Serious Flood Threat Posed By Rio Grande

By The Associated Press

Serious flood threats closed the International Bridge at Del Rio late Saturday as downpours in far West Texas drained into the Rio Grande.

The Department of Public Safety reported the big border river was rising one foot every 25 minutes.

East of Del Rio the Nueces River was reported on its largest rise in history. Some families were chased from their homes.

Telephone lines east of Del Rio were broken and all communication was by way of El Paso.

State Defense and Disaster Headquarters in Austin asked highway patrolmen to notify all local authorities along the Nueces River of possible floods Saturday night and Sunday.

Heavy rains in the upper Nueces produced flash flooding through canyons and the hill country north and west of Uvalde.

Rains of from 6 to 10 inches were reported from Juno, 90 miles north of Del Rio to Bracketville, 35 miles southeast.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Brownsville had expected a crest of 10 to 12 feet at Del Rio as the flood waters rushed down the Rio Grande. Instead, the water reached 17½ feet Saturday afternoon and was still rising.

Officials still did not expect any widespread property damage although temporary bridges—most of them built to replace structures lost in the 1954 flood—might be swept away.

There were reports of rises of 25 feet or more on the west and east prongs of the Nueces. Camp Wood north of Uvalde reported a rise of 30 to 32 feet.

In a lowland area at 19 Mile Crossing on U.S. 55 northwest of Uvalde residents had to move to higher ground. There were no communications to the area.

U.S. 90 between Uvalde and Del Rio was in danger of being closed by flood waters. Later Saturday water was within two feet of a bridge about 7 miles from Uvalde

South of Uvalde the Dry Frio River was up 7 to 8 feet.

All areas along the Nueces north of Crystal City were warned to take precautions.

The State Defense and Disaster Headquarters said it was predicted

Adlai To Woo Texas Voters

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson's "non-political" lecture appearance here next week could turn out to be the national party's first big boom in the battle to return Texas to the Democratic fold in 1956.

Stevenson returns to the state where he was plowed under in 1952 by Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gov. Allan Shivers for a "great issues" address at the University of Texas. Shivers will not be there.

While the speech on "America, the Economic Colossus" is billed as strictly non-political, Stevenson's visit could become a rallying point for the Democrats who stuck with him in 1952 and who would like to see him or some other Democratic candidate for President put Texas back in its traditional party harness next year.

Stevenson's appearance at Gregory Gymnasium Wednesday night is sponsored by a student committee which books lecturers at the university. It was agreed in advance that Stevenson's remarks would be non-political, and he has rejected several invitations for political talks on this trip.

Stevenson will be the overnight guest of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) at his Stonewall Ranch on the sleepy Pedernales River near here. It is highly unlikely that they would pass up such an opportunity to talk over the Democratic party's chances to get back on top in Texas.

Stevenson also will be a pre-lecture party guest of Austin attorney James P. Hart, former state Supreme Court justice and former chancellor of the University of Texas. Hart is a potential candidate for governor with a firm Democratic party-loyalty record.

Absent from the capital will be Gov. Shivers, booked for a speech Wednesday night before an oil well drillers' convention at Houston.

The Texas governor has said several times recently that if Stevenson is nominated by the Democrats again in 1956, he can not support him. Shivers broke with Stevenson in advance of the 1952 campaign when Stevenson told him plainly he would not back up Texas' tidelands claims.

Shivers has said he hopes the Democratic National Convention will nominate a candidate and adopt a platform that he can support next year. Shivers, according to some recent stories, wants to keep his hand in national party affairs by having himself named

SNYDER SPOTLIGHT

By WACIL McNAIR

We have received a publicity blurb from the Post Office Department which says that contracts for leasing or long-term purchase of new buildings to be used by that department have been signed at a rate of over "one and one-half per working day during the past 18 months."

In all, the mimeographed release says, the Post Office Department has either occupied or will occupy, upon completion, approximately 600 new units at an estimated construction cost of about $49-million dollars.

This program, which is known as the repartment's leace-purchase plan, is not a part of the Federal Public Works Building Program. In fact, the release says, there have been no appropriations for the Federal government to construct Post Office buildings since 1938.

Snyder learned about the long gap in appropriations when interested persons here inquired last year about the possibility of obtaining a new Post Office building. Subsequently there was some talk about the lease-purchase plan, but apparently nobody was able to find out just how to proceed.

It was our understanding the funds for lease-purchase agreements were limited and that applications already on file far exceeded the supply of funds. However, this new report, which quotes Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, makes no mention of limitations, but boasts that the program is designed to use the financing and construction capacity of American business to provide modern buildings for Post Office use.

Perhaps we should investigate again.

According to local Rotarians, Herman Doak is credited with this observation, made during an informal discussion of decreasing water tables on the Plains and oilfield unitization projects: "The time may come when we will inject oil into the ground to repressure water wells."

That reminds us of a statement made by Rep. George Mahon a year or so ago. The 19th District Congressman suggested that a depletion allowance should be set up for irrigation wells, in view of the falling water table.

Probably you have heard all of the jokes, songs, etc., about naive sports fans, but here is an authentic report to add to your collection. James Amos told about it at last week's meeting of the Quarterback Club. Amos had his eighth grade team moving down the field when a penalty was called on a long run. Two red flags were on the ground, and it developed that two officials had detected two cases of clipping on the play. The officials went into a huddle and then stepped off a 30-yard penalty, 15 yards for each clip.

Peron Given Permission For Asylum

By FRED L. STROZIER

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 24 (AP)—Ex-dictator Juan D. Peron got Argentina's permission today to leave for asylum in Paraguay. And Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi named a Cabinet to pick up the governmental reins ripped from Peron's hands by revolt.

Lonardi's government, newly recognized by the Vatican and a half-dozen Latin-American republics, will have as its vice president Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, the man who led the Argentine fleet in the armed services rebellion that toppled Peron Monday.

As promised yesterday by Lonardi, himself a major general and revolt leader, the Cabinet is made up largely of civilians. The Interior and Justice Ministry, a key post in the Argentine setup, went to Dr. Eduardo Busso.

Lonardi's government adhered to the Latin-American diplomatic code for losers in granting permission for Peron to leave freely the country he ruled with an iron hand for 10 years.

His office announced the new government respects the right of asylum and is giving full guarantees for Peron's safety.

Paraguayan Ambassador Juan Chaves announced Lonardi's government had issued a safe conduct pass permitting Peron to leave the country and travel to Asuncion to live.

Chaves said Peron, who sought protection of the Paraguayan Embassy and was placed aboard the Paraguayan gunboat Paraguay in Buenos Aires harbor after his forced resignation from the presidency, will leave for Asuncion tomorrow or Monday aboard another Paraguayan vessel. This is the gunboat Humaita, dispatched in midweek to carry Peron on the winding, five-day, 900-mile river trip to Asuncion. She anchored off Buenos Aires today.

Twenty or more Argentine soldiers armed with sub-machine guns guarded the gunboat on which Peron has been in refuge since Tuesmorning.

Under the Latin-American code, fleeing politicians who take refuge in a foreign embassy are granted the right to leave the country freely, without prosecution for political offenses.

Cheaves said the government also gave safe conduct passes for Peron's last foreign minister, Ildefonso Cavagna Martinez, and for naval Capt. Enrique Noguera Isler and their wives, who took asylum in his embassy.

Suttle Resigns As Chief Of Police Here

Walter C. Suttle, Snyder police chief for the past three and one-half years, resigned yesterday.

Suttle's resignation will become effective Oct. 15, at which time he will have completed 30 years and four months of service as a peace officer, the last 22 years, three months and five days of which will have been spent as a police chief. During the 22 years he has been police chief in Electra, Vernon, and Snyder.

No successor for Suttle has been named.

In a brief letter of resignation to B. J. Shelley, city manager, Suttle said that "I herewith submit my resignation as chief of police of the city of Snyder, Texas, to become effective Oct. 15, 1955."

"Please convey my sincere appreciation to the people of Snyder for their wonderful cooperation during my three and one-half years as their chief of police."

In an interview yesterday morning Suttle elaborated on the point of his appreciation of cooperation he has received while police chief here.

"I wish to sincerely express a complete appreciation to the many people who have made my work here a pleasure, and who make my leaving Snyder an occasion of regret," Suttle said, adding, "I wish to specifically express appreciation for their wonderful cooperation to the Scurry County Sheriff's department, the Texas Highway Patrol officers here, to the law firm of Park & Hemphill who are the attorneys for the city of Snyder, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and to officials of the city of Snyder and of the Snyder Independent School district," Suttle added.

Suttle plans to become associated with a wholesale grocery firm branch in Vernon.

State Dentist Freed On Tax Evasion Count

DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—Dr. Lester P. Higgins, Decature dentist, who was twice tried for income tax evasion, today was acquitted by a federal jury in Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's court.

Both the dentist, 41, and his wife wept with joy when the verdict was announced.

He was indicted on charges of evading $35,000 of a $75,000 income in 1948-49. Higgins said the income included $43,000 found in an old trunk his mother gave him shortly before her death.

President In Oxygen Tent

DENVER, Sept. 24 (AP) — The White House announced tonight that President Eisenhower has been in an oxygen tent since he was hospitalized with a heart attack this afternoon.

The announcement at 10:23 p.m. (MST) also said that a second heart specialist has been summoned to the President's bedside.

However, Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said Eisenhower's condition was unchanged from earlier in the evening when the White House physician sent word that the Chief Executive was "resting well in the hospital and his condition is good."

In reply to questions, Snyder also noted that the original announcement here this afternoon said the President had suffered a "mild coronary thrombosis."

He called attention to the fact that the word "mild" was not used in a subsequent bulletin which said prospects for Eisenhower's recovery nevertheless were "good."

Snyder announced that Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, will fly here tomorrow. That announcement came just about an hour before the scheduled arrival here tonight of Col. Thomas Mattingly, an Army heart specialist, from Washington.

Earlier, Snyder said he had no information as to whether Eisenhower had been placed in an oxygen tent on arrival at Fitzsimons Army Hospital here this afternoon.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER, Sept. 24 (AP)—President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack early today and has been hospitalized, but the White House physician said the prospects for his recovery are "good."

The heart attack occurred about 2:45 a.m. MST today.

The President entered Fitzsimons Army Hospital shortly after 2:30 p.m.

The first announcement of the attack described it as "mild." The second report from Eisenhower's physician at 3:45 p.m. MST made no mention of that word.

At that hour Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, called newsmen together and gave them a report from Eisenhower's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder.

The secretary announced at the same time that Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, a heart specialist, was flying here from Washington. He is due tonight.

Murray Snyder dictated this statement to reporters:

"Gen. Snyder informs me that the President had a mild indigestion yesterday evening.

"He had the first symptoms of an occlusion or thrombosis about 2:45 a.m. today.

"Upon completion of his diag-

AEC Reports Russians Set Off Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission reported today the Russians have set off another nuclear explosion, "indicating a continuation of their tests of nuclear weapons."

Here is the text of the announcement:

"Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, stated today that another Soviet nuclear explosion had occurred in recent days, indicating a continuation of their tests of nuclear weapons.

"Further announcements concerning the Soviet test series will be made only if some information of particular interest develops."

Only yesterday, Gen. Thomas White, vice chief of the Air Force, told a Pentagon gathering of industrial, business and professional leaders that the Russians are perfecting new atomic weapons and guided missiles.

The Soviets are carrying out another nuclear test, White said, "right after the summit conference at Geneva" on peace.

Last Aug. 4 the AEC disclosed that Russia had resumed the testing of nuclear weapons. The announcement then said that the tests began "within the past few days" and "this may mean the beginning of a new test series."

Prior to that, the last Soviet nuclear explosion tests were reported on Oct. 26, 1954.

The resumption of the Soviet tests has been described by American defense officials as an indication that the Russians are continuing the atomic policy laid down by Joseph Stalin, at least for international bargaining purposes.

If the United States desire, the resumption by the Russians could ease the way for more experiments by American nuclear weaponeers. Following widespread criticism of the American nuclear tests last year, the United States announced in the United Nations that this country would continue both hydrogen bomb and atomic bomb tests until the Russians stop theirs.

There is usually a lag of several days between a distant atomic detonation and the announcement here of its occurrence, because of the way the American monitoring system works.

The system operates from widely scattered points almost round the northern hemisphere and depends on a careful procedure of checks and analyses of information obtained from men and machines.

PoliceCracking Down On Vice In Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—They closed up the pleasure houses today in this island resort city where the visitor traditionally gets what he wants in the way of women, gambling and liquor.

The word went out from Police Commissioner Walter L. Johnston's office a day after Chamber of Commerce directors demanded "an end to the open flaunting of state and federal laws."

Johnston said his crackdown closed all prostitution, gambling and illegal liquor houses as of 6 a.m. "I mean tipbooks, punchboards, everything," he declared.

The Galveston Tribune made a spot check of houses along the plush beachfront and among the old, red-brick downtown buildings of one of the Southwest's oldest cities.

It looked as if most houses were taking the order seriously, said the newspaper.

The Chamber of Commerce directors met behind closed doors yesterday with Mayor George Roy Clough, who won election last May on a platform calling for a segregated red light district and a "clean open city" with gambling.

There were unconfirmed reports the directors took Clough to task for two articles under his name in nationally distributed magazines defending his "open city" program.

Clough, who has argued an island city such as this with heavy tourist and seamen traffic cannot avoid prostitution, said in a statement today he agrees with the Chamber of Commerce resolution.

"Laws are made to be enforced and should be enforced if the people want them to be," said Clough's statement. "If the people do not want the laws enforced then they should remove them from the books."

The bawdy, gambling and liquor houses have been closed up before, once earlier this year on demand of local ministers. At that time Clough applauded the crackdown but said, "I will say this, it's going to be a hell of a job keeping them closed."

Johnston estimated 55 clubs, 150 taverns with gambling and about 10 bawdy houses with 100 prostitutes were affected and "about 1,000 persons will be thrown out of work."

Other members of the board are Ray Willoughby of San Angelo, J. B. Lov of Llano, Merton Minter of San Antonio and William Robert Crim of Kilgore.

Communists Appeal To Japanese Group

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Soviet Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev told members of a Japanese parliamentary delegation Japanese war criminals could be released in four or five days if Japan would establish diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, Moscow radio said today.

The broadcast said Khrushchev told the delegation Wednesday:

"I can assure you that the war criminals in the Soviet Union will be released relatively sooner than the war criminals sentenced by the courts in the United States and Britain."

Germans Shun Soviet Demand

BONN, Germany, Sept. 24 (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government today rebuffed a Soviet request to send back more than 100,000 Russian citizens living in West Germany.

In a special announcement, the Federal Refugee Ministry announced that "refugees and homeless foreigners have no grounds for concern that they will be returned to their native lands."

"Their right to asylum and protection against their forcible expulsion is assured," the ministry said.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin told Adenauer during his visit to Moscow this month that Russians living in West Germany are being "detained."

Foreign Minister Molotov asked Adenauer "to take the necessary steps and cooperate in the repatriation of displaced Soviet citizens."

This brought the total rainfall here this month to .94 of an inch and the total for the year to 13.61.

White Men Accused Of Slaying Chicago Negro Youth Acquitted

SUMNER, Miss., Sept. 24 (AP) — The State of Mississippi apparently has not yet closed out its account with a 14-year-old Negro, Emmett Louis Till. One way or another, Till looks today like part of Mississippi's future—as he already is part of its past.

Roy Bryant and J. W. Milam, the white half-brothers, who were acquitted yesterday of Till's slaying, still face kidnaping charges in the August disappearance of the South Side Chicago boy.

Defense attorney John Whitten said in a final summation in which he pleaded for an acquittal and not a conviction:

"I'm afraid we're condemned either way we go. We're damned if we do, we're damned if we don't."

Bryant and Milam were accused of taking Till from the cottonfield shack of his uncle Aug. 28. Originally, the state's pretrial contention was the vacationing Chicago boy came into the Bryant's country store in Money, Miss., and whistled at pretty 21-year-old Mrs. Roy Bryant.

The state held this as the motive, in accusing Bryant and Milam of the kidnap-murder.

The defense contended it was more than a wolf whistle that confronted Mrs. Bryant in her Aug. 24 encounter alone in the store with a Negro. Money is a crossroads country hamlet of five stores, a post office, a gasoline station and a cotton gin.

Mrs. Bryant testified Thursday in a soft voice, head down, that a Negro man—she didn't admit it was a boy and she didn't say it was Till—grabbed her by the hand and by the waist. She quoted him as saying:

"How about a date, baby? What's the matter, baby? Can't you take it? You needn't be afraid of me."

Then, she continued, the Negro made indecent remarks keyed to the thesis he had "been with white women before." The wolf-whistle followed all this.

Mrs. Bryant's testimony, however, played no part in the case. Circuit Judge Curtis Swango Jr., ruled it inadmissible because it occurred four days before the crime and in his opinion was not proven to be related directly to it.

The jury never heard it.

Judge Swango allowed the testimony on the record in the jury's absence as a guide in any appeals court that might review his decision. Since the jury did not hear her, there was no reason for the state to cross-examine Mrs. Bryant. Her story, as she told it, stands.

Her testimony might have proved important to the defense. If need be, defense lawyers could have claimed Bryant and Milam abducted Till but released him unharmed when they found he was the wrong Negro. They never were required, however, to use such an argument.

The suppression from the jury of Mrs. Bryant's story left the state with little in the way of motive. The jury was left with no particular reason why the two defendants would want to kidnap and kill Till.

Throughout the trial, people in this area repeatedly asked:

"Is it a fair trial?"

The answer lies in the hearts of the 12 jurors, sun-tanned men in shirt sleeves who left cotton farms or crossroad businesses to hear the celebrated case.

It was lawyer Whitten, again, who told the jury:

"I don't think there is a man in the courtroom who can say this case hasn't been fairly tried."

After the verdict, Negro press correspondents—there were a handful of them at a separate press table—signed a memorandum in which they told Judge Swango:

"We wish to commend you for the distinguished, the astute manner in which you presided, under trying conditions, at this trial. The sense of fairness and decency was evident in your court."

Bryant and Milam are now in the Leflore County Jail in Greenwood, where the next action in the case will take place.

Leflore County Sheriff George Smith said no date had been set for a preliminary hearing on the kidnaping charges. Officers said the men probably will be held without bond until the hearing.

The grand jury will study the case during its November session.

Trial Of Washburn Will Start Monday

By GARTH JONES

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—Big shy Harry L. Washburn, accused of blasting his mother-in-law to death with a cleverly rigged car bomb, comes up for trial Monday.

It's the second setting for the 38-year-old Houston contractor who says he was taking a small daughter to nursery school 400 miles from San Angelo when Mrs. Helen Harris Weaver died last Jan. 19.

Ten sticks of dynamite exploded when the 51-year-old civic and social leader, member of a pioneer West Texas family, pressed the starter of the year-old Chevrolet.

Washburn, who wears glasses and has a ready smile, was arrested in Houston Jan. 29. He has been held without bond since then.

On Feb. 12, Andrew H. Nelson, 45, a tough jail-breaking ex-convict, was indicted with Washburn and accused of showing Washburn how to make a dynamite bomb.

Nelson posted $10,000 bond on the murder charge May 17 but went back to the state prison when his parole on a 1934 life imprisonment sentence was revoked.

"I think this is just another way to put the pressure on me to testify against Washburn in the Weaver case," Nelson said on being sent back to prison. ". . . All of this will come out and will finally show who the guilty parties are."

Nelson's red-haired wife, Katherine Nelson, 45, alias Alice Kate McCoy, was arrested Sept. 17 in Roswell, N.M., on a fugitive warrant. Texas Rangers said she was being returned to Texas to face perjury charges.

"We are happy to hear of Mrs. Nelson's arrest for that eliminates another possibility of a continuance on the basis of a missing witness," said Washburn's attorney in San Angelo. "The defense is very anxious for the trial to go on."

In the early days of the investigation Mrs. Nelson told officers she was baby sitter for Washburn's two small children the night before Mrs. Weaver's death.

Washburn's trial was first scheduled April 26 but postponed because of the illness of Dist. Atty. Aubrey Stokes and a missing witness.

Stokes returned to his duties several weeks ago apparently recovered from an attack of stomach ulcers.

The missing witness, Mrs. Adella Heninger, 24, also known as "Nature Girl," a former woman wrestler, is still missing.

Last February she told police of being offered $10,000 to kill Mrs. Weaver's 60 - year-old husband, a well known architect. She turned down the offer, she said.

San Angelo officers were informed last April that Mrs. Heninger was visiting relatives in Iowa and would soon have a baby.

Stokes said earlier this month "Nature Girl" was still missing but her absence would not delay the trial.

Mrs. Weaver's husband has contended since her death that "I was the one they were trying to get." Officers questioned him closely at first, then later agreed her death was a "mistake" and the trap had been laid for Weaver.

Weaver has said that he and his wife had trouble with Washburn after her daughter, now Mrs. Helen Willcockson of Billings, Mont., got a divorce from Washburn in 1950.

Weaver said his former son-in-law felt that the Weavers had interferred in the daughter's marriage.

IKE

nosis, the general decided to move the President to the hospital where he could be given better treatment.

"The general says the President has been comfortable since the initial pain and that the prognosis is good."

In response to questions, the press secretary said the phrase "prognosis is good" means that the prospects for Eisenhower's recovery are good.

Mattingly, the heart specialist, is on the staff at Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington. He is being accompanied to Denver by James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, who has been on vacation.

The President's attack came after he had been confined to bed at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud, with what was first described as "a digestive upset" last night and today.

The President was taken to Fitzsimons Army Hospital at Aurora, a suburb east of Denver.

The hospital is seven miles from the Doud residence on Lafayette Street.

In his solemn-faced announcement to newsmen, Snyder said:

"The President has had a mild coronary thrombosis and has just been driven to Fitzsimons Army Hospital. That is all."

A moment later Snyder came into the press room at the Denver White House and said: "The President was taken to the hospital in his own car and he walked from the house to the car."

Eisenhower returned to Denver only yesterday after four days of fishing and relaxation at a Rocky Mountain ranch. He was at his office just a short time, then went to Cherry Hills Country Club and played 27 holes of golf.

The President's physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, had sent word to reporters at noon that the attack of indigestion was "not serious."

The press secretary was asked by newsmen if Dr. Snyder still regards Eisenhower's condition as "not serious."

"He (the doctor) calls this a mild attack," the secretary replied. He said he didn't know at what time the attack occurred.

In response to questions as to whether the President was undergoing tests or had been put to bed at the hospital, the secretary said he could not provide an immediate answer.

He said he expected to hear before very long from Dr. Snyder. The doctor accompanied the President to the hospital.

Mrs. Eisenhower remained at the Doud home with her mother when the President left for the hospital, but later left the house, apparently to go to Fitzsimons.

Asked whether any doctor besides Snyder had been called in on the case, Murray Snyder replied:

"I'm sure they will be. I mean, I'm sure they will be here."

He did not amplify that.

The press secretary said that as soon as the news of the President's heart attack spread through the country by radio and television and through the newspapers, telephone calls began to come into the Denver White House "from all parts of the country, including members of the President's family."

FLOOD

the Nueces would be out of its banks with considerable flooding below Barkley to the area south of Crystal City.

The Weather Bureau said scattered rains are expected to continue over Texas through the weekend. Temperatures were expected to continue relatively cool.

Other rainfall reports included Llano 3.02 inches, Junction 2.60, Kerrville 2.25, Livingston in North Texas 2, Brady 1.44, Palestine 1.02, Grayson County's Perrin Field 1.95, Wink 1.06, Presidio 1.03, Waco .94, Texarkana 2.44, Garland 1.33.

Many other points reported rains of less than an inch.

Llano County got up to 6 inches in places, the best general rain in a long time. Corsicana reported three inches in the 24 hours ending at 7 a.m. Saturday with most of it falling Saturday morning.

The AP correspondent at Malakoff in East Texas reported big rains in that area Friday and Saturday "put fine season in the ground, made stock water plentiful, and are a great help to everything" but washed some roads.

Question Mark Is Raised By Ike's Illness

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP) — President Eisenhower's heart attack raised a towering question mark today over the possibility of his seeking re-election next year.

And the Republican party's high command has made no move—despite Eisenhower's own repeated urgings—to give serious thought to any alernative choice.

The rigors of modern political campaigning—with its round-the-clock tensions, split second air and rail schedules and tremendous physicial exertion—have grown so great that a heart attack, mild or not, is considered by many practical politicians as little short of a letter of withdrawal.

Eisenhower, of course, has proved himself a man of great vitality. And his attack might not stop him as it would a man of less energy and drive.

Even before he was stricken at Denver today, there was a question of whether Eisenhower would run. He hadn't said he would and he hadn't said he wouldn't, but any final decision not to be a candidate would put the GOP in an exceedingly tough spot.

The party leaders have taken the gamble of not considering anyone else.

Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall telephoned Denver from his home at Oyster Bay, N.Y. shortly after Eisenhower's illness became known, but the nature of his call was not announced.

Hall has been saying for months that in campaign plans for next year he was proceeding on the assumption that Eisenhower would run.

The President's illness also could have some bearing on international affairs—including the success of Eisenhower's efforts to ease world tensions. Secretary of State Dulles had arranged to hold a telephone conference with the President this afternoon on foreign policy questions but it was canceled because of Eisenhower's heart attack.

Dulles and Eisenhower had a long telephone talk yesterday, presumably in connection with Russian Premier Bulganin's letter to the President this week on disarmament.

Informed of the President's illness today, Hall said at his home in Oyster Bay, N. Y. that he was "shocked" at the news. He declined any further comment or to say what, if any effect it would have on Republican campaign plans for 1956.

In Washington, Vice President Nixon let reporters know that he had heard the news regarding the President but declined any immediate comment.

Earlier in the day Nixon said he planned to fly to Denver Monday morning to help arrange a physical fitness program that he is directing at the President's request.

The vice president did not indicate immediately whether he still planned to fly to Denver.

Sen. Daniel (D-Tex) said, "I sincerely regret to hear the President's condition and I pray that he will have a speedy recovery."

At the Republican "campaign school" of 48 state GOP chairman here in early September, Al Cast, the Indiana state chairman, summed up the GOP outlook: "Nobody has a second choice."

At the same school, Nixon repeated a statement he had made in Denver earlier. This was to the effect that those close to Eisenhower were more optimistic than ever that he will run.

Nixon said then that some people who feel Eisenhower won't run have "mistakenly emphasized what they claim is his desire to get out of a tough job and relax on a farm."

After the school was concluded here, the GOP state chairmen flew to Denver for a talk with the President. He gave them no final answer on his intentions, but the party leaders continued on the assumption that Eisenhower would be back in 1956 leading the party he led to victory in 1952.

Eisenhower has indicated he planned to announce early next year whether he would run.

Last Aug. 3, to a group of importuning Republicans from Ohio, Eisenhower said there is an erosion that takes place in the presidency and that no President has lived to be 70 in the White House.

Eisenhower, who will be 65 on Oct. 14, would be 70 in October 1960, a few months before a second term would expire in January 1961.

He has said various factors — including the world situation and his health — would figure in his ultimate decision. Republicans have been banking on his sense of duty to complete, as they put it, the job he has set out to do.

While the Republicans have been pinning their hopes on Eisenhower, he himself has said the party isn't so lacking in leadership that it has to depend on one man.

The President took that stand at Denver, in talking to the state chairmen on Sept. 10.

national committeeman from Texas to replace Wright Morrow, his ex-friend ousted at the State Executive Committee's last session. The Executive Committee meets at Fort Worth Oct. 6 to decide.

Meanwhile, candidates and rumored candidates for governor seem to be underlining Democratic party loyalty regardless of whether they are classified as "conservative" or "liberal" in state politics.

The most recent example was Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, who got the gubernatorial campaign off to its earliest start in history this week at a hometown barbecue. Senterfitt has generally been classified as a conservative but he made it clear at San Saba that he is a Democrat. In a series of jibes—many of which seemed aimed directly at Shivers—he said he had never been cross-filed as a candidate for office, but that he had been double crossed. Part of that was his assurance to voters that he had not accepted dual nomination by the Republicans and Democrats in 1952, as Shivers and some other Democrats did.

Senterfitt also said he had never advocated bolting "a party or convention." This apparently was a crack at Shivers' leadership for Eisenhower in 1952, and it also could have been aimed at Sen. Price Daniel who joined Shivers that year in backing the Republican candidate.

Shivers is carefully covering up his political intentions if any in 1956. Daniel has let it be known he is still toying with the idea of resigning as senator and seeking the governorship. Daniel has promised to make it definite early next year. Shivers has made no promises.

Among the other possible candidates for governor, Ralph Yarborough of Austin is staying right on the beam whacking regularly at the Republicans and emphasizing his own party loyalty position.

John White, another strong potential, was the only Democratic candidate on the state slate in 1952 who rejected the gop-Democratic double nomination. White ran as a Democrat. He also has sharply criticized Republican farm policies.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips, whose intention to run for governor is obvious, has also kept his Democratic party connections free of entanglements. He made at least two appearances on National Chairman Paul Butler's recent tour of Texas.

GOOD COTTON stalks are still producing on land above terraces on the Lewis Blackard farm six miles southeast of here. A terrace is just behind Blackard but cannot be seen in the picture. Blackard's terrace system, built in January, is increasing production this year, just in the additional moisture it kept on the land, enough to pay for the terraces. (Staff photograph)

Terracing In Scurry County Helps Conservation Of Soil

Probably the greatest contribution made to the conservation of soil in this county by farmers during the past several years has been through the terracing of their cultivated land.

Scurry County's farmland now has about 5,777 miles of efficient terracing, 300 miles of which was built last year, and has about 2,429 miles more to go before all the cultivated land which needs terracing is adequately terraced.

Practically all this terracing has been done by these farmers since 1941, when the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District was formed. Coming here soon after the district was formed was the Soil Conservation Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which, with the district, has been helping to show the benefits of such conservation measures as terraces and has been encouraging the construction and maintenance of terraces.

One of the best examples of terracing and its benefits here is about six miles southeast of Snyder, where Lewis Blackard's new terrace system will be paid for this year through increased yields from the terraced land.

Blackard built more than nine miles of level closed ridge - type terraces on his farm in January, and he now has an above-average feed crop and a cotton crop which will likely average one-third bale per acre, a good average for any dryland farm here in such a drought year.

SCS technicians estimated the increased yields will pay for construction of the system, and Blackard agrees. He said, "I feel sure that the increased production brought about by the terraces will pay for the total cost of the system this year."

Not only did the terraces increase his production, but they saved his crop and much of his topsoil one afternoon in July when 2.75 inches of rain fell in about one hour on the place. Blackard was plowing his cotton for the first time when the hard rain fell, and his terraces caught full, and water ran around the ends of some of them.

The SCS men, assisting the SC district, laid out the terrace system, and a local contractor did the building.

Terraces are used here primarily to hold water on the land until it can be absorbed by the soil. The level closed and broad - based ridge terrace is the type constructed here, and the size of the terrace usually ranges from one foot high and 20 feet wide on almost level land to 18 inches high and 18 feet wide on the steeper slopes.

Area Farmers Plan Cotton Defoliation

A number of area farmers are now making plans for defoliation of cotton to make harvesting more efficient and easier.

Some farmers plan to take the leaves off their cotton stalks, but many leave them on the stalks through the harvest. For defoliation to work effectively, according to county agent Oscar Fowler, the cotton must be in an active growing state.

In this county, that is now the case with some cotton, while some other cotton has already matured. Many farmers in West Texas have begun in recent years to use desiccants at times in place of defoliants. A true defoliant, Fowler said, sheds cotton leaves by abscission, or multiplication of cells until an abscission layer is formed and the leaf is separated from the plant. A desiccant has the effect of killing the entire plant.

For the benefit of those who have seen several winters, Fowler explains the difference in the two operations in this way: the defoliant has the same effect as a killing frost, while a desiccant is about the same as a hard freeze. If applied at the wrong time, it is many times responsible for bad gardes of cotton, such as "red" cotton.

Some farmers believe the desiccant, used late at maturity of the plant, is better suited for drought-stricken areas, and it can be used earlier during drought years at times when, during good years, the plant would have been getting more growth.

Fowler said that if rains fall after application of defoliants, the plants may put out new leaves. That is also probable in the case of desiccants if sufficient dosages are not used. If the dosages of the two solutions are applied in dusts, the crop must have a dew at the time. With sprays, the humidity does not matter. Ground equipment, Fowler estimated, costs about $2 an acre, including chemicals and labor.

West Texas farmers have been defoliating or applying desiccant for the purpose of cotton stripper to be used later or to ease cotton harvest by hand. Advantages of defoliation include getting the cotton out earlier, usually resulting in a better price received; better job of harvesting if mechanical harvesters are used, or even when harvest is done by hand, since laborers can get into the field early even after dews have fallen; and it probably lowers the population of damaging insects. There are, also, disadvantages. During normal years, the cotton could use the benefit of the entire growing season here, and defoliation would cut it short. It is practical, however, in this area because dry weather is causing the cotton to mature ahead of the normal frost date.

Recommended safe time for defoliation is at the time when the youngest bolls expected to make are 30 days old, and safe time for desiccation is only after 80 to 90 per cent of the cotton is open.

Fowler said he has in his office leaflets on cotton defoliation for public use.

4-H Club At Hobbs Elects New Officers

The Hobbs 4-H Club was organized for this school year's work during a meeting held last week.

Elected officers were Jerry Etheredge, president; Mike Soto, vice-president; Herman Adams, secretary; and Preston Dickey, reporter.

Frank Crowder met with the group as leader.

800 BALES GINNED IN SCURRY COUNTY

Scurry County's cotton crop, still in its beginning stages of harvest, so far has resulted in close to 800 bales.

The nine gins operating in the county were expected to be going full blast within another week as more laborers began to get into the fields.

Latest estimates of the county's cotton crop ranged from 14,000 to 17,000 bales.

Last ginning reports were 170 at the Snyder Co-operative, 32 at the Snyder Planters, 82 at Snyder Paymaster, 107 at Inadale, 142 at Hermleigh, 68 at China Grove, 63 at Dunn, 22 at Fluvanna, and 77 at Ira.

Primary Voting Is Scheduled In Eighteen States

WASHINGTON (AP)—More voters than ever before will have an opportunity next spring to take part directly in the presidential nominating process.

Between March 13 and June 5, both parties will hold presidential primary elections in 18 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia to pick delegates to the August national conentions or express nomination choices or both. A 19th state, Alabama, will probably confine its primary voting to the Democrats.

In 1952, both parties held primaries in only 15 states, and Democratic primaries only were held in Alabama, Florida and the District of Columbia.

A survey by the Republican National Committee research staff today showed that since the 1952 election, two more states—Indiana and Montana—and Alaska and the District of Columbia have adopted presidential primary laws, and Florida enacted a revised law.

Nevada passed a law in 1953 providing for direct election of pledged national convention delegates, but repealed it this year without giving the system a chance to operate, the survey showed.

In nonprimary states, national convention delegates are selected in state and district conventions and in a few instances by party committees.

No two presidential primary laws are alike. Some provide for election of definitely pledged delegates. Under others, delegates may be pledged or not. Still others provide for presidential preference or popularity contests where the people vote directly on presidential choices as well as for delegate candidates.

Next year, delegate candidates will be or may be pledged in a dozen of the primary states.

Here are the dates for next year's presidential primaries:

March 13, New Hampshire; March 20, Minnesota; April 3, Wisconsin; April 10, Illinois; April 17, New Jersey; April 24, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Alaska; May 1, District of Columbia; May 7, Maryland; May 8, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia; May 15, Nebraska; May 18, Oregon; May 29, Florida; June 5, California, Montana, New York, South Dakota.

Fluvanna 4-H Boy Has Grand Champ

Bobby Lemons, Fluvanna 4-H Club member, showed the grand champion boar yesterday in a district Sears Foundation show held at Sweetwater.

Lemon's boar was one of those distributed by the Sears Foundation swine program through county agent Oscar Fowler here last spring. It won over boars from five other counties in the show, judged by Albert Maberry, Trent vocational agriculture teacher. Grand championship meant an award of $37.50 premium from the foundation.

In the district gilt show, the gilt of Gerald Wishert of Ira placed fourth and won a premium of $18.50. It had taken first in a county show held on the same day, while other places in the county show were Buster Lemons, Fluvanna, second, $8; Marlin Overman, Snyder, third, $6; Daniel Kuss, Hermleigh, fourth, $4; and Freddie Overman, Snyder, fifth, $2. Wishert received a $10 premium for the first place in the county show.

Counties in the district are Scurry, Nolan, Kent, Fisher, Mitchell, and Stonewall.

The next Sears contest will be a district contest on spring litters, which will be judged on total litter weight at the end of 56 days. The litters must be farrowed between Feb. 15 and April 15 to be eligible for that show.

New Officers Elected By FFA Club At Ira

The Ira chapter of the Future Farmers of America, in a meeting held last week, elected Tommy Echols president for the coming year.

Other officers elected by the FFA chapter were Ferrell Bryant, vice-president; James Robert Brown, reporter; Leon Huddleston, treasurer; and Jerry Ford, sentinal. O. J. Rosenbaum is advisor.

The group made plans to attend the State Fair of Texas in Dallas Oct. 14.

Wall Street Rumors Fly

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Rumors were a dime a dozen this week in Wall Street, and the stock market seemed to listen to all of them as it advanced to a new record high mark.

Some of the reports were denied quickly, others were brushed aside lightly, while still others were left hanging as though there might be some substance to them after all.

They fell into four categories—stock splits, company mergers, dividend increases, and higher earnings.

The most popular split rumor concerned Chrysler. Officials said they hadn't heard the reports. Nevertheless the stock gained 9¾ at 99⅝ on the week as Chrysler introduced its 1956 models.

Sears Roebuck directors came through with an official proposal for a three-for-one split of its common stock plus a better dividend. It gained 7⅞ on the week to close at 115¾.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks reached a new record high mark of $181.50, up 90 cents on the week. The average now has concluded five straight weekly advances.

Excitement on the American Stock Exchange this week centered on three oil companies whose stocks roared upward in a blaze of trading as oil was discovered for the first time in the Holy Land. The oil strike was at Heletz, 30 miles south of Tel Aviv. On Friday, Israel-American Petroleum gained 1⅛ at 3¼, Israel-Mediterranean advanced 1⅛ at 2⅛, and Pan-Israel Oil was up 1⅝ at 2⅛.

Cotton Queen Is Crowned By Veterans Group

Narcisa Ramires, 15-year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregorio Ramires of Snyder, was crowned Cotton Queen of the American GI Forum in ceremonies held at the pavilion of the Mexican Catholic Church on Thirteenth Street.

Lalo Peres of Sweetwater, chairman for the forum's district 20, placed the crown on Miss Ramires' head.

The Queen won first the contest held in Scurry County over two other contestants, then last Sunday won the district title in competition with a Sweetwater girl.

The American GI Forum is a Mexican and Latin American veteran's organization similar to the American Legion and Veteran's of Foreign Wars organizations.

Adolph Guillen, of Snyder, secretary of the Snyder American GI Forum, said that the organization here now has 26 members, with a potential membership of from 70 to 80 men.

This year's queen contest is the first one held, but the contest will become an annual event, Guillen said.

Miss Ramires was selected winner of the Snyder contest over two other entrants: Josephine Guillen, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Guillen, and Gaciela Cadena, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesus Cadena of Snyder.

Judges of the Snyder contest included two members of the Snyder police department, A. E. Crowley, and J. D. Frith, a Snyder insurance agent, J. Lawrence Devers, and two out-of-town judges.

Selection of the queen was made solely on a popularity basis, with applause for the contestants determining the winner.

In the district contest at Sweetwater, votes were taken with Miss Ramires receiving 14,000 votes, and the Sweetwater entrant receiving 5,000 votes, Guillen said.

Officers of the Snyder American GI Forum in addition to the secretary, Guillen, are Arnulfo Ortega, chairman, and Peres, district chairman. The district is composed of Scurry, Mitchell, Fisher, Nolan and Jones County towns.

Mr. Truman's Memoirs

Among the stresses and strains of his first eighteen days in office—second only perhaps to the awful responsibility that fell on Andrew Johnson with the assassination of Abraham Lincoln—Harry S. Truman recounts a run-in with Russia's V. M. Molotov.

In the first installment of a five-part segment of his memoirs—a second series will appear in January—Mr. Truman in Life magazine this week describes his first eighteen days. Quoting from a letter he had written his mother and sister at the time. Mr. Truman tells what happened when he was summoned to the White House late on the afternoon of April 12, 1945:

"When I arrived at the Pennsylvania entrance to the most famous house in America, a couple of ushers met me . . . and then took me to Mrs. Roosevelt's study on the second floor

"She and Mrs. Boettiger, her daughter and her husband, the Lt. Col., and Steve Early were there. Mrs. Roosevelt put her arm on my shoulder and said, 'Harry, the President is dead.'

"It was the only time in my life, I think, that I ever felt I'd had a real shock. I had hurried to the White House to see the President, and when I arrived, I found I was the President."

The run-in with Molotov took place just 11 days later. He said Averell Harriman, then U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, had warned him of something President Roosevelt had understood—that is, that Stalin was breaking his agreements.

Truman called Molotov in and delivered such a pointed insistence that the U.S. expected Russia to carry out its agreement on Poland—"and not on the basis of a one-way street"—that Molotov ended the meeting by saying, "I have never been talked to like that in my life."

There is substantiation for this claim in Jonathan Daniels' "Man of Independence." He reported one of those present described the Truman lecture as "blunt language unadorned by the polite verbiage of diplomacy." Present on that occasion were the then secretary of State, the late Edward Stettinius, and the present ambassador to Moscow, Charles "Chip" Bohlen.

A Historic Precedent

For the first time in history the flag of the Confederate States of America was flown from a warship of the United States of America Wednesday of this week .

Officially, that is. Many a Confederate flag had been flown informally and unofficially over many a U.S. warship down through the years, no doubt.

This week's precedent-breaking incident took place off Norfolk, Va., honoring General Robert E. Lee and the new 30-cent postage stamp that bears his likeness. The ship was the U.S. aircraft carrier Ticonderoga, and the ceremony was attended by many dignitaries. An extra touch of Southern color was that the captain of the Ticonderoga wears the great name of Andrew Jackson, and he hails from the State of Mississippi.

This happy occasion in which the country honored one of its most beloved and respected sons, North as well as South, was marred somewhat by the reaction in certain circles of Virginia when Norfolk was announced as the locale of the ceremony. There were indignant cries of "outrage!" on the ground that Norfolk was virtually Yankee country, because the Yanks had occupied it most of the time of the War Between the States.

But whoever had the ceremony in charge ignored these cries and went ahead as scheduled.

Perhaps a historic spot more appropriate to General Lee personally might have found, but you can't just go around carting aircraft carriers any old where, and the decision to use the Ticonderoga seems to have been made without consulting the F.F.V's. After all, Ticonderoga is a name that occupies a pretty proud place in American history itself, a place where three battles were fought. The most famous one was when Ethan Allen won a bloodless victory May 19, 1775, seiving the fort from the British "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress."

But it does look like the Yankees might have given General Lee a stamp of greater circulation than the 30-cent size.

Relations Between Bonn, Moscow Fixed Long Before Adenauer's Russian Visit

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

There is no necessary connection between what was agreed to in Moscow and the spectacular drama of Dr. Adenauer's visit to the Kremlin. For the project of establishing diplomatic relations between Bonn and Moscow has been in the works at least since the spring, since before the Soviet government sent its public invitation to Dr. Adenauer. There were private talks, at first through unofficial channels some months ago. And the basic decision of policy had been reached in Bonn, presumably also in Moscow, by the time West Germany joined NATO.

Neither government came to its decision in order to do the other one a favor, and almost certainly there is no ground for the notion that the one had something valuable to sell which the other needed to buy. Bonn, having recovered sovereignty, concluded quite rightly that it ought to be represented directly in Moscow and that Moscow should be represented directly in Bonn, while the fate of Germany was being negotiated. Not to have diplomatic relations meant that the Bonn government had to depend on what was reported by the Allied Ambassadors in Moscow to London, Paris and Washington, and then relayed to Bonn. This indirect and awkward way of doing the business that has to be done was bound to lead not only to misunderstanding and confusion but also to more and more secret and semi-official contact with the Soviet Union and with East Germany.

* * *

We may be sure that Moscow also had its reasons for wishing to establish direct relations with Bonn. By no means the least of these reasons must surely have been that the two embassy staffs will have unofficial official talks that are unchaperoned by the Foreign Office and the State Department.

What has now been accomplished in Moscow—at least publicly and officially—is all that was planned for or expected when these negotiations began some months ago. It was probable from the beginning that there would be a concession on the prisoners, and that the real issue would be how much prestige the Kremlin would let Dr. Adenauer get out of the concession, how much prestige it would reserve for its satellite government in East Germany.

At the level of substance, not of politics and of public relations, the reunification of Germany was not an immediate and urgent subject of negotiation. That is because there is no way now of coming to an agreement on the eastern frontier of Germany. If Moscow were to say, which of course it will not, that Dr. Adenauer can have the entire East German state, plus rearmament, plus the alliance with NATO, Dr. Adenauer still could not sign a peace treaty with the Soviet Union. For Dr. Adenauer cannot agree to the loss of the territory beyond the Oder-Neisse line.

* * *

Moscow for its part cannot now give up to Dr. Adenauer that territory or any part of it. To do so would wreck Soviet relations with Poland.

For this reason, a lot of water is going to have to flow under the bridge before German reunification can be taken much beyond the most tentative beginnings.

Diplomatic relations could have been established without the visit, and at the official level the visit did nothing, as was to be expected, about a German settlement. Yet almost certainly both governments thought that the visit was useful and that they had something to gain by it.

Dr. Adenauer was able to do away with the charge made by many of his German opponents that he is disqualified to negotiate with the Soviet Union. The Soviet government has now treated the Federal Republic as a European power.

Moscow, on the other hand, will now have an embassy in Bonn. It will be able to make contact not only with the Adenauer government but with the more or less disident members of the government coalition, and with the Social Democratic opposition.

* * *

We need have no fear that any secret understanding was reached in Moscow. Dr. Adenauer is a man of his word. The situation is not ripe for negotiations about the big issue.

It is not ripe on the Soviet side, neither is it ripe on the German side. Mor neither can now settle the territorial issues. The best they can do now is to deal with issues, like the prisoners, like cultural intercourse and travel, like trade, which are soluble within the existing territorial situation.

Here's How Uncle Sam Got Into The Diamond Business

BY FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON — How Uncle Sam happened to buy himself a shoebox full of diamonds — big, beautiful ones suitable for engagement rings and diadems — can be explained. Uncle couldn't help himself.

The question is where are these millions worth of sparklers today? They could be decorating a Queen. Or some prime minister may be trying to peddle 'em on the Q.T. in competition with the international diamond cartel.

Nobody knows. Or if anybody does, he isn't talking.

What little I happened to learn about this mysterious box of diamonds was by accident. I dropped in, was all, on the anti-trust hearings before the Judiciary Committee of Sen. Harley M. Kilgore (D., W. Va.).

It develops that America is about the only place in the world where anti-trust laws mean anything. In practically all other countries trust - busting is an unknown art.

Usually the boys in foreign lands divy up the business between themselves and if the demand gets bigger than production they seldom enlarge their factories; they just boost prices. This leaves everybody happy except the customers.

The lawyers were explaining this unhappy situation in language ponderous enough to put a wide awake reporter (like me, of course) to sleep. I'd almost dozed off, when Sen. Kilgore interrupted a description of cartels to announce that he knew something about the machinations of these outfits. He meant the diamond cartel.

It turns out that the only useful diamonds, except maybe those used for making an impression on blondes, are the tiny, gritty ones, which are sold by the pound for use in drilling holes in hard metals. These are known as industrial diamonds and there is a constant and heavy demand for them. They are particularly valuable in wartime when we've got to grind out guns in a hurry.

So we've been buying industrial diamonds for our stockpile. How many pounds we've got, or what we paid, is a deep, military secret. A few of these diamonds we bought from a Portuguese outfit, but in general we've done our buying from the British Diamond Syndicate. This is one of those cartels that makes its own rules.

"And if we want to buy industrial diamonds, we've also got to buy gem stones," said Sen. Kilgore. "Now we've got a lot of these gem stones in our stockpile."

"Yes sir," agreed Attorney Sigmund Timberg, a Washington cartel expert, who believes the U.N. can make a good start getting rid of cartels around the world. So I got to worrying about the U.S. government as a diamond necklace hoarder.

I bided my time while Sen. gore and Joseph Burns, did a little snooping for me. They came up with word that only a few days ago the U.S. government traded it's fancy diamonds with another government for some more industrial stones. The Senator didn't know which government. Nobody'd tell him.

So that leaves us with the question: What nation in the world needed gems suitable for a crown? And why? Maybe the queen was feeling ill clad. Or perhaps the prince wanted to make friends with a cutie in Paris.

Since our own government isn't talking about who wanted its diamonds, your answer is as good as anybody's.

Laplanders Are Among Most Picturesque Europeans; Similar To American Indians

BY REP. D. B. HARDEMAN

LYNGSEIDET, Norway — When I came to Europe the people I wanted most to see were not the Germans, the French, or the Scandinavians — they were the Laplanders.

Now you may never have heard of the Laplanders, for there are only about 30,000 of them in the world. They live in the far, far North, nearly two-thirds of them in northern Norway and the rest in northern Sweden, Finland and Russia.

For 2,000 years or more they have lived in the northland with their reindeer, but scholars are confident they came from somewhere in the middle of Asia. I got interested in them because in so many ways they resemble our North American Indians. From their common customs, their appearance, and their religious heritage, I have the theory that the Lapps and the Indians came from the same area — the Lapps going west to the top of Scandinavia, the Indians coming down through Alaska into what is now the United States.

TOY HUMANS

The Lapps are a small, dark, slant-eyed people whose men average about 5 feet in height and the women are much smaller. Some of them seem almost like toy human beings. The Lapp babies are very tiny.

The life of the Lapp revolves around his reindeer. His wealth is measured in reindeer. You don't say: "That Lapp is worth so much money." You say: "That Lapp has 800 reindeer." Incidentally, the Lapps are keen businessmen who pinch pennies and often accumulate sizable fortunes although to see the way they live, you'd never know they had a nickel.

The nomadic Lapps keep their reindeer up on the plateaus or steppes in the winter, but in summer they drive them to the sea coast where the grass is better. These great migrations take place back and forth across the northland, the entire families moving with the deer.

Just as the Comanches once lived entirely off the buffalo, the Lapps live off the reindeer. Their shoes with turned-up toes are made of reindeer skin; their circular tents consist of deer-hides strung over poles; their food consists primarily of reindeer meat and milk; much of their clothing is made of deerskin, and they sleep on deerskins laid on the ground.

NEVER IN WAR

I like the fact that the Lapps are the only people we know of who have never had a war record in their history. They are a jolly, cheerful people, generally very law-abiding, and except when they get too much alcohol, very quiet and gentle.

About the only crime they commit is to steal reindeer from each other once in a while. When the authorities catch a thief, they cannot get the owner of the deer to testify against the thief.

"It is not good for one Lapp to talk against another," the injured man will say. "I will wait. One of these days I will get my deer back, and maybe then I will take some of his."

They wear brilliantly colored clothes, yellow, red, and blue predominating. In addition to their turned-up pointed shoes, they wear loose-fitting trousers or skirts and brightly decorated jackets, together with gaudy caps which signify Norwegian Lapps, Finnish Lapps, or Russian Lapps.

For example, the Swedish Lapps wear blue four-cornered caps with a bright red pompon. If the pompon falls to the front, it means the man is not married if it falls to the rear, he is married.

INTERMARRIAGE

Until recent years there has been little intermarriage between Lapps and their neighbors, but that is beginning to change. Now you occasionally see a tall, blue-eyed fellow with unmistakable Lappish features — the result of intermarriage —and they make fine-looking people. Usually, however, when the Lapp intermarries and leaves his outdoors environment, the result is not good.

The best Lappish camp I visited was in this beautiful village of Lyngseidet. They had driven their reindeer down to the coast and had set up their tents near the village. While the young men and their beautiful reindeer dogs were tending the grazing deer high up in the coastal mountains, the older men sat around the encampment carving knives, ash-trays, letter-openers, and other items made of reindeer horns and bones. These things, decorated with primitive art carvings that must have been learned thousands of years ago, are sold to tourists.

HANDMADE CRADLES

The women do the cooking over a fire built in the middle of the tent and tend their babies who have beautiful handmade cradles of deerskin. One of the big shocks I got was seeing an ultra-modern baby stroller outside one of these primitive tents.

A lot of people live in one tent. They eat and sleep when they please, thus allowing one bed of reindeer skins to accommodate several people in a day. Their tents are dirty by western standards, but they don't seem to mind.

Seeing these colorful, picturesque cheerful little people all across the northland made me wich I was an anthropologist so that I could try to discover the exact kinship between the Scandinavian Lapps and the Indians who once roamed Texas. Separated by half the world, they have too many things in common not to have had a common ancestry.

Citizens Council Chief Won't Accept Integration

By TIM PARKER

Ross Carlton, who wants Texas to continue segregating whites and Negroes, excused himself to answer the phone.

"Yes, this is Carlton," he said in the kind of gravelly drawl many big men have. "Good to hear from you George. Haven't seen you in years."

Two minutes pass during which Carlton listened to his caller, with now and then an approving "yup" or "uh huh." Finally:

"That's exactly the way I feel, George. I've got a jillion friends who are Negroes. It's not that at all."

"Sure, I'll have a membership card in the mail for you today. Sure will."

Thus another member is enrolled in the Texas Citizens Council. Carlton is president and attorney. The council is pledged to uphold segregation by all peaceful and legal means.

Carlton is a big (6 foot, 2 inches) friendly man who likes to wear sport shirts and slacks at work. He is 44 years old, his left arm is scarred and stiff from an old auto accident. He slouches in his big chair and talks easily.

His office, rather small and old-fashioned, is on the top flor of the Commercial Building in Dallas. If he's wealthy, it doesn't show. The yellow paint is peeling in spots on his office ceiling. There's a thumb-sized hole in the armrest of the leather sofa. The dust-covered, silver cigarette lighter on his desk doesn't work.

The law books are in the outer office, shared with his partner. In his office Carlton has a strange collection running to "Texas Folk Songs," "Works of Plato," "Information Please Almanac," "Letters from Lee's Army," "Gashouse McGinty" and a Spanish grammar.

Carlton does all kinds of law work but concentrates on business law, which he likes despite the fact it is colorless and "just damn hard work."

More phone calls about the council's work interrupt the interview. Carlton asks his partner to take his calls so he can give all his time to answering the questions, which he has been told will be about him, not about segregation arguments.

"Guess my relations with Negroes have been about the same as every one else's.

"I was born and raised right here in Dallas except for four years as a boy in Atlanta. My daddy was in the school book distribution business. I was puny as a boy. Had asthma and spent years in bed. Learned to read in bed."

"We've always had Negro servants. I've lived with Negroes all my life and played with little Negro kids. I don't have anything against the Negroes."

"No, I've never run for public office. I was assistant attorney general under Gerald Mann in 1939 through 1942 and I handled Mann's campaign in Dallas County one year. I suppose you would call me a conservative Democrat. (A picture of arch-conservative Coke Stevenson, inscribed to "My Good Friend, Ross Carlton," hangs on the wall). In 1952, well, I just didn't vote."

"1956? Well, I think it (segregation) will be at least one of the outstanding issues in the Southern states. It could be the only issue in the campaign for governor here in Texas."

Had he thought of running for governor?

"I've been asked about it but haven't given it any particular thought. I suppose if there were no candidate taking the right stand (against integration) I would consider it. I've never actually wanted public office."

"I didn't ask for this job (heading the Texas Citizens Council). They already had an informal organization going when they called on me. Now our council is growing naturally into a sort of supervisory council for those in other cities. We have them now in Kilgore, Gilmer, Marshall, Orange, Fort Worth, Waco and LaGrange. So far we're doing it entirely on a voluntary basis. There are no salaries and the only money going out is for out-of-pocket expenses, like phone bills."

"It takes more than half my time now and I'm not pushing it."

Carlton was asked why he got into it.

"It's a matter of principle. I'm not going to accept integration. It's my belief a majority of the people of Texas will not if they can be shown something can be done about it. I intend to show them."

The phone rang. An urgent call was being let through.

"Yes, this is Carlton. Why, hello senator. Why, sure, sure."

It was a very influential state senator.

"That's just the way I feel, senator." Carlton said after listening a moment. "I don't have anything against Negroes. Yes, I'll have a card in the mail for you right away."

Buildings In Capital Get Face-Lifting Job

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — The nation's two top buildings, the White House and the Capitol, are undergoing a new slicking - up while their occupants are away.

The downstairs floors of the Executive Mansion are being touched up and polished after the beating they took from the tramping feet of the thousands of tourists it welcomed since its re-opening after the renovation.

The Capitol is getting a face-lifting under a plan which was originally drawn up in 1905, which calls for reconstruction of the whole East Front of the domed edifice. Just before Congress adjourned, President Eisenhower approved legislation which appropriates $5,000,000 for the preliminary engineering work, already under way. The measure also authorizes the appropriation of any additional money the commission in charge of the project decides will be necessary. The East Front will be unified architecturally by matching it with the West Front. This calls for removing the present sandstone front, which officials say is now crumbling, and rebuilding it with marble and adding 40 feet to the east of the present line. This job will provide space for additional offices, committee rooms, and restaurants.

"It is not anticipated that the project will interfere with the inauguration of the newly - elected president in January of 1957," a spokesman told reporters.

Roll Call, new bi-weekly Capitol Hill publication, is moved to comment on Washington's traditional summer let-down thusly:

"To show you how dull things really are on the Hill, we actually saw a fellow reading the Congressional Record the other day."

Though they have severed most of their Washington connections, Mrs. Harold Talbott, chic and energetic wife of the former Secretary of the Air Force, is continuing to serve as temporary co-chairman with Mrs. Arthur Gardner, wife of the U.S. Ambassador to Cuba, of the huge International Ball scheduled here for November. The Ball will benefit the Children's Convalescent Home in which Mrs. Talbott has been deeply interested.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

OFF THE BOOK BEAT— "The ideal profession for an Irishman is to be a writer," says an Irishman named Garrity, who has a good reason to boost them for he publishes them.

"I haven't been in Ireland for 130 years," he says, meaning his family hasn't, but he stands up for them, and finds fault, too.

"They're good writers for three reasons: Their countryside, which is for them living, and under their skin; their centuries-long struggle with England; their ancient mythology — all of it set against the Catholic background. Time stands still for them, too."

Garrity, with graying hair and bushy black brows and as quick a tongue as if it were trained in Ireland, is Devin A. Garrity. He has just edited "44 Irish Short Stories,' 'a collection the critics liked it is published by Garrity's own house, Devin-Adair, which his father founded.

"The last time I myself was in Ireland," Garrity says, "a man led me along the shore and pointed and exclaimed: 'That's where they landed!'

"Who landed? I asked him.

"'The French,' he said.

"'The French? When?

"'In 1798, of course,' he answered."

Garrity went on: "They're storytellers because they don't have the auto or TV. There isn't an Irishman who hasn't written a poem. But of course it takes the English and Americans to publish them."

Devin-Adair publishes little fiction, but does bring out every year 25 or 30 books mostly in special categories such as Irish literature, nature, politics and farming; it is proprietor of the Farmers' Book Club.

George Parr Goes To Court Again Monday

LAREDO, Tex., Sept. 24 (AP)—Duval County political boss George B. Parr goes into court again Monday, this time on an injunction request to keep the state from prosecuting suits for $834,000 in La Salle and Jim Wells counties.

Dist. Judge R. D. Wright set the hearing Sept. 17 at the time he issued a temporary order restraining prosecution of the suits against the controversial 53-year-old millionaire and his ex-wife, Thelma.

There's another temporary order out from 79th Dist. Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin at San Diego, Tex., restraining three Duval County commissioners and their attorney from pursuing a similar $680,000 suit filed against Parr in Wright's court.

The legal actions involving Parr are a seemingly confused jumble. In brief, they are:

1. A federal income tax suit alleging Parr owes more than $85,000 in income taxes. It has been stayed indefinitely, pending appeal on whether it can be tried outside the Southern District of Texas. The original indictment there was dropped and a new one filed in the Western District.

2. A charge switched to New Braunfels that Parr conspired to commit theft of Duval County funds. This has been postponed indefinitely, because of illness of the trial judge at the time it was called.

3. The state's suit seeking a half-million dollars, plus interest, and mineral royalties that would bring it close to a million dollars. This alleges Parr used Duval County funds to buy his 55,000 acre ranch in Duval, Webb and La Salle counties.

4. The Duval County commissioners' $680,000 suit, charging the county loaned Parr the money to buy his ranch and hasn't been paid back.

5. A state suit contending Parr used $172,500 in Duval County funds to pay off income tax indebtedness owed by Parr and his then wife, Thelma.

The order to be heard here Monday is on restraining prosecution of the state's ranch suit and the alleged taking of county money for income tax purposes.

Laughlin's order restrained action on the commissioners' "loan" suit.

Parr, the longtime political boss of Duval County and a surrounding area, and the state have been feuding for years.

The big investigation of Parr and Duval County came last year. Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd said he was going to "clean up" Duval County.

Parr has said all his woes with the state—and federal government—have been because of "politics."

A "reform" grand jury returned the indictment transferred to New Braunfels, along with hundreds of others against various county and former county officials.

All of the court actions against Parr are comparatively old. None has actually ever gone to trial.

Parr did figure in a number of actual court cases last year. Some were in county courts, others in state, and one was in a federal appearance. These involved personal altercations involving Texas Ranger Capt. Alfred Y. Allee.

Scurry County Grand Jury Resumes Monday

The Scurry County grand jury, after working on various days during the past two weeks, recessed again Friday.

The jury will convene again tomorrow morning.

Crane County Well Flowing

Gulf Oil Corp, No. 210-D W. M. Waddell, ½-mile north of the discovery well of the Wadell (Devonian) field of North Crane County, developed a good flow of oil on Silurian drillstem test.

Eight and a half-hour test from 10,040 to 10,140 feet, surfaced gas in eight minutes, and flowed at maximum rate of 757,000 cubic feet daily.

Fluid came to the top in 70 minutes. After cleaning into pits 20 minutes, the well flowed 254.35 barrels of oil into tanks in seven hours. Gravity was 43.2.

Reversed out were 33 barrels of clean oil. Recovery from below the sub was 270 feet of gas-cut mud, cut five per cent oil. Shakeout on the above flow was two-tenths per cent basic sediment and water.

Electrical logs were being run.

Site is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 14, block B-23, psl survey.

Warning On Heroin

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP)—A leading American doctor warns that Britain's ban on heroin will pave the way for narcotics racketeers. "They will smuggle the stuff in for addicts who are determined to get it at any cost," Dr. Herbert Berger of New York, told the International Congress on Criminology. He said that since heroin was banned in the United States in 1925, the number of addicts had rocketed.

Firm Finishes Gaines County Oil Discovery

Felmont Oil Corp. and associates completed their No. 1 Oil Developemnt Co., Mississippian discovery in Northeast Gaines County, for a calculated 24-hour potential of 1,521.45 barrels of 32 gravity oil, and no water.

The production is from perforated intervals at 13,020-13,024 feet; 13,032-33 feet and 13,045-13,058 feet. Those zones had been washed with 1,00 gallons of mud acid. Gas-oil ratio was 14-1. Flowing tubing pressure was 150 pounds.

The 24-hour potential was calculated from an actual six-hour flow of 280.38 barrels, through a one-half inch choke.

The discovery is 11 miles southeast of Seagraves and at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 109, block H, D&W survey.

It was drilled as a result of a deal worked out by Kelly Bell of Midland. He assembled a block of leases for a deep wildcat and secured support for such an operation from Shell Oil Co., Stanolind Oil & Gas Co., Seaboard Oil Co. and Delhi-Taylor Oil Corp.

Bell turned the deal to Felmont to drill and he retained a working interest. Felmont also sold interests in the project and in the spread of acreage to other operators.

Oil And Gas Show Reported

Sinclair Oil & Gas Co., No. 1 Mary E. Young, Ellenburger wildcat in the Bernecker (Lower Strawn) field of Southwest Fisher County, logged slight shows of oil and gas in the Ellenburger.

It topped that formation at 7,120 feet. A drillstem test was run at 7,122-42 feet. The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 65 feet of drilling mud with no shows.

Another test was run at 7,190-7,220 feet. The tool was open two hours. Recovery was 100 feet of very slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud. No signs of water were reported.

The prospector is making hole below 7,225 feet. It is 10 miles west of Longworth and 660 feet from south and east lines of section 248, block 3, H&TC survey.

Northwest Martin County Wildcat Flows

Pan American Production Co. No. 1 Shock, wildcat in Northwest Martin County, which flowed oil heavily on a drillstem test of the Devonian, was coring below 12,099 feet Friday.

The project flowed oil at daily rate of 1,000 barrels, with no water, on drillstem test from 12,081 to 12,098 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of labor 90, league 259, Borden County School Land survey.

800,000 To Use Gas For First Time

By CHARLES HAGLET

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP) — Around 800,000 home owners will be heating with gas this coming winter for the first time, the Natural Gas Assn. estimates.

It figures 15,212,000 homes will use gas for heat in the 1955-56 season as compared with an estimated 13,400,000 last winter. The estimates include a comparative small number using manufactured gas.

The gas people say there are ample supplies of natural gas to meet the authorized requirements of pipeline companies and retail distributors.

But they point out that several hundred thousand prospective gas heating customers cannot be served because natural gas is not yet available to them. Many applications for authority to build new pipelines to supply additional areas are pending before the Federal Power Commission.

The gas association estimates there will be around 16½ million customers for gas by the 1957-58 heating season.

Meanwhile, an ample fuel oil supply for home heating this fall and winter is forecast by various oil industry spokesmen.

Tom Pickett, executive vice president of the National Coal Assn., called this week for governmental action to halt 'excessive imports" of foreign oil. Unless such action is taken, he said, "There can be no sound growth for the coal industry toward the minimum production necessary to national defense and security."

Pickett so reported to a meeting of an industry - agriculture - labor committee on import-export policy.

"The administration," he said, "has made several steps in good faith to implement the recommendations of a cabinet committee and the intent of Congress.

"The coal industry expects that implementation will mean an increase in coal's opportunities to compete for a fair share of the total energy market when and if this flood of imported fuel is stemmed."

He said his association believes a workable plan has been proposed and it would try to help put the plan into operation. He referred to the amendment which Congress wrote into the reciprocal trade agreements act this year providing that imports may be limited whenever they reached a level that might impair national security.

He recalled that the Presidential Advisory Committee on Energy Supplies and Resources Policy recommended that oil imports be held to 1954 relative levels. Congress, he said, indicated approval of that recommendation in adopting the amendment.

But since then, Pickett continued, oil imports have continued to run far ahead of the recommended level and the Office of Defense Mobilization has sought voluntary action by importing companies to reduce imports.

He declared the coal industry has "continued to bear the brunt of this unfair competition created by federal policies permitting a flood of foreign oil to enter this country."

Project Completed In Jim Adams Field

Murray Petroleum Co. and R. D. Sterling No. 1 Nitsche, re-entered project six miles northwest of Winters in Northwest Runnels County, has been completed as a Fry sand gas discovery in the Jim Adams (multipay) field.

Location is in section 81, CTRR survey.

Plans For Agriculture Production Cut Okayed

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa Farm Bureau has approved a plan to reduce agricultural production, raise farm prices and combat surpluses. The plan would cost the government about a billion dollars a year.

Drafted by E. Howard Hill, Iowa bureau president, it will be presented to an American Farm Bureau meeting in Chicago next week.

It calls for government leasing of up to 20 per cent of farmlands for five years, with the land being seeded with soil-building crops. This is one of the proposed solutions to the farm problem now under consideration by the Eisenhower administration.

WORK IS STILL UNDERWAY on the field house being constructed on the high school stadium here. The field house probably won't be ready for much use before this season is over. It will serve both the playing field and the practice field, which is just south of the building. This is the last of a number of new facilities at the stadium included in the school's building program. (Lee Watson photograph)

Snyder Seventh Graders Win

It took only one game to get a group of boys who had never played any organized football before to working like a grid team.

The Snyder seventh grade team, coached by Bill Hartsfield, lost its first game, but it was during its second game that it turned loose against a Colorado City squad and scored four times to the opposition's none. Score of the game, played in Snyder yesterday morning, was 28-0.

Stanley Kruse, fullback, opened scoring in the first quarter for the Snyder team with a wedge through the line for two yards into the end zone. This ended a 40-yard drive.

The next score came when left halfback Jimmy Don Robinson went through the middle for 15 yards, still in the first quarter. There was no scoring in the second.

In the third period, it was Robinson again, going around end for slightly more than 10 yards and another TD.

In the fourth, quarterback Mike Moffett circled left end on a keeper play for about 15 yards and scored. Moffett and Larry Patterson both played at the quarterback spot during the game.

John Billy Koonsman ran across two extra points, while Kruse got one and Robinson one.

The Colorado City team didn't even threaten during the game. This gave the Snyder team a 1-1 record. It will play again next Thursday afternoon at Lamesa.

The entire offensive line for Snyder showed up well, with Tommy Minton and David Sapp leading blocking, while Robinson and Koonsman headed the running games from their halfback slots. Defensively, standouts included Koonsman and Robinson, Graydon Hicks, Henry Lowry, and Jerry Minor.

The team has already lost two players because of broken bones this season. Franklin Moore suffered a broken leg in the team's first game, and at last report Dickie Martin was still in the hospital with a broken arm he suffered in practice.

MONTEREY GAME SATURDAY NIGHT

The Snyder Tiger grid team's next game will be on Saturday night, not on Friday night.

The game was originally scheduled for Friday night but was changed because both Lubbock high schools have home games this weekend. Snyder will take on Monterey in Jones Stadium in Lubbock at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Many of the printed football schedules which have been circulated in Snyder had the Friday date, and many fans did not know about the change and were making plans for a Friday night trip to Lubbock.

The game will be the opener of district play for both teams.

Michigan Tops Missouri, 42-7

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 24 (AP)—Powered by dynamic Ron Kramer's 23 points, Michigan crushed underdog Missouri 42-7 today for a non-conference, season - opening victory in Michigan Stadium.

It was Missouri's second loss of the season, but the Tigers, determined to be giant killers, gave 55,000 fans a momentary shock by taking a 7-0 first-period lead.

It was then, Kramer, shooting for an All-America end berth, started catching the Michigan aerials.

He took a 14-yard pass from sophomore quarterback Jim van Pelt for the first tally, scored two others on passes of 22 and 13 yards from fullback Lou Baldacci and converted five times in five attempts.

Leo Durocher Quits Baseball

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP) — Leo Durocher quit baseball today to go into private business and was immediately replaced as manager of the New York Giants by Bill Rigney.

The double announcement was made by Horace Stoneham, owner of the Giants, who said he accepted Durocher's resignation with "deep personal regret," but was glad to have had a suitable replacement in Rigney, currently piloting the Minneapolis Millers in the American Assn.

"Leo Durocher has been a fine manager for the New York Giants," Stoneham said, "and he has done some of his best work during the previous season, when injuries and some playing failures imposed many handicaps."

The retirement of the explosive manager after 17 years as a major league pilot, the last seven and a half with the Giants, came as no surprise to followers of the Giants. As far back as last May, he confided to several close friends he planned to quit after this season.

Last June 23, amidst rumors that Durocher was to be fired, the Associated Press wrote that Leo was sure to finish out the season but intimated he would not be back in 1956.

"My decision to retire is not a last minute one," Durocher explained to reporters summoned to the Polo Grounds for a press conference. "I have been thinking about it for a long time, going back to last year. I might have quit last year but I already had given my word to Mr. Stoneham that I'd be back.

"No, the performance of the team had nothing whatsoever to do with my retirement," Leo said, "I would have left even if the Giants had won the pennant."

The 49-year-old Durocher said he gave up his $50,000 a year job in baseball to accept an executive position in California "which would keep me at home most of the time with my family."

He did not identify his new job but it was learned that Leo has been offered a distributorship by the Anheuser - Busch Brewery which supposedly will pay him as much as he earned as manager of the Giants. In addition, Leo has an offer to telecast the 1956 Hollywood games in the Pacific Coast League for an additional $12,500 per year.

Durocher said he would finish out the season with the Giants and will be in uniform for tomorrow's doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phillies. Rigney, currently involved in a battle for the "Little World Series" championship with Rochester, will not take over until after the end of the series.

"It's great to be back in the big leagues," Rigney exclaimed, when reached in Rochester. "I'm thrilled to get this opportunity. I'll give it a good try. It's great."

The 37-year-old former infielder of the Giants, who left the club to manage at Minneapolis last year, said he had heard rumors all summer but it was not until early this morning that he was first contacted.

Cards Edged By Knox City

The Hermleigh Cardinals, after making many switches in their lineup as a result of injuries, fell to the Knox City Greyhounds 19-13 Friday night in their fourth game of the season.

Ray Isaacs' Cardinals will be at home next Friday night to take on Rochester.

The loss in the non-district game gave the Cards a 2-2 record.

Starting off in good order, the Cards picked up their first score in the initial period on a 35-yard pass play from Robby Robinson to Morris Light. Billy Mac Davidson, one of the injured players who played only part of the game, kicked the extra point to make it 7-0.

The Cards were going after a second touchdown and had a first down on the Knox City three-yard line when they lost the ball on a fumble.

Knox City then scored twice in the third period, with Bobby Day, fullback, making the first score and halfback Cecil Beauchamp the second. Knox City was leading 13-7 when Robinson let go with a long pass to Davidson, who crossed the goal line to make the play good for 85 yards, but that TD was called back.

Hermleigh finally tied it up on another pass play from Robinson to Light.

It was in the fourth period that Knox City's Donald Corley, quarterback, got the final five yards of a scoring drive. The score was set up on a 50-yard run by Corley. This put the Greyhounds out front 19-13.

At one other time Hermleigh drove to the Knox City 20-yard line but lost the ball on downs. Fumbles hurt each side, each losing the ball three times by fumbling.

Jackie Roemisch, a top offensive player for the Cards, was out of the entire game with an injury. Several players were switched from one position to another during the last two days before the game.

Light was a standout on offensive, as was Robinson, who completed nine of 18 passes, seven of which were caught by Light. Also outstanding on offense as blockers were Powell Tarter, Donald Joe May, and Tom Etheredge. Defensively, outstanding players were Arlon and Leonard Groves, Eddie McHaney, and Jerry Gannaway.

Sooners Edge North Carolina Squad, 13-6

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Sept. 24 (AP)—Third-ranked Oklahoma, held scoreless in the first half by a scrappy North Carolina team, came from behind today with two touchdowns in the last half on the running of halfbacks Bob Burris and Tommy McDonald to whip the Tar Heels, 13-6. The victory extended Oklahoma's winning streak to 20 straight.

A crowd of 35,000 saw North Carolina score in the opening period when tackle John Bilich recovered a fumble in the Oklahoma end zone during the first six minutes of the game.

Five times during the first half frustrated Oklahoma moved to the Tar Heel 30 or beyond, but the aroused Tar Heels hurled back each threat. The hard-charging Tar Heels recovered three Oklahoma fumbles during the first half.

A 15-yard clipping penalty set the Sooners back on their two soon after the opening whistle. Quarterback Jim Harris, a junior from Terrell, Tex., fumbled in the end zone, and Bilich slashed through to pounce on the ball. Halfback Ken Keller's attempted placement went wide.

Oklahoma, showing a flock of shifty backs, caught fire early in the third period and swept 74 yards for a touchdown. The 183-pound Burris took a pitchout from Harris and rammed over from the eight.

Burris had scampered for 15 and 25 yards to highlight the drive. Harris converted to send the Sooners ahead 7-6.

Late in the last period, Oklahoma clinched its victory with another touchdown. McDonald swept 28 yards around right end to the Tar Heel 11. Four plays later he scored from the two. Burris kick was wide.

Army Trounces Furman, 81-0

By TED SMITS

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—Army opened its 1955 football campaign by crushing Furman 81-0 today in a game highlighted by the first appearance of Don Holleder at quarterback for the Cadets.

The star end of last year handled the big Army team in smooth style despite the drizzling rain, and in the second quarter, with Army on Furman's 39, faded back to his 50, and threw a perfect pass to Art Johnson over the goal line.

The longest scoring play, however, was made by Pete Lash who ran 73 yards in the third period.

Fumbles were frequent on both sides, but the advantage was with Army. Furman, although a half-dozen of its players were carried off the field with injuries, kept up a persistent passing attack and in the third quarter reached Army's eight only to lose the ball on downs.

Chisox Rips KC, 4-0

CHICAGO, Sept. 24 (AP) — Dick Donovan hurled his fifth shutout of the season as the Chicago White Sox edged the Kansas City Athletics 4-0 before a ladies day crowd of 7,716 today.

SWC Officials Plan Meeting On Recruiting

DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—The Southwest Conference holds a meeting here tomorrow that could bring a smouldering feud over athletic recruiting to a bright blaze.

The conference announced that it was holding a special meeting to discuss recruiting practices in general and to receive reports on inquiries into these practices by conference coaches and alumni.

There were no details and the implication appeared to be that while some new cases had arisen since May, when Texas A&M was placed on probation, they were not of serious nature.

But reports flared that five schools were in hot water over recruiting practices, including Texas A&M again, and three of the schools admitted they have violated the rules, although in a minor way. This consisted of coaches of the schools—Baylor, Southern Methodist and Texas—transporting athletes. Under conference rules a coach can not pay expenses of an athlete visiting a college campus.

Texas A&M wouldn't comment, saying it would be improper. Rice, the other member accused of violating the rules, denied it.

It was considered significant that Texas A&M's coach, Paul Bryant, planned to stay over here and attend the meeting. Bryant's team played Louisiana State here tonight.

There were reports that A&M was seeking an easement of its penalty. When the conference put the Aggies on probation for two years it was stipulated that no Aggie athletic team could participate in a post-season contest. This would knock the football team out of the Cotton Bowl even if it won the Southwest Conference championship. It also would prevent the baseball, track and basketball teams from entering post-season competition.

A&M reportedly is asking that the penalty be removed so far as all sports other than football are concerned since the probation came because of football recruiting and the other sports were not involved.

There are also reports that the letter of intent plan used by the conference may also be tightened. The way it now operates a member school can get a boy's signature but not file the letter with the conference. This ties up the boy and he may turn down scholarships at other schools before he finds out about it.

The letter of intent consists of getting a boy's signature on an agreement to attend a certain school. The boy can not go to another member school without forfeiting some eligibility.

Cubs Flatten Reds, 3 To 2

CINCINNATI, Sept. 24 (AP) — The Chicago Cubs pushed over a run in the ninth inning today to defeat the Cincinnati Redlegs 3-2 and blasted Cincinnati's last hope of even a tie for fourth place in the National League.

The winning run came with no outs on a walk to Gene Baker and singles by Eddie Miksis and Ernie Banks.

Until the ninth Joe Nuxhall had pitched six consecutive innings of hitless ball after limiting the Cubs to two runs in the second as Randy Jackson homered following an error which allowed Banks to reach first safely.

The Reds scored all their runs in the seventh on a double by Chuck Harmon, a single by pinch hitter Ed Bailey, a fielder's choice and Smoky Burgess' single.

West Virginia Dumps Richmond 33 to 12

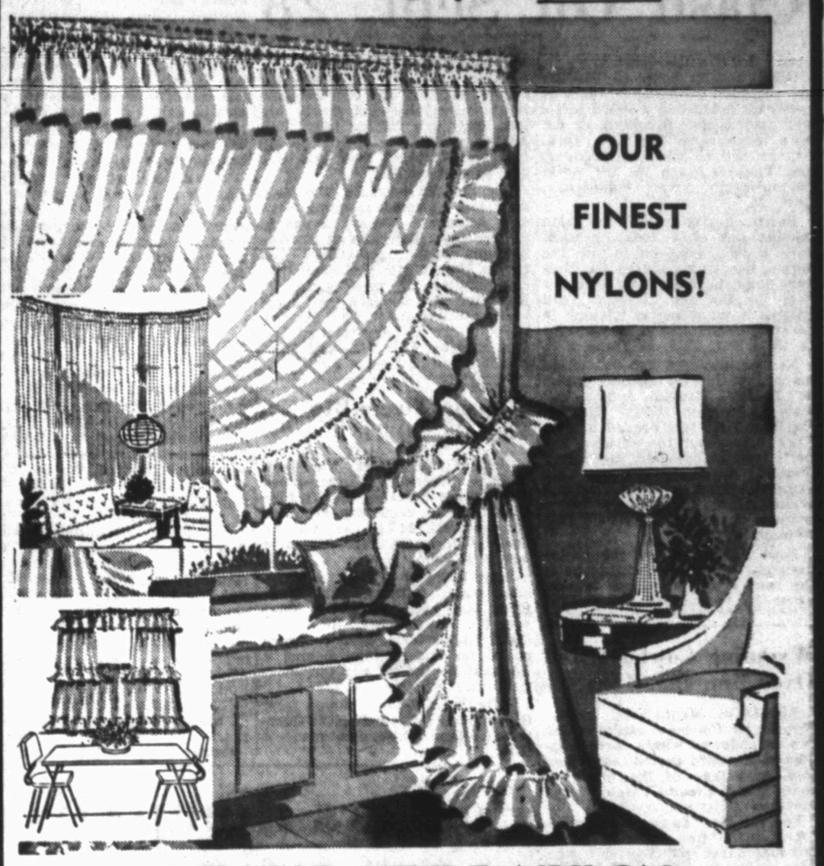

MORGANTOWN, W.Va., Sept. 24 (AP)—West Virginia University, with some pointed help from its bruising second team, thumped Richmond 33-12 today to open the football season with its 13th straight Southern Conference victory.

It was the second team that broke the ice in the second quarter to overcome the 6-0 Richmond lead and get the Mountaineers rolling.

Yankees, Dodgers Clash On Sept. 28

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The old argument whether a team is better off going into a world series well rested, like Brooklyn, or out of a tough race, like New York, will be revived when the Dodgers and Yankees clash for the world championship next Wednesday, Sept. 28.

Based on past years, the team coming out of a tough pennant race usually goes on to win the series, too, which means the Yankees ought to make it six in a row over the Dodgers. Brooklyn, still without a world series triumph in seven attempts, lost to the Yankees in 1941, 1947, 1949, 1952 and 1953.

Neither manager has announced his pitcher for the opening game, at Yankee Stadium, which will start at 12 noon (EST). (Eastern Daylight Time will prevail in New York throughout the series). Experts believe, however, that Casey Stengel, the Yankees' wise old skipper, will start Whitey Ford and Walter Alston, the Dodgers' sophomore pilot, will counter with Don Newcombe.

Ford figures to get the choice assignment not only because he is the team's biggest winner but because he is a southpaw. Caution dictates the use of righthanders exclusively in Ebbets Field since the nearby left field wall is a welcome target to righthanded power hitters. Only one visiting lefty, Luis Arroyo of St. Louis, has gone the distance at Ebbets Field this year and he was beaten.

For the same reason, the Yankees are expected to come back with southpaw Tommy Byrne in the second game, also at Yankee Stadium, with righthanders Don Larsen, Bob Turley and Bob Grim reserved for the three games in Brooklyn. The Dodgers may come back with lefthander Karl Spooner in New York and righthanders Carl Erskine, Billy Loes and Newcombe again at Ebbets Field.

Wyoming Cowboys Roll Over Montana, 35-6

BILLINGS, Mont., Sept. 24 (AP)—Wyoming's Cowboys exploded for two touchdowns within three minutes of the third period today then took advantage of the break to romp to a 35-6 football victory over Montana Grizzlies.

For the first half, which ended 0-0, Montana was anything but a mis-match for the Cowboys who were picked by Skyline Conference coaches as top contender for the 1955 league title.

Duke Slaps Down N.C. State, 33-7

RALEIGH, Sept. 24 (AP)—Duke's Orange Bowl champions turned three fumbles and an intercepted pass into touchdowns tonight as they opened their season by defeating N.C. State, 33-7, in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game before a sellout crowd of 20,000 in Riddick Stadium.

The Blue Devils, defending conference champions, showed tremendous power rolling up four touchdowns in the first half, three on fumbles, and added a fifth in the third period.

Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen, fullback Bryant Aldridge, and halfback Bob Pascal were the big boys in the Duke attack.

Holy Cross Whips Temple, 42 to 7

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 24 (AP)—Jack Stephans, skillful senior quarterback, engineered Holy Cross' 42-7 football victory over Temple today—scoring on runs of 63 and 1 yards and passing for a third touchdown. Stephans' mid-season performance drove the surprisingly strong Crusaders from a 7-7 half time deadlock to a second half rout. Junior Billy Smithers replaced him midway in the fourth period to unleash scoring passes of 15 and 43 yards with the Owls reeling from the impact of well-mixed Crusader plays.

Rice Institute Sweeps Over Alabama, 20-0

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—King Hill, a 208-pound sophomore quarterback, took over a sluggish Rice Institute offense midway in the second half tonight and quickly directed the Owls to three touchdowns and a 20-0 intersectional football victory over Alabama.

A season opening crowd of 50,000 saw Hill enter the game late in the third period and break a scoreless deadlock by leading Rice to two touchdowns within seven minutes on drives of 43 and 76 yards. He smoothly directed a third score in the game's closing seconds, this one for 48 yards in five plays.

The big football and basketball star from Freeport climaxed the first and third drives by ramming over from the one. Halfback Page Rogers broke off right tackle for 45 yards and the second. Fullback Jerry Hall kicked the first two extra points but fullback Jack Throckmorton missed the third.

A veteran Rice line meanwhile prevented the Crimson Tide, beginning a rebuilding program under a new head coach, from advancing beyond the Owl 24.

A 52-yard third quarter Alabama threat was stopped on the Rice 24 by a fumble. Three plays later the Tide recovered an Owl fumble but got no further than the 34. A 15-yard penalty for an illegal shift stopped the Tide on the Rice 36 in the first period.

An offsides penalty had killed Rice's most serious first half threat, the penalty coming as quarterback Pinky Nisbet, a senior, hit end Marshall Crawford in the end zone with a 10-yarder. An illegal shift penalty also stopped the Owls on the Alabama 14 in the first quarter.

Rice	0	0	0	20	20

Rice scoring—Touchdowns: Hill (1, plunge; 1, plunge); Rogers (45, run).

Conversions: Hall 2.

Clemson Tigers Rip Virginia, 20 To 7

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 24 (AP) — Clemson's Tigers ripped big, glaring holes in the Virginia line this gray, rainy day to defeat the Cavaliers 20-7 in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game before 13,000.

Billy (Digger) O'Dell, a strapping senior fullback from Newman, Ga., was Clemson's most versatile line-puncher. He scored the third-quarter touchdown which pulled the Tigers from behind a 7-6 halftime deficit and put them in front for keeps.

O'Dell's touchdown plunge from the 2 ended a 21-yard drive. Quarterback Don King's kick made it 13-7.

Porkers Romp Over Okla. Aggies, 21-0

By ADREN COOPER

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 24 The Arkansas Razorbacks, playing the opportunist as in 1954, showed three sudden bursts of their new Split-T offense to down Oklahoma A&M 21-0 before a crowd of 30,000 here tonight.

The Porkers hopped on Aggie fumbles and quickly stifled every scoring chance of the Oklahomans. Quarterbacks George Walker and Don Christian guided Arkansas to touchdowns in each of the first three periods. The tough Arkansas defense did the rest.

After Arkansas added what proved to be the clinching touchdown early in the third quarter, the Razorbacks spent most of the time warding off three Oklahoma A&M drives, all of which were stopped inside the five.

A recovered fumble by the Razorbacks on the Aggie 32 led to the first touchdown and an intercepted pass got the Porkers started on their second quarter score. Little Joe Thomason fired a 5-yard pass to end Ted Souter for the first touchdown. The second score came on a 16-yard screen pass from Christian to fullback Gerald Nesbitt, and the final 6-pointer was a 2-yard dive over the center of the line by Henry Moore.

The Razorbacks were impressive on defense—especially near their own goal—as they ganged up to stop the lunges of fullback Earl Lunsford and halfback Harvey Romans, the Aggies' best ball carriers.

Score by quarters:

Oklahoma A&M	0	0	0	0	0
Arkansas	7	7	7	0	21

Arkansas scoring: Touchdowns—Souter (5, pass from Thomason), Nesbitt (16, pass-run from Christian), Moore (2, plunge). Conversion—Walker 3.

Orioles Clip Senators

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP)—Baltimore clinched seventh place and assured Washington a celler finish tonight by beating the Senators in both games of a doubleheader, 8-5 and 1-0, before only 765 fans.

Penn State Wins

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., Sept. 24 (AP)—Sophomore Joe Sabol, a third-string fullback employed because of injuries to the top two plungers, scored two touchdowns and turned in a sparkling all-round performance today to help Penn State crush Boston University 35-0 before 20,000 fans.

Mississippi State Rips Tennessee, 13-7

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 24 (AP)—Mississippi State, cleverly handled by quarterback Jim Stanton, rolled to two early touchdowns today and hung on to defeat Tennessee, 13-7, in a Southeastern Conference football game in a steady rain.

Stanton, playing the entire game, maneuvered Mississippi State 55 yards for a score the second time the Maroons got possession of the ball. Halfback Art Davis plunged from the one to cap the drive. Bill Morgan converted.

Early in the second period, Stanton got State's split-T offense rolling again and in nine plays netted 55 yards with halfback Jim Harness diving over. Harness' kick for the extra point was blocked by end Keith Drummond. Two fine runs by Davis, one for 10 yards and the second for 19, had put the ball in scoring position.

Princeton Wins, 41-7

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 24 (AP)—Bill Agnew's speed and one big play carried Princeton to an impressive 41-7 victory over Rutgers today in the 47th game of football's oldest rivalry. Agnew, a senior wingback from Grand Rapids, Mich., whose "square" name is Franklin, scored the first three Princeton touchdowns after the Tigers had spotted Rutgers the first score.

Iowa Victorious, 28-7

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Sept. 24 (AP)—A powerful Iowa football squad smothered Kansas State 28-7 today with a rugged defense and flashes of offensive brilliance. A record opening day crowd of 44,500 for a non-conference contest watched the burly Hawks hold the Big Seven Conference team to four first downs and 67 net yards by rushing. The Wildcats failed to complete any of their eight passes and had two intercepted.

Purdue Beats COP

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 24 (AP)—The Boilermakers of Purdue today knocked down an aggressive College of the Pacific football team, 14-7, on a fourth-period touchdown pass that went for 58 yards. The toss from third-string quarterback John Brideweser to sophomore halfback Tom Fletcher came after unheralded Pacific had tied Purdue, 7-7, in the third quarter on a brilliant 81-yard punt return by halfback Dewey Thomas. Purdue's winning score came with less than five minutes to go.

Garden City Loses To Gail, 26 To 24

A hard-working defense and a good kicking toe paid off for the Gail Coyotes Friday night when they edged Garden City in a six-man grid game 26-24.

The Gail defense held the favored Garden City club out of Gail's end zone except for four touchdowns. It was E. L Franklin's conversion kick which meant the difference in the game. Conversion by kicking means two points in six-man football. Each of the teams had four touchdowns.

The Gail team tomorrow will begin workouts under coach Eddie James toward Friday night's 8 p.m. game at home against Ackerly. This will be Gail's first district game, and it will be against a team which is undefeated in three games Ackerly has downed Forsan 41-6, Smyer 46-6, and Sterling City 66-32. It was Ackerly which tied Gail 1st year for district championship and went on to represent the district in playoffs after winning the toss. Ackerly, Loop, and Knott are among district favorites this year.

Garden City had been undefeated in two games before meeting Gail. Seven Gail gridders saw action practically all the game, especially the starting six.

Mike Smith of Gail got the first score in the game on a 35-yard pass play from E. L. Franklin in the first quarter. Garden City tied it up 6-6 and in the second quarter, Gail moved out again when Franklin took a Garden City punt and returned it 60 yards for a TD. It was after this touchdown that Franklin kicked for the two points, putting Gail ahead 14-6.

Gail scored one more time in the third quarter before Garden City began to catch up. It was Franklin again on this score on five-yard plunge. Garden City then scored, leaving Gail ahead 20-12, and twice more to Gail's once, almost catching up before the game ended.

Franklin did all the passing for Gail, with Smith and Lonnie Doyle as his receivers. Passing and running, Gail gained about 250 yards in the game to Garden City's 235. Defensively, Charles Lewis at center and Franklin and Doyle at ends, with Glen Kingston and Smith in the secondary were standouts. Lloyd Ramsey, a gridder with little game time, was another stand out in the game.

Weinert Whips Hobbs Panthers Friday, 44-18

The Hobbs Panthers suffered their first grid loss of the season Friday night at the hands of the Weinert Bulldogs 44-18.

The loss in the six-man game gave the Panthers a 2-1 season record. Coach John Comte's team will host Blackwell next Friday night in a district tilt.

The Weinert squad, 30 boys strong, outclassed Hobbs, which is playing its first year of six-man football, scored 30 points before the Panthers ever scratched.

It was Bernon Etheredge who got the first Hobbs score, running for a touchdown when he intercepted a Weinert pass in the second quarter. Halftime score was 30-6.

In the fourth period, Mack Etheredge got the other two Hobbs touchdowns, both of them on passes from Doyle Hayes. One of the passes was about 30 yards into the end zone, the other pass play covering about 25 yards.

Frankie Jenkins, Clyde Childress, Eddie Swanner and Jackie Therwanger did all the Weinert scoring.

Baylor Bears Stop Villanova, 19 To 12

By BILL LOFTUS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24 (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Jones Scotched a first period case of fumble-itis by Baylor's Bears tonight and Weldon Holley sparked two second period touchdowns for a 19-2 Baylor victory over Villanova at Municipal stadium.

The punchless Wildcats shackled highly touted Del Shofner so well he didn't get away once during the night. But Holley and Reuben Saage, a trusting fullback, kept the Wildcats' defense scrambling in the fourth "grocery bowl" contest before 63,409.

Villanova dominated the second half, holding the Bears to a single first down, but lacked the overall team speed and clutch play to score.

After Baylor drove to the Villanova 11 and lost the ball on a fumble in the first quarter, Jones sent Saage racing through the middle of delayed bucks and trap plays to move back to the Wildcats' one. Jones then fumbled and lost a yard. Holley tried end on fourth down and was stopped on the one.

However, the Wildcats fumbled right back again as the first quarter ended.

On the first play of the second quarter, Jones sent Holley outside left tackle to score aided by a beautiful fake which decoyed that side of the Wildcat line. An attempted pass for the extra point went awry.

The Wildcats drove to the Bears' 26 with the kickoff, but the rally died there. Fullback Tony Esgro's intended coffin corner kick travelled only five yards. Baylor guard Jim Miller raced it back 23 yards to the Villanova 46 and from there the Bears scored in five plays.

Holley went 23 on an option play. Three plays later Jones, on the same type play, cut inside tackle six yards for the score. Don Berry's try for the point was no good.

Score by quarters:

Baylor	0	12	7	0	19
Villanova	0	0	2	0	2

Baylor scoring—Touchdowns: Holley (2, plunge); Jones (6, run); Gremminger (recovered Villanova fumble in end zone). Conversion: Berry.

Villanova scoring—Safety: McComb (tackled Shofner in the end zone).

Texas Aggies Down Louisiana State In Runaway 28 To 0

By WILBUR MARTIN

DALLAS, Sept. 24 (AP)—Texas A&M's brash young sophomores tonight acted like they had just time for one more play before the school bell rang as they hurried over Louisiana State, 28-0.

The eager charges of Paul Bryant snapped an eight-game losing streak with the pleasing elements of a rock-ribbed defense and a horde of backs who ran low, hit hard and came bouncing back for more.

Jack Pardee, a 19-year-old bull of a fullback, and John David Crow, a furious fullback, scored two touchdowns each and led the Aggies to an awesome 386 yards rushing.

Louisiana State, almost as flat as the smooth green Cotton Bowl gridiron, played goal-keeper almost the entire game. The Tigers mounted just one serious drive, and it ended up against a too tough Aggie line on the Cadets' four at the game's end.

Pardee smashed 4 yards in the first and 2 yards in the second for touchdowns. Crow galloped 77 and 8 yards in the third and fourth for his tallies.

Loyd Taylor kicked three extra points and Ed Dudley one to complete the LSU whitewash.

The first time they got the ball, the Aggies lost it on a fumble. But the next time they got it, they went all the way and from then on, LSU was out of the running.

The tough Aggie A&M defense held LSU to just 77 yards rushing, and the most spine-tingling offensive effort the Tigers staged was a beautiful 70 yard punt return by Billy Smith in the second period.

A crowd of 17,000 watched the Aggies run away with the game. Their first touchdown came in 10 plays and covered 51 yards. Their second was for 99 yards in 7 plays, with Pardee eating up most of the yardage on a 65-yard sprint. Crow's long run covered the third march to paydirt while the fourth took another 10 plays to go 32 yards.

Louisiana State	0	0	0	0	0
Texas A&M	7	7	7	7	28

Texas A&M scoring: Touchdowns, Pardee 2 (4, plunge, 2, plunge); Crow 2 (77 run, 8 run).

Tulsa Whacks HSU By 41-19

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 24 (AP)—Throwing a well balanced aerial and ground attack at Hardin-Simmons, Tulsa overcame a slow first period start tonight to trounce the Cowboys, 41-19, and break a 15-game losing streak.

The victory was the Golden Hurricane's first since 1953.

Tulsa caught fire midway of the first quarter after tackle Charles Yonkers took the ball from Cowboy quarterback John Lyle's arm and raced 15 yards for the opening score.

Halfback Dick Hughes then quickly also scored for Tulsa with a seven-yard plunge, and early in the second quarter set up another touchdown with a 37-yard sprint to Hardin-Simmons' three. Halfback Wayne Hill crashed over from that point.

A looping 30-yard pass by another Hurricane quarterback, Dick Phillips, hit Hal Bumgarner in the end zone and Tulsa was out of danger the rest of the night.

Kansas Victors, 13-0

LAWRENCE, Kan., Sept. 24 (AP)—The University of Kansas' football victory drought was ended at 17 games today as a sophomore dominated Jayhawk team struck for touchdowns in the second and fourth periods to beat the Washington State Cougars 13-0 before 19,000 howling fans. It was the first Kansas football victory since the Jayhawks turned back Colorado, 27-21 in the fourth game of the 1953 season.

Mich. State Triumphs

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Sept. 24 (AP)—A Michigan State team loaded with sophomore talent whipped Indiana today in the season's first Big Ten game, 20-13, in spite of a passing show by IU's Chich Cichowski. Indiana led briefly in the second quarter on Cichowski's 1-yard plunge, winding up a 68-yard drive. It started by Les Kun's recovery of Clarence Peaks' fumble on the Indiana 22. It was the hard-running Peaks' only mistake all afternoon.

Undefeated Texas Teams To Get Test

By The Associated Press

Amarillo meets Wichita Falls and Corpus Christi Ray battles Houston Austin this week in the headline games of the upper divisions of Texas schoolboy football.

They are among the 14 undefeated, untied teams left in Class AAAA.

The Sandies whipped Fort Worth Paschal 33-21 last week while Wichita Falls was toppling Adamson of Dallas from the unbeaten ranks 28-0.

Beaumont South Park came up from Class AAA to lick Beaumont of AAAA 14-6, Waco trimmed Temple 22-6 while Alice smashed Austin McCallum 39-6 in one of the Class AAA features.

VMI Routed, 25-6

Indians Clip Tigers

DETROIT, Sept. 24 (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, who sat helpless in the rain yesterday while the New York Yankees grabbed the American League pennant, took revenge on the Detroit Tigers today with a pair of victories 8-2 and 7-0. The first triumph clinched second place for the Indians.

Texas Stomps Tulane, 35-21

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—Brilliant Joe Clements, a sophomore fourth-stringer a week ago, threw three touchdown passes and scored once to herd Texas to a 35-21 victory over stubborn Tulane tonight.

Clements, 6-3, 175-pounder from Huntsville, broke open what had been a tight tough ball game for favored Texas when he fired a 32-yard touchdown pass to end Menan Schriewer on the first play of the final quarter.

That shot Texas to a 28-14 advantage.

A revamping of the backfield shifted Walter Fondren from quarterback to left half midway of the third quarter, giving Texas the simultaneous benefit of Fondren's running and Clements' passing.

That was the spark that transformed Texas from mediocrity to greatness in the final period.

Clements put on one of the most fabulous passing performances in Texas football history and revived memories of the great former Longhorn passer, Bobby Layne.

He connected on eight straight passes for 99 yards before he missed one, and for the evening he completed 17 of 22 for 215 yards —a possible Texas record for completions.

Cards Nip Braves, 4-3

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 24 (AP)—Rookie Ken Boyer's double off the wall in left center scored Red Schoendienst from first base in the ninth inning tonight and brought the St. Louis Cardinals a 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Yale Is Winner, 14-0

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 24 (AP)—Yale, a favorite for Ivy League honors, looked unimpressive today as it conquered stubborn University of Connecticut 14-0 in the season's football inaugural for both. A slippery field appeared to hurt the Blue more than it's state rival. Playing in intermittent showers, the more experienced Yale squad tallied early in the second and third periods between fumbles and a sputtering offense.

Fifth-Place Maryland Downs Top-Ranked UCLA Team, 7-0

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 24 (AP)—Halfback Ed Vereb's 17-yard scoring run on a fourth-down pitchout play at the outset of the second half was the only break in a terrific defensive battle won 7-0 today by Maryland over UCLA, the nation's top-ranked college football team.

Vereb's dash around right end on one of the rare pitchouts pulled by quarterback Frank Tamburello topped off a 72-yard drive which was started by Maryland with the second-half kickoff on a muddy Turf before 46,000 hot fans.

It was the first time that Maryland got moving as Ronnie Knox, UCLA's great tailback, kicked and passed them to the wall through all of the first half and a lot of the second.

The Terrapins, going into the game ranked fifth, made one other foray to the UCLA 5 after intercepting a pass in the last three minutes.

A fierce Maryland defense led by center Bob Pellegrini let UCLA, 12-7 conqueror of the Terrapins last year, move goalward only only to fumble and Pellegrini recovered.

He also intercepted a pass as his tough, red shirted defensemen knocked UCLA to a minus-21 yards rushing. The Bruins from Los Angeles, who walloped Texas A&M 21-0 last week, gained 35 yards running with the ball but were smeared for losses of 76.

Knox did a yeoman job trying to pierce the stout Maryland defense by passing, completing nine out of 14.

But even he couldn't get UCLA past the Maryland 47 in the second half when the Terrapins rose to magnificent heights.

In the last quarter, UCLA didn't have the ball beyond its own 31 and most of the time it was against Maryland second stringers.

The wet ball led to seven fumbles by Maryland, two of them recovered by UCLA, and three by UCLA, which also lost possession twice.

Red Sanders, last season's coach of the year when his UCLA team was undefeated, called Maryland "great, majestic, one of the truly great football teams of our era."

Maryland's one scoring thrust was truly brilliant.

With quarterback Frank Tamburello completing two successive passes covering 31 yards, Maryland went from its own 29 to the UCLA 17 in 9 plays.

On fourth down and a foot to go, UCLA massed eight men in the line to stop the expected plunge. Instead, Tamburello whirled to his right and flipped back to the circling Vereb. Fred Hamilton threw the one necessary block and Vereb was over the goal untouched.

Bob Laughery, whose extra point saved Maryland a 13-12 victory over Missouri last week, converted.

TCU Ground Attack Crushes Texas Tech Red Raiders, 32-0

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

LUBBOCK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Texas Christian's boiling Horned Frogs turned loose a thunderous ground attack in which Jim Swink and Vernon Halleck tore huge chunks of daylights in a rain soaked Texas Tech line for a 32-0 victory today.

It was the most crushing defeat ever administered by TCU on its long-time football rival and the way the Frogs did it was to absolutely humiliate the Raiders. Texas Tech made only three first downs and netted just 12 yards while the Frogs romped and passed to 430 yards and 26 first downs. The Raiders, who beat Texas 20-14 last week, got past midfield only once.

Swink, who was a sensation as TCU opened the season with a 47-14 victory over Kansas last Saturday, was even more devastating today. He ran for 134 yards and scored three touchdowns, one on a brilliant 59-yard dash.

Hallbeck, the big Frog fullback, shattered the Tech line for 79 yards and substitute Jimmy Shofner picked up 61 in blazing blasts.

A drizzling rain, which set in midway of the first period, turned into a downpour in the last quarter and the teams finished without the fans being able to read the numbers. Rain was the only thing that came close to slowing the Frogs. TCU ground out 185 yards in the last half and made its fifth touchdown.

It was the thirteenth meeting between the teams in the past 29 years and the previous record triumph by TCU was 26-0 in 1930.

Texas Christian showed probably its finest blocking team in history and its defense compared with the great Frog eleven of 1938 that was national champion. TCU got most of the breaks but made some of them through its brutish blocking and tackling. Some telling penalties against Tech helped the Frogs to their first two touchdowns.

The Frogs hammered goalward virtually all the first period. Finally scoring on a 64-yard drive with Swink, Hallbeck and Ray Taylor doing the carrying. A roughing penalty put the ball on the Tech one and TCU although backed up by an offside penalty, got the score in plunges by Hallbeck and Swink.

TCU counted again early in the second period after recovering a fumble on the Tech 32. Swink got the touchdown with a 1-yard plunge.

The third touchdown was on Swink's 50-yard run around right end and the fourth, just before the second period ended, was on an intercepted pass. Taylor gathered in a Jack Kirkpatrick throw and scatted 12 for the score. Harold Pollard kicked one point after touchdown and Swink another.

The final Texas Christian touchdown came in the fourth period and was on a 51-yard surge. A 22-yard dash by Swink kept the Frogs swinging and from the two Pollard plowed right tackle for the score.

Leading ground-gainer in the futile Tech offense was Don Schmidt who netted 17 yards in 7 carries. Swink's 59-yard run around right Texas.

Tech did much better in the second half although still couldn't make a first down and wound up minus 22 yards on offense in the first half.

A crowd of 27,000 sat through the rain-spattered game.

Nebraska Beat By Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 24 (AP)—Nebraska's Cornhuskers, outweighed and outmanned, gave Ohio State's national champions a terrific scare today before succumbing 28-20 to the Bucks before a capacity crowd of 80,171.

With All-America halfback Hopalong Cassady leading the way with three touchdowns, the Big Ten, Rose Bowl and national titleholders were forced to come from behind twice to triumph over the Cornhuskers who, only a week ago, had bowed 6-0 to the University of Hawaii.

It was a game of long scoring marches as Ohio went 57, 51, 63 and 45 yards for its touchdowns and Nebraska went 62, 91 and 69. Another 64-yard march by the 'Huskers died on the Buckeye 1-foot line as the invaders failed to score after having a first down on the five.

Illinois Stops Bears, 20-13

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 24 (AP)—A bruising set of Illinois backs rolled up yardage easily today but showed a surprising lack of scoring punch and were pressed to the limit to defeat stubborn California, 20-13, in an intersectional football game.

Hard-hitting Harry Jefferson, Mickey Bates and Abe Woodson slashed the Cal tackles and sliced around the ends at will but had nothing but trouble in the scoring zone as the Big Ten team opened its 1955 season. The loss was the second straight for the beleaguered Bears.

The inexperienced Bears actually scored first in the nip-and-tuck tussle but failed to hold the big Illini backs the three times that counted.

Illinois iced the contest, played before 32,000 fans, with a brace of second-half tallies after being held to a 7-7 deadlock at the intermission.

Illinois	0	7	7	6	—20

Virginia Tech Upsets Pennsylvania, 33-0

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24 (AP)—Quarterback Leo Burke led a fancy-Dan Virginia Tech football team to a stunning 33-0 upset win over the University of Pennsylvania on muddy Franklin Field today.

Concentrating on running plays because of the sloppy going under foot, Burke, a 180-pound senior from Hagerstown, Md., scored three of the Southerners' touchdowns before taking a breather midway through the third period.

Fullback Don Divers and halfback Jim Lugar added the two clincher TD's to the Tech total as Penn was outplayed in a manner that made the Ivy Leaguers' immediate football future look far grimmer than expected.

Georgia Tech Stops Florida Gators, 14-7

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 24 (AP)—Georgia Tech has in Toppy Vann, the kind of rugged, steady quarterback who gets the football job done—and he did it today for a 14-7 victory over Florida.

Thus Tech won its second straight game of the season, opened its Southeastern Conference schedule on a winning key and upheld the verdict of the sportswriters who voted the Yellow Jackets No. 2 in the nation in The Associated Press poll.

The Florida Gators were supercharged for high-ranking Tech and swept through to an early touchdown on a 39-yard pass from Richard Allen to Jim Rountree.

Then Vann took over the Tech reins, guided the Jackets in a 72-yard touchdown march that tied the score at halftime. And he came back again in the final period to conduct a 30-yard tour to the goal after Wade Mitchell intercepted one of Allen's passes.

Vann threw key passes in both scoring drives, a fourth-down heave of 13 yards to Stan Flowers in the first one and a 20-yard screen pass to Jimmy Thompson offsetting a holding penalty in the second.

Vann sent George Volkert on a 4-yard plunge for the first score and dove the last yard himself on the winner.

Mitchell kicked both Tech conversions and Allen made Florida's Irish touchdown, kicked a 38-yard field goal for a 10-0 halftime lead and then kept stubborn SMU on the ropes in the second half.

Colorado Nips Arizona, 14-0

BOULDER, Colo., Sept. 24 (AP)—Colorado chewed out one touchdown on the ground in the opening quarter and added a pass-powered touchdown in the second period to down Arizona, 14-0, today in a non-conference football game slowed by a drizling rain in the second half.

Sophomore quarterback Dick Hyson gave Colorado partisans their biggest thrill with three completed passes to junior end Frank Clarke in the final minute of the first half to carry the Buffaloes 88 yards for a touchdown.

The payoff pass to Clarke covered 30 yards.

Senior tailback Homer Jenkins took a pitchout around left end for 31 yards to key Colorado's first touchdown march—an 80 yard drive in 11 plays. Jenkins smashed 3 yards for the score after 9:31 of the first period.

Auburn Nips Chattanooga

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 24 (AP)—Fireball Fob James broke loose for touchdown runs of 76 and 61 yards and led a ragged Auburn football team to a 15-6 victory over Chattanooga today.

But without the churning power of the 170-pound halfback who gained 178 yards, there was a small margin of difference between the Gator Bowl champion Tigers and the invaders from Tennessee who were supposed to lose by several touchdowns.

It was an unconvincing start for the Auburn team that was rated 17th best in the nation before the season began. Erratic ball handling kept the Tigers fighting all afternoon to stay ahead.

Miami Of Ohio Stuns Northwestern, 25-14

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 24 (AP)—A third-quarter penalty inflicted against their coach pumped fury into the Miami of Ohio Redskins today and they smashed to three touchdowns within seven minutes to stun Northwestern, 25-14.

The penalty followed another 15-yard setback resulting from Miami's center, Dick Mattern, being thrown out of the game for a display of fisticuffs. This aroused the coach, who protested vigorously from the sidelines. In the next seven minutes the Redskins erupted for three touchdowns.

Columbia Nips Brown

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—Two rifling touchdown passes by little Claude Beham and the perfect conversion kicking of Roy Altman propelled Columbia to a comeback 14-12 victory over Brown today in a rain-slashed Ivy League football opener at Baker Field.

SMU Smashed By Notre Dame

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Sept. 24 (AP)—Quarterback Paul Hornung, a rugged junior from Louisville, ably stepped into All-America Ralph Guglielmi's shoes today by leading Notre Dame to a bruising 17-0 opening victory over Southern Methodist.

Running like a fullback and calling signals like a veteran, the 205-pound Hornung scored the first Irish touchdown, kicked a 38-yard field goal for a 10-0 halftime lead and then kept stubborn SMU on the ropes in the second half.

The breaks went entirely against the Mustangs from Dallas in this game which was televised throughout the Middle West as they fumbled and had passes intercepted when it could have turned the ball game.

But, by and large, it was the same old Notre Dame, chewing up yardage, blocking and tackling viciously and ball-hawking all over the field.

The clinching score, Notre Dame's second touchdown, came late in the third period on a bench-inspired play. Halfback Paul Reynolds, a speedy veteran, raced onto the field to replace Sherrill Sipes, with fourth down on SMU's 14.

Reynolds swept around SMU's right side on a delayed handoff from Hornung and raced unmolested to score.

The cruelest break of all to SMU came in the fourth period when halfback John Marshall fumbled, for the third time, and Notre Dame recovered on the Irish four.

Hornung showed himself an able replacement for graduated Guglielmi on the very first Irish drive of the game.

Notre Dame took SMU's opening kickoff and banged 75 yards to score in 12 plays. Most instrumental yardage came on Hornung's 25-yard romp on a keep-it play to SMU's 24.

After that, Hornung gave his mates a chance to break the ice. When they failed on the Irish 11, big Paul again thundered loose on a keep-it play and slammed over SMU's right tackle for a touchdown.

Sensing the game might get tougher as it progressed, although the Mustangs were completely lost in the first quarter, having possession for only five plays, Hornung booted his field goal early in the second quarter.

With his Louisville high school teammate, halfback Sherrill Sipes, holding the ball, Hornung punched a clothes-line boot through the uprights for a 38-yard field goal. This came with approximately two minutes of the second quarter gone for a 10-0 Notre Dame lead.

The Mustangs tried valiantly to prevent a sixth Notre Dame victory in the seven-games series, but their attack was too erratic and their ball-handling too loose.

William And Mary Loses To Navy, 7-0

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 24 (AP)—Quarterback George Welsh shot a 26-yard scoring pass to end Jim Barker in the first quarter and Navy had to battle the rest of the way for a 7-0 football victory over a surprising William & Mary today.

The Indians of Jackie Freeman refused to let up after Navy's 88-yard touchdown march put the Middies in front after 10 minutes and 10 seconds of the quarter.

They battled Navy up and down field, and drove to the Middle 10-yard line during the third quarter in a determined bid to upset the Sugar Bowl champions, who had handed them a 27-0 pasting last year.

Syracuse Falls To Pitt, 22-12

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 24 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Panthers, No. 7 football team in the nation, spotted Syracuse University a touchdown today, then put its sharper backfield claws in action to overpower the fottering Syracuse team, 22-12.

The Pitt backs divided the honors but the Panthers became a much more aggressive team after quarterback Corny Salvaterra and soph halfback Dick Bowen came into the fray.

Syracuse's Ed Albright, who pitched the two touchdown passes, was hurt in the third quarter and Syracuse rapidly fell apart.

Fullback Tom Jenkins plunged 7 yards for the first Pitt touchdown. Salvaterra passed to end Joe Walton 23 yards for the second and reserve quarterback Pete Neft scored in the third on a 1-yard sneak.

Wisconsin Triumphs

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 24 (AP)—Wisconsin, with its "Big Three", of Jim Miller, Jim Haluska and Charlie Thomas in fine fettle, humbled Marquette, 28-14, today before a record crowd of 53,359 at Camp Randall Stadium. The Badgers led, 21-7, at the half in subduing their Wisconsin state rivals for the 12th straight time and then played with wraps on, content to give their running backs a chance in the non-conference game.

"WHAT'S EVERYBODY LOOKIN' AT?"

Israel Reports Oil Discovery

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—The first discovery of oil in Israel was reported.

Development Minister Dov Joseph told a news conference the strike was made at Heletz, 30 miles south of Tel Aviv and only 6 miles from the Egyptian-held Gaza strip.

Joseph said the test well was producing from a depth of 4,906. He added that the well pressure sent the first gusher 12 feet in the air.

Samples of the oil were rushed to the Weizman Institute of Science at Rehovot for testing.

Heletz was known under the British mandate as Hulikat. The Iraq Petroleum Co. did considerable drilling there without striking oil.

The drillings were made by a partnership of two Israeli companies — Lapidoth and Israeli Oil Prospectors. Jewish financial interests in the United States are shareholders.

Quality of the oil, after quick tests at the Weizman Institute of Science — was reported satisfactory. But it is too early, Joseph said, to estimate the quantities of gas and oil in the well. Several weeks will elapse before the two operating companies establish the commercial value of the discovery, he added.

250 Attend Meeting Of Church Association

About 250 persons participated last week in a two-day meeting of the Knox-Bell - Scurry Baptist Association held at the Union Baptist Church.

The Rev. Avery Sullivan of Roscoe was elected moderator of the association, while the Rev. Roy Wemble, pastor of the Union Baptist Church was chosen vice-moderator; the Rev. Jimmie Nelson, pastor of the Colonial Hill Baptist Church at Snyder, clerk; Mrs. C. J. Smith of Knapp, WMU president; and H. L. Wren of Snyder, Brotherhood president.

Speakers included Dr. J. I. Cartledge, head of the Round Rock Baptist Children's Home, and Dr. Elwin Skiles of Abilene, who spoke on a trip to the Holy Land.

The association voted to have an association missionary to Latin-Americans.

Crime Prevention Technique Works

DETROIT (AP)—The director of Chicago's Crime Prevention Bureau described a technique that cut sharply a wave of car thefts by juveniles.

"We just asked them to stop it," said Dr. Lois Higgins.

"We appealed to their intelligence and sense of fair play."

Dr. Higgins told the Michigan Probation, Prison and Parole Assn. yesterday.

"We sent officials to assemblies in the schools. We felt the children had considered taking cars something of a lark and didn't realize the full consequences."

THE HALL DRUG STORE STORY

The story of the Hall Drug Store, 606 East Highway, is inseprable from the story of Carl Emory Hall, owner and manager of the firm.

Because Hall has made the drug business and pharmacy his life's work, he has attempted to--and has--make his drug store a complete and all-round community drug store.

He first started working in a drug store 34 years ago, a length of time his youthful appearance makes difficult to believe. He became a registered pharmacist 22 years ago after 12 years experience in the drug store business.

Prior to moving to Snyder in 1949 when he became a partner in the store with Elmo Crowder, Hall had been interested in the ownership of other drug stores in Texas. He and Crowder opened the store in its present location during the beginning of the oil boom in Snyder. The two partners operated the business until two years ago, when Hall purchased his partner's interest in the firm.

"There's lots of long hours and hard work involved in operating a one-pharmacist drug store," Hall says.

His work day usually begins early in the morning, and ends hours after most work days are over.

"Everything in the store revolves around the pharmacy department because that is the heart of the business, yet to the customer the other department's are just as important," Hall says.

"Keeping all the latest drugs and medicines developed and popularly used is not a difficult problem, but keeping up with the thousands of items in the rest of the store is a problem," he said.

In a community drug store such as Hall Drug, the fountain is an important department of the store. Hall Drug's fountain offers complete fountain service, and is characterized by friendly, efficient service.

"To call it a drug store at all these days, you have to have a department store of drug and sundry items," Hall says.

And that is what Hall Drug is. Space to display all the different items is a problem at the store, but all the hundreds of items necessary in such a store have been arranged for easy access to the customer, or the experienced sales personnel of the store.

Hall said that one of the reasons why he and Mrs. Hall chose Snyder as a home and business location is that Mrs. Hall's family are long time residents of the Herleigh area--"and it's close to home for her."

THE SPORTSMAN DRIVE-IN RESTAURANT STORY

Making a success of a business completely new to both its owners has been the story of the Sportsman Drive-In Restaurant under the ownership and management of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Rhoderick.

"We bought the Sportsman July 26, 1954, just a little over a year ago," Mrs. Rhoderick said, "and we have gotten all our restaurant experience the hard way."

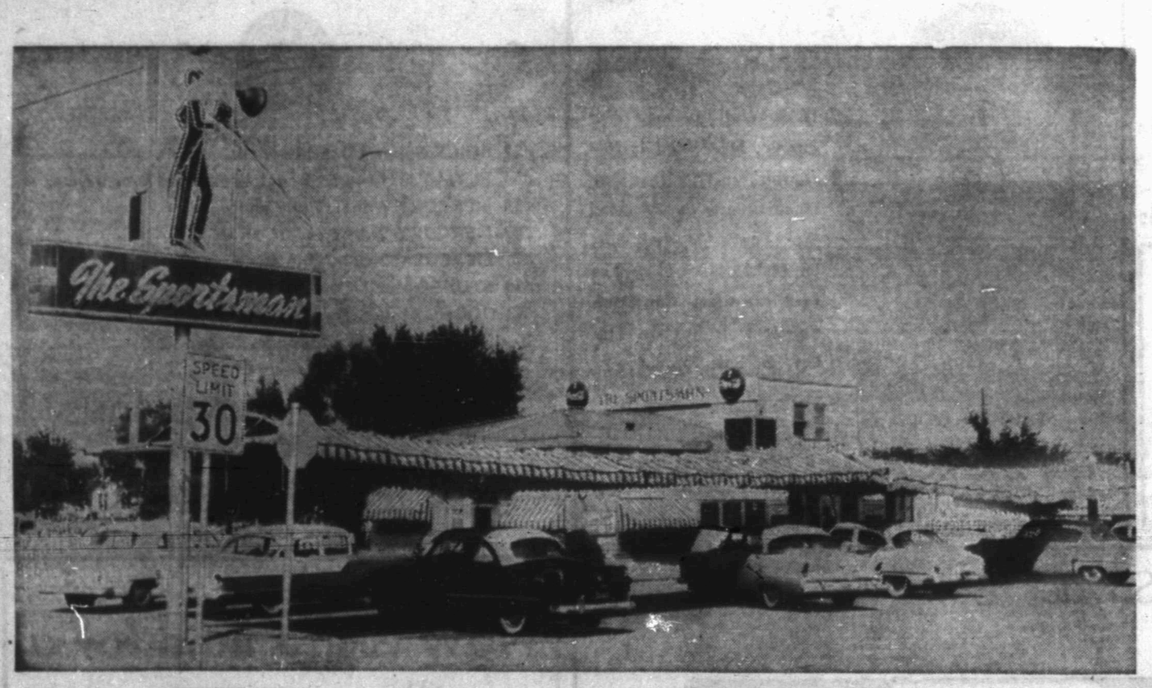

Prior to purchasing the Sportsman, Rhoderick had operated a used car lot here from 1950 to 1954. Neither he, nor Mrs. Rhoderick had ever worked in a restaurant before they bought the Sportsman and began their new venture in business.

Evidence of the success they have made in the restaurant business is shown by the fact that they purchased The Grill, 2415 Avenue S, about one month ago.

Now Rhoderick, or Bill as he is known to his many friends and customers, usually tends to the operation and management of The Grill, and leaves the operation of the Sportsman to his wife, Grace.

"We have to double up, and sometimes switch around for the novelty of it," she said, but the two businesses require their attention for about 18 hours each day.

The Sportsman opens at 5 o'clock each morning, and doesn't close until 11 o'clock at night, about the same hours the Grill is open.

A specialty of the Sportsman is Mexican foods, to which Mrs. Rhoderick adds her own special recipes for enchilada sauce, and in which meat is used instead of onions and cheese in the enchiladas.

On the curb the Sportsman's specialty is "Chicken in the basket." The basket chicken order is a real order of chicken sufficient to satisfy the hungriest customers, because it has four pieces of fried chicken, a generaous serving of French fries, and toast. All for $1.

Specialty of The Grill is steaks.

Mrs. Rhoderick says that both busineses enjoy a large noon lunch business from persons in all walks of life around Snyder.

The Sportsman had just been remodeled when the Rhodericks purchased it, and it has just been remodeled completely again in the past few days. Mrs. Rhoderick did most of the remodeling and painting on the interior herself.

During the remodeling the Sportsman's dining room has been increased in seating capacity to where more than 40 persons can be served at one time.

Ten persons are employed by the Sportsman, with one car hop working on the curb during week days, and two on weekends, Mrs. Rhoderick said.

The couple of cafe operators who operate a couple of cafes, have two children, Barry, eight, and Sarah Lois, six. The daughter attends the kindergarten operated by Mrs. John Boren.

Assisting Rhoderick in operation and management of the Grill is Olan Brown, a long time assistant manager of the firm.

Snyder Women Took Up Golf For First Time In Thirties

By LOUISE BLANCHARD

Hearing about the Women's Golf Tourney held here on Tuesday started us thinking about golf in general, and Snyder women in golf in particular.

To get a perspective on the subject, the Encyclopedia Britannica was consulted and revealed some interesting facts.

For instance, did you know that theword golf is a derivative of a German word mean club, and that as far as anyone knows the game is of Dutch origin?

It is uncertain at what date golf was introduced into Scotland, but in 1457 the popularity of the game had already become so great as seriously to interfered with the more important pursuit of archery. In March of that year matters were at such a pass that the Scottish parliment "decreed and ordained that ... no place in the realm there be usit fute - ball GOLF OR OTHER SUCH UNPROFITABLE SPORTS."

But parliamentary decrees only served to fan the flame of national enthusiasm, and golf went on being quite as popular as ever. In fact so well was golf considered by most Scotchmen that it was known "as the Royal and Ancient Game of Goff". One well known lady golfer was Mary Queen of Scots who was said to have been found "shamelessly" playing golf three days after the murder of her husband, Darnley.

However, it was not until this century that women started playing golf in earnest, and on the same links as men. Here in Snyder from what we have been able to discover, ladies were on the "sand green" at least by the early 1930s. Apparently the group was small but enthusiastic. Mrs. Wayne Boren, Mrs. Frank Sentell, Mrs. H. G. Towle, Mrs. W. R. Johnson and Mrs. Earl Fish just about made up the group.

When asked about the "sand greens" that hardy Snyder golfers played on in those days, Mrs. Boron exclaimed "they were really dillies." As to her golf score, she said, "I guess I could have kicked the ball about as far as I could hit it."

Mrs. Sentell said she remembered that they used to sometimes spend all day golfing, "and for a while we would golf 3 to 4 times a week." Mrs. Fish and Mrs. Towle both said they loved the game but found it took up too much time. "If you play golf, you can't do much else." Every one of the ladies consulted agreed that they had had lots of fun, even though, as one lady put it, "with us, golfing was a matter of just learning to hit the ball."

After the early 1930s, golf seems to have faded out as a pastime among the ladies in Snyder until the late 1940s when interest picked up. Then in 1950 Mrs. Edith McKenna (now Mrs. William Holtzapfel living in Tokyo with her husband Colonel Holtzapfel) was responsible for organizing the "royal and ancient game" into The Ladies Bridge and Golf Association of Snyder, of which Mrs. G. B. Clark was the first president. Mrs. Russell Yorgeson was the next president, and then the group was divided into The Ladies Golf Association and The Duplicate Bridge Club. Mrs. J. C. Dorward was the first president of this separated golf group, to be followed by Mrs. James Rosser, and the present president, Mrs. Max Dyer.

To get a professional view on "Women in Golf", we consulted Shanty Hogan, the pro out at the country club. When asked if women were as good golfers as men, Hogan said, "they can putt well." When pressed further he said, "There's no doubt about the fact that men are better golfers." Your reporter suggested that this was probably all due to "their superior strength." Hogan allowed that "that's got something to do with it, but it's more than that. I don't know why it is, but they say men make better sewers, cooks, and everything, once they put their mind to it. Now, I don't know whether this is true, it's just what they say. But I do know men are better golfers."

When asked what he thought was the facination of the game, Hogan said, "Part of the interest is that you can't conquer it. No matter how well you do, there's always room to do better." He went on to say that other reasons for the game's great popularity are that it's played outdoors, it's good exercise, but not too strenuous, and it's a sociable game.

"Another thing people like about golf is that it's the cleanest game going. In what other sport do you encourage and help your competitors?"

After thinking it over for a minute he said, "Golf is a gentleman's game, for gentlemen."

Figuratively speaking, of course.

Church Planning Review, Coffee

WSCS of the First Methodist Church will celebrate the organiza- Thursday, September 29, in Fellowship Hall with a coffee and book review. Mrs. Edward Bolger will review "Gifts from the Sea" by Anne Marrow Lindberg. Also on the program will be a short skit of the history and formation of the Society's emblem. All church women are cordially invited and especially charter members and new members of the society.

This organization was begun in September of 1940. After the three branches of the Methodist Church united in 1939. Their respective auxiliary units, united to form the Women's Society of Christ's Service. In its 15 short years it has grown to encircle the globe and become the largest organization of its kind in the world, serving 29 countries. It has become a definite part of the Methodist Church and of the World Church by being a member of the United Council of Church Women.

It urges each Methodist woman to accept her responsibility of service through her prayers, time and gifts and to grow through education and spiritual awakening and through the fellowship of Christian women around the world.

Garden Club In Snyder Welcomes New Members

Twenty-two members were present at the first fall meeting of the Snyder Garden Club on Thursday. Mrs. J .T. Hughes, President, welcomed new and old members. Yearbooks with a design by Mrs. Jean Wasson on the back, were distributed.

The club theme for the year will be "Home Beautification through Landscape Design and Flower Arranging."

Mrs. Hughes gave potted ivy to each member to take care of until the spring show when the results will be judged.

Mrs. A. B. Casstevens then gave a talk on the "Selection and Care of Roses." She illustrated her lecture by showing eight varieties from her own garden. She said that roses should be planted with the stalk buried two inches past the first bud. The soil should be loamy, a peat moss mixture well packed is good, and that the hole should be quite deep and wide. Another thing she warned members against was planting roses too close together.

The next club meeting on Oct. 20 will be a pilgrimage to see the garden of Mrs. Wayne Boren, Mrs. J. E. LeMond, Mrs. Worth Sayner and Mrs. A. B. Casstevens.

FURR'S meats are FRESHER BY FAR

. . . Because They're Constantly Cut, Constantly Wrapped—Right at the Store!

I like to pick up a package of meat that liiks fresh. You know what I mean. The meat has a pink bloom of freshness about it. The cellophane is crisp. The wrappings are tidy.

At Furr's, that's the only kind of meat I'm offered . . . freshly cut, beautifully cut meat. (Notice how evenly the steaks are sliced . . . and how very little waste you find on them.)

The reason for this fresh look is right behind the meat case. There, in a refrigerated room, in every store, the sides of beef are constantly cut . . . constantly wrapped . . . constantly placed in the cold display cases. So that any time you come into Furr's, you'll find fresh-cut meat in the case.

Now, do you wonder why I like to help myself to Furr's delicious, fresh-cut meats!

Here's a little tip. I tell my friends to always judge the quality of any store's meats by the kind of ground beef it sells. Note the healthy, red color of ground beef at Furr's. We're proud of that! Freshness counts. We grind our meat constantly. Depend on Furr's for that!

When hungry children come running from school wanting an afternoon snack, a simple way to slake their hunger and thirst, and give them a quick energy pick-up, is cake and cold milk.

Here's a recipe you can bake in layers, as cupcakes, or in a single pan.

GOOD PLAIN CAKE BATTER
2 cups sugar
1 cup butter
5 eggs
3 ½ cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk and water, mixed
2 teaspoons vanilla

Cream butter and sugar: beat into mixture 1 egg at a time. Add the flour sifted 5 or 6 times with baking powder, alternating with milk and water mixture. Beat well, add vanilla. Bake in moderate oven (350F.) about 30 minutes.

USE THIS SIMPLE FUDGE FROSTING WITH IT
3 cups sugar
½ cup cocoa
(or 3 sqs. unsweetened chocolate)
dash of salt
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons light corn syrup
3 tablespoons butter
1¼ teaspoons vanilla extract

Mix all ingredients except butter and vanilla in sauce pan, blending well. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Continue cooking, without stirring, until the syrup forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from fire, add butter and vanilla. Allow to cool until lukewarm, then beat until frosting is of the right consistency to spread. Place mixture over hot water to keep it soft for spreading.

HINTS FOR SUCCESSFUL CAKE

"Lady Luck" plays a very small part in today's successful cake making. It's pretty much a matter of following directions carefully, and abiding by the following rules:

ALWAYS SIFT FLOUR ONCE before measuring. Never dip cup into flour as it packs down. And be careful not to jar or rap filled cup for this causes flour to settle and results in too much flour being used.

TO MEASURE SOLID SHORTENING — pack firmly into measuring spoon or cup and level off with spatula. A simple method of measuring fractions of a cup is by water displacement. For example if 1-3 cup shortening is needed, fill measuring cup 2-3 full of cold water, then add pieces of shortening until cup is full.

TIME OUT FOR CAKE

HAVE ALL CAKE INGREDIENTS AT ROOM TEMPERATURE for best results. (Room temperature eggs, for instance, beat up to their greatest volume.)

FOR WHIPPING WHITES OF EGG it's important none of yolk gets into white or the white will not whip to a stiff foam.

USE CAKE FLOUR — made from soft winter wheats, rather than all-purpose flour which is generally made from spring or winter wheats.

If you substitute all - purpose flour for cake flour, reduce amount of flour by 2 tablespoons per cup and avoid over - beating the batter.

GREASE PANS for cakes made with shortening.

NEVER GREASE PANS for cakes made without shortening as the batter needs to cling to the sides of the pan in order to reach top volume.

BAKING CAKE — do not place one cake pan directly over another, or have pans touching.

TESTING CAKE — Baking time is usually divided into quarters. During first quarter cake rises, second quarter it continues to rise and browns slightly, third quarter rising stops and fourth quarter cake finishes baking. A cake is done when it shrinks slightly from the sides of the pan, springs back when pressed lightly or when a cake tester or toothpick comes out clean from center of cake.

REMOVING CAKES FROM PANS — Place cake with shortening on rack and let cool in pan 5 minutes. Then turn out. For sponge type, turn pans upside down on rack and let hang until cold.

SMART SEWING CABINET IS BEAUTIFUL ARTICLE

By Bill Baker

You'll be building an elegant sewing cabinet in your home workshop this fall. And it will become one of the most beautiful and most useful pieces of furniture in your home.

When not serving the lady of the house as an ideal location for the storage of all her sewing tools, the cabinet will grace the room as a smart and useful end table. A wide 18 by 24 inch top surface makes it just right as a stand for your favorite chair or sofa.

And the cabinet has another functional use when not serving as milady's sewing assistant — because a small radio can be installed in the lower section of the unit, it becomes part of your music center.

Of course the cabinet's real calling in life is to serve as a sewing aid and it has many features in this line that you'll enjoy.

When you open the wide double doors on the top you'll find a storage area that is wide and deep enough to hold any of your projects. Cut or uncut fabrics, dress patterns and other equipment will not be crowded here.

A removeable spool is also located under the double doors, making the storage of yarn for crocheting or knitting no problem at all.

A special section for needles and scissors is also included.

You'll have 72 spools of thread always at your finger tips when you use the handy bank of racks that are also included in the cabinet.

And just think — all of these useful features will be yours in one of the easiest do-it-yours-lf projects you can imagine.

Using my pattern package number 111, you'll sail through the construction of the cabinet easily and smoothly.

Easy-to-understand instructions, a full material list and step-by-step diagrams of each part of the job are included with the pattern. And best of all, perhaps, are the exact-size pattern pieces that duplicate each part of the finished cabinet. Tack, trace and cut are the steps you'll follow.

Suggestions for finishing the cabinet are included, too. Perhaps you'll want to finish the wood in a natural color. Or perhaps stain or paint will be your choice. But one thing is sure — no matter how you finish the cabinet, it will certainly score a big hit with the lady in your life.

Your sewing cabinet pattern package will be on the way to you when you do the following: send your name and address (clearly printed), together with only one dollar ($1) in check cash or money order to Bill Baker, Snyder Daily News, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles, 53, California. Remember to ask for pattern number 111.

Cleveland Secretary Gets Man-Size Job

For the past month, the pretty 5-foot-3 girl has been operating a 436-horsepower, 34-ton Euclid dump truck.

She is one of the performers of the General Motors Powerama, a 23-acre diesel and gas turbine power exhibit in Chicago which closes Sunday.

So far she hasn't dented a fender.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Moore of Cleveland, watched her maneuer the truck last week.

"And to think I didn't trust you with the family car," her father remarked.

INTERNATIONAL DESIGNERS PATTERN

Designs by Elly Kriech are gaining wide acceptance with our fashion-minded, young sophisticates. This version of the important, new tunic clearly exhibits her success in combining a knowledge of European couture with the fresh American approach to clothes that do double duty and do both jobs well. Decorative tabs trim the detachable, flared tunic and button it to the slim sheath. Worn without the tunic, the sheath reveals its own interesting tab detail. A soft bias fold finishes the flattering U-shaped neckline. The sheath alone is perfect for office wear or, if you are college bound, for innumerable campus activities. Button on the tunic and you're ready for dinner in town. Fabric suggestions are light weight woolens, wool crepe, shantung, faille, plain or printed silks, linen and novelty cottons. This pattern is cut on DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 11 requires 3½ yards of 54" material for dress with ¾ sleeves. To order Pattern No. S-278, address INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERNS, P.O. Box 993, G.P.O., Dept. SX-13, New York 1, N.Y. State size. Send $1.00. Air-mail handling 25c extra. International Designer Pattern booklet "A" is available for 25c. If paying by check, make it payable to INTERNATIONAL DESIGNER PATTERNS and add 4c for handling.

Changes Made In Handling Money Orders

U.S. Postal Money Orders will have a "new look", beginning Oct. 1, designed to speed up issuance and cut down on the time patrons wait at the post office windows, Dawson Moreland, Snyder postmaster said.

The new money order is divided into three perforated parts. One is for the issuing post office's record, the second for the purchaser's record and the third is the actual body of the order, showing amount, names of purchaser and payee and other data.

Heretofore it was necessary for the patron to fill out an application from and for the issuing clerk to fill in the amount, name of purchaser and other details. This often caused long lines to form at the money order windows as patrons waited their turns.

Under the new system there is no application form, and the clerk need only collect the money and the fee, fill in the amount of the order and the dollar amount limitation (in word of $10 multiples), detach the post office's record, and return the rest to the patron to fill out and send to the payee.

Moreland said it has been estimated that approximately 40 per cent of issuing time will be saved through use of the new forms.

The new money orders will be issued initially only in first and second class offices. Later, as present supplies of old forms are exhausted, the new ones will also be used at the smaller post offices.

Hook And Ladder Truck Strikes Automobile

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A long hook and ladder fire truck crashed against a new automobile which smashed into a second car at a road turn.

The tiller man — who steers the rear section of the fire truck—was not there.

Fire Chief Dennis Murphy quoted the unidentified tiller man as saying that because of the nature of the fire he didn't bother to board the vehicle at the fire staton.

Local Teacher Given Award

Glenn Richardson, Snyder High School science teacher, has been awarded one of 45 scholarships for the first statewide conference for the advancement of science teaching and science fairs.

The conference is scheduled Oct. 6-8 at the University of Texas.

Several industrial corporations donated funds to provide the scholarships, which insure that all sections of the state will be represented. A total attendance of more than 300 persons is expected for the sessions.

Teachers, school administrators and others interested in elementary and secondary schools, colleges and universities are invited to attend the conference and learn techniques of stimulating students' interest in science and science-related fields.

Cooperating with the University in conducting the work-conference are the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, National Science Teachers Association, Texas Academy of Science, other Texas colleges and universities, and Texas professional, educational and technical organizations.

Godfrey Flying Case Will be Considered

CHICAGO (AP) — The case of whether Arthur Godfrey flew too close to an airliner in his private plane has been turned over to the Civil Aeronautics Administration's legal section at Kansas City.

Harry Troxell, CAA investigator in Chicago, said the file, including Godfrey's formal reply to charges, was forwarded to Kansas City yesterday "for whatever action" the legal section "finds necessary."

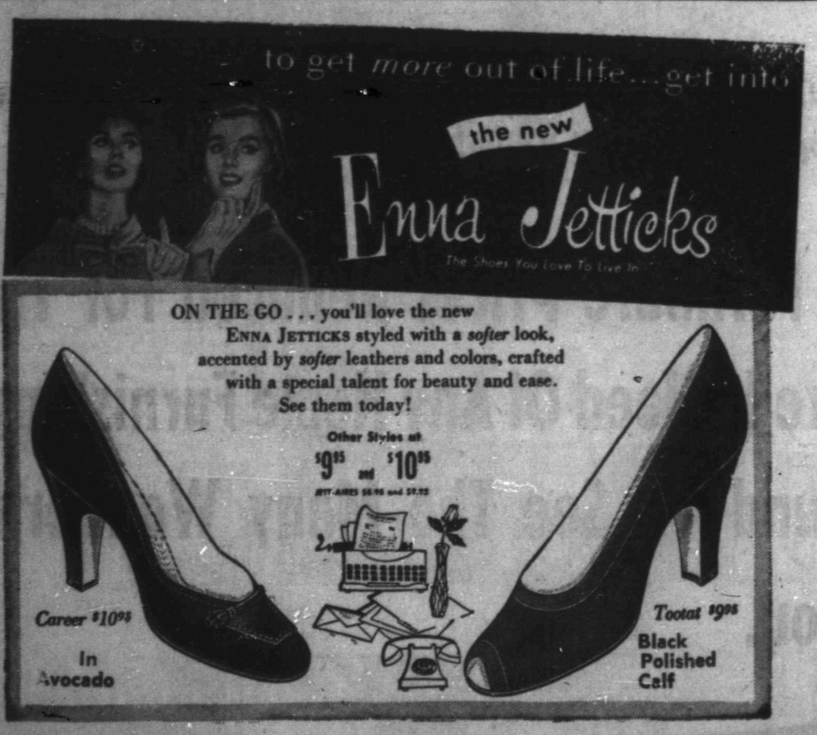

Ozark Airlines complained to the CAA that Godfrey flew his DC3 plane within 100 feet of an Ozark passenger plane shortly after both took off from Chicago's Midway Airport Sept. 7.

Godfrey denied to newsmen that he flew too close to the airliner. He said he merely "waggled" his wings in a greeting and that there was no danger of a collision.
