

A Letter From Santa

Christmas will soon be here and Santa Claus will be making his annual trip in his sleigh filled with toys and goodies.

Santa is so busy getting ready for the trip that he needs some help. He needs to know what all his little friends would like for Christmas and he's asking for letters.

Letters should be addressed: Santa Claus, North Pole 99701. Drop them in Santa's mailbox at the post office. Letters mailed in Santa's own mailbox do not need stamps.

Here's a letter the Enterprise received this week from the jolly gentlemen:

Dear Sue:

Hello again and greetings from all of us at the North Pole.

We're all very busy getting ready for my annual visit to all the little girls and boys but I decided I'd better take a few minutes to write you this note. Since I don't have time to write to all the little folk, would you print my letter in your newspaper and remind them that it's time they get their letters off to me, letting me know what they want for Christmas this year.

I want to hear from every little girl and boy in the land so that I'll be sure and not overlook anyone. It's sort of hard to keep up with so many little children and I'm counting on each of them to write me a letter.

Oh, yes, Mrs. Claus just reminded me that the little girls and boys need to get their letter written just as soon as possible so that the post office helpers will be sure to get them to me in time. Tell them to be sure and get them mailed before Dec. 15.

Every year I get such nice letters, I know the people at Olton enjoy reading them too. That's why I want to share them with you again this year. And I'll bet the girls and boys like reading their letter in the Enterprise.

You'll remind all the little girls and boys, won't you, that I'm expecting all of them to be good children and to do what their mothers and dads tell them. Oh, yes, tell them to remember to be especially nice to everyone because that's what we all need to make this a better world.

All of us here at the North Pole send our love to everyone at Olton and wish you the merriest Christmas ever. I'm getting anxious to see each of you.

Sincerely,
Santa Claus

Football Guessing Game Goes Into Final Week

Plagued by upsets, Enterprise grid contestants were victims of a rough week in the annual contest's next to the last week. Only one contestant missed fewer than eight games with many missing 10 or more in the frustrating week.

Norene Roberson was the lone contestant not thrown by the contest "upsets." She missed just four games to take a comfortable six point lead over the closest competitor. She now has 142 correct guesses for the season.

Only one week's contest remains to be counted with contestant on top claiming two tickets to the Cotton Bowl classic and $40. Runner-up contestant for the season will pick up two tickets to the Sun Bowl and $20.

Only five contestants missed eight games with Carl McClure claiming second place. His 16-17 prediction of the Mustangs-Bobcats game was only two points off the actual score. David Turner of Canyon was four points off with a 14-13 guess to earn third place.

Other contestants who missed eight games and their tie-breaker guesses were Phil Hughes, 24-14, 9 points; W.E. Thomas, 15, 6-20; and Kristie McNeely, 15, 8-22.

Season standings are listed elsewhere in this issue.

ORC Annual Membership Meeting To Feature Turkey Dinner

Bargain Days Drawings Begun Last Saturday

Bargain Days drawings began Saturday with six lucky person taking home trade certificates totaling $240.

The annual event is sponsored by local merchants in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture. Merchants participating in the drawings offer special buys for Saturdays only with those specials listed on a special page each week in the Enterprise.

Recipient of $20 was Dario Trevino whose name was drawn by Kari Neinst. Kim Coen drew the name of Winton Hackler, winner of $25.

Mrs. J. L. Small received a trade certificate good for $30 after her name was drawn from the hopper by Audra Neinst. Sanny Salas drew the name of Beverly Hasha for $40.

Top winners, drawn by Jessie Salas and Melinda Salas, respectively, were Jewel Henson, who received $50, and Mrs. D. B. Adair, the $75 top money.

Drawings are scheduled each Saturday from now until the Saturday before Christmas. They are held west of Leon's Grocery at 5 p.m. Tickets are given by all sponsoring merchants.

'No Takers' Is Report On City Council Race

A check with city officials just before press time (which fell on Wednesday because of the holidays) revealed that no one had filed for the position of city councilman.

The post was made vacant by the resignation of Walter Struve last month. A special election was called at the last regular meeting of the council.

Deadline for filing in the election is Dec. 3. Election will be held Jan. 3, 1974.

Methodists Set Bazaar

United Methodist women have set Saturday, Dec. 8 for their annual bazaar and bake sale and have added a new feature to the project. Held this year in the fellowship hall of the church, the women will serve chili and "the trimmings" at both the noon and supper hours and will offer homemade pie and coffee throughout the day beginning at 10 a.m.

In addition to home baked goodies and candies, the women will also have numerous handcrafts for sale.

Local Businessman Involved In Numerous Enterprises

The story of Dennis Builders Supply is a thumb-nail sketch of more than fifty years of the history of Olton, since the man who owns and operates the firm, H. L. (Lindsay) Dennis, has been an integral part of the business community for almost all of those years.

Now located at 602 Ave. E, the steel, warehouse type structure that houses it has been the base of operation many years for a thriving building enterprise in mixing and pouring cement.

In recent years, sand and cement have been shifted aside, a few months each year, to make room for the more attractive mesh bags of citrus fruits that Dennis has brought up from "the valley." Handling, storing and maintaining proper temperature for this fruit is of utmost importance to Dennis during the season of distribution.

But Dennis did not arrive at the head of this combined-business overnight. A series of smaller ventures have served as stepping stones.

Coming from Plainview with his bride of two years, Dennis gave Olton main street its second business in 1922, a small frame building housing a $30 inventory of staple drugs, a soda fountain and "short order counter." Total receipts for the first day of operation totaled seventy-five cents.

With business a little dull, he left the shop in care of his capable wife, Oco, and found supplemental employment in the erection of the 'new court house.' He still takes pride in the fact that he worked on that imposing building from its very beginning to the "moving in of the new furniture."

With the completion of the court house, and when times were more prosperous, he opened a second drug store on the present site of Howell's Flowers sometime in the mid-twenties.

For this venture new fixtures were installed along with a complete stock of drugs. A small office space was tendered to Dr. C. I. Holt who had by then come to serve the small community.

Following the sale of this store a few years later, Dennis turned his attention to transportation. For some time he operated both a service station on Hiway 70 and a Ford Agency down on the main street with the help of some 11 employees.

Serving as Ford dealer through both Model 'T' and model 'A' days, he drove the first Ford V8 into Olton from Abernathy "at a record high rate of speed advised by company representatives." He also remembers mounting the town's first balloon tires, this on a model 'A' vehicle.

Leaving the automobile dealership, Dennis again turned to the restaurant business, this time at the present location of Olton

Cleaners. But the drug business still had its appeal, and a short time later he opened Dennis Drug in the lower floor of the building now captioned "Masonic Hall."

Following the sale of this store in 1935 the Dennis family moved to California and made the Golden state their home for ten years.

Returning to Olton in 1945, Dennis introduced a brand new idea to the area. Using volcanic ash he began the manufacture of a hollow tile building block. One of the first structures built of this new material was a two-story building in the business section erected for Ezra Whittington.

With the passing of time Haydite replaced the volcanic ash in the tile making. Many other buildings in the city today, although faced with brick, are made of Dennis tile. They include Southwestern Public Service, Olton Drug, the Granbery buildings and Bizzell's to name a few. Other buildings were erected in Tulia, Plainview and Earth. The Dennis home is also constructed of this tile, which he points out has insulating qualities because of the dead air space in each block.

In 1949 Dennis sold the Tile plant and it was moved to Sudan. But he retained his north Olton location and continued to operate his builders supply and concrete works.

Dennis concrete has found its way into many buildings throughout the area in Hart, Dimmitt, Plainview, Hale Center and Earth.

Working closely with H. B. Maxey, contractor, he furnished this phase of the structure for First United Methodist Church and Main Street Church of Christ. His concrete was also used in the building of First Baptist Church, and in countless homes built in the intervening years.

Dennis is making a determined effort to retire from the building enterprises, in his 73rd year, but he still has calls for building projects, large and small alike. People who have used his services through the years want him to "come on out and supervise it anyway."

In 1954 he acquired a citrus grove in lower Rio Grande Valley which has led him into his present status as a fruit broker.

During a bad market season, in his early experience with his grapefruit, he decided to "bring his fruit home with him and sell it to his friends." So popular has this movement become that he expects to realize his biggest season this year.

Working with 31 Future Farmers of America Chapters in this district, he expects to furnish between 20,000 and 25,000 boxes of oranges and grapefruit for sale by the boys during Dec. and January. Working with the Texas Citrus Association, he considers himself "an advertising agent for West Texas."

Dennis also does a mail order business of "gift fruit" shipping to some 21 states.

Although his father, R. E. Dennis, was an early day mayor Dennis has never held an elective office. He was petitioned and did serve one year as deputy sheriff.

He was active in earlier days in helping promote baseball in the community, and also in promoting the rodeos for which Olton was famous in the mid-30s.

Dennis and the former

Miss Oco Echols, a Runningwater school Teacher, were married in 1920 in Plainview. Their only son, Roy Lindsay, died in 1941 while the family was living in California.

The couple has developed a fancy for fishing, and with the passing of the fruit season both of them have some ideas as to where some "big ones are waiting to be caught."

A MORE 'FRUITFUL' BUSINESS, Dennis is now involved with a citrus grove in "the Valley" and just last week went to the groves to supervise the harvesting and shipping of the fruit that will be in this area just before Christmas. Dennis' fruit is sold by area FFA Chapters and delivered by the boys to the homes of the purchasers.

Fuel Shortage

Better read this one with one eye—it's had news. Fact it, our energy shortage is much worse than most people yet realize. I'll try to explain why, and suggest a few things you can do to prepare for what's coming.

But the most important preparation of all is psychological. Life is not going to be "normal" for any of us this winter, or for the next few years. Accepting that and doing a little advance planning will minimize the effects of the shocks when they come.

1. Why is the shortage so serious—we get only six per cent of our petroleum needs from the Arabs?

You'll remember that already had shortages of heating oil last winter and gasoline last summer, even when Mid-Eastern oil was still available. These shortages were caused—as I have said before—by a combination of bad government policies, which decreased the incentives to search for new sources of natural gas and petroleum; mistakes in forecasts of demand by the petroleum industry; the effects on fuel usage of new environmental regulations, and our tremendous national appetite for energy of all kinds.

Those earlier shortages were big enough to be noticeable, but no more than a peripheral nuisance. Even under the best of conditions, they would have continued for another year or two. And keeping them down to the "nuisance" level counted on our being able to import refined petroleum products from Europe and elsewhere.

Then the Arabs cut down their production. That had three effects: First, it cut off most of our direct supplies from the Middle East. That's the six per cent. Second, it caused shortages in the rest of the world, which means we will not be able to buy the surplus from Europe that we had been counting on. Third, it put Europe and Japan in direct competition with us for the remaining sources of petroleum from such places as Iran, Indonesia, Venezuela and Canada.

So, while we only import six per cent of our oil from the Arab lands, we have been importing 19 per cent from all overseas sources combined—and none of these sources can be counted on anymore. A shortage of as much as 19 per cent is a very serious shortage.

2. Does this mean that we can lick the problem by using our cars 19 per cent less?

No, it's not that simple, unfortunately. There are some activities that cannot be cut back at all, without disastrous consequences. Right now, for example, there are spot shortages of diesel fuel used for drilling oil wells, mining and transporting coal, and growing, processing, and transporting food. Obviously, we cannot allow any of these activities to suffer, no matter what else does.

There are other "priority" users too, such as bus lines, electric power generation, emergency vehicles, and heavy industry. Many people will automatically favor "consumer" uses ahead of "industrial" uses. But think a moment. Heavy industry is where it all starts. If there is no steel, for example, there can be no automobiles, bicycles, washing machines, buildings, oil rigs, etc. Think, too, about the things that are made from copper, aluminum, glass, concrete, wood, and so on.

Now think about people being out of work in all of the industries that make these products, and all of the industries that sell or use or service these products. Frightening, isn't it? And you're just beginning to get an idea of the size of the problem.

What it inevitably comes to is that the average citizen is going to have to bear the brunt of the cutbacks—not to the degree of freezing in the winter, but certainly to the extent of a sharply curtailed lifestyle.

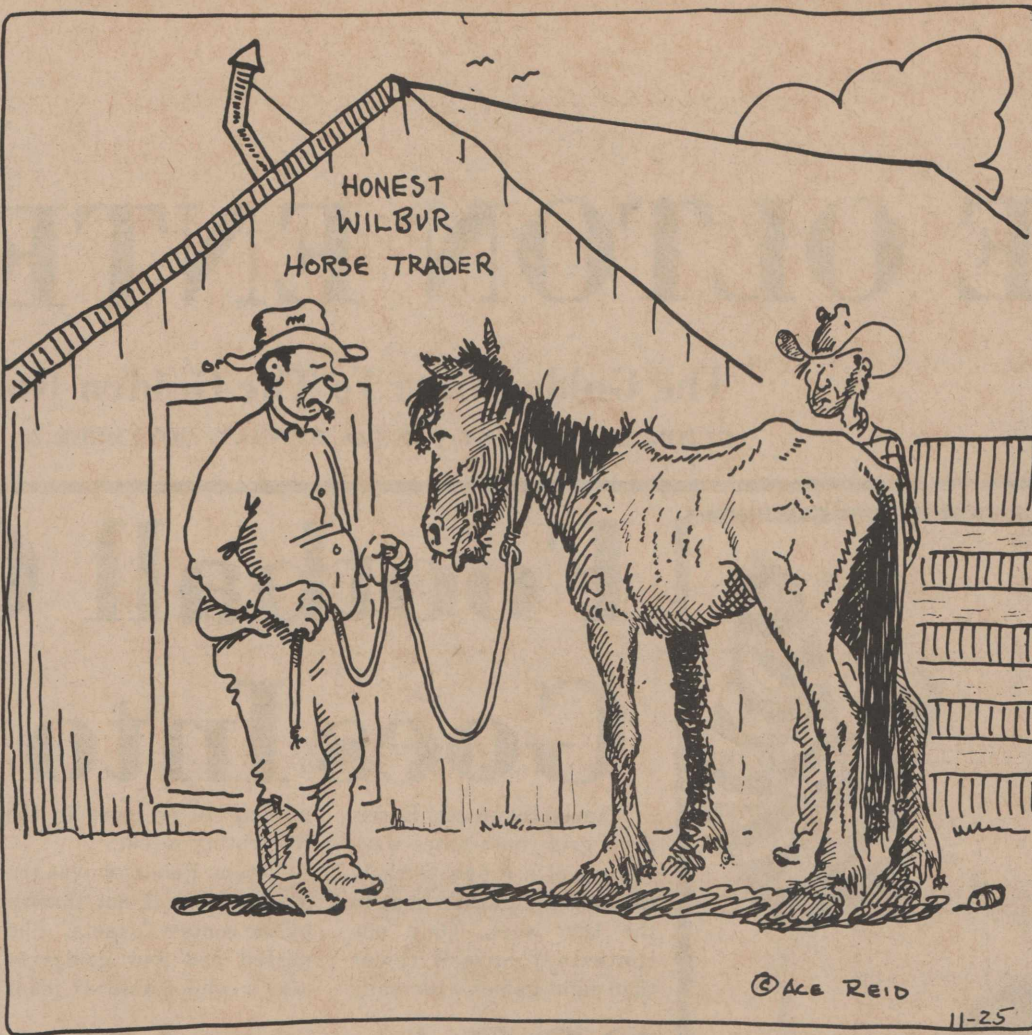

Comforts we have come to take for granted will become rare, and our valued mobility will just about disappear. This last fact will hit the vacation and leisuretime industries especially hard.

Do whatever you can now to reduce your energy consumption—not only because it's the patriotic thing to do at the moment, but because we will soon have no choice. Use electric and gas appliances only when absolutely necessary. Cut down on automobile trips. Set the thermostat lower. And above all, improve the insulation of your house as much as you can now.

There is talk in Washington of gasoline rationing. I don't think rationing is the best way to cut down consumption—and I'll explain why in another column—but we must cut down somehow. There are only two alternatives to direct rationing: Increase the price through direct price boosts or through high fuel taxes. Neither is pleasant to contemplate, but that's the way things are right now. As I said, better prepare for the worst. It's coming.

Outreach SS Class Meet Held In Elkins Home

Out Reach Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. L.G. Elkins.

A salad supper was served. The table was centered by a purple candle encircled by a floral arrangement, with green streamers with the lettering "Out Reach Class of 1973-74" completing the setting.

Mrs. Elkins assisted by Mrs. Winston Bley, installed officers. Mrs. Charles Loveless was installed as president; Mrs. Roy Thurman, vice-president; Mrs. Royce Collins, secretary; Mrs. Owen Jones and Mrs. Vernon Britton, group leaders; Mrs. A.G. Huguley, benevolence officer; and Mrs. Robert Duncan, associate teacher.

In installation ceremonies, Mrs. Elkins presented each officer with a green ribbon badge symbolizing eternal life. On the badges were purple rosettes, representing the key of royalty. She told the story of "The Entrusted Letter" which was never delivered. The person to whom it was directed, perished because of this negligence. Each person at the meeting was given an entrusted letter containing a booklet titled, "Steps to Peace with God." Mrs. Elkins urged that these letters be given to someone during the coming year.

In the business meeting it was agreed that the class meetings would be held quarterly. Members planned to assist with the Thanksgiving baskets by First Baptist Church to "shut-ins" and to continue the visitation program.

Present at the meeting were class members, Mmes A.G. Huguley, Charles Loveless, Rube Powers, Jimmie Jenkins, Royce Collins, Lloyd Graham, Roy Thurman and Winston Bley. Associate member Mrs. Robert Edwards and visitors were Mrs. Marjorie Towry and Mrs. Jack Daugherty.

RETURN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Ross, Carty recently came home from Roswell, N.M., where she was with her sister, Mrs. H. W. Campbell who was hospitalized there. She has been permitted to return to her home after staying in the hospital one month.

RECENT GUESTS

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Roberts were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Cottrell of Gruver and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sherry of Arlington.

MRS. JIM FERGUSON

Bride of not quite one year, Mrs. Jim Ferguson shares recipes with Enterprise cooks this week.

"I love to cook," Jeana says, "Jim says I should be a chef for the Army from the amounts I cook."

The former Jeana Chester, our pretty career girl-housewife-cook has always enjoyed cooking. As a Future Homemaker in OHS, she showed the same artistic talent in making good cakes look beautiful as does her mother, Mrs. Joe Chester, a professional cake maker par excellence.

Jeana, born in Earth, has lived in Olton since she was only three years old and can't imagine any place as a better home town.

Members of First United Methodist Church, Jeana commutes weekdays to Plainview where she is employed with Farmers National Chemical. Jim, a grocery store employee since school days, began work this week at Olton State Bank.

In addition to cooking, Jeana also enjoys doing decoupage. A particularly attractive and sentimental work is a plaque she created with "pictures of our courtship, wedding and honeymoon." It bears color snapshots of the two made during the three years they dated, scenes at their wedding last December and shots they made during their honeymoon.

Jeana also likes to swim, a hobby limited by the seasons.

After graduation from OHS, Jeana completed a business course at Southwest Business College in Plainview.

FOR SO MANY PEOPLE

NEW FORM FOR AN OLD IDEA

Our honorable ancestors have been bringing the treasures of the East back to the Western World ever since the 1600's, so whatever style you've surrounded yourself with -- antique, eclectic or ultramodern-Chinese will be with-it and you won't have to make many changes to reorient your rooms.

Underfoot you might put a carpet trimmed with the lovely look of bamboo and rimmed by the real wood of the floor, particularly if it's parquet.

Your walls will grow more Oriental when covered with grass cloth and hung with delicate, elegant East-Asian art.

A large earthen pot full of feathery ferns will put new life into a forgotten corner, and force the fine flowing lines of cane backed French furniture into its full fruition as a blend of east and west.

Then, gather it all up into a bouquet of beauty with a Coromandel chest.

The exquisite Oriental birds, butterflies and blossoming branches surrounded by stylized flowers and geometric figures on this chic bit of chinoiserie are all hand carved and hand painted, exactly like the ones created by ancient Chinese craftsmen of the past.

The chest is part of Thomasville's "From the Four Corners" collection of imports. Each 24 x 12 x 36 inch piece is a work of art.

A focal point any place, the cabinet makes a marvelous introduction in a foyer or front hall.

To top it off bring out the brass fittings and feet of the cabinet, the nailheads on the chair with an antique, etched brass ginger jar, lightly changed into a little lamp with a prettily pleated shade.

As these small steps should show, you don't need all the wisdom of the East or all the wealth of the Emperor to have your honorable home shine in Oriental splendor.
