Dallas Clearing Its Throat For A Mighty Shout Of Welcome To West Texans

(Special To Avalanche)

DALLAS, Dec. 1.—Dallas began clearing its throat Thursday for a shout of welcome to West Texas football fans which bade fair to echo through the years in an ever-increasing wave of friendship.

On a dozen different fronts, committees, boards of directors and individuals set plans in motion to extend supporters of Texas Tech a welcome such as even Texas has never before seen.

They left no field untouched in preliminary moves to make the New Year's week-end as memorable for Dallas as the visit of President Roosevelt in 1936, and an epochal event for citizens of Lubbock and their neighbors. . . .

Even Police Chief Bob Jones, charged with keeping the peace and protecting property, waxed so enthusiastic he said:

"Tell 'em they can have the town. Just as long as they give it back to us in one piece. Even if it is a little chipped around the edges, we will be satisfied."

First offical action of the scores who will invite and welcome supporters of the Red Raiders, came from directors of the Dallas Manufacturers and Wholesalers association who set a personalized program in motion.

Enthused by the invitation of Tech to play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2, which President Lester Lorch called "the best medicine for Dallas wholesaders in 15 years," they instructed every Dallas merchant to write every customer in the Lubbock area extending offers to help with any problem.

Directors decided also to invite everyone of the 10,000 retail merchants on their mailing list to the game and to offer them every privilege while in Dallas.

B. F. McLain, a chamber of commerce director, and also president of the Dallas Retail Merchants association, said.

"We should do our utmost to welcome these neighbors into our midst.

"I believe some sort of an annual game here, with Texas Tech representing West Texas, and another school representing the east, would be worth considering."

Twenty-Three Are Killed As Train Smashes School Bus

Torn Bodies Of Other Victims Are Located

Seventeen Students Are Hurt; Tragic Story Of Crash Told By Survivors Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 1. — A freight train speeding a mile a minute in a snow storm crashed into a school bus at a little used crossing today, killing at least 22 students and the bus driver.

Hysterical parents identified 23 bodies at an improvised morgue in Salt Lake general hospital.

Identification Sought

In addition, authorites sought identification of what Dr. R. J. Alexander, superintendent at the hospital, said were parts of "one or two bodies."

Seventeen of the more than 40 students on the bus, enroute to Jordan district high school near Midvale, a Salt Lake City suburb, were injured, six critically.

Conflicting testimony hampered officials who sought to determine the cause of the accident, one of the worst of its kind in the nation's history. Students who escaped death in the demolished, orange bus told how Driver Farrold Silcox, 29, stopped near the crossing in accordance with Utah law, then went ahead. They told of reduced visibility because of a snow storm.

Visibility Was Fair

Engineer E. L. Rehmer stated in his report to Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad officials that although a light snow was falling, "visibility was at least 1,200 feet."

Brakeman G. M. Kelley reported seeing the bus come to a stop and then, when "the train was an engine and two car lengths from the crossing the bus started. Fireman and I hollered 'big hole' (an emergency cry on board train to indicate a coming crash). The engineer made emergency application of brakes. Crossing whistle was properly sounded and was still sounding when we came to the crossing."

The 50-car train — "The Flying Ute"—apparently struck the bus just ahead of its middle. The body of the bus was tossed nearly 100 yards to the left. The chassis was wrapped around the front of the engine and ground under the wheels.

Bodies Tossed About

Bodies of the children, their school books, lunches, band instruments and even a pair of shoes, were tossed about under the train. Some of the children, who escaped death, were thrown from the bus at the impact.

Although the speed of "The Flying Ute" could not be definitely de-

Fear Spreads In Little Community That Young Convent Student Might Have Been Murdered By Two Kidnapers

(By The Associated Press)

OXON HILL, Md., Dec. 1.—Fear spread in this little community tonight that Mary Brown, 18-year-old convent student, had been killed by kidnapers.

More than 24 hours after the reported abduction by two "foreign-looking" men in a small black delivery truck, police reported they had no clue to her whereabouts.

But her parents Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown, clung to the hope she was still alive. Mrs. Brown, her stepmother, appealed twice by radio for public help in the search and for the abductors to give her daughter back to her. The father is an employe of the bureau of engraving and printing, nearby.

Responding to a request from Governor Harry Nice of Maryland, the civilian conservation corps sent 115 men to the scene tonight to join in the search.

Police decided it was too dark to do any good, and they were sent back to camp until daylight.

Neighbors of the Browns spent the day searching woodlands in this vicinity.

Lucy Brown, 15, who told frantically late yesterday of her sister being seized by two men who offered them a ride while they were on their way home from school, failed to identify two youths paraded before her in a line-up at Washington police headquarters. This pair and two other men were released.

Capt. Edward Johnson of the state police reported officers had found Mary's school papers trampled in the mud and signs of a roadside scuffle. The officers made plaster casts of shoe marks.

GIRL RETURNED SAFELY TO HER HOME

OXON HILL, Md., Dec. 1 (AP)—Police said tonight that Mary Brown, 18-year-old school girl missing since yesterday, had been returned to her home safely.

State police said an automobile, stopped in front of the Brown home during the evening and the girl was pushed from the car.

They immediately barred the house to all outsiders and began to question the girl.

Margaret Brown, a sister, told reporters that "Mary is back and safe."

Communists In Nation Seeking Labor Control

House Investigating Group Is Criticised By Homer Martin When He Gives Testimony

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — The house committee on un-American activities heard testimony today that communists are actively seeking control of every part of the American labor movement.

However, the witness, Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, added that the number of communists so engaged has been "over-emphasized."

Committee Criticized

He also took occasion to criticize the house committee as a "political tool in the hands of reactionary" interests. He had appeared before the committee only reluctantly, after being subpoenaed.

Communists, like nazis and fascists, try to place their men in key positions in labor unions, he said.

"They are active in the American Federation of Labor as well as any other labor organization," he asserted.

"Are they active in the CIO?" Representative Starnes (D-Ala) asked.

"They are," replied Martin, whose union is affiliated with the CIO.

Those Men Removed

He said he had told John L. Lewis, CIO president, that some CIO leaders were "nothing but stooges for the communist party and threaten to destroy the CIO." Those men, he added, have been "removed."

Martin said Lewis was not responsible for that situation "but some of them close to him are."

He said in a statement he read to the committee that Giacomo Ungarelli, Italian vice-consul at Detroit, tried to induce American citizens of Italian birth to support the government of Premier Mussolini.

Martin said Ungarelli later began a boycott against persons who re-

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Dec. 1—Twice beaten but dangerous St. Mary's of California—the Galloping Gaels—today accepted an invitation to meet undefeated, untied Texas Tech in the Cotton Bowl post-season game on Jan. 2.

Dan Rogers, chairman of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association, said Coach Slip Madigan of St. Mary's had telephoned approval after conferring with athletic officials of the coast school.

BEST ON PACIFIC COAST

DALLAS, Dec. 1 (AP)—J. Curtis Sanford, director-general of the Cotton Bowl classic, said today he received a telegram reading:

"We respectfully recommend Slip Madigan's St. Mary's Gaels for a Cotton Bowl bid. The best team on the Pacific coast and the most colorful in America."

The message bore the names of these sports editors: Curly Grieve, San Francisco Examiner; Bill Leiser, San Francisco Chronicle; Pat Frayne, San Francisco Call-Bulletin; Tom Laird, San Francisco News; Al Santoro, Oakland Post-Enquirer; Art Cohn, Oakland Tribune; Bill Henry, Los Angeles Times; John Connolly, Los Angeles Examiner; Sid Ziff, Los Angeles Herald-Express; Ned Cronin, Los Angeles Evening News; Ken Fraziey, Los Angeles Daily News; Steven George, Sacramento Union, and Chief Newsome, Hollywood Citizen.

Four Teams Considered

Selection of St. Mary's ended a three-day combing of the nation's outstanding major clubs available for a post-season engagement. Reports said four teams were under consideration after considerable shuffling of countless telegrams and telephone calls.

Both teams employ wide-open offenses and Cotton Bowl officials expressed satisfaction at the lineup.

The Gaels, one of the major independent clubs of the nation, snapped Santa Clara's two-year winning streak in its last engagement, bringing in a 7-0 victory that blasted the Broncs out of bowl consideration.

Lost Only Two Games

California, runner-up for Pacific coast conference honors and outvoted for the Rose Bowl, edged past St. Mary's 12-7, in the Gaels' opening game of the season. In their next to last appearance, the Gaels went east and lost to Fordham, 3-0, in a New York game.

Victims on the St. Mary's list included Gonzaga, 20-0; Loyola of

Coaches Expect Hard Fight In Bowl Classic

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—Edward P. (Slip) Madigan, coach of the St. Mary's Gaels, declared today his team would "be in top shape" for the post-season game with Texas Tech in Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

"We've been out of training since the day after we beat Santa Clara, but my boys stay in shape all the time. It's the Moraga hills atmosphere.

Tech To Get Battle

"We always manage to give any football team a battle, and Texas Tech will be no exception."

Madigan is here to attend Saturday's Notre Dame-Southern California game. He said he plans to remain for the battle and to be on hand when the Pacific coast conference meets next Monday and Tuesday at Palm Springs, Calif. Later in the week he will return to St. Mary's.

"Sure, I know," said Madigan, "those Texas teams are always tough. But my boys will be in there pitching every minute."

Death To Strike Fewer Blows In U. S.

Thousands Will Elude Disaster Survey Shows

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Death will strike 73,000 fewer blows in the United States this year than last, the Association of Life Insurance Presidents was told today.

Dr. Harold M. Frost, medical director of the New England Mutual Life Insurance company, reporting the results of an association survey, told the 32nd annual convention of the company heads the figure indicated that actually 85,000 lives were being saved this year in comparison with 1937.

Lowest Ever Recorded

Asserting that the present death rate among American policyholders was the lowest ever recorded by the association, Dr. Frost said:

"In specific figures, 747.9 of each 100,000 policyholders will have died this year, as compared with 794.3 in 1937. This represents an improvement in the death rate of 5.8 per cent; a saving of 46.4 lives for each 100,000 policyholders.

"If the same degree of improvement continues and applies to our general population, we may expect 73,000 fewer deaths in our nation than last year, despite an increase

Allred Pays Minister, Ed Clark Gives License At Wedding In State Capitol

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 1.—For the first time within recollection of those present, a wedding was performed in the governor's office suite today—with Governor James V. Allred paying the minister and Secretary of State Ed Clark furnishing a marriage license.

The bride and groom were Mattie Smith, a widow, and Emery Ahart, a porter in the governor's office for the past eight years—both "colored folks."

The ceremony, which was witnessed by the governor, the secretary of state, their assistants, secretaries and other major and minor state officials, came about only after Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel had promised Governor Allred he "contemplated no changes in the porter staff."

For Emery is a widower and said he wanted a mother for his eight children and could not get married again unless he was "sure of his job."

Rev. Lee Kelly, negro minister, united the abashed—but happy —couple.

The governor "officially proclaimed" a tax of $1 from each man present to provide a "honeymoon" for the pair and "officially ordered" a vacation for Emery.

The secretarial forces of the governor and secretary of state's offices "showered" the bride, who wore a corsage of white carnations, with presents.

Texas School Fund To Face Deficit Of Two Million If New Taxes Are Not Levied

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 1.—State Auditor Tom G. King in effect told Governor-Elect W. Lee O'Daniel and the new legislature today the available school fund would be an estimated $2,717,000 in the red next September 1 unless additional tax money was provided.

King totaled estimates of revenue from each source for the current fiscal year and found they would fall $2,717,000 short of the amount required to pay the $22 per capita public school apportionment voted by the state board of education.

Deficits Are Large

The auditor had reported yesterday old age pension outgo was exceeding income. The general fund deficit is at an all-time high of more than $20,000,000.

The state was able to disburse $22 per capita during fiscal 1938, but only because the available school fund had a balance of $3,875,674 September 1, 1937. That balance had dwindled to $420,124 by last September 1.

King estimated school fund revenues would be $32,779,618 this year, compared with $33,080,585 in fiscal 1938. He calculated the school fund's half of oil tax revenues would be $100,000 less than last year and ad valorem and poll tax collections would decline substantially. The fund's one-fourth of gasoline tax returns, King estimated, would be $440,000 larger this year.

Conspiracy To Draw Inquiry

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 1.—An alleged conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with cotton loans in West Texas will be submitted to a federal grand jury at Lubbock week after next, Joe H. Jones, U. S. assistant district attorney, said here today.

Jones said a warehouse erected in West Texas held 32,000 bales of cotton, much of it of a grade ineligible for loans.

A participant in the alleged conspiracy graded the cotton high enough to make it eligible for the loans, Jones said, adding, that apparently some 7,000 or 8,000 farmers had parts in the deception.

The prosecutor said, however, that the indictment would name only the warehouse group.

No News To Give

Bankhead nodded agreement when the president opened the interview by saying there was no news.

The president said they had discussed international as well as national affairs, and the public would know all about it January 3.

He added the talk covered the whole range of prospective legislation and everything was sweet and smooth.

"The City Is Yours," Cry Dallas Fans; "It'll Be Great Game—All We Ask, Just Let Us In On The Day's Fun"

(Special To The Avalanche)

DALLAS, Dec. 1 — Thousands of Dallas football fans greeted with enthusiasm tonight the official announcement that St. Mary's Gaels would oppose Texas Tech in the annual Cotton Bowl game here Jan. 2.

Newspaper offices were swarmed with fans awaiting official word from Cotton Bowl headquarters, and when St. Mary's was definitely announced, it created a general celebration.

St. Mary's is one of Dallas' most popular football teams year in and year out.

Local fans realize it will be a great game. And don't think for a minute that Dallas fans are going to New Orleans to see Texas Christian play.

It is the general consensus here this game will be even better.

On every street corner, in every drug store and throughout the business district, everybody is talking about the Red Raiders and how glad Dallas is to have them in the Cotton Bowl.

One prominent civic leader said today:

"I am glad it was Texas Tech, because of West Texas and Dallas. This means more than a football game. It means a closer connection between our business men of Dallas and West Texas. It means that at last we are friendly neighbors in every sense of the word."

Showdown On Three-Year Economic Plan In France Being Promised

New Problems Now Arising

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 1.—Strong-handed Premier Daladier announced today he would convoke parliament next Thursday for what promised to be a showdown on his three-year plan of "economic mobilization."

Scattered walkouts of workers in sympathy with thousands of their fellows who were discharged by private industries for joining yesterday's abortive general strike confronted the government with a complex new problem.

Soldiers Ordered Out

Forces of soldiers and mobile guards such as Daladier employed to break the general strike movement were dispatched to meet these new walkouts.

Wholesale discharges caused several hundred workers at Raismes to storm a metal plant in an effort to prevent 60 retained employes from continuing work.

Mobile guards intervened and the workers were dispersed after a skirmish.

Erstwhile strikers discharged from nationalized and private shipyards at St. Nazaire were supported by affiliated labor unions in the call for a general strike in that region tomorrow.

Thousands Discharged

In northern France alone, 20,000 metal workers, 4,000 miners and 4,000 mine railway workers had been discharged for answering organized labor's call for a 24-hour strike of protest against Daladier's decree laws.

The premier's office announced that leaders of the strike movement in the public services would be discharged immediately.

Other public employes who struck were suspended without pay until the merits of each case were passed upon.

Daladier conferred during the day with leaders of center and right political parties. The premier was believed seeking the moderate and conservative support needed for parliamentary approval of his economic program.

The premier and his aides also considered punitive measures against labor, socialist and communist leaders of the strike, exclusive of government employes.

Girl Pays $60 For Steer, Wins Chicago Show Title And Sells Him For $3,785

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—A rotund black steer waddled from the sales ring at the 1938 International Livestock exposition today with the highest price tag of a show champion since 1929 and the fourth highest in exposition history.

The steer, an Aberdeen-Angus, brought $3.35 a pound for each of his 1,130 pounds, a grand total of $3,785.

Paid $60 For Him

Irene Brown, 14-year-old Aledo, Ill. high school sophomore, owner and exhibitor of the champion, paid $60 for him last January and spent approximately $80 for provender. In addition to the sale price Irene won $70 in prizes here and almost $200 at other shows.

The steer, "Mercer," was bought by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company of Akron, Ohio.

Irene blinked away tears as she led "Mercer" around too bewildered to have made any plans. She said she "guessed" she would save most of the money for college.

The champion carload of steers, also of the Aberdeen-Angus breed, brought the owner, A. H. Schmidt of Kansas City, $23 a hundred weight, off $12 from last year's price of $35.

Britain Is Mobilizing Her Huge Industrial Machine

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Britain is mobilizing her huge industrial machine to keep Germany from strangling the markets of southeastern Europe—Rumania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and others.

Heavy subsidy of British industries to permit strong competition with the dictator states was considered likely in financial circles.

The trade war was outlined to the house of commons last night by R. S. Hudson, secretary of the overseas trade department, who declared that the countries of central and southeastern Europe "continually are turning to us and asking us to help them out."

Hudson warned Germany to cease what he considered unfair tactics threatening world trade or risk having Britain beat her at her "own game."

He charged Germany was buying above world prices and selling her goods at less than cost of production.

Alaskans Have Trouble Getting Pensions—Can't Prove Ages

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 1. (AP)—Old age pensioners — natives and white—are having difficulty proving themselves 65 years old and entitled to the approximately $27 monthly administered by the Social Security division.

Hugh J. Wade said age affidavits, particularly from the elderly natives, are supported by memory of "the year of the big snow at Haines," "the year Colonel ——— visited Alaska" and such historic events.

Japan claims the world's closed-circuit endurance record for its monoplane, "Wings of the Century," which covered 29 laps of a 402 km. course, about 7300 miles, in 82 hours, 27 minutes.

Profit-Sharing Still Debated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP) — Lammot Du Pont is opposed to profit sharing systems, he told a senate committee today, and believes instead in "paying high wages based on efficient performance."

The Delaware industrialist, president of E. I. Du Pont De Nemours and company, added the comment "it is difficult to share profits without sharing losses."

His appearance followed that of Frank Gannett, the newspaper publisher, who foresaw "the dawn of a new day for America" if the nation's industry would establish profit-sharing systems which deserved the confidence of workers.

Tells Of Bonus Plan

Du Pont told of his company's bonus system, under which he said employes received $7,593,000 for "conspicuous service, ability, efficiency and loyalty."

He opposed proposals for "incentive taxation" and uged adoption of a system "which recognizes that under our competitive system profits are usually large only where the risks have been great and management has been sound and progressive."

Gannett's view was that a widespread system of profit-sharing would cut down the number of strikes, "for the worker would understand that to tie up the production of a factory would be to lessen his own reward."

Loans And Grants Approved For Projects Over Texas

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP) — The Public Works administration announced today loans of $1,857,500 and grants of $2,070,536 for 14 projects having a total construction cost of $4,601,751.

Wait, Mother-Ask Your Doctor First

Never give your children unknown "Bargain" remedies to take unless you ask your doctor.

A mother may save a few pennies giving her children unknown preparation. But a child's life is precious beyond pennies. So—Ask your doctor before you give any remedy you don't know all about.

And when giving the common children's remedy, milk of magnesia, always ask for "Phillips'" Milk of Magnesia.

Because for three generations Phillips' has been favored by many physicians as a standard, reliable and proved preparation — marvelously gentle for youngsters.

Many children like Phillips' in the newer form — tiny peppermint-flavored tablets that chew like candy. Each tablet contains the equivalent of one teaspoonful of the liquid Phillips'. 25¢ for a big box.

A bottle of Phillips' liquid Milk of Magnesia costs but 25¢. So—any one can afford the genuine. Careful mothers ask for it by its full name "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia."

Representatives Of Several Nations Meet Today To Study Jewish Problem

Great Task Is To Be Started

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP)—Representatives of the United States, France, Great Britain, The Netherlands and Brazil will meet here tomorrow to study the great task of finding homes for Europe's harassed Jews, particularly those in Germany.

They form the "inner" committee of a board formed at Evian-Les-Baines, France, last summer by delegates of 32 nations and sponsored by President Roosevelt.

Report On Reaction

The British chairman, Earl Winterton, and the American, George Rublee, permanent executive director of the international committee, are to report on the reaction in other countries which were asked to help.

Myron C. Taylor, American industrialist and vice chairman of the international body, arrived today for the meeting. If concrete proposals are formulated to deal with the problem, representatives of all 32 countries likely will be summoned.

Some countries have expressed a willingness to take refugees on certain conditions and in limited numbers. But because German Jews are allowed to take only a small amount of money when they emigrate, some nations are unwilling to admit more than a few families.

First Group Is Due

Meanwhile, the first group of 300 Jewish children, whom England agreed to receive, was due tomorrow at Harwich from Germany.

Australia disclosed she would admit 15,000 refugees within three years.

Prime Minister Chamberlain has announced surveys in British Guiana, Tanganyika and elsewhere to determine the suitability of wide areas for colonization.

Among countries ready to admit a few families are southern Rhodesia and northern Rhodesia. Switzerland planned to admit 1,500 temporarily.

Social Security For People Is Praised

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Edward R. Stettinius, jr., chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, praised the principle of the social security act in a speech prepared for delivery to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents convention today.

"Cooperation in providing a social and economic independence for the individual should be among the major objectives of modern industry," Stettinius said.

J. L. Ilsley, minister of national revenue of Canada, told the insurance executive that foreign capital is turning to Canada as a haven of refuge.

"Canada's geographical position, remote from the scene of war, her stable institutions and the opportunities for profitable investment . . ," said the minister, "appear to be acting as a magnet for foreign capital."

Julian Price, chairman of the convention, told the convention that 64,000,000 American lives are insured on an average of $1,725 each. The total, he said, will be the greatest in history — $110,300,000,000—by the end of the year.

Nomination Of Robert Taft For President Is Urged

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (AP)—Capt. J. F. Lucey, oil man and Republican party leader in Texas, who accepted an invitation to serve on Gov.-Elect O'Daniel's advisory committee, today urged the nomination of U. S. Senator Robert Taft of Ohio for president.

Taft, a Republican, was chosen in the recent general election.

Other Nations Urged To Take Note Of The Judicial Fair Play Given German Spies

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—A hope that "certain countries"—where foreign spies are summarily shot — would learn a lesson in judicial fair play from this government's spy trial was expressed today by Federal Judge John C. Knox.

The tall, gray judge said in an interview he had "leaned over backwards" in charging the spy-convicting jury because he wanted other nations to know that America provides a "fair, honest and humane trial" for all, regardless of nationality or of the offense charged.

Johanna Hofmann, 26, a German ship's hairdresser; Otto Hermann Voss, 39, airplane mechanic, and Erich Glaser, 28, former U. S. Army private, were convicted of conspiring to steal American military secrets, the latter with a recommendation for clemency. They will be sentenced tomorrow afternoon under a law providing a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison.

"In some countries," Judge Knox said, "spies are given a secret trial and shot immediately. A few months later an announcement is made of their death and that is all we hear about it."

He directed the jury to disregard the nationality of the three defendants (all Germans or German-born), declaring they should receive "consideration equal to that of an American citizen."

Judge Knox said after the trial that it was his personal conviction the defendants were part of the German espionage system and that this country was too lax in investigating spy activities.

Minotaur Club Is Host To Parents And Others With Annual Banquet

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

Little boy—"How come you've got two daddies when I've only got one?"

Playmate — "Well, I don't know unless your daddy hasn't any trade-in value."

"Thank God for America," Irving Berlin's new song won't make him a dime. He's going to turn the money to the German refugees.

BOWLS US OVER

SOME MORE FUN reading the clever articles hammered out at sports writers' mills these days concerning the bowl possibilities and if more than one of us is late with his Christmas shopping we'll be lightly blamed. Who can concentrate on holiday gifts with football, instead of bells, in the air? Well, there are the bells of St. Mary's!

In case you overlooked it, here are two interesting paragraphs from Flint Dupre's "Outlook" in Wednesday's Dallas Dispatch-Journal:

"Something tells us Dallas fans are going to fall in love with Jodie Marek, Gene Barnett, Tarbox, McKnight and some of the other Raiders. The fans are going to like the big 150-piece band led by the man who made the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys world famous. They're going to like Coach Cawthon and his southern accent, and Dutchy Smith, his courteous assistant.

"And most of all, they're going to like those West Texans who accompany the team here. They have a special wave for Fort Worth and its citizens as they steam through that town."

A WORTHY CHOICE

SPEAKING of football, and can you criticize us when that's all we hear from morn 'til night at home, at work and out in town, we were glad that Elmer Tarbox won the radio grid trophy hands down over better known Texas college players. Not because Elmer is a Red Raider and the award brings more publicity to Tech college, but because the tall, alert Higgins youth is that rare type of student who can take praise and remain unspoiled.

It's history now that when Elmer with his ever ready laugh enrolled at Tech he was so dumb about football he couldn't get into a uniform without aid from Berl Huffman. But it's not generally known that he is a leader of a Boy Scout troop, that he teaches a class of 14-year-old boys in the First Methodist Sunday school and that he is interested in things other than playing ball.

HE'S BEEN SNUBBED

ELMER was in a small group not long ago that sat discussing Tech students and democracy. You know the institution used to sponsor a slogan: "Every day is 'Howdy' Day at Texas Tech." Well, Tarbox is a campus figure now but in his early days he received slights that still rankle although he laughs when he tells of them.

For instance there was the time when, as a freshman, he knew he would be called on to recite. He sat there on the front row, dreading to hear his name, and, in an effort to brace himself turned to a girl in the next seat and whispered "Are you as scared as I am?" Giving him a glance that would have withered a stouter heart, the girl tossed her head and looked the other way. With his face burning, the freshman, who today rates with many fans as "Texas Player No. 1," wondered miserably what he had said to deserve such a rebuke.

Perhaps that girl helped Elmer more than she hurt him because he's never forgotten the incident and today we'd eat some of those box tops if anyone anywhere could prove he or she has ever been snubbed by Elmer Tarbox. He rates kindness as one of the first essentials of one who is worthy of praise.

FROM MISS LOVE

MARGARET—If I miss seeing you, here's good-bye and good luck in everything—Am leaving on the 1:30 Thursday — If Ripley doesn't have his mind too much on the senoritas in Central America, he'll remember to get you a cross down there. I've just written to remind him—also, to jog his memory on the bid I put in for one of those floppy straw hats from Guatemala, and marvelous colored shoes that the natives of Honduras make. He says that he'll end up on this trip working for me, and all the other members of his staff who have requested souvenirs — at that rate!

Come to the Fair next spring, and I'll show you the sights.

Regards,
Everetta.

Laramie Dairyman Collects Milk Bottles—From Other Dairymen

LARAMIE, Wyo., Dec. 1. (AP) — More than 800 milk bottles, bearing the names of dairies scattered throughout the nation, are in William Conner's collection. Conner stared collecting them two years ago and now has bottles from all but 10 states in the union and in addition has bottles from five foreign nations, including one from China.

He's a dairymen and started his collection when he noticed the numerous varieties of bottles that came to the dairy during the tourist season.

Big Start Made Toward Making Certain Poor Kiddies Will Not Be Forgotten

Tangible evidence of their fourth annual movement for relief of the needy was showed Thursday by Lubbock's Goodfellows in reports of their second recent meeting:

First — that a big start has been made toward making certain that the poor children of Lubbock will not be forgotten on Christmas day.

Second—that Lubbock will be lighted and decorated with a brilliance such as never has been seen on the South Plains before.

However, it was emphasized, despite the work which already has been done, that the task has been little more than started. The big job still lies ahead with little time remaining, members were reminded by the Chief Goodfellow, whose identity remains secret in accordance with custom.

Here's how the situation stacks up:

Downtown ornamental lights will be flashed on next Monday night; expectation is that all downtown streets will be decorated for lighting by that time, but lights will go on just the same.

If business men in any downtown blocks which did not have ornamental illumination last year desire it, the method of procedure will be explained if they call the chamber of commerce. There will be no campaign, however, seeking to extend the lighted zone.

The purchasing committee already has begun preparations to procure an adequate supply of toys, fruits, nuts, candy and the like for the distribution.

Preparation of the "master list" of those who will be remembered has been started.

Repair of toys collected by Boy Scouts in their recent annual toy pickup is in progress at the KFYO booth at the Panhandle - South Plains fairgrounds.

The decorations committee is to get in touch with Garden club members to offer full cooperation in the club's encouragement of home ornamentation during the holidays.

The same committee also is to investigate the feasibility of a downtown lighting contest for business firms. The committee, however, has full authority to go ahead with the decorations plan it deems best.

"Just A Plain .22" Is Enough For Woman To Get Nice Buck

BUTTE, Mont., Dec. 1. (AP) — Mrs. Frank Marchesseau accompanied her husband into the big game country, but got tired of walking with him and so started back to the car. She sat down on a hillside in the sun—and just then some deer came over the ridge to browse.

"I picked out a three-pointer and let him have it with my .22," said Mrs. Marchesseau. "Just a plain .22, mind you, no fancy high speed or power model. The deer dropped in his tracks.

"I didn't have a rope along so I tied my handkerchief, which happened to be a large one, to his hind legs and dragged him to the car."

An article in a recent issue of a national magazine advocated the use of safety belts for motorists.

Verdict Of Self-Destruction Returned In Drane Death

Throat Gashed By Buzz Saw

CORSICANA, Dec. 1. (AP)—A verdict of "self-destruction" was returned today in the death of Frank Neal Drane, 78-year-old philantfropist found with his throat gashed near a powered buzz saw.

Funeral services will be held here Saturday morning (11 a. m.) from the Third Avenue Presbyterian church. The Rev. Gordon McInnes, pastor of the church, where Drane was a prominent leader, will conduct the services.

Body In Workshop

His body was found this morning in his workshop, the head nearly cut off. Justice of the Peace A. E. Foster, who returned the verdict, said the electric saw apparently had been switched off after Drane fell against it.

Drane was widely known as the creator of an $800,000 foundation designed to aid his less fortunate fellowmen. He made his fortune in banking, electric power and agriculture.

His survivors included a son, Hugh A. Drane of Dallas, a capitalist. His late wife, Florence Adelia Bingham Drane, was for a time before her death president of the board of regents at Texas Technological college.

Dream Comes True

The Dranes donated Drane hall at Trinity university in Waxahachie. This year, bringing to fruition a "25-year-old dream," Drane created the foundation, for humanity, especially that part of it living in Navarro county and Texas.

Under provisions aid was to be extended only in such cases where beneficiaries made efforts to help themselves. He had described himself as "no Santa Claus emptying the cornucopia of benevolence," but as one desiring to help men and women who deserved a boost.

The foundation was formed to promote religion and education, lessen human suffering, provide public buildings, help the poor and aid in scientific endeavors.

Aeronautics Chapter To Be Organized

Charles A. (Buck) Rowe, Texas governor of the National Aeronautics association, at 7:30 o'clock tonight will perfect organization of a Lubbock chapter of the important national setup when he returns from a flight to Amarillo, a flight designed to introduce to the radio public of this section Gail Northe, fashion editor of the Texas State network.

Rowe and three members of the network, including Miss Northe, will land at Lubbock Municipal airport about 11 o'clock, after a 10:15 o'clock takeoff from the Big Spring port, said Client Breedlove, port manager here.

Twenty-five persons are necessary to organization of a NAA chapter, but 35 have paid dues here, said Breedlove, who said:

"The more the merrier. Advancement of aviation depends to a considerable extent upon cooperation and interest of the civilian population. You need not be a licensed pilot, even a person who has had any amount of stick time, to join the organization. And, even if you haven't donned dungarees and yanked a motor out of a ship, if you like aviation and believe in its efficacy as a national defense arm and a sport, you ought to attend Friday night's meeting."

E. V. Pettis, department of commerce inspector of this district, of Albuquerque, N. M., will attend, Breedlove said he had been informed.

Consolidation For Firms Announced

Consolidation of the Star Tire company and the Dryer Triple A service into the Star Tire company, inc., effective immediately, was announced here Thursday by Mayor Carl E. Slaton, president of the new concern.

Other officers are Hugh Dryer, vice president, and M. S. Cole, secretary-treasurer.

Location of the new firm, Slaton said, will be 1217 Avenue J, present headquarters of Triple A service. The consolidation, he added, will mean an expansion of facilities provided by the company.

Station No. 2 of Triple A, located at 2313 Nineteenth street, will continue in operation, he said.

Although business will be continued a few days longer at the present location of Star Tire company, 1502 Avenue H, he added, the whole will be transferred to the more central Avenue J location within the very near future. The Avenue J place then will serve for storage during the remainder of December and then likely will be leased, the announcement said.

The transaction, Slaton explained, means the establishment at the Avenue J address of a complete "one stop" station. Latest equipment manned by a competent crew of expert mechanics will be found there, he said. Installation of additional equipment and increase in the employed personnel are included in plans for the near future, he added.

The company will continue as distributor for Star automobile tires and products, he said, in an area which includes the whole of the South Plains, much of the Texas Panhandle and sections south and east of those territories.

Visitors to Luther's city of Wittenburg in Germany today may see the famous theses that he nailed on the church door in 1517. The present doors are of metal and the text of his protest is deeply inscribed in the metal.

DIDN'T LIKE OWN LOOKS

DARBY, Mont., (AP)—A ram, driven down Main street with a band of sheep, saw his reflection in the store window and charged. Result: a shattered plate glass and some frightened customers.

Headlamps mounted in the fenders, now quite popular, made their first appearance in 1914.

Don't Let Constipation Drag On!

Do you often have days when you wake up tired—when you feel dull, sunk, "all bogged down"? It's time you did something about it. And something more than just taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble!

If you eat what most people do—just bread, meat, potatoes—chances are that just this fact is responsible: you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines that helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, what you need is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains "bulk" plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and see if your old sparkle doesn't come back! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Tavern Affray Is Described

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (AP)—Louis Francis, brother-in-law of one of the late Clyde Barrow's sisters, detailed in court today a tavern shooting Sept. 4 in which Barrow's mother, Mrs. Henry Barrow, was severely wounded.

S. J. Whatley, 25, is accused of the shooting, in which Mrs. Barrow was wounded sufficiently to cause the loss of an eye. The shotgun attack allegedly grew from a fight between Whatley and L. C. Barrow, Clyde's brother.

Driving Up To Station

Francis testified he was driving up to the Barrow filling station when Whatley arrived.

"Whatley levelled a shotgun and started firing," he testified. "We ran into the house. He must have fired 10 or 12 shots." Francis admitted he had testified falsely at a peace bond hearing for Whatley recently, because he "was afraid to tell the truth—I was afraid my house might be blown up." He said his brother's house recently had been bombed during the Whatley-Barrow feud.

Whatley is under $35,000 peace bond.

PRETTY MUCH THE SAME

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP)—Three automobiles of the same make, same model and traveling in the same direction on the same street, collided at the same time here.

In the last two and a half years, nearly one hundred and twenty million dollars' worth of munitions, mostly aircraft, have been sent aboard by American manufacturers.

Prisoner Is Badly Injured In His Attempt To Flee

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (AP)—A prisoner attempting to escape from the city jail fell 55 feet to concrete pavement today, suffering a broken arm, crushed shoulder and battered jaw.

Police said the 18-year-old suspect in cattle thefts lowered a 25-foot blanket rope from his cell window, apparently not realizing it was 55 feet short of reaching the ground. A cell mate heard his groans and called officers.

Dreaded Charge Facing Youth

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1. (AP)—The dreaded accusation—spy!—was leveled today at 21-year-old Karl Allen Drummond, aircraft worker, for what federal agents charged was a tawdry attempt to betray his country's military secrets to Japan for $2,000.

Arrested as the climax to a secret inquiry by the naval intelligence and G-men begun six months ago, the blond, blue-eyed square-jawed youth was clapped into jail last night on an espionage charge with his arraignment set for today.

Stole Photographs

An indictment by the federal grand jury alleged that young Drummond stole 150 photographs and 15 blueprints of a new naval plane from the Northrop plant and tried to peddle these, together with confidential construction papers, to Japanese officials.

The thefts, it was asserted, started last May, a year after the youth was hired in the advertising department of Northrop, a division of Douglas Aircraft Corp.

In turn, a Japanese government dignitary, a member of a Japanese plane-buying commission, and a Los Angeles Japanese attorney, were approached, but suspiciously turned down the overtures.

Drummond also was accused of purloining blueprints of a experimental bomber not yet off the drawing boards, and boarding a Japanese freighter in San Pedro harbor last May 28 in an attempt to sell them.

State Commissioner To Speak In City

Acceptance to discuss the domestic allotment plan for cotton at a Lubbock mass meeting Tuesday night at the Senior High school was made by J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, according to R. L. Burdette, high school vocational agriculture instructor.

The invitation was extended by Southwest ward chapter of the National Grange here, which will sponsor the meeting. W. O. Perkins, residing southwest of the city, is master of the chapter.

Had Sought Opposition Speaker

Previous attempt had been made, according to the announcement, to arrange for a speaker to state reasons for opposition to the domestic allotment plan. A number of such speakers, however, already have appeared in various portions of the area, the announcement said.

Invitations are to be extended especially to ginners, farmers and all others concerned with the producing or handling of cotton, Burdette said. Any others interested likewise will be welcomed, he added.

Under the plan which McDonald has advocated actively for several months, farmers would be permitted to raise as much cotton as they can. However, they would receive government subsidy only on that portion of the crop which could be consumed in the United States. The remaining surplus would be placed on the world market to be sold at the prevailing world price.

Defective Eyesight Is Increased By Close Study, Poor Lighting

DES MOINES, Iowa, Dec. 1. (AP)—Defective eyesight is becoming more common among school children, said District School Supervisor R. A. Griffin, because of too much close study and generally poor lighting.

Griffin said schoolrooms frequently have insufficient light on pupils' desks and that some relief can be obtained by rearranging the seats at an angle so natural light coming through windows can fall over a pupil's left shoulder. He added that better artificial lighting should be provided for dark days.

Alligator snapping turtles lure fish within reach by keeping in motion a wormlike appendage which grows inside the lower jaw.

Reunion After 32 Years

Sarah Winkler is reunited with her son, Jack English, in Cincinnati, after jorneying 6,000 miles from Brazil. They were separated in a London divorce court 32 years ago.

Lady Fortune Has Deserted Her Old Friend---Lady Nancy Astor

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 1. — Consider now the griefs of Lady Astor, first woman ever to sit as an elected member of the British House of Commons. It's a sad story, mates.

It used to be roses, roses all the way for her. But now the pesky Laborites in the House of Commons toss verbal tacks in the path of her eloquence.

Lady Fortune formerly seemed to have nothing but smiles for the aging, one-time fox-hunting Virginia belle. Her husband and devoted comrade is the second Viscount Astor, possessed of beau-coup dollars from his American estates and owning a palace in the shape of "Cliveden" on the heights above the Thames some 20 miles from London.

She has a family of splendid children. She is one of the favorite hostesses of the royal family. She has all the gaiety of youth.

In the House of Commons her pert sallies, sung out in her semi-hoarse but somehow liquid Virginian accents, used to be the bane of the existence of those whom she opposed. Sitting continuously as a member since her first election from Plymouth 19 years ago, a member of the Tory party, she has championed the cause of women and children and never overlooked a chance to shoot arrows at one of her pet bogies—King Alcohol.

"Nancy" she was christened. "Nancy" she was to her friends. "Nancy" she was when her fellow members cussed or discussed her.

Ribbentrop's Host

But her good fairy, Lady Fortune, got cross some time ago. In the course of her social affairs, Lady Astor entertained Joachim von Ribbentrop, ex-wine salesman. He was then Nazi Ambassador to Great Britain and has since been promoted by Hitler to Secretary for Foreign Affairs. He was just one of dozens of prominent men who have dined at the Astor homes. In fact, people of all classes of political beliefs have broken bread at her table.

But the yarn got around that there was a "Cliveden set" which was all strong for close relations with Germany and sympathetic to the regime. They mentioned Lady Astor and her husband, who owns the Sunday Observer; its editor, J. L. Garvin. They named Major John J. Astor, her brother-in-law, who owns the Times; its editor, Geoffrey Dawson. Other big-wigs mentioned were the Marquis of Lothian and similar people in the aristocracy and the monied world. The story even appeared in some of the press opposed to Premier Chamberlain, who not so long ago was a week-end guest of the Astors.

It got so annoying that Lord Astor and Lady Astor each separately issued a denal that there was any such thing as a "Cliveden set." But the stubborn Labor people will not take the denials at their face value. They used to quail at some of Nancy's gibes. They don't any longer. They always have the retort discourteous. It acts on her like the silencer upon a revolver.

Thus the other day the House of Commons was discussing defense measures.

As the opposition to the government is always asking the cabinet because it has done so little for the vast amounts of money spent, Lady Astor chirped in her usual aggravating style:

"Have the defense plans been revealed to the opposition?"

Whereupon a Labor member replied to her.

"Have you imparted them to Ribbentrop?"

Tangles With Labor

But it remained for the acidulous and brainy lawyer, Sir Stafford Cripps, one of the leftest of the Left members of the Labor party, to use vitriol. He was attacking the government when he was interrupted by the Lady from Plymouth.

Said Cripps:

"I do not trouble to answer Lady Astor. The people do not fancy their country as does Lady Astor and her set—"

Lady Astor: "What set?"

Cripps: "I apologize and withdraw the word 'set' and substitute for it 'gang.' I repeat, people do not fancy the future of this country, as does the gang of Lady Astor, as being that of a junior partner in a Fascist Internationale, ruling the common people of all countries by methods hitherto reserved by that gang for natives in colonial territories—methods of brutality, exploitation and denial of freedom."

The honorable Lady was silent after that and so was the Times the next day. In fact, it did not print Sir Stafford's bitter retort.

Henry Ford Believes Admission Of Jews Would Be An Impetus To U. S. Business

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Dec. 1.—Henry Ford, who has been accused by some critics of being anti-semitic, believes the admission under immigration quotas of Jews seeking a haven from nazi persecution would give a "new impetus" to American business.

The automobile manufacturer, who was decorated by the German government on his 75th birthday last July 30, made the assertion in a statement last night after conferring in his Dearborn office with Rabbi Leo M. Franklin of Temple Beth El, Detroit.

Referring to the grand cross of the order of the German eagle which Chancellor Adolf Hitler conferred on him, Ford said:

Involves No Sympathy

"My acceptance of a medal from the German people does not, as some people seem to think, involve any sympathy on my part with nazism. Those who have known me for many years realize that anything that breeds hate is repulsive to me."

Ford said "It is my opinion that the German people, as a whole, are not in sympathy with their rulers in their anti-Jewish policies, which is the work of a few war-makers at the top."

"I believe that the United States cannot fail at this time to maintain its traditional role as a haven for the oppressed," Ford stated, "I am convinced not only that this country could absorb many of the victims who must find a refuge outside of their native lands, but that as many of them as could be admitted under our selective quota system would constitute a real asset to our country.

"Because of their special adaptability in the fields of production, distribution and agriculture, they would offer to the business of this country a new impetus at a time like this, when it is badly needed.

"I am confident that the time is near when there will be so many jobs available in this country that the entrance of a few thousand Jews, or other immigrants, will be negligible."

Annual Football Carnival Is Planned At Ralls Tonight

RALLS, Dec. 1.—Teachers of Ralls school system will sponsor an annual football carnival to be held in the municipal auditorium Friday night.

Proceeds will go towards purchase of sweaters for the Ralls Jackrabbits, who have just closed a very successful season.

The various national censuses now cover approximately two-thirds of the world's population.

Gordon, who was assigned to Quanah, goes instead to Clarendon; Rev. Frank York, formerly of Clarendon, goes to Quanah; Rev. Elmer Landreth was transferred from Clarendon to Ballinger and Rev. # Slashes Of About 20 Per Cent Will Be Recommended To Texas Legislature

Itemization Of Bill Planned

AUSTIN, Dec. 1. (AP)—Slashes approximating 20 per cent and reducing government department operating funds about $2,500,000 a year, will be recommended to the legislature in January, Senator John Redditt of Lufkin said today.

Redditt, chairman of the senate finance committee, said recommendations of a sub-group of that body which met "for the last time this year," would include full itemization of the bill which would enable the governor to veto any employe's salary or any single expense item listed.

May Cancel Items

"The governor is empowered to cancel any single item in any appropriation bill," Redditt said, "but heretofore the salaries of many employes were listed as a single item leaving him powerless to reduce the amount without eliminating the entire group."

The committee chairman said he believed $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 could be pared from all appropriations "without doing much harm."

This amount, however, falls far short of the $42,000,000 State Auditor Tom C. King estimated would be needed to pay $15-a-month pensions to all persons over 65. O'Daniel has said he expected to pay part of the proposed expanded pension program by economizing in governmental expenditures.

program now under expert study. Mr. Roosevelt said he could not say how that subject would be treated because he had yet to begin writing his message.

Shies From Questions

He shied away from questions because he would make another attempt through a government reorganization bill.

Asked for a list of "must" bills for the new session, the president replied there was no such thing and never had been. He said "must" was a misnomer.

Committee appointments and senate and house organization in general were understood to have been discussed.

Late in the day the president conferred with Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator. There was no announcement following the meeting.

William C. Bullitt, ambassador to France who had been vacationing in the Bahamas, arrived before nightfall, but his call was described as largely personal.

Strange Marital Case Brought To Close When 19-Year-Old Marriage Is Annulled

HOUSTON, Dec. 1 (AP)—The 19-year-old marriage of George M. Bevier and Henriette Beaulieu Bevier was annulled here today by a district judge because Mrs. Bevier had another husband—Albert Moreau of Toulouse, France — when she and Bevier were married.

Mrs. Bevier and Moreau had each believed the other dead for years.

When Bevier, millionaire Houston geologist, filed his annulment suit here some time ago, Mrs. Bevier answered in a cross action and pleaded in the petition that Moreau was dead.

Brought From France

Bevier brought Moreau from France as a witness in the case. Today Mrs. Bevier amended her pleadings in the case and said:

"I thought and I have thought for a number of years that Albert Moreau was dead. I was told in France that he was dead and shown a grave that was reported to be his.

"Now that I find Albert Moreau to be still alive, I ask for an annulment on the ground that Albert Moreau was my legal husband at the time of my marriage to Mr. Bevier."

Did Not Appear

Moreau did not appear in the court room today at the hearing which disposed of the case. His deposition was read by Bevier's attorneys. Nor was Mrs. Bevier present at the hearing, which was not contested.

The court decree granted a $220,000 cash settlement on Mrs. Bevier and gave her the Bevier family residence here. It specifically said Moreau was not to share in the property settlement.

Bevier and Mrs. Bevier have lived in Houston for about 12 years. In 1934 the Beviers had a Catholic church marriage ceremony.

Given Maiden Name

Moreau and Mrs. Bevier—who incidentally, in today's proceedings was given back her maiden name of Beaulieu — were married in San Francisco in 1912, two years after Moreau had come to the United States as a musician. Moreau once played in Sousa's band, he said.

Moreau said he returned to France in 1914, and fought for 36 months in the World war. He said he was decorated three times, one the croix de guerre.

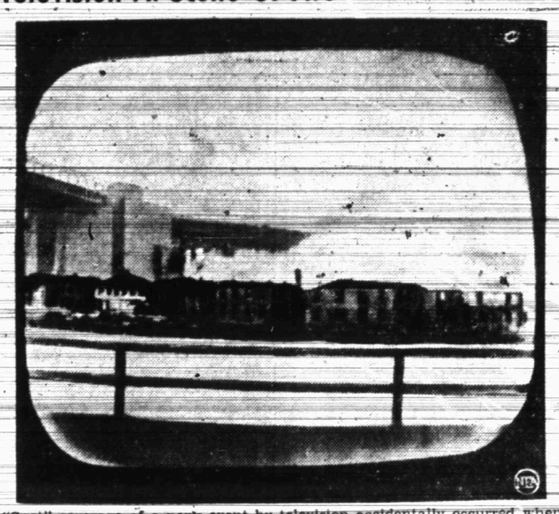

The Frenchman refused to talk to reporters about his marriage. In his deposition, however, he said he had believed Mrs. Bevier was dead and he admitted he had remarried in 1919.

"I am an honest man," Moreau said to reporters asking questions about the strange marital tangle. "I am a gentleman and my private life is nobody's business. Mr. Bevier is a very fine man."

Bevier told reporters he had gone to France and found Moreau.

The Beviers have been prominent socially in Houston. She is a native of France.

He Was A Spear Carrier In His Youth But Now He Is Pin Collector---No Connection

By NEA Service

Because he happened to pick up a pin, Dr. Floyd McCluskey got a free trip to Europe.

Dr. McClusky, Glenwood, Ia., dentist, is an old pin-picker-upper. It's a hobby with him.

For 37 years he's been collecting pins. As a college student he carried a spear in plays at Chicago's old McVicker's Theater. He began picking up pins then, and Marie Dressler, Julia Marlowe and Maxine Elliott helped build his collection.

Not long ago in New York, the doctor spied a pin on the far edge of a gargoyle far up on a skyscrapper. The doctor sent for a fishing pole, and with a wad of gum as bait began fishing for the pin. He got it, but only with the help of a dignified man who sympathized with his lofty aim, and gave him his card. Last summer in Los Angeles, Dr. McCluskey called on his fellow pinlover and was invited to ride the friend's boat to London via the Panama Canal.

Dr. McCluskey has found that one pin leads to another. When his status as a pin-picker-upper was established, he received pins from Mrs. Warren G. Harding, Pola Negri, and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge.

He has 100 "association" pins now, and more than 1000 that are just pins.

Dr. Floyd McCluskey examines some of his hairpins from the heads of famous women.

of population which, had the death rate of 173 prevailed, would have resulted automatically in 12,000 more deaths."

Boost In Three Causes

Dr. Frost said that in only three of the 21 specific causes of death among policy holders was there a material increase in the rate. These causes were organic heart disease, in which the deaths rose from 158.6 to 164.3 per 100,000 insured lives, cancer, rising from 91 to 94.1 per 100,000, and suicide, increasing from 13.7 to 15.9 per 100,000.

A decline in deaths from influenza and pneumonia represented 62 per cent of the lifesaving of 1938 over 1937.

Deaths from automobile accidents have declined nearly 20 per cent from the 1937 rate—but still the year's accident report will show about 32,000 killed by cars.

Crossing Crash Fatal For 23

termined, Sheriff S. Grant Young said the train was running almost two hours late because of the storm. Its normal speed at that point, he said, was from 60 to 70 miles an hour.

The bodies were strewn along the right of way for a half a mile before the heavy train stopped.

Crowds of weeping, shrieking mothers and fathers and class mates soon gathered at the scene, and pitiful attempts were made to identify the dead.

Girl Tells Her Story

One of the survivors was Margie Grove, 16, of South Jordan.

"I got on the bus at 8:30 about two miles from the crossing," she said.

"I think there must have been about 40 others in the bus with me.

"When he came to the crossing, we stopped and Mr. Silcox, the bus driver, started up again. I thought I heard someone yell 'train', and then I saw something black coming from the right and it hit us.

"When I woke up I was lying in the snow near the bus. Two students I knew, Mack Bateman and Mabel Smith, were nearby. Mabel was lying near the bus and Mack was lying by a fence. I guess they're all right now.

Screaming And Moaning

"There was an awful lot of screaming and moaning. They were all just kids—15 to 18 years of age.

"And then they came and brought me to a hospital."

David Witter of Denver, riding on an oil tank close to the freight engine, said, "it was the awfullest thing I ever saw.

"None of them seemed to die right away. One by one they would stop screaming."

The 85-car freight train, half a mile long, was traveling so fast the caboose was on the crossing by the time it stopped, said Dr. J. S. Alley of Midvale, who brought victims to a hospital here.

"The cab of the bus was tossed to one side, about 100 feet from the track."

Most of the victims were from Bluffdale, Riverton, South Jordan, Crescent and Herriman, small communities a few miles south of Salt Lake City.

The Only Eye Witness

June Wynn, 16, of Sandy, was perhaps the only eye witness. She was standing in the doorway of her home 300 yards from the crossing, she said.

"I saw both the bus and the train coming and wondered whether the bus was going to stop. It did stop, and then pulled onto the track directly in front of the train.

"I heard the crash, then screams. When the front of the train got opposite me, I could see the frame of the bus still on the engine.

"The train started slowing down immediately. My father and I rushed to the track, and train men told us to go back and call ambulances.

Foggy And Snowing

"It was foggy and snowing. I wouldn't have been able to see the train or bus if they both hadn't had their lights on. I did not hear the train whistle."

Of 20 survivors admitted at the hospital, one died, five were sent home after first aid treatment and 14 retained at the hospital.

Sheriff Young said at least two-thirds of those in the bus were killed.

Governor Henry H. Blood issued a proclamation of sympathy for the stricken families, and separate state and county investigations were ordered.

W. K. Granger, state public service commissioner, said the crossing where the accident occurred often had been considered for a train-actuated signal, but that installation had been delayed because the road was so infrequently traveled.

Try Hanging Your Feet Over Edge Of Bed To Find Sleep

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP) — If you can't seem to find a place for your feet at night, try hanging 'em over the edge of the bed—maybe you'll sleep better.

Resume Practice Tuesday

The Tech Red Raiders, who played teams from nine states and licked them all — including Montana, Montana State, Gonzaga, Loyola of New Orleans, Marquette, New Mexico, Texas School of Mines and Oklahoma City —have temporarily forgotten football but will resume practice on a three-day-a-week schedule next Tuesday at Lubbock.

Business Manager of Athletics Bo Williams of Tech came to Dallas today to pick up 12,000 tickets for Lubbock homesite of the Raiders—alone. He said some 20,000 tickets would be distributed throughout West Texas with ticket agencies at Amarillo, Odessa and Hobbs, N. M.

"Why I took 700 reservations over the telephone in my office yesterday," beamed Williams. "And I've only got one phone."

It's A Break For Tech

To Tech, the third largest Texas state institution, the Cotton Bowl invitation came as the break it had been waiting for. A good football team for several years, Tech has clamored for entrance into the seven-club Southwest conference but has been consistently denied entrance on the grounds the conference didn't wish to expand.

Observers felt the Cotton Bowl invitation, and a possible victory, would serve as a wedge that may hasten their entrance into the conference within the next two years.

Coach Cawthon said he would bring his Raiders to Dallas on Dec. 26—a full week ahead of the game.

Committee Of Dallas Business Men To Pay Visit To City

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (AP)—The Dallas Chamber of Commerce, at the meeting of its board of directors tomorrow, will perfect plans for sending a committee of business men to Lubbock soon to express appreciation to Texas Tech for accepting the Cotton Bowl bid.

Ben Critz, general manager, said the visit would not be a trade trip. The Dallas men will discuss with Lubbock business leaders plans for entertaining the West Texas visitors when they come here for the game between Tech and St. Mary's.

Riotous Celebration Staged By Students Of St. Mary's

MORAGA, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP)—Five hundred resident students at St. Mary's college staged a riotous celebration at dinner tonight when Brother Patrick announced the Galloping Gaels would meet Texas Tech in the Cotton Bowl football game at Dallas.

Brother Patrick ducked for cover as the cheering students tossed their Thursday night special — brown biscuits—into the air when the announcement was made.

College officials announced the 47-man grid squad voted unanimously to accept the bowl bid. A squad of 36 will be taken to Dallas.

Hysterical Parents Search Hospitals And Morgues For Missing Children

Tragic Scenes Are Described

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 1 (AP) — In a gray-stone hospital a blond, clean-shaven farmer bit his lips and talking to no one said: "I lost one boy five years ago; this one was all I had left."

As nurses led him into a side room he passed farmers and farmers' wives, some openly crying, the men comforting their women—parents of the more than score of Jordan district school children killed when a flying freight train crashed broadside into a crowded school bus.

Freight Stands Still

At the scene of the crash, two miles south of Midvale, a Salt Lake City suburb, a long freight train stood still, unable to proceed because of a solid, steel chassis wrapped around its cowcatcher and bent under its wheels.

Farmers and sheriff's officers carrying canvass sacks and bushel baskets went about "picking up every little piece that's left," on the orders of Sheriff S. Grant Young.

The engine crashed into the bus a little toward the front. The bus body was thrown to the left and as the heavy train stopped, some of the children, pieces of the bus and the children's belongings were tossed about. Children thrown from the body at the impact escaped with their lives.

Parents Are Hysterical

For the next four hours hysterical parents arrived at Salt Lake general hospital. They asked but one question: "Was my child——?"

Often attaches answered in the affirmative. The reaction from the parents was the same; to scream, or to break into sobbing or to stand mute.

"It was tragic out there on that track," said one nurse. "But it's just as tragic here."

Pictures Are Shown At Round-Up Meet

Dr. Victor Koon, missionary to China who is speaking at the First Baptist church here this week, showed moving pictures of Harbin, Manchoukuo, at the Baptist Student union's second "round-up program" Thursday night. Dr. Koon commented on the various scenes of the Russian religious rites held there in January.

Highlights of the film were street scenes and pictures of the habits and customs of the populace. Other scenes were the religious rites the members of the Greek Orthodox church performed in dead winter. The followers of this sect believe that if they jump into icy waters they will be saved from their sins, he said.

Before the pictures were shown, a regular BTU meeting was conducted. Besides the usual procedure, the group was entertained by Miss Helen Wesson's oration, "The Christian Home! America's Deepest Need." The oration won first place at the BTU oratorical contest held recently at Wichita Falls. There was also a slight pause in memoriam to William Ferguson, Texas Technological college student who died several days ago. There were 79 members present of the 102 enrolled.

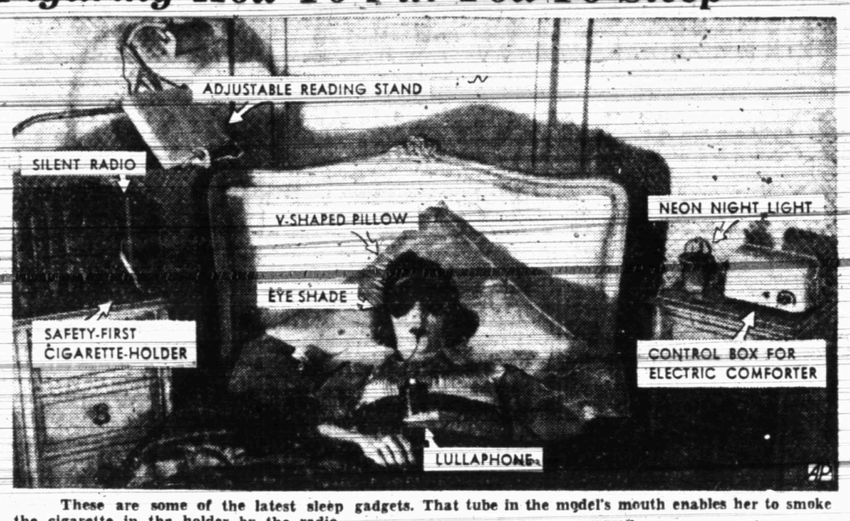

Dr. Koon will make his last appearance in Lubbock tonight at the First Baptist church. From here he will go to Brownfield to conduct similar services.

Date For Annual Banquet Of Future Farmers Set Feb. 6

The date for the annual banquet for the Lubbock High school chapter of Future Farmers of America was set for Feb. 6, at a regular meeting at the Junior High school Thursday night. After the business meeting, Keith Black, Everett Gray, and Duncan Ellison presented a program.

The FFA group is planning a trip to Chicago through the corn belt and returning by an eastern route next spring after school is out, according to R. L. Burdette, vocational agriculture teacher.

Salesmen And Scientists Stay Up Late Figuring How To Put You To Sleep

These are some of the latest sleep gadgets. That tube in the model's mouth enables her to smoke the cigarette in the holder by the radio.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 — If you think you sleep like a log—you're crazy. At least the scientists and bed salesmen think so.

They say there are scores of diabolical disturbers of sleep that keep you from going to sleep, bedevil you after you do, and cause you to be grumpy next day.

Of course they've devised gadgets to purge all the rascals.

The ordinary bed, it seems, is passe. Now, mattresses are made of a rubbery, porous material. For the pampered madame there's a downy affair and for her spartan hubby, a firm, he-man one.

Twin Beds In One

If mama and papa sleep in the same bed, their preferences are taken care of by a mattress hard on one side, soft on the other, and with an invisible bundling board in the middle produced by a slight center ridge.

But that's only one of the devices rounded up by a New York store (Lewis and Conger) in its sleep shop.

Pillows come in every shape but the one you've slept on for years. For instance, the "pancake" one is for people who like only a slight head-lift; the Japanese has a slot that preserves milady's coiffure; the dust - free pillow is for the sneezer.

Instead of burying yourself in a heavy layer of blankets you are to use a fluffy electric comforter of which heat can be regulated.

Helps For Fearful

If you're a fraidy-cat in the dark, you use the faint flower-shaped neon light to reassure you. Or if light bothers you, then you wear an eye-shade. Nasty noises are thwarted by ear stoppers; bad air by nose-filters and humidifiers.

When the lady decides to read while hubby wants to sleep, a clash is quashed by a spot light; and when she insists on hearing music while he craves sleep, there's the silent radio that whispers to her from under the pillow.

Researchers have saved their biggest thunder for outsmarting insomnia. Sheep-counting is out. To make you sleepy, they instruct you to soak for 20 minutes in 102-degree water, drink some warm milk, hop into bed and turn on the "lullaphone."

Its drowsy hum is supposed to be the most soporific sound science can muster, has you yawning in no time.

Ho hum. Turn out the lights—we're sleepy.

Interest Costs To Be Boosted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP) — Treasury experts estimated today that new federal borrowing scheduled for Dec. 15 will increase the interest cost of the public debt to more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

It will be the largest interest cost since 1923, when the high rates on World war obligations pushed to $1,055,000,000 the carrying charges on a total debt of $22,349,000,000.

The anticipated billion dollar interest cost will support a debt of about $39,300,000,000 the total federal indebtedness after the new borrowing—because interest rates on government securities are now much lower.

Before the World war interest amounted to only $25,000,000 a year, but now it is the third largest item in the budget, being surpassed only by relief and national defense. It amounts to nearly a ninth of all federal costs.

Interest rates on the present federal debt range all the way from zero to 4¼ per cent, and average 2.582 per cent.

Recent War Scare Has Increased Demand For Trailers In England

LONDON, Dec. 1. (AP) — One effect of the recent war scare has been to create an increased demand for "caravans," trailers to you.

Lubbock Ready For Lions; Other Saw-Off Games Carded

Vernon Seethes With Football Enthusiasts

(Special To The Avalanche)

VERNON, Dec. 1—This city was football crazy tonight on the eve of the state's outstanding bi-district clash between Lubbock's mighty Westerners and Vernon's powerful Lions.

As game-time drew nearer the District 1 champions were given a slight edge. A record crowd of over 8,000 West Texas football faithful was predicted for the tilt.

Several hundred Lubbock fans were to arrive about noon by special train and busses. Lubbock High school's 70-piece band was to be on hand.

Webster Paces Westerners

The game pitted the deadly passing of Vernon's Morris Southall against the charging feet of Lubbock's Wild Walter Webster. They are two of the outstanding stars of Interscholastic league football and the outcome of today's game depends largely on their performances.

Lubbock defeated Vernon, 7-0, in mid-October due largely to fact that the Westerner line was the best defensively and because "Jumbo" Webster was really "wild" that night. Since then Vernon has steadily improved in all departments crushing remaining opponents with its heavy line and accurate passing. Coach Weldon Chapman's lads, too, have developed into one of the state's best schoolboy elevens. Two regulars who did not assist in the Lion "game hunt" before are in the starting line-up.

Two Regulars Ready

Those two additions to the Black and Gold may mean the difference in victory and defeat for Coach Chapman's squad. "Rusty" Johnston, elusive left halfback, has completely recovered from an appendectomy and picks up huge chunks of yardage when necessary. The other regular is Jerry Nash, veteran right tackle, certainly a good addition to the Lubbock forward wall.

Also due to see considerable service is Leete Jackson, 165 pound right halfback, and Harold Parsons, who has called several fine games from his quarterback position.

Seeking backfield honors against that group will be Southall, spearhead of the Lion attack, Crooks, field general, and Jack Judd, plunging right halfback.

Both Lines Powerful

In the line for Vernon will be B. Wright, captain and right guard, and Kidwell and Hill, who hold terminal positions. Those are the threats to Lubbock's ambitions. Facing these players for the Westerners will be Lloyd Sanders, scrapping right guard, and Joe Bob Foster and Clifton Hill, right ends who have distinguished themselves this season. Those players have a big job assigned them if they are to outplay the Vernon line for another victory.

Coach Chapman and Coach Gerald indicated that the following would be the probable starting lineups:

| Lubbock | Pos. | Vernon |
|---|---|---|
| Joe Bob Foster | LE | Hill |
| Avon Sewalt | LT | Moore |
| Joe Pytell | LG | Botkins |
| Wayne Pipes | C | Matney |
| Lloyd Sanders | RG | B. Wright (C) |
| Jerry Nash | RT | Knight |
| Clifton Hill | RE | Kidwell |
| Harold Parsons | QB | Crooks |
| Rusty Johnston | LH | J. Judd |
| Leete Jackson | RH | B. Southall |
| Walter Webster | FB | M. Southall |

Gabby Hartnett Signs Name To New Papers With Raise

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Gabby Hartnett, who lost his given name of Charles Leo to baseball years ago, today received a swell early Christmas present.

Dropping into the office of Philip K. Wrigley, owner of the team, for a chat about possible trades, Hartnett was offered a contract to manage the club for 1939 and speedily affixed his signature. He will receive about $27,500, an increase of $5,000 over last year, although Owner Wrigley refused to disclose the exact figures.

Brownfield-Rotan Classic Tops South Plains' Grid Program This Afternoon

(Special To The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Dec. 1.—Championship of Districts 5 and 6-B will be settled here Friday afternoon when Rotan's Yellowhammers clash with Brownfield's powerful Cubs.

Largest crowd in the history of the city was expected as the game was the only gridiron attraction in this part of the state.

Business houses planned a three-hour holiday for the classic. Extra bleacher seats have been brought here from Lubbock. The city's football fever was at its highest pitch in several years.

Brown Sparks Cubs

Leading the Cub squad will be 155 pound Pete Brown. The little quarterback will "lead" with his right arm which has netted 14 touchdown passes this season. He has a record of 54 per cent completions in all games played. Catching a large number of the "Wee Bullet's" aerials has been Morton, Cub terminal.

Defensive standouts include McCraw, fine offensive center, and Jenkins, fast-moving tackle. It was McCraw who was instrumental in Olton's downfall in Plainview when Brownfield took the District title.

Coach Aubra Nooncaster was noncommital on the contest but did not seem too pessimistic. His squad will be meeting one of the strongest Class B elevens in Texas.

Rotan Boasts Fine Record

Rotan has enjoyed a very successful season, mowing down opponents with little trouble. Brownfield boasts a record of no defeats and no ties in conference play. The Cubs have met defeat only at the hands of the powerful Jal, N. M., team.

A sell-out was predicted by high school officials as advance ticket sales boomed. Student ducats were twenty-five cents and adult admissions were seventy-five cents.

Winner of this tussle will play the Wink-McCamey victory for the Region 2 pennant. The latter tilt is to be played in Odessa Saturday.

'No Bowls, Thanks,' Says Georgetown

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—The Capital's football fans can't understand the Georgetown Hoyas—for 64 years the school has struggled for an unbeaten, untied season and now it has one and doesn't want a bowl bid.

H. Gabriel Murphy, graduate manager of athletics, said the institution has declined three overtures—from the Sun bowl at El Paso, from California's Prune bowl, and a contemplated eastern game to be called the Champagne bowl.

"Even if we officially received this bid," Murphy explained, "I believe we'd have to turn it down, as much as we appreciate the compliment of an invitation."

Georgetown has three reasons for not courting a post season game:

1. A knee injury to a star backfield man, Joe Mellendeck.
2. The cost involved.
3. Too much emphasis on football.

Babe Horrell Is Named Head Football Coach At UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1. (AP)—Edwin C. (Babe) Horrell, former University of California center star and since 1930 assistant football coach at University of California at Los Angeles, late today was named head coach at U.C.L.A. He succeeds William H. Spaulding who resigned the head coaching job last spring to become athletic director.

NEVERS WITH PROFESSIONALS

CHICAGO, Dec. 1. (AP) — Ernie Nevers, former Stanford university football star and for the past two seasons an assistant coach at Iowa, was signed today as head coach of the Chicago Cardinals profesisonal team of the National league.

MILLER'S MUSINGS

IT'S QUITE a few autumns since a Lubbock High school representative got far enough in the District 1 race to harbor bi-district ambitions. But this afternoon the Westerners carry the black and gold banner into Vernon for what well-wishers hope is a sequel to their Oct. 14 victory over the Lions. With today's winner goes championship of Districts 1 and 2.

Rocks look pretty safe on the Westerners. It's a stout-hearted crew that huddles around Jumbo Webster Friday afternoons. The Amarillo game proved that. When the chips suddenly moved to the other side of the table, the Lubbock dusted off some pass plays few fans knew were in the bag and felled the mighty Sandies.

It is doubtful that Vernon's, or any other Texas team's, could ouido Pipes, Pytell and company as the Sandies did Thanksgiving. Outcharged from the "get-on-your-mark" signal, the Westerner line was not demoralized, but stuck by its guns until the offense hit its stride. Around that point lies the futility of comparing the merits of Webster and Amarillo's Bill Thompson in that game. The Lubbock captain outgained Thompson two yards a-try while running behind a sieve-like forward wall, which, no doubt, will play much better today.

FOR TWO years this corner has strung along pretty closely with the Westerners, bunked up with 'em in a training camp, and has found them bound together in ideal team morale. The boys aren't over-confident, but they'll tell you they are gunning for more than bi-district honors.

After Vernon, it'll probably be Breckenridge, a team that started slowly, but gathered steam rather than moss in closing games of the regular campaign. Masonic Home should take Sunset and Highland Park should beat Gainesville in other half of the northern region. The Masons likely will oppose winners in this end in semi-finals.

The Westerners, if they get by Vernon again, have no worse than an even chance to go to the semi-finals or past.

Over in Brownfield this afternoon, the two-time winners of Class B District 5 title, Brownfield's Cubs, are in another bi-district clash, this time with the Yellowhammers of Rotan, District 6 winners. The Cubs have a versatile attack that has carried them to an undefeated season thus far. Here's hoping Coach Aubra Nooncaster's crew lots of luck.

DALLAS newspapers took the Red Raiders into their hearts as soon as the word was passed around that Tech would play in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 2. That old Dallas-Fort Worth feud became aflame once more, and are the Dallas rags panning the Horned Frogs for turning to the Sugar bowl? There's no doubt that West Texas, all 20,000 pipples of it that go to the bowl game, will be welcomed in regal fashion.

Coach Pete Cawthon didn't whimper one bit over selection of St. Mary's as opposition for the Techs. He's convinced the Gaels should be ranked high in the nation. He's satisfied, so we should be, too.

Bi-District Play Is Due To Draw 90,000 Fans

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Subject to favorable weather, 90,000 fans will jam their way into eight stadiums Friday and Saturday to see bi-district games of the Texas schoolboy football race.

From Panhandle to Gulf they will click the turnstiles as the surviving powers of a campaign as hectic as the state has ever known go forth to cut each other down in the last lap of the gridiron trail.

Large Crowd In Dallas

Athletic Director P. C. Cobb of Dallas schools predicted that between 25,000 and 30,000 would see the Masonic Home (Fort Worth) Sunset (Dallas) game Saturday that will determine one of the north Texas quarter-finalists. The huge crowd expected at the Cotton bowl was attributed not only to prospects of a hair-raising game but Masonic leaders plan to make the occasion quite a festival.

At Tyler, where the Tyler Lions meet an ambitious and rugged Lufkin team in what looms as Tyler's toughest test of the campaign thus far, a crowd of 14,000 was expected.

Throngs of 10,000 were forecast at Austin where Temple's "dark horse" Wildcats battle the Kerrville Antlers and at Port Arthur where Tom Dennis' Yellow Jackets meet an up-and-coming John Reagan team of Houston.

Lubbock Is Favored

A capacity crowd of 8,000 was in the offing at Dallas Friday when Gainesville tangles with Highland Park at Highlander field, while Vernon expected a similar turn-out when the Lions battle Lubbock's Mighty Westerners. Corpus Christi forecast between 6,000 and 7,000 would witness the Corpus Christi-Pharr-San Juan-Alamo game and Breckenridge expected 3,500 for the Buckaroos' tilt with Bowie of El Paso.

Five games are scheduled [illegible] and the other three Saturday. [illegible] Lubbock, Breckenridge, [illegible] ville, Masonic Home, Tyler [illegible] ple, Port Arthur and Corpus Christi were being generally picked to come through the first round games but in most instances if the other team won it would not be regarding as anything resembling an upset.

Westerners Hope To Repeat

Lubbock holds a nonconference victory over Vernon; Gainesville undefeated and untied smashed Sherman which beat Masonic Home, which had nosed out Highland Park, so on a comparative basis Gainesville held the edge. On the other hand, Sunset beat Sherman, which would seemingly give the Bisons a margin over Masonic Home. But the hurly-burly district campaign just closed was a riot of upsets from start to finish and comparative scores meant little.

Comparative records would indicate Kerrville equal to Temple, the former beating Breckenridge which downed Temple and the latter tying Corpus Christi, which defeated Kerrville. Tyler and Lufkin have similar records and there's little on which to compare Port Arthur and John Reagan except indirectly. For instance Port Arthur beat Beaumont 20-12. Sam Houston (Houston) won over Beaumont 12-0 and Reagan beat Sam Houston 19-0, but there were wide differences in the strength of these teams at the finish and during the district race.

Corpus Christi Is Unbeaten

Corpus Christi's general good record—the Buccaneers are undefeated for the season—gives the edge to Corpus over twice-beaten, twice-tied Jarr-San Juan-Alamo.

The bi-district schedule:

Friday afternoon — Lubbock at Vernon, Bowie at Breckenridge, Gainesville at Highland Park, Lufkin at Tyler; Friday night—Pharr-San Juan-Alamo at Corpus Christi; Saturday afternoon—Masonic home at Sunset, Temple vs. Kerrville at Austin, John Reagan at Port Arthur.

Danny McShain And Sailor Watkins Tangle Tonight

TONIGHT'S CARD

Main event—Danny McShain vs. Sailor "Tex" Watkins, best two out of three falls or two-hour time limit.

Semi-final — Joe Banaski vs. John Nemanic, one fall or 30 minutes.

Curtain raiser — Scotty Williams vs. Gus Johnson, one fall or 20 minutes.

Time and place—8 o'clock, the Auditorium.

And that folks, should be a rough one! "Gentleman" McShain, claimant to the light heavyweight championship of the world, and Sailor "Tex" Kirby Watkins, the wrestling profession's terror, are to treat fans to a rare spectacle tonight.

Both "Rough" Wrestlers

The chairs and ring posts will probably be bolted down more securely than ever for when two "toughies" with the reputations that these main eventers boast get together there usually is something flying about besides drop toe holds and fists.

McShain will be remembered for his "murderous" tactics here several seasons ago. Watkins has stayed in the circuit and accomplished much in the way of making himself very unpopular. So when he and the "gentleman" clash tonight it will be a case of which is booed the most!

Danny has improved considerably since his last performance here having appeared on some of the best cards on the West Coast, possibly the only league in the nation to compare with the one in this section. It was while in California that McShain gained his claim to [illegible] if isn't the same [illegible] Lubbock fans know. [illegible] hies to retain [illegible] out with the [illegible] interesting [illegible] this dog eat dog [illegible] interesting semi-[illegible] featuring Joe Banaski [illegible] Banaski has not [illegible] opponent in a local ring and [illegible] although rough, will be accomplishing little short of a miracle should he escape the Oklahoma City boy's "alligator clutch."

PREP TEAMS CHOSEN

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 1 (AP) The Louisiana Sports association announced tonight the high school teams of Dupont Manual High of Louisville, Ky., and New Britain, Conn., accepted invitations to play here Dec. 31 for the national prep school football championship.

Old Professor Says Cotton Bowl Officials Got Less For Plans Than Beaten Politician

By PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Seen and heard in the big sports huddles: Despite all the chatter, it's less than even money that the college football rules will be unchanged for 1939. The coaches who have been yelling the loudest for the elimination of the extra point will be silent, little men when the rules discussions open. Latest of the remedial suggestions has been made by Tuss McLaughlry of Brown who favors forcing the touchdown scorer to make the effort for the 7th point. But money talks even in college football. The customers proved they liked the game as is this fall.

Everyone hereabouts feels sorry for the Cotton Bowl people who got less for their great plans than a defeated politican. A large delegation of New York sports writers plan to report the Sugar Bowl classic between Carnegie Tech and Texas Christian.

The New York Giants now aren't so sure their star second baseman, Burgess Whitehead, will come back next season. They're het after a keystoner and want Pep Young of the Pittsburghs . . . stories speculating on the trade or sale of Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees are dry hokum. Colonel Jake Ruppert would almost sooner part with his brewery than Giuseppe . . . the Yankees, however, may do some important business with the Clevelands.

Bill Slyker, whose Evansville, Ind., college football team came back this year after being held scoreless in every 1937 game, will tell how it was done in a radio broadcast for "We The People" next Tuesday night.

Henry Armstrong and his manager, fat Eddie Mead, threaten to break with promoter Mike Jacobs because Mike is too insistent on a return match between the negro double champ and Lou Ambers for the light-weight title . . . even when he wins, Tony Canzoneri, proves to the boys he should have forgotten his ring comeback. He's a tragic case.

Notre Dame Resumes Coast Trip With Star Halfback Injured

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 1 (AP)—The Irish of Notre Dame entrained tonight for Los Angeles to meet the Trojans of the University of Southern California Saturday, with Coach Elmer Layden worried by the injury today of Ben Sheridan, star halfback.

Layden said the nature of Sheridan's injury was not known. The halfback collided with another player in practice.

A workout in Yuma, Ariz., tomorrow is on tap, with the team reaching Los Angeles late Friday night.

Cage League To Be Discussed Sunday

Plans for formation of a city basketball league will be drafted at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon when interested parties gather at the Auditorium for an informal discussion.

Enthusiasts of the cage game, who are interested in furthering the sport here, are invited to attend. It is expected that the Auditorium hardwoods will be converted into a court for play.

Plans also are for providing competition for traveling teams, namely Olsen's Redheads, Olsen's Swedes, the House of David and others, for games here.

Noted Banking Family Exiled

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 1. — Baron Alfons de Rothschild, member of the once-powerful Austrian branch of the financial family, is today living in England, an exile from his home and a possible applicant for British citizenship. Like every other alien, he has to report himself and his residential address to the Aliens Registration Office at famous Bow Street in London.

And that is a measure of the decline in power of the Rothschild family, which in the 19th century was a symbol of fabulous wealth and political importance.

Lived In Ghetto

The Rothschild fortunes were founded by Mayer Rothschild, who lived in the ghetto of Frankfort and died in 1812. He had five sons. Anselm stayed in Frankfort and carried on the family banking business there. Nathan settled in Great Britain, Solomon in Vienna, Charles in Naples and James in Paris.

Thus there were now five Rothschild banking houses acting independently in the five countries, but together when a big deal was necessary. The family became the bankers of kings and nations. They floated huge national loans. They were all ennobled by the proud Hapsburg emperor, becoming Barons of Austria. They helped finance and build great railway systems in France and Austria.

Made Big Fortune

It was the English house which made a big fortune by getting first news of Napoleon's defeat at Waterloo in 1815. The English Rothschilds went from triumph to triumph. The second one of this branch, Baron Lionel Nathan Rothschild, was four times elected member of the House of Commons from London before he was allowed to take his seat, the disabilities imposed upon Jews being abolished in 1858. He was succeeded by his son, who became the first Rothschild peer of the British realm.

Disraeli, himself of Jewish blood, when Premier in 1874 pulled one of his most dazzling coups—the purchase of shares which gave Great Britain control of the Suez Canal. Parliament was not in session, so the money could not be gotten from the nation's treasury. His friends, the Rothschilds, advanced the $20,000,000 necessary, taking a chance on its being repaid.

Stunning Successes

In France, too, the Rothschilds had stunning successes, surviving triumphantly all changes in the form of government. James, who established the French house, became the great friend of King Louis Philippe.

Down to the time of Leon Blum's Premiership, Rothschilds were regents of the all powerful Bank of France. They ranked among the leaders in the 200 families who are supposed to rule France. The present generation still has vast interests in the French railways.

The Austrian house has fallen on evil days. Before the grab of Austria by the Nazis, they had sustained big financial losses. The house was composed of three brothers, Barons Louis, Eugene and Alfons. Eugene was the first Austrian host of the Duke of Windsor, entertaining him at Enzesfeld Castle. Both Eugene and Alfons were out of Austria when the Nazis took control. Baron Louis Rothschild is a Nazi prisoner, the rumor being that the Nazis are holding him for a gigantic ransom. In the meantime, they have grabbed all the Rothschild castles and estates.

Julius Streicher, famous as the premier Jew-baiter of Germany, sneeringly remarked: "The era and dynasty of the House of Rothschild, as well as that of the Hapsburg emperors, is over and done with."

Not all the Rothschilds have been interested in finance. Rich by inheritance, some of them turned to other things. The late Lord Lionel Rothschild was interested in entomology and bequeathed to the British Museum the greatest private collection in the world. The successor to the title, Lord Victor, is connected with a Cambridge University experimental laboratory. In France Baron Henri de Rothschild is a well-known physician, founder of a free dispensary for the treatment of children's diseases.

Texas WPA Workers To Show Decline

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 1. (AP)—Reduction of Works Progress administration rolls by 5,000 workers will be made in Texas and the twelve state administrative field offices are working on plans to carry out the move without "arbitrarily removing needy persons from the rolls."

This was discussed yesterday at a meeting of the state administrator, H. P. Drought, with representatives of the field offices.

December's employment reduction will be from the current total of 34,572 persons on WPA projects, 27,725 farm workers employed by the WPA and 4,391 persons employed by WPA on projects operated by other federal agencies.

There's No Place For Women In Secret Service, Agent Says

DALLAS, Dec. 1. (AP)—The New York spy trial brought an increase in the number of women applying for jobs in the United States secret service, Leo J. Williams, agent in charge here said.

"But no matter how pretty they may be or how well they can keep a secret, there is no room in the service for women operatives," says Williams. "We don't even have women secretaries or stenographers."

Farm boys, with diplomas from "mail order detective schools", also have been prominently among the recent flood of applicants.

Red tennis balls often are used toward the end of a late afternoon match since they possess greater visibility in the dusk.

Two New Stamps Are Issued In Greece To Honor Constantine

ATHENS, Dec. 1. (AP)—Two stamps have been issued in Greece to commemorate the late King Constantine.

They show the bronze life-size equestrian statue of the King as Commander-in-chief of the army.

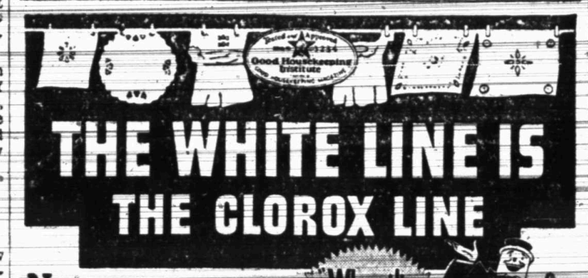

The value of the stamps are 1/50 drachma and 30 drachma.

Meeting Of Dokeys Will Be Conducted In City Tonight

Victor H. Lindsey, royal vizier of the Dokeys, fun organization of the Knight of Pythias, called a meeting of the Dokeys at his office at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Purpose of the meeting is to make plans for a ceremonial here next Wednesday, Lindsey said.

His office is on the third floor of the Lubbock county courthouse.

MODERATE DECLINE SEEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Steel shares bore the brunt of a moderate decline in the stock market today as the bloom faded quickly from the preceding recovery.

The steels yielded virtually all their gains in yesterday's upturn, accompanying the news of the breakdown in the French general strike. On the average, however, losses were only fractional and no urgent rush to liquidate was apparent in the leisurely pace of the day's dealings.

Evidently speculators had viewed the upturn as a temporary "technical" affair and hastened to accept whatever paper profits had been gained by the rally.

In trading haunts generally, the urge to do nothing for a while until 1939 business prospects could be judged better still appeared to account chiefly for the market's gentle fluctuations.

Down fractions to more than a point were General Motors, General Electric, Consolidated Edison, Sears Roebuck, Douglas, Aircraft, Du Pont, Southern Pacific, National Distillers and American Can.

Transactions totaled 861,610 shares compared with 893,000 in the preceding session. The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks was off .3 of a point at 50.9.

Cotton..

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Lack of incentive caused cotton prices to move within an extremely narrow range of but 1 to 3 points here today and the close was steady, net one point up to one down.

Offerings were small throughout the quiet session and most operators continued to hold off pending new crop legislation. Some foreign buying was apparent in early dealings but the demand was supplied quickly by hedging and late month liquidation.

The close was uneven with Dec. contracts at 8.79-bid, Jan. at 8.60-bid, March at 8.56, May at 8.38, July at 8.13, Oct. at 7.83, Dec. (new) at 7.84-bid and March (1940) at 7.88-bid.

Spots were steady with middling unchanged at 8.66. Sales totaled 709 bales.

Foreign markets ranged from about as expected to slightly below but failed to attract any buying support.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP) — Cotton held within a 3-point range today. The market closed unchanged to 2 points net lower after March had eased from 8.46@8.43 and then recovered to 8.45.

Trade and foreign houses absorbed liquidation and hedge selling at the start. Outside orders were small. Trade business was held down by quietness of textile and spot cotton markets. The Washington legislative outlook, in the cotton crop report on December 8 and the cotton referendum two days later all held traders to the sidelines.

Attention was given a speech by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace at Raleigh, N. C., today in which he was reported to have urged cotton farmers to vote for marketing quotas and suggested some modifications of the farm program might be made to recapture export markets.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1 (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 1 point lower at 8.61 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.63 cents a pound.

Dallas Welcome

came word that enthusiasm for the Dallas game was mounting.

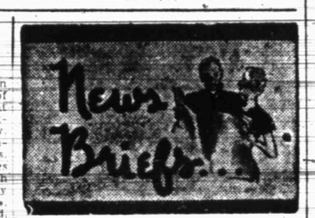

The publicity division of the cotton industries committee endeavored to increase this participation by appointing Chas. A. Guy, publisher of the Lubbock Journal and Avalanche, and Cecil Horne, director of journalism of Texas Tech, members of their body.

Visitors to Dallas that weekend will find cotton bales in rail, bus and air stations. They will eat biscuits made from cottonseed flour, pick at desserts moulded to represent cotton boles and bales, find menus, the football program, printed on paper made from cotton.

Significance of the Cotton Bowl game and the cotton jubilee has increased fourfold because of the invitation to Texas Tech to play here, William H. Jones, chairman of the cotton industries committee, said.

"Lubbock is the center of an area which has a potential cotton production equal to the entire state crop now," he said. "The school is closely tied with cotton production and the textile industry.

"Tech has turned out between fifty and sixty textile engineers. The school will have on display here during the jubilee a blue print showing where these men are now located and telling what they are doing for the cotton industry."

Dr. Walter J. Howard has moved his dental office to 403 Myrick building.

Unable to come here to speak last night because of laryngitis, Rev. J. Hoyt Boles of Tulia is to speak at Texas Technological college next Thursday night under auspices of the YM-YWCA, said Miss Allene Atkinson, "Y" secretary.

Lowell Morris Thomas, 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Thomas of route 1, Lubbock, was given emergency treatment Thursday afternoon for burns suffered when he put lye in his mouth. He was given treatment a few minutes before 6 o'clock. Authorities at Plains hospital said the child was dismissed and his condition was believed "good."

W. D. Morris, about 35, of Lubbock, Thursday was released on bond of $1,000, set by Walter Davies, justice of peace, on the defendant's arraignment on a charge of forgery by false indorsement. J. H. Redwine swore to the complaint against Morris after it was prepared by Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney. Arrest was by Grady Harrist, deputy sheriff.

Two Mexicans arrested Wednesday by police after three packages of asserredly stolen Christmas cards had been found in a privy at the residence of a negro were released Thursday without any charge having been filed against them, according to Bill Mabray, police identifications officer.

Funeral services were to be held yesterday afternoon in Abilene for the late John M. Rice, 62, a well known evangelist of the Church of Christ who died unexpectedly Wednesday at Waxahachie from an attack of pneumonia following a sinus trouble. Rice was well known over the South Plains.

Her recent attempt to fly to Lubbock having been nipped by north gales, Gail Northe, fashion editor of the Texas State network, and Polly Smith, southwestern photographer, and Truett Kimsey, TSN chief engineer, will arrive in Lubbock today noon, they announced. Miss Northe will conduct her usual broadcast when she reaches Big Spring, en route from Fort Worth to Lubbock for a visit to KFYO, member of the TSN chain. She will meet Carl E. Slaton, mayor, W. H. Rodgers, city manager, and other Lubbock persons when here.

A son weighing 9 pounds 1 ounce was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Warren of Abernathy early Thursday at Lubbock sanitarium.

Leamon Cook of Wichita Falls Thursday reported to police here that a gray overcoat, about size 38, was stolen from his car when it was parked in the 1200-block Avenue G. He said the coat had been burned on the right side in the lining. Police Thursday night had received no report of the missing coat.

Theo Pullen of 1502 Ninth street reported to police Thursday that a tire, inner tube, and black wire wheel were taken from an automobile belonging to him.

Three Mexicans were arrested Thursday by Bill Mabray, police identifications officer, and Lewis Kittrell, traffic sergeant, for investigation into charges of theft. That night they were detained in the county, according to information from police headquarters.

than if we had announced Notre Dame or T. C. U. or some other widely known teams.

"Everybody here from street cleaners to the highest civic leaders want to see Texas Tech play, and we all feel that we are now a part of West Texas and it is our sincere wish that our new, fine friendship will continue from now on. We are going to give West Texans a great welcome."

"Bo" Williams, Tech athletic manager, arrived here today to get tickets for sale in West Texas. The tickets will go on sale Tuesday morning. Tickets will sell for $4.40 inside the thirty-yard line and $3.30 outside the thirty-yard line. These are the only tickets on sale. Dallas newspapers today devoted entire pages to Texas Tech, and orders were pouring in for pictures of the Raiders from practically all eastern news services. Forty-four of the forty-eight St. Mary's players voted to meet Texas Tech in today's poll.

Two Coaches

Tech in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Jan. 2.

"They couldn't have picked a better team for our opposition," Coach Cawthon commented after Cotton Bowl officials had informed him of the choice.

One Of Strongest In Nation

"St. Mary's is one of the strongest teams of the nation and surely is among the most colorful. Slip Madigan is one of the most colorful coaches in the business."

"They'll be tough, but that's the way we like 'em," Cawthon said.

He said Tech was trying to line up a game with the Gaels next fall at San Francisco.

Stopped In Lubbock

En route to New York, where they bowed to the Fordham Rams, 3-0, Nov. 5, the St. Mary's gridders stopped off in Lubbock Oct. 5 long enough to work out at Tech field. It was the second time the team had stopped here for practice during an eastward journey.

At that time Coach Madigan seemed impressed with Tech's record and possibilities of a game between the Raiders and the Gaels.

United States Moves Into Action To Safeguard Panama Canal Against Spies

Area Is Hotbed Of Espionage But Uncle Sam Cracks Down

By TED SCOTT
NEA Special Correspondent

PANAMA, Canal Zone, Dec. 1—Whatever the darkening European picture presages for America, the United States has already moved into action to safeguard the keystone of its security—the Panama Canal.

Alarmed by increasing spy threats, and the possibility that the new world may be involved in any war abroad, the U. S. army has notably tightened defenses within the Zone here, clamped down new restrictions.

Following the recent arrest of four alleged nazi spies every civilian employe of German or Italian citizenship was discharged.

The Japanese, long since suspected of espionage, have been generally cleared from the Post Exchanges.

Maj. Gen. David L. Stone, commanding general of the Panama Canal Department, is taking no chances. Under his direction there is a sharp new watch these days—and nights—at all the delicate control points in the powerful Canal defenses.

It was directly a result of General Stone's orders that the three men and one woman now awaiting trial for espionage were arrested at Fort Randolph where they were found photographing secret fortifications.

Swatting The Spies

Recognizing that the whole strategy of United States defense rests on ability to keep the Panama Canal open for free fleet movement between both oceans, all branches of the U. S. Intelligence on the Isthmus have pressed into intensive action.

Under the impetus of the Rome-Berlin-Tokio accord, a new liaison of German, Italian and Japanese agents is believed in full opreation here.

Even though the United States might not be directly involved in war abroad it is realized here that European nations using the Canal, such as Great Britain, might have ships sabotaged in the area.

Great Britain is the Canal's second best customer.

There is the equally grave danger of the activities of international spies in the Canal Zone who trade in everything of a secret military nature, irrespective of the country concerned. Lying in wait today about the various soldier haunts of Panama City, these agents are on a constant lookout for the army man without funds who might be bought.

Propaganda Here, Too

A series of incidents in the area first led the army to tighten restrictions and augment its guard. These included activities of Japanese barbers who were said never to have trimmed a head of hair and Japanese "fishermen" who fished not with linen lines and baited hooks but with special steel tapes for taking soundings.

Before the arrest of the four alleged Nazis, officers detected two men lurking in the vicinity of the big 16-inch coast artillery guns at Fort Kobbe on the Pacific side. Sentries fired and wounded one of the prowlers but both escaped.

Earlier came the discovery through a dead letter of a plot to deliver to a foreign government a highly valuable secret military document.

At the same time the government faces the problem of the constant flow of Nazi and Italian propaganda in the countries immediately adjoining the Canal.

The Germans have been especially active in Nicaragua, through which country the United States long has considered building a second great canal as a supplemental defense measure.

Japanese colonists are increasing at Corrinto, in Colombia, two hours of the Canal by plane. And in Costa Rica at a point two hours from the Canal by air Japanese have leased a large flat tract of land for growing cotton.

Precautions Aplenty

So the vigilance of the U. S. army is necessarily unceasing. Sentinels watch every vessel passing the all-important locks.

Restrictions on flying over the 10-mile wide zone are even more rigid. Windows on passenger planes cannot be opened. Private planes must have special permission to fly over the zone at any time.

The army alone knows the full extent of its Canal defenses. Its huge 14-inch and 16-inch guns, placed "somewhere" along the Canal, are reportedly the largest owned by the United States.

Linking east and west United States coasts, saving the navy some 8,000 miles in travel, the "big ditch" must stay open.

Detectives Are On Germ Trail

By JACK THOMPSON
AP Feature Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Germmen are on the trail of greasy spoons and dirty glasses. They're packing test tubes, swabs and jars into little black bags and scouting District of Columbia restaurants for disease bugs on china and silverware.

It's the first time any city has ever turned bacteriologists loose on restaurant inspection, says the health department.

Until a year ago, Washington, like other cities, left the job to inspectors who simply picked up a glass and looked at it to see if it was clean.

Experts Chase The Bugs

Then with increased congressional appropriations the District health department hired four young men with degrees as bacteriologists. They were given the equipment and told to go to it.

In their first sampling of 65 restaurants they found an average of 520,000 bacteria on each glass they tested. They found the trench mouth bug, pneumonia bug, and the B-coli germ, an intestinal bacteria.

In one year the bacteriologists have brought the germ count down to less than 500 per glass on 90 per cent of the glasses they inspect and less than 300 on each silverware utensil — ample margins of safety. Many of their tests show absolute sterility.

Classes In Cleanliness

When the bacteriologists run into a high germ count in one of Washington's 1,850 restaurants they call in the proprietor to the District health center for a class in cleanliness. They may even invite him in for instruction a second time. But a third warning makes him subject to a fine of $25 to $50 and the Department has not yet lost a case in court.

Director of Food Inspection Dr. R. R. Ashworth says the Washington Restaurant association has given close cooperation.

Don't Worry If Baby's Tendencies Are Left-Handed; He May Change

IOWA CITY, Dec. 1. (AP)—Just because a baby reaches for things with his left hand is no sign he will go through life as a lefthanded person.

Dr. Ruth K. Lederer announced this after making a study for her doctor's degree at the University of Iowa. She found that an equal number of infants showed right- and left handedness between six and 11 months of age.

Changes in hand preference occurred most frequently in the first year and right-handedness predominated in the second.

Lauds Action Of Herbal Gly-Cas

Miss Mora Relieved Of Three Years Constipation; Now Able To Enjoy Good Nights Sleep

"Gly-Cas has made such a remarkable change in my condition that I would not be without it," said Miss Agnes Mora, 1219 North 11th St., Albuquerque, N. Mexico. "For three years I had been forced to endure the awful discomfort and distress that comes from chronic constipation. My system was clogged with dreadful poisons which were gradually wrecking my health. My bladder became disordered and added to my misery with too frequent action and severe back pains. The poisons had filled my system so that my skin was broken out and my lips were swollen. I got but little sleep and was constantly worn-out. Then I began hearing so much praise for Gly-Cas I immediately gave it a trial.

"Gly-Cas was the difference between suffering and good health for me," continued Miss Mora. "My bladder and bowels were regulated almost at once, those awful poisons were removed from my system and I began to feel more like my former self. Now my system has been so thoroughly gone over and the least disorder ended that I enjoy a good nights sleep, my skin is clearing up and the swelling has left my lips. Never have I had such a feeling of confidence in the ability of any one medicine as I have in Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

A series of incidents in the area first led the army to tighten restrictions and augment its guard. These included activities of Japanese barbers who were said never to have trimmed a head of hair and Japanese "fishermen" who fished not with linen lines and baited hooks but with special steel tapes for taking soundings.

Before the arrest of the four alleged Nazis, officers detected two men lurking in the vicinity of the big 16-inch coast artillery guns at Fort Kobbe on the Pacific side. Sentries fired and wounded one of the prowlers but both escaped.

Then with increased congressional appropriations the District health department hired four young men with degrees as bacteriologists. They were given the equipment and told to go to it.

In their first sampling of 65 restaurants they found an average of 520,000 bacteria on each glass they tested. They found the trench mouth bug, pneumonia bug, and the B-coli germ, an intestinal bacteria.

In one year the bacteriologists have brought the germ count down to less than 500 per glass on 90 per cent of the glasses they inspect and less than 300 on each silverware utensil — ample margins of safety. Many of their tests show absolute sterility.

Classes In Cleanliness

When the bacteriologists run into a high germ count in one of Washington's 1,850 restaurants they call in the proprietor to the District health center for a class in cleanliness. They may even invite him in for instruction a second time. But a third warning makes him subject to a fine of $25 to $50 and the Department has not yet lost a case in court.

Director of Food Inspection Dr. R. R. Ashworth says the Washington Restaurant association has given close cooperation.

Don't Worry If Baby's Tendencies Are Left-Handed; He May Change

IOWA CITY, Dec. 1. (AP)—Just because a baby reaches for things with his left hand is no sign he will go through life as a lefthanded person.

Dr. Ruth K. Lederer announced this after making a study for her doctor's degree at the University of Iowa. She found that an equal number of infants showed right- and left handedness between six and 11 months of age.

Changes in hand preference occurred most frequently in the first year and right-handedness predominated in the second.

Lauds Action Of Herbal Gly-Cas

Miss Mora Relieved Of Three Years Constipation; Now Able To Enjoy Good Nights Sleep

"Gly-Cas has made such a remarkable change in my condition that I would not be without it," said Miss Agnes Mora, 1219 North 11th St., Albuquerque, N. Mexico. "For three years I had been forced to endure the awful discomfort and distress that comes from chronic constipation. My system was clogged with dreadful poisons which were gradually wrecking my health. My bladder became disordered and added to my misery with too frequent action and severe back pains. The poisons had filled my system so that my skin was broken out and my lips were swollen. I got but little sleep and was constantly worn-out. Then I began hearing so much praise for Gly-Cas I immediately gave it a trial.

"Gly-Cas was the difference between suffering and good health for me," continued Miss Mora. "My bladder and bowels were regulated almost at once, those awful poisons were removed from my system and I began to feel more like my former self. Now my system has been so thoroughly gone over and the least disorder ended that I enjoy a good nights sleep, my skin is clearing up and the swelling has left my lips. Never have I had such a feeling of confidence in the ability of any one medicine as I have in Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

South China City Of 150,000 Blasted By Incendiary Bombs Of Japanese

Great Damage Is Reported

KWEILIN, Kwangsi Province, China, Nov. 30. (Delayed) (AP)—Japanese warplanes blasted this South China city of 150,000 with incendiary and other bombs today killing 72, wounding more than 200 and destroying many buildings.

Destructive fires were caused in the governor's mansion, the principal shopping street and a dozen residential districts.

Americans Escape

Many inhabitants fled when air raid sirens sounded an alarm nearly an hour before the raiders appeared. All American residents escaped, police said.

Incendiary bombs threw up huge columns of smoke. The bombing was extremely accurate, scoring direct hits on provincial government buildings.

An ammunition dump north of the city exploded and shook the neighborhood like an earthquake.

Bombs fell within 200 yards of the Southern Baptist mission hospital, shattering all its windows. Fire swept to within 50 yards of the building.

Stick To Post

Dr. R. E. Mewshaw, San Benito, Texas, and Miss Ruth Ford, nurse, of Memphis, Tenn., deserted in the hospital by their Chinese staff, managed to carry all their 60 patients to the basement. Later they took in and treated 30 wounded.

A temporary dormitory of the Central China college of the American church mission was burned.

(Many mission and educational institutions from north and central China have made temporary quarters in Kweilin in northeastern Kwangsi near the Hunan border.)

Only about 33 per cent of the applicants for army air corps training pass both the physical and neuropsychic examinations. And of those only about 45 to 50 per cent have enough flying aptitude to get through the school.

Buckley's Mixture (triple acting) Quickly Loosens Things Up

It's different—it's faster in action—it's finding new in this country. By far the largest selling medicine for coughs and colds and Bronchitis in all of cold Canada. Right away that tightness begins to loosen up — the bronchial passages clear —you're happy and breathing easier. Satisfaction guaranteed by druggists everywhere or your money back. ## Indictment Against Aviator Will Be Called On Monday

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 1. (AP)—The federal indictment against Howard Klein, New York aviator charged with conspiracy to smuggle planes into Mexico in violation of neutrality laws, will be called in federal district court here Monday.

Klein came here to post $2,000 appearance bond before U. S. Commissioner Carlos G. Watson Wednesday.

The similar charge against Cloyd P. Clevenger, another American aviator, also will be called here Monday.

The other four indicted in the case included General Saturnino Cedillo.

The oldest known printed book, discovered in China, bears the date, May 11, 868.

Road Extension Gets Approval

Extension of highway 214 in Cochran county from Morton, south to Lehman and on to Plains, in Yoakum county, was approved by the state highway commission in session in Austin this week, J. R. Ward, commissioner of precinct 1 of Cochran county announced here yesterday. He with Commissioners C. H. Hickman of precinct 2 and W. E. Smith of precinct 4 and County Judge G. A. Graham, were enroute home from the Austin meeting.

"We asked for designation of the state highway from Morton to Plains," Ward said. "We also asked that the road from Morton north to the Bailey county line be given a caliche surface. Both of these requests were granted and we agreed to furnish the state with a 120 foot right-of-way across Cochran county."

Hope For Early Order

Ward said the order, he believes, will be passed soon authorizing the Lubbock division engineer to make a survey across the county. The court hopes it will be done before the end of the month. "The court has assured the state we will guarantee a 120 foot right-of-way," he added.

Tentative plan is for the road to be extended south from Morton to Lehman and from there southwest to Plains. It would probably miss the Duggan oil pool in Eastern Cochran county, but would pass near a new oil development to the west of that pool.

When the highway is authorized south of Plains it will be routed to touch highway 51 north of Seminole, in Gaines county, 8 or 9 miles. The Yoakum county sector would touch the great Bennett oil field and also go through the Wasson and Denver fields in Yoakum and Gaines.

The highway starts at Muleshoe, in Bailey county and is paved to Needmore, about half way between Muleshoe and Morton. From Needmore to the county line grading and drainage work has been done. Work is now underway in Cochran county from the Bailey line to Morton.

An automobile burglar alarm that sets off a siren, bell, or horn if anyone tampers with an auto or its accessories has just been invented.

Tired St. Louis Business Men Discover Haven Where They Can Go And Think

Dormitory for "thinkers"; a chapel beyond.

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1. — Tired St. Louis businessmen have discovered Father James P. Monaghan's "thinking resort."

It's a haven, operated by Catholics but open also to Jews and Protestants, where a man can get by himself for meditation.

"Isolated from the world, placed in an environment, where there are beautiful gardens and a broad view of forest and stream, man is set to thinking of the spiritual side of his nature," says Father Monaghan.

From a small start the "thinking resort" has grown to estate size with ivy-covered, stone-walled buildings. The dormitory accommodates 50 men.

Men come for a four-day retreat, usually over the week-end and during that time there is no communication among the guests except for a two-hour recreation period after dinner. Lights are out at 10 p. m.

Executives of several of the city's largest stores urge their department's heads to visit the "white house on the Mississippi" once a year. It is so-called because it sits on white limestone bluffs, 18 miles south of St. Louis. Nearly 20,000 guests have enjoyed its peace.

At the end of a retreat guests may make a voluntary offering but there is no fixed charge. Only the guest knows what he has contributed.

Books Vie With Nuts, Candies And Toys For Prominent Place In Santa's Pack

Books are disputing with nuts, candies and toys for room in Santa's pack this Christmas.

Book stores report their largest demand for books of any holiday season, the trend being toward more expensive and educational types of literature.

It looks like a "reading Christmas."

A general popularity of globes, atlases, and reference books may be due to the recent appearance of several travel journals and the widespread interest in the present war situation and European agitation.

Etiquette books, How To Become a Good Dancer, Think and Grow Rich, and all self-help books are sharing honors with dictionaries, art and music criticisms, and children's Christmas stories.

Three non-fiction books and a real boys book rank high among the sellers for the year.

The Horse and Buggy Doctor by Arthur E. Hertzler, a charming and intimate story of an American doctor, is a march back through time, bringing memories of one's own family physician of the horse and buggy days.

Margaret Halsey's With Malice Toward Some deals with life in a small English village. Miss Halsey's journal gives a mirthful insight into English life from the viewpoint of the wife of an American exchange professor.

Ruth McKenney's My Sister Eileen is a droll log of the experiences of two Irish girls in New York and their difficulties with Greenwich living conditions and certain international affairs.

Eight-year-old David Statler is the boy of the month with his book, Roaring Guns, packed with all the thrills and adventure any boy could want. Every man will see in this book the fondest dreams and hopes of his own childhood. David vies for honors with established authors in the field of realistic, two-fisted drama.

Crosbyton Lions Will Be The Law In That City Friday

CROSBYTON, Dec. 1—The Crosbyton Lions will be the "law" here Friday as they will proceed to enforce laws on and off the statute books, in the interest of the charity work of the club.

Russell McCurdy and Emzy Pierratt will be "judges" to dispense justice or what have you. Lions Charlie Brock, William Nickson, Warren Hames, F. A. Green, J. L. Adams and R. C. Mitchell will be patrol squad captains, to round up victims for the judges to work on.

Each captain will have a squad for the day. Proceeds will be used in the club's work. They have arranged for street lighting for the holidays and also for a big Christmas fund to buy food and toys for needy families.

"If we can't find enough laws to stick you on," the two judges warned the residents, "we'll make some laws of our own."

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows filters may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Kiwanis Work Is Explained

Work being done among the underprivileged boys and girls of Lubbock by the Kiwanis club committee was outlined by members of the committee at the luncheon yesterday noon in the Lubbock hotel.

K. N. Clapp, committee member and chairman of the day, called attention to the observance of underprivileged week as a part of the national program.

Committee Introduced

Chairman Earl McClure introduced his committee, Clapp, Lonnie Langston, A. C. Jackson, George W. Brewer, C. V. Bullen, E. P. McWhirter, Joe Baldridge, Joe Wilson and Frank Campbell. Activities of the committee were outlined as follows. helped the Lions club with its boys' club, sponsored troop 13 of Boy Scouts for that type of boys, purchased tents for scouts at the South Plains camp at Post and also a large tent, bought flooring for a lodge, and purchased 10 pair of shoes, 12 suits of underwear, two overcoats, 8 dresses, two suits, 12 pair of stockings and six shirts, to enable children to attend school.

Marion Sanford, a director, said the boys' club had been temporarily discontinued, but would be resumed later. The Knot-Hole gang is the "outstanding program of its kind in the southwest," he added.

New Idea Worked Out

Miss Mayme Alexander, school attendance teacher, said a new idea was being worked out. It is the securing of work for boys after school hours, and much progress has been made.

"Boys need the association of men who are successful, and who know how to meet problems," she added.

Judge E. L. Pitts, who as county and district judge has handled juvenile delinquency problems of the county since 1931, touched on the responsibility of men cooperating with boys who need advice and help. "Our big responsibility is the building of men and women out of the boys and girls of today," he said. "We owe a responsibility to our neighbor's children as well as our own."

Statistics Are Given

Using federal government statistics, he said that there are 200,000 girls and boys today who will be inmates of the penitentiary. "Crime is increasing more rapidly in Texas than in some other states I know of," he added. In 1937, out of each 1,000,000 population, there were 13.2 murders to 4.6 in the United States; 467 robberies in the state to 40 in the nation; 63.9 assaults to 35.5; 406.5 burglaries to 237.4; 1,020.7 thefts to 559.9 and 184.7 car thefts to 159.9.

In Lubbock county he added, since the first of 1931 a total of 387 juvenile cases had been tried. "Ninety-five per cent of these were in Lubbock," he added. In 1937 there were 77 juvenile cases in the county and so far in 1938, 117 cases, an increase of 40.

"One out of every seven juvenile boys is sent to the state reform school," he added, "and one out of every three girls."

Judge Pitts stressed the need of a public parole officer to work with boys and girls of the county, acting as a friend to those who may get into trouble. "We are not spending as much time in big brothering the boys as we ought to," he added. In his years on the juvenile bench, he court added, he "had never had an active boy scout or a girl scout before him," and "as the years go by there are fewer and fewer from across the tracks,' who come before me."

American Tas'e For Nuts Takes Chance; Pecans Rise In Favor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1. (AP)—The American taste for nuts is changing.

Fifteen years ago walnuts were the most popular, with almonds in second place.

Walnuts still are the favorite, but almonds trail behind pecans, cashews, brazil nuts and chestnuts, the bureau of agricultural economics discovered. Cashews practically were unknown in this country before 1928, but they now rank third in popularity among all tree nuts.

Jews And British Guiana

IT IS entirely possible that we of today will be witness to the planting of an acorn from which a mighty oak shall grow.

We, of course, cannot expect that we shall see the oak. But it is pardonable and interesting to visualize at the time of planting what the harvest may be.

The "acorn" in this case may be the Jews driven from their European homeland. The scene of planting may be British Guiana on the northern coast of South Americe where Great Britain has proposed to set aside 10,000 square miles for colonization by the homeless exiles. There the oak may grow.

This land will be no Garden of Eden should the project be carried to realization. In many respects, it is forbidding. It would be a land of tremendous hardships. It is a wilderness in the broiling heat of the tropics. It isn't a place the average person would willingly choose for a home.

But the Jews are a people who are accustomed to more than hardship. Probably no people ever have been more cruelly persecuted than are those of their faith in Central Europe today. Yet they have thrived in combat both with man and with nature. In Guiana they would combat only with nature who is exacting but who is just. It would offer a homogeneous people, bound together by the ties of blood and of suffering, the opportunity to work out their own destiny.

Given that opportunity and considering what they have accomplished in the face of incredible handicaps, who can say how far they might go? Perhaps there might be the mighty oak of another great nation.

"Houston Of The Plains"

AS residents are aware, Lubbock has been making a phenomenal building record this year.

Therefore there can be no suggestion of envy when we salute Houston because of the record this metropolis among Texas cities is making. As a matter of fact, we can stick our own chests out a little further because the record of Houston emphasizes the magnitude of what goes on here.

Houston, which ranked 26th in population among cities of the nation in 1930, probably ranks 20th today. Yet it ranks sixth in 1938 building permit totals, surpassed only by New York, Chicago, Detroit, Los Angeles and Washington. The Houston figure exceeds by more than $1,000,000 the combined totals of Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and El Paso. All of which means that Houston unquestionably is going places.

Now for some comparisons. Houston's permit total approximates $23,000,000. Lubbock's is in excess of $3,000,000. Houston's population today is around 400,000. Lubbock's is placed at a few hundred more than 30,000. Thus, Houston's population is approximately 13 times that of Lubbock. Her building pace is something less than eight times as fast.

All of which shows, by process of simple arithmetic, that if Houston was building as fast, in proportion to size, as is the case with Lubbock, the permit total of the metropolis would exceed $39,000,000.

Which would indicate, if the evidence were needed, that Lubbock also is going places fast.

With Our Contemporaries

"Students of the weather, who have charted the excesses of climatic conditions in the United States for many years, are said to believe that beginning about this winter, possibly next, excesses of low temperatures are due to begin and run through a period of some time," reports Homer Steen in Floydada's Floyd County Hesperian.

Yesterday: Jack warns Dwight that he has caused Judy too much grief already to bother her to explain about Marvel's hasty runout.

CHAPTER VII

Judy Alcott jumped between the two men. "Jack!" she implored. "Dwight! Please don't. . . ." There had been too much said already. She suggested quickly, "If you're going after Marvel, Dwight, you ought to start right away. Before she'd had too much time to stew and make herself more furious."

Dwight left at once. Jack, his mouth tight, sat on the sofa while Judy went to the door with Dwight. When she returned he said, "Why don't you cut interfering in his business? He's engaged to the girl—let them work their battles out alone."

Judy sat down. "I'm going to she said quietly. "But I had to tell him what she said when I went there. Because I had promised to do that much."

"I'm sorry I blew up. But he made me so cussed mad." He kicked at the rug. Then he said, "He's blind . . . not to know what he's doing to you. . . ."

But Judy only said, trying to smile brightly, "No. He's just madly in love with Marvel."

Jack grabbed her hands with sudden passion. "And you're madly in love with him. Aren't you?"

"No!" lied Judy, while she felt her very ears burning. "No, of course not. What makes you talk like that?" She pulled her hands away from him. She said, "You must be hungry. Let's go in the kitchen and see what there is to eat."

But though he stayed all evening, Judy couldn't keep her mind on the things they talked about. It kept wandering queerly. Wondering what Dwight was saying to Marvel. Whether she was coming back. And wishing, fiercely, that she wasn't.

But Marvel did come back. Dwight told Judy about it, a few nights later. He had driven to Los Angeles, gone to the house of the wealthy friends she had fled to, in high anger and jealousy.

"She's at the Corondo, again. And Judy—please—help me. I want her to meet the wives of the men I work with. Mrs. Lane, the captain's wife. And your mother. And the exec's wife . . . all of them."

Putting his best foot forward, thought Judy. But she recognized the necessity. If Marvel was to marry into the navy, live on naval stations and among naval people, there was a certain amount expected of her. She would have to know these people.

Judy said quietly, "Mother was perfectly willing to have a little bang to introduce her. There's no reason why we can't give it now."

But the party was not a success. Judy had worked hard. There were flowers in the vases, delicious hors d'oeuvres, good cocktails. The others were prepared to be friendly. But Marvel arrived in a stunning gown that was cut too low and that was altogether too spectacular for an informal gathering. Her red hair was piled high in the latest manner. Her fingernails were crimson, her silver slippers were merely three-inch heels and a slender strap with a rhinestone buckle. Through the sheer hose, her toenails gleamed, as highly polished as her fingernails.

Judy, who knew she'd been a fool to work so hard on a party for Dwight's girl, tried her best to be nice to Marvel. But the other girl had evidently not forgotten that scene in the hotel, for her eyes danced knowingly, and she almost patronized her hostess.

Admiral Hanrahan and Dwight and Captain Lane were standing surrounding Marvel, now. She heard Marvel's light laughter, she heard her saying, "Oh, Washington! When my father was alive, we used to have the nicest dinners! The president's naval aide was a great friend of father's."

There was the deep boom of the admiral's voice, and then Dwight was saying something, which ended in the respectful "sir" everybody used to the admiral.

Marvel laughed again. "How silly! I want to go back to Washington! Why, everything's there! And Dwight, you know, I'm determined you shall have a glittering career!"

Judy turned her eyes away from them desperately. Diane said, "She'll soon find out it's the men who make careers in the navy, not the women." Her understanding was comforting. Judy said, "I suppose I shouldn't have done this."

"But Dwight asked you!" said Diane.

At last the party broke up. Mrs. Hanrahan gave the signal, by thanking Judy's mother for a delightful evening, and sending the admiral a significant look. After they had left in the big car driven by an enlisted man, the others were free to go. And Judy wanted them to go quickly! The evening had been such a bust! Instead of helping Marvel, she had only allowed her to make a fool of herself.

Jack stayed after the others had gone. As if he could read her mind, he said to Judy, "Maybe she's going to be the kind who goes in for outside society, and who cultivates the wealthiest and hardest drinking crowd in each city where they're stationed. She's got money enough for that." But it always made bitter enemies. There had been a young wife like that in Shanghai, Judy remembered. She had run around with a fast, international crowd. She had given boisterous parties at which her husband was the only naval man. Navy women talked about her, disliked her, and were queerly envious. And in the end, her husband had been sent home to be passed over. It was different when a man made friends with his own shipmates, and could sandwich talk of his work in with other kinds of conversation.

Judy was tired. She sank down on the sofa, pushing the coffee table with its overflowing ashtrays to one side. Jack said, "The devil with her. She's Campbell's problem now." He took her hand. "I want to talk to you Judy. About you and me."

The touch of his big fingers was soothing. She said, "Go on, talk," and smiled at him.

"Judy, I know you're unhappy. I know you gave this party for him. Listen—try to forget it." She could feel his hands tremble on hers. "I love you, Judy. Won't you marry me?"

She sat up straight, startled. Love! Why, Jack was a friend. A good friend. Dependable, like a brother. But love—she had never thought of him in that way. She stared at him, her blue eyes wide. At last she said slowly, "I—I never dreamed—"

"Why do you think it hurt me when you let him take you out? Why do you think I nearly went crazy when you told me you were going to marry him?" His eyes burned with sudden passion. "Judy, I've been crazy about you for a long time. Even when you were 16—and you and Ward—"

She and Ward. Jack had been their best friend. The three of them had driven around the New Jersey countryside in Ward's open roadster. They had had nutty, merry good times together. But she had never guessed that Jack loved her. Never. She couldn't speak. His arm was around her now, and his voice, low and husky, was pleading with her. "You can't go on mooning about him when he's engaged to her, Judy. I won't let you. If you'd marry me, we could have such a good life together. Oh, even if you don't love me now—you could learn. I'd be patient. I'd be so good to you. And Judy, Judy, I need you so!"

Almost without her own volition, her hands were pushing at his chest, and she was moving away from the circle of his arms. "No, Jack," she said. "I—I think you're a swell guy, you know that. But I don't love you."

"You could learn!" he said eagerly.

She shook her head. "No. Oh, Jack, don't let's spoil our friendship! Can't we go on the way we've been—just friends?"

His face was shadowed. He stood up. All at once he said violently, "I don't want you to throw me crumbs while you give your heart to him! I've stood by and watched you long enough. I can't stand any more of it!"

And then he was striding out of the room, and she was left alone on the sofa, her eyes suddenly stinging, her head aching.

Unusual Sight Will Greet Lubbock Citizens Saturday

An unusual sight will greet downtown visitors in Lubbock Saturday afternoon.

Six "foot-weary miners" with long beards and carrying picks and shovels and other equipment will walk through the streets, leading two donkeys. Occasionally they will stop to "pan for gold."

The parade will be a part of the initiation of six Texas Technological college students into Tech's chapter of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, national geology fraternity. Ordinarily, the fraternity's pledges parade around the football field at a game, but since Saturday's Tech-Centenary game was called off the downtown visit will be required.

The students are Travis Hicks of Corpus Christi, Ewing Long of Richardson, Murray Gray of Snyder, J. W. Harp of Abernathy, Ruford Madera of Van Horn, and Jack Myers of San Angelo.

Body Of University Student Is Found Beside His Car

AUSTIN, Dec. 1. (AP)—The body of Branch Archer, 22, son of District Judge Roy C. Archer and a student at the University of Texas, was found beside his automobile near Austin today.

Young Archer had been shot beneath the chin, the bullet from a small calibre rifle emerging through the head. A constable expressed the opinion it was an accident.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

POLITICAL amateurs measure the recent Republican comeback in terms of Congressional seats rewon and Governorships recaptured. They are fascinated by the show in the main tent. But the clubhouse politico sliderules it in accord with the $1,000 to $5,000 jobs they can now hand out to the deserving. It's out there that parties sprout and blossom.

Statistics are hopelessly inadequate, but in making a net gain of 11 state administrations, G. O. P.-ers estimate that they will have the disposition of at least 50,000 jobs. What makes it happier, they will fire that many Democrats who may suspect that F. D. R. did not bring the millenium. It is estimated that the Republicans control at least one-third of the nation's 3,053 counties, and that should assure them of another 100,000 paying posts. Except for the fact that several states regained by the G. O. P.—Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Colorado, Ohio, Connecticut—have the Civil Service system, their reconstruction assets would be more impressive.

It's impossible to underestimate the significance of this sort of political resurgence. From now on every hungry, disgruntled Republican worker will become a party patriot. He couldn't save the country on an empty stomach, but now that he's gonna eat, he may sit up and do something about insuring the provender.

PROTEGE: A genial Texan with a monkish tonsure of reddish hair may become the most influential figure on Capitol Hill at the next session of Congress. He is the fortunately placed Sam Rayburn of Bonham, House Majority Leader scheduled to tell the President what it's all about during the latter's Warm Springs sojourn.

Sam can be—probably will be—the man to rally the duelling wings of the Democratic party. A middle-of-the-road fellow, with a slight tinge of conservatism, he yet won the affection of the President and the leftists by his fight for the public utility holding company act. He also pulled other New Dealish chestnuts out of the fire. And yet, whenever Cohen-Corcoran bills were tempered on behalf of a shorn business and industry, Sam was always the moderator. His colleagues, regardless of party, love him for his kindliness and simplicity.

He is the buddy of two men who can make trouble for the White House—Vice President Garner and Gene Cox, ranking Democrat on the House Rules committee. If anybody can persuade them to pull anti-administration punches in the next session, it will be Sam. The V. P. looks on him as a son and protege. Whenever a House member strolls into Mr. Garner's office, the latter first asks: "How is my boy Sam doing these days?"

EQUIPPED: It may sound fantastic, but this unassuming fellow is quietly being mentioned as a prospective presidential candidate in 1940. He is the surprise entry—darker than any horse that ever ran on a national track.

New thought among the Democrats, however, boosts his stock. As reported by Whirligig, the Garner wing has concluded that they cannot affront the President by nominating a man distasteful to him; they may need his blessing if the G. O. P. keeps coming back. That seems to rule out types like Bennett Clark, for the White House will not have him except under unusual circumstances. On the other hand, it is extremely doubtful if the party boys and girls will accept the man who appears to be the President's Lambeth Walker at the moment—Harry Hopkins. There must be a compromise choice satisfactory to the two great figures of the party—the No. 1 and the No. 2 men.

It is on this reasoning that inside talk of Sam Rayburn is based. He has been a presidential hod carrier, and yet he has often shifted the load to make better bricks than the brain trusters fashioned. In fact, if you took the best and worst elements of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Garner and fused them, the product would be a home-owning, cow-raising, cornbread-dunking Sam Rayburn. And don't call him Samuel. Says he: "Sam's good enough for me."

POSSIBLE: The long-shotters — and they're often right in their guesses—are ranking Harold Stephens high in their winter books as the man for the late Benjamin Cardozo's place on the Supreme court. Don't forget the name, please, for he's comparatively unknown outside the legal circles.

Mr. Stephens hails from Utah, and the Far West lacks representation on the highest tribunal. His first New Deal appointment was as assistant Attorney-General, but he was soon promoted to the Circuit Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia—a body of judges which, in some respects, ranks second only to the Supreme court itself. Sitting in the federal city, it was this tribunal which tried major causes such as the Fall-Doheny indictments, out of which another Supreme Court justice—Owen J. Roberts—was born.

Mr. Stephens is not a politician—never has been. He has the highest respect of Washington's lawyers, and they're a nervous, finicky bunch. His name is only one of forty on F. D. R.'s desk, but it may pop out.

COMPETENCE: The pro-labor laws sponsored by the Roosevelt administration — the N. L. R. B., the Walsh-Healey, the wage-hour—are beginning to have an effect not calculated by their authors and not even broached by industrial victims as a possible objection to their passage. But reports reaching the Labor department and organized labor headquarters are causing concern.

With employers forced to pay higher wages and grant shorter hours, they are reorganizing their rolls. They are inclined, wherever possible, to retain only the most efficient, the most productive, and to fire those who can't earn their more expensive keep. The trend is especially strong in the South, working hardship to certain classes of negro labor. It is also producing some unemployment in small shops and factories, where the owner must figure closely to keep his head above water.

Publicly, the administration's labor supervisors—Secretary Perkins and Administrator Andrews—pish-pish these grapevine hintings of trouble. But, privately, they concede that there will be some wear and tear on the lowly and the laggards for a while.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

SECRETARY OF STATE CORDELL HULL won his greater victory for his policy of promoting international trade by reciprocity when the Anglo-American-Canadian trade treaties were signed. Yet financial insiders have serious doubts that these treaties will stand up very long unless they are supplemented by a new and binding agreement to stabilize currencies.

Moreover, Mr. Hull's trade agreements in general will come under heavy fire when Congress convenes, and the attacks won't be all from the Republican side. Some of Mr. Hull's New Deal colleagues—notably Secretary of Agriculture Wallace—are set to do their share of sniping. There's a growing feeling in the farm belt that the trade treaties are subjecting American agriculture to unfair competition.

New Yorkers comment that the Secretary of State had better retire to a bombproof—and soundproof—dugout if he wants a peaceful winter.

POLITICS: There will be an important political motif behind the anti-Hull barrage that may escape general attention.

Mr. Hull is undoubtedly one of the most popular and widely respected figures in the Roosevelt administration. There's a good deal of talk about him as a presidential possibility for 1940, despite his 69 years and the fact that he hasn't given the slightest indication that he aspires to higher office.

Naturally the Republicans, whose 1940 hopes are enjoying a sharp revival, don't want to see him become too much of a national hero. On the other side, ambitious New Dealers privately regard him as a potentially dangerous rival. Both elements will be out to undermine the popular esteem in which he is held, and his trade treaties mark the one spot where he might be vulnerable. It may not be cricket—but it's politics.

Side Glances---By George Clark

"We don't need a car, but we should have something to borrow money on in case we get into a jam."

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Dec. 1 (AP) — The lowly cedar may mean just so many sneezes to thousands of Texans but to the state planning board it is a resource and a manufacturing opportunity.

In a bulletin the board says there are more than 5,000 square miles of Texas land covered with cedar, which, if properly exploited, should yield many dollars.

Although some counties have asked government aid in eradicating cedar which is encroaching on grazing terrain, it suggests the commercial utilization of "this so-called menace should be given serious consideration by ambitious Texans."

One Of Earliest Woods Utilized

The best bets for Texans considering utilizing the enormous natural suply of cedar, in the board's opinion, would seem to be production of lumber, wall board, oil, small novelties and shavings for dog kennels.

"Cedar was one of the earliest woods utilized by man and down through the ages there is frequent mention of this wood and its derivatives," the bulletin explains.

"The early ships were built principally of cedar and even today it is not unusual to find the tenders, or dories, of the finest yachts afloat, built of cedar.

"The wood is strong, light and highly resistant to the teredo, a shipworm which is the sworn enemy of all wooden vessels.

"The wood, where it is available, is frequently fashioned into buckets and churns and some of the nation's most prominent vintners prefer cedar wine coolers to anything devised by modern science.

"There is no waste in the manufacture of cedar products. All of the wood is utilized, even to that which in other woods would be waste and stumpage.

Cedar Chest Most Known

"Perhaps the most widely known product is the cedar chest, the hope chest of every young girl and the storage bin for the woman whose hopes have been realized.

"Cedar makes excellent furniture and also paneling for walls and ceilings. The residue of slabs and small pieces are utilized for linings and pencils."

The earliest recorded use of cedar oil, recovered from cedar waste, was for perfume. Later it was used as an intensifier for allied odors and now is used extensively for chlorine disinfectants and in furniture polishes, medicated soaps and cold creams.

Not Profitable At Present

The planning board however is not advising anyone to rush into the business of manufacturing cedar oil exclusively. At present it is not profitable to operate exclusively for the oil.

The ratio of recovery, 3.5 per cent from virgin wood to less than one per cent from scrub and second growth, is too low to permit a fair profit, the board said, but adds if a way can be found to utilize the residue for something more practical than floor sweep, which brings so little on the market, the whole aspect would be changed.

It observes the waste pulp from the cedar oil distillery could very easily be converted into wall board, which is ideal for cabinet work of all kinds and which faces a growing market.

"The price has more than quadrupled in the last decade and there is no reason why Texas cannot be used as the basis of a huge industry regardless of the extremely low price of cedar," the bulletin comments.

"More than 350,000,000 feet of cedar lumber has been produced annually in the United States the last 12 years at an approximate value of $12,500,000; and from the U. S. Dispensatory we learn that about 150,000 pounds of cedar oil is produced annually and that this oil has an f. o. b. New York value of 20 cents a pound in 55 gallon drums or 420 pounds.

Freight Rates Factor

"The freight rates to the principal markets make further inroads into the possible profit on cedar oil, but if the waste were to be converted into wall board, instead of sweeping compound—well, there is a real opportunity.

"Cedar wall board would be highly resistant to humidity, moisture and atmospheric changes in general. And it retains a natural color that is beautiful."

The bulletin has this to say concerning novelties and cedar shavings:

"Each year there appear on the shelves of Texas stores small wooden novelties made of cedar wood grown in other states. Why can Texas fingers fashion these novelties; why can't Texas brains design new wooden novelties?

"There is another field which seems to have been entirely overlooked by Texas. That is the cedar shaving industry which has grown by leaps and bounds the last few years. More than $2,000,000 worth of cedar shavings are sold annually to owners of dogs."

Oil from porpoises is used to lubricate watches and other delicate mechanisms.

Hawks'-bill turtles frequently are released after the plates, known on the market as "tortoise-shell," are removed. Theory has it that the turtle grows a new set of shields to replace those it has lost.

TARZAN, THE FEARLESS 95 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

One more chance for life! Tarzan took it! First his gaze darted about him, above and below, making a hasty survey of his position. Then he feigned a leap upward. The startled warriors believed he would attempt to climb the face of the god and leap treeward.

But just as they drew back their spears to impale him, the lightning swift ape-man shifted his course, dashed to the edge of the platform, and swung downward. Then, with the agility of a monkey, the Jungle Lord scrambled down the side of the giant idol.

Peering over the edge of the platform, the warriors laughed. Tarzan was a fool. He could not escape that way. If he continued to the ground, the people there would seize him. But the ape-man did not continue to the ground. He had a different objective.

He leaped back to the platform where stood the tribesman who controlled the mechanism of the sacrifice. The man was terrified, but his very fear inspired him to swift action. He whipped up his long, sundrogw knife to plunge it into the demon's flesh!

Prizes For Lubbock County Boys In Lions Club Contest Are To Be Given

Awards Are To Be Announced

Two hundred dollars in prizes will be awarded Saturday to 4-H club and vocational agriculture boys who are declared winners in the Lions club's one variety cotton contest for Lubbock county, said M. E. Heard, chairman of the club's committee last night in announcing an additional gift from Lubbock Cotton Oil mill of $100.

"Manager George Simmons told me the check was in the mails for $100," Heard said. "That will make $200 in prizes to be awarded to the boys of the county."

Two Age Groups

There will be two age groups, for boys in the contest, said Heard. Boys above 15 years will be in one group and below in another.

First place in each group is to receive $50; second, $25; third, $15 and fourth $10.

Auction sale is scheduled for 11 o'clock at Texas Technological college. Auctioneer has not been selected as yet.

Two speakers have accepted invitations for short talks, K. N. Clapp, Anderson, Clayton & Co. local representative and Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture.

Cotton Men Invited

Lubbock and other cotton men interested in improved quality of cotton are invited to attend the sale and to bid on the lists offered. Heard said he hoped to have a number of bidders for the expected 225 or more bales.

Plains Compress yesterday advised Heard they would furnish several men to cut the bales before classing.

Notices have been sent to all boys who have cotton to be at the South Plains fair grounds by 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning. Vocational agriculture teachers and J. W. Palmore, assistant county agent, have notified all entrants to have cotton in trailers, trucks or pickups, at the grounds.

Heard again stressed the fact that boys that entered, although they had been hailed or dusted out, are urged to attend. "We want them all whether they put a sack in their fields or not," he added. "We want their dads, also."

The Lions club is serving a barbecue at noon in the livestock pavilion of the college. Boys and their fathers, and guests have been invited.

Cancellation of the Centenary-Tech game upset plans to have the boys as guests at the afternoon football contest.

Roadside Tavern Operator Is Given 10 Years In Prison

LUFKIN, Dec. 1. (AP) — Fred C. Fox, roadside tavern operator on trial for assault to murder state liquor board agent Horace Coon, was found guilty today and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Coon and two other officers were fired on at a tavern last September when they sought to arrest Fox, state witnesses testified.

Two Hung Juries In Same Case Reported

Two hung juries in two days in the same case in the same court apparently established a record, according to attorneys here.

Judge Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court declared a mistrial Thursday afternoon in the case of W. M. Mitchell, negro, charged by indictment with theft from the person. A mistrial had been declared Wednesday when petit jurors were unable to reach a verdict in the case.

Procured Another Jury

After the mistrial Wednesday, Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, Thursday morning procured another jury and began trying the case again.

Lubbock attorneys questioned said they did not recall a similar case in the past here.

Some did not remember any case where the same indictment in a mistrial one day was invoked for a new trial the next day.

Burton S. Burks, district attorney, said Thursday's procedure completed criminal actions in that court for this term.

In the matter of V. T. Dickson, charged in two cases with forgery, the defendant this morning presented a motion to quash the indictment of the case that had been called and, the state asking time to study the motion, the action was passed.

Called Quarterly Conference Of Methodists Set Today

Called quarterly conference of the First Methodist church is to be held this morning at 9 o'clock when the matter of refinancing of the mortgage of the church is to be acted upon, said Allen Hill, chairman of the board of stewards.

Rev. Dr. O. P. Clark, presiding elder, called the conference and will preside. The meeting is to be opened on time and will be ended as soon as the business has been transacted. Refinancing will enable the local church to reduce its interest items considerably, it was explained.

Lubbock County Boys Place Seventh In Big Contest

Douthit Grinstead and Norman Smith, Lubbock county 4-H club boys and Texas meats identification team, placed seventh in the nation in a national contest at Chicago this week, J. W. Palmore, jr., assistant county agent, was advised yesterday. Missouri team placed first.

The Texans are leaving Chicago tonight for home and will be back in Lubbock Sunday night or Monday morning, Palmore said he was told in a letter from the boys. They reported a wonderful time in the "windy city" with many extraordinary experiences.

All Is (And Are) Fair In War For Top Ranking Among Debutantes Of Season

ETHELETTE TUCKER

BRENDA FRAZIER

By PAUL ROSS
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Well, the leaves have fallen, the World series is a memory, the Rose Bowl contenders are picking themselves out of the mud on the gridiron, snow, turkey and another flock of bills are in the offing. So—along Park Avenue—what goes on?

Plenty.

Diamond-bearing dowagers are rushing in from Europe, Bar Harbor, the Berkshires. Expensive dressmakers are needling away busily. Swank hotels are bustling. Everybody who is anybody is hauling out the old ermine wrap and taking a new reducing course. In a few weeks up goes the curtain on the big battle of the blueboods, the joust of the golden girls, society's annual steeplechase — the Debutante Derby.

Gloria Baker . . . her "successor" is sought.

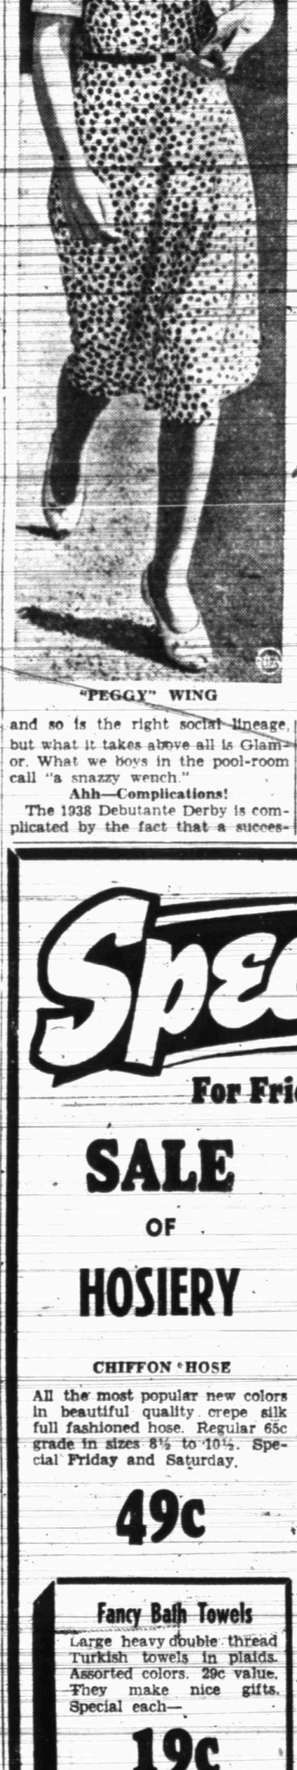

For 17 or 18 years, proud mommas carefully nurture their little flowers, pour bushels of the green into an education, music, language, the social graces, bands for the teeth, correct shoes for the feet, clothes to tickle a kid's heart. And every year, about the time the farmer has barned his last corn, the debutante crop ripens and bursts upon a breathless world, and each year society asks the same old question (in more cultured words, of course)—"Which of these babes is going to be the cream of the crop?"

Dough is important, naturally, and so is the right social lineage, but what it takes above all is Glamor. What we boys in the pool-room call "a snazzy wench."

Ahh—Complications!

The 1938 Debutante Derby is complicated by the fact that a successor must come along to fill the comely shoes of Gloria Baker, who, by common consent, including that of the news photographers was the Number One Gilded Glamor Girl last year.

Ranking favorite in the current debbie crop is Brenda Diana Duff Frazier, probably the wealthiest girl to come out this season. She is heiress to $8,000,000 the day she turns 21 and even now has $100,000 per annum to play around with. Brenda went to Miss Hewitt's and Miss Porter's schools, studied music and languages in Munich and apparently has a will of her own. Her comment on Barbara Hutton's recent marriage trouble was: "I wonder why she (Babs) ever married the Count and gave up her country for him?" Brenda's little coming out party at the Ritz-Carlton is going to give the bluebloods an expensive thrill. Daughter of Mrs. Frederic Watriss.

"PEGGY" WING

ELVIRA FAIRCHILD

Quartet Of Rivals

Crowding the Frazier hopeful for first place are four other hopefuls: Elvira "Vivi" Fairchild, Ethelette "Tommy" Tucker, Suzanne Close and Margaret "Peggy" Wing.

"Vivi" Fairchild is the daughter of the Locust Valley, L. I., Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fairchild. She studied at the Westover School, Middlebury, Conn., and spent her winters in Puerto Rico. She makes her society debut in New York come December.

"Tommy" Tucker is going to throw her hat in the ring at a shindig in the Hotel Pierre in December, too. She is a graduate of Miss Hewitt's school and made the papers early this year by doing her bit for the poor when she collected funds for the Infantile Paralysis Drive . . . Shh! "Tommy" likes to ride a bike and roller-skate. Daughter of Mrs. Witherbee Black.

Went To Switzerland

Suzanne Close went to Switzerland to study languages after finishing at the Shipley school. Right after Christmas, Suzanne joins the steeplechase with a dance at the St. Regis. Then her schedule calls for a period devoted to music study. Daughter of Mrs. Walter H. Close.

The only real horse-lover in the bunch is "Peggy" Wing, daughter of Mrs. H. Granger Gaither and S. Bryce Wing. Strictly the outdoor girl, "Peggy" always turns up at the race meets and puts in a lot of time at Camden, S. C., where the horsey set foregathers. Winter will see her as a debutante.

Doggone Dogs Bark All Night; Man Finds They Had A Reason

KERRVILLE, Tex., Dec. 1. (AP)—"It must be that those hounds have another squirrel at bay," said C. E. Stapp, rancher, after the dogs had kept him awake most of the night with their baying.

He stepped outside with his little squirrel gun and then came right back into the house for a rifle. Instead of a squirrel it was a panther the dogs had treed. Stapp shot it, found it measured six and one-half feet from nose to tail.

State Auditor Vote In Denver Shows One Ballot Difference

DENVER, Dec. 1. (AP)—The November election was the closest Denver ever has experienced; if one contest had been any closer it would have been a dead heat.

Archie G. Maine, Republican candidate for state auditor, carried the city by one vote. He had 61,729 and his opponent, Homer P. Bedford, 61,728. Bedford, however, had a bigger plurality outside of Denver.
