The SDN Column

Rep. R. B. McAlister of Lubbock, who attracted plenty of attention in Austin recently when he proposed that the Texas State Technical Institute's Sweetwater Branch be moved to Snyder and combined with Western Texas College, has written a letter taking the press to task concerning the discussion of Amendment No. 1 on the May 18 election ballot.

"Amendment One was prepared by a group of citizens throughout the state even before our present legislature was elected," Rep. McAlister reminds. "The Ethics Commission which would be so created would be appointed by the judiciary over which legislators have absolutely no control.

"The big lie which has been carried by all state papers in 'letters to the Editor,' reflect this as a subterfuge for legislators to get a pay raise. The facts are, salaries will be left as they are, or adjusted only by the Ethics Commission. The legislature has only the power to accept or reject any change.

"The truth of the matter is, this plan has worked well in many states in giving a fine balance of representation in the legislature.

"Finally, why have Texans resisted all efforts to raise legislators' salaries? The answer is simple. Obviously, any effort on the part of us, as legislators, to campaign for a raise would be resented. As a result, those who fall for the communist line 'that all elected officials are bad,' have their heyday."

★ ★ ★

Rep. McAlister deals with a subject that has long been one of the mysteries of our form of government. The public cries for business-like government, but once businessmen are elected the public will not put up with business-like practices in handling government affairs. Voters ostensibly cast ballots for candidates they believe to be the best for the offices, but once elected, the office-holders are not worthy of trust.

There used to be an old saying that this country never had a good president after he had served two years.

Yet, our government seems to be the most successful that man has ever devised, and somehow, we always seem to get the type of officeholders that we deserve, regardless of whether they may be the best available.

Chamber Seeks New Members

A membership drive will be launched Wednesday morning by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce.

Led by the Gold Coaters, members of the Chamber will meet at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the city hall. From there, they will go in two-man teams to call on prospective members.

Mel Z. Gilbert, president, expressed hopes that many new members would be added to the Chamber of Commerce rolls, since it has been several years since an intensive drive for members has been conducted.

The Chamber hopes to step up and expand its work in various phases of community development and its program is financed exclusively from membership dues.

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce has been identified with business, industrial and civic activities at a steadily increasing pace in recent years.

A committee of the Chamber of Commerce initiated and laid the ground work for several applications for a junior college here, the latest in 1969 being successful.

It also has been a key factor in industrial development, handling many details of negotiations with industrial prospects. Moreover, the Chamber of Commerce manager serves as secretary of the Scurry County Industrial

ARRESTS BREAK PROTESTERS

Federal Troops Leaving Capital

By LEE BYRD
[illegible]ress Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-war protester's hopes of re-kindling guerrilla-style efforts to halt the nation's government disintegrated today and the Pentagon began withdrawing 4,000 federal troops from the streets and bridges of the capital.

Wholesale arrests of more than 7,000 persons Monday appeared to have broken the back of the planned three days of disruptions.

As the Marines, paratroopers and other federal troops began withdrawing from the capital, police reported another 200 arrests had been made today as demoralized bands of young people wandered the streets, apparently leaderless and without design.

The federal troops, who had moved into the city at the height of Monday's disorders, were pulled back to staging positions in the suburbs. But there was no move to return to their bases, the 10,000 troops who had been mobilized during the weekend.

The disengagement of troops still left thousands of police to watch warily over the city.

Rush [illegible] traffic—lighter than usual—moved smoothly.

Protest organizers, who had promised to send 10,000 persons into the streets today, talked of a midday march on the Justice Department.

Charges of disorderly conduct, obstructing traffic, loitering or unlawful assembly were lodged against most of those arrested today—although several older, well-dressed, well-groomed pedestrians were arrested for jaywalking and hauled off in police paddywagons.

Police vehicles did more to cause brief traffic jams than did the demonstrators.

Said one long-haired youth: "Everthing has broken down today ... some people are out of it."

Said another: "I'm too tired."

As the rush hour began, traffic flowed smoothly across the four Potomac River bridges which were the target of Monday's disruption. Street cleaning machines crisscrossed the bridges an hour before dawn to clear away a scattering of nails and tacks.

MOST CRUCIAL PART OF MIDEAST TOUR

Rogers In Egypt On Peace Mission

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers arrived in Egypt today to begin the most crucial part of his tour of the Middle East in search of peace.

Rogers is the first American secretary of state to visit Egypt in 18 years.

He arrived after a 24-hour visit to Beirut, the capital of Lebanon. He previously had visited Jordan and Saudi Arabia. After a three-day stop in Egypt he will go to Israel to wind up his Middle East tour.

Rogers met with Lebanese Prime Minister Saeb Salam and Foreign Minister Khalil Abu Hamad.

U.S. officials said the talks did not involve specific proposals for a Middle East peace solution.

The U.S. officials added that Rogers told the Lebanese foreign minister the purpose of his journey was three fold:

To learn directly the attitudes of the parties concerned; to make clear the U.S. position is not prejudiced in any one direction, except in the direction of peace: and hopefully, to bring the parties closer together.

In Cairo, President Anwar Sadat held a meeting with his top aides to set Egypt's future military and political policies.

The meeting was held only a few hours before Rogers' scheduled arrival for a three-day visit with Sadat, Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad and other leaders.

The visit to Israel Thursday night and Friday will wind up Rogers' five-country mission to the Middle East aimed at spurring some movement in the deadlocked peace talks.

U.S. policy-makers regard the Egypt-Israel dispute as the biggest problem in the complex Arab-Israeli stalemate. Rogers says he hopes that at least he can narrow the gap between the rival Egyptian and Israeli proposal to reopen the Suez Canal.

So far Egypt and Israel have not budged from their public positions. Egypt says it wants its forces to cross the canal into the area which would be vacated by Israeli troops for the canal opening. Israel says no.

Rogers believes that the Suez issue is the best bet for at least a part-way agreement toward an over-all settlenent since Egypt, Israel and the big powers all favor opening the international passageway closed since the 1967 war.

Rogers' visit to Cairo will be the first by a secretary of state since 1953 and, so far as senior diplomats can recall, the first by a secretary of state to a nation with which United States has no diplomatic relations. The late President Gamal Abdel Nasser broke relations with Washington during the June 1967 war, and Spain has handled official American interests in Egypt since then.

Rogers' project for a Suez Canal agreement met with opposition in Lebanon as well as Jordan.

US Dollar Flooding W. Germany

LONDON (AP) — Currency speculators sent the dollar reeling on Euoprean exchanges today, and the flood of U.S. money exchanged for West German marks, Dutch guilders and Swiss francs threatened to send inflation in Europe soaring further.

The speculation apparently was touched off by the call from five West German economic research institutes Monday for the mark—now pegged at 27 cents—to be set free in world markets to combat inflation.

Speculators saw a chance of a quick profit, anticipating another upward revaluation of the mark that might even force the guilder and the Swiss franc to go up too.

The dollar was on the floor in Frankfurt and Zurich. Only heavy buying by the Bank of England kept the rate just off the mandatory intervention point of $2.42 to the pound.

Anxiety over the monetary situation drove the price of gold up in the London and Zurich free markets. The jump was 43 cents in London to $39.86, the highest level since the 1969 crisis over the undervaluation of the mark.

Chancellor Willy Brandt's government raised the value of the mark 8.5 per cent to end the 1969 crisis. But so far officials of the Central Bank in Frankfort deny that it is likely to be revalued upward or allowed to float free in the near future.

West Germany's Central Bank was reported to have taken in $250 million to $300 million in the first hours of trading today and more than $120 million in the last hour Monday.

House Delays Tax Action

AUSTIN (AP) — House leaders backed away from an early decision on taxes today but said representatives probably would decide later this week on the Senate's $684 million tax bill.

"We won't be working on taxes today or tomorrow," Speaker Gus Mutscher said.

Asked if he and other leaders had made up their minds whether to accept the Senate bill, Mutscher said, "We are still open at this stage of the game.

"We're studying it, combing through it and trying to clear up all technicalities."

Mutscher said he also wanted to poll the House on whether to accept the Senate measure, which is about as heavy with direct taxes on consumers as the $524 million revenue bill passed in March by the House.

"There is a good possibility we will get to it (the tax bill) this week because we don't want to lose the weekend if it goes to conference," Mutscher said.

He also indicated it would be later this week before he names House members of the conference committee on appropriations. Senate negotiators on the nearly $7 billion state budget were named over a week ago.

House acceptance of the Senate tax bill, which includes big boosts in the sales tax and the gasoline tax, would settle one of the legislative session's top issues and eliminate a potential sticking point.

Mutscher said there was no rush to appoint appropriations conferees.

N-Viets Reject POW Proposal

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam today in effect rejected a U.S. proposal that prisoners of war from both sides be interned in a neutral country.

Sweden has indicated it would be prepared to accept the prisoners, and the idea was strongly endorsed Monday by President Nixon.

The spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation to the Vietnam peace talks here repeated in a statement long-standing terms that prisoner release can only be dealt with after the United States has set a deadline for withdrawal of its troops from South Vietnam.

ANIMAL CONTROLS STUDIED

Street Projects Approved

The Snyder City Council last night approved a contract for approximately 100 blocks of street seal-coating, bought a couple of trucks and discussed a proposed animal control ordinance for half an hour before tabling it and suggesting some revisions to be presented at the June meeting.

W. A. Vestal was elected to serve as Mayor Pro Tem for the coming year. Bill Seale, Mayor Pro Tem for the past year, presided over the session in the absence of Mayor Bobby McCormick who was out of town.

The animal control ordinance would limit the number of animals that could be kept at a single location inside the city limits and also would set limitations on areas where they could be kept and the general conditions under which they could be kept. Included in the controls would be cattle, sheep, horses, goats, poultry, pigeons, etc. Hogs would be excluded completely from the city, as they are under existing regulations.

W. D. Turner Construction Co. was awarded a contract to seal-coat city streets this summer. His proposal of 11.4 cents per square yard, or a total of $15,048 for 100 blocks, was the lowest of three bids received.

Thomas Chrysler-Plymouth's bid of $2,523.42 was the lowest of four received for furnishing a half-ton pickup truck for the water treatment plant, and a bid of $3,549.40 by Wilson Motors was the lowest for a cab and dump truck chassis for the street department. The council accepted both the low bids.

A bid of $932 by Hobbs Trailers of Lubbock, the lower of two proposals received, was accepted for providing a dump bed for the street department truck.

The council passed on second reading an ordinance adopting the [illegible] States of America Standards Institute Standard for Mobile Homes as a building code for mobile homes in the City of Snyder. Then, another ordinance was passed on first reading establishing zoning classifications to allow mobile homes zones in the city. These zones will be designated as R-2 MH and R-3 MH. The mobile homes zones will be established through the regular procedure, with the city itself initiating the action for the first such zones via the planning and zoning commission.

Rex Fields and Lyle Deffebach were re-appointed to the board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. Snyder's other two directors on the CRMWD board are W. A. McGlain and Dr. John Blum. The CRMWD directors serve terms of two years.

Following its formal session, the council held another conference with officials of South[illegible] Planning Associates, the firm which is working on a general plan for the city.

Boy friend treats her like friend

DEAR ABBY: Jim and I have been dating steadily for three months. Jim is 26, very intelligent, has an excellent job with a good future and is of average looks. He's never been married and neither have I. [I am 22.] People consider me attractive.

It is difficult for me to understand why Jim has never shown any signs of affection toward me. He's never even held my hand, and he's never told me that he cares for me. We are able to talk freely about almost everything. Jim is considerate and courteous. Instead of a good night kiss, he says, "Stay sweet," or, "Keep well," or, "I'll see you."

I would very much like to have some affection from him. I think he should have asked to kiss me by now, don't you?

I don't want to seduce him, but this has me wondering. What do you think? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: If you can talk with Jim about almost everything, ask him what he sees in you. Don't be surprised if he says you'd make a great sister. An intelligent 26-year-old man doesn't need a roadmap to find his way around.

DEAR ABBY: I love my husband dearly but we have this constant disagreement about leaving our children alone. One is four years old, the other is five months old. My husband sees no reason why we can't leave them alone for one minute. He says that if something is going to happen, it will happen whether someone is here with them or not, and what can a four-year-old and a five-month-old do in the house while we are gone that they don't do when we're around?

When our first child was a tiny infant, I was on the other side of town and had to bicycle home when my husband called to say he had to leave. When I got home my husband had already left and the child was so frightened she was screaming bloody murder!

My husband thinks I am crazy. I think he is heartless. Thanks for any help you can give me. AT WITS END

DEAR AT: Ask your husband how long he thinks it would take a flash fire to destroy your home and the children trapped in it? That should settle the disagreement.

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 years old and a college graduate. The man is 48, has six children and is a grandfather. After having a six-year clandestine affair with this man we were caught in an embarrassing situation by two of his grown children.

I persuaded him to leave his handicapped wife and live with me in another state.

I love this man with all my heart, and I know he loves me. But after a year he is very lonely for his children and he can't seem to hold a job because of nervousness and depression.

Should I send him back to his wife and children while I am still young enough to look further?

SECOND THOUGHTS

DEAR SECOND: Yes. I think you have both learned that happiness cannot be built on the sorrow of others.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HURT IN ANAHEIM: If you can't go to the wedding wishing them both well, don't go in order to show everyone you aren't at home crying your eyes out. Your bitterness will be apparent, and you'll wish you'd stayed away.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Ray Tries To Escape

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray, who pleaded guilty to slaying Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., almost turned his 99-year prison sentence into death when he tried to escape through a prison steam tunnel.

"He would never have survived the heat if he hadn't got out of the tunnel."

Warden Robert H. Moore of the Brushy Mountain State Prison said Monday after Ray's unsuccessful escape attempt.

Ray was captured in the prison compound as he sought a way over the stone wall of the maximum security prison in the Cumberland Mountains.

He faced a disciplinary board this morning.

Ray was imprisoned after pleading guilty to the sniper slaying of King outside a Memphis motel room on April 4, 1968. Subsequently he has sought and failed to obtain a new trial on grounds his guilty plea was submitted under pressure from his attorney.

"He was in the tunnel for only about 10 minutes," Moore said, "and he had a few burns but they didn't appear to be serious."

Trade promotion work, developed via Chamber of Commerce committees has been more extensive and more successful in recent years than ever before. Also, the Chamber of Commerce works continually to promote events here to bring in delegations from out of town and to make use of the various facilities, such as the Scurry County Coliseum.

One of the biggest special projects, which draws thousands of people each year, is the July 4th celebration, which is organized and coordinated each year by the Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the projects now on the horizon include a giant effort to make Snyder the No. 1 trade center for an area serving over 100,000 people; to provide new job opportunities through further industrial development; to attract more tourists, conventions and other visitors; to work with others in an effort to get Interstate Highway 27 designated on a route through Snyder; to establish a state-wide junior college tournament in Snyder; and to work toward upgrading community facilities and to deal with any other business, industrial and civic problems as they arise.

Letters To Editor

To The Daily News:

This is in regard to a recent report in the SDN Column regarding the activities of the Lions Club during their recent convention which related how impressed the ladies were with Snyder's wonderful facilities, the coliseum, the high school auditorium, the Diamond M Museum and the Martha Ann Woman's Club. We appreciate the kind words.

However, we wish to clarify something that is not generally understood in Snyder. The Martha Ann Woman's Club, unlike the coliseum, the high school, or the museum, is a private organization, not subsidized or supported in any way by city or county taxes, or endowed by any special funds. It is a non-profit organization and exists only by the funds received through membership dues and from donations by a few generous women.

The club house building was originally given to the women of Snyder and Scurry County by the late D. M. Cogdell. The charter states its purposes: educational, cultural and charitable. Membership is open to all women or women's clubs within these boundaries.

The club, being a private, non-profit organization, exists for the purpose of catering to its members, but special efforts are made whenever possible to accommodate all civic and social affairs. This is done by special effort and many hours of volunteer work by the board of directors.

The Altrurian Daughters Club, a participating and active member of the Martha Ann Woman's Club, commends the board of directors for their efforts in making the club house available for civic functions, and earnestly urges the women of Snyder and Scurry County to consider a more active and interested participation in such a fine institution.

Membership fees are nominal. For information regarding membership, a letter addressed to Martha Ann Women's Club, Box 992, Snyder, will be promptly answered.

Kent State Pays Tribute To Dead

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Flags rippled at half staff at Kent State University today while students carried flickering candles through long hours of a memorial vigil to the four students killed a year ago in a clash with National Guardsmen.

Leaders of a rebel May Day Coalition—their ranks thinned by the arrests of demonstrators in Washington—announced plans to test a campus ban against outside speakers.

The university reported up to 5,000 of Kent State's 19,482 students started the candlelight memorial tribute to their slain classmates Monday night. Only a dozen remained by their candles at daylight and seven of them huddled in sleeping bags.

A bright crisp spring day killed the glowing effect the candles gave in the nighttime chill.

The coalition, which claims to represent 13 leftist organizations, seeks to abolish a system of campus speakers, to have police disarmed, remove undercover agents from the campus and wants to have 25 indictments stemming from last year's disorders condemned.

Questions Raised Over Germanys

By JUBERT J. ERB
Associated Press Writer

BERLIN (AP) — Walter Ulbricht's retirement from the direction of East Germany's ruling Communist party raises questions of major importance about the future of the two Germanys, but no one in the West knows the answers yet.

Will Ulbricht's successor as party first secretary, Erich Honecker, take a softer stance toward West Germany? The Bonn government is likely to probe cautiously to find out.

Will Soviet demands in the Big Four talks on Berlin ease? Some observers believe Ulbricht's pressure on the Russians made them hold out for even more than Moscow itself felt necessary.

Will West German Chancellor Willy Brandt's campaign to improve relations between his government and the Soviet bloc regimes meet with more success now? Brandt's government had accused Ulbricht of blocking the desires of other Communist governments for ties with Bonn.

What will happen to the Berlin Wall, one of Ulbricht's most conspicuous legacies? Will West Berliners be allowed more access to relatives and friends in East Berlin and East Germany?

How will East Germans react to the shelving of the Communist world's most prominent Stalinist? Will they be harder to handle?

Herbert Wehner, one of Brandt's chief aides who knew Ulbricht before World War II when both were Communist exiles, once predicted what would happen when Ulbricht passed from power:

"At first the party leaders will rally around the new man. There will be an uncertainty and there will be no quick experiments. But after a while, after they have seen if they can handle things without Ulbricht, who knows what they will do? No one can tell."

Ulbricht, the architect under Stalin of the East German state and a founder of the German Communist party half a century ago, resigned Monday from his all-important party post. Age was given as the reason; he will be 78 on June 30.

The party Central Committee named Honecker, 58-year-old secretary for security and another hard-liner, to be first secretary and created the new, largely ceremonial post of party chairman for the spade-bearded, bespectacled old leader.

Youths Held In Vandalism

Aged Man Just 'Don't Quit'

BIBLE GROVE, Ill. (AP) — George Quakenbush, 92, says he still can see to read, doesn't have trouble hearing and his hands don't even shake.

What's his secret?

"Well, a fella told me once that the way to live long is to just keep a-going," he said. "When you get old, don't quit."

When Quakenbush retired after 30 years as a mail carrier, he bought a farm.

"I wanted something to do," he said.

He farmed for 30 years—until he was 90.

Reports Are Given On Cancer Crusade Collections

The Scurry County Unit of the American Cancer Society met last night for their annual dinner meeting at the Steak House. Mrs. Travis Rhoades, president, presided over the meeting. Bently Baize worded the invocation.

Following dinner Mrs. Rhoades opened the meeting by introducing each member and guest. Mrs. Mozell Roggenstein read the minutes of the last meeting.

Mrs. Rhoades reported that during the past year the local board consisted of 26 members and has met 5 times. She also commended the officers Herman Trigg, Mrs. Roggenstein, and H. W. Cargile for services rendered during the past year.

Mrs. Virginia Clark, publicity chairman, expressed appreciation to everyone responsible for publicity during the cancer drive. She expressed thanks to businesses as well as many individuals and clubs.

Mrs. Wilton Jones reported on the Cancer Crusade, which began in April. The board set a goal of $8,000 for the Crusade. At this time Mrs. Jones reported Special Gifts reached their $1,500 goal by collecting a total of $1,585; Business reached their $1,500 goal with $1,740; Residential collected $2,743.54 of their $3,000 goal; County, which is not complete has collected $912.75 of their $2,000 goal. Buford Browning, chairman of the county drive, said "I feel that we will reach well over our goal." Special Events which was collected by the Gay Twenty Social Club totaled $183.20; The "send the mouse to school" collection has not at this time been collected. The total collections at this time are $7,164.49. With reports from workers who had not turned in their collections at this time, it looks as though the Crusade will go well over their $8,000 goal.

Mr. Cargile reported that the total for memorial's collected during April was $518.62. The total since January is $927.62.

Buford Browning submitted names, on behalf of the nominating committee, to be placed on the board. In addition to board members who consented to remain on the board from last year the following names were submitted and unanimously accepted; Mrs. Anita Arnold, Trudie Wood, Derwin Thompson, Mrs. Ted Crenweldge and Mrs. Travis Hatter.

Officers elected for the coming year were Mrs. Travis Rhoades, president; Herman Trigg, vice president; H. W. Cargile, treasurer; and Mrs. Mozell Roggenstein, secretary.

Five delegates were elected to attend the District Annual Meeting June 11. They were Mmes. Wraymond Sims, D. M. Pogue, Nora Hess, Travis Rhoades and Mozell Roggenstein.

Mrs. Marilyn Nixon was elected as the delegate to the Divisional Meeting in Houston August 25-26 and Mrs. Travis Rhoades was elected as her alternate.

Mrs. Rhoades announced that the next meeting would be Sept. 13.

Robert Polk, Field Represenative of Abilene, on behalf of the American Cancer Society commended the unit on an excellent job and extended his congrautlations to all people who helped in the Crusade.

Albuquerque Woman Runs Nuclear Weapons Museum

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque's Carol Canfield runs the only public nuclear weapons museum in the world, the Sandia Atomic Museum.

In her six months as curator, she has acquired 11 major displays for the museum, bringing the total in the collection to 39. Among them are a full-scale replica of the first atomic bomb ever tested, "Fat Man," and a model of "Little Boy," the first nuclear weapon actually dropped.

She said many of the visitors, some of whom have top secret security clearances, are amazed at the vast amount of once classified information revealed there. "We are amazed at some of it ourselves," Mrs. Canfield said.

She had 16 years of experience as inventory specialist for the Nuclear Material Control Division at Sandia before taking over the museum. During that time she started making plans to acquire displays for the museum before it opened Oct. 6, 1969.

One of the museum prizes is a film, "Ten Seconds That Shook the World," a historical documentary of the discovery of nuclear energy leading up to the dropping of the bomb over Hiroshima.

A compilation of government film strips, the major characters in this presentation are J. Robert Oppenheimer, who headed the bomb project; and Enrico Fermi who built the first reactor that demonstrated the feasibility of developing a nuclear weapon.

Ten years ago, a person would have been sent to Leavenworth Prison for divulging a fraction of the information now available to anyone who walks through the museum. Even the shape of a nuclear weapon was once considered top secret.

"I feel we have a responsibility to the public to show them what the military is doing with its time and money," Mrs. Canfield said. "We still have to clear every word of the written description, everything the tour guide says, and every display we put on the floor through the Sandia classification committee," she said.

None of the displays are actually live weapons, but some are shells of the real thing and others are full scale models filled with concrete. "Every time we get a new display, it's a major operation to move it in. We have to use a 50-ton crane to do it—this isn't just an ordinary museum," she said.

Mrs. Canfield has three men working for her. "Some of my friends told me that the men would resent my being in charge. They haven't at all. I have all the responsibility and they have all the fun."

Cookin Addresses Convention

HOUSTON (AP) — A food industry executive said Monday supermarkets can cut their food prices by using electronic checkout stands.

R. B. Cookin, president of the H. J. Heinz Co., spoke at the Super Market Institute, which has attracted some 12,000 of the nation's grocers to its convention.

Cookin told retailers at a business session that a universal product code system would produce economic and consumer benefits.

Sach a code—used to identify individual grocery items collected by customers—would save a store with sales of $40,000 a week from $6,000 to $25,000 a year he said.

The code would be stamped on the product's packaging at the factory, at considerably less cost than supermarkets now pay to place prices on tags at the store.

Checkers in supermarkets would point an electronic reading device at the code numbers. The register would then check the code against a price list already fed into it and automatically ring up the amount on the sale, he said.

The Weeders Guide

They are terming dwarf apple trees, the giants of the fruit industry. This despite the fact that they are often one-third the size of standard trees.

Orchardists report that dwarfs yield more and better quality fruit per acre. While they produce less fruit per tree than the standard trees, they begin bearing four to eight years sooner, depending on the variety, rootstock and care.

An acre will handle up to 1,000 trees and a mature apple orchard—beyond 10 years—generally will produce 400 to 1,000 bushels per acre. The Michigan State dwarf tree orchards yield 900 bushels with Jonathon and 1,300 with Golden Delicious apple trees six years old.

Why better production? More of the fruit bearing area is exposed to sunlight because the trees are smaller. This means larger fruit and better color.

First compact or dwarf trees were found in the Orient and Europe. Scientists learned that the dwarfing characteristic was caused by the tree's rootstock. Considerable early research was done at the East Malling Station, Kent, England. This station early in the 1930s released the Malling Merten rootstock series, hybrids developed through breeding, to add insect resistance, better root anchorage, early fruiting and more production.

Dwarf trees require minimum pruning and training.

Looking to the future, Michigan State believes shorter, bush-like trees in high density plantings are likely to produce more fruit per acre. By 1980, many growers will be planting at 4 by 8 foot spacing, about 1,300 trees per acre, compared with the 30 by 40 foot spacing and 35 trees per acre of 20 years ago.

By 1980 many orchards will yield 2,500 to 3,000 bushels per acre. The fruit will be of better color, good taste, more uniformity and better suited to mechanical harvesting.

The same trend is likely for other fruits.

ONE SWALLOW DOESN'T MAKE A SPRING, BUT...

Economy Designers Polishing Up Creation

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Economic activity by the Nixon administration suggests the image these days of a custom car maker putting the finishing touches on a creation he has assembled laboriously.

The creation in this case is a new economy, reworked out of the remnants of the old boom of the 1960s, rebuilt here and there, and scoured of its ugly protrusions by a painful recession.

The old economy was weary with inflation and waste and inefficiency. The new economy, in its assembler's view, is less inflated, less dependent upon the military, more productive, basically stronger.

It was a long time emerging, and for many months the critics of the administration insisted that it would never get built at all. But statistically it can be shown to exist, finally.

But it has failed too. Pockets of recession remain. Unemployment is relatively high. Inflation, though reduced, does exist.

And so the designers are busy at work polishing up their creation.

In recent days, for example, they have promised aid to the aerospace industry, where unemployment is high; they have promised preference for depressed geographical areas; they have promised to help the farmer; they have begun a fight to give business a tax writeoff; and they hold out the possibility of a tax cut for all.

The new economy certainly is not a photographic projection of the vision of two years ago. While generally hewing to the tight-money, reduced spending regimen, the administration has made accomodations to reality also.

Chief of these involves the President's own interpretation of his role in economic affairs. It was his firm belief two years ago that the chief executive shouldn't intervene directly in the market place.

This view seemed basic to his philosophy. The market should set its own prices in keeping with the laws of supply and demand. The President might influence supply and demand through his policies, but he must never step into the market and set prices directly.

Such a view presumes that the economy is governed by physical laws—that every action has a reaction, for example. But the economy is hardly a perfect machine. It has too many human parts. It doesn't always act logically.

And so the builders of the Nixon economy appear to have grudgingly accepted the view that their machine cannot function by itself but needs an assist now and then from the chief engineer. It must be adjusted from time to time.

Junior Editors Quiz on HEART

QUESTION: How fast does a human heart beat and how does it pump blood?

* * *

ANSWER: Heart beats show that the pump which is the heart is circulating the blood. This circulation picks up oxygen from the lungs, brings this as well as food materials to the body cells and carries away waste material. After circulating around, the blood is pumped to the lungs for more oxygen, then back to the heart and around the body again. Two separate chambers of the heart are needed to do these jobs. We show how the right chamber works. Blood enters from the veins; then two doors of a valve in the chamber close, preventing blood from the lower part, or ventricle, from flowing back. Now another valve leading toward the lungs opens, and the powerful heart walls squeeze in, forcing the blood out toward the lung. Meanwhile, a similar pump is operating in the left heart chamber, this one sending blood throughout the body. As the two pumps work at the same time, the action can be felt as a pulse or heartbeat. A normal heart will give from 70 to 80 beats a minute. There are about 4,200 beats an hour, over 100,000 a day, over 36 million a year and close to 2 billion in 50 years. Yet between beats, the amazing human heart manages to get enough rest to keep on working. 5-4

Columnist Learns From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

America now produces about 400 trillion pounds of garbage a year—a ton for each person. Dumped on Manhattan it would bury the island to a depth of 13 feet. But if it did, most Manhattanites probably would hardly notice the difference.

Deaf mutes can talk to each other much faster than people who converse in spoken language. Their hands are far quicker than the human tongue. Experts estimate that by movements of the fingers, wrist and arms as many as 700,000 signs can be formed.

Quotable quotables: "Middle-aged rabbits don't have a paunch, do have their own teeth, and haven't lost their romantic appeal."—Dr. Aurelia Poter, endocrinologist.

History lesson: What U.S. presidents bore the following nicknames: "Man of the People"; "Old Man Eloquent"; "Galena Tanner"; "Dynamo of Power"? They were Abraham Lincoln, John Quincy Adams, U.S. Grant, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Grass is one of nature's chief coolants. An acre of grass, according to the National Geographic Society, releases about 2,400 gallons of water into the air on a single summer day. This evaporation has the cooling power of a 70-ton air conditioner.

Big dollar lady: When it comes to making money, today's top stars in baseball, pro football and basketball are pikers compared to the late Sonja Henie, the Norwegian ice skater. She is reported in the record books as having amassed a fortune of $47.5 million.

A lot of feathers: What is the most numerous form of bird life? That honor belongs to the plain old barnyard chicken, followed probably by starlings and English sparrows. But ornithologists believe that passenger pigeons, extinct since 1914, once were the most abundant birds on earth. North America once held an estimated five billion of them.

Worth remembering: "Few husbands carry an up-to-date photo of their wife after she hits 40."

Water hazard: Of some 1,400 people known to have tried to swim the English Cahnnel, more than 1,200 were defeated by heavy tides or choppy seas in the 21-mile stretch. Only three swimmers—all men—have accomplished the feat of making round-trip, nonstop crossings.

It was Franz Kafka who observed, "Every revolution evaporates, and leaves behind only the slime of a new bureaucracy."

Warning Issued On VEE

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — The American Horse Council has warned horsemen and veterinarians to watch for symptoms of a foreign virus of horses that has recently moved closer to the United States.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says the disease, called Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), has moved north from South America and Central America into Mexico where about 6,000 horses were reported killed by the disease in 1970.

At the urging of the American Horse Council, animal health officials are keeping close watch on the spread of the disease so proper action can be taken to protect U.S. horses.

In addition to Mexico, the disease has been found in Peru, Venezuela, Ecuador, Colombia, British and French Guiana, Surinam, Panama, Trinidad, Curacao, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica.

VEE is infectious and often fatal. It hits the central nervous system in equines.

Old Relics Found In Pond

LONDON (AP) — Relics dating back to the 1920s were dredged from Kensington Garden Park's Round Pond when it was drained for the first time in 40 years.

Among the finds were the wrecks of several generations of small boys' model boats, some army tin hats tossed in by celebrating soldiers at the end of the war and an old sceptre from a nearby statue of Queen Victoria, which regularly is raided by pranksters.

Canal To Be Shorter

FORT WORTH (AP) — The Trinity River travels 552 miles from Fort Worth to the Gulf. But the multiple-purpose canal between the same points will be only 363 miles.

Because a shorter channel is important to both flood control and navigation, Army Engineers will bypass many bends and bows, says Trinity Improvement Association spokesmen.

The multiple-purpose channel will not be perfectly straight, but it will be 189 miles shorter than the river as it now snakes through the hinterlands of an 18,000 square-mile watershed.

Within the bends and bows that will be left in the channel straightening process lie untold opportunities for the preservation of areas of environmental and ecological significance.

Griffith Gets Ring Decision

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The betting was 5-to-2 that Emile Griffith would win and, as the fight went on, the betting was 8-to-1 against the ring going the distance.

Griffith, the former world welterweight and middleweight champion, did indeed win a decision over Ernie "Indian Red" Lopez in 10 rounds and much to the relief of all concerned, the ring managed to last, too, after the ropes twice collapsed.

New York's Griffith weighed 154 and Los Angeles' Lopez 152.

The match was staged at the Nevada Ice Palace, home of the Las Vegas Gamblers hockey team, which was converted for the first time into a boxing arena. There was nothing wrong with the arena except that too few people came in-perhaps 3,500—and the craftsmanship erecting the ring left much to be desired.

The fight itself was hardly spectacular although both boys tried hard. But there were untimely interruptions.

The first came in the sixth when they were mixing it up pretty good and suddenly the top strand of the ring rope collapsed which halted the action in the ring.

In the eighth round, Griffith scored with a long left hook to Indian Red's jaw and Indian Red went lurching backwards. Whether he was stung or caught off balance was debatable because at that moment the ropes collapsed a second time.

The fighters gave the ropes a good workout in the final two rounds as first one and then the other with bull-like rushes forced the other back. The ropes withstood the test. There was a sigh of relief when the fight ended.

It was the initiative promotion for a dedicated boxing fan named Harry Bloomfield, a one-time ticket broker in New York and Hollywood who has lived here several years and was intent on staging a fight card.

Mr. Bloomfield, a nice, elderly gentleman, saw trouble coming earliest in the day. It appeared he would come up short with the $12,000 guaranteed Griffith and the $8,000 promised Indian Red, not to count other expenses including the preliminary fighters.

In a sense, the preliminary kids solved some of his problem. Only two showed up and boxed eight rounds—two more than they were scheduled. And Mr. Bloomfield faced some sort of reprimand from the Nevada Athletic Commission. It's secretary, Jim Deskin, said Nevada law requires a minimum of 26 rounds of fighting.

THEY BOTH WANT A SHOT AT THE CROWN — Heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, center, gags it up with George Foreman, right, of Hayward, Calif., and Gregorio Peralta, left, of Argentina, both of whom want a shot at the title. Foreman and Peralta will meet in a 15-round heavyweight match on May 10 in Oakland, part of a three city closed circuit fight ticket. Frazier was in San Francisco for an appearance with his entertainment group after a three-day tour at Lake Tahoe. (AP Wirephoto)

Horns Clinch SWC Crown

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas, with the Southwest Conference title already tucked away, takes on Texas A&M today in the final game of the SWC baseball campaign.

The Longhorns pounded out a 9-6, 6-3 doubleheader sweep Monday in the climactic series between the arch rivals, who were tied for the lead with 12-3 records.

The twin triumph propelled the defending champion Longhorns into the playoffs against an NCAA at-large team. The winner qualifies for the College World Series at Omaha, Neb.

The double setback was a harsh pill to swallow for the proud Cadets, who were sailing along unbeaten at 12-0 until they dropped three straight to Texas Christian in the twilight stages of the race.

Going into the finale today, the Aggies are 12-5 in SWC play and 30-8 for the season. Texas, now 14-3, is 31-9 for the campaign.

The Longhorns punched across eight runs on seven hits in the fourth inning to take the opener with the big hit being a bases loaded triple by David Chalk in the decisive fourth.

First baseman John Langerhans drove in two runs with a single and a double in the nightcap as Mike Beard, the winner, combined with Burt Hooten to blank the Aggies on three hits.

Two of the Texas runs, in the fifth inning, were unearned.

SWC Alters Golf Format

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The Southwest Conference, in a move apparently aimed at wooing the Texas Longhorns back into the fold, is altering its golf championship format.

The current round robin procedure prompted Texas to withdraw from SWC championship play this year. The Longhorns prefer a medal play format.

"We will decide the golf championships possibly with two tournaments," said Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference.

"I will go to work immediately with the golf coaches in the conference to determine a course of action. There will be no more round-robin golf championships."

He said one of the tournaments may be held in the fall and another in the spring.

Grubbs said that under the new formula athletes will be limited to 12 days per semester in which they can miss classes to play. Only five players will be allowed to go on a trip to a tournament site.

In other business as the close of Monday's SWC meeting, Grubbs announced:

—The track schedule has been changed to the old formula whereby each school determines its own schedule. The only mandatory requirement is that a school can compete only on 10 dates. Also, it was suggested that each school schedule at least two home meets per year.

Tennis and cross-country travel squads will be limited to five men.

Mets Nip Cubs In 11th

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Was it a balk or wasn't it? Well ... yes ... and no. Would you believe almost? How about maybe?

The Chicago Cubs still don't believe it. They feel the balk that wasn't cost them a ballgame Monday night, in New York and let the Mets make off with a 3-2 victory on Tommie Agee's pinch single with two out in the 11th inning.

In the only other major league action, the Philadelphia Phillies edged the St. Louis Cardinals by an identical 3-2 score.

That was the situation when the argument started at Shea Stadium Monday night. Score tied 2-all, top of the ninth, bases loaded and Ron Santo, who had driven in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning, at bat.

Reliever Tug McGraw starts his windup, then steps back off the mound. "Balk!" yells third base umpire Stan Landes, and Ken Holtzman, the runner at third, trots happily plateward.

"No balk," overrules plate umpire Mel Steiner, explaining that he had signaled for time before McGraw started his move.

As you might expect, here comes Leo Durocher, the Chicago manager.

"How could you call time after he called a balk?" Durocher wants to know. "If you'll listen to me, I'll explain it to you," cajoles Steiner. "I signaled for time before the balk."

End of argument. What could Durocher say. The Lip was speechless and he remained so afterwards.

"It happens 15 or 20 times a game," said Steiner. "Santo was scratching around in the dirt with his spikes trying to get set and I held up my hand for time. I can't let McGraw quick-pitch him, can I? I've got to protect the hitter.

"Santo complained that he was in the batter's box. I told him I don't have to protect him when he's out of the box, do I?"

Santo then watched a third strike and Johnny Callison tapped to first for the third out.

The Mets won it when Jerry Grote, who doubled home their first run in the fourth inning, lashed a two-out double in the 11th, his fourth hit, off loser Holtzman, 0-4.

After an intentional pass to Tim Foli, Agee, who didn't start because of bruised ribs, batted for McGraw, 3-1, and punched a 3-2 pitch to right field.

"I saw Steiner put his hand up," McGraw said. "That's why I stopped my windup. In fact, I'm glad it was called the way it was. I didn't think it was a balk at all. I thought I stepped off the mound properly. Now I know."

McGraw picked up the triumph and also singled in his only at-bat, giving him two hits in three trips.

Grote singled in the seventh, took third on Foli's double and scored on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly to put the Mets ahead 2-1. The Cubs tied it in the eighth when Billy Williams drilled his sixth home run of the season.

In the night's only other game, the Phillies stopped the Cardinals 3-2 as Larry Bowa knocked in two runs with a bases-loaded single in the eighth inning.

Bowa's two-out single, his fourth hit of the game, came off reliever Don Shaw and chased home Tim McCarver and Larry Hisle.

Earlier, rookie right fielder Roger Freed shot down a St. Louis rally in the third inning by throwing out speedy Lou Brock at home.

Freed's picture toss followed a bases-loaded single by Ted Simmons scoring Dal Maxvill and nailed Brock, who was trying to make it from second base. Maxvill's was the Cardinal only run in a 1-1 tie that existed until Bowa's tie-breaking hit in the eighth.

Freed's throw saved Philadelphia starter Barry Lersch, who held on to pick up his second victory of the season.

Tim McCarver opened the eighth with a single and took second on Freed's sacrifice. After Don Money was intentionally walked and Larry Hisle rolled into a force out, pinch-hitter Ron Stone walked to set the stage for Bowa, who made the score 3-1.

The Cardinals made it close with a run in the ninth on Jim Beauchamp's sacrifice fly before reliever Joe Hoerner killed the rally.

Sugar Bowl Changes Time

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl, fighting to maintain the prestige of being one of the four major bowl games on New Years Day, agreed today to move its kickoff up from noon to 11 a.m., CST, to accommodate television.

The American Broadcasting System had asked the Sugar Bowl to switch the game to Monday night, Jan. 3, but Sugar Bowl brass resisted and the network agreed to the compromise.

By moving the kickoff to 11 a.m., the Sugar Bowl will be starting two hours before the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Television ratings for this year's game between Tennessee and Air Force reportedly were cut in half when the Notre Dame-Texas match in the Cotton Bowl began one hour after the Sugar Bowl kickoff.

The Sugar Bowl's television contract—worth an estimated $500,000 per year—comes up for renewal after 1972 and game sponsors are anxious to improve their television audience.

The time for the 1971 game was moved up from 12:45 p.m. to noon to accommodate television.

"An 11 a.m. kickoff isn't going to be bad if we have a good match," said one Sugar Bowl source. "But then, if it's a good match, any starting time will be good. This is going to be a critical year for us. We must come up with two good teams."

Houston A Credit To Southwest Conference

HOUSTON (AP) — The way they look at it here, the Southwest Conference came out on the winning end Monday when it admitted the University of Houston as a member.

"Houston will be a tremendous addition to the Southwest Conference," said Joe Tusa, a Houston alumnus who heads the sports program for Houston public schools. "Personally, I feel the Cougars' biggest asset will be their all-around program. That is their greatest strength—a strong, well-rounded program."

Tony Ditta, whose son is the starting middle linebacker for the Cougars and who was himself the co-captain of UH's first football team in 1946, agreed.

"I think it's a great thing for UH, the Southwest Conference and the city of Houston," Ditta said. "Houston's entrance into the conference should create tremendous enthusiasm and many outstanding rivalries."

UH football coach Bill Yeoman said, "It will definitely intensify the interest of our kids and the community. How it will affect our recruiting I couldn't say until after we recruit a year or two as a conference member.

"A lot of schools in the conference have harped on the conference-no conference theme, but we never have," Yeoman said. "I know one thing—it's going to make my breathing more difficult."

Guy Lewis, who has guided the Cougar basketball team to national rankings and NCAA playoffs, said he wasn't surprised at the vote.

"If we hadn't gotten in, I would have been bitterly disappointed," Lewis said. "This won't alter our recruiting and I haven't been too concerned about when they'll let us begin competing for the league championship because we'll be classified as an independent until we do. We can still reach the NCAA tournament by the independent route."

The Cougars won't start competing for the conference basketball crown until 1975 and the football crown until 1976. They will compete in all other sports in 1973.

Assistant football coach Barry Sides summed up the attitude of most former UH players.

"I'm ready to hook up with any of them right now," Sides said. "Any parking lot will do."

Stars Win 1st Playoff Game

By DUANE KENYON
Associated Press Writer

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Kentucky Coach Frank Ramsey points to Wednesday's game as the key contest in the American Basketball Association's championship playoff.

"We'll be in there Wednesday," Ramsey said Monday night after his Colonels absorbed a 136-117 pasting at the hands of the Utah Stars in the opening game of the series.

"If we are going to be a threat in this series, we've got to win Wednesday," Ramsey said.

Kentucky started off Monday's game as if it would break a season-long jinx in the Salt Palace. The Colonels have yet to win a game in the 13,200-seat facility.

Dan Issel scored 17 points in the first quarter as the Colonels jumped to a 12-point lead and led 35-26 entering the second quarter.

Then Utah's George Stone, a 6-8 reserve forward, got hot and it was all over.

Led by Stone, who scored 20 points in a 12-minute spree, Utah collected 50 points in the second quarter and piled up a margin that the Colonels couldn't overcome.

That 50-point outburst broke the ABA's playoff record for scoring in one quarter. The old record of 48 was set in 1968 by Pittsburgh and tied last year by Texas.

Issel, after a tremendous start, was held to 10 points the rest of the game, a key factor in Utah's victory. Guard Darrell Carrier picked up the slack for the Colonels, hitting 36 points including six three-pointers.

Utah Coach Bill Sharman said, "Issel is such a fantastic player and a great shooter that nobody is going to shut him off. But we started picking him up higher and gave Zelmo Beaty a little help."

Beaty and Stone led Utah scoring with 26 each. Ron Boone, another reserve, added 24. Stone grabbed 12 rebounds and Beaty had 16.

The Colonels got little punch besides Issel and Carrier. Louie Dampier had just three points and no other starter hit double figures.

After Wednesday's game in Salt Lake City, the teams switch to Louisville for Friday night and Saturday afternoon games. Then they alternate as needed for the rest of the series.

Monday's crowd of 12,051 brought Utah's home playoff attendance to 61,157 for six games.

Keep Off The Fields . . .Please

Cooperation is being asked to keep the baseball fields in Towle Memorial Park in good condition for games.

Jimmy Dyess, Scurry County Park Superintendent, said that teams or other groups are asked not to practice on the game diamonds. This includes the Little and Farm League diamonds as well as the Teen League diamond, which also is used for Snyder High School games.

The diamonds are used extensively for regular games during the season, and if they are to be maintained in top shape for league play, practice sessions must be prohibited, Dyess said.

Tiger, Tor Nines Vie Here Today

The Snyder High School baseball team will host Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes at 4 p.m. today on the Towle Park diamond. Both teams are tied for the District 3-AAA lead with 3-1 records.

Coach Speedy Moffett listed a probable starting lineup, according to batting order, as follows: Stewart Sims 3b, Butch Buchanan 1b, Larry Wall c, David Thompson cf, Tommy Washington ss, James Hood 2b, Albert Hernandez rf, and Tim Holder p.

The winner of today's game will grab a share of the 3-AAA title and could clinch the crown in the next game.

Memphis Hits Shreveport 9-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The streaking Memphis club of the Dixie Association-Central is turning the division race into something not unlike a free-for-all.

Memphis hammered out its fourth straight verdict over Shreveport Monday night, a 9-2 affair, dumping the league leader from first to third in one swoop.

At the start of their four-game series, Memphis trailed Shreveport by 3 ½ games. The Tennessee team today held the lead by three percentage points over Arkansas, with Shreveport half a game off the pace.

Savannah at Asheville was postponed because of cold weather, enabling Asheville to retain a slender half-game cushion over Charlotte in the Dixie East. Dallas-Fort Worth padded its lead in the Dixie West to four games with a 7-5 victory over Amarillo.

Pulitzer Prizes Are Awarded

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Pulitzer prizes have been awarded for coverage of the Kent State University campus tragedy in which Ohio National Guardsmen killed four students and wounded nine others a year ago today.

The staff of the Akron, Ohio, Beacon Journal won the general local reporting award Monday for its work in piecing together the story of the shootings under deadline pressure.

John Paul Filo, 22, won the spot photography award for his widely published picture of a distraught girl kneeling over the body of one of the slain students.

In the arts, the 1971 Pulitzer prize for drama went to Paul Zindel's "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds"—the second year in a row an off-Broadway play won the award.

For the first time since 1964 no fiction prize was awarded. The fiction jurors were reported to have offered three different candidates for awards: "Mr. Sammler's Planet," by Saul Bellow; "Losing Battles," by Eudora Welty, and "The Wheel of Love and Other Stories," by Joyce Carol Oates.

The award to the Akron Beacon Journal noted its balanced presentation of the campus events despite wild rumors. Robert H. Giles, managing editor of the Knight newspaper, said, "We're delighted to have been so honored.

"We received a good deal of criticism from public officials and our readers at the time many of our stories were published," Giles added. "I think all of our stories stood the test of truth over the time since then."

Filo was a photo lab assistant at Kent State at the time of the tragedy. He had gone out for lunch with a borrowed camera and lens when the shooting began. He recalled seeing the body and the girl kneel beside it.

"There were students blocking my view so I moved to the left and waited. I was near the end of the roll of film and she was just looking down, crying, and then she let out with this scream and that's when I made the picture."

The Pulitzer prize for national reporting went to Lucinda Franks, 24, and Thomas Powers, 30, of United Presss International for their background exploration of Diana Oughton, 28, killed in the explosion of a bomb factory in a Greenwich Village townhouse.

Mrs. Wallace PracticesFor Race

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Mrs. George C. Wallace, the governor's wife, took a bead on the world's fastest closed car race track and conquered it like a veteran.

The pretty brunette slid under the steering wheel of a 1971 convertible with an expert by her side, stomped on the gas pedal and quickly had the big car tooling around the 2.66-mile track at more than 100 miles an hour.

Mrs. Wallace took the runs Monday to practice for a new role. She will drive the pace car for the Winston 500, a $165,000 Grand National stock car race set for the Alabama International Motor Speedway May 16.

Mrs. Wallace, admitting to some nervousness, said she will put in some more practice before the race but Bill France, International Speedway Corp. president, said after riding with Mrs. Wallace that she "is a fine driver."

One Deer Isn't Very Dear

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — One deer isn't very dear to some fellow deer here.

The Army added a young buck about a month ago to its small [illegible] in the park-like Quadrangle at Ft. Sam Houston.

To let the new animal get accustomed to deer already there, he was placed in an enclosure in view of the others for a time, then was released.

An Army spokesman said Monday, however, that the old-timer deer refused to accept him. They made things so uncomfortable that he tried to escape.

Searhers found him near a church. The buck had been hit by a car on an expressway access road. He didn't appear badly hurt and was returned to the Quadrangle.

Fate Of 648 On Death Row May Depend On Justices

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Douglas B. Lyons, a young Columbia law student who keeps an up-to-minute log on death row inmates across the land, was shaken.

"The court has decreed a bloodbath the likes of which the [illegible] claimed shortly after Monday's 6-3 ruling dismissed the two leading legal challenges to death-penalty procedures in the United States.

Lyons, chairman of Citizens Against Legalized Murder, an organization of hundreds of lawyers opposed to capital punishment, was understandably sweeping in his analysis.

After 2½ years of deliberation and three separate rounds of argument, six of the nine justices had concluded the Constitution requires neither standards to guide juries nor splitting capital trials into two phases.

But in the 33 states where 641 men and 7 women reside on death row, the governors have power to delay executions or to commute death sentences. Numerous stays are in effect, meanwhile, and some 115 appeals are pending in the Supreme Court, seeking to attack the death penalty on other grounds.

The primary argument—one the court has never agreed to consider—is that the 8th Amendment's prohibition on "cruel and unusual punishment" should be taken to mean the death penalty is unconstitutional.

The second most common argument is that juries in these cases are tilted unfairly toward the conviction side since people with deep-seated revulsions to capital punishment tend to be excluded.

The court already has ruled against arbitrary exclusion of potential jurors with scruples against the death penalty.

Lawyers from the 33 states with death-row inmates will assemble in New York May 15 for a two-day strategy session under direction of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund.

The Fund, representing more than half the prisoners on death row, contends the penalty falls disproportionately on the poor and the blacks and other minorities.

Jeffry Mintz, a Fund lawyer, took a mildly optimistic stand, saying "technically nothing" stands in the way of scores of executions. But Mintz said he expects the court to agree shortly to hear the 8th Amendment argument.

Justice John M. Harlan's majority opinion disputed mostly on logical grounds that legislatures can write standards adequate to guide juries.

"No list of circumstances would ever be really complete," he wrote. At one point, Harlan said: "To identify before the fact those characteristics of criminal homicides and their perpetrators which call for the death penalty, and to express these characteristics in language which can be fairly understood and applied by the sentencing authority, appear to be tasks which are beyond present human ability."

And he rejected the theory that single-stage trials create "an intolerable tension between constitutional rights."

In 32 of the 38 states that have the death penalty, the jury determines guilt or innocence and then fixes sentence, all in one sitting.

In the six other states, California, Connecticut, Georgia, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas, a defendant can exercise his right not to testify while the jury is deciding whether he is guilty. But once it convicts him, the jury returns and the defendant can take the stand to plead for his life.

Harlan said he could understand "the peculiar poignancy" of a defendant having to make a choice between testifying and remaining silent in the 32 states that use a single-stage trial. But, he added, the Constitution does not always forbid requiring him to choose.

The dissenters, Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall, opposed Harlan's opinion with legal arguments of their own.

But, like most dissenters, Douglas and Brennan wrote also with anguish.

"It is a mystery how in this day and age a unitary trial that requires an accused to give up one constitutional guarantee to save another constitutional guarantee can be brought within the rubric of procedural due process," Douglas said.

"It can be done only by a tour de force by a majority that stops the growth and evolution of procedural due process at a wholly arbitrary line or harkens to the passions of men.

"What a great regression it is when the end result is to approve a procedure that makes the killing of people charged with crime turn on the whim or caprice of one man or 12."

Congress Set To Renew Authority

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is ready to renew for a year President Nixon's authority to impose price, wage and rent controls—power some Democrats contend he should be using extensively to battle inflation and unemployment.

The Senate passed 67 to 4 Monday a bill extending the authority to April 30, 1972.

The House voted March 10 for a two-year extension. But Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said he was advised the House now will accept the Senate version shortly.

When Congress first granted it last year, the Nixon administration opposed lodging authority in the President to fix price and wage ceilings.

However, Nixon used the powers in March in attacking rising costs in the construction industry, and asked for an extension of the authority.

Democrats made certain in Monday's debate that the power to impose across-the-board controls would be the President's alone.

Sen. Robert Packwood, R-Ore., offered an amendment to require that Congress also must approve if such controls are decided upon. But the amendment was voted down 41 to 30 on party lines.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., floor manager for the bill, said the amendment should be rejected because, if Congress were to debate such an issue, business would rush to push up prices and unions would do the same with wages.

Nixon asked for a two-year extension of the authority but the Senate Banking Committee, in sending the legislation to the floor, voted for only six months. Sparkman engineered the one-year compromise.

Other provisions of the bill:

—Make permanent the President's authority to initiate a program of voluntary credit controls.

—Extend for two years the government's authority to establish flexible ceilings on interest rates paid by financial institutions on time and savings deposits.

Sponsors said the latter provision is essential to protect the homebuilding industry. They said flexible ceilings can be used to prevent draining of savings from institutions which provide most of the funds for home mortgages.

Coldwell Addresses Bankers

DALLAS (AP)—The president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas told the state bankers convention Monday that 54 per cent of all bank deposits in Texas are in six per cent of the state banks.

And most of these banks, Dr. Philip Coldwell said, are tied to some kind of common ownership, control or influence that is significantly different from a unit banking structure.

He suggested to the 1,000 members of the Texas Bankers Association attending the convention three possible approaches to the evolving banking structure:

—A hands-off approach which would allow the structure to develop as banks make individual decisions on chain or group participation.

—A study of banking laws with a possible moratorium on the formation of holding companies and acquisitions.

—Action by the legislature prohibiting further holding company formations but continuing the banking chain and affiliate system, thus a return to the quasi-unit banking system.

Addicts May Spare Babies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Women heroin addicts may save their babies from most of the physical agony of withdrawal by submitting to methadone treatment during pregnancy, a medical specialist reports.

Babies born to 22 women in a control group that took methadone avoided most of the severe withdrawal symptoms that affected infants of 21 women studied who did not receive the synthetic drug, Dr. James F. Connaughton Jr. said Monday.

Infants of untreated addict mothers suffered convulsions, protracted shrill crying, diarrhea, sleeplessness, regurgitation, hypertension, frantic fist-sucking and other symptoms, Connaughton told a six-day meeting of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Connaughton is a resident in obstetrics and gynecology at Philadelphia General Hospital, which last September opened a methadone clinic offering prenatal care as well as therapy to addicted patients.

"The comprehensive nature of the care has markedly diminished many of the serious complications of pregnancy," for the 22 treated women, Connaughton said.

Addicts not already being treated are admitted to the methadone maintenance program and receive about 10 milligrams of methadone each day for each bag of heroin previously used daily. A moderate habit requires about milligrams of methadone a day, he said.

Connaughton said published research shows a death rate of 50 of 93 per cent for infants of addict mothers.

Ten babies in the untreated group suffered severe withdrawal and all but two required withdrawal therapy for at least 10 days he said.

In the treated group, eight required no therapy and 14 suffered mild or moderate withdrawal.

Four infants in the treated group had severe symptoms, but their mothers were women with large habits who admitted to secret use of heroin within three days prior to delivery, he reported.

In the untreated group, most infants were of low birth weight, nine weighing less than 5½ pounds. Three of the 22 babies in the treated group were premature by weight.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

★ ★ ★

Q — My employer is withholding less income tax from my paycheck this year. Does this mean that I might owe tax next year?

A — It could. Income tax withholding rates are lower in 1971 mainly because the standard deduction was increased. Withholding is also lower for single persons because tax rates for this group were reduced.

But for some, withholding won't cover this year's liability, and underwithholding could result for those earning over $11,500.

If your present withholding won't cover this year's liability, you can avoid owing money next April by dropping exemptions now or, if you are already claiming no exemptions, by asking your employer to withhold an additional amount.

Q — My income is low, and I never pay any tax although I file every year to obtain a refund. Is there anything that I can do to stop my employer from withholding taxes?

A — Yes. You should file a Form W-4E with your employer. This is a "Withholding Exemption Certificate" in which you can certify that you did not have any tax liability last year and will not have any income tax this year. Your employer must then stop withholding taxes.

Q — How long must I keep my records for income tax purposes?

A — You must keep your records as long as their contents may be material in administering any Internal Revenue law. The Internal Revenue Service cannot suggest a specific time, but certainly all records should be kept for at least three years and many records, such as stock and property transactions, even longer.

Q — I am retired with a company pension and an annuity. Can I have tax withheld on these payments?

A — Yes. You may use Form W-4P to request the payer to withhold any whole dollar amount. However, the amount to be withheld must be at least $5 a month and must not reduce the net pension or annuity payment to less than $10 a month.

Q — I have received a gift from the bank because I made a long-term deposit. Must I pay taxes on this gift?

A — Yes. In general, the fair market value of property received for making a deposit or opening an account in a savings institution is income and must be reported as interest income in the year received.

Q — My employer withholds tax from my regular salary. But I occasionally do outside work which is not subject to withholding. Must I file a Declaration of Estimated Tax?

A — You must file a Declaration of Estimated Tax if your estimated tax due at the time your return is filed is $40 or more and if your estimated gross income for 1971 includes more than $200 in income not subject to withholding. However, instead of filing a declaration you may increase withholding by dropping exemptions being claimed or having additional sum withheld.

"Estimated Tax" is the amount by which the total of your estimated income tax and estimated self-employment tax exceeds the expected withholding from your pay. The Declaration of Estimated Tax for 1971 and the first payment are due on April 15, the same date that your 1970 income tax return is due. Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Declaration of Estimated Tax," contains additional information and is available at Internal Revenue Offices.

Suspect Murdered

HOUSTON (AP( — Daniel Pena, 45, didin't show up for his murder trial Monday.

Instead, police told Judge William M. Hatten that Pena was himself the victim of murder last week.

Pena was charged with shooting to death Domingo Sarmiento, 48, two years ago in the victim's home.

Witnesses told police that a car carrying several persons pulled up beside Pena as he was walking down a street last Wednesday and one of the car's occupants fired a single bullet into Pena's chest.

Police have made no arrests in the case.

Statewide Delegation To Paris

AUSTIN (AP) — A statewide delegation of some 2,000 Texans will go to Paris, Stockholm and Moscow Aug. 1-6 to plead for American prisoners of war, says Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Barnes, who will head the delegation, announced Monday that invitations will be mailed this week to leading citizens nominated by legislative committees in each senatorial district.

Each committee is headed by the senator from that district and includes the representatives from that district.

A Barnes aide said the delegates are to raise $500 each through their chambers of commerce to pay for their plane fare.

The trip is Barnes' response to a challenge issued earlier this year by computer industrialist H. Ross Perot of Dallas, the aide said.

Board Tightens Textbook Rules

AUSTIN (AP) — Textbook publishers will have to watch the language and pictures in their books if they want Texas to buy them for use in public schools.

The State Board of Education strenthened its regulations against dirty language or illustrations in textbooks Monday.

The board declared it would not accept any textbooks which include "blantantly offensive language or illustrations which would cause embarrassing situations in the classroom or cause interference in the learning atmosphere of the classroom."

The special provision was part of the annual textbook proclamation adopted by the board, prior to a series of hearings which lead up to adoption of new textbooks in Texas' public schools.

For the first time, the textbook proclamation calls for books which should help teachers adjust school work to the learning patterns of individual children who are learning to read. Also for the first time, the proclamation includes a call for textbooks in consumer mathematics.

The Texas Education Agency is required to provide free textbooks for all accredited courses which have as many as 10,000 pupils across the state, and consumer math has 12,156 pupils.

Altogether, new books will be selected in 14 subjects.

The 15 teachers and administrators who will screen proproposed new textbooks were named by the board Monday. They are Dr. Wayne Hendrick of Plano; Mrs. Viola Harrison of Dallas; Mrs. Margaret Ruse and Jo Nell Sanders, both of Houston; Eli Douglas of Galveston; Mrs. Bess Rowe of McGregor; Robert Holman of Hereford; William Guardia of San Antonio; Luby LeNorman Jr. of Deer Park; Mary Sue Ray of Fort Worth; Doris Ellis of Richardson; Fidel Saenz of Brownsville; Mrs. Rosalynd Reardon of El Paso; Peyton Ammons of Lubbock; and Jesse Bates of Angleton.

The textbook committee will hear protests, if any, from citizens and replies from publishers' representatives Sept. 14, and will select the books to be recommended for state adoption the following day.

The state board will adopt textbooks Nov. 8.

Golda Meir Has Birthday

JERUSALEM (AP) — Premier Golda Meir is a year older and so is the only comment she will make on age: "Being old is no crime, but it certainly isn't a joy."

Mrs. Meir had that comment last year when she turned 72 and a spokesman, replying to newsmens' request for a comment on her 73rd birthday Monday, said: "You can quote what she said last year; I'm sure it still stands."

The Israeli premier limited her observance of the milestone to a small family party Sunday night, her spokesman said.

Ethnic Deadline Unrealistic

AUSTIN (AP) — A federal government deadline of Oct. 1 for reviewing the ethnic make up of Some Texas school districts is "totally unrealistic," a top state education official said Monday.

Leon R. Graham, assistant commissioner of education, presented an analysis of recent federal court orders at Tyler on school integration.

He said one order requires the Texas Education Agency to review each year all districts in which there are schools enrolling 66 per cent or more minority group pupils and to decide whether pupil assignment plans are in compliance with federal standards.

Graham said the TEA has been using reporting forms developed by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare which are not available until October, and it is usually January before the data can be processed.

"Further," he said, "for this agency to make the findings prescibed for each such district would require a visit to all the districts involved. Obviously this is impossible with the limited staff that is knowledgeable relative to federal constitutional standards."

Graham said even if the agency could use data for the 1970-71 school year to make the report, "I doubt the full requirements of the order could be met by Oct. 1."

NBL Policies To Be Bought

By JOHN L. HOTARD
- Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — National Bankers Life Insurance Co. policyholders apparently won't be left holding the bag for the now-insolvent company as two insurance companies have offered to take over its policies.

Dist. Judge Hermann Jones of Austin tentatively approved a move Monday by Tom McFarling, a state insurance board liquidator serving as NBL's receiver, Banker's Life & Casualty Co. of Chicago and its subsidiary, Union Bankers Insurance Co. of Dallas, to buy the insurance policies now outstanding, for $6.7 million.

Jones ruled that NBL would continue under temporary receivership. He issued a temporary injunction that prohibits the company from selling its assets or destroying any of its records. The hearing was on the merits of an April 23 restraining order by him, which had named McFarling as receiver.

Jones had issued his restraining order after receiving a petition from State Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin asking for receivership.

NBL went into voluntary conservatorship last Jan. 25, a week after the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission filed suit in a Dallas federal court, alleging stock manipulation and fraud on the part of NBL, the Sharpstown State Bank in Houston, and others.

McFarling also served as conservator, giving him authority to investigate the company and try to hold it together.

Attorneys for the NBL board of directors argued that the company was doing good under conservatorship and did not need to be put into receivership, an indication a company is considered to be in financial trouble.

Receivership would only damage the company's reputation further, they argued.

"I have a feeling that there's not much this court's going to do to damage the reputation of this enterprise," Jones said. "It would be a folly to continue control in the hands of the management who put this company where it is now."

Welfare Checks May Decrease

AUSTIN (AP) — State welfare checks for the aged will decrease slightly in some cases when social security payments are raised June 1, the State Department Welfare has announced.

Social Security goes up 10 per cent, Welfare Commissioner Burton Hackney said Monday, so the combined checks will be larger than now.

Many other recipients, who have no social security benefits, will receive $4 a month more in old age assistance checks in June, he said.

Some, he said, will no longer be eligible for state assistance when the hike is effective.

Those receiving aid for the blind and the permanently and totally disabled also will benefit because their programs were raised $1 a month by the State Board of Public Welfare after Congress hiked social security payments 10 per cent, Hackney said.

Bomb Is Investigated

LONDON (AP) — Police are investigating a bomb found attached to the car of Lady Beaverbrook, widow of the Anglo-Canadian press millionaire.

A six-inch metal cylinder packed with gunpowder was linked to a battery and clipped to the exhaust.

It was discovered Monday by chauffeur George Schneider after he drove Lady Beaverbrook to her Surrey County home from a shopping trip in London.

Lord Beaverbrook, who died in 1964, owned the mass-circulation Daily Express, Sunday Express and Evening Standard newspapers. They are now run by his son, Sir Max Aitken.

Nix Moved To Jail

DALLAS (AP) — Kirksey McCord Nix Jr., identified by police as leader of a Southern gang called the Dixie Mafia, was moved Monday from St. Paul Hospital to the county jail's hospital ward.

Nix, 27, entered the hospital April 12 with a bullet wound in his chest. New Orleans police subsequently charged him along with three other men in the Easter Sunday slaying of a French Quarter food store owner at the slain man's home, saying Nix was shot before he fled.

Sheriff's officers said a physician told them Nix could be moved, and the transfer was made under heavy guard.

Sheriff Clarence Jones said he had been told there was a rumor that persons from out of state would try to help Nix escape from his guards at the hospital.

Deputies said Nix has refused his doctor permission to remove a bullet in his body. Louisiana authorities were said to want it for comparison with the gun fired by the slain New Orleans resident.

Every year in Britain two million civil legal actions are brought and almost as many people are prosecuted for crimes, a government report showed.
