

FROM THE HOPPER

By HOP JR.

By now you may have heard that our young son went for an unscheduled car ride last week, touring out of his grandma's sight in her auto.

Some have asked us why we suppose that he decided to turn a corner. The answer should be apparent, we think. After all, if he had not made his turn, he would have driven by the sheriff's home.

At his age, this would scarcely have been a wise move.

One of the candidates for county clerk, Graham Thornton to be more specific, came up wearing a long face last week after the paper was out, and disclosed that we had ruined his "secret weapon" as he called it.

Having no idea to what he might have been referring, we pleaded innocent. He then explained that we had announced in The Hopper that we would soon publish a definition of the terms that regularly appear in our "courthouse records" column.

That, he said, was his secret weapon. He had been doing research on the terms, and had about finished a list of them he was going to have printed up for distribution to prospective voters.

We assured him that he, or anybody else for that matter, can have the job of explaining the "courthouse records" column. The less we have to do with it, the better.

It also is our suspicion that Bonnie Warren, the courthouse steno who has to type the things up, would have sentiments similar to those of our own.

In our memory, we cannot recall a time when there has been more widespread interest in having pretty lawns and out-grounds than has been manifest in this community this year.

A well cared-for lawn is a delight on the eye of not only the owner, but everybody else in town. And it seems to have a contagious nature.

If your lawn looks sort of ratty, and the neighbor is fixing his all nice and pretty, chances are excellent you will at least make an effort to improve your own. That seems to be the way the thing is working, and we believe that we can say without reservation that we will match the lawns of this community with those of any other of similar size anywhere in the States.

Mrs. W. H. McDaniel says that as a remedy for ants, we should pour gasoline down the holes. That'll do it for sure, she telephoned us.

We don't have anything to lose by trying this, except maybe a little grass, and couldn't lose much of that. So we plan to try it.

Just-to-fill-the-space dept: We have enjoyed one delightful spring and summertime delicacy a number of times at our dinner table the last few days: fresh, steaming hot roasting ears. They are one of our weaknesses.

Did you know that most roasting ears have 12 rows of corn? Probably not. We have worked this business of corn on the cob down to an exact science.

With 12 rows, that means that if you start out eating three rows at a time, or four either, that you will come out even, when you get around to where you started.

Most people, we have noticed, do not come out even. This is very sloppy corn-on-the-cob eating, we think, and should be improved upon.

The wife says we ought not to make a hog of ourself, and should only eat two rows at a time. The only trouble is that you just can't get your teeth in there to start two rows. Three or four rows to start with is a must. We had a buck-toothed friend in grade school that probably could have started a single row. But most people can't.

If it grips you to get around the cob and discover that you have just one or two rows left to work on, which means that you'll be using more energy than it's worth (besides, one row is almost impossible to butter up), then we suggest that you try the four-row or three-row method.

It sure does improve corn-on-the-cob eating, we have discovered.

Hazel Petree says the weather never is as bad as farmers think it is. A long time ago, when nearly all farm operations were done with sure-nuff "horsepower," Hazel was farming south of town where his neighbor was the late Frank Phillips.

One afternoon a terrible storm came up, says Hazel, and he and Frank unlimbered their teams and pulled out of the fields, taking refuge on the Phillips' front porch.

Suddenly, things really cut loose, says Hazel, and hail descended in a thunderous barrage. The two farmers stood helplessly watching their four-inch-high cotton take it.

It was almost more than

Ladies Request Help on Park Project

At long last, it appears that something permanent is about to be done to the park areas north and south of the county courthouse in Farwell.

The ladies of Texico-Farwell Women's Club are leading the project to have the two areas sodded with bermuda grass in the near future.

The area has been prepared by a county motor patrol, and borders have been thrown up over about two square blocks. These borders, slightly over a foot high, are arranged in a grid-like pattern so that the park can be flooded in much the same manner as an alfalfa field.

Immediate plans are to water the dusty land at night when water is not in such heavy demand, and let the ground soak up a little moisture.

Then the ladies will step in with what they hope will be a big collection of bermuda grass sprigs, turn these over to members of the Texico-Farwell summer youth program who have volunteered to set them out.

Mrs. M. C. Roberts, in charge of the Club's park committee, issued an urgent request this week for persons who have bermuda grass they could donate toward the work.

Such persons are requested to contact Mrs. Roberts and make arrangements to have the grass removed.

"Nearly everybody has a little extra grass around their yards," noted Mrs. Roberts, and "it will sure go a long way toward making this park area a place of beauty and usefulness. We sincerely hope that everyone co-operates to the fullest extent."

Farwell Bond Election Is Called for June 19th

As had been anticipated, a petition was circulated last weekend among residents of the Farwell School District, and over 40 names were affixed thereto requesting the school board to call an election to build a new gymnasium and band hall for the system.

The board met in a special session Friday night, reviewed the instrument, and decided to set the voting date on Saturday, June 19.

The election, if voted upon favorably, will make it possible for the school to sell $115,000 in bonds to provide revenue to construct the two mentioned additions to the system.

The board is acting upon what it considers "seriously overcrowded conditions" in the physical education and music programs of the school.

"There will be meetings, if the public desires, where everyone will be invited in order that they might talk with the board in regard to this building," announced President Clarence Christian.

"It certainly is the intention of the board for every person to have an opportunity to find all of the possibilities."

The board plans to mail an explanatory letter next week, setting forth the proposed building program.

Proposed Gymnasium For Farwell Schools

This is an artist's sketch of the proposed new gymnasium for Farwell Schools, which, if built, would solve the problem of an overcrowded physical ed. program, as well as provide needed quarters for the music program. The band hall would attach to the rear of the building in the picture. If constructed, the gym and hall will be east of the present high school building.

Final Rites Held For Tom Williams

Thomas J. Williams, 77, of Texico passed away at Clovis Memorial Hospital May 28. He had been a patient at the hospital for two days.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon in Charles V. Steed Memorial Chapel at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, under the direction of Leroy C. Nelson, Church of Christ minister of Clovis. Interment was in Texico Cemetery with Steed's Funeral Home in charge.

Pallbearers were Fred Cornelius, Ed Blain, Stanley Thigpen, Truman Doolittle, Frank Jones and Silas Jones.

Williams had been a resident of Texico for 22 years. He is survived by: Bob Williams of Clovis, a nephew; Mrs. Betty Mouser of Clovis, niece; Mrs. Grace Hermes, Cincinnati, Ohio, niece; Travis Williams of Barstow, nephew; Mrs. A. J. Barker, Tucson, Ariz., niece; Andrew Williams, Sacramento, Calif., nephew; Mrs. Ruth Payne, Dallas, niece; and Mrs. R. E. Williams, Texico, sister-in-law.

Warm Weather Hints Approach of Summer

Although the season of summer doesn't begin until the 22nd of this month, you could convince just about anybody the first of this week that it is already here.

A reading of 90 degrees was recorded June 1, which is quite a contrast with the rather chilly, cloudy weather that had prevailed during the three preceding weeks.

Some dryland farmers are still holding off planting of milo and cotton to see if any moisture will arrive in time, but it appears that they are going to have to "dust 'er in."

Wheat is beginning to ripen now, and most cotton is up to a good stand over the area.

Few farmers are finding it necessary to have to plant over this spring, reports indicate. No labor shortage is seen for the harvest of the 1954 wheat.

Two Investigations Scheduled Tomorrow By Parmer County Grand Jury Members

The Parmer County grand jury will be called into session by District Judge E. A. Bills here tomorrow (Friday) morning to investigate two cases.

To be considered is the case of Clyde Crabtree, 24, Birmingham, Ala., who is charged with rape of a 9-year-old girl. The other case involves James Robinson, 21, Clovis, charged with burglary of the Paul Jones Service Station in Bovina.

Crabtree is alleged to have criminally assaulted the girl on the night of Saturday, May 22, in a car southeast of Farwell about six miles.

The girl, a daughter of a transient working family from Alabama, was his sister-in-law's daughter.

Her mother filed charges against Crabtree at the sheriff's office shortly thereafter, and he was jailed to await the investigation of the grand jury. In the interim, Sheriff Lovelace reports that Crabtree has admitted the act.

For a time, it was thought that the entire family was going to move back to Alabama, and the case would be dismissed for lack of witnesses, but it now appears that Crabtree will have to face the charges.

A Long Walk

Robinson, Clovis negro, is cooling off in the county jail after a long hike last weekend. According to his description of the burglary that he has admitted to have performed, he left Clovis on foot Friday night, bound for Bovina.

He walked the railroad tracks "until it got light," and then cut across plowed fields until he got to Bovina. There he broke into the Jones Service Station on Highway 60 and placed miscellaneous items valued at about $50 into a sack.

He started his long trek back to his home in Clovis. Robinson, a little foot weary from the walk, trudged into the city limits of that city about noon Saturday morning only to be met by some peace officers who were curious about the contents of the sack which he was carrying.

The description of spark plugs, cigarettes, cigarette lighters, and other items in the sack was radioed to Sheriff Lovelace who noted that the list agreed with items reported stolen from the station.

Robinson said he had been "wind-down shopping" around the station last fall while picking cotton in the Bovina area, and was just now getting around to returning to do some business.

He also has admitted entering several businesses in Clovis, and the Kemp Lumber Company of Farwell about three weeks ago.

In the later instance, he concealed himself in a lumber bin, and was locked inside when the business closed that evening. He then broke a glass to gain entry to the office.

Nothing of any consequence was reported missing from this burglary by the yard manager, however.

Game Meeting Slated In Hereford June 8

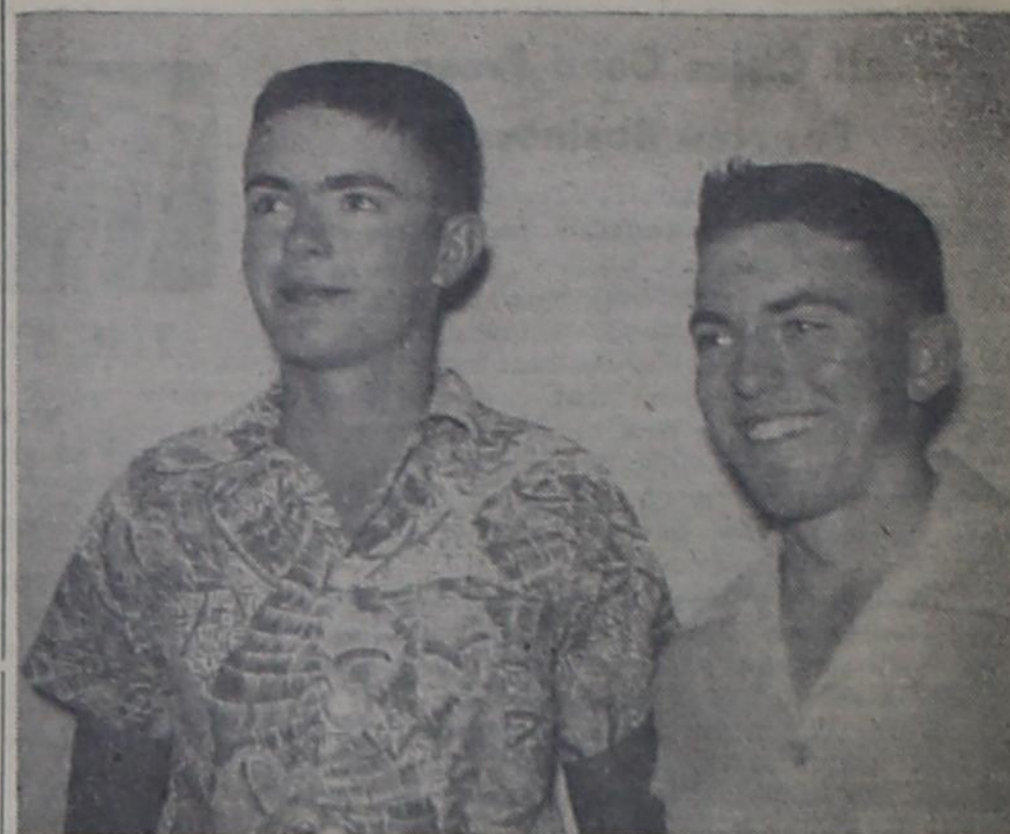

A meeting important to hunters, fishermen and landowners will be held in the Hereford district court room at 8 p. m., June 8.

Representatives of the Texas Game and Fish Commission will hold a public hearing on proposed regulations to be recommended to the Commission for adoption at its July meeting. Biologists will review their findings and explain the current status of game species.

Public discussion will be invited and resolutions from the floor will be transmitted to the Commission for consideration.

There will be a free showing of a wildlife motion picture and the general public, including children, is invited to attend.

OFF TO COLLEGE STATION

Donnie Carpenter and Jerry Henson, above, will represent Parmer County at the annual 4-H Club Roundup at College Station this week. Both boys are outstanding Club members.

Six 4-H Members Go To District Camp This Week

Six Parmer County young people, accompanied by County Agent Joe Jones and Home Demonstration Agent Corinne Stinson, were in Amarillo the first of the week to attend district 4-H camp.

Young people attending were: Patsy Cox, Lazbuddie; Fern Tipton, Farwell; Joy Crow, Friona; and boys, Delvin Langford, Farwell; Joe Landrum and Ira Parr, Friona.

Approval Given Ground-Stored Wheat This Year

Notification of the Parmer County Farm Bureau that the USDA has approved limited loans on ground-stored wheat was made Tuesday of this week.

A telegram from Texas FB President Walter Hammond to Aubrey Ellison carried this announcement, with the notation that orders from the Secretary of Agriculture would be sent to the county ASC committee.

Where temporary storage shortages may appear, the provision makes it possible for farmers to store their wheat on the ground and obtain an 80 percent of parity loan on this grain until the storage situation has improved.

In this manner, farmers are saved the loss in price that might occur if they find it necessary to sell their grain during the height of harvest when storage is temporarily unavailable.

The last time that these temporary loans were made available was in 1951. In 1949, the Texas Farm Bureau originated the idea of ground-stored wheat loans as an answer to temporary shortages of storage that appeared at that time.

Six Parmer Boys Receive Gifts

Six Parmer County boys have received Sears gifts this year, announces County Agent Joe Jones.

Boys write essays, which are judged and the gifts are given to the boys presenting the prize essays. One boy is also given away.

Receiving the swine were: Ellis Jim Parson, Donald Lovett, Edgar Koeltzow, Johnny Messenger of Friona; Johnny Lovelace of Farwell and Roger Ezell of Bovina with Ezell also receiving the boar.

The pigs will be exhibited at the Parmer County Fair in the fall, and boys give back one gift from the first litter to the Sears program. The winner of the gift class at the fair and the boar will then be taken to the Amarillo show later in the year.

All 4-H club members are eligible to receive gifts if they have not been received in the past three years.

Butch Ford of Muleshoe spent the past week with his sister and husband, the Don Williams.

About a million square miles of Australia is regarded as uninhabitable.

Henson, Carpenter To Go to Roundup

About 1600 members of Texas boys' and girls' 4-H clubs are expected at Texas A&M for the annual 4-H Roundup, June 8-10. Jerry Henson, son of the Clay Hensons, and Donnie Carpenter, son of the Harold Carpenters, are to go from this county. In 1953, Jerry Gleason of Lazbuddie and Huey Lowrie of Bovina were delegates, and in 1952, Darrel Thompson and Dwain Menefee of Friona were delegates.

Jerry has had four years 4-H club work, and showed the Grand Champion fat calf at the Parmer show this spring. He also entered the 4-H public speaking contests in Amarillo last month and tied for first place then lost out in the runoff. Before coming to Farwell, he was elected secretary of District II 4-H club, a district with about 300 members.

Donnie has been in 4-H for six years, and has had projects in swine, dairy and beef. He is vice-president of the county 4-H club committee. He has built up a good swine program through his 4-H club work.

Parmer County Farm Bureau pays the expenses of the delegates to the roundup, says Jones. As county delegate, the boys are given opportunity to further develop the leadership, citizenship and character-building phases of 4-H work. The program for the roundup has been planned around 19 different subject-matter short courses. These range from agricultural engineering to wildlife, and also include home, leadership and recreation.

Theme for the roundup is "Building A Stronger America."

County Pastors Return to Posts

All Methodist pastors in the county were returned to the churches which they now serve, when Northwest Texas appointments were made last weekend.

Rev. U. S. Sherrill of Friona will again serve the Methodist Church there; Rev. Walter G. White will return to Bovina; and Rev. Harold L. Morris will again serve at Lazbuddie. Rev. Vernon Willard will also remain at the Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church.

Final Rites Held For Claud Gober

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock for Claud C. Gober, 74, who had been a resident of the Oklahoma Lane community about 24 years. Rites were conducted at Chas. V. Steed Chapel by Rev. B. R. Mason, pastor at Ranchvale. Interment was in Lawn Haven Cemetery, directed by Steed Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were C. C. Christian, Carl Rea, J. T. Jones, Tom Caldwell, Ponce Billingsley and Gilbert Watkins.

Gober had been ill about seven months. He is survived by three brothers: J. I. of Farwell, F. S. of Sanger and J. H. of Phoenix; also two sisters, Mrs. J. E. Farris of Frederick, Okla., and Mrs. Willie Wilkerson of Denton and 19 nephews and nieces.

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

Small Cities Good Prospects For New Businesses

Small cities in this rapidly developing area of the High Plains are certainly due a share of the expansion of American business, and they will get part of these new businesses IF they make themselves attractive enough to investors.

There is not a city within the circulation territory of The Tribune that does not have a need for one or more new retail enterprises.

The smaller communities of this part of the Plains, with their neat, prosperous appearance, have a climate for business that is improving with each passing year.

More people need to get into business on their own—more people need to set up service and retail agencies that will keep more of the money earned in their own community.

There should be nothing mysterious or formidable about going into business for oneself. Enterprising individuals have blazed new pages in the history of America through their ingenious ways of doing more business and making more money while doing it.

Some outside investors are taking advantage of the opportunities arising all around us, and have come into our small cities with investments of considerable size. Yet, the surface has hardly been scratched.

A new business will no more succeed of its own accord than will this paper come out on Thursday if the editor and his crew lay down on their duties for a day or two. It will take enterprise. It will take perseverance. It will take aggressive, sustained selling effort. But business in small cities can be rewarding. Don't sell the little towns short.

Educational Information Gets Circulation Nowadays

Time was when isolated groups of successful farmers, who were renowned for their proficiency in growing some certain crop, jealously protected their methods. They feared and resisted "competition" from other farmers, mindful that they might be priced out of a market.

A situation of a different sort exists today. Newspapers, radio, and magazines are filled with all the latest data on just how to do what with the utmost proficiency in farming. No secrets are hid from those who would improve their methods of producing.

The extension program plays a major part in gathering latest information of this type. Dozens of governmental agencies are engaged in helping circulate news of this nature. There certainly is no dearth of matter designed to help the farmer do a better job.

A farmer can be uninformed if he so chooses, but there's no excuse for him saying that he didn't "know any better" today.

One of the latest entries into this field of agricultural education are the hundreds of soil conservation districts that dot the country. Our own local district is presently circulating informative, up-to-date material devoted to a discussion of summer legumes and application of irrigation water.

These two subjects are timely and their message needs badly to be heard. If the farmers of this country area so choose, they are in a position to make American farmers the best-educated in the world (if they are not at the present time).

In connection with the small number which attended Memorial Day services at the Texico Cemetery Monday (which was disappointing, but no surprise), someone was heard to make the remark that it was a shame that so many businessmen preferred to go about "business as usual," instead of taking a few minutes out to attend the services. And where would these businesses be had it not been for the boys who gave their lives in defense of our freedom?

Proposed New Gymnasium for Farwell Consolidated Schools which will be voted on in a Special Election June 19th.

Why It Is Necessary To Build A New Gymnasium and Band Hall

The Board of the Farwell Consolidated Independent School District has been petitioned by 40 qualified patrons to call an election for the purpose of deciding whether Farwell Schools should build a new gymnasium and band hall, and to sell bonds for that purpose. The reasons why the system should construct these needed facilities are many, but for purposes of review, they fall into these general classifications:

1—THE SERIOUSLY OVERCROWDED CONDITION OF THE PHYSICAL EDUCATION PROGRAM. At the present time, 158 students are making regular use of three dressing rooms and three showers. Another 50 are forced to dress in improvised, unhandy quarters where no shower is available. The problem of sanitation, as well as privacy for the students, is large. Because of inadequate space, no PE program is being offered for those students under the 6th grade, and they need the supervised exercise as badly as anyone else.

The old gymnasium is inadequate to house the persons who come to see athletic and other events held there. Our seating capacity, as well as the size of the playing court, is the smallest in the conference. We are convinced that the school is losing substantial revenue because persons are staying away from activities, feeling they couldn't get a seat if they came, which is sometimes an actuality. Basketball tournaments have presented a special problem.

2—THE FUTURE GROWTH OF THE SYSTEM. According to extensive research conducted by the board, the school district can look forward to a steady increase in enrollment, which will further complicate the problems now confronted in finding adequate room for the physical education program.

In considering the matter, the board feels it will be necessary to build more dressing rooms at least, and the building of these rooms would only partially solve the problem. A new gymnasium with improved facilities is needed, especially when additional enrollment is considered.

3—THE FIRE HAZARD OF THE OLD GYMNASIUM. To anyone who has ever been in the present gymnasium, it is obvious to see that the structure is not fireproof. A new gymnasium, of semi-fireproof construction, would afford added protection to the large crowds who visit to see various activities.

4—THE OLD GYM WOULD NOT FALL INTO DISUSE. Because PE is not now offered to the elementary grades, the present gymnasium could be very advantageously turned to their use. It is ideally situated to serve this need.

The gymnasium could also continue to serve as an auditorium for the school until such time as the district sees fit to construct another building for this purpose. The board does not believe it is wise to convert the present gym to an auditorium at the present time.

5—MUSIC PROGRAM HAS ITS PROBLEMS, TOO. Like physical education, the music program at Farwell Schools is seriously overcrowded. There is no band hall or room constructed expressly for that purpose. A 63-piece band in rehearsal in one classroom is not especially conducive to concentration and study to those students in adjoining rooms.

The public school music program is growing, and should be provided with adequate facilities. In addition, a new band hall would release two classrooms now used for that purpose. The classrooms will be needed by the grade school.

6—NO INCREASE IN TAXES IN DISTRICT. Finally, there is every reason to believe that a bond issue in the amount of $115,000 could be retired by the district without any raise in taxes.

This conclusion has not been reached through guesswork, but through extensive study, and is backed up with the opinion of the school auditor.

Respectfully submitted,

THE BOARD

School District

Miss Pair Marries Bobby Poteet Sunday

A wrought-iron archway entwined with fern and greenery, with graduated candelabra on either side, flanked by baskets of white mums and gladioli, with white wedding bells suspended from a satin bow in the center arch, formed the setting for the marriage vows of Miss Marye Pair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Pair, and Bobby Poteet, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Poteet, Sunday afternoon.

Rev. T. L. Pond, pastor, read the double-ring service at the West Camp Baptist Church. Candelighters were Butch Pair, brother of the bride, and Billy Wayne Poteet, cousin of the bridegroom from Whitharrell.

Miss Shirley Smith, classmate of the bride, sang "Because", accompanied by Mrs. Shelby Jobs who also played the traditional wedding music. As the couple knelt, Miss Smith sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Serving her sister as matron-of-honor was Mrs. Charles Benton of Ropesville. Her dress was of pink organdy fashioned with a scalloped neckline, fitted waist and extending into a full ballerina length skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink gladioli. Bridesmaids, Misses Darlene Sprawls and Ann Whitley, schoolmates of the bride, wore identical dresses of orchid styled after the one worn by Mrs. Benton. They carried cascade bouquets of white ester needs. All feminine attendants wore organdy mitts complementing their ensembles.

Little Misses Mikala and Sherri Austin served as flower girls, and wore orchid organdy, and carried minute matching baskets of rose petals.

Best man was Jack Woodson of Abilene, who was the roommate of the bridegroom for four years in college. Junior and Jerry Poteet, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers and groomsmen.

Ringbearers were Corky Crume of Artesia, nephew of the bridegroom, and Larry Benton of Ropesville, nephew of the bride. Miss Pair, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a full-length wedding dress of brocaded satin with a sweetheart neckline edged in pearls, and long sleeves extending to a point over the hands. Tiny self-covered buttons were featured on the back of the dress to the termination of the pointed bodice, which was accented by a billowing skirt.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a tiara of rosebuds, and she carried a white prayer book, topped with a single white orchid centering a spray of stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls.

Something old was her mother's wedding ring, new was the pearls, which were given her by the groom; borrowed was a penny in her shoe and blue was a garter.

Mrs. Pair, mother of the bride, wore an aqua cotton lace ensemble with pink accessories, and Mrs. Poteet, mother of the groom, chose a fitted sea green linen suit with pink accessories.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony.

The table was covered with lace over pink, with a bouquet of pink roses flanked by white candles with pink bows at the base. Napkins were pink and silver with the names of the young couple and date of the wedding inscribed in the corner.

Mrs. Junior Crume of Artesia registered the guests, and Laverna Christian and Betty Lovvorn presided at the punch bowl.

The young couple left for a short wedding trip to Colorado Springs. Her going-away suit was of navy linen with a box jacket and white accessories, with an orchid corsage.

The young couple will be at home in Plainview until he enters the service. The bride is a 1954 graduate of Farwell Schools and the bridegroom has recently received his degree from Texas A&M college.

Mrs. Jess Newton Leads Program

Mrs. Jess Newton was leader for the program when the Susannah Wesley class met in her home for a regular session Tuesday. Refreshments were served to Mesdames Grace Sanders, E. G. Blair, B. N. Graham, J. R. Thornton, James Cox, Ralph Humble, Lena Yoder, Albert Thomas, G. W. Atchley, and one visitor, little Miss Trudy Gyger of Phoenix, Ariz., a granddaughter of Mrs. Cox, and the hostess.

To Albuquerque

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Lovelace and Diane, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mayfield of Friona, Mrs. Willie Lovelace and Jimmie Clements visited with relatives in Albuquerque over the weekend.

Mrs. Willie Lovelace and grandson, Jimmie, remained in Albuquerque for an extended visit with Mrs. Lovelace's daughter.

Woodson-Sudderth Vows Read Recently

In a late evening ceremony read recently, Miss Peggy Louise Woodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Woodson, became the bride of J. B. Sudderth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee H. Sudderth of Bovina. Rev. J. C. Harris, uncle of the bride, read the vows before a setting of gladioli, daisies, stock and emerald palms, accented by graduated candelabra.

Miss Shirley Smith, classmate of the bride, sang "Because of You", accompanied by Mrs. John Wilson, who also played the traditional wedding marches. Pre-nuptial selection was "In My Garden" and as the candles were being lighted, "Indian Love Call" was the background music. As the couple knelt, Miss Smith sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Woodson chose for her wedding, an ensemble of white embroidered nylon over organdy, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a skirt made full with graceful pleats. The matching bolero was edged in sheers, which also were featured at the neck of the dress, and short sleeves with turn-up cuffs completed the dress. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a white grosgrain hat trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones.

The veil was scalloped and edged with lace.

The bride's bouquet of a white orchid centering a cascade of stephanotis, and a shower of ribbon streamers, was carried atop a satin-covered Bible. For something old, she wore a watch belonging to the bridegroom's mother, new was her wedding ensemble, borrowed was the Bible belonging to LaVon Jones, and blue was a garter. She also wore a penny in her shoe.

Bridesmaids were classmates of Miss Woodson, Misses Mary Kriegel and Betty Lovvorn. They wore identical dresses of pink and orchid organdy and carried bouquets of white daisies with pink and orchid satin bows and streamers. Maid-of-honor was Miss Yvonne O'Hair, cousin of the bride, who chose a powder blue dress accented with tiny pleats in the skirt and rhinestones scattered on the bodice. Her bouquet was also of white daisies, with blue ribbons.

Diane Sudderth, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a lavender nylon dress, with a billowing skirt with lace-edged tiers. Her miniature basket was filled with white daisies.

All feminine attendants wore veils of white maline attached to minute seed pearls.

Ringbearer was Grey Hodges, nephew of the groom. Best man was Glen Hromas, and ushers were Gerald Norton and Keith Frost, who also lighted the candles.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Woodson, wore a rose ensemble with white accessories and a white corsage. Mrs. S. A. Hodges, sister of the groom, registered the guests at the ceremony.

For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a soft blue chambray dress, designed with white embroidery at the bodice and bottom of the full skirt. Her accessories were white, and her corsage was a white orchid.

The young couple went to Albuquerque for a short honeymoon.

Mrs. Sudderth was graduated from Farwell Schools in May. The bridegroom is a graduate of Bovina Schools in the class of 1951, and has attended Texas Tech at Lubbock for two years.

The young couple will reside in Oklahoma Lane, where he is engaged in farming.

From the Farmer County

By STEVE BAVOURETT

James Mabry finally found a way to handle his vetch and rye.
He had waited a little bit too long to plow it under; however, he used a disc plow and did a good job. Now he plans to spread some ammonium sulphate and tandum it into the ground. He will use some disc openers to mark off the rows for irrigation. After irrigation Mr. Mabry will plant the area to grain sorghums.

A. L. Black's cowpeas and grain sorghum are already up. He has planted New Era in both combine and silage sorghum. Brabham cowpeas that are best suited for interplanting with silage crops are available at the Empire Seed Company in Temple, Texas. This is the only place that I know you can get them. The seed is $16.50 per hundred.

I was out on Joe Jesko's farm last Friday. He has some very good grass seedings. He tells me that the reason he is planting the resident farmer owned and op-over on Mr. Jesko's until he decided to buy the place and turn it back to grass. Joe is using Crested Wheatgrass, Western Wheatgrass, Buffalo, and Blue Gramma for reseeding. He has tried several other kinds of grasses but has decided that these serve his purpose the best. If you have an area that needs reseeding go he can help you.

do to combat its effects.

Farwell Seniors Return from Trip

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

Les Bruns from Lazbuddie Community, attended the meeting in Lubbock last Friday where farm legislation was discussed by Farm Bureau Authorities. One of the things that apparently is going to become law in spite of farm opposition is the extension of Social Security to farmers and farm employees, Bruns reported. We are of the opinion that this should be a voluntary matter for each individual. Real security can hardly be a matter of legislation that compels participation in someone's pet program.

If you are one who favors tax reductions, look the situation over and see which benefits you receive that you would be willing to forego in favor of tax reductions. The two go hand in hand, either way.

TFB President Walter Hammond is again working for availability for grain loans. The latter provision was successfully championed by Hammond for Farm Bureau in 1949, saving Texas Wheat Growers $40 million. Ironically, the shortage of storage became a myth as soon as such approval was gained.

Directors of Parmer County Farm Bureau will meet at Friona Legion Hall at 8:00 o'clock Monday night, June 7. This is the regular monthly meeting at which you, as a member, are very welcome if you wish to attend. This is the only board of directors we know of in the country that makes this continuous invitation. Members of the board are: Kenneth Neill, Clarence Meeks, T. L. Kent, Earl Stevenson, J. T. Jones, L. F. Bruns, Claude Miller, E. T. Ford, Ralph Smith, Raymond Schueler, T. E. Lovett and Aubrey Ellison. If you live near one of them, come with him, or come by yourself.

Texas Farm Bureau began a series of radio programs, broadcasting over some sixty stations, Saturday, May 22. We'll have the stations and time of these broadcasts soon. Such radio time, incidentally is furnished free, as a public service feature of participating stations.

Consider this: "The man walketh in his integrity; his children are blessed after him." Proverbs 20:7.

Methodist Church Announces Special Services 6th

The Hamlin Memorial Methodist Church announces three special services for June 6th, the first Sunday in the conference year 1954-55.

At the 10 o'clock hour, the Sunday School will observe promotion Sunday. The entire school will meet in the sanctuary for the promotion program under the direction of Loyde Brewer, general superintendent.

The Sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be observed at the 11 o'clock worship service. The pastor, Rev. Miller H. Stroup, will bring a communion meditation on the subject, "Upper Room Adjunctives."

The hour for the evening service is 8 p.m. During this service, the new officers of the Woman's Society of Christian Service for the year 1954-55 will be installed by the pastor. His installation message will be on the subject, "Wanted: A Commitment of Talents."

The senior Methodist Youth Fellowship will enjoy a Sunday evening supper at 6:30 p.m. The supper will be followed by the worship service at 7 p.m.

The Wesleyan Service Guild will entertain their husbands and other guests at a picnic supper, Wednesday, June 9th, at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Aldridge.

A son of the Morgans is to be in charge of services next week.

We made a horrible mistake in this column last week, and if anyone tried the fudge recipe, we hope you will forgive, though it might be difficult, as expensive as butter is. Please change the recipe to read 1/4 lb. of butter instead of 1 lb. of butter. There is quite a difference, you see.

Also, Nell Walling tells us that eight minutes is about the correct cooking time.

Noting all the marriages in our area, recent and in the near future, we can't help but recall actually how much fun we had not such a long time ago when the writer and her husband first began acquiring the material things one needs to begin housekeeping. When you begin housekeeping on a limited amount of money and have to buy the bare essentials, it all adds up. Of course, we lived in a furnished apartment the first year, then we began furnishing our own little home. We watched all the books, magazines, do-it-yourself ideas, just everything.

We can't find a single Duncan Phyfe chair in our living room, and not all the furniture matches exactly, because all the discards the relatives gave us didn't seem to pair up exactly right but to us, it is just about the sweetest furniture, and we like it, partly because each article has a story behind it. Some day, we hope to have new furniture and the type rooms that look like a "story book," but we also wonder if we want to give up the things we worked so hard to make presentable.

Some things, we have already replaced, of necessity, but we expect to keep most of our furniture for quite a while yet.

Since our mother is a marvelous seamstress, and willing to lend a helping hand at the same time, we could afford drapes for the living room, with her doing the work, of course. And we purchased a living room suite, cheap; that's the reason we ended up with a matched divan and chair instead of a recovered day bed with pillows. Then Sonny had a platform rocker that he had carried back and forth to college, so we fell heir to another chair. The arm eventually fell off and we were forced to replace it, but it was so comfortable.

We eventually gained a coffee table, and our parents let us use their discarded dining room suite, minus two chairs, which my married sister had already made off with. Sonny's mother gave us the most beautiful floor lamp to grace our living room, for our first anniversary, and Jo Sondra Magerus, then employed at The Tribune, surprised us with a matching table lamp. Mrs. Graham also permitted us to use one of her pictures to enhance our long, bare living room wall.

The kitchen stove and refrigerator were musts, and we managed a second hand refrigerator and a new stove, both of which have been up well under the strain. Our breakfast nook was built-in, which aided the furniture situation.

When we began planning the bedroom furniture was when the fun began. We had a bedroom suite, a relic of our eleventh birthday, which is working nicely in our room, but the guest room which doubles as Ronny's bedroom, was another story.

That's when our grandmother came to the rescue. She had a bedroom suite stored, which was given her by granddad, the week we were born, 24 years ago. It had been stored several years. So we used paint remover, quite a lot of varnish, and lots of fortitude and elbow grease, and we are as proud of that bedroom suite as we would be if we had built it. Since the suite features the big poster bed, we decided on an old-fashioned bedroom. With the crocheted bedspread which an aunt had given us on graduation from the eighth grade, our cedar chest, and a heirloom china pitcher and wash basin set, which we had inherited, it worked out nicely.

And that isn't the end of the story. When we do convert the room into a little boy's room, our sister has already spoken for the bedroom suite.

We had one problem in the guest room. The bedsprings and mattress, which mother had taken from storage for us to use, were badly in need of something, oiling, we think. They had a peculiarity. If two people slept in the bed, one had to be on one side and the other on the equal space on the other side, to balance the springs. One person had to sleep exactly in the middle, or the springs would list to the side and dump the unsuspecting victim in the floor. The squeaking was terrific.

We decided it might be cooler in that room one night last summer, and it took only a short while to make us decide to invest in new springs and a mattress. Every time we turned over, the noise would awaken us, and we had the sensation of being on the verge of sliding off the bed, most of the time. The crowning touch was when the slat fell out of the bed. Now we have started on the outside of the house. We hope some day to finish painting our "do it yourself" fence on the inside.

We have another request recipe. When E. G. Williams was quite ill some time ago, we had baked a cake for lunch and had just taken it out of the oven about 12 o'clock. So we didn't even take time to ice it, but took some of the warm cake to the William's home for their dinner.

They were both so gracious and complimentary, and Mrs. Williams asked if we would print the recipe in the paper. They didn't seem to mind the fact that there was no icing, so maybe that is the way this cake should be eaten.

Chop fine 1 cup nut meats and sprinkle over bottom of greased and floured 9-in tube cake pan. Sift together 2 1/4 cups sifted cake flour, 2 1/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 1 1/4 cups sugar.

Then add 1 cup shortening (soft), 3/4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon almond extract. Beat for 2 minutes.

Add three eggs, unbeaten and one egg yolk, unbeaten. Beat, then put batter in tube pan. Bake in 375° oven about an hour. Cool, inverted, about 10 minutes before removing from cake pan.

Deborah Hargrove was certainly intent on looking after her guest, Butch Ford, at Bible school last week. Butch is older than Deborah and was in another age group at the school, but since he was visiting from out-of-town and "hadn't EVER been here before," Debbie informed her teachers at intervals, that she'd better go see how Butch was doing.

Both of them seemed to do all right at the school.

If you don't have a good chocolate cookie recipe, here is one that our husband is more than fond of—and he is certainly a connoisseur of cookies, if consumption can be a gauge. We like 'em too.

The original recipe calls for a cookie press, but we don't have one, and we find our old-fashioned method of pressing them, works fine. We take a flat-bottomed glass, put a damp cloth over the bottom and press the cookies out as nice and round as any. We do have to dampen the cloth again at intervals.

CHOCOLATE COOKIES
3/4 cup shortening
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1/4 tsp. salt
2 sq. unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 tablespoon milk
1/2 tsp. vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour

Heat oven 375 degrees. Work shortening with back of spoon until creamy. Add sugar gradually, add egg, beat well; then add salt and next three ingredients. Stir in flour gradually. Chill dough slightly. Place in small balls on cookie sheet and press. Sprinkle with chopped nuts if desired. Bake about 8 minutes or until done.

is as good a reason to get out of a business as we can think of, but it still bothers us to see so many fine dairy herds being sold over this part of the country.

Just last week we talked with D. C. Burnett, a Farmer County dairyman who has one of the finest Brown-Swiss herds in the country.

During the past few months, troubles have mounted for the Burnetts, making it difficult for them to see any sense in keeping the cows. Marketing of milk in this part of the country has become a real problem for many dairymen, he says, even the ones that are well established.

There is just more milk than there are customers, it seems, and many, many dairymen have had a large percentage of their production placed on a "surplus" basis, which means that they get docked severely for selling milk over a specified amount.

Dairies seem not to blame for this unfortunate situation; it simply is a matter of supply and demand.

Inspectors, say many local dairymen, are getting more and more finicky. The producers get "marks" for things they often-times consider to be of no consequence.

In the case of the Burnetts, labor has posed a serious problem, too. Caring for a herd of 50 sleek Brown Swiss is no job for cream puffs. D. C.'s health has prevented him from being able to do too much work, and a large part of the load has fallen on his wife and boys.

He's sort of getting fed up with the whole mess, says D. C., and as much as he hates to think of it, it may be necessary for him to sell his herd.

He also knows that because of the lessened demand for dairy cattle all over the country, he is going to get "skinned" on the price he will get for his herd.

Years and years of hard work have gone into building up the herd. The Burnetts have won enough ribbons with their animals to paper a four-room house, but they figure they have reached the end of the trail.

We are sure sorry to see this happen, but don't have any idea of the solution for it.

The large majority of our farmers in this area are "land" farmers. Hogs, poultry, beef cattle, sheep, and dairymen hold a minor place in our agricultural economy.

We would like to see the farmers branching out more and more, instead of getting more centralized, and having to carry all of our eggs in one basket. It really is a doggoned shame.

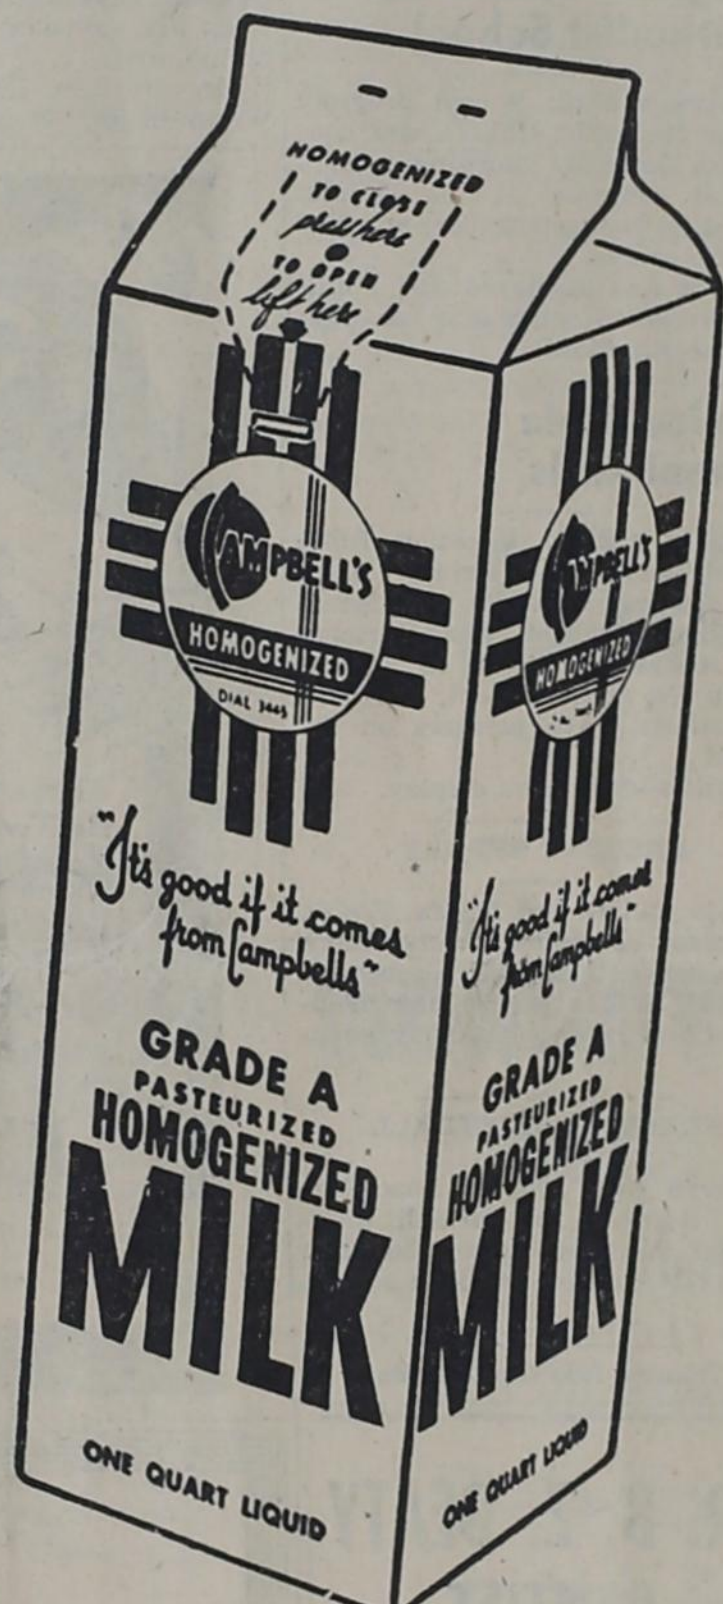

It is already easy to see that some of our most cherished memories in life are going to be those we will experience watching a boy grow up.

To sit quietly and watch our son as he "discovers" things in the yard such as the water hydrants, the flowers, climbing down the porch steps, reaching through the back yard fence—these are truly wonderful experiences for us, as well as him.

Gin to be Completed By Cotton Season

The Tri-County Gin Company's, new modern 5-80 gin, located between Black and Summerfield, will be completed in time for the coming season, according to a statement made by John W. Davis, partner and operator.

Davis was connected with the West Texas Gin Company for many years and prior to the present time, he operated the gin at Flag and resided in Dimmitt. Mrs. Davis will join her husband when the gin is completed and will be employed in the office.

Davis is no stranger to this area, as his brother, Tom Davis, resided in Friona for many years.

LEAVE FOR CAMP

Corinne Stinson, home demonstration agent, Joy Crow of Friona and two other girls, one from Farwell and one from Lazbuddie, left Monday for a camp near Amarillo.

IN AND AROUND FRIONA

By Alice Horn

Sunday afternoon about 1:30, it rained and hailed. Out southwest of town, the heaviest fall was reported. Pat Patterson, John Renner, Jim Owens, Albert Rowland, Claude Blackburn were among the farmers reporting crop damage from the beating from the rain and hail. In town, there was just a nice shower.

Sightseers by the "scads" were out to see the train wreck near Summerfield. It was quite a sight to see box cars piled up in that manner and it is miraculous that no one was injured. The wreck occurred Sunday afternoon and traffic over the rails was halted until around 5 o'clock Monday when a detour track was completed.

The derailed cars were carrying fruits and vegetables, which were removed and hauled away by trucks with little loss.

Some people left home for the holiday weekend, but many spent the time mowing grass, watering, weeding the vegetable and flower gardens and catching up on other chores. A few were honest enough to admit they just loafed and napped and really enjoyed it. Most business houses were closed Monday.

The Hubert Singletary's home has a new permastone covering and fresh painted woodwork, which puts it in the class of "places with new faces".

The Vogue Beauty Shop has completed their renovation with a pink painted exterior and brown trim. The redecoration inside is complete and there is new tile board, floor covering and paint carrying out the same color scheme of peach pink and brown.

The J. W. Roberts home has been repainted pastel green with green trim.

The Baptist parsonage now has a garage and has been repainted.

Roy V. Miller would not advise anyone to take a pet duck for a swim. Roy recently took daughter Johnnie's pet duck for a swim and it swam too close to the barn and became the cat's lunch.

To Arkansas

Rex McComb, Gary Crow, Jimmy Robason, Danny Stewart and Roy Lee Jones and Miss Wanda Robason, left the middle of the week for their homes in Arkansas. Miss Wanda Robason will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Robason in Arkansas.

Friona Senior Class Trip Concluded

Saturday, May 22nd, 21 senior class members of Friona left for Cowles, New Mexico on their senior trip. The group met at the home of the J. G. McFarlands for breakfast in the early morning and then loaded into the bus. They stopped at Santa Rosa where they picnicked and then traveled on to the mountains, where they arrived about 4:00 p. m.

The class spent Sunday, Monday and Tuesday horseback riding, hiking or eating. Wednesday morning, they loaded up again and left for Santa Fe where they spent the night. Here, the students attended shows and went sight-seeing and shopping.

Thursday morning, the group left for Albuquerque where they spent Thursday and Friday nights. While here, everyone enjoyed relaxing and shopping. On Saturday morning, the group left Albuquerque and arrived home about noon.

Besides the 21 seniors, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haws and Mrs. Leo McEllan went on the trip.

Rev. Fields Gives Memorial Address

Despite the inclement weather, a fair sized crowd attended the Memorial Day Service Sunday morning. The Friona American Legion Post 206 opened the service with the Advance of Colors by the Legion Color Guard followed by the invocation by W. B. McKinney. A group of high school girls sang the National Anthem. Rev. C. M. Fields, post chaplain, presented the welcome address and the pledge to the war dead. Mrs. A. O. Drake, a gold star mother, placed a wreath on the memorial. The retiring of the colors concluded the part of the service held at the city park.

The service was continued at the local cemetery with the Legion Color Guard advancing the colors and Rev. W. C. Wade giving an impressive tribute to the "Dead of All Wars". The choral group sang "My Buddy" which was followed by the placing of wreaths on soldiers' graves by the Girl Scouts. A three volley salute by the firing squad and the benediction by Rev. Lewis Knight was presented.

Will Have Annual Meeting

The Friona Wheat Growers will hold their annual meeting Tuesday night, June 8, at the high school auditorium. This will be an important meeting starting at 6:30 p. m. with a barbecue. Business session will follow and two directors will be elected. A prize will be given away at the end of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Loflin and family of Springfield, Colorado spent the weekend at Friona with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Murphee, and his parents and other relatives.

★ PLUGS

—From Paul—

Between her husband and the furnace, shiftless Ti Tolliver's wife has quite a time. While she's watching one, the other goes out.

The little boy was crying bitterly because the big friendly dog had bounded up to him and licked his hand. His frantic mother called out the window. "What is it—did he bite you?" "No," came the cry. "But he tasted me."

Clever Theme Used For Friona Club

"Digging for Gold" was the theme for the Modern Study Club at the last meeting of the current year, May 18, at the club house.

This theme was portrayed at four tables throughout the rooms, on the first was the old prospector with his mule, bed roll, pots and pans out in the desert. The second table presented the Golden Spread with its wheat and grain being loaded on trains from trucks. An oil well was pumping simulated oil on the third table and on the fourth table was the Pot of Gold with an iris rainbow and gold coins. All these decorations were in miniature with moving parts and were beautifully executed. The mantel held a bowl of goldfish.

Installation of officers was held with the theme still being carried out. The president, Melba Miller, was presented a hammer to break rock with; vice-president, Eufaula Ethridge, received a shovel with which to reach the gold; secretary, Kathreen Blackburn, was given a turkey quill to use to record the events; the treasurer, Louisa Wilson was handed a canvas sack to hold the club's nuggets; the reporter, Estelle Caffey, was given a gun with which to protect and command respect and the parliamentarian, Wilma Jones, was awarded a ruler to measure and stake claims with.

Hostesses Allo Reeve, Mildred May, Vera Baintum, Pearl McLean and Deke Kendrick served a ham and salad plate to the members following the business session.

Favors were chocolate gold coins. Table covers were of gold colored crepe paper.

RAILWAY CARS DERAILED

Thirty-four cars of an east bound Santa Fe freight train were derailed at Summerfield, five and one-half miles west of Hereford at 4:50 p. m. Sunday. The wreckage closed the line until 5:00 p. m. Monday.

All trains were detoured by way of Plainview and Lubbock to Clovis. The first car to leave the track was 28 cars back from the engine. No one was injured even though the cars were literally stacked. Several cars were broken into splinters in the pile-up.

The cars were the refrigerator type, loaded with perishables. Oranges, onions, celery, and lettuce were strewn about. Huge truck loads of produce were carried away Monday and Tuesday. Tuesday afternoon, three freight trains were located on a siding, loading car wreckage as well as cargo.

Railroad men have been on the job clearing wreckage as well as standing guard.

Anhydrous Ammonia Pays Off Big

Last year many records were set in cotton and grain sorghum production in this part of the country. Intelligent culture, including water and fertilizer, made the difference for most farmers.

Land under irrigation gets "worked down" much faster than un-irrigated land. For that reason, it is becoming increasingly important that farmers consider fertilizer as they water their land year after year.

We'd also like to point out that the most readily available form of nitrogen is ANHYDROUS AMMONIA, and now is a good time to make application. Why not make arrangements to let us help you insure high production through fertilization this year?
