GOODS RECOVERED — Big Spring Police Lt. Claude Morris examines a coat with a hidden pocket used in a shoplifting spree that involved at least seven local stores, Thursday. Scattered across the floor of the Police Station is a portion of the $4,666.50 worth of stolen merchandise abandoned by three shoplifters when they fled from police.

Mexico City has third earthquake

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The day's third earthquake rolled through Mexico City late this morning as millions of Mexicans gathered along boulevards and squares to await the arrival of Pope John Paul II, flying in from the Dominican Republic.

The tremor caused a brief panic among city residents, especially those in high-rise buildings, but as with the earlier shocks there were no immediate reports of serious damage or casualties.

The third quake struck at about 11:15 a.m. (12:15 p.m. EST) and was not as strong as the first tremor, which one Mexico City seismological station said registered 6.3 on the Richter scale.

The first shock was centered in the Pacific Ocean about 280 miles southwest of Mexico City, probably off the coast of Michoacan state. It struck at about 4:10 a.m. (5:10 a.m. EST) and lasted about a minute.

Almost two hours later, at 6:05 a.m., there was a brief aftershock measuring 5.0 on the Richter scale. The third tremor lasted about a minute. Its Richter reading was not immediately available.

Tall buildings swayed noticeably in the first quake.

The quakes did not change the pope's travel plans. He took off from the Dominican Republic this morning for the flight to this city of 13 million.

After the first quake, some tourists in downtown hotels fled into lobbies or into the street when their hotels stopped swaying.

There was an unusual amount of predawn activity when the tremor hit. Many people were gathering in the dark around Mexico City's main square to find a spot to see the pope's motorcade.

At least 5 million people were expected to turn out to greet him as he begins a five-day visit.

Officials at Red Cross headquarters throughout central Mexico said they had no reports of casualties.

Firemen to make emergency runs

Alert Ambulance Service canceled in Big Spring

By JAMES WERRELL

Alert Ambulance Service is barred from operating inside the city of Big Spring.

Its operating permit was canceled when the company failed to come up with insurance payments. City Council members and Howard County Commissioners met in joint session to cancel the permit and void contracts with Alert, 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

County Judge Bill Tune announced at the meeting that the insurance company that had covered Alert notified him that the service's three policies had been canceled, 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Alert operators Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Kohlenberg failed to make payments for vehicles, workman's compensation and liability coverage.

"I think it would be very foolish to allow Alert to operate without liability coverage, and we should cancel their contract immediately," said Mayor Wade Choate.

Both governing bodies then voted unanimously to do just that.

During the interim, until contracts with another firm can be finalized, the city will provide emergency service in Big Spring and the county. Local firefighters with Emergency Medical Technician training will operate two ambulances, one owned by the city, the other borrowed from the city of Midland.

Those in need of emergency service should call the Big Spring Police Department at either 263-7311 or 263-8311.

Another joint meeting between the two governing bodies has been scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday in Commissioners' Courtroom. Both will discuss entering into contract with Richard Cravens, a local employee of Trinity Memorial Park, to provide emergency service.

"Both are highly qualified," said Nagel.

County Attorney Harvey Hooser and City Attorney Elliott Mitchell were instructed to notify the Kohlenbergs of the actions taken, and to draw up a revised contract to be used with the new firm.

"We need to include something about insurance and moral terpitude in the contract itself," said Nagel.

The reference to moral turpitude was made in light of the fact that the Kohlenbergs were indicted Wednesday by a Midland grand jury on charges of possessing heroin. The couple were arrested Jan. 9 as they stepped from a plane at the Midland Airport.

Shoplifting suspects flee; stolen merchandise recovered

A shoplifting spree that involved at least seven local stores ended in the parking lot of the Foodway Grocery, 2500 S. Gregg, 8 p.m. Thursday.

Employees and customers at the Foodway Store became very suspicious when three women attempted to carry three wastebaskets full of food from the store without paying for them. Even the wastebaskets themselves had been stolen from counters in the store.

Police were summoned, but the three suspects took off when they realized they had been discovered.

Fortunately they left their car behind, and it was literally packed full of stolen merchandise.

"We thought there was a lot of stuff in the front of the car, but when we opened the trunk...," said Lt. Claude Morris.

Inside the car were eight full pillow cases of stolen clothing, 10 large cans of coffee, four fur coats, four mugs, 16 cartons of cigarettes, a man's suit, six cans of spray wax, a can of powdered cleanser and a bottle of mouthwash. The merchandise was valued at $4,666.50.

The three wastebaskets containing $150 worth of frozen meat were returned immediately to Foodway before the perishables spoiled.

Another lucky break for investigators was that, in their haste, the women had left behind their purses containing the identity of each. All three are Lubbock residents.

Police also found a large coat with a hidden pouch sewn inside that had been used to secret away some of the stolen merchandise.

Although investigators are not certain that the list is complete, the stores may know were hit by the thieves included Thornton's, Grigsby's Rag Doll, The Tom Boy, Swartz Ladies Wear, K-Mart, Foodway and Kid Shops in both Big Spring and Lamesa.

Americans being warned that patience needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are being warned on all sides that it may take years of patient sacrifice before significant progress is made in the battle against inflation.

"1979 will be a year of austerity," Federal Reserve Chairman G. William Miller told the House Budget Committee Thursday.

"This is a time for patience," he added.

Barry Bosworth, executive director of the President's Council on Wage and Price Stability had a similar message in a speech to the American Association of Retired Persons.

"This is not going to be a year in which Americans can look forward to increases in real income," said Bosworth.

He predicted sharp rises in food costs over the next few months and said it may take years before the problem of inflation is solved. A separate government report said vegetable prices, for example, are expected to be up about 10 percent in the next few weeks over what they were last winter.

President Carter himself is taking every opportunity to stress his emphasis on fighting inflation, doing so in his budget message, State of the Union address and annual economic report, all delivered to Congress this week.

And in yet another message to the House and Senate, one sent Thursday containing his 1979 legislative proposals, Carter said the fight against inflation "will be one of the most difficult battles our government has undertaken in many years."

Policemen, city settle overtime wages dispute

The 20 police holdouts in an overtime pay dispute settled with the city today.

A news release from the Big Spring Chapter of the International Brotherhood of Police Officers stated that members met in an emergency session, Thursday night, and decided to settle with the city.

"After lengthy discussion of the compromises involved, the officers voted to accept the offer, saying it would be in the best interests of the department," read the release.

The dispute involved improper compensation for overtime worked by local police. Officers are entitled to either time-and-a-half pay for overtime hours, or time off during the week the overtime is worked.

Police had been forced to take compensating time off whenever they could, often during a different week, which did not comply with the law.

Officers had threatened to file suit against the city to gain the overtime pay. The city countered with an offer to settle out of court, and 15 officers took the city up on the offer, while 20 waited to talk with their attorney about the matter.

"We had 35 officers who had money coming to them. All totaled, we paid out $8,000," said City Attorney Elliott Mitchell.

The largest payment was $1,000, and the smallest was just under $14, he said.

Juvenile judge decision sticky

A $3,000 increase was in the 1979 county budget for the salary for the county juvenile judge and attorney's fees. County Judge Bill Tune had no comment about how the increase from $500 to $3,000 came about.

Tune did not deny that he had been responsible for adding the money to the budget. He said, "When you're not juvenile judge you certainly don't have any funds to discuss there. As far as I'm concerned, 'it's dead right now."

Some sources have contended that the juvenile judge's position is not a paid position. Newly appointed Juvenile Judge Jim Gregg as well as Tune have said that they would take no money for the post. Gregg is also 118th district judge. There is a possibility that Tune will be appointed to the position by the juvenile board.

The final decision on the appointment will be made when an opinion by the district attorney's office has been made on new rulings on article 51.04 in the Family Code of the state constitution. Assistant District Attorney Don Richard said that the district attorney's office is "responsible for making evaluations of law."

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Iris and age

Q. Does a person's eyes turn gray, like hair, as he or she grows older?

A. One's vision does undergo some change with age. The iris, the colored part of the eye, gradually loses pigment in a process not unlike the graying of the hair. But just as each of our bodies reacts differently to advancing age, the rate and extent of pigment loss is an individual thing.

On the light side

Dig it, wear it

CHICAGO (AP) — What does an honest T-shirt peddler do when business dries up in the dead of winter?

Scott Bellak, 19, of Des Plaines, said he and six fellow T-shirt peddlers solved their winter problems with "Blizzard of '79" T-shirts.

The shirts feature a scene of snow-clogged, downtown Chicago with several shovels lying in heavy snow at the base of skyscrapers.

Across the front is printed: "Blizzard of '79. Dig it."

Bellak said Wissssh Inc., the T-shirt corporation that employs him, has sold about 2,200 of the blue and white shirts since its seven salesmen took to the streets last Friday.

"Most people think it's a cute idea," he said. "But some people say they don't want to buy them, because they don't want any more reminders about the snowstorm."

Colorado hog talk

DENVER (AP) — House Speaker Bob Buford says citybred lawmakers and reporters ought to have a special glossary of terms to understand debates in the Colorado General Assembly.

People have been described as "independent as a hog on ice," "as nervous as a blind pig in a treetop" and "meaner than a red hog." To understand debates, you have to know what these things mean.

Well, hogs have hooves and can't maneuver on ice. But they'll fight anyone who tries to help them. So if you're "independent as a hog on ice," you're in a jam and too ornery to let anyone help you out.

If you're "as nervous as a blind pig in a treetop," you're uncomfortable in strange surroundings. And if they say you're "meaner than a red hog" you're unpleasant, fellow.

Mrs. Walker is chairman of Bike-A-Thon in Coahoma

Mrs. Connie Walker has been named chairman of a Bike-A-Thon in Coahoma by Reuben D. Duke, President of the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

She will be conducting the Bike-A-Thon to raise funds which will support research and care for children affected by cystic fibrosis, severe asthma, chronic bronchitis, bronchietasis and other related lung-damaging diseases.

Cystic Fibrosis, an incurable genetic disease, is inherited by one in every 1,500 babies born in the United States. Both parents carry the recessive gene for CF and number among one in twenty persons in the U.S. who may be carriers, usually without knowing it. With improved therapy and constant research, many CF patients are now living into early adulthood.

"Most people do not realize there are millions of children affected by lung-damaging diseases, and by participating in our Bike-A-Thon, you can help these children who can't take breathing for granted", said Duke.

Farm workers union rejects mediation

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Pickers walked out at two more lettuce farms as the United Farm Workers rejected federal mediation as a way to end a dispute that threatens the nation's winter lettuce crop.

Growers spokesman Richard Thorton said employers would comply with a government request and meet with the mediator today in Los Angeles.

But UFW spokesman Marc Grossman said: "The federal mediators are not needed. We can reach an agreement if the growers will just negotiate in good faith."

About 2,700 lettuce pickers have struck six of 28 major growers in the Salinas and Imperial valleys of southeastern California. Strike votes have been taken at other farms, Grossman said.

About 95 percent of the U.S. winter iceberg lettuce crop is grown in the Imperial Valley, and a prolonged strike could lead to severe lettuce shortages.

About 16,000 members of the union led by Cesar Chavez are seeking a 40 percent raise in a one-year contract. The growers have offered 7 percent per year in wage and benefit increases over three years.

The current minimum wage for the workers is $3.70.

The latest farms struck were Joe Maggio Inc., where 450 workers left, and Lu Ette Farms, where 120 walked off.

Four children die in fire

JACKSONVILLE, Texas (AP) — A Jacksonville mother remains hospitalized with burns she received while trying to rescue three daughters and a grandson who died in the fire that destroyed their frame home Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Jerline Davis, 36, remained in stable condition in Medical Center Hospital with first-, second-and third-degree burns on her hands, face, arms and back.

The dead children were identified as Jackie Davis, 5; Shelia Davis, 2; Lashanda Davis, 2 months; and Tracy LaCharles Hinton, 4 months. Hinton was Mrs. Davis' grandson.

Jacksonville police officer Bill Avera said Mrs. Davis pulled her son, Shawn, from the burning house, but could not get to the other children in time.

"She tried to rescue them," said Jacksonville Fire Chief, Howard Martin. "But the fire was so hot, she couldn't get them out of the house."

Martin said the children apparently died of smoke inhalation.

The fire broke out shortly before 3 p.m., and when firefighters arrived, "there was fire all over," Martin said.

Martin set the tentative cause of the flame as a wood-burning tin heater — the only heat in the house — located in one of the middle bedrooms.

The bodies of three of the children were found on a bed in that same bedroom. The fourth body was on the floor in another bedroom, Martin said.

Inmate shot in Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A 29-year-old inmate who was shot while trying to escape Thursday night, remains in stable condition in the Huntsville unit hospital of the Texas Department of Corrections, according to spokesman Ron Taylor.

Taylor said Arthur Dean Ingle placed a ladder against the prison wall and had climbed over the top when a tower guard fired three warning shots into the air. The prisoner was shot once in the back of the head with a 12-guage shotgun, Taylor said.

Prison officials are investigating how Ingle obtained the ladder, a straw workhat and jacket usually worn by correctional officers, and a file that had been sharpened into a 12-inch knife, Taylor said.

Carter has his good and bad days

There must be days in the life of a president when he feels he'd like to have the job forever. Then there are probably times when he's convinced he'd have been better off running a haberdashery in Missouri or harvesting peanuts in Georgia.

PRESIDENT CARTER has had his good and bad days in recent months. He must have felt everything was going his way when it appeared Mr. Begin and Mr. Sadat became downright civil to one another while reporting for roll call at Camp David.

More recently, though, Mr. Carter has suffered grievous wounds, if only to his ego.

First, there was the boisterous brother who caused the public — and surely the president — to cringe with his thoughtless talk and undisciplined behavior. And there was the matter of the woman scorned.

With Billy Carter, as always, there's not much to be said. He may regard himself as a rugged individualist but, in conversations carried on within earshot of the press, he doesn't come across very well. While gallivanting with his Libyan friends, he got downright garrulous.

Perhaps the man has a right to resent his older brother, but analyzing Billy's psyche even to that degree becomes a mite distasteful.

The curious went to President Carter once again for an explanation and Jimmy wearily had to say "Billy is Billy." No one expects the president to silence his brother but surely there must be something Billy could do to better occupy his time. Maybe working at a steady job is asking too much.

Then there was Bella Abzug. In her case, President Carter might have committed a serious tactical error. Carter had, to be sure, been unhappy with the co-chairperson of his National Advisory Committee on Women for some time. The committee had canceled a meeting with him late last year because the 15 minutes set aside for it was considered "inadequate."

Its press release criticizing the president's moves to boost his budget for defense spending at the expense of social programs had gotten under his skin.

MS. ABZUG'S EFFORTS to get political mileage out of attacking the president's defense policies could be regarded as a cheap shot. Defense is of equal importance to men and women, and its unfair to attempt to create a sexist posture in connection with military spending.

Mary E. King, the deputy director of Action, put matters in proper context when she said: "Those who want civil rights should be civil. It is sometimes hard for people who are used to confrontational politics to use common courtesy. The president is seeking fairness for all women, not just a few."

Still, all Carter had to do was listen for a while. Showing the redoubtable Bella the door served only to escalate the differences from run-of-the-mill debate to national clamor. More than half the committee have since resigned, castigating the president for insensitivity to women's concerns.

The usually unrestrained gentleman from Georgia stands impaled on these thorny personalities, and it's difficult not to feel sympathy for him. Carter, no doubt, was pleased to see Congress get on with its business, quite willing to share the spotlight.

They fail again

Around the rim

James Werrell

Has self determination for developing nations become a myth in this day and age?

I was forced to ask myself this question while watching a CBS special report Tuesday on the situation in Iran.

The most prominent question being asked during the newscast was, "Who lost Iran?" It seemed to me that an entirely more appropriate question would have been, "Who won Iran?"

To which the answer would seem to be, "Its people."

IN ASSESSING who lost Iran, accusing fingers were pointed at the U.S. intelligence gathering agencies that failed to alert President Carter in time to avert the Shah's ouster. This raises the question of what actions the United States could have taken, within moral boundaries, had we known what the "real" situation was in Iran.

Granted, a more realistic assessment of the developing turmoil would have been useful to us, but as a tool in preparing for the inevitable rather than trying to avert it.

The only incisive voice on the CBS program was that of Steven Bill, a professor at the University of Texas, and an expert on Iran who had just returned from the country last week.

He said that the failure of American intelligence to provide an accurate picture of the conflict was due to a failure to penetrate the upper stratum of Iranian society. In other words, our intelligence took at face value the picture of Iran painted by the Shah and the small, insulated portion of the society that had most benefitted from Iran's immense, newfound wealth.

According to Bill, a vast, newly educated middle class, composed of students and professional people, had been inciting the overthrow of the Shah for months. But this fell on deaf American ears.

So again, it seems that the chain of events leading to the Shah's overthrow came about not as a result of inaction on the part of the U.S., but because of a triumph of the people to facilitate their own destiny.

A large part of this destiny may lie in the hands of the mysterious religious leader Ayatullah khomeini. The prospect of Khomeini's return from his 14-year exile in challenge to the interim government of Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar is a frightening one, according to reports by the American press.

Not so, says Professor Bill. Again, American sources have failed to gauge the situation correctly.

KHOMEINI HAS been painted as a dictatorial figure and religious fanatic with a strong anti-U.S. temperament. Bill claims that he is instead a nationalist with an equal distaste for the U.S. and Iran's neighbor, the U.S.S.R.

The professor feels that the best solution to the unrest in Iran in terms of U.S. interests would be a coalition government between Khomeini and Bakhtiar. The worst would be a takeover by the military.

Of course the U.S., which is largely responsible for outfitting Iran's overblown militia, must play a part in determining Iran's future. We must help assure an open Persian Gulf, and avoid being "held up" by piratical oil barons.

So the answer to whether self determination is now a myth may well be yes. But the U.S. learned lessons in Vietnam that can be applied to Iran, Africa and South America, and foremost among them is that ultimately the will of the people must be answered to.

Labor trump

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The difference between labor leader Jerry Wurf haranguing his own union members and facing President Carter just two days later suggests reports of an anti-Carter revolt on labor's left are greatly exaggerated.

Wurf, president of the nations' largest public employees' union (AFSCME), spared no rhetoric Jan. 10 in flogging the same president he had supported early on the road to the White House. At a nationwide meeting of AFSCME officials, Wurf contended the Carter budget "will destroy our jobs" without affecting inflation. He, therefore, promised to express "outrage" at the White House two days later, adding he might "get into a confrontation" with the president.

But the Jan. 12 session between Carter and labor leaders was conciliation, not confrontation. Wurf did criticize the restrictive budget policy but in scarcely the robust language used to his union members, and he omitted his complaint that Carter's budget cuts are ineffective against inflation.

THIS FITS THE PATTERN of Carter's relations with liberal unions, such as Wurf's. Comprising the heart of Carter's labor support, they are distressed by his turn to fiscal conservatism and publicly pressure him to change course. But in the expected absence of a presidential challenge from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, they have no place to go. That is Carter's labor trump, and the White House knows it.

The dilemma is particularly acute for dynamic and hot-tempered Jerry Wurf. Although he has close ties to the White House, his members as public employees are hit first by tightened public purse-strings. What's more, Wurf faces a possible challenge for the AFSCME presidency in 1980 from the equally dynamic and hot-tempered Victor Gotbaum,, the union's New York leader.

Accordingly, when Wurf read the riot act on Carter to AFSCME officials here Jan. 10, an outsider would have prudently concluded a final break with the president. Asserting that "unions must start facing the truth," Wurf declared: "One of those truths is...what the president is doing to that budget that will destroy our jobs and destroy our ability to get raises and will have no effect upon inflation. The president knows it as well as we do."

Wurf added that the president knows "this terrible infliction of unreasonableness" upon "the have-nots and the public employee" will impede inflation; "he is playing a public relations game, a political game, and you are the patsies.

"We can get so enthusiastic about electing a public official...that deep in our gut we're really not disappointed when he screws us after the election is over," he continued. "This means we need an arm's-length relationship with the boss that has sometimes been missing."

Therefore, Wurf promised: "I intend to tell the president on Friday that we think what is happening is an outrage." While declaring "I have no desire" for a confrontation with Carter, Wurf added that "I also intend to let him know in the clearest possible tones that if confrontation is necessary, we are quite prepared for it." This pledge generated applause.

THAT FRIDAY, however, Carter's confrontation was with Bella Abzug, not Jerry Wurf. Once in the Oval Office, Wurf cooled his rhetoric.

Fast weight gain sign of trouble

By Paul E. Ruble, M.D.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have a problem with weight. I am 5 feet, 10 inches tall and always weighed 110 pounds. About five months ago I started gaining. I am up to 154 pounds now, but it looks like it has all gone to my stomach. My waist is about 40 inches.

I do not want to go on a diet because I can use the weight. Do you have any suggestions? What about exercise or pills, to get my stomach in shape? I am in great health. After I am ready for bed my stomach swells up like a balloon. It goes down when I get up. Then as I eat and the day goes on it gets bigger and bigger. — Mrs. M.W.

Even though you might have been a bit underweight, I would not know how to account for your 40 pounds-plus weight gain over such a brief period (five months). It sounds suspicious and should alert you to some medical problem unless you have just been gorging on fattening foods. The fact that the weight has "gone to your stomach" raises questions in my mind.

When a doctor looks at a disproportionately large abdomen he thinks of fat, flatus (gas), fetus (pregnancy), fluid (ascites), or feces (a bowel obstruction). You mention the abdominal enlargement, which makes me suspect that most of this is fluid accumulation. That can occur with liver disease, ovary problems, infection of the abdominal lining, heart disease, or kidney disease. These conditions should give you other symptoms, which you do not mention. You say you are in "great shape," but the rest of your letter contradicts that. Unless you can account for the weight gain you should be examined.

If it is a case of fat deposition from overeating, reducing calorie intake and exercising to increase abdominal muscle tone should be the answer. You may think you need the extra weight just because you are tall for a female. Not so. You may be hereditarily thin. If so most of the excess weight would settle in the abdomen.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I have numbness on both hands. I am told that it is arthritis but have not been told what to do about it. I spent some time in the hospital and was told I am terribly anemic. I wonder if you could suggest something? — E.M.

You mention several conditions, any one of which could cause this numbness. The arthritis could be involved, as you have been told. That might cause local pressure on the wrist nerves to produce it (carpal tunnel syndrome). The arthritis might also contribute to local circulation disturbances that can interfere with nutrition of the nerves. Your anemia might be associated with neuritis (nerve inflammation), causing a numbness, especially in the extremities — hands and feet. You may have a B-12 vitamin deficiency. People with that deficiency often develop anemia and neuritis. Sometimes tumors of the intestines can cause an anemia.

In short, there are a sufficient number of possibilities to warrant a more complete examination. The treatment would, of course, depend on the cause.

Dear Dr. Ruble: I am a woman, 48, and on the heavy side (by about 30 pounds). I have never really been sick, except for flu. Recently, I have had this terrible headache almost daily. It begins in the morning as soon as I get up and lasts most of the day. I take aspirin for it, but that gives me only minimal relief.

Is this a sign of something special? I never had headaches before. — Mrs. R.E.

This kind of headache, especially if it is a recent thing, can be a definite symptom of high blood pressure. There are many other causes of headache, of course, but the fact that you have always been in good health would indicate some new immediate cause. Daily headache is always a good reason to be examined. May be time to do something about the weight problem.

Dear Doctor: I have had yawning spells recently. They last 15 to 30 minutes two to five times a day, one after the other. They usually come when I relax, but not always. What causes this? — Mrs. C.M.

Can't say, except that it sounds excessive and could indicate the obvious — not enough rest. At this time of year I suggest you have your furnace checked for possible leakage of carbon monoxide. You would not smell this but it could make you drowsy. Otherwise, get a physical examination.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Ruble in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Ruble welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: A friend of mine says the term "born again" speaks about what happens to us when we go to heaven. We therefore cannot be born again right now. Do you think this could be true? — G.T.

DEAR G. T.: No, this is not what the Bible says. It says instead that we can be born again — spiritually reborn — right now. It also says that we must be spiritually reborn before we can go to heaven.

The most vivid passage in the Bible about this important matter is found in the third chapter of John. In it, Jesus is approached by a religious leader by the name of Nicodemus. He was a very learned man, and yet Jesus shocked him by telling him that all his learning and all his religious actions could not make him acceptable to God. Instead, Jesus said, he needed to be born again. "I tell you the truth, unless a man is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God" (John 3:3, New International Version). Note that Jesus said this was ture of everyone, not just Nicodemus.

But how does this new birth come? Clearly, if Nicodemus could not be saved by his own good works, neither can we. In other words, Nicodemus could not give himself new spiritual birth. There is only one way — God must do it. And He has! By sending Jesus Christ, His Son, into the world He made it possible for us to be born again, and to become His children.

God has done everything necessary for you to be born again — but you must respond. Have you ever accepted God's gift into your heart? If not, I urge you to do it right now in a simple prayer of faith to God. If you will do that, you too can know joy and hope of being born again by God's Spirit.

Soviet prison recounted

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The number 1305-3 is burned into the memory of Abraham Kalinski. It was the only identification he had during the 15 years he was buried in the Soviet Union's prison system, the notorious "Gulag Archipelago."

The 62-year-old former Polish army captain is now rebuilding his life as a chemical engineer in Israel. He shows few physical signs of the ordeal he endured from May 1944, to October 1959. But Kalinski's face turns grim and his fists clench as he recalls the horrors of his imprisonment on trumped-up charges, and tells of the other hapless victims he met in Soviet Prisons.

In a day-long interview with our associate Sam Fogg, Kalinski provided a fascinating list of the people who, for one reason or another — or no reason at all — were caught in the deadly toils of the Soviet secret police.

AMONG THE "LIVING DEAD" encountered by Kalinski were a Swedish diplomat who vanished and was declared by the Soviets to be dead; a bewildered, American-born 18-year-old; the husband of Stalin's son's mistress; the editor-in-chief of the weekly magazine, Bolshevik; the Communist Party secretary of Leningrad; purged Old Bolshevik and Politburo member Nikolai Bukharin's onetime right-hand man; the vice-minister of the Soviet railroad system; a correspondent of the Jewish Telegraph Agency, and a British journalist named Turner who worked for the old London Daily Herald.

One of the curelest cases was that of a young Austrian woman who was kidnapped from her Vienna apartment on her wedding day and spirited away to Moscow. Only then did Soviet authorities discover they had the wrong person; the woman they wanted lived in another apartment on the same floor. The bride-to-be was thrown into prison anyway.

The story of Kalinski's own arrest, though it happened nearly 35 years ago, is a fresh as today's headlines. His agony began when he learned of Soviet persecution of Jews and tried to do something about it.

A PARTICULARLY SHAMEFUL facet of Kalinski's story is the role played by an American Embassy official, who not only failed to follow up on Kalinski's confidential report, but betrayed him to the Soviet authorities.

Kalinski had been a member of the Polish exile army based in London after the fall of Poland in the 1939 Nazi blitzkrieg. He was sent on a liaison mission to Moscow where he met and married a Russian woman.

Told that his wife could not leave the country with him, Kalinski remained and joined a Soviet-sponsored Polish military unit. But on May 6, 1944, he was given documented evidence that the advancing Red Army was mistreating Jews in Poland.

Kalinski took the story to a top American embassy official who lived across the hall in the Metropole Hotel, hoping the diplomat would pass the information along to Ambassador Averell Harriman.

At the American's urging, Kalinski put his charges in writing. Three days later, the dreaded knock of the secret police sounded on his door, and he was hauled off to Lubianka prison.

Still trusting his American friend, Kalinski managed to slip a note to his wife during a prison visit, for delivery to the embassy official. His wife was arrested shortly thereafter. (She later committed suicide in prison.)

DURING HIS INTERROGATOINS, Kalinski said, the police used details from his conversations with the American, from the report he had given him and from the note he gave to his wife. "The only way they could have gotten that information was from my American friend," Kalinski said.

Kalinski was never brought to trial, but was simply sentenced to six years on espionage charges. Before the end of his term, another 10 years was added for no stated reason.

Footnote: The State Department confirmed that te U.S. official Kalinski identified as an informer did indeed work in the Moscow embassy at the time. However, because the man is now dead and cannot respond to Kalinski's charges, we are withholding his name.

RELUCTANT REBELS: Leaders of the Tax Protest Movement like to claim that their followers number in the millions. But the Internal Revenue Service tells us that when it comes to acting out their protest by submitting income-tax forms without the required information, the tax rebel army numbers only a handful.

A preliminary analysis of 1977 returns shows that only 3,000 protest forms have been identified out of more than 85 million returns submitted.

Kenya's president forgives enemies

What ever is going on in the African nation of Kenya, the rest of the world could take lessons.

In observance of the 15th anniversary of independence, Kenya's president, Daniel Arap Moi, released all political prisoners — an exercise that wasn't very complicated. The Kenya jails held only 16 people so classified, including three members of parliament.

It was a demonstration of the success with which the East African country has carried through the transfer of political power following the death of founder Jomo Kenyatta. Moi has avoided civil strife, preserving a functioning if less than perfect democracy and is moving to clean up the corruption which marred Kenyatta's sunset years.

As political repression goes these days, 16 detainees certainly does not make Kenya big league these days.

The fact that there were so few and now there is none makes Kenya a bright spot not only in Africa but on the generally dismal world scene in this respect.

Names in the news

JOHN WAYNE

NORMAN MAILER

Wayne released soon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor John Wayne will probably be released from UCLA Medical Center early next week, a hospital spokesman says.

Wayne was reported to be in stable condition Thursday. Hospital spokesmen said he is able to walk around and is eating soft foods.

The 71-year-old actor underwent 9½ hours of surgery Jan. 12 when doctors removed his gallbladder and his stomach, where cancer was found. Gastric lymph nodes also were removed and subsequent tests showed they also contained cancer cells.

Doctors have said there's no evidence of any remaining cancer in Wayne's body.

Committee for Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — The formation of the National Committee to Draft Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for President has been announced by a black civic leader.

Nathaniel Martin Jr. said Thursday that his group would try to mobilize millions nationwide in a "Kennedy '80 Campaign."

"Ted Kennedy is the magic name in the South Bronx because of his empathy and willingness to express his concern for what we believe in," said Martin, former executive director of the Bronx Urban League.

Martin said his 150-member group had informed Kennedy of their action, but has "not received any official response."

Mailer's trial recessed

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP) — Norman Mailer's divorce trial was recessed for a month after his fourth wife switched lawyers and the author disclaimed knowledge of his financial affairs.

"I write books. I don't read contracts," Mailer said Thursday when pressed by his wife's attorney.

Ruth Budd, lawyer for Mailer's wife, Beverly, was questioning the author as to how much he has received in book advances.

Mailer's wife dismissed her lawyer, Brooks Potter, replacing him with Ms. Budd, who had been helping Potter. Mrs. Mailer said she dismissed Potter "because there was a disagreement over the way he was handling the financial questioning."

In dispute is a property settlement involving Mailer's income, homes on Cape Cod and in New York, and custody of the couple's two children.

Visits Dominican Republic

Pope receives hearty welcome

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Pope John Paul II visits some of the poorest of the poor and delivers a message to Latin America's youth before flying on to Mexico to help his bishops chart the course of the Roman Catholic Church in Latin America for the next decade.

Rising very early, the pope was to celebrate Mass at 6 a.m. EST today for priests and nuns of the Dominican Republic in the first cathedral erected in the New World, then go to the slum of Los Minas, The Mines.

There the pope, speaking at a Catholic school, was to give an address directed toward Latin American youth and then make what the official schedule called "two important visits to two of the poorest houses of the area."

The 58-year-old Polish pontiff endeared himself to the people of the Dominican Republic, an overwhelmingly Roman Catholic country, by kissing the ground when he arrived Thursday afternoon from Rome on his first visit to the hemisphere as pope.

He later expressed his respect for the modern nation that was the site of the first Roman Catholic Mass in the Americas, the first cathedral, the first defense of the dignity of the American Indian by the church and the home of Christopher Columbus' son.

He said Latin America was "vital for the future of the Catholic Church." The region, "in the middle of difficulties and sacrifices, is witnessing for Christ and today wants to answer the challenge of the moment with a light of hope for the here and now and the hereafter," said the pontiff.

The high point of his activities Thursday was a public Mass before 200,000 to 300,000 cheering Dominicans in Independence Plaza.

With his voice booming off the surrounding buildings, the pontiff reiterated his church's commitment to champion human rights, social justice and economic improvement for the poor throughout the world.

The church, he said, will work to see that there are "no children without sufficient nutrition, without education,...no peasants without land to live on and develop with dignity,...no workers mistreated,...no system that allows the exploitation of man by man or by the state,...no corruption, that there be no one who has too much while others lack everything through no fault of their own."

The pontiff's accented Spanish was warmly received by the crowd, which waved gold-andwhite Dominican flags as he spoke. Thousands pressed forward to receive Communion from 100 priests as the pope delivered the sacrament to 100 selected persons, including President Antonio Guzman, his wife and high-ranking officials.

Celebrating the Mass with the pope were the bishops of Haiti, Puerto Rico, Costa Rica, Cuba and other Caribbean islands, and four American cardinals — Terence Cook of New York, William Baum of Washington, D.C., John Patrick Cody of Chicago and Umberto Medeiros of Boston.

The pope was due in Mexico City early in the afternoon, and 5 million Mexicans were expected to line the 3½-mile route from the airport to the cathedral in the heart of the city. The pope is to be met by 5,000 government and church officials and receive a bouquet of flowers from a little girl of Polish descent when he arrives aboard an Aeromexico jumbo jet adorned with the crest of the Virgin of Guadalupe, the country's patron saint.

The pope then will travel in an open car motorcade to the metropolitan cathedral. After celebrating Mass there, he was to go to the residence of the papal legate, where he was to stay, and receive members of the diplomatic corps.

Because of Mexico's official anti-clerical tradition and its lack of diplomatic relations with the Vatican, the pope has the status of a "distinguished guest." There were reports that he would call on President Jose Lopez Portillo after leaving the cathedral.

On Saturday, the pope celebrates Mass at the Basilica of Our Lady of Guadalupe outside Mexico City to inaugurate the third general decennial conference of the church's Latin American bishops.

Retiring after 22 years

Mrs. Hood's job with Cosden 'busy, but never monotonous

Mrs. John (Maude) Hood was honored Tuesday at a retirement party at Cosden. She had been employed there for 22 years.

"I began at Cosden Nov. 5, 1956 as a mail clerk and I stayed in the mail room all 22 years," said Mrs. Hood. "I loved it and wouldn't have traded jobs with anyone in the company. It was busy, but never monotonous and I had wonderful people to work with.

"We always laughed about the things that went through the mail," she said, remembering mailing such items as horned toads, tumbleweeds and cockleburrs to people in northern states who had never seen the West Texas items.

"People in the compnay were always sending or receiving some unusual items," she laughed, "I once delivered baby diapers to a girl who worked for Cosden."

Mrs. Hood married John Hood Sept. 12, 1959. He is employed by Rainbow Bread. She has a son, Larry Nix, of Big Spring, a stepson, Dwight Hood, Odessa, and several grandchildren.

MAUDE HOOD

Mrs. Hood received a money tree "in full bloom and leafed out really well," in addition to several other gifts. "I am grateful for all that Cosden and the people who worked with me did.

"I've been working for the public since 1943, at various jobs," said Mrs. Hood, "and I just decided it was time to retire and enjoy being a housewife."

Students from 14 area schools to compete here

Big Spring High School will be the scene of the second annual Big Spring Solo and Ensemble — Color Guard Contest Saturday.

Over 460 students from 14 area schools will participate in the contest that will open at 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m.

In addition to being judged and possibly winning medals for a division I rating, area high school instrumentalists will gain valuable experience and criticisms that will help to prepare them for U.I.L. Solo and Ensemble Contest that will be held in Odessa February 10.

The Color Guard Competition will be open to the public and will be staged from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Steer Gym. Trophies donated by State National Bank and Security State Bank will be awarded to the outstanding ensemble and the outstanding Color Guard in the competition.

The Big Spring High rifle corps and the all new drill team gave a performance preview at the girls' Steer basketball game against Midland High Thursday night.

Could jeopardize other funds

Utility bill proposal good

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A proposal to help the elderly pay high utility bills sounds good, state welfare officials agree, but it could jeopardize other medical and social funds supplements.

Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, explained his legislative plan Thursday to divert $69 million annually from natural gas severance taxes to the utility bill relief program.

The Texas Department of Human Resources would administer the program, Patman told the three-member human resources commission.

"I think we can assure you that you have whole-hearted support from all of us," said Hilmar G. Moore of Richmond, board chairman.

"We need some flexibility because rules change and then you can get locked in and the whole program goes out," Moore added.

Patman agreed, saying, "It could reduce Supplemental Security Income checks or food stamps if certain (disbursement) methods are used."

Under the senator's plan, Texas voters would be asked to approve a constitutional amendment dedicating one cent of the 7½-cent severance tax to a utility relief fund.

If the amendment passed in November 1979, it would reappear on ballots in 1984 for a second look, the senator explained.

The human resouces department, formerly the welfare department, could choose energy stamps, direct checks to recipients, additions to federal SSI payments or other means to disburse funds, he added.

"Of course natural gas is in large part responsible for a lot of utility bill increases other than just natural gas," Patman said, explaining why he chose severance taxes to fund the program.

"The problem is going to get worse," he added.

Payments would average $10 to $15 monthly, he said. As of December 1978, some 248,000 elderly, disabled and blind Texans living outside nursing homes or hospitals were receiving SSI payments. The aid could be used to pay residential natural gas, electric and butane bills.

Neither the senator nor board members suggested one disbursement method over another.

Good Neighbor Commission searching for supporters

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Good Neighbor Commission will soon be in the market for a legislator to help save its life.

The 36-year-old commission is threatened with extinction and is writing its own prescription to stay alive.

Executive Director Eddie Aurispa reminded the Senate Finance Committee on Thursday that the Sunset Advisory Commission did not recommend whether to extend the good neighbor commission.

He noted, however, six of the eight sunset advisory members voted "in the affirmative for a recommendation."

Failure of the Legislature to enact a bill continuing the commission would put it out of business in 1980.

It was created in 1943 to offset anti-American propaganda in Latin America, particularly Mexico, and became an official state agency in 1945.

Its stated goal is to foster inter-American goodwill, but some legislators have said publicly through the years they think the agency is a waste of state tax dollars.

The finance committee is working on a budget prepared by the Legislative Budget Board, which recommended $326,362 in state funds for the commission in 1980-81.

This is approximately the current level of financing and is $422,394 less than the commission requested, but Aurispa said the agency would accept the board's budget recommendation.

"We are hopeful the Legislature will recreate the commission," said Aurispa.

Rep. Lance Lalor, D-Houston, has introduced a bill to create a Commission on Inter-American Resources, which purportedly would assume many of the good neighbor commission's duties.

Lalor said earlier the name change was intentional, adding, "The Good Neighbor Commission itself has a very significant stigma attached to its past operations. In the past, it has not performed efficiently and it has been wracked with scandal."

"We thought the Lalor bill would be the answer," Aurispa said, but it is not.

He said the commission staff is putting together its own proposal, "which will include some recommendations from the Sunset Advisory Commission, the statute as it is today and suggestions we have."

He told a reporter the commission will search for a sponsor as soon as the legislation is drafted.

Perinatal education project formed to answer questions

By ROBBI CROW
Family News Editor

The Permian Basin Region ranks second in the State of Texas in infant death rate and those involved in the Permian Basin Perinatal Outreach Education Project want to find out why.

"The main concern for this project," stresses Sandra Regenie, project director, "is to improve pregnancy outcome for the mother and her baby."

The project, funded by the State Health Department through two grants, the Emergency Medical Service and Improved Pregnancy Outcome, which are administered locally through the office of David Paterno, director of research and development at Odessa College, was formed to satisfy two goals, the first of which is to gather data throughout this region regarding services to mothers and their children in hopes of discovering why the Permian Basin ranks second in infant mortality.

The education of professionals and the general public concerning these health care services is the second goal. They intend to educate physicians, nurses, mothers, fathers, — anyone interested and concerned about the public health care given to pregnant women and their unborn children.

Data from a study, "Infant Death: An Analysis by Maternal Risk and Health Care," Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Sciences, Washington, D.C. in 1973, revealed that 55 per cent of the mothers giving birth were at risk for complications. These 55 per cent of mothers accounted for 75 per cent of all infant deaths.

Also brought out in the study was that 95 per cent of these at risk mothers had conditions which could have been identified at the first pre-natal visit. This fact presents a major factor directly related to the infant death rate in this area — the lack of pre-natal care.

SANDRA REGENIE

Ms. Regenie explained that many cannot afford pre-natal care in a hospital. However, they can afford some care. This care is usually not available. The Permian Basin Perinatal Outreach Education Project is putting forth an all-out effort to change that fact.

The Third Annual Perinatal Workshop, sponsored by the Women and Children's Hospital, Odessa, and the Texas Tech Medical School will be held at the Holidome in Odessa Feb. 15-16. The workshop is open to anyone interested. There will be guest speakers as well as group sessions.

Long-term goals to be accomplished by those working closely with the project include identification and treatment of high risk pregnancies; furnishing referral sources; improving infant transport; and the furnishment of newborn care.

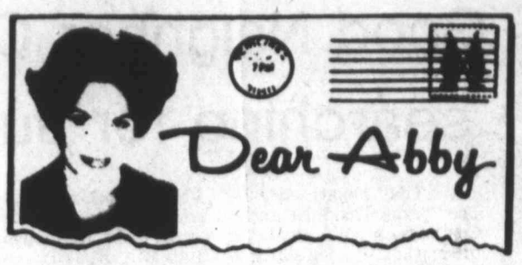

For those interested in joining organizations concerned with these facts, the Permian Basin Perinatal Association is a good start. Contact Ted Lorenz, administrator at the Women and Children's Hospital in Odessa. Membership is open to anyone interested in health care for mothers and their babies. Dues are $20 per year.

Ms. Regenie is a certified nurse-midwife from the Maternity Center Association in New York, N.Y. She graduated with a MSN in maternal newborn health nursing from Yale University.

She taught nurse-midwifery at Yale and Columbia universities. Her experiences more than qualify her for her position with the project. Dr. William Furst serves as medical director for the project.

Ms. Regenie summed it all up by saying "Our main effort will be to increase communications between health care professionals and to insure any woman desiring health care anything she needs whether pre-natal care or well-baby checkups for her children.

Ms. Regenie is available for speaking engagements or counseling and can be contacted at Odessa College.

82, He's Still A Sexagenarian

DEAR ABBY: I am 82 and in good health. My wife died three years ago and I live alone in an apartment.

Two years ago a nice-looking 65-year-old widow moved into the apartment across the hall and we became friendly. We started eating together—usually at my place. She would prepare everything at her place and bring it over.

After supper we watched TV, held hands, and exchanged a few kisses. Well, before I knew it, things got out of hand and she was spending the night with me. In my bed!

I finally put a stop to it when she began to tell me she was "in love" with me. At no time did I tell her I was in love with her because I'm not.

Now she comes over every night without being invited, and she's pressuring me to marry her.

I have no intentions of marrying this lady or any other. How do I disassociate myself from her without hurting her feelings?

WANTS OUT

DEAR WANTS: Be honest. Tell the lady you have no plans to marry her and she will probably disassociate herself from YOU. If she doesn't, you could cool the relationship by seeing another lady or two...or three.

DEAR ABBY: Sex is an animal instinct which is normal in animals. Man is an animal, right? SO when man feels the natural urge to have sex, what is wrong with following his natural instincts?

MAX

DEAR MAX: Animals have a natural urge to procreate. The lowest animals mate by instinct. Man, the highest of all animals, mates not only to procreate, but to express the ultimate in love.

Animals have no capacity for love. One mate is a good as the next. Casual and promiscuous mating among civilized people (or simply using another to satisfy one's own selfish sex urge) is not only immoral, it's meaningless. It is for lower animals. It's also for the birds.

DEAR ABBY: We have two small boys. One is 4 and the other is 2½. I feel that my husband expects too much too soon of them.

The little tykes come to the table happy and hungry, but by the time my husband gets through correcting their every move ("Sit up straight, take your elbows off the table, stop talking with your mouth full, you're eating too fast, you're eating too slow etc.") these poor kids leave the table in tears with their plates practically untouched.

How can I make my husband understand that, besides making the boys dread mealtime, it could be bad for their health?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: You have three "little boys." Tell the one you're married to that there is a more effective way to teach children. It's true that serious digestive problems often develop when children (and adults as well) attempt to eat when they are upset.

Implore your husband to resist the urge to shout criticisms and orders at the table. Gentleness is the key word here. Should he forget, gently kick him in the ankle.

New Jersey couple died as they lived—as one

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Together in 65 years of marriage, Joseph and Josephine Stazzone died as they lived—as one.

"It looks like he died and then she just passed away from grief," said their parish priest, the Rev. Emmanuel Capozelli.

The Stazzones — Joseph, 96, and Josephine, 87, — began their life together in the town of Cerani in their native Sicily, shortly thereafter joining the stream of immigrants to the United States.

They came to Essex County, and quickly became part of the parish of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, establishing ties that would last a lifetime.

Although they had no children, nieces, nephews and fellow parishoners visited regularly.

"Until a few years ago, I'd pass the house every day and often saw them working on their lawn or in their garden," said Police Sgt. Robert Cummings.

Stazzone was a contruction worker until retirement at age 74. A nephew, Dominick Testa, described him as a "tough, hard-working man."

And Mrs. Stazzone was active in the church in earlier years, teaching church school and often inviting children to their home for religious plays, cookies and sweets.

But recently, their health problems mounted. Mrs. Stazzone was arthritic, and her husband had always done all the shopping. Then he suffered a stroke, and Mrs. Stazzone overcame her pain to nurse him alone.

"We talked about them going to a nursing home, but they wouldn't hear of it," said Jenny Testa, wife of another nephew.

"She spent all her time with her husband," said Father Capozelli of Mrs. Stazzone.

Mr. and Mrs. Stazzone's bodies were found in their bedroom Sunday after Anthony Testa, a nephew, became concerned because he was unable to contact them. Dr. John Myers said they died from natural causes.

They were buried together Wednesday.

More economical than typesetting

Calligrapher adds personal touch

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Linda Lowenthal had a direct hand in the licensing of more than 4,000 lawyers, dentists, dental hygienists and psychologists last year.

In the age of the photocopying machine, the Austin commercial artist hand-lettered names of the licensees on their professional certificates.

The 32-year-old woman specializes in calligraphy, the art of hand lettering, and has added the personal touch to numerous state certificates since 1970.

"It's really more economical than typeset printing," she said during an interview in her northwest Austin home. "It's more flexible to have someone letter it."

She also has done work for the University of Texas and former President Lyndon Johnson.

The California native learned calligraphy at Hollywood's Immaculate Heart High School. The art teacher, Sister Corita, has since established her own reputation for commercial illustration.

"The only art course I've ever had was in the ninth grade, mixed media," Mrs. Lowenthal said. "After it, I still couldn't draw or paint, but I could letter."

After obtaining a bachelor's degree in English from Pomona College, she spent a summer on a Colorado ranch.

"Then I read an article in Time magazine that said Austin had the lowest cost-of-living and the university had a graduate school," she said.

Moving to Austin proved a good decision, she said, but graduate school was terrible.

She quit the University of Texas and started working at a downtown art supply store. When business was slow, she doodled stylized lettering on a note pad. Customers soon noticed.

"I made up a portfolio and went to state offices, advertising agencies, department stores, university offices," the artist said "and then just waited for businesses."

A friend told her the Texas Supreme Court was redesigning lawyer certificates, and that's where her state business began.

She met President Johnson while working at the art supply shop, which was near the Johnson family's television station.

Mrs. Lowenthal saw him standing outside the store, gathered her nerve and rushed outside to introduce herself and give him a business card.

"A week later I got a call from his secretary," she remembered. "It was right after Eisenhower died and he wanted several copies of a memorial statement hand-lettered." LBJ again called her to execute several hundred name badges for dignitaries when his presidential library opened in Austin on May 22, 1971.

"I had to go down to the federal building and sit in the same room with the Secret Service watching, I guess so I wouldn't add any names," she said.

The night before the opening, she got a phone call.

"Somehow they had lost all the cards," Mrs. Lowenthal said. So the Secret Service brought extra cards to her house and she repeated the lettering.

She works out a studio-print shop in her basement, an arrangement that lets her keep an eye on 9-month-old daughter Sarah.

The studio includes an offset press, copier machine and work desk. For many commercial jobs, she hand-letters the design and then prints large quantities, she charges the state $1 per name, plus 20 cents for dates and other entries on the standard form.

Garden club elects officers

The Rosebud How To Grow Garden Club met at the Dora Roberts Community Center Jan. 16 at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Carl Johansen and Mrs. O.S. Womack served as hostesses.

Guest speaker, Carl Johansen, presented the program on the History of Arbor Day. Arbor Day is a day designated for planting trees and shrubs. Different states have a different day set aside for Arbor Day because of the variations in climate. The first Arbor Day was in the state of Nebraska in 1872. Other states soon followed.

Mrs. Gil Jones presided over the business meeting at which each officer submitted a report. Officers for 1979-1980 were elected. Mrs. Carl Johansen was elected president, Mrs. Richard Terry, vice president; Mrs. Joel Carter, treasurer; Mrs. James Johnston, secretary and Mrs. Gil Jones, parliamentarian.

Eight members attended in addition to the guest speaker

The next meeting will be at the Big Spring Country Club Feb. 13 for a noon luncheon. Each member is urged to bring a guest.

Board meeting plans discussed

The Morning Optimist Club met Wednesday morning in the Cactus Room at Howard College at 7:30 a.m.

Vice-President Bill Brown presided in the absence of the president, Bruce Griffith.

George Crenwelge, energy usage coordinator for Cosden, was guest speaker.

Plans were discussed for the district board meeting to be held jointly with Hi-noon Optimists Feb. 16-17.

It was reported that Christmas tree sales came out satisfactorily, enabling the club to do youth work this summer.

'Some' is theme for teen poets

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Welcome to our three teen poets. Lori Harris, 13, is from Fullerton, Calif., Jodie Wilson, 14, comes from Fredericton, New Brunswick, Canada, and Kathy Nelley, 15, lives in Huntsville, Ala.

Our poems today revolve around the theme "Some."

SOMEONE WITHIN

I am a person beneath the surface.
I am a well of feelings and emotions.
Most people can't see the real me,
Because I am deep; my thoughts are wide.
I am an ocean of fear and love.
Most people see hair and eyes and ears.
They do not see ME.
What they see is shallow,
I am vast.
They do not see feelings,
Emotions, love or fear.
They do not see frustration, caring, kindness,
Hope and promise for those are deep within.
All THEY see is just plain skin. — Lori Harris

SOMETIMES

Sometimes I want to be a little girl ...
I want to laugh ...
I want to sing .
Just to be carefree.
Sometimes.
Sometimes I want to be a woman ...
I want to be confident ...
I want to be calm and collected ...
Just taken seriously.
Sometimes.
Sometimes I am woman,
Sometimes I am child ...
I yearn to be both ...
But can be neither.
Sometimes.
A child on the brink of womanhood
Struggling to find her place, her identity
An endless destiny it seems, yet ...
Sometimes ... — Kathy Neeley

LOVING SOMEONE

The beginning; time spent enjoying
Each other's company,
Together each day;
Sharing special places and thoughts;
Caring and looking to each other.
Time passes; days and memories
Are locked in the heart that's alive

Grab your partner, learn how to dance

A set of 18 square dance lessons will begin Tuesday at 8 p.m. The next two Tuesdays will be open for registration, the first three open lessons costing $2 a lesson per couple, or $1 for a single. No new students can be accepted after Feb. 20.

Square dancing is an organized, world-wide activity. It is an American dance combining moves brought here by the diverse cultures making up this great country.

In addition to being fun, it has been determined that square dancing is an excellent excerise program, more fun than jogging, running, sit-ups etc. The music is usually the popular country-western toe tapping tunes.

You will be glad to know that this is not the square dancing you learned in physical education classes at school. If you can still walk, count to eight, know left from right (not essential), still breathe, if you like good company, good music and family doings, you will like square dancing. Get your partner and brighten up the long dreary days of winter.

Iranian troops open fire on Khomeini followers

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Troops in Tehran and the western city of Sanandaj opened fire today on thousands of supporters of Ayatullah Ruhollah Khomeini angered by the government's delaying his return to Iran, and there were reports of at least 10 dead and 32 wounded.

Hospital sources said at least five persons were killed and seven wounded in Tehran. The official Pars news agency said "a number of people were killed and wounded" in Sanandaj. Unofficial estimates placed the death toll in Sanandaj at five with 25 wounded. But some of the Tehran demonstrators, their hands smeared with blood, told reporters that more than 30 were killed in the capital alone.

The foes of Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar armed themselves with wooden and metal staves and set fire to spare tires and garbage in the streets around Tehran University. Thick black smoke billowed over buildings in the heart of the city.

The crowd taunted the soldiers with shouts of "Death to Bakhtiar!" "We will build a peoples army to fight the army!" and "We will go on whether Khomeini comes or not."

Heavy gunfire sounded throughout the area.

The religious leader's return from 14 years of exile, originally scheduled for today, was delayed by military orders closing Iran's airports until Sunday. The army was also ordered to enforce a martial-law ban on demonstrations, and an informed source said military leaves had been cancelled and Tehran's garrisons had been placed on alert. At least seven, 4th graf Bjt.

At least seven journalists and an undetermined number of others were reported arrested under a martial-law provision allowing them to be held incommunicado indefinitely. The journalists were leaders of the Press Freedom Movement that closed Tehran's seven leading newspapers for 62 days, until Prime Minister Shahpour Bakhtiar lifted censorship three weeks ago.

One of Khomeini's chief aides in Tehran said supporters of the Shiite Moslem patriarch were planning a demonstration Saturday to protest the military's delaying the ayatullah's return by closing the airports in the country until Sunday.

Gen. Mehdi Rahimi, Tehran's military governor, responded with a warning that he would begin enforcing regulations against unauthorized demonstrations. There had been no attempt to enforce the ban for more than a month.

Khomeini, the 78-year-old architect of the nationwide campaign of strikes and demonstrations to overthrow the shah and bring down the Bakhtiar government, had planned to return to Tehran today after 14 years in exile. He told followers in Paris he would fly home as soon as the airports reopened.

Aides in the French capital said he would take a plane Sunday night unless the airport shutdown was extended. If that happened, he has "alternative plans" for getting to Iran, said Ibrahim Yazdi, his chief aide.

"The treacherous, illegal government has prevented my return," Khomeini told a meeting of 1,000 of his followers.

Teenagers plead innocent

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Bronx teen-agers have pleaded innocent to charges they showed "a depraved indifference to human life" in the a..son deaths of seven persons.

Rafael Torres and Hector Velez, both 14, were indicted Wednesday on seven counts of murder, seven counts of felony murder-burglary, and seven counts of first-degree burglary stemming from a Nov. 8 fire in a Bronx house. The defendants say the fire was started accidentally. They are being tried as adults and could face life in prison.

Striking migrants arrested

FLORIDA CITY, Fla. (AP) — About 50 striking migrant farmworkers were arrested outside a tomato packing house as they protested pickers' working conditions.

A Dade County police spokesman said Thursday the migrants were charged with blocking the entrance of "a place of employment involved in a labor dispute." Police dispersed 150 other protesters. The workers voted Wednesday to strike for the second time in less than two months. Last month's action ended with a 10-cent per bucket increase to 40 cents. The pickers say larger buckets were then issued.

Smoker pleads guilty

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A man who survived fires started by his smoking in bed has pleaded guilty to charges of "careless smoking."

Lieske was pulled unconscious from his bed last fall after the third fire at his home. Fire Capt. Jim Friday arrested Lieske and filed three charges against him for being careless with lighted material. Neighbors had complained their property was being endangered.

Elderly woman found dead

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — An elderly woman was found dead of exposure in her dilapidated house after housing officials had moved her to a comfortable home a few blocks away.

Margaret Lewis, 75, was found curled up on a bed of newspapers in her vacant, windowless home. Authorities said it was impossible to tell how long she had been dead, and neighbors theorized she had returned because she couldn't adjust to a new neighborhood.

Skeleton quiz continues

The remains of a human body found on a ranch southeast of town were sent to Austin's Forensic Science Department of the Department of Public Safety for testing to determine the identity of the skeleton. The skeleton was transported by ambulance with a deputy present.

A Midland TV news report Wednesday night filmed a man named Jordan who said he had hopes that the skeleton was that of his brother, George Trevino Jordan, who disappeared more than four years ago.

Jordan was last seen on June 9, 1974 by local police officers at 3:50 p.m. He was seen in the city dump wearing a green robe and pajamas. The report says his hair and beard were long. He was 24-years-old at the time.

Howard County Sheriff A.N. Standard said the possibility of homicide has not been ruled out, but that he "isn't leaning in that direction."

The skeleton was transported to Austin after an attempt to identify it by checking dental records in the Midland area failed.

Women attack officer

Officer Robert Carouth made a tough arrest, 2:10 a.m. today.

After police had received two complaints about noise at a Pickens Street residence, Carouth was dispatched to see what he could do about it. When he arrived, he was met at the door by a woman screaming obscenities at him.

He attempted to arrest her for disorderly conduct, but she and two female companions inside jumped him, and the struggle was on. According to reports, the original screaming woman hit, kicked and spit on Carouth, while another tried to take his gun away from him.

Finally getting the situation under control, the officer arrested the noisemaker, and took her back to jail.

Bicycling dangerous, safety tips offered

Bicycling may be a great way to spend the day, but it can also be dangerous.

The Big Spring High School Student Council believes that learning the safety rules of bicycle riding is as important as mastering the skill.

As one of its safety projects for the year, the student council is offering a morning of bicycle safety instruction, free of charge, to all Big Spring elementary students, grades one through five.

The safety course will be Saturday, from 9 a.m. until about noon, at the high school. All participating children are to bring their bicycles and meet at the tennis courts of the high school.

The morning's agenda, according to Safety Council Chairman Craig Drake, will include safety films, engraving the bicycles with identification numbers and testing skills on an obstacle course. Participating children will be graded on the obstacle course, he said.

The project, being conducted in cooperation with the Big Spring Police Department, will benefit both participants, said Drake.

"The student council is required to present so many safety programs a year. The program will make us eligible for a safety award while it will also help kids to know the rules and avoid the dangers of bicycling."

Players await Pro Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Pro Bowl had become the National Football League schedule's unwanted child, with players looking for excuses to skip the anticlimatic contest that was left like an unfinished chore after the Super Bowl.

The players now, though, seem to view next Monday night's all-star game in a new perspective.

"The attitude has changed," said Pittsburgh's Mel Blount. "Most of the guys look forward to this game now. It's like a big reunion."

"I know a few years ago, people seemed to want to get out of playing in the Pro Bowl," said Dallas' Roger Staubach. "But it's not that way now. I think everybody looks at it as an enjoyable experience.

"I think this game is fun. It's a chance to see a lot of people, time to talk with other players."

Many of the players, stars in their own right, seemed more like fans, furiously snapping photographs of their NFL peers.

"I take the camera to all the special things, try to get candid shots to put in a folder I'm keeping for my old age," said the Steelers' "Mean" Joe Greene, framing Staubach in his view-finder. "And what better place than this to take pictures, with all the great players here."

Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw will be playing in his first Pro Bowl. He was previously named to the AFC squad, but missed the game with an injury.

"This is great, being here," he said. "It is an anticlimax of sorts, but I love the atmosphere for this game. It's really laidback. There are a lot of guys here I've always wanted to meet, but never really had the chance to. I'm looking forward to making some new friends."

Lindsey named at Cooper

ABILENE — Melvin Lindsey, one-time Big Spring coaching aide, has been named golf coach at Abilene Cooper High School.

Lindsey was teaching math at Cooper at the time of his appointment. He replaces Jim Harlow, who died recently.

Fall Banquet Wednesday

The Big Spring High School Fall Sports Banquet will be held on Wednesday, January 31. Athletic Director Ron Logback has announced that local personality Jim Baum will be the guest speaker.

There will be numerous awards presented honoring participants in football and volleyball.

Tickets may be purchased at the BSHS athletic department or from Booster Club captains Paschal Odom and Jerry Foresyth.

IT'S A BIRD, IT'S A PLANE, IT'S TREVINO — PGA golfer Lee Trevino, with towel over face, heads down the 12th fairway saying, "Hey, I can fly. I'm Superman." The first day of the Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament was plagued with high winds causing sand to blow on the Torrey Pines course which overlooks the ocean. Many of the golfers covered their faces to protect themselves against the sand during Thursday's round in San Diego. Flying with Trevino is Bill Roger's caddy.

Aaron braves weather to lead

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The players fought for balance and leaned into the howling winds that whipped off the Pacific and lashed the tees and greens jutting on headlands over the white-capped surf.

They talked not of birdies and pars but of survival.

"It was actually frightening," said 47-year-old Billy Casper, his portly bulk bundled under two sweaters and a windbreaker.

"It was a survival test," said Grier Jones.

"The toughest conditions I've played in," said Jerry McGee.

"I've played in higher winds and colder weather, but for the combination, it's probably as bad as I've ever seen," said Jim Simons, clutching the hand warmers he kept in his pockets.

And Tommy Aaron said nothing at all. He just smiled shyly.

Aaron, a former Masters champion who had to qualify to get in this event, fought the winds — estimated by one tournament official at 50 mph in gusts — and the biting cold for a 3-under-par 69 that made him a 2-shot leader after Thursday's first round of the $250,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament.

"I was just trying to get in," said the 41-year-old Aaron, who hasn't won since the 1973 Masters at Augusta, Ga. "I've never thought of myself as a good cold weather player, but," and he smiled again, "I guess you don't think about that when you're shooting 69."

Tied for second at 71 were Casper, Jones, McGee and Victor Regalado. Those five, the only men able to break par in the extremely difficult conditions, all played at the 6,667-yard, par 72 North course at Torrey Pines.

BSHS netters lose to Midland

The Big Spring High School Steers lost their second district match Thursday night to the Bulldogs of Midland High.

Susan and Laura are 2-0 in district doubles competition thus far. Joni Cline also won her singles match as she earned a hard fought 3-set victory over Charlene Bynum.

In boys action, Nick Williams and Barry Fish played one of best doubles matches this year as they defeated the very strong Midland duo of Houdek and Armstrong. Brent Pearce gathered in the last Big Spring point with the onlv boys singles victory.

Big Spring visits MHS

MIDLAND — The Midland Bulldogs, first half champions in District 5-AAAA and undefeated in second half play, host the Big Spring Steers tonight in hopes of adding to their perfect loop record.

The Bulldogs, who have unlimited potential but did not play that way in non-district, appear to be reaching their peak and are hoping to add to their 11-game winning streak. Eight of those games were in district. Midland won an earlier contest with Big Spring by a lopsided score.

Big Spring has been a scrappy crew that has played close games, whether winning or losing, in their last seven games. The Steers play a scrappy defense and are led on offense by Mark Poss and Wilbert Grant. Poss is averaging over 22 points a game in district play and Grant averages 8.5.

Other Big Spring starters include Ysa Rubio, Robert Lara and James Magers.

Bulldogs beat Steer fems

The Midland Bulldogs stopped the Big Spring Steers by limiting them to only four first half points on their way to a 33-15 victory in a girls District 5-AAAA basketball game played last night in Steer Gym.

The Bulldogs limited the Steers to only two points in each of the first two periods in building a 15-4 halftime lead.

Big Spring made somewhat of a rally in the second half, but the game was never in doubt for Midland.

Midland was paced by Martha Christia's 10 points, while Pam Banks and Peggy Calhoun led the Steers with five and four points, respectively.

Midland also won the JV game, handing the Shorthorns a 46-32 defeat. Big Spring trailed only 15-14 at the half, but the Bulldog JVs went on a scoring spree in the second half.

Shirley Dixon had 11 for the Big Spring JVs, with Cynthia Washington adding seven.

NBA Roundup

Who says you can't get a call from the officials when you're on the road?

The Seattle SuperSonics got a big call from referee Jess Kersey at Atlanta Thursday night, preserving their 100-98 National Basketball Association victory over the Hawks.

Guard Gus Williams, who scored 28 points for Seattle, hit a 15-footer with 28 seconds remaining to give the Sonics a 99-98 lead, and sank a free throw with seven seconds left to play for a two-point advantage.

Then came the crucial call. Atlanta guard Armond Hill took a jumper at the buzzer that would have sent the game into overtime, but Kersey waved off the basket, ruling that time had run out before the shot left Hill's hands.

"I thought I got it off in time," argued Hill. "I shot the ball and the horn went off — in that order."

Not so, said Seattle Coach Lenny Wilkens.

"Your own replay showed that time had run out," he told Atlanta newsmen. "The ball was still in his hands when the zero-zero was on the clock."

Hawks forward John Drew had 39 points to lead all scorers, while Fred Brown contributed 17 points to the Seattle attack.

The victory was Seattle's fourth straight and sixth in a row on the road. Atlanta now has lost three straight since having a six-game winning streak broken Sunday in New Orleans.

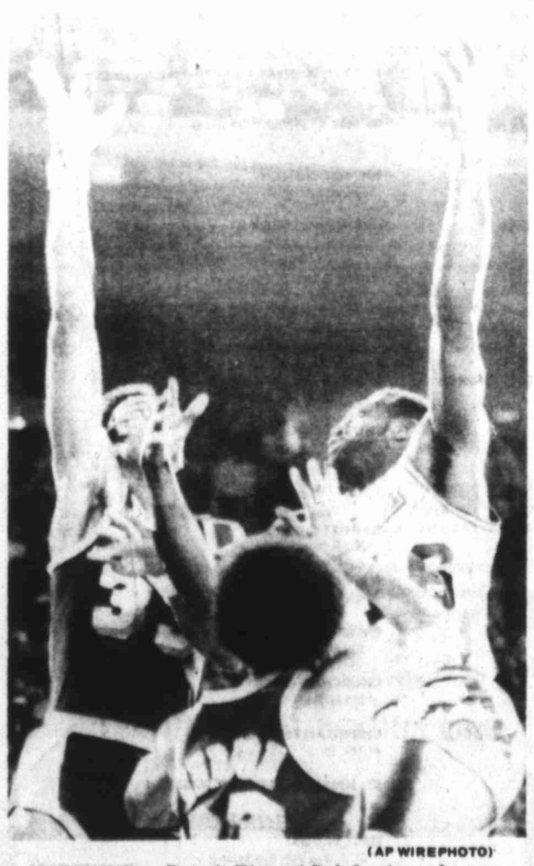

Pistons 135, Lakers 100

Bob Lanier fired in 28 points and Kevin Porter handed out 18 assists as the Pistons posted their third straight victory for the first time this season.

The score was tied 35-35 until Detroit scored 10 in a row in the second period. The Pistons led the rest of the way, breaking the game open by outscoring Los Angeles 38-20 in the third quarter, during which the Lakers made just 8 of 24 field goal attempts.

Blazers 108, Warriors 103

Lionel Hollins scored 10 of his 22 points in the final period as Portland won for only the third time in its last 13 starts. Golden State has now lost eight of 10.

MATCHING — Detroit Pistons' Bob Lanier, who was snubbed in the NBA All-Star balloting, hooks a shot over Los Angeles Lakers' Kareen Abdul-Jabbar (33) and Lou Hudson (23) during Thursday night's game in Pontiac. The Pistons crunched the Lakers, 135-100, their biggest victory margin ever over the Lakers.

Sports in brief

Knoetze in court today

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — South African Kallie Knoetze's battle for a U.S. visa crucial to his boxing career headed for another round in the courts today.

Knoetze's attorneys planned to renew their request to have U.S. District Judge Norman C. Roettger order the State Department not to revoke the boxer's visa.

Roettger began the hearing Monday, then continued it when Knoetze's lawyers asked for more time to gather evidence.

Knoetze wasn't expected to be present today. He attended the Monday session, then checked out of his hotel saying he planned to go home.

A temporary order by Roettger earlier this month stopped the State Department from acting against Knoetze, allowing the world-ranked heavyweight to fight and knock out Bill Sharkey in Miami Beach Jan. 13.

Knoetze's lawyers argue that the State Department acted out of political motives and denied the fighter due process in revoking his visa.

The government's revocation was based on the boxer's 1977 conviction for obstruction of justice in South Africa.

US, Russians box tomorrow

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — This country's top amateur boxers face their Russian counterparts in a series of bouts described as the best experience possible for another strong U.S. showing in the 1980 Olympics.

The three-round fights, with bouts in each of the 11 Olympic weight divisions, will be held Saturday at the Las Vegas Hilton Hotel. ABC will tape the fights for telecast the following day.

Olympics to disco

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Olympic Organizing Committee has signed a contract with a West German company for a discotheque to be set up at the Olympic village during the 1980 Moscow Games, the news agency Tass reported.

According to Tass, the contract also includes a record library and "acoustical equipment" to be used in conjunction with the discotheque.

"Representatives of the firm undertook to deliver all the equipment two weeks before the opening of the Games," Tass said.

Ashe upsets Vilas

In other matches, top-seeded Jimmy Connors, the defending champion, defeated Wojtek Fibak of Poland 6-4, 7-6; John McEnroe topped Hank Pfister, 6-2, 7-6; Vitas Gerulaitis defeated Johann Kriek of South Africa, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5; Harold Solomon beat Gene Mayer 6-4, 2-6, 6-1, and Roscoe Tanner defeated Eddie Dibbs, 6-7, 6-2, 6-2.

MC Chaparrals win

CLARENDON — The Midland College Chaparrals raced to a 105-73 win at the expense of the Clarendon Bulldogs in a Western Conference game last night.

Midland College is now 6-2 in conference play, one game behind Western Texas College. The Chaps, led by Kenneth Young's 21 points and Tim Shelby's 16, are now 15-7 on the year.

The loss was Clarendon's eighth in as many conference games.

Geysers have been spouting for centuries, periodically relieving the pent-up pressures from hot subterranean springs. For some people letting off steam at regular intervals is now a way of life.

Only when man developed the steam engine did he begin to understand what geysers were all about. Are there other secrets of Life and the Universe which we'll comprehend only when we start seriously to work with them?

The Power of God is all around us . . . evident in every wonder of creation.

Yet only when we seek that Power as the motivating force in our life, do we begin to sense its nearness, its soul-stirring effect. Then that vast, mysterious Power becomes suddenly warm and very personal.

You'll begin to know that Power when you enter the door of your church.

CONSTRUCTIONS BEGINS AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

...addition will join buildings

Church undergoes facelift

A nicer nursery is only one of the new features 14th and Main Street Church of Christ will be offering its parishioners this year.

Construction on the church, begun last week, will also connect the north and south buildings to the main building, protecting worshippers from the elements as they leave Sunday School to cross the lawn for worship in the auditorium.

The $225,000 construction will take about 230 days, according to the contractor, R.B. Snead Construction Company of Midland.

Designed by architect Daryle Hohertz, the improvements will include room for a cry room and new restrooms along with the nursery. Fifty new seats will also be added in a balcony area above a new visiting area.

There will also be a new visiting room for fellowship and a small auditorium to be used for devotionals, small family weddings, women's classes and teen meetings.

Open to public

Living Sound performs here

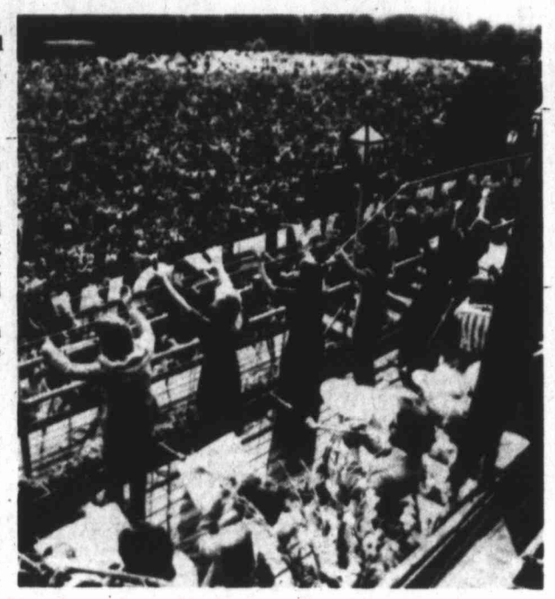

A group of 15 young men and women of Living Sound International are returning to Big Spring to perform another of their many well-received concerts.

Described by local individuals of past audiences as "professional in quality" and "contagiously enthusiastic," Living Sound will present its songfest at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Garrett Hall of First United Methodist Chruch.

There will be no admission charge though freewill love offerings will be accepted.

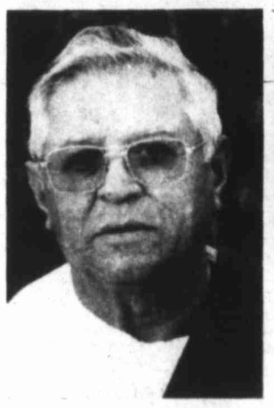

The group forms Team I of five separate groups that make up Living Sound International, a non-denominational, evangelistic, mission-oriented organization based in Tulsa Okla. The five groups present their concerts on tours throughout the United States and abroad.

The multi-racial Team I recently returned from months of ministering to the black populations of rural areas and war zones of Rhodesia and the Republic of South Africa. Their tours in the two countires, from March 1 through Dec. 15, 1978 were conducted at the invitation of both countries' governments.

MUSICAL MINISTRY — For nearly ten years, the young performers who make up Living Sound International have been ministering to concert audiences throughout the United States and abroad. Team I of Living Sound, who will perform for Big Spring Wednesday, are shown here at a concert in Poland attended by 200,000 people.

The public is invited to attend the Jan. 31 concert and enjoy Living Sound.

EDWARD MARTINEZ

HORACIO YANEZ

Martinez, Yanez to be ordained

Edward Martinez, a member of Sacred Heart Church, and Horacio Yanez of St. Thomas Church, will be ordained as permanent Deacons for the Catholic Church at a ceremony at San Angelo's Sacred Heart Cathedral Sunday, 3 p.m.

Martinez will continue to serve with the Sacred Heart parish after ordination. He is currently Lector and Eucharist Minister of the church. After ordination, he will assist the Rev. James Delaney, pastor.

Martinez resides with his wife, Estella, at 2208 So. Monticello.

Currently serving as Lector and Eucharist Minister of St. Thomas Church, Yanez will continue serving that parish after his ordination. He is a member of the St. Joseph Society of the parish and is also a Cursillista.

Yanez resides at 308 N.E. 8th with his wife, Pilar, and their six children, Juan Jose, Irma Rios, Gloria Pilar, Velma, Ricky and Maria.

Yanez is employed at the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Both will receive the Sacrament of Holy Orders at the hands of the Most Reverand Raymond J. Pena, Auxiliary to the Archbishop of San Antonio. Martinez and Yanez are two of 33 men who are to be ordained as permanent Deacons for the Catholic Church at the ceremony.

A reception at Sacred Heart Cafeteria and Gymnasium for the new deacons will follow the ordination ceremonies. Receptions in local parishes for the men are being scheduled.

Church women do good turn for home

Beautician services are being provided to Park View Manor Nursing Home residents by College Park Church of God Ladies Auxiliary.

The 12 auxiliary members deliver the services on the first and second floors of the home each Thursday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Manicures, permanents, hair cutting and special hair and scalp treatments are offered to all residents, including bed patients, by the group who encourage other individuals in the community to become involved in a nursing home-type ministry.

Assisting the auxiliary in providing the beauty treatments are Park View Activity Directors Janie Hall and Jewel Burcham.

Crestview will present family film

A dramatic family film, "Like a Mighty Army," will be shown at Crestview Baptist Church at 6 p.m. Sunday.

The film presents the true story of the Rev. James Kennedy, a dynamic young minister in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who led a handful of people in a commitment to provide life-changing answers for the people of his community.

In response to modern day questioning of the church's importance, the commitment entered into by Kennedy and his followers have, in only nine years, made Coral Ridge Church one of the fastest growing congregations in the world. The original 17 members have now expanded to 2,000. Three Sunday morning services are required to accommodate the crowds.

Starring in the role of Dr. Kennedy is Chris Robinson, best known for his role as an Air Force sergeant in the television series "Twelve O'Clock High."

"Like a Mighty Army," an inspirational film for every member of the family, was produced and released by Gospel Films Inc. of Muskegon, Mich.

Church sends teens on trip

The 14th and Main Street Church of Christ is sponsoring an intertubing trip to Cloudcroft, N.M. this weekend.

The trip will be attended by 52 junior and high school students and their sponsors. They will leave early Saturday and get back late Sunday.

A Farthing's Worth
BEWARE!
With over 5,000 cults in America, involving some 60 million people, 7% of whom have left main line denominations, the following cautions are to be considered:
1. Beware of any movement that seems to call more attention to itself than to Christ.
2. Beware of those who perpetuate their own names.
3. Beware of Christian magazine editors, crusaders, healers, etc., whose personal photograph appears constantly in each issue.
4. Beware of "faith ministries" which are constantly asking for money.
5. Beware of those who condemn all denominations and claim theirs is the right one.
6. Beware of religious crusaders, ministers, and missionaries who frequently say, "God told me to do this or that".
7. Beware of religious leaders who travel constantly in royal style, live in plush accommodations and dress extravagantly.
8. Beware of leaders and organizations who do not furnish adequate financial statements.
9. Beware of one-man operations.
10. Beware of those who teach doctrines that tend to veer away from the historic basic doctrines of the church.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JAN. 27, 1979

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Morning is a vital time for you to get yourself in good shape for whatever practical ideas you wish to put into motion. Later you find it possible to get involved in new and more up-to-date activities and to make them an integral part of your present existence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get in touch with bigwigs and gain their support for projects at hand. Later attend worthwhile social functions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Find a new way to gain greater abundance in a most intelligent way. Make sure you carry through with what an official expects.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle responsibilities and then contact interesting modern-thinking persons. Be wiser in the handling of money.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you support an associate's ideas, you can later reap fine benefits too. Make mutual plans workable, practical.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Complete work that you have not finished. Then have discussions with associates and improve mutual operations. Follow through with what is expected of you by others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan how you can have greater happiness and success in the future. Put talents to work. You can make this a fascinating day and evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Get busy early and handle duties ahead of you and for kin as well. Later, find the recreation you like. Show you are a devoted family member. Think constructively.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get the data you need that will be helpful in dealing with others better. Show appreciation to those who are loyal. Evening can be wonderful with family and friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Analyze home matters well then handle business matters intelligently. Be with individuals who can assist you in achieving greater success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You find it easy to gain goals that mean much to you in the morning. Later, get records and reports in good order. Consult with advisers who can help to improve finances.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make plans early for the future and then give your attention to personal affairs. Talk ideas over with associates.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Think how to keep friends you like in the future and forget the others, then make plans far into the future confidentially. Get rid of whatever is obsolete about you later.

197,602 Texas GIs to get $24,668,000

A record $485 million in dividends will be paid during 1979 to 4 million veterans holding GI life insurance policies, the Veterans Administration has announced.

In Texas 197,602 insureds will receive $24,668,000.

No application is needed, VA Administrator Max Cleland emphasized. Individual policy holders who have kept their GI insurance in force from either World War I, World War II or the Korean Conflict will receive their payments automatically on the anniversary dates of their policies, he said.

The 3,384,000 World War II veterans with current GI insurance policies will receive dividends totaling $433,300,000. The average payment of $128 is up $11 from last year.

Individual amounts will vary from the average, Cleland explained, depending on the type of policy, amount of insurance, age at issue or renewal and the time the policy has been in force.

The 99,800 policy holders from World War I will receive an average of $256 each, up from $224 in 1978, for an aggregate of $25.6 million.

An average payment of $48 will go to 544,000 Korean Conflict veterans who kept their GI insurance in force, an aggregate of $26.1 million. This group received $29 average payment last year.

The 1979 GI insurance dividends, like other insurance dividends, are higher in recent years because the funds on depoyit have been earning higher interest. Dividends on VA insurance policies represent a return of funds not needed to pay the cost of the insurance.

Benefitting most from the higher interest rates are those veterans who have converted their insurance plans to permanent type policies rather than continuing the original term policies, Cleland explained.

Rigs operating in Texas decline

The number of oil rigs in operation in Texas dropped slightly this week.

As of Monday, 784 rigs were reported operating in the state, compared to 790 for the week before. This is a decline of 57 compared to a year ago at this time.

Despite the drop in Texas, the number of operational rigs throughout the nation remained exactly the same for both weeks at 2,192. This shows an increase of 62 over the total for last year at this time, but a drop of 71 when compared to last month.

TO OPEN SHOW — Female vocalist Dottsy, an RCA recording artist who is well known in West Texas, will open the Charlie Pride show at the Chapparal Arena in Midland Friday night. Dottsy's first single, "Storms Never Last," was written by Waylon Jennings' wife, Jessi Coulter. Waylon also wrote a song entitled "Tryin' to Satisfy You" which became a hit after Dottsy recorded it.

Rep. Hance to keynote meeting of Water, Inc.

LUBBOCK — U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, who just last week was named to the powerful House Agriculture Committee, will be the keynote speaker at the twelfth annual membership meeting of Water, Inc., here next month.

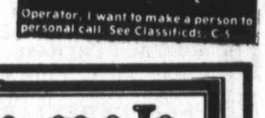

Hance will open the Water, Inc., session Saturday, Feb. 17, in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center. He joins Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown on the program.

Speakers will discuss the importance of High Plains agriculture and its dependence upon water.

Registration for the Water, Inc., meeting is $7.50 per person and may be made in advance by writing Water, Inc., P.O. Box 367, Lubbock, Tex., 79408. The registration fee includes the cost of the luncheon at which Commissioner Brown will speak.

Hance was sworn into office last week replacing the retired George Mahon as Representative from the 19th Congressional District. Hance is a former state senator. He and Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford, both elected in the House in November, are the first graduates of Texas Tech to serve in Congress.

Water, Inc., is a non-profit corporation promoting water importation for the High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Luther collection believed uncovered

THORNDALE, Texas (AP) — The Rev. Reinhard Wuensche Sr., a religious historian, did not know what to expect when he was summoned to a shed near an abandoned farmhouse suspected of containing valuable church relics.

He opened an old forgotten trunk stashed in the shed and began poring over its contents.

"At first all I found were Milam County archives," said Wuensche. "It was later in the afternoon when I suddenly discovered them."

The rat-infested coffer yielded what Lutheran Church officials believe is a priceless collection of the works of Martin Luther, the church's founder, printed in the 1500s.

Wuensche, archivist for the Texas District of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, examined the six volumes and said Thursday, "I honestly believe they are authentic."

Wuensche has arranged to take the 420-year-old books to St. Louis for examination by the church's national archivist, Gerhardt Kramer.

By coincidence, the books were found in the effects of Kramer's uncle, the late Andrew W. Kramer. Andrew Kramer was the first full-time pastor of the St. Paul Lutheran Church in this East Central Texas town, serving from 1894 until 1919.

He used to live on the Reinhard Schneider farm where the books were recently found in an old immigration coffer by its present owners, who summoned church officials.

Afterward, the books were disinfected and deodorized — "rats had gotten in and lived in there and chewed on some of the books." He said the volumes were printed within about a 10-year span with the oldest one dated 1558.

"In St. Louis we'll try carbon dating to see how truly authentic they are," said Wuensche, who lives in Eola in Concho County but has a son who is a Lutheran pastor in Taylor, near Thorndale.

"We have four types of material to date — the paper, the wooden covers, the pigskin stretched over the wood, and the fiber in the bindings," he said.

But Wuensche said they appear authentic. "The deterioration ... the hand-written notes inside ... the quality of the paper. Paper made nowadays is much thinner. These books are straw weighted for all their size."

He said the volumes, written by the German monk whose teachings were the foundation of the Lutheran Church, still have the brass fittings used to hold them closed. He said notations indicate they were brought to Texas by Kramer and once had been in possesion of the Lambspringeng is Monastery, but Wuensche said he does not know where such a place is.

One notation, written in Latin, says "Munificiently donated by the royal graciousness of Rudolphi August, duke of Brunswick and Luxembourg."

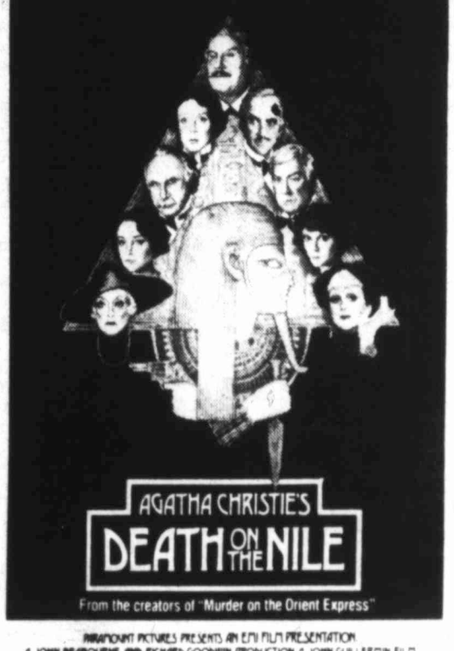

The volumes are part of an eight-book set. Wuensche said Volumes 1 and 4 were missing.

In the title page of each volume are the initials "V.D.M.I.A.E." Wuensche said this was Latin for "God's word maintains itself to eternity."
