US Marines Launch Major Viet Assault

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines launched a major assault today on a peninsula along the South China Sea, but at day's end reported no major contact with Communist guerrillas.

At the same time, a U.S. military spokesman in Saigon reported that a U.S. Marine unit Sunday had used tear gas as the "most harmless method" to remove women and children from tunnels where Viet Cong suspects were believed hiding.

The civilians — along with the Communist suspects — were removed from tunnels and caves near Qui Nhon, 260 miles northeast of Saigon, the spokesman said. He said they suffered nothing more than crying from the effects of the tear gas.

Of today's big assault, 20 miles south of Chu Lai, on the Batangan peninsula, a Marine spokesman said:

"We have not located any of the Viet Cong units reported in the area. Indications are right now they may have gone."

A Vietnamese unit, operating south of the Marines, was reported earlier in contact with the Viet Cong. Helicopters were ferrying Vietnamese wounded to the Da Nang military hospital.

The spokesman in Saigon, meanwhile, described the tear gas as "CN, just old-fashioned tear gas that affects the eyes and makes people cry." He said 48 cannisters, one of them a dud, were used.

The spokesman said the commander of the Marine battalion involved was said to have called for the use of tear gas on his own authority. The spokesman said he did not know why the commander had taken the action, adding that he may not have been aware of a policy against the use of tear gas or any other gas in Viet Nam.

Controversy arose here last March when it was disclosed that U.S. and Vietnamese military forces had been experimenting with various nonlethal gases. These involved gases that produced nausea and vomiting. Only a few of these experiments were carried out and from information available they were not too successful. It is believed they were abandoned after it was reported that such experiments had been made and it was officially stated that use of gas of any type would be against U.S. policy here.

The spokesman said American troops are issued tear gas as part of their basic equipment, but that permission to use it is supposed to come from highest authority.

The assault on the Batangan peninsula was launched with support of gunfire from ships of the U.S. Navy's 7th Fleet.

More Rain Delays Rescue Try

ZION NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP) — Park rangers, ready to enter Zion Narrows gorge this morning to rescue 21 stranded persons, were delayed for the second straight day when the Virgin River rose after more rain Monday night.

The park's lookout service reported .40 inch rain fell during the night.

Five Californians who disappeared while hiking out early Monday remained unaccounted for.

Two 16-year-old Utah boys swam and waded out late Monday and said the stranded party included four children between 5 and 9 years old and more than 10 women and children. The boys said all were safe, but provisions were running low.

Forty-two persons were missing under the gorge's towering walls three days ago when the Virgin River flashed through the bottom of Zion's deep and narrow crack in the southern Utah desert after a storm.

Sixteen have found their way out.

The two Utah boys — Mark Richsteig of Cedar City and Scott Atkin of Bountiful — said the five missing Californians left a gorge-bottom camp early Monday.

Tickets For Banquet On Sale Here

Tickets went on sale today for the annual teacher-businessmen's banquet scheduled for the night of Sept. 13.

The ticket sales committee met this morning for a breakfast session at the 66 Cafe, and tickets were distributed to salesmen who will be contacting businessmen through the remainder of the week.

The tickets sell for $3 each and all proceeds will be used to defray expenses for the banquet. Teachers and administrators in the school system will be guests of the businessmen at the banquet.

Harold Bennett and Bob Crowell are co-chairmen of the ticket sales committee, and assisting them are Rayburn Burgess and Dr. Robert Clinton.

The banquet meal will be served in the high school cafeteria beginning at 7 p.m. Sept. 13. A banquet program will follow in the high school auditorium.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Daniel R. Davies, vice-president of the Consulting Division for Research and Development, Croft Educational Services, New London, Conn. Dr. Davies is serving as special consultant to the Snyder Board of Education on school board policies and administrative regulations for the school system here.

Wednesday Service For Mrs. Greene

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Dunn Baptist Church for Mrs. Janie A. Greene, 70, who died at 5:45 p.m. Monday in Snyder Hospital.

Mrs. Greene, who was born in Blairsville, Ga., on Nov. 28, 1894, was married to J. A. Greene in 1923 and they moved to Scurry County in 1934, making their home in the Dunn community.

The Rev. Shelby Jones and the Rev. Cone Merritt will officiate at the funeral service. Burial will be in the Dunn Cemetery under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Greene is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Othal Ellis of Snyder and Mrs. Louis Ashley of Ira; a stepson, Robert Greene of Hermleigh; three sisters, Miss Mamie Dockery and Mrs. Jack Swofford, both of Dallas, and Mrs. Johnny Jones of Mesquite; two brothers, Sherman Dockery and Mark Woody, both of Dallas and seven grandchildren.

Bombs Widen Kashmir War

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian and Pakistani bombers carried the war to large cities in both countries today as the conflict spread 1,000 miles across the subcontinent to areas along the border between India and East Pakistan.

The Pakistani air force claimed destruction of 46 Indian planes, including 24 today in an air battle over Sargodha, 250 miles south of Rawalpindi, and in raids on Indian air bases.

Official Pakistani sources in Rwalpindi said the Indian air force attacked early today at Rawalpindi and Karachi, in West Pakistan, and at Dacca, Chittagong, Kurmi, Kurmitola, Jessore and Lalmunirhat, all in East Pakistan. Few details were available.

India said its bombers attacked Chaklala airbase at Rawalpindi, Pakistan's capital, but a Pakistani spokesman there said no bombs fell on military areas.

Pakistani radio broadcasts said the Indians also hit Karachi, the nation's biggest city and the major seaport in West Pakistan, and Dacca and Chittagong, on the other side of India in East Pakistan.

An official Indian announcement said Pakistani planes hit "civilian areas" in Amritsar, largest city in Punjab State, and Kalaikunda airbase at Calcutta.

New Delhi claimed its fighters beat Pakistan's air force in air battles over wide areas of the subcontinent and destroyed nine American - made planes flown by Pakistani pilots — two F104 supersonic jet fighters, six American Sabre Jets, and one B57 bomber.

India said it lost eight planes but had turned back many Pakistani attacks.

In ground combat, India acknowledged it was meeting "increasing resistance." Pakistan claimed it had halted India's tank-infantry invasion of West Pakistan which crossed the international frontier at dawn Monday.

Lahore, Pakistan's second largest city 15 miles from the frontier, appeared to be the target of the Indian invasion.

Pakistani paratroopers dropped deep behind the Indian lines in Punjab during the night, and more followed them this morning. Their mission appeared to be destruction of roads and communication lines 100 miles or more behind the frontier, perhaps in preparation for a massive conventional ground attack across the border.

Pakistan Appeal Skirted By US

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States shied away from Pakistan's appeal for help today from its CENTO Allies and clung to its neutralist peacemaker role in the growing conflict between Pakistan and India.

The Johnson administration undoubtedly will have to review U.S. aid programs to the two countries if the conflict is prolonged, officials said privately. These programs represent the chief source of leverage available to President Johnson in pushing a peace policy on the warring governments.

U.S. officials said they had no information on Red China's intentions with respect to the fighting which has exploded out of the 17-year-old dispute between India and Pakistan over Kashmir. The assumption was that the Peking regime, which has established close ties with Pakistan in the last two years, will exploit every opportunity to make trouble for India.

Peking broadcast a government statement today accusing India of launching a sudden "armed attack" on Pakistan.

The Soviet government, U.S. officials assume, is probably as interested as the U.S. government in finding some way to end the fighting.

Pakistani Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto announced today he was invoking the Central Treaty Organization defense commitment in order to get support for his country's forces. He directed his appeal to U.S. Ambassador Walter P. McConaughy.

The appeal embarrassed U.S. policymakers. Even though the United States is not technically a member of CENTO, it is committed to support the organization and its purposes. CENTO was described by its sponsors in the Eisenhower administration as a barrier against Soviet Communist expansion into the Middle East. The original members were Britain, Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan. The United States financed the project and joined the committees of the organization.

Pakistan is in practical fact a U.S. ally through both CENTO and the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. Officials said today that U.S. policy always had considered both treaties as commitments against Communist expansion in Asia and the Middle East and never believed that either one would apply in the case of a struggle as in the present dispute over Kashmir.

Wild Winds, Giant Tides

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Betsy sat astride Nassau today, giving the world-famed resort city a terrible beating with 135-mile-an-hour winds and massive tides, and south Floriday was warned that it might be in for days of anxiety.

A shortwave radio report picked up by the Miami Weather Bureau at 9 a.m. said winds had risen to 135 miles an hour in Nassau.

Otherwise, a communications blackout caused by widespread power failure hid the fate of Nassau and other Bahamas islands battered by the vicious and abnormal tropic storm.

Although Betsy was stationary, her gale winds were spreading outward closer to the Floriday coast. Gusts reached 60 miles an hour at Miami and were expected to increase gradually.

"Florida is in for a long seige," said Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster at Miami. "We must be reconciled to a prolonged period of warnings and threats. Betsy may be around for several days."

An advisory at 11 a.m. placed the storm center 190 miles due east of Key Largo in Florida.

As wind and wave increased in the Florida Keys, the civil defense organization warned residents that if they wanted to get out, they had better go fast. Water was rising to the road level on U.S.1. at some points.

The highway is the only exit from the Keys by car.

By 9 a.m., Nassau's 50,000 residents had experienced the brutal force of hurricane winds more than eight hours. And with Betsy standing still, nobody could tell how many more hours of savage punishment the Bahamian capital would have to endure.

Thrashing about in the aimless fashion that has marked the freakish storm since its birth Aug. 27, Betsy hovered close enough to the densely populated southeast coast of Floriday to rake it with winds gusting at 40 miles an hour.

"All interests in extreme south Florida must be reconciled to a prolonged threat from this slow-moving hurricane," the Weather Bureau said in a 9 a.m. bulletin.

"The center of the hurricane will likely be as close or even nearer Miami tomorrow morning than it is today. It seems probable that hurricane warnings must be continued for another 36 hours or possibly even longer."

Power failure knocked out communications at Nassau at 1 a.m. (EST) when the Miami Weather bureau received its final word — that winds had risen to an 80-mile-an-hour pitch and seas around the island were going wild.

Early this morning, forecasters said Nassau, a city of 50,000 persons, had vanished on radar into the 40-mile wide eye of the hurricane or into the cloud wall of the eye, and Betsy had come to a stop.

It was in the eye wall, the area of a hurricane's most frightening turbulence, it could be taking the sledgehammer blows of winds up to 150 miles an hour.

If it was within the eye itself, it would be experiencing a period of calm before being hit again by the winds of the hurricane's other side.

At 7 a.m., Betsy had stood still for two hours, with the eye 20 miles northeast of Nassau.

Silence hung over Abaco, second largest of the Bahamas islands, after Monday's pounding by 147-mile-an-hour winds and towering tides, and over the island of Eleuthera.

South Floridians boarded up Monday after Betsy headed this way.

Hurricane warning flags still flew from Palm Beach on the Florida east coast down to the tip of the Florida Keys, and across the state to Everglades City.

Gale warnings were displayed from Palm Beach northward to Cape Kennedy and on Florida's Gulf Coast from Everglades City north to Punta Gorda.

Small Turnout In Texas Balloting

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associatd Press Writer

Relatively small numbers of Texans voted today to decide whether the state Senate shall be composed of 31 or 39 members.

The ballot total was expected to run less than 200,000—about 10 per cent of those eligible.

The proposed constitutional amendment plainly was an effort to prevent a loss in representation in Austin by smaller cities and rural areas and to preserve the jobs of seven senators.

Legislators redistricted the state earlier this year under the constitutional provision for 31 senators. Courts forced this step by ruling that representation must be in proportion to population.

In recent years the population shift has been to the cities, meaning they gained representation while less heavily populated areas lost.

Redistricting under the 31-member law would cause 13 present senators to run for six seats, provided all sought office again in 1966.

Should the 39-member expansion be approved by voters, a special session of the legislature would be required to draw new district lines.

Lawmakers felt they could redraw the lines at leisure if the constitutional amendment were approved.

During the weekend, however, some lawyers said in their opinion the Senate will cease to exist Sept. 24 if the measure passes today and the legislature fails to redistrict by that date. Sept. 24 is the time for the certifying the vote.

This legal interpretation was disputed in quarters which held that the Texas Constitution prevents the Senate from being dissolved.

As voters cast ballots, the question of the timing for a special session had not been decided.

The issue would seem to pit big city voters against rural and small city residents but no such conflict developed, at least on the surface. Some big city senators and some metropolitan newspapers announced they favor a 39-member Senate.

Those who favor the amendment, in addition to their view that less populated areas should retain strong representation, say 39 members would lessen the work load in the busy Senate.

Opponents warned big city voters that they have won their proper representation in the already approved 31-member redistricting. They said the outcome of a special session to create 39 districts is uncertain and cities could lose relative strength.

Labor Day May Set Death Record

By The Associated Press

The number of deaths on the nation's roads may have set a record for the extended Labor Day holiday.

The record, set during the 1963 extended holiday, was 557 traffic deaths.

With belated reports expected to raise the total still higher, the number of highway deaths during the 78-hour period ended at midnight Monday stood at 555. Last year, 531 died in traffic accidents during the same holiday.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 500 to 600 persons might lose their lives in traffic accidents during the holiday period which started at 6 p.m. (local time) Friday. A spokesman said the heavy toll Monday and late reports of a train crash near Raymondville, deaths could set a record toll.

In other accidents over the weekend, 25 persons lost their lives in boating mishaps and 41 persons drowned for an over-all total of 604.

The nation's worst accident during the holiday period killed seven persons, all under 21, near Madison, Wis., Sunday. Four persons, also under 21, died in a two-car crash near Lake Geneva, Wis., Monday for a total of 17 killed in four accidents in Wisconsin over the weekend.

Five persons lost their lives in a two-car crash in Philadelphia Monday, the fourth multiple fatality accident in Pennsylvania during the holiday period. Eleven persons died in two crashes in Texas, including a father and his four children in southern Mexico's Guerrero state.

Thirty Killed In Mexico Bus Mishap

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A bus careened off a rural road Monday and burned, killing 30 persons near Teloloapan in southern Mexico's Guerrero state.

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Connally appointed three men today to the State Finance Commission for terms expiring Feb. 1, 1971.

They are V. F. Neuhaus of Mission, president of the Citizens State Bank of Donna; J. Bain at Stockdale and C. E. Jene Savings Association.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my boy friend. He and I have been going together for a year. He says I'm the girl he wants to marry, but first he wants a "taste of life." When I counter with the same general idea, he says he is not at all for that. he loves me and doesn't want to lose me. I really don't care to go with other guys, but I just want to get him to change his mind about getting a taste of life. How come if it's okay for him, it's not okay for me?

MAGGIE

DEAR MAGGIE: Ask him to tell you what it takes to satisfy his appetite. And if he expects you to live without it, so can he.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: The question is this: Are married children at liberty to return to their parents' home with their families and regard their parents only as servants? Our married daughter visits us with her husband and children every summer. When she was single we would give in to her to keep peace. But we expected her to mature after marriage. If anything, she's worse now. Our home has looked like a cyclone struck it from the moment they unpacked. Our daughter sleeps until noon and I am expected to look after her children. Last night we had a big blowup when Dad and I tried to explain that they were welcome if they waited on themselves. Our son-in-law exploded all over us. He is an obnoxious loudmouth and our daughter is afraid to open her mouth except to agree with him. How do we handle this delicate situation without alienating them entirely?

GROWING GRAYER

DEAR GROWING: By "giving in" to your daughter when she was younger and should have been learning respect for elders, you won the peace, but lost the war. It's much too late to train her. Either you must continue to give in, or give up hope of entertaining your daughter and her family except on her terms.

DEAR ABBY: I am 30, married (happily), have four children, all healthy, average kids, thank heavens. My husband is a good husband, father and provider, but he travels so much! He is gone all week and comes home only for week-ends. Here is my problem: I think I am an alcoholic, or could easily become one. I've tried to cut down on my drinking but I seem to have less and less will power. When my husband is home, I have no trouble controlling my drinking, but the minute he leaves I seem to need it. I don't want to worry my husband about this. He has enough on his mind with his job and being a father on week-ends when he's home. The thing that scares me the most is that when my kids need me, I am "out." I can't confide in anyone about this. How can I handle it without worrying my husband? I am

AFRAID OF MYSELF

DEAR AFRAID: Call ALCOHOLOICS ANNONYMOUS. They are listed in your telephone directory. Someone who has faced this problem, and knows it well, will call on you. If letters from my readers mean anything, I know of no more sincere, selfless and dedicated group of people. You owe it to yourself and your children to try it.

Steel Stocks' Early Gain Melts Away

NEW YORK (AP) — Steels were soft in a stock market which had difficulty clinging to a slight gain on average early this afternoon.

Following weekend news of agreement to settle the steel labor dispute, most major steel shares were ahead slightly in early trading. The small gains melted, however, and the group headed lower.

Worry about the cost of the new labor agreement was cited as a factor in the decline of steels.

Motors held on to their uptrend which was established at the start but electrical equipments backed away from initial gains and traded lower.

Scattered strength among chemicals, building materials, rails, utilities and nonferrous metals helped keep the averages in plus territory.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .2 at 336.8 with industrials up 1, rails up .2 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.54 at 909.51.

From a fractional gain, U.S. Steel sank to a net loss of about a point. Jones & Laughlin was down well over a point. Bethlehem eased.

General Motors held a gain of about a point. Ford, Chrysler, and Studebaker were ahead fractionally.

Castle & Cooke were unchanged at 39¾ on a block of 18,000 shares.

Prices were slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged. Trading was light.

Picnickers Discover Two Men's Bodies

ASHFORK, Ariz. (AP)—Picnickers stumbled Monday onto the bodies of two young men, shot to death with their hands tied behind their backs.

The victims, in their mid-20s, each had been shot twice. Investigators said one of the men had been beaten severely on the head.

A physician estimated they had been dead 12 to 18 hours. No identification or money was found on the bodies, about 75 feet apart in a remote area of cedar trees and rocks seven miles east of Ashfork.

Hometown Honors Youngest Astronaut

CHAPMAN, Kan. (AP)—Capt. Joe Engle, at 33 the nation's youngest astronaut, was honored Monday by his hometown of Chapman.

The Air Force officer, his wife, and their two small children, occupied the lead float in a parade. A crowd estimated at 10,000 watched.

Princess Has Role In Homemade Movie

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret, Lord Snowdon and comedian Peter Sellers have taken part in a slapstick homemade movie, the London Daily Sketch reported Monday.

The report said the princess and her husband did a song and dance routine.

US Prepares To Evacuate Its Citizens

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials were making emergency preparations today to get about 3,000 Americans out of the areas of Pakistan-Indian fighting if it becomes necessary to issue an evacuation order as requested.

In India, Americans were warned to keep a safe distance from any areas of Pakistani-Indian fighting.

State Department press officer Joseph W. Reap said there are about 900 Americans in Lahore, Pakistan's second largest city, which over the weekend became the target of a broad Indian military offensive.

Reap said most of the 900 are officials connected with U.S. government programs. Northwest of Lahore, about 2,000 Americans are helping to build a large dam.

If an evacuation order is issued the Americans would be moved out of the Lahore area by air if possible, Reap said. Otherwise the exodus would be by overland transportation to Rawalpindi, Pakistan's temporary capital.

Washington was having no trouble in keeping in touch with the U.S. embassies in India and Pakistan, Reap reported.

The press officer said Secretary of State Dean Rusk called in Pakistan's Ambassador Ghulam Ahmed and India's Ambassador B. K. Nehru for separate sessions Monday night and told them that a war between the two nations "could be a disastrous situation for that part of the world."

Harriman Believes Policy Is Popular

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—U.S. Special Ambassador W. Averell Harriman said Monday night that most Americans stand squarely behind President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

The 74-year-old roving envoy told newsmen that the President's policies "are supported by an overwhelming majority of Congress and an overwhelming majority of the American people. Some accounts suggesting differently in the press are just not true."

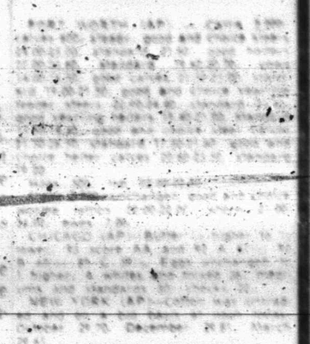

Students Serve To Holiday Motorists

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — High School seniors spent several hours handing out free coffee and doughnuts to holiday motorists on Interstate 90 Monday.

The teen-agers thought up the project themselves, class officers said, and went to local merchants for donations.

Some 1,200 travelers were served refreshments in a 10-hour period at rest areas on the freeway.

Many Injured In Milwaukee Blast

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — At least 45 persons were injured as two explosions splintered homes in a near-downtown neighborhood Monday night.

The second blast sprayed glass and debris on a crowd of spectators which had gathered after the first explosion crumpled a two-story frame home.

Fire Chief James R. Moher said escaping natural gas probably caused the blasts. A Milwaukee Gas Light Co. spokesman said instruments detected a concentration of gas in the air.

There were no fatalities. Most of the injured were released after treatment and all those hospitalized were listed in satisfactory condition.

Elder Kennedy Said In Good Spirits

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) —Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, described in "very good spirits and enjoying himself," had two parties Monday in celebration of his 77th birthday.

In the afternoon, the 24 Kennedy grandchildren sang "Happy Birthday" and gave their presents to the father of President John F. Kennedy.

In the evening, the Kennedy children, along with Kennedy's wife, Rose, gave another party.

Among those on hand were Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, Steven Smith and their wives.

THE GLOWING femininity of today's fashion movement is evident in every bow and ruffle of a double knit collection for Fall. The neckline dives to a deep V, where a bow marks the final interruption before the line of the dress plunges free and loose to the hem. Ruffles at the sleeves add to the feminine design.

Square Level Trap

SQUARE'S PROGRESS. By Wilfrid Sheed.

Dreadfully clever, this Sheed. He has a real knack with words. Trouble is, he becomes so engrossed in demonstrating his skill that whatever small social satire might be swathed in his novel gets obscured by the cleverness.

The story is in the category of suburbia's marital disintegration, which isn't exactly a fresh theme. Possibly for the sake of variety, Sheed has set his suburbia in New Jersey, which is an odd choice. Certainly he must know that the formula specifies either Westchester or Fairfield County.

Anyway, there is this kind of stupid commuter named Fred Cope, who isn't very high in the pecking order at his desk in the insurance office. And there's his wife, Alison, who at least has the grace to know that Fred is a creep. But she goes into the cliche of trotting home to mamma.

So bumbling Fred stumbles around looking for her in Greenwich Village, of all places, and by accident winds up in Spain. It seems they have beatniks in Iberia, too, and square Fred doesn't dig the stereotyped beats.

Come to think of it, Sheed might be one up on us readers. Is he really making another suburban satire? Or is he burlesquing all the other thousands of same? Could an author with such a facile skill in word-slinging give us a straight sell? Shucks, does it matter?

Tomatoes With Corn And Celery

1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes
1 cup whole kernels cut from fresh uncooked corn
1 cup diced celery
1 to 2 tablespoons butter
1 to 2 tablespoons flour
Salt and pepper to taste

In a saucepan, gently cook the tomatoes, corn and celery until the corn is tender and celery still crisp — about 5 minutes. Blend together 1 tablespoon butter and 1 tablespoon flour; add to tomato mixture; cook and stir constantly until thickened. If you wish vegetables thicker, blend and add another tablespoon each of butter and flour in the same way — thickness depends in part on how much tomatoes are broken up. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 6 servings.

Johnson Returns To Desk: Keeps Eye On Pakistan

By FRANK CORMIER

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson ends a holiday stay at his ranch today, his attention focused on the fighting in Pakistan and India.

Johnson has been keeping in close touch with the situation through telephone conferences with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg and others.

Spending much of Labor Day on an auto tour of his ranch properties — Johnson signed the $3.3 billion foreign aid authorization bill.

In line with congressional recommendations, he announced an administration review of aid efforts with the aim of making them more effective.

He said he expects to ask Congress next year to authorize a multi-year program, rather than seek again a year's spending authority.

The spending authorization he signed covers the fiscal year that began July 1. The money still must be appropriated.

Johnson also signed a bill paving the way for establishment of a library to house his official papers when he leaves office. This will be built on the University of Texas campus in Austin, 50 miles east of here.

The President telephoned birthday greetings to Miss Ida Fuller, 91, in Ludlow, Vt. Miss Fuller in 1939 became the first American to receive a monthly Social Security benefit check.

Johnson arranged a further birthday surprise, sending her the first check to cover retroactive increases in benefits voted recently by Congress.

Monday night, the President went out on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson in his 18-foot speedboat. The sky was cloudy and few boats were in sight. A security helicopter hovered over the President's boat.

Later, the President took the wheel of an automobile that operates both on land and water and drove it briefly on the lake.

The President's press office made these further announcements today:

— Rapid progress is being made in converting former President Herbert Hoover's birthplace at West Branch, Iowa into a national shrine. Johnson on Aug. 12 signed legislation making this a national historical site.

— Johnson has been told by the Budget Bureau that economy programs by civilian agencies in the 18 months ended June 30 produced savings of more than $1.1 billion. He said, "There is always room for further improvement."

— The 12 months ended June 30 produced the worst spate of natural disasters on record. Johnson declared 29 major disasters during the period and allocated $86 million of disaster relief funds — nearly double the amount earmarked in the preceding 12 months.

— The now-defunct Area Redevelopment Agency loaned and spent nearly $1.2 billion from its establishment on May 1, 1961 until last Tuesday, when it was succeeded by the new Economic Development Administration.

— John L. McGruder, director of the Office of Emergency Transportation, will represent the United States at a conference in Paris Sept. 21, on the emergency role of civil aviation in the 15 countries of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Heart Defect Was Threat To Contestant

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Maria Elizabeth Mushro, the 19-year-old beauty representing Iowa in the Miss America pageant, faced death six years ago because of a heart defect.

The Morningside College junior says she wants to win the title so she can contribute to heart research.

Miss Mushro was born with a heart defect.

"The doctor said I had a hole in my heart and that I probably would not live very long," she said in an interview. "I wasn't able to lead a normal life until 1959."

Sixteen doctors and nurses performed a six-hour-long operation on Miss Mushro then at Iowa City University Hospital.

"The doctors," she said, "found not one, but two dime-sized holes in my heart and a collapsed valve.

"They said later that my heart was out of my body for 28 minutes while an electrical heart-lung machine took over the job of my heart.

"When I was named Miss Iowa, I vowed that if I won the Miss America contest, I would give half of my earnings to the American Heart Association."

Miss America of 1966, who will be chosen Saturday night, wins a $10,000 scholarship and personal appearance contracts which have earned the current queen, Vonda Kay Van Dyke, of Phoenix, Ariz., an estimated $80,000.

Miss Mushro, nicknamed "Trophy" by her family and friends, has sable brown hair, brown eyes and an olive complexion. She is of Syrian-Lebanese ancestry.

She stands 5 feet 5½ inches, weighs 118 pounds and measures 36-24-34.

Flood Waters Threaten West Omaha

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Thousands of Omahans tumbled out of their homes in the early morning hours today and fled for safety as rains of up to seven inches sent creeks over their banks and flooded lowlands in a large residential section of West Omaha.

More than a dozen evacuation centers were set up within hours to care for the displaced householders. Law enforcement agencies mobilized volunteers to help route traffic and rescue stranded persons.

These were typical of the reports of evacuees who congregated at the emergency shelters.

There were no immediate reports of flood deaths.

Ray Nielsen, in charge of the Civil Defense command post, said that at about 6:30 a.m., the most critical areas were in the southern and southwestern parts of the city.

"As far as we can tell everyone who has asked for evacuation is out and safe," he said. But he said there was no way of estimating how many people had been evacuated or the total percentage of the city's population of about 350,000 affected because of "the vast number of isolated areas involved."

The Civil Defense center listed at least three bridges out and one street out, in addition to others blocked by water. One of the closed streets was Dodge Street, a principal east-west artery which carries U.S. 30A through the city.

New York Teachers May Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's school system, scheduled to begin classes in six days, is faced with a threatened strike by its 48,000 teachers.

Mediators, teachers union representatives and Board of Education members met until early today seeking agreement on the issues that divide the teachers and the board.

The mediators reported progress but Albert Shanker, president of the AFL-CIO United Federation of Teachers, said, "The strike still is on, it looks like."

The union has vowed the nation's largest school system, with a million pupils, will not open on schedule Sept. 13 unless agreement is reached on a new two-year contract.

The federation is asking $100 million in salary increases and other benefits over the two years. It also wants smaller classes and more specialized instruction groups. The school board has publicly offered $16 million but sources close to the negotiations said a $45-million offer had been made at Monday's session.

There has been no breakdown on how the package would be divided but $45 million would mean $900 for each teacher. Current classroom teacher salaries range from $5,300 to $11,025. Average pay last year was $8,489.

Panel May Campaign For Natural Gas

By MAX SKELTON

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP) — The gas industry was asked today to form a committee to find means to offset gains by the electric industry.

The committee would direct an advertising campaign and allocate development funds for new and improved gas equipment and appliances.

The suggestion was made at the Independent Natural Gas Association of America convention.

The association is the policy making body for interstate gas pipelines but John Partridge of New York, president of the Columbia Gas Systems, said the committee on competition should include producers and distributors as well as pipeliners.

Partridge said the electric industry intends to heat 19 million homes by 1980. Gas now supplies 93 per cent of the home heating market, he said, but the figure would drop to 66 per cent if the electric industry succeeds.

"We need better hardware and appliances at lower initial cost," Partridge said. He also called for new gas equipment for use in the steel, glass and brass industries.

Partridge said 1963 advertising by the electric industry exceeded $81 million, compared to less than $30 million by the gas industry.

The gas program would be coordinated with similar efforts by other trade groups such as American Gas Association.

R. J. Rutherford of Worcester, Mass., said electric range shipments exceeded gas range shipments the first time in the first three months of 1965.

EQUALS '51 RECORD HIGH

Texas Leads Nation In Fatalities

By The Associated Press

Murderous traffic blighted the Labor Day weekend in Texas. Rushing changes in late totals put the Texas count recorded more violent deaths and more traffic fatalities than any other during the extended holiday.

Accidents on crowded Texas streets and highways snuffed out 46 lives and there were five drownings. California counted 41 traffic dead and three drowned. There were far fewer in all other states.

The 46 traffic deaths equalled the record set in 1951.

No attempt was made to keep track of how many were injured or to approximate the staggering property loss in dollars and cents.

The tally was kept on reports gathered by The Associated Press from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday.

These were among the latest victims:

An 18-month-old child drowned on his grandfather's farm in the Cash community, south of Greenville, Monday when he toddled into a pond. He was Richard Brown, son of Ancel Brown of Garland.

David Pennie, 82, was killed and another soldier injured Monday night in San Antonio when the car in which they were riding collided with an ambulance. Sgt. Thomas McDermott of Ft. Sam Houston suffered serious injuries.

Raymond Huffman, 50, of Greensboro, N.C., was killed Monday when the moving van he was driving hit a bridge on Interstate 20 near Big Spring. Police said a tire on the truck blew out.

Guy Mixon, 24, a [illegible] lawyer, and Charles Bolin, 40, a Fremont construction worker, were killed Monday in a two-car crash 20 miles northwest of Falfurrias. Mixon's wife, Barbara, 22, was injured.

Ryan Shivers, 29, of Houston was killed Monday when his pickup truck skidded on wet paving, hit a utility pole and burst into flames. His son Hank, 8, was critically injured. A second Shivers child was hurt less seriously.

Willie Edwards, 19, of Jacksonville was killed Monday when his car hit a tree in north Bowie County. Three others were hurt.

A one-car accident in Irving County killed Rufino Nix, 32, of Dallas, Texas 183 late Sunday [illegible] died Monday.

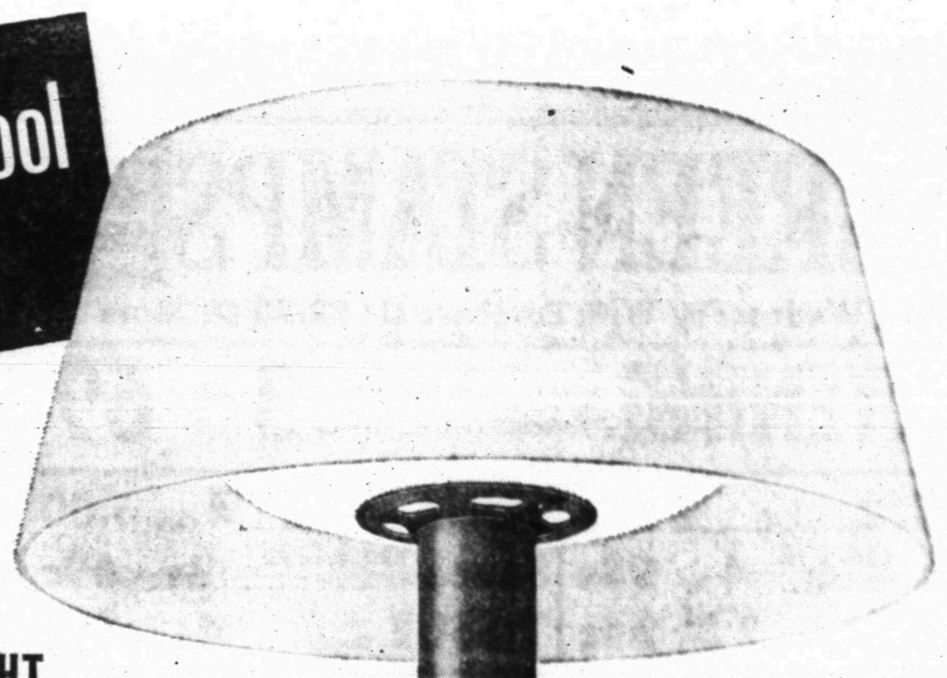

Mrs. Maria Schaefer, 57, of Slaton died Monday of injuries suffered in a car-truck accident 7 miles southeast of Lubbock on U.S. 84 Sunday night. Her husband Rudolf also was hurt.

Jesus Valdez Jr., 18, of Edinburg and Robert Castillo, 22, of Rio Bravo were killed Monday when their cars slammed together.

Wrangles Seen Over Farm Bill

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Labor Day behind it, Congress faces some long days this week with wrangles over a farm bill, a presidential veto and some big money appropriations.

Although there had been hopes, lawmakers would be on their way home by now, they have a long docket of major and minor bills — and controversies — that could well extend into October.

The House starts it out today with a dispute over its Armed Services Committee's decision not to stir up a fight over President Johnson's veto of a plan to strengthen Congress' hand in base-closing arguments with the Pentagon.

Instead, the committee worked out with the administration a milder, compromise version to require the Pentagon to give Congress a 30-day notice and a full report on future base shutdowns.

The compromise goes to the floor today, contained in a $1.78-billion military construction authorization, to face protests of some congressmen — including about six members of the committee.

Many of them would like to take a crack at overriding the veto, even though few believe the attempt would be successful.

The Senate is heading for a bigger battle over the farm bill, due to be taken up after action on $1.2 billion in supplementary funds for the Labor and Welfare departments.

The Senate Agriculture Committee set the stage for the fight last week.

It approved a measure not only drastically different from the one already approved by the House, but with wheat and cotton provisions vigorously opposed by the administration.

The committee also agreed unanimously to hook on another highly combustible provision already drawing fire, a plan aimed at making it cheaper for the Soviet Union to buy wheat from the United States.

The proposal would make it the sense of Congress that the government should scrap a requirement that half the wheat sales to the Soviet Union be shipped in U.S. merchant ships which charge rates higher than other nations.

The chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., expressed belief the Senate would accept the plan but questioned whether the House would without a sales pitch from Johnson.

As a sign of the trouble ahead, Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., charged the administration was embarking on a "feed the enemy" program through "behind-the-scenes administration plans to subsidize the Soviet Union through the sale of surplus wheat."

In addition to a variety of minor bills, the House is confronted, probably Wednesday, with the troublesome foreign aid appropriation. This year it has a $4.1-billion price tag.

KKK Suit Moved To Federal Court

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A fight to enjoin the Ku Klux Klan from anti-civil rights activities in Bogalusa, La., was before a federal court today.

The Justice Department suit against the secret Original Knights of the Ku Klux Klan was assigned to a special three-judge session. There were 38 defendants.

The suit said the Klan used assaults, threats and harassment to discourage Negroes from seeking constitutional rights—and has as its goal total segregation and white supremacy.

The Klan also brought pressure on public officials or business "who accord to seek to accord Negroes their rights," the suit said.

In Bogalusa, some 70 miles north of New Orleans, militant segregationists said defendants and friends would move to New Orleans in a motorcade.

Defendants hired Ocie Brown, a Baton Rogue lawyer and two of his associates to fight the case.

Brown also represents Ernest R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa, a white man charged with murder in the killing of Washington Parish's first Negro deputy, Oneal Moore, June 2.

Moore was killed by terrorists in a pickup truck who fired into his squad car as he and another Negro deputy were on patrol near Bogalusa. McElveen is free on bond.

Bogalusa, relatively quiet lately, had two demonstrations Monday. About 145 Negroes staged a protest march. Shortly afterward, about 3,000 whites gathered at the airport for a rally by the Bogalusa Anti-Communist Christian Association.

No incidents were reported.

Deaths In Canada Near Record High

TORONTO (AP)—At least 103 persons died in accidents in Canada during the Labor Day weekend, two more than last year and the second highest total on record.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, showed 87 persons died in traffic accidents, eight short of the Canadian Highway Safety Council prediction of 75.

There also were 10 drownings, 6 fire deaths and 20 deaths in unclassified mishaps.

When Johnny Longden won the 1964 Hollywood Derby it marked his fifth victory in the race.

INSURE WHAT YOU HAVE

STEEL INDUSTRY

Contract Insures 3-Year Peace

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The signatures are on a new contract and labor peace in the basic steel industry is guaranteed for 35 months.

The agreement, which was negotiated last week in Washington under constant prodding from President Johnson, was signed late Monday night by President I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers Union and chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper.

Although the contract has averted what Johnson said would have been an economy-jarring strike, it remains to be seen if it will lead to a general or selective increase in steel prices. The industry has given no inkling of its plans.

The pact, approved by the union's wage policy committee Sunday, provides an hourly increase of almost 50 cents in wages and benefits for about 150,000 steelworkers.

The settlement exceeded the White House wage guideline of 3.2 per cent a year. It is closer to 3.5 per cent.

Both Cooper and Abel were in good spirits for the signing ceremony in a downtown hotel. Cooper later attended a union party for about an hour. He shook hands with Abel, and the two men drank a toast to the new pact.

Just before the signing Cooper, an executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corp., told newsmen he was 62 and probably would never sign another contract.

Asked if he would be interested in the early retirement included in the agreement, Cooper replied: "If I could get $150 a month, I'd retire right now."

That is the amount steelworkers can now get after 30 years service. About 50,000 of them are eligible.

Cooper's salary with U.S. Steel, biggest of the 10 producers who signed the contract, is estimated at $100,000 a year.

The contract calls for immediate hourly pay boosts ranging from 10 to 19 cents, depending on job classification, and additional hourly boosts of 6 to 12 cents effective Aug. 1, 1967.

Improvements in vacations, medical benefits, life insurance and relocation pay for employes moving to another plant also were included.

A Small Lumber Producer Finds What Growth Can Do

By JIM ADAMS

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — From a company that had decided to give up a decade ago, Idaho's Boise Cascade Corp. has grown into one of America's top three lumber producers — and it is still growing.

In 1956 Boise Cascade sold lumber and building materials — $35 million worth. Now it turns trees into everything from safety paper for checkbooks to factory — built homes. Sales were over $271 million last year.

Robert V. Hansberger, the corporation's 44-year-old president, expects sales to top $400 million this year.

It all started after World War II when lumber companies that could afford it began turning wood scraps into pulp for paper.

The new pulp sideline brought high profits and the price of lumber went down. Small companies like the Boise Payette Lumber Co. that could not afford $10 million pulp mills decided to get out.

"Liquidate by '48" became Boise Payette's motto and when no one would buy — for the same reason the company wanted to sell — that motto became "all done by '51."

By 1956 there had been no takers. That was when Boise Payette hired Hansberger — then the 35-year-old executive vice president of an Oregon pulp and paper firm — as its president.

He lined up a merger with the Cascade Lumber Co. of Yakima, Wash., to tart a combine that could afford to build a pulp mill at Wallula, Wash. The merged company became Boise Cascade.

By 1958, Boise Cascade had established a cardboard shipping container plant at Burley, Idaho, the nation's center for frozen potato products, and was more than big enough to compete.

By that time, said Hansberger, "we had had an opportunity to see what growth can accomplish." Boise Cascade has been compounding its gains ever since.

Its 18 primary wood plants produce lumber, plywood and a line of building materials including laminated beams. Ten pulp and paper plants, including two in Guatemala and one in the Philippines, produce fine paper, kraft linerboard and newsprint.

Paper converting plants across the country make envelopes, bags, stationery and related paper products.

Junior Editors Quiz on RHYTHM

QUESTION: If our hearts beat and we breathe in a certain rhythm, why don't we swallow in rhythm, too?

• • •

ANSWER: Our hearts beat steadily (even if sometimes faster or slower) because of a mechanism built into the heart muscle, the "pacemaker," which controls its contractions without our conscious knowledge. We also breathe and swallow unconsciously, although we can temporarily interfere with these activities, like taking a long breath or swallowing unnecessarily. Breathing and swallowing are controlled by a center in that amazing part of the lower brain, the medulla oblongata, which keeps a number of bodily activities going without our knowledge. The breathing rhythm works more regularly than swallowing, for our body must have a regular supply of air. We must swallow food, too — but we don't do this at exact intervals. We only swallow when something like food or saliva accumulates in the back of the mouth and must be disposed of. This starts movements going in the various parts of mouth and neck leading to swallowing, which pushes food or fluid down to the top of the tube called the esophagus. From here, rhythmic movements of the esophagus, called "peristalsis," carry the food toward the stomach.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Without food or drink in your mouth, swallow and then count the seconds until you swallow again, possibly about 25 or 30 seconds. You will find there is a rhythm in this kind of swallowing, the purpose of which is to clear the mouth of saliva. 9-7

Columnist Opens His Mail Again

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some 11 million surgical operations are performed in America each year. The chances are you'll undergo surgery four times in your life, or about once every 17 years. The average surgeon now performs about 175 operations annually.

Napoleon Bonaparte liked to smell nice. The French emperor liked to douse himself with Eau de Cologne, and used up to 60 bottles of the scent a month.

Americans accidentally lose about $700 million in coins and paper currency each year. Women seem to be as careless as men in this respect.

Henry Ford was originally a watchmaker. It was while in this line of work that he got some of the ideas he later employed in the assembly line construction of autos.

A Columbia University engineering professor says the U.S. strategic forces now have enough stored power to dump the equivalent of six tons of TNT on every person on earth.

Quotable notables: "Football is a sport that bears the same relations to education that bullfighting does to agriculture." — Elbert Hubbard.

It is estimated that one-fifth of U.S. dogs now take vitamins regularly.

In 1950 there were 109 physicians for every 100,000 people in this country. Now there are fewer than 97.

The "Keep America Beautiful" organization figured that during the three-day holiday period just ended motoring litterbugs tossed enough debris on streets and highways to fill 2,200 freight cars. The cost of cleaning it up: about $10 million.

Among the worst gyps are those who prey on the 12 million Americans who suffer from chronic arthritis — most of them elderly. Quacks fleece than of $250 million a year with worthless remedies.

It was Carolyn Wells who observed, "We should live and learn; but by the time we've learned, it's too late to live."

Autopsy Shows Death Caused By Drowning

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — An autopsy report completed Monday night showed Billy Cagle, 22, of Denison was alive when he entered the water, dispelling suspicion of a fatal beating.

Dr. Ray Phelps, Denison pathologist, attributed death to drowning. He said the body was in the water about 40 hours before it was recovered Sunday from Lake Texoma.

County Atty. R. H. Mills of Durant, Okla., said the autopsy was ordered because marks on the head indicated Cagle might have been beaten to death and thrown into the lake.

Cagle was reported missing Saturday morning by his mother, Mrs. J. L. Linstaedt of Denison, after he failed to return home Friday night.

HOUSTON (AP) — The 85th annual meeting of the National (Negro) Baptist Convention of America will open tonight with a concert in the Astrodome by two choirs totaling 1,500 persons.

They are 1,000 adults directed by Mrs. Virgie DeWitty of Austin and 500 youths led by Dr. Robert Henry of Baton Rouge.

Warden Captures Escaped Convict

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Warden W. D. Leeke of the South Carolina State Penitentiary was driving along Monday when he spotted an escaped convict, Howard Golightly, in a passing taxi.

Leeke swerved his car in front of the taxi and captured the 33-year-old convict, who had escaped four hours earlier. Golightly, of Greenville, S.C., was serving a two-year term for housebreaking and larceny.

Wool Broker Dies

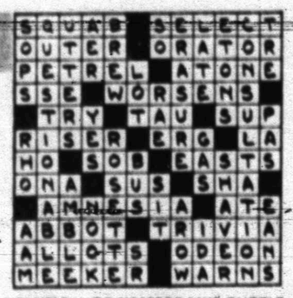

MILTON, Mass. (AP)—Charles Rowbotham, 63, a Boston wool broker widely known in Texas, died at his home Monday after a heart attack.

He formed the Collins & Rowbotham Co. 12 years ago with Perry Collins. The firm specialized in Texas wool, mohair and some English wool.

Grid Boys Will Be Introduced

"Pigskin Preview" — the annual Quarterback Club - sponsored event which heralds the beginning of a new football season — will be held tonight at "dark-thirty" at Tiger Stadium.

Each member of Snyder's various football teams will be introduced individually to the crowd, and members of the Quarterback Club will be on hand to sell membership cards to those who want to join the Club.

A full schedule of grid games is on tap for the initial week. The first game begins at 7:30 p.m. Thursday as Travis Junior High School's 9th graders host Lamesa at Junior High Stadium. The varsity Tigers will have their first game at 8 p.m. Friday in Andrews. Lamar's 9th graders open their schedule at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Big Spring following a 6 p.m. encounter between the 8th grade teams of both schools. The Snyder High School "B" team hosts Sweetwater here at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Area football fans were urged to attend the "Pigskin Preview" tonight and see the individual players introduced.

Giants Edge Dodgers In 12 Innings

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tension filled the air as the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers met for the first time since the Juan Marichal-John Roseboro bat-swinging incident.

However, the only thing that filled the air at the end was cushions. And the most serious problem turned out to be an elusive shovel.

The crowd of 53,581 at Los Angeles filled the air with seat cushions in a display of frustration as the Giants edged the National League leading Dodgers 7-6 in 12 innings on Jim Davenport's run-producing bloop single.

Davenport's game winning hit came an inning after players milled around for about five minutes while the umpires and the ground crew tried to locate a shovel to take care of a request by Dodger reliever Ron Perranoski, who wanted a hole on the mound leveled out.

Playoff Necessary

Texas League Has Co-Champs

By The Associated Press

The Texas League season was at an end for all except three clubs today, and there'll be only two left after tonight when Tulsa and Dallas-Fort Worth clash in a one-game playoff.

In an amazing and thrilling finish, Dallas-Fort Worth tied for the lead with Tulsa in the Eastern Division Monday night as lowly Amarillo knocked over Tulsa in 10 innings 8-4 and Dallas-Fort Worth edged Austin 3-2.

So the clubs clash at Arlington tonight at 7:30 to decide who plays Albuquerque, the Western Division winner, in a five-game series for the Texas League title.

Albuquerque closed out with a 6-5 loss to El Paso but held an 18-game lead over Amarillo for the Western Division championship.

If Tulsa wins tonight, it will open the playoff with Albuquerque at Tulsa Wednesday night. If Dallas-Fort Worth wins, it will open Wednesday night at Albuquerque.

Amarillo didn't have much of a season but the Sonics were the deciding factor in creating the Tulsa-Dallas-Fort Worth tie. They beat Tulsa three of the last four games.

Monday night Tulsa was leading Amarillo 4-3 going into the eighth inning, but Aaron Pointer slugged a homer to tie the score and force the game into an extra inning. In the 10th Amarillo used three walks, doubles by Ron Davis and Norm Miller and an infield hit by Don Porter to shove over four runs and make Dallas-Fort Worth happy.

John Boccabella's 20th homer and a bases loaded walk to Shorty Raudman overcame a 2-1 Austin lead in the sixth and gave Dallas-Fort Worth its fourth straight victory.

A crowd of 10,907 turned out at Arlington to push Dallas-Fort Worth's season attendance to 303,029—tops among the minor leagues of the country.

Chuck Vinson, Winston Llenas and Jerry Thomas hit homers to account for five runs and Cotton Nash got the deciding tally on a fielder's choice as El Paso nipped Albuquerque.

Diz Is Up To Old Tricks

HOUSTON (AP)—Dizzy Dean didn't disappoint anybody during his brief stint on the mound Monday night in the Astrodome's first annual oldtimers' game. He called a conference before he threw a pitch.

Diz faced one batter, Jimmy Adair. Adair lined out to Tommy Henrich, who made a running catch. Then manager Frankie Frisch called in Diz' brother Paul, and Diz refused—for a time—to leave.

A crowd of 31,814 ate it up.

The two-inning match between the "Immortals" and the "Texas All-Stars" ended in a 2-2 tie.

Paul Richards, manager of the All-Stars, said anybody making up a box score sh uld "give all the nitters 4-for-4 and all the pitchers, under earned runs, put none."

The Immortals scored in each inning. Lou Boudreau doubled and Gil McDougald singled him home. Tommy Henrich and Babe Herman single in the second inning, and Henrich scored when Ernie Lombardi hit into a double play.

Joe Medwick led off with a single for the All-Stars in the second inning. Eddie Robinson was safe as Johnny Mize bobbled his grounder. Enos Slaughter forced Medwick at third, but Ernie Koy singled Robinson across.

Joe DiMaggio got the loudest cheer during the introductions. In his only time at bat, he flied to short right.

Pitchers included Allie Reynolds, Satchel Paig Lefty Gomez, Bob Feller and the two Deans for the Immortals; and Carl Hubbell, Tex Carleton, Tex Hughson, Monte Stratton, Ed Head, Red Munger, Harry Gumbert and Al Hollingsworth for the All-Stars.

The game preceded one in which the Houston Astros beat the Chicago Cubs 2-1.

[illegible] champions Dr. Robert Hargrove and Lanny Waddleigh edged Chester Simons and George Patterson, 186 to 187, in a stirring finish to take first flight honors. On the final hole, Dr. Hargrove got off a low shot. The ball hit the pin from 100 yards out, then dropped straight into the hole.

Third place honors in the first flight went to Ray Devers and Wilson Blakely of Midland Tilley turned in a 194. Two teams carded 185's and tied for fourth place. James Rosser and Russell Yorgesen, and Wayland Holder and Joe Michie.

Snyder Country Club Pro Charlie Bruce said the Club would be closed today. Family night will not be held tonight.

PeeWee Football Program Begins

The Scurry County Boys Club Football program gets underway today at 4:30 p.m.

Boys 9 and 10 years old are to meet at the field just south of the Snyder High School field house, while the 11 and 12 year old boys will meet at the Central Elementary School football field. All boys are to be suited up and ready for practice. Boys who have not signed up and checked out equipment should do so today or tonight at the Boys Club.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Well, a group of trailer people in California are getting itchy again and want to know about coming down here. Where you can get good maps, where are the trailer parks and in general, how would you travel by trailer.

First of all, I'd suggest getting your maps from one of the gas companies up home. Most of the big ones put out excellent maps that are easy for even me to follow. As to the parks, there is no list available. But you can always find a spot. When I go out in the boondocks, I travel in my pickup with a camper body. Comes eating time and I haul over to the side of the road and eat. Comes dark and I park where I won't get run over and climb in bed. Just keep food and water stocked and you won't have any problems. After all, you're coming down to have fun and camping out is a lotta fun.

* * *

Our rocks and minerals club will visit Mexico this fall; can you give us a location where we might dig for or buy opal rough?

Include San Juan del Rio (Queretaro State) in your itenary and stop by La Guadalupana shop to see Pancho Cabrera, He runs his gem business there and owns some opal mines. Rock hounds often go out with Don Pancho to witness blasting in his mines and pick up rough material from him. He is a very fine guy.

* * *

Names and addresses of some of the glass factories in Mexico City?

There are a number of places where glass objects are made but I think the one you're talking about is the one known generally as "Carretones." Visitors are welcomed there and the blowers turn out everything under the sun. The factory is located on Carretones Street and all you have to do is ask a guide to take you there. Famous all over the country.

* * *

Sould you advise driving to Puerto Vallarta during the summer?

Nope, it gets rainy. I think your best bet is to drive to Guadalajara and take the CMA flight over to Vallarta. It is only a few minutes and saves you lots of detour and bumpy road headaches.

* * *

What type of clothes should we take to Oaxaca in October?

Summer clothes but take along a sweater or light coat for evenings. Oaxaca is informal so you won't need anything fancy. Just go comfortable.

* * *

Weather in San Cristobal de Las Casas in the fall?

Warm days and crisp, fireplace evenings most of the year. San Cristobal is a little over 7,000 feet high, located in a green bowl of forests in the Chiapas Mountains. You might catch some afternoon thunder showers but the serious rains generally are over by October.

Resorts Have Few Incidents On Weekend

By The Associated Press

The long Labor Day weekend ended with comparative peace and quiet at vacation spots previously troubled by youth rioting. Hundreds of arrests were made, but mostly for minor violations. Property damage was practically nil.

At Lake George, N.Y., nearly 300 persons were arrested, mainly for violating a local ordinance that prohibits carrying open beer cans in the street.

Robert Caldwell, mayor of the Adirondack Mountain resort, termed this Labor Day weekend "the most trouble-free in recent years." Caldwell said the biggest problem was traffic as nearly 10,000 persons crowded into the area, which has a permanent population of 1,000.

During the Labor Day holiday at Lake George in 1961 several hundred youths battled police until dispersed by fire hoses.

At Rockaway Beach, Mo., scene of disorders over the Fourth of July weekend, Sheriff Lyman Cardwell said Sunday night: "It's awful quiet here. All the traffic has left. We have here a ghost town."

There were 15 arrests, Cardwell said, for public drunkenness and illegal possession of intoxicating beverages, but he said that number was subnormal for even a nonholiday.

"Over Independence Day there were 186 convictions on similar charges," the sheriff said.

At North Beach, Md., a total of 52 arrests were made over the weekend, mostly on disorderly conduct charges.

Local police, aided by state troopers, broke up a series of brawls on Sunday involving about 1,800 motorcyclists jamming the Chesapeake Bay resort for races at a nearby track.

Sunday night quiet prevailed. Police Chief Gerald Ray said, "Most of them were from out of state and have gone."

At Russells Point, Ohio — where rioting marred the Fourth of July weekend, causing hundreds of thousands of dollars damage — police were ready with roadblocks on routes leading into town.

There were about 40 "preventive" arrests, including confiscation of fireworks and some 22-caliber pistols.

Sex Angle Confuses New Bureau

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sex angle in employment threatens to provide a network of side issues for the agency originally created to ensure equal treatment for Negro job-seekers.

"We're still in the confusion stage," an Equal Employment Opportunity Commission official said today.

He was referring to the organizational problems which face any new bureau, but the description also might be applied to the commission's first steps over uncharted legal ground.

Significantly, a decision on whether to permit separate "help wanted" ads for men and women was delayed for weeks. Commission Chairman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. appointed a committee representing employers, employment agencies, women's organizations and newspapers to offer suggestions.

Sources close to the commission said it now has decided to permit "separate but equal" ads. An employer may advertise jobs for men and women separately.

Barring further snags, guidelines on want ads will be announced in a few days.

There was wide disagreement within the committee. A closed session last week was described as "pretty steamy."

Newspaper representatives reportedly argued heatedly for the separate ads.

Roosevelt previously had said that the commission would not tolerate ads which specify "colored" or "white."

An official said a relatively small percentage of the 800 complaints received so far involved alleged discrimination against women. Some 325 were recommended for investigation, 123 were referred to state or local commissions, 142 were sent to other federal agencies and 200 were rejected.

Many of the rejected complaints involved alleged discrimination because of physical handicap or age — two areas which are outside the commission's jurisdiction.

Science Included In 3R Revolution

EDITOR'S NOTE — The curriculla reformers changing the course of U.S. education have concentrated much of their efforts on the teaching of science. There has not been unanimous acceptance of their work as the following first of five articles on the revolution in the 3Rs shows.

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WATERTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The house of science the curricula reformers have built for the nation's high schools may have been set down on very shaky foundations.

There's too big a gap between the general science that most youngsters get in junior high and the biology, chemistry and physics that many of them now study in senior high, says Dr. Uri Haber-Schaim.

Haber-Schaim is directing the development of a new introductory physical science course. It is aimed primarily at the 8th and 9th grades, and its goal is to give the pupils a better preparation for what's to follow. The development is part of a revolution in the 3Rs now going on in U.S. schools.

"That greatest handicap faced by science teachers in the new curricula is that most pupils in senior high school have no experience in observations, no basic laboratory skills, no knowledge of how to apply elementary mathematics to experimental results," Haber-Schaim said.

"They also lack the ability to correlate an abstract idea with a concrete situation. Often they have no idea of orders of magnitude, no feeling for approximation, no ability to judge what is important and what is not."

The course is one of many curriculum improvement projects sponsored by Educational Services, Inc., a nonprofit educational organization originally established in 1958 to handle the new high school physics program.

The course, which may be ready for commercial distribution next year, will take the student up to the beginning study of the atom.

"The course will be strong in laboratory work," Haber-Schaim said. "It will be strong in 'doing,' using the eyes and ears and 10 fingers.

If the schools have a good lab, so much the better. But it can be done with a flat-top table, and one sink per class.

"This course also will teach English, although that is not its primary function.

"Kids today can't seem to read a short, concise paragraph and know what it means. They have trouble answering a question which requires more than a one-word answer.

"In this course they'll have to keep complete, legible notes when they do an experiment — they may have to refer in March to an experiment they did in October."

Haber-Schaim said, "Most textbooks are written by looking at other textbooks. Once a false idea gets in, you can't get it out. This course is being written without another textbook around."

A published description of the new course quotes this comment from Thomas J. Dillon, a teacher in the Concord-Carlisle High School in Concord, Mass.:

"The major source of dissatisfaction with our general science course has been with the heroic attempt on the part of our textbooks to cover a little bit of all the sciences from Astronomy to Zoology.

"As a result, we found ourselves saying almost nothing about everything, often repeating 7th- and 8th-grade materials, covering worn-out trivia and — perhaps what is most important — becoming increasingly aware that we were really not preparing our students for chemistry and physics."

Brass-tacks work on the course got under way just two years ago. Eight teachers tried the program in pilot projects during the 1963-64 school year. After it was revised on the basis of their reports, 30 teachers tried it last school year.

After one more stage of testing, Haber-Schaim said, the course materials will be ready for general use in the fall of 1966.

YF Chapter Sees Film On Field Day

FLUVANNA — The Fluvanna Young Farmers Chapter saw a film on a Young Farmer Field Day and made plans for attending the Area II Convention at their regular meeting Thursday.

Neal Johnson, farm director for KCBD-TV of Lubbock, showed the film on the field day held at the Bobby Traweek Farm near Dublin last spring. Bill Stansell and Ray Herring, who attended the field day, assisted with the discussion and question-answer session after the film was shown.

It was announced that the chapter has 18 paid registrations for the Area II Convention in Brownfield Sept. 11. Wives of the members plan to join their husbands that evening for the banquet and awards presentation. Also it was announced that the State Young Farmer Convention will be held Jan. 14-15 at Austin.

Marines May Begin Use Of Draftees

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Marine Corps is seriously — and reluctantly — considering use of the draft for the first time since the Korean War, defense sources said today.

The corps, which considers itself an elite organization, would rather not resort to the draft.

Although recruiting is up, there is a question whether the Marines can get the 65,000 recruits they will need without taking some draftees.

The corps said no decision has been made on whether to dip into Selective Service for the first time since May 1952 — more than 13 years ago.

Last month enlistment of young men in the Marine Corps increased by 20 per cent, an experience shared by the other armed services in the wake of President Johnson's action doubling monthly draft quotas.

If the level of about 5,600 new recruits could be sustained over the full fiscal year ending next July 1, the Marines could fill their requirements wholly with volunteers. It would be a tight fit, however.

The Marines need about 30,000 new men to make up for normal losses through attrition.

In addition, the corps has been authorized to increase by 30,000 men above the previously planned 193,000. This is part of the general buildup of U.S. forces in connection with the war in South Viet Nam.

Work Continues As Usual At Dr. Schweitzer's Hospital

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP) — Work continued as usual today at Dr. Albert Schweitzer's jungle hospital but some of the famed old humanitarian's successors feared the government of Gabon would impose new regulations on the institution.

Dr. Schweitzer, who died Saturday night at the age of 90, had steadfastly refused to apply European standards of hygiene or to teach the Africans European medical methods. Despite criticism from African nationalists, he contended that advanced methods were not applicable to the continent's primitive heart.

"This hospital will continue in the spirit of my father," said Rhena Eckert Schweitzer's daughter. "I am confident that everything will work out."

We want to continue work in his spirit," said Charles Michel of Strasbourg, France, treasurer of the Dr. Albert Schweitzer Hospital Association, which owns the hospital.

Mrs. Eckert said she would seek an appointment with President Leon Mba of Gabon to "discuss everything."

"We count on the help of Schweitzer committees throughout the world," she said.

Dr. Walter Munz, Schweitzer's 32-year-old Swiss assistant, is the new head of the medical staff, and Mrs. Eckert is directing the hospital administration.

Dr. Schweitzer suffered a cerebral stroke on Aug. 28 and for most of last week was in a semicoma. The coma deepened Friday and he died quietly the next night in his wooden hut. At no time was there any suffering," a medical bulletin said.

He was buried Sunday close to his hut, beside the grave of his wife. She died in 1957.

Schweitzer abandoned promising careers as a theologian, musician, writer and physician to set up his hospital deep in the rain forests of French Equatorial Africa in 1913.

"I am here to help," he repeatedly told visitors who wanted to know why he had sacrificed a comfortable life in Europe. "I am not asking for anything. I am just a doctor in Africa."

At the ramshackle hospital in a clearing on the banks of the Ogooue River, Schweitzer became a legend, a man variously called a saint and the world's greatest living missionary.

Over the years, some 60,000 Africans flocked to the hospital for care by "the great white doctor." They came by canoe and over jungle trails although more modern medical facilities were sprouting up elsewhere.

First Lady Begins Tour Of Tetons

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson set out today on a speechmaking, sightseeing trip to Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming.

Joined by her daughter Lynda, Mrs. Johnson will spend four days at Jackson Hole, Wyo., and take part in the dedication of gardens at the University of Denver on her way back to Washington Friday.
