Election. Saturday

Voters in Deaf Smith County will go to the polls Saturday along with other Texans to help determine the fate of two proposed constitutional amendments and three local issues in the newly-formed county education district.

HISD voters will go to the designated places for the county precinct boxes where they ordinarily vote. Precinct voting boxes 1 and 7 will be at Alkman School, box 2 at the Courthouse, 3 and 8 at Hereford Junior High, and 4, 5, 6, and 9 at the Community Center. Walcott ISD voters will vote on the CED proposals at Walcott School and in their county precinct box on the constitutional amendments.

Many voters have indicated they are confused by the language of the amendments and the propositions, questioning what effect a vote for or against will have on their tax bills under the new school financing system.

Local school and tax officials seem to be unanimous in their opposition to the proposal to tax tangible property, and have cautioned that the proposed exemptions--which would be in addition to present exemptions--would simply result in a higher rate for all taxpayers.

The new school finance law grouped Texas school districts into 188 new county education districts (CEDs), which will levy the "first tier" of property taxes and distribute the income equitably to individual school districts within the CED. Deaf Smith County has been designated as one CED, with Hereford Independent School District and Walcott ISD as the only two districts included.

When residents go to the polls Saturday at one of four polling places, they will have two separate ballots. One will be for the constitutional amendments, with the first proposition authorizing voters of a CED to adopt the exemptions and provide for taxation of tangible property, and the second allowing for the issuance of general obligation bonds to provide educational loans to college students.

On the second ballot are local issues for the new CEDs. The first would allow the taxation of tangible property, the second an exemption of 20 percent of the market value of residential homesteads from property tax, and the third would provide a $10,000 homestead exemption for the disabled or those 65 and older.

launches Cuomo looks presidential service in appearance with mayors

The Hereford Brand, in cooperation with the Associated Press, today launched a new "900" service to provide area readers the latest in breaking sports news and scores.

Called "SportsFlash," the service offers two unique services for telephone users, said Managing Editor John Brooks.

"Persons wanting to know the latest sports news and scores may call 1-900-884-5701," Brooks explained. "The announcer will give the instructions. Persons may push one number for sports scores and another for sports news. Callers may switch back and forth between the two programs."

The scores and news are updated as needed throughout the day and night.

"We have had an opportunity to sample the service, and it seems to be very good," Brooks said. "It is especially good for hardcore sports fans on weekends when there are many events, like baseball, football and other sports all going on at the same time."

The service costs 89 cents per minute, and charges will appear on your local telephone bill. Children under 18 years of age should have their parents' permission before they call the number.

"This is our first venture into customized telephone information service," Brooks said. "If reader interest warrants, we could widen the scope of the service in the future. There are services available to us for a variety of information, including news, weather, soaps and other entertainment news, and other specialty areas. If our readers are interested in such services, and if there is good response to the SportsFlash program, we could add other services in the future."

Witherspoon will lead parade

James Witherspoon, longtime civic leader and prominent attorney, will serve as Jubilee parade marshal Saturday when Hereford's Town & Country Jubilee peaks with numerous events on the program.

The selection of Witherspoon to lead the parade was announced Thursday by Mike Carr, executive vice president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

"We wanted to recognize and salute Judge Witherspoon for his community leadership over the years," said Carr. This will mark his first public appearance since being felled by a stroke.

Theme of the parade, which starts at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, will be "Hats Off to the Red, White & Blue." The big parade starts at the high school, goes to Park Avenue, then proceeds down Main Street and ends at Hereford State Bank.

The Jubilee schedule is filled with events today through Saturday. The Jubilee of Arts is set from noon to 8 p.m. today and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Community Center. Artists and craftsmen from Texas and New Mexico will display handcrafted items for sale. The Senior Citizen Quilt Show will be conducted in the West end of the Community Center.

The Jubilee Beef Fajita Cookoff, sponsored by the Cattlewomen, will be held at Veterans Park today with judging at 6:30 p.m. and tasting by the public at 7 p.m. A dance and concert follows tonight at Sugarland Mall, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., with music provide by Animacion.

The Jubilee Softball Classic will be held today through Sunday at the Nazarene Church baseball complex.

The Greg Black Memorial 10K Run, 2-Mile Fun Run, and the 2-Mile Walk kickoff the Saturday schedule beginning at 8 a.m. at the Hereford YMCA.

Jubilee Junction, featuring more than 50 food and game booths, opens immediately after the parade. Entertainment is scheduled all Saturday afternoon on Jubilee Stage in Dameron Park.

School days just around the corner

Registration will be held next week for Hereford public schools, with classes beginning August 21. Hereford's public schools, including Hereford High School pictured here, have been landscaped this summer, among over $200,000 worth of improvement projects throughout the district. The Brand will help you get ready for the fall with the annual Back-To-School special section in the Sunday Brand.

Rumors fly over release of hostages

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) - The families of Westerners missing in Lebanon waited anxiously today to see if kidnappers would follow up their release of Briton John McCarthy by freeing another hostage - this time perhaps an American.

But hours after Shiite Muslim kidnappers ended McCarthy's more than five years in captivity on Thursday, another group said it abducted a French relief worker in the Lebanese capital and threatened to kill him if another hostage was freed.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar acknowledged the development could complicate matters, but said he still hoped another hostage would be set free.

"I hope that the American - I still don't know which one - will be released," he told reporters.

"My prayer is not that it will be Terry Anderson. My prayer is that it will be all of them," Peggy Say, sister of the American journalist, said in Cadiz, Ky.

Diplomats in Beirut kept their embassies open for a third night, but there was no word of another release as the Muslim sabbath began this morning. Speculation continued in Beirut that Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, would be released next.

On vacation in Maine, President Bush told reporters, "I think those who follow this most closely feel it is likely an American will be released."

Islamic Jihad, the pro-Iranian group that freed McCarthy and holds Anderson, American educator Thomas Sutherland and Briton Terry Waite, said in a statement that it was sending McCarthy as an "envoy" to Perez de Cuellar.

McCarthy told reporters he carried a letter for Perez de Cuellar suggesting the remaining Western hostages be freed in exchange for hundreds of Shiite detainees held by Israel and an Israeli-allied militia.

Israel came under mounting international pressure to free the detainees, but said any deal must also include seven Israeli soldiers missing in Lebanon.

Brit celebrates freedom--Page 9

The 34-year-old McCarthy, looking fit and elated, said Thursday that until two days before his release he was held with Anderson, Sutherland and Waite. Anderson and Sutherland have been captives since 1985, Waite since 1987.

McCarthy was driven to Damascus after his release. He later flew to England on a British military jet, and spent the night at the Royal Air Force base at Lyneham.

Meanwhile, a dark vigil began in Beirut for Medecins du Monde, or Doctors of the World, a Paris-based relief agency that employs the missing Frenchman, Jerome Leyraud.

Police in Beirut today officially listed the 26-year-old Leyraud as missing, but said they had no confirmation he had been abducted.

An anonymous caller claiming to speak for the Organization for the Defense of the Prisoners' Rights claimed Leyraud was an intelligence officer. His employers and the French government, denied that accusation.

"We hereby declare that he will be executed the moment another hostage is released," the caller told a Western news agency in Beirut. He provided no information or photograph to authenticate his claim that Leyraud was being held.

On Wednesday, a caller claiming to represent the same group said it set off grenades near a U.N. office in Beirut to warn against the unilateral release of a hostage.

The group had not been heard from before Wednesday. The caller, who sounded as though he was reading a written statement, did not use any Islamic phrases - unlike Shiite groups, which nearly always preface statements with a phrase from the Koran.

The attack on the office and the kidnapping claim seemed to indicate a split between those favoring the release of captives to win the freedom of imprisoned Arabs, and those who say the Arabs must be let go first.

Senate committee okays lottery

AUSTIN (AP) - The Senate Finance Committee has endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow Texans to vote on a state lottery, clearing the way for Senate debate on the issue.

The lottery amendment was passed by the House on Monday. If passed by the Senate, voters would go to the polls Nov. 5 to decide whether to start the gambling game.

The committee approved the measure Thursday on a 9-4 vote after hearing testimony from Gov. Ann Richards.

"The people of Texas want to vote on a lottery, and we ought to give them that chance," Richards said.

"The lottery is not going to solve all the financial problems of the state of Texas. But the bottom line is that every dollar of lottery revenue is one less dollar in taxation that is paid to the state," she said.

Lawmakers are meeting in special session to write a state budget in the face of a $4.8 billion deficit.

Although the numbers game has been proposed in every regular session since 1983, this week marks the first time it won House approval.

The Senate has passed the measure in the past, but it now faces an obstacle in Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas.

Leedom, a longtime lottery opponent, said he intends a filibuster on the bill when it reaches the full Senate, possibly today. Leedom said he is prepared to talk until the end of the session Tuesday, which could block action on critical budget and tax bills.

The Senate committee did not vote Thursday on accompanying legislation that would set up the lottery by creating a new division in the State Comptroller's office.

Montford, D-Lubbock and the Senate sponsor of the bill, said his version of the lottery could raise $471 million in the next two years.

That would be $270 million more than the House proposal because an amendment to the bill would limit advertising funds and would "significantly impair the marketability of the lottery," Montford said.

Revenue from the game could rise to $1 billion in 1994-1995, Richards said.

She told the committee that the lottery is played by people from all income levels and shouldn't be opposed for its effect on the poor.

"Every activity that costs money costs the poor more," Richards said. "Frankly, it is just plain nifty to suggest that those of us who are fortunate enough to be more affluent have any business telling people with modest incomes whether or not they can spend their money on one activity or another."

'Outlaws' to perform Saturday at Jubilee

The Amarillo Outlaws, a group of old-time gunfighters from Amarillo, will be entertaining Saturday during the Town & Country Jubilee Parade and at Jubilee Junction. The actors will be staging special gunfights and fast-draw exhibitions every hour on downtown streets and in Dameron Park.

State hospital discharged man day before deaths

ODESSA, Texas (AP) - A five-person massacre at the hands of a former psychiatric patient has startled officials at the state hospital which discharged the man only one day before he killed his family.

"It strikes our staff and me personally that we were unable to predict that this individual would act as he did when he returned home," said Ed Moughon, assistant superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital. "It's heartbreaking here at the hospital."

Richard Law, 23, shot his wife and three children before turning the gun he bought just an hour earlier Thursday, on himself, police said.

Besides Law, the dead were his wife, Theresa Gail Law, 20, stepchild, Kendra Maxwell, 4, and two sons, Richard Law Jr., 3, and Robert Law, 2.

Law had been arrested and taken into protective custody Sunday after he cut himself on the neck with a knife and vowed to buy a gun and kill himself in front of his wife, said Odessa Cpl. Randall Jones.

Law was then admitted to Big Spring State Hospital on an emergency warrant for a 24-hour observation period, hospital superintendent Bob Von Rosenberg said.

State District Judge Ben Lockhart granted the hospital an order of protective custody on Monday to keep Law under observation.

But during a probable cause hearing Wednesday, hospital personnel said they could not find a reason to detain Law.

Lockhart then ordered Law released.

While still in police custody, Law told authorities of his two previous suicide attempts within the past eight years and how he was depressed over the couple's recent separation, Jones said.

But hospital personnel released Law Wednesday afternoon, saying there was no evidence to show he was a threat to society.

"Obviously they did not think this would be an action pattern the patient would take," Moughon said.

"I have been here eight years and I can't remember anything like this," Jones said. "This is the worst I have ever seen."

Neighbors were horrified by the carnage. "This is a complete shock," said Mary Robinett, who lives two doors down from the house where the killings took place. "It's always been a quiet peaceful neighborhood."

Mrs. Robinett said she had been hearing cars screech in and out of the house where the killings took place since last Friday.

Police find crack cocaine

AUSTIN (AP) - One day after Austin police said they found crack cocaine in the apartment of deceased state Rep. Larry Evans, legislators said they wanted to remember the Houston lawmaker for his role in the Legislature.

Police spokeswoman Gail Phillips said Thursday that investigators collected "potentially evidentiary materials" from Evans' apartment, including 3.44 grams of crack cocaine, narcotics paraphernalia and "some sexually explicit materials and devices."

Evans was found dead in his apartment Wednesday afternoon. Police said he apparently died late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

"With Mr. Evans having just expired and not being here to speak for himself I would prefer to remember the strong, forceful defender of people and member of this Legislature, and I would not want to speculate on what his last hours were like," Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, said Thursday.

Travis County Medical Examiner Roberto Bayardo said an autopsy didn't immediately reveal what caused Evans' death. He said toxicology test results to be completed next week should allow him to make a final ruling, he said.

Ms. Phillips said Bayardo "has ruled out a heart attack as the cause of death."

"The only condition that I have found that might have caused his death is bronchial asthma," Bayardo said. He said Evans was taking several prescription medications.

Homicide investigator Sgt. Mike Huckabay said he suspected that the death was the result of a drug overdose. "Dr. Bayardo seems to think it's the combination of crack cocaine and his asthma inhaler medication," he said.

But Norm Carmack, Bayardo's assistant, said such a determination could not be made until Evans' body fluids are tested for any types and amounts of alcohol, drugs and medications in his system when he died.

"That's the sort of thing that we would look for with toxicology," he said. "If that is a factor, (Bayardo) will be able to tell whether a particular drug or medicine or combination was a cause or factor in the death."

Fellow lawmakers planned a memorial service for the Houston Democrat on the House floor today.

Sources for taxes studied

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Ann Richards indicated she is opposed to applying the sales tax levy to items currently not taxed, but legislative leaders were looking at that proposal to dig the state of its budget crisis.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, the leader of the Senate, and House Speaker Gib Lewis circulated lists of possible tax options to their colleagues Thursday to try and forge some kind of budget and tax agreement.

Bullock unveiled a $2.1 billion plan that would expand the sales tax to such items as amusement machines, repeal numerous tax discounts, and reform the franchise tax.

"There are a lot of things on this list that I don't like," Bullock said. "But I have a responsibility to the agencies and the people who are served by those agencies to pass a bill that is as fair as we can get to continue services in Texas."

"I think you will see some broadening (of the sales tax base). I certainly do," said Lewis, D-Fort Worth.

Tax talk was at the forefront as lawmakers remained divided over spending and revenue with the 30-day special session to write a state budget set to expire Tuesday.

Lawmakers face a projected $4.8 billion deficit to pay for the current level of services for 1992-93.

Bullock also noted that a quarter-cent sales tax increase would raise $447.4 million, while a half-cent would raise $890.8 million.

The state sales tax currently is 6.25 cents per dollar, one of the highest in the nation.

Richards told reporters that expansion of the sales tax was not being considered by her.

"The list of items that we have been working from do not include real expansions," she said.

"At least those that anyone thinks has a chance of getting in an ultimate bill. I do not look favorably on expansions," she said.

On another front, Bullock said the House and Senate have failed to reach an accord on how to reform the state's primary business tax, which is called the corporation franchise tax.

House Ways and Means Chairman James Hury wants to expand the base, lower the rate, and make businesses pay the higher of a tax on assets or income.

Bullock wants to exempt single-owned companies from the tax. Lewis said the House may be leaning toward Bullock's proposal.

Despite the focus on taxes, Bullock said serious efforts to reform the state's tax system are dead.

"Tax reform truly means bringing about a system where it is equal and uniform throughout Texas and furnishes the type of money that we need in the future ... and ladies and gentlemen that is an income tax," he said.

Richards opposes a state personal income tax, as do most lawmakers.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As a property manager for the last 11 years, I feel compelled to respond to the letter you recently published from the High Rent Dwellers. They made us all look bad.

DEAR HIGH RENT DWELLERS: I agree that your manager should treat you with respect. One of the cardinal rules of property management is to remember that residents pay our salary. That does not, however, give them the right to abuse us. I'd like to fill you in on some of the things I've done for tenants. You might then think about us in a different light.

I have counseled you on everything from bankruptcy to intimacy. I have cleaned blood off the walls after a suicide. I have found corpses in varying states of decay, helped Alzheimer's sufferers find everything from their telephone to their teeth and taken apart your sink because you lost your contact lenses and thought they might be there. I have talked to you about your loud sex, your loud stereo, your out-of-control children and your barking dog. I've had to inform you that it is against the city ordinance to keep pigs, goats or poisonous snakes in your apartment.

I have witnessed the effects of alcohol abuse, drug abuse, child abuse, spouse abuse and just about every other form of abuse there is. I have worked on your behalf with the FBI, the U.S. Treasury Department, as well as the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. I've had residents who were pedophiles, pyromaniacs, rapists, poachers, convicted child abusers and armed robbers. But through it all, I have tried to be respectful.

Remember, when you leave your job to go home at night, you can put it all behind you. When we go home, we're still at work.

I hope this letter will help you be a little more empathetic and respectful. Property supervisors have bad days, too. — Managing in Chicago

Auxiliary meeting held

The Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4818 met in regular session Monday with Betty Boggs presiding.

During the meeting, Nell Norvell was reinstated and a new member, Valerie Artho, was voted in.

District 13 President Joy Zamora presented a report on the State Convention held in June. The District 13 Convention will be held in Tulsa Aug. 24, 25 and all members are urged to attend.

The meeting was preceded by a supper for VFW and auxiliary members.

Those attending were Frances Banks, Boggs, Martha Bridges, Leone Baum, Darleen Carroll, Anna Conklin, Argen Draper, Jo Irlbeck, Linda Maeder, Essie Martin, Ruth Morris, Terry Rhyne, Sadie Shaw, Boris Wilson, Marie Goheen, Bob Baum, Bob Morris and Tom Goheen.

The regular September meeting has been changed to Monday, Sept. 9, at 7 p.m.

DEAR MANAGING: On behalf of all the people in your field, thanks for an eye-opener and a mouth-closer.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I teach a wedding planning seminar. Recently I was asked a question I couldn't answer. Can you help?

While going through some old Christmas decorations, Mrs. X found a box with 30 handwritten thank-you notes from her daughter's wedding, which was 18 months ago. The other thank-you notes were mailed, but somehow this box was overlooked. Some of the people whose gifts were not acknowledged had telephoned and asked if their gifts had been received. The bride's mother said yes and assured them that they would be receiving a proper acknowledgement shortly.

Mrs. X is now planning the wedding of another daughter and isn't sure if she should mail the overlooked notes for fear that it might appear as if she is asking for more gifts for the upcoming wedding. Mrs. X thought perhaps she would send a note explaining what happened and enclose the original thank-you note in its original envelope. I thought this was a good idea. Do you agree? — Utica

DEAR UTICA: Mrs. X should send the old thank-you notes along with an apology and a brief explanation. It's amazing how many people become delinquent in acknowledging gifts and then do nothing because they are embarrassed. This is a mistake. A thank-you note, no matter how late, is better than no note.

What can you give the person who has everything? Ann Landers' new booklet, "Gems," is ideal for a nightstand or coffee table. "Gems" is a collection of Ann Landers' most requested poems and essays. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $5.87.)

Harvest Days begin Sunday in Dimmitt

Several events have been planned in the next week in Dimmitt to celebrate Harvest Days and the Castro County centennial.

Events kick off Sunday and Monday with the Centennial Pageant and Follies Sunday at 2:30 p.m. and Monday at 8 p.m. at the Hereford High School Auditorium. Sponsored by the Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce, it is directed by Dimmitt Postmaster Bill Sava. Sava has written skits and songs depicting early Castro County history and pioneers. The 90-minute presentation will also include the Centennial Singers.

The Centennial Parade will be held at 10 a.m. August 17, with the new Centennial Plaza to be dedicated immediately after the parade. The plaza, on the northwest side of the courthouse in Dimmitt, was constructed under the direction of Robert Hawkins, Sava and Don Nelson. The three will serve as Grand Marshals for the parade.

A special centennial postcard will be unveiled at the dedication.

The annual Castro County Fair and Arts and Crafts Show will be open August 16-17 at the Castro County Expo Building in southeast Dimmitt with many fair entries and booths. Food and games (including a parachute jump, pillow fight, duck race and horseshoe pitching) will be featured.

Harvest Days will also feature a car show sponsored by the Dimmitt chamber and the Dimmitt Alumni Technology Association, with cars entered in eight categories. Proceeds from the show will benefit the Gary Bruegel Memorial Scholarship Fund, and entry information is available by calling 647-2524.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: I want to share the following letter of caution with you in the hopes that it can save someone serious injury from microwave popcorn.

My family loves microwave popcorn and we eat it all the time since it is good for my diet too. My son usually makes the popcorn and then divides it into separate bowls for those who want some.

One day he opened one of the bags toward him and the escaping steam shot out of the bag and burned his eye. I had to rush him to the doctor immediately. Thank goodness the injury wasn't serious.

The doctor told me that a recent study showed that this type of injury occurs quite often, so use caution when opening the bags. — Rita Morris, San Antonio, Texas

Thank you for writing. You may just save another child or adult from being burned.

Remember, always open the popcorn bag or anything steaming from the microwave away from your face and hands. — Heloise

ORANGE TEA

Dear Heloise: I make summer tea from fresh oranges when they are abundant and on sale. I slice one or two oranges very thinly into my pitcher add a family-size tea bag and hot water.

It's a refreshing change from regular tea. — Toni B., San Diego, Calif.

PEANUT-BUTTER COOKIES

Dear Heloise: I use a plastic fork to make crisscross patterns on peanut-butter cookies. The batter does not stick to the plastic fork tines.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Teri Blanton, case worker for Buckner's Children's Home, will be guest speaker at three services Sunday. She will speak to the youth, including new seventh graders, at 9:45 a.m. in the high school assembly room. She will talk about teenage pregnancy at the youth promotion program.

Teri will conduct a parent-youth program from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, speaking on communication and relationships. Then will address the evening worship service at 6:30 to discuss Buckner's and the adoption ministry.

We are still taking reservations for the Senior Adult Retreat at High Plains on Aug. 29. Please contact the church office if you plan to attend. Cost is $6.

Senior adults who are interested in attending Chautauqua at Glorieta the week of Oct. 7-11 should make reservations in the office. A $25 deposit is required.

FRIO BAPTIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend regular services at Frio Baptist Church. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. with morning worship service at 11. Discipleship training begins at 6 p.m. with evening worship service at 7.

Wednesday evening Bible study and prayer meeting is at 7:30 p.m.

Frio Baptist Church is located seven miles south of Hereford on FM 1055. For more information, call 276-5380.

FELLOWSHIP OF BELIEVERS

Doug Manning is the regular worship leader for the Fellowship of Believers. The public is invited to attend the Sunday worship meeting held from 10-11:30 a.m. at the temporary location at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 426 Ranger Drive.

We are currently studying a series of lessons entitled "A Shepherd's Look at the 23rd Psalm" on Sundays from 9-9:45 a.m.

Among the congregation's ministries designed to meet various needs in the Hereford area, is the "taxi" service. Persons needing transportation to and from any church or have other transportation needs, may call 364-0359 seven days a week. In an emergency, call 364-3869. There is no cost for this service.

SAN PABLO UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend all services at the Hispanic Methodist Church located at 220 Kibbee St. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. and the Sunday worship services are held at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The Wednesday prayer service is held at 7 p.m.

SUMMERFIELD BAPTIST CHURCH

The public is invited to attend regular services at Summerfield Baptist Church. The church is located 8 miles southwest of Hereford on HWY 60.

Sunday school begins at 10 a.m. with morning worship services at 11. Evening worship service is at 6 p.m. and Wednesday services are at 7 p.m. For more information call 357-2535.

CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Sunday morning Bible classes will meet at 9:30 a.m. Classes are planned for the needs of different age groups. The morning worship service, which begins at 10:25, includes The Lord's Supper, congregational singing, prayer and meditation. The 6 p.m. Sunday service is a time of encouragement and edification.

On Wednesday night at 7:30, the congregation meets for special study and devotion.

AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

This Sunday our special guests will be the Cardenas Family. They will be participating in our morning worship service at 11. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a.m. Following the morning worship there will be a pot luck dinner.

The Hispanic Tent Crusade will begin Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. and will continue each night through Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Cardenas Family will be preaching and singing each night. Everyone is encouraged to come.

The prayer group will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the church. For more information contact Thelma Cherry.

Baptist Women will meet at noon on Tuesday. All women are invited to attend.

The Wednesday evening activities will begin at 7 p.m. with G.A.'s, Mission Friends, Round Table and visitation. Prayer meeting will begin at 7:45. Beginning next Wednesday, Aug. 21, the Wednesday evening schedule will change.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday school begins at 9 a.m. and worship service at 10.

"Christian Witnesses" is the title of Rev. Joe Wood's sermon for Sunday morning worship. The scripture lesson will be taken from Acts 1:4-8. The Sanctuary Choir will perform the anthem, "My Heart Is Steadfast, O God" by Butler. The prelude, offertory, and postlude will be performed on piano by Elaine Calkins and Nancy Denison.

IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH

Immanuel Lutheran Church will have a Mexican stack luncheon at the church on Saturday. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $2 for children. We are also having a bake sale and a drawing for $200 worth of beef. The drawing will be Saturday at 4 p.m. These fundraisers will be used for Sunday school ministry.

Sunday school is at 10 a.m. If you need a ride, this will be provided. Morning worship is at 11 a.m. The sermon is entitled "Facing Discouragement" from 1 Kings 19:4-8.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The guest speaker for the regular 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service will be Scott Simpson. Scott is a student at Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary. His sermon title is "Can You Imitate God?" The scripture lesson is Ephesians 4:25-5:2.

Sunday school for all ages begins at 9:30 a.m. A TV video will be shown for all classes.

All parents of members of Junior High and Senior High fellowships are asked to attend a planning meeting on

HEREFORD DAY CARE

Woman's Health

Most people get the blues occasionally. These bouts of depression may be triggered by specific events such as the death of a loved one, the end of a relationship, or a financial misfortune. Women sometimes feel depressed when certain changes or health-related events occur in their lives—before or during menstruation, after a miscarriage, at menopause, after a hysterectomy, and during and after pregnancy.

For most people, feelings of depression are mild and do not lead to long-term problems. This type of mild depression is experienced as a blue, low-down feeling. A person may lose interest in work and daily activities and may have trouble sleeping and eating. A poor self-image and a pessimistic attitude are common. With time, these feelings generally diminish.

You can take steps to counter this type of depression when it sets in. Exercise is one of the biggest boosters for mind and body. Get on a regular program of brisk walking, swimming, or running to help lift your spirits. Also, try to keep up with your daily routine. Many people find that they feel better if they delve into work or a project and can keep their mind off their problem. Finally, talk to friends and relatives or a counselor about your feelings. Support and understanding from others can help you deal better with your problem. If these measures fail and depression persists, see your doctor.

A more serious condition is severe depression, which is a true disease affecting both the mind and the body. People who have this disorder become so low that they are no longer able to lead normal lives. Outstanding symptoms include extreme negativism and irrational thinking. A person with depressive illness often loses interest in sleeping, eating and sex. He or she may complain of feelings of hopelessness and worthlessness. Eventually, the individual may become so withdrawn that he or she spends long periods of time huddled in bed. The most serious consequence of depressive illness is suicide.

A person suffering from this type of depression should get medical help as soon as possible. The disorder can be treated well with drugs—antidepressants. These drugs usually begin to relieve symptoms in several weeks. Regular visits to a doctor and sometimes a special doctor who treats psychiatric illnesses are also an important part of the recovery process.

If you or someone you know is suffering from severe depression, get yourself or him or her to a doctor. With treatment and support, the disorder can be controlled.

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Bluegrass music's male and female vocalists of 1990 collected the most nominations for the second annual International Bluegrass Music Awards to be presented here Sept. 26.

Alison Krauss and Del McCoury each got eight nominations, the International Bluegrass Music Association said Wednesday.

Krauss received individual nominations and nominations with her group, Union Station. Two of her tunes, "I've Got That Old Feeling" and "Steel Rails," were nominated for song of the year.

McCoury also got individual and group nominations, and nominations for his songs, "I feel the Blues Moving In" and "Trainwreck of Emotion."

The fifth nominee for song of the year is Hot Rize's "Colleen Malone."

Allison Brown, Union Station's banjo player, got six nominations, as did the Nashville Bluegrass Band, which was named best vocal group last year.

The first human heart transplant was performed in 1967 on Louis Washkansky by a team of surgeons in Cape Town, South Africa, headed by Dr. Christiaan Barnard. Washkansky lived 18 days with his new heart.

NEW YORK (AP) — Actor Charlie Sheen says he thought he was going to a birthday party at his family's home in Malibu, Calif., but he walked into an ambush intended to make him get treatment for his alcoholism.

"There was no party. It was just my family," he says in this week's Parade magazine. "They said, 'Sit down. We're gonna talk.' And we had it out. It was then that I realized I was an alcoholic," Sheen said.

Sheen, 25, said his family, including dad Martin Sheen and brother Emilio Estevez, encouraged him to get treatment last summer.

Class of '61

The Class of '61 will be meeting at Dameron Park after the parade for all of those fellow classmates, teachers, family and friends that would like to participate in the day's festivities.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

BE MY GUEST!

IN THE DAYS OF THE BIBLICAL PATRIARCHS, THE RULES OF HOSPITALITY WERE STRICTLY ADHERED TO. SOME OF THE CUSTOMS WERE CERTAINLY BIZARRE AND ODD, TO SAY THE LEAST! FOR INSTANCE, A MAN'S ENEMY BY THE MERE ACT OF TOUCHING THE MAN'S TENT POLE IMMEDIATELY BECAME HIS GUEST AND, AS SUCH, COULD CLAIM FOOD, DRINK, AND PROTECTION IN THE TENT FOR THREE DAYS PLUS FOUR HOURS—AND, ON LEAVING, COULD CLAIM FURTHER IMMUNITY FROM HARM FOR THIRTY-SIX MORE HOURS!

IN ANOTHER ASPECT OF HOSPITALITY, A MAN'S WEALTH WAS MEASURED BY THE NUMBER OF GUESTS ENTERTAINED. NEHEMIAH, GOVERNOR OF JERUSALEM, ENTERTAINED 150 MEN AT A SITTING! KING AHAB AND JEZEBEL FED 800 PRIESTS OF BAAL DAILY (UNTIL ELISHA SLAUGHTERED THEM!). FOR SOLOMON'S FEASTS AT HIS COURT, ONE DAY'S PROVISIONS INCLUDED "...10 FAT OXEN, 20 CATTLE, 100 SHEEP, HARTS AND ROEBUCKS, FALLOWDEER AND FATTED FOWL." (1 KINGS 4:22FF). IT WAS A MATTER OF PRIDE FOR KINGS, NOBLES, AND ALL WEALTHY MEN TO PROCLAIM HOW MANY PEOPLE THEY FED AND ENTERTAINED. BUT FOR SHEER NUMBERS JESUS OUTDID THEM ALL—WELL, DIDN'T HE FEED THE FIVE THOUSAND? (MATT. 14:14-21)

Local golfers compete in Midland tournament

Three of Hereford's finest young golfers—Paula Britten, Jayson Mines and Sabino Grijalva—participated in the Junior Professional Golfers' Association Tournament of Champions played Tuesday and Wednesday at Hogan Park Golf Course in Midland.

Britten finished third in the girls 15-18 division. She shot an 87 the first day, good for fourth place, then shot a best-of-the-day 81 Wednesday to pull into third.

Mines had a 71 Tuesday, putting him in second place in the boys' 16-18 group, but then he shot 76 Wednesday and fell to seventh.

Grijalva took fifth in the boys 12-13 group, shooting a 78 Tuesday and a 74 Wednesday.

To qualify for the Tournament of Champions, golfers must finish first or second at one of the various West Texas Junior PGA tournaments. Britten and Grijalva have also qualified for the Junior PGA Wilson T-Cup, which is combined with a larger Tournament of Champions. Both will be played Aug. 19 in Plano.

According to Charles Britten, Paula's father, the T of C is an individual tournament for golfers from the West Texas, East Texas and Metro Junior PGAs, and the Wilson T-Cup is a team competition among the three entities.

Golfers qualify for those tournaments by accruing points at the Junior PGA tournaments.

Lightning strikes golf tour twice

CARMEL, Ind. (AP) - Trouble seems to follow the PGA Championship.

Last year, a controversy of its own making cast a pall over Shoal Creek. This year, lightning killed a spectator at Crooked Stick Golf Club, marking the second time in as many months that tragedy struck one of golf's major championships.

Thomas Weaver of nearby Fishers, a business executive and father of two young girls, was struck and killed by lightning Thursday as he headed for his car alongside the grounds of Crooked Stick. A spectator was killed during the first round of the U.S. Open at Chaska, Minn., in June.

"At the Open, it hit me hard," said golfer Ken Green. "It doesn't seem right that someone can come watch us play golf and then someone has to tell his family he dies."

The downpour that followed the thunder and lightning produced a third of an inch of water in just 30 minutes and softened the fearsome reputation of Crooked Stick.

Forty-eight players managed par or better, led by 5-under 67s from Masters champion Ian Woosnam of Wales and journeyman pro Kenny Knox. Englishman Sandy Lyle, Ken Green, Bruce Lietzke and Craig Stadler were another stroke back, and Tom Purtzer and Ray Floyd led another group at 3-under 69.

But the Pete Dye-designed layout - at 7,289 yards the longest course ever used for a major championship - proved difficult enough to wring concessions from seasoned veterans Curtis Strange and Ben Crenshaw. Both withdrew after carding 81s.

Five-time champion Jack Nicklaus was among nine players four strokes back at 1-under 71. Defending champion Wayne Grady shot even-par 72. Greg Norman, Mark Calcavecchia and Hale Irwin were among 13 golfers at 2-under 70. Tom Watson, seeking his first PGA title, shot 74.

Darkness stranded 27 players on the course when play was suspended at 7:50 p.m. EST. The second round was set to begin at 6:40 a.m. today, with the forecast calling for a 60 percent chance of rain once again.

"I wouldn't mind it at all if it started to rain," said Woosnam, who played early and took advantage of a relatively dry course and tees set up 20 yards shorter on some holes.

"When you get mud on the ball, it becomes more difficult. 'I'd like a little rain,' he added, 'but not too much.'"

Co-leader Knox was even through the first nine holes, then made five birdies on the back nine to catch Woosnam. But he was worried that more rain might wreak havoc on his game.

"If it rains, I won't be able to reach the par-4s in two. If we have any mud out there, I'm in trouble."

"These guys out there are not worrying about Kenny Knox," he said. "They're worrying about their own games and beating that golf course."

HJS athletes can get gear

Hereford Junior High athletes will receive their equipment Aug. 19-20, Coach James Salinas announced.

Seventh graders can pick up equipment from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. on Aug. 19. It will take each athlete 30-45 minutes to do everything, Salinas said, but they need to bring their forms.

"They have to have their parent-signed physicals with them before they'll get anything," Salinas said.

Equipment will be handed out to eighth graders from 1 p.m.-6 p.m. Aug. 20. Eighth graders don't need physicals if they played last year, Salinas said.

Also, shoes will be available for purchase at these times. The three different kinds of shoes cost $21, $25 and $39. Checks should be made payable to Hereford Junior High.

U.S. tightens Pan Am medal race

HAVANA (AP) - Ana Quirot of Cuba gets her inspiration from Fidel Castro. Ocky Clark of the United States gets his from Castro's old revolutionary buddy, Che Guevara.

"I was reading something in 'USA Today' a couple of days ago, and it really helped to get me fired up," Clark said, pulling a torn newspaper clipping out of his bag. "It's something from Che Guevara: 'The willpower of heroes is needed in this hour.'"

"I could tell we'd been getting beat up."

Clark led a 1-2 American sweep of the men's 800 meters at the Pan American Games as the United States had its best day in track and field. With victories by Jim Driscoll in the hammer throw and Pat Manson in the pole vault to boot, the United States took the lead in track medals from the Cubans 28-26, although Cuba still led in golds, 12-5.

In the overall count, the United States led 128-113 with Canada a distant third with 39. Cuba has the most gold, 65, with the United States second with 44.

Quirot and countrywoman Liliana Allen won their second gold medals of the games, as did Robson da Silva of Brazil. Quirot, who earlier had won the women's 400 meters with a games record time, won the 800 in 1:58.71, another Pan Am record.

"Thinking of my town and the revolution makes me strong and confident," said Quirot.

Americans Alisa Hill and Celeste Halliday ran 2-3 to Quirot.

Allen added the 200 meters to her 100-meter victory for a sweep of the women's sprints, and da Silva captured the men's 200 after winning the 100.

"People have been saying that we didn't bring our best to Cuba," said Clark, who beat another American, Terrell Davis, by .08 seconds in the 800. "I wanted to show people that maybe we didn't bring all of our best, but we brought some of them."

Even the Cubans couldn't dispute that in women's basketball. The U.S. team, the best in the world, beat Cuba 91-71 Thursday night.

The United States and Cuba don't match up in baseball until Sunday, and this might be filed under the looking-ahead category: The U.S. team needed a two-run, ninth-inning homer from Chris Roberts to beat the Netherlands Antilles 5-4.

That's better than Reginald Martinez could do in another U.S.-Cuba matchup, this one in boxing at Kid Chocolate Arena. Martinez got knocked out in the first round.

There were seven U.S.-Cuba showdowns in Greco-Roman wrestling, and the United States won four of them.

Katrina McClain scored 23 points and had 12 rebounds as the United States ran its record to 3-1 by beating Cuba 91-71 in women's basketball. The teams meet again Saturday in the semifinals. The other semifinal will match Brazil, which snapped the U.S. women's 42-game international winning streak last Sunday, against Canada, and the final will be played Sunday.

In the first U.S.-Cuban boxing matchup of the games, Martinez was knocked out with a thunderclap left by Rogelio Marcelo at 2:16 of the first round.

The other U.S. fighter in action, Michael DeMoss, scored a narrow decision over Horacio Riviera of Mexico, giving the U.S. team three wins in four fights.

While the United States came out on top in the U.S.-Cuba wrestling matches, Cuba won six golds to four for the United States because it had wrestlers in all 10 matches.

Matt Ghaffari at 286 pounds, Randy Couture at 198, Andrew Seras at 149 1/2 and Mark Fuller at 105 1/2 were the U.S. winners.

Couture, of Stillwater, Okla., beat Reynaldo Pena 8-0, using a rare 5-point throw.

Hogs want to leave as champs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - By the middle of the afternoon on Aug. 31, lots of people will look at the War Memorial Stadium scoreboard and make judgments about the football teams from Arkansas and Miami.

Not so fast, says Arkansas coach Jack Crowe.

"When we walk away from the game, we won't know how good we are or how good Miami is," Crowe said. "But we will know some of the important qualities of our football team."

"There are some things, you either is or you ain't and we will know."

WTSU hires replacement for Hudson

CANYON, Texas (AP) - Jim Giacomazzi has been hired as women's volleyball coach at West Texas State University, athletic director Mike Chandler announced Thursday.

Giacomazzi had been head volleyball coach at Nevada-Reno since 1988.

He succeeds Kim Hudson, who has become volleyball coach at Northern Arizona.

The WTSU Lady Buffs were 38-1 and Division II national champions in 1990.

whether we is," Crowe said. "Our style of play will tell us more, maybe, even than the outcome of the game."

After 3-8 in his first year, Crowe says the Razorbacks will be better. How much is the question.

He's convinced that Southwest Conference opponents geared up for the Razorbacks last year after it was announced that Arkansas was leaving the SEC for the Southeastern Conference. The move to the SEC will be complete in the fall of 1992 and Crowe believes the circumstances are different this time around.

Arkansas was out of several games last year because of defensive breakdowns - the Razorbacks surrendered 360 points during the season.

Joe Kines, the new defensive coordinator, has made some changes.

"We've done a better job of putting people where they can help our football team," Crowe said.

The pass-happy SWC teams put a great deal of pressure on the cornerbacks, he said. One of those spots is still undecided. The other corner will be Michael James.

Sometimes last year, the secondary got burned because the passer had oodles of time. To improve the pass rush, Arkansas has transformed standup end Ray Lee Johnson into a fourth down lineman. The return of MacKenzie Phillips, after a year away from football because of health problems, should also help.

Scott Long and Owen Kelly are returning starters in the defensive line. Mick Thomas, Ty Mason and Darwin Ireland are experienced linebackers and Ireland has big-play potential.

Offensively, the Razorbacks will start over in the backfield. Quarterback Quinn Grovey is gone after four years and the potential successors have no experience.

Dodgers put Reds deeper in hole

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

Nothing is wrong with the Los Angeles Dodgers, after all.

The Dodgers put down their doubters and the Cincinnati Reds for the third straight time Thursday, winning 6-4 at Riverfront Stadium.

"I think we may be headed in the right direction," Darryl Strawberry said after doubling and scoring one run. "We had a bad tailspin, but we've kind of picked it up now."

The Dodgers won three in a row after a loss to Cincinnati on Monday that allowed the World Series champions to get within 5 1/2 games in the National League West. Now Cincinnati is 8 1/2 games back, matching its largest deficit of the season.

"We dug a hole and we're in it," Cincinnati's Herm Winningham said. "Now we'll see if we can climb out. How deep is it? Not too deep. But if it gets any deeper, just keep throwing the dirt on."

As much as Los Angeles beat the Reds, the Reds beat themselves. Cincinnati gave up three runs in the sixth inning on a throwing error by Winningham from center field, a wild pitch and pitcher Mike Morgan's sacrifice fly.

Morgan (10-6) won for the first time in eight starts since June 28. He pitched 6 1/3 innings and gave up six hits, including Paul O'Neill's two-run homer. O'Neill hit another two-run homer, his 20th, in the ninth.

Tom Browning (11-8), working with a sore right ankle, allowed three runs on seven hits in five innings. The Dodgers broke open a 3-2 game in the sixth against relievers Tim Layana, Gino Minutelli and Milt Hill.

In other games, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 11-1, New York held off Pittsburgh 4-3, San Francisco beat Atlanta 8-1 and San Diego stopped Houston 5-3. The Montreal at St. Louis game was rained out.

Padres 5, Astros 3

Tony Gwynn drove in three runs with a pair of singles.

His two-run single in the third inning made it 4-0, and he added an RBI single in the fifth.

Andy Benes (7-10) gave up six hits in six innings and Craig Lefferts worked the ninth for his 17th save in 22 chances.

Phillies 11, Cubs 1

Philadelphia extended its longest winning streak since 1984 to nine games.

Charlie Hayes drove in a career-high four runs, three with a double in the fourth inning.

Danny Cox (4-4) gave up one run on five hits in seven innings. He left with a sore left knee.

Danny Jackson (1-3) allowed five runs on five hits in three innings.

Mets 4, Pirates 3

Frank Viola outpitched Doug Drabek.

Viola (12-8) stopped his three-game losing string. He allowed six hits in eight innings and left with a 4-1 lead. John Franco gave up Bobby Bonilla's two-run homer, but finished for his 22nd save.

Drabek (10-11) lasted just 2 1/3 innings. He was rapped for three runs on five hits.

Giants 8, Braves 1

John Burkett won his fifth straight decision and Will Clark homered.

Burkett (9-5) tied the longest winning streak of his career. He went eight innings and gave up eight hits, struck out five and walked one.

Tom Glavine (14-7) lost his second in a row. He allowed four runs on seven hits and six walks in five innings.

Clark hit a two-run homer, his 22nd, and an RBI single off Braves reliever Kent Mercker.

Salas lifts Tigers in marathon

TORONTO (AP) - The Detroit Tigers may ultimately die by the strikeout this season, but they lived by the long ball Thursday night - as they have all year.

After the Tigers struck out a club record-tying 21 times, Mark Salas became an unlikely hero when he belted a three-run homer in the top of the 14th inning as Detroit cut Toronto's lead in the American League East to 5 1/2 games with a 4-0 victory over the Blue Jays.

"I feel a lot lighter now," Salas said after connecting for his first home run of the season and first since Sept. 19, 1990.

Milt Cuyler got the 14th-inning rally going with a one-out double to right-center off loser Tom Henke (0-1). Lou Whitaker was walked intentionally before Salas drilled a 3-2 pitch to right.

After Cecil Fielder struck out for the fourth time, Mickey Tettleton smacked his 21st home run of the season, a solo shot to deep right to cap the scoring.

Paul Gibson (5-5) allowed two hits, struck out two and walked one over two innings for the win.

Henke allowed four runs on three hits, struck out six and walked two over 2 1/3 innings and combined with five pitchers for a club-record 21 strikeouts.

The Blue Jays could have made it an early night for the approximately 15,000 fans who stayed around for the end of the five-hour, 12-minute marathon, but they stranded 15 runners.

White Sox 4, Yankees 1

Frank Thomas drove in two runs and Alex Fernandez pitched eight strong innings.

Fernandez (6-8) took a two-hit shutout into the ninth, but left after leadoff singles by Steve Sax and Don Mattingly. Scott Radinsky gave up an RBI single to Matt Nokes, but finished for his fourth save.

Thomas doubled home a run in the third inning off Jeff Johnson (4-5) and hit an RBI single during a three-run fourth.

Falcons' black uniforms to stay home

By The Associated Press

As far as Jerry Glanville is concerned, the good guys wear black. But they won't be wearing it tonight when his Atlanta Falcons meet the Houston Oilers in an NFL exhibition game at the Astrodome.

"They told me we can't wear black, so we'll wear white," the Falcons' coach said. "They told me I'd be paying the fine if we wore black. Maybe we'll bring them (black uniforms) along anyway, but we'll wear white."

Glanville developed his "man in black" image during four seasons as head coach of the Oilers before he left in a front office dispute prior to last season.

When Glanville joined Atlanta last season, the Falcons went back to a black-dominated uniform similar to that worn in the 1960s. The Falcons' home uniforms are black with red trim, their road uniforms white with red numerals.

The Oilers lost their exhibition opener to San Diego 31-29. The Falcons beat the Los Angeles Rams 38-17.

Atlanta opened the 1990 regular season at home with a 47-27 victory over the Oilers.

The Atlanta-Houston game is the only one on tap tonight. On Saturday, it will be Detroit at Buffalo, Miami at Tampa Bay, Philadelphia at Cincinnati, Washington at New England, Seattle at Indianapolis, Kansas City vs. the New York Jets at St. Louis, Green Bay at New Orleans, the New York Giants at Cleveland, and Pittsburgh at Minnesota.

Phoenix travels to Chicago on Sunday, while the Los Angeles Raiders are at Dallas and San Diego at the Los Angeles Rams on Monday.

Browns

Joe Morris was the all-time leading rusher for the New York Giants, but Saturday he will be rushing against them as a member of the Cleveland Browns.

"I've got to prove to myself I can play," said Morris. "So far, I've done everything they've asked me to do. This is the best I've felt in years. I'm very much looking forward to getting into a game."

Lions

Andre Ware's initiation as an NFL quarterback will continue in Buffalo. The Detroit Lions' second-year player will make his second consecutive start Saturday against the 1-1 Bills, according to coach Wayne Fontes.

Ware started in last Friday's 24-20 win over Cincinnati, but only completed seven of 21 passes for 82 yards.

Bills

His confidence bolstered by rigorous workouts at training camp, Buffalo Bills quarterback Jim Kelly said his pulled hamstring has healed and he will make his preseason debut against the Lions.

"I haven't been down under center for a while, so it will be nice to get into it," Kelly said.

Bears

Wide receiver Ron Morris ended his three-week contract holdout Thursday and signed with the Bears, leaving tight end James Thornton as the only unsigned player on the team.

The terms of the three-year contract were not revealed.

Eagles

The Philadelphia Eagles parted company with two veterans on Thursday, trading defensive tackle Dick Chapura to Houston and giving up the negotiating rights to offensive tackle Reggie Singletary.

The Eagles traded Chapura to Houston for an undisclosed 1992 draft pick.

Dolphins

Dan Marino will miss the battle of Florida on Saturday.

PURSE MONIES

LOUISVILLE (AP) - Breeders' Cup Ltd. has announced changes in the purse structure for this year's seven-race card at Churchill Downs on Nov. 2.

The new purse structure will distribute money to the first five finishers in each race that has five or more starters. The winning horse's share of the purse will be 57.2 percent, a raise from the previous 50 percent. The remaining four horses sharing in the purse money will receive, in order, 22, 13.2, 5.6 and 2 percent.

The minimum purse for a Breeders' Cup race is $1 million.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

This Saturday morning, one of the most popular types of bass tournaments will offer fishermen at White River a chance to win $2,500. This Big Bass Tournament will begin at 6 a.m. and last until 1 p.m. The biggest bass each hour will earn $100. The fisherman with the biggest bass of the day will take home $2,500, and second and third place are worth $600 and $300, respectively.

The entry fee is $50. All paybacks are based on 100 entries. More entries mean more payback; fewer means less.

As tournament director, I will be at the marina accepting entry fees from 8 p.m.-11 p.m. Friday and again Saturday starting at 5 a.m.

The best part of a Big Bass Tournament is that every angler is in the game until the last cast. In fact, several of the Lake Baylor Big Bass tournaments have been won in the last 15 minutes of the day. Put on some new line, gather up those secret lures and meet us at White River Marina. For more information call (806) 353-3654.

Congratulations to Sandy Carroll of Pampa for winning the most recent Fun Tournament at Lake Meredith. Sandy is the only repeat winner of 1991, and he caught the only legal fish (1.6 pounds) of the tournament.

The Aug. 15 Fun Tournament was originally scheduled for Lake Meredith, but has been changed to Lake Greenbelt at Clarendon. We will meet at the Sandy Beach area with registration starting at 4 p.m. This is a "best-three-bass" Fun Tournament with fishing from 6 p.m.-9 p.m. The fishing at Meredith does not warrant two tournaments per month.

The fishermen are still waiting on the Texas Parks and Wildlife people to show up and use a fishing rod instead of a "study" to demonstrate how to fish Lake Meredith. The Sept. 5 Fun Tournament is their next opportunity.

Playa Pete says: "If Lake Meredith were located near Austin, the fishing conditions would have been improved years ago. Why is the fishing in the lakes formed by the Canadian River in both New Mexico and Oklahoma better than the fishing in Texas?"

Tip of the Week—Berkely Power Baits catch more fish. Some days any bait will catch fish, but the experts at Berkely have developed soft plastic lures with a special formula designed to catch more fish on those really tough days. They are not cheap, but local experts are quietly using these new baits—grubs, worms and craws—and catching more fish.

Texas puts Huson on DL

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers have placed infielder Jeff Huson on the 15-day disabled list for a left knee injury.

Team officials Thursday announced that infielder Jose Hernandez had been recalled from the club's Double A team in Tulsa to replace Huson.

The call marks Hernandez' first stint in the majors. He is batting .239 with one homer and 20 RBI in 91 games at Tulsa this season.

Huson injured his knee while chasing a fly ball in the second inning of Wednesday night's game against Cleveland. He is expected to be sidelined at least two weeks.

The Rangers also announced that outfielder Jack Daugherty will be sent to Oklahoma City Friday on a medical rehabilitation assignment.

Team officials also signed veteran right-hander Dave Schmidt. Schmidt has been assigned to a contract with the 89ers of the American Association.

Schmidt was 0-1 with a 10.80 ERA in four games with Montreal before the Expos released him Sunday.

Newark native loves playing for Uruguay

HAVANA (AP) - What a long, strange trip it's been.

Jeffrey Granger's story has such datelines as Newark, N.J.; Commerce, Texas, and Montevideo, Uruguay. Not exactly a typical airline route.

"I'm from Newark and played high school ball there and got a scholarship to East Texas State," Granger said. "That was different, but nothing like the change I made after college."

That was a move to South America in 1983 to play professional basketball, and that led to a spot on the Uruguayan national team competing in the Pan American Games.

"My coach at East Texas had done some clinics in Uruguay and he knew people and he asked me if I wanted to play there," Granger said after a 98-78 loss to Puerto Rico on Thursday. "He said, 'You want to go to Uruguay?' and I said, 'Where's Uruguay?' He told me it was between Argentina and Brazil and I said I would take a chance."

"They never had an American there playing basketball before, so it was an adjustment for me and one for them, too. I was lost at first. It was a change to go to Texas, but this was different. It gave me another experience in life."

The 6-foot-6 Granger seems to enjoy most everything about life. He's a talker on the court, with both his teammates and opponents, but not a taunter. His smile is warm, broad and continuous.

He's a citizen of Uruguay now and his life has changed dramatically on and off the court. His teammates aren't at his level of play, but his acceptance in his new country more than makes up for it.

"I'm like an idol there with my image," he said, his infectious smile combining pride and humility. "They received me so warmly when I got there, I didn't know how to react. At that time, it was still a military government, so it was rough. But you play and you practice and you adjust."

"My first year, I didn't know one word of Spanish. When anyone said anything to me, all I said was 'Si, Si, Si.' It was really hard, but I caught on for things like eating, and they got me a tutor and now I have it down pat."

His teammates have a little more trouble with him on the court. He's averaging six assists from his small forward position, but three nice passes against Puerto Rico couldn't be converted for points.

"It gets so frustrating because they just don't have the focus," he said of his teammates, all natives of Uruguay. "They don't know how to get ready before a game. Instead of getting ready, they're joking around and throwing water and stuff. I'm trying to set an example for them. I'm trying to teach these young kids to concentrate on what you're doing."

Granger gets intense on the court, and that led to a brief shouting match with teammate Horacio Perdomo on Thursday.

"We had a 3-on-1 and he pulls up and shoots a 3. If he made it, I wouldn't have said a word, but he didn't and I felt I had to tell him something."

Granger also tells things to those he grew up with.

"They can't believe it when I tell them where I play," he said. "They ask what's Uruguay like and I tell them the poorest man in the States is living well. I see kids living on the streets, and when I see them I give them money. It's not because I'm rich; I'm not. I know what it was not to have. I feel for them."

Granger said he hopes to play until he's 40 and then use his degree in physical education to get a coaching position. He'll return fulltime to the United States instead of the four months a year he does now.

He'll have a lot of memories of being a celebrity in a land where basketball is a distant second to soccer. Only stars make commercials for television manufacturers.

"It was so funny," he said. "It was my second year there and I didn't know Spanish well yet. It took me six days to learn my lines, and it was only about 15 words. It was so comical that people loved it. I was speaking both Spanish and English. It killed them. I'm still like a comic there."

He's also serious.

"Hey, I'm from the ghetto and I got a chance. Not everybody does, and I'm going to use mine. I took a chance and made it something."

Gladys Gooding played for the New York Rangers, New York Knicks and Brooklyn Dodgers in a single season -- as organist.

Jim Marshall played 19 consecutive seasons for the Minnesota Vikings, an NFL record.

Sunny's Halo, the 1983 Kentucky Derby winner, was bred in Canada.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: For the past seven years I have had chronic lymphedema of my left leg. I am a 48-year-old female, 5 feet 5 and 130 pounds and have never been overweight. I try to limit my salt intake. I have been eating healthy and exercising for the past year. I wear a full length panty hose type stocking.

I had been working in a wood shop, standing on a concrete floor for about nine months when the lymphedema first started. I do not take any medications, only a vitamin pill plus iron. I have never smoked or drank alcoholic drinks. This condition with my leg was not inherited. I have three healthy children in their 20s. Do you have any information on lymphedema?

DEAR READER: A lot of people don't even know they have a lymphatic circulation. If it stopped working entirely, a person would be dead within 24 hours. It resembles the capillary circulation, the smallest blood vessels, but it is more porous. It is connected to your lymph nodes and is everywhere. A major portion of the fluid that bathes your tissues is drained into the lymphatics and eventually returned to your bloodstream. It is the only way blood proteins that have leaked into the tissues can be returned to your circulation.

When the lymphatic channels are torn or injured, they cannot drain fluid from tissues and swelling results. This may occur after surgery. It may take several months for the lymphatics to heal completely and resume their role in preventing swelling. A good example is swelling of the arm after a radical mastectomy.

Since your lymphedema involves only one leg, it is probably because your lymphatic channels draining that leg are

"I have a childhood dream to be the greatest in bodybuilding in the world," Ferrigno, a two-time Mr. Universe, said Wednesday.

The World Bodybuilding Federation is a new endeavor by TitanSports Inc., the outfit that produces TV wrestling. The WBF wants to lift bodybuilding into the sports mainstream by sponsoring TV competitions.

Ferrigno, 40, is known in bodybuilding circles as "The Legend."

He abandoned bodybuilding 15 years ago for acting.

blocked. The compression hose you are wearing is the best thing you can do. Walking while wearing such hose that provides adequate pressure will often help.

As you requested I am sending you Special Issue 37-08, Your Hidden Circulation: Capillaries, Lymphatics and Edema. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/37-08, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

Standing still is the worst thing you can do. Sitting still with the feet down is the second worst thing you can do. Try exercising your legs while lying down with the pressure hose on. Some cases of lymphedema are helped by intermittent external pressure that milks the fluid back toward the heart while a person sleeps.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I read about heatstroke in your column and wish you would address the question of whether you should use salt pills or not. I hear conflicting statements about it. In the past I have been told that you should take salt pills to prevent leg cramps in hot weather. When I was a mailman, I used to take salt pills every day in the summer and drank plenty of water. Now I hear that could cause you to have a heatstroke. Are salt pills dangerous? Should you avoid salt in hot weather?

DEAR READER: There is still some controversy about it. It was recognized some years ago that heat cramps were associated with a loss of salt. That is the type of thing that occurs in individuals who are in good physical condition and capable of doing enough work to sweat a lot. That is why it may happen in athletes, such as football players, or regular tennis players. It also happens in people who have jobs that result in lots of sweating. Individuals who are not able to do enough physical work to cause copious sweating are not likely to have this happen.

You can also have heat exhaustion from a lack of salt. One type of heat exhaustion occurs when a person drinks lots of water, sweats a lot, and doesn't get enough salt. These individuals may be pale, weak, ill and not have a rise in body temperature. Their problem can be corrected by providing salt and avoiding the heat.

The danger is that a person may take salt pills and not drink enough water. That can lead to an excess of salt and dehydration. That is the perfect situation to cause another form of heat exhaustion that can progress to a heatstroke.

I have discussed this question in detail

Today, most authorities advise being sure to include an adequate amount of foods and liquids that provide both sodium and potassium in your diet. That would include milk which is high in both sodium and potassium, and some soft drinks. You can also add salt to your food. But if you take salt or add a lot to your food, be sure to drink lots of water. That will help your body maintain the right balance of salt and water to avoid heat cramps, heat exhaustion and heatstrokes.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My husband always takes a couple of aspirin before he has any cocktails in the evening if he is going out. He claims it will help protect him against the effects of alcohol the next day. Frankly, I can't see that it has helped him one bit and think it may cause him to have more trouble, not less. I would be happier if he didn't drink at all. Is he right?

DEAR READER: No, he is not right. Recent studies actually show that aspirin will raise the blood alcohol level after drinking alcohol. Why? Because the stomach produces an enzyme called gastric alcohol dehydrogenase that destroys alcohol. This was shown in a recent study from the Alcohol Research and Treatment Center, Bronx Veterans Administration Medical Center and Mount Sinai School of Medicine. They also demonstrated on sections of the stomach removed at surgery that alcohol decreased the action of the enzyme.

Other medicines that will decrease a person's tolerance to alcohol include Tagamet and Zantac. Both also decrease the enzyme's activity. People who take these medicines regularly may have a lowered tolerance to alcohol.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Released hostage celebrates freedom

LYNEHAM, England (AP) — Former hostage John McCarthy celebrated his freedom after more than five years in captivity, cracking jokes with family and friends into the early hours today after returning to Britain.

"He was very together, and he was in command of the conversation. He was telling jokes and we were laughing, and then talking seriously from time to time," said Chris Pearson, a close friend and president of the Friends of John McCarthy organization, which campaigned for McCarthy's release.

Officials at this Royal Air Force Base 80 miles west of London said McCarthy will spend about three days undergoing medical checks and relaxing with family and friends.

The 34-year-old television producer said Thursday that he was given a letter by his Lebanese kidnappers, Islamic Jihad, for U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar seeking his intervention to gain freedom for "all prisoners and hostages being held in Lebanon and ... in Israel."

Speaking in New York, the U.N. chief said he considered McCarthy's release "the beginning of a process leading to the release of all hostages."

He said he would meet with McCarthy in Europe, possibly on Sunday.

McCarthy, looking fit and smiling, waved both arms in the air as he stepped from a British Air Force jet from Damascus, Syria, where he had been taken after his release in Beirut. He was accompanied back to England by his father, Patrick, and brother, Terry.

The former hostage was reunited with Pearson and his former girlfriend, Jill Morrell, who led the campaign for his release, at a small private party in the officer's mess.

Describing their reunion, Pearson said: "Jill Morrell walked ahead of me, and went into the room first, and then I walked in and we just hugged and didn't say anything for a while."

"His sense of humor is intact. He's quite lucid, quite chatty, very, very much and uncannily the person who I knew 5 1/4 years ago," Pearson said.

British Foreign Office Minister Douglas Hogg told a news conference after McCarthy's release that Britain is pressing Israel to secure freedom for more than 300 Lebanese and Palestinian prisoners held by Israel's ally, the South Lebanon Army.

Hogg said Britain also seeks the release of Sheik Abdul Karim Obeid, who was seized by Israeli commandos in July 1989.

McCarthy, a journalist with the London company Worldwide Television News, was abducted on April 17, 1986, as he drove to Beirut airport.

Hundreds of camera crews and reporters cheered and shouted "Welcome Home John" as he arrived on British soil. Among the well-wishers was another former hostage, Brian Keenan, an Irish teacher who was freed last year.

Former American hostage Frank Reed, also held with McCarthy before being freed last year, flew to Britain to see him.

Reed told TV-AM that McCarthy's "English correctness" and insistence that the hostages not behave "like pigs" enabled him to mediate with their captors.

"When things were out of line, Johnny would be our intermediary, speak up for us, and they respected that. They would speak to Johnny instead of us," he said.

Astronauts study microgravity

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)

The Atlantis astronauts switched a part on a camera assembly hoping to salvage an Air Force photography experiment today that was jeopardized when a lens adapter was left behind on Earth.

The five crew members awoke early for an eighth day of experiments and tests. The first task for shuttle commander John Blaha and mission specialist James Adamson was demonstrating weightlessness for watching youngsters.

Television pictures beamed to Earth around 3:15 a.m. EDT showed two clear plastic bags containing green candies and white marshmallows.

"This material is very different," Blaha said of the second bag's contents. "And it will allow scientists and engineers to evaluate the physical and chemical properties of this material with a whole new variable — microgravity."

The findings, Blaha said, could ultimately improve life on Earth.

The astronauts planned to try the photography experiment today. It was postponed Wednesday when the crew discovered the lens adapter had been left behind. Mission specialist Shannon Lucid substituted a borrowed adapter for the missing one on Thursday.

The view through the device was hazy, but the astronauts still planned to try snapping some photographs today.

Researchers for the Star Wars program want pictures of shuttle exhaust plumes, jet firings and the glow that forms around the orbiter when atomic oxygen strikes the spaceship.

Besides the photography experiment, another test of a vacuum container was planned today aboard the shuttle.

Pilot Michael Baker and mission specialist G. David Low planned to spend about one hour each inside the contraption, which resembles a sleeping bag and uses negative pressure to force fluids from the upper body to the lower limbs.

Scientists hope that spending time in the rig will ease the lightheadedness many space travelers experience returning to Earth.

Both astronauts spent several hours inside the waist-high chamber Thursday, although Low's stay was shortened because of his skinny build.

The container must fit snugly around an astronaut's waist before pressure inside can be lowered.

But Low, who is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 145 pounds, couldn't get the sack to fit tightly around his waist at first Thursday. Baker stuffed towels around Low's middle and once even pressed his hand on the seal covering Low's stomach.

The test finally began, but flight controllers abbreviated Low's planned four-hour test to allow Baker his four hours in the container.

Baker had expressed reservations about the time-consuming experiment before the flight.

When the 6-foot-2, 175-pound Baker asked Mission Control if his stint would be shortened Thursday, the reply was: "Negative."

Partway through his turn in the vacuum sack, a bored-looking Baker addressed Marsha Ivins, an astronaut who communicates with the crew from Mission Control.

"Marsha, they didn't tell me about this in my interview," he said.

Although the seal around Low's waist leaked Thursday and during a shorter test Sunday, information gathered during both runs will be useful, said Dr. Sam Pool, chief of the medical sciences division at Johnson Space Center in Houston.

The nine-day flight is scheduled to end Sunday with a landing in Florida.
