First National Bank To Have Computerized Accounting System

In keeping with the trend among modern banking institutions of the country, the First National Bank of Rockport has begun preliminary work toward installation of a computerized accounting system, according to Charles LaBounty, executive vice president.

This system will provide greater protection for depositors as well as faster and more accurate reporting on all the bank's operations, LaBounty explained.

First step, now virtually completed, was a survey of all signature cards of depositors to bring them up to date as to both signatures and addresses.

Next, each depositor will be assigned an individual account number. This in itself is an important step toward greater accuracy and security for depositors, because identification of incoming checks will be by number as well as by name.

In the future individually printed checks will carry the assigned account number as well as the name and address of the depositor. Personalized deposit slips also will be a part of the printed kits.

When the computerized accounting system is installed, probably within a year, names and account numbers will be sorted and "read" electrically. With this system in operation, with the resulting data recorded on punched tapes from which accounts will be posted, the possibility of mistakes will be virtually eliminated and bookkeeping will become almost instantaneous, LaBounty said.

Boat Channel Bridge Started At Harbor Oaks

Work was scheduled to start this week on a two-lane high-level bridge on the Rockport-Fulton Beach Road which will span the boat channel linking the new Harbor Oaks waterfront residential development, located at the northern edge of Rockport, with Little Bay.

The Austin Bridge Co. with headquarters in Dallas and area offices in Corpus Christi has the contract for the bridge. At present the South Texas Construction Co. of Corpus Christi, a subcontractor, will build a temporary bypass to the east of the bridge site, and later will construct the bridge approaches, according to James E. McCord, executive vice president of the development who is in charge of all work on the project.

The bridge will be of reinforced concrete, 120 feet in length and 28 feet wide. It will span a 50-foot boat channel leading from Canoe Lake to nearby Little Bay, and will provide a minimum of 20 feet vertical clearance for boats of Harbor Oaks residents.

Twenty-two pre-stressed concrete piles will support the bridge which will be floored with precast, hollow core reinforced concrete panels. A hot-mix asphalt pavement will be laid on top of the panels. There will be curbs and railings on both sides of the bridge.

Gradual approaches to the bridge will be 400 feet long on each end and will be paved with asphalt. Side slopes of the approaches will be planted with grass.

Completion of the bridge is scheduled for early fall.

Descriptions Are Awaited In Realignment

Realignment of commissioner precincts in Aransas County to conform to the "one man, one vote" ruling of the Supreme Court lacks only the metes and bounds descriptions, County Judge John Wendell said.

County Surveyor T. E. Griffith is now working on the legal descriptions, Wendell said. The north and west sides of county roads were used for boundary lines of the realigned precincts.

"The county's population is fairly evenly divided between the precincts," Wendell said. "However, we'll probably have to make adjustments after the next federal census is released."

Voter registrations for 1968 indicated a wide difference in the precincts under the old alignments. Precinct 1 had 1,473 registered voters as compared to 163 for Precinct 4. Registration in Precinct 2 was 1,219 and 1,076 in Precinct 3.

Students will be responsible for their own transportation to and from Live Oak Elementary.

The City Council this week adopted a resolution calling an election for June 20 to authorize the city to issue $400,000 in general obligation bonds.

Two propositions will be listed on the ballot for the residents to vote for:

1) For a new fire station, $15,000, and

2) For constructing, enlarging, extending and installing storm sewers and drainage, curb and gutters and other improvements, $385,000.

The motion to call the election was made by Alderman N. F. Jackson and seconded by Alderman Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden. They and Aldermen Charlie Garrett and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano voted unanimously to call the bond election.

It was pointed out repeatedly during the council meeting "that it is absolutely essential for proposition No. 2 (calling for $385,000 in general obligation bonds) to pass to go with the previously passed $200,000 sanitary sewer revenue bond issue in order for the city to receive a $315,000 grant that has been offered to the city of Rockport by the federal government."

There are approximately 750 qualified voters in the city. To be eligible to vote in a city election a person must have lived in Rockport at least six months, must own property here and must have been registered to vote.

The city is preparing a letter and a map, both of which will be mailed to every qualified voter giving detailed information about the importance of passing this bond election. The letter and the map also will give each voter a clear picture of the work to be done to improve drainage and carry out all the objectives of this major improvement project.

Mrs. Elbert Mundine will be judge at the election at the City Hall June 20 and Mrs. Alma Ratliff will be alternate judge.

Absentee voting will be held at the City Hall, through June 16.

In other action, the Council:

—Authorized City Attorney Dick Hatch to draw up a petition for the city to annex the property occupied by the Palo Alto Trailer Park, directly north of the city limits.

—Gave Jimmy Whitfill permission to put up a sign in the planter area in front of his new Whitfill Arts Shop in the 400 block of South Austin Street. The sign is the type that can be easily moved, and Whitfill plans to take it in every night.

Take the '69 Impala above. We improved the ride. Made it quieter inside. Added an anti-theft locking device. Put steel guard rails in the doors. Still, this Impala with a 300-hp V8, Turbo Hydra-matic, advanced design power disc brakes, head restraints, whitewalls and wheel covers is priced $101* less than in 1968.

The 300-hp V8 is priced $40 less than last year's 275-hp. Turbo Hydra-matic costs less. Power disc brakes about half as much. Whitewalls a little less. Wheel covers about the same. And head restraints are now standard.

Upping value and dropping price. That's the way Chevrolet operates.

Putting you first, keeps us first.

Hurricane Expert Talks About Risks

Dr. Robert H. Simpson, director of the National Hurricane Center in Miami, said last Thursday, there is no reason for loss of lives during a hurricane with the present-day warning system.

However, he said some lives are lost because "someone doesn't observe the warning rules or some people are willing to take risk beyond the value of their lives."

Simpson spoke at "Hurricane Risks" at the annual Hurricane Preparedness Conference in the Corpus Christi State National Bank.

Among those attending were Paul C. Sorenson, official weather observer in Rockport. One of the responsibilities of the hurricane center is to make risk appraisals of properties along the Gulf and Atlantic Coasts.

A recent such survey was made for President Nixon's vacation residence at Key Biscayne Fla. Nixon can expect one hurricane every five and one-half years and he can expect to have water in his living room once every 11 years, Simpson said. Apparently, President Nixon is willing to take that risk, he said.

Simpson said building codes can protect property from hurricane winds. He said Dade County, Fla., has the best building code for hurricane protection on the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts. A building built in compliance with the code can withstand any hurricane that might strike Florida, he said.

Today, he said more than $150 billion is being spent in construction of residences, business and recreational facilities in hurricane prone areas along the coastlines.

Simpson said the Weather Bureau depends largely on the mass media for advising the public of approaching hurricanes. However, Simpson said he has seen evidence in other parts of the United States of what can happen if the public is misinformed of hurricane movements. Some commercial establishments with radar try to determine the path of hurricanes and try to outguess the Weather Bureau, which, Simpson said, could lead to hurricane disaster.

Simpson is a native Corpus Christian who had his first experience with a hurricane here in 1919 when his father carried him on his shoulder to a storm shelter in the county courthouse. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Simpson, still live here at 1038 Vaky.

Following his talk, Simpson showed a color film produced by the Environmental Science Services Administration on Hurricane Carmen, which swept across Bermuda and the Florida coastline. The film, shown for the first time at the conference, was titled, "Hurricanes — The Greatest Storms on Earth."

Other conference speakers included Simpson's wife, Dr. Joanne Simpson, who spoke on her research of cumulus clouds and how they are seeded to produce rain. She is chief of the experimental meteorology branch of the Atmospheric Physics and Chemistry Laboratory in Miami.

Other speakers were C. O. Layne, chief of the Division of Defense and Disaster Relief for the Department of Public Safety in Austin, and William A. Sky-Eagle, engineer in charge of the U. S. Corps of Engineers here.

Layne advised that cities seeking disaster relief start first through local Department of Public Safety channels, instead of starting in Washington and working their way down, as one city did recently. Not only is it expensive, he said, it also is time consuming.

Sky-Eagle urged that cities devise a firm workable disaster plan before a disaster strikes. Sky-Eagle, speaking on "Disaster Unpreparedness," said cities need a firmer disaster plan than the one prepared in a small Texas town recently — "A couple of people volunteered to do all they could" if a disaster came.

Simpson presented "Outstanding Performance Ratings" awards to Russell Mozeny U. S. Weather Bureau chief in Corpus Christi, and to Wayne Norman, meteorologist with the Weather Bureau.

Cash awards of $200 for "excellence in the performance of duties" were presented to Weather Bureau meteorologists Jack R. Fite and James F. Cornell — C. C. Callertimes.

Cancer Signs—

was established six years ago in McAllen, Texas. We are glad to have a center here because the volunteers of our society want to be of more help to the people of Aransas County.

Rev. Erdelt defined the information service "as a source of information to the public concerning cancer and the services available to the cancer patient in this community." He further explained that the service does not have as its purpose the giving of medical professional advice. It rather represents a service to the people who desire to learn something about the nature of cancer or who may want to know how to obtain the services available to cancer patients from the American Cancer Society. Calls are referred to volunteer chairmen who in turn suggest appropriate action. This service often reduces delay in the diagnosis and treatment of a disorder which may be cancer.

The service is rendered on a volunteer basis by the Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. E. T. Busch, service chairman for the Aransas County Unit, said four of these signs are being erected in the county, by two young citizens, Jonathan Teague and Ricky Weekley.

A new 240,000-kilowatt generating unit, which almost doubles the size of Central Power and Light Company's Lon C. Hill power station in Corpus Christi, is now in full-time operation.

Wayne G. Siegelin, CPL vice president and manager of power operations, said that the big unit has been brought up to full commercial load after several weeks of comprehensive testing.

The new generating unit alone can supply the electrical needs of a city of more than 300,000 population. Installation of the additional generating equipment increases the net capability of Lon C. Hill Power Station to 545,000 kilowatts and makes it the largest plant in CPL's South Texas system.

The new turbo-generator, and a unit of the same size installed at CPL's Victoria power station last year, are the biggest single units the power company has in service.

Work on the new section of the plant has been under way since 1967. The generating equipment was built by Westinghouse Electric Corporation, and the giant boiler for the new unit — which is as tall as a 12-story building — was provided by Babcock and Wilcox Company.

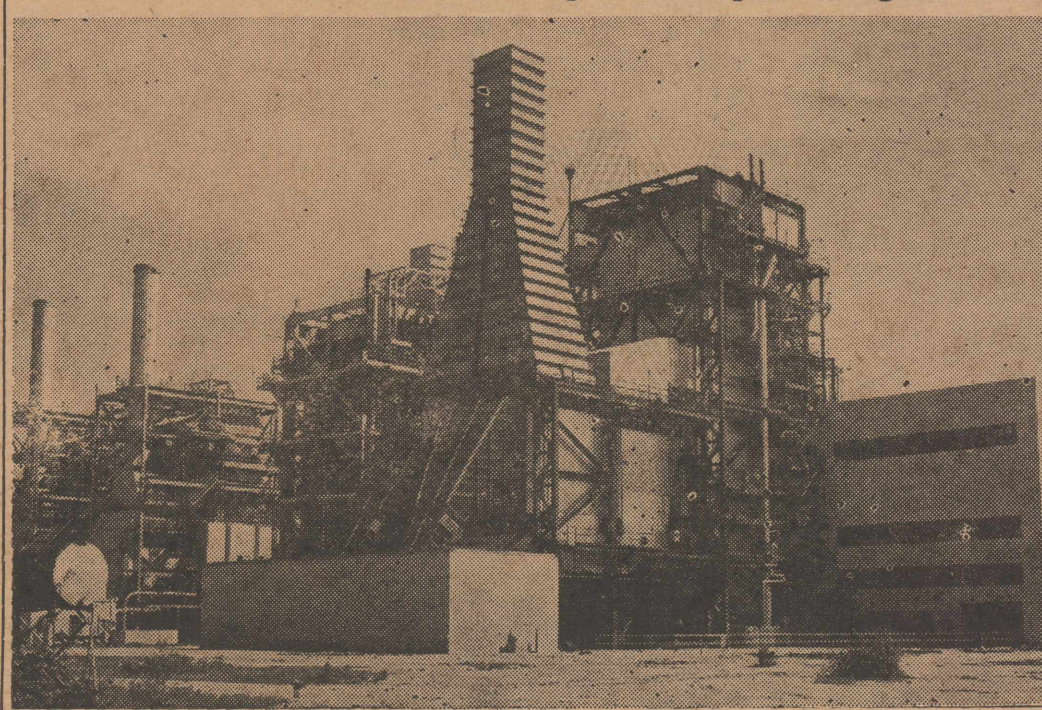

Dr. Fred Cubbage left Thursday (today) for Denver, Colorado, and Yellowstone National Park to visit his brother and sister. Mrs. Cubbage remained in Rockport to take care of the office.

The trading stamp drive is drawing to a close and Mrs. Lon Dick has collected 80 books from the girls and the donation boxes in the stores. Still needed are 100 fire brick. Much camping equipment has already been purchased and more will be in time for Day Camp use. All of the workers involved have been very pleased with the cooperation offered by the parents and the community as a whole.

Girl Scout leaders regretted that some girls' applications were returned because the applications were not in Corpus Christi by the deadline.

setting, ideally situated to capitalize on tourist and recreational advantages. The proper utilization of these assets can establish Rockport as one of the major tourist destinations on the south Texas coast.

2) An attractive natural environment in the city and its environs. The environment is largely the result of the very attractive combination of natural vegetation and the waters of Aransas Bay.

3) A good employment picture which is reasonably well insulated against temporary fluctuations in the economy.

4) A satellite location in a large metropolitan area which offers a large diversification of additional employment opportunities with close proximity to Corpus Christi itself.

5) A steady increase in population in the metropolitan area. To do this, adequate standards for the development of residential areas need to be enforced and provision of public facilities will need to be implemented.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all my friends who were so thoughtful to me during my stay in Corpus hospital. for all the beautiful cards and flowers.

A very special thanks to all my fellow workers at Key Allegro. Also to my friends who have dropped by to see me since I returned home. Every visit means a lot to me, as I have five more weeks to stay in.

It's such a pleasure to have so many friends in time of need and sickness. Each and every one will be remembered with love.

John E. Ross, manager of the local office of Central Power and Light Company, recently attended the Governor Preston Smith conference on tourism at Austin. While there he picked up the following timely reminder for all of us, titled "Ten Commandments for the Care and Handling of Visitors to Texas":

Thou shalt not frown or scowl at visitors, for a traveler is your bread and butter.

Thou shalt ask pleasantly if you can be of service to visitors.

Thou shalt make yourself a storehouse of information for travelers and cheerfully share your knowledge with them.

Thou shalt answer questions seventy times seven with a smile.

Thou shalt keep your sunny side up, even though weary and troubled.

Thou shalt remember the State Motto of Texas is FRIENDSHIP — and show it!

Thou shalt be neat and clean, for cleanliness is a mark of politeness to others.

Thou shalt cause children to have a happy vacation, for their memories will profit you in the future.

Thou shalt encourage travelers to STAY AND SEE TEXAS for thereby will you and the entire state benefit.

Thou shalt send visitors on their way with smiles on your face and theirs.

Rube Waddell, playing for St. Louis, asked fans to "come out and see Rube fan 'em out" by writing messages on the sidewalks.
