Insurance Board chairman resigns

AUSTIN--While former U.S. Sen. John Tower stood in the eye of the storm surrounding his nomination for defense secretary, the embattled chairman of the State Board of Insurance resigned.

Jack Smith, who was appointed chairman by Gov. Bill Clements

The bill's author, Sen. Bob Glasgow, said those who make or accept illegal offers—including athletes, parents, college officials and alumni—could face jail sentences or fines under the measure.

The bill would make it a third degree felony to offer an illegal inducement. The punishment would be two to 10 years in jail and a fine of up to $5,000.

Endorsing the legislation at the committee hearing were University of Texas football legends Darrell Royal and Earl Campbell, and former Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes.

Senate Approves Mergers

Legislation designed to bring South Texas colleges into the University of Texas and Texas A&M University systems passed the Senate on a voice vote last week.

If approved by the House, the bill will bring the Edinburg and Brownsville campuses of Pan American University into the UT system.

Another bill, also approved on a voice vote, makes Texas A&I University in Kingsville, Corpus Christi State University and Laredo State University part of the Texas A&M family.

Lottery Clears Panel

Legislation to allow Texas voters to decide whether to legalize a state-run lottery cleared a Senate committee last week, but opponents said they have enough votes to kill the bill in the House.

Without debate, the Senate State Affairs Committee voted 9-4 to refer the proposed constitutional amendment to the full Senate, where opponents say the vote would be close.

The bill's sponsor, Sen. Hector Uribe, said the amendment has "substantial" support in the Senate and that the House may be swayed by the state's fiscal problems.

Other Highlights

- Sen. Chet Edwards, a Duncannonville Democrat, announced creation of an "exploratory committee" to consider a 1990 race for lieutenant governor.

- Kay Bailey Hutchison, Dallas attorney and first GOP woman Texas House member, named a campaign treasurer, saying it allows her to "more fully explore running for state treasurer."

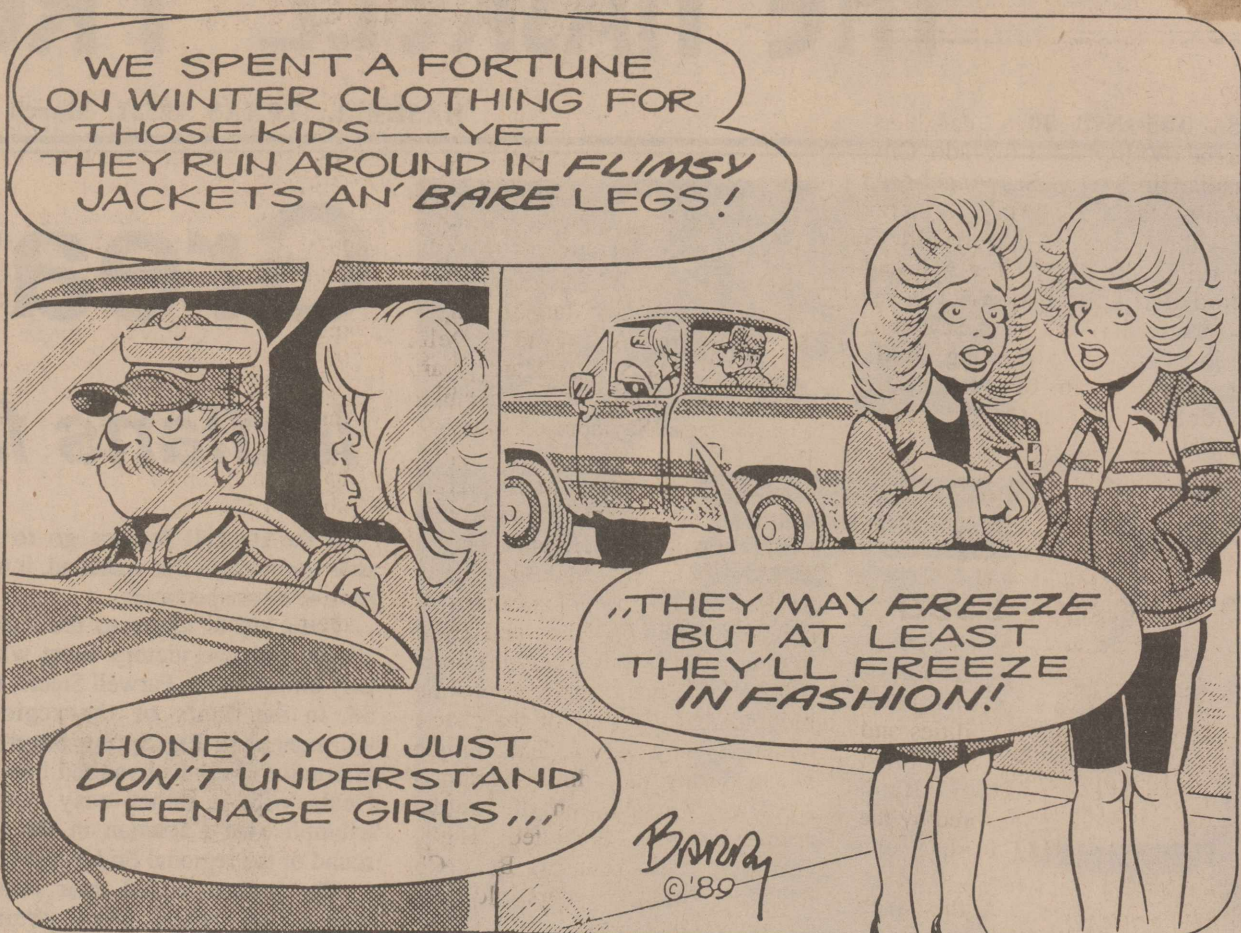

- Lee Powell, former acting deputy Commissioner of Insurance, told a Senate subcommittee he provided superiors with names of at least 15 agents involved in a "multi-million-dollar fraud" of policyholders, but no one was prosecuted.

- Dallas investor Louis Beecherl, an appointee of Gov. Clements, was elected chairman of the University of Texas System regents.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen Watching Washington

Not since color television was introduced in 1954 has a video technology held such challenge and promise for the future.

It's called High Definition Television (HDTV) and it will soon bring cinema-quality pictures and digital sound to TV.

But the promise is about more than improved picture quality. It's about jobs, money and the future of the U.S. electronics industry. It's about America being prepared to take advantage of this new technology.

The influence of HDTV may well revolutionize the entire industry, bringing radical changes to products ranging from medical imaging equipment to defense radar systems.

As Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, I am disturbed that we risk losing our lead in developing this technology because most of our electronics manufacturing has gone overseas.

Twenty years ago, there were 18 U.S. companies manufacturing TV sets. Today there is only one. The same thing has happened to a variety of electronic products: stereos, cameras, and so on. For example, no U.S. firm manufactures video cassette recorders (VCRs). With so few electronic manufacturers, we lack the facilities to develop high definition TV or any other future electronic products.

There is a lot of money riding on this new technology. By 2010, sales of HDTV products are expected to total $40 billion worldwide. Sales in the U.S. alone will account for $11 billion.

Countries like Germany and Japan already lead in developing high definition TV. Not only will they profit from these sales, but from the spin-offs the technology will create. The more powerful other countries become in electronics manufacturing, the better able they are to attack America's lead in computers, telecommunications and microchips. In a short time, the lid could very well be nailed shut on America's $370 billion-a-year electronics industry and the 2.54 million jobs it creates.

We cannot afford to let this happen.

Business and government leaders are now awakening to this impending crisis. A group of 16 American electronics manufacturers recently announced plans to band together to develop high definition TV, while the Pentagon plans to explore defense applications.

While these are important steps, we still lag behind in exploring this technology. Taking the lead requires business and government leaders to join forces. We must chart a strategy to develop high definition TV while fortifying the rest of our electronics industry.

As Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, I want to see that Congress works with the electronics industry in a search for the best way to close this technology gap.

The future of our electronics industry, and our country, depends upon the actions we take now.

BY WENDELL FAUGHT

It may not qualify for the book of world records, but the small town of Calvert between Marlin and Bryan has a distinction worth noting.

Driving through there over the weekend, I noted that the town already has up its Christmas decorations, unless it just hasn't gotten around to taking down last year's.

It's not difficult to understand how 110,000 Texans could have bank accounts they didn't know about until the state treasurer came out with a list of their names the other day.

Many of them probably weren't able to keep up with their money for good reason.

A fellow in Dallas, for instance, might have had a bank account a few years ago in the First National Bank. The bank changed hands, or merged, or something and its name was changed to FirstBanc and the custody of his money was transferred of an outfit that didn't even know how to spell the word bank.

A year later, another owner and another name, FirstRepuBanc, and the spelling got more confusing. Before another year passed, the bank became NCNB, which is a terrible way to spell North Carolina.

If the depositor was still tracking his money he probably threw up his hands when the TV ads for his bank started pushing free coffee.

OK, you cheese lovers. Eat your hearts out.

An article in Newsweek tells of the conclusion of a group of researchers that the fatty acids (CLA) in Cheese Whiz can help people who eat it build up a defense against cancer.

CLA also is present in whipped cream, but the researchers stopped short of recommending it as a cancer fighter.

And they didn't mention that while you're immunizing your system with Cheese Whiz, you'll be clogging your arteries with cholesterol.

I have an inferiority complex.

At least I have if I am to believe some of the recent stories in the press and on TV. So does everyone else who hails from Oklahoma.

If press reports are to be believed, the University of Oklahoma football team was an instrument by which Okies could get back their pride following the tough days of the Great Depression and the Dust Bowl.

Hog wash.

One story told about the school "bringing in" Bud Wilkinson as head coach to build a gridiron powerhouse which would help the Okies forget their problems.

If memory serves me, Wilkinson wasn't "brought in". He was already there as an assistant to Jim Tatum and was elevated to the top spot when Tatum quit to take a job at North Carolina.

"From Stettin in the Baltic to Trieste in the Adriatic an iron curtain has descended across the continent."

Winston Churchill said it on March 5, 1946, in a speech at Westminster College in Fulton, Mo., describing the closing of Eastern Europe behind the wall of Soviet domination, thus coining a new phrase in the Western vocabulary.

Young Homemakers have meeting

The Haskell Young Homemakers met Feb. 14 in the First United Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Members enjoyed Mexican food, catered by the Ruiz family of Haskell. The meal was followed by a shoe business meeting. Norma Richardson won the Embassy Suites drawing and Sue Andersen won the door prize.

After an energetic game of "Pictionary" the meeting was adjourned.

Hostesses were Camin Pittman, Lisa Teague, Rosemary Brown and Pat Grand.

Dorlene Walton will present a program on breast cancer at the March 14 meeting in the home of Pam Mathis at 607 S. 6th.

Willie Berryhill

Willie Berryhill, 82, died Monday in Munday Nursing Center.

Pallbearers were Bill Kingston, Loyal Cameron, Marvin Letz, Gerald McCoy, Paul Chambers and Buck Speer.

1982.

She is survived by three daughters, Elerene Warren of Colorado City, Claudia Hindsley of San Angelo and Johnnie Mae Caskey of Lillington, N.C.; three sons, Bill Berryhill of Amarillo, Lynn Berryhill of Azle and Buford Berryhill of Munday; three brothers, Ralph Riggins of Seymour, Gordon Riggins of Deming, N.M., and Wiley Bean of Plains; 18 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

Water district to be discussed

A meeting on the organization of an underground water district and a discussion of its responsibilities and duties will be held Tuesday (March 14) in the First National Bank Community Room. Sponsored by the Haskell County Farm Bureau, the meeting begins at 7 p.m.

Counties involved in this area include Baylor, Haskell, Jones, Knox and Stonewall. All interested persons from these counties are urged to attend this important meeting.

Ned Meister of the Texas Farm Bureau office in Waco will be speaker for the meeting.

Beta Chi meets in Aspermont

Beta Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International met Sunday, Feb. 26, in the First United Methodist Church in Aspermont with members from Aspermont, Old Glory and Sagerton as hostesses.

President Jackye Leonard called the meeting to order and Mary Martin led the group in singing the "Delta Kappa Gamma Song." Marie Ward gave research trivia on the beginning of Beta Chi at Seymour on March 7, 1936.

Miss Eula Lee Carter, Alpha (Texas) state officer, organized the chapter with 16 chapter charter members from Haskell, Knox, Stonewall and Throckmorton counties. Madalin Hunt and Hazel Weaver are the only ones still living in this area. The booklet containing biographical sketches of the charter members was shown. This project began during the administration of Dorothy Myers when the golden anniversary was celebrated. "Happy Birthday" was sung to Beta Chi Chapter, now 53 years old with almost 100 members.

Second vice president Jo Cox introduced guests, Dr. Lawrence and Sonya Clayton. Dr. Clayton is dean of arts and sciences at Hardin-Simmons University and Sonya is a technical assistant at the Regional Service Center. She grew up in the Albany area, saying "I've just been plain country all my life. Someone in my family has been a part of the Fort Griffin Fandangle since it began."

The Claytons have collaborated to produce "Cowboys Along the Clear Fork," which documents by words by Lawrence and photographs by Sonya the work of contemporary cowboys. Watt Matthews is the only ranch owner featured. The others, such as three of the four Peacock brothers, are working cowboys. George Peacock has been foreman of the Nail Ranch about 25 years. His photograph is very striking. There is a big difference between the "round bellies" and the "flat bellies." The Claytons have done their own publishing since they could not find a publisher who thought there was anything noteworthy in Southwestern life and literature. The New York Times did send a reporter to interview them and produce several articles with photos.

They have received quite a bit of feedback from that--a South Carolina newspaper, the Chicago Times and the Fort Worth Star Telegram. NBC sent a lady reporter. She couldn't believe there were motels in Abilene and that the cowboys on the Akers ranch began at 4 a.m. with a cold breakfast. It was also difficult for her to understand what "working" cattle meant. Watt Matthews has recently received a call to give his opinion of "Lonesome Dove." Sonya had a large collection of her photographs on display for the members to view during the refreshment time, which followed their informal and informative presentation.

A business session followed the social hour. President Leonard announced that scholarship applications must be submitted by March 1 to scholarship chairman Dorothy Myers, stating graduate work area, certification or special area and the college attending. Applications will be presented to the chapter at the April 2 meeting.

Vida White, membership chairman, presented the names of several ladies for active or honorary membership. She was assisted by Marijane Cunningham, Mary Sawyers, Leslie Kupatt and Margie Lott, who read the qualifications, educational background, personal traits and present position of each lady deemed worthy to receive an invitation.

Voting was by secret ballot. Those who accept membership will be initiated at the April meeting with Christie Stapleton in charge. She will be assisted by Ida Jo Owens, Linda Edrington, Wanda Thompson, Lillian Logan and Lillian Hicks of the ceremonials committee.

The next meeting will be at the home of Jo Cox, 701 N. Ave. K, in Haskell on Sunday, April 2. The date has been changed due to UIL competition on April 1. Members from Haskell, Rule, Weinert and Rochester will be hostesses.

Track teams open season Saturday

Haskell High School track teams kick off the new season Saturday in Breckenridge.

Indian Coach Walter Hargrove and Maiden Coach George Martin will be doing a lot of experimenting with different runners as a means of determining where they fit best.

Hargrove, who succeeds Jimmy Lisle as head coach, welcomes back several key performers from the 1988 team which won the state championship. However, he will have extreme difficulty in replacing the graduated Mark Young and Stephon Brockington, who won state titles in the 800- and 200-meter runs last spring and also ran on the relay teams. Another absentee is sprinter and relay man Fred Shaw who has dropped out of school.

Heading the returnees are speedsters Derrick Billington, Rodney Johnson, Johnnie Billington and Josh Reid. The two Billingtons and Johnson will each run one of the sprints and also run on the relay teams. Reid will run on the 800-meter relay team, the intermediate hurdles and possibly the high hurdles.

Weight men will be Bo Watson and Paul Harvey in the shot and Roger Roewe and Eric Mullen in the discus. Harvey was second in district last year in the shot while Roewe and Mullen finished 1-2 in district last year in the shot.

Dusty Meeks will compete in high jump, an event in which he qualified for regional last year.

Another returnee and district champion is Joe Ray Comacho, who will run the mile and possibly the 800.

Tim Alexander, a senior who did not compete last year, will be a sprinter on this year's team.

Up from the junior varsity are Jonathan Dever, Adam Coleman and Robert Swann.

The Maidens return most of the performers who won them the district title last spring.

Heading the list is Joy McKeever, a two-time state meet qualifier in the 100-meter hurdles. She also was a regional qualifier last year in the high jump and triple jump. Coach Martin hopes to use her on the 400- and 800-meter relay teams this year.

Another top individual will be Regina Dever who was fifth in the state last year in the 400-meter run.

Returning from the mile relay team which finished third in the state are Teresa and Sheila Unger, Dever and Gloria Castillo. Leiza Morales and Sheree Dumas, members of last year's team, have graduated.

The 400-meter relay team will feature McKeever and the Unger sisters, who along with the graduated

Dumas, won the district last season.

The Maidens' 800-meter relay team will be virtually the same as the 400. Castillo and Jana Payne are 2-milers.

A pair of seniors who didn't compete last year, Michelle Whisenhunt and Dala Harris, are being counted on, as is junior Missy Davis.

Rounding out the squad are eight freshmen, Misty Bartley, Denise Collins, Elsie Ruiz, Deanna Scheets, Kim Gilly, Daniela Guadaluza, Martha Nava and Mary Alice Olvera.

WHAT'S NEW AT YOUR HOME OWNED SEARS CATALOG STORE

What's new is that we've lowered the prices on 50,000 items so customers can find great values EVERY SINGLE DAY.

SEARS will have the same quality products it has been known for...Craftsman Tools, Kenmore appliances...along with 1,000 national brands.

Our catalog tabloids will take on a different appearance. They will reinforce availability of certain seasonal goods at EVERYDAY LOW PRICES and, for example, will offer savings on multiple purchases, special purchases, end-of-the-season clearances or pass along manufacturer's price reductions.

Today's consumers, especially dual-income families, want shopping convenience. Consumers also want quality products at fair prices, and that's what EVERYDAY LOW PRICING means at Sears.

As another convenience, you, the customer, can call a toll free telephone number 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to place an order and have it delivered to either your LOCAL SEARS CATALOG STORE or your home.

All of us at SEARS CATALOG STORE IN HASKELL would like to thank you for the 13 years we have been in business and are very excited about the future. It is an exciting prospect being able to offer you the same quality merchandise and service at newly reduced prices.

Come by and look over the new prices. We are getting more and new merchandise with EVERYDAY LOW PRICES.

Once again THANK YOU for your patronage through these years.

We are all looking forward to seeing you soon.

TAX PLANNING

James E. Rodgers, CPA

EMPLOYEE BENEFIT PLANS (What Every Employer Needs to Know)

Every business that provides benefits to its employees must concern itself with the 1986 Tax Reform Act's "Section 89" rules that became effective January 1, 1989.

First of all, Section 89 requires that benefit plans meet "qualification standards." If they don't, employees must pay taxes on the value of benefits received. The five basic requirements are:

1. The plan must be in writing.
2. The plan must be legally enforceable by employees.
3. The plan must be for the exclusive benefit of employees and, in some cases, their spouses and dependents.
4. The plan must be set up to continue indefinitely.
5. Employees must be given reasonable notification of their benefits under the plan.

The rules apply to accident and health plans, group-term life insurance plans, group legal services plans, education assistance programs, dependent care assistance programs and cafeteria plans.

Once the qualification standards are met, employers must deal with new nondiscrimination rules. The law includes a series of tests that measure which employees are eligible to receive benefits and whether benefits are provided almost uniformly to all employees. If your plan favors highly compensated employees, the "excess discriminatory benefits" going to these high-paid employees will be taxable income to them. As the employer, you must then with hold taxes on these benefits or pay stiff penalties to the IRS.

Complying with the new rules will create headaches for many businesses. There are some options worth considering, so it's important that you seek professional assistance for a review of your benefit plans in light of the new rules.

We look forward to giving you the same friendly, courteous service as always.

A pamphlet published by the State Property Tax Board, which details all taxpayer's rights, remedies and responsibilities is available free of charge at the Appraisal District office. All tax questions should be directed to the Haskell County Appraisal District, Box 467, Haskell, Texas 79521, (817) 864-3805.

Mrs. Jeff Bode

Sheperd, Bode wed in Cleburne

Cynthia Shepard of Cleburne married Jeff Bode of Harper in an evening ceremony Jan. 14 at the home of the bride's in Cleburne.

The Rev. Olney of the First Methodist Church in Joshua read vows before an altar decorated with a brass archway and spiral candleabras entwined with the bride's colors of mixed flowers. There was a large flower arrangement that covered the fireplace mantel, and the hearth was covered with potted ferns.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Shepard of Cleburne and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Bode of Harper. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. C. E. Turnbow and the late Mr. Turnbow of Haskell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Queen Anne-style satin gown, featuring a sweetheart neckline of Venice lace. The dress had a fitted bodice with handsewn pearls, cut-out lace trim, and iridescent pearls and sequins sewn on the bodice. The full skirt had a chapel-length train with scalloped lace around the bottom. The bride's headpiece was of walking-length net, accented with pearls, sequins, and iridescent pearls to match the dress.

She carried a bouquet of white catalaya orchids.

Attending the bride was maid of honor Andrea Shepard, her sister, of Cleburne. She wore a tea-length dress of bright pink satin with a black, velvet bodice and rhinestone earrings, which were a gift from the bride. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers in shades of pink with orchids.

Best man was Paul Bode, brother of the groom, of Dallas. Usher was Thomas Bode, also a brother of the groom.

Providing music for the occasion were pianist and organist Russell Chin and soloist Barbara Howard, who sang "The Wedding Prayer," "Evergreen" and "Walk Hand-in-Hand."

Special guests were grandparents, Mrs. C. E. Turnbow of Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Howe of Bluffton and Mrs. J. H. Shepard of Pine Bluff, Ark.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, was held in their home immediately following the ceremony. Houseparty members included family members from Houston, Dallas, Haskell, Buffalo, Mo., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Bode, was held at Chino's Chinese Restaurant.

Following a wedding trip to the Poconos in Pennsylvania, the couple resides in Midland.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Joshua High School and a 1988 graduate of Tarleton State University.

The groom is a 1988 graduate of Tarleton State University and is employed by Employers Insurance of Texas.

You are reading The Haskell Free Press and we thank you.

Weaver, Stewart to marry

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Weaver of Haskell have announced the engagement of their daughter, Robyne Ann Weaver, to Mike Stewart of Munday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stewart.

The couple will be married March 18.

Miss Weaver was graduated from Haskell High School and is attending Vernon Regional Junior College. The groom-to-be was graduated from Weinert High School and is a farmer in the Weinert-Munday area.

Four couples get marriage licenses

Four couples were issued marriage licenses last month by the office of County Clerk Woodrow Frazier.

Receiving licenses were: Roy Herman Forehand of Canyon of Sandra Chloe Horton of Haskell, Larry Paul Reid of Rochester and Karen Lynn Daniel of Knox City, Marcos Muniz of Rule and Irma Diaz of Haskell and Aaron Lee Weaver of Vernon and Linda Michelle Briscoe of Haskell.

WINNER: Erica Hollingsworth participated in the "Our Diamond Miss" pageant in Abilene Feb. 25. She will compete in the state pageant in June. Erica is the granddaughter of Jo Campbell and the great-granddaughter of May Belle Wimberly.

"...the whirl and tumult of a windswept March..."

Could this be descriptive of the condition your finances are in...present and future? Are they as unprotected from anything as capricious as the winds?

If something goes wrong, if the market turns downward, if anything changes too suddenly, could your financial security be swept away?

At Farmers National Bank, the safety of your money isn't subjected to gusts of the unpredictable -- no matter what happens. Because the deposits you have are insured for up to $100,000.

And, at Farmers National, your money is in the care of professionals who are right there when you need them. Talk with our experts; they'll show you savings and investment plans that earn competitive interest rates and they'll offer you that protection from "...the whirl and tumult of a windswept March..." every day, all year long.

The Haskell County Child Welfare Board met in regular session Tuesday, Feb. 22, in the jury room. Brian Burgess, chairman, called the meeting to order and led in prayer. Sue Miller, treasurer, reported that medicine for two girls in one family has been purchased.

The Texas Council of Child Welfare Board is again asking the county boards to form a telephone network to enable each board member to enlist three concerned citizens to have an impact on state legislators and the governor concerning funding for abused children. Tom Long was appointed chairman.

Each board member will be mailed a guideline to follow in calling or writing officials, and each volunteer should also have a suggested guideline. Members of the House Budget Committee, the Senate Finance Committee and the budget leaders of Gov. Clements' staff should also be contacted by letters.

There was also a discussion concerning a summer fund-raising project.

There was a discussion concerning April Child Abuse Prevention Awareness. Mary Jennings had suggested using the identification tags. The secretary is to find the number of elementary students in the five county schools. The bank will be asked to display an announcement during the month.

It is the desire of the board to enlist some new members. Shirley Miller resigned and Dr. James Kemp has moved. The board would welcome any volunteers.

Linda Haynes, Child Protective Service officer, came near the close of the meeting because she was involved with officials on a child abuse case.

The next meeting will be March 21. Meetings are open to anyone.

Stamford artist to give program

Fern Livengood of Stamford, a member of the Brazos West Art Association, will present the organization's March meeting.

Mrs. Livengood, in a "paint-along", will feature the painting of windmills in oils and other mediums.

The meeting will be in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank at 7 p.m. on Monday (March 13).

Anyone interested in art is invited to attend any meeting of the association.

Our deepest appreciation to the doctors, nurses, and all those at Rice Springs Care Home, the Hospital and Nursing Center for the love and care you gave Mother, Bessie Baker.

A special thank you to our friends who brought food, and sent cards and flowers. Your prayers and words of comfort strengthened us and made our loss easier to bear.
