Fourth American Troop Convoy Arrives Unscathed In Ireland

REVIEWING THE BIG SPRING WEEK

BY JOE PICKLE

The brightest bit of news for this crowded through the past week was that which said designation of Big Spring as a "critical" area would be forthcoming right away. It will mean some priorities for building a few houses—if there are not too many other restrictions to make building impractical.

The influx of people continues. While details on progress of work at the air school are restricted in print, it can be said that the building pace is quickening every day. Reliable sources indicate that the number of workers at the airport is probably in four figures, and is yet about one-third the anticipated peak.

Today is the 16th birthday of our Flag. Every good citizen will be on hand for the parade and ceremonies this evening marking our city's tribute to the emblem which stands for all that is decent and honorable and brave. The review is at 6:45, the program at the courthouse at 7 o'clock.

And pledges of allegiance to the flag are a bit empty these days unless followed up by positive patriotism. The positive patriotism we know for the folks at home is to buy more and more war bonds. We're falling 'way behind on our June quota, and it's going to take a mighty spurt to put us over the top.

The treasury department's newest publicity booklet stresses the fact that you invest three dollars with Uncle Sam now, and get four back in ten years. Nobody ever got hurt on that percentage—but everybody is going to get hurt if we don't come through with finances for this war.

Read all the stories of what the boys are accomplishing in the Pacific, and you'll waste no more time in buying those bonds. The campaigning is due to start any time, now that the lists are closed. Big Springers got their first taste of it on a statewide basis when Jimmie Allred fired a mighty blast at W. Leo the other night. Members of Allred's party said he "poured it on" stronger here than he had in any previous speech.

The school district is not kidding on those tax suits. Our schools are up against it for money, and one place to get some is in the delinquent list. The continuous teacher resignations point up the dire need for paying instructors more money—and the trustees can't pay it if they haven't got it. Hence, any collection suits filed will be carried through to conclusion. (B. W.)

Pappy Says There Aint Gonna Be No Gas Rationing

By The Associated Press
Senator W. Lee O'Daniel opened his campaign for re-election Saturday night, promising his Waco listeners "there ain't going to be any gasoline rationing in Texas; we ain't going to lose the war, and there ain't going to be no run-off."

The senator's speech broke his silence in the face of charges of his inactivity from candidates James V. Allred and Dan Moody.

Well-Armored Contingent Is 'Greatest Yet'

WITH THE AEF IN NORTHERN IRELAND, June 13 (AP)—Thousands of heavily armed United States troops, equipped with 28-ton tanks and other offensive weapons, moved into camp in Northern Ireland tonight from the "greatest American convoy which ever crossed the Atlantic" in grim evidence of allied hopes of opening a second front against Germany this year.

Warships flying the U. S. ensign shepherded the convoy through Nazi submarine hunting grounds without incident, and this fourth announced AEF contingent swung jauntily down the gangplanks as if impatient to get along with the business of fighting Germans.

From at least nine states they came—an indication in itself of the diversity and size of the newest force. Troops from Pennsylvania, California, Georgia, Illinois, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky shouted cheerily at uniformed women of the British Army Auxiliary forces while military bands piped out "Deep in the Heart of Texas," "Jersey Bounce" and other tunes.

For the first time since the last war, negro troops were landed on British soil. An army statement said their number was small and that they were intended for "services of supply."

Despite their growing numbers, the combined American and British invasion force—virtually promised to Russia for opening a second front to divert Nazi strength from the vital eastern front—face grave problems before they can spring across the channel. Some 500,000 or more German veterans await their assault in France and the lowlands, and the paucity of shipping and the problems of supply still appear to bar immediate continental invasion.

The U. S. and British general staffs now are grappling with the logistics of opening a western front. Logistics—the problem of moving, quartering and supplying troops—is considered equally important to strategy and tactics in planning a descent upon the continent.

The shipping squeeze is the main problem, since authorities consider that supplies and equipment for each American soldier weigh 15 tons. To move a large American army of 25 divisions into action, some experts say that 4,000,000 tons of shipping would be required.

Like their comrades of previous convoys, the doughboys face further intensive training in northern Ireland.

Texas Congressmen Review Activities

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Three Texas congressmen, speaking on the Texas forum of the air prepared for broadcast Sunday over radio stations in their state, reviewed legislative measures taken up in the house during the past week and those which are expected to be considered during the next few days.

Directing the forum was Representative Wright Patman of Texas. On the air with him were Representatives George Mahon of Colorado City and Ed Gossett of Wichita Falls.

Parade, Program Today To Honor Stars And Stripes

America's Star-Spangled banner will be enfolded in a patriotic parade and rally in Big Spring today—Flag Day. Everyone possessing a flag is asked to fly it in front of his home or business throughout the day; then, to climax the day's observance, a parade will move through downtown streets, beginning at 6:45 p. m. and arriving at the courthouse lawn bandstand at 7 p. m. for a patriotic rally. (If weather is inclement, the program will be held in the city auditorium and the parade will be cancelled.)

The parade will present a martial air, with veterans of past wars, local defense guardsmen and air patrolmen, and air raid wardens among the marching groups.

Stirring music by the high school band, singing of patriotic songs by the crowd, and patriotic speeches are on the 45-minute program, which will conclude early enough not to interfere with church services. The program will be broadcast from 7 to 7:45 p. m.

'Critical' Housing Designation Due

Designation of Big Spring as a "critical" area—all important basis for making possible construction to relieve the city's housing shortage—is expected by Monday.

Culmination of an arduous campaign by the chamber of commerce to improve the housing situation, a telegram came late Saturday from Congressman George Mahon saying that all preliminaries on the housing designation had been cleared, and that final OK is expected from J. B. Blanford, defense housing coordinator, no later than Monday. Mahon had been at work on the proposition for several days, following through on surveys and other information the chamber of commerce had supplied.

Effect of the designation will be to break the freeze of new construction, and to permit construction of a certain number of houses. Priorities will be issued through FHA offices for a group of houses, for which materials would be made available. Later, other priorities might be granted for additional units. What number would be released in the first list was not determined, but FHA men indicated that a "trial" release would be made to determine the response in building, and in later needs for additional housing.

Surveys by the chamber of commerce indicate that materials are in the hands of local dealers in sufficient amount to complete some 20 to 30 moderate sized houses. Most materialmen also have indicated that enough labor could be obtained.

Already issued are new regulations permitting priorities for alteration work which would result in living quarters for an additional family, and persons wanting to do this type of construction have been instructed to get application blanks from materials dealers. Under this program, a house could be remodeled, and a bathroom added, provided the change resulted in making available new accommodations.

Meanwhile, a meeting of housing people, finance men and other civic leaders is planned for Monday afternoon. C-C manager J. H. Greene said, at which time discussion will center on immediate steps to provide living facilities for persons connected with the air school and other newcomers.

The shortage of houses and apartments remained acute, with the demand far beyond the supply. Many families are taking single bedrooms when they cannot get more space, and the city's tourist camps are running full.

Solitary German Plane Raids England

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—At least nine persons were killed last night in the bombing of an east coast town by a solitary German raider. Others were believed to have been trapped.

Oklahoma City Cyclone Kills 30 Persons

Terrible Power Of Storm Described By Witnesses

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13 (AP)—Red Cross and other relief agencies cared today for 250 homeless victims of a tornado that killed 30 persons in a residential district here and roared off "whistling like 10,000 devils."

That description came from Private G. J. Prince of Will Rogers air field who saw the funnel dip down last night out of a stormy sky, lift a huge truck and lay it down near him in a ditch where he had taken refuge.

The Army sent soldiers from the air base who tolled through the night bringing dead and injured from the debris, then stayed on tirelessly through the day to help tend the survivors.

An area two blocks square in the southwest corner of the city was scoured bare of houses, and only a few trees, limbs and leaves wrenched away by the wind, still stood.

Survivors told of a blast of hot wind that preceded the blow, of a half-dressed man who had seen the funnel bearing down and ran through the streets sounding a police whistle to give the alarm.

But there were not enough storm cellars, and many of the dead and the 25 critically injured were caught in their automobiles as they tried to escape the storm's wrath.

A group of soldiers, taking refuge in a ditch, had a ringside seat to disaster.

By the brilliant flashes of lightning they said they saw homes, schools and trees snapped like matches, cars hurled into the air.

Then what had been a residential district a few minutes before was a barren waste in the lightning play, swept clean in some instances even of the foundations on which the houses stood.

The hush that always falls immediately after such storms was broken by the cries of injured, and the soldiers came from the ditches to go into action.

State police, city police, and the Red Cross were on the scene quickly and all through the night volunteers and the disaster relief professionals poked side by side through the ruins of homes and buildings.

A school outside of the storm's path was turned into an emergency shelter and here the Red Cross set up cots and passed out food. The Army put an emergency field dressing station on the scene.

New Information Office Created

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt today created an "office of war information," headed by Elmer Davis, the writer and radio commentator, who was given authority to handle all the information functions of the government.

The new agency will consolidate all of the functions and duties of the Office of Facts and Figures, now headed by Archibald MacLellan; the Office of Government Reports, headed by Lowell Mellett; the division of information in the Office for Emergency Management, in charge of Robert W. Horton, and the foreign information service of the Office of the Coordinator of Information, directed by William J. Donovan.

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, June 13 (AP)—Probably eight Japanese aircraft carriers were sunk or so badly damaged in the Midway and Coral Sea battles that they will be unfit for early action, it was shown today by communications and reports of battle participants.

This appears to be more than half of the known carrier power of Japan's navy.

Men Stick To Their Posts — Here's How Great Ship Goes Down

By ROBERT S. PRESCOTT
SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 13 (AP)—Sinking of the U.S.S. Lexington, gutted by fires below decks and rocked by explosion after explosion of burning ammunition and gasoline, was described vividly today by Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, commander of the big aircraft carrier fatally crippled by Japanese planes in the battle of the Coral Sea May 8.

Sherman said the "heartbreaking" end of the Lexington, finally sent under by torpedoes from an American destroyer, nevertheless came as a stirring part of a great United States sea victory.

At dawn May 8 our scouting forces went out, and located two Japanese aircraft carriers and several other enemy ships hidden in a rain squall about 200 miles away.

"It was evident to us our forces and the enemy had contacted each other at about the same time, however, so we prepared for attack as we sent two riding squadrons out.

"We found one of the Japs — the Shō Kaku — about 11 a. m., and pounded it with heavy 1,000-pound bombs and hit it with five torpedoes. Our planes left her settling fast, with flames and smoke rising nearly a thousand feet in the air.

"Thirteen minutes later they came at each of our carriers with 54 planes. We were ready for them. Air patrols intercepted them, and there was a very hot aerial fight.

"We shot down 40 of their 108 planes, but not before they had dropped bombs and torpedoes.

Four Big Planes Land In Turkey

LONDON, June 13 (AP)—Four mysterious United States bombers, reported by official Turkish sources to have landed in Turkey yesterday with American crews, were described in British press dispatches tonight as members of a U.S. squadron based on Egypt which had been bombing axis bases on the German-occupied Black Sea coast of Russia.

This, said an Exchange Telegraph Agency dispatch from Ankara, "would seem to be the first indication that a powerful American bomber command exists in the Middle East."

According to some reports reaching London, Rumanian refineries—through which pass much of Germany's present oil supply—were among the targets of the powerful, long-range bombers.

In Ankara, United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt declined to make any statement concerning the incidents.

Not only was this the first indication that United States air forces as such were in combat in the Middle East, but it was the first hint of direct action by American fighting services in the battle of Russia.

Turkish sources of information were most circumspect. The official radio stated merely that four American planes had made forced landings at various villages. Informal sources added that the crews—estimated variously at from 21 to 23 in all—had been interned. Three, it was stated, were wounded.

The Reuters correspondent in Ankara reported, however, that he had seen three of the bombers at the Ankara airport, that they were Consolidated four-engine aircraft, and that they were believed to have attacked Odessa and Nikolaev, both Black Sea ports in occupied Russian territory.

Twenty-one crew members, the Reuters correspondent added, were housed in the outskirts of Ankara.

It was reported, this source went on, that the bombers flew from Egypt and ran short of fuel on the return trip when forced from their course by German fighters.

Japan Loses 65 Vessels

By The Associated Press

At least 65 Japanese ships of all classifications were reported sunk or damaged in the great encounter in the Coral Sea and off Midway Island, a review Saturday of communications from the army, navy and allied headquarters in Australia disclosed.

The total is based on a recapitulation of official announcements following the first battle of the Coral Sea off Salamaua and Lae, New Guinea, March 10 to 18; the second encounter in the Solomon and Louisiade Islands May 4 to 9; and the Midway clash beginning June 3 and continuing to June 8, when Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced the Japanese in flight.

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, June 13 (AP)—Probably eight Japanese aircraft carriers were sunk or so badly damaged in the Midway and Coral Sea battles that they will be unfit for early action, it was shown today by communications and reports of battle participants.

New Price Regulations Are Received

County ration board has received new regulations from the office of price administration in regard to ceiling prices on cost of living commodities, and will try to supply all merchants of the county with necessary information within the next few days, according to Walter Wilson, local clerk.

However, there are several phases of the rules which merchants should begin planning to comply with now, Wilson said. A ceiling price inventory on all cost of living commodities must be filed with the local board on or before July 1. The complete ceiling price on every article offered for sale must also be made on or before this date.

This inventory must be kept in the place of business, and is subject to inspection at any time during hours when the business is open.

Contrary to previous reports, neither of these inventories have to be sent to the Dallas office. The local board will be in a position in the very near future to supply every retail store in the county with a book of complete instructions on ceiling prices.

For the information of merchants and others, a complete list of the cost-of-living commodities affected by the government maximum price regulations will be published in Monday's issue of The Herald. It will be arranged so that it may be clipped and kept for permanent reference.

'Blizzard' Skids Mercury To 80

Big Spring practically had a blizzard Saturday.

The temperature dropped way down to 67 degrees during the wee hours of the morning, and never rose higher than a brisk 80. The cold spell was welcomed on the heels of a quite warm Friday, in which the mercury went to 104.9—a season record and a record for a good many seasons back.

Today? Continued cool for the early part of the day. After that, we don't know. Uncle Sam isn't putting out much weather dope, you know.

Japanese Bombers Raid Australia

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Sunday, June 14 (AP)—Twenty-seven Japanese bombers escorted by fighters raided Darwin yesterday but did little damage, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

The raid was carried out while Australia with the rest of the allied world was celebrating MacArthur Day.

One enemy and one allied plane were lost, headquarters announced.

Reds Throw Germans Back At Kharkov

Prelude To Nazi Spring Offensive Believed At Hand

MOSCOW, Sunday, June 14 (AP)—Soviet forces meeting the greatest Nazi offensive of the year with strong counter-action in a narrow death trap on the Kharkov front hurled back German tank and infantry attacks in savage fighting all day yesterday, the Russians reported early today.

The Soviet bureau of information declared that the Red army inflicted great losses on the Germans. The Nazis were said in Russian accounts to be throwing men into the continuing battle from a huge pool of reserves built up after the recent fighting on the Kharkov front.

Intense land, sea and air actions were reported by the Russians from other sectors of the long front, which, with the Russian German war almost one year old, is seeing some of its most bitter fighting. These included:

1. The valiant Sevastopol garrison still held its ground firmly in the face of mounting German attacks.

2. Red army infantry and artillery killed and wounded at least 900 German men and officers in an all day battle on the Kalinin front northwest of Moscow.

3. A Soviet ship sank a 6,000-ton enemy ship in the Black Sea near axis-occupied Odessa.

4. The Soviet air force on Friday sank an enemy motor torpedo boat, damaged two submarines and destroyed or damaged 210 motor trucks.

(Axis sources said tank battles in the Kharkov sector were the prelude to Adolf Hitler's long-awaited summer offensive against Russia.)

(The Germans in Berlin reported their troops had wiped out a Russian "blitzkrieg" on the west bank of the Donets river. This presumably was in the vicinity of Izyum, where the Red army managed to maintain a two-mile foothold after Marshal Semen Timoshenko's last big drive.)

(The Germans also said they had smashed across the river to its east bank and encircled the Russians at one point.)

Rites Set Here For R. L. Laws

Body of R. L. Laws, former Big Spring youth who was accidentally electrocuted in Chicago Thursday, was due to arrive here on a morning train for burial.

Hours of the services had not been definitely set, but it was said, attendees at Eberly Funeral Home, locally in charge.

R. L., who would have been 17 years old June 30, was electrocuted in some way while aiding his father, H. E. Laws, in repairing radio equipment, according to incomplete advices reaching here.

Young Laws and his mother left Big Spring about two weeks ago to join Mr. Laws in Chicago, where he had gone to take a government position in radio communications.

R. L. was a Herald carrier boy for approximately two years, quitting his job to move to Chicago.

Born in Big Spring June 30, 1925, R. L. is survived by his parents; grandmother, Mrs. Modena Laws of Big Spring; two uncles, Opal Laws and Owen Walker; three aunts, Mrs. Viola McGinnis, Mrs. Ora Richards and Mrs. Willmon Burk.

Rita Hayworth In 'Naughty Nineties' Story; 'My Gal Sal' At The Ritz Today In Technicolor

The shapely, smiling miss who is dancing and romancing her way up as one of the top favorites of Hollywood scores a new success with the musical comedy, "My Gal Sal," a Technicolor production which graces the screen at the Ritz theatre today and Monday.

The star is Rita Hayworth, being called just now "America's No. 1 Redhead," who puts on what is called an inspiring performance. Co-starred with Victor Mature, John Sutton and Carole Landis in an up-to-the-minute treatment of a naughty nineties story, the titian-haired Rita purveys song, dance and beauty which make screen entertainment with a smash!

"My Gal Sal" tells the story of Paul Dresser who was a famous composer, and brother of author Theodore Dreiser. Dresser concocted hundreds of tunes which are still setting modern feet tapping, among which are "My Gal Sal," "On The Banks Of The Wabash," "Mr. Volunter," — and they're all in the feature surrounded by a series of lavish production numbers to delight the eyes of the fans. Director Irving Cummings has whipped the laughter, song, and story into what previewers have hailed as "a grand piece of entertainment." Producer Robert Bassler has spared nothing to make it a top production.

The large cast includes such favorites as James Gleason, Phil

Silvers, Walter Catlett, Mona Maris and Frank Orth. The producers have kept their weather eyes peeled on the Hit Parade by fashioning several additional hitting production numbers for the Technicolor opus.

His Gal—Rita Hayworth as a lovely belle of the nineties, and Victor Mature, as America's favorite troubadour, star in "My Gal Sal," the Ritz theatre's offering for today and Monday. The picture is in Technicolor, and presents many of the old favorite songs of another generation, together with new hits. And Miss Hayworth, the redhead, does some exceptional dancing, too.

Treasured Merchandise Sold Horse-Fashion By Tire Men

So ya wanta buy a used tire and tube?

You drive along until you see a second-hand tire store with a stack of old tires that looks like the national rubber stockpile.

"I oughta be able to get a good one here," you assure yourself and go in. The attendant saunters forth like a cat eyeing a mouse, 'cause he knows you want to buy a tire worse than he wants to sell it.

"Gotta six-fifty-sixteen tire around here?" you ask brightly.

"Not a one. Nossih, haven't had one in ten days," he counters.

But you are not to be outdone. With all these tires lying around, one is just bound to fit your jalopy. You prowl around and get your hands black as pitch among the nice smooth tires, while the attendant goes on back to his vulcanizing machine and ignores you very completely.

Sure enough, there is a couple of old beat-up casings of the right size. Slick as your Uncle John's hairless dome and showing definite evidence of vulcanizing in a spot or two.

"Hey, here's one. Whattaya take for it?"

The tire salesman maintains his poker face and ambles over your way. "Oh, yeah, I forgot that one. Well, lemme see now. (He consults chart, or scratches ear, depending on modernity of the firm).

"Hmmm, I'll hafta get $7.20 for that one. Cost me $10, but then these price ceilings came along."

"Yeah? Well, you got a tube that will fit it?"

A look of horror, followed by a benevolent gaze of pity falls upon the would-be buyer. Lord no, I ain't seen a six-fifty-sixteen tube in two weeks. This tube sichashun is terrible. Naw, I doubt if you will be able to find a tube a-tall."

You cuss old General Toja and them other slant-eyed devils a while, then another attendant appears.

"Hey, we got one over here we can make. It is a six-fifty-sixteen, but we can cut it down to a sixteen. Good, heavy-duty tube, too."

You look it over. "How much?"

Pioneer Days Dramatized In Lyric Film

Recreating the warmth, color, and humor of pioneer days in the West, as well as the drama and peril of that period, "Valley of the Sun" brings Lucille Ball and James Craig to the Lyric screen today and Monday in an unusual drama of action and sparkling adventure.

Taking Clarence Budington Kelland's Saturday Evening Post Serial as a basis, the film deals with the dual efforts of a young Army scout to see that the Apaches are treated honestly, and to break up the impending marriage of a pretty frontier girl to an unscrupulous Indian agent.

Aware that the short-sighted methods in vogue in the Southwest in the late 'Sixties are inflaming the Indians against the whites, the scout gets into trouble with Army authorities and is sentenced to jail. Escaping, he stumbles into the proposed marriage, and, knowing the intended bridegroom's character, decides to interfere.

He succeeds in postponing the wedding, but the Indians bring matters to a head by organizing for an attack against the whites — chiefly because the agent has cheated them out of their herds. The scout's resourceful efforts to save the agent's life after the Apaches have captured him and to avert a certain massacre when the tribes swoop down on the lonely town, provide a stirring climax to "Valley of the Sun."

In its forthright presentation of the Indian's side of the case — a side all too often overlooked in print and on the screen—"Valley of the Sun" stands out as a distinctive piece of film fare. It's various characters are sharply etched — Craig as the quick-witted scout, Miss Ball as the self-reliant heroine, Dean Jagger as the scheming agent, Sir Cedric Hardwicke as an English remittance man, Peter Whitney as an old desert character, Billy Gilbert as a Judge, Tom Tyler as the feared Governor and Antonio Moreno as the dignified Apache leader.

Filmed among the Sangre del Christo mountains in northern New Mexico and around Taos and Santa Fe, the picture has exceptional scenic beauty.

"Well, we're allowed to get a dollar and a half for the tube, and a dollar for cutting it down and vulcanizing it back together again."

Faced with the proposition, you sigh and think, then ask: "Guarantee these vulcanized places in this tire?"

"Sure. Just like I can guarantee the draft won't get you." Then more seriously, "I think it will hold. I did my best on it."

So you shell out your $9.70 and gather up your new hoard of rubber and go on. You feel like you've been kidded a little and sold a mighty thin tire, but then you have one more little sheet of rubber between your hard old feet and the hot pavement.

And didn't that guy say you couldn't get another tire of no kind in another week?

They're Gobs—Bud Abbott and Lou Costello have victimized most all branches of the military service, including the U.S. fleet. One of their most successful comedies is "In The Navy," which plays today and Monday at the State theatre. Dick Powell, shown here with the comics, is featured in the cast, along with Claire Dodd, the Andrews sisters and Dick Foran.

DeMille Film Is Praised By Preview Group

A picture to make you forget even the war for a few hours is the Cecil B. DeMille production, "Reap The Wild Wind," to be shown soon at the Ritz theatre and enthusiastically received by a preview audience Friday.

The picture has "everything" — from fist fights, sea battles and sudden storms, to a fight between a man and a giant squid, photographed under water.

Action in the drama takes place in Key West, Fla., in the early 1800's, when a new kind of pirate — unscrupulous salvaging concerns — was making shipping an unsafe venture. Paulette Goddard, playing as the owner of an honest salvage concern, meets John Wayne, a sea captain who has fallen afoul a salvage gang headed by Raymond Massey who succeeds in all but breaking Wayne's reputation with his company. Ray Milland as an attorney for the concern also meets Paulette, to form an interesting romantic triangle.

The picture, photographed in Technicolor, provides some beautiful sea scenes and storm sequences. In typical DeMille style it is extravagant in cast and production. Running some two hours, the story nevertheless is suspense-laden throughout. — M. W.

Thrill Story Billed Today At The Queen

Suspense and adventure in the South Seas are entertainingly served up in the Universal studery action drama, "The Mad Doctor Of Market Street," which is offered today and Monday at the Queen theatre.

Against a lush tropical background, the fiendish intrigues of a madman scientist, obsessed with a Frankenstein notion, are unfolded in the absorbing main portion of the story.

Principals are passengers aboard a wrecked ship who reach safety on a remote island. The list includes such characters as an old maid and her attractive niece, a prize fighter, two of the ship's officers and the madman scientist fleeing a murder accusation. Action develops as the maniac first gains the worship of natives by healing one of their sick, then is threatened with death because he cannot revive the dead. Along with the thrill sequences, there are episodes for comedy and romance.

Lionel Atwill, Una Merkel, Nat Pendleton, Claire Dodd, Richard Davies, Anne Nagel and John Eldridge are featured.

Scouts Putting In Applications For Summer Camp

Applications for Camp Philmont are pouring in to the Boy Scout office from all over the Buffalo Trail council. Philmont is the 200 square mile camp given to the Boy Scouts by Walter Phillips of Tulsa, Okla., and is located four miles from Cimarron, N. M., at an altitude of between eight and twelve thousand feet. Since only 100 boys can attend, unless other transportation becomes available, the boys are getting their applications in early.

This camp will be conducted under the direction of the executive staff of the Scout office and about ten volunteer leaders. The program will consist mainly of exploration trips, scout advancement, handicraft, wilderness camping, and emergency service training—to say nothing of eating which is no small item in the mountains. Specially fitted trucks will pick scouts up throughout the council on July 14th and bring them back July 22nd. The total cost is $12.

Crop Conditions Good In Southern Martin County

STANTON, June 13—The week's hot weather has been a help to cotton growing sections of Martin county, although some areas—particularly around Lenora and Tarzan—are in need of rain. Fine stands of cotton are reported in the southern part of the county, which has received good rainfall this season. Fine underground season, topped with rains of the past month have made crop conditions in the southern sector comparable with those of last year, when Martin county produced the largest cotton crop in its history, 40,000 bales.

Enemy Lands Armed Force On Small Isle

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP) — American army and navy aviation striking whenever the dirty weather of the far north permitted, were at work today to drive the Japanese from their fingertip hold on the outermost end of the Aleutian Island chain stretching westward from Alaska.

The progress of operations, however, was obscure. The navy, for the time, stood on its original announcement that attacks against the Japanese in the islands "are continuing." The Japanese, the navy said, had made a small scale landing at Attu, westernmost of the islands, and enemy ships had been reported in the harbor of Hiska, in the Rat Island group.

The Japanese landing at lonely Attu was the only achievement salvaged from Nippon's grand scale offensive attempt in the north Pacific. The southern wing of that offensive was broken and sent limping away in the action at Midway.

In army and navy circles, the Japanese landings were viewed as nothing to arouse concern. Whatever Japan's original intentions, it was believed the heavy losses of Japanese warships off Midway had left the enemy in no position to undertake to expand and exploit the footholds. Most naval men apparently inclined to the view that no real threat to Alaska was involved. Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, told reporters at Baltimore that the Japanese action was of "no real importance" and might even become an enemy liability.

But there were those here who pointed out that a position on Attu could be of definite military value to Japan, even if it did not become eventually the first stepping stone for an attempted full-scale move on Alaska and the North America mainland.

It could be a listening post along the route from Alaska to Japan—or to Siberia—relieving to some extent the necessity for Japanese reconnaissance by submarine, surface ship and aircraft.

Japan has a naval base at Paramushiro Jima, at the northern end of the Kurile Island group and something less than 700 miles from Attu. Russia, America's ally in the war with Germany (although still at uneasy peace with Japan), has a base at Petropavlovsk on the Kamchatka peninsula. Should the time come when Russia and Japan fight, it would be to the interest of Japan to know what air and surface ship movements were occurring between Alaska and bases in Russia's maritime lands. Attu would be a good spot for that observation.

In Canada, there was a disposition by at least one high official to view the Aleutian Island attack in grim manner. Vice-Admiral Percy W. Nelles, when informed of the landing at Attu, said "the attack has begun" and declined to comment further.

In congress, confidence was expressed that the enemy would be swept out of the Aleutians quickly.

Uncle Sam Needs 12,500 Gallons Of Gasoline To Train ONE Pilot!

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN CONSERVE GASOLINE

Trade rides with your neighbors. Cut out Sunday drives. Walk more.

Drive slowly and carefully. Speed and careless driving are wasteful of gasoline.

Take care of your engine. A faulty engine wastes gasoline.

Use the right oil. A lighter oil in the winter will make your engine run easier and burn less gasoline.

Keep your carburetor and spark properly adjusted. Use hand choke sparingly.

Repair a slipping clutch. It means a waste of engine power and gasoline.

Clean your air cleaner every 5,000 miles.

Keep battery charged. This means easier starting, less choking, less gasoline consumption.

A pilot must have about 250 hours in the air, in planes that consume 50 gallons of gasoline an hour. Think of the drain this puts on our gasoline supply! Think also of the enormous requirements for tanks, trucks, combat cars, ships.

Before the war, a tanker of gasoline and oil used to leave the Gulf coast for the Eastern seaboard every 80 minutes. The round trip took approximately 10 days. After the war started, all sources of supply in the Pacific area were closed to us, leaving Persia as our nearest source. The round trip now takes approximately FOUR MONTHS.

The enormous requirements of our fighting machines... the number of tankers needed to transport this gasoline and oil... and the length of the journey... all are important factors in the "why" of gasoline conservation. Here's a small job we can do cheerfully for Uncle Sam. It's not only our duty, it's our PRIVILEGE to help the boys who are doing the sweating and dying and fighting for America.

Cosden Higher Octane Gasoline Will Meet All Demands In Efficiency And Economy!

July Fourth Celebration Here Planned

Full observance of the nation's Independence Day on a scale in keeping with spirit of the holiday in wartime, appeared assured Saturday, with announcement from Retail Merchants association that stores contacted would close their doors on July Fourth.

The day always has been one of those on which Big Spring merchants suspend business activities, and they are planning to continue the custom this year, even though the Fourth comes on Saturday.

Meanwhile, first arrangements were being made for a giant patriotic rally to be staged at the city park amphitheatre at 5:30 in the evening of the Fourth. A state official or personage of statewide prominence will be invited to make the principal address, and the program will be climaxed with a fireworks display on a par with the exhibitions which have proved so popular the last two years. The chamber of commerce already has ordered the fireworks, after receiving information that the material was available and that its use was in no way a conflict with the country's munitions production.

Flag Is Symbolic Of Our Nation's Best — Here's How To Treat Stars And Stripes

What do you know about the flag? Do you handle it with about the same care as a dirty shirt, or do you treat it as a precious emblem of freedom and honor?

Sunday is Flag Day and now is a fitting time to learn something about the respects due to the flag of the United States.

Many of the customs and courtesies followed in handling of the flag may at first glance appear silly and useless, but if one will remember that the flag is symbolic of the best things our nation offers, then he will realize that careful handling of the flag is a patriotic duty.

Here are some of the things to remember in handling the Stars and Stripes:

1. When a number of flags are flown in a group, the U. S. flag should be in the center or at the top of the group. When two flags are on a staff, the U. S. flag should be at the top. This does not apply when the various flags are of different nations: It is incorrect to give our flag precedence over that of a friendly nation, so when flags of different nations are flown together, each should be of the same size, each on a separate staff, and each flown at the same height.

2. When flying the flag at half-mast, first briskly raise the flag all the way to the top, then slowly lower it to half-staff. When lowering the flag from half-staff, raise it briskly to the top first, then lower it slowly. On Memorial day the flag should be flown at half-mast until noon, then at full height until sunset.

3. Fly the flag only from sunrise to sunset; never after dark. Lower the flag in case of rain or storm.

4. Fly the flag upside-down only as a signal of distress.

5. Never let a flag touch the ground or floor or trail in water.

6. When a flag is draped over a casket, place the Union (blue field and stars) over the head and to the left, carry the casket feet forward, and never lower the flag into the grave.

7. Flags in parades should always have honor guards. If several flags are flown, the Stars and Stripes should be in the center out in front, or highest.

8. If the U. S. flag is displayed with another flag with staffs crossed, on a wall or similarly, the Stars and Stripes should be to their own right.

9. When not on a staff, the flag should always be displayed FLAT, with the blue field and stars to the flag's own top and right.

10. If the flag is strung across a street on a rope, the union should be toward the north or the east.

11. When displayed on a speaker's platform, the flag should be above the heads of anyone on the stage, and never draped over the front of the platform or rostrum. Such decorations can be accomplished with red-white-and-blue bunting.

12. In a church or like auditorium, place the flag on its own right side of the pulpit — the audience's left.

13. Never use the flag as a decoration — always fly it. Drive no nails in it; don't strike it with a gavel; don't wear it or embroider it on cushions or handkerchiefs, or print it on napkins or boxes.

14. Men in uniform salute the flag with regulation military salute; men in civilian clothes remove the hat with the right hand and hold the hat over the heart; women hold the right hand over the heart to salute the flag.

Glider Program Requirements Are Relaxed

Of interest to young men who want to get in the Army's glider pilot service is an announcement that it is no longer necessary to have had previous aviation cadet training.

Under the new regulations, announced by the recruiting offices, a man to qualify for glider pilot training must meet only the following qualifications:

Physical — pass a Class 2 flying examination by a flight surgeon. (Eye requirements 20-40 correctable to 20-30 by glasses).

Mental — pass the Army general classification test with a score of 110, or pass the current aviation cadet mental screening test with a score of 65 (as against a score of 80 required to qualify for aviation cadet).

The course includes flying a light plane, and a limited number of selected graduates in each class will receive commissions as second lieutenants and other graduates will be appointed staff sergeants on flying status.

A quota of 200 recruits has been assigned to the Eighth Corps Area to be completed June 22, and additional quotas likely will be assigned later. All men interested in this service are urged to contact the Army recruiting station.

SYMBOL of AMERICA and FREEDOM!

Hoist It High—TODAY!

To the heroes of Pearl Harbor, Wake, Guam and Bataan — to those in all our wars who have given their lives for America's freedom — we owe an everlasting debt... a debt we are more conscious of today than ever before... a debt that causes us to understand to the fullest extent the true meaning of the Stars and Stripes we love so well.

Display of Old Glory is to show the world that we prize our liberty so highly that we cannot fail to keep it... We are confident of our might; we are confident of the righteousness of the cause for which America is fighting. To that cause we solemnly pledge ourselves today.

Howard County Organizes For Scrap Rubber Collection

Howard county had a preliminary organization mapped by the weekend to push an all-out effort in the salvage rubber campaign which starts on a nationwide basis Monday, at the request of President Roosevelt.

The drive for rubber which may be reclaimed not only is one of the most important yet assigned to the citizenship in behalf of the war effort, but it also will be an important factor in determining of future gasoline rationing policies.

Co-Chairmen Walton Morrison and Grover Dunham of the Civilian Defense Council are joining all public officials in urging the public's fullest response to the rubber pickup.

B. J. McDaniel has been named county chairman of the campaign by the council heads, and in turn has named local oil-gas wholesalers, agents and consignees as members of the principal directing committees. These include G. L. Rowe, W. M. Gage, L. I. Stewart, H. W. Smith, S. M. Smith, Ted Groehl, Al. Groehl, K. H. McGibbons, John Ratliff, Bill Gola, W. R. Douglas, H. W. Wright, Charlie Harwell, Shirley Robbins and V. H. Flawell.

This group has been called to meet at the chamber of commerce at 11 a. m. Monday to put the collection drive into effect.

Filling stations will be the key centers in the program, and the public is asked to bring all salvage rubber to any station. The station operators, in turn, are asked to handle the supply, protect it, and notify the city when an appreciable amount has been collected.

City trucks will pick up the rubber at the filling stations, and the city administration will handle sales and shipping. All funds derived from the final sale will go to the local Civilian Defense Council.

There will be no purchases by the filling stations, however, and the entire collection through these agencies is volunteer. Persons who have a supply of salvage rubber on hand which they wish to sell are instructed to deal directly with junk dealers.

Those lacking transportation to take rubber to the filling stations may place their items at the garbage can, and these will be picked up by city refuse collectors on their regular runs.

It was pointed out that reclaimable rubber which is acceptable includes tires, inner tubes, hard rubber tires, crepe rubber soles, boots and overshoes, hot water bottles, tennis shoes, rubber belting, rubber gloves, rubber sheeting, pads and matting, raincoats, rubber heels, bathing caps, jar rings, plumber's suction caps, sample tire sections, rubber ash trays and hundreds of other articles containing rubber.

Not acceptable are battery boxes and tire beads. It was also stressed that metal, wood and leather should be removed from such articles as leather shoes and baby buggy tires.

The rubber collection will continue, at the president's instructions through June 30, and Mr. Roosevelt is asking that every citizen who has reclaimable rubber to take it to the nearest gasoline station.

McDaniel was joined Saturday by the county judge and mayor and President Ben LeFever of the chamber of commerce in appealing for prompt and complete response to the collection.

"We are asking all people to search their houses, their attics, their barns, garages and yards for all possible reclaimable rubber and turn it over to the filling stations at the earliest date. This drive will tell the story on the amount of the nation's salvage rubber and show how far the emergency shortage may be met. It will play an important part in the final decision on gasoline rationing, which certainly is of concern to every citizen. It also will be a very significant help in our war effort. Here is an opportunity for all to show their real patriotism."

Day-And-Night Bombings As Invasion Substitute Talked

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—

Continuous night and day bombing of Germany by massed American and British air fleets was advocated today by Senator Norris (Ind-Rep), who said he was convinced the Nazis might thus be brought to their knees without a land invasion of Europe.

Differing from those advocating establishment of a second land front as early as practicable, the veteran Nebraska senator said he could see no reason why Germany could not be reduced to military impotency by sustained, smashing aerial attacks at her plane factories, transportation systems and industrial centers while the Nazi armies were heavily engaged with the Russians.

A White House statement last Thursday said that the United States, Great Britain and Russia had reached full understanding on the urgent tasks of creating a second front this year. This was followed today by announcement of the landing of additional American troops in Ireland, fully equipped for offensive action.

But Norris insisted these troops might be held in reserve and used only for "mopping up" operations on the continent if mass aerial attacks were made continuously.

"I know that some military men say you can't conquer a nation by bombing alone," he told reporters, "but because it hasn't been done in the past is no sure criterion that it cannot be done in the future. If our bombers could destroy even one city a week as the British destroyed Cologne, I don't believe it would be long before Germany collapsed."

A massed assault of this nature, Norris said, probably would call for the dispatching of from 1,000 to 3,000 heavy bombers on a night raid, followed by an equal number on a day raid, thus keeping the attack going continuously. He said he was confident sufficient fliers, planes, landing fields and facilities could be marshaled for such an undertaking.

While Norris saw no necessity for establishing a second land front, Senators Clark (D-Mo) and Hill (D-Ala) disagreed.

Clark, an army staff officer in the last war, said he thought large-scale bombings would affect Germany's morale and production capacity greatly, but added: "It's the boy with the bayonet who conquers territory."

Hill said it seemed implicit that a second front would have to be established, but he, like others, cautioned against any action of this nature until the United Nations were fully prepared to cope with the 52 German divisions he said were reported to be maintained in the occupied countries of Europe. "We have got to have a second front, though, before we win this war," he declared.

STRIKE ORDERED ENDED
WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The war labor board today ordered 123 strikers at the Arkwright Corp. textile mills in Fall River, Mass., to return to work Monday or forfeit their jobs but the strikers voted not to return until their demands for higher pay are granted.

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The war labor board reported today that there were 144 strikes involving 47,800 workers in May.

Rep. Cannon Hits At Sub-Parity Sales

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the house appropriations committee asserted today that "industrialists and bureaucrats" were waging a campaign to "submarine farm recovery legislation and to finance war production at the expense of the farmers."

Speaking on a nationally-broadcast radio farm program the congressman said such a campaign was reflected in senate-approved legislation which would permit the government to sell wheat at sub-parity prices. The house has voted to bar sales at less-than-parity prices.

Recently Escaped Convicts Retaken

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 13 (AP)—Lloyd Ransel and Walter Lemay, convicts recently escaped from the Texas penitentiary, were arrested near Palestine today by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Dismuke and Highway Patrolman Brady. Sheriff Cap Curington announced here this afternoon.

The men were asleep when apprehended and each had considerable money on his person, Curington was advised.

Curington was told the pair were traveling in a 1941 Buick stolen in Texas, bearing license numbers stolen from a negro's car at Powell, near here.

Americans To Produce And Refine China's Oil For War

TULSA, Okla., June 13 (AP)—Plans to draw oil for the armies of China from her own vast, unexploited plains were disclosed today by Sam J. Rhoades, co-director of the oil and gas development division of China Defense Supplies, Inc., a lend-lease agency.

The Tulsa oil man flew here from Washington to discuss with officials of an oil field equipment company the manufacture of portable drilling rigs which could be taken into China by plane. He said he was promised that a rig a day could be turned out.

Already, Rhoades revealed, arrangements have been made to purchase and dismantle a number of refineries in this country and take them to China and roustabouts are being recruited from American oil fields for duty in China.

The most pressing problem facing Rhoades and his co-director, Hassie L. Unt, independent oil producer of Dallas, is that of transportation.

"We must have planes," said

Rhoades. "It means little to draw plans, loan money and talk war on this side of the Pacific. We must get into China."

"We know the oil is there and if we can get our drilling equipment and refineries into China we can be working in 30 days."

The Tulsa firm with which Rhoades is negotiating has been manufacturing portable rigs for Russia and many now are in operation. Rhoades said he was dealing with Moscow for a loan of some of them until his own equipment arrived.

He would not predict when his crews and equipment could start moving across the Pacific but declared that "it won't be long."

THANK YOU

FOR HELPING US SAVE TIRES FOR VICTORY!

A Special Word From Your Gas Company Regarding War-Time Service Calls to Homes

Recently we announced that war-time restrictions of tires made it necessary to change the handling of gas service calls. And to you who have had reason to require special attention, our sincere thanks for cheerfully cooperating. If you missed our earlier announcement and haven't had occasion to call on us, you may be interested in this necessary adjustment of routine.

First, the change may not affect you or inconvenience you at all. But if you do have occasion to call for service, in the interest of conservation your call must be combined with others in your district for efficient daily routing. This will help to prevent duplications of trips when one trip can cover an entire neighborhood and save rubber.

For those who are moving we will try to complete "turn on" orders the day following receipt of order, unless some later date is requested. "Turn off" orders may require more time. Only emergencies of the most outstanding nature can be taken care of on the same day received. In addition, the following cooperation will be appreciated:

1. Please do not request an appointment with the service man for a definite time of day (this allows your call to be grouped with others).

(2) Please do not ask for any service work to be done at your home after 5 p. m., or on Sundays and holidays.

You can rest assured that your call will be cared for as soon as possible under these war-time conditions. And, of course, your Gas Company looks forward to the day when it can resume the prompt service to which you have become accustomed.

George Miller of San Diego, Calif., and formerly of Big Spring, received notice in the Consolidated Aircraft factory magazine recently for his ability as drum major.

The initial appearance of the Consolidated Military Band was held in May with Miller as the band drum major. The article states, "decked out in pearl gray and wearing a shako a full six inches taller than the average, Miller's performance will include selections from Beethoven to boogie-woogie." Miller, who is employed in the planning department at the factory, was assistant drum major with the Big Spring high school band and later captain of the North Texas Agricultural College military band. He was four times runner up in twirling contests for leaders from the whole state of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Smith left today on a business trip to Chanute, Kansas, after which they will vacation for two weeks in that section.

Mrs. Florine Nell, teacher in the Elbow school who has been very seriously ill in the Medical Arts Hospital in Dallas has been reported slightly improved.

Leaders are issuing a call for all Boy Scouts in the city to be on hand this evening for participation in the Flag Day parade. Boys are asked to wear their uniforms and bring their troop flags, and to assemble at the city hall by 6:30 p. m.

David Lamun has been promoted to the rank of sergeant in the John Tarleton cadet corps. He assists in drilling the R.O.T.C. unit and carries the same authority as a regular Army sergeant. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lamun.

Two Army men from Big Spring have won promotions in the medical detachment at William Beaumont General Hospital, El Paso, it is announced by Capt. W. J. Culhane, commander. They are Weldon E. Millam and George L. Dempsey.

Among those going from here last week for induction in the Army at Lubbock was Kenneth Wilford Shultz, whose name was omitted from earlier published lists. Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Shultz, long time residents of the city, passed his physical examination and was sent to Fort Sill, Okla.

A sudden change in plans prevented Byron Fullerton from representing the local Kiwanis club at the Kiwanis International convention, and Rev. O. L. Savage, pastor of the First Presbyterian church was named delegate in his place. Rev. Savage left Friday to attend the sessions which start today in Cleveland, Ohio.

The First Federal Savings and Loan association here has received a letter of commendation for its success in the sale of war bonds, and, for selling an amount in excess of the sale of war bonds, and, for selling an amount in excess of five per cent of its assets during the month of March, has been placed on a national honor roll. A letter lauding the program has been received by Secretary Marie Stewart from Morton Bodfish, Chicago, executive vice president of the U. S. Savings and Loan League.

The R&R theatre circuit has made an enviable record in the distribution of war stamps and bonds, through a special sales contest being conducted this month as an aid to the war effort.

First week's sales over the circuit amounted to $22,859, the local R&R houses were informed, and the goal is now for $100,000 during the four weeks campaign. Theatre selling the most, on a percentage basis, will receive a $50 bond as prize from the R&R management.

Two negroes were fined $15 apiece in corporation court Saturday, after they were picked up by police Friday night on gambling charges. Two other negroes and two Mexicans were assessed a similar amount for drunkenness.

Auto Stamps Sell Slowly

Big Spring motorists are following the old American custom of waiting until the last minute to get their new auto use tax stamps, the folks of the postoffice opined Saturday. No more than 50 of the stamps, which must be on cars by July 1, had been sold during the four days they have been available.

Postmaster Nat Shick renewed his appeal that the stamps be purchased promptly. They are 35 each, and are good for a year.

Shick said that the stamps could be had at any window at the postoffice. He reminded that federal regulations prevent acceptance of checks, so it'll have to be cash, please.

Tangle Not Yet Cleared, It Appears

By The Associated Press

James E. Kilday carried his fight for exclusive listing on the ballot in the democratic primary for the railroad commission place from which Jerry Sadler resigned to district court Saturday, obtaining an order restraining State Democratic Chairman E. G. Germany from certifying names other than his.

The order was issued by District Judge A. J. Power in Fort Worth, and a hearing on issuance of a temporary injunction in the case will be held there at 3 p. m. Monday.

Kilday continued his court battle after the state democratic executive committee in a recessed hearing at Corpus Christi Friday certified his name along with 10 others.

A few hours earlier, the fifth court of civil appeals at Dallas held that it was powerless to forbid the committee to certify Kilday's name as a candidate. Kilday had asked for a mandamus to prevent certification of other candidates on the ground that he was the only one who had met the June 1 deadline for entering the race.

The Kilday court fight held the spotlight in political developments during the week. Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, candidate for the senate, and Hal Collins, candidate for governor, went to Waco Saturday for a double-barrelled joint campaign opening.

At Dallas, Pierce Brooks, one of the candidates for railroad commissioner made party to the Kilday suit, said he might ask Governor Stevenson to call a special election to fill the vacancy.

"It appears that Kilday proposes to sue for an injunction restraining democratic committee from placing our names on the ballot, in every court where possible, notwithstanding the fact that one of our highest courts has ruled against him. Of course, there is a question regarding the committee's right to accept filings and certify for this vacancy. Still, Kilday should also ask that his name be excluded. But he is attempting to have his name placed on the ballot and all of our names excluded," Brooks said in a statement.

Looking 'Em Over

art's game badly shattered at the finish.

Stewart had been the outstanding favorite to win the crown. Kenny, in fact, was figured playing on borrowed time every match he won. But the Highland Park High school junior turned in cool, calculating play featured by some of the finest shots in golf and he had the college champion groggy at the finish.

Stewart, who last year won the National Collegiate championship as a member of the Louisiana State University team and who was apparently well on his game again, came from behind to square the match on No. 15 and go one-up on 17 during the morning round.

Kenny made it five-up on No. 12 with a birdie at the end of a 10-foot putt and shot even par on No. 13 to close out the match while the jittery Stewart took a bogey.

Kenny was one of the most unusual young men ever to play in the state tournament. He was indefatigable and the coolest youngster under fire ever seen in the tournament.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 13 (AP)—Southern California won its eighth straight N.C.A.A. track championship tonight with 85 1-2 points. The Trojans gained but one first, by Cliff Bourland in the 440, but scored in ten of the 14 events. Ohio State was second with 44.

Swimming Classes To Begin Monday

Red Cross swimming classes will begin at the municipal pool in city park Monday afternoon at 4, Harold Akay has announced.

The classes are open to everyone, and they usually draw a large group of participants. Sessions will be held in both junior and senior life saving and regular swimming instructions will be given. The classes will continue for a full week.

Although interest in baseball was down to a minimum here this year, the softball teams seem to be doing fair up to the present. So far it has been no trouble at all to find enough enthusiasts to keep two leagues in operation, and they both will probably make it through the season with ease. The Presbyterians dropped out of the church loop this week, but another team was waiting to take their place and no interference in play was felt. The new team, playing under the name of the Recreation department, made its debut Friday night, bowing to the North Nolan Baptist Mission in a slugfest, 16 to 12.

All teams in the city league seem well established and two new aggregations may be admitted. Recreational Supervisor H. F. Malone announced. If they do come in it will make an eight-team league. Names of the two clubs and a revised schedule will be announced if and when they are admitted.

Homer Peel has been let out as manager of the Oklahoma City Indians, which may be the first move by the club in an effort to strengthen their position in the standings and create more interest by the fans. When first reports were issued last week about the Indians being in a bad financial way, Oklahoma City sports scribes were already hinting that Peel might get the go signal. However, scribes in Fort Worth were quick to challenge their right to lay any blame of the team's showing on Peel's shoulders. Peel formerly managed the Fort Worth Cats and the Shreveport Sports in the Texas league. He was with San Diego in the Pacific Coast loop last year.

Yanks Break Jinx, Lick Browns 4-3

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—The New York Yankees shook off a jinx and whipped Eddien Auker and the St. Louis Browns, 4-3, today but the game went ten innings before Tommy Henrich broke it up with his eighth home run of the year.

Beaten three times in their five previous starts with the Browns and twice by Auker, the Yankees pounded the submarine ball for 16 hits but left an equal number of runners stranded on the base paths and had to rally for a ninth inning run that tied the score.

Spud Chandler, who yielded all the Browns' ten safeties in the eight innings he worked, watched a one-run lead turned into a deficit when George McGuinn blasted a home run in the top half of the eighth after Harold Clift had singled.

But Joe Gordon opened the Yankees rally in the ninth with his fourth hit of the day, stretching his batting streak to 28 consecutive games. Phil Rizzuto doubled and pinch-hitter Bill Dickey was handed an intentional pass to load the bases. George Selkirk, another pinch-hitter, forced Dickey, but Gordon raced home with the tying run on the play.

BOSTON, June 13 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox won their third straight game today by beating the Detroit Tigers 6 to 1 in the first game of a series. It was the fourth time in the streak that the Soxers have come through in the last inning to win as Catcher Bill Conroy's single brought Bobby Doerr home from second in the ninth to decide the contest.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13 (AP)—The Athletics made it two in a row over Cleveland today, bunting four hits in the eighth inning for a 4-1 triumph.

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—The Washington Senators bunched their hits in the ninth to defeat the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, tonight. The first Saturday night major league baseball game in the capital attracted 7,500 spectators.

LITTLEFIELD NAMED As Meet Official

CORPUS CHRISTI, June 13 (AP)—Clay Littlefield, University of Texas track coach, today was named referee of the college-armed services invitational track and field meet to be sponsored here June 27 by the Corpus Christi naval air station.

Outstanding collegiate stars will compete against former track stars now in the armed services, with proceeds to go to the Navy relief fund.

The meet will be held at Buconer stadium which has a seating capacity of 12,000. Lawrence A. Dibenedetto of New Orleans will be honorary referee.

team league. Names of the two clubs and a revised schedule will be announced if and when they are admitted.

An interesting battle for second place in the Texas league has been in progress for the past three days between the San Antonio Missions and the Houston Buffs. The Missions came up rapidly from fifth place to challenge the Buffs for the second rung spot, and then started right to work down in Houston Thursday night with a 2 to 0 victory. They followed with another victory in the first game of a double header Friday night, and accumulated to the three-hit pitching of Paul Dean in the night cap.

Big John Whitehead, who broke into the majors in 1935 by winning eight straight for the Chicago White Sox, is back in the Texas league where he started out, only with a different club. Jimmie Dykes moved the big righthander to the St. Louis Browns when he began to falter, and after keeping him in the American association with Toledo last year the Browns finally sent him down to their San Antonio farm. Whitehead won his first start for the Missions, blanking Dallas 1 to 0 June 4. He went up to the White Sox from Dallas after the 1934 season, when the old Steers were a member of the Sox farm system.

The Philadelphia Athletics seem to be the club hardest hit by military service so far. Catcher Jim Castiglia makes their tenth to go in, and shortstop Jack Wallassa was to report for physical examination this weekend. Pitcher Pete Appleton of the White Sox may be the second pitcher to go in from that club. Appleton has already taken his draft board examination and expects to be classified 1-A.

Borger Catcher Leads League In Batting Average

Frank Warren, Borger receiver and run-producer, moved into the West Texas-New Mexico league batting lead last week with an average of .442. A total of five regulars were batting above .400 and 33 were over the .300 mark in new averages.

Frank Hargrove of Amarillo added his 22nd double and his 11th home run during the week. Bill Altenburg of Lubbock, Earl Harriman of Clovis and Eddie Stevens of Lamesa each has eight triples. Warren has batted 89 runners across the plate.

Lefty Ken Wyatt, the Clovis mainstay, has won nine straight and has not surrendered less all season, to last in the pitching department. Big Gene Costello of the Dodgers has whiffed 71 batters.

Leroy Koenig of Lamesa swiped six bases to move within two of Clovis' Mel Steiner, who has 15 base thefts.

Valdina Orphan Way Ahead At Suffolk

BOSTON, June 13 (AP)—Valdina Farms' Valdina Orphan scored a five and three-quarters lengths victory today in the $5,000 added Constitution Handicap at Suffolk Downs—a mile prep for the $25,000 added Yankee classic on July 4.

Whirlaway Cramped, So Race Lost

NEW YORK, June 13 (AP)—Whirlaway was beaten today simply because they didn't give him enough room to run.

Little Mr. Big Tail from Warren Wright's barn took a crack at the cramped seven furlongs of the 42nd Carter handicap at Aqueduct—far short of his usual route—and although he closed 30 lengths and was fairly flying at the finish, he wound up only third to the much-traveled Doublebar, owned by Mrs. Tilson Christopher of Miami.

There was hardly any doubt among the 25,289 fans, who cheered the Kentucky cannonball in spite of his defeat, that he would have won in another 15 or 20 yards, so fast was he picking 'em up and laying 'em down at the finish. But after all, they still pay off on the number that's hung up on the board, and today it was the four-year-old son of Silver, who equalled the track record of 1:28 on footing rated only "good" in chalking up his third straight stakes victory in as many weeks and on as many tracks.

At the finish, with Billy Thompson getting all he could out of the grey sprinter, the colt was a head in front of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Swing and Sway, with Whirlaway another length farther back. W. L. Brann's Pictor was fourth.

Pirates Beat Giants For 7th In Row

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates won their seventh straight game today, knocking Cliff Malton out of the box in two innings and breezing to an 8-2 triumph over the New York Giants.

Bob Klinger went all the way for the Bucs and scattered eight hits over five innings after pitching no-hit ball for the first three frames, gaining his third victory against one defeat.

Malton handed the Pirates their first marker in the opening frame when he walked Alf Anderson and wild-pitched him to third, from where he scored on an outfield fly.

In the second, the home club put the game away by tagging Melton for five hits and four more runs before he gave way to Harry Fuldman. Vince DiMaggio and Frank Gurnie hit successive singles with one out and Al Lopez bunted DiMaggio home.

Klinger walked, Anderson singled Gurnie across the plate, Johnny Barrett scored Klinger with a one-base blow and Anderson came home on a single by Elbie Fletcher.

CINCINNATI, June 13 (AP)—Postponement of the Brooklyn-Cincinnati baseball game here tonight was the fifth straight for the Dodgers, who have been idle since last Sunday.

Dark Horses Due To Win Net Honors

ST. LOUIS, June 13 (AP)—Like 25-year-old William T. Tilden in 1918, comparative unknowns have a chance this year to win the national clay courts tennis championship in the annual tournament starting here Monday.

In the war year of 1918, nine of the first 10 ranking tennis stars were in military service and the other, R. Lindley Murray, was a government chemist. Young Tilden, making his first sweep in big-time tennis, won the tournament in Chicago, his first of seven clay courts triumphs.

This year only the No. 10 man among the ranking players, William Talbert of Cincinnati, has entered the clay courts. Bobby Riggs, Frank Kovacs and Wayne Sabin have turned professional. Don McNeill, Ted Schroeder, Gardner Mulloy and Bitty Grant are in service. Frankie Parker is tied down with a movie job on defense work, and Jack Kramer passed up the tournament.

The department of commerce estimates 85 per cent of U. S. license plates were made by convicts.

Uncertain Weather Didn't Stop Vacationists Who Left This Week

Miss 'Laneous Notes

By MARY WHEALEY

One thing about this war, on the credit side, is the fact that it is going to make internationalists about a lot of people. Boys born and reared in the same county and who never got outside the state line are living now all over the United States and many are stationed in outposts such as India, Puerto Rico, Ireland or Iceland.

In each of these countries and in each of these states where the army is stationed, the boys are learning new things about people, about customs, and what makes the other fellow tick.

Whatever else it may do, these experiences ought to bring understanding of the other person, in the United States as well as outside of it. Even a southern boy stationed in New York will be able to remember one nice day, one good turn, or one swell person from the north and after that he won't be able to say "darnyankee" and be quite as mad about it as he was before.

The country boys will know more about the city people and the city slickers will get a taste of country life. Northern boys ought to go home with an idea of southern and western hospitality after this war is over.

And in foreign places scattered over the map of the world, American soldiers will learn more about "furriners" and maybe end up with a small understanding of some of their problems.

This might hold true some day in Japan, Germany and in France where our fighting men will land. Tolerance and understanding are going to be pretty needed articles when this war is won and it may take the front line soldiers to teach us some of this when peace is a reality.

Our Flag Moves Forward Again

Today is Flag Day. It's the birthday—the 165th—of the Banner of Freedom. It was on June 14, 1777, that congress resolved that "the flag of the United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be 13 stars, white on a blue field, representing a constellation."

The constellation has grown, as has the nation. Flag Day—We have seen the flag floating in front of the postoffice, watched our boys and girls pledge its allegiance. We remember it on many a Fourth of July picnic in earlier days. All our peaceful yesterdays we have taken it for granted. Today it is fiercely and proudly at war. Now many of us are really seeing it for the first time. We know that we may lose all it has ever stood for; suddenly it has become the most precious thing in the world. There it goes, fluttering over the khaki lines. A lump gets in our throat because we love it so much. Only now are we beginning to know the tremendous task before us. We watch dear friends depart and we know that some of these faces we shall never see again. We know the price we shall pay in wrecked bodies, in silent grief and in gold stars. It is a price to be paid. We are ready. Through our long years of illusion and activity we had almost forgotten our beginnings and what it means to be free. Our heritage lay neglected while we followed false prophets and feared little fears. Only yesterday we cherished ease above liberty; only yesterday we found ourselves divided on little things. Today we stand united against the common enemy who would destroy us all. We know now that we never knew in the days what we would not accept in our days of self-interest; that this last great test had to come. Long ago it was written that those who would keep their freedom must ever stand ready to die for it, and that some day the battle must be joined. Such, sooner or later, has been the destiny of every free people and it was too much to hope that with us it could have been otherwise. Now have come the days of grim decision. But they also are days of hope. Once more we are led by the ideals represented in the Red of bravery, the White of purity, the Blue of truth. Once more we march to protect; yes, to strengthen, those ideals. Once more the flag moves forward, hope of the world, light of the oppressed and downtrodden everywhere; a promise to our children; the living, magic symbol of all that we have been, all that we still hope to be.

UNFAIR TO LOVE

By Watkins E. Wright

Chapter 30

Disaster Laura Pennell found a cigarette and lit it. "I hope the foolish boy hasn't been holding out hopes and dreams to you, Miss Vaughan."

"Oh, no," Kathleen lied. "Of course not. He's been very kind to me, but that's all."

"You know perfectly well you're not telling the truth," Laura Pennell said. "But never mind. Only remember this! I'm sticking around from now on, so—well, I'm sure you know what I'm driving at."

Kathleen struggled for a show of dignity. "It's terribly sweet of you to have this little visit with me, Mrs. Pennell," she said. "But I must be running along now. Someone is waiting for me."

"It's Paul," said Mrs. Pennell, "please tell him mama's also waiting."

Kathleen made her escape, for her departure was just that and nothing less. She hurried around the corner of the barn, feeling like a very small child who had been caught sampling the jam jar.

"Hello, Kathleen!" he said. "Congratulations!"

"Thanks," said Kathleen. "I'm tired, Uncle Frank. Would you take me home now?"

"But, Ducky—I mean, Kathleen—it's early. I planned to stick around some, and visit. Besides, if you don't mind, I'd like to take Ruby for a late ride."

"You mean you refuse to take me home?"

"Certainly not. I tell you, let Joe take you. He's around here some place."

"Thanks very much," said Kathleen. "I can take one of those taxis standing out there. Good night."

"Boy, she certainly has got her dander up!" Uncle Frank said, as he watched Kathleen streak across the open space to where cars and taxis had been parked. "Wonder what could have happened to her?"

"I think I know," said Ruby. "Paul's wife appeared upon the scene."

"His wife?" said Uncle Frank, astonished.

"Yes," answered Ruby. "I suppose I should have told you Paul was married, but I kept putting it off. I saw her talking with Kathleen a moment ago. She probably scared the poor girl half out of her wits."

"I hope she did," said Uncle Frank. "Maybe it'll teach the girl a lesson."

Joe joined them. "Still want me to take Kathleen home for you, Mr. Frank?" he asked.

War Workers Must Suffer Hardships

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—There must be harder a war industrial or military center in the country that isn't asking where is that defense housing we have heard so much about?

Certainly the question is being asked here in Washington, which, in spite of its staggering expansion, hasn't mushroomed like some of the villages which have become cities overnight. Defense housing has been one of the chief topics of discussion around here for well over a year, but you'll wear out good shoelather trying to find any of it.

The answer is simple enough. Defense housing is caught in that old debt log jam called priorities. Appropriations and authorizations for defense housing started shortly after the same for guns and tanks and planes. But by then it was too late.

It is only a little more than nine months ago that the old OPM issued its first authorization for 300,000 defense housing units. And it has been since that time that all the shortages in materials have become critical.

According to Sullivan W. Jones, chief of WPB housing priorities, there are between 80,000 and 110,000 housing units in the country now completed, near completion or under construction with no connections for utility services. That's because of shortages of copper wire and pipe for anything but military uses.

When the present inventories of bathtubs are gone, there won't be any more. Reinforcing steel is not available for housing. There are restrictions on fixtures, furnaces, metal windows and what-not. The lumber and wood products situation is becoming serious.

What's the answer? Mr. Jones, in outlining the situation, the other day, put it this way:

"President Coolidge I think it was who said there were four rules which made New Englanders tough and New England great. They were: 'Eat it up. Wear it out. Make it do. Do without.'"

"Those rules, all but the first, are revolutionizing our concept of housing for war workers. We must face realities and adjust our thinking."

"After all, this is total war and war workers are only soldiers on the home front. The housing which some of them, the single men, anyway, may have to live in for the duration may be little better than housing provided for soldiers on the fighting front."

"After all, this is total war and war workers are only soldiers on the home front. The housing which some of them, the single men, anyway, may have to live in for the duration may be little better than housing provided for soldiers on the fighting front."

What's the answer? Mr. Jones, in outlining the situation, the other day, put it this way:

"President Coolidge I think it was who said there were four rules which made New Englanders tough and New England great. They were: 'Eat it up. Wear it out. Make it do. Do without.'"

War Workers Must Suffer Hardships

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—There must be harder a war industrial or military center in the country that isn't asking where is that defense housing we have heard so much about?

Certainly the question is being asked here in Washington, which, in spite of its staggering expansion, hasn't mushroomed like some of the villages which have become cities overnight. Defense housing has been one of the chief topics of discussion around here for well over a year, but you'll wear out good shoelather trying to find any of it.

The answer is simple enough. Defense housing is caught in that old debt log jam called priorities. Appropriations and authorizations for defense housing started shortly after the same for guns and tanks and planes. But by then it was too late.

It is only a little more than nine months ago that the old OPM issued its first authorization for 300,000 defense housing units. And it has been since that time that all the shortages in materials have become critical.

According to Sullivan W. Jones, chief of WPB housing priorities, there are between 80,000 and 110,000 housing units in the country now completed, near completion or under construction with no connections for utility services. That's because of shortages of copper wire and pipe for anything but military uses.

When the present inventories of bathtubs are gone, there won't be any more. Reinforcing steel is not available for housing. There are restrictions on fixtures, furnaces, metal windows and what-not. The lumber and wood products situation is becoming serious.

What's the answer? Mr. Jones, in outlining the situation, the other day, put it this way:

"President Coolidge I think it was who said there were four rules which made New Englanders tough and New England great. They were: 'Eat it up. Wear it out. Make it do. Do without.'"

Hollywood Sights And Sounds—

War Brings Back Hated Old One-Night-Stands

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood used to be the place where a travel-weary actor could settle down. He could say goodbye to one-night stands, hotel rooms, bus and train tickets. Once in a while, when he got rich and famous enough, he could vary the monotony by jaunting to Europe.

But he didn't have to travel. He could go along comfortably between home and studio, and play with his hobbies, and talk about the good old days of one-night stands—usually shuddering with delight that he wasn't having any more.

The war has brought back the one-night stand.

The Hollywood Victory Caravan—with its genuinely all-star cast—made its one-night stands sensational in the 13 cities it played. It was, in name value, the biggest show on earth—but it is having smaller versions all the time for one war cause or another. The sale of war bonds, the entertainment of soldiers, tours for Navy relief, U.S.O. and other causes have sent names big and little on the road. The results, if they could be tabulated, should total in the billions of dollars—with the morale value of soldier entertainment not calculable in coin.

A few years ago the "world premier"—at some point distant from Hollywood—revived life-in-a-trunk for many celebrities, but never on a scale like this. Stars still travel to their movie openings to make "personal appearances" in various cities, but even here war activities are combined. The New

What It Means —

Industry's Coming Changes

By JOHN GLOVER

There's a bright gleam in the eyes of long-range thinkers in Washington these days. The shape of things to come after the war is being altered by wartime industrial-scientific discoveries. While these discoveries are vital in winning the war, their full impact will come later. Necessity is the mother of wartime invention, but the "children" grow up in peacetime. Radio and the airplane were babies of the last war. Hard-headed industrialists, looking over the field now, envision a post-war economy that not even a crackpot could have dreamed up five years ago. There'll Be Some Changes Made. Highly-placed economists foresee such things as the farm problem rendered obsolete by chemurgic progress; violent dislocations in the transportation systems as new goods replace familiar ones; new trends in public buying the result by appetites created by the war, calling for reorientation of manufacturing programs; shifts in labor centers with consequent reaction of realty values; new diplomatic ties as raw materials are succeeded by war-developed synthetics. That's just a partial list.

Take food. The government has been dining proper diet into Mrs. America's ears as a war health measure. Millions of young men in the Army are learning new food habits. It's leveling out the nation's diet. Sectional preferences are disappearing. Sales managers who get aboard the trend after hostilities will grab the new market.

Auto Men Face Problems. Auto makers face terrific readjustment. Out of business now, they must start from scratch. Designing a new model was always tough, betting million-dollar blue chips on public whims. It'll be tougher.

Nobody knows whether the ex-soldiers, driving midget cars now, will go for smaller machines then. The manufacturers must decide whether to go back to conventional models or ring in radical new designs. They don't even know what kind of engines will be wanted.

Cars are built around engines. Engines are designed for a specific fuel. Up to now, gasoline has been the public's fuel, so engine design started from there. It's a different story now. Industrial alcohol production has been boomed sky-high to make explosives. Alcohol makers have served notice that when their product is no longer needed for gunpowder they're going to fight for a whack of the motor fuel market.

Big Grain Usage Seen. Alcohol requires whopping quantities of grain. It's likely that alcohol-fuel firms would contract direct with the farmers for a steady supply of grain. That would put a kink in grain brokerage and related trade.

Synthetic rubber is another baby likely to grow into a giant. It comes from either petroleum or alcohol, from which chemists get butadiene. It's in official reports that alcohol-synthetic rubber can be made now for 13 cents a pound, as opposed to 22 cents for natural rubber in normal times. Synthetic boosters say it will be cut to five cents in mass production.

The alcohol requirements of such a program would solve any surplus grain problem. Don't be surprised to hear of the corn-tire ratio instead of the corn-hog ratio in a discussion of post-war prices. These are just hints of what lies over the after-Armistice horizon. Cargo airplanes have already taken on the place of the Burma Road. They'll still be flying in peace-time, and there'll be thousands of pilots available for flying conductors on aerial freights.

Remember, these are serious predictions of serious industrialists, some of them made officially.

Candidates' Filing Deadline
Passes; Ballot Remains Short

Deadline for county and precinct candidates to file for positions on the democratic ballot quietly slipped by last night with the list of aspirants the shortest in recent years.

Six candidates are uncontested; in four more races there are only two men vying; and in each of the other four there are only three candidates. Only late entry was that of L.

A. Coffey in the race for constable. A former deputy constable, Coffey is opposing J. E. (Jim) Crenshaw, the incumbent, and J. A. (Dick) Adams.

L. S. Patterson, county democratic chairman, reminded last night that all precinct chairmen, comprising the county committee, would meet at the courthouse at 9 o'clock Monday morning to draw for candidates' positions on the ballot and assess election costs. Candidates will then have until Saturday to pay their assessments.

Due to arouse considerable interest are three contested commissioners' races. In precinct 1, Walter W. Long and Roy Williams are seeking to unseat J. E. (Ed) Brown; in precinct 2 the incumbent, H. T. (Thad) Hale is opposed by W. W. (Pop) Bennett; and in precinct 4, the present commissioner, Alvin Simpson, is contested by E. E. (Earl) Edens and C. E. Prather. In the fourth precinct, Pancho Nail is completing his first term and is unopposed.

Four county candidates seeking re-election are unopposed: Sheriff Andrew Merrick, County Clerk Lee Forter, Treasurer Mrs. Ida Collins and Assessor-Collector John F. Wolcott; and Justice of the Peace Walter Grice of precinct 1 has no opposition for his second term.

Hugh Dunagan, the present office-holder, and George Choate are seeking the district clerk's job; J. S. Garlington, a former county judge, seeks to unseat Walton S. Morrison from the county judge's place; George Thomas and H. C. Hooser are in a heated race for county attorney; and in a three way derby for county superintendent are Herschel Summerlin, Walker Bailey and Anne Martin, the incumbent.

Mexicans Pursue
Cleanup Of Spies

MEXICO CITY, June 13 (AP)—A thorough cleanup of all possible centers of axis espionage or other fifth column activity in the jungle country bordering Guatemala probably will result from a government order taking control of 30 German-owned coffee plantations in that region, informed sources said tonight.

The order followed a decree last night empowering the government to take charge of and exploit the properties of axis nationals. Mexico began the seizure of axis businesses in the country today.

Guatemala already has taken similar action against German owned plantations on her side of the border. There has been much conjecture that there arms and other war materials were accumulated on the plantations.

Chinese Kill Japs
In Bitter Battle

CHUNGKING, China, June 13 (AP)—Chinese soldiers bitterly contesting a concerted Japanese move to gain complete control of the Chekiang-Kiangtse rail line in eastern China have killed several hundred Japanese troops in a sudden attack on Tsungien and are engaging the enemy in southwestern Chekiang province, it was reported today.

The Chinese high command said the Chinese attack on Tsungien, a city 60 miles south of Nanchang, western terminus of the railroad, occurred at noon last Wednesday. Military supplies were reported seized. Tsungien was occupied by the Japanese last Tuesday.

Two Local Women
Enter Golf Meet

At least two representatives from Big Spring are entering the West Texas Women's Golf Tournament in Mineral Wells this week. Mrs. Gordon Phillips left Saturday afternoon, and Mrs. Harry Stalcup plans to leave today for Mineral Wells. Both are well-known in West Texas golfing circles, and are expected to make strong bids in the tourney competition.

Women golfers from virtually every town in West Texas will be entered in the tournament.

Germans Proclaim
Greater Sea Fight

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), June 13 (AP)—The German government announced tonight extension of its blockade across the Atlantic all the way to the American coast as a result of the United States' entry into the war and of "the development which naval warfare has taken since then off the American seaboard."

(CBS in New York heard a Berlin broadcast saying the blockade extension was Germany's answer to allied threats of a second front.) Patent Office, Department of Commerce, is authorized to withhold the grant of a patent when disclosure might be detrimental to national defense.

Storm

Police lit gas flares to guide the rescuers until the Army could bring up flood lights. Every available ambulance was pressed into service, and the line of bodies lengthened in the funeral parlors. Scores of residents who had been only cut and bruised were treated at hospitals and dismissed to make room for the more seriously injured.

In its voracious, the tornado sucked up whole houses with their furniture and scattered them no one knew where.

A man who felt the awful suction and lived to tell about it was T. Nelson, who with his wife saw the black funnel approach and just made it under a culvert.

"The suction was terrible," he said. "I grabbed my wife by the ankles and tried to hold her as the wind whipped through the culvert, but she was torn from my grasp and pulled into the open. She was badly cut."

Col. Earl H. Deford of Will Rogers base took command of 400 soldiers who piled into 30 Army trucks, ambulances and civilian buses and rushed to the scene when advised of the news. With them went wrecking trucks and other Army emergency equipment.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13 (AP)—A list of those killed in the tornado here last night:

Mrs. Ruth Cable, 29; Donald R. Cable, 8; David Cable, about 11; Ira F. Copley, about 68; Ezra Ashley Hayes, 46; Mrs. Ezra A. Hayes; Bonnie Opal Hayes, 15; Alene L. Hayes, 18; Ralph Hayes, 11; Howard Ashley Hayes, 12.

Charles Byrd; Alma Koszars, 22; Mrs. Edna Cox, 67; Hazel Tinsley, 13; Mrs. Josephine Clark, 70; Mrs. Carrie Mae Hoffman; Riley J. Hoffman, 8.

Ruth Inez Hoffman, about 4; Elmer Eugene Hoffman, about 12; Hodra Hoffman, 15; J. C. Clark, 75; John L. Cox, 45; Inez Trout, about 50; Mrs. Eva Lucille Houck, about 35; Thomas Albert Clark, about 41; Irene Rich, about 12; Billy Pitts, about 10, visiting here from Arkansas (address unknown); Frank E. Wilson, 56; unidentified girl, about 14 years old; unidentified girl about one year old; unidentified soldier.

Scrap Firm Tried
For Price Raising

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13 (AP)—Federal District Judge Edgar S. Vaughn today heard the first civil action in Oklahoma to be prosecuted under emergency price control regulations and issued a temporary restraining order against the Horwitz Pipe and Supply company.

The Office of Price Administration charged the company with "buying, shipping and selling scrap metal at $2.50 a ton in excess of the OPA schedule."

Judge Vaughn's order permits the firm to continue business but puts them in danger of contempt of court proceedings in case of future violations. Hearing for permanent injunction was set for June 23.

From 1925 to 1940, approximately three-fifths of all new and used automobile sales, one-half of all sales of household appliances and two-fifths of furniture sales were made on an installment basis.

MAX S. JACOBSNegotiations Save
US 675 Millions

WASHINGTON, June 13 (AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said today that the house naval investigating committee had saved the treasury approximately $675,000,000 by promoting renegotiation of war contracts "wherein excessive profits have appeared."

He asserted that the total "by no means represents all the savings that have accrued or that will accrue through the activities of the committee. The policy of renegotiation and refund has become an established one now, and is expected to bear increased fruit as the war program progresses."

Ship Sinking, Admiral
Pauses To Save Dog

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 13 (AP)—Rear Admiral Frederick C. Sherman, abandoning the disabled U. S. aircraft carrier Lexington in the Coral Sea, risked his life to rescue his dog, "Admiral Wags." With the big carrier aflame and racked by explosions, Sherman took time to find the ten-year-old cocker spaniel before he left the ship.

"Admiral Wags didn't like gunfire," Sherman said today, "and hid under the bed in my emergency cabin during the battle."
