Il Duce Talks With Fuehrer By Telephone

Mediation Of Mussolini Is Accepted By Nazi Leader; Chamberlain Sends Request

(By The Associated Press)

ROME, Sept. 28—Diplomatic circles said today they had been informed that Adolf Hitler had agreed to accept the mediation of Premier Mussolini in his demands for the cession of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland by Oct. 1.

It was announced that Il Duce had communicated with the German leader in last-minute efforts to end the German-Czech crisis without a European war after receiving a personal message from Prime Minister Chamberlain.

DUCE LEAVES ROME

ROME, Sept. 28 (AP) — Premier Mussolini, suddenly become the central figure of Europe's efforts to avert war, left Rome at 6 p. m. (noon e.s.t.) tonight for Munich, where he is to meet tomorrow with Prime Minister Chamberlain, Chancellor Hitler and Premier Daladier.

Il Duce was accompanied by his foreign minister and son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, on his special train.

A vast crowd, evidently relieved at the momentary lifting of the war clouds, gave Mussolini an uproarious sendoff as he departed to assume the role of mediator in the German-Czechoslovak crisis.

Message Conveyed Earlier

The British statesman's message was conveyed earlier in the day by the Earl of Perth, Britain's ambassador, to Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

A communique said:

"In a talk which took place this morning between Count Ciano and Lord Perth, the ambassador of England gave him a message from the British prime minister for Il Duce.

"On the basis of this message Il Duce got in communication with the Fuehrer."

Details Not Disclosed

It was understood Mussolini telephoned to his ally in Berlin, although details were not disclosed.

Diplomats also said they had heard from Paris that Eduard Benes had resigned as president of Czechoslovakia.

Some foreign observers believed that Mussolini had made Benes' resignation a condition of his mediation, but confirmation of this was not immediately available.

However, Virginio Gayda, authoritative Fascist editor, indicated such a possibility.

Only Resignation Could Do It

"Only the resignation of Benes," Gayda wrote in Il Giornale D'Italia, "could at the last hour turn aside perhaps fatal events."

Silence for the most part greeted

Emilio Portes Gil Hopes FDR's 'Good Neighbor' Policy Continues

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 28 (AP)—Emilio Portes Gil, former president of Mexico, expressed the hope in an interview here today for continuation of President Roosevelt's "good neighbor" policy.

Prefacing his remarks with the statement that he is "through with politics," Gil said conditions have improved greatly in Mexico, citing the fact there has been no major uprising in the country for more than ten years. He said betterment of working conditions among the lower classes was responsible.

Gil is here for a physical checkup.

Man Lost In Forest Starts Fire So That He Might Be Rescued

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 28 (AP)—Forest Ranger Kurt Lunnum reported today about 50 acres in the Ouichita National forest were burned as result of an elderly man's attempts to find his way out after being lost six days.

A crew battling two blazes was greeted by Edward J. McKay, 77, yesterday. Lunnum said McKay told him he set the fires to attract attention. McKay was taken to a CCC camp for treatment. He apparently had suffered no serious effects.

Cowboys Experience Rough Rides At Fair

Slim Meteer was at the successful end of a rough ride aboard Holy Smoke when The Journal photographer snapped him in action, top below, at the rodeo of the Panhandle-South Plains fair last night. The judges had blown their whistle to indicate their satisfaction and the pickup man, at the left, was attempting to help Meteer dismount. Holy Smoke also did his part and an instant later, Meteer was sailing groundward. It also was a rough night for Eddie Evans, bottom, on the hurricane deck of a Brahma steer. The camera was snapped while the steer was falling. Evans' leg was pinned beneath the animal, but he still was on its back when it climbed to its feet to continue bucking. Evans won first place in the event as result of his ride. Meteer failed to place. Both photos by Reeves.

Solution Lies With Industry

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Sept. 28—A solution for the unemployment problem in the building and construction industry, suffering from a 10-year decline, must come from private enterprise, not the government, Joseph A. McInerney, president of the A. F. of L. building trades department said today.

In a report prepared for a convention of A. F. of L. building trades delegates, McInerney called for "reasonable profit rather than speculative gain" in private building.

Have Exploited Industry

"Financial interests," he added, "have exploited the building industry."

The insurance of mortgages by the Federal Housing administration, McInerney asserted, did not produce any building boom, although he noted an increase during last June, July and August.

"Millions of dollars of residential mortgages have been accepted for appraisal under the federal insurance plan," he said, "have been too often mistaken to represent actual

Exodus From Europe Results In Emergency; Ships Using Cots

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—An American rush homeward from war-menaced Europe prompted the United States Lines today to prepare for wholesale evacuation on ships with capacities augmented by hundreds of cots, lifeboats and extra provisions.

The line moved quickly to meet an emergency like the exodus from abroad in 1914's chaotic World war days. Liners heading for Europe found some passenger lists halved or even more greatly reduced by last-minute cancellations, while plans went forward to have U. S. consuls abroad certify excess passenger lists for westbound ships.

United States Lines inquired as to the procedure necessary to add about 300 cots each to the berths on the liners Washington and Manhattan, with necessary extra lifeboats and provisions, and was told consuls might approve wherever they deemed an emergency existed.

Roosevelt Appealed Anew To Hitler Last Night To Avoid Plunging Europe Into War

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. President Roosevelt appealed anew to Adolf Hitler late last night to avoid plunging Europe into the holocaust of war.

Unlike his earlier plea for peace which went to Czechoslovakia, Great Britain and France as well as Germany, the president directed his message only to Hitler, thereby indicating he believed the reichsfuehrer would be responsible if negotiations to avert war broke down now.

"Present negotiations still stand open," he said. "They can be continued if you will give the word."

The president suggested, too, possible convoking of a general parley in some neutral spot in Europe where all nations "directly interested in the present controversy" could meet and settle their troubles pacifically.

He made it clear at the same time, however, that the United States would neither sponsor nor attend such a meeting and that it was for Europe to work out its own solution unaided.

He had made his pleas for peace,

Buses Bringing In Thousands For Program

More Than 100 School Buses Expected; Schools Dismiss At Noon Again Today

BY H. I. KIEFER
Journal Staff Writer

The kids took over at the Panhandle-South Plains fair this morning.

This is their day and there was no false modesty in their enthusiastic demonstration that they intend to make the most of it.

Long before the usual 9 o'clock opening time at the grounds, the first bus load of students and teachers had been admitted and their bus spotted in the parking space especially reserved for them.

Attendance May Set Record

Before the day is over, the expectation is that more than 100 such buses from every direction and from almost every spot on the South Plains will be on the grounds.

The first bus to pull into the reserved space on the newly constructed parking tract at the western edge of the grounds was one bearing a portion of the Post delegation which was accompanied here by its handsomely uniformed band of approximately 50 pieces. The black and gold clad musicians, directed by Charles Kiker, appeared in concert in front of the bandstand just before the noon hour. Kiker estimated that at least 150 pupils and school patrons from Post were in Lubbock.

School Bands Arrive

A portion of the Levelland band also arrived about mid-morning and the brilliantly scarlet bandsmen of Slaton High school were then expected momentarily. The Slaton band, incidentally, won official designation as the finest Class B group in the southwest at regional contests in Abilene last spring.

Before 10 a. m., the school buses began arriving in an almost steady stream so that the numerous special traffic officers stationed on the parking grounds were handling their work with difficulty. As a precautionary measure, in which the officers received excellent cooperation, those aboard the buses were not permitted to alight until they had reached their parking places. This kept the children out of the path of any moving vehicle.

Among the early arrivals were the

Rescinding Hospital Funds Is Revoked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — The Public Works administration announced today it had revoked its previous action rescinding allocations of $4,579,000 for construction of veterans hospitals in New York City, Cleveland, Amarillo, Tex., and in the Fort Worth-Dallas area in Texas.

The allocations were rescinded recently because the veterans administration failed to get the work underway by September 14.

PWA officials said a special dispensation had been granted, however, because applications for the work were detained in the White House awaiting consideration by the president.

The two Texas hospitals received an allocation of $1,435,000.

The veterans administration plans to spend $2,000,000 for the two Texas hospitals, officials explaining the difference between that amount and the PWA allocation would be obtained from other sources.

Texas Industry And Business Improves 11 Points In August

AUSTIN, Sept. 28 (AP) — Texas industry and business improved nearly 11 points in August due chiefly to increased department store sales and runs of crude oil to stills.

The bureau of business research of the University of Texas reported the August composite index at 94.02 compared with 93.14 in July. There remained, however, a substantial margin of decline from August last year when the index was 103.13.

Czechs Push Preparations For Conflict

Troops Rushed To Borders And Nation 'Blacked Out'; Syrovy To Speak Today

(By The Associated Press)

PRAGUE, Sept. 28—Czechoslovakia rushed final preparations for war and prayed for peace today, awaiting a radio address by Premier Jan Syrovy.

The cabinet decided last night that the premier should speak to the nation today, the name day of Bohemia's patron saint, St. Wenceslas, but the exact time of his address was not stated.

Catholics Asked To Pray

While troop trains carried additional defenders to the frontiers and Czechoslovakia was blacked out as a precaution against possible air raids, Cardinal Archbishop Kaspar appealed to all Catholics to pray that war might be averted.

The nation counted with anxiety the minutes to the expiration of Chancellor Hitler's ultimatum Saturdkay.

The cabinet meeting was held behind darkened windows. Ministers studied reports of large-scale war preparations and of Prime Minister Chamberlain's radio address last night, which a foreign office spokesman said was considered "the last effort to maintain peace."

The spokesman said the British premier "went to the extreme limit to which man can go."

Political Dissenters United

Fear of impending disaster brought most political dissenters, outside the Sudeten Germans themselves, into a united front behind the government.

It was indicated President Benes would send a new message to Poland today on the question of the Polish minority population in Czechoslovakia.

A special courier arrived by airplane Tuesday with Poland's answer to a Czechoslovak note suggesting negotiation of the minorities issue.

Prime Minister Chamberlain's address last night created a most favorable reaction here, and Czechoslovaks believed it meant British aid was assured if conflict came.

Crops Control Is To Continue

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—A high agriculture department official said today the administration intended to continue in effect its present crop control legislation even if a European war brought a huge export demand for American farm products.

This official said Secretary Wallace would reassert the administration's faith in the existing legislation in speeches to be made this week in the wheat and cotton belts. He will speak at Hutchinson, Kans., Thursday, and at Port Worth, Tex., Friday.

Contains Ample Provisions

The secretary was described as believing the present law contained ample provisions for any expansion of production that might be required, and that the legislation would be needed to prevent overexpansion and to bring about an orderly curtailment of production at the conclusion of hostilities when war demand ended.

Officials emphasized that the administration has given no consideration thus far to possible expansion of agricultural production. They said the matter would not be

Marshall Field, III, Inherits Hundred Million Fortune Today

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. (AP)—Marshall Field III, grandson and namesake of the Chicago merchant prince, inherited a $100,000,000 fortune today on his 45th birthday anniversary.

It represented the accrued interest on the estate left by Marshall Field I when he died in 1906 and was the forerunner of an inheritance five times that amount.

The thrice-married Field will get the entire estate of $500,000,000 five years from today, when he reaches the half century mark.

Leaders Will Confer Over Czech Crisis

Dramatic Conference To Be Held In Munich, Germany, Tomorrow; May Keep Peace

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 28—The electrifying announcement in a stunned house of commons today that Europe's big four — Hitler, Chamberlain, Mussolini and Daladier — would meet tomorrow in Munich snatched Europe back from the brink of imminent war.

Within a few seconds Prime Minister Chamberlain painted a changed picture of the world's prospects

SEES AMICABLE SOLUTION

BERLIN, Sept. 28 (AP) — Germany's propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, told a throng of Berliners today he foresaw an amicable solution of the German-Czechoslovak dispute "within a few days."

Goebbels, usually a fire-eater, sounded a note of peace as he spoke amid deafening "heils" in historic Lustgarten.

He did not mention tomorrow's conference at Munich to be attended by Reichsfuehrer Hitler, Prime Minister Chamberlain, Premier Mussolini and Premier Daladier, but he declared:

"I, as a man in the know of things, can tell you we neither can nor want to retreat, as the Fuehrer has pledged his word to support the Sudetens, but the solution is imminent."

for peace in the most startling announcement parliament has heard in a generation.

Mobilization Is Postponed

German mobilization was postponed for 24 hours while the premiers of the four great European powers sought a new way to avoid war over Germany's demands for cession of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland.

Premier Mussolini of Italy accepted the role of mediator between his German ally and the heads of the democracies.

Messages from President Roosevelt to Hitler, Mussolini and the government of Japan—all bound in the anti-Communist pact-figured in the lightning changes of the day.

It was announced that Chamberlain would leave Heston airport for Munich at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow (1:30 a. m., E. S. T. accompanied by six aides.

Didn't Know Of Plans

The haggard Chamberlain himself when he entered the house to make the most momentous speech of his career did not know that the Munich meeting was to be held. His somber speech indicated he thought war inevitable.

But a pencil scribbled note handed to him an hour and a half after he began explaining why it appeared war must come changed the gloomy tense house and galleries into a cheering frenzied mass.

It was a message from Hitler inviting him—as the premiers of Italy and France also were invited—to the Munich conference.

Chamberlain, who had ordered Britain's mighty fleet mobilized last night, had made one final effort for negotiation by an appeal through Mussolini, Hitler's partner in the Fascist axis, and it worked.

Greeted Like An Armistice

The news was received with almost the same jubilation in England as if an actual armistice had been declared. Many believed it was tantamount to that, because the mobilization which the fuehrer deferred 24 hours almost inevitably would have meant war with Czechoslovakia with the probability that all the major European nations would be dragged in.

Chamberlain told the cheering house:

"I will go to see what I can do as a last effort."

In his words was seen a warning that the danger was far from over.

But a few minutes later he shouted to a cheering throng that hailed him outside Ten Downing street:

"It's all right this time!"

Had Been Digging Trenches

The British people, who had been digging trenches and fitting grotesque gas masks did not wo about the ominous ring of Ch berlain's reference to "last effo

Rid of the tension of staring in the face they became jubilant and cheered "Good Old Nev."

Stocks bounded upward in after hours trading, reflecting the optimism of financial circles.

Informed circles expressed hope that the conference between heads of the two democracies and the two great Fascist powers might give gun-bristling Europe more than a breathing spell. There was revived talk of a pact among the "big four" and settlement of other problems beyond that of Czechoslovakia.

Revives Chamberlain Program

The Munich conference revives at least momentarily Chamberlain's

One Could Study 91 Years At Tech And Not Repeat A Course

Without repeating a course, one could study 91 years at Texas Technological college.

Approximately 455 courses are offered, and five is the normal number for which a student enrolls.

Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee, brought out that point in a convocation of students and faculty Tuesday.

The Javanese upas tree of the Orient contains a sap which forms a deadly poison. Noxious odors are released from its trunk when cut through, causing skin eruptions to anyone inhaling the air.

Culture Clubs Have Lessons

Seven organizations met in regular sessions Tuesday afternoon.

The former Sunshine circle of the Child Conservation league, meeting with Mrs. D. K. Pepper of 1631-A Ninth street, voted to change its name to the Sunshine Child Study club. The change was made because the club no longer is affiliated with the conservation league. The program consisted of two talks, "Mothers Need To Get Together" by Mrs. Clyde Tatum and "Keeping Our Children Fit" by Mrs. Ben Eskridge.

The hostess served refreshments to those on the program and Mesdames Clay Anderson, Joe Baldridge, Charles Bartlett, C. H. Fortune, A. D. Montgomery, C. C. Perryman, D. R. Patterson, W. M. Ryan, and C. V. Sandlin.

In Marshall Home

Miss Sue Bryan and Mrs. F. L. McRee were hostesses to 25 members of Lubbock Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. Raymond Marshall, 2505 Twenty-first street.

Elton Plowman, vocalist, and Charles Fike, piano accompanist, were guest entertainers. They presented "The Spirit Flower" and "I Sing Thee Songs of Araby." The program feature was a review of "Thrice A Stranger" (Vera Britton) by Mrs. T. E. Hendrick.

Committee reports were heard and plans for the year were discussed.

Mrs. R. H. Hester, president, poured coffee which was served with individual pumpkin pies and whipped cream. Decorations were in fall motif, featuring a pumpkin, fall fruits, red and yellow autumn leaves and orange candles.

In Peters Home

Seventeen members of the Sorosis club met in the home of Mrs. J. D. Peters, 1212 Fourteenth street, for a program on Travel in Texas, and a social hour. Mrs. Ed Tonn discussed "Scenic Spots in West Texas," Mrs. C. B. Powell talked on "Interesting Places in East Texas" and a general discussion was engaged in by the members.

Season Is Opened

The Athenaeum club opened its year's program on "Our Latin American Neighbors" at a breakfast given Tuesday morning at the Mexican Inn. Seventeen members were present. Mrs. M. L. Shepherd presided, roll call was answered with vacation highlights and Mrs. A. W. Young talked on "Interest of the United States in Latin America."

Stories Discussed

Introduction to a study of short stories was presented by Mrs. Allan L. Carter at a Twentieth Century club meeting Tuesday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock. Four types of short stories were described by the speaker who also reviewed De Maupassant's "The Piece of String." Mrs. M. E. Ogdon was received as a member. Most of the members were present.

A full attendance was noted at a Junior Twentieth Century club meeting in room 12 of the Texas Technological college library. Miss Ruth Horn, Tech instructor of English, was guest speaker with the first of two talks she will make before the club on the past summer she spent in New York City. She discussed mainly Broadway plays.

Ask Doctor About This Ideal Way TO LOSE FAT

READ EVERY WORD

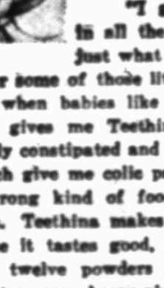

Make up your mind now that you'll lose some of that ugly fat and really enjoy life.

No one can blame you if you don't want to take harmful drugs, go on starvation diets and do backbreaking exercises. No sane woman would! And for sensible women like yourself who really want to reduce yet don't expect miracles overnight — who are willing to faithfully follow a most simple, inexpensive and pleasant 28 day plan (women considerably overweight naturally require longer periods), we suggest this easy plan.

First of all go light on fatty foods and sweets. Eat plentifully of lean meats, fresh fruits and vegetables. And for proper functions be sure to take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in hot water every morning. And let's get this straight right now about Kruschen—

It is not harmful. It is NOT just one salt as some people may ignorantly believe. Look on the box! You'll see it is a blend of 6 active mineral salts, which when dissolved in water is similar to the famous medicinal waters of European Spas where wealthy fat people have gone for years.

A jar of Kruschen costs but a few cents and makes 5 gallons of marvelous mineral health water. Get a jar RIGHT AWAY! At druggists everywhere.—Adv.

"I got the best mama in all the world. She knows just what to do for me when I suffer some of those little ills which come along when babies like me start teething. Mama gives me Teethina when I'm temporarily constipated and when gas or a sour stomach give me colic pains, or when I eat the wrong kind of food and run off my bowels. Teethina makes a big hit with me because it tastes good, and mama likes it 'cause twelve powders cost but 30c. The drug store man keeps plenty of Teethina for us babies." TEETHINA.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

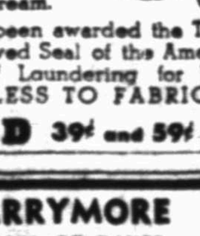

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Lockney Section Is South Plains Pioneer In Irrigation Farming

Town Nearing Its 30th Year

(By Staff Correspondent)

LOCKNEY, Sept. 28.—A pioneer on the South Plains in irrigation, Lockney is finding that it is becoming noted throughout the southwest as a place where its farmers are engaged in a line of work that brings in a steady income.

For years wheat, cotton and grain sorghums have been grown here under irrigation. Now a new crop, sugar beets, is being tried. If the beets prove as satisfactory as preliminary tests show it is probable a processing plant may be located here within a few years.

While there are fewer business houses here than in the "good old days," before the depression, those here seem to be doing as much business as before.

Livestock Feeding Helps

Sheep and cattle feeding, on sorghums raised here, brings in considerable income to farmers and wheat farmers with pasture for rent.

The city of Lockney has refunded its bonds, at a considerable saving in interest, Mrs. Ellen Belyeu, city secretary, said. Amount refunded was $140,300, with an additional $20,000 that cannot be refunded, making total indebtedness $160,300.

Valuation is about $500,000. But 25 per cent of the ad valorem taxes are used for city general expenses, the rest going into the interest and sinking fund. The city has advertised for bonds, having over $4,000 available for retiring bonds.

Jolts Not Fatal

Most of the operating expenses come from operation of a municipal water system. This system earns a nice sum annually and in recent years receipts have increased.

The old Lockney college, which flourished for about 30 years and which was one of the pioneer educational institutions of the Plains, having been started before the turn of the century, was closed about a decade ago. The city bought the building and it was remodeled into an auditorium.

Lockney has had some hard jolts in recent years, but in spite of that, the town is slowly growing.

Senator George Norris Says He Would Vote For War

COLUMBUS, Neb., Sept. 28 (AP)—Senator George W. Norris, one of the six senators who voted against United States entry into the World war, said today he would vote "yes" for war this time if the United States were threatened or attacked.

He predicted Europe is heading for war now.

Norris reiterated his belief the nation should stay out of European war, but said if he were a European he would be "willing to fight against the dictators.

"Dictators in Europe are crazy," he said in an interview. "It's too bad that a couple of blood-thirsty dictators can hold the fate of the whole world in their hands."

Gaines County Farmers Realizing Value Of Trench Silos; County Agent's Urgency Is Cause For Great Increase This Year

(Special To The Journal)

SEMINOLE, Sept. 28 — Gaines county farmers are beginning to realize the possibilities that are in store for them in the use of the trench silo, and the man responsible for the increased interest in this method of storing feed is Cline E. Morris, county farm agent.

Number of trench silos have increased by fifteen during the past year, bringing the total number in the county to 41.

Another thing being stressed by Morris is the pen feeding of cattle raised right here on the range. Several farmers have made experiments along this line during the past year with marked results. County Judge W. G. Gibbs fed a bunch of steers for 180 days on ensilage and crushed corn. The experiment demonstrated beyond doubt that this method of marketing both cattle and feed is the most ideal possible.

An Ideal Feeding Ground

Fred Snyder, rancher in the Seagraves section of the county also has used the trench silo with satisfactory results. This fall he will put 4,000 tons of ensilage under the ground, thus affording a fine market to farmers for their surplus feed as well as furnishing a means of getting cattle, raised on his ranch, ready for a profitable market.

Due to the soil type in this county, Morris states, Gaines county is one of the most ideal feeding grounds to be found on the South Plains. The abundance of corn and grain sorghums raised in this section will enable this country, with the use of trench silage, to become a noted center for the raising and feeding of cattle.

Farms Increase Rapidly

Farms have increased over 200 in the county during the past three years, according to Morris. There are now 550 farms in the county at the present time, and many of the farmers are beginning to think more in terms of feeding and preparing for market their own cattle and hogs.

In discussing possibilities and development of the trench silos in the county, Morris said:

"Trench silos are not a new thing in Gaines county. The first silo was dug and filled on the J. E. Stanley farm seven and one-half miles southeast of Seminole September 28, 1935. Since that time silos have gained in popularity and at the close of the year there have been officially reported 15 new silos dug, running the total for the county to 41.

Fills Trenches Second Time

"Fred Snyder is filling his silos for the second time, having dug and filled them in 1936. He will store approximately 4,000 tons of ensilage and states that a ton of silage is worth two tons of dry bundles after feeding 5,000 tons of this feed last year. Approximately 6,500 tons of feed have been stored in this manner.

"Three demonstrations were held in the county by the county agent and were attended by 60 farmers. E. R. Eudaly was present at one of these demonstrations and advised the farmers in the proper procedure of filling the trench and the feeding of the silage.

"This type of extension work has been well sold to the farmers of this county, there being at present a silo on 10 per cent of the farms in the county and all of them are well scattered over the county so that all the farmers will have the opportunity of observing results.

Most common reason for a great many of the farmers not digging and filling a trench is the scarcity of ensilage cutters but this will be gradually overcome.

Storage Cost Varies

Cost of storing feed in the trench varies but an average for this county would be $4 a ton and, according to statements from those farmers who have used the trench, the ensilage when fed is worth at least twice that amount, therefore 6,500 tons stored in this manner would make a saving of $26,000.00.

"D. F. Rice found 100 tons of sprouted milo which was worthless but after being stored in a trench silo was equivalent to $25 worth of dry maize in feed value. Therefore we saved $250 by storing this feed in this manner."

Sudan To Vote On Bonds Thursday

SUDAN, Sept. 28 — On Thursday voters of the Sudan Independent district will vote on issuance of $45,000 in bonds to supplement a $36,449.47 grant by PWA for construction of a grade school building here.

Election will be held in the school building with Clyde Robertson as presiding judge and R. E. Thomas and Melvin Robertson as clerks.

Approval of the application of the board has been given by PWA pending voting bonds. P. E. Boesen, banker, is board president. W. D. Biggers is superintendent of schools.

Sudan Man Gets $50 Premium For Bringing In First Bale

SUDAN, Sept. 28 — June Rudd, who lives northwest of town, brought the first bale of 1938 cotton in Sudan territory to be ginned here and it was ginned Sept. 20. Sudan Chamber of Commerce gave Rudd a $50 premium.

Farmers gin ginned the bale free. It weighed 492 pounds and Dan Welch paid 8 cents a pound for it. Price in the loan was quoted at 7.2 cents.

G. D. Tolley of near Amherst brought a bale in five days before Rudd, but because he was not in this section, did not receive a premium. Farmers gin, however, ginned it free.

Federal Funds To Be Given

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, Sept. 28 — Arrangements to provide federal funds were made today as hurricane-torn New England, counting its property damage at an estimated $340,000,000, laid the groundwork for reconstruction. The known death list, meanwhile, grew to 497.

The Public Works administration called on municipalities to make preliminary applications for reconstruction grants by Friday.

Private agencies continued efforts to aid storm sufferers and to restore power and communication.

The gruesome task of digging into debris in search of bodies went on, adding ever to the death toll. By states, the death list showed:

Rhode Island 268.
Massachusetts 131.
Connecticut 80.
New Hampshire 13.
Vermont 5.

Hotel Guests Who Complain Over Charges On Telephone Calls May Be Given A Break

(By The Associated Press)

GALVESTON, Sept. 28 — Hotel guests who complain over the dime apiece charge placed on local telephone calls, whether they get the right number or not, may get a break.

The American Hotel association has decided to do something about it, but hastened to explain the hotels operate telephone service at a loss and the fault is not theirs.

Bennett E. Tousley of Atlantic City, N. J., chairman of the association's telephone committee, reported the differential in rates charged hotels throughout the nation by the Bell Telephone system was responsible for the 10-cent charge on local telephone calls.

Cost Is $90,000,000 Annually

The association's telephone consultant, Charles A. Hayne, has spent a year figuring the cost of the telephone service and announced today the charges amounted to $90,000,000 a year for hotel telephones.

Hayne said the Rhode Island public utility commission recently ordered the New England Telephone and Telegraph company to reduce its extension rental rate from 75 cents a month to 63 cents a month.

The Rhode Island regulatory body expressed the opinion the telephone company's present return is neither fair or reasonable, Hayne said.

Border Grand Jury Disposes Of All Its Business In 3 Minutes

ZAPATA, Sept. 28 (AP) — At 9 o'clock Tuesday, District Judge J. D. Mullally empanelled the grand jury.

At three minutes after 9, Judge Mullally discharged the jurors with thanks when they reported there was nothing on hand upon which to base a bill of indictment.

At the May term of court in this Mexican border county, the grand jury disposed of all its business in seven minutes flat.

False teeth wearers are worst breath offenders!
"Need More Than a Mouth Wash" say Authorities ... Recommend POLIDENT
Plates and bridges soak up odors and impurities like a sponge! A thin dark scum collects on them. This scum holds germs and decay bacteria. It is so tough that ordinary brushing seldom removes it. And it gets into every tiny crevice where brushing can't even reach. Almost always it results in "denture breath"—probably the most offensive of all breath odors.
Yet there's a perfect way to clean and purify false teeth without brushing, acid or danger. It is Polident, the powder that dissolves away all scum, stains, tarnish and odor. Makes breath sweeter—and plates or bridges look better and feel better. Tens of thousands call Polident a blessing for comfort, convenience and hygiene. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store. Approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau and by leading dentists everywhere.
Cleans, Purifies Like Magic
Put plate or bridge in ½ glass of water. Add a little Polident powder. Leave in 10 to 15 minutes—rinse—and it's sweet and purified—ready to use!

Eleven PWA Allotments For South Plains Area Are Given Approval

Funds Given Are $364,448

The additional allotments announced by Harold L. Ickes, administrator of the Public Works administration, increased the amount of grants set aside for Texas projects to $18,863,635 and the amount of loans to $3,621,000.

Construction of the projects will be under way by Jan. 1, with dirt flying on the majority of them in the next two months.

FARMER IS INJURED

FLOYDADA — W. R. Allmon was badly injured in a farm accident on his farm recently. He recalled reaching over to push a big weed when his sleeve caught in the bull wheel of a row binder and he was jerked from his seat. Allmon called to the team to stop and they did. X-ray pictures showed eight ribs broken, one in three places and another in two, and injuries to his back and shoulder.

Rally Behind Him

Headed by Rabbi Leo Baeck, above, of Berlin, Germany's remaining 300,000 to 350,000 Jews have formed a national federation to deal with the Reich's anti-Jewish government. All of Germany's Jewish societies formed the united front organization to facilitate emigration.

Swimming Pool At Post Camp Planned

Two high Boy Scout officials were scheduled to be in Lubbock Thursday to discuss plans for erection of a swimming pool at South Plains council camp near Post, according to Earl M. McClure, council executive. Marshall Mason of Post is council camping chairman.

The visitors are to be James P. Fitch of Dallas, southwestern regional executive, and Ray Bryan of New York City, assistant national director of camp engineering.

They are scheduled to arrive in Post at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon for an inspection of the camp and proposed swimming site, and then will come to Lubbock for a conference with the council executive committee in Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock, McClure was advised.

BUYS RALLS STORE

RALLS—Walter Pattillo of Lubbock and a former Crosby county resident, has bought the Benton Cash grocery from Dave Benton. A. E. Gamble of Lubbock is the new manager, and Tom Edd Benton and J. W. Gamble are assistants.

The noise of the eruption of the volcano Krakatoa, in 1883, traveled around the world three times; and at 3,000 miles away it sounded like a roar of distant guns.

Class Officers Are Selected

A business manager of the student body was nominated and class officers and representatives were elected by students of Texas Technological college Tuesday morning in meetings that followed a general convocation of students and faculty in the gymnasium.

At the general convocation, Dr. James M. Gordon, chairman of the executive committee, pointed out contrasts in the new college opening in 1925 and the Tech of today. His address subject was "The College I (We) Want".

First offering a definition of a college, he went on to say that a college must have, as a definite objective, the preparation for adaptive living; must be tolerant, openminded; must be unimpeachable in integrity; must have an increasing sense of justice and fair play; must be constructively challenging in its outlook. In his definition, he pointed out that a college is a place of "great wisdom", an institution of higher learning where teacher and student react to mutual advantage, and he mentioned the buildings, laboratories, library, dormitories, and various activities that are part of a college.

Congressman George Mahon made a short address. Dean of Men James G. Allen, chairman of the convocation committee, presided. Deans and several prominent students were introduced. James Huffman, president of the student body, took charge of the session at which a business manager was elected and offered instructions for class meetings.

Huffman Is Nominated

Harold Huffman of Meadow was the only student nominated for position of business manager, a new office created by the revised student constitution adopted last spring. James Huffman said, the nominee would be declared officially the business manager, probably at the first meeting of the council.

After the general meeting, students met in class groups and elected the following:

Senior — President, Joe Alford, Lubbock; vice president, Elmer Tarbox, Higgins; secretary - treasurer, Merle Haynes, Hobbs, N. M.; agricultural division representative to student council, John Bergner, Texhoma, Okla.; arts and sciences representative, Eugene Alderson, Lubbock; home economics representative, Oleta Claiborn, Iraan; engineering representative, Jim Kelley, Hobbs; representatives to Association of Women Students, Betty Lindsey, Lubbock, Jean Fagala, Greenville.

Junior — President, Clark Wicks, Clovis, N. M.; vice president, Bill Davis, Grapevine; secretary-treasurer, Marilynn Fry, Floydada; agricultural representative to student council, Fred Day, Plainview; engineering representative, E. L. Howard, Post; home economics representative, Marie Shook, Sweetwater; arts and sciences representative, Gordon Hanna, Jacksboro; representatives to A. W. S., Ina Bacon, Lubbock, Elray Lewis, Brownfield.

Sophomore — President, James Snyder, Moran; vice president, Bruce Baird; secretary - treasurer, Othrene Autry, Coleman; home economics representative to student council, Geraldine Conner, Haskell; engineering representative, Paul Jones, Goree; agricultural representative, Roger Lindsey, Lubbock; arts and sciences representative, J. W. Gamble, Lubbock; representatives to A. W. S., Ella Norene Moreman, Post, Ernestine Story, Tahoka.

Freshman — President, Roger Kuykendall; vice president, Jack Giles, Lubbock; secretary-treasurer, Jane Prickett, Lubbock; representatives to A. W. S., Anna Ruth Parks, Lubbock, Marian Lee Mason, Post.

Destruction Of Cotton Stalks Making Progress In Valley

AUSTIN, Sept. 28. (AP)—Agricultural department officials said today destruction of cotton stalks in four southeast Texas counties, a regulated pink boll worm area, was about 85 per cent complete.

J. M. Del Curto, state entomologist, said the worm was detected in parts of Jim Wells, Kleberg, Nueces and Brooks counties.

Although infestation was light, the state and federal governments ordered destruction of stalks after the crop was picked.

Cubs On Rampage Again; Greenberg Within Three Homers Of Record

League Lead At Stake In Today's Tilt

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—Those rampaging Chicago Cubs, noted in baseball history as great stretch runners, went after the Pittsburgh Pirates and the National league leadership today.

In one of the most furious pennant drives in recent years, the Cubs battled the Bucs in the second of a three game series at Wrigley field—with victory meaning an edge which could climax a dramatic uphill battle for a position nine games back little more than a month ago.

One half a game separated the teams as they squared away, the Cubs' thrill-packed 2 to 1 victory yesterday having clipped a full game off the lead held by the Bucs held since early July.

It was on the young shoulders of Clay Bryant, already winner of 19 games, that the Cubs placed their hopes of another victory and bright chances to duplicate the great pennant winning rush of 1935.

The league leaders, still confident they hold the whip hand, will depend on Bob Klinger, victorious in 12 games while losing five.

TCU-Arkansas Game May Be A Thriller

(By The Associated Press)

If what's transpiring in the camps of the Texas Christian Horned Frogs and Arkansas university Razorbacks mean what everybody thinks some kind of record is due Saturday when these two teams clash at Fort Worth in the opening Southwest conference championship game.

The Christians and Razorbacks are hammering hard on what can be done with passes and past records show these two teams are not a bit timid about throwing the pikskin around the lot. At Fort Worth they were predicting a record number of passes for a single game would be pitched.

Others Drive Hard

Other squads drove hard preparing for important intersectional games.

The Baylor Bears got a tough scrimmage but there were no injuries. Odell Griffin, star sophomore guard, returned to the squad but a knee injury received last week against Southwestern may keep him out of the lineup against Oklahoma A. and M. at Wichita Falls Friday night.

Southern Methodist had Roy Holbrook and George Sanders nursing heavy colds and Jack Sanders, slated for first string tackle, who missed the opener because of a foot injury, was back but could not drive well off the leg.

Injuries At Rice

Scrimmage sessions may have to be dispensed with at Rice institute this week because of the prevalence of injuries. Paul Hancock, blocking back, was not expected to be able to play against Oklahoma university Saturday because of a shoulder hurt and several other Owls nursed bruises.

The Texas Aggies worked against a Tulsa defense prepared on information supplied by scouts.

The University of Texas drilled long and hard on defense for the game with Louisiana State. Texas scouts reported the Tigers were caught napping in their surprise defeat at the hands of Ole Miss last week and warned the Longhorns they would meet a team that was probably better than the one that downed Texas last year.

Levelland To Be Weakened In Friday Game With Ropesville

LEVELLAND, Sept. 28 (Special)—Levelland will be weakened for its clash here with Coach Fred Rich's Cooper eleven Friday night due to loss of three players.

Millard Bradley, deadly passing all-district halfback, has been removed from the game pending establishment of his birth date. H. B. Wright, fullback, and Larson Crawford, tackle, suffered injuries in a recent motorcycle accident and will not play.

Despite loss of these players, the Lobos appear confident enough after their 32-13 conquest of West High school Friday night.

Cooper has a stout line, fast backfield and individual performers worthy of Lobo apprehension. Coach Rich depends heavily on Wayne Richardson, C. T. Potts, Phillips, Braswunder, Barrett, and Terry.

Raiders Shuffling Off To Buffalo

Off for Buffalo, N. Y., 20 Red Raiders boarded a Santa Fe coach Tuesday afternoon.

Accompanying the team were Coaches Pete Cawthon, Dutchy Smith and Ed McKeever, Dr. Steve Marshall, team physician, and Collier Parris, sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal publications.

The Raider train will go through Amarillo, thence to St. Louis where the team will take a six-hour layover to practice on the Washington university field, Wednesday afternoon.

Arrive On Thursday

Thursday afternoon they will arrive at Buffalo and that night will work out on the field where Friday night they will battle Duquesne university in their first out of town game of the season and probably their hardest test of the campaign.

Victors over the Dukes in 1937 the Raiders are anxious to make it two-straight and impress more fully the import of last year's win. The Duquesnes have one triumph to their credit so far this season.

Others In Good Shape

Those who sustained slight hurts in the Wyoming game were announced as ready. Bobby Holmes, Bill Davis, and Johnny Sims had been less seriously bruised Saturday night than Guzick.

The team will entrain for home Saturday and likely will arrive here Monday.

Girl Jockey Boots In Winner At Fair

House Warmer, with Miss Wantha Bangs up, captured the fourth and feature race Tuesday afternoon at the Panhandle-South Plains race course.

Pulling into the lead after the first turn the little fem jockey gave the big horse plenty of rein to finish three lengths ahead of Covollie, ridden by W. Root. Black Castle was third.

D. Fulcher, like Miss Bangs a holdover from jockeys of the 1937 meet, was only double winner of the day.

Fulcher brought Billy Necktar, J. Ramjue's heavily favored gelding in for first money in the four and one half furlong second race and repeated aboard Thrasher in the fast fifth race of the same length.

Blossom, with Miss Bangs up, won place money in the second. Jesse up, to the tape. Driftwood was third.

Zengo placed and Woodway took show place in the fifth.

Sky Hawk surprised with a fast finish to capture the opening race by a close margin over Skipper. Ricord, another seasoned rider, barely beat Skipper, with C. Warren up, to the tape. Driftwood was third.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 — The Yankees figure the Cubs'll come through in the dizzy National league race. . . . But that may be only what they're hoping . . . Because the box office (and the players' cut) will be lots sweeter in Wrigley field than Bill Benswanger's ballyard. . . . Things we'd like to see: Jimmy Wilson managing those Dodgers, with a bankroll big enough to cash in on those baseball wits of his . . . Well, folks, that 185 G's can't all be written off as loss for the Cubs after the way old Diz came through yesterday. . . . And howzabout an assist for Louisiana Bill Lee coming in cold to fan Al Todd in the ninth, after tossing a full nine innings against the Cards the day before.

It's none other than your old pal Boiling Boily Grimes scouting the Yankees for the Pirates. . . . There'll be no War Admiral-Seabiscuit get-together at Belmont this trip. . . . The Biscuit's already been shipped to Delaware. . . . The grapevine says Bill Terry has his eyes on Johnny Mize and Phil Cavarretta for the winter trading. . . . But you can definitely write off the Joe DiMaggio - for - Hank Greenberg talk. . . . John Henry Lewis will train out near Pittsburgh for his Oct. 21 title go with Al Gainer at New Haven.

The latest is Mickey Cochrane is through with baseball — but don't bet the house and lot on it, if the Red Sox make that proposition interesting enough. . . . Red Grange, in case you're interested, doesn't worry about the wolf busting in the door these days. . . . What with paying work as coach of the Chicago Bears, as a writer, sports broadcaster and salesman — wonder what he does with his days off. . . . The only crowd not worrying about the Yankees' slump are (you guessed it) the Yanks . . . Out of Princeton comes word the boys will be doing it for Bill Lynch on football fields this fall. . . . Pullback Bill died after practice a week ago, and the rest of the squad, figuring he'd like it that way, is laboring mightily to put some upsets in the book.

Yankees Have Edge In Hitting Over Both Bleacher Patrols Of Cubs And Pirates

(This is the first of three stories comparing the prospective opponents in the World series. First: The outfields.)

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—In sizing up the outfielders that will clash in the first World series game next Wednesday—whether the Yankees play the Pittsburgh Pirates or the Chicago Cubs—the most logical first move is to take Joe DiMaggio, who is receiving $25,000 for playing centerfield with the Yanks this season.

You might take Joe for about $200,000, cash, if Owner Jake Ruppert happened to be mad at him. But you would be lucky to get him at that price, and if either the Pirates or Cubs goes through the big series without having Joe bust up a couple of games, they will be lucky, too.

Has Obvious Edge

Joe, the leading slugger of a club feared for distance hitting, has a batting average of .328 and 31 homeruns to his credit, and gives the Yankee bleacher patrol an obvious edge over either National league trio in a short series.

A right-hand hitter with lots of "wrist" in his swing, DiMaggio will be a distinct threat. So, to a slightly lesser degree, will be Tommy Henrich (.269) who plays right field for the Yanks and has polled 26 homers. George Selkirk (.253), who divides left-field duties with Myril Hoag (.281), has hit 10.

Seldom Hit 'Em Away

Over the season, the Pittsburgh outfield of Johnny Rizzo, Lloyd Waner and Paul Waner has been a sweet one to have around. Any baseball man would rather have it than the Cub combination of Augie Galan, Frank Demaree and Carl Reynolds. Yet the Pirate trio seldom knocks balls out of sight.

Rizzo, the nearest the Pirates have to a game wrecker, has hit 20 homeruns and has an average of .297. Also, he has knocked across 104 runs, which is excellent. But Lloyd Waner, who heads the club in hitting with a mark of .311, and his brother Paul, with .283, are strictly spot hitters.

This outfield, though is the spearhead of the Pittsburgh offense. Lloyd is supposed to reach first, Paul is expected to advance him a base or two, and then it is up to either Rizzo or Floyd Vaughan to bring him around. If that doesn't work, they wait an inning or two and try it again.

Yanks Hit Homers

The Yankee system calls for Henrich to hit a homer and for DiMaggio to shake hands with him as he crosses the plate. Or for Gehrig to hit and Selkirk do the greeting.

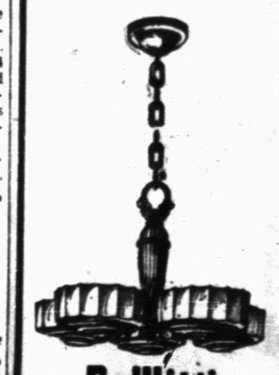

Reynolds, the veteran centerfielder, leads the Chicago gardeners with a hitting average of .299, followed by Galan, .284, and Demaree, the clean-up slugger, with .270. Galan, however, twisted a knee in yesterday's game with the Pirates and may not be available if the Cubs win the pennant. Phil Cavaretta, a .240 hitter, is taking Galan's place.

There is little to choose between the three outfields in fielding skill. They're all good.

Manager Pie Traynor Is Most Nervous, High-Strung Pilot In Baseball; Is Hard Loser

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Tintype of Harold "Pie" Traynor, the fidgety man on baseball's powder keg.

Never was there a sweeter man in big top baseball. Never was there a manager quite as worried, nervous and highstrung. Not quite 40, this tall, thin and almost gaunt man who leads the pennant contending Pittsburgh Pirates takes defeat harder than the most haunted coach in college football. Win or lose, the Pirate management has told him he is set for 1939 but so hard would he take defeat now that victory is so close that it's almost even money he would resign.

Rivals "Feel" For Him

Rival ball players and managers "feel" for Traynor, a great winning ball player and a hard though honorable loser. You don't have to look at the score board at Forbes field, home field of the Pirates, to see if Pie's boys are losing. Just look at him. He always stands on the Pirate dugout steps picking up and throwing stones. The harder he throws them, the worse the score. Off the pirate dressing room is his "wailing chamber," a small room with one electric light and solitary, unwashed window. It is there he does most of his suffering.

The day the New York Giants licked his Pirates, 18-2, on the first eastern invasion of the campaign, Traynor returned to his hotel but he didn't sleep. Smoking big cigars, he walked the floor until 7 a. m. Another day, when the Giants whipped the Pirates for a double header, the glum Pie went home with his chin on his chest.

Would Have Traded Her

"Oh, don't take it so hard, honey," encouraged Mrs. Traynor. "You still have me."

"Yes," muttered Pie. "And I would have traded you today for just one good base hit."

Gossip about the circuit says Traynor is too soft with his men. Possibly so, but as a graduate from the star ranks he sees no need of playing truant officer and detective. There have been occasions when he has cracked down but the result left him miserable. He's the kind of a man who doesn't like fusses. For a time, perhaps, his men did take advantage of him, but no more. There isn't a Pirate today who wouldn't give his manager the shirt off his back.

Reports he will be fired if the Pirates lost the pennant to the Chicago Cubs seem erroneous. Early in the season when the Pirates lost their lead and seemed headed toward second division, President Bill Benswanger grabbed him by the lapels and shouted:

"Win or lose we're with you a hundred per cent!"

Since then, the Pirates have been winning.

Sam Snead Has Five Thousand Added Reasons On His Career

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 28. (AP)—Sam Snead, who ended a promising career as the best soda-jerker in Hot Springs, W. Va., to turn to golf, had five thousand added reasons today for rejoicing about that change of careers.

The reasons were written on the $5,000 check which Sluggin' Sam received yesterday after winning the 108-hole Westchester open golf tournament with a score of 430, only ten strokes over par. The "only" is used advisedly, since the best golfers in the country cracked par just eight times in some 710 tours of the tough Fenway Golf club course.

Big Hank Hits Nos. 57 And 58 On Tuesday

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The rest of the baseball world may be hanging on the outcome of the Pittsburgh-Chicago series, but what excites the Detroit Tigers, and most of the American league, is whether Hank Greenberg can sock three more homers between now and Sunday.

Big Hank hit his 57th and 58th circuit blows of the season yesterday in a short second game as the Tigers trimmed the St. Louis Browns, 5-4 and 10-2. That broke a record in itself for it was the eleventh time he had hit two or more in a game this season. But the question is whether he can equal or top Babe Ruth's major league record of 60 established back in 1927.

Has Five Games To Go

Greenberg has five games to go if rain doesn't interfere. That gives him a good chance, for when he finds the range he usually makes his wallops in bunches. But he also has had several long stretches when he couldn't knock one out of the lot.

At this stage in '27, Ruth had only 56 homers, but he made four in three days, belting No. 60 in the semi-final game of the season.

Greenberg was the only one who managed to give 14 other clubs a look-in while the Cubs and Pirates battled in the series that means the National league pennant. Chicago's 2-1 victory, earned through a magnificent mound performance by sore-armed Dizzy Dean, reduced the Buccaneer lead to a half game.

Could Go On Top Today

Another victory today would put the Cubs on top, but they'd still have to win the final tomorrow to hold the lead.

For the rest of the clubs, yesterday's games were hardly more than just playing out the schedule. The Boston Red Sox walloped the Athletics 11-1; the Indians downed the Chicago White Sox 6-1 and the champion Yankees finally made it two straight, beating Washington 5-3.

Paul Dean, Dizzy's comebacking brother, took a pasting at St. Louis when the Cincinnati Reds belted him out in five innings and beat the Cards 3-1. The Boston Bees swept a doubleheader, 2-1 and 4-1. The Giants and Dodgers broke even in their final engagement, New York taking the first game 5-3 and Brooklyn the six-inning nightcap, 5-1.

Westerners Easing Off For Road Trip

Lubbock High school griders are scheduled for their last workout this afternoon before taking off for their second road trip of the season.

Walter Daniel definitely is out of uniform for remainder of the campaign due to an old shoulder injury which physicians feel should not be aggravated.

Daniel, considered by Lubbock coaches a good prospect for more backfield work later in the season, has been running with the second team, but an old shoulder injury will be responsible for his forsaking the game.

With Paul Sparkman, No. 1 center, out with a broken leg and Howard Martin favoring an injured shoulder, Westerner reserve strength hit a new low with the loss of Daniel.

Practice Hard Tuesday

The skeletoned squad went through its paces again Tuesday afternoon with the vigor of a bunch of younger kids, putting everything into their workout with their eyes turned to Oklahoma City where they will battle Capitol Hill High of that city Friday night.

Coaches Weldon Chapman and Goober Keyes, not quite pleased with work of some departments in Friday night's defeat of Abilene, were determined to smooth out flaws developing in that game. Capt. Jumbo Webster, Rusty Johnston, and James Privitt worked overtime at punting as they did Monday.

Pass defense, dummy scrimmage and a bit of contact scrimmage took most of the remaining time.

Expect Strong Competition

Expecting better than ordinary competition in the Sooner City Friday night, the Westerners are intent on continuing fine showings of two previous games. Oklahoma teams are not restricted by age as closely as Texas teams, therefore have more mature players.

However, Lubbock journeyed there last season and stalemated a big Capitol Hill eleven. The Sooners were fortunate that night to gain an even break.

The Westerners will leave by special bus early Thursday morning, arriving in Oklahoma City late that afternoon with expectations of a short workout. They will return here Saturday.

J. Smith Ferebee Is On Last Lap Of Cross-Country Play

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (AP) — J. Smith Ferebee, young Chicago broker and marathon golfer, arrived here today on the last lap of his transcontinental golf tour.

He played into darkness at Chicago last night to complete 72 holes before boarding his plane which brought him to Camden, N. J., across the Delaware river from Philadelphia.

Ferebee's goal is 600 holes of golf in four days in eight cities. He started his cross-country marathon Sunday at Los Angeles. He'll reach his goal if he completes 72-hole rounds today at Philadelphia and New York.

Kansas City Wins And Series Must Go Another Tilt At Least

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28 (AP) — Walter Judnich's home run bat sent Kansas City and St. Paul back to Minnesota today to resume their battle for the American association championship and a chance to meet the International league winner in the little world series.

Judnich clubbed two homers and two singles, drove in five runs and scored three as Kansas City won here last night 7-6. The victory was the Blues' second in the final play-off series.

St. Paul, with three wins in the best of seven setto, can clinch the title by winning tonight.

Kopecky Will Face Johnson

Panther Joe Kopecky, the Taylor cotton picker, tangles with Gus Johnson in the main event of the weekly wrestling show at the Auditorium tonight. Matches start at 8:30 o'clock.

Returning to the local ring last week after a lengthy absence, Kopecky "wrestled" with the crowd more than he wrestled with his opponent. But he knows what the paying gentry comes to see and he tries to give 'em that.

The big Swede is not the colorful type rassler, although he has been able to hold his own with other boys here. For several weeks he rated the main event successively.

Sheik Takes On Stratton

A 'tanglement' between these two fellows should just about be what the doctor ordered.

Down in the semifinal there is going to be quite a scrap. The Persian gift to the tin ear trade, Sheik Ben Ali Mar Aliah, is going to tangle with Walter Stratton in the match that may overshadow the main go.

Bewhiskered Mar Allah is on one's pansy—at least the opposing wrestlers think not—and Stratton is a workhouse of the first order.

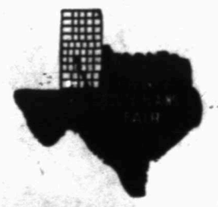

They'll probably add more than their part to the show.

John Nemanic doffs his refereeing togs and climbs into shorts again to take on Scotty Williams in the curtain raiser.

Plans Being Made For Western Wholesale Clothing Market Here

Event To Be On October 19-22

Lubbock looks forward to entertaining once more within the next few weeks many of the retail merchants of West Texas and eastern New Mexico who will visit the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

The attraction for the expected next visit will be the 17th semi-annual wholesale clothing market at Lubbock hotel next October 19-22 sponsored by Western Wholesale Clothing Market association.

Be On Larger Scale

Indications are, according to Sam Rosenthal, new president of the organization, that the approaching market will be on a larger scale than any previously attempted. Five floors of the hotel have been reserved, and expectation is that approximately 80 selected wholesalers, jobbers and manufacturers in all types of wearing apparel and accessories will be here to display their merchandise.

Entire purpose of the market, as explained by Rosenthal, is to provide a convenient meeting place for the wholesaler, and the retailer. Last fall the wholesalers were gathered form the more important establishments in such centers as New York, Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans and Dallas.

They will be here again and invited to meet them will be approximately 1,000 retailers in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Entertainment Planned

Although the object of the market is strictly business, entertainment will not be forgotten. The feature event will be a dinner-dance with floor show to which admission will be by card limited to the retailers who make reservations. There will be no admission charge for the event.

Officers of the market association, additional to Rosenthal, are E. T. Pope and Arlie Crites, vice presidents; J. H. Brock, secretary; and I. A. Stephens, O. J. Sexton and Morris Levine, directors.

Lorenzo Woman Has Treasured Article

Mrs. H. H. Smyer of Lorenzo is the sort of person who, behind all the hurly-burly and rough and tumble, makes the wheels of the Panhandle-South Plains fair go 'round.

Mrs. Smyer, member of an old-established family that gave its name to the little Hockley county town of Smyer, has an old silver wine vessel a Quaker physician of the old Estacado religious colony once owned.

"I've been bringing it to the fair all along, but I generally lose something or other off it," she said. "But if it'll help the fair—well, here I am."

"First a tray, then a cup, then a contraption that fits the bottom, then a part of the frame in which it once was tilted back and forth."

Mrs. Smyer said a man once had said he could take the heavy silver to Dallas and sell it "for about $5,000, but I told him I'd believe him as far as I could throw a rock."

Two other persons offered her $500 for it once, "but I wouldn't sell it."

Mrs. Smyer, as direct to the point as the residents of the Old West were, said "Yes, it belongs to the old girl herself." The pot must be at least 175 years old, she said. It has a florid, unintelligible inscription and a mark of 1802 1-2, "Quadruple plate, Fairpoint Manufacturing Co."

"But, son, I've got something at my house you'd really like to see. Pictures. Of the first roundup in this section. The first grand jury at Old Emma. Plenty of old faces, some of them still around."

STARTS NEW HOME

FLOYDADA—J. A. Arwine has begun construction of a home on South First street. It will be of brick veneer. John S. Callihan of Wake has completed a new farm home.

Doves, symbols of peace, engage in bloody battles with rivals during the breeding season.

Festivals Staged By Foresters In Order To Save The Trees

One item on a save-the-forests entertainment program: a shave with an ax.

LITTLE ROCK, Sept. 28 (AP)—Arkansas state foresters turned to psychology to save trees.

Recalling that pioneers got a big bang out of forest festivals, the foresters revived them. First they supervised contests in shoe-kicking, wood-chopping, sawing, nail driving, watermelon eating, hog-calling and rolling-pin throwing.

Then state forest officials gave illustraed lectures on preventing and fighting forest fires.

"We didn't want people to think of the forest commission as a policeman," says David Campbell, assistant forester.

Figures show 45,000 folks attended the series of 18 festivals in recent months. Figures also show only .14 of one per cent of 11,670,000 acres of forest was damaged the first six monhts of 1938—five years ago the damage was eight per cent.

Wellington Man Farms 6,000 Acres Of Land Near Morton

(By Staff Correspondent)

MORTON, Sept. 28.—One of the largest farms operated under one management, is a 6,000-acre farm owned and operated by F. I. Maston of Wellington, near the New Mexico state line, and about 15 miles northwest of here.

There are about 3,800 acres of cotton on the ranch. The rest is feed, mostly cane and sudan.

Maston operates with tractors only. He has a dozen of them, all rubber tired, and when necessary, he works them 24 hours a day. The land was bought several years ago from W. T. Campbell, well known rancher here.

Maston maintains a large crew on his ranch. He employed hundreds of negroes last year to pick his several thousand bales of cotton.

Crops this year on the farm are better than in several other parts of the county, it is said. The crop may average close to a half bale per acre, at least on parts of the farm.

The western part of the county has received more rain than most other sections. For that reason, crops generally are better.

In 1930, 23 persons in every 1,000 of the adult population was a college graduate.

Conditions In Amherst Good

(By Staff Correspondent)

AMHERST, Sept. 28.—New life is being manifested by Amherst as the town is slowly forging ahead and expanding.

New home construction has been started, as well as building of several renthouses. There have been changes in ownership of houses as new people have come into town. The Amherst hotel has added four rooms.

Temple Trust company has sold some of its repossessed property here. A restaurant, closed for months has reopened. A new grocery is reported planned.

New Gin Assured

L. L. Brooks of Cordell, Okla., is completing a gin to take the place of one burned last fall. This gives the town four gins.

School enrollment indicates the growth, as there are more now in school than before.

M. L. Payne, city secretary-treasurer, says tax collections last fall were better than expected. The city water system is a source of revenue for the town and all bond payments are met promptly.

Aubrey Loyd, a 24-year-old former Texas Technological college student, is mayor. Aubrey's father, the late Sheriff F. A. Loyd, was killed a few months after he had been reelected in 1936 and his widow took his place.

But the mayor had long been a business man, even before he was out of high school. He had helped his father in the drug store for years, all summer long and after school hours. When the father was named sheriff the youngster took over active management of the store.

He is popular with young and old, and the older men on the city commission value his judgment and decisions.

Rogers Willett, active vice president of the bank, says the condition of the community is better than in years. Old debts were cleared last fall and winter by the cotton crop and farmers were able to get along without excessive borrowing for summer operations.

Sixty Boys Are Enrolled In 4-H Club Work In Cochran County

(By Staff Correspondent)

MORTON, Sept. 28.—Cochran county has 60 4-H club boys this year, one of the largest groups of club boys the county ever has had, said Ray F. Hickman, county agent. There are five clubs at Morton, Lehman, Bledsoe, Whiteface and Neelyward.

Eleven of the boys have 21 calves as their main projects. They came from the herd of Ad Eddins, a local rancher.

Fourteen boys have pigs as projects, either bred gilts or sows. Three boys have sheep and the rest have crops or poultry as their main projects.

All of the club boys are showing remarkable interest in their projects this year, Hickman said. Several boys who have fed out calves before, have two or more calves. New boys are only feeding one calf each.

GOOD ENROLLMENT

SOUTHLAND—Enrollment in the Southland schools exceeded 100 in the high school and 170 in the grades, W. A. Smith, superintendent, reported. More are expected.

There never has been a divorce among members of the Alabama Coushatta Indian tribe of Texas. Only three members of the tribe ever have been convicted of felonies.

Goal Line Stand

Trying to budge this gentleman would be as simple as moving Gibraltar if the expression on his face means anything. Police Sergeant Allen puts everything into it—including his 200-odd pounds—as he grimly sets about the task of anchoring the police tug-of-war team in its contest with the Royal Army Service Corps huskies during the London Police Sports Meet at White City. Allen takes no chances, by wrapping the two-inch rope around his torso.

No Payoff

INDIANAPOLIS — John H. Moore hit the "jack pot" in his bean patch — but didn't collect.

Moore went into the field to pick beans and stumbled over a slot machine crammed with coins. He walked back to his home to telephone police.

When they arrived at the field with Moore the machine—and the coins—were gone.

Clock Watchers

PHILADELPHIA — The end of daylight saving time created a sensation at the zoo where the animals keep time by their stomach.

Roaring, yowling, screeching and grunting, they protested the delay in meals — postponed an hour when clocks were set back to standard time. It was a wrathful hour for the animals — but a good show for the visitors.

Spirited Spirits

ELKTON, Md. — When a truck overturned and burst into flames passersby obligingly helped the driver remove the cargo — 40 cases of liquor.

After the fire was extinguished, the driver turned to thank his helpers. They were gone. So were the 40 cases of liquor.

School Levy Is Same For 1938

Ninety-five cents per $100 valuation was the tax rate for the Lubbock Independent school district set by the school board Tuesday night.

Members of the board met in the office of Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, president, in the Lubbock sanitarium.

The rate was set after the valuations were estimated to be $24,500,000, school authorities said. The tax roll, however, has not been completed.

The rate is the same as for 1937, it was explained.

That Girl on Broadway says out at the fair the carnival is exhibiting a man without a brain. It's showing freaks, too!

Things have come to a pretty pass in Europe when a well known peace-lover can't parade a million armed men around in another country without stirring up the neurotics!

BY golly, it sure is good to be back doing business at the same old stand.

The Plainsman, who has been out chasing around the country for quite a spell, has always claimed that it sure is a fine thing for a fellow to quit vacationing and get a good desk under his feet again.

Yowsah.

Unless you've tried getting away for a few weeks and then coming back to look over the old home town, you'll never realize how much change can be wrought in this hustling, bustling, growing and progressing little whistling post in a short length of time.

Things do change. They sure do.

WE noticed with great interest upon return that Lubbock's building permits had zoomed up more than a half-million dollars during our absence and we saw small business buildings and homes ready for occupancy that had hardly been begun when we swung off into the open spaces of the West.

We also learned that Schools Superintendent Irvin had come out flat-footed in favor of going back to the teaching of readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic this year, instead of letting the kids spend all their time coloring, pasting and "waiting for the inner urge."

But the biggest sign of life, of course, was the traffic light at Broadway and Avenue Q.

The city approved such an innovation something like three years ago, but, lo, when the boys got around to it it didn't take any time at all to get it started to working!

Maybe by 1950, or there-abouts, the stop-signs along the boulevard streets will be made uniform.

You can't never tell what might happen!

But all kidding to one side with the left hand, there aren't—in eight states, at least—many towns that can compare with Lubbock.

Outside the big cities we traversed—Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles—we saw nothing in a more than 4,000 mile trip that surpassed—on the whole—the well known "Hub of the Plains."

And while we saw a lot of swell scenery, we didn't see a single section of the country that looked as good and as productive as our own South Plains.

IN some respects, Albuquerque has Lubbock edged out.

In others, it does not.

In fairness to Albuquerque and to Santa Barbara, Calif., we must say that they have some things that Lubbock doesn't have—and they should, since both are larger in population.

But taking other towns of comparable size, such as Cheyenne, Wyo., Casper, Wyo., Reno, Nev., and even Colorado Springs and Pueblo, Col., Lubbock, by and large, is way ahead of the game.

Among the cities we saw ranging from 20,000 to 40,000, Albuquerque was by far the "winnah" in every respect—as far as The Plainsman's casual inspection could determine.

Albuquerque is a good town—and if Lubbock wants to continue to be known as the leader in this particular part of the Southwest, it must look to its laurels.

The New Mexico metropolis is a town worthy of any community's

Where Lubbock has Albuquerque lashed to the mast is in the country surrounding this city.

We, here, have a much better contributing territory.

But Albuquerque has us bested in population; in the fact that it is a more settled community; because it is the biggest town in New Mexico and is a sort of state headquarters for everything; and because it has nowhere near it cities capable of challenging it.

Keep your eye on Albuquerque.

HAVE you heard this one anent the recent difficulties in Europe?

It seems that two guys had just finished their cokes.

Said one: "I'll match you for the checks."

"Hey," hollered the soda skeet, "who do you guys think you are? Chamberlain and Hitler?"

And this one:

"Did you know Hitler is broke?"

"No. How come?"

"He's got his hands full of hot checks!"

President Roosevelt's "purge" campaign proved at least one thing.

It proved that while the American public will cheer a ventriloquist's dummy on the air or on the screen, it doesn't want him in the Senate!

WHILE a lot of people we know are all a-ga-ga about the prospects of war in Europe, The Plainsman is plumb fed up on the subject.

For months—maybe years—now, from time to time it has appeared that war was about to break out in Europe and on each occasion the world got all riled up about it.

Then the crisis would pass and the thing would be forgotten for a few days—only to bob up all over again.

Although things look worse in Europe now than they have for 24 years, The Plainsman doesn't believe a general war will break out when Hitler's Oct. 1 deadline is reached.

We don't believe the bosses are ready for war—yet.

But as far as we are concerned, they might just as well go ahead now and get it over with that much sooner.

Because sooner or later Europe is going to fling another military wing-ding and it might just as well come now as later.

WITH all his faults, Hitler is a pretty smart hombre.

If he wasn't, he'd been pushing up daisies a long time before this.

And he'll find some way to wiggle out from between the rock and the hard place where he finds himself at the present writing—without the necessity of plunging into a general conflict.

The Plainsman doesn't know what the current war odds are on the books of Lloyd's of London, but we'll bet they're no more lopsided than an even 50-50.

As a matter of fact, we wouldn't be surprised to hear that Lloyd's is offering odds against a general conflict, even on this good day.

Caution is a most valuable asset in fishing—especially if you are a fish.

THE current model of the Panhandle-South Plains fair is really an unusually good fair from every angle.

The Plainsman, realizing that it's the patriotic thing to do to say such a thing—and that it is expected, regardless of the degree of excellence on the fairgrounds—never-the-less means what he says.

If the 1938 Silver Jubilee fair isn't the best fair in local history it certainly is as good as any exposition we can think of—and we've seen them all for 15 years.

Honest the truth, if you like fairs at all, you'll like the present one.

Boxwood Barrier

BY BLANCHE S. FERGUSON
Copyright By Associated Press

The Story So Far: Two rank outsiders have penetrated the sacred boxwood hedge at Goodloe's Choice—Reuben Oliver, self-made millionaire, and Cissy Rogers, red-headed aviatrix. Reuben, who is in love with Judith Goodloe, is injured jumping his horse over the hedge, and the accident brings Cissy, who loves Reuben. Judith, in love with dashing Gary Brent, sees Cissy captivate him. Then, instead of the proposal Judith expected, Gary tells her he is going to a job in the west.

Chapter 11
Heartbreak

Radiance died from Judith like candles suddenly snuffed.

Filled with his own plans Gary did not notice. "I'll get a kick out of the experience and the money—Gee," boyishly, "can I use some real money? The pay is good—I've never had so much money at one time in my life. In about 10 or 20 years, darling, I may have enough saved to come back and marry you, who knows?"

Ten or 20 years!

Great anguished waves of life beat against her. Roared over her. He was joking about their marriage. He wasn't serious—had never been—

"Isn't it grand, Judy?"

Grand? Between one heart beat and another all joy could vanish from the world.

"Congratulate me, woman!"

She put her hand into his outstretched one. For the first time in her life her eyes were masked—Judith's honest eyes.

"Cissy Rogers is going West the last of the week. She has asked me to fly as far as Chicago."

Through a coppery taste in her mouth Judith said: "These are your lucky days, Gary!"

"Aren't they though?" He smiled absently — his thoughts winging ahead to an adventurous future.

Judith got to her feet with effort. "Let's go back to the house. I'll try to keep Cissy for lunch."

"Judy, you're sweet." His arm went around her in the old fond way. His touch was agony. He was thankin her for being kind to Cissy.

She remembered his kiss of yesterday—a lifetime ago—sensitive now to its quality.

"I've been a fool," she told herself. "A half awake, dreaming fool. He never cared—never, never—He was going away—In 10 or 20 years—He never cared—

Meanwhile, in the big bedroom, Life played its most perfect symphony for Reuben. It had one theme, one melody, one movement—Judith.

For 10 perfect summer days he saw her, for a few minutes every day, detached, beautiful, smiling before she hurried away. He spent the rest of the time reliving that moment.

She seemed always in a hurry, taking her pleasure feverishly—swimming, riding, golfing, flying even, picnicking—trying not to see Gary's open devotion to Cissy. Trying not to see Cissy's triumphant acceptance of it.

Reuben wondered if Judith had always been so—so persistently cheerful. He did not know her well enough to be sure. Cissy now—

Very definitely Cissy had changed during her brief stay in the Maryland valley. She reminded Reuben of a tiger lily incongruously placed among orchids—the one alien flower in the bouquet but nevertheless dominating it, glorying in her dark spots. He realized very forcibly the difference in Cissy the morning she breezed into his room to say goodby.

He was wearing the new dressing gown she had sent him, and seated in a big chair by the window. He was thinner, Cissy noticed, and his whole face had unaccountably softened.

No Option On Love

"Greetings, old thing!" She flung the roses she carried into his lap and herself to an ottoman at his feet. "Strong enough to stand the shock of a farewell kiss?"

"Try me," he grinned. "Thought you were going to keep my house from being lonely until I get back to it?"

"I would," candidly, "if you cared. You," accusingly, "don't care!"

Reuben made a stiff movement with his bandaged arm. "Why—Cissy—"

"You're so moonstruck over her," bitterly. "It's as plain as the nose on your face."

He was so distressed that Cissy had to laugh. "Not to everyone, darling," she hastened to assure him. "I'm the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter. I see things."

"You see a lot that isn't so."

"No—I see too truly. Don't let her make a liar of you, Rube. You've never been that."

It was no use. He didn't know how to hedge. "I do care, Cissy." It was a relief to say it.

"Don't care too much. She thinks we're dirt—you and I."

"You don't like her?"

"Why should I?"

"Why shouldn't you?" simply. "I've never met with so much kindness."

"The stranger within their gates' stuff. They're long on that sort of thing but it's a plain case of the sheep and the goats, old son. Don't ever forget it."

He looked into her bright, solicitous face. Cissy loved him—no, to pretend he didn't know. If he had one iota of common sense left he'd love her too. Marry her. Be happy with her. They spoke the same language. Had lived through the same experiences. Learned all about life. Knew how to meet its ups but were more expert wrestling with its downs—

Cissy read his thoughts with the accuracy of a witch. "No use to worry over what you can't help," practically. "I guess love is one thing you can't take an option on."

Reuben frowned. "You're letting your imagination run away with you."

"Maybe, but I'm giving you your chance."

"What chance? Don't talk riddles."

"I'm kidnaping Lothario."

"Who the devil are you talking about?"

"Gary Brent. I'm taking him west this afternoon."

"Cissy!"

"You'd have as much chance as a last year's snow squall with that bird around. You're no competitor for a masculine beauty with a soul-warming smile and a heart-melting kiss."

Reuben's face darkened. Cissy, loving him, felt her heart darken too. He said: "Are you trying to tell me that she loves Brent or that you have sampled his kisses?"

"I'm not trying to tell you anything!" Cissy flamed, "and I'm fed up on Judith Goodloe! Gary has a job with that old crook Galbreath. I'm giving the lad a lift west, that's all."

Flying away

She got to her feet. With one of her quick, darting motions she swooped over and kissed Reuben where his stubborn hair reared over a cowlick. "Goodby little boy, who must get burnt before he dreads the fire. Goodby!"

She tried to wink back the sudden, hot tears. One escaped and trickled down her nose. Cissy brushed it away angrily. She persuaded herself that it was not really goodby. He'd come back to her—badly hurt probably—but he'd come. From the door she flung over her shoulder: "Try not to break your neck or heart until I see you again."

Cissy was going. He felt suddenly desolate. Alone in a strange country. She was part of the old life. He'd call her back—tell her he would follow her to Chicago tomorrow—the next day—as soon as he was able to travel, but before he could voice his quick decision, another step sounded in the hall, another voice—Judith's.

Reuben leaned back in his chair and colsed his eyes—So quickly do the sands of life run—

In the hall, Cissy was saying to Judith: "You've been swell to me. To Rube too. Thanks a lot."

"Are you really going today?"

"Soon as I get the plane tuned up I'm taking off."

That meatn that Gary was going! Strange that Judith could be glad of that!

The past 10 days had been pure agony. Trying to meet him on the old friendly ground. Playing around

LET'S ACCEPT OUR OWN RESPONSIBILITY

Just what kind of secret treaties the United States has with other World powers and covering action in case of war, The Journal, of course, does not know.

No one knows, save the President, the Secretary of State and a handful of diplomats.

But regardless of what the treaties are, and of what nation or nations they may be with, we wouldn't put much faith in them—or in what they would mean to us should our shores ever be invaded by a foreign power.

Treaties used to mean something.

But nations of this day and time are singularly like many individuals of this age—they'll promise anything, but when the pay-off time comes it's something else. They just aren't there, as they promised to be.

The best policy for us, in dealing with other powers, is, to use an alley phrase, "keep our hand on our pocketbook."

We'll do well to accept the sole responsibility of keeping our fences up and of being prepared to defend ourselves at any and all times, and without the help of any other nation.

If there is a country on the globe that can play the lone hand, it is the United States.

We can't isolate ourselves 100 per cent, but we can enjoy isolation much more thoroughly than any other country.

And any time we follow any other sort of policy, we're only courting trouble.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27—Short takes:

John Garfield, the earnest young actor from Manhattan's socially-conscious Group Theater, told in early interviews how for some time he had resisted the call of Hollywood because he was afraid he wouldn't be able to cope with its temptations of big money and splendid living. When he finally came, a few months ago, Garfield resolutely rented a modest apartment and drove an old car.

He bought a slick new automobile the other day and went house hunting. The places displayed by various agents finally were narrowed to a choice of two—one with swimming pool. He took the one without a pool, although its rental was $20 a month more than the other house.

Garfield doesn't want his pals of the theater to get the idea that he has gone Hollywood.

Four errors were discovered in booklets printed for the $250,000 Movie Quiz Contest, but not before hundreds of thousands had been sent out for distribution.

Lucille Ball says she has been spending her evenings at psychic seances trying to get in touch with her agent, who seems to have moved to some other world. . . Hoffenstein is drawing $1,200 a week for doing nothing just now, but another Metro writer, also idle, receives $1,500. The poet says he doesn't know what he's worth while working, but that he's just as valuable while he's not working as any other loafer.

Preview Panners
Take A Panning

Biggest radio offer yet has been made to Irving Berlin, who'd have to write a new song each week for broadcasting. . . . Several of the dramatic air programs are buying up old movie scripts for microphone fodder. . . . Radio reviews of motion pictures now are under the concerted fire of exhibitors. The latter declare that the reviews often are hypercritical and that they dull fan interest by being broadcast weeks ahead of movie releases. Proposed remedy: abolition of previews; critics couldn't pan the pictures if they couldn't see them.

I think it's a good idea. No one critic, even if competent in dramatic analysis, can fairly represent with his bells and whistles and gongs the preferences and prejudices of different cities and parts of the country regarding stars and stories. In some places Gene Autry is billed above Greta Garbo. In some places sophistication has the edge on adventure. Almost every film that is released does well in some spots and flops in others.

If reviewing is to mean anything as a guide for movie-goers it should be the exclusive province of individual newspapers' motion picture editors, who know what their readers want.

Simple Solution To The Nation's Problems

Profit-Sharing Plans For American Industry To Be Discussed In Coming Congress Term

BY WILLIS THORNTON
Journal Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 — Congress will discuss profit-sharing plans for industry this winter.

A pet interest of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, these plans are to be studied by a subcommittee of the Senate Finance committee beginning Dec. 1; just before Congress assembles. This should assure attention in Congress itself, as the meatier bits of the study should begin coming out as Congress begins work.

This committee is charged with considering "what advisable contribution, if any, may be made to the encouragement of profit-sharing by the federal government, including the grant of compensatory tax exemptions and tax rewards." In other words, if a company divides its profits with employes, the government might exempt that amount of profits from taxation, thus encouraging other companies to do likewise.

Puzzle To Workers

Available will be a report to the International Management congress, in which Prof. C. C. Balderson of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, waxes a little skeptical of such plans. Prof. Balderson's objections are that such plans usually are too complex for the worker, the rewards usually come too late for him to connect them with his own effort, and that often the worker who has increased his efficiency and his production sees profits wiped out by a write-off of inventory or some other bookkeeping factor, leaving him puzzled as to why he isn't cut in on the "profit."

The National Industrial conference board went into this matter in 1928, and found few profit-sharing plans had survived.

In short, the chance of the Vandenberg-Herring committee turning up anything really epoch-making in the way of industrial reform is small.

Campaign Consideration

One of the most interesting aspects of the proposal to extend Social security benefits to millions not enjoying them, is that the income to the government from additional deductions and payments would go a long way toward apparently holding down the treasury deficit.

Of course that money must be raised by taxation later on, when the benefits come due, but right now it would help minimize those annual deficit figures, a desirable thing with the 1940 campaign coming closer and closer.

At the same time, agitation for higher taxes is going to get a big play next session. It would not be surprising to find incomes between $5000 and $50,000 paying rates comparable to those now paid by incomes above $50,000. Recently publication of annual income figures by the National Resources committee provides powerful argument for those who seek to use income taxes as a leveling-out device for the one per cent of the people who receive 13 per cent of the national income.

with a smile. Lynn wide-eyed through long night. Trying not to see Gary flirting with Cissy, laughing with Cissy, falling in love with Cissy—

Gary departed as joyfully as he arrived.

With his goodby kiss bitter sweet upon her lips Judith stood in the middle of the meadow looking up at the silver, soaring streak. Great clouds of agony swept between her and the sky. Gary was flying away. Flying out of her life. Flying with a red-headed, green-eyed girl, who, if she guessed her misery, would laugh at it.

Judith strained her ears to hear the last throb of the engine. She did not bother to brush away the tears that streamed down her cheeks; dropped on her clasped hands—

The plane winged over the tree-tops. Vanished behind them. Gary was gone. Dear God—send him back! She would wait! She would never complain—never ask anything else! Just send Gary back!

The gates of her fool's Paradise swung shut. Clanged. Left an empty, cruel sound echoing down the world. Gary was—gone—

Five days later Reuben was going home. He came downstairs to cool, dim rooms and quiet orderliness. On the surface, Goodloe's Choice gave no sign that it had been shaken to its very foundation by a devastating upheaval, but during these past five days, much had happened of which Reuben knew nothing.

Amanda's world—her safe, aloof world surrounded by boxwood—had tottered and collapsed about her head. At one and the same time, her obligations became due and her few remaining bonds worthless.

Tomorrow: Reuben is snubbed

Campaign Will Be Launched Tonight

A meeting at which plans for launching the Federal Housing administration "Ready for Winter" campaign will be discussed will be conducted at 8 o'clock tonight at the Hilton hotel. R. E. Sikes, mortgage conference representative from the Dallas FHA office, will have charge.

Representatives of contracting, lumber, real estate, plumbing supply, paint and paper, utility, lending and any other businesses having connection with building are to attend.

John Mitchell, chairman of the better housing program here, called the meeting. The session originally had been scheduled for Monday afternoon.

"Ready for Winter" is the theme adopted for the state and national campaign sponsored by the building industry with cooperation of the FHA to encourage and stimulate property improvements as well as residential construction in fall and winter.

Labor Convention

construction business."

Construction volume in the first seven months of 1938, he told the convention, was only 42 per cent of the 1929 volume, and described as "distressing" reports that last August 23 per cent of union building trades workers were idle as compared with 22 per cent in 1937 and 18 per cent in 1929.

Solution of the building problem he termed a "national responsibility" and added:

"I am firmly convinced that the lesson derived from the experience of the past ten years is that the solution of our economic problem cannot and will not come from instrumentalities of the government.

The building trades convention also is expected to discuss employment by WPA on construction jobs of workers on relief rolls the building trades department regard as "inexperienced and incompetent."

The A. F. of L. metal trades department prepared to end its convention after adopting committee reports yesterday providing for an extensive organizing campaign in the shipbuilding industry, the exercising of "extreme vigilance" over industry committees under the wage-hour law, and endorsing the department's opposition to President Roosevelt's executive reorganization bill.

John P. Frey, head of the department, disclosed that in the A. F. of L.-C. I. O. rivalry for control of the shipyard workers, the department was now offering to negotiate contracts with shipyard owners guaranteeing no labor dispute during the time required to build a cargo vessel.

FDR's Appeal

he said, because:

"The conscience and the impelling desire of the people of my country demand that the voice of their government be raised again and yet again to avert and to avoid war."

The decision to send the second appeal was reached at a cabinet meeting yesterday afternoon. Shortly before, Mr. Roosevelt and his cabinet had listened to Premier Chamberlain's speech from London and carefully examined Hitler's reply to the president's earlier appeal.

To some of the president's advisers, informed persons said, it appeared the fuehrer had carried the world even closer to war by the language of his reply than he had in previous statements.

The reichsfuehrer's reply said the possibility of adjusting the Sudeten question had been "exhausted" and made clear Germany would regard Czechoslovakia as responsible if war came.

NOTE SENT MUSSOLINI

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—White House attaches announced today that President Roosevelt had sent a personal message to Premier Mussolini "in the interest of preserving world peace."

The announcement was made, in response to inquiries, by Stephen Early, presidential secretary, who said the message was dispatched yesterday.

Early asserted that because the communication was personal, it would not be made public textually.

He added, however, that the note dealt with preserving world peace.

Officers Resume Search For Body Of Woman Said Slain

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Officers from Bexar and San Patricio counties resumed their search in the sand dunes of the beach near Ingleside today for the body of a woman, believed to be Minnie Gehardt, who Clifford Wheeler, negro, said he saw slain a year and a half ago.

The search was instigated following the suicide of Joe D. Ball, tavern operator at Elmendorf and employer of the woman.

The officers failed to uncover the body yesterday but found the dune, under which Wheeler said the woman was buried, was about 17 feet deep and that it would require at least two days to remove the sand before reaching the solid ground. Wheeler said the body was three or four feet under the soil.

Ball shot himself to death while he was being questioned about the disappearance of another employe, Hazel Brown, whose dismembered body was found in brushy ranchland two miles from Ball's beer tavern.

Charles E. Duryea, Credited With First Car, Dies Today

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (AP) — Charles E. Duryea, widely credited as the man who invented America's first gasoline buggy and known as the "father of the automobile," died at his home here today. He was 76. He had been ill two years.

Whether Duryea was the "first" builder of a gasoline automobile has been a subject of controversy. The credit was claimed on behalf of Elwood Haynes. His first car was placed on exhibition in the Smithsonian institution, but later Duryea's first car was placed there.

Father Of Mrs. Grady Rogers Dies In Pampa Hospital Tuesday

T. A. Horn, father of Mrs. Grady Rogers of Lubbock and a pioneer northwest Texan, died at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at a hospital in Pampa. Mrs. Rogers, wife of a pharmacist here, had been at the bedside of her father since Saturday.

Horn was a former president of the First National bank at White Deer. He was a wheat farmer and cattleman. He had acquaintances over this area.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday in White Deer.

Crosby Grand Jury May Not Report Until Late Today

CROSBYTON, Sept. 28.—Failing to complete its investigations, a 72nd district grand jury sent word to Judge Daniel A. Blair it might require most of today in which to finish its work before reporting.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said he would make application to the court to have suspension of sentence set aside in the case of a man assessed a two-year suspended sentence in March on a forgery by endorsement indictment but who since had been reported convicted in Hale county on a swindling charge.

WHEAT INSURANCE

CROSBYTON—About 12,000 acres of wheat land in Crosby county is covered by 64 applications for federal wheat insurance, Woodrow Robertson, in charge of the work, said.

More than a million married people are living in a state of separation in England, according to estimates.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 28 (AP) — Nervous selling because of reports of German troop movement toward the Czech border brought initial declines of 7 to 10 points in the cotton market here today.

Oct. contracts opened at 7.86, Dec. at 7.83, Jan. at 7.82, March 7.80, May 7.77, July 7.74, and Oct. (new) at 7.66 bid.

Buying increased in nearby delivery but hedge selling served to depress later months.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP) — Cotton futures opened 8 to 15 lower on the acute European situation, weakness in sterling, and under liquidation and foreign selling. Oct. 7.75; Dec. 7.73; Jan. 7.74; March 7.70; May 7.65; July 7.63.

Prices quickly rose as much as $1 a bale from the lows on the report Chancellor Hitler had invited Great Britain, France and Italy to meet him in a four-power conference tomorrow morning.

Dec. sold up from 7.73, to 7.91 to carry the list to net gains of 4 to 9 points late in the first hour.

There were 13 additional October notices issued but spot house buying of the near month caused it to advance quickly.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (AP) — Excited somersaulting of the Chicago wheat market today that accompanied sudden indications of European peace resulted in much lower quotations.

Prices were near the lowest of the day in the final dealings here. Wildness of the Chicago market was far exceeded in Liverpool where a jump of 7½ pence was followed by a sensational break later, on account of hopes of a peace settlement.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1⅝-1¾ lower compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 68¼-⅝, May 66-66¼, corn unchanged to ⅜ off, Dec. 50⅛-⅜, May 53⅛-¼, and oats at ⅛ decline to ⅛ advance.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP) — Wall Street today greeted news of the Munich conference of leading European government heads with a rousing upswing in the stock exchange, one of the sharpest of recent years.

Stocks had slumped $1 to $3 a share in the first few minutes of trading, in response to extreme nervousness of European markets, but buyers swarmed into the market at the end of the first half hour.

Losses were quickly recovered, many stocks jumped $1 to $4 above yesterday's final prices, and the volume of trading sent the ticker in arrears. The British pound sterling recovered in foreign exchange dealings.

Wallace Is Invited To Visit Cotton Farmers 'In The Field'

AUSTIN, Sept. 28 (AP) — An invitation for Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to visit Texas cotton farmers "in the field" to get a true picture of what they think of the administration's farm program sped to the cabinet officer today.

From Ralph W. Moore of Granger, master of the Texas Grange and critic of the farm program, it was sent to Fort Worth where Wallace will speak at an interstate farm meeting Sept. 30.

Not In Largest Hotels

In an open letter Moore told Wallace: "I do not believe you will get this picture in the largest hotels and metropolitan centers of the cotton sections. The groups who will attend your meetings in such places will be only the farmers who endorse your program."

Meanwhile J. E. McDonald, Texas agriculture commissioner who has sharply criticized the administration program planned additional speeches in behalf of the domestic allotment plan for cotton production. The proposal would provide a federal subsidy on cotton grown for domestic consumption and authorize unlimited production for sale at world prices as against the present plan of restricted acreage with rewards for compliance and penalties for non-compliance.

McDonald said he would speak at Nacogdoches and Carthage Oct. 8, Clarksville Oct. 10, Corsicana Oct 11 and Bellville Oct. 12.

Mediation Board On Rail Strike To Start Its Work On Friday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) —A three-man board selected by President Roosevelt will begin an effort Friday to avert the threatened nation-wide railroad strike.

The three commissioners and representatives of both the employes and the carriers have agreed, it was announced today, to begin presentation of testimony at 10 a. m. (Eastern standard time) Friday.

Officials said the hearings should last about three weeks, leaving ten days thereafter to prepare recommendations for settling the controversy, for submission to President Roosevelt.

Negotiation and mediation having failed, the board will attempt to formulate a compromise which President Roosevelt can ask both sides to accept.

Children Take In The Fair

first bus loads from Plains where Superintendent Taylor had declared a full holiday. Estimates were that more than 200 were here from Amherst, Andrews, New Lynn, two from Wellman, three from Meadow, Sligo, Pluvanna, five from Whitharral, two from Floydada, four from Anton, Robertson, Gomez, McAdo, two from Fieldton, Pep, Seminole and at least half a dozen others which were without identifying marks.

Weather conditions could not have been better suited to the occasion. The sun was shining but the mid-day temperature clung to the relatively comfortable recording of 83 degrees.

What the day's attendance may total is the wildest of guess-work. There is no guessing, however, in the statement that it will be the biggest day of the fair from standpoint of attendance; that the aggregate will approximate 40,000 at tthe smallest; and that an all-time attendance record in the 25 years history of the fair may be broken. The present record of 47,390 was established on Children's day in 1935. The turnout last year numbered 44,540.

THURSDAY'S PROGRAM

Special day for Ralls, Petersburg, Crosbyton, Lorenzo, Plainview, Anton, Sudan, Olton, Levelland, Amherst, Morton, Bledsoe and Lehman.

9 a. m.—Grounds and all exhibits open.

Judging of Guernsey and Holstein cattle and of Poland China swine in arena north of livestock barns.

1 p. m.—Wheeley carnival midway in full operation.

3:30 p. m. — Horse races and Senior High school band concert at grandstand.

7 p. m. — Boy Scout program at bandstand.

8 p. m.—Rodeo, exhibition by "Ramsey Flying Clouds", fireworks display and band concert at grandstand.

Schools Dismiss Again

Further contributing to the prospective gate are the facts that Lubbock schools will dismiss at noon and that the day has been dedicated especially to the residents of 15 South Plains towns. Those towns are Slaton, Southland, Post, Tahoka, Lamesa, Brownfield, O'Donnell, Plains, Seagraves, Seminole, Gail, Ropesville, Wilson, Meadow and Wolfforth.

Children are admitted to the grounds free, nearly 100,000 tickets having been distributed to school superintendents, county farm agents on recent good will trips to publicize the fair.

Attendance Lower Tuesday

The admission, however, does not include the grandstand. Fair association officials explained that the cost of the race meet and the rodeo will not permit the courtesy of free admission to those events.

Attendance at the fair Tuesday, the official Lubbock day, was officially reported at 17,718, comparing with 20,322 on the same day last year. Attendance for the two days has totaled 29,330, as compared with 31,057 in 1937.

Rodeo Is Great Attraction

The rodeo further established itself as an even greater fair feature than had been anticipated when it high-lighted Tuesday's program, which was dedicated to the residents of Lubbock, Idalou and Shallowater.

Lubbock participated in the day's program in a big way. Most of the business district was under lock and key through the afternoon. Schools likewise were recessed. The result was a grandstand crowd which approached capacity, and then a jammed carnival midway.

Shorty Matlock of Clovis and Jack Hitson of Tularosa, N. M., stole a generous share of the individual honors in the night's rodeo events, Matlock placing first in calf roping in the fast time of 15 seconds, and Hitson taking top money in bulldogging in the relatively faster time of 21.3 seconds. Hitson's time was 3.7 seconds faster than the best on opening night.

Jack Young Is Second

Jack Young of Crane was second in calf roping and Brown Todd of Water Valley was third.

In bulldogging, Hobart Flowers of Duncan, Okla., was second and Adolph Abner of Beaumont was third.

Johnny Williams of Fort Worth, Dude Colbert of Jumbo, Okla., and Eddie Cane, address not given, were one-two-three in bronc riding.

Roman Riding Jump

Marvin and Ray Ramsey appeared in a spectacular Roman riding jump. Ray Ramsey and his mount, White Cloud, then appeared in their dramatic tableaux, "Tragedy of the Plains." Both acts went over big with the crowd.

A loser who won in the rodeo was Charles Brodnax, only casualty of the contests thus far. His shoulder was injured, not seriously, when thrown from a bronc Monday night. He was announced Tuesday night as the winner of a cowboy hat offered by Leslie B. Lynch to the performer experiencing the worst luck.

The rodeo performance, taken as a whole, was considerably faster than on Monday night, and M. B. Panning, secretary, said that it should be even better tonight. The grounds were thoroughly sprinkled, laying the dust which was an objectionable feature opening night.

Early morning crowds at the judging arenas were small as C. N. Shepardson, of the animal husbandry department of Texas A. & M. college began selection of prize winning Jerseys. Only a few were on hand at the arena north of the cattle barn when he opened at 9 o'clock.

R. N. McClain, Terry county agent and division superintendent, said competition would be stiff in his group. Joe Christian is his assistant.

Mowery Judging Hogs

In the livestock barn, Ray C. Mowery, associate professor of animal husbandry at Texas Technological college, cast a critical eye over the Hampshire hogs.

Competition in this group is particularly keen this year. Late in the day Spotted Poland Chinas will be judged.

Douglas Pounds is show superintendent and Richard Moseley, assistant.

R. E. Prewitt, secretary of the Panhandle Swine Breeders association is checking groups in which his association is interested in paying a part of the premiums.

POST SENDS BAND

A 56-piece band directed by Charles Kiker led Garza residents to the Panhandle-South Plains fair this morning in observation of Post day at the exposition. Numerous Garza persons were seen intersprinkled in the general attendance.

Unnecessary Surgery Said To Be Undermining Confidence

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Sept. 28.—Dr. J. J. Golub of New York told a section of the American Hospital association today that "poorly performed surgery when not indicated is not only stupidity or gross misconduct or both, but it borders on assault with a dangerous weapon and may be murder."

Dr. Golub, commissioner of Saratoga Springs (N. Y.) and director of the hospital for joint diseases of New York City, made this observation before the association's small hospital section.

"The rate of surgical operation is increasing faster than the population," he said, "the disproportion cannot be altogether a result of scientific advances enabling more accurate diagnosis and improved surgical techniques. There are other and disturbing causes."

Unnecessary surgery, he added, was imperiling the health and life of patients was undermining traditional public confidence in the medical profession and hospitals.

Dr. Golub named four causes for increased surgery: unethical practices and the lure of larger fees; the urge to operate; the haste to operate upon non-emergency conditions, and the surgeon's personality traits.

Dr. Golub suggested, in order to encourage alternatives to surgery, "an organization of regional consultation boards, which would serve all persons who are advised to submit to surgical operation." It would serve every income class.

Committees of the American Hospital association considered the important questions of hospital men's stand on the proposed national health program and the extension of group hospitalization.

The association's house of delegates referred the questions to the committee for further recommendation after lengthy debate at a convention session here yesterday and indications were that no steps would be taken without at least nominal approval of organized physicians.

President Roosevelt's second appeal to Hitler for peace.

"Any move by any government is considered by Italy with great attention," one official said. Further comment was lacking.

Calling Reserve Classes

The nation was said by usually well-informed sources today to have started calling to the service specialists of ten classes of reserves.

A few specialists in the classes, private sources said, had received notification cards individually, without public notice.

Italy was calm today, in the middle of the week which Premier Mussolini declared Monday would decide the fate of Europe. Italians went about their routine tasks like people who wanted to believe no catastrophe was impending.

Calling of specialists to the colors was not confirmed in military circles. Such action is a possible preliminary to general mobilization.

SEES IMPROVEMENT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Roper predicted today American business would continue to improve, especially if the European war threat fades away.

Leaders Will Hold Parley

program of "dealing with the dictators" that seemed shattered yesterday.

But if he makes too many concessions in their favor at Munich, where Hitler began his march to world power 15 years ago, he will risk a storm of opposition at home.

Powerful sections of England, although eager for peace, do not want to pay too big a price for it.

Among those who heard Chamberlain's words to parliament were Queen Mother Mary and diplomats of every country who could find space in the diplomatic gallery of the house of commons.

The invitation from Hitler for the Munich meeting came even as Chamberlain was telling a tense parliament of his apparently hopeless efforts to avert war.

He revealed that the fuehrer's invitation followed his own appeal to Mussolini to restrain the German leader and Il Duce's telephone communication to Berlin.

Chamberlain said that Hitler had agreed to postpone mobilization of the German army for 24 hours to permit the fateful Munich conference of the premiers to be held.

Millions Under Arms

While he talked the British fleet was mobilizing, millions of men were under arms in Britain, Germany, France, Italy and Czechoslovakia.

Just as Chamberlain concluded an hour and a half talk he was handed a penciled note by Sir John Simon, the home minister.

He read it, lifted his eyes from the paper and announced the invitation for him, Daladier and Mussolini to meet Hitler tomorrow.

The premier said:

"I need not say what my answer will be. I will go to see what I can do as a last effort."

Adjourns Until Monday

The house immediately adjourned until Monday as Chamberlain—making his momentous disclosure—ended speaking at 4:20 p. m. (10:20 a. m., E. S. T.)

The whole house and galleries stood and cheered madly.

"No member of the house will not feel his heart leap that the crisis is once more postponed," said Chamberlain in low tones as he concluded.

In a few lightning moments after Simon handed him the scrap of pencilled paper he painted the changed aspect of world affairs.

"Hitler has invited me, Mussolini and Daladier to Munich tomorrow morning," he cried.

"I need not say what my answer will be."

Discloses Postponement

Then he disclosed the 24-hour postponement of German mobilization and the fact that Mussolini had sent his Berlin ambassador to Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to ask Hitler to defer his use of force against the Czechoslovaks.

There was no indication that Czechoslovakia would be directly represented at Munich.

All this came after Chamberlain's electrifying break in his hour and a half somber speech.

He broke his words off to read the note and then said to the hushed house:

"I have something else to tell the house now."

And when he told it the time-worn commons became a bedlam of cheers.

Chamberlain disclosed that only today he had sent his message to Mussolini stating that he had made a last appeal to Hitler.

He told Il Duce he felt sure the dispute could be settled by discussion and asked him to help.

He said he told the Italian premier:

"I already have guaranteed that the Czechs promises (to cede the Sudetenland to Germany peaceably) shall be carried out and I feel confident of full agreement within a week."

From Paris came reports, current in diplomatic circles, that Premier Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia had resigned, and in Rome it was indicated that Mussolini had made Benes' retirement a condition of his acceptance of the role of mediator.

Daladier To Continue His Efforts For France, He Says

PARIS, Sept. 28 (AP) — Premier Edouard Daladier told his countrymen tonight he would continue at Munich tomorrow his efforts to save peace and safeguard the vital interests of France "with the backing of the whole nation."

In his broadcast, lasting only two minutes, the premier told of accepting the invitation of Adolf Hitler to meet him at Munich tomorrow, together with Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain and Premier Mussolini of Italy, in an effort to seek peace for Europe.

"You will understand that on the eve of such an important negotiation it is my duty to postpone the explanation which it was my intention to give you.

Thanks People Of France

"But before my departure I wish to address to the people of France my thanks for its attitude, replete with courage and dignity.

"I particularly wish to thank those French citizens who have been recalled to the colors for the coolness and determination of which they have given fresh proof.

"My task is a heavy one. Since the beginning of the troubles through which we are now passing I have not for a moment ceased to work with all my strength to preserve peace and the vital interests of France.

"I shall continue my efforts tomorrow with the full realization that I have the backing of the whole nation."

Before the dramatic announcement of the Munich conference Daladier had planned to make a full statement of France's position under the threat of war and his address was much briefer than had been planned.

Miss Maude Waldrop of Lubbock visited last week in Grand Saline, her former home, as the guest of Mrs. A. W. McNair and other friends.

Busy Program For Sons Of Legion Is Being Planned

A busy program is planned during the next year for Lubbock squadron of Sons of the American Legion which was organized less than a year ago.

Among the activities planned for the youths, acording to E. Kelley Nail, member of the sons' committee of Allen Bros. post of the Legion which is sponsor of the junior group, are enlargement of the drum and bugle corps, purchase of uniforms for the group, participation in the national baseball tournament and participation in the 1939 Legion convention in Waco.

Had Largest Charter Roll

History of the squadron thus far has been remarkable. It won official commendation from the recent state Legion convention and from state officers—notably Dr. W. J. Danforth of Fort Worth, immediate past state commander.

The squadron was organized with a charter membership of 126, the largest in the history of the Texas department. Its present membership is the second largest in the state. The drum and bugle corps, although considerably less than a year old, placed fourth among the 10 competing in the recent state convention. Lubbock's boys also placed second, less than one percentage point out of first place, in daily camp inspections in the encampment arranged for their benefit at the convention.

Plan Flashier Uniforms

The corps is made up of 48 members, directed by Travis Calvin, to whom Nail gives most of the credit for the record made by the group. The uniforms consist of white trousers and shirt. Something flashier is planned soon if the boys show sufficient interest.

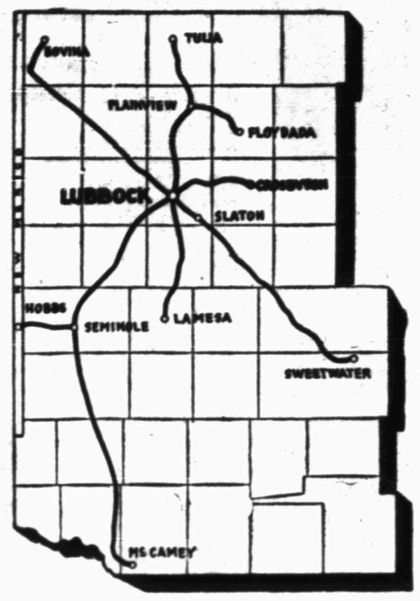

Nail expressed the belief that Lubbock's team will have a chance to "go places" in the baseball tournament. Material is excellent, he said. Climaxing event of the national tournament is a junior world series when champions east and west of the Mississippi river clash.

Cash Income To Texas Farmers Shows Drop During August

AUSTIN, Sept. 28 (AP) — Cash income to Texas farmers dropped nearly 50 per cent in August as compared to the same month last year, the University of Texas bureau of business research reported today.

Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director, said income was approximately $40,000,000 compared to $77,000,000 a year ago. It was caused chiefly by a decline in cotton marketing and lower prices for this commodity, he added.
