Scene Of State Funeral

This is a recent view of St. Paul's Cathedral in London where a state funeral, such as Britain gives only its greatest heroes and statesmen, will be held for Sir Winston Churchill on Saturday. Many of the world's leaders are expected to attend the services in the Cathedral for the 90-year-old British leader who died Sunday. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Johnson New Budget Record $99.7 Billion

SS Benefit Hike Asked

For fiscal year ending June 30:

	1965	1966
Figures in Billions
Spending	$ 97,481	$ 99,687
Income	91,200	94,400
Deficit	6,281	5,287
Debt at year-end	316,000	322,500

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress today the first year of his "Great Society" will cost the nation a record $99.7 billion.

The President's budget message for fiscal 1966 — which he hinted may be the last U.S. budget below $100 billion — called for:

— A $1.75-billion cut in excise taxes, without naming those to be reduced or repealed.

— A $2.1-billion increase in all Social Security cash benefits this year, amounting to 7 per cent on the average, but followed by a steep rise in the pay-roll tax next year.

HOSPITAL CARE

— Hospital care for aged persons — perhaps 19 million citizens — with the taxpayers footing the bill for those not covered by Social Security. This would start in mid-1966.

— Quadrupled spending in the war on poverty.

Military and foreign aid outlays would be trimmed slightly, helping to reduce the budget deficit to $5.3 billion, or a billion dollars less than this year's red-ink spending.

BUDGET DETAILS ON PAGE 8-B

But federal outlays for education would be increased by more than 75 per cent, to $2.7 billion, in the fiscal year starting next July 1 because, as Johnson explained:

"It (education) is our primary weapon in the war on poverty and the principal tool for building a Great Society."

RECORD REVENUES

He estimated that government revenues would total $94.4 billion, also a record. This would mean a $3.2-billion rise in tax collections from 1964 to 1965, generated by an unprecedented fifth consecutive year of strong business expansion.

Despite the 1966 increase, he said, federal spending will decline in relation to the Gross National Product — "to less than 15 per cent, the lowest ratio achieved in 15 years."

Nevertheless the federal debt will stand at an historic peak of $322.5 billion when the fiscal year has closed. Johnson served notice he will ask another increase in the debt ceiling fixed by Congress.

OKAY POINTS

These were among the highlights of the message: Defense — Spending would be reduced to $49 billion from $49.3 billion. Yet Americans, he said, can be sure they will have "a massive defense establishment of steadily growing power, without reduced outlays."

Space — Big annual increases for space are being choked off. The proposed $200-million increase for 1966, to $5.1 billion, compares with rises averaging a billion dollars a year since 1960.

The high-priority space targets are unchanged — a man on the moon by 1970 and, soon after, an unmanned probe for life on Mars.

Poverty — A four-fold increase in the antipoverty programs will bring 1966 outlays to $1.3 billion.

FOREIGN AID

Foreign aid — Military and economic foreign aid outlays are budgeted for $3.2 billion, a cut of $50 million. This does not include the Peace Corps, up $25 million, or the Food for Peace Program, unchanged.

By putting a $1.75 billion limit on the promised excise tax reduction, Johnson was sure to disappoint many Congress members. Some have talked hopefully of slashes totaling $4 billion or more. Johnson's problem will be to fight off more cuts than he wants.

Churchill Somber Funeral Will Bring Together World Notables

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill lay at rest today while the world awaited the somber magnificence of a state funeral he planned for himself.

Monarchs, presidents and veteran statesmen will follow his coffin on its last journey Saturday. President Johnson said he would be among them if sufficiently recovered from the cold that sent him to the hospital over the weekend.

Churchill died shortly after 8 a.m. — 3 a.m., EST — Sunday at No. 28 Hyde Park Gate, the London house in which he had lived since retiring from the premiership in 1955. Two months past his 90th birthday, he had suffered a stroke nine days before. Medical experts said he died peacefully and without pain.

TRIBUTES FLOW IN

As the world's tributes flowed in for the greatest Englishman of modern times, friends revealed that he first started planning his funeral ceremony during World War II.

In December 1943, he was in Cairo after talks with President Roosevelt and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and caught a cold which turned to pneumonia.

Half jokingly he told aides: "They'll have to give me a state funeral. President Roosevelt will have to come to London to attend it."

Determined that everything should go without a hitch, he toured the route the cortege will take. The route is a study in stone of Churchill's life.

From the house where he spent his last years in London,

There it will lie in state for three days. Then through Whitehall, the seat of government, and past his old residence as prime minister, at No. 10 Downing Street.

At the head of Whitehall stands the Admiralty, always Churchill's favorite government office, and Trafalgar Square with its soaring statue of Nelson.

On down the Strand, with memories here of Churchillian nights out at the Savoy Grill and the now vanished Romano's, favorite haunt of Edwardian London.

Then into Fleet Street, London's newspaper row to which Churchill turned for a platform and for income in his youth and again in the years of political eclipse after World War I.

Finally to St. Paul's, Sir Christopher Wren's domed masterpiece where Britain traditionally takes leave of its heroes.

From St. Paul's the cortege will travel to the Thames. In the shadow of the tower Churchill's coffin will be put aboard a barge to travel up river to a pier near Waterloo Station.

Here the public ceremonial ends. The family will join the coffin on a private train and Churchill will be buried near his parents in a village churchyard in the heart of England.

Parliament was called together this afternoon to hear political leaders' tributes to Churchill and give formal approval to Queen Elizabeth's request that the funeral be a state occasion.

TERSE BULLETIN The end was announced in a terse bulletin signed by his physician and lifelong friend, Lord Moran. At his bedside were Lady Churchill, his son, and his two daughters.

The funeral is expected to bring together the largest concourse of statesmen since that of President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Diplomats said President Charles de Gaulle has unofficially let it be known that he expects to come. They said the Soviet representative is likely to be President Anastas Mikoyan, whom Churchill knew well, or the new premier, Alexei N. Kosygin.

67 YEARS AGO It will be the first state funeral for a British minister since that of Prime Minister William E. Gladstone 67 years ago. The service will be conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of the Church of England.

Burial will be in the small country churchyard in Bladon, 70 miles northwest of London. It is on the great Blenheim estate, home of the dukes of Marlborough, where Churchill was born.

His father, Lord Randolph Churchill, was a son of the seventh duke, and Sir Winston died on the 71st anniversary of Lord Randolph's death.

Fierce Winds Blasting Area

By The Associated Press

Wind blasts of near hurricane force struck West Texas Monday, causing some damage and widespread dust discomfort.

The Weather Bureau said around noon that "A major dust storm is developing over West Texas."

Winds up to 35 miles per hour from the southwest and west, turning to northwesterly tonight, have been forecast. Local blowing dust was covering much of this area today.

At noon today the sun was almost obscured and visibility cut to less than a half mile at times by blowing dust. The wind was strong and gusty, blowing up to 60 miles per hour at Howard County Airport, where dust was extremely heavy.

The tumble weeds were jumping fences and racing across the airport runways, which were not being used by airplanes, during the time visibility was cut. The winds are to diminish tonight as they turn from the northwest.

Lamesa reported winds of 60 miles per hour at one time — only six miles less than the official hurricane minimum of 75 m.p.h.

At Odessa, traffic was slowed by the dust, and winds of 60 m.p.h. caused some damage. A large sign was blown down in the business district.

At Midland, 20 miles northeast, the wind blew away a carport, and a large elm was uprooted, falling on an automobile and causing extensive damage. Power lines were reported blown down in the Midland-Odessa area.

Ex-Candidate Owens Dies

VERNON (AP) — Jesse Owens, 69, long a public official of West Texas, died Sunday after a short illness.

He ran for railroad commissioner last year but lost. He was Foard County judge four years, district attorney at Vernon four years, and assistant state attorney general two years.

Owens was assistant district judge of Potter County until 1962 when he returned to Vernon.

His widow, Eura; and two sons, Lewis Owens of Levelland and Ned Owens of Garland, survive. Services were set for 3 p.m. today.

Parliament At Standstill

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's fellow Londoners led millions throughout the world today into a week of mourning at his death.

Normal business was abandoned in Parliament. A party battle between the governing Labor party and the Conservatives was postponed in deference to Sir Winston.

Hundreds wore black ties and somber clothing in memory of one of the greatest Englishmen of all time.

All trading stopped on the busy, noisy floor of the London Stock Exchange at 11 a.m. for two minutes of silence as a mark of respect for the man who rallied and often led the Allied powers against tyranny in World War II.

The body will be taken to Westminster Hall, probably late Tuesday, from the London home where Sir Winston died Sunday morning, his great heart at last stilling after a stroke.

The body will lie at Westminster Hall — where kings have lain — until the state funeral Saturday, planned by Sir Winston himself, at St. Paul's Cathedral.

All over Britain, political meetings were canceled.

McDonald Murder Case Gets Started

By SAM BLACKBURN

STANTON — Attorneys were to begin quizzing prospective jurors at 1 p.m. today, in an effort to seat 12 to hear the case against Daniel Odell McDonald, charged in the June 12 murder of his grandmother, Mrs. W. S. McDonald.

Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District Court, called a venire of 125 to court today. There were 113 present, with 96 left after excuses were granted. The judge called 20 of them back to court at 2 p.m. and the remainder were to report at 4 p.m.

The first order of business in the court this morning was a motion by District Attorney Wayne Burns asking that the court restrain Bobby West from revealing to the defense any information he had acquired while working as district attorney's investigator on the McDonald case.

He called G. B. Therwanger, deputy sheriff, as his first witness, who testified that to his knowledge, West was in on the case and had full knowledge of the state's case. Defense Attorney George Thomas testified that he had an agreement with West, when the latter went to work for him, that West would not give him any information on the McDonald case. Thomas said the only connection West had with the case was a conference he attended between Thomas, the other defense attorney, John Ferguson, and the defendant in the commissioners courtroom at Stanton.

West testified he operated a tape recorder at the conference, and denied he had given any information to the defense which he had gained while employed by the former district attorney.

Judge Caton overruled the state's motion.

LBJ Eyeing London Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, recovering rapidly from a heavy cold, determined today that if doctors permit he will fly to London for Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

In his second bedside news conference at the suburban Bethesda Naval Hospital, Johnson said he wants "very, very much" to attend the funeral Saturday. "A lot depends on how I feel in the next day or two," he added.

As five newsmen talked to him, the President seemed markedly improved.

Cheerfully, the President said: "It's all over with."

The doctors were not so sure, however. They want to keep him in the hospital until Thursday, for rest and to make sure the cold is licked.

When the five newsmen — "poolers" representing the hospital — visited the President Sunday, he was clad in pastel-green pajamas with white piping and was chewing gum drops — Allenbury's pastilles, made in London.

His temperature was reported at about 100 — compared with normal of 98.6 — but press secretary George Reedy said that was "not a matter of concern at all."

School Is Underground

By MIKE COCHRAN

LAKE WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Frustrated fathers in this lake-side community, swept up in the roar of the jet age, decided not long ago they preferred to switch rather than fight.

To say they were bewitched and bewildered would be an understatement.

Their partial solution becomes operative Monday when several hundred school children in this Fort Worth suburb move into ultramodern, subterranean classrooms.

"Nothing fancy about it, but it's nice," quipped Supt. Grady Vaughn.

The idea of an underground school came a couple of years ago as education leaders struggled to meet the school district's most pressing problems—space and noise.

Vaughn said the hissing of jets down the runway at Carswell Air Force Base close by signaled the approach of the aerial monsters and subsequent disruption of classes.

"The school buildings actually vibrate when those planes go overhead," he said, estimating that students were losing as much as 10 per cent of their instructional time.

"We were getting to the point also where we needed more space," he said. "If we had had the money we might have moved the entire site."

"We decided to go underground instead."

School board members went to Artesia, N.M., to inspect a similar school there. They liked what they saw.

A bond sale followed. The $495,000 required to build and equip the school was raised.

The new structure contains 36,604 square feet, with 18 classrooms, a library, offices, a first aid room, book room, storage room, cafeteria and kitchen.

The only parts of the building above ground are a section of the roof and four box-like entrances.

Vaughn pointed to a split-level feature of his gaily colored pride and joy. The kitchen and cafeteria are a level lower than the classrooms and extend under a street.

He estimated 800 students can be fed hourly. The school itself will house 475 students and 15 teachers.

It is all electric and completely climate controlled. Air changes in the entire plant every three minutes.

JUNIOR HIGH

The school will be used only by junior high students. This leaves more than 1,300 pupils in the other nine grades still confronting noise problems.

Vaughn said a high school probably will be built next, and more than likely it too will be subterranean.

Advantages of underground schooling are many, he asserted, including:

1. Excellent acoustics.
2. Constant body comfort.
3. Elimination of outside distractions.
4. Proper lighting at all times.
5. Use of the conventional classroom window area for teaching aids, such as blackboards.
6. Reduced maintenance costs and insurance rates.
7. Protection from initial bomb blasts, tornadoes and windstorms.
8. Virtual immunity from vandalism.

Pope Paul VI Names 27 New Cardinals

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI named 27 new Roman Catholic cardinals today, including three from Communist lands and one from the United States.

This raised the membership of the sacred college to 103, the largest in history.

Archbishop Lawrence Joseph Shehan of Baltimore, Md., was the only U.S. prelate among the new cardinals, the first named by Pope Paul since he became pontiff in June 1963.

They will formally be elevated to the purple at a consistory Feb. 22.

Pope Paul's nominations were in line with policies that have become evident in his reign.

DIALOGUE WITH REDS

He has opened a dialogue with Communist countries while continuing to denounce Marxist ideology. Today he named the first three Roman Catholic cardinals from Communist countries since a 1953 consistory held by Pope Pius XII.

One of the nominations — of Josef Beran of Prague, Czechoslovakia — was a clear challenge to Red officials who have restricted his activities.

Other new cardinals included Maurice Roy, archbishop of Quebec, Canada; Franjo Seper, archbishop of Zagreb, Yugoslavia; and Josef Slipyi, archbishop of Lvov, Poland, and primate of Ukrainian Catholics.

The late consistory for the creation of cardinals was held on March 19, 1962, when Pope John XXIII elevated 10 men to the sacred college and brought its membership to 87, the largest in history.

Since then 11 cardinals have died.

SHEHAN ELEVATION

The elevation of Archbishop Shehan gives the United States six members of the College of Cardinals. Baltimore is the oldest Roman Catholic Diocese in the United States.

The other American members are Francis Spellman of New York, James F. McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard J. Cushing of Boston, Albert G. Meyer of Chicago and Joseph E. Ritter of St. Louis.

Pope Paul's nominations reflected two aspects of his reign — interest toward Catholics who live among the Orthodox of the East, and concern toward Roman Catholics in Communist lands.

His nomination of the three patriarchs was clearly a move to honor the Catholics of the East. The patriarchs had complained during sessions of the Vatican Ecumenical Council that they do not always receive the esteem due them.

A CHALLENGE

The choice of Archbishop Beran was a challenge to the Communist rulers of Czechoslovakia. The archbishop was confined by the Communists from 1949 until October 1963, when he was allowed to enter a monastery.

But he was not allowed to resume his duties as Archbishop of Prague, and the Vatican yearbook continues to list him as impeded.

Archbishop Slipyi spent 18 years in confinement in Siberia and then was allowed to come to Rome two years ago.

Pope Paul became pontiff June 21, 1963. The Vatican paper L'Osservatore Romano said today that he had delayed calling his first consistory to avoid conflict with his heavy duties in connection with the Ecumenical Council.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Lela Cohorn, Lamesa; three daughters, Mrs. J. M. Crow, Seminole, Mrs. Ralph Anderson, Abilene, Mrs. J. C. Hall, Austin; four sons, M. F. Cohorn, A. B. Cohorn, and J. V. Cohorn, all of Lamesa, N. M.; four brothers, O. L. Cohorn, C. E. Cohorn, and Will Cohorn, all of Hamlin, and Jack Cohorn, Dallas; 20 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren. Grandsons were pallbearers.

Frigid Storms Plague Areas

By The Associated Press

Severe ice and snow storms which turned much of the Midwest and East into a mass of power failures, auto accidents, and school and road closings plagued residents from northern Illinois to New England today.

Cars skidded over ice-packed side streets. Power lines laden with ice snapped or were broken by falling tree limbs, leaving hundreds of communities without electricity.

Many hospital emergency rooms were jammed with victims of auto accidents and falls on icy sidewalks.

Adding to the troubles early this morning were new storms, dumping fresh snow on northern New England, freezing rain, sleet and snow on southern New England and light snow across much of the northern part of the nation.

Cheat Scandal Jars Academy

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—Who are the dozen cadets who operated the "exams - for - sale" racket and touched off the cheating scandal now rocking the U.S. Air Force Academy?

That was the major mystery as a special team of investigators dug today into the facts of a cribbing case that threatens to dwarf the honor code violations at West Point 14 years ago.

The chief of the Air Force Academy Office of Information, Col. Richard Haney, promised to start providing some answers today but insisted that no names would be divulged.

"STAYING SECRET"

"It is the academy policy not to reveal names of ordinary dropouts, which represent about 9 per cent of the enrollment a year," the colonel said. "Naturally, we wouldn't think of changing that practice in this case."

The secretary of the Air Force, Eugene M. Zuckert, announced Saturday that more than 100 cadets, including at least 30 members of the football team, are involved in the classroom irregularities.

Twenty-nine cadets already have resigned rather than face court-martial and others are being confined to their quarters. About 700 of the 2,567 cadets are reportedly being questioned.

Only a few of the facts may be brought into the daylight. Identity of the original violators may never be known.

CASES DIFFER

The current scandal is different from that which caused expulsion of 90 West Point cadets, including 43 of 45 varsity football players, in August 1951.

Sketch Of Sir Winston

This last sketch of Sir Winston Churchill was drawn by AP artist John Carlton. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Churchill Held Immortal Man

EDITOR'S NOTE — In MacLeod, 51, one of the younger leaders of the Conservative party, said that Sir Winston Churchill meant to him and to Britain, MacLeod, serving as chairman of the Conservative party, served Churchill as minister of health and continued in the governments of Sir Anthony Eden, now Lord Avon, and Harold Macmillan.

By IAIN MACLEOD
LONDON (AP) — Winston Churchill is dead. In the words there is nothing for tears, for the noblest of Englishmen has died full of years. Yet the words are solemn and final. In the true sense of the word the news is awful: full of awe.

We have lived in the age of Churchill; there will never be anyone. There can never be anyone to take his place. The trumpets sound and are still. My mind is flooded with memories of this immortal man.

He became in wartime the living symbol of Britain. The cigar, the siren suit, the harsh mispronunciations ("Narzi") we loved so much, above all the thrusting defiance of his two fingers as he gave the V sign. Victory — of course.

What else could there be, he to lead and we to follow? And if the people of Britain chose to read a rougher and more aggressive meaning into his message, so be it. Churchill meant that, too.

No one ever has or ever will identify himself so completely with the spirit of the British people as did Winston Churchill in 1940. Our finest hour was his.

"WE THE LION"
"We," so he flattered us long after the war, "were the lion. I only provided the roar." He did much more than that. Blood and tears, toil and sweat were all offered in the strangest and noblest appeal in our history.

It was said of his speeches that they were worth an army corps. One more army corps would not have saved us. Winston did. The winning of the war came later, and no one man, no one nation, could achieve it. But first the war had to be salvaged, and he led us with relish and even with confidence into battle.

He was able to summon from us that extra effort that achieved the miracle. Because of him, because of his speeches, because of what he demanded from us we were just a little more resolute, just a little tougher. And it was enough — just.

GREAT ROMANTIC
Churchill was one of the great romantics. Cavalier and seadog; historian and statesman; soldier and journalist; even a painter and a scholar in his fashion, Churchill was them all. Tears came as naturally to him as did courage. In this, as in so many things, he was a true

Mrs. Ketner's Funeral Tuesday

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. Daisy Ketner, 83, of Colorado City, died Sunday night in the Root Valley Fair Lodge, after a long illness. She formerly lived in Snyder and Abilene, but has been a resident of Colorado City for the past 20 years.

Mrs. Ketner was born in Tennessee Feb. 28, 1881.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the First Methodist Church, of which she was a member, with the pastor, the Rev. Darris Egger, officiating. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Kiker & Son Funeral Home.

Survivors include two sons, Jim Ketner Jr., Houston, and J. F. Ketner, San Angelo; a sister, Mrs. Dale Warren, Colorado City, and four grandchildren.

Elizabethan, a knight of the spiciest days of Elizabeth I who had somehow strayed into the reign of Elizabeth II.

When an ordinary man dies his virtues are extolled and his faults brushed aside. When one writes of Winston Churchill, who became an immortal and a legend in his lifetime, the temptation to write only good of the dead is very strong. But it would be false history, and there was nothing Churchill detested more than that. He, like Cromwell, must be shown "warts and all."

He had an incredibly fertile mind which sprayed ideas like a fountain. It is easy to understand how solid but lesser men like Baldwin and Chamberlain often found him an uncomfortable colleague.

He was never content, as so many ministers are, simply to deal with his "in" tray. He was never even content simply to run his own department, and he poured out minutes full of original suggestions for running everyone else's.

Few people are generous enough to accept with good will critical comments from a colleague. Besides, he had so many ideas that some of them were bound to be absurd, some were unsound, some would be worth trying, and a few were lit by the flash of genius, the true Winston touch.

In the World War I he held and lost high office. For nearly all the second he was prime minister. In both he made mistakes of judgment and of men. But all these are as dust before the wind of his triumphs.

RIGHT TRIBUTE
His faults were the faults of a man of tumult and of ardor. Harold Macmillan, always one of Sir Winston's most faithful followers and admirers, paid him exactly the right tribute as he ended his short speech during the House of Commons valdication to Sir Winston in July 1964 as he came to the last days of his membership of the House of Commons.

"If I were to try to sum up his character, I can think of no words more appropriate than those which he has himself written on the flyleaf of each volume of his history of the Second World War.

"In war: resolution.
In defeat: defiance.
In victory: magnanimity.
In peace: good will."
The author called these words the "moral of his work." In fact, sir, they are the story of his life.

Tax Deadline For Employers

All employers in the Big Spring area have an important tax deadline on Feb. 1, 1965. Joseph P. Gordon, administrative officer of Internal Revenue, said this is the due date for reporting and paying income tax withheld and Social Security taxes for the calendar quarter ending Dec. 31, 1964.

Employers should use Form 941 to report their tax liability for this period.

Gordon pointed out that taxpayers who made timely deposits in the Federal Reserve Banks, or authorized commercial banks, have until Feb. 10, to file their returns. Circular E, "Employer's Tax Guide," which furnishes detailed information on this subject, is available upon request from the Internal Revenue Service.

Flag At Half Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation heaped unprecedented honor and unstinted praise today on Sir Winston Churchill, whom President Johnson called "history's child."

Johnson ordered the American flag to be flown at half staff through Saturday wherever it appears, on government buildings and on ships on the seven seas, in mourning for the British statesman who died Sunday.

So far as anybody could determine this is the first time such an honor has been accorded to a foreigner. But then, many thought, Churchill was not a foreigner. Wasn't he half American — through his American mother? And did not Congress, which listened enthralled to the British leader in the dark days succeeding Pearl Harbor, endow him with honorary American citizenship?

MAY FLY THERE
On his hospital bed President Johnson vowed to fly to the funeral in London Saturday, if the doctors were at all willing. Johnson had this statement issued:

"When there was darkness in the world, and hope was low in the hearts of men, a generous Providence gave us Winston Churchill.

"As long as men tell about that time of terrible danger and of the men who won the victory, the name of Churchill will live.

"Let us give thanks that we knew him. With our grief let there be gratitude for a life so fully lived, for services so splendid, and for the joys he gave by the joy he took in all he did.

WILL PRAY
"The people of the United States — his cousins and his fellow-citizens — will pray with his British countrymen for God's eternal blessing on this man, and for comfort to his family.

"He is history's child, and what he said and what he did will never die."

Johnson, despite his uncomfortable cold, had issued orders that if Churchill died, he was to be notified immediately. Thus it was that the sad tidings were brought to him at 3:50 a.m. by CPO Thomas Mills at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

The President sent personal messages of sympathy to Lady Churchill, Queen Elizabeth II, and Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

There were also the delightful lighter moments, many of which CBS picked up, when his wit sparkled and, in a change of mood, when he was unashamedly overcome with emotion. Eric Sevareid, summing up, called Churchill a "Renaissance figure," a man of many parts, many interests.

ANOTHER TONIGHT
CBS, which repeated its program Sunday evening, plans another hour tonight, "Some Friends of Winston Churchill," which will include a tape, never before broadcast, of a conversation the statesman had with Edward R. Murrow almost five years ago. CBS sent Walter Cronkite to California for an interview with Dwight D. Eisenhower about his wartime association.

The network postponed indefinitely its scheduled Sunday night broadcast of Gian-Carlo Menotti's new opera, "Martin's Lie."

Bolivians Will Elect President

Gray's To Join Church Staff
LAMESA (SC) — Eddie Gray has joined the staff of the First Baptist Church here as minister of music and youth. Mr. and Mrs. Gray will be moving to Lamesa, Jan. 25.

Gray is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University. He received the Bachelor of Arts degree in 1954 and the Master of Arts in 1957. He graduated from the Southwestern Theological Seminary Jan. 19, where he received his degree in church music. While at the seminary, he served as minister of music and youth at the Cockrell Hill Baptist Church in Dallas.

Mrs. Gray attended Oklahoma University in Shawnee, Okla. She received her Bachelor of Music degree from Hardin-Simmons University. She has been teaching in the Dallas Public Schools for eight years.

Real Peace With Soviet Was Goal Held To End

LONDON (AP) — Real peace with the Soviet Union was the great prize that Sir Winston Churchill sought so eagerly and never achieved.

It always eluded him. But he never gave up hope. "Patience and perseverance must never be grudged when the peace of the world is at stake," he told the House of Commons late in his career.

"NEVER DESPAIR"
"Never flinch, never weary, never despair."

Near the end of his life, he was still convinced that he could have brought it off. Time had passed him by and he was out of high office. Yet he dreamed of the prize that eluded him.

Sitting in a sheltered corner of the broad lawn at his country house, Chartwell, in 1956, he told visiting former President Harry S. Truman: "If we were both running things today perhaps things would be different. Perhaps we could reach some true understanding with the Russians."

Some critics said that Churchill never properly understood the Soviet Union or its tough, unsentimental, uncompromising leaders.

"A RIDDLE"
Even Churchill said in 1939: "Russia is a riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma."

The dream of Russia and the West living side by side in trustful harmony often flashed across his visionary mind.

On an autumn evening in 1944 he sat in front of a glowing fireplace in the British Embassy in Moscow and thought out loud.

He clutched a glass of brandy in one hand. The occasion was a night near the end of his last trip to the Soviet Union.

For nine days he had been talking to Joseph Stalin. The war was in its last stages, but Churchill was already thinking of the peace. And the looming problem of Communist Russia.

"We must find a way," he said in his slow measured voice, "a way to live in peace with these people and their leaders."

He hesitated and gazed into the fire. The handful of men in the room remained still.

"If we don't find a way," he went on and the expression on his face grew grim, "we face a calamity almost too somber to contemplate."

"SOMBER INDEED"
Four months later when he was back in Britain he polished up those raw thoughts of an October evening in Moscow and told the House of Commons:

"Somber indeed would be the fortunes of mankind if some awful schism arose between the Western democracies and the Russian Soviet Union. If the future world organization were rent asunder, and if new cataclysms of inconceivable violence destroyed all that is left of the treasures and liberties of mankind."

In efforts to impress Stalin with his sincerity, Churchill of ten opened his heart to the Kremlin boss. But it was always through interpreters.

Britain's wartime leader spoke no Russian and the grim Georgian no English. Stalin never got the real impact of Sir Winston's eloquence.

Churchill Interviews Remembered

By EDDY GILMORE
LONDON (AP) — Twenty-four years ago Winston Churchill stood on the steps of No. 10 Downing St. with Wendell Wilkie and said:

"You need a tin hat, Mr. Wilkie. Some of those Nazi... may drop something on your head."

"Where do I buy one?" asked the man who had just been defeated for the American presidency by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"You don't," said the leader of a Britain that then was fighting Germany almost alone. "I'll send one around to your hotel."

BOMBED LONDON
This reporter, who had flown to bomb-shattered London with Wilkie Jan. 26, 1941, stood across the street listening to the two men's booming voices.

Glancing across the street, Wilkie motioned. I crossed the street in about two seconds flat. "Mr. Churchill," said Wilkie. "I want you to meet a friend of mine."

"What do you do?" asked the prime minister.

"I'm a humble reporter," said I.

"Humble," growled Churchill, "no reporter's humble. If he is he shouldn't be."

Taking advantage of this rare opening, I asked him a question. I can't remember what it was, but I remember his reply:

"Young man, I'm not giving a press conference."

Then he smiled, blew a puff of smoke from his cigar and said: "But I'll send you a tin hat, too."

He did.

LOST IN RAID
I took the hat with me on a British convoy to Archangel that summer. I lost it during a German air raid on Moscow.

In 1942 Churchill paid the first of two visits to Joseph Stalin. Through the assistance of the British ambassador in Moscow, Sir Archibald Clark-Kerr — later Lord Inverchapel — I got within asking distance of him once more.

When he ducked a direct question, I asked him when he would give a press conference.

"Press conference," he snorted. "I don't give press conferences. The House of Commons is my press conference."

In 1944, Churchill was back in Moscow, again talking with Stalin. Two reporters were allowed in a room when the prime minister made some off-the-record remarks about Stalin. I was one of them.

The war was far from won, but Churchill was already thinking ahead. I remember his saying and repeating:

"The Russians, somehow we've got to find a way of getting on and living with them, for if we don't, God only knows what could happen."

Of all the Churchill stories, perhaps the most touching came that gray day in April 1955, when, tired and worn, he retired as prime minister.

BACK AT NO. 10
Again we were back in front of No. 10 Downing St. Sir Winston was leaving No. 10 for the last time as premier.

Cotton Seen Facing Crisis In Legislature

HOUSTON (AP)—Cotton faces another legislative crisis this year, the president of the National Cotton Council said today.

Aubrey L. Lockett, Vernon, Tex., council president, made the comment at the opening session of the 27th annual convention of the cotton industry organization.

The short-term cotton legislation passed in 1964—the Cooley Bill—saved the domestic market, at least temporarily, and checked the flood of textile imports, Lockett said.

But now cotton faces another legislative crisis, he said.

He told the delegates they must ask themselves if the council "will or should have a role to play in determining the cotton policy decisions that lie just ahead."

SPLIT NOTED

There is an acknowledged split among the delegates on the question of extending the Cooley Bill, which enables American textile manufacturers to buy cotton at the world price level—the same price paid by foreign customers for American cotton.

The most immediate question—"one that should by all means be answered this year"—is what Congress is going to do about extending or modifying the short-term cotton program, he said.

"Even though the Cooley Bill has been on the books less than a year, cotton faces still another legislative crisis. And once again we must ask ourselves if the council will or should have a role to play in determining the cotton policy decisions that lie just ahead."

SHUN ISSUE?

"Some of our top industry leaders feel that the council should get out—and stay out—of the controversial field of price and production policy," Lockett said.

"There are others who hold a different view. They insist that the council should take cotton policy positions, whenever there is sufficient agreement within the industry."

"The issue here is critical," he said. "It can affect the whole future not only of the council, but of our entire industry. I hope we can look at it calmly, with an open mind, and apply our very best judgment to it."

"Unless we can keep our price competitive in this country, we will again start losing our domestic market."

There are great pressures, he said, to reduce or eliminate the subsidies on which cotton now relies for its competitiveness in price.

Middle East War Feared

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP)—The Middle East may be closer to war than at any time since the 1956 Sinai campaign.

Armed clashes along the heavily fortified frontiers of Israel and its Arab neighbors have been increasing since the Israelis put into partial operation their multimillion-dollar project designed to bring Jordan River water from the Sea of Galilee to the Negev Desert.

ARMY TROOPS

Arab claims of dispatching "el-Asifah" storm troops of former Palestinians into Israel on sabotage missions have added to the gravity of the situation.

The Arab states, which have vowed to drive Israel into the sea, announced earlier this month at a conference in Cairo they were continuing with plans to divert the headwaters of the Jordan before the river reaches Israeli territory.

Israel hopes to halt Arab water diversion plans by making plain it will strike back rather than just filing routine protests.

Israeli officials believe Lebanon, Israel's northern neighbor, holds the vital key to the future of the region since it has been assigned an important role in Arab plans to divert Jordan headwaters.

LEBANON WARNED

Lebanon has been warned about participating in the scheme, official Israeli sources say.

Friday Lebanon's Parliament approved participating in the Arab plans. A pumping station will be built on the Wazzani River, a Jordan tributary inside Lebanon territory two miles from the Israeli border.

The Lebanese government was authorized to permit the entry of Arab soldiers if needed to help defend the country from Israeli attack.

Israel has warned that it will fight to prevent the diversion schemes.

Israelis also believe there will be no concerted Arab military drive until President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic withdraws his soldiers from Yemen.

Water Project Funds Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's budget message today asks for appropriations of almost $90 million for Texas water projects.

Of that amount, $69 million is asked for construction purposes. Another $2.9 million would go for planning and survey work, and $15.7 million more would be earmarked for operation and maintenance of water projects in the state.

The largest single appropriation would be for $17 million for work on the huge Sanford Dam on the Canadian River north of Amarillo.

ON RESERVOIRS
Other large amounts would be spent on the Somerville Reservoir, $6.5 million; Pat Mayse Reservoir, $5.5 million; a Texas City project, $4.1 million, and Stillhouse Hollow Reservoir, $4 million.

Among the Texas projects were these:

U. S. Army Corps of Engineers Projects:

Construction: Bardwell Reservoir, $3,687,000; Brazos Island harbor ferry repairs, $250,000; Buffalo Bayou, $3,800,000; Freeport hurricane and flood protection, $400,000; Galveston harbor and channel 40-foot project, $3,300,000; Galveston harbor jetties, $1,500,000; repair dike gulf intracoastal waterway, Port Bolivar, $350,000; 40-foot Houston Ship Channel, $2,200,000; Matagorda Ship Channel, $3,231,000; Pat Mayse Reservoir, $5,500,000; Port Arthur, $750,000; Sabine-Neches Waterway Project, $2,700,000; Sam Rayburn (McGee Bend) Reservoir, $3,775,000; Somerville Reservoir, $6,500,000; Stillhouse Hollow Reservoir, $4,000,000; Texas City, $4,100,000; Texas City channel and barge canal, $750,000; Vince and Little Vince bays, $500,000.

PLANNING SURVEY

Planning: Brazos Island harbor, $90,000; Lake Kemp Reservoir, $290,000.

Surveys: Alpine, $15,000; Blanco and San Marcos rivers, $40,000; Brazos River basin, $450,000; Freeport Harbor, $20,000; Rio River, $20,000; Guadalupe and San Antonio rivers, $35,000; Lavaca and Navidad rivers, $20,000; Neches River, $100,000; Sabine River basin, $145,000; Texas City channel and barge canal, $50,000.

Operation and maintenance, $15,667,000.

Reclamation projects:

Construction: Canadian River $17,000,000; Lower Rio Grande Mercedes division $700,000.

Investigations and surveys:

Mystery Cat Now In Bag

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—The kids heard a lot about this cat and today, well, they got to see him.

The animal is the one that crawled inside a wall in the Sand Lake Elementary School library through an inspection opening.

The cat made his presence known, all right, but he wouldn't show himself for nearly a week.

Finally, Betty Putnam, fourth-grade teacher, slipped on some gloves and pulled up a chair beside the hole.

She kept talking quietly to the cat and the animal crept closer. Suddenly Mrs. Putnam made a grab. She got what she wanted.

Today the 325 pupils at Sand Lake will look at the cat in their classrooms. All the rooms, that is, except the library.

Amistad Appropriation Of $14.5 Million Asked

WASHINGTON (AP)—Appropriation of $14,500,000 for continuing work on the Amistad Dam on the Rio Grande between Texas and Mexico, near Del Rio, was recommended in the Budget Bureau recommendations sent to Congress today by President Johnson.

The money would be spent in the year starting July 1.

With appropriation of this sum, a balance of $26.6 million would yet have to be provided as this country's share in the giant water conservation hydroelectric and flood control project. The United States is putting up slightly more than half the cost and Mexico the balance.

Commenting on the request for funds, the Budget Bureau said:

"Construction of Amistad Dam, the second major international storage structure on the Rio Grande contemplated by the 1944 water treaty, will be continued in 1966."

Reporting on progress in carrying out the Chamizal Treaty with Mexico, under which American citizens on a tract of land along the Rio Grande near El Paso are being relocated, the bureau noted that $40 million already is available for operations expected to cost $41.4 million.

"If progress indicates that additional funds can be effectively utilized in (fiscal) 1966, a recommendation for such an appropriation will be made to the Congress," the bureau added.

Violence Takes 22

By The Associated Press
Violence claimed the lives of at least 22 persons in Texas over the weekend with nine of the deaths resulting from two car-train collisions.

The total number of traffic fatalities was 16.

The Associated Press death toll started at 6 p.m. Friday and extended through midnight Sunday.

Six persons were killed Saturday when their automobile was struck by a Santa Fe passenger train six miles north of Tulsa in the Panhandle.

The victims were identified as:

James Murry Mason, 66, and his wife, Ella Mason, 63, both of rural Swisher County; their daughter, Mrs. Leonard Green, 21, of Tulsa; and her three children, Terry Lynn Green, 3, Kerry Von Green, 2, and 9-month-old Teresa Gayle Green.

The accident occurred shortly before dark Saturday.

Three teenagers were killed late Friday night in Killen as their skidding car slammed into a Santa Fe passenger train.

Three others were injured. Killed were Milburn E. Holmes, 16, Deanna Greer, 14, and Coy Yates, 19. Their fathers are U. S. Army personnel connected with Fort Hood.

SHOT AT TAVERN

William Long, 36, was shot and killed Friday night at a tavern west of Lufkin in East Texas. Police charged Clyde West, the tavern operator, with murder.

Lee Oran Eakins, 59, a carpenter from Pasadena, was killed Friday night as he walked along a highway.

Sedrick Horton, 52, was fatally injured Saturday as a car struck him as he was walking across a San Antonio street.

Rupert Kendall, 63, Parker County rancher, died early Sunday in a fire which destroyed his home nine miles northwest of Weatherford. He lived alone.

Jim E. Smither, 38, of Conroe was killed early Sunday when his parked car was rammed from the rear by another car on Interstate 45 two miles north of Conroe.

HOUSTON FIRE

Johnny Kubala died early Sunday in a fire at his home on Houston's west side. His 3-year-old daughter, Rene, was critically burned.

Willie J. Bryant, 48, of Houston was struck and killed by a car early Sunday as she attempted to cross U.S. 75 near Tammie, Montgomery County.

B. J. Nelson, 57, of Brazoria was killed early Sunday in a two-car accident three miles west of Jones Creek in Brazoria County. Charles W. Smith, 31, of Freeport was critically injured.

Mrs. Hazel Johnson Carter of McKinney died Saturday night in a two-car accident south of McKinney on Farm Road 1378.

Four other persons were injured, two critically.

Charles Thomas, 44, died early Sunday of a stab wound suffered at his Fort Worth home. Police questioned a woman.

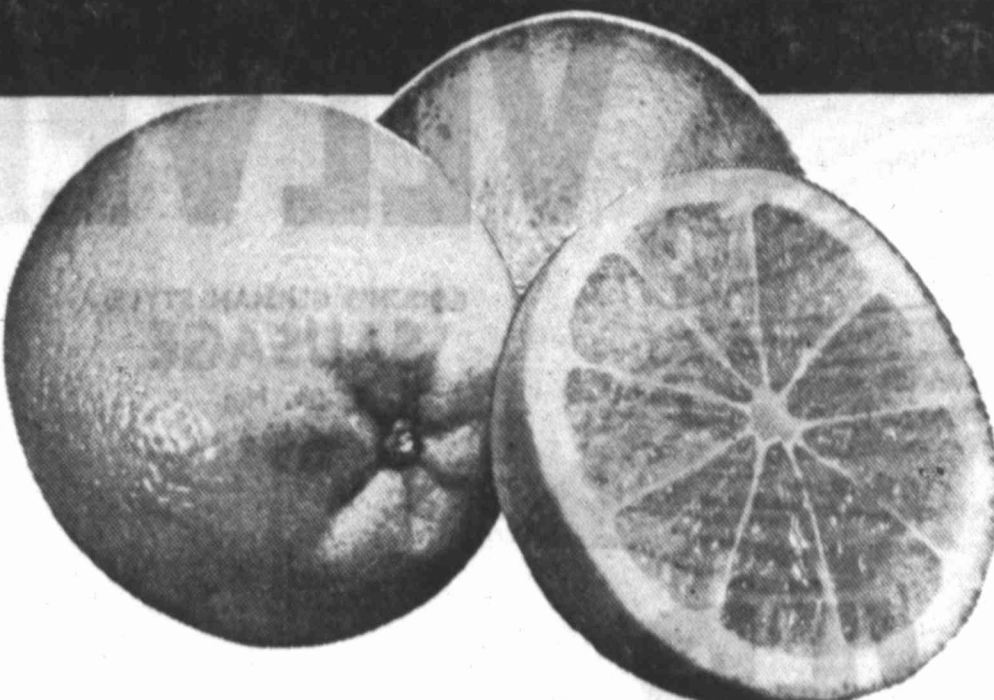

Linda Carter, 11, of Fort Worth was killed Sunday night when the car her mother was driving hit a light pole and overturned at the eastern edge of Dallas. Her sister, Freda, 6, was critically injured. Mrs. Joy Carter, their mother, was in undetermined condition at Parkland Hospital.

Peek-A-Boo Bikini Cover

An original bikini cover-costume formed by pink and yellow terry cloth stripes interlaced as a blind is a creation of the Lucrezia fashion house of Florence. It is topped with a hat of Florence straw tied around the face with a pink scarf. The creation was presented at the Florence show of Italian spring and summer fashions this week. (AP WIRE-PHOTO)

Fresh Ideas Mark New Italian Styles

By LOUISE HICKMAN
ROME (AP) — Eleanor Garnett put a few more fresh ideas into the Italian fashion picture Saturday, showing waistcoats that were capes and pierrot ruff colls that were huge and soft.

Garnett's collection and a showing by Tiziani concluded eight days of Italian spring and summer fashion openings that made pants an integral part of a woman's wardrobe — not just as slacks, but in suits, cocktail dresses and ball gowns.

Pants were also present in this last day. Garnett showed soft, fluid hostess pajamas, wide-legged, and lightly sashed with ribbon at the waist. Tiziani's pants, for beach and at-home wear, were a full, bloused style called "Zouave," a military model originally picked up in North Africa by Napoleonic troops. They're pretty feminine-looking pants, but even these were first worn by men.

Garnett's waistcoat capes fell slender and smooth from the shoulders. They were open over fake waistcoats that buttoned them close. Her pierrot colls on silk blouses and dresses were soft, and cascaded like huge jabots over the collarless necklines of jackets and coats.

Menu Announced For Forsan School

Here is the menu announced this week for the Forsan School.

TUESDAY — Hot dogs, baked potato, buttered green beans, pineapple with plain cake, butter.

WEDNESDAY — Roast with brown gravy, rice, peas and carrots, celery stick, applesauce and plain cookies.

THURSDAY — Braised beef, cabbage and carrot salad, English peas with pimentoes, lemon fluff pudding.

FRIDAY — Fish, buttered green beans, whole grain corn, banana pudding. Plain or chocolate milk served with each meal.

Garnett frequently used hair instead of hats. Crisply tied in silk print to match their dresses, they looked pretty dotted on a pill box chignon, like bees on a hive.

Famous for her ball gowns, Garnett presented two basic styles: classic ruffle-trimmed skirts with camisole bodices, closely wrapped at the waist, in print chiffon or lace, and slender chiffon gowns with matching billowing coats.

One noteworthy trend from the eight days of Italian fashion showings is the total abandonment of staple-gun fitting or rigidity in any form.

French Stylists Stir Fashion Controversy

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — French couturiers who will take the wraps off their spring collections beginning today are as divided as a pair of Andre Courreges' controversial pants about the way women should dress.

In one camp is designer Courreges himself, the shining star of last season's collections, who is convinced that today's female leads much the same kind of life as the male, and should dress like him.

Captain of the "other camp" which would like to recapture the spirit of the '30s is a soldier out of retirement, Edward Molyneux, hero of the soft, ladylike look.

Paradoxically, another hero in the battle for her ladylike is Yves Saint-Laurent. Although the long, supple skirts on his costumes last August were described as "old-fashioned and dowdy" by some of his newspaper critics. One reason why, it is said, is that he has banned the press from his openings. Their eyes have readjusted and their moods have changed.

Moreover, American designers have copied his demi-longueur, which in a kind of round robin has encouraged French couturiers to go to greater lengths this season, particularly with party costumes.

Whichever side the couturiers take, you can expect some surprises. Even Marc Bohan of Christian Dior, who stands steadfastly behind a policy of "evolution not revolution in fashion," has decided that the female wardrobe now needs a change of pace.

Bohan promises a return to the intended woman — that is, one with a bosom and a waistline accentuated by belts and a fullness of skirts. Instead of the shocking decollete, the Dior designer promises diaphanous fabrics for a naughty-but-nice effect.

A lady who has resented total change in fashion is Coco Chanel. She argues that a going business does not totally demolish itself and begin anew every six months.

Yet the dynamic, grande dame of style has promised a near total renovation of her look, doing away with her famous wools and tweeds. Her colors, she says, "will have a feeling for the United States West Coast."

Jacques Heim of the ladylike camp will say it with flowers, a morning glory silhouette, in a variety of bicolor combinations, and with knee-length hems. Yellow will be a continuing theme. Many of his surprises will be in the form of accessories — pastel stockings, for instance, and matching pastel shoes.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Boy Scout Emblems Fastened With Tape

Dear Heloise:

As the mother of three boys, who are Scouts, I would like to pass this tip along to other mothers.

When sewing on those badges and emblems, just stitch iron-on tape (sticky side out) to the back of the badge and press the badge on the uniform.

When sewing the tape onto the badges, I place waxed paper under the tape so it will not stick to the metal on the machine.

I also tack down the corners of the badges because they have a way of coming up after a few times in the dryer.

When you have to remove the emblems, press them, and while they're still hot, very gently pull off. The uniform is ready for a reunion.

Arriving from Waco were Mrs. Bill Roche and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Murray and their three sons, Jeffrey, Billy and Richard. Mr. and Mrs. Merle Pellusch of Catar, Arabian Gulf, have been here as houseguests of the Clark's since before Christmas. Their daughters, Jana and Cynthia, are staying here with the Clark's to attend school.

Others in the Clark home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Biddison and their children, Gregory, Tom, Martin, Leisha and Loanne, and Barbara Clark, who recently returned from California.

MP Draws Players To Club Game

It was Master Point day at Cosden Country Club Sunday when eight and one half tables of bridge players met for duplicate games in the afternoon.

North-south winners were Mrs. Tom South and Mrs. Hayes Stripling, first; Mrs. Ron Kibler and Mrs. Riley Foster, second; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Hudson Landers, third; and Mrs. J. Gordon Bristow and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, fourth.

Winners in the east-west position were Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish, first; Mrs. Ben McCullough and George Pike, second; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. Fred Kasch, third; and Mrs. Hayden Griffith and Mrs. J. H. Parks, fourth.

Service Held By NCO Unit

Mrs. William Wheeler was installed as president of the NCO Wives Club Saturday evening during a candlelight ceremony in the NCO Open Mess.

A social hour preceded the installation and dinner. In the receiving line were M. Sgt. and Mrs. Lorn Kenitzer, M. Sgt. and Mrs. Wheeler and two guest couples, Col. and Mrs. G. E. Franks and Col. and Mrs. E. L. Masters. Mrs. Masters conducted the installation ceremony, and received a white carnation corsage as did Mrs. Franks and the retiring and incoming officers.

Serving with Mrs. Wheeler will be Mrs. James Pettit, first vice president; Mrs. Sherwood Griffith, second vice president; Mrs. H. L. Kernan, secretary; and Mrs. Joe T. Smith, secretary.

Mrs. Wheeler announced and introduced her committee chairman who are Mrs. Marion Carter, publicity; Mrs. Patrick Harvey, Thrift Shop; Mrs. Robert Prugh, membership; Mrs.

G. E. Krepps, ways and means; Mrs. Edward Sorenson, hospital; Mrs. Kenitzer, nursery; Mrs. Johnnie Clements, welfare; Mrs. Donald Nevils, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Willis Parker, special entertainment.

Members were reminded that tomorrow evening Mrs. Clyde Angel will be the honored guest at the social meeting at the NCO Open Mess where she will present a book review.

Following the dinner, members and their husbands remained for an evening of dancing.

Mrs. Gomez Honored At Open House Affair

Mrs. Leo Gomez was honored on her birthday Saturday with a surprise open house hosted by her husband in their home at 1101 Ridgeroad. Mrs. Gomez has been confined to her home since September when she sustained a broken leg.

Mrs. Joe Block of Silver City, N. M., a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Gomez, assisted in receiving guests who called from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Mrs. Harold Bell presented the honoree with a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The focal point of the refreshment table was a large birthday cake decorated with lavender roses and topped with a miniature figure of a woman in a wheel chair. Crystal and silver appointments were used for serving.

A Devotional For The Day

I will say of the Lord, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God, in him will I trust. (Psalms 91:2)
PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, in the quietness of these moments of meditation we turn our thoughts to Thee. In the work of our daily life may we ever think of Thee, whose we are and whom we serve. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.
(From the 'Upper Room')

On The Record

The Appendix of the Congressional Record is a constant source of wonder, if not of delight. During a session of Congress it becomes the repository of a strange mishmash of the significant, the mediocre and the downright trivial—all printed at the taxpayers' expense, though not necessarily to their edification.

This springs from the fact that there is virtually no limit on what a member of Congress may cause to be printed in the Appendix as an "extension of remarks." If he wants to include the speech of the salutatorian at Podunk High School's graduation exercises or a constituent's essay about bird watching on the shores of Lake Beapond, in they go.

The Appendix is off to the races in good form again this year. The Record for the convening day, though slim, regaled its readers with one member's tribute to "the former principal of the first school which I attended."

By the fourth day of the session, a fatter Appendix was including such items (put in by no less a personage than the House speaker) as the detailed program of a luncheon and ceremony noting the 101st anniversary of the Gettysburg Address. Another tidbit was a Texas constituent's essay entitled "Autumn in Full Glory" and starting off, "Ever since I was a boy, I have wanted to write a discourse on autumn."

Finally he did, and the Congressional Record printed it. Isn't that nice?

Powell's Far-Out Proposal

As chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., has potent veto powers over labor legislation. But as a congressman without much influence outside his Harlem district he has little positive power to push bills to final passage.

That is fortunate, so far as his latest proposals are concerned. Rep. Powell has announced he will introduce bills to raise the federal minimum wage from $1.25 to $2 over a three year period and to reduce the federal standard work week from 40 to 32 hours over a two-year period.

Powell's proposals not only go far beyond anything the Johnson administration is likely to support—and its support is essential for any labor legislation to pass—it is also much more than the AFL-CIO is asking. If his wages-and-hours bills should unexpectedly become law, the predictable results would be inflation without any substantial reduction in unemployment.

An abrupt hike in the minimum wage and cut in the work week would be more likely to cost jobs by wrecking small and marginal businesses and industries, and to trigger inflationary overtime payments, than to increase jobs and total real income.

Powell's proposals are, in short, those of a political demagogue rather than a liberal economist. The 99th Congress can be expected to give them short shrift.

Parkhouse A Battler In Legislature

By BOB HORTON
DALLAS (AP) — Former Gov. Allan Shivers once jokingly described him as "an even-tempered man — mad all the time."

Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe said "his heart is big and his sympathy for the underdog is easily aroused."

This is Sen. George Parkhouse, 64, one of the most outspoken legislators to serve for Dallas in the Texas Legislature, and lately embroiled in a feud with Fort Worth over an airport issue.

PARKHOUSE, executive of an outdoor advertising company, ran head-on with Fort Worth legislators over a bill to create a North Central Texas airport authority in Tarrant County. Other counties, by voter approval, could join the authority.

The bill, proposed by Sen. Don Kennard and Rep. Tommy Shannon, was introduced in the dispute between Dallas and Fort Worth over the designation of a regional airport for North Central Texas.

The Civil Aeronautics Board has ordered the two cities to get together in selecting a joint site by March 28, or have the federal agency make the decision.

FORT WORTH would like its Greater Southwest International Airport designated the regional terminal. Dallas wants no designation of a regional airport, or, if there is to be a label at all, says Love Field in Dallas should be selected.

Parkhouse says Kennard's bill is just "power play" by Fort Worth officials "to please the CAB."

In the typical way Parkhouse minces no words, he said:

"Fort Worth wants to go to the CAB and tell them they tried but that big so-and-so from Dallas killed their bill."

"I'M NOT going to kill their bill. I just want to take Dallas out of it." By that, Parkhouse says, he means to amend the bill so that the powers of the proposed airport authority would be limited to Tarrant County.

He points to language in the bill which says the authority is intended "to provide for the most economical and effective use of aeronautical facilities in this region." That, the senator says, is too broad.

Whatever the outcome of the controversy, nobody in Dallas is complaining that George Parkhouse has failed to keep up.

ON OTHER MATTERS, Parkhouse strategy has pushed through a number of bills.

He has handled several Dallas projects, including establishment of Southwestern Medical Center and creation of the Dallas Independent School District.

Some people consider Parkhouse the leading proponent of water conservation in Texas. He has served as chairman of the water committee since heading the statewide group that first drafted Texas' revised water conservation laws.

He also wrote the Texas right-to-work law.

PARKHOUSE, son of a Cisco cotton gin owner, grew up in Dallas, where he earned spending money by selling theater advertising slides after school.

He chose the advertising business as his future, starting with the modest assignment of driving a truck loaded with billboards. Today he holds an executive post with Middleton Inc., a major Dallas advertising firm.

Parkhouse was elected to the Texas House of Representatives in the 1930s, served five terms and in 1950 was elevated to the Senate. Since then he has won more senatorial elections than any other Dallas candidate.

Billy Graham

When I see old and feeble people on the streets I become tormented by the possibility of becoming useless and a burden to everyone. How can I overcome this?

E. W.
The length of your life is God's business, but how you use it is your business. The life span in America is being extended, but the average period of usefulness is longer also. Many at seventy and eighty and older are making contributions to their families or to society. Some old people are a burden, but most of them are a blessing.

A questionnaire given to a group of elderly people revealed that for the majority, the happiest period of their lives was not in their teens, or in their twenties, but after they were fifty. The last of life can be the best, for many of us. Older people often find a peace and calm which they had not known when they were young. How do they do it?

1. With the passing years they gain perspective. They appreciate things of eternal value. They do not allow themselves to become irritated by petty annoyances.

2. They enjoy hobbies which were crowded out of their earlier days because of business or desire for financial security.

3. In the period of greatest activity they never found time for much reading. Now they can leisurely gain new insights and knowledge. They come to know the Bible better, and to understand and trust the truths revealed in its pages.

Why waste your life in useless worry? Fear poisons not only the mind but the body. It may bring on the very diseases which you wish to escape.

Fill your mind with thoughts of others. Seek new ways to bring happiness to those about you. Draw close to God, and to our Savior, Jesus Christ. Then, if infirmities do come, God will show you how to use even these for His glory.

James Marlow Symbol Of Ageless Search For Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — For a thousand years, the descendants of this century's generations will examine the life of Sir Winston Churchill to find why he was one of the most beloved figures in history.

They should have no trouble. They will read his speeches, they will look at television reruns of the chubby man in a derby poking around battlefields with a cane, they will grin at his growl.

But, they will understand him, just as the outnumbered Greeks at Marathon would have understood him 400 years before Christ, for he was and will remain the contemporary man of all seasons.

HE WAS more than the symbol of the unquenchable human spirit's determination to die rather than submit. His enemy, Hitler, had that in a perverted kind of way: he shot himself when the Allies were closing in.

Churchill was more than a symbol of the ageless search for victory in the ashes of disaster. So was Napoleon, as the world learned to its regret in his last blood-soaked journey from Elba to Waterloo.

He was a symbol of something else, too, just as precious and discernible in those years of the 1940s when the world was consumed by fright and fury in the oven of war.

It was his ever-present and always over-riding hope that life could be better than man's endless savagery might indicate or, perhaps, even deserve.

He put it this way: "The future towards which we are marching, across bloody fields and frightful manifestations of destruction, must surely be based upon the broad and simple virtues and upon the nobility of mankind."

NOT THAT he had any illusions about mankind. He simply had the hope that with enough time and sufficient chance men might do better.

For he also said: "I believe that, generally speaking, given free institutions on a fair basis, the best side of man's nature will in the end surely come out."

He had limits of his own, even in the field of the free institutions he dreamed of, for to preserve the British Empire he opposed independence for India. But his limits and defects were not enough to match his virtues.

The people of good will in his time saw in him a kind of human being they would be glad to be: the wit, the eloquence, the courage, the persistence against adversity, and the belief in the future.

They saw something else also and this was the essence of Churchill: He was a civilized and compassionate man who cherished peace through reason but was realistic enough to know sometimes only strength could make it possible.

This can be seen best when he is painted against the shadow of the other two most famous figures of the modern age: Hitler and Napoleon. One was a leader, the others were conquerors.

Churchill said: "In my country public men are proud to be the servants of the state and would be ashamed to be its masters."

Here's why actors hate to perform in winter: For every 100 people in a theater audience, there are 2½ coughs a minute.

The American Humane Association is offering $10,000 in awards for inventors who can create new wild animal traps that will catch or kill their victims without the suffering caused by present traps.

One way to gain fame would be to get hit by a "falling star," but it has never happened — at least as far as science can find.

But millions of these fiery meteoric fragments streak into our atmosphere daily, and add two million tons to the earth's weight annually.

Around The Rim

Easy Come, Easy Go

One thing and another:

I have no time for those bleeding hearts who make a case for those one-time show business and athletic greats who weren't able to hold onto their loot.

For some reason, the crusaders reason that mankind or more particularly their former employers owe them a living and a high standard of living for ever after.

One alleged actor, who to me anyway, accepted money under false pretenses from the beginning, admits he ran through $2 million. He can't get a job now because his muscles have become paunches.

An athlete who extracted hundreds of thousands of dollars ultimately came to a parting of the way with the management because he was no longer projecting a favorable image, yet the club owners were blubbing out to the whipping boys by blubbing elements of the press and other news media.

WITH INSTRUCTIONS like that, how could the postman miss.

I see where a letter mailed from East Africa was delivered successfully in Ipswich, England, bearing an address which read:

"To Mr. Dan Wyart, an old gentleman who walks with a stick, and lives with a sister or a niece at Ipswich, Suffolk, England."

YOU DOUBT that it's a woman's world?

Someone remarked recently that when a man is first ushered into this old world, people ask how the mother is doing; when he marries, they're prone to remark, "What a lovely bride she makes" (and, likely as not, "How could she go for a sad apple like him?"); and when he dies, they echo about, "How much did he leave her?"

I DON'T KNOW but what mankind would be better off if "his" and "hers" roads were built for modern traffic. The ancient Romans were very realistic about their problem. They passed a law that made it illegal for women to drive chariots.

I HAD A FORTUNE teller say to me one time:

"You'll be poor and unhappy until you're 40."

"And what about after that," I asked breathlessly.

"You'll be used to it by then," the soothsayer said.

Emergence Of Negroes In Society

WASHINGTON — Sociological news sometimes blends significantly with political news. On the night of the inauguration, President Johnson and Vice President Humphrey and their wives attended five lavish balls in different parts of the national capital. While Negroes have been guests at many a social function of the Republican or Democratic party in the past, the number attending the Democratic party celebrations here this week was far in excess to anything witnessed heretofore.

THE NEGRO COUPLES were as well dressed as any of the whites, and they usually danced only with each other. At the Sheraton-Park Hotel this correspondent observed one exception, though there may have been others not noticed in the big crowds at this or the balls going on simultaneously in four other locations in the city. The Negroes for the most part stayed in small groups apart from the rest of the celebrants. Maybe this was due to the fact that, because of the large attendance, people were inclined to mingle and dance with their friends anyhow.

IN THE inaugural parade also there was integration. Every military unit seemed to have its percentage of Negroes marching with white youths in uniform. Personnel of the orchestras at the inaugural balls, however, were all-white or all-Negro. In the restaurants and hotels, there was a considerable patronage by Negro women in fashionable attire accompanied by Negro escorts in formal dress.

THE POPULATION of Washington is 58 per cent Negro, but only in the last two or three years has there been any effort to develop really big political organizations among Negroes here. So it can be assumed that a large percentage of the Negro guests at the inaugural celebrations came from other parts of the country. Many Negroes in business and the professions today are affluent, and Negroes occupy important posts in local governments which naturally bring them within the political circle. But in these days of emphasis on "equal opportunity," there apparently is still a "racial imbalance" at social functions.

THERE IS, of course, very evident nowadays in most states movements designed to eliminate discrimination, particularly in political fields. This is true also in the theater, and especially in television, where a palpable effort is made to put Negro performers on the stage whenever possible. It has not been uncommon for Negro singers, dancers and comedians to be featured, but only in recent months have Negro women been given prominence in plays with white men or women. Programs on TV thus far have not included dramas in which love affairs involving a Negro and a white person have been portrayed. In theaters in New York City, however, there recently have been several such shows in which the leading players have been Negro and white. The audiences, moreover, are more mixed than they ever have been.

SO FAR AS official life here is concerned, hosts and hostesses who have any connection with a political party or the government usually invite Negro couples. This correspondent has observed a politeness and warmth of greeting at such affairs which would make a foreign observer wonder if much of what he has been reading on the subject of racial discrimination hasn't been somewhat exaggerated.

Books As Historical Fragments

WASHINGTON — Nobody with so many book-writing friends has any right to go around ignorant these days. With Congress getting cranked up, and the weather nipping, you can hang up your feet and gather knowledge from busy brains like these:

IN "RED STAR Over Africa," Anthony Harrigan puts together a frightening, enlightening directory of the Communist leaders and movements there, along with a road map of some oases of hope—if only we had the policy and the gumption to cultivate these fertile places.

In "The Agony of the GOP 1964" Robert Novak gives us what might be subtitled, "The Last Days of the Republican Party." He does this by the occupation of ground—the whole period of 1960-64—which other campaign historians have not used to advantage, and by merciless biographical accounts of how, one by one, the Republican leaders became grave-diggers for their own careers.

NIXON TOOK SWIG after swig of hemlock when he lost to Governor Brown in California, blubbered through a "last press conference," moved to New York and then made faint-hearted passes at the '64 nomination. Rockefeller's murderous thrusts at Nixon in '60 and at Goldwater in '64 left lethal wounds in his own bosom, and he gave himself the coup de grace with his remarriage. Goldwater climbed to the heights with his San Francisco nomination and then hurled himself down by snubbing first his beaten adversaries and then his faithful friends. No party, this column has declared, and Novak proves it with this grisly post-mortem.

WILLIAM S. WHITE in "Home Place" writes stylishly about the House of Representatives and most wisely, I think, in his chapter on the Rules Committee, which is slowly being hacked into powerlessness. The committee's "capacity for obstruction," he points out, is also the "capacity for taking long thoughts." Pretty soon Congress will have to get along without this invaluable safety device.

THREE BOOKS to reach my desk are for "togetherness" in the biggest possible way, and a fourth is dead against it. Livingston Hartley in "Atlantic Challenge" sees "political integration" encompassing both shores of that ocean as the best hope of the West against the East. Rene Albrecht-Carrie in "One Europe" is another international integrationist, and Richard N. Gardner goes the whole hog for universal integration in "In Pursuit of World Order."

IN "RED PAWN," Flora Lewis gives us the story of Noel Field, the wealthy young dilettante in world politics, who thought he saw the "decay" of the West and the coming prevalence of world communism. His disappearance in 1949 from a Prague hotel and the Communists' use of him as a "pawn" is more than a grim tale of international intrigue. As the author writes, it is "the pattern of a world in agony and of bewildering pitfalls for men of good will who tried to walk a hopeful road . . ."

Nobody can personally experience or report all the convulsions of the living history in which we, the living, are both actors and spectators. But books by the hundreds—very few of them wholly useless—bring us fragments of what must be the strangest age that man ever lived through.

A Temper

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A kick that missed its target brought a 21-year-old woman into Ohio State University Hospital, police said.

She was treated for a severe foot laceration, they reported, and explained that, in trying to kick her husband, her foot went wide of the mark and through a storm door.

Falling Things

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — A falling wash tub cut the head of Fort Pierce pharmacist Joseph Adair. Adair said after two stitches closed his scalp wound that he was rummaging around in an utility room when he accidentally nudged the tub off a wall-pipe where it hung.

Dear Abby

It Was The Wrong Gift

DEAR ABBY: A good friend of mine came to me with a problem, and not knowing how to advise her, I am writing to you. Her gentleman friend gave her a fur jacket for Christmas. It smelled awful and one of the buttons was missing. The lining looked frayed around the collar, and worse yet, it was several sizes too large for her. She asked where he got it so she could exchange it for one her size, but he wouldn't tell her. He keeps asking her when she is going to wear it. She thinks the world of this fellow and hates to hurt his feelings, but she says she couldn't wear that jacket anywhere. What should she do? A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: She should tell him that she appreciates his thoughtfulness, but she isn't able to wear the jacket because it is much too large for her. And if she really "thinks the world of him," she might confide that if he paid for a new jacket, he got skunked.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mediocre piano player who fancies himself as an accomplished musician and, while a guest in someone's home, would strike a few chords and exclaim (in a voice fortissimo), "OH, FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE, WHEN WAS THIS PIANO TUNED LAST?"

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I would say he had a good ear and bad manners. P.S. Someone should tell the host (in a voice fortissimo) to get the piano tuned.

DEAR ABBY: I am an ex-service woman. After World War II I took my discharge in the Philippines and accepted a civil service job in Japan. At that time my sister called me a "vagabond" and urged me to come home. I didn't, and I loved Japan. A few years later I wrote and told her I was taking a foreign job with the Navy in Guam. She replied, "What do you want to go to a place like THAT for?" I went and I had a ball.

Last year, when I accepted a job in Alaska, I phoned my sister long distance and she yelled so loudly I had to hold the receiver a foot away from my ear.

This year I am faced with having to tell my sister I have another job offer in Hong Kong. I need the money and crave the adventure. My sister is getting on in years and I don't want to upset her. Please advise.

GLOBE-TROTTER

DEAR GLOBE-TROTTER: So far you've done an excellent job of leading an exciting and independent life. I don't know what you owe your sister, but you owe yourself more. Do what you want to do. And don't feel guilty.

Shale Study Funds Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President asked Congress today for more than a million dollars to finance oil shale research.

The $1,033,000 is up $10,000 over this year's spending.

The added funds would be used by the Bureau of Mines to prepare for a field-test program involving the heating of oil shale so as to produce oil without having to first mine the shale.

"If successful," the Interior Department said, "this technique would be of great economic benefit in areas where the shale is of too low a grade or where costs for the shale make mining a marginal operation."

Vast oil shale reserves are in Colorado, Wyoming and some other Western states.

An advisory board studying the problem of development of the oil shale reserves on federal lands is expected to report by next Monday.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(to 1945; By The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
K 8 7 5 3 2 ♠ 6 3 ♣ K J 9 7

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Four spades. Now that spades have been raised you have a chance to become worth 14 points (counting one for the fifth spade and two for the sixth). No further pressure should be placed on partner.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
AK 10 3 ♠ 5 ♠ AJ 10 9 4 ♠ A 8 6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Two spades. This hand is technically a shade short of the requirements for a reverse which normally shows 19 points, but all your points are of "top drawer" quality and you have very good intermediate cards. Furthermore, there is no satisfactory alternative rebid.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
AK 2 ♠ K Q 2 ♠ J 10 7 ♠ K 10 3 2

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—Two spades. Any stronger bid would be highly indicative. Partner has merely responded the bidding and his action may have been dictated by a reluctance to permit the opposition to buy the contract at such a bargain price. If he does hold sound values, your call will induce him to bid further.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
J ♠ AK Q 10 9 ♠ AJ 8 7 6 5 2

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A—The normal procedure at this point would be to rebid the hearts showing five hearts and at least six diamonds. However, we feel that a rebid of four diamonds may produce better results on this particular hand for, if partner is able to raise to five, we can bid a slam with a reasonable assurance of making it. A rebid of four hearts may induce partner to pass with some mediocre hand containing fair diamond support.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
K 10 5 ♠ 6 3 ♠ A 5 4 3 2 ♠ J 10 2

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Double ?
1 ♠ Double ?

What do you bid?
A—One no trump. On hands of this type, it is advisable to get into the bidding while it is convenient to show partner that you are in possession of moderate values. This may enable him to continue the fight if the opposition offers further competition.

Q. 6—The opponents have a 40-point score, and as South you hold:
K 2 ♠ A 10 2 ♠ AQ 4 3 2 ♠ 10 6 5

Your right hand opponent opens with one spade.

What do you bid?
A—Double. This department does not normally induce a take-out double of one spade on such meager values, since you are forcing partner to show his suit at the two level. However, considerations of score dictate a strategic bid at this point. While there is a definite risk in doubling, if you pass and West raises to two spades, you will then be faced with the dilemma of either permitting the opponents to get vulnerable very cheaply or forcing partner to bid at the three level.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
AJ 10 7 6 3 ♠ Q 10 7 5 4 ♠ 6 ♠ K 8

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
3 ♠ 3 NT Pass ?

What do you bid?
A—Pass. Don't be a nursemaid. Partner's overall puts him strictly on his own. Had he been interested in hearing about the majors, he would have doubled.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
K 7 3 ♠ AJ 10 6 4 ♠ A 9 8 6 5

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
A—Three no trump. While this call is somewhat awkward with at least six diamonds. However, we feel that a rebid of four diamonds may produce better results on this particular hand for, if partner is able to raise to five, we can bid a slam with a reasonable assurance of making it. A rebid of four

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Cards Serve Purpose, Restrooms Requested

To The Editor:

About 30 days ago, there appeared in the paper an appeal for at least one million used and unwanted Christmas cards, which would be sent to Mrs. Lillian B. Dickson, a missionary in Taipei, Formosa (Free China). There, the missionaries stamp a Bible verse in Chinese on the back of each card and give them out in outdoor Sunday school as a reward when a child memorizes the verse, thus sowing the Word in young hearts. The cards are also given out among the lepers, and among the aborigines in the mountains, to promote good will among these people and acquaint them with the American way of life. The missionaries feel that these bright Christmas cards have brought more joy to the ordinary people of Formosa in the past than has U. S. government aid.

The members of Frontier

Lodge No. 43, a subordinate lodge in the Order Knights of Pythias at 1407 Lancaster, are always looking for an opportunity to promote friendship, charity and benevolence among all people. The appeal for used Christmas cards gave us this type of opportunity, so we asked for aid from any church which might desire to work with us. After discussing this program with some of our local pastors, they graciously consented to mention our program to their congregations. As a result, there are 14 boxes, containing 600 cards each, on their way to Formosa. A package such as this, properly marked as "Used Christmas Cards," or "Printed Matter Only—Of No Value," and not weighing over six pounds and nine ounces, can be shipped at a special rate. Therefore, these 4,800 cards were shipped to Formosa for only $21.81. Considering the fact that these beautiful Christmas cards were going to be discarded in the first place, don't you agree that this is a very economical way to spread the Word of God and promote good will among our Chinese friends?

Some of our churches have a program like this between themselves and their missionaries. To those who do not, we invite you to think on these things.

Sincerely,
David J. Hopper

YMCA Member Drive Begins

The kickoff meeting for the YMCA's participating membership campaign has been set for 5:15 p.m. today at the Y, with some 85 workers expected to attend to pick up their prospect cards.

James Tidwell, YMCA president, is scheduled to speak to the workers. Heading the drive are four groups engaged in the drive are John Berry, James Calmes, Dr. Charles Warren and Frank Hardesty. Report meetings will be scheduled as the campaign progresses.

Pete Cook is heading the campaign for the overall membership drive which provides operating funds for the YMCA. Work will involve contacting current members to renew, and enlisting new members.

Curtis Mullins, general secretary, said only $2,481 had been reported from workers in the sustaining membership drive. The goal is $10,500, with the remainder of this week to go.

Goal for the participating membership workers is $15,000, and Clyde McMahon Sr. is chairman for the section.

Red Factories Break More Party Harness

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—East European Communist factory managers and economists have broken many party shackles hampering industrial independence and their uprising has swept across the frontier into the Soviet Union.

The Communist theorists who felt that all branches of industry down to the tiniest corner grocery could be run best according to a party plan drafted at headquarters are rapidly changing their views. "Private initiative" is spreading wider and wider in the Communist production system.

SLAVS LED

Independent Yugoslavia led years ago in loosening the party reins, and now has gone a step farther. Parliament is demanding, and getting, a speed-up. East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Romania are all moving into the first stages of decentralized planning. Romania in fact is well along. Result: Romanian industrial production has increased a steady 13 percent annually for five years, ahead of any other Socialist state, including the U.S.S.R.

"Romania made an initial experiment with central planning and it proved so disastrous that a change was made soon after the start," says Stefan Gabor, deputy chairman of the State Planning Committee.

TEXTILE PLANT

Asked to outline how a textile factory works out its production and sales program and its relationship with distributors in Bucharest, he puts it this way: "There is much direct contact between the plant and the store managers. If a certain line of textiles is not moving, production is stopped and a new line developed."

"The plant manager is permitted to revise quality and types of product as he wishes in order to produce goods which will sell," he says. "There is no use producing items for the warehouses."

There is a monthly meeting between production and store managers on one side and government planning and financial officials on the other. That way the government and party keep a hand in. Over-all targets are given, but the local managers are largely on their own in working them out.

To Western businessmen this sounds relatively normal. But it is a radical change for most Communist areas.

SHOWS UNEASINESS

The whole effort reflects growing uneasiness about old Communist economic methods. They are not working well.

As described to me by planners in Czechoslovakia, the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia, East Germany and more recently in Romania, the essentials are these:

1. Central planning of all industry is being cut back to include only general objectives.

2. Individual plants whose every movement, every design, formerly had to be cleared through the central planning authority, now make many of their own plans.

3. The plant managers who do well get higher awards and can pay their employees more.

4. In the long run — and perhaps not so long — it is likely to have a strong impact on the position of the party leaders, especially at the grass roots level.

Distributors Are Told Of Gains For Pearl Beer

SAN ANTONIO—Chiff "Slim" Proffitt, Pearl Beer distributor for the Big Spring area, attended Pearl Brewing Company's annual distributors' convention, held last week in San Antonio.

Occasion was Pearl's annual distributors' convention where wholesalers, drawn from Pearl's five state marketing area, were in San Antonio for their annual two-day sales meeting.

President Otto A. Koehler announced 1964 was the best in Pearl's 79-year history, and Datus E. Proper, executive vice president, said combined sales from the San Antonio and St. Joseph, Mo., breweries last year totaled 1,692,719 barrels. This is 5.89 per cent total sales increase over 1963.

For the eleventh straight year Pearl captured the largest share of the Texas beer market.

A. J. Range, vice president and general manager, outlining corporate objectives, announced a 50 per cent expansion of brewing capacity at the San Antonio plant now is on the drawing boards for the near future.

Salvation Army Banquet Slated

Tickets for the annual Salvation Army banquet are now on sale by board members or may be had by calling the Salvation Army office at the Dora Roberts Center.

Dr. L. L. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Midland for the past decade, will be the speaker. Dr. Morris has been cited in the past by the Freedoms Foundation for his speaking.

The affair will be held in Dora Roberts Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College the evening of Feb. 2.

Burglars Enter Paradise Inn

A burglary was reported at the Paradise Inn, 500 NW 3rd, sometime Sunday. The front door to the firm was broken open and about $15 reported taken, police said.

Two boys, 17 and 15 years old, were in city jail today on charges of theft over $5, after they were arrested Sunday.

They were following a report they had left a Coahoma service station without paying for gas.

A. R. Doss Jr., Odessa, reported an overnight bag was taken from his car while it was parked Sunday in the 1600 block of East Fourth. Two tires, a radio and speaker were reported taken from a pickup parked in the 1900 block of West US 80 Sunday.

U.N. Assembly Recess Possible

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant reportedly favors a two-month recess of the U.N. General Assembly if necessary to avoid a Soviet-American showdown over the Russians' vote in the assembly.

Diplomatic sources said that Thant would seek a recess to gain time for further negotiations if he failed to settle the dispute now. He is awaiting replies from two big powers to the latest proposal for a settlement.

A showdown can come whenever the assembly finishes its eight-week-old general policy debate, stops its voting moratorium and starts voting to elect a steering committee and adopt an agenda. The general debate should end Tuesday.

CHARTER PENALTY

The dispute concerns the U.N. Charter penalty of loss of vote for two years' non-payment of dues. The nub of it is whether the Russians should pay roughly $21.7 million before they are cleared of the penalty, or whether the penalty will be waived before they say how much they will pay.

Informed diplomats said the newest proposal would allow the Russians to vote after vaguely promising a "substantial contribution." At the same time it would safeguard the Americans' right to call for the penalty if the subsequent Soviet contribution fell short.

Article 19 of the U.N. Charter says any member two years behind in its total assessments "shall have no vote in the assembly."

FAR BEHIND

The Soviet Union and 12 other countries are that far behind for refusing to pay peacekeeping assessments voted by the assembly. They contend the Congo and Middle East operations should have been financed by Security Council action.

Texas Day Spring-Like

By The Associated Press

Mild, spring-like weather prevailed over most of Texas today but a new cold front was expected to bring snow to the Panhandle tonight or early Tuesday.

A double-barreled Pacific-Canadian blast that chilled the state over the weekend blew itself out Sunday.

Early morning temperatures today were mostly in the 40s and 50s, with some Gulf Coast points reporting readings in the low 60s.

Highs today were expected to reach into the 60s and 70s.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast showers for tonight and Tuesday in Central and East Texas.

The new front is expected to drop temperatures in East and North Texas by Tuesday.

Maximum readings Sunday afternoon ranged from 76 at Presidio to 54 at Dallas. Other highs were Fort Worth 55, Amarillo 67 and Lubbock 70.

LBJ Budget Highlights Are Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are textual highlights of President Johnson's budget message to Congress today:

— The budget supports a massive defense establishment of steadily growing power, within reduced outlays.

— Our international and space programs are being advanced at a satisfactory rate, but with smaller increases than in earlier years.

— A large part of the funds for needed program expansion have come from savings, reductions and economies in other parts of the budget.

— Total administrative budget expenditures are being held to $99.7 billion in 1966. Although expenditures will rise they will decline as a per cent of the Gross National Product — to less than 15 per cent, the lowest ratio achieved in 15 years.

RECEIPTS INCREASE
— Administrative budget receipts are expected to increase in 1966 to $94.4 billion. This is $3.2 billion over the estimated level for 1965. The resulting deficit of $5.3 billion is a billion dollars lower than the 1965 deficit, marking continued progress toward a balanced budget.

— On a consolidated cash basis, total payments to the public are estimated at $127.4 billion in 1966. Total receipts are estimated at $123.5 billion, resulting in a net excess of payments of $3.9 billion.

— I plan recommendations to repeal some excise taxes and reduce others. These changes should become effective July 1, 1965. They will reduce tax liabilities on a full-year basis by $1.75 billion. Revenues collected by the Treasury in 1966 will be reduced by $1.5 billion.

— I am recommending prompt enactment of a hospital insurance program for elderly persons. This program should be self-financing, with a combined employer-employee payroll contribution of 0.6 per cent on the first $5,600 of income to start in calendar year 1966.

— I am also recommending an increase from $4,800 to $5,600 in the wage base on which Social Security taxes are paid.

— The estimated cost of completing the interstate highway system has recently been increased by $5.8 billion. To avoid serious delay in completing the system, while remaining on a pay-as-you-go basis, I will include in my excise tax proposals specific recommendations for increasing certain highway user charges.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION
— To encourage long-overdue improvements in surface transportation in our densely populated areas, I will propose a comprehensive program of technical research and development on high-speed, intercity surface transport. As a first step, we will begin demonstrations of possible improvements in existing rail passenger services in the northeast corridor of the nation.

— Significant postal deficits are now estimated in the current and future years. A panel of distinguished citizens will consider whether certain postal rates should be increased.

— Revitalized federal leadership through a new department of housing and urban development will be coupled with increased emphasis on comprehensive local planning.

— Our objective is to mobilize local, state and federal resources in a coordinated effort to assist the poor. The 1966 budget provides for almost doubling the new obligatory authority and quadrupling the expenditures for this effort.

Crop Support Payouts Cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas farmers receive almost one out of every five dollars the federal government spends to support crop prices.

A government report issued today showed that during the fiscal year that ended last June 30, Texas growers received $402,272,000—the highest of any state—of the total $2,674,145,000 Uncle Sam spent on crop price supports.

The report added that about two-thirds of the total the Agriculture Department disperses goes to growers in 10 states. Cotton supports took the largest amount used in bolstering prices of any of the crops, $1,297,463,000. Wheat took $290,974,000 and peanuts, $40,716,000.

NRECA Makes Bid For Tripled Power

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — The general manager of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association asked the government today to more than triple its power production by 1980.

Panel Hearing Period Arrives

AUSTIN (AP) — Committee hearings of the 59th Legislature begin today as senators and representatives start the third week of the regular session.

However, a quick adjournment of formal legislative sessions is expected to give way to the "victory" dinner of Texas Democrats tonight and the inauguration of Gov. John Connally and Lt. Gov. Preston Smith Tuesday followed by a public reception at the Executive Mansion.

Wednesday morning Connally will make his traditional address to a joint session and on Thursday Speaker Ben Barnes is scheduled to announce the makeup of House committees—the final organizational step of this session.

Auto Racer Foyt In Houston Hospital

HOUSTON (AP) — A. J. Foyt was in Methodist Hospital today for further treatment of injuries he suffered in a Riverside, Calif., auto race accident a week ago.

An afternoon panel will discuss problems of the pre-school program. Mrs. Ray McKinnon, of the Jack and Jill Kindergarten, will be chairman, with the panel composed of Mrs. Juanita Speer, Midland; Mrs. Lucy McAdams, Odessa; Mrs. Gene Combs, Big Spring; and Mrs. Larrie Shillingburg, Big Spring.

Included in the Permian Basin association meeting will be day care center operators from Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Kermit, Rankin and Pecos.
