Council Decrees Prompt, City-Wide Clean-Up Campaign

By COPE ROUTH

An immediate city-wide clean-up drive, backed by an emergency ordinance designed to remove all unsanitary conditions in Midland, was ordered Friday afternoon by the City Council.

After a two-hour conference with health department officials, county authorities and medical leaders, the council began laying plans for the drive to begin within a few days.

Likely leader of the campaign is A. E. Cass, sanitarian for the City-Council Health Unit, who described in blunt terms the present situation and the steps which should be taken to correct it.

Naming of Cass to head the drive was suggested by Councilman J. W. McMillen, who described Cass's presentation of the problem as "the most intelligent approach to this thing I have heard."

The plans for the clean-up drive resulted from a hastily-called meeting to meet the threat of polio which already has reached epidemic proportions in Odessa, only 20 miles away.

To Minimize Danger

Mayor Perry Pickett presided at the meeting and explained that, while the polio situation in Midland is not serious, proper steps should be taken to minimize the possibility of an outbreak here.

And out of the meeting came the disclosure that, while the polio situation is not critical, there is an "extremely serious" outbreak of diarrhea and other intestinal diseases in Midland.

"While there is no polio epidemic," Dr. Dorothy Wyvell, Midland pediatrician told the group, "there is a serious epidemic of intestinal flare-ups. One hundred and two cases were reported last month and for every one reported there were 10 more which were not reported."

City Manager W. H. Oswalt, who called the meeting, briefly outlined the city's fly-control program which is scheduled to begin on January 1.

Mama Skunk Pays Debt Of Gratitude To Dallas Family

DALLAS —(AP)— Mrs. Lula Cox for weeks has been feeding food scraps to a family of skunks near her home. They're harmless and don't give off odors unless frightened, she says.

Saturday, the mama skunk had repaid the kindness. Mrs. Cox' dog, Spot, was hit by a car. He crawled under the house and refused to come out.

Shortly thereafter, a stray hound chased mama skunk down the street and under the house. Safe at last, mama skunk had time to be frightened — and to react as skunks do. Spot didn't like the smell. He crawled out into the grateful arms of Mrs. Cox.

Spot is recovering. Mama skunk has returned to her brood.

Mysterious Blast Jolts Dallas County

DALLAS —(AP)— An explosion heard in most of the 893 square miles of Dallas County at 8:52 p.m. Saturday left authorities mystified.

No one was able to locate the origin of the blast. Squads of police, firemen and sheriff's deputies were unable to turn up a single clue. Reporters and curious citizens who roamed the streets searching for the site were baffled.

The concussion was felt in downtown Dallas. It was reported from the suburbs of Irving, Garland, Mesquite and Richardson.

Switchboards at newspapers, radio stations and the police and fire stations were jammed. Calls swamped the telephones at the Dallas Morning News and the Daily Times Herald for 45 minutes after the explosion.

Citizens reported their windows rattled; drivers said their cars were shaken, and one woman said a pane was broken in her front window.

The CAA control tower at Love Field said there were no pilot reports of anything that resembled an explosion.

Newspaper Says Clark Accompanied Caudle On Junkets

CHARLOTTE, N. C. —(AP)— The Charlotte News Saturday published an interview saying Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark took two "pleasure jaunts" with T. Lamar Caudle, ousted assistant attorney general.

The News said Clark, while serving as attorney general, was a co-passenger with Caudle, his assistant, on two trips in the airplane of businessman Troy Whitehead of Charlotte. The paper said the flights were made during the time Whitehead was under investigation for federal taxes.

The News printed an interview by Editor C. A. McKnight with Walter B. Mallonee, former pilot of Whitehead's twin-engined, eight-passenger private plane.

In Washington, Clark was not available for comment.

Syria's Pro-Red Cabinet, Arrested In Coup, Resigns

DAMASCUS, SYRIA —(AP)— Syria's pro-Russian Premier Marouf Dawalibi and his cabinet—jailed in a military coup after one night in power—resigned Saturday. President Hachem Bey El Attassi named a pro-Army man to form a new government.

Hamid Khoja, member of the pro-Army bloc in Parliament, was designated premier. The President's announcement said he already was at work selecting cabinet members. His government will be Syria's fifth in seven months.

There was wide speculation that Dawalibi had agreed to resign and make way for a constitutional solution of the crisis in order to win his liberty from jail.

But the announcement did not say whether he and the others had been released.

Odessa Merchants To Close Shop For Campaign On Polio

ODESSA—(AP)—Four more cases of polio were reported in Odessa Saturday to boost the total to 54 for this year.

The cases were reported as plans were pushed for a city-wide clean-up.

The latest victims are a one-year-old girl, Evelyn Fierro; Sherra Bowen, five, and Billy Wilson, four.

Another victim, Mrs. Joseph Burnett, 22, was rushed to the emergency polio section of the Odessa Medical Center earlier Saturday, where eight other patients are receiving treatment.

Nine persons have died of polio here this year.

Odessa merchants, now in the midst of the Christmas shopping season, were asked to close shop Monday so every able bodied man can help in the clean-up. The drive is designed to rid the city of waste paper, trash, weeds, and other possible breeding places for disease carriers.

Parade Canceled

The annual Santa Claus parade, set for Thursday, has been canceled.

The exodus of persons taking their children to other cities and states continued. Telephone switchboards were swamped with long distance calls.

Although attendance has been dropping steadily, the Odessa schools remained open.

In addition to nine persons under treatment at the Medical Center Hospital here, where four iron lungs have been set up, 33 other Ector County polio patients are being treated in medical centers at Abilene, Big Spring, Dallas, Plainview and San Angelo.

Odessa Voters Okay School Bond Issue

ODESSA—Voters here Saturday approved a $1,650,000 school bond issue, 134 to 13.

The bond money will be used for construction of two new elementary schools, and additions to the high school and other plants.

Reds Rebel At Ban On Air Building

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—Allied objection to any Red build-up of air power during an armistice Sunday added to the differences which truce negotiators carried back to the conference tent at Panmunjom.

The sixth attempt by the truce teams at an agreement on supervision of an armistice opened at 11 a.m. (8 p.m. CST, Saturday).

At Panmunjom Saturday, Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief Allied negotiator, told the Reds the United Nations Command insisted that neither side should repair old airfields or build new ones during an armistice.

No UN Ultimatum

That drew an immediate objection from North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il. He said it would "deprive our side forever of the right to defend ourselves."

The Reds for weeks past feverishly have been trying to complete several airfields in North Korea under steady attack by Allied bombers.

There were numerous other differences at Panmunjom. Towering high among them was continued Red objection to Allied insistence on inspection teams behind both lines to supervise an armistice.

"The observation principle has run on the rocks," Admiral Joy told Allied newsmen.

Afterwards, the Allied press spokesman, Air Force Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols refused to say the Reds had been handed any "take it or leave it" proposition.

Police Grab Two Negroes After Game Of Hide And Seek

A group of peace officers played hide-and-seek early Saturday with two negro men.

After two and one-half hours, the peace officers won.

Police Lt. Chester Sprague's sharp ears started the whole thing.

He and Officer Loren Beatty had stopped briefly at Wall and A Streets at 3:30 a.m. when Lieutenant Sprague heard a loud, clicking sound.

A block away, at the Piggly Wiggly Store No. 3, Missouri and A Streets, they found the front door had been pried open.

Reinforcements arrived and within 30 minutes Sheriff's Deputies Ed Edwards and Guy Fletcher, Police Chief Rube Hemingway and Officers John Luper and Joe Curry had the place surrounded.

One of the negroes tried to sneak out the back door but beat a hasty retreat when he opened the door to stare into the muzzle of Curry's revolver.

The officers finally moved inside and the negroes climbed into the attic, where they finally surrendered at 6 a.m.

Six B-36 Bombers Soar Over Atlantic On Secret Mission

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Six B-36 bombers from Carswell Air Force Base apparently were thundering over the Atlantic Saturday night on a non-stop flight to an undisclosed U. S. Air Base in the Mediterranean area.

The sky giants, part of the Strategic Air Command, took off at 6 a.m. on their first mission to the Mediterranean area.

Eighth Air Force headquarters announced the big planes, built to carry the atom bomb, will land about dawn Sunday and that their destination probably will be given as soon as all are safely on the ground. They are expected to return to Carswell "within the next few days."

"Certain training exercises" will be carried out enroute, the Air Force said.

Commanding the flights is Col. Thomas P. Gerrity of Chicago.

Piloting one of the planes is Lt. Col. Paul R. Paskvan of McCook, Ill., one of three airmen who rode a B-36 down safely on crippled landing gear Monday.

Other pilots on the flight are: Maj. Alexander L. McClung of Hinton, W. Va.; Capt. Marvin E. Carver of Durham, N. C.; Maj. Russell M. McKinney of San Antonio; Capt. Edward C. Barrett of Woodland, N. C.; and Maj. Grayson P. Bowers, Jr., of Frederick, Md.

The reference to landing at a base in the Mediterranean area suggested they might be headed for one of the recently improved North African bases operated by the United States Air Force.

Capital Sees Slim Chance Of Armistice

WASHINGTON —(AP)— America's top-ranking military men believe there's an outside chance for an early peace in Korea. But until an Armistice is signed they also see the somber possibility that the war may drag on for months and even explode into a fiercer struggle.

The optimism in the Pentagon is tempered by a cold distrust of the Reds. There still is a cautious attitude among those who must plan for whatever comes out of the truce talks.

The hopeful view is based on a strong suspicion that the Communists—despite all their haggling — want an armistice for two major reasons:

(1) The Chinese and North Koreans have suffered terrible casualties in the last 17 months, along with heavy losses in military equipment and supplies which have been a drain on Russia.

(2) The Reds finally are convinced they never will be able to drive the United Nations forces out of Korea.

Talks Could Bog Down

On the other side, the thinking goes like this:

(1) The talks could bog down for many more weeks over the questions of policing an armistice, exchanging prisoners, or withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea.

(2) A breakdown in the talks is almost certain to lead to a naval blockade of the Red coast and Allied bombing of Red bases in Manchuria.

One thing is certain: The Allies now are negotiating from strength. They are in a vastly stronger position than they were at this time last year.

One year ago, the U. S. Eighth Army was a dispirited, battered force falling back in retreat before swarming hordes of Chinese troops. The Chinese sprang from hiding in the North Korean forests to overwhelm the UN forces and smash the "End-the-War-by-Christmas"

Red MIG's Down Four Allied Craft

SEOUL, KOREA —(AP)— Communist jets shot down four Allied warplanes Saturday in one of the first Red victories of the Korean air war.

The Fifth Air Force said the swept-back MIG-15's destroyed three Australian Meteor jets and one American F-80 Shooting Star. The Meteors shot down two MIG's and damaged three others.

The swirling air battle marked the first time the Reds have shot down as many as four Allied planes in one day. The Allied loss came just a day after the UN's greatest air victory of the war: 11 Red planes shot down, one probably destroyed and three damaged.

The Australian planes—twin jet Gloster Meteors from Britain—are early model jets, roughly comparable to the American Shooting Star. Both are slower than the MIG's.

Ground War Quiet

In addition, the Fifth Air Force said a Marine fighter was shot down by Red ground fire.

The ground war remained quiet. Allied casualties were extremely light. The exact figure was withheld, but across the entire 145-mile front the manpower loss was much less than one battalion might lose in a single hill attack.

Only scattered patrol clashes were reported from the battle lines, but night-flying pilots said the Reds continued to reinforce their troops.

They spotted an estimated 3,000 trucks along Red Korea's supply roads Saturday night. The Allies

$8,000 More Needed In Chest Campaign

Community Chest leaders Saturday reported $8,000 was needed to close the annual campaign.

Booths operated at six downtown locations Friday brought in $783 and other contributions still were reaching Community Chest from volunteer workers and letters.

Pat Ruckman, campaign chairman, urged Midlanders who have not contributed so far to the Chest to do so as quickly as possible. He said some previous contributors had made additional gifts of money.

The campaign quota to operate seven Midland Chest agencies is $55,447 and funds raised so far in the seven-week-old campaign total $47,396, according to John E. Reid, campaign coordinator.

Ranezays To Leave Midland; Plan New Start In California

Midland's millionth displaced person and his family will be resettled in Los Angeles, Calif.

Alexander Ranezay, 47, his wife and two daughters, Lydia, 21, and Erika, 10, will leave Monday by train. They were being sponsored here by Mr. and Mrs. William Y. Penn, 810 West Storey Street.

Penn said he didn't know what the Czech refugees would do in Los Angeles but he understood they had an offer "more suited to their needs."

Lydia Ranezay, who speaks English fluently, said they would be met in Los Angeles by Father Mathias Lani of the Catholic Resettlement Office. The Ranezays were brought from Europe by the International Refugee Organization and the Catholic Welfare Conference.

"We like Texas very much," she said. "They (Penns) have been very fine. But mother won't be able to work because of her arm and they do need a couple able to do housework."

Lydia said she plans to seek a college scholarship to study designing but she said she did not know just what type of employment her father would follow. He was brought to Midland as a gardener and his wife as housekeeper.

The Czech family came to Midland November 18 after Ranezay was selected as the one-millionth European refugee to be resettled by IRO.

Seal Sale Total Reaches $4,115

Midland's annual Christmas Seal sale reached the $4,115 mark Saturday.

R. L. Hughston, 1951 campaign chairman, announced the figure, as compared with a $7,500 quota.

The campaign is just a week old. Persons who have not mailed in contributions for their seals were urged by drive leaders to do so.

Midland never has failed to reach a Christmas Seal quota.

The $4,115 total announced Saturday represented a good gain over the $3,144 reported last Wednesday.

With but $3,385—less than half of quota—to go, campaign leaders were confident the goal would be reached well before Christmas.

Winnie Ruth Judd Returned To Asylum

PHOENIX —(AP)— Winnie Ruth Judd, the one-time "tiger woman" who killed two girl friends 20 years ago, was recaptured here Friday night, and went back to the State Hospital for the Insane as meekly as a frightened kitten.

Her fourth escape from the asylum gave her slightly less than 24 hours of harried freedom.

Two police officers picked up the 48-year-old trunk murderess three blocks from an apartment court in which two former women attendants of the hospital lived.

Mrs. Judd offered no resistance, but pleaded with Patrolmen George Sanders and Harold DeWitt to turn her loose.

"Why did you have to pick me up?" she asked. "I've served 20 years out there (the hospital) and I think I should be turned loose. I had a tragedy 20 years ago that I wasn't wholly responsible for."

Former Actress Now Is Typical Housewife

In typical housewife fashion, Mrs. William Moss, Jr., greeted this reporter.

"Pardon me a moment. The children—" and Mrs. Moss went off to see that the children were all right.

Jane Withers married William Moss of Odessa, Sept. 20, 1947, and settled down to become a housewife.

The Moss family moved to Midland recently. Until that time, Mrs. Moss had traveled back and forth from California to Odessa and Midland, making arrangements for the move.

There are two children in the Moss family and both were born on Sunday.

Shares Gifts

Mrs. Moss is raising her children much in the same fashion that she was raised. After she became a star, her presents from all over the world were numerous. She would keep them a while and then choose three or four that she would like to keep and then personally take the remaining ones to an orphange, or to a hospital.

Though Mrs. Moss hasn't made a picture in six years, the presents still come at Christmas time for the children. They have chosen the few they would like to keep and the rest have been taken to hospitals.

Mrs. Moss is the daughter of Ruth and Walter Withers. She was born in Atlanta, Ga., in 1927.

After appearing on a radio show in Atlanta, where she had been advertised as "Dixie's Dainty Dewdrop," Mrs. Withers decided to take little Jane to Hollywood.

After a short period of time of doing benefit shows, she was awarded a seven-year contract with Twentieth Century Fox. By the time she was 14 years old she had appeared in 23 pictures.

Wrote Own Script

The Midland housewife wrote "Small Town Deb" for herself and it turned out to be one of her most successful pictures.

Mrs. Moss' doll collection is one of the largest in the world. During the war it went on tour and sold more than two-and-one-half million dollars in War Bonds. The Exposition Park Museum in Los Angeles had the collection for a while and would like to have it back.

As a child Mrs. Moss loved animals. At one time she was the proud owner of her own small zoo. It contained nine dogs, six cats, two deer, several parrots, three turtles, 10 pheasants, three squirrels, 300 chickens, lovebirds, a calf, donkey, several horses, two goats and a Chinese silky.

When the war started, men leaving for the service would send their animals to her. Knowing her love for pets, they knew they would be well cared for.

The open-hearted animal lover accepted many. Among those she took were a fox, a skunk and an alligator, but she drew the line when one fellow asked her to keep his pet snake. She kept the animals and treated them like royalty.

Made Scrap Books

Not so different from the rest of the American children, Mrs. Moss made scrap books of her favorite stars. She especially kept those of her playmates. To this day she has them with her wherever she goes. They are a part of her childhood with which she doesn't want to part.

For three and a half year during the war, she served in the American Woman's Voluntary Service. It was the job of Miss Withers and her friends to gather up 512 five-gallon thermos bottles every Saturday morning and get them washed and returned.

As AWVS members they would visit a different camp each Saturday to entertain the boys and to eat with them.

Mrs. Moss loves people and hates to be alone. While a Girl Scout she learned to cook and was overly delighted when a cake she made from her grandmothers' Southern recipe won second place in the Pomona, Calif., State Fair.

Soon after her marriage, when they were on the ranch in New Mexico, she learned to cook red beans.

"I've never seen so many beans in my life—morning, noon and night," smiled Mrs. Moss.

Husband Is Cook

She openly admits that her husband, Bill, is the cook of the family. Although she loves to bake, Moss does the barbecuing. The couple loves to entertain informally, with yard parties.

Their evenings are spent listening to their collection of records or reading. Their record collection is one of the most complete for any melody.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Moss love gardens and yard work.

Their home is a comfortable, livable one located in Grafaland.

Mrs. Moss loves West Texas and especially Midland. She says the people are the friendliest she's ever met.

"It is wonderful to have such neighbors. I never had close neighbors in California," exclaimed Mrs. Moss.

Her only horror at first was the sand, but she has become accustom to it as have the rest of the citizens and takes it in her stride.

Mr. and Mrs. Moss plan to spend most of their time here. However, some time will be spent on the ranch and in California with Mrs. Withers.

Mrs. Withers is running two gift shops, since her career as her daughter's business manager is over and she is just plain grandmother.

Hereford Hotel To Go On Block

HEREFORD —(AP) — Hereford's $515,000 Hotel Jim Hill will be sold to the highest bidder in a trustee's sale here Tuesday.

The sale was ordered after the hotel corporation defaulted on payments of $8,139.21 to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The RFC had loaned $210,000 for construction of the hotel.

Opened in February of 1950, the 60-room, four-story hotel was one of the Panhandle's showplaces. Although it has been operating at near capacity the last several months, it has not been able to make payments on its RFC loan.

TWO GALLANT FIGHTERS—This is the 1952 March of Dimes poster, featuring Larry Jim Gross, 6, who has battled polio since he was 16 months old. Larry Jim is the son of Warrant Officer and Mrs. Jim Gross, now with the Air Force in Germany. The G.I. figure in the poster was inspired by an actual combat photograph made at Taejon, Korea, in July, 1950. The poster, designed by artist John Falter, will be used to spark the March of Dimes appeal for funds, beginning Jan. 2.

Collecting Dinner Plates Pecos Man's Unique Hobby

PECOS—Collecting dinner plates can be a highly interesting hobby. And it can be an inexpensive one, too, says Jo W. Camp, Pecos insurance man, who's been collecting plates for 14 years.

His unique collection consists of about 175 plates from nine foreign countries, including historic scenes, hotel varieties, railway dining car plates, restaurant plates, calendars and representations of various states.

"These guys kid me about stealing the plates, but I really don't do that," Camp said cheerfully. "Out of all these plates, I imagine I haven't paid for more than 15 or 20 of them."

He explained that most of his plates have been given to him by generous friends and well-wishing strangers.

Among the countries represented are Italy, France, Portugal, England, Mexico, Canada, Hawaii, China and Japan.

From Italy he holds six hand-painted varieties, each depicting a season of the year. They were sent to him by the president of his insurance company. Another, made of wood, was sent to him from Rome by a relative during World War I.

Possibly one of the most valuable plates in his collection is a "rice plate" from China. Of exquisite design, the plate contains numerous rice seeds embedded in the structure, said to be an old Chinese family identification custom.

Camp also is proud of his four old-fashioned bone dishes, arc-shaped plates which in earlier days were placed beside dinner plates to receive bones from chicken, fish and other meats. The Camps still use them occasionally, "just for fun."

Has Ike's Picture

The beautiful array of dishes includes a plate inscribed with a picture of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, surrounded by flags of the United Nations; a picture of the Bruton Parish Church in Williamsburg, Va., at which Patrick Henry delivered classic "Give me liberty or give me death" address.

One more than a hundred years old came from the Mason Hotel in Alexandria, Va.; another is of Abraham Lincoln's farewell address; and still another of the Christ Church at St. Simons Island, Ga., where John Wesley, founder of Methodism, once preached.

Of special value to Camp is a specimen from his mother's first set of dishes which is more than 60 years old.

Camp said that when he was in New York last Summer the managements of three prominent hotels, the Commodore, the Statler and the Hotel New York, all presented him with choice selections and refused to accept payment.

A bellboy at the Hotel New York spotted Camp's West of the Pecos necktie and told him he had learned to fly at the U. S. Air Force Base in Pecos during World War II.

Running across one plate brought a deep chuckle from Camp. It was given to him by a Pecos businessman at a Lion's Club Christmas party seven or eight years ago.

Inscribed in bold letters is the claim:

"Kilroy Ate Here."

Rich Get Rich, Poor Get Poorer, Census Reveals

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The top fifth of the United States population gets almost half of the nation's money income while the bottom fifth gets only three per cent. The Census Bureau reported Saturday.

This was disclosed by a preliminary analysis of information gathered in the 1950 census. Families and "unrelated individuals", that is individuals not forming part of families, were asked what money income they had in 1949.

The distribution of income among them was as follows:

Highest fifth—47 per cent.
Second highest fifth—24 per cent.
Third fifth—17 per cent.
Fourth fifth—nine per cent.
Poorest fifth—three per cent.

The release did not go into the fact that a much bigger percentage of the big incomes is taken in income taxes than is the case with small incomes. It did note that the analysis does not take account of non-money income. Many farmers, for example, have substantial income in forms other than cash.

The Census Bureau said:

"Incomes are somewhat more unequally distributed in the South than in the other regions. In the Northeast, West and North Central regions the wealthiest 20 per cent received between 45 and 47 per cent of the income, whereas the upper fifth in the South received about 50 per cent.

More Farm Residents

"The greater disparity of incomes in the South may be attributed in part to the fact that this region contains a much larger proportion of farm residents, who usually receive a part of their income in the form of goods produced and consumed on the farm rather than in cash.

"Also important may be the fact that the South contained about three-fifths of the non-white families and unrelated individuals, who are concentrated in the lower income groups. The distribution of aggregate money income among all non-farm residents was about the same as the distribution among all non-farm groups in the other regions.

"There was a greater variation in the distribution of income among the 10 largest states than among regions. Although the share of the income received by the poorest 20 per cent varied little from one state to another (about three per cent), the share received by the highest fifth ranged from 44 per cent in Massachusetts, Michigan and Ohio to 49 per cent in Missouri, New York and Texas.

Moscow Again Warns Turkey To Stay Out Of NATO

LONDON —(AP)— Moscow radio Saturday broadcast a new Russian note warning Turkey that joining the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "will undoubtedly cause serious harm to relations between Turkey and the Soviet Union."

Turkey must take all the responsibility for the consequences if she persists in joining NATO, said the note, which Deputy Soviet Foreign Minster Andrei Gromyko handed to the Turkish ambassador in Moscow Friday.

It was the second in a month accusing Turkey of an "aggressive" policy in siding with the United States and 11 European nations which have signed the Atlantic Defense Pact. Both Turkey and Greece have been invited to join the pact but still are awaiting final approval of full membership.

Truce Line Prospect

The accord between United Nations and Communist negotiators on a tentative truce line in Korea clearly does not mean peace is at hand. There is much hard bargaining to be done on other issues, and only time will show whether the Reds intend to meet them in good faith.

The main points to be settled are the exchange of prisoners and a system of inspection to assure that each side is not using the armistice as a cover for a new military build-up. First discussions on the inspection issue were not encouraging. The Reds are exhibiting their customary reluctance to allow anyone to observe activities behind their borders.

Settlement of the prisoner exchange issue is unlikely to come any easier. UN atrocity reports, confused though they are, nevertheless are some indication that the Reds might be greatly embarrased to tell what they have done with Allied prisoners.

The agreed armistice line is, of course, good for only 30 days unless all other agenda items have by that time been settled by the negotiators. If any of these still are pending at that deadline, then a new truce border will have to be drawn to take account of military developments during the 30-day period.

Not much military action is anticipated in this span, since any gains would have no effect if the full armistice settlement is reached in time. There is some fear the Reds will use the lull to move up new forces for a possible fresh offensive, or at least replenish existing armies. But UN forces are free to attack such a build-up by air and sea, so the advantages may prove about equal.

The North Koreans and Chinese sincerely may wish a [illegible] by Christmas. They appear to assign great importance to the newly determined armistice line. In Thanksgiving week they fought furiously for "Little Gibraltar," a commanding hill position in Western Korea. As soon as it was evident the assault definitely had failed, the negotiators moved to final agreement on the line.

• • •

There is no need to review all the reasons why the Reds seem to need a truce and ought to desire it. In spite of those compulsions, they still might be bent on pursuing the war further. If that were true, the armistice talks inevitably would be part of a plot to cloak a military build-up or to entangle UN armies and negotiators so completely in the frustrations of delay and shattered hopes that sentiment for getting out of Korea at any price might develop.

It never can be forgotten that the truce was a purely military device for the Chinese Reds when they fought the Nationalists on the mainland of China.

In the end, it is safe to say only that the agreement on a truce line is mildly hopeful. When Christmas comes we'll have a better idea what it really means.

A Tip About December

The 1952 calendars are turning up in the mail, and that's a fair sign that 1951 is about to pass on its fleeting way. The thing to keep in mind about December is that it's the world's fastest-moving month.

You turn around twice, get trampled in a store buying rush and by that time it's Christmas. You slow down that one day, maybe (all except Mom), and by the time you've recovered from the Christmas feast and exchanged your gifts, it's New Year's Eve. It's in the last fading hours of the day that you suddenly realize that another whole year is gone, and try to figure where it all went. Then, you make your resolutions to try to do better with the hours in 1952.

Maybe you will and maybe you won't, but it doesn't hurt you to resolve to. Anyway, it's not New Year's Eve yet, and it's not even Christmas yet, so better hustle on out and get that Christmas shopping done. Just remember this about December: Even though it has 31 days, it's a short month.

Old Faithful

In the shifting sands of a troubled 1951, what leaves a permanent imprint, what can we count upon as unchanging?

Not many things, that is certain. So it is with considerable comfort that we pick up the papers these days and spot pictures of President Truman enjoying himself at Key West. There he is, wearing those same sloppy caps and outlandish sports shirts.

Yes, the world may be in flux, but Harry Truman's taste in warm-weather attire is a veritable Gibraltar.

When a man shows his mettle he doesn't necessarily have brass.

It's better to be your own worst enemy than it is to be your own best friend.

If you're broke when vacation-time arrives, home can be considered as a last resort.

"I'm Not Promising Anything, Y'Understand, But—"

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Kefauver as presidential candidate would take curse off "corruption" cry; High bidder got Army contract for ovens; Eisenhower won his bid for European speed-up, according to mobilization minutes.

WASHINGTON — The more that Democratic strategy-planners look over the field of party candidates, the better Senator Estes Kefauver looks to them.

Although they aren't advertising it, most of them have made up their minds about two things: (1) That Truman isn't going to run; (2) That the chief issue in 1952 will be corruption.

Assuming corruption is played up by the GOP, no man is better fitted to lead the Democrats than the man who took the lead in fighting corruption—Kefauver.

There isn't a big-city boss in the country who wouldn't jump to have his picture taken with Kefauver today—even though at one time they pulled wires to kill the crime probe. For they know that with the senator from Tennessee at the head of the ticket, the Democrats have the only sure-fire automatic answer to the Republican corruption charge.

Note 1.—The President heartily dislikes Kefauver, as he does Senator Douglas of Illinois and others who have nudged him. But Democratic leaders don't think the President will have the final say this time.

Note 2.—Although Chief Justice Fred Vinson would make a great candidate and President, close friends detect increasing personal resistance on his part against leaving the bench.

Secret Russian Radio

Underground cables from Moscow report that a mysterious mobile transmitter in Western Russia is causing almost as much havoc inside the Kremlin as an atom bomb.

The powerful short-wave radio, located on a truck trailer, constantly is on the move in the mountains and butts into speeches of Soviet bigwigs with derisive comments and revolutionary slogans. It is operated by the oldest of the anti-Bolshevik Russian undergrounds, the NTS, started in Yugoslavia 15 years ago.

A few days ago—November 17—the radio read to the Russian people copies of letters delivered to the Red army command at Babelsburg, in Eastern Germany, calling upon General Chuikov to lead a revolt.

NITS propaganda has been able to reach millions, thanks to the Soviet system of receivers installed in offices, factories and homes for the purpose of listening to the official radio. The short-wave NTS station uses the same wave length as the Soviet home service, and it's driving Soviet officials crazy.

Uncensored diplomatic dispatches give such examples of the NTS radio as:

A Moscow announcer was reading a pious Pravda editorial acclaiming Stalin as "the father of peace and democracy," when a mysterious voice broke in with, "Liar, Stalin is a butcher!" Within seconds, there was the horrible sound of jamming as several Soviet jamming stations went to work. (The U.S.S.R. now has 1,000 jamming stations to drown out side voices from coming over the air.)

Later, misleading announcements of the distribution of leaflets in a particular section of Moscow brought out jittery Red agents in droves to try to pick up the leaflets.

Strange Army Bid

So many big scandals have been popping lately that congressional investigators have little time to investigate the small ones. However, hard-hitting Congressman Robert Kean, New Jersey Republican, has dug up evidence that an Ohio firm wrote its own specifications for an Army contract.

Two companies competed for a contract to build infrared ovens for the Army—the Triangle Equipment Company of Nutley, N. J., and Fostoria Pressed Steel Company of Fostoria, Ohio. Triangle bid $20,000, and Fostoria bid $24,000. Yet Fostoria mysteriously got the contract.

Congressman Kean now has written a letter to the Senate Preparedness Committee asking an investigation and charging that Fostoria's ovens actually were "considered obsolete and inferior to Triangle's." Yet, although Fostoria bid high, it got the Army contract.

Kean further charges that the Army engineers admitted they had actually let Fostoria write the specifications on the ovens on which it was bidding.

What the congressman wants to know is why one company has such an "in" with the Army that it writes specification on an Army contract; also why the firm gets the contract when its bid is high.

The nation's defense chiefs met privately in Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson's office the other day to review the outlook on the home front. Price Boss Mike DiSalle promised more meat for the housewives, although the armed forces are getting priority as of December 1; Wilson disclosed bluntly that military procurement is not keeping up with the new speedup in shipments to Europe; Arthur Flemming, Wilson's manpower expert, reported gloomily on the impact of strikes on defense production.

This column has obtained the secret minutes of this session, and, after deleting matters of national security, believes the public is entitled to know both the good news and the bad regarding defense mobilization.

"In answer to a question by Mr. Wilson, Mr. DiSalle stated the priority program on meat for the military services would go into effect on December 1," it was official recorded after the meeting. "The priority program should supply the military services with the desired quantities of meat," the minutes state. "In general, the meat supply situation has improved. Marketing of meat has increased recently, and in the last week exceeded 1950. The Department of Agriculture states that the meat supply outlook is good."

The minutes also indicate that General Eisenhower won his backstage plea for stepped-up military shipments to Europe, although the government is having trouble meeting the new schedules.

"Mr. Wilson states that the schedules of military procurement . . . appeared unrealistic. Mr. Small (John D. Small, Munitions Board chairman) agreed. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Small agreed to have the staffs jointly undertake additional study of the military procurement schedules . . . " The minutes continue. "Mr. Wilson asked Mr. Small if he could supply ODM (the Office of Defense Mobilization) with anything more definite on European requirements. Mr. Small replied in the negative and explained that the allocation of end items to Europe was a joint chiefs of staff decision."

One reason Europe needs more arms from this country is that her own industrial expansion has bogged down. This received some blunt comment from Richard Bissell, ECA administrator.

"Mr. Bissell stated that an adequate supply of coal is the fundamental problem holding up industrial expansion in Europe," the secret minutes report. "He said that at this time there is little the United States can do as the problem of increasing both British and German coal production is entangled in political considerations.

"In England, the problem involves union opposition to the importation of foreign labor which is required if coal production is to be increased. In Germany, where the physical possibilities for increasing production are good, the problem is complicated by ratification of the Schumann Plan (to combine the industrialization of Europe.)"

Flemming also reported on labor unrest in our own defense program.

"Mr. Flemming gave a resume of current labor disputes and their impact on the defense program. At the present time, the most serious work stoppages are Westinghouse at Buffalo, involving both Department of Defense and Atomic Energy Commission contracts; Allegheny Ludlam, involving shutdown of General Electric at Pittsfield; and Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, involving production of 9,000 tons of steel per day.".

This is the general picture that will be reported to President Truman of the home front.

• JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Bridge players who live in the big cities take it for granted that people who come from smaller cities can't possibly be first class players. This quaint idea is not supported by the tournament records. There are great players all over the country, in rural districts, small towns, and cities of all sizes.

You couldn't want a better proof than the case of Mr. and Mrs. William Thieman who came to last year's national tournament from Colorado Springs to place second in the national mixed pair championship. They were so pleased with their first experience in national competition that they are expected to try again next week when the championships are held in Detroit.

Opening lead—♠ 9

Today's hand, played by the Thiemans in a recent rubber bridge game, shows a neat point of defensive co-operation.

Mr. Thieman hit upon the nine of spades as his opening lead. This was a somewhat lucky choice, since he had a mental toss-up between the nine of spades and the seven of hearts.

The heart lead would have given declarer time to make the contract; but the spade lead gave the defense a chance to snatch five tricks in a hurry.

The important point was to avoid undue haste. When dummy played the jack of spades at the first trick, Mrs. Thieman (holding the East cards) played the encouraging ten of spades instead of winning the trick.

Declarer could count on winning two spades, three hearts, and only three tricks in whichever minor suit he attacked first. This meant that he had to work on both minor suits to develop nine tricks.

After winning the first trick in dummy with the jack of spades, declarer led a diamond. West took his ace promptly and led the eight of spades to dummy's ace. South had to lead clubs before he could get nine tricks.

This gave West a chance to take the ace of clubs and lead his last spade. By this time Mrs. Thieman could afford to take the king of spades, since the rest of her suit was established.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Spade	2 Diamonds	?

You, South, hold: Spades 7-6, Hearts 9-8-4, Diamonds K-7-3, Clubs A-Q-9-5-4. What do you do?

A—Double. A good partner will treat this type of double as highly tentative. He will let it stand if he can contribute good defense against diamonds, particularly with two or more diamonds; he will tend to bid again if he has a singleton diamond or if his strength is concentrated in one long suit. This double is an awkward bid, but you cannot afford to raise spades or bid clubs at the level of three.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 9-8-4, Hearts K-J-3, Diamonds 7-6, Clubs A-Q-J-5-4. What do you do?

Growing Evidence Indicates Truman Won't Run In 1952

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—There is some smart money here betting that the presidential race is going to end up General Eisenhower versus Chief Justice Vinson.

Big news of this is that President Truman isn't going to run. Evidence to this effect has been growing ever since he announced at a press conference he had made up his mind about being a candidate but that he would not reveal his decision until after the first of the year.

Several prominent Democratic senators, who should have the inside dope, have stated publicly they didn't think that the President will run. And the same story has been leaking out all over, from the President's personal friends and from party officials.

However, the slightly different twist to the story of his intentions, which comes again from the usual excellent source, very close to the President, is to the effect that he has not really made up his mind yet, in spite of what he has said.

This source says that President Truman now is undergoing one of the most severe mental struggles he ever has suffered, trying to make up his mind. He is said to be plagued by several conflicting emotions, the strongest of which is a feeling of infallibility which has been building up in him ever since he first became President, and which solidified when he won in 1948.

Truman's Conviction

Further, he has fought hard and cleverly for all of his policies, with a fair degree of success as far as political and legislative strategy goes. This has increased his conviction that he is just about the only man in the party who not only can win the election, but guide the party's destinies successfully the next four years.

Opposing this feeling in his mind are reasons and emotions telling him not to run again. He no doubt believes he could quit and go down in history as a fairly successful President of the United States. He also knows that the perilous four years ahead, with terrible pitfalls for the Chief Executive, could change his place in history from good to bad if he made a mistake.

On top of that, as has been reported, are the feelings of Mrs. Truman on the question, and her great influence with him. She does not want another four years in the White House for herself. She could sacrifice that feeling and go along with an attempt for another term. But it is reported now she is convinced that another four years would harm her husband's reputation and health. And she will not compromise with those things.

Those who know her say she is deeply shocked with recent scandals being revealed in the Administration. She is deeply religious and appalled at the thought of her husband's reputation being tainted with any of it.

In other words, she is putting all possible pressure on him not to run again. And she could have the last say in the matter.

Would Be Elder Statesman

Also in the balance tending to influence him against running is the very pleasant prospect of playing the role of elder statesman. He naturally is gregarious and would enjoy a more relaxed life with his friends than the one he now endures as President.

He still could be a party strategist and main cog, even out of office. And he might even try for another term or two in the Senate, his favorite place of employment.

In the capacity of retiring President, he still could campaign strongly for the man he picked as his successor. And he already has said he would make a speaking tour of the country whether he was a candidate or not.

The question the party leaders nervously are asking themselves is, what can change his mind, if, as he says, he already has made it up, or, what can make up his mind if he hasn't already. The current rumors and stories about his not running being put out may be an attempt to influence him not to run. They could have that effect.

It's almost a lead-pipe cinch that if he doesn't run, Chief Justice Vinson is his choice for the nomination.

Whatever decision he makes, however, he has got to make it soon. If it's Vinson, the job of getting him ready for the race is a long and tough one. It means the announcement will have to come soon.

However, if it's to run himself, he has a little more time. And that could be the clue as to what he is going to do. If he delays more than a month after the first of the year, it's a good tip that he has decided to try again.

SHE sat there enveloped in a momentary nothingness. Slowly she became aware of the firm strength of a tree trunk at her back, of the cushion of autumn leaves beneath her. She kept her eyes shut, taking in great gasps of the wonderful fresh air. When she opened them, her vision had cleared.

A few yards away, Bill Devanter and Lee Hildreth were doing something utterly ridiculous to Aaron Riggs.

Evidently one of them had hit Riggs on the jaw. He was standing up uncertainly, the grogginess in his eyes rapidly changing to fury. And they were forcing him to put on his overcoat backwards! The balmacaan with its deep collar made the lawyer look like a bibbed monk; it was as effective as a straight-jacket.

Elizabeth struggled to her feet. At once Bill was at her side, gripping her shoulders, peering intently into her eyes.

"Are you all right, Beth?"

She nodded mutely and then her voice returned in a hoarse whisper. "I'm afraid I asked for it."

"Asked for it!"

"Madame X was with me. He made a remark that indicated he knew about the kitten. Suddenly I realized he was the poisoner and then all the other mysteries fell into place. I told him my suspicions."

"You crazy little fool!" He couldn't have said it more tenderly.

But she couldn't feel frightened. She felt calm, completely safe, the sturdy bulk of Bill's masculinity between her and all danger. Perhaps the sudden acceptance of her dependence on him was reflected in her eyes. His arms slid around her, pulling her to him and his lips were firm and determined on hers. When he finally relinquished her, Lee was standing off from them grinning.

They began a single file trek along the narrow path. First, Madame X, gaily, a feline drum majorette. Then Aaron Riggs stumbling in silent anger and a reversed overcoat, prodded by Lee with a willow club. Then Elizabeth and Bill.

"How did you know? Why did you come?" she called back to him.

"Ran into old Hoskins as I came out of the phone booth. He told about seeing Riggs hiding his car on that deserted logging road near Black Firs. He thought it odd and so did I, especially when Riggs was supposed to be in Burlington. Lee and I decided to head for home."

"Why do you think he came back?"

"You, maybe. He probably recognized you in Burlington. But he'll never tell."

She peered ahead of her and knew Bill was right. Aaron Riggs would admit nothing now. In spite of the fact the row of overcoat buttons made his shape ridiculous, his shoulders still conveyed a stubborn inflexibility.

• • •

ELIZABETH and Bill faced the old woman in the wheelchair beside the living room fire. Sunshine was bright beyond the tall cathedral windows but it was a chill wintery sunshine. It fell across Ollie's hands as he presided over the tea tray with the finesse of a dowager.

Ollie refilled her cup. "I've done some checking, Mother. Aaron sold some of our stocks on the Chicago exchange. At a very poor time to dispose of those particular stocks. Court heard of the transaction, grew suspicious. He managed to secure one of the certificates and had an expert compare the signature with that on one of your letters to him. It was a forgery. He didn't tell his business partner but in one of their talks he did mention he was employing a handwriting specialist."

"And he came here to tell me, poor boy," she said wearily.

"Yes. And Aaron killed him. He was in over his head by then."

"He seemed such a quiet, self-contained man."

"And he tried to strangle me," Ollie said, "because he discovered I really hadn't broken my glasses and thought I could identify him. As a matter of fact I did see him but the overcoat fooled me. I thought he was Alistair and kept quiet to spare mother the shock."

There was a moment of silence broken only by the crackling embers, then Mrs. Steinhart laughed softly. "Ollie and I have made a few plans."

Ollie chuckled, too, and nodded. "That's right. We're giving the state the land under litigation and I'm going to open my conservatory to the people who'll be coming to the park."

"That's wonderful news," Beth said. "It's a fascinating garden."

"Mr. Harwood is taking over my affairs," Mrs. Steinhart explained. "He's an honest, intelligent man. All our past differences are forgotten."

"And," Ollie added, "Lee and Anne are coming to live here. Lee is turning our southwest property into an experimental farm."

• • •

THERE was another small silence. Emily Steinhart's eyes twinkled. "You'll be glad to leave these wilds for the city, Beth?"

Before she could reply Bill squeezed her hand. "She's leaving these wilds for even wilder wilds!"

"My goodness, what does that mean?"

"I've taken a surveying job in a Canadian lumber camp."

"And I've got a job as camp nurse," Elizabeth informed them.

"But that's not your most important job," Bill reminded her.

She turned to Mrs. Steinhart and Ollie, half laughing.

"I'm being put in charge of an exceedingly difficult patient. He's domineering and very hard to manage. Worst of all, he demands that I marry him and I can't think of a good excuse because I love him. I believe you both know who he is, don't you?"

Well-Wishers Provide Christmas Cheer For Donna Daft, Eight-Year-Old Cancer Victim

SALISBURY, MD. —(AP)— Eight-year-old Donna Daft, who is expected to die of cancer, met Santa Claus Saturday because of her neighbors.

The little, blue-eyed daughter of Thomas Daft was brought here from her home in the nearby fishing village of Chance, Md., by strangers who heard of the family's misfortunes.

Daft, a 37-year-old part-time fisherman, was stricken by cancer himself. A throat operation two years ago saved him from death but left him without speech.

Donna, a victim of brain cancer, is given maybe another year to live.

The siege of illness, plus the fact that there are two other children in the family and another is expected soon, made it doubtful that Donna would get her Christmas wish—a bicycle and a toy doctor's kit.

But all that was three days ago, before the Salisbury Times spread word about the plight of the Dafts.

Piles Of Food, Toys

Since then a steady stream of well-wishers has visited the Daft home, leaving behind piles of food, clothing and toys—including three bicycles and the doctor's kit. Fifteen other offers of bicycle gratefully were turned aside.

Business establishments in this section of Maryland's eastern shore are collecting money to help Tom Daft over the financial hump.

The Times printed a letter to Donna, warning:

"Lots of people will tell you there is no Santa Claus. Don't you believe them."

Saturday, the citizens of Salisbury and surrounding communities held their annual Christmas parade with Santa Claus there to meet the hundreds of youngsters who turned out.

None of the youngsters who met Santa smiled more brightly than Donna Daft.

Shortage Of Scrap Metal Grows Acute

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Government officials Friday night said a shortage of scrap metal has grown so acute it may force some steel mills in the Pittsburgh area to shut down, possibly this week.

Spurred by what he called a "very serious" situation in the steel industry—foundation rock of the defense rearmament effort—National Production Administrator Manly Fleschmann ordered a quick check of scrap supplies and called an emergency conference.

Arthur Lee Pertile was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Saturday for surgery.

Welcome relief for UN nations from the severe drain upon their economies and their ever-mounting manpower losses.

Red casualties are 15 times the UN's. Despite superior numbers, they have been unable to match highly mechanized UN Army's firepower.

UN will have fulfilled its mission of liberating S. Korea.

UN shells and bullets will have taught Reds object lesson.

Reds wish to avert possibility of UN use of tactical A-bomb.

UN could gain no ground during 30-day truce settlement.

UN could devote fuller attention to problem of building a North Atlantic Treaty Organization Army capable of defending Europe.

By prolonging truce negotiations, Reds would run risk of provoking the UN to bomb air bases and supply depots in Manchuria.

WHAT KOREAN TRUCE MEANS TO BOTH SIDES—Pictured below are four reasons why both the UN and Reds would benefit by an armistice in Korea. A permanent cease-fire would free the Reds from the fear of all-out bombing and atomic weapons. In addition, any UN gains during the 30-day truce agreement period would be nullified if an armistice is agreed upon before the dealine. Like the Reds, the UN would gain relief from war's fearful cost in men and money. Prestige-wise, UN would emerge victorious as liberators of So uth Korea.

Pledge Of Honesty Not Required For U. S. Job

WASHINGTON —(AP)— You don't have to swear to be honest if you take a federal civilian job, but the government wrote the word "honest" into the military oath of allegiance this year.

Senator J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), who has been fighting to establish a commission on ethics in government, says he sees no reason why this difference should exist.

"Inclusion of language in the civilian oath similar to that in the military oath should seem to be appropriate," Fulbright says.

"A stronger oath might be a method of impressing the seriousness of the situation upon the people.

"But there are many aspects to present conditions. Inserting the word 'honest' in the oath might turn out to be, after study, far too little a move to do any good. If we can get a commission appointed to study government ethics, the oath of office certainly is a subject that these people should consider."

Here's What It Says

The oath of office taken by most civilian employes of the government says:

"I,—(Name of Employe)—do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter, so help me God."

The military oath is similar but the word "honesty" was inserted this year when a standard oath was adopted for all of the military services.

Here is the new military oath:

"I,—(Name of the person taking oath)—, do solemnly swear that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the United States of America; that I will serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies whomsoever; that I will obey the orders of the President of the United States and the orders of the officers appointed over me according to the regulations and the uniform code of military justice."

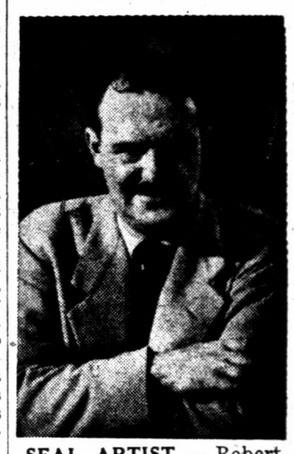

Fulbright says that undoubtedly the people who devised the civilian oath many years ago certainly believed that it implied that the employe was swearing himself to be honest.

He says he is uncertain whether insertion of the word "honest" in an oath, or tightening of the wording of the oath to make it more inclusive, would cause employes to be more conscious of the need for honesty.

The Encyclopedia Britannica contains a Russian military oath which pledges the soldier or officer of the "workers-peasants" army to be an "honest, brave, disciplined and vigilant fighter" willing to defend the Soviet motherland to "the last breath" and not sparing "my blood and my life itself."

"If by evil design I betray this solemn oath let me suffer the severe punishment of Soviet law and the universal hatred and contempt of the workers," this Russian pledge says.

Government experts on Russia said Stalin took this oath in February, 1939, shortly before World War II.

Valentino 'Lady In Black, Found Dead In Apartment

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Marion Benda Watson, one of the "ladies in black" who annually left roses at the tomb of Rudolph Valentino, was found dead in her apartment Friday.

To close friends she claimed to have been secretly married to Valentino and to have borne him a daughter who is being reared in Europe under a trust fund established by the late actor.

However, his relatives say this story is untrue.

Mrs. Watson, 45, was a Ziegfeld beauty and was known as Marion Benda on the stage.

Not until an autopsy is finished will the cause of Mrs. Watson's death be known. Only last Saturday she was found unconscious from a dose of sleeping pills.

At Pointe de Grave at the mouth of the Gironde, Americans will find a memorial to the first U.S. troops to land in France in 1917.

Baptist Choir Will Present Famed Oratorio

George Frederick Handel's famous oratorio, "The Messiah," will be presented in Midland next Sunday and Monday by the Chancel Choir of the First Baptist Church.

J. Q. Woodard, pastor's assistant of the church, is directing the choir. The programs Sunday, December 9, and Monday, December 10, will begin at 8 p.m. In all, the choir will sing 24 numbers, including solos.

Mr. Woodard said "The Messiah" will be presented as a community performance and a number of choirs from other West Texas areas are expected to attend the hour-and-half presentation.

The oratorio is divided into three sections but the Midland program will be devoted to the first part. Lyrics are selected from the Old and New Testament.

Composer Handel was born in 1685 and died in 1759. He was German born but became a resident of England. He was a brilliant composer of operas but his greatest work was "The Messiah."

Fogel, Not Vogel, Charged In Slaying

AUSTIN —(AP)— A charge of murder and two charges of assault with intent to murder were filed Friday against James Fogle, 33, of Austin in connection with a shooting in a Burnet road tavern Thursday night.

The Associated Press erroneously identified the man against whom the charge was filed as James Vogel.

Fogel was arrested shortly after Mrs. Mae Brown, 23, of Austin was shot to death and two other persons injured in a spray of shots from a .38 revolver.

New Organization For Refugees To Be Formed Monday

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM —(AP)— A new emigration organization will be established here early this week to take care of some of Europe's surplus population.

A 23-nation conference which met here throughout last week at Belgium's invitation has made sufficient progress to put on its Monday agenda a draft resolution to set up such an organization.

The conference chairman, Franz Leemans of Belgium, said 12 countries have committed themselves in taking part in the new organization. They are Belgium, the United States, Switzerland, Italy The Netherlands, Germany, Austria, Brazil, Canada, Australia, France and Greece.

Other countries are expected to join later.

The new organization would be based on an American plan for the movement of 115,000 migrants in 1952 on a budget of about 34 million dollars, of which 10 millions would be supplied by the U. S.

An administrative budget of $2,500,000 accepted Friday is divided between the participating groups. The United States will take up a third, or about $800,000.

The conference is expected to end Wednesday.

Federal Employment Increased By 2,591

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Congressional Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Spending Saturday said civilian employment in the government increased by 2,591 persons in October.

Seven agencies showed decreases for the month, and eight reported increases.

Chairman Byrd (D-Va) said the military establishment boosted its civilian payroll by 10,968 industrial employes in the month to bring its total of all civilians to 1,269,713. This compared with 1,260,658 in September.

Byrd pointed out, however, that the number of white collar employes in both the military and civilian agencies declined under a congressional proviso prohibiting the filling of some jobs when they become vacant.

White collar employes of the civilian agencies during October totaled 1,200,183, as compared with 1,206,304 in September, a drop of 6,121 Byrd said. The military establishment cut its white collar personnel in October to 522,265, as compared with 524,178 in September, a reduction of 1,913.

Byrd said agencies showing principal increases during October were the Labor and Post Office Departments, the Economic Stabilization Agency, General Services Administration and Tennessee Valley Authority, as well as the Departments of the Army, Air Force and Navy.

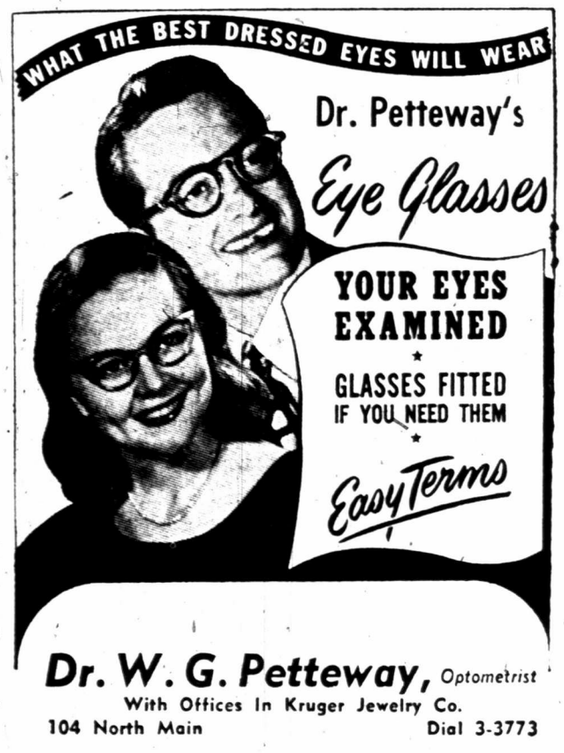

"Agencies showing principal decreases were Agriculture, Commerce, Interior, State and Treasury Departments, and the Panama Canal and Veterans Administration," he said.

Bradley Says NATO Meeting Successful

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Gen. Omar Bradley returned Saturday from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Rome saying he "thought it was a very successful meeting."

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff was asked by reporters about reports that the sessions were inconclusive.

"There were a lot of things that were just progress reports, like Greece and Turkey (whose full NATO membership still is being arranged) and the standardization of arms," the general replied.

The NATO members still are in disagreement over adopting a single caliber for rifles used by the various nations in the combined European defense system.

Bradley was asked if progress had been made toward an agreement on naming the supreme commander for the North Atlantic Ocean Region, a matter held up for almost a year by British reluctance to agree formally on the appointment of an American to the post.

The general replied that "they (the British) have a new government." He added that there still is argument about the question.

Trial Scheduled For Nuns Jailed By Chinese Reds

The five are charged with murder.

The Catholic sisters for years have operated the Sacred Infant Orphanage. They have taken in thousands of abandoned children, many of them seriously ill or dying.

The nuns were arrested last March and charged with murder for every death which occurred at a separate receiving station for waifs as well as at the orphanage.

Catholic leaders here believe the nuns will be expelled from China after trial.

"We would like to determine today," he said, "whether these plans should be pushed up.

"Actually, our own forces already are at work on the situation and there has been a great improvement in the negro and Latin American sections of the city."

He praised the work of Jake Cole, city employe who has been working the last six weeks at the job of contacting property owners who presently are without sewer connections.

19 Cases Reported

Dr. F. E. Sadler, director of the City-County Health Unit, reported there had been 19 cases of polio reported to his office during the year.

"I rather think," he said, "there have been more for we have heard of some which never were reported."

He proposed that the city and county take steps now to stage a joint clean-up campaign.

"No one can predict what polio is going to do in Midland," said Dr. J. S. Roden, head of the Midland Memorial Hospital medical staff, "but most doctors feel that we should clean up the city.

"Anything which is done now will bring us that much closer to our goal."

Dr. Roden reported that the hospital staff had met at noon Friday to discuss the situation and make plans to meet any eventuality in case the polio epidemic should strike Midland.

As the group began making detailed plans for the campaign, Cass interrupted the discussion.

"You talk about this clean-up campaign," he said, "as if it would solve our problem.

"It would be a good thing. You could have a parade and put on a good show and clean out the trash and debris around the city.

Sewer Facilities Inadequate

"But that is a minor consideration as far as an epidemic is concerned. Ninety per cent of the effort would be wasted as far as correcting our unsanitary conditions."

He described open, pit-type privies as one of the most dangerous threats to the city's health.

"And of those persons who have these privies, only about 40 per cent would be able to get sewer connections, even if we forced them to. The sewer lines just aren't there."

"And we need here in Midland," he continued, "a complete revision of our sanitary laws—our sanitary code—so we can force some people to clean up their property."

Cass said there were numerous connections in Midland between private water supplies and the city water system and that many trailer courts had inadequate sanitary facilities.

He said the city needed more stringent laws governing the handling of food.

"We have good restaurant and milk ordinances," he said, "but we have none governing other food handlers such as grocery stores and markets.

"These are only a few of the situations which need to be corrected and a clean-up campaign alone will not accomplish it."

Broad Emergency Ordinance

"We have conditions here you just can't put into a wagon and haul away."

At Cass' suggestion, the Council, all of whose members were present, adopted a broad ordinance banning unsanitary conditions and giving health inspectors broad discretionary powers in determining them.

County Judge Clifford C. Keith said the Commissioners Court would cooperate in any effort to clean up the city and the surrounding areas.

Need for a clean-up campaign also was stressed by Ray Gwyn, head of the Midland County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

School Supt. Frank Monree said the school at Terminal was sprayed Saturday and that all Midland public schools would be given this precautionary treatment this week.

Delegates Cordial, Smiling, As Secret Arms Talks Start

PARIS—(AP)—Smiling and unusually cordial, high level delegates of the Big Four powers Saturday started secret talks intended to develop some agreement on rival East-West disarmament plans.

They met for an hour with the president of the United Nations General Assembly, Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico. The session concerned procedure only. The group agreed to get down to business at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky was the highest ranking official present. U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd and French Delegate Jules Moch represented the Western powers.

Padilla Nervo said the atmosphere was so cordial he considered it a good omen. He announced the group agreed on every single points he raised about the work. He did not explain what points he raised but it was understood they concerned only how to tackle the monumental job.

drive launched by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Those were the darkest days. The Army fell back, pulled its fire-power together, dug in, and survived in one of the modern miracles of warfare.

Man-Sized Army

It's a man-sized Army. In all the talk of "police action," few people realize there are more Americans fighting in Korea now than Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had in his combat command at the peak of the North African campaign of World War II.

In Korea, the Americans have seven divisions fighting alongside the South Koreans and other UN troops. They are the First Cavalry Division, the First Marine Division, and the Second, Third, Seventh, Twenty-Fourth and Twenty-Fifth Infantry Divisions.

According to military men, there are more air power and artillery in Korea and Japan than the Americans had in North Africa.

So it's no small force that is engaged in Korea. And with all this firepower—plus strong defenses—military leaders are confident the retreats of 1950 never will be repeated in Korea.

John M. Thomas Dies In Vernon

VERNON—John Mervin Thomas, 81, father of Doyle Thomas, 1202 South Fort Worth Street, Midland, died Saturday at 4 p.m. in a Vernon hospital.

A retired farmer, Thomas had been confined to a Vernon hospital for the last six years and had been a resident here approximately 30 years.

Survivors include five sons; Clyde and Herman, both of Santa Maria, Calif.; Raymond of Fort Worth, Boyce of Vernon and Doyle of Midland, and one daughter, Mrs. Onice Stone of Dallas.

Interment will be in Vernon. Funeral arrangements are incomplete but have been set tentatively for Monday.

Wheel From Trailer Injures Pedestrian

Police reported Saturday that a wheel came off a trailer being pulled by an automobile on West Missouri Street and struck Mrs. W. G. Ross, a pedestrian.

She was taken to Midland Memorial Hospital for observation. Officers said the trailer was being pulled by a car belonging to O. R. Phillips.

Israel's President Is Seriously Ill

REHOVOT, ISRAEL—(AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, Israel's 77-year-old president, is seriously ill.

A medical bulletin, broadcast just after noon Saturday, said the president is confined to his bed with "a pulmonary inflammation which in itself is not serious but complicated by the patient's heart condition." He is permitted no visitors.

AP Poll Discloses Gamblers Are Leary Of New Federal Tax

WASHINGTON—(AP)—There are about 1,200 self-confessed professional gamblers in the United States.

About half have received the new federal gambling tax stamp, and the other half have sent in their $50 each with applications for the stamp.

The stamp doesn't license gambling. All it does is to make the gambler eligible to pay a 10 per cent tax of money he takes in on bets.

A nation-wide survey by The Associated Press indicated the new federal law is driving many gambler out of business and driving others deeper underground. Which is maybe what the lawmakers wanted.

Passage of the law this Fall put the gamblers in a quandary. If local authorities arrest a gambler equipped with a stamp, he is subject to prosecution under state laws forbidding gambling. If he operates a gambling business and has no stamp, federal officials get him.

The law went into effect November 1, with the gambling fraternity given 30 days to register for the stamps. The weekend mail may bring in some more applications.

Mostly Small Fry

Nobody knows how many professional gamblers there are. The AP survey showed that at least 17,771 persons were considered by local law enforcement authorities to be potential customers for the new stamps. Probably there are thousands more.

The purchasers mostly were small fry. The majority of them were punch board operators. The rest were policy wheel (numbers) men, with a scattering of horse race bookies.

Only three men bought stamps in San Francisco. One of them, Thomas B. Rickey, said he only wanted it for a souvenir.

The sheriff's office at Los Angeles, where only 26 registrations were on the books, reported many bookies were switching to the dope racket, prostitution and other "non-taxable" pursuits.

A Washington, D. C., bookie declared:

"I'm quitting. This racket was tough enough in the first place. Now, with the G-men breathing on your neck, it's strictly for the birds."

Red Satellites Reported Building Powerful Armies

ROME—(AP)—Russia may not have increased her own armed forces lately, but the armies of her satellites are growing by leaps and bounds, Western intelligence sources report.

One informant for a Western power, which keeps close tab on the Iron Curtain nations, says Red Bulgaria has built up a tough army of between 160,000 and 180,000 men, spearheaded by some 500 tanks.

That would be three times the 55,000-man limit set by Bulgaria's peace treaty with the Allies after World War II.

The Bulgarian Air Force also has been converted to MIG-15 jets, the fighter plane which has proved so effective in Korea, the informant said.

Army morale in Bulgaria is high, he declared, since soldiers and their families get special privileges. The rest of the country's seven million inhabitants are becoming restless under the Communist yoke, however, he added.

This same informant said starving little Albania now in the throes of a depression, has managed to build up an armed force of between 60,000 and 80,000 men.

Five Boy Scouts Save Running Man From Serious Burns

WOODWARD, OKLA.—(AP)—A running man, his work clothes ablaze, was tackled Saturday by five Boy Scouts, who saved him from serious burns and possible death.

Earl Hessman, Razien Metal Company worker, leaped from his crane after the generator he was cleaning exploded and caught fire.

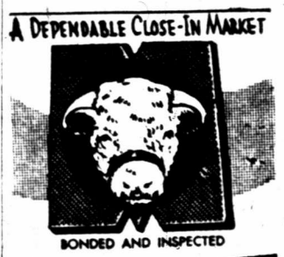

The Boy Scouts—at the plant delivering metal during a scrap drive—saw Hessman as he ran from the machine.

They tackled him, then rolled him on the ground until the flames were extinguished.

Hessman was hospitalized with burns from the waist to ankles but his condition was described as good.

The Boy Scouts are Fergie Ferguson, Dick Courtney, John Sparks, Lynn Luddington and Dick Mayes.

Oklahoma Pilot Found Dead In Plane

BROWNSVILLE—(AP)—The body of Gerold McCollough, 30, Blackwell, Okla., was found in the cockpit of his burned plane Friday.

An intensive search began for the plane when it was reported overdue at Brownsville, where McCollough was to meet relatives. The craft was found about 47 miles southeast of Alice.

Lt. Ralph Lawrence of the Fifth Air Force Squadron said the crash might have been caused by pilot fatigue.

Texas Ginner Woos, Wins Greek Maiden In Postal Courtship

VICTORIA—(AP)—A 48-year-old Victoria County ginner will fly to Athens, Greece, December 10 to marry a woman he never has seen.

Clarence Hillman of Inez, whose five previous marriages have ended in divorce, says he wooed and won Smaro Vogiatzaki, 27, daughter of a Greek general, by mail. It will be the first marriage for Smaro.

The ginner said it all started a year ago at Houston, when he met a soldier who had just returned from Greece.

"I asked him if he knew any girls I could write to. The one whose name he gave me turned out to be married but she gave my letter to a friend. The friend answered, we started a correspondence and one thing led to another," Hillman relates.

Both Hillman and Miss Vogiatzaki, who is a college graduate, wrote in English. After eight months of correspondence, Hillman proposed and the Greek girl accepted.

"I just happened to be looking for a wife," he said. "I explained it to her and told her what I wanted. I told her I was lonesome over here and was looking for someone to be happy with.

"It seems that's what she wanted, too—to come over here and live happily with someone," he said.

The wedding will be held in a Greek Orthodox church, although Hillman is a Lutheran and says he expects to remain one.

World Crude-Oil Production In September Below August Total

TULSA—World crude-oil production in September averaged approximately 25,000 barrels daily below output in June which was the last full month prior to the shutdown of the Iranian petroleum industry, The Oil and Gas Journal reported.

The journal's tabulation showed September world production at 11,757,000 barrels daily, including estimates for Russia and the Communist-dominated countries of Eastern Europe. World production reached a high point in June with a daily average of 12,004,000 barrels daily. This fell to 11,664,000 barrels daily in July when most of the Iranian fields were closed. Part of the loss was regained in August when the world total was 11,742,000 barrels daily.

The September total represented only a minor increase over August. Production in the United States rose about 52,000 barrels daily to a new high of 6,284,000 barrels daily. Venezuelan production was at a new record of 1,725,200 barrels daily, a gain of about 16,000 barrels daily over August. Increases also were reported in Saudi Arabia, Iraq, and several other countries.

These increases, however, in the aggregate were almost completely offset by a decline in production in Kuwait. Output in this shaikhdom at the head of the Persian Gulf was down almost 58,000 barrels daily to 628,700 barrels daily. Kuwait's production, like practically all other areas, is on an all-out basis, and during September, difficulties in scheduling tanker arrivals caused the decline in production from the field itself.

Highway Patrol Schedules Closer Checks On Traffic

PECOS—Capt. Glen Warner, chief of the large, 16-county highway patrol district which extends from Midland to El Paso, Friday issued a stern warning to traffic offenders.

With the addition of 10 new patrolmen to bring his force to 22 members, Captain Warner announced his officers will be making spot checks along the highways in renewed efforts to weed out drivers without operating licenses and to stop cars with faulty safety devices.

The more strict enforcement is in line with a state-wide move on the part of traffic officers to conform to the new driver responsibility law going into effect January 1, and to the vehicle inspection law already in effect.

Warner declared there are many drivers in this area who are operating vehicles without proper licenses. Maximum penalty for such an offense is $200 plus court costs upon conviction. He emphasized that the penalty is the same for juvenile offenders, in which cases the fine must be paid by the parents or guardians.

Warned also were residents whose vehicles bear out-of-state license tags. Normally, when people accept employment and establish residence, they are expected to obtain Texas tags within the same month.

"This is not necessarily a crackdown," Warner explained, "but we do intend to enforce the law."

Insurance Agents In 33 States Walk Out For More Pay

NEW YORK —(AP)— A coast-to-coast strike of Prudential Insurance Company agents seeking more pay began Saturday.

The walkout began technically in 33 states when a two-year union-management contract expired at midnight Friday, but there were no outward signs because Saturday is not a working day.

The AFL Insurance Agents International Union, claiming to represent about 15,500 of the company's more than 18,000 agents, has announced picketing of company offices will begin Monday.

Only then will the extent of the strike become apparent. The company has predicted some union members will ignore the walkout.

The company announced it will notify its policy holders by mail and through newspapers and radio that they can mail in their premiums or take them in person to company offices in areas where agents are not collecting.

Breckenridge Aerials Stun Midland

Ford Paces 33-14 Win For Bucks

By LARRY KING
Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor

Breckenridge High School's Buckaroos wrote a mournful dirge of doom to Midland High School's football season here Saturday afternoon, hurdling past the Bulldogs with a convincing 33 to 14 triumph which was sparked by the brilliant passing of Quarterback Kenneth Ford.

More than 10,000 fans witnessed the amazing performance of Ford, who hurled 22 times and completed 15 for a net gain of 219 yards and three touchdowns. And it was a 12-yard pass from Ford's hands which set up another Breckenridge score.

The Buckies now will meet Grand Prairie—31 to 0 conqueror of Marshall—next weekend in the AAA semi-final schoolboy playoff.

With eight minutes to go, it was a ball game. Midland had pulled to within 19-14 in the opening seconds of the final quarter, and Bulldog supporters took heart. But their hopes were dashed as Ford and the Buckaroos chilled Midland hopes with two quick scoring thrusts which knocked the Bulldogs of Tugboat Jones from the running.

The Bulldogs managed to score first late in the opening quarter, as the two teams spared cautiously without much damage in the first few minutes.

Breckenridge started a move from the Midland 41 late in that opening period, driving down to the Bulldog 25-yard line. From here, Ford saw his only pass of the day which backfired.

He tossed out in the right flat but defensive Halfback Dan Black came in to intercept, wriggled out of the headlock of a Breckenridge defender and set sail down the west sideline. He received key blocks from Pete English, Stan Coker, Fred Bilbo and Larry Friday, romped on the the midfield stripe, turned on the steam and ended his 97-yard scoring gallop in the end zone. Friday's kick was perfect to make it 7-0, at 11:32 of the first quarter.

Heads up defensive play for Mid- by Black, Terry Fuglaar, Fri- and Stan Coker stymied the k offense while two punts were changed, but the Buckaroos moved 46 yards to tally in the second quarter.

Buckies Tally

Ford tossed a lethal strike to Back Ted Vickers good to the Midland 16-yard line, with Robert Keisling finally putting the nab on him there. Vickers bored for three, then Ford hit Warren McFall to the one-yard line. Fullback Sam Thompson sliced over and Bobby Keith's successful kick knotted the count at 7-7 with only three minutes, 55 seconds until halftime.

Breckenridge ran a Midland punt back to the Bulldog 37 near the end of the half and struck swiftly to tally. Passes from Ford to Keith gained 11, 13 and 16 yards after Bill Leonard had trapped Thompson for a six-yard loss. The 16-yarder was good for a touchdown on the last play of the first half. Breck got its extra point try, although time had run out, but it was wide to the right and the Buckies left with a 13-7 halftime margin.

In the latter portion of the third stanza, Breckenridge Back Warren McFall scooted 38 yards to score on the most beautiful run of the game—and perhaps of the year.

Facing fourth and nine from the Midland 38, McFall apparently was trapped by Tackle Stan Coker seven yards behind the line of scrimmage—but he wriggled away from Coker, as five more Midland boys surrounded him. McFall spun completely around, toward the West sideline, burst out of the "huddle" and sprinted all the way down to the double stripe. It remained 19 to 7 at 7:40 of the third frame when Thompson was trapped trying to run for the extra point.

Guard Pete English gave Midland a scoring opportunity on the last play of the third quarter, falling on a fumble which Warren McFall mishandled at the Breckenridge 34.

Ralph Brooks swept to the right for 15 yards, then ripped and tore 19 down the same side for a touchdown. Friday's conversion made it 19 to 14 at 0:41 of the last round.

That was as close as Midland could make it.

Breckenridge came back 53 yards for another marker without giving up the pigskin, and it was the canny Ford tossing to the accepting Keith for most of the game. With fourth and seven to go for a first down from the nine, Ford hit Back Ted Vickers over the goal line and the count soared to 26-14 with Keith's added conversion. There was only eight minutes to go.

Midland picked up a first down, punted and stopped a line plunge for no gain.

Long Touchdown

But lighting—in the form of a 60-yard touchdown gainer, Ford to Keith—struck on the next play. Keith took the 25-yard toss and outdistanced the field to score. He added the unnecessary point for a 33-14 count and that was final.

Midland's pass game couldn't connect with success throughout the game, as the Bulldogs completed only six of 20 for 59 yards. In the past, Midland's passing had been potent. And as for Ford—there was no defense. Stop him short and he threw long and vice versa.

Winding up their MHS careers Saturday were these seniors: Tailback Ralph Brooks, Halfback Johnny Kennedy, End Jimmy Linebarger, Tackle Stan Coker, Guards Pete English and Dalton Byerley, Center Loren Roberts, Back Dan Black and Back Freddie Bilbo.

Bears, Tech To Clash In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, FLA.—(AP)—The Baylor Bears were chosen Saturday night as Georgia Tech's opponent in the New Year's Day Orange Bowl football game.

The announcement was made by Orange Bowl President Stuart W. Patton after Baylor swamped Rice, 34-13, to sew up second place in the Southwest Conference.

Georgia Tech, invited early in November, concluded its regular season with an impressive 48-6 conquest of Georgia.

Tech's 11-game season was marred only by a 14-14 tie with Duke.

Baylor won eight, lost one and tied one while taking the runner-up spot in the Southwest Conference, which had one of its wildest and wooliest years, with four teams contending for the title right up to the final week's games.

Baylor's First Trip

It will be the second bowl contest between Dodd and George Sauer, the Baylor coach. Sauer coached the Kansas team that defeated Tech in the 1948 Orange Bowl game, 20-14.

The lopsided victory over Georgia capped Tech's first undefeated season since 1928, the year the Engineers went to the Rose Bowl to beat California, 8-7.

The Tech squad will come here December 27, after a Christmas vacation, to wind up its preparations for the Orange Bowl game.

Each team will receive a minimum of $90,000 for the game. Last year the Orange Bowl paid $75,000 per team. The seating capacity is about 64,000.

It will be Baylor's first trip to the Orange Bowl. Georgia Tech has been here three times, winning from Missouri in 1940 and over Kansas in 1948 and losing to Tulsa in 1945.

Look Here! 1952 Midland Conference Grid Schedule Set

Midland ended one football season on Saturday and started making plans for another.

In a meeting here Saturday of District 1-AAA officials, the 1952 conference schedule was drawn up. Midland's card looks this way.

October 24—Big Spring at Midland.
October 31—Vernon at Midland.
November 7—Snyder at Snyder.
November 14—Lamesa at Lamesa.
November 21—Sweetwater at Sweetwater.
November 27—Plainview at Midland (2:30 p.m.).

Conference play begins October 17, but Midland drew on open date for that weekend.

The non-conference slate isn't set, Coach Tugboat Jones said Saturday.

Boston College Upsets Holy Cross In 19-14 Contest

BOSTON —(AP)— Freshman Passer Jim Kane of Boston College combined with Yearling Tommy Joe Sullivan for a 57-yard aerial play that set up the winning last-minute touchdown Saturday as the underdog but fired-up Eagles upset traditional rival Holy Cross 19-14 before 40,000 fans.

With only two minutes left and Holy Cross ahead 14-12 on a fourth-period score, Kane shot a long forward from his own 42-yard line. The fleet Halfback Sullivan gathered it in on Holy Cross' 20 and was dragged down on the one-yard line. Boston Halfback Joe Johnson then smacked over on his third try—for the vital tally of the hard-fought contest. That clamped the lid on one of the biggest upests in a 55-year-old series noted for such reversals of pre-game predictions.

Binion Gets Green Light For Gambling Rights In Nevada

LAS VEGAS—(AP)—L. B. Binion, under indictment in a Texas policy racket probe, Saturday was granted a probationary license to become major stockholder in the gambling concession at the Horseshoe Club here.

Gov. Charles Russell said Binion presented an affidavit that he was not engaged in gambling in any state where gambling is illegal.

Two members of the State Tax Commission, Paul MacDermott and William Gallagher, said they had made an investigation in Dallas. They found no evidence, they said, that Binion was in any way connected with the time-bomb death earlier this year of Herbert Noble.

AWAY HE GOES—Warren McFall stretches out on his 38-yard run for a TD in the third quarter against Midland here Saturday. The run brought the count to 19-7. Attempting to get McFall is Terry Fuglaar (51) and Dan Black (11) of Midland. Jerry Tubbs (58) of Breckenridge is the escort. Breck won, 33-14.

Sooners Blast Way Past Oklahoma A&M, 41 To 6

NORMAN, OKLA.—(AP)— Freshman Halfback Buddy Leake clicked off four easy touchdowns to lead Oklahoma past a game but inadequate Oklahoma A&M football team, 41-6, Saturday in the forty-sixth renewal of their rivalry.

Oklahoma just had too much power for the injury-riddled Aggies as it won its seventh straight contest before 34,500 persons.

The 24 points by the hard-running Leake, who moved to a regular post early in the season when halfback Billy Vessels was injured, tied Oklahoma's modern record with 24 against Kansas in 1949.

The lone Aggie tally came in the third period with a pass from Bobby Green to Dorsey Gibson seven yards over the goal.

The Aggies' only threat—passing from the spread formation—was gone with injured Quarterback Don Babers able to play only a few minutes. Green, playing his first full game, hit seven of 10 passes for 78 yards.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 10 team, ended the season with eight victories and two defeats, while the Aggies closed out a disastrous year on a 3-7 record.

In professional basketball no zone defense is allowed.

Mississippi Rolls Over State, 49-7

STARKSVILLE, MISS. —(AP)— Mississippi's showboat, Laverne Boykin, ended his college football career in a burst of speed Saturday, setting a new Southeastern Conference individual scoring record and overwhelming Mississippi State, 49-7.

The Greenville, Miss., senior fullback had everything his own way, scoring seven touchdowns. Quarterback Jimmy Lear and the Rebels' split T ripped gaping holes in the nation's tenth best defensive team. Boykin set up all but one of his touchdowns.

Bill Stewart spearheaded State's single tally, romping five yards around his own left end.

Meyer Says He's 'Happiest Man Alive' After Win

FORT WORTH —(AP)— Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian wiped away a tear down in the steamy dressing room Saturday and said "I'm the happiest man alive."

His Horned Frogs had just won the Southwest Conference football championship by beating Southern Methodist, 13-2.

It was Meyer's third conference title—his teams won in 1938 and 1944.

"I thought both teams played great ball," said the little coach, who now must start thinking about the Cotton Bowl where his Frogs meet Kentucky January 1.

"SMU really was up and they blocked and tackled viciously. So did we. It was absolutely one of the cleanest games ever played anywhere. I didn't see one thing during the day that could be called off color on either side. They were really rocking and socking but they were clean."

Lubbock Advances By Downing Ysleta Indians, 40 To 21

EL PASO—(AP)—Lubbock defeated Ysleta, 40-21, here Saturday to advance to the state AAAA semi-finals. The District 1-AAAA champion Westerners, favored to go on to the state finals, will meet Arlington Heights of Fort Worth.

The Westerners displayed a smooth, sharp-passing quarterback in Charley Brewer and a rippling fullback in James Sides to go with a hard-charging defense in defeating Ysleta, District 2-AAAA titlist.

Lubbock led, 26-7, at halftime and boosted the score to 33-7 by the end of the third stanza.

Jesse Whittenton, all-district tailback, was the offensive leader for the losers.

The New York Giants have won four world championships. They beat the A's in 1905, the Yankees in 1921 and 1922 and the Senators in 1933.

BROWNWOOD — An ex - McCamey High School gridder is a mainstay on the Howard Payne College football team this year.

He is David Pauley, one of McCamey's former schoolboy stars and the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pauley.

He came to Howard Payne because of his basketball savvy, but went out for the football team.

He winds up a brilliant four-year campaign with the Jackets this year.

Frogs Brush By Mustangs To Win Flag

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Texas Christian's crushing line, a stray elbow and Ray McKown, Gil Bartosh and Bobby Jack Floyd Saturday brought a 13-2 victory over Southern Methodist and the Southwest Conference football championship to TCU

The title—Texas Christian's first since 1944—put the Horned Frogs into the Cotton Bowl as host team.

It was a wild and furious finale of a bizarre season in which the conference title was in doubt until the last gun.

At Houston Saturday, Baylor beat Rice. If Texas Christian had failed to fell SMU, Baylor would have taken the championship.

The passing of McKown, that gifted sophomore, set up the first Texas Christian touchdown, and the throwing of Bartosh did the same for the other. Floyd's line-cracking runs proved the margin in between.

Pony Score Called Back

Southern Methodist was behind, 6-2, in the third period when Fred Benners, who tied the Southwest Conference passing record with 16 completions—making him 110 for the season—pitched a pass to Benton Musslewhite that gained 65 yards and an apparent touchdown. But an SMU player was ruled to have used an elbow too vigorously, so the score was nullified and the ball brought back.

The Methodists never could threaten again and the Frogs, as the result of that slashing guard, Herb Zimmerman, racked up another touchdown. TCU also was on the SMU three-yard line on another drive as the game ended.

Zimmerman it was who flung himself into the air and knocked the ball out of Benners' hand as the SMU star attempted to pass.

Morgan Williams, burly Christian tackle, fell on the ball on the SMU 40. With Bartosh running and passing, the Frogs pushed to the clinching touchdown. It was made on a six-yard run by John Harville.

Frog Line Holds Fast

Southern Methodist missed an opportunity to score a touchdown late in the second period when the Mustangs paraded to the Frogs six on the passing and running of Benners. But the Frog line rose up to smother four attempts, and the effort died on the TCU six, where it started.

The Frogs got a touchdown early in the first period as the result of an SMU fumble. Henry Strollenwerck dropped the oval on the SMU 27 and Keith Flowers, great Christian linebacker, fell on it. McKown passed to Floyd to carry to the 12, then combined with Floyd and John Medanich to slam to the one from which point Floyd bulled over. Flowers missed the extra point.

A 22-mile-an-hour south wind handicapped the punters, especially TCU's, but it helped SMU keep the Christians bottled up in their end of the field in the second period, when the SMU safety came.

McKown was the game's leading ground-gainer with 77 yards, while Floyd racked up 75. McKown also passed for 54 yards.

Benners' 16 passes netted 139 yards and he made 55 running, but was thrown for 57 yards in losses when trapped attempting to pass. So he wound up with a minus two yards rushing.

TCU rolled up 247 yards with 185 of it on the ground. SMU got 171, with 139 passing.

Bulldogs Hurt By 33-14 Loss To Breckenridge Team

By TANNER LAINE

You bet it hurt.

A 33-14 score against you can make a mighty big lump even in a district champion's throat—especially when he wanted to go all the way.

The 1952 football season started in the dressing room of the Midland Bulldogs Saturday—as surely as the 1951 one ended when a great coach told his boys—"shake it off, get your heads up, we had a fine season and you boys gave me a lot of fine football."

That was Tugboat talking to his boys, whom he asked to sit down a minute and listen before taking off the Purple and Gold uniforms they wore so nobly throughout an extended season. Breckenridge had ended it with a 33 to 14 pounding.

There was many a heartache in that dressing room, many a sob—the way men cry when something hurts down inside.

A tight-lipped manager opened the dressing door and in poured the Bulldogs. Loren Roberts, the center, was crying unashamedly as he hit the door. Dalton Byerley, guard, and Johnny Kennedy, halfback, were next in line. Their faces were frozen masks. Freddie Bilbo, blocking back, strode in. Big Stan Coker, his mighty shoulders sagging, reached his bench and sat there—just looking at nothing.

It must have hurt Larry Friday as much as anybody—that quarterfinals loss. A great competitor all season, Larry wanted this one. He did his part but it was not his day or the Bulldog's.

Friday had help in getting off his sweat-soaked jersey. Crimson had poured down his neck from a nasty cut over the eye. He didn't even notice it.

A Pat On Back

After his short talk to all the lads, Coach Jones walked straight to Coker and shook his hand. He sat down quietly by Jimmie Linebarger, a boy he says is one of the greatest he ever coached.

They didn't say much but it was there—the warm bond of coach and boy. Linebarger pulled at his taped knee.

Billy Mims, tall sophomore end, straightened up to his full six feet, two inches plus, and shucked his number 66.

Pete English, who had a great year, bit on a towel to hold back the emotion that was welling up inside in jerks.

Ralph Brooks, an all-stater in most books, made for the showers. One of the Bulldogs squatted down by his locker with the first words of praise, even in defeat—"Dan, you did get one back all the way." He was talking to Dan Black, one of the finest pass defenders in schoolboy football, who did bring one back for a long Bulldog TD.

"We should have had 'em," was all that Brooks had to say about the game.

It was still hurting, from the coaches, Tug, Gill and Red, down to the smallest substitute.

One of the boy's dad came up and just about summed it up:

"When you play your heart out and lose—that's all a fellow can do."

Drifted In

Well-wishers from all sides now began to drift into that hot dressing room. To each his own, they went to the boys and encouraged them.

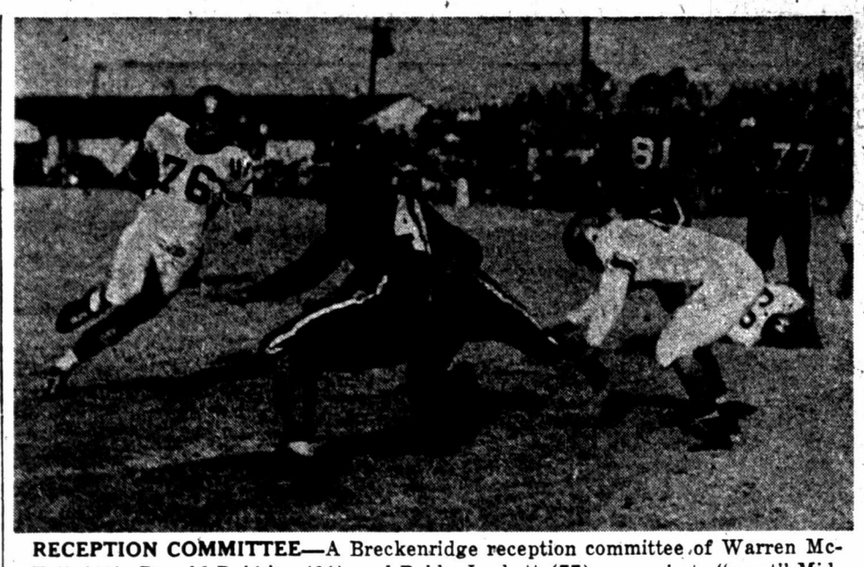

Tugboat had a good word for Breckenridge. He praised the Bucks and then, not as an alibi, said he believed that shake-away for a TD when it looked as if Midland had the Buckie back stymied was a turning point and a back-breaker.

And there it was—that sign at the door of the clubhouse the boys were leaving: "You are never beaten until the last whistle blows."

The last whistle had blown and Midland was beaten—but they never gave up. And tomorrow's another season. They could wear those "M" jackets from the stadium without any regrets.

That district champ tag on the 1951 jackets will help a lot the sadness of the now deserted Bulldog dressing room.

The victorious Bucks already were gone—on to the next game and the state race. It goes without saying—Midland wanted to go so badly.

RECEPTION COMMITTEE—A Breckenridge reception committee of Warren McFall (41), Donald Robbins (81) and Bobby Lockett (77) moves in to "greet" Midland's Ralph Brooks (76) as Brooks gains eight yards against the Buckies in the fourth quarter. Breckenridge took the tilt from the Bulldogs, 33 to 14, here Saturday to advance to the semi-finals in the AAA schoolboy football playoffs

Wink Wildcats Win Over Albany Lions In 21 To 13 Fight

By COPE ROUTH
Reporter-Telegram Staff

ABILENE—The powerful Wildcats of Wink High School skipped over a stubborn hurdle here Saturday afternoon to defeat the Albany High School Lions, 21-13, in their quest of the state Class A football championship.

Left at the post in a surprising opening before more than 5,000 fans, the Wildcats of Coach Glenn Frazier came from behind to gain a one-point lead at the end of the first period and then added another score in the third quarter to sew up the victory.

And it was a field day for speedy Dan Villarreal, the Wildcat halfback who romped for one 70-yard touchdown, and big Dale Dodd, the crunching fullback who came through magnificently whenever Wink needed an extra three or four yards.

Wallace Stars

But just as sparkling was the toe of Rusty Wallace, the Wildcat guard who booted three perfect conversions, recovered a fumble to stop an Albany drive and played a bruising defensive game in the line.

The two teams gave the fans their money's worth in the first four minutes but it was beginning to look like a gloomy afternoon for the Wildcats, who were trying to regain the gridiron glory of the old-time Wink elevens.

On the third play of the game, little Don Vinson fumbled the ball and Bobby Russell, a hard-charging Lion end, recovered for Albany on the Wink 41-yard line.

Like two streaks of lightning, Bobby Miller completed two passes to End W. S. Scott to put the ball on the Wildcat 12.

And then, with the game only two and one-half minutes old, Jimmy Allman, the Lion workhorse of the afternoon, crashed around his own right end to score. The try for extra point failed but the Albany fans settled back contentedly in their seats.

Picture Changed

Within 60 seconds, however, the picture changed.

On the first play after the kickoff, Villarreal found himself smothered for a five-yard loss.

But he bounced right back and, taking the ball on the next play, slipped through tackle, squirmed his way out of the arms of half a dozen tacklers in the secondary and scooted 70 yards for the touchdown that tied it up. Wallace booted the extra point and the Wink fans began to feel better.

But they had to congratulate each other in a hurry because a 160-pound Lion halfback named Freddie Morrison took the kickoff on the next play, split right through the middle of the approaching Wildcats and dashed 80 yards to score. This time Miller kicked the extra point and, with the game only three minutes and 45 seconds old, the Lions held a 13-7 lead.

Wink took to the air in an effort to come back but Vinson was unable to connect until late in the first period, when a nine-yard aerial to Paul Jette launched a 64-yard touchdown drive.

Vinson used his passes only enough to keep the Lions opened up as Villarreal, Dodd and Tommy DeWitt pounded out gains on the ground.

With only two seconds remaining in the first quarter, Villarreal slipped through left tackle to score and give the Wildcats the lead they never relinquished.

But the Lions remained a constant threat.

They bounced back in the opening minutes of the second quarter to drive to the Wink nine-yard line before they bogged down, with the help of a disheartening 15-yard penalty.

Final TD

The Wildcats picked up their final touchdown immediately after the opening of the second half.

Tiny Halfback Fuzz Herring joined Villarreal and Dodd in carrying the ball as the Wildcats drove 60 yards to score. It was Herring who gathered in Vinson's pass and romped on across the goal line on a play that netted 25 yards.

The final period was a bruising tug of war with neither team getting inside the opposition's 30-yard line.

The smartly dressed Wildcat band entertained the fans with their precision marching during the half-time ceremonies.

Ray Roars Back To Squelch Waco High In 21-20 AAAA Tilt

AUSTIN —(AP)— W. B. Ray High School of Corpus Christ spotted Waco High 13 points in the first half here Saturday, then came roaring back to win a 21-20 thriller.

The margin came on three successful conversions by Ray Kanipe, but it was the cool quarterbacking by Sonny Crisp and hard running of Buddy Tedder that brought the Ray victory.

The lead changed hands three times in the fourth quarter as Ray scored twice and Waco scored once in only one minute of play.

Ray got in a hole late in the first quarter by trying to quick kick on first down after being penalized to their own one. Gene Ward broke through to block Crisp's kick, and Raleigh Harvey fell on the ball for the first score.

It took just about one minute for Waco to score again as a Ray player bobbled a kick. Harvey Neese recovered on the Ray 37. Truman Smith uncorked a pass to Neese good for 32 yards and another score.

Fumble Starts It

In the third quarter, Jimmy Foerster recovered Powell's fumble of a punt return on the Waco 18. Kanipe went to the five and Tedder scored from the two.

Ray started off the fourth quarter with a sustained drive of 62 yards with Crisp getting most of the rushing yardage. Tedder scored on a six-yard bust through tackle, and Ray moved out in front 14-13.

Harold Cobb returned the kickoff 76 yards for a Waco touchdown.

It took Ray only two plays to go 59 yards and get back in the ball game.

Crisp passed to Morgan in the right flat and Morgan made a beautiful broken field run of 50 yards to score. Kanipe put Ray out front again with his extra point.

Fighting Irish Turn On Heat At Finish, Nip Trojans, 19-12

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, marching in ghost-like fashion 61 yards for the winning touchdown through the gloom of a fog-filled stadium, defeated their old rivals, the Trojans of Southern California, in the final minutes Saturday, 19-12.

Led by a freshman, Ralph Guglielmi, and three seniors winding up their careers at Notre Dame, the Irish broke a 12-all deadlock with only six minutes left to play.

Halfback John Petitbon swept right end on a pitchout for the final eight yards.

This payoff punch was the breaking point for a Trojan team that was favored from the start and on top through most of the game.

But the Irish never seemed to know they could be whipped. Twice they came from behind to tie the score before going out in front for the winning points.

The windup of the season left the Irish with seven wins, two defeats, and one tie. The Trojans, looking as moody as a coach's brow as they trudged out of the big stadium, finished with seven wins and three losses.

East Texas State Crushes Sul Ross

ALPINE—(AP)—East Texas State downed Sul Ross, 47-21, here Saturday, combining long runs and accurate passing for the counts.

Marvin Brown broke loose in the first quarter for 45 yards and an East Texas score. Judd Ramsey rammed 11 yards for a score, and Lloyd Corder added another touchdown.

Sul Ross scored in the first period on a pass from Charles Laffoon to Don Bingham.

In the second period, East Texas got two touchdowns on passes from James Gray to Self and Rod McCormick.

The two Sul Ross scores in the fourth quarter came on 66-yard and 11-yard runs by Dwayne Stacey.

Ramsey and Brown added East Texas scores in the fourth.

Corder kicked five out of seven conversion attempts for East Texas. Tommy Tucker kicked three of three for Sul Ross.

Texas Tech Wins, Looks To Sun Bowl

LUBBOCK —(AP)— Texas Tech defeated Hardin-Simmons, 28-21, here Saturday afternoon to win the Border Conference football crown for the fourth time in five years—and immediately after the game the winning Red Raiders voted to appear against College of Pacific in El Paso's Sun Bowl on New Year's Day.

The teams tallied touchdown for touchdown in the third and fourth periods after the Raiders had marched 39 yards in the first period for a score. Halfback Jim Turner punched two yards for the initial tally. Guard Punk Whitaker booted the first of four conversions.

Cowboys Tie It Up

After a scoreless second quarter, the Cowboys tied up the game on a 44-yard march with Quarterback Bobby Hart passing six yards to Chester Lyssy for the tally. Gene Offield got his first of three successful conversions.

The Raiders staged two scoring drives after that. They moved 34 yards on eight plays with Fullback Sandy Welton going nine yards for the second Raider counter. Moments later, Turner's pass to Cavazos for 26 yards put the Raiders 14 points to the good.

A 60-yard run by End Jim Cagle after he took an eight-yard pass from Hart brought the Cowboys to within one touchdown of Tech. The Raiders iced the game away by marching 88 yards on 16 plays for the final score with Quarterback Junior Arterburn passing to Turner on the two and Turner falling over.

Play To Open Here In Basketball Loop

The Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League will begin play soon, according to Ed Dillon, athletic director.

Dillon said the deadline for teams to enter the loop is Wednesday. The entry fee is $50 per team.

Eight minute quarters will be used for play and each team roster may carry no more than 15 players.

The league will play two round robin schedules, with the four top teams meeting in a playoff for the title. The schedule has not been drafted, but will be within a few days. Medals and awards will be presented to outstanding players and teams in the league.

Changes Due In Some AAA Districts

McKINNEY—(AP)— Sherman and Denison will be in Interscholastic League District 3-AAA next year, taking the place of Grand Prairie and Irving, which have shifted to 2-AAA.

District 2-AAA member schools must have a minimum enrollment of 1,000. Sherman and Denison fell below that figure and had to be moved to another district.

District 2-AAA will lose two members to class AA next season. McKinney School Supt. Jack Ryan said the two schools which will be dropped to class AA have not been announced. Ryan is Chairman of District 3-AAA.

Iona Colleges' basketball team will make its initial appearance in Madison Square Garden against Seton Hall on December 15.

Alabama's varsity football team is largely a home grown squad with 31 members of the Crimson Tide hailing from the Cotton State.

Navy Gallops Over Crib-Riddled Army By 42-To-7 Score

PHILADEPHIA—(AP)—A quick-opening break and a 101-yard touchdown run by Plebe John Raster lit a fuse under the slumbering Navy football giant Saturday and sent it stampeding over Army's rag-tag forces for a 42 to 7 victory. It was the most humiliating Army defeat in the 62-year-old service football rivalry.

A crowd of 99,000, sat in awe in Municipal Stadium's huge horseshoe as the battered Middies, a big bungling team that had won only one of its eight previous games this year, poured it on the crib-shattered enemy without mercy.

The worst previous Army shellacking at the hands of the Midshipmen was 24-0 in 1890, when this colorful spectacle was launched.

Raster, a lean, 19-year-old from Toledo, provided the most sensational play when he intercepted a Fred Meyers pass in his own end zone and burst up the sidelines like a rifle shot.

Cadets Stand, Watch

Army's warriors, who had been knocking at touchdown door when this swift turn took place, just stood and watched in surprise as the 170-pound defensive back streaked the length of the field for the second of Navy's three first-period scores.

The other chief executions were Mike Sorrentino, a ball-handling Houdini from Sharon Hills, Pa., and Vic Vine, a slashing runner from Garrettsville, Ohio.

They engineer the other three Navy touchdowns in the first half which followed successively a flubbed opening kickoff, a fumble and a short kick by the Cadets.

Sorrentino threw for two of the scores—a 15-yard pass to Frank Brady in the opening period, and an 11-yarder to Dean Smith in the fourth.

Jack Perkins and Vine plunged over from the one for two others while the final came in the fading minutes—as if adding insult to injury—when Don Fischer recovered a fumble by Meyers in the Army end zone.

Buckaroos Take Win Over Midland Bulldogs In Stride

By BOB ADAMS

The Breckenridge Buckaroos were a strangely silent group as they filed off the playing field Saturday. They had just defeated the Midland Bulldogs in the quarter-finals of District AAA play.

But little of the customary gaiety which follows a hard fought victory was apparent. The green-suited Buckaroos were just plain exhausted.

As they had trotted off the playing field earlier, two young and mischievous Midland boys held up a large banner which read "Blast Breckenridge."

But even this evoked little more than a proud grin from the victorious gridders.

And as they filed silently onto the bus for the return trip to a downtown hotel, their Coach, Cooper Robbins, slapped them on the back with a word of praise for each.

For Robbins the victory was the nemesis for seven futile consecutive years of fielding a playoff representative, only to lose out in the quarter-finals.

He relaxed on the soft seat of the large Greyhound Bus and recounted experiences of the game.

We hadn't expected to run against Midland," he reflected. "And boy, that game was in doubt until the final quarter. I've never spent such a long third quarter nor eaten as much grass," he said.

When the bus driver asked Robbins where the semi-final game with Grand Prairie would be played, he had a ready answer.

"It'll be there. We haven't won a coin toss in seven years. If we played football like we called the toss of a coin we'd be sunk," he said.

As the bus threaded its way through the heavy traffic, Robbins shouted a query to the rear of the bus to Houston Green, a 158-pound guard who had been injured in the game. "How are you feeling, Green?"

"I've never felt better in my life," came the reply.

The group rode in silence but occasionally a shout of "Let's get a Gopher" (for the team they will meet in the semi-finals) would punctuate the stillness and all would chorus in.

Didn't Know Score

So intense was the game that Kenneth Ford, a 153-pound rifle-armed sophomore passer, didn't know the final score.

"I was afraid to look up until that final gun," he said.

A play used so effectively by Midland was labeled "Sally Rand" by the group.

And they held a healthy respect for it. "Man, the blocking on those Sally Rand plays was terrific," said the group.

But Warran McFall, a 142-pound back who made the game's most spectacular run in the third quarter, summed up the sentiments of the group.

"Midland had a good team. We expected a rough game and we got it."

Vanderbilt Tosses Fear Into Vols, Then Goes Down, 35 To 27

KNOXVILLE, TENN. —(AP)— A fighting Vanderbilt football team, fired to great heights by the sensational passing of Quarterback Bill Wade, gave mighty Tennessee a real scare Saturday before bowing, 35 to 27.

A wildly screaming crowd of 45,000 homecoming fans shouted itself hoarse as Wade riddled unbeaten Tennessee's secondary with passes and almost pulled off the biggest upset of the season.

The bitterly-fought game ended in a free-for-all which quickly was brought under control by officials, coaches and police.

The hard-won victory was the tenth straight if the season for the Sugar Bowl-bound Volunteers and marked their first unbeaten and untied season since 1940. It also was their twentieth consecutive win over a two-year period.

Wade completed 16 of 24 bullet-like passes for 251 yards and no interceptions. He failed to score directly through the air, but his tosses set the stage for each of the Commodores' four touchdowns.

Tennessee completely dominated the first half and left the field for the intermission with a 14-0 lead.

New Mexico Beats Utah State, 17-13

ALBUQUERQUE —(AP)— Mike Prokopiak's gifted toe and Chuck Hill's shifty running enabled New Mexico to beat Utah State, 17-13, Saturday in a Skyline Conference football battle.

The outcome had this effect on the second division: New Mexico climbed out of the cellar to finish seventh in the conference, just ahead of Montana and the Utah Aggies dropped to sixth from a fifth-place tie with Brigham Young.

Bears Bruise Way To 34-13 Win Over Owls

HOUSTON —(AP)—Larry Isbell faked, frustrated and fooled Rice into a humiliating, 34-13 licking Saturday as Baylor's Golden Bears grabbed for an Orange Bowl bid.

They made it, too, the invitation coming a few hours after the final gun sounded on the remarkable action of the nonchalant Isbell.

He ran for one touchdown, passed for another and figured in two more as his mates sewed up second place in the Southwest Conference's wacky race.

It was a one-sided football game for 45,000 spectators, despite the seven touchdowns tacked up on the scoreboard and another a penalty rubbed out.

From the outset, there never was much doubt as to the outcome. Baylor dominated the play, running 59 plays to 20 for Rice in the first half alone.

Isbell made his last regularly scheduled college game and final home town appearance a memorable affair, cockily guiding the burly Bears to 237 yards on the ground and 191 in the air, accounting for 69 yards running and all of the yardage gained in the air.

Carpenter Scores Twice

Don Carpenter broke the scoring ice in the first period for Baylor, plowing over from the one. He made the final Bear tally, too, this one from the three. In between, Isbell scored from the two, passed to Stan Williams from the 17 for another touchdown, and Bob Reid grabbed Billy Ed Daniels' fumble in midair, romping 63 yards untouched to the end zone for still another.

Rice never got the ball enough to do much damage in the game's early moments, but Dan Drake hit Bill Howton and Sonny McCurry with touchdown tosses in the third and fourth periods. Another payoff pitch to Howton was rubbed out by an illegal use of the hands penalty.

Drake's first scoring heave went 11 yards and his last six.

C. O. Brocato kicked four extra points for Baylor, and Bill Wright one for Rice.

The win, coupled with Texas Christian's 13-2 victory over Southern Methodist, gave Baylor undisputed second place. The Bears had received feelers from the Orange Bowl and figured to say "Yes" if an official invitation was made.

Swan Song For Owls

It was a sad swan song for Rice's upstart youngsters, who had surprised everybody this year by finishing in the first division. But they just couldn't cope with Isbell and his hard-running backfield mates, Jerry Coody, Carpenter and Mickey Sullivan.

The first Baylor drive came the first time it got the ball and was good for 91 yards. The second covered 60 yards, the third 45, and the final 66.

Drake's passing was Rice's most effective weapon. On the ground, the Owls made just 82 yards, but picked up 148 yards passing. Howton caught passes for 124 of these.

The Owls traveled 75 yards on their first touchdown drive that counted and 73 on the second. The one that didn't stand was a 55-yard pass play.

Isbell led Baylor ball carriers with 69 yards. Coody picked up 68 yards.

Daniels was Rice's leading ground gainer with 56 yards. David Johnson had 38.

Quarter-Final Tilt To Wichita Falls

Delegates from the two schools tossed a coin Saturday to decide the site of the game. Anson won.

Anson Roars By Kermit, 26 To 6

By LARRY KING
Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor

ODESSA—Kermit High School's Yellowjackets took a convincing licking from the lethal Anson Tigers here Friday afternoon, 26 to 6, before 4,000 fans.

The loss—Kermit's most decisive in more than two years—knocked the Yellowjackets out of the AA race and stamped Anson as a serious contender for the state title. Anson now will meet Arlington—21 to 6 conqueror of Winters—in the AA semi-finals next weekend.

Anson simply had the West Texas eleven outclassed. The red and white clad Tigers generated power to rack up 17 first downs to only four for Kermit.

Kermit, even with its strong line, couldn't move on the ground as Anson set up an eight and nine man defensive line which choked the Yellowjacket running game. And when Kermit took to the air, the Anson forward wall was flexible enough to drop defenders back to intercept five of the 'Jacket tosses.

GAME AT A GLANCE

KERMIT		ANSON
4	First Downs	17
59	Gained Rushing	178
9	Lost Rushing	24
50	Net Rushing	154
107	Gained Passing	146
157	Net Offense	300
4 of 16	Passes Completed	8 of 12
2	Intercepted By	5
5 for 43	Punts, avg.	5 for 35
6 of 60	Penalties	3 for 15
2	Fumbles Lost	2

A pair of Kenneths—Quarterback Helms and Fullback Scott—paced the Anson offensive all day.

Anson Scores Early

Coach Moon Mullins' eleven roared 61 yards to pay dirt after taking the opening kickoff, with Scott being the big gun in the move. He romped 34 yards to the Kermit 14 to move into scoring position, then chugged over in five plays, scoring from the one. The try for point was blocked by Kermit Tackle Wallace Harbin, but Anson led, 6-0, at 4:10 of the first quarter.

Don Hollums of Anson intercepted a pass by Kermit's Bobby Almond in the initial quarter, moving from his own 20 to his own 38.

Kenneth Helms tossed 31 yards to Jim Bingham and after Scott failed to gain, Helms tossed a perfect peg to Jack Bowen in the end zone from 31 yards out. Connell converted to put Anson ahead, 13-0, at the end of the first quarter.

Kermit simply was stymied by the Anson eleven, but also stopped the Tigers in an uneventful second quarter.

Jackets Tally

The Yellowjackets made their most serious bid in the third quarter. On the first play from scrimmage in the second half, Almond tossed a short pass to Jack Krodell, who lateraled out left to Chuck Williams. Williams sped down the left side line, pulled away from two Anson boys and ripped 72 yards to pay dirt. Almond's kick was no good and it was 13-6.

That was as close as the Yellowjackets were to come to the Tigers, but they seriously threatened only minutes later.

Jimmy Schlosser pulled down an Anson pass at the Tiger 40 and ran back to the 19-yard line.

It looked as if the 'Jackets would score again, but their gas ran out at the five-yard line when Krodell fumbled after taking a pass from Almond.

Anson then cranked up and moved 95 yards for a touchdown, Scott getting the last two yards early in the fourth quarter, and it was 19 to 6.

Near the end of the game, Anson went 34 yards to score, getting the tally on the last play of the game when Helms tossed to Bingham, who made a diving catch, for the touchdown. Time already had run out, but Connell booted the extra point which he was entitled to, to make the count 26 to 6.

And Kermit packed its suits away until 1952.

TWIN TOUCHE! — Vivienne Imber, left, and Jean Pearce made a concerted lunge at the camera tuning up for the British Junior Championships at the Ladies' Amateur Fencing Union's headquarters in London. Miss Pearce of Plymouth was a finalist for the third consecutive year. (NEA)

Pardon us, friends, but you might say we didn't know the gun was loaded.

That's to say we didn't realize Breckenridge had such a potent grid team until it was a bit to late to retract our prediction of a Midland victory by one touchdown.

For awhile, when it was cut to 19-14, we thought: "By gosh, Midland's going to win it 21 to 19".

That, of course, was before the Buckies came marching back to score and then added insult to injury by tabbing another marker near the end of the game.

All of which added to Breckenridge's prestige in our eyes. Many a high school eleven—with a 19-7 lead and seeing it chopped to 19-14 in the fourth quarter—would have become a bit excited and committed all sorts of horrid blunders.

But not Breckenridge, which is used to winning teams and copping championships. The Buckies have copped seven straight district title.

* * * * *

But to get down to the mechanics of the game itself, it was just this: Breckenridge had a passing attack which was too good for Midland to stop, and the Midland passing attack fizzled. The running did too, for the most part.

As Jimmie Edwards, an ex-MHS and Austin College gridder observed sometimes afterward: "I've never seen a high school team that could make its passing attack go when its strong running attack was stopped. If they can't get 'em to mix, they are whipped. They just seen to work hand in hand."

Still and all, with no ifs, ands, buts and wherefores, it was a doggone good ball game until that boy Ford came uncorked there in the fourth quarter.

We think Midland did a fine job of playing fooball this season and we think Coach Tugboat Jones, assistants Audrey Gill, Red Rutledge and boys are to be congraulated on their fine season.

* * * * *

Now to get some VFW boys off our backs.

We were mighty displeased with the way the seating arrangement and tickets went at the wrestling card at VFW Wednesday night and said so.

John Henderson, VFW commander, called to remind us the VFW had nothing to do with it. The VFW leased the hall, and its responsibility ended right there.

That's right, and it was a private promotion. Pat O'Dowdy, ex-grappler, was in charge of things.

* * * * *

The finest high school band we've seen in sometime was the one in Odessa Friday when the Anson High School outfit drilled at halftime.

With the guys and gals in the band in striped (peppermint-type) jackets and the gals out front in brief satin shorts, it was a colorful spectacle.

Pat Patterson's Anson band played much swing and boogie in its performance and the fans really ate it up.

Anson had a fine ball club too. Just ask Kermit.

Kansas Assigns Missouri To Loop Cellar, 41 To 28

LAWRENCE, KAN.—(AP)— Kansas' alert Jayhawks took advantage of two Missouri bobbles in the opening period and finished with a sharp running game for a 41-28 victory in the final Big Seven Conference football game of the season Saturday.

It was Kansas' first victory over Missouri in four years. The Kansas success before a Homecoming Day crowd of 35,000 left Missouri in undisputed possession of the Big Seven cellar for the first time since Don Faurot became head coach in 1935.

It was as wild and woolly a match as ever was played in the 60-game series.

DALLAS —(AP)— The Southwest Conference football campaign showed a slight decrease in attendance from last year, although three of the seven members had increases. The season again went over the 1,000,000 mark.

Southern Methodist showed the biggest drop as the Methodist drew 201,600 for four games, compared to 305,250 last year for five.

The biggest gain was by Texas A&M, which packed in 159,131 this year compared to 93,589 in 1950.

While the season drew 1,190,731 compared to 1,230,233 last year, the average attendance was down only 152 per game. There were 36 home games last year and 35 this year.

Tulsa Wins, 34-20, Over Detroit For Missouri Crown

TULSA, OKLA.—(AP)—Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane fell four yards short of a new national total offense record Saturday but smashed Detroit, 34-20, for its second Missouri Valley Conference title in a row.

The Hurricane needed 627 yards to eclipse in 10 games the 4,747 yards it established last year in 11 contests.

The Tulsans under the generalship of Quarterback Ronnie Morris —who did an unusual bit of running himself—racked up 367 yards on the ground and 256 by passing.

CED Proposes New Flexible Plan For Wage, Price Controls

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Committee for Economic Development Saturday proposed a "flexible" price and wage control plan in which ceilings would be adjusted once every three months to match the shifts in business, farming and living costs.

The committee, a privately-supported research organization of business leaders and economists, said a compulsory three-month lag between price markups would slow any inflationary spiral.

In calling for periodic "roll-downs" as well, the CED policy statement said:

"If only upward adjustments were permitted, ceilings would tend always to rest at the highest levels they ever had reached, even though costs subsequently had decreased."

Ceilings Called Dangerous

The committee declared price-wage ceilings have a limited anti-inflationary values and, "if long continued, hold great dangers for our economy and our freedom."

The direct controls should be scrapped, CED said, as soon as a strong, stabilizing system of tax, credit and money policies can be installed to govern the actual sources of inflationary pressure.

CED's plan would tie wage ceilings to the cost of living index; above-parity farm prices to the agriculture Department's index of prices paid by Farmers; and business prices to similar formulas reflecting actual changes in major costs.

Roll downs in both prices and wage rates thus would be provided.

McKinney Rounds Out Personnel Of Executive Panel

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Chairman Frank E. McKinney of the Democratic National Committee Saturday completed the membership of an 11-member Executive Committee which will advise with him on party matters.

He named three members-at-large and three alternates. The first eight members — two each from the South, East, Midwest and West — were named October 31, the day McKinney was elected chairman.

The members-at-large are:

Robert W. Ready, St. Albans, Vt.; Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., and Mrs. Edward H. Heller, San Francisco. Alternates for these three, respectively: Mrs. Marty T. Norton, Jersey City, N. J.; Mrs. John A. Clark, DeKalb, Miss., and Sam H. Morris, Globe, Ariz.

McKinney will call the executive group to meet early in January to discuss reorganization of party headquarters, a campaign budget for 1952, and plans for the party's national convention in Chicago next July. McKinney will serve as ex-officio chairman of the group.

Tigers Edge Past Green Wave, 14-13

BATON ROUGE, LA.—(AP)—Louisiana State University squeezed past Tulane, 14-13, here Saturday in a rip-snorting football game that had 46,000 fans in a frenzy down to the last split second.

At the outset, LSU was as hot as Louisiana pepper sauce, but Tulane's Green Wave, after a ripply start, cooled some of the Tiger's fury.

Alabama, Marlow Sink Auburn, 25-7

BIRMINGHAM ALA. —(AP)— A terrific performance by Bobby Marlow led Alabama to a 25-7 win over the outmanned Auburn Tigers Saturday.

Marlow smashed his way for 233 yards and three touchdowns in 25 carries. The Tigers never were able to stop him.

The 195-pound halfback brought his season's scoring to 12 touchdowns with Saturday's brilliant game as 42,000 fans looked on.

MRS. H. M. WHALING DIES

Red MIG's—

swooped to the attack and claimed 295 destroyed.

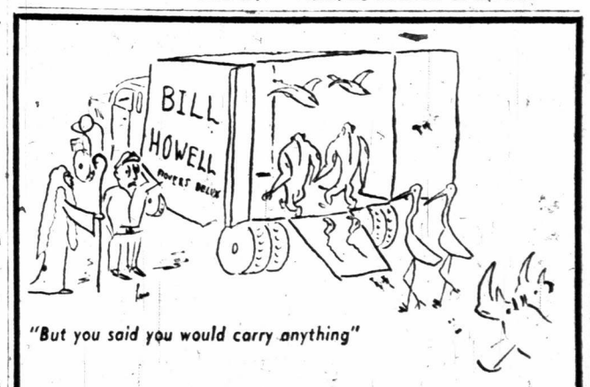

Some Red convoys, trying for greater speed, kept their lights on and made no effort to disperse, even under a hail of bombs and napalm.

One Allied attack that apparently hit ammunition trucks, set off a whole section of the convoy like a string of firecrackers.

Indicative of the ground situation was a Saturday night dispatch filed from the western front by AP Correspondent Milo Farneti:

"No a single (U. S.) Third Division soldier died in battle Thursday or Friday, an Allied officer said Saturday night. x x x "

John Dunlap Can Cure Tax Scandal, Texas Editor Says

WASHINGTON —(AP) —A Texas editor says the broadest tax scandal in the nation's history can be cured easily: Just "let Dunlap do the job."

That was the title of a thundering front-page editorial in the Longview News and Journal. In the unabashed prose for which many Texans, including Dunlap, are noted, the paper declored:

"When the President gave to John Dunlap of Texas the job of commissioner of Internal Revenue, if he thought he had a man who would go along in keeping the lid tight on the stink-pots of Washington and its political hierarchy, he was seriously mistaken.

"John Dunlap is a Texas gentleman. He never has and he will not now countenance graft and corruption in the men who are around him. He will refuse to hold down the lid on the fermenting swill-troughs of Washington."

That prediction was on Dunlap's desk when he took the most drastic step yet to "do the job." He fired 30 employes in 15 cities in one swoop.

A reporter got the impression that while Dunlap might not agree with the editor's evaluation of government nowadays, the commissioner quietly relished the homestate appraisal of his role in the hot seat.

The florid, moon-faced commissioner has the tinderbox task of cleaning up the tax collection service, already shaken by a toll of 49 officials and employes fired or resigned under fire.

Worst To Come

Some informed officials say the worst is yet to come, as the bureau and a House subcommittee continue investigating reports of fraud and inefficiency, and the revenue scandals boil over into a major 1952 presidential campaign issue.

Dunlap's handling of the situation already has drawn criticism. Some Republican congressmen said this week his cleanup is too little and too late, that mostly the "little fellows" are being punished.

Some newspapers have charged Dunlap with efforts to soft-pedal publicity and a tendency to belittle the scandals.

Dunlap says he welcomes publicity "on the facts" and that any employe found guilty of irregularities will be ousted.

He brings to the tumult of the capital a reputation for rising from the ranks with a blunt, move-fast-when-you-can-get-all - the - facts approach.

At the age of 48, he has climbed through every rank from private to brigadier general in the Texas National Guard. He has a similar record of rapid promotion since he entered the revenue service in 1933.

Leader In Church

Dunlap normally is soft-spoken —he was leader for years in church and charitable activities in Dallas— but as a close associate puts it, "He can be very expressive when something gets under his skin."

Twenty years ago, as a captain in the Texas National Guard, Dunlap was sent with a group of Dallas guardsmen to Sherman, Texas, where a mob had burned the courthouse. A negro on trial had died in the fire.

When the guard arrived the courthouse had burned, and the mob was still ugly. The young captain stood before the mob for three hours and had his nose damaged by a shower of bricks, rocks, and broken bottles. General Albert Sidney Johnson of Dallas, then a captain in the outfit with Dunlap, had his jaw broken. Johnson recalls that before the mob was quieted several hundred Guardsmen and peace officers had been called to Sherman from various cities.

As Dunlap recalls it, "we got the hell beat out of us but the crowd was dispersed."

Asked how his present hot spot compares with that one, the commissioner says, "Well, that was physical. That is mental. When I came here I had no idea what I was getting into. It's been a tremendous shock.

"But I don't let it get me down. I keep a sense of humor or I'd blow sky-high."

And Dunlap still sports a laconic grin, even under pressure.

He's one of the few Washington officials in high pressure jobs who keeps his telephone number listed openly in the public directory.

Why? "Well, I'm not hiding from anybody."

What does he really think of the House subcommittee, headed by Rep. (D-Calif), which has been putting the spotlight on the revenue scandals.

"I've never objected to the boss taking a good look at what I do. The King committee is doing an excellent piece of work in helping us clean up."

Dunlap thinks it will be two or three months before most of the investigations are over and things quiet down a bit.

OUR FIRST Birthday

It was just a year ago that Midland's "Cafeteria of Real Estate" first opened its doors at 1404 North Big Spring Street, offering a unique type of real estate service to Midland residents.

On the occasion of our "first birthday", we would like to express our appreciation to those who have done business with us in 1950 . . . and to pledge anew a real estate service based on efficiency and integrity.

October Spraberry Trend Output Is Almost 1,500,000

By JOE SALMAN
Reporter-Telegram Oil Writer

Approximately one and three-quarter million barrels of oil were produced in Midland County during October, and more than one and one-quarter million barrels were recovered from the Spraberry Trend.

Midland's production was from 10 fields and seven separate pays with its Spraberry areas accounting for 1,023,164 barrels. Total production from the county's 595 producing wells was 1,738,357 barrels of high-gravity oil.

Above figures include number of wells and production from the Pegasus, Tex-Harvey and Driver fields, which extend into adjoining counties.

Production from the Spraberry Trend's 17 fields, which are scattered over six counties, was 1,327,646 barrels of oil.

Tex-Harvey

The Tex-Harvey field of Central-East Midland County and Central-West Glasscock County is by far the largest field from standpoint of number of producers, area and number of barrels of oil produced. As of October 31, there were 318 producing wells in the field, each averaging 2,336 barrels of oil monthly, bringing the fields total recovery during October to 743,747 barrels.

There are approximately 72 square miles, or 46,080 acres of proven production in the present limits of the field which extends 11 miles from north to south and nine miles from east to west at its widest points.

As of November 30 there were 342 oilers in the field. Based on 2,336 barrels of oil from each well monthly, November production from the Tex-Harvey area would be 799,-112 barrels of oil.

Driver Area

The Driver-Spraberry field, which extends from Southeast Midland County into Southwest Glasscock and Northwest Reagan Counties, is the largest pool from standpoint of proven acreage. According to most unofficial observers there are approximately 90 square miles, or 57,-600 acres, of proven production.

The Driver area produced 238,198 barrels in October from 95 oilers. That is an average per well recovery of 2,507 barrels of oil monthly. Based on that figure, the field's 144 producers, as of November 30, would have produced 361,008 barrels of oil during that month.

The Pegasus field of Southwest Midland County and Northwest Reagan County produced 428,393 barrels of oil during October from 56 oilers. Six of those wells produced from the Pennsylvanian and 50 from the Ellenburger.

The Pegasus field of Southwest Midland County's second largest producer.

Average monthly production rate per well of 7,650 barrels of oil, makes the Pegasus field the most prolific of Midland's 10 fields.

It is six miles long from north to south and two and one-half miles wide.

The Sweetie Peck-multipay field, which produces from five separate pools, of Southeast Midland County, produced 120,603 barrels of oil in October. This field recently was extended just across the county line into Northwest Upton County.

Five Pays

As of October 31 there were 36 producers in the area: one Devonian, 13 Elleburger, one Fussel-

Shell Completes Montana Opener For 1,656 BOPD

CASPER, WYO.—Following a production test, Shell Oil Company confirmed Saturday the completion of its Northen Pacific No. 1 well in the Richey area of Montana, flowing 1,656 barrels of 38-gravity crude oil in the first 24 hours, according to an announcement by J. E. Clark, Rocky Mountain division manager, in Casper.

The well, located on land held under contract with the Northern Railroad, is producting from the interval 7,183 feet to 7,275 feet from limestone of Mississippian age.

Showed On Test

News of this completed wildcat well comes approximately four and one-half months after the discovery of an important new oil-producting area in the Montana part of the Williston Basin was made known by Shell.

Based upon a 40-minute drillstem test in July, Shell's Northern Pacific No. 1 was the first well in that part of the Basin to flow substantial quantities of oil during its initial test.

Clark emphasized that commercial production from the wel marks only one step in a long exploratory and development process which began more than a year ago and will proceed for years to come.

The first step was geophysical prospecting over a period of many months. On the basis of data thus obtained, the location of the exploratory well was decided upon and Northern Pacific No. 1 was "spudded in" in May, 1951.

Was Plugged Back

Drilling had produced to the present producing depth when the first oil was struck July 13. The company continued drilling, however, to a depth of 10,518 feet, making tests in various formations to obtain a better picture of the potentialities of the area. The well was finally plugged back to the Mississippian formations and put on production late last week.

Shell Oil plans to begin a second well in the field at an early date, as well as another exploratory well. Clark said, but the full extent of the field will not be known until a number of additional wells have been drilled.

According to Clark, completion of Shell's Northern Pacific No. 1 now confirms as correct the prediction made in July that the Montana part of the Williston Basin would be an important new producting region that may add substantially to the nation's crude oil reserves.

Skelly To Set Casing And Complete W-A Discovery In C-E Lea

Skelly Oil Company No. 9-0 State, discovery for flowing production from the Wichita-Albany lime of the Permian in Central-East Lea County, New Mexico, is bottomed at 8,500 feet.

It is preparing to run casing and complete from the pay it has already drilled through.

Southeast Of Lovington

It is six miles southeast of the town of Lovington and 815 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of section 31-16s-37e. That puts it on the northeast side of the original Lovington field which produces from the San Andres-Permian above an average total depth of 4,900 feet.

The wildcat flowed 196 barrels of 39.2 gravity clean in four hours and 16 minutes in a drillstem test at 8,140-8,320 feet.

That flow was through a five-eighth inch bottom hole choke and a one-inch top opening on the drill pipe.

Flowed Again

Another test was run at 8,328-98 fet. It flowed 71 barrels of oil in four and one-half hours from that zone.

It drilled on down to 8,500 feet, still in the Wichita-Albany and took a drillstem test of that zone.

Full details of the recovery from that investigation have not been reported. However it is known that the section flowed oil, gas, drilling mud and salt water.

After that test operator decided to set casing and complete without drilling any deeper.

Has Higher Pay

Skelly No. 9-0 State has also shown as a discovery for commercial production from the zone at 6,065-6,220 feet in the Glorieta horizon of the middle Permian.

It is one and three-quarter miles west of Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1-PD State, a recently completed flowing discovery from the Strawn lime of the Pennsylvanian.

El Paso Gas Firm Expansion Okayed

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Power Commission Friday approved two projects proposed by El Paso Natural Gas Company for expansion in the Southwest.

Rio Arriba Sector Of San Juan Basin Gets New Oil Well

An important development has been reported for the West-Central Rio Arriba County, New Mexico sector of the San Juan Basin.

Lowrey, et al, (formerly Doswell and Pettigrew) No. 4-13-132 State, near the center of the San Juan Basin and at the center of the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 9-26n-6w has flowed oil in commercial amounts and it is now preparing to test further and complete.

From Tocito Sand

The production is coming from the Tocito sand in the Mancos formation.

The new well is about one mile northeast of a discovery which was completed from the same pay several months ago at the Doswell and Pettigrew No. 2 Scott-Federal.

Lowrey, et al, No. 4-13-132 State is bottomed at 6,726 feet in the Tocito sand. The 7-inch casing is cemented at 6,726 feet.

An electric log showed that the pay is at 6,678-93 feet.

Flowed For 10 Hours

On a recent test the well is credited with having flowed 404 barrels of pipe line oil in 10 hours, through a three-quarter inch tubing choke.

After that ten-hour flow the project was shutin for 18 hours for storage. It was then opened up through open two-inch tubing and flowed at the rate of 20 barrels of oil per hour, for an unreported length of time.

Due To Complete

Then the tubing was pulled and the well was flowed through the casing for two hours. It flowed at the average rate of 55 barrels of oil per hour during that period.

Operator was to run the tubing back in the hole and flow it through that string until it was thoroughly cleaned out and was then to be completed and put on production.

The Texas Railroad Commission reported completion of only two gas wells. Operators drilled 115 dry holes.

Wildcat operations produced five oil wells, no gassers and 67 dry holes.

Plugged were 119 dry holes, three gas wells and 36 oil wells.

The total average calendar day crude oil allowable Saturday was 2,958,657 barrels, a drop of 62,380 barrels from the previous week as the December allowable went into effect.

Pacific Western has been operating in the West Texas-New Mexico Permian Basin on a limited basis since May of this year. The concern plans to undertake a more aggressive program in this territory in the immediate future.

Some Basin Production

The corporation's net daily production in the Permian Basin now is approximately 1,500 barrels.

Total production from the company's properties in the United States and Canada is 10,000 net barrels per day. The bulk of it comes from operations in California.

Pacific Western Oil Corporation also owns majority stock control of Skelly Oil Company and of Tide Water Associated Oil Company.

The combined daily net production of those three companies is approximately 175,000 barrels. Combined refining capacity of the three concerns is 200,000 barrels per day.

Large Reserves

Oil reserves controlled by the group of three oil companies are estimated at 750,000,000 barrels.

More than 16,000 persons are employed by the group and the petroleum products of the three companies are sold in the 48 states of the United States and in 70 foreign countries.

Ellenburger Prospector May Be Drilled In SE Mitchell

J. C. Barkley is credited with planning to drill a 7,500-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Southeast Mitchell County as his No. 1 R. C. Small.

The project is said by unofficial sources to be slated for the center of the northeast quarter of section 88, block 25, H&TC survey.

That would put it 13 miles souuth-east of Colorado City.

Farmout From Atlantic

It is understood that Barkley has taken a farmout on 560 acres out of a block of leases which The Atlantic Refining Company holds in that region, and in return for the farmout has agreed to drill the wildcat.

It has not been learned whether all of the details connected with the proposal to dig the exploration have been definitely worked out or not.

Acreage Involved

Acreage involved in the farmout is the northeast quarter of section 88, the southeast quarter of section 92, the east half of the northeast quarter of section 94, all in block 25, H&TC survey, and the southeast quarter of section 5, block 12, H&TC survey.

Atlantic owns leases on a large amount of acreage in that area. Magnolia Petroleum Company also has extensive protection in that sector of Mitchell County.

Water Is Developed In Strawn Lime In E-C Sutton Tester

The Pure Oil Company No. 1 S. H. Allison, East-Central Sutton County wildcat swabbed oil and salt water for nine hours. Operator is now preparing to set a plastic plug in the bottom of the hole to try to eliminate the water.

The prospect swabbed naturally in open hole in the Strawn lime at 5,125-65 feet. Rcovery averaged 3.66 barrels of fluid per hour. Average shakeout during the nine hours of swabbing was 13.6 per cent salt water and 3.2 per cent basic sediment.

Made 1' Per Cent Water

Shakeout at the end of the eight hours was 14 per cent salt water and three per cent basic sediment. The remainder of the fluid recovered was new oil.

Operator has now pulled the tubing, through which the well had been swabbed, and will set a plastic plug at 5,161-65 feet to try to shut off the water.

Will Test Above Plug

After the plug is cured the section at 5,125-61 feet will be tested and operator will try to complete an oil well and a new field opener from that interval.

The wildcat is 11 miles southeast of Sonora and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 7, block B, HE&WT survey.

Tentative, unofficial top of the Strawn is at 5,120 feet. That is on a datum of minus 2,839 feet.

Hockley Venture Acidizing To Test Clear Fork Zofne

L. F. Oil Company No. 1 Henry Mahoney, Central-East Hockley County wildcat, one and one-half miles northeast of the Smyer field, is bottomed at 5,910 feet in Clear Fork dolomite. It is acidizing and will test and try to complete as a producer and the opener of a new producing area.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of the west half of section 53, block P, C&M survey. It is seven miles northeast of the town of Smyer.

Bailed Clean Oil

The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 5,810 feet. When drilling with cable tools reached the current total depth of 5,910 feet there was 550 feet of clean oil in the hole.

Operator bailed the hole dry and then treated the section at 5,874-5,910 feet with 6,000 gallons of acid.

After the load and residue from that injection is swabbed out the treated section will be tested several days.

Will Test Higher Zone

Then a pay section at 5,822-74 feet will be treated with 8,000 gallons of acid and that interval will be tested.

After the petroleum yielding ability of both pay strata is determined they will be produced together and an effort will be made to complete them for commercial psoduction. Interested observers say it will make some sort of an oil well.

It is expected that at least ten days will be required to fully evaluate the prospect.

Magnolia To Case And Test Stepout To Andrews Opener

Magnolia Petroleum Company is to run casing and make production tests at its No. 1 Bertha Nolley, Central-North Andrews County exploration.

This project is three-quarters of a mile west of Florey and one location southwest of the same operator's No. 1 Tom Peay, opener of the Nolley-Wolfcamp field.

The drillsite is 1,736 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 7, league 314, Gaines County School Land survey.

Water In Last Test

It is bottomed at 9,270 feet in the Wolfcamp lime. The last drillstem test was at 9,218-70 feet. The tool was open two hours.

Recovery was 330 feet of gas cut drilling mud and 1,260 feet of salty, sulphur water. There were no shows of oil in that test.

Electric logs showed the exploration has about 33 feet of Wolfcamp pay above the water table.

Will Perforate Pipe

The casing will be set on bottom and the project will be tested through perfoartions.

If the Wolfcamp fails to make a commercial oil well the section at 8,126-60 feet in the Wichita-Albany will be tested.

That interval flowed 39 1/4 barrels of clean oil in two hours and it should complete for a producer.

Central Pecos Test Plugged, Abandoned

R. H. Henderson of Midland No. 1 Bennett, wildcat in Central Pecos County, has been plugged and abandoned at 2,602 feet.

Location was 330 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 2, block 105, Joseph Heller survey and 17 miles southwest of Imperial.

It was 1,650 feet from northeast and 990 feet from southeast lines of section 7, block 10, H&GN survey.

Southwest Of Girvin

Five miles southwest of Girvin in Pecos County, Sidwell & Imler and others of Midland have plugged and abandoned No. 1 E. S. Coler.

Spartan Drilling Company, et al of Dallas cemented 10 3/4 inch surface string at 120 feet and were drilling below 1,980 feet on a 5,500-foot contract at the No. 1, William Stevens, wildcat in Northwest Runnels County, seven miles west of Winters.

Drillsite is 2,650 feet from north and 6,200 feet from west lines of block 442, J. L. Lynch survey. It is two miles northwest of the Winters West Canyon pool.

J. D. Andrews of Dallas will drill a 4,500-foot test one mile west of the Hull-Dobbs Gardner sand area in Northeast Runnels County as No. 1 Knight Brothers.

Location was set 330 feet from north and west lines of George Hancock, A-437.

Stanolind Plugs Borden Project

Stanolind Gas & Oil Company has quit the No. 1-A J. B. Dennis, southwest offset to its No. 1 Miller, recently completed Spraberry discovery in Northeast Borden County, at total depth of 5,661 feet in the Spraberry.

The failure was 660 feet from north and east lines of section 9, block 30, T-5-N, T&P survey.

SW Kent Area Gets Pennsylvanian Test

Humble Oil & Refining Company has staked location for a new wildcat in Southwest Kent County as its No. 1 L. R. Spires.

Drillsite is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 19, block 4, H&GN survey and 13 miles southwest of Claire-mont.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to 7,500 feet which is projected to test the Pennsylvanian. Operations will begin immediately.

It is one and one-eighth miles east of the Polar, East-Pennsylvanian field.

Hunt Stakes Deep Wildcat In Pecos

Hassie Hunt Trust of Dallas No. 1 H. A. Wimberly is a new wildcat in Southeast Pecos County.

Projected depth is 10,500 feet which might take the venture into the Ellenburger. Rotary tools will be moved in and drilling will begin at once.

Locataion is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 2, block 100, EL&RR survey. That puts it 23.6 miles southeast of Fort Stockton.

Andrews Wildcat Drilling Deeper In Unidentified Lime

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-C Evans, wildcat in Southwest Andrews County, which recovered 2,400 feet of 37-gravity oil and 200 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud from an unidentified lime on a one and one-half hour drillstem test from 11,480 to 11,526 feet is now drilling below 11,550 feet in lime and operator has apparently drilled out of the pay.

Some interested observers think it is in the Fusselman lime.

On the test gas surfaced in 56 minutes. No fluid came to the top while the tool was open.

No. 1-C Evans is 1,980 feet from west and 660 feet from north lines of section 29, block 73, psl survey.

C-N Deaf Smith To Get New Wildcat

H. L. Hunt interests of Dallas No. 1 Overstreet is a new wildcat in Central-North Deaf Smith County which is on the central-west edge of the Texas Panhandle.

Location is in the southeast corner of section 79, block K-7 and 20 north of Hereford.

It is slated to drill to granite or production at a lesser depth. Contract to drill has been let to Coates & Jackson of Lubbock and that concern is now moving in rotary tools.

Operator is preparing to plug and abandon at plugged back total depth of 8,700 feet.

Ellenburger Was Barren

The wildcat was drilled to 12,982 feet in barren Ellenburger.

The No. 1 Dowlen-Houpt missed any show of oil or gas in the Pennsylvanian zone which is the producing pay in the Moore No. 1 Baumann, opener of the one-well Baumann field a short distance to the north and east.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 34, block 38, T&P survey, T-2-S, and two and one-half miles south of the southeast side of the city of Midland.

Southeast Extension Seen For Devonian Field In Lea Area

HOBBS, N. M.—Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 2 Lois Wingerd has indicated as a five-eighths-mile southeast extension to Devonian production in the Cladiola-Multipay area of Northeast Lea County.

A drillstem test, lasting six and one-half hours, was taken in the Devonian from 11,777 to 11,800 feet. Gas was at the surface in three hours and five minutes, followed by oil and water blanket in three hours and 25 minutes. It cleaned to pits five minutes and then turned to tanks. It made 14 barrels of oil in the first 30 minutes and 25 barrels the last hour.

Recovery was reversed out.

The project was being drilled below 11,810 feet at last report.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 24-12s-37e.

Humble Oil & Refining Company was drilling below 12,119 feet after finding more gas on a drillstem test in its No. 1 Federal-Elliott, wildcat in West-Central Lea County.

The wildcat was drillstem tested from 11,930 to 12,119 feet. Tool was open tow and one-half-hours. Gas surfaced in 30 minutes at the daily rate of 109,000 cubic feet. Recovery was 1,000-foot water blanket and 1,000 feet of gas-cut mud.

Previous test from 12,000 to 12,080 feet also showed gas and recovered heavily gas-cut mud with a trace of oil.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of lot 1, section 1-16s-34e and 8 miles southeast of the Saunders field. That puts it nine miles west of Lovington.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation, Fullerton Oil Company and Cities Service Oil Company started operations on an 8,000-foot wildcat in Southeast Lea County.

Phillips Gets Award For Achievement In Chemical Progress

Phillips Petroleum Company was recently presented with the 1951 Award for Chemical Engineering Achievement at a banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York.

This is the highest honor in its field.

Phillips received the award for its two concurrent commercial developments in synthetic rubber technology, high abrasion carbon black and cold rubber.

Adams Accepts

In accepting the award for his company, K. S. Adams, chairman of Phillips, said, "These two developments have tipped the balance from natural to synthetic rubber for tire treads, thus making the United States more nearly self-sufficient in rubber, contribution to the nation's defense, and insuring low-cost transportation for our millions of motorists."

Presentation of the award was made by Alfred H. White, professor emeritus of chemical engineering at the University of Michigan and chairman of the award committee.

Industry Praised

He said, "It is noteworthy and cheering that the 1951 award should go to a representative of an industry which has in a generation changed its mode of operation from rule-of-thumb distillation of various kinds of fuel oil from crude petroleum, to one which has assembled great scientific and technical staffs and which synthesizes large quantities of new chemicals to be converted into new products of great benefit to the whole human race."

Polk Is Named G-M For Dowell

A. C. Polk, Jr., assistant manager of Dowell, Inc., has been named general manager of Dowell. The promotion is effective immediately.

The announcement of Polk's appointment was made by John G. Stauda, executive vice president of Dowell.

The new general manager is also a member of the Board of Directors.

A. C. Polk, Jr.

He has been with Dowell since July, 1941.

Polk, before his promotion to assistant manager in 1948, was located in the Houston district as district manager. Previous to that, he had been with Dowell in Levelland, Shreveport, and Lafayette.

Polk attended college at Rice Institute and the University of Oklahoma, where he majored in petroleum engineering.

Prior to coming with Dowell in 1941, he was active in oil field work on the Gulf coast. He has filled every position from rough neck to drilling and production superintendent.

TEXAS OIL ROUNDUP—

Oil Industry, Unfettered By Government Controls, Still Finding New Fields

By TOM LESTER

HOUSTON—(AP)—Back in the pre-World War I year of 1916, school teachers edified their starry-eyed pupils with accounts how—even in their lifetime—this new-found convenience of gasoline motor cars would be a relic of the past because crude oil would be exhausted.

Known reserves of nine billion barrels would be exhausted before those young hopefuls reached their middle years. And then, well "how could you run a gasoline buggy?"

Again in 1921, calamity howlers "viewed with alarm" zooming demands for petroleum and decried an early end of supplies.

The 13 billion, 700 million barrels of reserves would last less than a generation.

School teachers in 1916 probably didn't know new oil discoveries were more than twice that year's demand.

Calamity howlers of 1921 overlooked—maybe conveniently the fact discoveries exceeded consumption two to one.

And it's the same today. In fact, new discoveries of the last 20 years or so have surpassed production in every year but one. And that was the World War II of 1943, when the oil industry was operating under rigid government controls and faced with with acute shortages for new development.

There are material shortages today but with freedom from government controls the oil industry is finding new fields.

Today's proved reserves are better than 30 billion barrels of oil—more than ever before. And when recent new discoveries have been fully developed they will be far beyond that total.

That's because geologists only use figures of known reserves, based on what they can measure. Until a new basin has been developed. It cannot be measured.

Three such areas which are constantly adding to their known reserves of petroleum are the Denver-Julesburg Basin, the San Juan Basin and the Louisiana Coast.

All three have been very much in the news in recent years.

The Louisiana Coast has long been an important oil producer. Only last September a big celebration at Jennings, La., marked the fiftieth anniversary of the first oil discovery in the state. And today approximately 95 per cent of the state's 600,000-odd barrels of production daily comes from South Louisiana.

The big play in South Louisiana in the last few years has been from deep in the Wilcox. Wells of more than 10,000 feet are common.

Practically all of the big companies and a lot of the independents are in the play. The Wilcox is thick here and one of the important strikes last year was by the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil Company which went through 2,200 feet of the Wilcox in Rapides Parish before hitting pay. The well made 191 barrels of 39.4 gravity daily at 10,698 to 10,713 feet and started new activity in a wide area.

Another Discovery

Another significant recent discovery was the California Company's No. 1 North Main Pass unit, in Plaquemines Parish, which made 350 barrels of 32.9 gravity oil daily from 9,026 to 9,047 feet.

That is extreme Southeastern Louisiana and the oil pay runs clear across the state to the Texas border.

Other important discoveries include Shell's big ones at new pay depths in the South Pass area in Plaquemines Parish and the week's island play of Iberian Parish.

There also are Superior Oil Company's La Fource discovery in the Miocene at 12,300 feet, Texas Company's Blind Bay field, Plaquemines Parish, in the Miocense at 8,400 feet and North Fordoche field, Pointe Coupe Parish, with pay at 10,400 feet in the Eocene. This well made 336 barrels of condensate and 9 million, 500 thousand cubic feet of gas daily.

Another important factor in South Louisiana development is Tidelands area which have enough wells drilled to prove the presence of huge reserves that cannot yet be measured.

This work has slacked off because of the federal Tidelands claim, but once the lands are returned by Congress to the states, they will become a tremendous source of oil production, geologists declare.

Half-way to the Canadian border and at the foothills of the Rockies lies another great potential source of oil abundance which geologists predict will become one of the great future oil reserves.

This is the Denver-Julesburg basin—Northeastern Colorado, Southwestern Nebraska and a part of Southern Wyoming. It is an area 250 miles wide and 400 miles long, and geologists say 50,000 square miles are potential good oil lands.

First discovery in the basin was in August, 1949. That was the Gurley poll in the Nebraska part of the basin. Since then leasing and wildcatting have been active. Development has continued at a rapid pace.

Landmen To Hold Christmas Party On December 15

The 1951 Christmas Party of the Permian Basin Landmen's Association will be held on the night of December 14 at the Midland Country Club. It will be in the form of a dinner-dance.

The affair will start at 7:30 p.m., with a 60-minute social session. Dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m. Dancing will start at 9:30 p.m., end at 1 a.m.

Announcements Due

Formal announcements of the party will be mailed to all members of the association early next week, according to Jess V. Lindsey, Shell Oil Company, president of the organization.

Reservations should be made immediately after receipt of the announcement, Lindsey said. The reservations are to be made with Frank E. Curtis, secretary of the PBLA at this office at Gulf Oil Corporation.

Attendance Limited

Attendance will be limited to members and their ladies and out-of-town guests. Lee Powers orchestra will play for the dancing. At least 100 couples are expected, Curtis said.

Arrangements for the party are being handled by a special committee of association members. E. B. (Ed) Dilley of Houston Oil Company of Texas is chairman of the committee.

Bob Sutton of Cities Service Oil Company, and Fred Goodman of the Ralph Lowe organization are assisting him.

New Williston Basin Map Now Available

A new oil map of the Williston Basin and of the areas adjacent to it has been issued by D. A. Austin Company of Fort Worth. The concern specializes in maps of the northwest territory.

Midland Map Company of this city have copies of the new Williston Basin map and will take orders for it. It covers all of Montana, North and South Dakota, the western part of Minnesota, all of Nebraska and Wyoming.

The maps shows sections, townships and ranges in those states and it gives the locations of all drilling of completed oil explorations in the states it covers.

It is on a scale of approximately 15 miles to the inch.

The Tool Pusher

Retiring Officials Of Magnolia Have Long Time Service

Retirement this year of Carl S. Dickens and J. W. Fulbright, pioneer executives of Magnolia Petroleum Company, closes out the longest service records in present company personnel.

Dickens, who retired November 1, was then superintendent of the company's product lines between Fort Worth and Oklahoma City. Fulbright, assistant to the manager of refineries, will retire December 31.

The two long-time employes will be honored with a retirement party Friday, in Beaumont, where both ment spent the bulk of their service time at the company's largest refinery.

Dickens, retiring with 44 years and 16 days service, was the senior employe in the entire firm. Fulbright will officially complete 43 years, four months and 28 days—the second longest service record—on his retirement date.

In Beaumont

He is currently located at Beaumont refinery. Prior to his retirement, Dicken's offices were in Ardmore.

Both men started work shortly after the turn of the century with ancestor companies of Magnolia. In 1912, following the organization of Magnolia in 1911, by a merger of several regional companies then under operation as John Sealy and Company, the two employes were transferred to Beaumont refinery. Here they served together until Dickens was shifted to Corsicana in 1936.

Was Sub-Foreman

Dickens started work in 1907 for a firm later to affiliate with Magnolia. Transferred to Beaumont as a construction sub-foreman, he advanced to plant superintendent in 1919, serving in that capacity until assuming the superindentship at the concern's Corsicana refinery.

When that plant suspended operations in 1941, Dickens was transferred to his most recent position.

Fulbright, a native Missourian, was employed in 1908 by the Navarro Refining Company, one of Magnolia's forerunners, as a stenographer in Corsicana.

During his early service he worked as secretary to E. R. Brown, one of Magnolia's founders and its president for a number of years. After locating in Beaumont, Fulbright became assistant to the manager in 1915.

SPLC Builds New Line From Denton Field To Wasson

TULSA—Larger runs of crude oil from New Mexico's Denton pool in Lea County are moving through a new Service Pipe Line Company line to Wasson, C. M. Scott, general manager, said today.

The new 25-mile, 10-inch discharge and gravity line connects with the company's West Texas trunk line and gathering system at Wasson, Scott said.

It started moving oil November 22. The company formerly operated a four-inch line from this area. Crossley and Hardy, Wichit Falls, were the contractors. Construction started late in September.

Pipe Was Second-Hand

Scott said the pipe for the job was second-hand and reconditioned. The project was approved by the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

Service Pipe Line Company operates more than 12,000 miles of line in 10 western and mid-western states, and is connected to about 27,000 oil wells directly and to thousands of others through connecting carriers. Most of the wells are in New Mexico, Wyoming, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

The company recently announced plans to extend its operations into an eleventh state—North Dakota—where a gathering system and railroad loading rack will be built to serve Williston Basin producers.

Approximately half a million barrels of crude oil are transported each day by the company and delivered directly or through other pipe lines to 40 refineries.

B. J. Service, Inc., New Name For Oil Field Service Firm

Byron Jackson Company reports it has changed the name of its new wholly owned subsidiary, International Cementers, Inc., to B. J. Service, Inc.

The firm has taken steps to amalgamate oil field services now operated as a division of Byron Jackson with the new service subsidiary.

B. J. Service opened a new service facility at Seagraves on December 1 and will open one at Rankin about January 1.

A service station recently was opened at Williston, N.D., to service the new Williston Basin area.

B. J. Service, Inc., maintains a district office in Midland.

SAFETY FOR THE "DEATH SEAT" — A new idea in auto safety is the "Safe-t-table," demonstrated above by Norm Nicholson in Detroit, Mich. When the car jerks to a sudden stop, the rubber-cushioned table springs out from the dashboard and prevents passenger from going through the windshield. Developed by a Detroit auto stylist, the table may also be used for writing, as map board or for lunch. But, its main purpose is to cut the toll taken by the right-front "death seat," where seven out of 10 persons killed in auto accidents were riding.

Pan Am Promotes Several Executives To New Positions

HOUSTON—A number of important promotions in the key personnel of the Pan American Production Company, to become effective December 1, were announced here Saturday by E. R. Turner, president.

G. J. Smith, superintendent of the exploration department and E. V. Hewitt, general superintendent, have been elected vice presidents. A. W. Lott, administrative assistant, has been elected assistant secretary of the Production Company and the Pan American Gas Company.

Smith started his oil career when he entered the service of The California Company after graduating from the University of Minnesota in 1925, and after varying lengths of service with other major oil companies.

He joined Pan American in 1936 as a geologist, advancing through various positions in the company to that of superintendent of its exploration activities. In his new position Smith will devote his efforts to administrative work in the overall company operations.

Worked As Engineer

Hewitt entered the petroleum industry in 1921, after attending the University of Michigan, as a district superintendent for the Michigan Petroleum Corporation. He was later employed in various engineering and operating capacities by two other large oil industry firms until he entered the service of Pan American in 1935 as a field foreman.

In 1937 he was promoted to assistant general superintendent and in 1938 became general superintendent in charge of drilling and production operations. In his new position Hewitt will function as executive in charge of all field operation and administrative matters in connection with his department.

Ben H. Martin, heretofore West Texas district geologist at Abilene, comes to Houston as superintendent of the exploration department, succeeding Smith.

Has Been In West Texas

Martin graduated from Lafayette College in Easton, Pa. in 1934 with his degree in mining engineering. He came to Texas immediately and entered the employ of a major oil company as a geological scout.

After 10 years of experience with other companies he joined Pan American early in 1941 as a district geologist and took over the supervision of the company's West Texas geological activities in July 1946.

John L. Hoyt, Jr., assistant general superintendent, has been promoted to general superintendent, succeeding Hewitt. Hoyt graduated from Louisiana State University with a bachelor degree in petroleum engineering in 1938 and immediately entered the service of Pan American as a roustabout. He advanced through the various engineering and operating classifications until he was appointed assistant general superintendent in 1948.

Davidson To Houston

Duval A. Davidson, Jr., heretofore superintendent of the Valley district with headquarters in the Willamar field, Willacy County, has been promoted to assistant general superintendent with headquarters in Houston.

Davidson received his degree in petroleum engineering at Texas A&M College in 1936 and in November of that year was employed by Pan American as a roustabout. After some eight years service in various engineering and operating capacities he was appointed district supperintendent at Willamar in 1948.

William B. Rodan, geologist in the Abilene office has been promoted to senior geologist and will be in perforations from 8,553 to 8,603 feet, activities, retaining his headquarters in the Abilene office. Rodan received his degree in geology at the University of Texas in 1942, and entered the employ of Pan American in April 1946 after serving three years in the U.S. Navy as a Lieutenant, senior grade.

PAD Works Overtime On Steel Allocation Report

By JOSEPH HUTTLINGER
Reporter-Telegram Washington Oil Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Disturbed by complaints of smaller petroleum producers over steel allocations, the Petroleum Administration for Defense is working overtime today to prove its distribution has been fair.

In a week or two, according to present plans, it will make public the quantities of oil country tubular goods allotted to some 180 of the larger producers, the so-called Class B operators drilling more than 40 wells a year.

Simultaneously, it will make public the past and future drilling programs and steel inventories of most of the operators, of those who have given permission for this date to be unveiled. At this writing, 141 of the producers have given permission, four have refused, and others are yet to say.

The PAD originally said there were 153 Class B producers, and now has raised the figure.

To clear up any misunderstanding, the petroleum agency issued a statement last week about the 30,000-ton setaside of oil country tubular goods for smaller producers, drilling one to 11 wells a year. The setaside steel is available in normal supply houses, rather than in the limited number of emergency field stocks, held for wildcatters' use, said the PAD.

As a further step, the petroleum agency is sponsoring a study by a committee of the National Petroleum Council, composed of the nation's top oil executives, on the sizes of tubular goods most in demand by petroleum producers. The study, when completed next year, will arm PAD with arguments in talks with steel executives and other defense agencies. Russell B. Brown, counsel of the Independent Petroleum Association, is committee chairman.

Meeting Scheduled

A meeting of leaders of some 14 oil and gas associations is planned for December or January by PAD to review steel distribution methods. This would be a followup of a September meeting of the 14 associations, which suggested changes in the steel distribution system most of which now have been adopted by the petroleum agency.

While PAD's distribution, generally, is regarded as fair, it is suspected by some producers that the PAD has been overgenerous with foreign production operations, at the expense of domestic. Some persons contend the PAD has, at times, shifted the supply of steel allocated to it by the Defense Production Administration, from domestic to foreign operations.

This cannot be determined exactly, since neither the DPA nor PAD is willing to make public the steel allocations as presented to the petroleum agency for parceling out to the oil and gas industry.

A congressional inquiry might uncover this, and the chances are one or more such inquiries may be held if the steel continues in short supply.

Chairman Wright Patman (D-Texas) says he will hold such an inquiry next year. He spoke up after the PAD recently asked more time before furnishing his committee certain figures on steel allocations. These are the figures on allocations to individual producers, which PAD now is planning to make public on its own. It is understood Chairman Patman believes they should have been made available to his committee first.

The new head of the petroleum branch of the Office of Price Stabilization may be Loring T. Cramer of Ponca City, Okla., who has been affiliated with the Continental Oil Company.

He spent several days in Washington last week talking over taking the post with OPS officials. At week's end, an official decision, on the part of either OPS or Cramer, still was awaited.

If he takes the post, Cramer would succeed Orville D. Judd, who has been on the job almost since OPS was created. He is a veteran of the wartime OPA.

Cramer, former assistant general sales manager for Conoco, has been the company's marketing representative at Ponca City.

The construction of a new crude oil pipe line out of West Texas—Shell's 209,000-barrel daily "Rancho" line to the Houston area—got a go ahead signal last week from the petroleum agency.

A total of 42,464 tons of line pipe, about one-third the pipe needed to complete the line, is being made available to start construction in the first quarter of next year, the PAD said. The $41,000,000 line is to start at McCamey, Texas. It is to be finished by next September.

An outlet for an additional 300,000 barrels daily of West Texas crude oil is to be provided about next September, when the West Texas Gulf Pipe Line Company line to the Gulf Coast is completed. Together, the lines will offer transporation for 500,000 barrels daily of crude.

Other New Lines

Other new oil pipe lines which were given steel last week by the PAD include:

1. A 187-mile Corsicana to Houston tiein with a 20-incher to Port Arthur, to carry crude oil.
2. Ohio Oil Company's 255-mile, East St. Louis to Indianapolis $1,700,000 line to carry products.
3. Bell Oil and Gas Company's 145-mile Ardmore to Drumright, Okla., $3,200,000 line, to carry products.
4. Buckeye Pipe Line Company's 391-mile Linden, N. J., to Rochester, N. Y., $22,800,000 line, to carry products.

Midland Spraberry Output—

man, 19 Pennsylvanian and two Wolfcamp oilers.

The Ellenburger is the most prolific of the five pays, yielding 72,202 barrels, followed by the Pennsylvanian with its 45,581 barrels of oil.

The Midkiff-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County, produced 46,173 barrels of oil from 22 wells during October.

Germania

The Germania pool of Northeast Midland County, another of the areas Spraberry fields, produced 94,790 barrels of oil during October. There are 46 oilers in the area.

The Parks field, which brought Pennsylvanian production to West-Central Midland County, is scattered over an area four and one-half miles long and two miles wide. The field's 17 producers accounted for 62,489 barrels of Midland County's October production.

The Warfield area of Northwest-Central Midland County had two producing wells as of October 31, one from the Pennsylvanian and one from the Spraberry. Production for the month was 390 barrels of oil from the Pennsylvanian oiler and 306 barrels from the Spraberry producer.

The Hi-Lonesome-Wolfcamp pool, five miles south and slightly west of Midland, produced 2,848 barrels of oil from two wells during October.

The South Midland field of Northeast-Central Midland County, the area's oldest producing field, pumped 470 barrels of oil in October from one well.

Bauman

The Bauman Pennsylvanian pool of Northeast-Central Midland County yielded 2,063 barrels of crude during the same month.

Midland County's newest field, yet unnamed, is a Pennsylvanian area opened by The Blackwood & Nichols Company No. 1 Hofferkamp in the central-north portion of the county.

It was completed for a daily flowing potential of 201 barrels of 46-gravity oil.

Recent Opener

Another recent discovery in Midland County is The Texas Company No. 1-C Scharbauer which was completed from the Wolfcamp in the Parks area. It was completed on the pump for a daily potential of 13.62 barrels of 38 gravity oil.

The Texas Company also completed its No. 1-B NCT 2 Scharbauer as a Spraberry discovery six and one-half miles east of the Warfield area and 13 miles west of the Tex-Harvey field. It has been assignd to the Warfield pool.

It was completed on the pump for a daily potential of 44.17 barrels of 33.6-gravity oil.

The Pegasus field came closest to producing its allowable than other Midland fields. The October allowable was 443,386 barrels. Production for the month was 428,393 barrels. It underproduced only 14,993 barrels of oil.

Total Allowable

Total allowable for the county's fields was 2,074,144 barrels of oil. Total production was 1,738,357 barrels.

The Spraberry Trend, which includes, Midland, Upton, Glasscock, Dawson, Reagan and Martin Counties, had 788 producing wells as of November 30.

Based on the October production of 1,327,646 barrels from 652 wells, the Trend would have produced 2,000,255 barrels of oil during November.

Production figures for Railroad Commission of Texas' District 8 from the Spraberry Trend during October was 1,228,188 barrels of oil. That includes oil from fields in Midland, Glasscock, Martin and Dawson Counties.

Spraberry oil recovered from fields in District 7-C, Upton and Reagan Counties, during October was 199,458 barrels of oil.

The October production for District 7-C is an estimate based on 170,928 barrels in August from 108 wells. As of October 31 there were 126 oilers in the area.

The August production was at the rate of 1,583 barrels of oil per well monthly.

District 8

October production for District 8 Spraberry Trend fields was as follows:

Germania, 94,740 barrels; Glass, 1,237; Driver, 238,198; Smith-Spraberry, 3,775; Snowden, 3,149; Spraberry Deep, 94,651; Tex-Harvey, 743,747; Warfield-Spraberry, 306; Huddle-Manning, 2,212 and Midkiff, 46,173.

Number of producing wells in each of the Spraberry fields as of November 30 was:

Driver, 144; Tex-Harvey, 342; Germania, 49; Spraberry Deep, 37; Smith, 3; Glass, 1; Huddle-Manning, 1; Benedum, 35; Aldwell, 6; Weddell, 6; Pembrook, 56; North Pembrook, 37; Weiner-Floyd, 31; Midkiff, 28; Flat Rock, 2; Warfield, 2 and unnamed 6.

Dirt, Squirt and Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

The cattle market continued strong and active at the Midland Livestock Auction Company sale Thursday. Bidding was especially active by out-of-state and North Texas buyers for good grade stocker calves and yearlings. Consignments totaled 1,158 head.

Stocker steer calves sold for $33 to $37.80, top price going to Claude Sutphen of Andrews for a group that averaged 255 pounds. Ray Hightower of Garden City drew $37.50 for his bunch of 33 mixed calves, and Van Casey of Sanderson got $36 for 20 steer calves that were just over 400 pounds. A lot of 310 pound heifer calves also consigned by Sutphen auctioned for $34.50. A few lighter heifer calves sold up to $36. In the heavier class, 20 past yearling steers that averaged 653 pounds brought R. H. McCrummen of Seminole $32.60.

Fat calves and yearlings cleared at $28 to $34, mediums $25 to $28, common and culls $20 to $25. Fat cows cashed at $23 to $27.25, the higher price going for Foy Proctor cows that weighed more than 1,200 pounds; medium cows $20 to $23, canners and cutters $14 to $20. Bulls went at $23 to $27.50.

The three Midland cotton gins are operating this season, but not at the break-neck speed characteristic of other business firms of this fast-growing community. And the 1951 cotton harvest is not adding as much as usual to the economic stability of Midland County.

It all boils down to the fact a farmer must have rain to raise cotton in this section—and the rains didn't come as expected during the growing season—or since, for that matter.

A survey made late in the week disclosed that ginnings to date total only 1,863 bales, less than half the figure reported at the end of November last year. The figure then was 3,770 bales.

The end-of-the-month total by gins was: Midland Co-Op, 535 bales; Farmer's Co-Op, 790 bales; and Planter's Gin, 538 bales.

In general, Texas farmers and ranchmen should have a prosperous year in 1952. In making this prediction, John G. McHaney, an Extension economist of Texas A&M College, points out that agricultural economists from over the nation have considered supply, demand and the cost of producing farm commodities in 1952 and have based the outlook on these findings.

McHaney adds that economic conditions within the state will have little effect on the 1952 outlook for Texas agriculture. The big influence will come from economic conditions within the nation and the world.

A powerful force behind the prediction, says McHaney, is our expanding defense program and an even bet for the continuation through 1952 of the cold war, but free nations will continue to expand their defense programs against the threat of communism.

High Production

From the standpoint of supply, 1951 was near a record for total agricultural production and prospects for 1952—weather permitting — should be another year of high production. With the outlook for large supplies of agricultural products, the prices received by farmers are expected to hold generally near the 1951 levels despite an expected strong demand. However, McHaney points out that an unfavorable growing season in 1952 would result in considerable upward pressure on prices, particularly in the second half of the year.

Demand for farm products is expected to continue strong during 1952 as employment and incomes rise. Larger defense expenditures are expected to push consumer income higher. McHaney says current plans call for defense spending by the Fall of 1952 at a rate of 65 billion dollars a year as compared with a rate of 41 billion for the third quarter of this year.

The unfavorable side of the 1952 outlook for agriculture, says McHaney, are production costs, which continue to rise. Those in 1951 set a new record. Costs may average five per cent higher in 1952. Supplies of materials needed for production are expected to be sufficient to permit high farm production although some items will be relatively scarce, McHaney says. Prices of all important groups of items used in production are higher now than a year ago. Farmers and ranchmen, add McHaney, also must expect a moderate increase in farm wage rates in 1952.

New machines in coal mining have increased productivity more than eight per cent in the last two years.

Fair Association Stockholders Will Meet Saturday Noon

The annual meeting of stockholders of Midland Fair, Inc., sponsor of the World Championship Midland Rodeo, will be held in the Blue Room of Hotel Scharbauer at noon next Saturday, Louis A. Bartha, secretary, announced Saturday.

Officers and directors for 1952 well be elected at the gathering, Bartha stated. Reports of the association's activities during 1951 will be heard, and action will be taken on other business matters.

Clarence Scharbauer, Jr., association president, termed the meeting "important," and urged a large attendance of stockholders at the annual meeting.

Baptists To View Building Sketches

The new church will be erected west of Memorial Stadium at Garfield and Louisiana Streets.

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1951, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Secret report shows violations on both sides of Ohio campaign; Ohio officials found lax in enforcing law; Clever advertising and deceptive contributions are among election evils.

WASHINGTON — The Senate hearings barely have scratched the surface of the scandals in the Ohio election in which Senator Taft defeated Jumpin' Joe Ferguson in '50. The inside story is that Senate investigators uncovered shocking law violations on both sides.

Believing that honest elections are the backbone of democracy, this column has obtained a copy of the Senate investigators' secret report. It shows a wholesale winking at the laws, and should be published as a warning to the voters in 1952.

Here are some blunt statements which conscientious Senate investigators' wrote of the Ohio campaign:

"It was found that the policy of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee was against filing reports of contributions received before May 1 and after election day. This policy appears to constitute a serious evasion of state law. Our evidence also indicates that the Ohio Taft for Senate Committee may have concealed the fact that it received substantial contributions . . .

"We have uncovered evidence," the report continues, "that an unauthorized check-off was used to obtain $1 from each of 2,000 amalgamated clothing workers in Northern Ohio. Violation of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, both by the labor unions and by the clothing companies involved, seems apparent.

"Both sides were found guilty of filing reports with the County Board of Elections when they should have been filed with the secretary of State in Columbus," the report adds. "Both sides tended to ignore the requirement that contributions of things of value other than money are required by the Ohio law to be accounted for and reported."

Lax Ohio Officials

However, the report blasts the "lax attitude on the part of state officials" as contributing to an "attitude of carelessness on the part of political committees in complying with the law."

Specifically, the investigators' report scorches Ohio Secretary of State Ted Brown.

"Secretary of State Ted Brown informed our staff that he did not consider it his duty to search out violations of the law," blisters the report. "The function of his office, in his opinion, was merely to serve as custodian of the reports actually made."

The report then quotes the Ohio law that requires the secretary of State to report "promptly" any law violations to the attorney general, who "shall forthwith institute such civil or criminal proceedings as may be appropriate."

The secret report also warns sharply that an election trick used in the Ohio campaign "promises to play an important role in the 1952 general election campaign."

"This device," says the Senate investigators, "was the use of pseudo-political advertising which created an atmosphere favorable to one of the candidates. The principal examples in Ohio were the large display advertisements and the short 'reader' advertisements of the Timken Roller Bearing Company, and the "free enterprise series' sponsored by the publishers of the Columbus Dispatch and appearing in 13 leading Ohio newspapers.

Quaker Oats Politics

"While none of the advertising supported Taft or attacked Ferguson, some of them contained fairly direct attacks on the CIO, on collectivism and on administration spending and wastefulness. The fact that the 'free enterprise series' was sponsored almost totally by corporations was masked by the legend appearing at the bottom of the full-page advertisements: 'This is one of a series of important messages brought to the public's attention by patriotic, public-spirited individuals and organizations.'"

The report points out that the the advertisements were paid for by 269 sponsors, who contributed from $50 to $1,500 each. All but six were corporations, including such out-of-state corporations as Quaker Oats, McGraw-Hill Publishing Company and Standard Oil of Indiana.

Pointing out that the ads were published only during the election campaign, the report comments: "The view that the advertisements were politically motivated, of course, is strengthened by the observation that publication of the names of the sponsors would weaken the effectiveness of the advertisements . . .

"It is possible," adds the report, "that several of the free enterprise and Timken advertisements could be classified as 'political.' If this were true, the Federal Corrupt Practices Act and the Ohio election law would apply."

Cyrus Eaton's Secret Gift

"Deceptive" contributions were also uncovered from Cyrus Eaton, head of Otis and Company, to the United Mine Workers' non-partisan league.

"Our investigations have uncovered evidence that Cyrus Eaton, Sr., of Cleveland contributed $5,000 directly and at least $12,500 indirectly to labor's non-partisan league—United Mine Workers of America," the secret report charges. "The indirect method Mr. Eaton used was to deposite $5,000 in the bank accounts of his son, Cyrus Eaton, Jr., and a total of $7,500 in the bank accounts of two employes of Otis and Company, John A. Kruse ($5,000) and Dorothy Workral ($2,500). Cyrus Eaton, Jr., and the two employes then gave their checks to labor's non-partisan league.

"The report filed by labor's non-partisan league in Columbus shows that five other employes of Otis and Company contributed a total of $17,500," adds the report. "It is therefore possible that Cyrus Eaton, Sr., was responsible directly and indirectly for a total contribution of $35,000.

"Cyrus Eaton's concealment creates a deceptive statement and therefore is, in our opinion, a violation of (the Ohio election) law," concludes the report.

Note 1.—It was only two decades ago that Senator Vare of Pennsylvania, Republican, was barred from the Senate because he spent approximately $200,000 in the Republican primary against George Wharton Pepper. Senator Frank Smith of Illinois also was barred from the Senate because he spent approximately $100,000 while Senator Newberry of Michigan was criticized so severely by Senate colleagues for campaign expenditures that when a move was started to unseat him, he resigned.

In those days, public opinion was alert and virile. Today, one reason for violation of the Corrupt Practices Act and graft in public office appears to be the blase reaction of public opinion.

Note 2.— The Senate investigators also lectured the CIO for staging anti-Taft rallies and using an effigy of Taft as the target in a baseball game.

"Even if the working people who attended these rallies were not aroused to hatred of Taft," comment the Senate probers, "it can hardly be said that the device used by the CIO was 'good clean fun'."

Kentucky Student Paper Constructs Brand New Building

AP Newsfeatures

LEXINGTON, KY.—A student-operated weekly newspaper has given the University of Kentucky a gift valued at $400,000.

But to the many students and advisors who have put the Kentucky Kernel to press for over 25 years, it is a dream come true which far exceeds the monetary value involved.

The gift is a new journalism-publications building.

And it didn't cost the university, nor the residents of the of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, one cent.

Bonds Cover All Debt

Hal. of the building's construction cost has been paid from accumulated profits of the student-operated newspaper. Revenue bonds covering the remainder of the cost are to be retired from future earnings of the paper.

From a modest beginning in 1924, when the Kentucky Kernel purchased a new type-setter, the student newspaper had amassed a profit of $145,786.38 by June 30,1949.

The building of a printing plant for the university first was envisioned 27 years ago by the late Enoch Grehan, head of the Department of Journalism until his death in 1937.

Costs Compelled Action

Prior to 1924, the Kentucky Kernel had been published through the services of commercial printers. High costs threatened the continued publication of the newspaper.

Prof. Grehan, determined not to let the newspaper go under, proposed that the student newspaper purchase a type-setting machine on a deferred payment plan, letting earnings of the paper pay off the debt.

After considerable discussion, university approval was given and Prof. Grehan personally took responsibility, placing his signature on a note for the $2,000 debt. This was the beginning of the project.

In 1925, a small two-page press was purchased, further increasing the indebtedness, but augmenting the earning power of the newspaper.

Slowly, piece by piece, year by year, the plant expanded.

But the journalism department and Kernel printing plant also was plagued by another serious problem —the lack of space.

Offices of the school and plant were spread over the university. They were shuffled from basement to basement, wherever room could be found.

The board of trustees last June graduated the Department of Journalism into a School of Journalism.

On the second floor are a typography lab, advertisihg lab, five classrooms, the office and editorial room of The Kentuckian (university yearbook), and the photography department, which consists of an office, studio, supply room, repair rooms, two lecture demonstration darkrooms, and six darkrooms for students.

Back in 1919, two graduates composed the first journalism class. This fall, 215 are enrolled in the school. Many others are taking journalism courses, but not as majors. Adding an international flavor to the school this year are nine German newspapermen attending the university as exchange students.

In addition to students working on the paper, the Kernel employs a staff of approximately 20 persons, including regular union linotype operators.

All equipment and activities are now assembled in one building for the first time in the university's history.

From the modest beginning of $2,000 worth of equipment, the printing plant now is valued at approximately $200,000. All university printing now is sent to the campus plant.

The ground floor of the two-story red brick structure houses the printing plant plus the business office and advertising office of the Kernel.

Jackalope Story Given New Twist

PECOS — The widely-circulated, heretofore giddy stories of fictitious jackalopes in Texas have drawn scores of replies from fun-loving Texans, but the best yet—one with a new twist—comes from a Brownsville man and well may convert a gag into a guide for safety.

A pen-written letter to Alton Hughes, Chamber of Commerce manager, states, in part:

"I remember when I was young, 65 years ago, there was no such animals in Texas.

"Alton, you have not recognized this animal, there but boy it is killing making more cripples in Texas than the war.

"The jackalope is a detestable beast that drives an automobile at great speed regardless of where driving, regardless of laws or rights of others.

"This jackalope ranks with the hyena.

"Kindly advise the young lady in Cheyenne that we have 'em, and they do, also."

Signed, Old Man River.

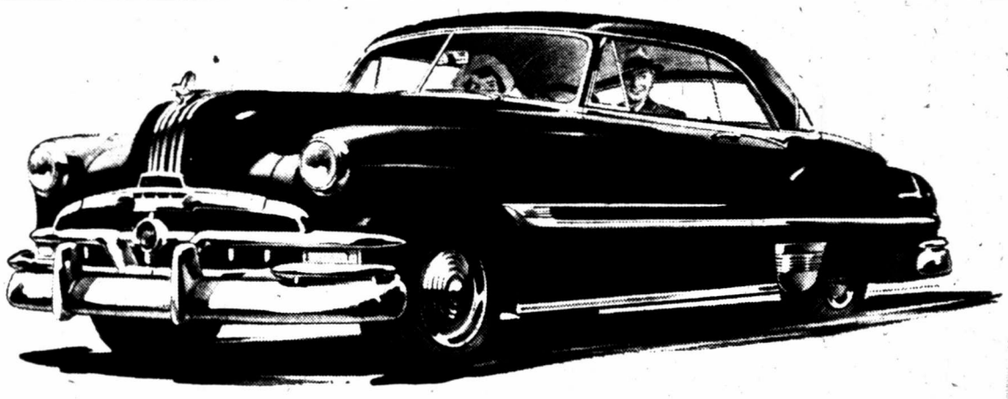

The jackalope series originated several days ago when Miss Ruth Moyer of Wyoming wrote Hughes for verification of a Texas Air Force sergeant's tale of the jackalopes.

DADDY RINGTAIL

Daddy Ringtail And Secret Weapon

By WESLEY DAVIS

"Gotcha!" said the Monkey Catcher, and out he jumped from behind a tree to catch Daddy Ringtail fast. The Monkey Catcher giggled his silly giggle, and then he began to tie Daddy Ringtail's arms with a rope.

"Wait!" cried Daddy Ringtail.

"You can't catch a monkey on Tuesday. It isn't fair to do it."

The Monkey Catcher stopped the tying. He scratched his head to think. Yes, Daddy Ringtail was right, the Monkey Catcher remembered. The book of rules for catching monkeys said that it wasn't fair to catch a monkey on Tuesday.

"And so," said Daddy Ringtail, "you'll have to turn me loose, Mr. Monkey Catcher, because of course you want to be fair."

Well, the Monkey Catcher was wanting to be fair, of course, but he suddenly remembered that the day was Saturday instead of Tuesday. Saturday is a fine day for catching monkeys, says the book of rules for catching monkeys. The Monkey Catcher started to tie the rope even tighter.

"Wait!" cried Daddy Ringtail. "You can't catch me unless you have your Monkey Catcher Cap. It isn't fair to do it."

Well, the Monkey Catcher knew that Daddy Ringtail was right. It isn't fair to catch a monkey unless you have a Monkey Catcher cap on your head. Oh, but the Monkey Catcher had one. Quickly he pulled it out of his pocket, put in on his head, and then began to tie the last knot in the rope.

"Wait! Wait!" cried Daddy Ringtail.

"Did you want something, Daddy Ringtail?" asked the Monkey Catcher in his stupid voice.

But yes and yes indeed. Daddy Ringtail did want something. He wanted to get away, and he used his secret weapon to do it. And what do you think was his secret weapon? Why, it was words Daddy Ringtail said like this: "Monkey Catcher, how can I send you a Christmas present next Christmas if you take me away to the zoo."

Well, Daddy Ringtail couldn't send the Christmas present unless he was safe at home to send it, and so the Monkey Catcher turned him loose to live at home in the Great Forest, I am happy to say. Happy day!

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON—

Texans Second Only To Californians In Keeping Planes In Active Status

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Air-minded Texans rank second only to Californians in the matter of maintaining non-military aircraft in active operating status.

A recent report issued by the Civil Aeronautics Administration shows that as of July 1 there were 4,320 such planes active in Texas. California led all states with 6,496; Illinois was third with 3,168.

In all three leading states the number was slightly below the figures for July 1, 1950. In this respect, they followed the national pattern. The total number of active civil aircraft in the United States was 56,915 on July 1, compared with 61,706 a year earlier. The July 1, 1950, figures for the top three states were: California, 6,820; Texas, 4,438; Illinois, 3,489.

In addition to the 4,320 civil aircraft active in Texas as of last July 1, there were 2,384 such planes within the state classified as non-active, making the total 6,704. The total a year earlier was 6,913.

In All But 36

One or more planes were active in all but 36 of the 254 Texas counties when the survey was taken in mid-1951. Those with no active planes were:

Andrews, Austin, Burleson, Camp, Coke, Cottle, Franklin, Glasscock, Goliad, Hardin, Irion, Jim Hogg, Kenedy, King, Live Oak, Llano, Loving, McMullen, Madison, Mills, Mitchell, Newton, Rains, Real, Roberts, Rockwall, San Augustine, San Jacinto, Starr, Sterling, Stonewall, Trinity, Tyler, Upshur, Wilson, Zapata.

Dallas County led the state with 511 active and an additional 337 classified as non-active.

Both Dallas and Tarrant (Fort Worth) counties actually showed increases in the number of planes active July 1 as compared with 12 months earlier. On July 1, 1950, Dallas had only 494 active planes and 336 non-active. Tarrant County had 291 active civil aircraft and 156 non-active on July 1, 1951, compared with 288 active and 161 non-active on July 1, 1950. A few counties among those less than 100 active planes also showed increases.

Four other Texas counties each had more than 100 civil planes active as of last July 1. The four, with the comparative figure for July 1, 1950, shown in parenthesis, are: Harris (Houston), 384 (406); Bexar (San Antonio), 282 (295); Cameron (Brownsville), 111 (122); Nueces (Corpus Christi), 107 (121).

Those counties between 50 and 100 active civil aircraft within their boundaries as of July 1, with 1950 comparable figures shown in parenthesis, are:

Hidalgo, 97 (89); Wichita, 93 (96); Lubbock, 84 (64); El Paso, 76 (77); Jefferson, 76 (79); Travis, 70 (71); Potter, 67 (67); Hale, 60 (59); San Patricio, 52 (40); Gregg, 52 (57).

The star survey being made at the Palamor Observator, in California will number the stars and systems of stars out to a distance of 350 million light years.

Ralph Brooks, Emily Hamilton 'Best All-Around Boy And Girl'

Ralph Brooks and Emily Hamilton, seniors, topped the list as returns were received on the "best all-around boy and girl of Midland High School.

Ralph Brooks

Emily Hamilton

Earnest Ralph Brooks was born Jan. 5, 1934, and he has lived here all his life.

Ralph is six feet tall, and has brown hair and brown eyes.

He was vice president of his freshman class.

This is Ralph's third year to letter on the football team: he has lettered in track two years and has been on the basketball team for two years.

This year Ralph is taking chemistry, English, geometry and football, and he says chemistry is his favorite. Miss Boyd is his favorite teacher.

Ralph can almost always either be seen or heard doing or saying something pertaining to football. He has been a member of the M Club for two years.

Ralph really goes for steak as his favorite dish; thinks brown is a very pretty color and likes hillbilly music.

Emily Hamilton was born in Big Spring May 29, 1934. She moved to Midland when she was six months old. Emily is a cute reddish-blonde with green eyes; she is five feet 3 1/4 inches tall—and she says that is official, because she just measured the other day.

"Em," as she is better known to her friends, was elected best all-around girl of MHS last year, too.

Since entering high school, Emily has been reporter of the freshman class, secretary of the senior class this year, secretary of the Junior Classical League her sophomore year, vice president of the Thespians, secretary of the National Honor Society and president of her homeroom this year.

She is a majorette in the Half-Timers and business manager of th- Catoico. This is Emily's third year as a majorette.

This year Emily has a full schedule, consisting of Half-Timers, physics, Spanish II, second year algebra, English and Catoico staff. She says her favorite subject is "campulsology!" Hmmm.

She likes to listen to "Rich Maharajah of Magador," a song. Emily likes any kind of music from classical to Spike Jones.

She really likes to watch football. She says basketball is exciting but there is something about football that you just can't get away from.

Her pet peeve is people who won't buy ads in the annual.

She says she would like to loaf most of the time, but it seems like she spends most of her time dancing.

When asked her heart's desire, Emily replied, "I think it's the desire of every girl to go with somebody real neat!"

After graduation this year (she hopes!) "Em" is going to attend Hollins College in Virginia.

Question Box

Many of today's teen-agers have left home to go out on their own in this big world, which is a big responsibility for them to undertake. The question of the week for this week is "Why do most boys and girls run away from home?"

Emily Studdert—"Parents or boy friends."

Barbara McMillan—"Love life."

Barbara Taylor—"To gain publicity."

Pete English and Bill Leonard—"Not enough to eat."

Loren Roberts—"Sentimental Reasons."

Royce Measures—"Have to get up too early."

Bill Mims—"Because of You."

Ann Billingsley—"Because of little sisters."

"Fifi" Pryor—"Because of second year Latin grades."

Larry Mayfield—"To part company with the second year algebra class."

Lanetta Early—"Because they are afraid they won't get a date to the Junior-Senior Banquet."

Charles Reeves —"Parents won't let them run around and they have to stay home."

Jack Mashburn—"Broken families and a house to live in instead of a home."

Jimmy McClatchy—"Not enough attention at home."

Nancy Cooper—"To escape from unwanted discipline."

Dan Black—"Want to be a hobo and see the world."

Ernest Thompson—"Love of adventure."

Betty Campbell—"Maybe they want to."

Cory Moss—"Most girls run away from home to find a man, while men run away because they've already been found."

Robert Q. Lewis—"Some would rather run off to Mexico than be drafted!"

The Editor Speaks

By GAIL BAKER

Some younger people seem to feel that they know all there is to know in this world simply because they possess a high school diploma. This is not altogether true.

After a student graduates from high school, he still has a "long row to hoe."

A college education may not seem important to the average high school student, but someday he may regret it if he turns down a college education.

Most high school students have no idea in which vocation they would be the happiest and the most successful. In college the student has a better opportunity to continue his studies until he hits upon a field which suits him best.

Many courses are offered in college which are not offered in high school.

In college a person has a chance to meet others from different parts of the country which broadens his outlook.

If you have a chance to go to college, you had better not turn it down!

Midland High School Band Participates In Santa Parade

The Midland High School Band participated in annual Santa Claus Parade Tuesday night. "Rifle Rangers" and "Washington Post" were the alternate marches played. This was the second parade this year in which the band wore the new uniforms.

The Midland High School Band played its first concert of the season for the Parent-Teacher Association recently. The band started the program with the spirited "National Capitol March," followed by the popular overture "Daspensionat," and "Old Vienna." For another change in pace the band played "So This Is Devorak" followed by Swing March No. 1. A popular touch was seen with "Say It With Music" and the band concluded its program with the majestic "Westerner March." The concert was played in full band uniform.

Following the concert the band was served refreshments in the home economics department.

Art Main Interest Of James Johnson

One of the most industrious boys in Midland High School is a tall, dark junior who is always ready and willing to help anyone, especially in an artistic way.

This description could mean no other than James Johnson. His main interest and hobby is art. It may be pencil sketches, water colors, oils or still life, portraits or landscapes.

James says his art career began with scribblings on the back of checks in church before coming to Midland at the age of 11 from Houston.

Since that time, James has come a long way. Besides entering many art festivals, in 1949 he won first place in the State Scholastic Art Contest, and honorable mention in the National contest. In 1950 he won honorable mention in the same contest. A month ago James had his first private exhibit and recently he won first place in the Book Week poster contest.

Without doubt art is James' favorite period of a schedule which consists of American history, art, plane geometry, English and biology. He is particularly fond of drawing his biology sketches and claims trout as his favorite food.

James hopes to continue his study of art either at the University of Houston or the University of Alabama.

Mims, Lineman, 'Bulldog Of Week'

William Goodwin Mims — just "Bill" to most everybody—was born in Austin, Nov. 19, 1935, which makes him 16 years old. He came to Midland with his family when he was four months old.

This tall sophomore with blue eyes reaches up to six-feet, two-and-a-fourth inches in his stocking feet.

Bill was president of his freshman homeroom last year and is on the Student Council this year.

This year he is taking English, biology, first year algebra, second year Latin and football. Of his school courses, Bill likes both biology and Latin. He names the coaches as his favorite teachers.

He is really patriotic for Midland High, as his favorite colors are purple and gold.

Bill likes the song, "Jezebel." Popular music is his most-liked type of music.

On Varsity Squad

Bill was on the freshman football team last year, and he plays left end on defensive for the A squad this year. Last year he was on the "fish" basketball and track teams. Bill does not claim any particular sport as his favorite—just whichever one is in season at the time.

His main dislike is losing a game; his favorite pastime is loafing or running around with the boys.

He is a member of the Junior Classical League and the Science Club.

Bill plans to be a lawyer, "if and when" he ever gets out of high school.

Victory Is Theme Of High School's Band At Grid Tilt

Victory was the theme of the Midland High School Band's halftime show at the Midland-Breckenridge game. Following the fanfare introduction and step-off signal from drum-major, Alan Harris, the band stepped smartly down the field, performed a counter-march, and executed a precision marching drill.

Then, to congratulate the Midland Bulldogs on their 1951 district championship, the band formed a football with a large V in the center and the Halftimers formed 1951. The pep song, "Let's Win This Game," played by the band expressed the hopes of the Midland fans in music.

Next, to represent Midland's desire for a state championship, the Midland High School Band and Half-timers formed the letters and words "All The Way" while the band played the high school song "On Ye Bulldogs."

Freedom Is Invaluable

(An Editorial)

In a world troubled by communism, cold war and fear of a third world war, it becomes more of a blessing than ever to be a citizen of the United States. Here we have fears of another world war, but not the fear that exists in some countries. In America we do not fear that our cities will be destroyed the next day or week by an atom bomb.

If we openly criticize our nation's leaders we don't have to worry about hearing a knock on our door in the wee hours of morning by the secret police. When we go to church we do not worry whether or not the church will be closed down because of a proclamation from some official.

This freedom from fear we take for granted, but we have much cause for fear. There are those who would take our freedom away at the first opportunity. While enemies press upon us from without; these persons try to undermine use from within. They try to spread hatred among different groups. They try to sell us false ideas of a paradise of equality and prosperity while they secretly plan to rob us of the good things of life which we now enjoy.

In order to stop these would-be dictators we must accept the responsibility of American citizenship. We must exercise our privilege of voting. We must keep well informed. We must use our common sense when propaganda is thrown at us. A watchful American will be a free American!

Thru The Uprights

By TOMMY VANNAMAN

With a bruising ground game and sparkling air power, the Midland Bulldogs ran up a 24 to 6 victory over the Plainview Bulldogs November 24 at Plainview. The Bulldogs finished the regular season with eight wins, one loss, and one tie, and were undefeated in conference play. It also meant that Midland had its most successful season over a long period of time.

You know, we hear quite a lot about the first string boys during the year, but we always see a lot more boys go out to get victory apples than we hear about. Some people classify them as scrubs, or boys who the coach puts on the A squad just out of the goodness of his heart. Maybe they are scrubs, but they are the ones who get there day after day, week after week, just for the purpose of letting the first string try to run over them, and show up first squad weak spots before an opposing team finds it. The week we played Lamesa, they ran the Lamesa team's plays against the first squad to show them what to look for, and so for every team we have played. They don't get their names in the paper, and they deserve that victory apple just as much as anyone else.

Basketball season started last Monday, and about 30 boys showed up for A squad tryouts. Many more showed up for the B and C squads. Coach Higdon will be the A tutor until after football season at which time Coaches Rutledge and Gill will take over. At that time a number of football boys also will join the squad. There are several good prospects and Midland should have a good season. This applies to the B and C squads also.

• • •

Coach Rutledge tells us that the P.E. boys are playing basketball in preparation for a tournament in each class. More news on that will come through at a later date.

Concert Given By Band In Assembly

The Midland High School band, under the direction of Ralph Mills, presented a concert in assembly Wednesday.

Larry Mayfield led the student body in the "Pledge of Allegience" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

The band opened the program with "National Capital March" by Alfred P. Zambarano, followed by two overtures, "Das Pensionat" by Franz von Suppe and "In Old Vienna" by K. L. King. "So This is Devorak", a medley consisting of "Going Home" and "Humoresque", arranged by F. L. Buchtel, then was played.

"Swing March Number One" by Vic Williams and "Say It With Music" by Irving Berlin was presented. The program closed with "Westerner March" by J. L. Richards.

NEW 1952 PONTIAC—First of the General Motors divisions to announce 1952 models, Pontiac currently is displaying "what's new for '52" in dealer showrooms here and throughout the nation. Pontiac Displays New 1952 Models In Dealer Showrooms

The Pontiac Division of General Motors this weekend lifted the curtain on its models for 1952, which feature an entirely new power train consisting of a new dual-range Hydra-Matic transmission, higher compression engines and the lowest rear axle gear ratio (3.08 to 1) yet to appear on American passenger cars. The new models will be on display Monday in the showrooms of the Curtis Pontiac Company, 2600 West Wall Street, here.

The power train combination, according to engineers responsible for the development, results in new standards of performance and economy for the 1952 cars, at the same time providing two separate driving ranges, a flexibility in driving that meets extreme conditions of heavy city traffic or safe, smooth travel on the open highway.

In addition to the new power train, the 1952 Pontiac models feature a number of important styling changes and refinements, according to Tommy Thompson, manager of the Curtis Pontiac Company. There are new colors available both for interiors and exteriors of all models. Interior colors are provided in a choice of grey, blue or green to match or harmonize with the color selected for the body. These interiors combine solid colors with matching tri-tone check patterns used for seat upholstery. Window mouldings and instrument panels are similarly styled according to body color.

The newest Silver Streak models are offered with six and eight cylinder high compression engines, each series having five standard and five deluxe models, and one super deluxe, the Catalina.

Throughout the entire line a number of innovations have been made in ornamentation which quickly distinguish the 1952 models from their predecessors. There is a revised edition of the characteristic Pontiac Indian head hood ornament, modifications of the radiator grille, and other changes in the belt moulding, trunk handles and interior fittings.

Among other improvements in the new cars are a "flipper" weather door seal on the new Catalina models which prevents water dropping into the driver's compartment when the door is opened, new generator frame and improved armature shaft construction, new "cooler" operating spark plugs with stronger structural features, new fuel pump, and other innovations.

Steps Cited For Homeowner To Follow In Painting House

By doing their own home paint jobs, homeowners have eliminated labor costs and gained the personal satisfaction of seeing their homes improved through their own creative efforts.

For a good paint job, each step should be planned in advance and all necessary materials assembled before setting to work.

In addition to paint, materials include brushes or roller; turpentine to clean brushes and spots; ladders; drop cloths to protect floors and shrubbery; clean rags; linseed oil to protect brushes not in use; and equipment to prepare both exterior and interior surfaces, such as scraper, sandpaper, wire brush, calking compound, putty, calking gun and dust brush.

For exteriors, a five-inch brush is needed for large areas, a two-inch brush for trim. A three-inch or four-inch brush is best for interior walls and ceilings.

Rollers are an excellent time-saver for the amateur, who often can complete all walls of an average size room in one evening with a roller. If wife and husband are collaborating on the paint job, she may find a roller the easiest method.

Select Colors You Like

As colors must be lived with for a long time after the job is finished, the homeowner should give himself the widest color range from which to choose.

Before painting the interior, remove all furniture and cover remaining pieces and rugs with drop cloths or newspapers. Soiled walls and ceilings should be washed with cleanser and water, and cracks filled with patching plaster after scraping off loose plaster. Let patching plaster dry thoroughly, then sand mended surfaces. When they are sanded smooth, apply shellac to treated areas. Let shellac dry overnight, then sand again.

Paint Ceiling First

Paint the ceiling first. Then go down the walls, starting at the top and carrying each strip to the baseboard. Each strip should be finished, with laps brushed out, before starting the next. If woodwork is to be the same color as the wall, it can be painted at the same time. Otherwise it should be left for last. Woodwork should be free of wax, grease and oil.

Start each brushful on a dry spot and work toward the area already covered. Dip brush only half the bristle length, and to avoid streaks, finish an entire area before taking a break.

Exterior Painting

Before painting, exterior surfaces should be washed with soap and water and rinsed. Loose particles should be scraped off with a stiff scraping knife, and rough areas sanded with fine sandpaper. Bare spots need touching up with under-coat paint. Joints around chimney and around door frames and windows in brick walls require recalking, and all loose putty must be replaced. Repair leaks in roof, walls and around windows.

Surfaces must be thoroughly dry before painting. As in the interior, start at the top and work down. Paint in wide horizontal bands from top to bottom.

The under-coat should dry for several days before applying the finish coat.

To keep brushes from drying out for a few hours, wrap them in aluminum foil. Overnight, they can be wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper or suspended in linseed oil. When brushes are to be stored for a long period, wash them in brush cleaner, then soap and water, and wrap them in paper.

Personality Is Guide To Success In Homemaker Job

In case you didn't know, you have two personalities: the one which charms your husband and the one which identifies you as a homemaker.

No point in discussing the former, so let's get on to the second personality. Although it may not be as glamorous as the one which earned you the orange blossoms, it's highly important, because it is the key to how successful a housekeeper you are.

First, your work habits. Are you orderly in handling household facilities? Do you tolerate clutter, or have you equipped your home with time-saving, easy-to-clean materials in kitchen, bathroom, powder room and recereation areas?

Do you keep the entire kitchen neat during meal preparation, or do you rinse used pots and pans and keep drainboards wiped down while cooking is going on? Does a family session in the bathroom result in an appearance of chaos, or do you give the floor and walls and, perhaps, the wash basin counters a once-over-lightly as soon as the last bather has gotten into pajamas?

Homemaking Speed

What is your homemaking speed? If you're slow, perhaps you can accomplish more by planning carefully and by learning new methods and utilization of modern materials to reduce work by being simple to maintain.

Quality is more important than quantity in housework. If you're homemaking personality is sound, you will know that it is unwise to wear yourself out so that you cannot enjoy the family's leisure.

Plan ahead. Be a good manager. Loading yourself up with chores one day, in order to have complete freedom the next, is poor management and a sign of a badly adjusted homemaking personality. Have a schedule and keep to it.

Be a co-ordinator, getting the whole family into the act. There is no reason they should get off without responsibility. Be an indulgent "boss," but give everybody a set chore.

'Home Safety' Is Important Item On Christmas Lists

The lighted tree in the window that spells Christmas at holiday time also can spell disaster in the records of the Fire Department.

Because the number of devastating home fires increase greatly during teh Christmas-New Year's period, fire prevention experts urge that another item—safety—be included on every shopping list. Here are pointers from the Tile Council of America that will help save lives and thereby add joy to every Christmas:

1. Buy fireproof toys, flameproof cowboy suits, and tots' furniture finished with non-poisonous paints.

2. Inspect tree lighting sets well before the holidays to be sure they are not frayed, or connections loosened. If a fuse blows when you connect the set, you probably have too many lights and should eliminate some.

Place Tree Safely

3. Place the tree safely. Set it up in a room with a floor of fireproof material, and keep it away from radiators and drapes.

4. Buy the tree just before Christmas, set it in water if possible, and remove it from the house right after the holiday. Dry branches burn fast.

5. Don't use candles on the tree. Each year some families do, and too often disaster results.

6. Avoid paper, cotton and plastics for decorations. Remember that elaborate decorations increase hazards.

7. Dispose of Christmas paper wrappings imemdiately. An accumulation of them is a definite fire hazard.

Don't Try Plaster-Patching While Floor Sags

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

Cracks in the plaster of your home generally are the result of sagging floors and their supporting girders. Until the floors have been brought back to their normal level and the necessary bracing installed to keep them level, it is foolish to try to patch plaster because it will continue to crack as long as the flooring is insecure.

When you are ready to patch, the first thing to do is to remove all paper or other covering from the wall surface. Then, using a sharp knife, cut out the plaster along the crack down to the lath. As you cut, bevel undercut the edges. This will give the patching plaster a better grip.

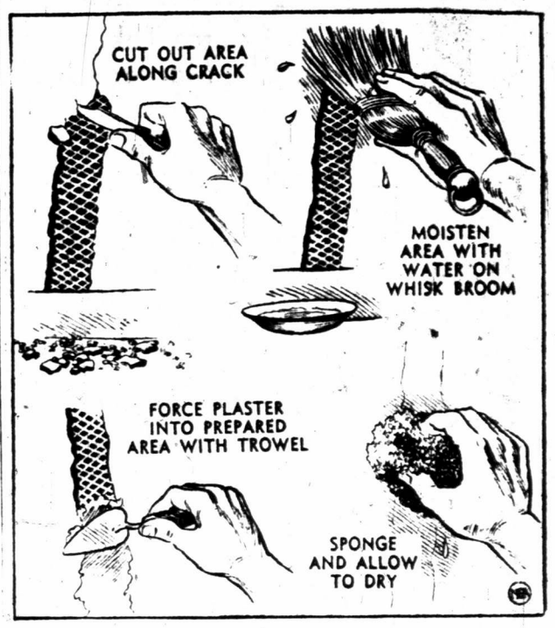

Ready-mixed plaster is obtainable which requires only water to make a paste. After the paste is ready, go over the crack area with a whiskbroom dipped in water. This insures that the dry plaster on the wall will hold the patch. Be sure to soak the area well, including the lath underneath the crack.

Start From Bottom

Next, start from the bottom of the crack and force the new plaster into the crack with a trowel and smooth it off. Then sponge it lightly and let it set for about an hour.

During the hour the new plaster will swell above the surface of the old and this should be leveled again and sponged with water.

Leave the new patches to dry for at least a week before applying paint or paper. Above all, don't start this job unless you're sure that the floors are solidly braced.

Combining Laundry, Powder Room Seen Advantage For All

Add to the growing list of dual-purpose rooms the combination powder room and laundry.

This combination makes sense not only for the housewife but also the head of the family and the children. It means a first location for the laundry, with additional space gained from the bath, and no weary hauling of washing up and down the stairs. It means a place for Dad to clean up, and a handy bathroom for the small fry when they come in from play.

Here are some pointers on planning such a dual-purpose room:

1. Locate the combining laundry and powder room handy to an outside door, so it can be reached without a trip through the living room.

2. Place the washer, tubs and dryer on one wall and the wash basin and water closet on the opposite one.

3. Use a waterproof material for the walls and floor of the room.

4. Select gay, clear colors that will go well with the whiteness and the straight lines of laundry equipment.

5. Plan some storage space in this dual-purpose room. A floor-to-ceiling cupboard is an excellent answer to the storage problem.

6. If the home needs a second bath, a shower stall will take up little extra space in the combination laundry and powder room. To prevent water damage, clay tile should be installed for its walls and floor.

Scientists only recently proved that the warm Gulf Stream current wanders sometimes hundreds of miles as it shifts its course in response to unknown pressures.

The MATURE PARENT

Child Of Divorce Takes Long Look At Marriage

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

She is a tall, quiet child of 14 whose parents were divorced three years ago. When a baby recently was born to her father and his new wife, she was asked to come and see her little half-sister.

"I told Daddy I didn't feel like it yet," she told me. "I love babies, but I'd feel kind of queer with one that belonged to Daddy and not to my mother, too. Is that wrong of me?"

"No," I said. "It's hard not to feel strange in strange situations."

"When I grow up and somebody wants to marry me, do you know what I'm going to tell them?" she said. "I'm going to say, 'Please let's think about this some more until we're absolutely sure we're both the persons we each want. Because I don't want ever to be divorced. I think divorce is stupid.'"

I hope she keeps her word. I don't think divorce is too bright myself.

The more I see of it, the more it reminds me of that zany Wonderland Tea Party of the March Hare and the Mad Hatter who, when they spilled their milk jug, solved the problem by moving their tea plates to the next clean place at the table.

No wonder Alice, the realist, was baffled by her charming but irresponsible hosts. Although she was too mannerly to inquire, how she must have wanted to ask, "But what do you do when you have used up all the clean places at your table?"

Although it is obvious that we cannot stay married to people for whom we have lost respect, the answer really doesn't seem to be in constantly moving to a fresh deal at the matrimonial table. I wonder if the real answer may not be a more careful evaluation of the people with whom we first sit down at the table?

There were many things wrong with the 19th Century, but one thing about it was pretty intelligent. The people who lived in it made a point of checking on the social histories of prospective wives and husbands.

When fair Emmeline fell in love with Edward, they both understood that their parents would do some polite, but thorough investigation into the behavior records of their future grandchildren's mother and father.

If Emmeline was proved to be a giddy sort who had shaken her curls at too many gallants, the hazards of marriage to her were suggested to Edward. If he was discovered to have too often trifled with the truth and his tailor's bills, his disqualifications for the responsibilities of wedlock were put to Emmeline.

Neither Edward nor Emmeline considered this was unwarranted interference in the course of true love. They stayed married because they, like their parents believed that marriage should be made, not merely to accommodate the heart throbs of temporary emotion, but to establish an institution called a home.

I find it interesting that my young friend of the 20th Century, shocked, hurt and confused by her parents' divorce, should be planning to do for herself exactly what Emmeline's and Edward's parents did for them.

Perhaps she is a hopeful portent. Perhaps the children who have suffered from the poor judgment of their parents are learning the hard way that marriage is not just a personal affair, but one in which unborn people have investments.

Perhaps before they engage in the serious business of having babies, they will take better care to check on the suitability of the human material they choose to father and mother those babies.

Consultant Lauds Rubberized Roads

SINGAPORE —(AP)— The experiment here of laying strips of rubberized roads has won the acclaim of A. R. Smee, road consultant to the British Rubber Development Board.

Smee inspected the strips in front of the Singapore Post Office and said: "These strips were laid down 18 months ago and they are still in very good condition. I think they will stay like that for some time." He added that an adjacent strip with no rubber powder in it—laid down at the same time—was beginning to show signs of wrinkled wear. Smee is also supervising the laying of five test strips of rubberized roads in Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide, in Australia.

State's Areas Of Heavy Industries Busy For Defense

By RAY CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff

Texas nears the end of 1951 with its heavy industry areas busy producing and tooling to get out warplanes, steel, aluminum, aviation gasoline and oil by-products for defense.

The biggest producing areas are along the Gulf Coast, in the Panhandle and in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Smaller metal working and fabricating businesses still are haunted by the specter of materials shortages for civilian production.

A survey by Associated Press member papers show the full product of the state's defense mobilization yet to come.

To help, the Munitions Board and the USDC plan joint clinics to guide the small industrialist in dove-tailing his plans with the defense mobilization program.

Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischman was warned that there will be some casualties among manufacturers who can not find or use substitutes for steel and other metals. He told the American Federation of Labor convention in San Franciso last month, "The squeeze is now beginning."

For Many Industries

Charles E. Wilson, defense mobilizer, has said the next six months period "will not be a happy one" for many industries.

Wilson, however, said in Quebec, Canada, on October 30 that within two years the allied arsenal will be "skyscraper high." He said, "you are about to see production really pouring out."

The Texas Employment Commission reported that non-agriculture employment hit a new peak of 2,560,700 during September. This compares with 2,467,800 last January, an increase of 93,900. Most of this new employment reflected an increased mobilization effort. In the Panhandle defense production is pouring out of industry in the tri-cities area of Borger, Phillips and Bunavista.

Production is geared largely to defense contracts at plants which process petroleum and gas into gasoline, oil, carbon black and rubber products. The section has been classified as a critical defense housing area, and rent controls have been put into effect. This results in relaved credit restrictions on residential construction and a rollback of rent prices to the level of February, 1951.

Defense Contracts Let

Several defense contracts have been let to Amarillo firms. One is manufacturing electronics equipment and another is busy with machine tool work of a classified nature. The Star Manufacturing and Foundry Company has built a new foundry to supply the machine tool industry with castings. Both the American Refining and Smelter Company and the American Zinc Company at Dumas, are producing at peak capacity. Much of their output goes into government stockpiling. Construction of all types in Amarillo is keeping pace with last year's dollar volume.

Aircraft manufacturing is the top defense industry in Fort Worth and Dallas. Employment at the Bell and Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation plants in Fort Worth is mushrooming. Consolidated, makers of the B-36 bombers, reports a total employment of 30,609 persons. This is larger than the plant employed during World War II. August C. Esenwein of Convair, said about 14,000 new employes have been added in the past year. Employment at Bell has reached 2,000. Bell also has announced plans for a new helicopter plant near Fort Worth. A slump in home building during the first 10 months of this year has been offset by commercial construction in the Fort Worth area.

A mobilization speedup in Dallas is shown best by the number employed in the city's aircraft industry. Some 20,000 persons now are employed by Chance-Vought Aircraft Corporation, and Texas Engineering and Manufacturing Company at Grand Prairie. M. R. Kelly of the TEC said the industry is hiring between 2,500 and 3,000 persons each montht, including replacements.

Area Changing Over

"The area is changing over from a civilian economy to partial mobilization," Kelly said, "and probably will reach the peak in changeover in 1951."

Dallas' aircraft industry so far has taken less than half the peak of 44,000 workers it employed during World War II.

Tom Lester, oil editor of the Houston Chronicle surveyed mobilization effort in Houston. He found the area so far has felt little the impact of defense mobilization.

The lusty peacetime boom in industry in Houston still rolls along under its own momentum. Total non-farm employment in the area has reached nearly 340,000. Industrial construction is paced by refinery and chemical plant expansion.

Construction planned as additions to refineries or new plants to serve the oil industry totals about 200 million dollars. Mobilization contracts, however, are snowballing. About 25 million dollars in defense contracts have been let, but percentage-wise it is a small part of the total industrial output of the Houston area.

The Dickson gun plant has been reopened, and the Hughes Gun Company has been organized to operate it. The Brown & Root Construction Company has been awarded large contracts to recondition army tanks.

Ship yards, steel plants, and refineries are going full blast. Engineers, boilermakers and construction workers are in great demand. So are pipefitters and steamfitters. Shipping companies are hard pressed to find rated men to crew their ships. Scores of peacetime sailors have deserted the sea for jobs in industry.

Despite material shortages, a boom in industrial construction is underway in the Corpus Christi area. Work is progressing steadily on the 80 million dollar Reynolds Metal Company plant. Production of aluminum is to begin by the end of 1951, although all the plant won't be completed. About 2,000 employes will be needed at the plant when finished. It will have a capacity of 150 million pounds of aluminum annually.

Plans Announced

Plans have been announced for a 3 million dollar addition to the present plant of American Smelting and Refining Company near Corpus Christi. Production of an additional 2,000 tons of high grade zinc each month will be possible after the addition is completed.

Sunray Oil Corporation plans a 10 million dollar refinery at Corpus Christi. It will have a 25,000 barrel daily crude capacity.

Although there is great activity in Corpus Christi in heavy industry, much of it was planned before the Korean war, and the impact of mobilization planning hasn't fully hit the area yet.

The Orange Leader reports heavy industry pouring out goods in the southeast corner of Texas. Consolidated Western Steel Corporation's big pipe mill and fabricating plant are in full production. Trainloads of pipe for natural gas lines move away from the mill daily. Swarms of barges churn the Sabine River towing fabricated material for the new plant being constructed by the Kaiser Aluminum Company at New Orleans.

The Gulf Oil Corporation has announced the construction of a six-inch pipe line from Port Arthur to Orange to transport ethylene to the giant DuPont Chemical plant. Ethylene is a raw material for chemicals and plastics.

In Beaumont, there is little defense activity. Employment has risen less than 1,000 persons since last January. Home construction is off more than one million dollars. Small metal fabricators are reported "hanging on" and thinking about switching to the repair and service business. They also are seeking substitute materials to use in place of the scarce copper, tin and aluminum.

The biggest defense effort felt in Waco so far is the 12 million dollar construction program now underway at James Connnally Air Force Base. This year's drouth in Central Texas hurt retail sales, but the establishment of the Flying Training Air Force Headquarters in Waco and the construction of Connally AFB has helped dollar sales reach 1950's figures.

At Midland, the booming capital of the Spraberry Trend in oil development, building permits in September alone hit $1,267,600. Employment is increasing and workers from office clerks to roughnecks are in demand. Development of the Spraberry as an oil reserve is considered vital to the mobilization effort.

The National Geographic Society says the word "turnpike" springs from the pikes used as gates on early toll roads, turned aside to open the way.

Pine Bark Beetle Attack Is Easing

COLLEGE STATION—(AP)— The Texas Forest Service says the attack of Southern pine bark beetle of sawtimber and 30,000 cords of lost its momentum.

It has killed 50 million board feet of swatimber and 30,000 cords of pulpwood in the past two years, the service estimated.

The beetle's natural enemies have been the primary cause for its decline, the service said. Chief among these is the clerid beetle.

The epidemic of the pine bark beetle was centered in northern Liberty County, southwestern Hardin County and northeastern Harris County.

Silver foxes are killed for their pelts at the age of about one year.

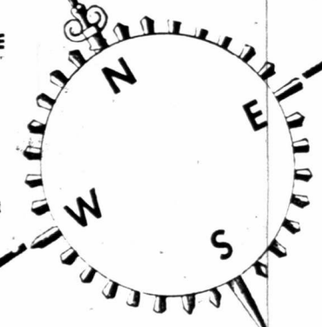

STEAK IN THE FUTURE?—A feast fit for a whole gang of kings is the outsize dinner plate, featuring a 17-pound steak, which Karren Fladdes, director of home economics, prepares to tackle with a giant knife and fork. Looking on are delegates to the national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago who won $300 scholarships in a refrigerator company's food preparation contest. The 4-H Club members, left to right, are: Laura Rowe, Arvada, Colo.; Janice Haver, Upperce, Md.; Veronica Horvat, Detroit, Mich.; Elizabeth Wallace, Canterbury, N. H.; Jenny Kelley, Cleveland, Tenn., and Mary Ann Goertz, Red Rock, Tenn.

Dear Ole Santa:
"We have tried to be good little children this year. Will you please bring what you have for us to our grandparent's house in Winters, Texas, because we will be there?
"We want a doll and buggy, doll house, gun, feeder truck, train, nuts, fruit and candy.
"Don't forget our little cousins and friends."

—Judy and Randy Thompson.

LOOK, NO TAIL!—A helicopter without the usual tail and tail-rotor is the idea of Ken Anderson, 29-year-old aeronautical engineer at the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis. Anderson looks over a scale model of his airship, which would be powered by small hydraulic engines at tips of rotor blades. He hopes to have a full-scale flying model by spring.

TO BE FREED?—Reports from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, indicate that Catholic Archbishop Aloysius Stepinac, above, may soon be released from prison by Marshal Tito after serving five years of a 16-year sentence. Stepinac was convicted in a widely publicized trial in 1946 on charges of alleged "collaboration with the Nazis." His conviction has been soundly denounced by Catholic dignitaries in this country and elsewhere.

Special 'Sports' Program Opens Door To Success In Religious Records Field

WACO —(AP)— When Jarrell McCracken, Baylor University student and announcer for a Waco radio station, agreed to give a special "sports" program to a small church group in 1950, he unconsciously opened the door to quick success in the comparatively new field of religious records.

His program consisted of the exciting narration of an allegorical football game between the Forces of Christianity and the Forces of Evil. He spoke from off-stage through a public address system, so that the audience got the illusion of a radio broadcast from "Station W-O-R-D," signifying the word of God.

The 25 or 30 persons who heard McCracken's novel treatment of "The Game of Life" liked it. They asked him to record it so they could use it at a young people's meeting.

Within a few months, the record was in great demand from scores of religious groups. With youthful McCracken at the microphone, and all the crowd noises and color of a real grid battle merged with the play-by-play account, it's hard for the listener to realize that he isn't tuned to a hot football game.

It isn't until about the "third quarter" that it becomes evident that the team representing Christianity, sparked by such players as Average Christian, Humility and Prayer, is waging a touchdown battle against such foes as Pride, Greed, and Temptation.

A high school football star at Gladewater decided to become a preacher after hearing it. In Houston, 12 persons joined the church where it was played at a prayer meeting. Eleven others were so moved by it in Oklahoma that they also went to the altar.

A prisoner who has spent most of his life behind bars in Pennsylvania uses it as the theme of a weekly Sunday school lesson for fellow prisoners. In Louisiana, several young football stars said they were deeply moved after hearing it. A one-time football star, now a businessman, wept as he listened to the realistic "game."

Prominent churchmen like Baylor University's president, W. R. White; Dr. John W. Raley, president of Oklahoma Baptist University; and Dr. W. W. Adams, president of Kansas City's Central Baptist Seminary, immediately applauded the recording.

The 24-year-old McCracken suddenly realized that his unintentional project was developing into an industry. WORD records, never even quite so much as a dream, were now an actuality with tremendous potential.

He asked Frank Boggs, a student in Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, to sing some religious songs to put on records. Next came recordings of religious numbers by the Baylor University Religious Hour Choir, a Baylor quartet, and other soloists.

McCracken, sensing the magnitude of his new "business," called upon Henry SoRelle, a senior business student in Baylor, and Ted Snider, a 1950 graduate of Baylor who was working in radio and television, to go with him in a partnership.

13 Records Made

Thirteen records (26 sides) have been made thus far, and they are being sold in Baptist Book Stores and other outlets in some 25 states. McCracken estimates that at least 15,000 WORD label records are now in circulation.

The future bids even greater success. Plans have been made for the sale of sermons by the late Dr. George W. Truett, using master records of about 30 messages transcribed during the minister's lifetime and preserved by his widow. There will also be dramatized Bible stories for children, with McCracken being the emcee.

McCracken is the son of Rev. L. O. McCracken, a Baptist minister at Woodward, Okla. He entered Baylor to study radio, got the sportscasting job on one of the town's two broadcasting stations. Then just a year before he was to take the A.B. in radio, he answered the call to the ministry.

Carnegie Course Opens Wednesday

Dale Carnegie's course in human relations will open in Midland Wednesday.

The teaching of effective speaking, leadership and human relations will be held each Wednesday night in the Midland High School cafeteria for 15 weeks. Meetings will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Jackson Smith, a San Angeloan trained in New York City by Carnegie, will teach the courses. Smith majored in psychology at the University of Missouri and has a Carnegie franchise to establish Dale Carnegie schools in West Texas.

Jackson was the first to teach an experimental course in human relations to inmates of a federal penitentiary. The course was given in the Atlanta, Ga., prison.

"We taught them the value of the other persons and to have confidence in their own ability," Jackson said. "We theorize that a man becomes a criminal, now and then, due to an inferiority complex —a persecution complex."

Jackson has taught the course to 3,000 persons and he invited interested Midlanders and area residents to visit the opening session. The San Angelo man flies his own airplane and is setting up schools in Abilene and in San Angelo with others in the planning stage.

Breaking Of Pinata Part Of Yule Event

The breaking of a pinata, a clay jar filled with candies, peanuts and sections of sugar cane, is part of every fiesta in Mexico—especially during the nine days before Christmas.

Since children are part of all Mexican festivities, the breaking of the pinata is their special province. The pinata is suspended from ropes or cords that can be pulled up and down.

The children are blindfolded, turned around and then given a stick with which to whack the air where they think the pinata may be, and so release its treasures.

Always, at the last, the tiniest child is allowed to break the pinata, without blindfold and all the children fall on the released goodies, screaming with laughter and excitement.

Test Project For Treating Alcoholics Proposed To Shivers

AUSTIN —(AP)— Cooperation between the Texas Committee on Alcoholism, Inc., and the Austin State Hospital in a test project for treatmen of alcoholics has been suggested to Gov. Allan Shivers.

The Executive Committee of the Committee of Alcoholism proposed that a trust fund be created to finance a treatment and training program, with the state hospital providing food and care.

Top-flight psychiatric personnel would be paid from the trust fund, which would be created by contributions from private citizens.

The plan would supplement a law passed by the 52nd Legislature allowing alcoholics to apply for treatment lasting from 10 to 90 days in one of the state's six mental hospitals.

Retired Executive Returning To School

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. —(AP)— The retired president of the South's biggest steelmaking company believes that "if you want to keep up with the times, you have to keep up with youth."

Suiting his actions to his words, Robert Gregg, 66, plans to enroll as a student at the University of Florida.

Gregg retired last January 1 as president of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company here.

He graduated from Georgia Tech in 1905 and received his master's degree at Cornell in 1906, but plans to enroll at Florida as a freshman. He will take courses in physics, chemistry, mathematics and possibly a foreign language.

Gregg is building a small home at Gainesville, Fla., where he and his wife will live near the university.

Midlanders Swing Their Partners

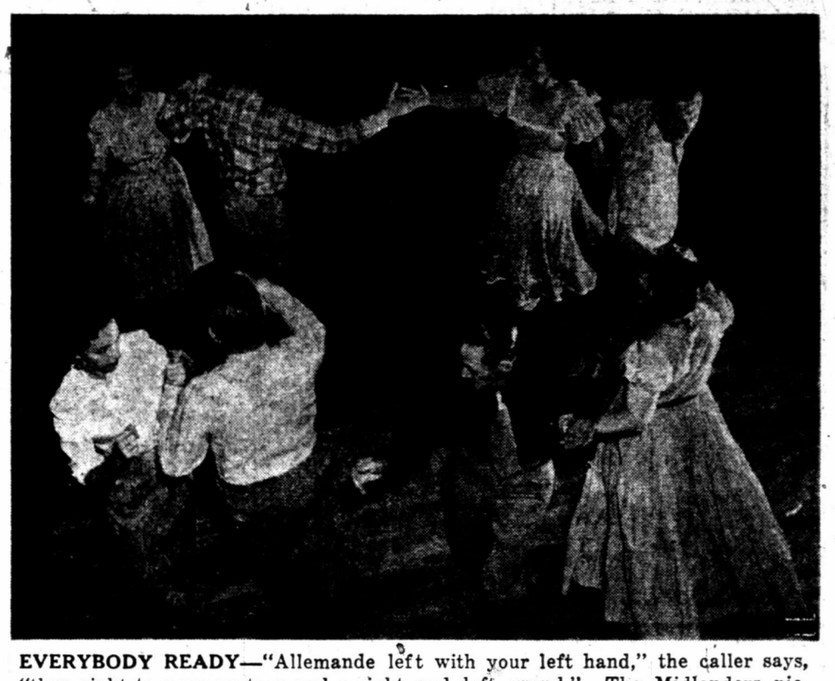

TIME OUT FOR REFRESHMENTS—No soft-lights-and-music rhythm, this. Square dancing is brisk exercise. And when the music stops everybody heads for the water fountain or Coke machine. Midland's roster of organized square dance clubs testifies to the popularity of the activity. The list includes the Swing Away, Circle Eight, Sheriff's Posse, Single Saddle and Sashaway.

THE TEXAS STAR — There's action aplenty when square dancers get together. Here, four couples combine forces on one of the most popular square dance manuevers — namely, forming the Texas star. Such groups of eight dancers are known as squares or sets.

AND DO-SI-DO—R. F. Rood takes time out from dancing to call a number for his fellow club members. Backing him up with the musical accompaniment is the Jimmy King band of Big Spring. A combination of calling and dancing talents is not unusual. Many of the city's square dancers take their turns at calling during the evening meetings.

DANCING WESTERN STYLE—Midland square dancers "take their partners and promenade home." One of the basic square dance figures, the promenade recurs frequently in a wide variety of Western dances. The square dance has been called the representative folk dance of the American frontier.

Modern Study Club Sponsors Mrs. Emery, Book Reviewer

"The Scandalous Mrs. Blackwood," by Harnett Kane and Victor LeClerc, was reviewed by Mrs. Herbert Emery of Dallas Friday in the Tower Theater. The book review was sponsored by the Modern Study Club.

Mrs. Emery was introduced by Mrs. Bryan Denson, first vice president and chairman of the ways and means committee.

Mrs. Emery gave a sparkling and vivid review of the story of Mrs. Blackwood. She gave the story of her life, beginning with her ancestors before she was born through the time of her death.

"The Scandalous Mrs. Blackwood" is the story of a clergyman's daughter who took a detour from the straight and narrow path and could not find her way back.

Kane, the co-author, received the Rosenwald Regional fellowship for study on the South and the Dorothy Dix human interest prize.

A native of New Orleans, he has written both fact and fiction about his native state. His other books include "Natchez on the Mississippi," "Plantation Parade," "Louisiana Hayride," "Bayous of Louisiana" and "Bride of Fortune."

LeClerc, whose real name is Albert Parry, a Russian historian, did the research on Harriet Blackford's life. During the last years of her life she wrote a journal which was suppressed by the Russians but LeClerc located several copies of the journal. However, in each copy the last 19 pages were missing. What was in those last pages no one will ever know.

• • •

Mrs. Emery was presented a corsage of white carnations and a historical plate of Midland by the Modern Study Club.

Mrs. Carl Westlund, club president, was hostess to a luncheon Friday at the Midland Country Club in honor of Mrs. Emery.

Don't overlook cauliflower! When the vegetable is separated into cauliflowerets eight to ten minutes of gentle boiling will usually be plenty; if the whole head is cooked it will need twenty minutes or a little longer.

An electric roaster allows you to cook meats, vegetables, and puddings at the same time. When the vegetables are to be cooked in the same pan with a roast, they should be added about an hour before the roast is to be served.

When you roast a stuffed chicken remember to tie the drumsticks together, and then fasten the cord around the tail. The neck skin should be fastened to the back with a skewer and the wings placed "akimbo" across the back.

Business Education Day To Be Observed Here Tuesday

The story of business and of free enterprise will be heard by faculty members of Midland's public school system Tuesday as they visit 25 business firms as special guests on this city's first annual Business-Education Day observance.

The program is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with school officials.

The faculty members will meet with representatives of the participating business firms at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday in the Tower Theater for a 30-minute briefing. M. C. Ulmer, Midland banker and civic leader, will address the gathering as a representative of business. Frank Monroe, superintendent of Midland schools, will respond for the teachers.

Following the briefing, the teachers will divide into small groups with their respective hosts for the day, accompanying them to their various places of business. The teachers will have the opportunity of stating a preference for the business firms they would like to visit.

Business Operation

The host executives, during the morning hours, will explain to the visitors the function, operation, problems and other interesting phases of their respective businesses, stressing the important roles played by business and industry in a free economy.

At noon, the teachers will be guests of their host business firms at informal luncheons.

Afternoon sessions will be devoted largely to explanations of business investments, operating costs, taxes, general procedures, and employer-employe relations.

Classes in the public schools will be dismissed for the day.

Superintendent Monroe said Saturday the general reaction on the part of the teachers toward the program is "good," and that the faculty members are looking forward with pleasure to their planned visits with Midland business firms.

Delbert Downing, Chamber of Commerce manager, said the program is designed primarily to explain the operation, function and problems of business as well as to promote the advantages of the free enterprise system.

Participating Firms Listed

Special preparations to entertain the teachers are being made by the host firms.

The participating concerns include J. C. Penney Company, F. W Woolworth Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, The Reporter-Telegram, City of Midland, Midland Memorial Hospital, The Midland National Bank, Ace Motors, Midland Hardware and Furniture, West Texas Gas Company, The Western Company, The Borden Company.

Humble Oil & Refining Company, The First National Bank, Shell Oil Company, Honolulu Oil Corporation, Craver-Hicks, A&L Housing and Lumber Company, Rotary Engineers, Hardwick-Stewart Furniture Company, West Texas Office Supply, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, Mackey Motors, Hargrove Motors, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Sometime next Spring, the order will be reversed and representatives of the host firms will be the guests of the teachers at an Education-Business Day observance.

ACC Chorus To Give Musical Program Here

The Abilene Christian College A Cappella Chorus will begin its annual Fall tour Tuesday. Midland will be one of the seven cities visited.

The choir will appear at the Church of Christ, A and Tennessee Streets, Thursday evening. Approximately 20 members will be included in the chorus' repertoire for the tour programs. The chorus will present a program of religious and secular numbers in each city visited. Several Christmas songs will be included.

The college male quartet and women's sextet will be featured on the program.

The chorus will be at the Anson High School and the Lamesa Church of Christ, Tuesday; Brownfield High School and Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock, Wednesday; Big Spring High School and Midland Church of Christ, Thursday, and Colorado City High School Friday.

HAVE MISSISSIPPI GUESTS

Mrs. A. M. Davis and children of Hattiesburg, Miss., are spending the week with Mrs. Davis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. White. She also is visiting her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Earhart.

Coarse-grained cakes may be due to insufficient creaming, too much baking powder, or too slow an oven. And don't over-bake your cake or it will tend to be dry.

Perfume That Clings

Q. — Dear Penny: I adore perfume, but for some reason or other its fragrance just does not last on me. I have told several of my friends that I want a new perfume, but first I must find out about a lasting one.—Mrs. A. .W

A. — A particularly good idea for women who claim that perfume does not "stay with them" is a Liquid Skin Sachet. It smooths on the skin very easily, and lingers longer because of its sachet base. It has a slower rate of diffusion and evaporation than any other type of fragrance. Try this Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet. Only $1.85 plus tax at Cameron's Pharmacy, Crawford Hotel Bldg., or Cam-Worth Drugs, 1405 N. Big Spring. —Adv.

Morning Ceremony Unites Midlanders

Clarice Morris, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. O. Morris of San Antonio, became the bride of L. B. Taylor, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Taylor, Sr., of Childress Saturday in the home of the bride's parents.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the bride's father who is chaplain of the Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Antonio. Jewel Garrett of Midland played several nuptial selections, including the traditional wedding marches.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Henrietta Morris of Dallas. She wore a dark grey suit with navy accessories and a light pink skull cap. Her corsage was of pink camellias.

The bride wore a light grey suit with rust trim and matching cobra shoes and hand-bag. She carried white gloves and wore a white skull cap trimmed with sequins. Her corsage was an orchid.

A reception was held following the ceremony. The table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with a white lace tree. Those assisting at the reception were Mrs. Carl Nance and Sue Kidd, both of Midland.

The bride is a graduate of Del Rio High School and Baylor University in Waco. For the last year she has been employed in Midland by Shell Oil Company.

Taylor was graduated from Childress High School and Texas Technological College where he recieved his degree in petroleum geology. He is employed by the Goldston Oil Corporation.

After a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will be at home at 404 North Marienfeld Street. The wedding was attended by the families and close friends of the bride and bridegroom.

For peach, pear, cherry and plum stains, soak table linens in cool water. Then work in glycerine and let stand for several hours. Apply a few drops of vinegar and rinse thoroughly. Launder in warm soapsuds.

Dogs, Roller Skates, Turkeys Take Part In Strange Nuptials

Weddings ordinarily are pretty predictable affairs. The boy says, "I do." The girl says, "I do." And the first thing you know they're ducking the rice.

Some couples have to be different, though. For instance, there was a girl who loved turkeys. She loved them so much that when the right boy popped the question she couldn't bear to have her beloved pets left out of the affair. So, she did a little plucking on her fine-feathered friends and eventually fashioned herself a bridal gown of pastel-dyed turkey feathers.

With the big project out of the way, she talked turkey again and came up with similar dresses for her bridesmaids.

Not too long ago a novel wedding took place in West Texas. No hearts and flowers stuff in this one. Roller skates were the order of the day—and woe be unto the poor bridesmaid who didn't know how to maneuver same.

The wedding party rolled merrily along—with the exception of the minister who stubbornly refused to mobilize—and after a few practice runs around the rink where the ceremony took place, they all wheeled to for the "I do's."

Music for the solemn occasion was broadcast over a loudspeaker.

Records also show that one couple went underground to begin its life of wedded bliss. The ceremony was read in one of the lower chambers of Carlsbad Caverns. On the reverse side of the ledger are the young romantics who have gotten hitched while flying through the wild blue yonder.

And there was one sports-minded young woman, with a flair for the unusual, who cooed her vows on a baseball diamond. There also are reports of acrobats and flag-pole sitters who decided to make a business holiday of the whole thing. And the average bride and bridegroom think they have cause to be nervous!

A brief rundown of the strange and unusual in weddings yields one last item. Sometimes man's best friend can become a friend's best man, a system which has at least one advantage. Fido isn't likely to spend his spare time painting "just married" on the side of his master's car.

K&F Club Members To Hear Korean War Correspondent

John Morley, noted war correspondent and columnist who has just returned from his second reporting assignment around the world in 16 months, will address the Midland Knife and Fork Club at its dinner-meeting Tuesday night.

President Carroll L. Thomas said the meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. Three directors for three-year terms will be elected at the gathering.

The guest speaker is accredited officially by the supreme commander of the United Nations Armed Forces in Korea as a war correspondent in that theater. His lecture subject here will be "A Correspondent's Uncensored Report on the World Crisis."

In a letter received by Newnie W. Ellis, K&F Club secretary, Morley said he will endeavor to bring his Midland audience an unbiased, eye witness, uncensored report on the world crisis so that club members "will get the facts as they are and not as propagandists attempt to give them to the American people."

From Europe To Asia

Morley left California last April and recently returned after covering all countries in Europe, the Near East and Asia. He was behind the Soviet Iron Curtain in Finland, Germany, Austria, and the borders of Yugoslavia, Hungary, Rumania and Czechoslovakia.

During these months Morley saw Winston Churchill, Marshal Tito, Franco, General Carlos Romulo, Chiang Kai-shek, Sigman Rhee of Korea, and other world leaders.

While in Vienna Morley attended a reception at the U.S. Embassy for the foreign diplomatic corps. There he was introduced to General Sviridof, Commander of the Soviet Army in Austria, and had the first reporter's interview with the General since 1945.

At New Dehli, India, Morley spent an hour and half with Prime Minister Nehru, getting the facts from and about this man who is the key figure in the destiny of millions of men, both in the West and the East.

Morley covered the oil crisis in Iran—the assassination of Abdullah in Trans-Jordan—the tensions in Kashmir—the threat of war in Yugoslavia—the secret behind the Iron Curtain in Europe and China—the cease-fire talks in Korea and the war fronts from Seoul and Pusan. Morley went back and forth from Japan to Korea three times, flying with the U.S. Army to forward bases behind the front lines and also on bombing missions beyond the lines.

His address will be based on current eye-witness facts direct from the danger zones around the globe.

MIDLAND VISITOR

Jack Duncan of Memphis, Tenn., was to arrive in Midland Sunday to visit his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hughens, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Merrell.

STRUCK BY ELEVATOR

Harold Stokes, 906 South Dallas Street, a driller for Rhodes Drilling Company, was admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital Friday after suffering an injury when a set of elevators fell on him in an oil field accident.

Scoop wedge-shaped pieces out of the top of chocolate cupcakes; fill the hollows with ice cream and then top with the cut-out portions of the cake, flat side down. Serve with hot chocolate sauce.

WHAT'S COOKING—If five-year-old Pitash Richaud has anything to say about it, not all of the holiday pies and cakes being prepared will find their way to the Christmas Fair for which they were intended. The fair, under the sponsorship of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the St. Mark's Methodist Church, will be held Friday in the David Crockett Auditorium. Women pictured, left to right, are Mrs. H. G. Brewer, chairman of the Ruth Circle; Mrs. R. H. Richaud, co-chairman of the fair, and Mrs. Sam T. Crews, fair co-chairman and chairman of the Naomi Circle.

A lemon usually yields three to four tablespoons of juice. If you use a hand reamer for extracting the juice, roll the lemon between the palms of your hands to soften it before cutting in half.

Finely shredded cooked carrots, snap beans, turnips and beets make a delightful addition to consomme. Add one to two tablespoons of the vegetables for each serving of the soup.

Retarded Children Subject Of Meeting

Irene Westmoreland of the Division of Special Education of the Texas Education Agency, conferred recently with school officials here regarding a proposed program for retarded children.

Parents of school-age children interested in such a program should contact Charles Mathews, director of curricular services of Midland schools. Under the program, children must be given an approved test and plans for the entire presentation must be completed before June 1, 1952.

Houston, Dallas and El Paso are among Texas cities which have had success with such programs. The program is state financed.

In order for Midland to participate, there must be at least 10 students who are in need of special classes.
