The wise woman we know says that going to the beach is like going to the attic. "You never know what you'll find in the trunk."

It's so true! The boss and the traveling reporter have returned from a recent trip down Galveston way and that statement by the wise woman is an UNDER-STATEMENT if there ever was one. Even your reporter finally planned shorts instead of the usual pushers we reserve for fishing trips, etc. Felt plum OVERDRESSED in long pants! The beach, the breeze, the bathing beauties and the beverages were fine fun.

You gals can look forward to Electric Pressure Cookers. We learned while on our trip that the Electric Cookers are now in the testing stage. They promise to take all the anxiety out of this type of cooking by operating with internal devices which automatically release pressure when the cycle has been completed. The unit powered by current will hold from 10 to 15 pounds of pressure and maintain it. Cooking time will automatically be regulated and electricity will be saved and vessel slowly vented.

Another new product for the home that will be a boon to the busy gal who loves to keep floors and linoleum in ship-shine shape is a budget priced Electric Waxer. "Housemaids' Knee" which is supposed to have resulted from cleaning floors on "all floors" will be gone forever when this new product is put on the market at a price that is not prohibitive to most of us. The new appliance will do everything that the commercial machines will do.

Folks at Dunlap's are busy as butterflies in the summer garden with the end of the month sale at this store. You'll have a fine vacation if you fit the family out in values you'll find throughout the store. Be sure and check Dunlap's ad in this issue of the Dispatch. Extra special values all through the sale.

There is nothing like the right cosmetics to give a woman a feeling of poise and assurance. For all women no matter what age like to feel "fixed". One of the nation's leading cosmetic lines, Dorothy Perkins, has created for the women of America, a super-delightful line of cosmetics. This line of products... is now on sale at Post Drug. The initial order of cosmetics which includes the entire line, is ready for your inspection. Alva Heiskill has arranged a fragrance bar where you may try six odors of Dorothy Perkins cologne. Miniature gifts of face powders and cleansing creams will be given away as long as they last. You Garza gals are given a most cordial invitation to visit Post Drug and by the Dorothy Perkins products.

Taking a trip? Then check Hamilton Drug for Vacation Supplies such as luggage carriers for the car or just the customary baggage pieces, for cameras for portable radios, for eye shades, for suntan lotions, for thermos cups, etc.

One of the most practical things for a car trip is the portable car bag. One we saw was made of durable plastic with several hooks for hanging. They are styled for suits or for dresses. After clothes are hung on the hangers you zip them in and presto!... almost no wrinkles. Wipe your weary brow when you get to the point of destination. They are most inexpensive too.

While most everyone has trips and travel on their thoughts, there are still those who still must work. To enjoy your work to the fullest you must be comfortably dressed. Dickie's Work Clothes are styled for comfort and convenience. At Herring's you will find plenty of Dickie's in all sizes.

There is a new Pizza Pie Mix on the market. Package contains a lb. of sauce with Italian cheese and spices, yeast, and the mix... all the ingredients for making this famed Italian specialty.

Head at Levi's Ranch. Cafe while leisurely sipping a bottled beer... Two pints make a quart and one pint makes a quart! Levi's serve luscious lunches, cold orders, sea foods and more. In this swelter-weather beat the family down to Levi's.

Dispatch Accumulates 370 Points In Winning Second Place In State

At the recent Texas Press Association convention, held in Houston, the Dispatch garnered points in the News Picture, Appearance, Promotion, Editorial and General Excellence divisions to emerge as the second best paper in the state in the Sweepstakes award.

The Hamilton Herald won first place, edging the Dispatch by 10 points. Both papers competed in the weekly division of towns with less than 3500 population. Every paper entered six separate contests and accumulated points on these toward the Sweepstakes. These contests consisted of Appearance, News Pictures, Editorials, Columns, General Excellence and Promotion.

Dispatch entries in News Pictures and Appearance topped first place honors, while the General Excellence entry won second. The Promotion and Editorials won fourth and fifth, respectively.

Attractively engraved plaques were awarded the first place winners and certificates and ribbons for the other positions. The Dispatch winning line up read:

5th—Editorials (ribbon of achievement, honorable mention); 4th—Promotion (ribbon of achievement, honorable mention); 2nd—General Excellence (certificate of award, ribbon of achievement); 1st—Appearance (plaque, certificate of award, ribbon of achievement); 1st—News pictures (plaque, certificate of award, ribbon of achievement).

The two first place plaques in Appearance and News Pictures marked the Dispatch as outstanding in those two divisions. In Appearance the division is judged on the make up of the front page, the use of available type (for headlines), layout of advertising, use of inside make-up.

The Dispatch employs the pyramid layout on advertising. Building from left to right the ads pyramid up and allow every ad on the page to be touched by copy. This factor adds to the attractiveness of the pages and helped immensely with the winning of first place.

In News Pictures the Dispatch has endeavored to follow the policy set by larger papers and bring its readers spot and feature pictures which will add to their reading enjoyment.

Second place in the General Excellence afforded the Dispatch an excellent opportunity to evaluate the overall paper in comparison with others in the state. General excellence takes in the amount of advertising, how it is displayed, the printing, the different sections, like editorials, society, classified, sports and columns. It also took into consideration the appearance, the quality of writing, the quality of the news stories, pictures.

This year's Promotion contest gave credit for papers' efforts toward helping their trade territory. The Dispatch entry included many agricultural and industrial stories which were printed last year. And also such projects as the Edgar Bergen show and other projects which the paper has aided through the year.

The lowest number of points received in any division by the Dispatch was in the Editorial division. Dispatch editorials rated fifth in the state.

Winning in the 1952 contest, the Dispatch maintained the proficiency that it has held in the weekly field for many years.

Hospital Plans Call For Open House In Aug.

Garza Memorial hospital will probably go on full-time operation around August 1, Jack Rex, administrator, announced Wednesday.

All of the hospital has been turned over to the county by the architects, Rex said, and equipment is coming in on schedule.

Rex also pointed out that official Open House will be observed at the hospital sometime in August. He urged every county resident to watch for the date and attend.

In the past few days there has been attempts to get the hospital to endorse certain hospital insurance policies. Rex pointed out that he is willing to explain all policies if owners will bring them around, but under no condition does the hospital endorse, honor, nor in any way associate itself with any insurance policy.

He further explained that the hospital will secure Blue Cross membership for the hospital so that the benefits of the insured patients will be increased.

Six more rooms are left at the hospital if donors want to contribute the furnishings, Rex also explained.

Chamber Of Commerce Plans To Sponsor Local Baby Derby

The Garza county Baby Derby is on!

At their Monday night meeting the Post Chamber of Commerce directors voted to sponsor a Baby Derby for the first baby to be born in the new Garza Memorial hospital. They also voted to get the drive off with a bang by giving a $25 War Bond to the first baby.

That makes two grand gifts already in store for the new baby. Jack Rex, hospital administrator, has stated that the entire hospital bill (not including the doctor of course) will be a gift to the parents.

Naturally there will be some fundamental rules and regulations set up. One of these will have to be that the parents be residents of the county. However, the rules will be announced later.

Mrs. Mable Lawrence, Chamber of Commerce secretary, who originated the idea for the county, will be in charge of collecting the gifts. The C of C urges anyone—club, organization, social group, business or individual—who is interested in the Baby Derby to contribute something toward the drive. All they need to do is bring the gifts by the Chamber of Commerce office or call 551.

Officers and directors of the Garza County Quarterhorse association have been announced for the 1952 show to be held in conjunction with the Southwestern Championship Junior Rodeo on Saturday, August 16.

Earl Hodges heads the group as president. Other officers include Bill Long, vice president; Jack Samson, secretary-treasurer; George Samson and Alvin Davis, publicity; and Davis as announcer.

Directors of the show include Sims Taylor, Don Long, Phil Bouchier, Floy Richardson and S. E. Camp.

Entry blanks and attractive show books, giving all classes and prizes are being printed for distribution.

Officials believe this year's show will be much bigger than any previously produced. A tremendous amount of contact work has been accomplished in connection with the show.

Several hundred dollars worth of trophies for the show have been contributed by business men of Post, Samson announced. Once the trophies are all in, the complete list of donors will be announced.

Area Farm Labor Association Is Taking Orders For Workers

Orders for Mexican Nationals to solve Lynn and Garza cotton chopping needs are now being taken by the Grassland Farm Labor association.

The association points out that the actual cost per worker to the farmer will be $30, which includes insurance, transportation (both ways) and meals enroute. It was also explained that the farmers' membership fee will be $10 and will continue through the harvesting season.

The employer must furnish everything—mattresses, blankets, hoes, cooking and eating facilities without any cost whatsoever to the worker.

These are the requirements under the certification laws of the association. This certification covers Garza and Lynn counties only.

Contract price wages paid to workers will be 50 cents per hour, and before a neighbor can work a farmer's help, the neighbor must be a member of the association. The contract will be for 6 weeks with extensions at the farmer's request, with a small charge.

The contract allows 15 days over the expiring date to deliver the hands back to Mexico, which gives the farmer approximately 2 months with no additional cost.

Grassland Farm Labor Association is a non-profit organization transacting a public service toward labor and price satisfaction.

Martha Mathes Takes Over Welfare Office

Miss Martha Mathes, of Bay City, has assumed duties as Public Welfare Field Worker in Lynn and Garza counties, with headquarters in Post.

Miss Mathes fills the vacancy left by the recent resignation of Thomas Canon.

The Welfare office is located in the Garza County Courthouse. It will be open Monday through Friday from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., Miss Mathes said.

Post Stores To Be Closed On July 4

Post stores and business places will close all day on the Fourth of July.

Friday the Fourth was voted as one of the five major holidays the town would observe in a recent poll by the Chamber of Commerce office.

Slaton Men Carried On Tour Of Postex

Post Lions club members were hosts to Slaton club members Tuesday night and carried them on a tour of Postex Cotton Mills, Inc.

Guides for the four different groups were O. G. Murphy, Walt Watt, Jack Ballentine and Lee Ward.

The mill tour followed the regular meal and Victor Hudman, who was in charge of the program, said the Slatonites enjoyed the tour very much. "And the Post Lions club members appreciate the nice gesture made by Mill officials."

Post Men Attend State VFW Meeting

Three members of the John Miller Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars represented Post and Garza County at the state VFW Convention held in Galveston Monday through Wednesday.

They were Bob Poole, Jack Kuykendall and Joe Boren. The three plan to return today.

JP COURT LIGHT

Summer heat certainly had its effect on crime in the Justice of Peace jurisdiction this week. According to Judge J. D. King, two charges of fighting were filed at $1 and costs; one highway violation at $5 and costs; and one drunk at $1 and costs.

Two Teams Undefeated In Post Softball League

At the end of the second week of play in the Post Softball League, two teams emerged undefeated.

Holland Motor company has won three and lost none while defeating Brown and Brown, Justiceburg and Nazarene church. And Wacker's has won three and lost none, defeating Nazarene Church, Postex Mills (this game is still under protest), and First Baptist.

Moreland Is Named To C. Of C. Board

Buster Moreland, general superintendent of Brown Brothers, et al. Operators, has been appointed a member of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors. President George Samson announced.

Moreland fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Dave Willis, who resigned effective the first of June. Moreland's membership will become effective immediately.

The new board member came to Post in 1945 and has taken an active part in all civic, church and organizational activities in Post since then.

Five Charges Filed In County Records

Petty crime broke out in Garza county like a summer rash, with five charges being filed in the past week and a half.

Two swindling by worthless checks, one possession for purpose of sale of whiskey, one carrying a pistol; and Edna Nixon with illegally carrying a knife. Nixon was fined $100 and costs. Both Gordon and Fields were released on $500 bonds.

Garza County Volunteers Receive Orientation Lecture On Helping Blood Mobile Unit July 16

Bill Reeves, Red Cross Blood Field Representative out of Fort Worth, Tuesday afternoon delivered an hour and a half orientation class to approximately 19 Garza county women who will serve as volunteers at the Blood Mobile unit here July 16.

Reeves pointed out that many rumors have gone around concerning the Red Cross selling blood to the Armed Forces. "This is emphatically not true," he said. "The day the blood is collected it will be flown to Fort Worth to the Department of Defense blood processing laboratory. Once it reaches the laboratory the Red Cross has nothing to do with it."

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Jessie Voss, Mrs. John Lott, Mrs. Carl Webb, Mrs. Tom Power, Mrs. Max Gordon, Mrs. Vernon Ray, Mrs. Charles Daugherty, Mrs. Bill DeWalt, Mrs. Will Wright, Mrs. Burnis Lawrence, El Wanda Davies, Mrs. Curtis Davies, LaRue Stevens, Mrs. J. Lee Bowen, Mrs. Walter Duckworth, Mrs. Bill Edwards, Mrs. Necia Rogers, Rev. Gerald Blackburn, Jean Fitzsimmons, general field representative, and Henry Classe, observer.

Citizens are reminded that when they donate blood on the 16th of July that it will be used for military use only. "When you give a pint of blood in July, it does not mean that you can get a pint of blood in return when you want it."

Persons between the ages of 18 and 59 (not 60) can donate blood. But for those under 21 there are special rules. If unmarried and not in the service they must have written consent of parents. If married and in these ages, the girl can donate without anyone's consent but boy must have consent of both parents.

Naturally anyone in service needs no consent.

A donor must weigh 110 pounds or more. This is strictly enforced. No one who has given blood within the past two months can donate; anyone who has had Yellow Jaundice CANNOT donate.

Many persons have asked the question, "Can I donate if I have had malaria?"

The answer to this is YES, providing—the person has not had the sickness within the last two years, nor has been taking medicine to suppress it.

Anemic?—Every person will be tested on this. A blood pressure test will also be given.

Reeves said that despite what people will tell you the needle "cannot be felt."

The only advice given to donors by Reeves was on eating. Do not eat any excessively fat foods four (4) hours prior to the giving of blood. But he warned not to starve.

Volunteer women, being supervised by the American Legion Auxiliary, are to report at the Methodist basement at 9:30 a. m. on July 16. Four men must be there by 8:30 a. m. and again at 5 p. m.

Some changes have been made in the donor chairman since last week and some others have been added. Jake Heiskill has replaced Bill DeWalt and Max Gordon replaced Ralph Kirkpatrick.

Community chairmen for three communities have been named. They are: Mrs. Elvira Davis, Graham; Mrs. Lorenz Peel, Clovis City; and Mrs. O. R. Cook, Garza.

SCENIC CARDS...

The scenic post cards which Post stores should have on sale within the next week or two will no doubt prove a worthwhile asset to the publicizing of the town. Store owners say that many persons, tourists, as well as natives, make numerous inquiries about the possibility of such cards. Post has never had quantities of such scenic views of the town on sale before. But if the company that is printing the cards maintains its schedule they should be shipped about the 28th of this month, which will be Saturday. The stores in which they are to be sold have been listed numerous times. Pictures on the cards will consist of the Post home, an aerial view of Post, an aerial view of Postex Mills, a street scene, one of the court house, picture of Post girls and high school. They represent a wide variety of the town and should be very nice to send to friends.

STRAY DOGS...

Does your dog stray over the town, molesting garbage cans, barking at children, and making itself a complete nuisance? If not you are lucky, or have a good dog. For the stray dogs around town are becoming more and more abundant. Needless to say they are a nuisance. Many complaints have been turned into the Sheriff's office concerning dogs that appear to be vicious and might bite a child. And the sheriff in turn has issued a warning that these dogs must be eliminated. Therefore if your dog is among the strays, and you want to keep it, you had better do something about keeping it at home. As Sheriff Rains pointed out it is impossible almost to tell an ownerless dog from a stray cur unless he is tagged. This should be a warning to dog owners. Keep your dogs at home or you might not have a dog.

Texans In WASHINGTON

Associated Press Washington Service

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Texas members of Congress, along with other distant members, have a bone to pick with Eastern colleagues—over their absenteeism.

Some two-thirds of the 435 members of the House live in a few hours' traveling time from Washington by train or automobile. Airlines fly to Philadelphia in 48 minutes and New York in 72 minutes.

This has resulted in what is known as the "Tuesday-Thursday" club of legislators who go home for long weekends and are actually here for business only the three middle days of the week. All don't do it every week, but enough of them are absent with such frequency that the work of the House is slowed considerably. Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco says: "They inevitably tend to stay home over Monday, and sometimes Tuesday. As the session wears on this practice gets worse. When we do finally get to the measures which have accumulated, we act on them without sufficient deliberation."

"The result is that those of us who live a distance from Washington are put to a great disadvantage. We, too, feel that we should be able to get home, but we can't do so over a weekend."

Poage says many Eastern members supplement their congressional salaries by practicing law or engaging in other business while home on extended weekends.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana thinks they ought to stay on the job here, get legislative business transacted, adjourn and go home.

"I gave up all my private business when I came to Congress," he said. "The pay is sufficient, and the job of being representative is the only business I have."

"It makes it hard on those of us who stay here to carry on the work of the house, including committee hearings, when there is a lot of absenteeism."

Rep. Ken Regan of Midland suggests Congress could cut its sessions by 25 percent a year if all members stayed on the job throughout the week. Shorter annual sessions, he says, would save taxpayers a substantial amount in overhead expenses.

Absenteeism in Congress is nothing new, veteran Senator Tom Connally notes.

ROGER W. BABSON WRITES THIS WEEK

Despite The Strain On Pocketbooks Taxes Are Also Advantage To Us, Financial Man Claims

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Now that the first half of the year 1952 is nearly over, income tax reckoning still leaves in its wake a raft of questions. For instance, if someone should ask about the effect of income taxes on profits, the answer would seem to be obvious. Taxes bite into profits and apparently bring about slimmer margins between sales and costs. Business tries, however, to make up for this shrinkage in profits by expanding the volume of sales.

There are also other "silver linings" to the cloud. I hate high taxes as much as any reader does, but we should realize that indirectly such taxes may have certain advantages:— (1) High taxes make us all work harder. (2) As high taxes are hardest on retired people living on a fixed income, these higher taxes are forcing many of them again to become producers. (3) High taxes should make us all more interested in electing a better government. (4) High taxes may result in increased gifts to churches, hospitals and charities.

Even "excess profits" taxes have certain compensations. For example, at maximum rates, seventy-seven cents of every dollar of excess profits may go to the Government in taxes. But if the corporation decides to spend what would go into its excess profits for research, advertising, or employing more salesmen, it could do so advantageously. Every dollar of such outlay would then cost the corporation only twenty-three cents. Companies in a position to make use of these "thrifty" dollars might better maintain buildings and expand sales efforts.

Taxes and the Stock Market

Now, with some degree of certainty of earnings at the level where excess profits begin, there might even be a reflection thereof in higher prices for the company's shares. What would be the position of the stockholder in such a case? Higher stock prices might bring about long-term capital gains if more of the earnings are later converted into dividends.

By spending money that otherwise would go to taxes, the competitive position of the company should be improved. It should have an advantage over competitors who do not have excess profits for expansion of business out of tax money. Excess profits may well increase the advertising in newspapers and magazines.

Profits Must Continue

Corporate profits provide over one-third of the income of the Federal government. It is a paradox that the tax program, which eventually might be a drag on incentive, may, for a time, itself provide an incentive to expand. In addition, the Government needs the success of every business it taxes to continue its defense program.

Some firms, which may otherwise barely break even, may then remain in the field, due to the high level of economic activity. So the tax program, which threatens to take away with one hand, also gives advantages with the other. There is opportunity to expand and freedom to look forward to profits.

Stockholders can be sure there is no stock market behind the Iron Curtain! A stock market depends upon free enterprise by those companies whose shares are traded. Buying and selling then depends on available money and the existence of confidence in the future.

But taxation is not lacking behind the Iron Curtain! Taxes are collected in Russia so as to retard enterprise and activity. To meet the challenge of those governments, however, we must show by our actions and faith that the fuller life, offered by the free world, pays. We must maintain not only the freedom to work, save, and invest, but we must work and save and invest.

Getting Out On the LIMB....

By EDDIE the editor

Suffering shades of succatash! The first day of summer arrived on the South Plains last Saturday. But it was about two weeks late—for hot weather beat it here by a couple of weeks.

However, I "cheated" the old weather man somewhat last week by spending several enjoyable days taking a little rest at Galveston. Boy, what a nice way to out-do the heat. Just lie in the water and float (and blister). And then to get jolted back to reality by this West Texas summer.

The days in Houston prior to the Galveston stay weren't too bad either. Anyway I had a nice time receiving the awards the Dispatch won at the Texas Press Association convention.

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes! That's about all you hear these days. On second thought, you don't have to hear them. Brother, they hit you hard enough.

However, it's a big stick in the presidential race. Eisenhower first says that taxes can be cut in the near future. Then Taft (or echo Robert they call him) comes back that if elected he will cut taxes heavily next year.

Then up pops Happy Harry and says that taxes should be upped instead of lowered. He also declares that no Democratic president will think of slashing the taxes. So that leaves us right where we were all along. With them.

And herewith I would like to pass on to you a small story titled "The Case of the Unwelcome Uncle" and put out by the National Association of Manufacturers. (It has to do with taxes, naturally.)

"Uncle has come to our house to stay...and to our sorrow we're discovering he has a bigger appetite than we anticipated when we invited him. It costs more to feed him, than it does our own family."

"Uncle is 'Uncle Sam' of course, and—welcome as he has usually been since back in 1776—he's wearing us a little thin with his demands."

"In the year ahead, we—and the rest of the people of the United States—will spend about $58 billion for food for ourselves. At the same time, we'll pay out between $70 and $75 billion in Federal tax—to feed Uncle."

"You can see what this means—about $900 a year expenditure for food—but about $1100 a year in taxes, both direct and indirect. We've pretty well gone back to the old family slogan 'don't ask for a second helping, there won't be enough to feed our guest.'"

Is Uncle putting your family on a diet too?

Talk of the county right now is the big blood drive coming up July 16. No doubt you have been contacted (or will be) to sign a donor pledge card. Your signature could not be placed on a better spot.

The need is dire. And the use to which the blood is put makes anyone proud to give, give, give.

Your Armed Forces still need 300,000 pints of blood every month. Why, you might ask (as I did) does the blood quota stay at the same each month.

There are two urgent reasons: (1) Regardless of events in Korea or any other part of the world, our wounded veterans in military hospitals need a continuous supply to save their lives over the months—or years—that lie between convalescence and recovery.

(2) Your Armed Forces' dangerously low reserve supply of blood must be built up quickly to be ready for any possible future emergency.

Therefore the need for your blood has never been greater than it is today. So if you haven't signed that pledge card, do it now!

Did you know this is National Swim for Health Week? Garzens should be mighty healthy, for they are sure swimming in their own sweat these days.

English the Texas Way: Border is a proper noun to many Texans, and it does not refer to the border of the tablecloth or the garden. Naturally, it is the Texas-Mexican border. The Rio Grande country. Did it ever occur to you that the northern land border of the U. S. is usually referred to as the Canadian border, but the southern land border is usually the Texas border? Oh Well.

Sport-wise: It's hard to figure out who's getting the most out of the softball league which started a week or two ago. The old men seem to be getting all the sore backs and muscles and the younger boys are having the fun.

Then too, the fans get plenty of fun just watching the antics of the "would be big-leaguers." So just a little word of warning. If you see some of your friends or acquaintances limping down the street, don't ask what is the matter. Just ask "what you enjoy the game?"

THE AMERICAN WAY

Discrimination

Our Contemporaries Are Saying:

How To Lick Gossip Habit

Gossip is the plague of all cities the size of Seminole, as well as those larger and smaller.

We doubt if very much of the conversation is deliberately malicious, but much of it does irreparable harm—destroying confidences, defacing reputations and shattering friendships.

A great philosopher once stated that there are three levels of conversation—the lowest is about people, the next about events and the highest about ideas.

Right there is the prescription for cutting down on our gossip. A broadening of one's knowledge to include current events, and exposure to a few ideas will marvelously enlarge one's conversational stock.

Alas, with some people, one can't talk without talking of people. Too many of us know little, and care less, of what goes on behind the borders of our own private world—our family, job, friends and relatives.

This condition is shown in the alarming state of ignorance of many voters concerning the oft-mentioned candidates in the presidential election, the nature of the foreign aid program, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the basic political philosophies of the day.

Exposure to new facts and new ideas is one good way to lick that gossip habit, and make yourself a more interesting conversationalist in the bargain.—The Seminole Sentinel.

Punctuality—A Virtue

It is impossible to give too much credit to those who possess the virtue of punctuality. Those who do not possess it, having no regard for other people's time, are certainly criticized for not having this valuable virtue. Lack of punctuality causes more loss of time than does procrastination, because it generally involves wasting the time of one or more people than the guilty party. The strange thing about lack of punctuality is that it is generally found among the unsuccessful or pseudo-successful. A successful man conserves his time and in turn, he conserves the time of those with whom he deals and associates.

Punctuality does not mean solely to begin on time. When the time of busy men is taken up, it also means that something be accomplished during that time, and that all concerned devote the full time that has been allotted. It isn't right that anyone who is responsible for a conference or a meeting be deprived of the full time and attention of all concerned.—The Hamlin Herald.

Cotton Hoeing Time

Cotton hoeing time is here again and that means that many transient laborers will be back in this area helping the farmer get rid of his weeds. It seems that the weed crop is worse this year probably due to the slow start cotton had. Transient labor is important to this country. They not only help the farmer clean his crop but they help the grocer, the drygoods man and others. This summer labor movement is a comparatively new thing, apparently having developed since the war. But it is getting bigger each year and will continue to increase as long as the cotton acreage increases.—The Lockney Beacon.

Law Against Dancing

I did not know until recently that there is a local ordinance on the books which virtually prohibits any type of public dancing in Slaton. Personally, I am agin it! The ordinance, that is, some of my best memories of high school and university days are of dances. And it's my guess that this town's young people would enjoy the privilege of dancing, too. They will probably dance, anyway. But this ordinance, written into law as result of an old-fashioned credo that twists and constrains dancing into an immoral pastime, forces our young people to do their dancing under conditions decidedly less favorable than if they could trip the light fantastic in their own hometown. Just sitting across the room and looking at one another can be construed as immoral, too, if your mind is in the wrong place. Maybe we ought to pass an ordinance against that, too. And reverting back to subject of dancing and immorality, if anyone thinks you have time to dribble any evil thoughts around in your mind while scrambling through a square dance version of "Alabama Jubilee" or "Down Yonder," I'd like to see him try it sometime.—The Slaton Slatonite.

Series Of Articles On Texas Voting Procedures Planned To Help Voters

(Editor's Note: Numerous persons have mentioned, suggested and wondered why more stories are not written on voting and voting procedures in Texas. With this in mind the Dispatch ordered a new booklet, "A Handbook for Texas Voters", by Patricia Stuart and published by the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Texas. Material on the subject is so voluminous that we decided a series of articles on voting might be more appropriate and of more interest. The first in this series is given below. This complete book may be ordered for 50 cents from the above address.)

"Every two years you elect county, district, state and national officials; and at other times there are elections for municipal officials, approval of bond issues and approval of amendments to the state constitution and your city's charter. You may be called on to vote as many as eight times in a single year! Elections give you the opportunity to participate in your government; and it is important that you vote not just once a year, but in every election. When are these elections and what are they for?

"An important state-wide election is the general election which is held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year. At this election you vote for the officers who will run your national, state, and county governments for the next two years. United States senators and representatives, the governor, lieutenant governor, state legislators, five other state officials, and thirteen county officers are chosen at the general election. Furthermore, every four years (in the years divisible by four) general election day becomes presidential election day when, for all practical purposes, the President and vice president are elected.

"At the general election you may also be asked to vote on amendments to the state constitution. Amendments, which are submitted by the legislature for acceptance or rejection by the voters, may appear on the general election ballot or the legislature may call a special election to vote on them.

"But before the general election can take place candidates for all of these offices must be chosen. If you belong to the Democratic party you select its candidates for state, district county and precinct offices at a primary election. The first primary is held on the fourth Saturday in July. A run-off primary must be held on the fourth Saturday in August for those officers for which no candidate received a majority (one-half plus one) in the first primary.

"In addition to these state-wide elections, you must elect city officials if you live in an incorporated town or city. If your municipality has a population of less than five thousand and is incorporated under the state's general laws, elections for mayor and aldermen or commissioners are held on the first Tuesday in April. Some or all of the members of the city governing body are elected every year in mayor-aldermanic or council-manager cities. All members of the governing body in cities having commission or commission-manager government are elected every two years.

"School trustees must also be selected. Elections are held to common, independent, and rural high school districts on the first Saturday in April every year with one exception. (This exception being in some of the larger cities).

In addition to the special election called to secure a vote on constitutional amendments, special state-wide elections may be called to fill vacancies in elective offices. Also, special elections are called by the governor to fill vacancies in the legislature. These elections may occur along with another special election or be held separately.

Who May Vote

You may vote in any state election in Texas if you:

1. Are a United States citizen.
2. Are twenty-one years old.
3. Have lived in Texas one year and in your county six months preceding the election.
4. Have paid your poll tax or have secured an exemption certificate before the first of February of the year in which you vote.

"In order to vote in city elections you must have, in addition to all the qualifications for state elections, lived within the city six months and have paid your city poll tax if one is levied. (One is not levied in Post). Furthermore, in order to vote in all elections to determine the expenditure of money or assumption of debt, you must own property subject to taxation by the city or county where the election is held.

"The following classes of persons cannot vote in Texas:

"1. Feeble-minded or mentally deranged persons.

"2. Paupers supported by a county.

"3. All persons convicted of any felony, except those restored to full citizenship or pardoned.

"4. All officers and enlisted men in the regular United States Army, Navy, or Marine Corps. This prohibition does not apply to officers and enlisted men of the national guard or reserve corps or to retired officers and enlisted men of the U. S. Army, Navy, or Marine Corps.

A Word About Residence
"The Texas courts have held that where you make your legal voting residence is largely a matter of intent. Accordingly, you can leave your home temporarily without forfeiting your right to vote there if you intend to return and maintain legal residence in that locality. Furthermore, if you are an inmate of a public asylum or eleemosynary institution, a clerk employed by the state government in Austin, or a university or college student, your residence remains at

They don't tell us whose blood it is—and you don't know who got it. So you don't know me and I don't know you.

But I've had lots of time to think here at the hospital (it's almost a year since I got mine in Korea) and I keep wondering who you are and where you live and what you do and all that. Sometimes I have you figured for a wheat farmer in South Dakota, like my Uncle Herman. Or sometimes you're a big-league outfielder—the position I dreamed of playing. But mostly, I guess, you're just someone I'd like to meet and chew the fat with.

Once I kicked this thing around with a guy in the ward here and he said, yeah but suppose this certain person turns out to be a beautiful blonde, then what?

But all kidding aside, it's a funny feeling to owe your life to someone you don't know. In some ways though it makes it easier to say thanks, because it's not just me thanking you. It's every wounded guy thanking every American who gave blood.

The toughest part of being out in Korea isn't the fighting. It's the feeling you're a million miles from nowhere. So a thing like giving blood means a lot, because it gives the guys a feeling you're in there pitching with them.

I know one thing. When I get out of here I'm going to give some blood myself.

What happened to that pint of Blood You were going to Give?

Whitey Sure "Rang the Bell"

Telephone woke me out of a sound sleep last Friday about eleven-thirty. "This is Whitey Fisher out on River Road," says a voice. "I just wanted to tell you how much I like this week's Clarion."

"Thanks, Whitey," I told him. "But why in blazes call to tell me at this time of night?" "Simple," he says, "your paper boy just delivered it a short while ago. Been waiting for it all evening."

Next day, Buzzy Wilson tells me he delivered Whitey's paper late because he stayed for the school dance and thought it would be OK to drop it off on his way home.

From where I sit, I can't blame Whitey for his joke. He was just reminding me we owe other people the same respect we expect from them. Since I'm always talking about respecting the other fellow's rights—including his right to enjoy a glass of beer if he chooses, it was only fair that Whitey should "wake me up" to his right to get his copy of the Clarion on time. Thanks again, Whitey!

THE LONG AND THE SHORT—AT COLLEGE—College life has its long and short features too. Two Hardin-Simmons University grads, Dick Collins of Chillicothe and Newell H. Odell, of Childress, bring out the two extremes. Collins, 3 feet, 11 inches tall is a journalism major who has served as the college mascot since his freshman days, uses special platforms marked "Dick" which are spotted around the campus to reach "high places." Odell, 6 feet, 7 inches, received a master of education degree and will become superintendent of schools at Childress July 1.

Movie of the Week

"There goes Do Nothing striking for second base. And he slid in with another steal. Man what a thief!"

Perhaps you aren't too familiar with the murdering job Dizzy Dean performs on the King's English. But very few people would fall to show recognition when you mention "Ole Diz's" name.

And very few people in Garza county will want to miss Blue Ribbon Award winning picture of Dizzy Dean's life which shows at the TOWER Sunday and Monday.

"THE PRIDE OF ST. LOUIS", starring Dan Dally as the loveable, adorable, unpredictable Diz, has hit the top on the nation's movie barometer since it was released. It averaged a total of 106 in 20 key cities, which is an outstanding count in any body's language.

And in the Boxoffice Review Digest (taken from seven leading magazines) "THE PRIDE OF ST. LOUIS" stars a 10 plus hit. Not one single magazine scores it with a minus.

Siding Dan Dally in the story is the "gal who caught his Sunday pitch", the lovely Joanne Dru, "THE PRIDE OF ST. LOUIS" takes the movie fan from the small Arkansas farm town where Dean (real name Herman Jerome, pitched as a barefoot farm boy and where he is signed by a big league scout, to the real big league. It reveals his crazy antics, his jokes, his human story and his big league heart.

Many small happenings—humorous and otherwise—so familiar with baseball are told in the story which America will take to its heart. Don't fail to see "THE PRIDE OF ST. LOUIS" at the TOWER on Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Punk Peel will certainly enjoy "THE PRIDE OF ST. LOUIS". So two tickets are theirs for the asking at the box-office, good for any performance.

Now for the pick of the other two outstanding shows. Like Jimmy Stewart? Naturally. Like Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn? Of course.

Well, you will see all these fine stars in pictures slated for the TOWER this week.

Tomorrow and Saturday Jimmy Stewart stars in the story of "CARBINE WILLIAMS." It is the story of a convict with a gun! Stewart portrays, as only he can, the life of Williams, who, while serving a life sentence in the pen, invents the carbine which the United States soldiers use today. A touching human story portrayed by one of the best in the acting field.

Next Wednesday and Thursday, Tracy and Hepburn team in the laugh-riff of the year, "PAT AND MIKE".

Mike (Spencer Tracy) is a Broadway promoter who has tried his hand at everything, horses, fighters and on and on. Now he takes the stupendous task of promoting a woman athlete, who naturally is Pat (Katharine Hepburn).

His job becomes somewhat embarrassing when his charge becomes so strong and adept at Judo that she plasters him once or twice that he is thinking of giving up the whole deal. But, like other women, Pat uses her wiles and makes him out a hero, thereby soothing his ego and winning his hand, wedding that is.

The smiling Jenkins told his successors of one problem he encountered a half century ago. The people apparently did not like the implication that they could not find a seat without help. Very often, Jenkins recalled, he would walk down the aisle, find empty seats, turn around and discover the worshippers he was leading had already found seats elsewhere.

Jenkins had some advice for his successor, Tom Joseph, Jr. An usher's greatest problem, said Jenkins, is to persuade people to sit in the front row seats.

"Sometimes you can get the women up front with a couple of comments," Jenkins added. "I used to greet them with, 'Let's put these good-looking people up at the front of the church to inspire the preacher.' It nearly always worked."

Stepping down as head usher means Jenkins must give up the seat unofficially reserved for him these many years. It is the seat first to the right as one enters.

Jenkins still will be an official greeter. He is deacon and associate superintendent of Sunday school. But he no longer is an usher during regular church services.

Very often, Jenkins recalled, he would walk down the aisle, find empty seats, turn around and discover the worshippers he was leading had already found seats elsewhere.

What Does The Church of Christ Teach About The Old Testament?

The Church of Christ does not teach that the Old Testament is binding upon men today. We believe and teach the Old Testament to be as much the inspired word of God as the New Testament, but that does not make it the authority for our faith and practice today. For example, it is a part of God's inspired word that Noah was commanded to build an ark. But we do not believe that we have to build one. We believe that we can learn much from his obeying God in the matter.

This poses a question. If the Old Testament is not binding upon men today, then why teach it? What advantage is there in studying it? Much in every way. God's law or conditions of faith have changed, but the principle of faith has not. To make the matter clearer, the writer of Hebrews devotes chpt. 11 to instruct the New Testament church in the matter of acceptable faith. Yet, not one example of faith is offered from the Old Testament days. Everyone comes from the Old Testament. Does that mean that to follow the teachings of Heb. 11 we must build an ark, leave our country like Abraham, march around the walls of Jericho, and keep the passover? These are a few examples given in the chpt. of things accomplished by faith.

It is readily clear to any one, who is half-way seeking the truth, that the inspired writer is dealing with the principle of faith, and not the conditions of Old Testament faith as mentioned in the chpt.

Salvation in any sense has always depended upon grace on God's part and faith on man's. These principles have and will never change. In the Old Testament, both negatively and positively, we see these principles at work. The Old Testament therefore serves as a warning and an encouragement. Heb. 11:4, "For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and hope of the scriptures might have hope."

As invaluable as the Old Testament is, if anyone wants to know the conditions of faith today, they will have to read the scriptures of the New Testament. (Jan. 1:23, Heb. 1:2, etc.)

Quantin Penning,
Minister of Church of Christ.

Long-Range Battle Against Polio Is Outlined By Cox

A long-range battle plan against rampaging polio was outlined Wednesday by the State Department of Health.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox recommended these eight points of action in combatting the disease which this year is striking harder at Texas than at any other part of the nation:

1. Spot spray insect breeding places after they have been cleaned up and destroyed. Spraying indiscriminately might kill a few insects on the wing, but it won't do the job. It might kill valuable plants and create a false sense of security.

2. Get rid of animal shelters in urban areas. They cannot be kept clean and consequently create a health hazard as fly breeders.

3. Get rid of dump piles, tin cans, old tires, and accumulated debris which breed flies and mosquitoes and provide harborage for rats.

4. Provide a properly operated sewerage system, and get rid of all surface toilets. Dr. Cox believes surface toilets constitute one of the major health hazards facing Texas.

5. Provide a source of pure water.

6. Protect food supplies in wholesale business houses, retail shops, and in private homes.

7. Make regular inspections of all premises to see that no possibility exists for fly breeding. If you have flies, somebody is maintaining a breeding spot.

8. Garbage should be placed in fly tight garbage cans until time of disposal. Tubs, boxes, lidless garbage cans, etc., are of no value.

He urged each home owner to assume responsibility for keeping his property clean inside and out. This will help protect you and your neighbor. More people have been struck down this year by polio than ever before.

He said it takes months and months to clean up a city, and that it "takes forever to keep it that way." The program must be continuous. "It will take from one to five years to really clean up our larger cities," Cox said.

"This is the same program we have followed and published for the past ten years. People have got to get over the notion that spraying alone will keep their city fly-free," Dr. Cox declared. "The only way to kill flies is to do it methodically, block by block, by eliminating their breeding places."

"They carry many diseases—diarrhea, typhoid fever, cholera, trachoma, just to mention a few. I firmly believe that if this 8-point program is invoked, we'll see a lessening of polio incidence in the future."

Mabel Ann Manley Is Saturday Bride Of A. E. Sanders

Miss Mabel Ann Manley, former Garza County Home Demonstration agent, and A. E. Sanders, of Morton, were married there Saturday morning.

Music included "Because", "Meditation" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. Ollie S. Robinson, pastor of the First Baptist church, read the double ring ceremony at 10 o'clock, in the morning.

Given in marriage by her father, A. E. Manley, of Direct, the bride wore a mist brown linen dress with brown and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders left for a trip to Yellowstone National park. They will be at home in Morton after Saturday.

The bride is a graduate of East Texas State Teachers college and will teach in Morton schools next term. She has been Home Demonstration agent of Cochran county for more than seven years.

Sanders is employed by the Postal department and is also engaged in farming. He is a graduate of Ropesville high school and served with the Engineering Corp during World War II.

Tom Green County Land Not For Sale

SAN ANGELO, (P)—The slow down in the farm land boom reported recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture doesn't hold true here.

Even if you could pay the high prices asked, you would have difficulty buying a farm in Tom Green county. Most farms aren't for sale.

Those that can be bought would have to be paid for at the rate of $200 an acre in some cases, say land specialists. That is higher than five years ago.

Official Ballot For July Primary Voted Determined By Executive Committee

The official voting ballot which Garza county voters will use in the July 26 primary was drawn up last week by the county Democratic Executive committee, according to an announcement by Chairman T. R. Greenfield.

Members also estimated and apportioned the cost of the primary.

Beginning with the state offices the official ballot this year will read:

For Governor: Allan Shivers, Jefferson county; Ralph W. Yarborough, Travis county; and Mrs. Allene N. Traylor, Bexar county.

For Lieutenant Governor: Ben Ramsey, San Augustine county and Frank Hessbrook Morales, Travis county.

EXAMPLE

To set a lofty example is the richest bequest a man can leave behind him.

—Samuel Smiles.

Example is always more efficacious than precept.

—Samuel Johnson.

No reproof is so potent as the silent lesson of a good example.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

No life can be pure in its purpose, and strong in its strife, and all life not be purer and stronger thereby.

—Owen Meredith.

Put your creed into your deed. Nor speak with double tongue.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Example has more followers than reason. We unconsciously imitate what pleases us, and approximate to the characters we most admire.

Have you tried Buick's POWER STEERING?

smoothness that make this ROADMASTER so distinguished among fine cars.

Where then, you ask, does Power Steering come in?

When you want to get into—or out of—a tight spot at the curb, Power Steering takes over the extra effort of turning the wheels, and you can forget the two-ton-plus of automobile you're handling.

When you want to turn around in a narrow space—Power Steering lets you get the last inch of benefit from Buick's short turning radius, because it makes the maneuver so easy.

When one front wheel hits a bump, a chuckhole, loose sand or dirt at the edge of a road—Power Steering takes up the jerk—makes control of the wheel easier and therefore safer.

Many folks who have tried it tell us that Power Steering has added almost as much to the pleasure of owning a Buick as Dynaflow Drive.

When would you like to try it?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. †Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster only.

County 4-H Members Tell Of Trip to Club Round Up Held At A. and M.

V. A. Lobban
June 9, 1952, 5
4-Hers including two sponsors, arrived at the Post bus station at 7:15 a. m. We were very disappointed to find that our voting delegate, Myers, was ill and couldn't go. At 8:15 the buses pulled into the bus station at Post. There were two buses for this district. We were to meet the third bus at Abilene. There were six of us. We were: Lewis Herron, and Mrs. Hardy Smith, sponsors; Norma Ritchie, Sue Stevens, Wy-vonne Morris, and myself, V. A.
Lobbin, jr., members.
At Snyder we picked up some boys and girls from Borden county. We did not stop again until we got to Abilene, where we met the other bus and ate dinner.

At 11:00 we were on our way again. We stopped at Temple and Comanche before we got to Bryan, Texas, where A&M College is situated. We got there at 5:30.

The first thing we did was to get our rooms in the dormitory.
After that we got ready for supper. It was an excellent meal.
We were served family style.
At 7:30 we went to the Groove
where we played some games and danced awhile.

Tuesday morning after breakfast we went to Sblsa Hall where the president of S.M.U., Dr.
Humphrey Lee, gave a speech on honesty. It was a very interesting talk. I enjoyed it very much.
At 1:00 we went to Guion Hall and saw a shooting exhibition by Capt. Don Lawrence of the highway patrol.

Directly after that we had our pictures taken.
We also went on a tour of the land owned by A&M, given to them by the Morrill Act.

The night of the Tenth we had a banquet in Sblsa Hall which is the largest Lunch Room in the world. The rest of the time we ate in Duncan Hall. It is the second largest lunch room in the world. The banquet was very nice. After the banquet some dancers and singers put on a very good show for us.

Wednesday morning we started home. We stopped in the same towns coming home that we stopped in going down. We again ate dinner at Abilene. We got home about 5:00 o'clock.

I think we all had lots of fun and met many new friends. I know I did any way and I hope I may be able to go again next year.

Norma Ritchie

June 9: We left Post on a chartered bus around seven o'clock.
First town we stopped in was Snyder, then we stopped at Abilene Christian College for dinner.

We stopped at Temple, where we were to get some free ice cream. We were thirty minutes too early, so we didn't get any.
Arriving at A&M about five o'clock, Mr. Herron went to the administrative building to get our meal tickets and find out what building we were supposed to stay in.

Sue Stephens and I shared a room. At six o'clock we had supper at Duncan Hall. After supper there was a party for all 4-H members. They taught square dancing and other dances. After the party was over it was bedtime.

June 10: Breakfast was at 6
a. m. Following that we attended a meeting at Sblsa Hall where we had a program and discussed ideas we take back to our club.
From eleven to twelve we could go anywhere we wanted to, but had to be back for dinner at twelve. At 10 a. m. we went to Guion Hall for information on safety. It was very interesting.

After it was over we had our picture taken. It was in the shape of a big T with a 4 on one side and an H on the other.

After that we went on a tour of A&M by buses.—first we went to a dairy where we got some ice cream, and from there to the agriculture building where they experimented on raising all kinds of plants. The next stop was at the Swine building, next to the poultry farm. After the tour we went back to our rooms to get ready for a banquet at Sblsa Hall given by Sears Roebuck and company.

The menu was: tea, salad, half chicken, beans, rolls, butter, and lemon pie. Music was provided by Larry Herman.

After we finished eating there was a program and then it was bedtime.

June 11: Breakfast again at six o'clock. Then time to leave. We left at seven o'clock and arrived in Post at 5 p. m. It was a very nice trip and I enjoyed it and everything very much.

Wyvonne Morris

Sue Stephens, Norma Ritchie,
Mrs. Hardy Smith, V. A. Lobban,
Mr. Lewis Herron and I boarded the bus about 7 Monday morning. We traveled all morning, except for brief stops, till we reached Abilene. We ate dinner at the ACC cafeteria. We loaded back on the buses and arrived at College Station about 5:30 p. m. Mr.

Herron then got our meal tickets and room numbers. We girls stayed in dorm seven. We unpacked our clothes and went to supper at Duncan hall at 6:30
p. m.

At 8:30 they had a party at The Grove where they taught some new singing games. We had to be back in our rooms at 10:40 and lights out by 11 p. m.

The next morning most everyone was up at 5 a. m. We ate breakfast at six.

Sue then went to the public speaking contest at 9 a. m.

Norma, Mrs. Smith and I attended the formal opening of Sblsa Hall where Dr. George C.
Baker, jr., made a talk on Tomorrow's Honors. Mrs. Smith then went to a leaders conference.

Norma and I met Sue in time for dinner. After dinner Mrs.
Smith joined us at Guion Hall for a demonstration on guns by Captain Don Lawrence of the Department of Public Safety. After this they loaded us on buses and toured the campus. We went through the dairy and swine barns.

We then went to a banquet given by Sears, Roebuck and Co.
We were entertained by the music of Larry Herman and after by the Joan Frank Dancers, Joaquin Garay and George Dunn.

The next morning we got up

Tulia Rodeo Is Set For July 14

The Sixth Annual Tulia Amateur Rodeo will begin this year on July 14 and run through July 17 at the 7-chute Tulia Rodeo Grounds.

All four performances will begin at 8:30 in the evening with a wide assortment of events and participating cowboys from all over the Tri-State area, Ohio and California.

Events include: calf roping,
bull dogging, double mugging, saddle bronc riding, bare back bronc riding and a cowgirl sponsor contest.

Final performance, on the evening of July 17, will climax the Swisher County Old Settlers' Picnic—the 62nd celebration of the birthday of the county. Following the rodeo, a fireworks display will be run off.

Livestock for the rodeo is being furnished by Claud Hays of Weatherford, Okla., who furnished the same livestock for the Pollo Benefit Rodeo in Okla-

and packed and ate breakfast.
We boarded the buses at 7 a. m.
Again we ate dinner at Abilene.
We reached Post about 5 p. m.

I enjoyed this trip very much and I want to thank everyone who made the trip possible.

National Life Plan To Open In County

Enrollment in the National Life Benefit Hospital and Surgical plan will open in Post within a short time according to an announcement from C. E. Brown, company representative.

Now in its 43rd year, the company has protected families and individuals in hundreds of communities throughout Texas and in various states. Home office is in Houston.

The company was incorporated under the laws of Texas in 1908. Its policies have liberal coverage for hospital, hospital expenses and surgical bills. Many families have received benefits for hospitalization and surgical fees.

Accredited enrollment representative direct from the division office will interview residents in Post and the county and give those who qualify the opportunity to enroll.

Post Soil Conservation Personnel Explains Problems Of County Farms

Farmers in the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District are much concerned about their crops at this time. Soil Conservation personnel believe that crops growing on land where there is some stubble left from last year's crop have a much better chance to survive the hot dry winds.

The stubbles provide some protection from the wind and also decrease the rate of evaporation caused by the wind and sun, thus giving the small cotton and feed seedlings a chance to survive long enough to develop extensive root system in the sub-soil moisture.

The Supervisors of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation District recommend that farmers plan each year to plant a part of their land to a crop that will leave large amounts of stalk and litter on land. By doing this the Supervisors believe that farmers can expect a better and more uniform stand of crop each year.

Another critical problem confronting the ranchers of the Duck Creek Soil Conservation district at present is the shortage of grass. Plants thrive when moisture is good and the degree of use is moderate. They suffer most in dry weather when grazing is too great. Ranchers cannot control the weather but they can minimize the effect of drought by keeping their grassland in good condition.

Post Soil Conservation personnel believe that if the ranchers will follow a few rules they can decide for themselves when their grass is being properly used. About half of the yearly volume of growth can be safely grazed. This means that the average grazed heights of short grass should be about 1½ to 2 inches; 4 to 7 inches for mid grasses; and 7 to 10 inches for tall grasses.

There are definite economic reasons for grazing moderately. On the Spur, Texas experiment station, yearly income from steers was 50 to 60 percent greater when they grazed half the forage as compared to when they ate 75 percent of the yearly grass growth.

Duck Creek Soil Conservation district supervisors recommend that if ranchers could stock ranges with 40 to 50 percent of their herd as breeding animals and 40 to 50 percent as stocker and feeder animals it would help. During the drought and other periods of feed shortages, the stocker and feeder animals can be sold, leaving all of grass to carry the breeding herd through with greater safety and economy.

Some other general rules that will help ranchers maintain their grass are: distribute grazing uniformly by proper use and distribution of water and salt, rest grass during growing season to allow plants to produce seed, use concentrate and other feeds to supplement the grass, and also if possible use of temporary pastures such as blue panicum or sudan grass.

Walter B. Holland Motor Company To Hold Grand Opening Saturday

Post and Garza county residents have a standing invitation Saturday to attend the Grand Opening of the Walter B. Holland Motor company on North Broadway.

Holland, who is operating his company in the old building occupied by S. C. Storie, has the Studebaker Agency for Graza county. This is the first time the Studebaker Agency has been operated in the county and Holland is proudly showing off his new line of cars.

He will have four new models on display Saturday and invites everyone to come by and view them.

And that's not all! Lucky persons attending the Grand Opening Saturday will receive some mighty fine prizes—and plenty of cold drinks and cookies.

Historical Data Needed On Garza

LUBBOCK.—If you are thinking of burning Great-Aunt Hattie's picture, don't do it. You might be destroying valuable historical material.

At least that's the opinion of Dr. Carl Coke Rister, author and distinguished professor of history at Texas Tech.

Tech is trying to build a Southwest Collection, documentary and personal history of the southwestern region. Dr. Rister feels that there is a wealth of regional history gathering dust in the form of old photographs, correspondence, journals, diaries, maps and other documents.

These papers probably will not appear significant, say Dr. Rister. He asks any person who owns such material to consult him before destroying any papers of this type.

The Collection of old books on the Southwest and the general region is also a necessary part of the historical research project. The supply of these early editions is being exhausted by private collectors, he said.

A total of 119 volumes were added to the Tech Library collection on the Southwest last year. Several out-of-print magazine editions were acquired. Plans are underway to purchase materials unavailable in print. The present list includes $1,000 worth of material to be obtained from the National Archives and Division of Manuscripts, Library of Congress.

Dr. Rister estimates the proposed research center's cost of $100,000 for the next 10 years.

Some Confusion Abounds In Deciding The Birth Of Seventh Inning Stretch

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Editor
How did the seventh-inning stretch originate in baseball?

It's not of any great consequence and the world will go on without the answer, but for those who deal in "how it began" it's an intriguing question.

Even the baseball powers do not know exactly.

Commissioner Ford Frick's office says the generally accepted origin is that the late President Howard Taft, while attending a big league game, got up to stretch his legs in the seventh inning. Everybody else followed suit.

Dave Grote, manager of the National League service bureau, gives two versions.

1. During a game between Providence and Boston in 1884—or 1886—for some unknown reason, the fans decided to rise and stretch at that particular point of the contest. The newspapers commented on it and it grew to be a habit in Providence and was picked up from there.

2. A newspaper clipping says the seventh-inning stretch originated during a game in Pittsburgh (the year not mentioned) when President Taft decided to take a stretch. The clipping says, "Thinking the chief executive was about to leave the ball park, the fans stood out of respect. Then, when it was discovered that Taft was only stretching, baseball fans took up the idea and since that time it has been customary for the spectators to rise and stretch before the home team goes to bat in the seventh inning." But this clipping said other accounts differed as to the origin of the stretch.

That's as close as can be gotten on why you rise and take a stretch in the middle of the seventh inning. But, like the Texas Leaguer and other terms and customs in baseball, it just goes on and on without anybody knowing the origin. For that matter, nobody worries much about it.

The PGA has decided that when one of its members is fined for violating the rules of golf no publicity is to be given it.

In other words, if a golfer curses the gallery, goes on an unauthorized trip and misses a certain tournament or in any way violates the rules he can be assured that it won't be in the newspapers unless he wants it there.

The PGA says the golfer himself can announce that he has been fined or penalized but the PGA isn't going to do it.

That's a peculiar way to operate a public sport like golf where the players tour the country, take down big money prizes and cost the fans hundreds of dollars to see them play.

It certainly is no way to prevent unethical practices on the links. The average golfer doesn't mind a $100 fine but he doesn't like the public to know he's been penalized.

The PGA isn't a very efficient organization, anyway, it appears here. There is no central head who can make a decision and make announcements about a tournament. It's always "you'll have to see the committee." The committee is a group of golfers who usually are playing in the tournament.

I asked the PGA tournament supervisor if Jim Ferrier had been fined for using bad language in the Ardmore, Okla., open. He said I'd have to get the information from the committee. I asked Horton Smith, president of the PGA and member of the committee. He said the supervisor had a statement. I asked the supervisor and he said he had no statement. I then asked Ferrier and he said he had been fined. Afterward, the supervisor, after conferring with Smith, handed out a written statement.

Fred Cochran was booted out of the job of tournament supervisor because some of the golfers didn't like him. But the fact remains that when Fred was running the show every question was answered and every rule violation dealt with—and the press knew what was going on.

Sweepback Wings On Airplanes Are Best

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (AP)—Sweepback wing effect will be standard for every first-line combat plane in the Air Force by 1955, says Alexander Kartveli, vice-president of Republic Aviation Corp.

"It's sweepback wings that help man fly faster than sound," he said. "Sweepback wings cut down on what airmen call drag. For example, a plane with wings swept back 45 degrees flying at the speed of sound (760 miles an hour at sea level) reacts to the pilot's control like a straight-wing plane at only 540 mph.

"Thus a plane with sweepback wings is more maneuverable at high speeds, can turn, wheel, climb and dive easier," he said.

Old Dobbin found the gate open . . . so he just strayed off. All that is left is an empty stall.

It's no use to take a lot of precaution after the damage is done. After a serious accident, it's foolish to have your brakes retined, when your car is just a pile of junk.

There are lots of folks in hospitals or crippled for life, that only wish now that they had the foresight, to have had their car SAFE-T-WAY SERVICED at regular intervals.

4-H Round Up Is Enjoyable Event

(Editor's Note: This account by Sue Stephens of her trip to the 4-H Round Up was to have been included in the big story in this issue of the Dispatch, but since it arrived too late to be included, it is given here with.)

By Sue Stephens

June 9 about 6:30 a. m., found the Post delegation at the bus station waiting for the busses to take us to A&M College Station for the 4-H Round Up. This group consisted of Mrs. Hardie Smith, Mr. Herron, V. A. Lobban, Jr., Norma Ritchie, Wyvonne Morris and I. When we were getting on the bus Wyvonne caused a giggle from most every one by announcing that I would have to sit in the colored section and to even things up I got her and Norma to come sit with me.

The trip to A&M was nice and quiet with solo and duets by Wyvonne and me—to just us. We are bashful. We put one by Mr. Herron, he paid for the meal at A.C.C. where we had dinner coming and going. We thought we were going to have to pay for our own, and didn't tell him till after he had paid. We arrived at College Station in time to eat supper and go to the party at "The Grove" that night. We enjoyed the party and are looking forward to teaching what we learned to other club members.

After breakfast, Wednesday, we parted company. I went to Public Speaking and the others to Salsa Hall for a nice program. I am sorry I didn't win the contest for District II, but I hope Garza county has a state winner next year.

After noon we met at Gulon Hall for a shooting exhibition and to make a picture of every one there in a group. After this we made a tour of the college by bus. We went to the different departments and through some of the buildings. Our guide explained every thing to us and we learned a lot and enjoyed it every bit.

To me this was the highlight of the trip. I think A&M is an ideal college. It has farmers, cowboys, and a football team. I would like to see more Post boys go to college there.

Tuesday night we all attended the banquet given to us by Sears-Roebuck and Co. It is the best banquet I have ever attended or could hope to attend. To tell all about it would take too much space.

Everyone had a good time and is looking forward to going again.

Tornado Warnings Devised In Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (P)—Mississippi's highway patrol and the Jackson Weather Bureau have blueprinted a plan for a statewide tornado warning network. The nature of tornadoes makes it impossible to predict where they will strike until the familiar and dreaded black funnel appears, and then too often, it is too late.

George Fish, meteorologist in charge of the Jackson Bureau and Col. T. B. Birdsong, director of the Mississippi Safety Commission, have devised a warning system that will use the highway patrol's nine radio stations as relay points.

Highway patrolmen will be instructed in how to spot and recognize the severe thunderstorm activity that usually precedes tornadoes. They will be given a regular course in weather observing. The patrolmen will report storms to the nearest radio relay station. This information will be radioed to the Weather Bureau which in turn will have it broadcast over local radio stations in the storm area.

Theatres Getting TV Screens For Patrons

NEW YORK (AP) — At latest count, approximately 60 theatres in this country have been equipped for large screen television. For the most part the projectors are used for sports events like championship boxing matches, with an admission being charged.

The next step would be its conversion for color television, which is not quite as ticklish a problem with the big screens because of the talent with engineering know-how available to install and operate.
