given to the jury, and most of them remained after the jury had retired, expecting an early verdict.

The state attempted to prove that Hernandez and West choked Williams to death in an argument in the lobby of a local hotel and then threw his body into the Rio Grande to hide the crime. There were no eyewitnesses.

Williams was formerly of Munice, Ind.

WILEY PAGE GIVES SHOOTING ACCOUNT

MARSHALL, Texas, July 2. (AP)—Wiley Page, charged with the fatal shooting of his uncle, Ike Killingsworth, told a jury here today that a slender, gold watch chain was the instrument that saved his life and led to Killingsworth' death. Page's attorneys had advanced a self defense plea.

Page said the chain caught Killingsworth's pistol and that the delay gave Page time to hide behind a bale of cotton. The shooting followed. An argument over $400 Page said a negro owed him led to the trouble, Page testified.

The defendant was on the stand when the day's recess was taken, and court attaches said testimony probably would be completed tomorrow.

Defense witnesses today attacked Killingsworth's life and character, terming him a man of "violent disposition."

Society Formed To Ban Excess Clothing

LONDON, July 2. (UP)—A society for dress form for men has been formed here under the guidance of the very Rev. W. R. Inge, the "gloomy dean" of St. Paul's.

The society, founded on the somewhat vague platform "that men may reform their clothes with as much profit to their health and appearance as women have recently achieved," ruled against the collar stud and superfluous buttons on shirts.

Railroad Seeks Permit For Missouri Extension

WASHINGTON, July 2. (US)—Permission to construct two extension lines, totalling 38 miles of road, was today asked of the interstate commerce commission by the St. Louis Southwestern railroad. The lines would permit a new through route from St. Louis to Memphis. One of the stretches would run from Malden to Gideon, Mo., a distance of nine miles, and the other from Hornersville to Caruthersville, Mo., 29 miles.

BRONC BUSTIN' AND RODEOS TO FEATURE OKLAHOMA'S JULY 4

JUST THE Baer Facts

By Bugs Baer

IN BEAUTIFUL FENDER PARK

NEW YORK, July 2.—Right outside of every well manipulated town is a national reservation known as Fender park.

In no spot on this green earth does junk grow more luxuriantly or buster springs, sprout more profusely.

Fender park is a tangled wildwood of twisted steering gears. It is a paradise of creeping bumpers and ever-blooming radiator caps.

All of the mechanical vegetation of bountiful garages flourish there. But fenders abound. They are an eternal tribute to man's effort to do the traffic tango on a one-way street and a testimonial to lady drivers' efforts to make left turns during the rush hours.

Nobody knows the name of the philanthropist who donated the ground for Fender park. The first thing you spot at the entrance is a wheelless limousine squatting on its axles like a benevolent joss.

Its headlights have winked at flirtatious traffic gendarmes for the last time. Its radiator looks like the remains of a platform on which an elephant did its setting-up exercises. Its fenders are one with Nineveh and Tyre and its front bumper has ceased to rise and fall with the tide.

This relic is a monument to the right of way.

In a secluded nook is a flivver that stopped to graze on a grade-crossing. It still has its fenders but they are cauliflowered and blistered. The bees are using its tank for a hive in a futile endeavor to get 23 miles to a gallon of honey.

Over there is an orchard of broken gears which have ground their teeth in hopeless rage as a Sunday driver broke out of his cage on a Tuesday.

But, prettiest of all, are the flowering fenders which dot their last lawn. They rise in rusty terraces, twine in beautiful fractured arcs around broken lamp-posts and shed their insured fragrance on prehistoric bills of sale.

Fender park is the sunken garden of bad driving.

Somewhere a chauffeur has saved a minute. Here, his car loses an eternity.

Over there a bum is pawing over exploded seat cushions in an effort to find a piece of junk large enough to salvage. He is the curator of a museum of skids.

Every known type of fender is here in Fender park. Some of them are in fairly good shape and some are twisted in nosegays of metallic profusion.

In the center of a lily pond of cylinders are two cars which kissed at the rate of 60 miles per side-swipe. They finished their tour on the end of a derrick.

Fender park is magnificent in the summer time. But its crop will never be interested. Some day when you are in a philosophical mood, take a stroll out to Fender park. Ponder on man's inhumanity to pedestrian and then go out and steal yourself a bicycle.

SMALL TOWNS OFFER THRILLS

Rural Fetes to Put Cities in Shade

(By United Press)

The bronco buster and cowboy today returned to Oklahoma to take his position ahead of the jazz band leader in furnishing Oklahoma thrill seekers with incomparable entertainment as rodeos and other July 4 celebrations began to get under way.

From the nationally known daredevil, Buck Hoover, to the boy in the little town who is "as tough as nails" rural Oklahoma began to look to its date card for the best place and time.

No matter whether one likes the wild, dashing bronco-bustin' activities of a rodeo, the blaring voices of the carnival man, swimming, racing or just a mild picnic, he can surely find a place to satisfy his desires in Oklahoma within the next three days.

Small Towns Rule

The big cities, that usually hold the interesting things, must give way now to the smaller towns as they stage the celebrations which promise to draw crowds from miles around.

Headlining the state activities is the special attraction at Shawnee, where Buck Hoover will bulldog a steer from an airplane. This stunt is attracting much comment and speculation from all parts of Oklahoma.

Dewey has already started reeling off one of the largest rodeos that has ever taken place there. Three hundred head of stock were imported from many points for the event which started Tuesday and will last until Thursday night, with all the wild west attractions that are known to man scheduled.

Watonga's three-day affair promises to draw a large crowd from all of Blaine county with it various activities including ball games, band concerts, dances, special acts and stunts and patriotic exhibitions.

Probably the longest celebration and the one which will bring the largest crowd will be the Nowata rodeo. More than 15,000 people are expected. Big purses are being offered by the American Legion, the organization sponsoring the round-up.

The old-fashioned round-up where a person's hair stood on end nearly all the time is scheduled to be reproduced at Sayre, where elaborate preparations have already been completed. The legion is sponsoring the activity which starts Wednesday and lasts two days.

Woodward is also planning a three-day rodeo beginning Wednesday.

Tulsa's biggest attraction and one which promises to draw sport fans from all parts of the state is the boxing bout between Babe Hunt and Angus Snyder tonight. Hunt, the pride of the Sooners, is in shape to give Snyder a scrap but Snyder is prepared to take a lot, so the event promises to be more than interesting.

Watch Your Step

No special plans have been made at Oklahoma City, other than a few athletic events and bicycle races at the fair grounds.

With all the rodeos and round-ups scheduled in the state, cattle in Oklahoma are marked for a hard week, as well as a number of horses and rodeo participants, not mentioning the thousands of people who will be witnesses from far and near.

There are many other places holding celebrations and there are many places where nothing special is planned. Police, doctors and civic leaders have warnad that "carelessness costs." And everyone is advised to "watch his step," no matter what he does, if it is only to take an automobile ride.

Some of the other places planning celebrations of one or two days are: Mounds, Wakita, Sulphur, Kingfisher and Medford. Outside of events already mentioned there will be baseball games, displays of fireworks, airplane flying, parades, swimming and buffalo barbecues. No matter in what part of the state one comes from he is assured of being fairly close to a celebration of some sort and should receive no sympathy if he fails to enjoy this festive day or days as the case may be.

Arrives for Lynn Celebration

A link between the Lynn of the old and new worlds was welded with the arrival of the Marchioness of Townshend, mayoress of Lynn, England, for the tri-centennial celebration of Lynn, Mass. She and her son are shown being greeted by Benjamin N. Johnson.

Wizard Talks to Young Lads on Highway

BROOKSIDE, N. J., July 2. (INS) Thomas A. Edison's idea of a good "bracer" during a motor trip is a cup of hot milk, heated over an alcohol stove by his chauffeur.

Grant Thornburn, 11, Lawrence Horner, 11, and Jack Horner, 9, told of the inventor's milk drinking habit today along with an abundance of other valuable information regarding the wizard of Menlo park.

The boys met Mr. Edison while they were picking cherries yesterday.

And the inventor told them all about his secrets for cultivating a substitute for rubber, but of course you couldn't expect the boys to remember all the details of such a technical exposition.

It seems they were standing by the roadside when a big motor car pulled up to a halt near them. An old man whom they immediately recognized as Edison and who greeted them with a familiar, "Hi boys!" stepped out of the car and waited while a liveried chauffeur lighted an alcohol stove and heated a cup of milk.

Then, while the inventor sipped his milk the boys learned about rubber and rubber substitutes.

Lawrence Horner didn't pay much attention to what Mr. Edison had to say because Lawrence wants to be an engineer when he grows up, and everyone knows engineers should only think about bridges, buildings and the like.

Grant Thorburn and Jack Horner were too much concerned with the cherries that hung suspended from the trees off the roadside to worry very much about remembering $10 words about rubber substitutes even if they were uttered by one of the greatest men of all time.

Capone's Fight For Freedom Is Failure

PHILADELPHIA, July 2. (UP)—"Scarface Al" Capone, Chicago gang leader, lost round two of his fight with authorities today when the superior court denied his attorney a writ of supersedeas, designed to effect Capone's release from a one-year term he is serving for carrying concealed weapons.

A writ of error was denied last week. Today's writ would have released Capone pending hearing of his appeal for a new trial, which will be round three.

Negro Faces Trial For Attacking Texas Woman

HOUSTON, July 2. (UP)—Robert Carmack, 21-year-old Clarksdale, Miss., negro is expected to go on trial here before the end of the present week for criminal assault on a white woman June 8.

Carmack was returned to Houston today from Monroe, La., and after the woman had picked him from a group of 20 negroes as the one who had attacked her, machinery was set in motion for an indictment.

Immediate Relief From Indigestion

Many people who are hungry are afraid to eat for fear of distressing after-effects. They keep themselves on a limited diet and go about half starved.

This is unnecessary. Take a spoonful of GORDON'S after meals and you can eat what you like and as much as you want without any after-feeling of distress. Try it and see.

GORDON'S, an internal antiseptic, goes right to the seat of the trouble by stopping fermentation (souring of food). It soothes, heals and strengthens weak or disordered stomachs.

Break that Breakfast monotony!

Tomorrow, with this delicious fruit juice

"Thank you so much for suggesting Welch's—can't understand why I never thought of it before."..."Certainly a wonderful time-saver"...."I intend to serve it for breakfast often, as the family is just delighted with it."

When we asked one hundred women to serve Welch's as a variation from the customary breakfast fruit, we knew they'd like it, because it's the pure juice of choicest Concords, colorful and tempting.

But we didn't dream they'd welcome it with such spontaneous enthusiasm. The random comments quoted don't begin to tell the story!

Why not try Welch's—even if only as a variation—beginning with tomorrow's breakfast? Rich in fruit nourishment, mineral salts and anti-acid properties, Welch's is not merely appetizing and delightful to the taste; it's healthful and invigorating, too.

A pint will serve five—more if diluted with cold water or crushed ice, and some prefer it so.

Buy Welch's by the bottle or case from your dealer, or at the fountain ask for straight Welch's or a Welch-ade.

The Sign of a Westinghouse Dealer

Keep this in mind when you trade in your car

THAT one dealer may offer you a larger allowance than another does not necessarily mean that he is giving you the best deal.

You will buy most advantageously to yourself if you remember these basic facts:

A trade-in transaction is a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit against the price of the new car.

Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value: what the dealer can get for it in the used car market. It seems to have different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

An excessive allowance may mean that you will be paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value. In other words, the new car may be priced to permit the extra allowance.

Consider first the merits of each new car as compared with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then consider the various allowances offered on your present car.

Don't put the cart before the horse.

NEW TYPE OF EXTRA SOUGHT

Dancing and Singing Girls Needed in Talkies

HOLLYWOOD, Calif, July 2. (UP)—There is a new type of extra girl tugging at the fringe of Hollywood, offering not beauty alone, but a trained voice or agile feet.

Talking pictures have been as revolutionary in the ranks of the extra as they have been to the contract players and to the men who sit at desks in the "front offices" of the studios.

Girls who can sing or dance—or better, sing and dance—are in great demand. The studios are on the watch for them, but they must have real talent.

As in the old silent picture days when a pretty face caught a director's eye, opportunity still often knocks by chance in Hollywood.

For a year Rosalind Charles had been a stenographer in the story department of the Paramount studios. Since she came here from Pittsburgh a year ago, her interest had been in her work, and more recently, in her home, for she is a bride of a few months, the wife of a young man not in pictures.

As she hummed a few bars of music over her typewriter, Victor Schertzinger, the director, passed her desk. Music was in his mind, for he had just finished composing the complete score for "The Love Parade," an original operetta, which will star Maurice Chevalier, the Ffench actor.

Schertzinger stopped to listen, asked a few questions and then Rosalind Charles was given microphone and camera tests, for the eye of the camera still is there to eliminate many. Now Miss Charles is cast for an imortant part in "The Love Parade," as one of a women's quartet. If she does well a screen career lies ahead—if not, her typewriter is waiting. It probably never will be used again—by her.

The three others in the quartet will be Virginia Bruce, who until a few months ago was active in social events in Fargo, N. D.; Helen Friend, of Des Moines, Iowa, and Margaret Fealy, who has been on the stage for 35 years. Their voices won them their jobs.

De Priest Says He's Satisfied

CLEVELAND, July 2. (INS)—"I have no complaint whatever to make about the way I have been treated as a member of congress," said Representative Oscar DePriest, addressing the annual conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which ends its sessions here today.

DePriest made only brief mention of the censure, in some quarters, of the Hoovers for inviting the negro congressman's wife to a white house tea. He said that members of the legislatures of certain southern states who passed resolutions criticising the act were "just a lot of cowards."

"I have been elected to congress the same as any other congressman," he told 2,000 listeners, "and I am going to have the rights of every congressman—no more and no less—if its in the congressional barber shop or at a White House tea."

Aviation Era in U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 2. (INS)—America has entered on an era of aviation activity unprecedented in the history of the industry, Secretary of Commerce Lamond declared today in an address broadcast in cooperation with the aeronautical chamber of commerce.

BIG DEMAND FOR SARGON SMASHING WORLD'S RECORDS

If anyone told you that one single medicine had relieved tens of thousands of suffering men and women in all walks of life of their health troubles and that it had put thousands of other men and women unable to find relief back to work, it would sound impossible, wouldn't it?

But that is just exactly what is happening right here in this state. Not only has it brought them new-found health and strength, but it has given them new energy, new vitality and a new lease on life itself. In many cases, the results have been so remarkable that many people have bought it and sent it to friends in other states, while other thousands have written grateful letters of praise.

The wonderful success that Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills have achieved in only one year's time simply staggers the imagination.

In the state of California alone where it was introduced on April 16 of this year, it has required the astonishing total of nine solid carloads—or more than 200,000 bottles—to supply the demand. Kansas City retailers and wholesalers have sold and distributed over 300,000 bottles in the states of Kansas and Missouri. Minneapolis and St. Paul dealers have required nine entire carloads in five months. The demand in practically every state and section where Sargon has been introduced has been correspondingly large. When national distribution has been completed it will require millions upon millions of bottles to supply the ever-increasing demand for this celebrated medicine.

Back of Sargon's triumph in the drug stores is Sargon's triumph in the homes. Everywhere it has been introduced it has become a household word and it is unquestionably the most widely talked-of medicine in the world today.

When Sargon was first given to the world just one year ago, it was hailed as a triumph in the field of modern medicine. Many well known authorities who watched its development freely predicted that it would become the one great outstanding, health-giving remedy of the age. But the men of science who labored for years to perfect it little dreamed it would become such a great boon to humanity in so short a time.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott street, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; and in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

Radio 'Ghost Hour' Begins July 11 With Magician Dunninger in Charge

Nationwide Hook-up to Carry Mental Telepathy Stunt Into Homes All Over Nation Next Thursday

By SAM LOVE

NEW YORK, July 2. (UP)—Several million people will be able to get together Thursday night, July 11, sweep the cobwebs of grass materialism out of their minds, and indulge by radio in a great national experiment on thought transference, or mental telepathy.

This is just one jump from the snook tete-a-tetes in which Aunt Martha, from her point of vantage in the great beyond, advises strongly against over-speculation in General Motors and warns of a blonde false friend. It is bound to be a lot of fun, especially as planned by the National Broadcasting company, which is linking up a national network of radio stations for the experiment.

Prestidigitator Employed

The radio concert bureau announced today that it had contracted for the exclusive services of Joseph Dunninger, a professional magician and prestidigitator, and hitherto an arch-foe of the spiritualists. Dunninger recently undertook to expose the late Houdini's "spirit message" to his widow, and succeeded well enough to obtain columns of newspaper copy.

At 6:30 p. m. C. S. T. on the network containing many of the same stations through which Dr. S. Parkes Cadman dispenses spiritual advice, Magician Dunninger will address his own flock. It will be known as "the ghost hour" and will be the beginning of a weekly series of similar programs with the magician.

The procedure for the test, as outlined by Dunninger, is not complicated. After a brief introductory address the magician will request his hearers to relax, "clear their minds" of other thoughts, and sit with pencil and pad available. Then, at a given signal, he will concentrate on one thought. A minute later he will concentrate on another thought. Then he will concentrate for a minute on a third and last thought.

Committee Gets Copy

Radio listeners who cooperate in the test will be requested to jot down the thoughts they have—if any—during the three-minute period of attempted thought transference and mail them to the National Broadcasting company.

"A nationally known and responsible committee," whose names will be announced later, will have a copy of the thoughts held by Magician Dunninger. They will be sealed, to be opened after the broadcasting and compared with the results of other participants as soon as the first batch of mail arrives from listeners.

Dunninger has performed some amazing feats of apparent "thought transference" for several years, but usually before small audiences. While attacking the Houdini "spirit message" he defied any spiritualist medium to read a message which he would write, place in an envelope, and nail to the floor. There were no takers, although in the name of a magazine Dunninger offered several thousand dollars for such a stunning performance.

Reporters Befuddled

As a pastime, he then befuddled reporters by doing tricks of his own. Last Jan. 9, he offered to "read" any message written by one of a group of reporters and placed in a journalistic pocket. The reporter wrote one.

After an interval Dunninger announced that the message was, "On Wednesday the weather was cloudy, so snow was expected."

"Is that right?" he asked.

"Almost," said the reporter, improving on his English a trifle. "It read, 'and snow was expected'."

This mystified the reporters and their apprehensions were not dissipated by Dunninger's pronouncement that if the message had been nailed to the floor, he couldn't have read it and neither could anybody else.

MARRIAGE VOID

Waitress Loses Claim To Estate of Late Seminole Indian

WEWOKA, Okla., July 2. (AP)—The marriage of the late Daniel Joshua, wealthy Seminole Indian, to Florence de Ruele, Henryetta waitress, two years ago, in effect was held void today by County Judge J. E. Simpson, who ruled that the previous common law marriage of Joshua to Kissie Hawkins, Creek Indian, was legal.

Evidence at the hearings, which was on the girl's attempt to participate in Joshua's estate, was that Joshua was kidnaped, taken to Henryetta and forced to marry Miss De Ruele.

Two months before he had taken the Indian woman as a wife by the simple tribal expedient of moving her furniture to his house.

Youth of Today Is Upheld by Dr. Poling

KANSAS CITY, July 2. (INS)—Upholding the youth of today and declaring that the younger generation is religious, Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of New York, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, in an interview today came to the defense of modern youth. Dr. Poling arrived here this morning to attend the thirty-second International Christian Endeavor convention which opens tomorrow for a six-day session and which will bring, it is estimated, 20,000 young people.

AND YET THE SHOW GOES ON

Planes Still Zoom From Fatal Gotham Airport

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., July 2. (AP)—Everybody is doing all the flying he can these days at Roosevelt and Mitchell fields. And all the pilots and mechanics and officials have developed a manner that is elaborately casual.

But underneath all this activity and through the laughter—the sort of laughter that curls up the corners of the mouth but leaves little furrows between the eyebrows—is visible a deadly seriousness.

There have been four crashes at the Long Island fields since last Wednesday. Seven persons have been killed, including two of the most popular pilots along the Atlantic seaboard.

Friday morning it was Jack Ashcraft, desperately trying to find his way down with empty gas tanks through fog that dropped its deadly white curtain all the way down to the ground.

Yesterday it was "Bill" Stultz, transatlantic flier who was an honorary pallbearer at Ashcraft's funeral on Saturday.

In other hazardous professions, survivors are expected to be nervously upset and unfit for work when one of their fellow-workers is killed. When a workman falls off a steel skyscraper, for instance, everybody lays off for the remainder of the day. But aviation is not like that. There is, for instance, that rule in the army flying service whereby a pilot, if he comes out of a crash alive and not badly injured, immediately takes up another ship and flies it until he is all cured of his "nerves." It was that rule that made Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, with one arm in a sling, take his fiancee up for another ride the very next day after their accident in Mexico City last winter.

And so, all day yesterday at Roosevelt and Mitchell fields, air planes zoomed up again and again off the soggy, rainswept field. And so the grim jokes go on.

"It's your turn next and then mine," one pilot will say to another. And then they both grin.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, July 2. (US)—A woman in Camden, N. J., sued for $25,000 for alienation of affections, and the jury gave her $40,000.

Things are looking up for our side.

American women buy $310,000,000 worth of ready-made cakes every year.

Which necessitates their being home very little. Only long enough to unwrap them and invite what is jokingly called "the head of the house" to cut himself a piece.

The women who attended the big benefit prize fight that provided about $150,000 worth of milk for poor children, watched the first rounds attentively. Then when the fighters began to get messed up, just before being sent to the cleaners, they watched their male escorts devotedly. The looks didn't mean a thing. They merely knew what they did not want to see.

The women who attended the fight with the idea of becoming faint and commanding considerable attention, quickly abandoned the idea. The men who took the frails didn't know they were accompanied until the fight was over. And the women knew it. They're smart that way.

If you wan't to find out what is not the most important thing in a amn's life, go to a prize fight once.

One woman devised a scheme of looking at the fight through partially closed eye lids, after the battle got bluggy so that she could see the figures moving and know about what was going on, without seeing the gore.

You know, the way women look at a man when they are contemplating marrying him for his money, and only part of the picture is pleasant.

A lad of 17, on his way to work, dinner pail in hand, took the trouble to say good morning and smile pleasantly at a widow lady in New Haven whose home he passed each morning. He even offered to cut her lawn. She died and willed him ten million dollars.

A good household hint would be to teach your boys to say good morning.

(You can do it and still be a snob. Just look them up in Dunn and Bradstreet first.)

Luncheon Compliments Dallas Visitor Tuesday

Mrs. W. J. Daugherty and Mrs. E. B. Gorsline entertained with a prettily appointed buffet luncheon Tuesday at the home of the latter, 1609 Twelfth street, honoring Mrs. W. L. Rush of Dallas, who is the guest of her daughters, Mrs. Frank Timberlake and Mrs. Paul Scott.

Guests were Mesdames J. M. Sweeton, W. J. Grisham, J. C. A. Guest, Paul Scott, Frank Timberlake and W. L. Rush.

At one time kings and nobles were the only ones permitted to wear beards.

Dorothy Praises Lindy for Raising Morale of Youth

We Owe Lindbergh Still Another Debt of Gratitude for Setting the Youth of the Country a Needed Example of Thoughtfulness and Dignity by the Simplicity of His Wedding.

The real service of Lindbergh to his day and generation is not as an aviator but as an example. The altitudes he has achieved are of small moment compared to the way he has lifted up the morale of the youth of the country.

To me there has always been something infinitely pathetic and touching in the almost frenzid acclaim we have given Lindbergh, for it is not for his achievements, great as they are, for which we worship him, but because he has given us back our lost ideal of youth. A youth that was clean and clear-eyed, that dreamed great dreams, that had set itself a high goal that it risked its life to reach. Not a gin-soaked, precociously sophisticated sex-mad youth, mouthing vague nothings about freedom and finding itself, while poor parents worked to support it and pay for its wild parties.

To us older ones Lindbergh came like an answer to a prayer. To the boys of his own age he came as a revelation. Here was a youth whose courage and daring had set the world aflame, yet he made no whoopee. He had no bootlegger. His fingers were not yellow with nicotine. He was no petter. He was actually old-fashioned in his virtues, yet he was a hero whose praise was on every tongue. It made many a boy think that perhaps there might be something in the doctrine of decent living and sobriety after all it made thousands upon thousands of young boys take him as their model instead of some gangster and raised their eyes from the gutter to the stars.

Not all the preachers and the moralists have done so much to steady the youth of today and set it on the right road as his Lindbergh's example.

And now Lindbergh has set another example to the youth of the country in the way he has been married. He might have had a wedding as gorgeous as any prince of the blood royal. He might have worn a brilliant uniform and his bride, whose father is wealthy, might have been gowned in priceless lace. They might have been wedded amidst every display of pomp, with a fortune spent in decorations and on a splendid banquet and in the presence of the most distinguished and powerful persons in the land.

Instead they were married as simply as any poor girl and boy could have been. The bride wore a cheap white dress made by the village dressmaker and her bouquet was some flowers that the bridegroom himself had picked in the garden. There was no wedding breakfast, no guests, except just the members of the family, no bridesmaids, no ring bearers, none of the expensive hullabaloo with which most young couples seem to think it necessary to announce that they have taken each other for better or worse. And it is generally worse if they have to go in debt for the wedding.

Let us hope that his good example will be followed in this, as it has in other things and that just as we have had Lindy sport coats and whatnot, we shall now have Lindy weddings in which a young couple will just step around to the parson and be married with the least possible expense and annoyance to others, and without driving everybody concerned into nervous prostration and bankruptcy.

Too long have we been the victime of the show wedding of girls who insisted upon being married like Miss Croesus, no matter how poor their fathers were, nor how small was the salary of the men they were marrying. There have been too many tragedies of the hope chest that a girl filled at the expense of her stomach and nerves. Too many families have starved, too many fathers have worked themselves to death for Janey's splurge wedding. Too many young men have had to go into debt to pay for bridesmaids' presents and wedding bouquets and taxis and heaven knows what other bridal expense when they hadn't even a dollar upon which to set up housekeeping.

There is no justification for the splurge wedding. Why should a man, who finds it hard to even buy cabbage for his family to eat, have to pay hundreds of dollars for the decoration of the church at his daughter's wedding? Why should a poor girl put her money in white satin and tulle which she will never be able to wear again, when what she needs is good, substantial clothes that have plenty of service in them? Why, just because she is marrying, should a girl buy a lot of foolish, flimsy, perishable lingerie for which she will be paying long after it is worn out? Why should she overload herself, anyway, with clothes that will go out of fashion, as if it was her last chance to buy, when well knows that the shops will still be doing business and that she will be just as keen about having the latest thing after marriage as before?

Nobody knows why girls want show weddings. It works their mothers to death. It runs their fathers in debt and adds to their burdens. It makes the bridge haggard with anxiety, so that she invariably looks homelier than she ever does at any other time. It peeves the bridegroom, who knows that he always looks like a lamb being led to the slaughter and who begrudges the waste of good money that could be better spent on something sensible.

And it calls forth the unstinted criticism of all of one's dear 500 friends who gossip behind their hands while the soulful tenor is singing "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" and wonder what the bride ever saw in the bridegroom to make her want him and how she ever managed to catch him and how on earth poor Mr. X. is ever going to pay for it all.

The great moment of every man's and woman's life is that in which they are married. It is the crisis of their fate. Their happiness, their welfare is at stake and why anybody should choose to make this solemn event a public spectacle with a curious, gaping crowd looking on passes comprehension. In reality it would be no more incongruous to invite people in to see us die than it is to see us married. So let us hope that the show wedding will soon be one of the follies of the last.

And if Lindbergh's example of the simple wedding helps on to this, we shall owe him still another debt of gratitude.

—DOROTHY DIX.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

Sometimes It Is

"Dear Miss Brainerd: Is divorce ever justifiable when there are children in the family? I think children of divorced parents suffer from a conviction of being different from others. Unless they are unusually thick-skinned they may develop many quirks of character, become touchy, morbid or resentful of discipline as a result. What do you think about the farming out of a child between two establishments?"

It is a serious matter to deprive a child of its father or mother, for no ameunt of good intentions on the part of one parent can compensate for the loss of the other. Nor is the 50-50 farming out of the child to be desired. Such an arrangement takes away the sense of "home" and "belonging" which is the birthright of every young child.

Home is still a most essential factor in the child's development, and home means not only a fixed abode but also a father and a mother.

The conscientious man and woman will therefore think long and hard and try every compromise before resorting to divorce as a means out of domestic difficulties.

But there are cases when divorce is by far the best solution for all concerned.

The home that is poisoned by hatred, quarreling and perpetual scenes is worse than no home at all. Homes in which the mother is a slattern and a scold, in which the father is a drunkard, a brute or a bully are not fit places for the rearing of the young.

Parents who think to conceal their aversion from each other under a veil of icy politepess might just as well abandon the bluff, for the sacrifice they make to keep the home together is made in vain. Homes do not thrive in these arctic temperatures; they produce in the child a supreme distaste and a desire for flight at the earliest opportunity.

Once in a while a mismated man and woman are sufficiently intelligent and far-seeing and possess enough sense of humor and fair play to enable them to carry on successfully for the sake of their children—once in a while!

Certainly for the children's sake every conceivable effort should be made to avoid separation. But better—a thousand times better!—divorce than the continuation of a marriage so unsuccessful and so degrading that it inspires in the child contempt for one or both parents and a lasting loathing for marriage.

Betty Brainerd will be glad to help her readers with their problems. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to her in care of this paper.

RUSSEK WINS SENATE HONOR

Schulenberg Senator Made President of Body

AUSTIN, July 2. (AP)—Senator Gus Russek, Schulenberg, today was elected president of the senate, succeeding Pink L. Parrish, Lubbock, in the honorary office.

Russek, member of the senate for three terms, received 25 votes.

Senator Walter Woodul, Houston, nominated for the post by Senator Thomas B. Love, Dallas, and Senator Joe Moore, Greenville, received one vote each.

At his request, Woodul's name was withdrawn.

Rome Flight Depends On Weather Conditions

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine, July 2. (INS)—"We're going as soon as weather permits," was the statement today of Capt. Lewis A. Yancey, who with Pilot Roger Q. Williams, of the monoplane Pathfinder, hope to fly to Rome. The silver and green monoplane, Pathfinder, which succeeds the Green Flash, that cracked up on the beach here June 13, during an attempted takeoff for Rome, was still at Scarboro airport today.

IT'S A DISEASE

HOBART, Okla., July 2. (UP)—Imagine an Hawaiian top stopping business in an American community. That is just what is happening at Hobart. Yo-yo! The yo-yo craze hit this place almost overnight like some strange malignant disease, and everyone is yo-yoing.

Jellybeans on the street corners, and prominent business men "in conference," are playing with the new-fangled tops. The yo-yo top is a small round block of wood with a slit around the center to which is attached a string. By a simple twist of the wrist the ball runs up and down the string. And it's lots of fun.

(Editor's Note—Several Oklahoma vicinities have been affected by the safe fad, although none of them in a complaining manner.)

Sibley-Taylor W. M. S. Entertained Monday

Mrs. H. T. Berndt, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. A. Lacy, was hostess to the Sibley-Taylor Methodist W. M. S. at their home Monday afternoon. "Broken Homes Rebuilded" was the subject of the program. Mrs. A. M. Davenport and Mrs. J. W. Thomas Sr., discussed the topic, "Family Relief Work and How We Can Help." Mrs. E. P. Stewart read a paper, "Emphasis on Personal Service," and Mrs. C. E. Collins discussed "Emphasis on Material Aid."

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Collins, L. H. Gilbreath, E. P. Stewart, Davenport, C. P. Perkins, J. E. Gilbreath, W. A. Lynn, R. E. George, J. W. Thomas, J. P. Kelm and O. E. Berndt.

MODEL HUBBY

Sociology Teacher Completes Blueprint of Ideal Mate

NEW YORK, July 2. (UP)—Prof. Charles C. Peters, of the sociology department of Pennsylvania State college, has completed his "blueprint of the model husband."

Among other things, the model husbands must do the following:

Meet the economic problems of family life.

Be able to repair faucets, fences and furnaces.

Care for his own clothing and that of the family.

Be able to manage a checking account and verify bills.

Know how to care for children.

Be able to maintain peace and harmony in the home.

KANSAS CITY, July 2. (UP)—Delegates from cities in the United States, Canada and Mexico were arriving here today for the 32nd International Christian Endeavor convention, to be held July 3 to 8. An attendance of 15,000 is expected. World peace will be the keynote subject, with talks scheduled by Senator William E. Borah, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt and James Kelley, Glasgow, Scotland, secretary of the World Sunday School association.

McCall's Magazine Buys Red Book and Blue Book

NEW YORK, July 2. (UP)—In a transaction said to involve between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, the owners of McCall's Magazine, bought the Consolidated Magazine corporation, which publishes The Red Book magazine and The Blue Book magazine, according to an announcement here by William B. Warmer, president of McCall's. The combined circulation of the acquired publications is approximately 1,260,000.

Aviatrix Claims New Record for Women

MOLINE, Ill., July 2. (INS)—Claiming a new altitude record for women, Mrs. Phoebe Fairgrave Omlie of Memphis, Tenn., today awaited confirmation by the National Aeronautical association of her 26,982-foot ascent over the Moline airport.

That figure was recorded by the altimeter, she said. Instruments to indicate the height attained were sealed before the flight and have been sent to Washington, D. C.

Poor Scribe Gets Blame for 'New' Enforcement Idea

WASHINGTON, July 2. (INS)—The idea of erecting a barbed wire fence along the Canadian border to keep out rum-smugglers originated in the fertile brain of a newspaper reporter looking for a story, it was stated at the treasury today.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said today he had never heard of it, much less having "vetoed the plan," as reported in the morning papers.

Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition, who was reported in the story as having conceived the barbed wire idea, also said he had never proposed such a thing, and termed it "a senseless suggestion."

Like the story of President Hoover's having demanded Lowman's resignation "within 36 hours," the barbed-wire story was the figment of reportorial imagination.

Its getting close to dog days in Washington.

Bothered For Years With Pimples. Healed by Cuticura.

"I was bothered with my face breaking out with pimples for four years. They were hard, large and red and festered and scaled over. The pimples itched and burned so badly that I scratched them, causing eruptions, and my face was disfigured. The pimples spread to the back of my neck and bothered me a lot at night.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and purchased more, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Joyce Young, Rt. 2, Pawnee, Okla., Feb. 8, 1928.

JUDGE BRANDS DOPE TRAFFIC

Oklahomans Given Lecture And Pen Terms

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (UP)—Sixty-one men arraigned in federal court here today were told by Federal Judge Ed S. Vaught that the narcotic traffic is more vicious than murder.

Only one plea of leniency has been made for the 18 sentenced in the morning session. A light sentence was recommended for Roy Melvin Tackwell, county jail trusty, and he was given six months for violation of narcotic laws.

Three men were sentenced for narcotic sale and six for possession. They were: Charles Waits, Shawnee, 15 months; G. W. Vaught, Shawnee, two years; John F. Coleman, Oklahoma City, one year; Emmett Landers, Gabriel W. Hall, Lewis Johnson, Morris Agron, all from Oklahoma City received nine months each, and J. C. Bryant, Oklahoma City, six months.

Two Houston, Texas youths were sentenced to one year each on motor car indictment. They were J. C. Roberts and Robert Butler. William L. McKellop, Austin, Texas, was given 15 months and Sidney Goshen 19, was given 15 months on motor theft indictments.

A. J. Zeok, El Reno carpenter, was given four months for obtaining $15 by representing himself as a federal officer.

Three year sentence for the theft of a letter containing $5.18 was given John A. Dykes, Maud. It was the heaviest sentence.

Dry Agents Held For Alleged Help To Liquor Train

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Two federal prohibition agents were under arrest today acused of convoying a fleet of liquor trucks on Long Island.

The agents, John J. Kerrigan and John J. Calnan, were held in $3,000 bail, each after Deputy Sheriff William Lindsay of Peconic, N. Y., told a United States commissioner he found them escorting a caravan of five trucks through Riverhead, N. Y., on the night of June 19.

Lindsay said he stopped three large trucks and two smaller ones on the Nassau county road. Kerrigan and Calnan alighted from a coupe which was fourth in the procession and explained they were escorting a liquor seizure to the army base in Brooklyn. While the deputy was talking with the agents the two smaller trucks and the drivers of the three large ones escaped.

Noise of Fireworks Causes Man's Death

WAUKEGAN, Ill., July 2. (INS)—Unable to endure the bursting of firecrackers, Alex Benson, 41, was dead today, a suicide.

Trying to read on his porch while fireworks crackled near by, Benson, suffering from a nervous disorder, finally flung down his newspaper and complained to his wife, "something's going to happen. That boy next door just tossed a cannon cracked that exploded right in my face—nearly blinded me. I can't stand it."

A few minutes later Benson went to the basement and slashed his throat.

Hoover Will Summon Child Health Meet

WASHINGTON, July 2. (INS)—President Hoover announced today that he would call a national conference on the health and protection of children. It will not be assembled for at least from nine to 12 months in order that there may be time for complete and exhaustive advance study of the problem.

Pope May Emerge From Vatican Soon

ROME, July 2. (UP)—A semi-official announcement today asserted that Pope Pius probably will leave the confines of Vatican City July 25, in connection with a procession closing the international semiarists congress.

Official announcement of a date of the pope's emergence from the vatican is awaited with great interest throughout Italy as the event will break the last tie of the long discord between church and state which kept the pontiff a voluntary prisoner during the last 59 years.

The congress, with delegates from seminaries throughout the world, will be held July 21 to 28 in connection with the pope's sacerdotal jubilee.

So "Skinny" Couldn't Work. Gains 21 lbs. and New Strength

Miss Donie Brison writes, "Before I took Ironized Yeast I was so 'skinny' I could not do my day's work. But now I can work hard all day and rest good all night.

"About 3 months ago my weight was 126 pounds. Ironized Yeast gave me 147 pounds of good flesh. You would think I was another woman, I feel and look so much better."

Stop being "skinny" and always tired. Thousands have gained 5 to 15 pounds in 3 weeks with Ironized Yeast. Scrawny bones change to graceful curves. Blotched skin becomes clear and fresh. "Lazy" feeling vanishes.

NEW BOUNDARY SURVEY MADE

North Line of Panhandle May Be Altered

Special to The Record News.

BORGER, Texas, July 2.—The Texas panhandle will gain back from Oklahoma on the north what is lost on the east line, according to word received here from the Oklahoma Panhandle where U. S. government surveyors are making a new survey of the famous 36:30 line.

Under the federal survey that line was designated as the boundary between the Texas Panhandle on the north and the Oklahoma Panhandle immediately north of it.

Recently an error in the original survey was found. Engineers are now resurveying this line.

It is said that a strip between 200 and 400 feet wide has been found to belong to Oklahoma that was formerly in Texas. The line will have to be moved.

There are four elevators in Texhoma, a town in Texas and Oklahoma, on the state line. Three of the four, which for years have been located in Texas, are now located in Oklahoma.

Under the Texas state differential rate, shipments of grain from Texas had the advantage of several cents over Oklahoma rates. Hence, while most of the town was on the Oklahoma side of the line, the elevators and Rock Island depot were on the Texas side.

One of the four elevators is a new one, just completed for this year's harvest.

The Rock Island will have to move its depot several hundred feet west and south in order to remain on the Texas side of the line and permit shippers to get the advantage of the state differential rate.

Valuations in Texhoma will be increased from $650,000 to around $1,000,000, it is said.

Two Injured in Blast Aboard Fine Yacht

No Car for John While in School, His Girl Orders

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 2. (AP)—Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of the governor of Connecticut and fiancee of John Coolidge, son of the former president, thinks the latter will make a better student at the Harvard business school's summer course if he has no automobile to distract his attention.

Young Coolidge, who is employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was driven here to enroll by Miss Trumbull in her roadster.

"Are you going to leave your car with John?" a newspaper man asked her.

"No, I'm going back in it myself," she replied.

"Then I'll lend him my car to run around in," the reporter suggested.

"Indeed, you'll do nothing of the kind," she promptly retorted. "He is here to study, and it's a hard course."

Coolidge is a graduate of Amherst, class of 1928. He is taking a course in transportation at Harvard.

THEFT VERDICT IS PROTESTED

Accused in Airplane Theft Plans Appeal

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 2. (UP)—William W. McBoyle, Dubuque, Iowa, today planned an appeal to higher courts, against his conviction on a charge of aiding in stealing and transporting a stolen airplane. McBoyle's motion for a new trial was refused Saturday by Federal Judge E. S. Vaught who sentenced McBoyle to three years in the federal penitentiary and to pay fine of $2,000.

McBoyle, owner of the airport at Dubuque, was charged with aiding in bringing a stolen plane into Iowa from Illinois, where it was held on seizure for transportation of liquor. It was the first conviction in federal court on Dyer act charges, covering theft of an airplane, the court holding that an airplane was a motor vehicle.

MOODY CALLS THIRD SESSION

Tax Bills Expected to Run Too High

likely some less than this sum. It is apparent to my mind that these appropriations exceed the prospective income for the period during which they must be paid.

The governor's decision came during the closing hours of the second called session just as both houses were winding up the business for sine die adjournment.

Call Opposed

The educational bill had hung fire for several days and a strenuous effort had been put forward to get it through and complete more than four months of legislating. The legislature convened in regular session on Jan. 8 and continued in session for six days over two months. It was later called in first and second called sessions.

There was a movement on foot to try to persuade the governor to defer the call until Monday.

Senator Tom Pollard, chairman of the senate finance committee, entered upon a long speech against the governor's action in vetoing the bills.

"I deplore the fact that the legislature feels the necessity to appropriate the maximum of state income under the highest tax rate allowed under the constitution," the governor said. "I do not believe such a necessity exists. I do not believe that the people of Texas want the legislature to be niggardly or stingy in support of its institutions or departments, but I know that they want economy practiced by the legislature, the institutions and the departments. There is no security against extravagance or waste except the fidelity of the public officers and employes. When the amount of money expended in past years in support of the government is considered, I believe that you can adequately provide for all activities of the government and bring the appropriations under the present bills by a large sum of money. In 1921, that is only eight years ago, the appropriations totalled only $24,419,688. The bills passed by this legislature represent an increase of more than 100 per cent in the cost of the government in a period of eight years. Against such a rising tide in state expense, some one must stand. The tax paying public will not endorse any such ratio of increase in the cost of government and should be protected from such increases."

Both houses adjourned sine die at 11:30 p. m. Indications were that there would not be a quorum in either house tomorrow in response to the governor's proclamation.

The governor declared that the legislature was placing unfair responsibility on him when it sent him appropriations $3,000,000 or $4,000,000 in excess of the revenues and that he felt that he should not accept it.

Can't Spare It

He said that he could not spare that much money from the appropriations without possibly crippling some department or institution.

Several members went to the governor and requested that he wait a week before reconvening the legislature.

"No; I have paid your mileage twice now, and I am not going to do it again," he said.

$515,000 Expended

Bills approved by the governor for mileage and per diem show that $515,000 have been expended for expenses of the regular and two special sessions.

It was apparent that in the event the legislature should be recalled, there would be no quorum for several days. Most of the members had gone to their homes today, and the house operated with an attendance of not more than 50 at any time. It worked under an agreement that no one should raise a point of "no quorum," and that bills which developed opposition should be withdrawn.

Rites for Finch Boy Wait Father's Arrival

Funeral arrangements for Dellwyn Finch, 8-year-old Iowa Park boy who died in a Wichita Falls hospital Sunday as a result of burns received at his home Friday, will be made upon the arrival of his father, J. F. Finch, who is now en route from California to be present at the burial services.

The last word from Mr. Finch was received Monday when he was in Albuquerque, N. M. He was expected to arrive late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, it was said. No arrangements have yet been made. It has been decided to have Rev. Glen N. Neafus, pastor of the First Baptist church of Iowa Park, officiate at the services. The body is in the charge of the Tanner Undertaking company of Iowa Park.

Realtors Hear Talk On Oil Development

Belief that undeveloped oil resources in the vicinity of Wichita Falls could be made the means of developing a city here equal to or greater than Tulsa was expressed by W. W. Silk before the Wichita Falls Real Estate board at the Kemp hotel Tuesday noon.

"I believe that we have the greatest oil territory in the United States and the greatest citizenship in the nation in this community. There are 50 chances here for an independent operator to make money to one offered in Tulsa," the speaker said.

Members of the board were urged to assist in a project to drill at least 10 deep wells in Wichita county.

Extra Plane Carries Air Passengers Here

With nine passengers at the Municipal airport booked to Oklahoma City over the Braniff Airlines' northbound plane Tuesday afternoon, the Stinson Junior cabin plane recently stationed here for emergency taxi flights was pressed into service for the trip to the Oklahoma capital. Six passengers were accommodated in the through-plane from San Angelo, the remaining three being carried in the emergency ship.

Police and Fire Heads Join In Appeal for "Safety First" Fourth

As a measure for public safety during the celebration of Independence day, Frank Burns, chief of police, and J. L. McClure, chief of the fire department, issued urgent appeals Tuesday to residents of Wichita Falls to exercise care in the celebration of the holiday Thursday.

A recent report of the National Safety council indicated that 239 deaths were directly traceable to Fourth of July celebrations in 1928. And records of fire officials show that property losses amount to approximately $800,000 each year during Independence day festivities, the amount having reached $893,963 in 1927.

"Fireworks and firecrackers were among the first causes of fire to be considered under control," Chief McClure stated. "They are a menace to life in any community and parents should not permit their indiscriminate use, unfamiliar as most of us are with the potential danger to life and property of the kinds of explosives used on the Fourth.

"To avoid the suffering which inevitably follows the noisy, dangerous celebration of the Fourth, there is just one solution, and that is to substitute one that is constructive instead of destructive and more enjoyable instead of dangerous. Every resident of Wichita Falls is urged to do his part."

Of the 239 deaths reported by the safety council, drowning led the list with 116. Motor traffic came next with 76, and fireworks were the direct cause of 11 deaths and contributed to many of the traffic accidents. Firearms, which were carelessly handled, took about 12 more lives. In connection with this report, Police Chief Burns said:

"The city of Wichita Falls should concentrate its efforts in preventing accidents and deaths of any nature on the Fourth of July. Even the exercise of ordinary care would cut the number of drownings and traffic accidents to zero. All of the fatalities and serious injuries in so-called 'patriotic' activities can be traced to carelessness and foolishness.

"No man with reasonable forethought should allow his children to have free and unrestricted use of fireworks or firearms, and even though the celebrations with torches and firecrackers may be carefully watched by parents, accidents happen without warning and often leave death or painful injuries in their wake. The police department of Wichita Falls urges every citizen to discourage the use of all such dangerous explosives.

"I am pleased to see the action taken by the county commissioners in appointing two motorcycle traffic officers to help prevent accidents. These men will be particularly useful on the Fourth in relieving congestion on the Lake road and in directing traffic so as to avoid collisions."

Dallas Pastor to Lead Revival at Iowa Park

Rev. Wilbur H. White of Dallas, son of Rev. L. S. White, pastor of the First Church of Christ here, will open a two-weeks' evangelistic meeting in Iowa Park Wednesday night.

The Iowa Park meeting is being sponsored by the Church of Christ of that city, and will be held in a large tent located near the center of the business district, it was said. Music for the services will be in charge of Hobart Powell, song leader at the First Church of Christ here. Meetings are to be held at noon and 8:15 p. m. each day.

Rev. W. H. White recently retired from a pastorate in Oklahoma City to enter the evangelistic field, it was announced.

HARDINGE ON STAND AGAIN

Oil Burner Magnate Tells Of Hotel Meeting

tickets and didn't have enough sense to catch on."

Hardinge's story was a direct contradiction of Ann's testimony concerning their conversation on the railroad train where they became acquainted and of the conversation in his room at Tulsa. He also contended that he had never proposed to Miss Livingston.

"Did you tell her you were looking for a wife when you met on a train bound for Denver?" he was asked on cross-examination.

"No."

"Why did you introduce Miss Livingston as your wife in Denver?"

"I wanted to play a joke on an old friend of mine."

Hardinge became excited when Ann's attorney attempted to cross him up on his story of what happened in his room at a Tulsa hotel where she testified he had "admired her shape and symmetry of her body and said 'You would make a wonderful wife'."

"Did you admire her form as she lay asleep on the divan?" he was asked.

"I couldn't. She was covered by a raincoat," Hardinge replied.

"Did you ask her to lift her dress to her knees so you could see her legs?"

When the witness replied in the negative, Ann's lawyer said: "Well, it wasn't up to her knees."

Hardinge demanded if the attorney really wanted to know what Ann did when she awoke.

"When she woke up, she lifted her dress up to here," Hardinge said and he raised his coat high above the waist line.

"Did she do that without any suggestion from you?"

"Well, she danced a little jig for me on the floor."

"What did you think of it?"

"I didn't think there was anything vulgar about it."

In the questioning of the witness concerning Nax, Hardinge said that Miss Livingston once told him she thought so much of the publicity man that "he would be a model father for a child."

"That was when she was intimate with him," he said. "She told me she had a great affection and admiration for Nax; that she admired him because he wrote poetry and was a music lover—so much so in fact that she wanted to have a baby by him."

Hardinge became angry when the complainant's attorney pressed him for definite statements on dates and events that led up to the breach of the engagement and was warned by his own attorney to "sit down." Cross examination will continue at Wednesday's session.

Loyd Davidson Faces Second Trial July 17

MEXIA, Texas, July 2. (AP)—Loyd Davidson, already under a 99-year sentence for slaying his step-mother, Mrs. Ellen Davidson, is to be tried at Corsicana on July 17 for the death of his father, W. T. Davidson, County Attorney Carl Cannon announced here today. The case was sent to Corsicana from Groesbeck on a venue change. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davidson were slain and their home near Mexia was burned on May 2, last.

Lawton Officers Re-Take Two More Escaped Men

LAWTON, Okla., July 2. (UP)—Two more of the 10 prisoners who escaped from the Comanche county jail were brought back to Lawton late today. Officers had overtaken them at Tuttle, northeast of here. Those captured were Emerson Gilbert and Ernest Wilkerson, both awaiting trial on charges of second degree burglary. Six others were still at liberty.

IMPEACHMENT MOVE STARTED

Removal of Examiner and Others Asked

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (UP)—Impeachment of John Rogers, state examiner and inspector, and removal of Rev. Forney Hutchinson and two other members of the state board of education will be recommended to the legislature by the general investigating committee, John Head, chairman of the committee, announced today following the report of two subcommittees.

Impeachment of Rogers will be asked on three counts.

Article one will charge that Rogers approved claims of persons drawing money from the state highway department audit appropriation with the full knowledge that they were not working on the highway audit but were employed as members of his office force.

Article two which the house will be asked to vote will charge Rogers with failing to make examinations of the books of county treasurers twice a year and publish the reports once a year as required by the constitution.

Convict Paroled For Thwarting Prison Break

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 2. (AP)—Lee Smith, Randolph county trusty convict, was paroled today for his action yesterday in reporting the discovery of an abandoned automobile outside the Missouri penitentiary walls containing a loaded machine gun, an automatic pistol and several rounds of ammunition.

Smith, who is 20 years old, was issued a parole by Governor Caulfield on recommendation of the state penal board.

Murder Charge Filed In Highway Killing

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 2. (UP)—A murder charge was filed against Harold Mosely of Oklahoma City today after police asserted he had confessed to killing Clay Tracy along a road near here April 25. Tracy's body was found in a ditch, the head crushed. Mosely, arrested in Cleveland, Ohio, declared he struck Tracy over the head when the latter approached his automobile, thinking he was being held up. He threw the body in the ditch and fled, he said.

Advertising of Wichita as Oil Center Urged in Ad Club Address

Advertising of Wichita Falls as the paradise for the independent oil operator was urged by C. A. Rogers in an address on "Advertising from the Layman's Point of View" before the Ad club Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel.

"This city is different from other oil towns," the speaker said, "in the multiple opportunities which it offers to the oil men of comparatively limited means. Widespread and persistent advertising of these advantages will contribute materially to the future of Wichita Falls."

Creation of discontent in the public mind with existing qualities, styles and conditions through advertising begets prosperity, Mr. Rogers said. It results in a demand for commodities, for health, and for customs formerly regarded as inaccessible to the general public, and also aids in supplying demands already existing, the speaker added.

Money spent in advertising which amounts to an imposition on public confidence is a total loss to the advertiser and the reader, Mr. Rogers declared.

Don Ross, new president of the Ad club, presided at Tuesday's meeting.

OPTIMIST CLUB

Initiation ceremonies for Sam Gibbs, who was introduced as a new member of the Optimist club at last week's meeting, will feature the meeting Wednesday noon at the Kemp hotel, according to Ira Brown, secretary.

A musical program for the occasion has been arranged by Joel H. MacGregor.

Love Triangle Is Bared in Murder

WAYNESVILLE, Mo., July 2. (UP)—Police emerged from a 12-hour cross examination of Bernie McDaniel, 30, here today and announced they had obtained from him a written confession to the murder of Mrs. Goldie West of Richland, last May.

McDaniel was arrested with his wife at Richland Monday and questioned throughout the night by Pulaski county officers and Springfield police who had been working on the case. His confession, they said, recited a love triangle story in which the "other woman" was murdered when she insisted McDaniel give up his wife, Lootie. Mrs. West was shot three times with a revolver after a quarrel which started when she accompanied McDaniel on a ride, the prisoner said.

Legion Members To Meet Wednesday Night

Reports of delegates who attended the 13th district convention at Vernon last month, and appointment of representatives to attend the state convention at Port Arthur in August, will feature the regular meeting of the American Legion, Pat Carrigan post, at the Memorial auditorium Wednesday night at 8 o'clock.

The announcement made by Adjutant Floyd Friberg urged all members of the post to be on hand promptly at 8 o'clock.

JUDGE PASTES FINE ON HEFLIN

Senator's Son Pleads Guilty to Reckless Driving

WASHINGTON, July 2. (INS)—J. Thomas Heflin Jr., son of Senator Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama, was fined $100 today on a charge of reckless driving on June 19. His automobile crashed into the rear of a truck.

Accompanied by his father's secretary, he pleaded guilty. When arrested Heflin first told police he was under the influence of drugs, but later denied this and said he "had a few drinks."

Mrs. Sarah Joslyn To Sell W. N. U. Holdings

OMAHA, Neb., July 2. (AP)—Mrs. Sarah H. Joslyn of Omaha is negotiating for the sale of her controlling interest in the Western Newspaper Union for a consideration of at least $5,000,000. A new corporation is being organized to take over the business and will include in its personnel the present active heads of the company.

Jail Release May Be Death Warrant For Noted Gunman

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 2. (UP)—The only security left to Joe Doviche, Kansas City gunman, that of being in jail, had been denied him tonight. When Doviche was released by Chicago police after being notified by authorities here today that there were no funds for bringing him back, Kansas City officers said he had received a virtual death warrant.

He has been marked by members of his own gang for removal, police said, for the crime on which he was arrested. Doviche had robbed and wounded Willie Campo, liquor racketeer, police said, and circulars have been sent by gangsters to every city in the country for circulation to gang members instructing them to "get him" for turning the methods of his profession on one of his own colleagues.

and do homage to the rescuers when the airplane carrier H. M. S. Eagle entered the port bearing Maj. Ramon Franco, Maj. Eduardo Gallarza, Capt. Julio Ruiz de Alda and Sergeant-Mechanic Madariaga. Their plane, the Numancia, which withstood the severest tests of lashing waves in terrific gales, was with them.

This story was brought to Gibraltar by the airmen themselves.

It was their ship which saved them. In the words of Capt. Ruiz de Alda:

"We simply lost our way in the clouds. Then, because of bad weather, we had not enough fuel to reach land, and so we dropped into the Atlantic.

"There wasn't a thing we could do except wait and hope—and our expectations were not much. We attached drags to the bow of the Numancia to keep our head into the wind. These broke down, so we improvised a drag out of a gasoline funnel and, with the aid of canvas rigged as a mizzen-sail, managed somehow.

Terrific Storm

"It was most fortunate we were prepared. On the 27th, five days after we dropped into the Atlantic came a terrific storm (it was this storm which caused the general giving up of hope, it being believed the airplane could not weather it) and we lashed ourselves to the ship—and the ship and we survived.

"That was the severest test, but it was hard, waiting. Our radio's normal radius is 40 miles, but as far as we know, no one heard us, although we heard messages between the ships seeking us. We whistled and sang to keep up our spirits.

"There really wasn't anything else we could do except conserve our food and keep watch for ships—the difference between life and death.

"We did both. We conserved our food so successfully that when we were picked up, we figured we had sufficient food for another week, at the rate of one egg, six biscuits, a scrap of chocolate and a few sips of water apiece each day.

"Gallarza is our lucky boy. It was his trick at the watch that brought the rescue on the seventh day.

"It was just becoming light—about 3:30, according to our watches, which were running on Spanish time—on the morning of the 29th (Saturday) when Gallarza shouted 'dios mio!' he had sighted a ship!

"We hadn't the slightest idea of what ship it was, or whether it was hunting us. We grabbed our flares and shot them off as quickly as we could.

"The ship headed toward us and we were rescued. That was all.

"Naturally, we were as happy as we could be. It was a solemn experience, but we managed to keep up our spirits. We are most grateful to our rescuers, and also those who, we have since learned joined in that terrific hunt to save us from a watery grave."

Motoring Honeymooners Find Grief When Electra Constable Takes Car

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 2.—A car which had been stolen at Greenville early Sunday morning from the salesroom floor of the Parkinson Motor company, was recovered here Monday, with the man who had driven it away, by S. L. Tinnin, constable.

The man was given over to L. L. Porter of Greenville, sheriff of Hunt county, this morning. Clothing was found in the car that had been stolen from a Greenville tailor shop about a week ago.

The young man was accompanied by his wife and the couple stated that they were on their honeymoon, having been married shortly before leaving with the new Ford coach.

Testimony Completed In Floodway Suit

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 2. (UP)—Testimony in a second suit by southeastern Missouri farmers to halt construction of a floodway involving their land until funds to cover the damages have been appropriated by congress was completed in federal court here today. U. S. District Judge Charles W. Davis gave both sides two days to file briefs.

The present suit asks an injunction against the construction work pending assurances that the land involved will be paid for, an assurance which the farm owners claim they have not been given.

Sweetheart of Slain Man's Wife Is Sought

BATESVILLE, Ark., July 2. (UP)—Investigation of the death of Morris Osborne, 32, tonight had sent police in search of J. P. Barber, 21, asserted sweetheart of the man's wife. The victim was a prosperous merchant who, officers said, had $20,000 in life insurance.

Labor Party's Plans Are Told

king's speech and supplemented by MacDonald later, it envisages:

1. Reduction of world armaments at an early date in cooperation with the dominions and foreign powers and on the basis of proposed naval conferences with the United States as well as on the Kellogg renunciation of war treaty.

2. Acceptance of compulsory arbitration of disputes by the world court.

3. Resumption of relations with soviet Russia.

4. Evacuation of foreign troops from the Rhine valley on the basis of replacement of the Dawes reparations by acceptance of the Young plan.

Speed Avoided

The procedure to be followed in working out the naval problem as a basis for world armament reduction was not dealt with in the king's speech and there were indications that recent moves to keep developments at a moderate speed instead of rushing too rapidly would be carried out.

In the same way, the suggested visit of MacDonald to Washington for discussion with President Hoover appeared somewhat indefinite, although Stanley Baldwin discussed it extensively. Baldwin endorsed the plan for a visit and said:

"It is necessary for the prime minister to go to the United States because the president cannot come to England. I am convinced that such a visit will be welcomed in the United States but I hope neither the prime minister nor this country expect too much from one visit. I hope he will not attempt to do too much on his first visit."

Concessions to Liberals

Certain concessions, especially one for reform of the electoral law, as outlined in the king's speech, were made towards the Liberals who appeared ready to accept the Labor program as far as the broad principles laid down today were concerned.

MacDonald said it is essential Britain secure better relations with the United States and said that through the conversations with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, "there is no time being lost in agreeing on procedure."

"The Kellogg treaty has been signed by practically all nations concerned," he said, "and the government is anxious to build upon that pact a disarmament policy which will recognize the pact as a living and controlling influence upon international policy.

"It is well known, however, that a preliminary understanding between America and ourselves is necessary if success is to crown our efforts. These are the ideas on which we are beginning."

The opening of parliament was shorn of its usual color by the absence of King George, whose health still prevents his taking part in such functions. The king returned to Buckingham palace only yesterday.

The ceremony was performed with full Masonic ritual.

MARJORIE ENDS AIR VACATION

Falls and Tulsa," to use his own emphatic terms.

I had only a short time in the city which I found to be earnestly engaged in eating lunch and lifting up its voice in the song and oratory of a multitude of civic luncheon clubs. Bits of sound that I daresay were meant to be tunes escaped through every important looking door about hotels and municipal buildings, and the acclaim of hand clapping and of energetic exhortation filled the lobbies. As we soared above the city, heading southwest toward Wichita Falls, I thought I caught the last faint strains of the day's final club song lifted to us through the air. But then that might possibly have been the mate explaining the use of the cotton ear stoppers to the hardy flier on my left.

The "Miss Sweetwater," the ship which launched me on my journeys last Friday morning and bore me back again, carried seven passengers. W. T. Knight, president of the Consolidated Oil company of Texas, completing a flight from St. Louis, was among them. F. L. Herle, 1705 Lucile, and D. H. Hyler, superintendent of the Continental Oil company, were flying back from Oklahoma City. Then there was Milton I. Gaines, of the Gaines Motor company here, explaining how things have changed since that first flight in an army ship in France when a French pilot took him across the German lines and thought his English entreaties for a return were expressions of enthusiasm and encouragement. Mr. Gaines had dirven through the rain and mud all night to reach Oklahoma City and he looked down upon the slippery roads beneath us with an expression of peculiar satisfaction during the 50 minutes it took us to go back over the distance.

Cotton in General's Ears

We were honored also by no less a personage than Gen. Alvin T. Niles, of the Organized Reserve Corps, on his way from Tulsa to Sweetwater. His rank intrigued me but there was something about the military aspect of the general's countenance that did not encourage the impertinence of questioning. Moreover, the cabin of a trimotored ship is not precisely the most quiet and restful atmosphere for conducting a tactful and prolonged interview. My third alibi is concerned with the great mass of cotton which projected from the general's ears, leading me to suspect that my most determined screaching might lead to nothing more enlightening than an answering "Eh?" But the mate is adept in the manly art of out-roaring the motors, so I wrote him a note and learned just what variety of a general General Niles is, and that he spends much of his time cruising by air between Los Angeles, Tulsa, and Mexico City. This present journey, it seems, is concerned with business rather than military affairs.

Across from the general sat Miss Gracia Tarman, smiling and only mildly stirred by this, the first flight of her 45 years. She flew down to visit her sister, Mrs. Enola Garner, at 2016 Collins, and having tried her wings, expects to take the airways back again.

The winds which had resisted our northward flight gave us a lift on the way in, and the Miss Sweetwater approached Red river 10 minutes ahead of schedule. We had left at 2, and at 2:50 the river wound below us, with Burkburnett a little to the right and the white walls of the Wichita Mill and Elevator looming above Wichita Falls. Almost immediately the motors were shut down to idling speed and we were on the field before 3 o'clock.

Final Audit

Which brings me to a final auditing of accounts in an effort to tell just what it cost me, or would cost you, to spend 11 traveling hours in the air and the rest of five days visiting as many cities. For I'll have to slice off that luxurious stolen detour from Tulsa to Fort Worth. It wasn't on schedule and it involved a doubling up in the routing which would come about by only such auspicious accidents. To itemize, there's a sum of $118 in flying fare, to cover a trip of 1,180 miles. Then $16 for hotel bills for four nights, meals for one of a catholic appetite amount to $12.50, with a little added here and there for tips and no excuses made for the omniverous. All the entertainment which I found necessary to fill days already glamourous with an eagle's view of the world came to an additional $15, but then, that's all a matter of taste. All of which, added with at least an intention of accuracy, gives me a vacation to tempt the gods for the total cost of $161.50.

Dismissed Co-Ed Sues Professor for $10,000

JONESBORO, Ark., July 2. (UP)—The charge on which Dr. J. N. Mallory, president of Jonesboro college, dismissed a young lady student today was made the basis for a slander suit against him, asking $10,000. The student, Miss Pansy Rogers, Leachville, Ark., charged her reputation was damaged by an assertion she was "indiscreet" in her relations with a boy student who also was dismissed along with Miss Rogers' mother who managed the girls' dining hall at the college. The boy's name was withheld.

Nervous Women Praise Capudine

Delicately poised women who suffer from high nerve strain and nervous pains, such as periodic pains, headache and pains in the back and sides are high in their praise of Capudine because it quickly soothes the tense nerves and relieves the pain.

Being liquid, Capudine acts almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach. Sold by druggists in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

Abbreviated Divorce Trial Gives Decree to Wife of Eugene O'Neill

RENO, Nev., July 2. (UP)—Eugene O'Neill, noted New York playwright, and his wife were divorced here today, the decree being granted to Agnes O'Neill after a trial behind locked doors that lasted only 15 minutes.

Newspapermen and the public were barred from the courtroom while Mrs. O'Neill gave brief testimony to uphold her charges on desertion, regarded as a technical charge since an agreement on the divorce apparently had already been reached by the couple.

A cowpuncher and his wife who operate the "Dude" ranch where Mrs. O'Neill has been living for three months were the only other witnesses, being called only to affirm that legal residence requirements had been fulfilled by the wife.

Before they were married in Massachusetts in 1918, the author of "Strange Interlude" and many other dramatic successes, and his wife agreed that a divorce should be obtained in the event either ever became interested in someone else. Whether this was the cause for the action could not be ascertained.

LAKE WICHITA PONDS FAVORED

Walton League Studies Needs Here

Investigation of the possibility of establishing rearing ponds at Lake Wichita to improve its fishing stock was given to a committee appointed Tuesday night by Ben G. Oneal, president of the local chapter of the Izaak Walton league.

Resolutions expressing gratitude to the Izaak Walton league of Oklahoma for its assistance in obtaining passage recently of the special Red river hunting license bill were adopted in the meeting Tuesday night.

About 30 members of the chapter were present.

IN THE MANNER OF ULYSSES

Daily Editorial

WHILE THE erudite Mr. Tunney salubriates abroad and highbrows with George Bernard Shaw, Herr Schmeling and Senor Paulino debate their respective rights to shake mitts with Jack Sharkey.

Forty thousand-odd spectators, at Mrs. Hearst's milk fund elimination tournament, scarcely see more of the main bout than a human lightning-bug flitting above the stadium, advertising the merits of So-and-so motor oils on illuminated aeroplane wings.

Beef, biff and bam suffice to describe the preliminaries. And the several zealous young men, who emerge therefrom with less blood, more nose and larger ears than they brought from training camp, hardly inspire sporting astronomers to jot their names in the suspense list of fistic stars.

Expectant appetites, having been thoroughly whetted with chopped meat, the Basque and the Teuton take corners.

Calcium flares, cameras click, the gong clangs, and with visions of million-dollar gates and the glare of Kleigs in their eyes, the pride of Germany and the peasant from the Pyrenees glide into action.

Dismiss the gladiatorial poses of John L. and Kid McCoy from memory. Nothing reminiscent of Gentleman Jim or the great dancing masters is here revealed.

The Spaniard assumes the grotesque crouch that has hitherto bewildered and baffled local pugs, lowers a bullet head, defensively draws columnar, corded neck into huge muscle-padded shoulders, and with arm-wrapped chest prepares to dumfound an upright, straight-jabbing boxer.

But to his own and general surprise, he finds himself gazing into a human mirror.

Schmeling has trumped his ace and stolen his thunder, by abandoning his personal technique and conforming tactics to the bizarre, homemade strategy of the mountaineer.

INSTEAD OF watching a boxing contest, we behold a pair of armadillos, each tightly curled within impenetrable shells—circling brow to brow—tapping, tapping in endless tattoo, with sudden whips to exposed kidney areas and occasional but abortive smashes to heart and jaw.

Round after round of short-coupled, vicious, little punches and wicked uppercuts—while disappointed galleries mutter and boo, and nearer seat-holders vainly crane for glimpses of prying, prodding gloves.

As brilliant and thrilling as a battle among canned sardines! But in reality, the re-staged drama of Ulysses and Cyclops!

Paulino's thumps increasing land upon Schmeling's purpling ribs. But the unwincing, single-minded Teuton "pushes through to Paris" with as regular rights and lefts on nose, mouth and eye—eye, mouth and nose.

Nothing diverts him from a fixed objective. There's just one way to win—and he doggedly confides a potential fortune to instructed attack.

Nine rounds, ten rounds, eleven rounds, twelve rounds of thud, thud, thud—in clinch and out—and, at last, a blinded giant staggers from the persistent torture, lunging at random, aimlessly flailing the air, wiping gory cheeks and desperately gambling now-or-never button-ringers on an unreachable pile-driver, who finally hurls his reserves to the front and batters an impotent meal-sack to the ropes.

Shrewdness and cunning—infinite resource and vigilance—brains, brawn and poise—there you have Schmeling.

A destined champion, but not in the tradition of popular idolatry!

His self-control and implacable ferocity smack too much of the robot. Mr. Sullivan offered similar entertainment for far less and gave a much better show for the money.

Veterans of the world war shouldn't throw away their trench hats. There always will be friendly little games of bridge in which they may be worn to advantage.

The Creative Artist in the Business World

AMERICA comes in for a good deal of high toned criticism, every so often, because of the way it "glorifies" its business men. Foreign born visitors and native born novelists have told us repeatedly that we are a small souled, dollar worshiping folk because we have so much respect for our great industrialists. The theory seems to be that any man who can write even a third-rate novel or paint even a fifth-rate picture has something of the divine spark in him, while the factory owner or railroad magnate is a crass, unimaginative and utterly sordid sort of chap.

Perhaps all of this is quite true. But now and then it seems as if our finest artists—our most imaginative creative workers—are in truth the business leaders.

Consider, for instance, the two famous Van Sweringen brothers of Cleveland.

The outlines of their story are quite familiar. They started out as real estate developers, prospered, bought a railroad, prospered with it, bought several more, built a vast union terminal for their home city and put together one of the largest railroad systems in the country out of the lines they had bought.

They made themselves very rich doing it. On the face of it, there seems no reason to claim any especial creative genius for them.

Ye they are artists—using an entire city as their medium.

They have taken scores of square miles of rolling country land outside of Cleveland and transformed it into home sites. That, to be sure, has been done by any number of real estate operators; but the Van Sweringens have done it in a new way. They have put these suburbs far out in the country, away from noise and smoke and dirt—and then have used their railroad lines to make these outlying villages actually closer to the heart of the city, in point of time, than other neighborhoods not half so far away in actual miles.

They have done this on such a scale that the whole future development of Cleveland is being changed. Indeed, it is predicted that the population of the city itself may actually decrease in the next few years, because so many citizens are moving to the new suburbs.

Now this is something more than the work of ordinary real estate men. It is a movement of extreme importance. It may, quite conceivably, point the way in the matter of urban development for the whole country, and solve the perplexing problem of the modern city—how to grow in size and yet provide decent living conditions for the inhabitants.

The work these brothers are doing is making Cleveland a beautiful, charming city. It is, quite literally, making a better sort of life possible for many thousands of people. It is alleviating the worst features of our urban civilization.

Who can deny that business men of this type are creative geniuses as well? Do such men need to tip their hats to supercilious scribblers?

The Menace of Noise

THE CHICAGO HEALTH COMMISSIONER, Dr. Arnold M. Kegel, has taken up a subject that we have been yearning for years to see some such official tackle. He has issued a blast at the great volume of unnecessary noise that pervades all of our cities.

Most of this noise, he says, is unnecessary, and could be avoided by the use of proper equipment or the exercise of a little forethought. But we are so used to it that we do not bother to figure out ways of eliminating it.

Yet noise, Dr. Kegel points out, is an actual menace to health. It seriously impairs efficiency, reduces the amount of rest one gets during sleeping hours and may even cause an actual breaking down of the nervous system.

A few years ago every city assumed that an overhanging smoke cloud was a necessary evil. Then health officials got busy, and now the smoke clouds are being eliminated. The same thing—let us hope devoutly—may happen with the city's noise. It is a harmful thing that can be got rid of if we set ourselves to the job.

It Has Its Benefits

SENATOR BINGHAM'S proposal that congressional immunity to the law of libel be abolished, so that a speech delivered in congress be subject to action in the courts just the same as any speech delivered by a private citizen, is not as attractive as it may look at first glance.

To be sure, some senators and congressmen do, occasionally, give vent to wild and irresponsible statements under protection of their immunity. Yet, in the long run, the benefits to the country at large outweigh the drawbacks.

Congress is a place for plain speaking. Would the Teapot Dome situation, for instance, have been exposed so thoroughly if the libel law had been hanging over the heads of the senators who uncovered that mess of corruption?

TOONERVILLE FOLKS By Fontaine Fox

The GREEN SHADOW - By Herman Landon

(Copyright by Public Ledger)

Police Captain Summers is meditating on the escapades of the Picaroon, whom he is convinced is really his friend, Martin Dale. Mr. Alexander Ferryman calls to relate a tale of strange happenings at 262 Bank street and requests police investigation. Axelson, a watchman employed by Ferryman, has heard footsteps and seen an eerie green light. Ferryman, in showing the captain a picture when the telephone rings. A voice tells of finding a woman's body at the above address—the dead woman is Ferryman's wife. Summers finds only one clue, a bit of green lens.

Meantime, the Picaroon has written a note to Adele Castle requesting a meeting in Central Park. Adele has had a terrifying experience. Taken by a mysterious Miss Conway to a strange light through which she could glimpse only the faint outline of a man, calling himself Dr. Moffett, she is told that her father has been connected with a crooked financial deal. Dr. Moffett demands $100,000 for his silence and certain papers.

Adele and Dale meet. He tells her he was present during her strange interview with Dr. Moffett, and promises to help her. Dale also meets Adele's friend, Paul Ainsworth. They become suspicious of one another. Dale "on his own" enters the house where the murder occurred and is trapped within by Summers. Ferryman and Axelson, who discover Dale taking a rope of pearls from behind a sliding panel. Dale darkens the room, throws Axelson through a window, and in the resultant confusion escapes.

Summers at luncheon next day receives a note and package from the Picaroon. In the package he finds the missing pearls.

Meantime, Mr. Moffett is getting anxious and telephones, giving Miss Castle just 24 hours in which to make payment to save her father from disgrace and prosecution.

Dale draws cash from his bank and makes an appointment with Adele. He then visits the Ferryman home, agreeing to capture the murderer within a week.

$50,000

"There—there, it's going to be all right. How did Dr. Moffett sound over the phone?"

"He was very suave, but also very positive. He said certain circumstances had arisen which would oblige him to resort to extreme measures unless his terms are fulfilled within 24 hours."

"You haven't told your father that?"

"Oh, no. What would be the use of worrying him? I know that at present he couldn't possibly produce $100,000, or even a small part of it. Oh, what shall we do?"

Dale smiled reassuringly, although his heart was heavy. Last night the problem had seemed as good as solved. Tonight it was as difficult as ever. He glanced at his watch.

"Where is the telephone?"

"In the hall, just outside the door."

"Can you trust the servants?"

"Oh, yes. They have been with us for years, and they are absolutely honest and reliable."

Dale went lightly across the floor. With a quick perk he flung the door open. A portly manservant straightened up abruptly and shrank away with a startled and shamefaced air.

"Hello," said Dale, "what's up?"

The servant, thick, round-faced and portly, cringed within his conventional black garb.

"I—I only wished to see if Miss Castle was in the drawing room, sir. She left orders she was to be called if wanted on the telephone, and I thought I would make sure where to find her."

"Oh, I see. Do you always peep through keyholes when you are looking for your mistress?"

"Keyholes, sir? Why, I—I——"

"That will do," said Dale, and closed the door. "You see, Miss Castle?"

"That was Wambley," the girl murmured perplexedly. "I never imagined he would do a thing like that. Do you suppose Doctor Moffett has bribed him?"

"Doubtless. If so——"

He paused, but his brows went up as if he had suddenly conceived an idea. He pursued it silently. If Wambley were in Doctor Moffett's pay, then it might be possible to shake a few truths out of his portly hide. "It shows we must be careful," he added.

She looked at her watch. "Doctor Moffett will telephone in a few minutes. What shall I tell him?"

"Tell him you are ready to deliver one-half of the amount now and will give him the balance of the $100,000 later."

"What?" she exclaimed.

"I don't think the doctor expects payment in one lump sum," Dale explained. "One hundred thousand dollars is too bulky for easy handling. He will be satisfied with half for the present."

"But that's fifty thousand! Where would I get all that money?"

"Here," said Dale, and handed her the packet he had received at the bank.

She took it mechanically, looked at it, turned it over with a dazed air, and shook her head.

"But I—I can't accept——"

"No arguments," Dale interrupted. "We haven't much time. When Doctor Moffett telephones, he will probably set a time and place for the delivery of the money. Tell him you have fifty thousand now and expect to have the balance within a week."

"But I can't accept fifty thousand from you, not even as a loan."

"Nonsense! I am only making you the temporary custodian of $2,048, and I expect to get every penny of it back."

She stared at him for a moment, then looked down at the money in her hand. Her spirits buoyed upward with a little laugh.

"Oh, I see! I hand Doctor Moffett or his agent this packet, and in return he will hand me the evidence without suspecting the padded packet. But——"

Her face fell.

"Yes, there is a but," said Dale. "Doctor Moffett will be suspicious. He knows we are not going to hand him so much money until we have tried everything else. On the other hand, we know that Doctor Moffett isn't going to kill the goose he expects to lay the golden egg."

She nodded thoughtfully. "Yes, I see that now. I don't know what I would do if you weren't here to reason things out for me. I've been too worried to think. This money——"

"This is our first card in the game we are playing with Doctor Moffett. Tomorrow morning you will have the two larger bills marked in the presence of two reliable witnesses. A small cross or an intial will do. We are going to force Doctor Moffett to play one of his trumps."

She brightened again. "I am positively thrilled'" she declared.

Wambley's stately form appeared at the door. "There is a gentleman on the telephone," he announced.

The girl rose, a little tremor at the corner of her lips. Dale gave her an encouraging smile as she walked out. Wambley held the door open and stood bowing until she had passed through, then he started to follow.

"Oh, Wambley," said Dale evenly. The servant turned and regarded him with respectful but uneasy attention.

"Please close the door and come here," Dale added. "I have something to say to you."

Passively the servant obeyed. His face, round and sleek as a swollen apple, showed no expression. He passed into the light where Dale stood leaning carelessly against an antique cabinet.

"Don't be bashful, Wambley. Closer, please."

Wambley advanced until the soft, clear light fell full on his pudgy face. Dale, toying with his watch chain, merely looked at him with his steady, faintly smiling gaze. Moments passed, and still he said nothing. Wambley was growing uneasy. He shifted his weight, swallowed and twisted his neck. His eyes fell beneath the level, humorous scrutiny of Dale's gray eyes. And still Dale only looked and looked and said nothing.

"Wambley," he asked at length, when the silent inspection had proceeded to the limit of the servant's endurance, "what is your price?"

"Sir?"

"I mean, what is the present market value of your honesty and loyalty?"

Wambley jerked his head back for a moment. "I don't understand, sir."

"Then I'll speak more plainly. How much do you receive for your services as a spy?"

"Spy?" The portly form shook a little. A look of indignation came into the chubby face. "This is too much, sir!"

"No indignation, please, Wambley. You can't do it convincingly. What I want to know is," and he paused and bent his head closer to the servant's, "how much is Paul Ainsworth paying you?"

Wambley jerked his head back with a gasp. His face turned pale. Dale laughed.

"Thanks, Wambley. You have told me all I want to know. On second thought I won't bid against Ainsworth. He is probably paying you all you are worth. You may go."

The servant stammered something, moistened his lips, and turned quickly away. At the same moment Miss Castle returned. A look of perplexity entered her anxious face as she glanced from Dale to Wambley.

"What did you say to him?" she inquired when the door closed behind the servant. "I'm sure he looked flustered enough."

"I just asked him a few questions. He is Dr. Moffett's spy, as we suspected, but he isn't clever enough to be really dangerous. What did you hear from the enemy?"

Her head drooped a little. Her lips quivered. "He told me he has a friend on the district attorney's staff—a deputy or something. To-morrow he intends to mail a packet transcript of the evidence to this friend, with instructions on the envelope that it is not to be opened until the following day. I am to give the money to his representative tomorrow night, at the Mummers Frolic."

Dale's eyes widened. "So that's it! At the Mummers' Frolic? There will be hundreds of people at that giddy affair. How is Dr. Moffett's agent to identify himself?"

"By a password. He is to use the two words, 'yellow' and 'blue' in a single sentence."

"Appropriate!" Dale laughed after a moment's thought. "Yellow and blue. Mix them and you have green. Green is the intermediate between yellow and blue in the spectrum. So that's his little game! If you give him the money tomorrow night, he will go to the district attorney's office next day and reclaim the envelope.

"If you fail, the district attorney will have not only the transcript, but Dr. Moffett will give him the original documents as well. Was that what he threatened to do?"

"Yes; exactly."

"Well," said Dale, musingly, "I think it is a bluff, at least as far as the transcript of evidence is concerned; but we can't be sure. Anyway, it's a good bluff. Once the transcript reaches the district attorney's office, the thing is final and irrevocable, subject only to your compliance with Dr. Moffett's demands. You agreed, of course?"

"Yes"—she forced a little smile—"with tears in my eyes and a catch in my throat."

"I'll wager your acting was perfect. Did Dr. Moffett express a willingness to accept fifty thousand on account?"

"He said it would be satisfactory, and that in return he will give me half the documents."

"And you will be at the Mummers' Frolic tomorrow night?"

"Yes; I got tickets three weeks ago."

"It's an odd thing," Dale's eyes twinkled. "So did I. Didn't mean to go; but now—will you reserve a dance for me?"

"Two," she promised.

"I'm a lucky beggar," said Dale, airily. "By the way, is Mr. Ainsworth to be there?"

"No." She looked at him curiously, as if puzzled by the strange quality in his voice. "Paul has another engagement."

Dale's eyes were intent for a moment. "All settled then."

"Except what I'm going to wear." Her brow wrinkled as she contemplated the eternal question. "Oh, I know! I shall go as a Spanish gypsy—as Carmen, maybe. And you?"

"I?" He smiled whimsically. "I shall go as the Picaroon."

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, July 3.—We were talking about H. G. Wells' latest book, his idea of a gigantic scenario called "A King Who Was a King." The moving picture world generally has agreed that his proposed film would be a failure because in spite of whatever brilliance it contains it lacks "sex appeal" and "woman interest." Those at the table were inclined to scoff at Wells' cinema ideas.

But then Terry Ramsaye, author of "A Million and One Nights: a History of the Motion Picture" and editor in chief of Pathe's non-dramatic productions, spoke up:

"The fact is," he said, "Wells has a just claim to some knowledge of the film industry. He came close to being the pioneer of the movies. When he wrote 'The Time Machine' he and a friend sought a means of making the public see what Wells visualized in dramatic picture form. They experimented on the very factors that had some basis in the invention and conception of the modern motion picture."

Which only goes to prove that H. G. Wells seems to know quite a good deal about everything.

Hiding Behind Pseudonyms

Famous collectors these days are finding it convenient, even necessary, to adopt fictitious names while attending auction sales. They do not want publicity for the reason that it brings, among other things, aspiring artists, too much notoriety and too many burglars.

When a piece of furniture was recently purchased by a "Henry F. Winthrop" it later was revealed that he was none other than Henry F. DuPont, anxious to keep his identity secret. William Randolph Hearst adopted, for a time the name of W. H. Woods, but it was discovered. Sir Joseph Duveen, it is said, never gives a name, but opens and closes his mouth to indicate a bid, always sitting in the front seat so that he may be seen, but not heard by the auctioneer.

Broadway's Like That

Jere McAulife gave Eddie Dowling his first job on the stage and now Jere is working for him. . . . A famous star, Mary Ellis, is being backed in her stage appearances by her father who is equipped with a large bankroll. But she's a good actress, just the same. . . . Jonny O'Connor, the author of "Broadway Racketeers" is thinking of writing another book to be called "Oh You Boob." It is Johnny's observation that the racketeer usually is the biggest sap after all. . . . At this writing they are still dancing in that marathon dance in Madison Square garden, but the newspapers aren't paying much attention to it. The dancers, like other racketeers, thrive on publicity and when publicity falls down they suffer. You can't do much these days without some kind of advertising. Even flagpole sitters suffer from lack of attention.

Golf for Children

Not that it matters but Mrs. H. P. Davison is going to organize here a novel organization to be known as "A Junior Golf Association," for children between the ages of 7 and 16 of the wealthy residents in the exclusive North Shore district of Long Island. The organization will have its own course and clubhouse. A nine-hole course has been designed, in fact.

That's the report and I'll leave it to the professional wise crackers to make their own jokes about it.

That Hudson Bridge

When the new Hudson river bridge is completed it will convert part of Riverside drive into a Grand Corniche, resembling the Riviera. The bridge will have four roadways, each 20 feet wide and will provide an intricate system of stone ramps, graceful arches and walled roads winding along the boarders of a terraced park overlooking the Hudson from the Manhattan side.

The whole arrangement will create one of the most beautiful bridges of its kind in the world.

Eliminating Gall Stones

As gall stones are formed from the salts of solidified bile, it is often possible to dissolve these stones through changing the quality or quantity of the bile which is being formed. It takes years for gall stones to develop, and may take months or even years to dissolve them enough so that they will pass out of the gall bladder.

I have found that the most rapid means of bringing about a breaking down of the gall stones is through various forms of the fruit fast. During the fasting regime the cementing material holding the salts together will be more rapidly dissolved than it can be while the patient is living on only a restricted diet. Of course, the one who suffers from gall stones cannot be on the fruit fast all of the time, but a series of fasts with a restricted diet between times will prove very effective.

In some cases the gall bladder is so filled with gall stones as to almost resemble a bag of marbles. In these cases it is unreasonable to expect a complete cure. If the gall bladder is completely filled with stones, it is an evidence that it has taken many years for these to accumulate.

Frequently the functioning of the gall bladder is so impaired that it is impossible to get enough flow of bile through this organ to bring about the dissolution of the stones. In these cases, the best method of treatment is with surgery. If such a case is properly prepared before the operation, and the operation performed by a skilled surgeon, there is only a small amount of danger to the operation.

Those whose gall bladders contain only a few stones, or who are uncertain about the diagnosis should at least try a fasting cure before falling back on the operation. The best way to start the fasting treatment is to use the olive oil and grapefruit juice treatment. For several nights just before going to sleep, patient should take a mixture of four ounces of olive oil and four ounces of grapefruit juice. This mixture seems to stimulate the flow of bile more rapidly and does this better than any other treatment which I have ever had patients use. While on this treatment, the patient should take an orange or grapefruit fast during the daytime, using from four to eight ounces of the fruit juice every two hours. Those who are made nauseated by the olive oil can be content with just the fruit juice fasting. The fast should be continued for from five to 10 days and repeated, if necessary, every few weeks, patient using a diet in between times composed principally of non-starchy vegetables with small amounts of such proteins as eggs and meat. No starches or sugars should be used during this time.

Other fruits may also be used in season, but the citrus fruit fast seems to be the best in the treatment of all gall bladder disorders. If those who have gall stones or any other gall bladder disorder will try this treatment and then write to me, giving me a report about results, I will be glad to send any further instructions which I think might be helpful.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Heart Murmurs in Children

Question—Mrs. W. M. writes: "The doctors tell me that my little girl has heart murmur. Is it dangerous? Will she outgrow it? What causes it?"

Answer—Many young children through childhood and even adolescence will be found to have heart murmurs if a careful examination is made. In many cases such functional defects will disappear as the child's muscular system becomes more completely developed. Most cases can be cured within a short time by a treatment through dieting and exercising. The diet should consist of those foods and food combinations which do not produce excessive gas. The exercise should be with calisthenics carefully regulated by a physical instructor.

Gas in Ear

Question—N. L. H. asks: "Is there such a thing as gas in the inner ear, and how would it affect a person, and what are the symptoms? Is there a cure?"

Answer—There is an air passage from the throat to the inner ear so that an equal pressure of air should exist on both sides of the ear drum. Sometimes this eustachian tube becomes blocked and discharges form in the inner ear, making a pressure against the drum which is caused by a combination of the discharges and the air in the inner ear. This makes the feeling of pressure and often causes pain. Any ear specialist can temporarily open this tube and let out the air, and even the discharges will drain. Of course, a permanent cure depends upon removing the causes which produce the excessive discharge.

Yeast

Question—M. H. writes: "I am troubled with stomach and intestinal gas. Would yeast be apt to cause more gas?"

Answer—Yeast will cause more gas if used with a meal. If you want to experiment with the yeast treatment, take it when the stomach is empty.

Watchman's Failing Sight Leads to Suicide

CHICAGO, July 2. (UP)—Failing sight cost Frank Garthen, 74, his job as night watchman a few days ago and it was with the greatest effort that he manipulated a pen as he sat in his small hotel room.

On the river side of a "do not disturb" sign, Garthen scrawled in wavering capitals the following notice:

"Dead man inside."

A porter, alarmed by the odd notice on the outside of Garthen's door, called the proprietor who entered the room and found the old night watchman dead with a bullet through his brain. A note in the same crooked capitals said, "only eighty dollars left. Use it for the funeral."

Arctic Ice Conditions Worst in 70 Years

OSLO, July 2. (UP)—Ice conditions in the Arctic sea were characterized by reports received here today as the worst in 70 years. Many steamers have been unable to penetrate the heavy masses of ice. SPORTS WIN 13TH STRAIGHT BY TAKING SECOND HALF OPENER

SPUDDERS LOSE 5 TO 4 DECISION

Wichita Outhits Shreveport Double, 12 to 6

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, La., July 2.—It wasn't lack of pitching that caused the defeat of the Spudders today. Nor, for that matter, was it a dearth of hitting. It was just one of those days when a ball club had both good pitching and hitting and then couldn't win. George Payne and Milt Steengrafe held the Sports to six hits while the Spudders hammered 12 blows—but Shreveport won the opener of the two-game series and the first contest of the second half of the split season.

Ernie Holman's home run in the seventh inning broke a 4-4 tie and won the ball game.

Stapleton and Hermann clouted three hits each, including a home run by Duke. Fitzgerald and Sullivan had two hits each.

None of the Sports got more than one blow.

Sports Play Errorlessly

Shreveport played errorlessly while the Spudders made three misplays.

Hermann clouted his homer over the left field wall in the second inning but the Sports tallied two in the third. Woehrs singled and scored on Estrada's double to right. Estrada moved to third while Hermann was throwing out Whelan. Estrada tallied when Payne threw wild trying to catch him off third.

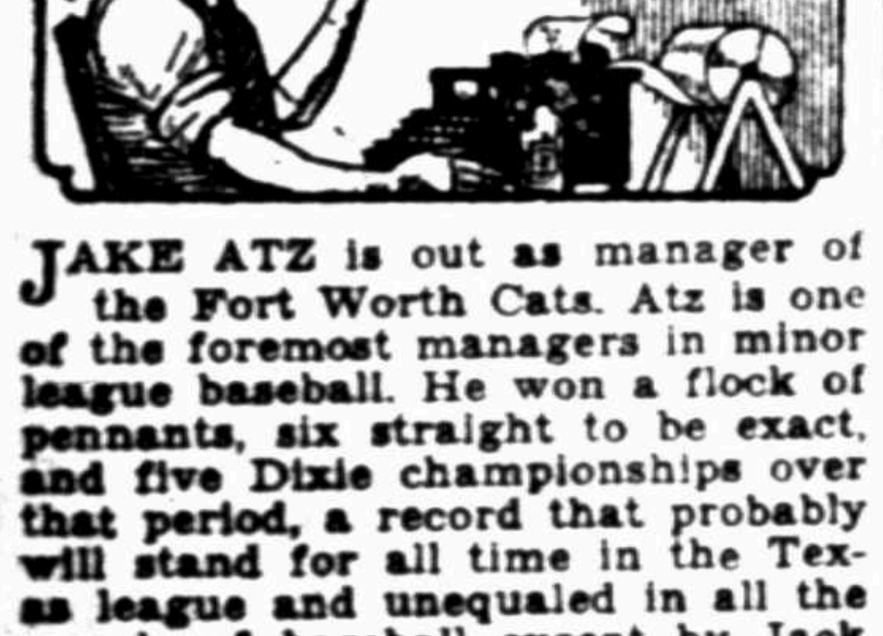

Wichita Falls counted three in the fourth. Fitzgerald doubled and scored on Stapleton's single. Hermann singled. Sullivan hit for two bases, scoring Stapleton and advancing Hermann to third. Lapan was purposely passed filling the bases. Hermann tallied while Woehrs and Stewart were retiring Lapan on Payne's grounder.

Shreveport Ties Score

Shreveport tied the count in the sixth. Thompson, who had replaced Estrada in the Spudder half, singled. Whelan doubled, Thompson stopping at third. Hermann threw wide to first on Stewart's bounder, Thompson scoring and Whelan going to third. Cashion beat out a roller to Payne, Whelan scoring.

The Spudders filled the bases in the ninth but with two out Thompson deflected Hermann's smash to enable Stewart to throw him out.

Today's victory was the thirteenth in succession for the Sports. Stewart handled 12 chances, several of them difficult.

JAKE ATZ is out as manager of the Fort Worth Cats. Atz is one of the foremost managers in minor league baseball. He won a flock of pennants, six straight to be exact, and five Dixie championships over that period, a record that probably will stand for all time in the Texas league and unequaled in all the annals of baseball except by Jack Dunn, who piloted his Baltimore Orioles to seven consecutive championships in the International league.

Atz has accomplished as much or more than any manager could have achieved with the material at hand since Fort Worth won its last pennant in 1925. His teams always have been first division contenders and dangerous. They hustled and played smart baseball. But the Fort Worth fans missed their pennants and like fans of New York, Wichita Falls and Podunk, a change of managers was demanded.

FRANK SNYDER succeeds to the mantle as Fort Worth pilot. Snyder won the pennant with the Houston club last season, with one of the best teams that ever played in the Texas league. He is a capable manager. But he couldn't win ball games with the Houston cub this season and he can't win ball games at Fort Worth better than Atz without winning ball players.

HAVE THE Spudders shot their bolt? The answer is yes, though that affirmative assertion is to be qualified. It is entirely a matter of pitching, and pitching is something the Wichita Falls club has not had. An attack more dangerous than that of any club in the league is about all that has kept the Spudders near the top in the first half. It is obvious that there must be a great and speedy improvement in the chucking if the Spudders are to occupy a high place in the standing at the end of the season.

Save for George Payne, the Wichita Falls hurling has been inconsistent or mediocre. Milt Steengrafe and Harold Wiltse has been disappointments. Steengrafe, winner of more than 20 games last year, was figured on pre-season calculations to be the foremost pitcher in the league and certain to advance to higher company this campaign. Wiltse, coming to the Spudders after several years service in the American league, was regarded as almost certain to be a worthy successor to Fred Fussell and Mike Cvengros, superb southpaws who preceded him in recent years as star lefthander of the club and league.

Neither Wiltse nor Steengrafe has fulfilled expectations. Both have pitched good ball at times. But a majority of their games have been marred by unsteadiness and one or two bad innings that caused defeat or were won through direful clubbing by their comrades.

BIG CY SMITH has shown flashes of mound skill to indicate there is a possibility he will be a winner. Cy has been the victim of loose support by his teammates in recent starts and he could not be judged on those showings. Galeria and Goff apparently are good only for an inning or two of effective pitching and Skinny O'Neal, in his two starts, has been batted off the hill.

Pat Newman, cagy skipper of the San Antonio Indians, made the observation to this writer recently that pitching will win the Texas league pennant. Which is entirely correct. With the clubs evenly balanced as they are in this campaign, the team that gets the best mound work is going to win.

INDIANS CAPTURE TWO

CLEVELAND, July 2. (AP)—The Indians took two extra inning games from the White Sox here today, winning the first, 4 to 3, in ten innings and the second, 5 to 4 in eleven innings.

The Sox seemed to have the opener safely put away in the ninth but with one out Myatt singled and Porter tripled to tie the score. Averill's double with two on won it in the tenth.

In the nightcap, the situation was reversed when Averill's muff of a fly ball enabled the White Sox to tie the score. The Indians won out in the 11th on Fonseca's triple and an infield out. Scores:

Big League Clubs Look to Colleges For Replenishing of Diamond Talent

By BERT DEMBY

CHICAGO, July 2. (UP)—The number of collegians who have gone into professional baseball this year indicates that the colleges more and more are becoming a source of supply for the national game.

At the conclusion of this year's graduation exercises in the various schools, 60 boys left the campus diamonds to take up professional play, and while many of them immediately were farmed to leagues of lower class than to which they reported most of them are making good.

Yankees Get Texan

The New York Yankees led the major leagues in the signing of the rookies. The Yankees took Francis Nekola, Holy Cross pitcher; J. J. Murphy, Fordham pitcher; Ken Strong, New York university outfielder, and Meredith Hopkins, University of Texas infielder.

All told, the majors signed 22 of the collegians, the American league took 15 and the National seven. Practically every minor league in the country has some of this year's college crop playing in it.

The definite trend toward signing the college players is attributed by baseball men to two things:

1. The fact that baseball now is one of the highest paid professions and collegians can make as much money in the game as the work for which they are academically fitted would pay.

2. Good coaches in college teach many of the baseball rudiments which a sandlotter must be taught after he comes into professional work.

College Training Sound

The last explains why many of the college boys are sought so eagerly by the big league clubs. By the time a college coach has drilled a boy for three years the youngster has learned much that he would not have learned on the sand lots. He knows how to hook slide; he has learned to hit the dirt on the opposite side of the bag from which the infielder is taking the throw; he can carry a set of signals in his head and act on orders, and many other things, which it usually is necessary to teach a sandlotter, and that saves the professional coaches much work.

YANKEES WIN IN TENTH

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Two evenly matched ball teams fought a close battle at the Yankee stadium this afternoon, with little to choose between them. The world champion Yankees scored three runs off Ed Morris in the ninth and a single marker in the tenth to nose out the last place Red Sox by 4 to 3. The Athletics nevertheless increased their margin over the Yankees by half a game through two victories over the cousinly Senators. Score:

CUBS WIN HECTIC TILT

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Chicago maintained its half game lead in the National league pennant race by beating the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4 in 11 innings.

Hughey Critz, Reds' second sacker, was injured making a play on Stephenson in the ninth and forced to retire. Clarke Pittenger, who succeeded him, was chased in the tenth for exhibiting a temper after ducking one of Guy Bush's wild pitches. A fist fight between a few fans in the bleachers and several near clashes between the players themselves tended to enliven the battle.

It was Chicago's sixth straight victory. Score:

NEW YORK, July 2. (UP)—Max Schmeling will show his wares to American and Canadian fight fans from coast to coast on a six-week barnstorming tour beginning Monday, July 8, the German heavyweight's manager, Joe Jacobs, announced today.

The conqueror of Paolino Uzcudun, who with Jack Sharkey of Boston shares the role of leading heavyweight contender, will appear in 25 cities, giving boxing exhibitions against a troupe of sparring partners which he will carry with him. Schmeling turned down several theatrical and vaudeville offers in order to make the tour.

William McCarney, who accompanied Jack Dempsey, Jess Willard and Luis Firpo on similar tours, will conduct the German's tour.

SPLIT SEASON OPPOSED BY WICHITA FALLS AND SHREVEPORT

SPORTS OWNER WILL PROTEST

Roberts Held in Office and Executive Board Disbands

DALLAS, Texas, July 2. (AP)—Snapping in the middle one of the greatest flag races the Texas league has known, a majority of eight club owners here today voted to split the season. All eight did not, however, concur. Wichita Falls and Shreveport opposed it vigorously and cast their votes against it, but the remaining six carried the motion introduced by Houston.

By dividing the schedule with games of Monday and starting the second half today, the organization handed the first half title to Dallas without a struggle. Shreveport opposed that phase of the matter violently. Only one-half game behind the Mavericks, the Sports demanded that they be given two more days to fight it out, starting the new half July 4.

Biedenharn to Protest

President O. N. Biedenharn of Shreveport served notice he would file a protest with the National commission. He insisted there was no provision in the league constitution which enabled the owners to take retroactive action, as he termed the splitting of the race with games of Monday.

All except Biedenharn and J. Alvin Gardner of Wichita Falls appeared in high good humor over the division. There was no official statement as to the ways and wherefores.

While not squabbling over the split, the club owners found time to prove their appreciation of the long and faithful service of President J. Doak Roberts. Although the veteran president has been seriously ill many months and has taken no active part in league affairs this season, it was voted to permit him to complete his five-year term. The contract has two more seasons to run. William B. Ruggles, league statistician, will continue to handle the circuit, with only the important decisions left up to the board of directors.

Sports Get Protested Game

It was decided to disband the executive committee, composed of Presidents Gardner of Wichita Falls, C. C. Hammond of San Antonio, and Fred Ankenman of Houston. As its last act, the committee awarded Shreveport a half-game which it had lost when Houston was allowed a protest of a recent game in the Louisiana city. The committee ruled that Manager Snyder of Houston waited too long to file his protest. The decision reversed a decision made by Ruggles.

As a result of this decision, the final standing for the first half of the 1929 season was as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Dallas	47	33	.588
Shreveport	46	33	.582
Wichita Falls	45	35	.563
Fort Worth	41	39	.513
Waco	35	43	.449
Beaumont	35	43	.449
San Antonio	33	45	.423
Houston	33	49	.316

Kaplan to Battle Vincentini Thursday

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—The aftermath of the year's first big heavyweight battle has dropped the national boxing card this week into the line of dull routine with the smaller men occupying the limelight so far as it is turned on.

Three of the leading boxing contests are without action this week, while New York, the whole thing in the game of fisticuffs a week ago, relies on the regular shows of its smaller clubs. The arenas of Boston, Detroit and Cleveland will be dark.

Chicago has the headline attraction of the week in the July 4 show, Louis "Kid" Kaplan, who once held the featherweight championship of the world and now is among the leaders of the lightweight class, opposes Luis Vencentini, brilliant young Chilean, over the 10-round route.

Amelia Earhart Lands Transport Company Job

NEW YORK, July 2. (US)—Miss Amelia Earhart, the first woman to cross the Atlantic by the air route, today was appointed assistant to the general manager of the Transcontinental Air Transport. The announcement was made in St. Louis by T. B. Clement, general traffic manager. The Transcontinental is a coast-to-coast airmail line.

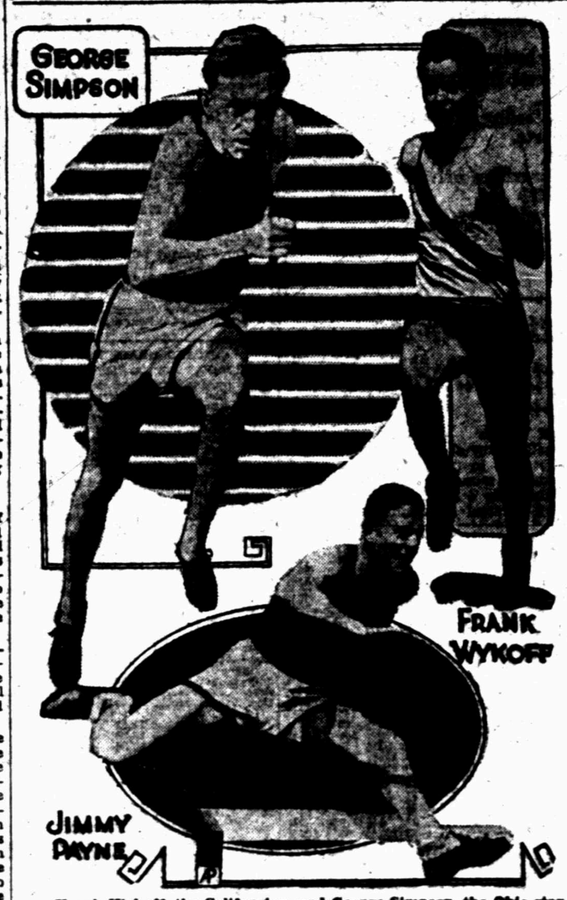

PISTOL CHAMPION

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (UP)—The new state pistol champion today is Sergt. H. E. Keotah, Company B, 179th Inf., Oklahoma National Guard, who shot a score Monday of 92.5 to win the honor. Pvt. H. E. Pennins, Company I, 179th Inf., of Holdenville and Keotah, tied for the ride crown with a score of 241. Nine of the 20 men who form the honorary guard for Governor Holloway were picked Monday. The others will be picked later.

B. Y. P. U. CONVENTION

PERRY, Okla., July 2. (UP)—Next year's convention of the B. Y. P. U. will be held in Yale, Okla., June 11 and 12. The next year's president of the district organization is Roy Hill, Oilton, who for the past year has been general manager.

They Race Today

Frank Wykoff, the Californian, and George Simpson, the Ohio star, will meet today in the 100-yard dash of the National A. A. U. track and field championships at Denver. Jimmy Payne is the Pacific coast's best bet in the 220-yard hurdles.

Golf and Country Club Members To Have Varied Program Tomorrow

Wichita Falls Golf and Country club is planning a big day tomorrow to celebrate Independence day. From morn 'til night the Golf and Country club members will engage in many and varied athletic and social diversions.

The day will be started with a Scotch golf foursome, pairings for which are to be announced tomorrow. In the afternoon the golf program will be concluded with a men's handicap tournament and a putting contest. Other sporting pastimes include a croquet tournament in the afternoon and swimming for boys and girls at 5:30 o'clock.

Music and dancing from 7 to 9 will be followed by an extensive display of fireworks.

A buffet luncheon will be served from 11 to 2.

Bill Strachan, golf professional of the club, is directing the day's program, the best ever to be provided here.

Mr. Larder Discusses Home Runs

Dear Sir: Inasmuch as I get into ball parks on a pass and, even so, get into them only three or four times per annum, I don't suppose any one cares what I think of our national pastime as played in this era of short fences and balls shot full of hop. Do you honestly? Well, then, I think it's about the same thing as stud poker with the spades wild, or chess with all the pieces moving like queens; that it is very unfair to the pitcher; that it discourages the use of brains; that it renders one of its prettiest features, base running, almost null and void, and that sooner or later the fans are going to be so sick of seeing victories won by pop fly balls that when a double-header is scheduled between the Athletics and Yanks they will spend the afternoon at the public library. And if those in control of the sport happen to read this opinion of mine, they probably will call a special session of themselves to discuss ways and means of further increasing the number of home runs.

In one of the recent New York-Philadelphia games the Yankees came to bat in the last half of the eighth inning with the score three to two against them. Combs doubled. Lary sacrificed him to third and Gehrig fouled out. Dykes played back on the grass for Ruth and the Babe hunted toward him. He was caught flat-footed and Ruth easily beat the ball to first base, while Combs scored the tieing run. A Bronx fan near me roared his disapproval. "What's the matter?" I said in dialect. "That was the smartest play I've seen in two or three seasons." "Smart!" cried the Bronxian. "If he'd socked it, we'd be ahead instead of even." And when the Babe walked out to his position at the end of the inning, the applause could have been heard a foot away.

Well, your Mr. Rennie and I talked things over and decided that the magnates hadn't gone far enough. What they ought to do now, your Mr. Rennie and I decided, is abolish the foul lines and rule that every ball hit into or over any of the stands be counted a home run, even if it lands in the press coop. We elaborated on this scheme. Mr. Rennie suggested an analogy to community singing. The fans themselves should be permitted to play; that is, if the ball is hit into a stand and a fan catches it, the batsman is out instead of being credited with a home run. The screen that now protects the fans seated behind the plate should be removed and such fans equipped with masks, protector and mitt, so that balls which now hit the screen and are just fouls would be either home runs or outs. A ball hit into a field box would be a special kind of home run called a box score and would count double; provided, of course, that it was not caught. A ball caught by a woman would count for two outs; caught by a very old woman, it would retire the side, regardless of how many were out before.

That something is still required to speed up the game was shown in a double-header played by the Giants in Philadelphia the other day. At the Phillies' park the first and third basemen sit on the fence and the outfielders go across the street and play crazy pool till it's their turn to bat. Yet, in this double-header, the Giants hit only eight home runs and the Phillies only two. Ten home runs in two games played in that alcove is small potatoes. The abolition of the foul lines would prevent future famines of the sort.

During my visit to the stadium I was made aware of other advances in baseball since Hughie Fullerton and I were trying to make out what park we were in. It seems that, nowadays, the athletes spend their forenoons solving crossword puzzles and are so intent on same that they don't even cough when a girl walks through the lobby. A well known infielder recently had his puzzle all made out, but there was one word in his solution which could be nothing but e-k-e. He showed it to an equally well known infielder. "You've got it," said the latter. "Yeh, but it can't be right," said the first. "E-k-e. They ain't no such word." "Sure they is," said Number Two. "It means to look through a keyhole."

Another infielder was baffled by a nine-letter word that began with s-y-m-p and finished with i-u-m. It was supposed to mean a collection of short essays. He sought help from a newspaper man. "Symposium," suggested the scribe. "But that's an orchestra," objected the infielder.—RING LARDNER.

There is always some consolation, even in regard to these modern home runs. If "Wahoo" Sam Crawford had been playing ball in this age, think of the heavy casualty list from flying baseballs, even three and four blocks away.

Ability to take a lot of punishment usually leads to unusual skill in cutting out paper dolls about six years later on.

GOLF VAGARIES SHOWN IN OPEN

Failure of Stars Proves Uncertainty of Game

By FRANK GETTY

NEW YORK, July 2. (UP)—The reason for the collapse of most of the prominent contenders in the recent national open championship has puzzled many enthusiasts of the game. Why did Johnny Farrell, defending champion, fail to qualify for the last 36 holes? What happened to Walter Hagen, who had the stuff to win the British open, but could get nowhere at Winged Foot? Why should Bobby Jones suddenly let down and take a 79 for his final round, forcing a playoff in which a capable performer like Al Espinosa shot rounds of 84 and 80?

The answer is, why not? We have become so accustomed to consistently good performances on the part of our leading golfers, particularly the professionals, that we sometimes forget how tricky and uncertain a game of golf can be.

Luck plays a far greater part in golf than is generally realized. A golfer of Bobby Jones' caliber—and there is none better—is constantly fighting to avoid bad luck, not hoping for the good "breaks." So it is with Walter Hagen, although the mercurial "Sir Walter" usually counts upon a "break" here and there to bring him through.

Farrell Over-Golfed

Johnny Farrell, who was decidedly over-golfed, was the first victim at Winged Foot. The ex-champion didn't get a real good "break" during his first two rounds. As a result, he was a spectator when the field went out for the last two rounds.

Walter Hagen, also over-golfed, needed more luck than the fates had in store for him this time. He was not playing particularly bad golf, but he was far back in the field. At the end, "The Haig" was shooting to get inside the first 30, so that he would not be required to qualify for next year's open.

The sudden let-down of Bobby Jones which precipitated the anticlimatical tie can be explained in another way. The Atlantan was thoroughly fed up with things at Winged Foot.

Bobby came to this championship with one idea in mind, and that was to beat Horton Smith.

This is not generally known. Jones might have passed up this particular open if he hadn't heard so much about the young Missourian who was to supplant him atop the golfing world.

"Is that so?" demanded the Atlantan. "Where did I put those golf clubs of mine?"

Bobby Let-Down

He found them, although he hadn't used them a dozen times since last October. He came to Winged Foot and proceeded to spread eagle the field for the first three rounds. Looking around at his pursuers, he couldn't see Horton Smith for the crowd.

About that time Bobby got a little fed up with the whole affair. He let down, and even he cannot do that and still play par golf. As a result, he was forced into two extra rounds on Sunday. What he did to Al Espinosa and to par is now golfing history.

As for Espinosa's collapse on the final day, that can be explained in several ways. He suffers from an inferiority complex. He never did believe he could play golf with Bobby Jones. Now he is sure of it.

Texas' Greatest Keystoner

Pete Ferguson, for several years the foremost second baseman in the Texas league, again is playing great ball that holds his place as the leading keystoner in the circuit.

Producers Creamery To Play at Electra

Producers Creamery nine will meet the Fain-McGaha Oil company tossers of Electra tomorrow on the latter's diamond at 3 o'clock. Members of the Producers' club are to leave from the creamery at 1 o'clock.

Hunt Defeats Snyder In Battle at Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., July 2. (AP)—Babe Hunt, Ponca City heavyweight, won a referee's decision tonight over Angus Snyder of Dodge City, Kan. Hunt's victory, while not overwhelming, met with the approval of the crowd.

YOUTHFUL U. S. NET STARS WIN

Allison and Van Ryn Beat Cochet and Brugnon

By HENRY CAVENDISH

WIMBLEDON, England, July 2. (US)—Two American youths swept across the center court at Wimbledon this afternoon and eliminated one of the world's greatest tennis combinations—Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon of France—from the doubles championship. Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, two young Davis cup stars, defeated the Gauls 7-5, 8-6, 3-6, 8-6, thus entering the semi-finals.

The end of the match provided the most dramatic scene of the 1929 tournament on the lawns of the all-England club. As the American pair won match-point in the fourth set, the crowd, which packed every available seat and all the gangways near the center court, burst into a frenzy of deafening applause. Women screamed hysterically, while men cheered the youthful victors over the great French tennis combination.

Great Day for Americans

Altogether, it was a great American day, with American players participating in seven out of the eight matches scheduled for the center and No. 1 courts, although the last two matches on the center court were postponed when rain sent the crowds scurrying from the stands.

George Lott and John Hennessey, another American pair, entered the semi-finals of the men's doubles when they easily defeated Randolph Lycett and J. O. P. Wheatley of England, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1, but Helen Wills and Edith Cross, the California Sunshine girls, were eliminated in the fourth round of the women's doubles by Mrs. C. G. McIlquham, of Ireland, and Miss E. H. Harvey, 4-6, 10-8, 8-6.

Tilden and Hunter Win

Prospects for a rousing American final men's doubles match loomed this afternoon when Big Bill Tilden and his pard, Francis T. Hunter, eliminated the Hungarian-German pair, Kleinschroth and Von Kehrling, after subduing their opponents' second-set rally.

The only other man which survived the tense quarter-finals round was the British pair, J. C. W. Gregory, English ranking No. 1 player, and his partner, I. A. N. Collins. They lifted themselves above the heads of the crowd by virtue of their stinging, straining five-set victory over the remaining French team, Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus. The scores were 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, 8-2, and indicate that the Britishers obviously accomplished what they set out to do—fatigue the Frenchmen in the early sets.

Denver Is Scene Of A. A. U. Games

National Championships to Get Under Way Today

DENVER, Colo., July 2. (UP)—Pacific coast teams arrived here today for the National A. A. U. track and field championships beginning Wednesday. The athletes shook a few kinks out of their legs and immediately went to Denver university's quarter-mile cinder path for their first "dress rehearsal."

The stars of Los Angeles Athletic club and the Olympic Club of San Francisco expressed satisfaction with the track and field, and predicted record breaking performances would mark the meet.

Henry Coggeshall, Olympic star, donned his track suit a few minutes after arrival and gave the railbirds at the field a good exhibition of jumping by easing over the bar at a little more than six feet.

Coggeshall now holds the unofficial world's record of 6 feet 6¾ inches for the high jump.

Ed Hamm, Birmingham Athletic club, and holder of the world's broad jump record of 25 feet 11½ inches whirled through the air in practice events today and pronounced himself "fit."

Lou Moore Wins Eastern 100-Mile Speed Crown

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., July 2. (AP)—Lou Moore, young racer from the Ascot speedway, Los Angeles, shot his Majestic Special over the Woodbridge track today in record time to win the eastern 100-mile speedway championship. He covered the distance in 1 hour 29 minutes 50 4-5 seconds, which established an American record for half mile board tracks and broke the New Jersey record of 1 hour and 30 minutes.

COPS TENNIS TITLE

KANSAS CITY, July 2. (AP)—Fred Royer of Chicago won the Missouri state tennis singles championship at the Rockhill Club courts here this afternoon, defeating Jesse Quick, Dallas, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2.

THE BANG OF BURNED OUT BEARINGS YOUR MOTOR CAN ESCAPE IT

If you've ever listened to the anvil chorus under the hood when a bearing burns out, you realize the damage that poor oil can do to a motor. Replaced bearings cost real money—a great deal more, in fact, than the cost of a year's supply of good oil.

Isn't that reason enough why you should always insist upon a brand of oil which has stood the test—a brand backed up by an organization which has spent years specializing in the lubrication needs of every type of motor?

Such are the brands offered you by the Continental Oil Company. You may be sure that an oil sponsored and sold by this organization is the right oil for your car.

You protect the bearings — and your pocketbook, too — when you ask for these brands at service stations and garages.

Conoco Motor Oil insures protection. It seals compression—saves gasoline—fights friction. Stands up under most intense cylinder heat. In short, does a complete lubricating job in all kinds of weather.

Ask for the grade made especially for your car.

Conoco Amalie is 100% Pennsylvania Oil—refined from premium crudes by a special process. Universally recommended by automotive engineers and lubrication experts.

Through exhaustive laboratory and road tests it has demonstrated its ability to lubricate properly under the most trying conditions of motor operation.

TEXAS COUNTY TEST STARTED

E. J. Skaer Unafraid of Number Thirteen

Special to The Record News.

BORGER, Texas, July 2—E. J. Skaer, who has a huge block of oil leases in Texas county, Oklahoma, about 90 miles north of Borger, is not afraid of "thirteen."

Skaer has drilled 11 wells in Kansas and one in Oklahoma and is starting his 13th well in Texas county on the George Hitch ranch, 14 miles south and east of Cimarron.

Location is the NW quarter of 25-1-15. It is about a mile and a half north of the Texas state line and on a direct line from the Moore and Hutchinson county fields around Borger and to the north.

The Hydraulic Oil company about three years ago started a test on this section and drilled to only 180 feet when it lost the hole in the quicksand. The company had spent about $20,000 on the test when it quit.

Skaer bought the leases of the Hydraulic company, renewed them and gave the Hydraulic an interest in the well for use of its equipment.

The original derrick, left standing has been torn down and moved about 20 to 30 feet south where a new location was made.

The test is now more than 300 feet down, through the quicksand and the 15-inch casing is being run into the red beds.

"That is where I have my high hopes and I expect to make a strike at about 3,100 feet," Mr Skaer is quoted as saying.

The contract depth is 3500 feet. Sea level is expected to be at about 3100 feet.

Mr. Skaer says he is not afraid of the thirteen hoodoo. "It's a new idea with me but I have about decided to put a big six-foot American flag which I have, at the top of the rig. That flag has never been a loser before."

Mr. Skaer has drilled wells in the Augustus, Burns, Peabody, Herington, Saline, Fredonia and Liberal fields and also Beaver county, Oklahoma.

Roxana Deep Pool Is Still Growing

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., July 2—The Roxana-Marshall pool of northwestern Logan county, and Oklahoma's first deep producing sand area, is two years old and looking bigger and bigger.

The Shell Petroleum corporation's No. 1 McCully, in the southwest of the northeast of the southeast of 30-19-4w, found the Wilcox sand on June 29, 1927, and it began flowing. Its production increased steadily, reaching a peak of 125 barrels an hour.

It was the first well to go below 6,000 feet in the state, and also the deepest produced then. Top of the pay was 5,985 feet, with total depth at around 6100 feet.

In two years time the deep well has given Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCully, aged owners of the lease, something like $225,000 in royalties. A part of their royalty was sold before the well came in.

The McCully lease had produced more than 5,000,000 barrels to July 1, making 11,765 barrels on its anniversary, says word from J. Paul Gleason of Enid, who spent the day there.

Oklahoma City Field Averages 16,836 Barrels

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., July 2—The Oklahoma City oil field, located near capital Hill, and south of the Oklahoma state capital city, averaged 16,836 barrels a day Monday, including in the total the gasoline producer. The wells follow:

I. T. I. O. No. 1 fee, CSE SE 24-11-3w, 2,211 oil and 763 water.

Mid-Kansas No. 2 Fortson, CNW NE 24-11-3w, 5,735 oil.

Mid-Kansas No. 1 Fortson, CSW NE 24-11-3w, 50 oil.

Coline No. 1 Olds, CSE SW 24-11-3w, 4,480 oil.

Sinclair No. Stamper, NE SW NW 30-11-2w, 1640 gasoline.

Sun Oil Co. Granted Louisiana State Lease

BATON ROUGE, La., July 2. (AP)—The Sun Oil company of Beaumont, Texas, today was granted a five-year lease of mineral rights on state land comprising the bed of Bayou Des Cannes in the Evangeline oil field district of Acadia parish.

The bid, received by Fed Grace, registrar of the state land office, and aproved by Gov. Huey P. Long, was the only one tendered.

The company contracted to pay a cash bonus of $500 and annual rental of $500. The land location was listed as T 8 S., R 2 W., La. Mer, Acadia.

Dixie Oil Co. Wilbarger County Test Promises New Production

The Dixie Oil company No. 1 W. T. Waggoner, located in the northeast part of section 4, block 5, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, southeast Wilbarger county, is standing with several hundred feet of oil from the sand topped at 2387 feet.

The test which is a rank wildcat is located about 1⅛ miles south of the Consolidated pool in section 5, block 5, H. & T. C. and one mile southeast of the Texas company D lease production in section 43, M. E. P. & P. survey. The completion of a well here will open up another new productive pool in this section and the outcome of bailing which will take place in the next few days will be watched with interest. The pay was drilled into seven feet.

JACK COUNTY PRODUCER

Prairie Oil and Gas company No. 4 Mary Bryson, located in the Isaac Hughson survey, in the Bryson pool of Jack county, is swabbing at the rate of 300 barrels per day. The pay was topped at 3160-71 feet. No. 5 Bryson set casing and is rigging up to drill in to the sand at 2910 feet, the upper Panhandle depth.

M'CARTY OIL PURCHASE

The McCarty Oil company purchased from the Pandem Oil corporation and Mel Richards a number of leases in Brown county totaling 264 acres with 23 wells and a daily production of 17 barrels for a cash consideration of $55,000.

GETTING BELOW PAY

The Republic Production company No. 1 Mary Bryson, located northwest of Bryson in Jack country, and the farthest east test on the Bryson tract of the Isaac Hughson survey, is drilling at approximately 3200 feet, having apparently missed the upper sand.

CLABBERED

Pandem Oil company No. 1 Long, located in block 95, J. W. Harris subdivision in Archer county, tested water and was later abandoned at a total depth of 1450 feet.

RESETTING THE PIPE

The Pandem Oil company is recementing the pipe at a depth of 4236 feet on the sand in its No. 1 Burch deep test, located in block 477, T. E. L. survey, northwest of Graham, in South Young county.

NO PETROLEUM

W. C. Young, prominent Democrat and oil operator of Archer county, has abandoned his No. 1 Threat test in the northeast corner of Mathew Pickens survey, abstract 341, south of the Archer county's metropolis as a dry hole at a total depth of 1300 feet.

TEXAS COMPANY-SHANAFELT

The Texas company No. 1 Shanafelt, in the Isaac Hughson survey, west of Bryson, in Jack county, is drilling ahead at a total depth of 4620 feet. No. 2 Shanafelt, in the same survey, is drilling at 2445 feet.

CONTINENTAL-BURNETT

The Continental Oil company made location for its No. E-14 S. B. Burnett, is 710 feet south and 592 feet east of the south half of southeast quarter of northwest quarter of section 2, T. & N. O. survey, abstract 506 in Wichita county.

TRAVELING ALONG

O. R. Burden, superintendent for the Texas Pipeline company in the Wichita Falls division of North Texas, is on a month's trip to New York, Chicago and Boston, and will visit his home at Montpelier, Ind., before returning to his duties

NORTHEAST OF BRYSON

Kizer-Duffey No. 1 Jones, located in Mathew Mabin survey, northeast of Bryson about three miles in Jack county, is changing from cable tools to a rotary at a depth of 2688 feet. A fishing job is being enjoyed at this depth.

Seminole Opens Week With Heavy Increase

Special to The Record News.

TULSA, Okla., July 2—The production of the Greater Seminole field showed an increase of 7,344 barrels Monday over the gauge for Saturday. The output was 384,044 barrels from 1,971 wells Sunday and 388,732 barrels from 1,974 wells Sunday.

One well was completed in the Little River field Sunday and two in the St. Louis field Sunday, while two wells were completed in the Little River and one well in the St. Louis field Monday.

Bubbles in heated water are formed by the expansion and setting free of the air dissolved in the water.

RABBIT MART OFFERED HERE

Killing Plant to Provide Quantity Outlet

Plans now being formulated by leaders in the rabbit breeding industry promise a considerable development in the Wichita Falls territory within the coming year, with this city as the marketing center for growers in nearby towns.

The rabbitry recently opened by J. M. Gilliam and associates on the Petrolia road just outside the city limits is to be increased in capacity immediately by the addition of several units, it was reported Tuesday. Charles D. Winfrey, president of the A. R. & C. B. association of Texas, and who is in charge of the Gilliam rabbitry, is moving this week from Iowa Park to the tract now under development on the Petrolia road.

Efforts are now being made to promote the growth of rabbits in large numbers in other towns in this section, the producers being guaranteed a market here for all rabbits grown. The plan calls for the construction of a killing plant in or near this city, and the completion of marketing arrangements for rabbit hides. Breeding stock will be available at the local rabbitry for all wishing to enter the field of rabbit growing.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—A moderate opening decline in cotton today was followed on covering combined with some trade buying and commission house demand.

The advance, which carried October contracts up to 18.30, 13 points net higher, was accompanied by continued reports of heavy weevil infestation and talk of a firmer technical position. October closed at 18.29, with the general market closing steady net unchanged to 13 points higher.

Reiterated reports of boll weevil infestation included one forecasting damage in Texas approximating that of 1921.

The best prices were reached in the late trading when December sold up to 18.60 and new crop positions showed net advances of 12 to 16 points. The close was within a point or two of the best on most positions.

Private cables reported general liquidation in Liverpool owing to favorable weather reports from the South and complaints of a poor demand for cloths and yarns in Manchester. Exports today 5,807, making 8,000,696 so far this season. Port receipts 3,469. U. S. port stocks 771,174.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 2. (AP)—Unfavorable weather and a private crop report claiming a heavy increase in weevil infestation caused cotton prices to rally approximately $1 a bale from an opening decline today. October, after easing to 17.99, rallied to 18.20, or 21 points up, and closed at 18.18 for a net advance of 12 points. The general market closed steady at a net advance of 8 to 14 points.

Active positions traded to new highs for the day near the end with October selling at 18.20 and December 18.40, or 20 to 21 points over the lows. Final prices were at or near the top.

Stocks Sell at Highest Average Price in History in New York

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 2. (US)—With call money at 15 per cent throughout, stocks sold at the highest average price in history in more active trading today. Indications that the easiest money conditions in more than a year would be enjoyed after the July 4 holiday was the main stimulus to buying. Consistent strength in steel that caused 4⅛ point further move to a new high record price for all time also enhanced cheerfulness as it was regarded as reflecting the optimism of the most powerful banking group. General Electric gained 18½, Allis Chalmers 14¾, Westinghouse 6½, American Can 3, Fleischmann 2¼, National Cash Register 2⅝ and United Aircraft 5⅝. Kennecott gained over 2 points while other coppers dropped off. Oils were quiet but steady. Union Pacific with gain of 3⅜ and Canadian Pacific with 5⅛ advance led a strong rail group. Turnover increased to near the 4,500,000 share level.

Universal Service learned that Sir Montagu Norman, head of the Bank of England was in the country, coincident with further easing in time money and increase in supply of call funds. All of which indicates that the plans of the banking powers call for easy money conditions in the very near future. Whether the reason is German financing, helping crop movement, or other development the result should be beneficial to the stock market—for awhile. There has been little public in dealings since the reserve cracked its whip and forced the shakeup of the last two months. Until the speculative wave flows faster the public will not be attracted back and easy money conditions may be the stimulus necessary. The reserve bank directors here will meet tomorrow and are expected to maintain the rediscount rate at 5 per cent. Should international banking plans be what they seem it would be no surprise if a lower rediscount rate were decided on before the end of summer. Brokers' loans figures and reserve bank conditions statements will be issued Friday.

Eastman Kodak, plans for splitting up of which were first told of here exclusively, registered a new high for the move. Greater activity in Radio, it is claimed, was anticipation of an important development soon in connection with plans for expanding activities. Western Union was another from which "special developments" were expected. It is learned that important stockholders believe the directors would be warranted in recommending splitup of the stock on a five for one basis. Interests who recently worked in Continental Can and Lambert renewed activity in another of their favorites—Skelly Oil.

Delaware & Hudson joined the advancing rails. Decision is expected from the commerce commission soon as to formation of the new Delaware & Hudson Investment company which will hold securities, cash, etc. It is estimated that the company must have close to $100,000,000, most of which is out on call. Pennsylvania directors, it was claimed, would increase the dividend to a $5 or 10 per cent annual basis in the near future. Earnings apparently warrant such action. Kennecott led the coppers for with Cerro de Pasco it enjoys the position of being less exploited and more warranted to sell around current levels than others. Another offer for Nevada Consolidated minority stock may be made by Kennecott before long.

Important stockholders in U. S. Industrial Alcohol think that the stock will be splitup before long. While directors say nothing as yet, pressure being brought to bear produces 45 per cent of the commercial alcohol of the country and has its full allotment contracted for the balance of the year. This will mean earnings of at least $12 a share and according to its friends the actual income will probably be closer to $15 a share. It is to be noted that practically all companies that recapitalize are able to show materially larger income on stock after it is split up than on which they paid taxes before such action.

Barley—Good demand, unchanged.

Sorghums—Unchanged, fair demand.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Reports that Ohio, Indiana and lower Michigan winter wheat had suffered severe damage from blight counted as a late factor in hoisting wheat values today. Besides Liverpool and Buenos Aires wheat quotations were soaring, with export demand for North American wheat much larger, and crop estimates both in Canada and the United States sharply reduced.

Closing prices on wheat were unsettled, 1⅝c to 2⅛c above yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛c to ⅝@⅞c up, oats ⅝c to ⅛c advanced, and provisions varying from 7c decline to a rise of a shade.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 2. (AP)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by further price upturns on fed steers and yearlings, several markets reporting a 25-cent upturn on the better grades.

Although other killing classes carried an improved tone the advance was not as sharp. Chicago scored $16 on three loads of 1,292-pound Nebraska steers and obtained $15.90 for long yearlings. Medium weight and heavy steers in Omaha cleared at $15.75, while on the Kansas City market two loads of 1,764-pound beeves realized $15.70. Grass steers were in limited supply at most points. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 32,500, a decrease of 5,800 from a week ago but 7,500 more than the corresponding day last year.

Considerable unevenness prevailed on hogs. Opening trade at most points ruled around steady, but on the close Chicago reported a slight advance, while at several of the river markets packers forced a moderate decline. The day's extreme top of $11.50 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings were around 109,000 as compared with 101,544 last Tuesday and 80,008 a year ago.

The sheep supply approximated 42,200, an increase of 7,000 over a week ago and 2,500 more than a year ago. Killing classes continued to find a fairly broad outlet, with fat lambs strong to 25c higher and other classes steady to strong. Choice range lambs in Chicago scored $15.10, while choice Colorado's at Kansas City made $14.75.

NEW ORLEANS, July 2. (AP)—Cottonseed oil closed steady; prime summer yellow, 8.35; prime crude, 7.50@7.75. Jan., 8.63; July, 8.40; Aug., 8.45; Sept., 8.45; Oct., 8.52; Nov., 8.55; Dec., 8.61.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, July 2. (AP)—Firmer cotton markets steadied cloth markets and the very general curtailment of production this week led many agents to offer only stock goods for sale. Yarn prices were nominally unchanged but concessions were available. Silk merchandise is beginning to move more freely for fall delivery. Summer silks are being cleaned up at concessions. The strike of 28,000 garment workers led to quiet in the cloak and suit material markets. Orders for fall deliveries of high quality merchandise have been good. Burlaps were inactive.

Livestock

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 2. (AP)—Steady to higher values prevailed in cattle today. The supply was very light. One load of steers sold early at $11 or about steady; bulls light and unchanged; better heavy bulls around $8; common light bulls $6.00@7.00.

Cows fairly active, steady to strong; bulk of butchers and beef cows $6.00 and $7.75; canners and cutters $4.25 and $5.50.

Slaughter yearlings and heifers steady; one load $13.50; package lot $14.65; common kind $7.00 and $8.50; calves showed another advance that totals 50 to 75 cents for the week; a load of heavy calves sold at $11.75; veal calves $12.75 to $13.25; culls $6.50 and $7.00.

Stocker cattle comparatively light and values unchanged.

Only one load of hogs offered in the rail division. Small packers in the truck division 10 to 15 cents higher; big packers paid around 10 cents lower prices at the close. Truck hogs sold up to $10.40 to small packers.

Sheep steady, aged fat wethers $7.50 and two-year-old wethers $3.50; truck lambs $12.00.

CHICAGO, July 2. (AP)—Hogs—Receipts 26,000; steady to strong, top $11.40 for 160 to 210-pound weights; packing sows $9.40@10.40.

Cattle—Receipts 7,000; calves 2,500; better fed steers 20 to 25c higher; slaughter steers, good and choice, 1300 to 1500 pounds, $14.25@16.00; 1100 to 1300 pounds $14.10@16.00; 950 to 1100 pounds, $13.65@16.00; cows, good and choice $8.75@12.00; vealers, milk-fed, good and choice, $13.50@16.25.

RADIO ARTISTS GIVE VODVIL

Burk Band to Play in Program Tonight

As an added attraction to the free vaudeville bill at Bellevue park Wednesday night, T. A. Holland's Old Fiddlers band will present several novelty numbers in connection with the "KGKO Night" program, it was announced Tuesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent.

With the exception of the Burkburnett band, under the direction of E. L. Nichols, all the artis's appearing on the program will be entertainers from station KGKO. The fiddlers band has been quite popular with radio audiences and their presentation before a visible audience will complete the plans to give the public a glimpse of the artists who have furnished nightly programs during the last several months.

The Honey Boy and Sassafras minstrel show will be an entirely new idea in the weekly vaudeville bills. Mr. Bunnenberg has promised to have Wichita Falls' well-known interlocutor, "the Typical Mick," in the central chair wearing his red flannel shirt. The Burkburnett band, one of the best bands in the state and possessor of a silver cup from John Philip Sousa, has been especially requested to furnish music for the bill.

Precinct Court Cases At Electra Increase

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 2.—Records for the month of June, of precinct court No. 4, W. H. Coffman, justice of the peace, shows a total of 35 cases tried, 32 of which were convictions, 2 were acquittals and in one case the prisoner is held pending action of the grand jury.

Total fines collected were $449.30. Precinct court business shows a gain over the month of May of approximately 50 per cent, due to the efforts of Constables Scotty Tinnin and S. M. Spruiel to clear the highways of traffic violations.

Electra Police Report Shows Enforcement Work

'It Has Set Me Right,' He Says

"I Am Just Simply Feeling Great," Declares Iowa Park Farmer

R. V. Ferguson, a well-known farmer, residing on rural route 2, Iowa Park, Texas, in a recent statement in Allison's Drug Store, Wichita Falls, the other day, regarding the benefits he has derived from Orgatone, said:

"I hadn't been in very good health for several years. My system seemed to be all run-down, my appetite was fairly good, but after eating, gas would form and I would suffer for hours afterwards. I was nervous and irritable and couldn't sleep well and was troubled a great deal with biliousness. The doctors told me a few years ago that I had appendicitis, and advised an operation but I was not quite satisfied and decided to wait awhile. In fact, I never felt good at any time, and knew I needed something to put me in condition.

"Last December, seeing Orgatone so highly recommended by so many Wichita Falls people I decided to try it and it has certainly set me right. My run-down, nervous, irritable feelings are gone and my appetite is splendid. I can now sit down to the table and eat anything I want like cabbage, potatoes, pie, and in fact, anything else I might desire without the least ill effects afterwards. All my aches and pains have left me. I sleep like a log every night and am simply feeling great. But, I forgot to tell you, the best of all, I have gained 16 pounds in weight, and I now tip the scales, at just 164 pounds, which shows that my food is now doing me good instead of harm. These are my reasons for thinking so well of Orgatone and I have told numbers of others about it.

"My wife who had been troubled with her stomach, and a general run-down condition for over eight years, started on the treatment about four weeks ago and is so well pleased with the results she has obtained that I am now here to buy more Orgatone, as we both think it is the greatest medicine that has yet been discovered."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile preparation and is sold in Wichita Falls, exclusively by Allison's Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Adv.

July Grand Jury Expected to Make First Report Wednesday

Findings of the grand jury for the July term of the 30th district court probably will be reported to Judge Allan D. Montgomery here Wednesday, it was stated Tuesday at the office of the district attorney.

Testimony of witnesses has been taken with unusual dispatch, it was said, and it was thought that the light docket given to the jury could be completed by Wednesday.

A number of cases were added to those formerly submitted when District Attorney Sam B. Spence brought before the jury witnesses in several cases of family desertion. This offense recently was placed in the classification of felony, having formerly been treated as a misdemeanor, and is now punishable by a maximum imprisonment of two years or a maximum fine of $500, or both.

Smoot Claims Farmers Benefit by Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, July 2. (UP)—American farmers and producers have received "by far the best of it" so far in the drafting of the new tariff bill, Chairman Smoot of the senate finance committee declared today in a prepared statement charging the Democrats with "playing politics" on tariff issues.

22 BOY SCOUTS GIVEN AWARDS

Merit Badges and Higher Rank Decided

Merit badges and higher ranks were conferred upon 22 Boy Scouts at the regular board of review meeting Monday, according to A. L. Fitts and Kenneth Erwin, who conducted examination in the various classes.

Those receiving merit badges, all first class scouts were: Robert Dillard, Harry Smart, Leland Richards, of troop 1; Marshall Moore of troop 14; Bobbie Colvert of troop 2; Richard Batson, Marion Reesby, R. J. Bird, of troop 13. Second class scouts who were awarded merit badges were: Willard Wilkins of troop 16; Jack Dillard of troop 1; Hernley McCullough of troop 4; and Harry Strief of troop 10.

Jack Dillard and Theodore Bratton of troop 1 and Edward Peterson of troop 2 were advanced to first class rank. The following were advanced from tenderfoot to second class rank: Robert Woodson, Roy Crocker, Karl ten Brink, of troop 16; Stanley Neel and Donald Williams of troop 12; Raymond Horn of troop 13; and Orville Norman of troop 14.

HONOR CAMPERS NAMED BY CREIGHTON

Six honor campers for the first two period of the Boy Scout camp at Diversion lake have been announced by Frank B. Creighton, scout executive. Three more will be chosen from the third period of the camp, to be held Aug. 4 to 14, and all the new honor campers will be initiated into the Order of the Arrow on the night of Aug. 14, it was said.

The boys selected from the first period were Vernon McDaniel of troop 2, Wichita Falls; T. B. Wilson of Archer City; and Sam Householder of Byers. Those for the second period were George Nelson of troop 2, Wichita Falls; Miller McDaniel of troop 2, Wichita Falls; and Carl Willis of Clara.

All honor campers will be eligible for the trip to Carlsbad Cavern, N. M., late in August, Mr. Creighton said. A trip for the honor campers is made each year, with a nominal cost to the boys, the Boy Scout organization furnishing transportation and details of the trip.

City to Ask Bids On Street Signs; Signals

Installation of street signs for the greater part of the city and several new traffic signals for the more congested intersections will be made in the near future, it was announced Tuesday by George D. Fairtrace, city manager. Bids for the work will probably be called this week, action on the plans being set for consideration at the meeting of the city council next Monday night.

The street signs will be constructed on six-foot poles so as to indicate the names of each intersecting street as well as the block numbers at each corner. The traffic signals will be installed at several additional intersections in the business section and at important points on Brook avenue, it was said.

STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED

Two clarinets stolen last week from the home of H. E. Kurtz, 2210 Taft street, were found in a local pawn shop Monday, according to police reports.

Clothing valued at $75, which was stolen from a caboose in the railroad yards Monday, was recovered in a local second hand clothing store by City Detectives Luke Hart and Pat Allen.

HAPPY DAY

Family Celebrates Three Weddings Held on Same Day

OMAHA, Neb., July 2. (UP)—The Starrett family of Hiawatha, Kan., was celebrating three honeymoons today, counting three brides—all married on the same day.

News of the triple wedding celebration of the three daughters of Mrs. J. M. Starrett, Hiawatha, reached here today with the arrival of two of the wedded couples here.

While Edna Starrett, 23, became Mrs. Russell Pullen and Fern Starrett, 20, became Mrs. Arthur Fortmeyer in a double ceremony at Council Bluffs, Iowa, last Saturday, their sister, Ersa became the bride of W. B. Foust in Hiawatha.

20 TO ATTEND BAR MEETING

Wichita Falls Lawyers and Judges Go to Amarillo

At least a score of members of the Wichita County Bar association will attend the joint annual convention of the Texas and New Mexico Bar association to be held at Amarillo July 4, 5 and 6, according to indications Tuesday.

Court procedure here will be practically at a standstill during the convention days, owing to the attendance of presiding judges. Judges P. A. Martin of the 89th district, Allan D. Montgomery of the 30th and W. W. Cook of the 78th will be at Amarillo for the state meet, it was said. Judge Irvin J. Vogel of the county court at law also will be in the convention delegation.

Others who will go, according to Tarleton Morrow, president of the Wichita county association, include C. I. Francis, Harry C. Weeks, Mr. Morrow, Luther Hoffman, A. H. Britain, A. T. Montgomery, W. F. Bonner and W. E. Fitzgerald.

Texas members of the convention will be the guests of the lawyers from New Mexico during one day of the meet, when a tour through the Carlsbad cavern is scheduled.

$15,000 Loot Taken From Wisconsin Bank

OWEN, Wis., July 2. (UP)—Three unmasked bandits held up the Owen State bank today, forced several employes and patrons to lie on the floor while they grabbed up approximately $15,000 in cash and securities and escaped.

NEW OFFICERS GO ON DUTY

Leverett Named on County Motorcycle Force

Employment of Jesse Leverett, city motorcycle officer, as a deputy sheriff for motorcycle duty during the next three months on the roads between this city and Lakeside Park, was announced Tuesday morning by Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

C. L. Bradford was appointed to a similar position Monday afternoon following action of the county commissioners' court in authorizing the employment of special officers to handle traffic on the roads in question.

Both men went on duty Tuesday evening, it was stated. They will be charged with keeping the Lake Wichita roads open for convenient passage, so far as is possible, and with the prevention of accidents which might be caused by reckless driving.

Oklahoma Senate Okehs Holloway Appointments

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 2. (UP)—The two appointments to the state education board made today by Governor Holloway have received senate confirmation.

Rev. Forney Hutchinson, St. Luke's Methodist church pastor, was reappointed. Earl R. Wilson, Tulsa, was named to succeed Mrs. Ethel Cardiff, also of Tulsa. Wilson is president of Wilson & Garnett, accountants.

State Officer Takes Three to Penitentiary

Bud Russell, state penitentiary agent, Tuesday took into custody Fred Hostler and R. B. Nichols, each under a five-year sentence for robbery, and Jack Stewart, sentenced to two years and ten months for burglary for transfer to the prison.

Motions for new trials for Hostler and Nichols were denied Saturday morning in the 89th district court here.

COMMUNITY CHEST

The finance committee of the Community chest will hold its regular monthly meeting in the directors' room in the City National bank building Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, W. E. McBroom, city clerk and acting secretary of the committee, stated Tuesday.

Mr. McBroom is a member of the committee and is acting as secretary in the absence of Miss Myrle Neeley, executive secretary of the chest, who is away on a vacation trip. C. E. Basham is chairman of the committee.

Spanish applause consists of a peculiar hiss.
