Ford To Increase Social Security Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will propose an increase in Social Security taxes effective Jan. 1, 1977, in the new budget he will send to Congress on Wednesday, The Associated Press learned today.

The budget also will provide for changes in Medicare coverage for the elderly and will allow for full cost of living increases for persons receiving Social Security payments and other government retirement benefits.

The budget itself will provide for expenditures of $394 billion and revenues of $351 billion, leaving a deficit for fiscal 1977 of $43 billion, the second highest deficit since World War II.

Ford will tell Congress in his budget message that the proposed increase in Social Security taxes will be unpopular, but he will say it is needed because the government's Social Security Trust Fund is dangerously low.

Ford's changes in the Medicare program would call for an increase in contributions by the elderly who receive the benefits.

But it also will provide that no elderly person would pay more than $500 in a single year for hospital or nursing care that is covered by the program, or more than $250 a year for covered physicians services.

Other parts of the President's budget, which would take effect on Oct. 1, 1976, would consolidate various individual grants to the states for health programs, education for handicapped children, feeding of needy children and social services for the elderly.

By proposing that persons receiving Social Security benefits get the full cost of living allowance now provided by law, Ford will be retreating from his past recommendations that Congress trim the cost of living increases for such programs.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new study by the General Accounting Office claims that lifting price controls on natural gas would increase the cost to residential users by $94 a year over what the regulated price would be by 1980. The report on the implications of halting federal regulation of natural gas prices also said the gap between regulated and deregulated prices would close to about $10 by 1985.

WASHINGTON (AP) — It would take a miracle to persuade Congress to go along with President Ford's plan for aid to Angola, House Speaker Carl Albert says. The Senate has banned using funds in Angola's civil war, where the United States has been backing two factions and the Soviet Union has been supporting a third group. The White House has said Ford will urge that the prohibition be lifted.

MADRID, Spain (AP) — An estimated 2,000 women demanding political amnesty and higher wages for workers tried to march to the office of Premier Carlos Arias Navarro Thursday night, but riot police broke up the demonstration with tear gas. A number of the marchers were arrested. Others took sanctuary in a church and were not interfered with when they left later. Police said another 50 persons were arrested at an apartment belonging to the Workers Brotherhood of Catholic Action. They were charged with making plans for an illegal general political strike in Madrid, the police said.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Arabs are still unable to agree on a resolution to submit in the current Security Council debate on the Arab-Israeli dispute. They apparently cannot agree whether to tie the question of "Palestinian rights" — on which they now have the support of all Security Council members except the United States — to other demands. Observers said a "Palestinian rights" resolution would probably get 14 favorable votes, but would still be vetoed by the United States.

Russia Ups Flow Of Arms, Marxists Score Victories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia is reported landing more arms in Angola amid indications that Soviet-backed troops are winning against forces supported by the United States there.

Resistance against Soviet-backed forces in northern Angola has "all but collapsed," according to a U.S. cable sent to NATO. The cable said troops of the Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola (MPLA) supported by Cuban forces were advancing swiftly toward the border of neighboring Zaire and that virtually all U.S.-backed National Front troops and allied soldiers from Zaire were fleeing before them.

The MPLA forces are reported spearheaded by Cuban soldiers driving Russian-built tanks and backed by Soviet-supplied artillery.

The situation in other parts of Angola was pictured in less grim terms, but the American cable indicated troops of the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola (UNITA) were not doing well. UNITA, a second anti-Soviet faction, has been supported by South African military units.

Meanwhile, U.S. intelligence sources said a Soviet merchant ship carrying military cargo arrived at Luanda on Wednesday and that a second Russian arms ship was in the Gulf of Guinea, bound for a landing probably Saturday.

According to the cable on the fighting, South African artillery and other units in Angola were pulled out of battle early this month in preparation for possible withdrawal from Angola. However, the State Department cable said there were no firm indications whether South Africa intends to disengage completely from the Angolan war.

U.S. officials believe the South

Africans probably would have moved to pull out entirely if the Organization of African Unity (OAU) had voted to censure South African involvement. But the split among African nations over the Angolan issue has left South Africa's course in doubt.

U.S. officials said Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told African diplomats Thursday he hopes to visit Africa in March or April. He also said he hoped the civil war could be settled in months. Kissinger planned to discuss a solution with the Russians when he visits Moscow next week, officials said.

President Ford has urged a cease fire in Angola and an end to all outside intervention. But reports of fresh Soviet arms shipments for the MPLA suggested that Moscow so far has spurned Ford's appeal.

FORD ASSASSINATION ATTEMPT

Sara Regrets She Lost Her Freedom

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sara Jane Moore, ordered to prison for life by an angry judge, says her chief regret about trying to kill President Ford is that it cost her her freedom.

Miss Moore, 45, gave a rambling dissertation on her radical political beliefs before sentence was pronounced Thursday by U.S. District Court Judge Samuel Conti.

The judge lambasted her as a "misguided" woman who "blamed society for her own faults" and said "effective capital punishment laws" would have deterred her.

"Why is it that we went almost for two decades without kidnapping in this country? For one simple reason. If people did it, then they got the gallows, they got shot, or they got the gas chamber," he said.

Conti accused her of taking it on herself to "be the judge, jury and executioner" when she shot at Ford as he left a San Francisco hotel Sept. 22. The shot missed and the President was not injured.

Miss Moore, a divorcee who worked for the government as an informant but said she converted to radicalism, would become eligible for parole in 15 years.

Her 9-year-old son, Frederick Aalberg, remains in the jurisdiction of juvenile court, which placed him in a foster home with old friends shortly after his mother was arrested. His case worker, who asked not to be named, said Thursday the boy "seems to be well satisfied" there.

Public Defender James Hewitt said Miss Moore had seen her son for a half hour earlier this week.

In her speech to the court, Miss Moore dwelt on how she gradually "came to understand that violence can sometimes be constructive...."

"Am I sorry I tried to kill the President? Yes. I accomplished little except to throw away the rest of my life, although I realize there are those who think that's the one good thing resulting from this."

But she said, "At the time it seemed a correct expression of my anger and, if successful, just might have triggered the kind of chaos that could have started the upheaval of change."

Miss Moore became the second woman sentenced to life imprisonment within a month under a special federal law passed after President John F. Kennedy's assassination in 1963. On Dec. 17, Charles Manson follower Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme was given the same term for pointing a gun at Ford in Sacramento, Calif., on Sept. 5.

Judge Carrillo Takes Stand In Own Impeachment Defense

AUSTIN (AP) — Suspended District Court Judge O.P. Carrillo took the stand in his own defense at his impeachment trial today after his lawyer told senators he would prove Carrillo innocent of alleged conspiracies to "rip off Duval County."

Carrillo answered lawyer Arthur Mitchell's opening questions in a firm, confident voice.

The Senate is considering only two of the 10 articles of impeachment sent over by the House. The articles allege Carrillo bought $300 worth of groceries a month for himself with Duval County funds and used shadow business firms to drain public funds into Carrillo's family bank accounts.

Testimony for the past three days has centered on alleged fake rentals of bulldozers to the county, school district and water district by Benavides Implement & Hardware. Rodolfo Couling of Benavides testified under a grant of immunity from prosecution that he set up the firm with Carrillo and the judge's brother, Ramiro, as "silent partners."

"There is no evidence of any conspiracy by him (Judge Carrillo) and Couling to rip the county off, or the school district or the water district. He rented them (the bulldozers) himself and paid $20,000 in rent for them," Mitchell said.

He said the Senate was confronted with the choice of believing documentary evidence or accepting Couling's testimony at face value.

Mitchell also insisted that Carrillo could not be removed from office and disqualified from future officeholding—the only punishments a court of impeachment can impose—for alleged acts that occurred before his most recent election.

Voters in the 229th Judicial District returned Carrillo to office Nov. 4, 1974. He was suspended following his impeachment by the House.

None of the allegations in the two articles of impeachment before the Senate occurred before the date of Carrillo's re-election, Mitchell said.

Mitchell said he thought he could present his case in 2½ or three days, with more than half that time to be devoted to Carrillo's testimony. That means the trial will extend at least until the middle of next week.

Mitchell said he plans to call as a witness Rep. Terry Canales, D-Fremont, the political enemy of Carrillo who introduced the House resolution in May that resulted in the articles of impeachment.

Mitchell contends the impeachment is part of a political vendetta arising from last year's break-up of the old political alliance between the Carrillo family and the political faction headed by the late George Parr. Canales is attorney for former Duval County Judge Archer Parr, who now is serving time in a federal prison.

Thursday afternoon's session consisted mainly of questioning of Carrillo's former receptionist, Zenaida Montemayor. She had been mentioned earlier as a source for notations on an investigator's chart to the effect that county funds had been spent for rent on bulldozers belonging to Carrillo.

She indicated most of her supposed knowledge came from conversations with former county commissioner Juan Leal. She was not allowed to tell of the conversations, however, because of the hearsay rule.

Mrs. Montemayor said that Carrillo complained about a year ago that George Parr had borrowed heavy equipment from him and had neither paid rent nor returned it. She was unable to say whether the equipment consisted of bulldozers.

"He said, 'He gives orders for us to lend him equipment and it is hard to get them back,'" Mrs. Montemayor testified.

Hunting Escapee

Police officers are hunting Albino Mendoza Ortega, who walked out the back door of the police station this morning. He was out of the jail to confer with his attorney.

Ortega, who had been charged with possession of a prohibited weapon by a felon, was brought down from the jail to see his attorney in the municipal courtroom.

While an officer was busy doing something else, Ortega walked away, according to Police Chief Stanley Bogard. Chief Bogard said, "Disciplinary action against the officer involved will be taken, with three days' pay to be docked."

Around 11 a.m., the fleeing man had been spotted headed north up the alley between Johnson and Benton Streets.

Texas Demos As Usual

With their first-ever presidential primary coming up, Texas Democrats are in their usual position — split six ways from Sunday.

Billie Carr, a leader of Texas liberal Democrats, says her wing of the party will follow the "uncommitted" route. She predicts that will produce a three-way split of the Texas delegation, with other delegates favoring Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Gov. George Wallace.

Mrs. Carr may be over-optimistic about the ability of Texas liberals to agree on the uncommitted slate, however. Jimmy Carter, former governor of Georgia, says he will run delegate slates in all the state's 31 senatorial districts. Sargent Shriver plans to enter at least seven districts. Fred Harris, the Oklahoma populist, expects to have delegates on the ballot in 10 senatorial districts. All of these gentlemen have appeal to liberals. Conservative Democrats likely will stick with Bentsen, and Wallace supporters will stick with their man.

The result could even be a liberal drought of the Texas delegation to the national convention, given the rules for the primary.

But there is a possible saving factor for Texas liberal Democrats: the Republican contest between Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan. If results of earlier primaries turn that race into a dog fight, heightened interest in Texas could siphon away voters from the Democratic to the Republican primary. In that event, the loser probably would be Bentsen — and the gainers Texas liberals, since Wallace's vote probably will be little changed.

Recommended Evening

This evening the traditional sale for 4-H and FFA steers and lambs will be held at the Howard County Fair arena. We recommend it to you as a good place to spend the evening — and for free.

In the first place, you will get to see some excellent livestock, some capable of winning other major shows (or at least placing high in them). You will get to see examples of the product of our livestock breeding industry — those in the newer exotic breeds as well as the dependable Herefords.

On top of all this, you'll have a ringside seat on one of the most colorful events of the year — a livestock auction. But don't wave to a friend unless you're prepared to buy.

My Answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: For some reason it seems as if many of the other girls in the office seek me out to confide in me. I sometimes wonder if I am really of any use to them, but I also find myself getting so emotionally involved in their problems that I sometimes wonder if I can stand it. Yet aren't we told to bear each other's burdens? — Miss R. G.

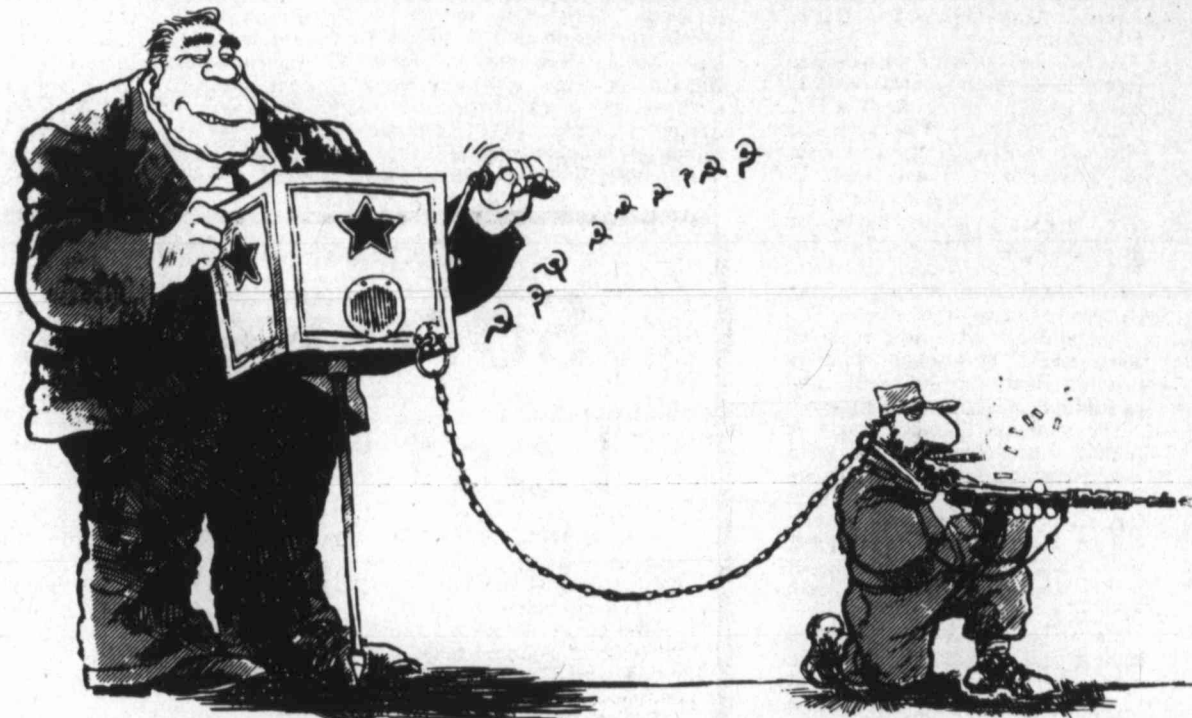

DEAR MISS R. G.: Yes, we are told: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ" (Galatians 6:2). While Paul's main concern is with Christians helping other Christians who have burdens, the Bible certainly teaches we are to love others and help all persons wherever possible.

There are two things you should remember. First, remember that Jesus Christ has already borne our burdens on the cross, and you must learn "Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you" (1 Peter 5:7). You must learn to trust not only your own problems and burdens to the Lord, but the burdens and problems of other people as well. He alone is the One who is able to meet their needs. And remember that you should not only be a good listener, but you should seek wherever possible to point others to Jesus Christ.

Your letter indicates you are frustrated because you may be trying to help too many people. You cannot help everyone, and you must pray for discernment to spend time with those you can really help. Otherwise you will easily spread yourself too thin and be helpful to no one.

Be thankful that God has given you these opportunities, and seek to use them for His glory. Above all, seek the Lord's wisdom in prayer and in His Word.

Chinese Impatient?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Christopher Phillips' main professional interest is in the development of trade with the People's Republic of China, but his concern of late has been increasingly political.

Since the Shanghai communique of 1972, said Phillips, the United States has followed a standpoint policy toward the mainland nation. "There has been no significant political progress since then," he said in an interview.

In that communique, both sides agreed to work toward normalization of relations. But, said Phillips, who has had extensive diplomatic experience, "there has been no movement."

Phillips, now president of the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, believes the over-all interests of the United States, including trade, depend heavily on some evidence of progress toward full recognition by each country.

In his opinion, the Chinese may be getting a bit impatient. "I'm wary that some elements of the Chinese leadership might say there is no future in this for China," he said. "We cannot have indefinite stagnation."

Phillips, whose organization is made up of about 300 companies interested or involved in China trade, recognizes that the President might face some immediate obstacles, but he asked pointedly:

"Is there anything that can be done to convey to the Chinese that we are serious?"

The sooner the better, said Phillips, a Republican and former deputy representative to the United Nations. "I am not arguing this just to enhance our trade with China," he said, but he indicated a move could be made in that area.

"Arguments have been made that perhaps we should reconcile our policy of no sale of any kind of military goods to China," he observed. "There are those who say strictly defensive military equipment might be desirable."

Such a move, he suggested, might make clear to the Chinese that they and the United States have a continued mutuality of interest in seeking to contain the threat of Soviet Union expansionary goals.

While not personally advocating such a move, said Phillips, "I would be willing to sit down and argue the merits." One danger, he suggested, was that the Soviets might react sharply, destroying détente.

Whatever effort is made to further our relations with China, Phillips feels, would be beneficial if it resulted in improved trading activity. He believes that by 1985 China's gross national product will be one of the five largest.

Welfare Policy

Around The Rim

John Edwards

County commissioners are studying a survey of county welfare departments and are expected to discuss policy changes at their next meeting.

County Judge Bill Tune declined to reveal current Howard County welfare policy until that discussion, which will be open to the press.

HERE'S WHAT the county welfare department has learned about welfare in three other counties:

1. Do you help indigents buy food stamps in case of emergency? Midland — No, we have nothing to do with food stamps, but, in case of emergency, we issue a grocery order not to exceed $20. We average issuing 12 to 20 grocery orders each month.

Scurry (county seat Snyder) — No. Organizations in town help in case of emergency.

Ward (county seat Monahans) — No, we do not help with food stamps and do not issue grocery orders.

2. DO YOU help needy persons with hospital bills? Midland — Yes, we pay the going rate to the hospital.

Scurry — No. The county helps the hospital with deficit.

Ward — No. The county hospital takes care of them.

3. Do you pay for office visits to the doctors? Midland, Scurry and Ward — No.

4. What is the maximum you pay for funeral expenses? Midland — We pay $200 for adults and $100 for children.

Scurry — $225 for adults and $160 for children.

Ward — We pay $275 for adults and $200 to $225 for children.

5. DOES YOUR county pay for foster care for children? Midland — No.

Scurry — No, the county welfare does not pay foster care for children. The state takes care of that.

Ward — The county pays $3 a day, buys clothes and pays medical expenses.

6. Do you help the needy with rent and utility bills? Midland — No.

Scurry — No, except occasionally on emergency basis with the okay of the board.

Ward — Yes, on the average of $100 a month.

7. DO YOU help with clothing? Midland — Volunteers have a clothing room, and we refer the needy to them.

Scurry — Yes, when persons are in dire need.

Ward — We buy very few.

8. Do you help with ambulance expenses? Midland — Only when the ambulance is used to transport patients out of town.

Scurry — Yes, we help. The city and county also supplement ambulance expenses.

Ward — The county supplements ambulance expenses, but does not pay on individual cases.

9. DO YOU have a dental program? Midland — No.

Scurry — Yes, we help. The city traction if a person is in pain.

Ward — We pay a few dental bills for children but none for adults.

10. Do you help with eye glasses? Midland — No, the local Lions Club helps.

Scurry — If we have to. Usually, we don't.

Ward — No, we refer them to the Lions Club.

11. DO YOU help with medicine? Midland, Scurry and Ward — Yes.

12. Does your county have a milk fund? All three — No.

What Others Say

The promoter who hopes to turn a fast buck by staging a "fight to the death" between a man and a shark for a closed-circuit television audience is pandering the worst side of human nature. While some of the political and economic trends in our country have been likened to those that led to the fall of the Roman Empire, we did not realize we were so close to the end that anyone would consider making a circus out of a killing.

The success of the movie "Jaws" has led some critics to wonder whether catering to the taste of blood and violence on the screen has gone about as far as it can go. At least the shark in the movie was a robot and the blood was catsup or whatever the special effects men use. Officials of the American Humane Association are hoping to find some way to stop the man-shark exhibition, and we hope they succeed. — WACO TRIBUNE-HERALD

The $6 Million

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The six million dollars the CIA has earmarked to give to select political candidates in Italy needs to be examined from several points of view before the whole business is dismissed as yet one more venal act by the CIA.

QUESTION NO. 1: Is (or was — now that the operation is blown, everything is changed) the idea — was the idea — a good one? I find it very difficult answer that question, and wish that others would find it difficult also. Any number of criticisms have been made, some of them suggesting that we were proposing to pay six million dollars to corrupt Italian politicians who would simply endorse the checks over to Swiss bank accounts. Others suggest that we are shoring up a political party that is hopelessly inept — that, in the words of Mr. Tom Wicker, we are "subsidizing inefficiency, ineptitude, laziness, graft and favoritism."

NOW I wonder why it is so quickly assumed that the administrators of the Central Intelligence Agency are stupid? I do not doubt that there are stupid men in the CIA, though there is no reason to believe that the level of that stupidity is higher than, say, that of federal judges, or municipal comptrollers, or college professors. But it is a fact that in recent months we are asked to believe that any maneuver by the CIA is presumptively stupid. The only egregiously stupid thing done by the CIA's principal spokesmen in recent months is to have relied on the word of Congressional committees that their testimony will be kept confidential. But it is a reflection not so much on the CIA as on American institutions, when American officials cannot reasonably rely on the word of other American officials.

It is after all possible that the six million dollars were discreetly targeted to bolster the very best people within the Christian Democratic Party. To bolster precisely those who are fighting corruption, nepotism, graft, inefficiency, and inflation. Until the contrary is proved, it would make sense to withhold judgment on the matter.

QUESTION NO 2 is: Does the CIA have any business getting into Italian politics? I do not see how that question can be answered negatively unless one is also prepared to say that the United States has no business entering into the NATO Alliance. The NATO Alliance was designed by the way, principally at the urging of the European powers, and for obvious reasons) to prevent effective Soviet control over European affairs. From time to time the Russians have found it necessary to use tanks to run over refractory citizens who reside in the satellite states; but not often.

THE NATO powers, in other words, were keenly aware 25 years ago that the chosen manner of the Soviet Union is to work through nationals of the target power. This was done brilliantly in Czechoslovakia through a coup d'etat.

Diet No Calcium Cinch

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How much calcium does a woman in her mid-50s require daily? And how much milk would have to be consumed to meet this daily need? — Mrs. A. J.

Calcium requirement for an adult is about eight-tenths of a gram a day. A cup of milk contains three-tenths of a gram. So a little more than two cups of milk would satisfy the need. However, I don't want to mislead you in this. Most other foods contain a bit of calcium, so you don't have to depend on milk alone for it.

There is another thing you should know about calcium. So-called "calcium deficiency" is not always caused by a lack of calcium in the diet. It can reflect a malabsorption problem, and this can mean a deficiency of vitamin D, the vitamin involved in the absorption process.

Conversely, "hypercalcemia," which is an excess of calcium absorption, is often the result of an excess of vitamin D in the diet. Calcium metabolism is controlled by the parathyroid glands. A high or low function of these can influence the blood calcium level.

But in a normally functioning body, the required amount of calcium from any food source is absorbed and the rest excreted with no problem.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 64 years old and have been bothered with an itching rectum in recent years. I don't have hemorrhoids or anything like that. I have gotten a clean bill of health in a recent checkup, yet this itching is driving me nuts. It may not seem like a big deal, but it is when it keeps you awake nights. Any suggestions? — A. F.

I discussed this the other day with a colleague, a proctologist (one who specializes in rectal problems). He outlined a program he has found effective in treatment of rectal itching among his patients — in cases where no other factor can be identified (hemorrhoids, for example).

Keep coffee at a minimum, chocolate, too. There seems to be some chemical constituent in these that can promote anal pruritus (itching). You should also avoid alcohol. This is a vasodilator and can set off such itching. This program also includes restriction of spicy foods and citrus juices. So much for the dietary portion of the program.

There are things you can do in treatment of the area involved. Avoid using soap. Irritation can be caused by alkali and other constituents. Or if you must use soap, avoid those with additives such as dyes. Don't use colored toilet tissue.

You should wear plain cotton shorts (boxer type), and be sure they are well rinsed after laundering. Avoid the synthetic fabrics.

I believe such a program, if followed closely, will bring results.

If not, you should suspect other possible causes. Moisture and debris can collect in deep skin folds of the rectum independent of hemorrhoids. A pledget of cotton worn against the anus can help here. Excessive hairiness, too, can be a factor.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to have a successful hemorrhoid operation, then 15 years later require another? — Mrs. A. R.

Yes. Hemorrhoids can recur, but the chances of this happening are not great. About 90 per cent of hemorrhoidectomy patients are cured permanently. If a second operation is required it is for hemorrhoids occurring at a different site in the rectum and involving different veins. Hemorrhoids are varicosities, as you know.

Post-hemorrhoidectomy care is very important, especially because of the fact that the affected area cannot be completely immobilized, but must continue to serve its regular function.

A TREE GROWS IN BIG SPRING — Where this huisache will be growing next has been of interest to many citizens who are eyeing the future of this location which is to become a parking lot in the near future.

Big Springers Trying To Save Thorny Tree

Although there was an official tree planting ceremony for a new tree in a city park in honor of Arbor Day this morning, a lot of people have expressed more emphasis on saving a tree growing in Big Spring.

There's a beautiful huisache tree in front of Wayne Basden's office located in the middle of the block between Scurry and Main Streets.

Basden is in the middle of getting an office built over at 7th and Scurry so that he can move in the near future.

The Downtown Tea Room has already moved to new quarters and the Bradshaw Studio announced its closing before Christmas.

First Federal Savings will soon have the entire block and it will be a parking lot and drive-up window service.

Charles Biel, president of First Federal, said the parking lot will be landscaped in a manner similar to the one at First Methodist Church. "We probably can keep that tree in the landscape design," he added.

Basden had originally planned to attempt to move the tree, but he is afraid it would die in the process. He has some small retama trees he plans to move.

He brought the huisache tree from South Texas and planted it outside the office. He kept a hydrant right at the base of the tree to drip on it to keep it alive and growing.

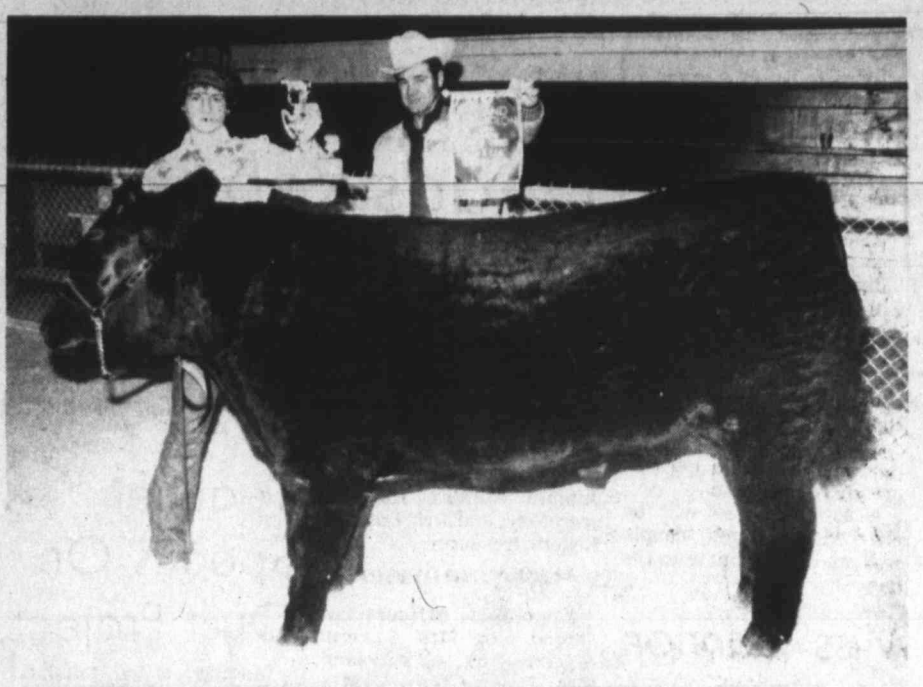

In the spring, the tree is covered with furry yellow flowers and is a real beauty. Basden had one other huisache at one time at the top of South Mountain, but is not sure if it has survived.

Several interested tree lovers have telephoned and expressed interest in saving the tree.

As it stands now, either First Federal in their landscaping or Basden when he changes locations, plan to try to save the huisache.

Why is that announcement made today? January 16 is Texas Arbor Day — a day set aside for planting trees.

A few active Garden Club workers are planning to plant a tree today, but there are apparently a lot of folks interested in saving this old one — even it is a thorny huisache.

Sense Of Values Stressed By Insurance Exec Flowers

Charlie Flowers, well-known insurance man and public speaker from Marshall, pointed out to a group of Life Underwriters here Thursday that "We cannot be thankful and depressed at the same time. If we count our blessings and try to serve our fellowman, we won't have any troubles."

The meeting of the local group of Underwriters was held at the Holiday Inn at noon with guests attending from nine Texas cities including Fort Worth, Midland, Snyder, Lubbock, Roscoe, Colorado City, San Angelo, Lamesa, and Coahoma.

John Bennett, president of the local organization of the Society of Life Underwriters presided as master of ceremonies and Bob Watlington of Snyder, vice president and program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Flowers, interspersing his talk with humor, also spelled out what he thought the word service should mean to the insurance salesman. He used the words succor, education, reputation, values, integrity, courage and empathy to spell the word service, explaining what he thought each meant.

He stressed the sense of values and put down in this order, "God, country, home, church, school and profession." He urged the listeners to search for balance.

"Don't set your goals so high that you spend your entire life trying to reach them," he added.

He said "Thinking of others and not yourself." Flowers pointed out "Sometimes the people to whom you give the best service abuse you, but you need to keep on going."

Bennett welcomed all guests and introduced head table guests, including Flowers and Watlington, Bill Jowell of Midland, regional officer, State Rep. Mike Ezzell and County Judge Bill Tune.

AT HOME WITH HIS DOLLS — Timothy Bowles, crippled in a construction accident in 1973, supplements his $80 per-week workmen's compensation by making large and colorful rag dolls. Bowles began needlepoint to take his mind off his problems and discovered a profitable occupation.

Disabled Construction Worker Makes Rag Dolls For A Living

CASSELBERRY, Fla. (AP) — Crippled for life in a job accident but too proud to accept welfare, construction worker Timothy Bowles celebrated last Christmas under a cloud of debts, depression and despair.

But Bowles said Christmas 1975 was one of the happiest of his life thanks to his new skill — hand sewing big, red-haired Raggedy Ann dolls.

"Some people might think it's strange for a tough construction worker to sew dolls," says Bowles, 43. "I did, too, at first. I thought it was a silly thing for a man to do."

"But then I just got fed up with not working and feeling sorry for myself and figured why not. There's always something a guy can do to make a couple of bucks on his own."

Bowles' transition from hard hat to doll maker began in August 1974 when he ruptured discs in his back on a construction job where he was working as a carpenter.

"The doctors said I could never work again but I knew I just couldn't make it on the $80 a week in workmen's compensation payments," Bowles said. "And I knew I wasn't going to take welfare. I just couldn't get it out of my mind that there must be people worse off than me."

Eight months ago, Bowles' wife, Vickie, 43, suggested he take up needlepoint "just as something to do to take his mind off his troubles."

"He did such a good job that I suggested he make some dolls for our nieces because we couldn't afford to buy them anything," Mrs. Bowles says. "Some friends and neighbors saw them and wanted to buy some, too, and it just started going from there."

In November, Bowles had sold 31 dolls at $20 apiece and had 20 more orders for Christmas.

The instant popularity of the dolls has Bowles thinking of turning his hobby into a fulltime business.

"I thought I'd never be good to anybody anymore, that I couldn't do a good day's work," he said. "This just shows that a man can do anything if he sets his mind to it. Like I said, if a man wants to work."

Reader Doesn't Like Doll That Develops

DEAR ABBY: I understand that they now have a doll on the market that looks like a flat-chested pre-teen girl until you twist her arm. Then she "grows" an inch or so and sprouts a pretty little bust.

Abby, what kind of toy is this? Do you think children young enough to play with dolls should know about such things?

Where will all this end? Next thing you know there will be a boy doll that "becomes a man" when his arm is twisted. I think toys of this kind should be outlawed. Please print your opinion in the paper. Maybe others would like to comment.

DISGUSTED IN CLEVELAND

DEAR DISGUSTED: I see nothing wrong with a child's knowing that pre-teen girls develop into shapely young women. I think you're making mountains out of molehills.

DEAR ABBY: Although I've always been in a good physical condition, for the last year I've been lifting weights regularly as a form of exercise. I want to keep my muscles strong and maintain a good physique.

I've had people tell me that weight-lifting is very hard on the heart. Others say it creates back problems, and I've heard that if I discontinue it in later life, I will become soft and flabby.

What do you say? Is weight-lifting beneficial to one's health? Are there any dangers? How does it compare with calisthenics such as push-ups, sit-ups, jogging and bicycling?

I've had so many different opinions. Maybe you can get the straight dope from someone who really knows.

WEIGHT-LIFTER

DEAR LIFTER: That's a heavy assignment, but I've polled some experts and the word from here is: Don't go in for weight-lifting without coaching from an expert. Weight-lifting alone will build muscles, but it won't keep you in shape unless you combine it with other forms of exercise. Before you undertake any strenuous exercise program, SEE YOUR PHYSICIAN to find out how much you can safely take.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 26-year-old waitress who has been working in restaurants since the age of 13. I am now employed at one of the finest cocktail-dinner spots in town, and hope you'll print this. It would help waitresses immensely if the public would follow these simple rules:

1. Please don't holler across the dining room at your waitress, especially, "Hey, girlie!" Also, don't snap your fingers or whistle at us. (We aren't dogs.)
2. If you're not satisfied with your food, please don't snarl at us. Calmly state your complaint, and we will be glad to get you something else and report it to the management.
3. When the waitress hands you a menu, please study it, and decide what you want so that when she comes back she can take your order. (About 95 per cent of the customers never look at their menus until the waitress comes back to take their orders. The customers are then annoyed because it takes so long to be served.)
4. If it says, "No substitutes" on the menu, please don't ask if you can substitute.
5. Tell the waitress when you order if you want everything on one check or separate checks.
6. If you're going to fight over the check, please don't tear the check in half!

Thanks, Abby!

WANTS TO PLEASE

DEAR WANTS: That's a switch. A tip from a waitress. I hope it helps.

Charter Members To Attend Meeting

Members of the Alpha Chi chapter made plans to attend the Epsilon Sigma Alpha district VIII meeting at the Monday evening meeting of the sorority in the home of Mrs. Charles Campbell.

The meeting will be held on Jan. 25 in Midland at the Roadway Inn. Several members of the local sorority will attend.

The slate of district officers will be presented during the meeting.

Mrs. Campbell read a letter from state ESA concerning the ESA wing at St. Jude Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The report stated that the fourth floor of a new $10 million addition was named the Epsilon Sigma Alpha (ESA) wing during a dedication ceremony held in November.

Danny Thomas thanked the sorority for the donation of $1 million raised by the sorority chapters during the "million dollar bike ride" held to benefit the hospital.

Mrs. Campbell gave a brief history of St. Jude Hospital, explaining that it was a children's research hospital devoted to caring for children stricken by cancers and other diseases. She said that the hospital service is completely free of charge to its patients who are accepted only by physicians' referral and only if the child's affliction is under study at the hospital.

Invitations were prepared for Mrs. Ruth Wilson and Ms. Imogene Hicks, state volunteer officers, asking them to attend the next meeting of the Alpha Chi chapter.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m., Jan. 26 in the home of Mrs. Alice Bently, 614 Tulane. Mrs. Jane Smith will be the guest speaker.

Why Pittsburgh Will Win

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — "The best offense is a good defense."

How true. And how true. The Pittsburgh Steelers have a defense which would seem capable of stopping just about anything up to and including a runaway locomotive. It's virtually identical to the defense that stopped the Minnesota Vikings in Super Bowl IX.

And it's the defense that's going to slam the door on Dallas this Sunday and cause the Cowboys' shotgun to misfire. And backfire.

It will probably be a low-scoring game (Dallas has a good defense, too), as most of these games have been. The average score for the winning team through the first nine Super Bowls is 22 points. The average for the loser just eight.

If anybody's going to break open the game, though, it's going to be Pittsburgh, perhaps after the Cowboys, unable to move consistently with their more conventional offense, go for the gimmickry.

Now let's get down to specifics. Start with a line of Dwight White, Ernie Holmes, Joe Greene and L.C. Greenwood. Nobody's going to run on them very much — not Robert Newhouse, not Doug Dennison, not former teammate Preston Pearson, not even Roger Staubach.

Oh, an occasional draw play or sweep might work. But if the Cowboys get past that foursome, they've got to deal with Jack Lambert, Jack Ham and Andy Russell, the premier linebacking trio in the NFL.

So much for the short gain. Now it's time to try for the bigger chunks of yardage via the pass route, perhaps with the shotgun as the trigger.

The maelstrom of Greene & Co. crashing into the Dallas backfield is only the first problem Staubach will have to overcome. Lambert and friends, clogging up the medium distances — or joining the line in a blitz — is the next. And in the distance, if Staubach has much time to survey anything but his own escape routes, he'll see J.T. Thomas, Mel Blount, Mike Wagner and Glen Edwards, one of the league's more proficient band of thieves.

Can the Cowboys' defense hold Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw in check? Maybe. But not for 60 minutes. Can it blanket Lynn Swann and the rest of the Steelers' receivers? Most of the time. Can it handle Franco Harris? Not likely.

What it comes down to is a battle of attrition. When it's all over, Pittsburgh's Steel Curtain will still be standing.

Why Dallas Will Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI (AP) — Because they will confuse the Pittsburgh Steelers with a variety of offensive and defensive formations, the Dallas Cowboys will win Sunday's Super Bowl game. It won't be by much, but one point more is, after all, all the Cowboys need.

There is nothing extraordinary about the flex defense or the shotgun offense. They've been around for years, gathering dust in some outdated play books. And that's the very reason they figure to be so effective against the Steelers.

Pittsburgh is a very uncomplicated football team. "Blocking and tackling ... that's what wins football games," says Chuck Noll, their coach. "Basic football, no finesse and fooling around."

That's the Steelers' problem against the flare of the Cowboys. Another team playing on Pittsburgh's terms — head-to-head, basic football — would lose to the Steelers. Minnesota tried it in last year's Super Bowl and Fran Tarkenton was all but swallowed up and digested by the Steelers' front four of L.C. Greenwood, Ernie Holmes, Mean Joe Greene and Dwight White.

Now, if that Steel Curtain is interested in chopping up Roger Staubach, they'll have to chase through the shotgun offense that gives the Dallas quarterback seven yards of breathing room before the ball is snapped.

Minnesota's defense was nice and simple and Franco Harris shredded it for a Super Bowl record 158 yards rushing. But Dallas uses the flex, a little wrinkle that may not be as simple to solve.

Man for man, the Steelers have an edge on the Cowboys. But football is a team game. Man for man, the Vikings were better than the Cowboys and so were the Rams. But Dallas beat both those teams.

Those victories gave the Cowboys momentum, an element that could play an important role Sunday. Dallas isn't even supposed to be here. The Cowboys were ready for a rebuilding year with 11 rookies on the squad. Nothing was expected of them and so, if they lose Sunday, they can shrug it off and say they went much further than anyone could have expected.

But the Steelers are the defending champions. The pressure is on them, just as it was on Minnesota last year when the Vikings were trying to win the title for the third time. And you know what happened to them.

BS High Coach Hunting

Dr. Emmett McKenzie, president of the Big Spring school board, said applicants for the post should contact his office.

"We haven't established the procedure for hiring a new coach," McKenzie said. "The school board will have to meet before we do that."

McKenzie said the next regular session of the board was set for February, but a special meeting will be held before then to discuss the matter.

"I have no idea when the board will meet," he said. "Next Monday is probably the earliest we can call the meeting, and it will be several days after that before we get together."

With the resignation of Bob Burris Tuesday, Big Spring High School now has an opening for an athletic director-football coach.

Burris, who compiled a 6-24 record during his three-year stint at Big Spring, has taken the head post at Jefferson High School in Port Arthur.

Trio Leads Toros Over Forsan JV's

Johnny Williams, Louis Rodriguez and Billy Johnson led a full-court press and fast-break for Big Spring's Toros that the Forsan JV's could not contain in a 58-43 victory Thursday night.

Byron Harris tossed in 22 points to cop scoring honors.

Toros play at Goliad against Snyder Lamar Monday at 7:00.

Not Enough Time

Hawks Lose In Overtime

"The improbable we do right away, the impossible takes a little longer." — Seabees' motto

By FRED BREWER

The Howard Hawks needed a little more time than the timekeeper gave them to qualify as Seabees. With 31 seconds left in regulation time the Hawks were down 70-65 to the Amarillo Badgers and came back to tie, but they could not pull out another tie at the end of the overtime and lost 84-82.

After their titanic struggle for the tie the Hawks appeared to relax and quickly fell six back in the overtime. Just as they had at the end of the second half the Hawks came back in the final minute. They cut Amarillo's lead to two with ten seconds left in the overtime.

Five seconds showed when Howard stole the ball and quickly threw down to its end of the floor. Daryl Holliman, of Amarillo, intercepted the pass — and stopped out of bounds. The clock showed no time remaining.

The referees conferred and decided there was one second left when Holliman's foot hit the stripe. Howard's Ray Martin threw the ball to Marvin Johnson, who flung the ball up immediately. His desperation shot fell inches short of the basket and that was it.

Howard coach Harold Wilder said poor shooting — 33 per cent — caused the Hawks to go in with a 10 point deficit, 39-29, at half-time.

The Hawks came out in the second half and stuck to a very deliberate attack. They worked the ball in for good shots, usually to Larry Erves or Jimmy Paye. The hard work paid off. After seven minutes Erves hit from the side to tie the game 45-45. This was the first time the score was knotted since Amarillo matched Johnson's early bucket to make it two-all.

Much of Howard's hard work in the second half was negated by easy bunnies by Holliman and Carl Walton. About six times, after the Hawks had spent time working in for a bucket, they let one of the Badgers, usually Holliman, get under their undefended basket for an easy layup.

One reason Howard caught up was the strong game 6'4" Paye turned in against the Badgers 6'9" Alonzo Cambell. Paye completely neutralized Cambell in the second half, taking rebounds away from him and holding him scoreless.

Early in the final period Johnson hit a jumper to give him 15 points for the night and fourth on Howard's all-time scoring chart. Johnson finished the night with 24 points tying him with Erves for Hawk scoring honors.

Kush Coach Of The Year

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "I love the Phoenix area and I'm positive I'll be at Arizona State for some time to come," Frank Kush said Thursday.

After 21 years at the same school, the only place he's ever coached, Kush's career reached its zenith Thursday night when he was honored as major college football's Coach of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association.

With a career record of 151-39-1, Kush, who will turn 47 next Tuesday, has come a long way from where he grew up around Mine No. 35 in Windber, Pa.

"We didn't have electricity until 1944," he recalled. "We were indigents, but we didn't know how to spell it."

Although he accepted the University of Pittsburgh coaching job a few years ago, only to back out after three days, Kush has no intention of leaving Arizona State.

"People say I've come as far as I can," he said, "but I don't really need that much recognition as long as the school and the team get it."

"I've had quite a few college and pro offers, but you know anytime you're dealing with youngsters, there's going to be something new every year. You get a kid for two, three years and all of a sudden there's a new Woody Green, a new Danny White. I get involved in their problems, and when you're involved with them you're kind of growing with them."

The life Kush now leads in sunny Arizona is a bit different, to say the least, from his childhood as one of 15 offspring of a Pennsylvania coal miner who died when Frank was 14, leaving him the oldest of a dozen children at home.

Perhaps his own rugged upbringing is the reason for Kush's football reputation as a tough taskmaster, a stern disciplinarian.

"My whole life has been geared around discipline and the basics. That's the way I coach. We were kind of forced into discipline and through that I acquired self-discipline."

"The difference in youngsters today is that they're unaware of their responsibilities to themselves, what it takes to get a degree."

"I think I've changed in many respects. I'm more aware from the standpoint of the limitations of the kids. I've learned over a period of years when a boy can't go any further."

"All our efforts are aimed at making each individual athlete realize his full potential. It takes a lot of sacrifice and discipline, but it pays dividends, not only now, but later in life."

Kush, who was line coach for three years before succeeding Dan Devine as head coach in 1958, has never experienced a losing season, either at Arizona State in high school or as a 175-pound All-American guard at Michigan State. Arizona State's 12-0 record in 1975 included a victory over Nebraska in the Fiesta Bowl and was capped by a No. 2 national ranking, the school's highest ever.

"Being Coach of the Year is the epitome," Kush said. "Bear Bryant told me the Fiesta Bowl was one of the finest games he's ever seen and he voted for me. And Bo Schembechler said: 'You must be some kind of stud as a coach.'"

GIANT REBOUND — University of Washington center James Edwards, 42, had no trouble taking down this rebound from Oregon's Dan Hartshorn, 52, during their Pacific-8 game Thursday in Seattle. The 7-footer hit 13 of his 20 points in the second half to lead the Huskies to a 77-70 victory. The sixth-ranked Huskies won their 14th straight game and remain unbeaten.

Seattle Forces Expansion

PHOENIX (AP) — Major league baseball is enthusiastically edging toward expansion with no sign yet of thank-you notes from Seattle.

"If we didn't have the Seattle problem, we wouldn't be expanding," American League President Lee MacPhail admitted Thursday after a two-day meeting of baseball owners ended here.

A $32 million lawsuit by the city of Seattle against the American League is, euphemistically, that problem. The city sued after an earlier expansion team, the Seattle Pilots, was whisked away in 1970 after a one-year stay.

"There will be a team in Seattle in 1977," MacPhail said.

But does the city want an expansion franchise? There has been no indication the city will drop its suit, now in court, and no prospective purchaser of a 1977 expansion franchise has come forth.

"I've got a stadium to rent," said Ted Bowsfield, former major league pitcher who is now director of Seattle's new domed stadium.

"If they (the league) can find ownership willing to accept an expansion team, fine. But I don't know of anyone interested."

"If they think anyone will pay something like $10 million, they might as well forget it."

The American League announced Wednesday its intention to expand to Seattle next year. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn wants the Seattle problem solved, too, but he would only reluctantly approve American League expansion if the National League refuses to go along.

The American League also is on record in favor of interleague play. The National League remains cool toward that idea.

Baseball officials from Kuhn down would clearly prefer to move an existing franchise to Seattle.

"That's why we waited until this point to vote for expansion," said MacPhail. "But it doesn't look like that (a move) is going to happen."

People from Toronto, Washington and New Orleans, also other cities hoping to join the major leagues, sent representatives to the meeting here, and they went home puzzled or disappointed.

The National League considered expansion and other matters in 10 hours of non-stop discussion leading to indecision.

MALTBIE MISSES — Phoenix Open first-round leader Roger Maltbie looks back at the cup after missing a putt Thursday on hole 9 at the Phoenix Country Club.

Huskies Had To Hustle

By The Associated Press

Washington, sixth-ranked and unbeaten, had to scrap to pull out a 77-70 victory over Oregon, but 17th-ranked Oregon State had an easier time disposing of Washington State 82-73 as the two winners kept their Pacific-8 records perfect Thursday night and set up a college basketball showdown Saturday.

"If I had to say one thing won the game for us," Washington Coach Marv Harshman said after the triumph over the Ducks, "I would have to say experience inside did it."

Washington's 7-foot center, James Edwards, scored 13 of his 20 points in the second half as the Huskies fought off a late Oregon charge.

The Huskies led 52-42 with 11 minutes remaining, but the Ducks cut the margin to 56-54 with seven minutes left. Edwards, however, hit a pair of free throws with two minutes left to give Washington breathing room at 69-63.

Washington, now 3-0 in Pac-8 play and 14-0 over-all, hosts Oregon State, 3-0 and 10-4, Saturday night in a battle for the undisputed conference lead.

Oregon State, with George Tucker scoring 19 points, overcame an 8-0 Washington State lead and never trailed again in its victory over The Cougars, now 2-1 in conference play.

In Thursday's other Pac-8 contest, Jay Young sank a free throw with 51 seconds left to give California an 81-80 victory over Southern Cal. California now has a 1-2 conference mark, while the Trojans have yet to win in three outings.

Fourth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, led by Eddie Owens' 32 points, kept its record perfect with a 129-114 victory over Portland State in a wild shootout Thursday night.

The victory gave Las Vegas a 17-0 record, and the Rebels have now won 33 straight at home over two seasons. Las Vegas took an early lead against Portland State, and continued to build the margin, moving ahead by 29 points late in the game before a Portland splurge closed the gap to 15.

Two other ranked teams were in action Thursday night as Northeast Louisiana upset No. 18 Centenary and No. 19 West Texas State whipped Chicago State 99-69.

Elsewhere, Louisville beat Tulsa 78-68; Creighton stopped Oklahoma City 77-67; Weber State beat Oral Roberts 83-80; Richmond outscored Furman 106-96 and Alcorn State, the nation's No. 1 college division team, beat Mississippi Valley State 99-83.

Calvin Natt scored with five seconds left to give Northeast Louisiana its upset over Centenary. The basket climaxed a furious rally that saw NLU come from seven points behind in the final three minutes to win the game.

Jerry Jingles led Northeastern scoring with 21 points. Brad Schreck scored 20 points and grabbed eight rebounds to lead West Texas State over Chicago State.

Louisville weathered a late rally by Tulsa on some free throw shooting by Ricky Wilson with only seconds remaining.

Phoenix Open: Room At The Top

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Lee Trevino, who suddenly and dramatically found his putting touch, was one stroke back, and Johnny Miller, who just as suddenly found some problems, was four strokes off the pace after the first round of the $200,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

"That's the best I've putted, the most confident I've been with the putter in a long, long time, maybe two years," the delighted Trevino enthused Thursday after his five-under-par 66 had left him one shot back of leader Roger Maltbie.

"I was feeling my oats pretty good," the heavily-favored Miller said after his birdie-birdie-birdie-par-birdie start on the 6,726-yard Phoenix Country Club course. But he made bogey six on the relatively easy seventh hole, went stone cold and finished with a 69 that left him four strokes off the pace.

"I really don't feel bad about it," said Miller, who scored his fifth consecutive Arizona victory last week in the Tucson Open. "Usually, the first round after you win is a very hard one, very hard to score well. Usually you have a 73 or something like that. I'm not in bad position at all. You can't say I'm out of it."

Maltbie, winner of two titles and Rookie of the Year honors in 1975, shot his six-under-par effort early in the bright, sunny day, said it could have been better and predicted it would not lead when the day's play was over.

"It was an easy round," he said. "Someone could shoot in the very low 60s easily. It's possible someone could shoot in the 50s."

And, for a while, it appeared Miller was ready to make a run at it.

The seventh ruined his chances. He put his second shot in a greenside bunker, blew his next across the green, chipped back and missed a seven-foot putt.

It left him trailing 20 players.

Soft-spoken Rik Massengale was tied with Trevino for second at 66 and the group at 67 included British Open champion Tom Watson, Dave Hill, Jerry McGee, Lee Elder and Bruce Lietzke. There were a dozen more at 68.

Guess who's become the third largest selling American whiskey.

It's Kessler. And to reach this lofty status, we had to outsell over 5000 other American whiskeys. How'd we do it? Three words tell the story. Smooth as Silk. That's the promise we make on our label, and live up to in our bottle. Admittedly our success has been a quiet one. But then, when you let your smoothness do the talking America gets the message.

Smooth as Silk Kessler.
Now the third largest selling American whiskey.

'Big Bird' Hunters Face Jail, Speculation Rampant

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) — The list of possible suspects in the "Big Bird" saga in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has grown to include the Marabou stork-which experts say is usually found in Africa, southern Mexico and Honduras.

Meanwhile, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Thursday warned "Big Bird" hunters they face a possible jail sentence and fine if they harm a protected bird.

KENS-TV of San Antonio Thursday night showed a composite drawing of "Big Bird" based on eyewitness descriptions.

After the news program, a viewer called to say he thought the bird was a

Name Fain Publisher At Ausitn

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — James E. "Jim" Fain today was named publisher of the Austin American-Statesman.

Fain's appointment was announced by Jack Tarver, president of Atlanta, Ga., based Cox Enterprises which acquired the American-Statesman along with dailies in Waco, Lufkin and Port Arthur in negotiations completed as of Jan. 1 of this year.

A native Georgian and a graduate of Emory University in Atlanta, Fain had served as editor of the Dayton (Ohio) News since 1953 and of the Miami News since 1973. His successors in Miami and Dayton will be named shortly by the publishers in their respective cities, Tarver added.

Fain, who served as news editor of the Atlanta Journal from 1948 to 1953, went to Atlanta from Columbus, Ga., where he had been managing editor of the Columbus Ledger. In Austin, he succeeds publisher Richard Brown, who resigned recently to devote full time to personal business.

Fain served as a major in the Air Corps in World War II and rose to brigadier general in the Air Force reserve following the war.

He was named Dayton's Young Man of the Year in 1955 and was the recipient of the Dayton Distinguished Service Award in 1968. He is former chairman of the area Progress Council of Dayton, former chairman of the Executive Committee of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and former chairman of the Dayton Council on World Affairs.

He has covered the last 10 Republican and Democratic national conventions, and followed the major candidates, starting in 1956, in both the primaries and presidential campaigns. He writes an editorial page column which is published in the Dayton News, Miami News and 14 other newspapers.

Cub Recruiting Prize Snared By Robert Oliver

Robert Oliver won first in the Lone Star District Recruiting contest in scouting and was presented a $20 gift certificate recently.

He directs Cub Scout Pack 63 which met Tuesday in the Flame Room of Pioneer Gas for their pack meeting.

Tying for second place in the contest were Tim Mays and Chris Bengel. All three received the "President's Recruiting Patch" and several Webelos medals.

Jim Bob Holly, Tommy and Timmy Conner, Frank McIntosh and the youths named above, received Pedro patches and the national president's stars.

Cubmaster Bob Oliver and Mrs. Oliver, den mother, reviewed coming events for the parents. These will include the rechartering of the pack, scout week activities in early February, the Blue and Gold Banquet and the annual Scout Exposition.

American GI Forum Election

The American GI Forum is having an election of officers at 8 p.m. today at the GI Forum Hall, 508 NW 4th Street. Ben Dianda, president, urged all members to attend the meeting.

Marabou. Dr. Don Farst, director of the Brownsville zoo, said Thursday night he had thought of the Marabou when he heard the first descriptions. But he said the stork is usually found in Africa. He added he had no reports of any Marabous missing from area zoos.

"For that bird to be over here all the way from Africa without escaping from a zoo is impossible," Dr. Farst said.

However, Ned Hudson, a bird watcher from the San Benito area, said the Marabou is also a native of southern Mexico and Honduras.

Other suspects, according to the State Wildlife Department, include a brown pelican and a whooping crane. The department lists the crane as an "outside possibility" since the rare birds spend the winter near Corpus Christi, about 150 miles north.

The bird, first sighted earlier this month by two San Benito policemen, has been described as having a wing spread of 10-15 feet, a long neck, a long beak, eyes the size of silver dollars and a bat-like face. One witness said the creature was about

The local club was organized in 1960 and in 1972 became the owner of their own meeting place located at Longshore Drive and Midland Drive.

The club sets as an objective contributing services to the community. Anyone interested in joining may attend meetings on the first and third Monday of each month.

Due to the annual participation of the club members in the March of Dimes fund collection, the regular Jan. 19 meeting will be canceled.

Petitions to insure Wallace be included on presidential primary ballots have been left with Paul Hood, 2511 Larry Drive, Albert Watkins, 2504 Central Drive, Jack Roberts, Moss Lake Road, and Lakeway Grocery in Sand Springs.

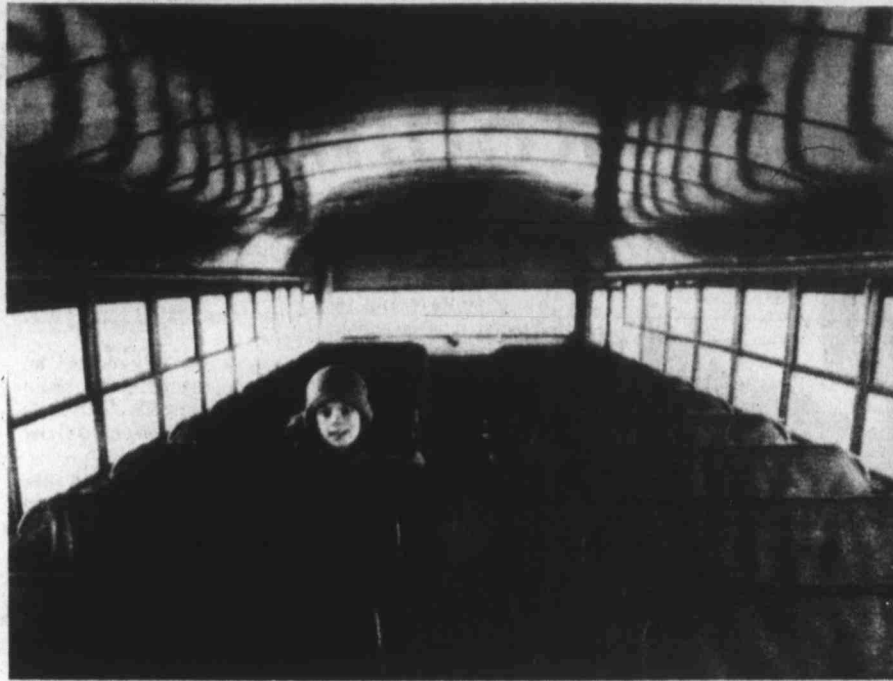

four feet tall.

The Wildlife Department warning concerning the hunting of "Big Bird" came after a McAllen radio station offered a $1,000 reward for the live capture of the bird.

A department spokesman said a federal penalty for anyone catching, killing or pursuing a protected bird would be guilty of a fine up to $5,000 and a year in jail.

Included in the possible sightings of "Big Bird" was the report of a Raymondville man who said he was attacked by a big bird as he stood in the back yard of his home.

Police said Armando Grimaldo, 26, had torn clothes but was not physically harmed. Grimaldo has refused to discuss the incident.

RIDES ALONE IN BUS — Darren Westergaard, 10, fifth grade student whose parent's home is less than two blocks from Alwood Elementary School in the Warren Woods school district, Thursday morning was the only student riding this school bus that has seats for sixty-six elementary students. As he would have been the 33rd student, one more than the teacher's contract allows, he is the lone student bused to Redwood Elementary School which is nearly two miles away.

LUBBOCK CLUB OWNER 'A Lady Is A Lady Even Without Clothes'

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Shirley Robbins says if the dancers at her Diamond Doll club here want to perform in the nude, then she sees no harm in it. Besides, she adds, a lady is a lady with or without her clothes.

A three-judge federal panel said Wednesday customers at the Diamond Doll club can continue to see nude female dancers while the judges decide on the constitutionality of two Texas laws dealing with indecent exposure.

Mrs. Robbins, who runs the Diamond Doll with her husband, said, "I'm real optimistic that we may soon have bottomless-topless dancing in all of Texas. They have it everywhere else so why not here?"

The panel of U.S. District Court Judges Halbert Woodward and Robert W. Porter and 5th Circuit Court Judge Thomas Gee extended a temporary restraining order allowing the five dancers to perform.

Woodward had issued the order forbidding Lubbock police and State Liquor Board officers from interfering with the dancers while the panel determined the constitutionality of the state laws on indecent exposure and disorderly conduct.

J.Q. Warnick, the girls' lawyer, said at the hearing that police reports indicate officers "never found anyone on the premises, who, as required by Texas statutes, was alarmed or offended, whatever that means."

The suit arose out of arrests of six dancers at the Diamond Doll in November. All six were plaintiffs but one of the girls, Marcella Valenzuela, 20, was found dead Jan. 5 in the bathtub of her efficiency apartment. Officials said the cause of death has not been determined.

In an interview Wednesday, Mrs. Robbins said she saw nothing wrong with nudity.

"Just because a woman takes off her clothes, she doesn't stop being a lady," she said. "If that weren't true, not many of us women would be ladies."

"You see nude women on the newstand and in other places, so what's wrong with a club?" she said. "Besides the girls like to dance in the nude."

"I don't think nudity is unhealthy," Mrs. Robbins added. "When we began nude dancing last fall, we had a sign out front that warned people to stay out of the club if a naked girl offended them."

"The problem in this state is that they don't want to mix nudity and liquor," she said.

"I've never danced in my life and now that I'm 37 it's too late," Mrs. Robbins said. "But all my girls are nice girls and I expect them to act like ladies."

Monday Is Deadline For Buying C-C Ducats

Monday at 5 p.m. is the deadline for buying tickets for the annual Big Spring Chamber of Commerce Membership Banquet.

The banquet will be held Monday, starting at 7 p.m., in the Big Spring High School Cafeteria. Tickets are $5 per person.

In addition to Bob Cox, guest speaker for the affair, the ceremonies will feature the presentation of the chamber's outstanding Big Spring man and woman of the year.

Col. Robert Owens, 78th flying training wing commander, Webb AFB, will present awards to the airman, NCO, and senior NCO of the year.

Also, the Big Spring Jaycees will announce their selection of the outstanding young man of the year.

Between 300 and 400 tickets have already been purchased.

"We really need to sell about 200 more tickets," said Terry Hanson, chamber manager.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force brigadier general who allegedly made a low pass over the Alamo in a C-130 Hercules cargo airplane will be relieved of command pending an investigation.

An Air Force statement said Thursday that Gen. Harry J. Huff II "has been temporarily relieved of his command pending his reply to allegations resulting from violation of flying regulations."

The Alamo over which Huff reportedly flew last summer was the replica at Brackettville, Tex., where John Wayne filmed the movie about the shrine of Texas liberty.

The real Alamo is in downtown San Antonio.

Officials of Huff's 433rd Tactical Airlift Wing refused to amplify the terse statement announcing the general had been relieved of command.

However, unit sources told the San Antonio News that a photo of the flyover at Brackettville which appeared in the Air Force Times newspaper caused the fuss.

The 433rd is called The Alamo Wing and sources said the picture was to be used as part of the wing's bicentennial celebration.

Maj. Gen. John W. Hoff, commander of the Central Air Force Reserve Region at Ellington AFB in Houston, relieved Huff of his command.

Gen. Hoff assumed temporary command and designated Brig. Gen. Alvin J. Moser as vice commander.

Spokesmen for the big reserve unit headquartered at Kelly AFB here said they were under orders not to respond to newsmen's questions.

He is a graduate of Hewitt Trussville High School in Trussville, Alabama. In 1963 graduated with a B.A. degree from Scarritt.

He majored in behavior science and minored in religion. He holds an MA in Christian Education.

His wife graduated from the same college. His work experience includes senior high counselors for the Mission workshop in Costa Rica, youth director at a Nashville, Tenn. church, inner city lay pastor in Nashville; rural lay pastor in Franklin, Tenn. and coordinator — hunger task force of the Tennessee Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church.

He has served in the Navy. The family reported, "We are glad to be in Big Spring and excited about this new position."

A reception will honor the director and his family at 10 a.m. at the Fellowship Hall of the church Sunday, Jan. 18, and the public is invited.

K. H. McGibbon, chairman of the committee on pastoral-parish relations, announces that the youth and adult church school classes will dismiss for the reception.

Bicentennial Theme Slated

The College Baptist Church located at 11th Place and Birdwell Lane is doing its part in the celebration of our country's 200th birthday.

Lutherans Slate 'Joy' On Radio

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — "Joy," a 30-minute radio program of choral music and comment, has been added to the mass media outreach of the International Lutheran Laymen's League, sponsor for more than 40 years of The Lutheran Hour.

Tommy P. Thompson, manager of the League's Mass Media Department, reported that 20 stations have initially agreed to carry the program, which is being offered on a public service basis. In addition to the choral music the program also features Scripture readings and short commentaries. The host for the program is the Rev. Alvin Rueter, pastor of Bethlehem Lutheran Church in St. Paul, Minn.

Commenting on the program's title, Thompson said the single word, "Joy," seems to "express rather graphically what a life in Jesus Christ gives to a person."

The theme for the program is Johann Sebastian Bach's "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." The Int'l LLL is an auxiliary organization of The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. Besides sponsoring The Lutheran Hour, which is carried by some 1,800 radio stations around the world, the League sponsors "Preaching Through the Press," an evangelism program utilizing advertisements in major newspapers and magazines; and is co-sponsor with the LCMS of "This Is The Life," television program.

Events Scheduled Here By God In Prophecy

The Church of God of Prophecy is involved in activities throughout the Southwestern district of the denomination.

Saturday, the local people from the church will take part in a rally for all members and friends in San Angelo. Anyone wishing to attend should contact the local pastor, Dennis A. Reiche at 633 Settles in Big Spring.

The congregation also is involved in an "Operation Preparation" which is an annual gathering in Lubbock. Ministers will come all the way from Cleveland, Tenn. to conduct educational classes on different subjects.

Bishop Robert Pruitt will hold a class on the subject of research methods. Bishop Leonard Kendrick will speak on "Clerk's Books" and Mrs. Elva Howard will discuss "Seducing Spirits." Tuition charge is $3. For more information, call 7-1174.

Included in coming events here will be a district convention at the local church at 1411 Dixie. The event is set for Feb. 20-21. The Rev. Homer Tomlinson of Midland will oversee this service.

DINNER THEATRE group to appear

First Methodists Schedule Bicentennial Dinner

A bicentennial dinner-theatre will be presented by the First United Methodist Church of Big Spring on January 25 at 6 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall at 4th and Scurry.

Entitled "Heroes and Hard Cases," the production is a comedy revue with Uncle Sam as the master of ceremonies.

Along with the original music, the play features sketches, quotes, toasts, and roasts, and little known historical facts about the great and the small who made this nation what it is today. Appearing in the production are the Alpha-

Omega Players, a national touring company from Rockport.

There are a limited number of tickets available. Reservations may be made by calling the church office at 267-6394.

The First Methodists held a successful dinner-theatre production in the summer of 1974 and decided to again hold this type of presentation.

It is one of many activities scheduled in coming weeks at First Methodist and the public is invited to attend any and all events at the church, according to church officials.

Deaf Ministry Set By Church

The College Baptist Church, located at 11th Place and Birdwell Lane, will begin a ministry to the deaf January 18. The church has obtained the services of Glen Carrigan, 31, of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center.

Mr. Carrigan will be working with the pastor, Dr. Jimmy D. Law, in translating the sermons as they are preached. The membership of College Baptist Church invites anyone in need of this new ministry to visit them during their worship services at 10:55 a.m. and 6:55 p.m. every Sunday.

Dactylogy, the study of sign language, has been of interest to Mr. Carrigan for fifteen years. Prior to his coming to Big Spring, Carrigan was associated with the Permian Basin Rehabilitation Center in Odessa.

He served the First Baptist Church, Odessa, as Minister to the Deaf during that time. For four years, Carrigan worked as a counselor for the deaf and hard-of-hearing with the Texas Rehabilitation Commission in El Paso. He also worked with the First Baptist Church there.

In 1961, Carrigan took a summer job at Pike's Peak Summit House in Colorado. There he worked with two men who were deaf. As he began to learn how to communicate with them, his interest in sign language grew. He has since worked with the deaf and those with a hearing problem.

IN SCHNABEL CASE Skeptical Senators Invited To Testify

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Six state senators who criticized Dist. Atty. Bob Smith in the indictment of Secretary of the Senate Charles Schnabel have been invited by Smith to testify before the Travis County Grand Jury.

Smith castigated one of the senators Thursday for suggesting he had political motives in the Schnabel case.

Ten persons were subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury this morning, including University of Texas track coach Cleburne Price.

The jury was expected to probe allegations that Schnabel authorized a total of $292 in state funds to be paid to five Senate employees who typed "heat sheets" at the 1974 Texas Relays.

Six of the seven members of the Senate Administration Committee, which investigated Schnabel, told the Associated Press the two theft indictments against Schnabel should never have been issued by the grand jury.

The seventh member, Chairman Don Adams, D-Jasper, said he thought it would be improper for him to comment on the indictments.

One member, Sen. Mike McKinnon, D-Corpus Christi, said: "I think in reality Bob Smith is just running for an election."

Smith, who is running for district judge, responded: "I didn't go out looking for this case. It was brought to me by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Sen. Don Adams, who evidently thought there was something over there that needed looking into. They lost sight of the origin of this thing."

Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, vice chairman of the committee, said he didn't think Schnabel "took one penny" but merely moved money from one fund to another.

Smith replied, "I'm surprised they can put the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval on that. It not only is illegal but unconstitutional. Their attitude on that is rather surprising."

Sen. Raul Longoria, D-Edinburg, hinted that other people higher up should be indicted if Schnabel is indicted. Sen. Frank Lombardino, D-San Antonio, said then-Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and then-Administration Committee Chairman Jack Hightower, D-Vernon, approved vouchers in 1971 to pay for a Senate camera for parking for secretaries.

These payments are the bases for the two theft charges.

"If they have any information that someone else was involved," Smith said, "the grand jury is meeting tomorrow and we welcome their testimony."

Among those subpoenaed is Lois Dean Jackson, a custodian who said Schnabel "let me work early and late" for two months in 1974 so he could earn an extra $140 a month "to help me out" of financial difficulties caused by a niece's hospital bill.

Jackson also said he worked on Schnabel's farm east of Austin two days in 1974, and that Schnabel paid him $15 out of his own pocket.

Some members of the Administration Committee also criticized the third charge against Schnabel, which alleges official misconduct in the use of a Senate Print Shop employee, Frank Smith, on the farm. The defense is expected to contend the employee volunteered to work on his own time and received no state money for the work.

The other committee members said they lacked sufficient information on that count to comment.

If you grow sorghum on sandy soils, it's time you tried Igran.

Because Igran® is the sorghum herbicide that really fits the sandy soil conditions in the South High Plains and South Rolling Plains.

And because it fits, Igran is easier to use. There's no guesswork or experimenting with rates. Just follow the label directions.

Then watch your sorghum come through clean and healthy. Because Igran controls those tough broadleaf weeds like carelessweed and annual morningglory. Controls them early, before they have a chance to rob your crop of vital soil moisture and nutrients.

Igran. Once you try it, you'll keep on using it. Because now you've got a sorghum herbicide that really fits your sandy soil conditions.

Picket Violence Calmed

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Police were on hand today to prevent further violence at a plant where one member of an independent union was killed Thursday, just five minutes into his first day on the job.

"All law enforcement units necessary will be used to maintain law and order," Gov. Edwin Edwards said in ordering troops to a Kellier & Payne Co. construction site here.

"No violence or illegal activity will be permitted — that applies to all sides. Further, I will urge the attorney general and district attorney to vigorously prosecute anyone responsible for violence."

"I will not permit the rights of any citizens to be trampled on by irresponsible elements."

In the fourth straight day of union violence here and in Houston, Tex., armed men drove a fork lift through a plant gate and about 100 men charged through the breach, leaving one man dead and five others injured in the shooting and fighting.

Police said Joe A. Hooper, 26, of Lake Charles died of a single gunshot wound in the chest.

Hooper, a member of the American Federation of Unions local 102, had been sent to the job site Wednesday but was frightened off by pickets. He reported again at 8 a.m. Thursday and died in the attack five minutes later.

One of the injured, Tommy Lee Edwards, said the mob charged behind the fork lift and manned earth moving equipment, overturning two trailers and three automobiles.

He said gunfire broke out in front of the trailer and the mob left, but then a car passed and those inside opened fire on the trailer.

"Hooper hollered four or five times, 'They're shooting at me! They're shooting at me!'" said Edwards.

Union officials identified two victims — Jerry Stewart and Edwards, both of Sulphur — as members of Local 102, but others refused to talk with reporters at a hospital.

Sheriff's deputies, struggling to straighten out the confusing situation, were not available for comment.

Joe Frederick, who identified himself as business agent for Local 102, declined to say who was responsible for the attack but said they should be jailed.

"Labor leaders who promote, organize encourage or condone such activity and those who participate are the worst type of criminal," he said. "They should be apprehended and prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law."

"It appears that no one is safe from the mobsters unless he works for them or agrees with them."

H.B. Westerstrand, who also identified himself as a union spokesman, blamed the violence on AFL-CIO efforts to put the independent union out of business.

William Baggett, lawyer for the Southwest Louisiana Building and Trades Council, AFL-CIO, suggested the company may have brought in strikebreakers to break the unions.

"We suspect that such professionals, employed by the company, were involved in the incident here," he said.

Defendant Collapses At Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — State District Court Judge Garth Bates has ordered a medical hearing to determine if Lee Otis Johnson, a one time black activist, is capable of continuing at his robbery trial.

Johnson, 36, collapsed on the courtroom floor Thursday after testifying. He was taken to a hospital where he was reported in good condition. He complained of back pains.

Johnson is on trial on charges of robbing a prescription laboratory Jan. 28, 1975.

Johnson was convicted in 1968 of giving a marijuana cigarette to an undercover agent and was assessed a 30-year sentence. He served before the sentence was overturned by an appellate court in 1972.

UTPB Signup Totals 553

ODESSA — First day of registration for the spring semester at the University of Texas at the Permian Basin totaled 553.

With registration continuing today and Saturday morning, the total may be higher than last spring's 1,344, Registrar Woody Keith indicated.

Registration is on second level of the university's lab building from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Keith said the total Thursday was about as expected.

Late registration, which begins next Monday when first classes convene, usually provides an additional 200 or so students, Keith said.

BEWARE: HOUSE CROSSING — No, this is not Howard Hughes' Winnebago. This is a somewhat slower process than Dorothy's trip over the rainbow, but nonetheless, this house will get moved from 702 Goliad to Forsan with the help of utility and city employees. Be it ever so humble...

Kiwanians To Hear Sooner

Kiwanians heard from one district official Thursday and will hear from another — the district governor — Feb. 9.

Here for the weekly meeting and urging emphasis on membership recruitment was Roy McCloskey, Snyder, deputy district governor.

Henry Thames, president, announced that Earl Walker, Okemah, Okla., governor of the Texas-Oklahoma district, will make his official visit to the club Feb. 9.

Another important date was announced — March 4, the time for the annual pancake supper at the Howard College gymnasium.

Ronnie Mullins, student council president, was introduced by Craig Fischer, program chairman, and spoke up for basic virtues of faith in God, love and respect of other people.

Capt. L. Z. Sullivan of the Salvation Army presented the club with a bell, symbol of having led other organizations in collections for the annual Christmas kettle bell ring. This is the second year the club has won and if it wins the third, it will keep the trophy permanently.

Crooker Asks Re-Election

County Commissioner William B. Crooker, Jr. has designated himself campaign chairman.

Crooker is seeking re-election to commissioner of precinct three.

Oil Drills Spin

Texas oil well drilling has increased at three times the national rate. The Jan. 12 totals reported by Hughes Tool Company to the International Association of Drilling Contractors shows 1,705 active rigs in the country, up 82 or 5.06 per cent from the comparable date a year ago. Texas' share or the total is 685 rigs, up 95 or an increase of 16.10 per cent.

needed funds for Baker's Chapel AME would be to prepare barbecue lunches.

Saturday will mark the anniversary of that project which is still going stronger than ever. Merritt, who heads up the program and prepares the sauces, is the only one of the originators still around.

A long-time aide is Mrs. Annie Mae Eldridge, who says: "Charlie, you fix the sauce and I'll cook the meat." Actually, he has a hand in the cooking, too.

What does he put in his sauce?

"That's my secret," he hedges. "I've got one for cooking and one for serving — not much difference but some." Attempts to worm his formula from him have been unsuccessful.

Times have changed since the barbecues were started by the church. He got choice beef then for around 50-55 cents a pound, pork was about half that, and whole broilers were available at 45 cents each. Meat now costs two or three times as much, and the plate charge has gone up accordingly — from about 75 cents for a luncheon plate to $2 now.

COMIC STRIP REPORTER

Brenda Starr Finally Married

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brenda Starr, cartoon heroine, was married in a tearful ceremony to Basil St. John, mysteryman of her dreams! The bride wore cardboard.

The 90-minute catered ceremony took place at a local television station Wednesday night. Columnist Ann Landers was there to offer advice. Priscilla of Boston, creator of Tricia Nixon's wedding attire, put on a fashion show. Ellen Proxmire, wife of Wisconsin Democratic Sen. William Proxmire, catered the affair.

At least 100 Washington socialites and reporters and gossip columnists served as guests. President and Mrs. Ford sent their regrets.

A half dozen models paraded around in wedding gowns designed by Priscilla. The bride and groom, characters from a long-running newspaper comic strip, stood as six-foot cardboard characters behind a real, four-tiered wedding cake.

Champagne flowed while Brenda's creator, 69-year-old Dale Messick of Chicago, bubbled on about how hard it's been to get Brenda married.

"It took a long time for (her newspaper) syndicate to let her get married," Miss Messick said. "Only recently they've let her have a belly button."

Miss Messick, who dyed her bouffant hairdo red like Brenda's and wore a flowing paisley gown, said the couple did not live together before they were married.

"She's a virgin!" Miss Messick shouted to anyone within hearing distance.

The creator added that Brenda, a news reporter, would keep her maiden name professionally and that she would continue working. "She didn't marry a rich boy."

The bride has spent the last 32 years pursuing the handsome dark-haired groom. He wore his black eyepatch. She carried a black orchid corsage. St. John suffers from a mysterious ailment treatable only from serum extracted from black orchids.

The story goes that for years he was afraid to marry Brenda for fear he would go nuts in front of her and pass the disease to their children. But now, a long-lived serum has been discovered and St. John no longer needs to reside in the Brazilian jungle growing black orchids.

Professionally, St. John sells the serum to others suffering from this rare illness.

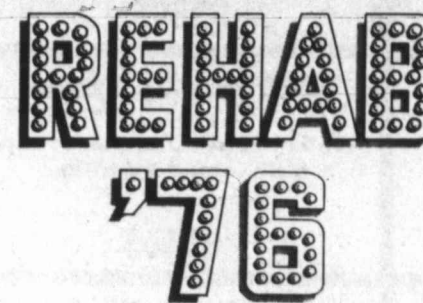

Asked what advice she would offer the couple, Miss Landers, draped in blue and white chiffon, just shrugged. Pressed why she attended the ceremony, she said between mouthfuls of cheese quiche, "I'd like to know myself."
