Lubbock And Its Public Schools

Another of a Series Of News Editorials On A Vital Subject

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of a series of articles compiled by The Morning Avalanche and M. H. Duncan, superintendent of schools...

With a view to making the schools as world-like as possible, the work of the classroom has been supplemented by a number of activities that used to be called extra-curricular.

CLUBS ARE NUMEROUS.—Among these activities are the large number of clubs: Cooking clubs, sewing clubs, Spanish clubs, Latin clubs, Hi-Y Girls' Reserve, the band, the orchestra, the L association, the pep squad, and others too numerous to mention.

Flames Claim Six Lives In Nation.—Flames Take Three Children In Massachusetts Family; Three Die In Connecticut Blaze

FALL RIVER, Mass., Jan. 28.—Three of the five children of Mrs. Mary Massa died of suffocation and the mother was burned probably fatally when fire destroyed their home in a three-story tenement house here today.

BANDITS GET $2,500.—OCONOMOWOC, Wis., Jan. 28.—Three men walked into the Ixonia State Bank here today seized $2,500 after binding the cashier, and escaped in an automobile.

Palm Beach Gets New Fad Parade.—PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 28.—Palm Beach saw something new locally today when a coterie of feminine leaders of the exclusive winter colony attended a public luncheon attired in beach pajamas.

MAY ARRIVE LATER.—Cold Wave Forecast Appears to be Nearly Right

The forecast of a new cold wave for the Mid-West was partially true, insofar as Lubbock and its immediate environs are concerned, with the lowering of temperature Sunday night, yet that part of the forecast stating it would be "much colder, with probability of snow" seemed, at a late hour Monday night, not to apply here.

Clear skies all day Monday, permitted the persistent South Plains sun to make things comfortable.

Moody's Highway Group Reports To House

State-Wide Bond Issue Idea Given To Lower Body

Arguments For and Against Proposed Program Are Made Before Group; Plan Explained Thoroughly

Governor Is Heard

State's Executive Explains Why Highways are Needed; Applauded On Assertion About Farmer

AUSTIN, Jan. 28.—The House today heard the report of Governor Moody's committee of seven which attempted to co-ordinate pending highway financing legislation and present it in compact recommendations.

It included the idea of a $175,000,000 state-wide bond issue, $100,000,000 of the proceeds to be used in constructing a permanent connected system of highways and $75,000,000 to reimburse counties which heretofore expended money on designated highways.

Senate Refuses Hearing.—Although the House had passed a concurrent resolution providing for a joint session of both branches to hear the highway plan, the Senate refused to concur on the grounds that it would be an infringement of the rules to take such action to listen to others than state officials.

Arguments for and against the proposal were made by former Governor Hobby, former Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davison and Judge W. O. Higgins, all of Houston; Col. Clarence Oasley of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and Cone Johnson of the State highway commission.

Davidson argued against the bond issue phase and the other speakers virtually were in agreement with the report.

Retired by Fees.—The bond issue would be retired, principal and interest, by proceeds of a gasoline tax, license fees and a charge against motor vehicles carrying freight and passengers for profit.

For the next two years, or until the bond issue plan could be put into effect, the legislature would provide for $20,000,000 annually for new construction and $10,000,000 yearly for maintenance through a gas tax, license fees and charge against criminal freight and passengers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Eleven men who "only followed the call of duty" and so wrote one of the most thrilling chapters in the whole history of sea rescue, were hailed as heroes in their home port today.

They illuminated scrolls were presented, speeches of congratulation were delivered, and rewards were made from a fund by public subscription.

Miles Prove No Barrier To Pair

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 28.—(P)—Ten thousand miles or so cause little difficulty in the exchange of social courtesies between Miss Marie Roach and William Van Der Veer, news reel photographer with Commander Byrd's expedition into the Antarctic.

When Miss Roach heard that John G. O'Rourke, operator of a radio station here, had been in communication with Norwegian whaling vessels plying in the Antarctic, she persuaded him to accept a message for Van Der Veer.

Saturday night she gave her letter to O'Rourke. It took him forty minutes to get the range of the steamship Eleanor Bolling, Byrd's supply ship, returning to the Bay of Whales from Dumedin, New Zealand with supplies. The message was transmitted and acknowledged.

Next Sunday morning when O'Rourke again has permission to "take the air" Miss Roach will be awaiting a reply. The exchange is planned for each weekend.

Pat Neff Defends His Labor Stand Before Committee

Former Governor of Texas Explains His Actions And Defends Protest; Early Report Expected

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—After hearing Pat M. Neff, former governor of Texas, defend himself today from protests against his re-appointment to the railroad board of mediation, the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee will meet tomorrow to conclude consideration of the case.

An early report on his nomination will be sought and lead-ers in the Senate indicated privately belief that the Texas would receive endorsement of the committee.

Answering a charge that he was biased and prejudiced and that this had prevented him from accomplishing his work, Neff told the committee today that he had settled 34 cases and that representatives of the telegraphers, railway clerks, maintenance of way laborers and yardmasters with whom he worked, had approved his methods. Only two of the 24 cases in the retired docket and unsettled were his, Neff asserted.

Explains Troops Order.—He explained that he sent state troops to Denison, Texas, during a strike of railway shop crafts in 1922 in order to prevent intervention by the federal government and to protect citizens, who, he said, were menaced by disorders.

Replying to a charge that he had attempted to set up a "company union" in the Texas city terminal case, he said he had acted as an investigator and not as a mediator and that he had not suggested formation of such a union.

Flames Destroy A. C. C. Building; Classes Continue

Administration Structure Is Taken Early Monday; To Build Temporary Unit For Continuing School

ABILENE, Jan. 28.—The problem created when the Administration building at Abilene Christian college here burned early today, will be met in part by erection of a temporary frame building, directors of the institution have decided.

The fire, when discovered, had gained too much headway to prevent destruction of the building. Firemen, aided by students, saved office records and several thousand volumes from the library. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss was estimated at above $100,000.

To Be Moved In September

The emergency structure will be used until September, when the college is to be removed to a new site northeast of the city. Two buildings on the new site, begun late last year, are almost complete.

Classes will be resumed Tuesday morning. President Batsell Baxter announced in gymnasium and dormitory rooms, to be used until the temporary building is completed.

O'Neal Points To Designation Need

County Paved Roads Chairman Declares Levelland Route Needed To Assure More Traffic Here

Charles F. O'Neal, who was last week unanimously elected general chairman of Lubbock county's next, and third, effort at creating a county-wide road building program, announced Monday that, inasmuch as the highway running west from Lubbock to Levelland is not designated as a state or federal highway, an effort should be made at once towards getting it designated as such.

It is highly important to Lubbock county and the South Plains that this so-called Levelland highway be designated a state and federal highway at the earliest date possible," states Mr. O'Neal.

Provide Greater Traffic

"This highway will open up Hookley and Cochran counties and probably other counties," he said.

FEATURES OF THE NEW FORD

Safety

ONE of the outstanding features of the new Ford is its mechanical, internal-expanding six-brake system.

This is unusually reliable and effective in action because the braking surfaces of all six brakes are fully enclosed. There is no possibility of mud, water, sand, road dirt or grease entering the brake mechanism or getting between the bands and drum and impairing brake performance.

The use of steel forgings wherever there is a possibility of wear in the chassis of the car, the sturdy steel body construction, balance, ease of operation and control and a Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield are other important safety features.

Comfort

You have a feeling of mental comfort in driving the new Ford because you are sure of its mechanical reliability. No matter how long the trip or rough or devious the roadway, you know it will bring you safely, quickly to the journey's end.

Physically, too, you will feel fresh and relaxed in the new Ford because it is such a roomy, comfortable car. Seats are wide and deeply cushioned, with backs designed to conform to the curves of the body.

Even on comparatively rough stretches, there are no hard bumps or jolts, nor exaggerated bouncing up and down. The four Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers and transverse springs take up or absorb the force of every unevenness in the road before it reaches the body, frame and chassis of the car.

Reliability

The new Ford is reliable in performance because of its carefully planned simplicity of design and the enduring quality that has been built into every part.

Throughout, it has been made to give you many thousands of miles of pleasant, enjoyable motoring at a minimum of trouble and expense. From every part of the world come letters from Ford owners commenting on this reliability, and giving specific data on unusual performance.

Thousands of the new Fords have been driven more than 50,000 miles in the past year. Some, used night and day, have passed the 100,000-mile mark. There is no telling how far they will go. The average life of the Model T was seven years. We believe this new car will do better than that.

Economy

The new Ford is an economical car to own and drive because of the low cost of operation and up-keep. It averages more than 20 miles per gallon of gasoline and the cost of tires and oil is also low.

Low first cost, the security of a fair trade-in value, the availability

SERVICE

"IT HAS always been our belief that a sale does not complete the transaction between us and the buyer, but establishes a new obligation on us to see that his car gives him service. We are as much interested in his economical operation of the car as he is in our economical manufacture of it.

"For that reason we have installed a system of controlled service to take care of all Ford car needs in an economical and improved manner. We wish all users of Ford cars to know what they are entitled to in this respect, so that they may readily avail themselves of this service."

Henry Ford

of Ford dealers, and close supervision of service are additional reasons for the economy of the new Ford.

The cost of new parts is also low because of the established Ford policy of doing business at a small margin of profit.

Beauty

The new Ford is distinguished by its quiet simplicity of line and air of sturdy strength. Without being extreme, it has struck a new note in motor car designing. A particularly pleasing feature is a choice of beautiful colors in all body types without additional cost.

The upholstery is of woolen material, rich and luxurious, yet long-wearing. Fenders are heavy and gracefully contoured. Instrument panel—door handles—window lifts—interior trimming and finish—all reveal a quality of material and a careful workmanship unusual in a low-price car.

Ease of Control

Another outstanding feature of the new Ford is its ease of operation and control.

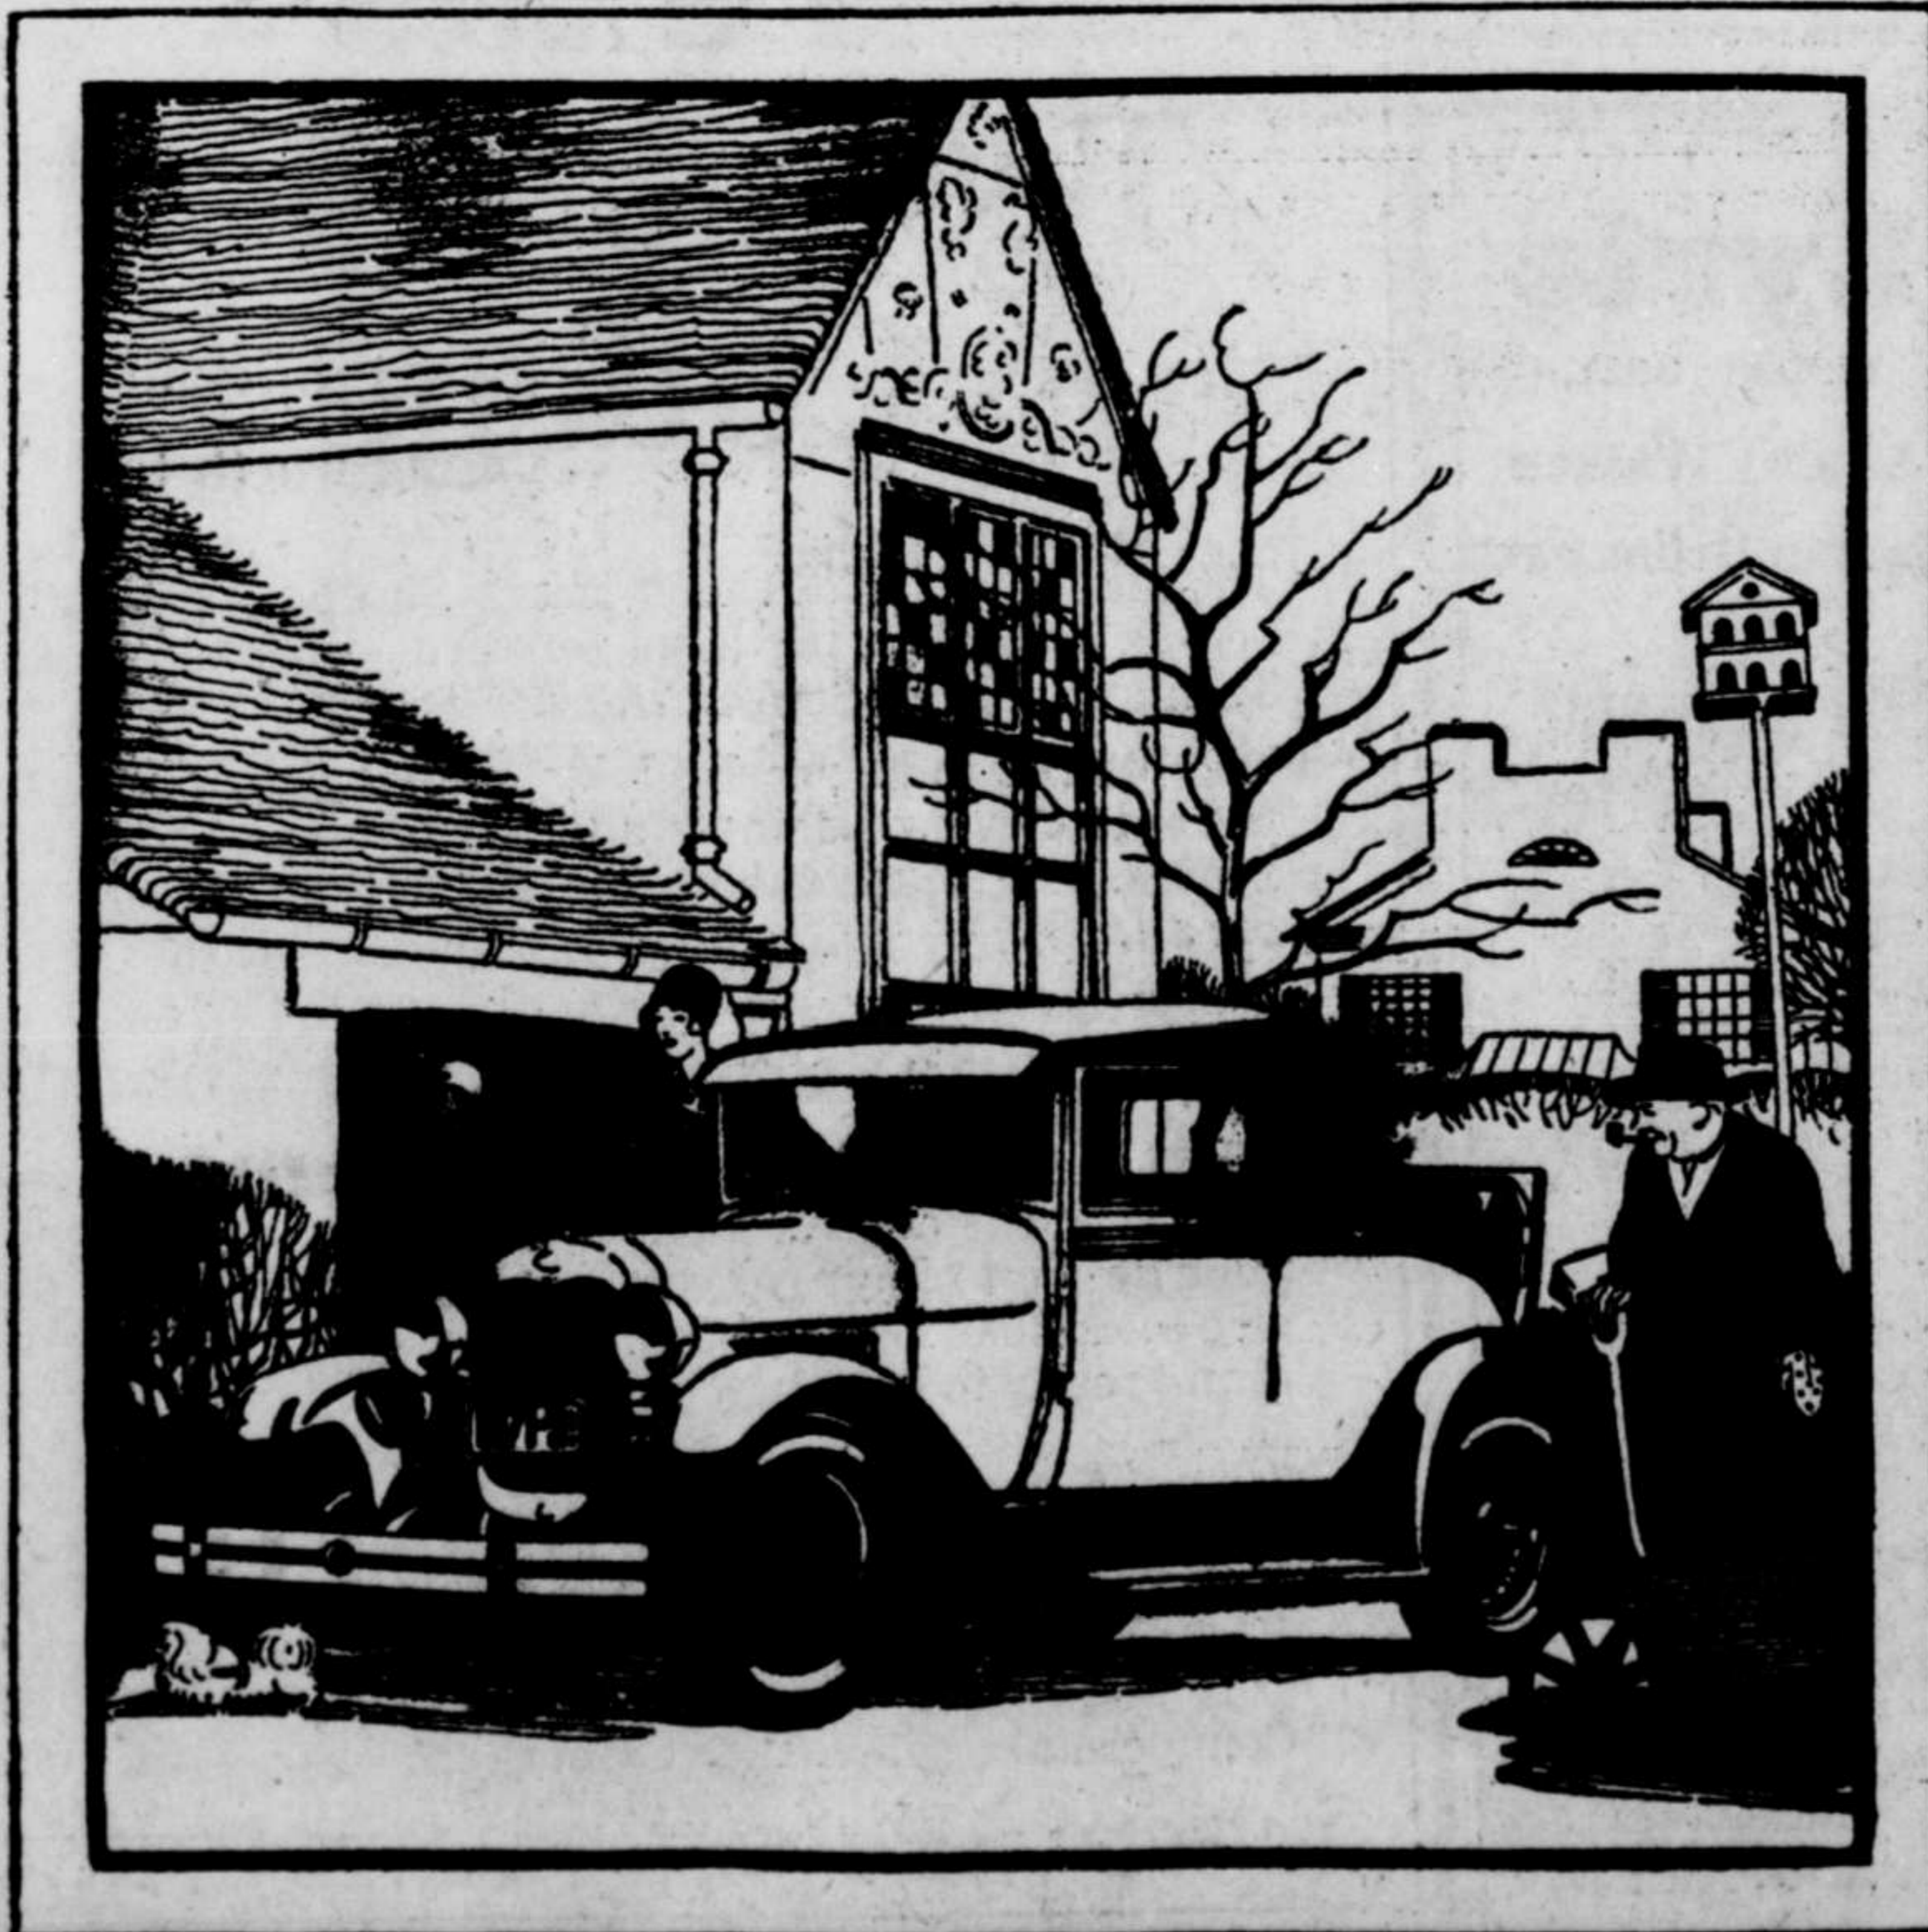

The steering wheel answers to the touch of a finger. Gears shift silently, smoothly. Brakes take hold quickly, firmly even on rain-swept pavements. Quick acceleration and alert speed are especially appreciated in traffic and emergencies. A space little longer than the car itself is all you need for parking.

All of these things simplify the mechanics of motoring and add a great deal to the joy and comfort of motoring. Particularly to a woman, they mean driving without strain or fatigue.

Smooth Speed

Everywhere you go, you note the alert, capable performance of the new Ford. You can judge its acceleration by the way it gets away in traffic. A smooth stretch on the open road gives a revealing measure of its speed. The way it climbs the hills in high is an indication of its abundant power.

The new Ford will do 55 to 65 miles an hour, which is probably faster than you will ever need to go. Far more important is the way it rolls along at 35 and 40 and 45. This is your average driving speed and you can maintain it smoothly, easily, comfortably for hours in the new Ford.

The layman struggling with the mid-year bills reads that President-elect Hoover will probably tour the West Indies for a rest after his rest in Florida following the picking of his cabinet after his rest on the South American Good Will tour.

The layman, stroking his furnace, doing contortions over the grocery bill, and wondering if he'll get laid off the job with the rest of the boys next week, probably finds all this a bit bewildering and questions just why one needs constant rest from other rest spells.

IT'S THE TRUTH
And yet it's no exaggeration to say that if confronted with Hoover's job, and even if a Hoover himself and hence capable of it, the layman would find himself envying the comparatively simple life he had known as a mere humble laborer, just as Hoover might now probably envy that which seems to him the unharrassed life of the private citizen.

FAR PASTURES
Just the old story of "far pastures looking greener." Perhaps, in proportion to his abilities, each human has about the same lot with which to contend. While the layman who never travels looks at other people's travels as the embodiment of pleasure, travel can really become something from which to rest for the man who has too much of it. Hotel life, so glamorous to many, is bleak and dismal to the traveling man. And there you are!

MONEY TROUBLE
Police were called to a certain home in a certain city the other night by a shooting. They discovered that a husband had shot his wife, "just to scare her," he explained, because he had just learned that their bank account was not a joint one, as he had believed, but was entirely in her own name.

FILIAL LOVE
Margaret R. Paine, musical director of a school in Kyoto, Japan, is rushing over a journey of more than 7000 miles in order to reach her mother who is dying in Miami, Florida, before it is too late. Perhaps nothing so unusual in that story. We are rather accustomed to our acceptance of the comparative lukewarmishness of filial devotion as contrasted with parental.

How to Achieve Beauty

Now we come to face lines. The horizontal and vertical lines which we see so frequently are the unmistakable lines of age and disposition. Commonest amongst them, to start at the top, are the frown lines. Frown lines, being to some extent bad expression lines, can be controlled by determination and self will. Once they are in, however, and have left a permanent mark on your complexion, the time has arrived to think seriously about good correctives. You can iron out frown lines through skillful massage. Since, as the lines run horizontally, I suggest that you use vertical massage movements to counteract them. With a gentle pressure of the palms of your hands massaging a small amount of nourishing cream into the surface. If you do this two or three times a day, you should have no more frown lines in a moderately short number of weeks, or months.

Mme. Rubinstein

The next lines are also horizontal, and these are the well-known crowfeet. There are two methods of correcting this condition. The first is massage, and the second is through the use of a nightly eye cream. Naturally enough, to combine the two methods is to achieve best and quickest results. Here are some massage movements for the correction of crowfeet. With the cushioned top of your middle finger,

"Married Life" Not Worth While Blames Wives' "Nerves"
"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems unbearable!

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady-nerved, radiant woman you once were. Take a teaspoonful of Tanlac after meals and before going to bed and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

Announcing

Substantial Reductions

in the prices of the

DODGE BROTHERS SENIOR

WHEN THE NEW Dodge Brothers Six was announced, at the beginning of the new year, at prices so low as to overshadow any previous Dodge Brothers accomplishment, its universal public acceptance marked a new peak of popularity even for Dodge Brothers cars.

Public recognition was quickly translated into an unprecedented sales volume with an attendant increase in manufacturing efficiency and economy which now favorably affects its companion car—the Dodge Brothers Senior—and permits substantial reductions in the prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models.

The new lower prices at which the Dodge Brothers Senior henceforth will be sold are directly traceable to the established Chrysler policy of giving the public immediate benefit of every economy due to more efficient manufacturing methods, lower overhead costs and savings effected by the great unified purchasing power of Chrysler Motors.

Not only are these savings now passed on to the public in the form of much lower prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models, but the cars themselves have been made still better

Examine the Dodge Brothers Senior in your most critical mood. Scrutinize each small detail. Be most exacting in your inspection. For once you have subjected the Chrysler-built Dodge Brothers Senior to your most diligent and careful inspection you are certain to realize that never before has a car so large, so handsome and so fine been available at so low a price.

Yanks and Macks Not Improved But Tigers Stronger

Bucky Harris, Youthful Manager Believes His Team Will Be In Chase For American Pennant

BY HENRY L. FARRELL, NEA Service Sports Editor. NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The open season for claiming, running weeks ahead of schedule, is upon us. The usually reticent and conservative Connie Mack exposed his head first and took a bow as manager of the 1929 American League champions.

While the veteran Mack was admitting that his Philadelphia Athletics were going to win the pennant, some of the other boys shook off their modesty and said a few kind words for themselves.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, agreed with Mack that several teams in the league had been strengthened since last fall and that competition will be keener and that, after considering all circumstances, the Yankees hoped to win the pennant again.

Howling Dan Howley, whose magic wand worked last year on the St. Louis Browns, agreed with Mack and Barrow that several teams have been strengthened since last fall and that competition will be keener and he added a few words to the effect that he had no injuries will bust up his club.

Detroit Adds a Few Words. Bucky Harris, in a new spot, as the manager of the Detroit Tigers, agreed with Mack and Barrow and Howley that several teams have been strengthened since last fall and that competition will be keener and he added a few words to the effect that he had no injuries will bust up his club.

Several clubs have been strengthened, but we have added more strength than any other club in the league and we had a good ball club to build on. If it is an act to claim the pennant let me in on it, too," he said.

Mack thinks that a stronger Detroit, Boston, Cleveland, and Chicago club will make things harder for the Yankees to win as many games as they won in the first half of the season last year and that a year's experience on some of his young fellows will enable him to get away to a better start.

The Yankees hope that the lame arms of Pennock, Moore and Lazzeri are cured and that they will escape the disaster that those lame arms threatened them with in the last quarter of the 1928 race.

Yanks and A's Not Improved. Neither the Yankees nor the Athletics have been improved since last season, if a superficial glance is accurate. The Yanks can't be sure about those arms, or about Koenig, at third, Durocher at second or Larry at short. And the Athletics are improved a lot of managers would like to know where Mack got the cure for weak hearts.

Lubbock Contractor Out With Facts. J. W. THOMPSON TELLS OF BENEFITS HE HAS DERIVED FROM ORGATONE

"I can testify to the value of Orgatone because I had done more to rid me of my trouble and build me up than anything I have ever taken," said J. W. Thompson, of 16214 Fifth St., in relating his experience with Orgatone while talking with the Athlete representative recently. Mr. Thompson is a well-known contractor here in Lubbock.

"For about a year," continued Mr. Thompson, "I suffered from indigestion and liver trouble. I was in a general run-down condition, was nervous and restless all the time. It just seemed as if I were hungry all the time but what I would eat would sour on my stomach and the gas would blow me up so badly I could hardly breathe. I had a chronic case of constipation and was forced to take strong laxatives most all the time. Many nights I just couldn't go to sleep for I was so nervous and restless and when I would get up in the morning I'd feel all tired and worn out."

"It was in this condition when I began reading about Orgatone, and how it was helping others who were suffering as I was so I made up my mind to give it a trial and I have only taken one bottle and I certainly notice a big change. I have a splendid appetite, and I eat anything and every thing that I want. Gas doesn't bother me any more and I am not nearly as nervous as I was. I feel better than I have in several months. Orgatone is a wonderful medicine and I feel that it has saved me from a nervous break-down, which might have proven serious. I am glad to recommend Orgatone to my friends."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowers Drug Store under the personal direction of the Orgatone representative.

Business Prevents Jack's Road Work

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 28. (AP)—Business prevented Jack Dempsey from entering his training program today. The former heavyweight champion, who stepped into the job of promoting the Sharkey-Stribling fight after the death of Tex Rickard, had laid his plans to start road work today with the implication that he might return to the ring if he found through his workouts that he was in condition.

However, he was forced to abandon the plan until tomorrow, at least for a business conference at Palm Beach.

OPPONENT UNCERTAIN

Christner's foe for Feb. 22 Not Determined

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—A conference between Tom McArdel, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, and the managers of Tom Heeney and Paulino Uezudun today failed to determine which of the foreign heavyweights will get the February 22 date at the Garden with K. O. Christner.

FIELDS GETS DECISION

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (AP)—Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, rated as an outstanding challenger for the world welterweight championship, won the verdict over Chas. Jack McCarthy of Chicago, in a ten round boxing contest tonight.

a better team you will have to take the peppery chatter of Lena Blackburne as enough proof for it.

It's too early for one of those expert things to tell the managers who is right and wrong about this matter. The expert has to do his experting just before the season opens or do it twice, and once is enough.

Rather Than Be Shot, We say—

If we were to be shot now unless we said something we would say that Master Bucky Harris seems to be in a swell spot to do some more of that boy wonder stuff. All he needs to raise a lot of devil next season in the league is the good will and the co-operation of Mule Uhl. That fellow might win 25 ball games.

We happen to know that, in the early part of last season, Master Harris had been given to understand that he could pick the spot he liked best in the league and that Washington would not stand in his way.

And, we happen to know, Master Harris didn't even look around or glance at the league standing.

"Detroit," he said to himself and a friend or two, "is the strongest club in the league next to the Yankees. I like that ball club. Needs patching only in a couple of spots."

The Club Got It's Patches. He is no wiggling ready to start the season as the manager of the ball club he thought was the second strongest in the league. It has been patched and he thinks it is now the strongest club in the league.

In the budding talk about the 1929 race not much attention is being paid to the Detroitis. Their position is mindful of that of the Illinois football team in the Big Ten at the start of the season last fall. No one mentioned the name of Illinois. It was all Ohio State, Iowa and Wisconsin. But when they counted up at the end of the season Illinois had the championship.

Marquard To Put 50 Grand In Camp

By NEA Service. NEW YORK, Jan. 28. — Rube Marquard has no further baseball ambitions, but he is not going to live the life of ease he could if he wished. Baseball was very good to him financially.

The Rube, who once was known as the $11,000 lemon and who later won 19 straight games for the New York Giants, will take Mrs. Marquard's advice about the future. He is going to start a boys' camp in Maine this summer.

"My wife has talked me into the idea that I could make a go of it," he says, "and I am going to try. I'm going to sink $50,000 in a camp near Winthrop, Me., and if I flop it won't kill me. I like boys and I think I can handle them."

Tech Cagers to Meet Hill Billies of Daniel Baker In First of 8 Games Series Lasting Until Feb. 13

Back from their five game series with A. C. C. Simmons and McMurry of Abilene, the Tech basketballers began training last night for a home stand of eight games that will hold the crimson cagers on the home court through February 13.

Beginning Friday night of this week, Coach Payne's aggregation will take on the Daniel Baker Hillies in a two game series. The Brownwood outfit is making a serious bid for the T. I. A. A. title this season and will likely furnish the locals plenty of stiff competition in the Friday and Saturday night games.

With but one day of practice in between, the Matadors will meet the West Texas State Teachers on Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week. Coach H. D. Burton's Buffaloes have always been tough nuts for Tech basketball teams to crack, and from all indications this season will be no exception.

Following the Canyon games, McMurry Indians come to Lubbock for two return games Feb. 8 and 9, and on the 12 and 13. Sall Ross will furnish the opposition.

Brown Runs Wild To Score 35 For Pedagogical Crew

National Guard Quintet Is Helpless Before Scoring Assault of Winners; Kerr Second In Scoring

The Teachers took turns at scoring last night and when the slaughter was over Morgan, Brown and Co. had set a City League basketball record in downing the National Guard basketekers 74 to 26. With George Brown running wild and leading the scoring rampage, the Pedagogues, strengthened by the addition of Jimmy Kerr to their lineup, gave the greatest scoring exhibition seen here in many moons.

Demoralized by the barrage of field goals that were fired in rapid succession, the Army cagers were helpless before the uncanny passing and shooting of the Teachers.

Curtis Allen, Army captain, shifted his lineup at intervals, but to no avail. The Teachers were "hot," and there was no stopping them. After the score had passed the half-hundred mark, the hopelessly beaten Soldiers gave up the ship and played a reckless, half-hearted game.

George Brown set a high mark for other City League sharpshooters to shoot at when he sank 17 field goals and one free throw for a grand total of thirty-five points. Kerr with 15, Liston with 12 and

The Original Lucky Strike Girl

"I'm a 'Lucky Girl' because I've found a new way to keep my figure trim. Whenever the desire for a sweet tempts me, I light up a Lucky Strike. It's remarkable how nicely the toasted flavor of Luckies satisfies me. Toasting has taken out all impurities—all that is left is the thrilling Lucky aroma. I certainly am lucky to be 'The Lucky Girl!'"

ROSALIE ADELE NELSON

THE modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Thousands are doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skillfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

Famous Run Brings Marriage Offer

Roy Riegels Besieged With Letters Since Memorable Run In Wrong Direction On New Year's Day

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 28.—Offers of marriage, of positions, presentation of bills, sympathy, congratulations—all of these have come to Roy Riegels since that famous run in the wrong direction on New Year's Day. Riegels, like many before him who did or said some unusual thing, has been swamped with letters from all over the country since the California-Georgia Tech game. From Seattle to Miami and from Maine to San Diego and all points in between have come several hundred letters. The letters are from folk in all walks of life and one fact stands out in all of them—no criticism or reproach is made. One marathon dancer offered her hand in marriage.

Two southern girls from a Methodist school had to sympathize, "even though it is against the rules of the school to write to strange men." Chuck Carroll, Washington halfback, was one of many football stars who advised Riegels "to forget it." One old gentleman who keeps a cigar store presented a bill for $1.20 which he claims he lost because of the run. A Baltimore girl used the old adage, "to err is human," in advising him to try again. One of Riegels' friends, who has read all the letters received, said one could get the idea that "Roy was greater than Lindbergh, funnier than Will Rogers, faster than Charles Padock and better-looking than John Gilbert," from the letters.

Agriculture Asks For Higher Tariff On Farm Products

Farm Bureau and National Grange Join In Plea For Greater Rates; Proposal Is Submitted

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Organized agriculture today got behind the movement for big increases in tariff on all farm products. Appearing before the house ways and means committee hearing of agriculture import duties, representatives of the American Farm Bureau Federation and National Grange joined in appealing for higher tariff protection on scores of commodities. Submitting a proposal for increasing duties on items in sixty of the eighty sections of the tariff schedule, Chester Gray, Washington, representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, declared it was his belief that "tariffs on raw farm crops will not necessarily increase the price over the retail counter but will protect the American farmer from his cost producer competitor. The following duties, compared with present tariffs, were proposed: Stocker and feeder cattle 3 1-2 cents a pound against 2 cents; beef cattle 4c against 2c; sheep and goats 3c a head against 2c; swine 3c a pound against one half a cent; fresh or frozen beef and veal 8c against 3c; fresh pork 5c against three quarters of a cent. YOU and BASKETBALL

The man offensive in this style of play, man back of the ball, is not hard to master and is most spectacular. With mastery of the long pass it is always a scoring threat. This includes a fake to return the pass, a man close to the basket in the line of vision, and a pass back to comparative safety to give continuity to the system. The passer passes back, cutting in front of his receiver and one other teammate. The receiver fakes a return pass and passes back, going in front of two teammates. The man cutting for the pass does not leave his side of the floor until the passer has made a fake to return the pass. This play can be visualized better by a glance at "a" in the accompanying diagram. No. 1 passed to No. 2 and cut diagonally in front of No. 2 and No. 4. The man with the ball may at any time try to dribble in and shoot. If stopped, he can pivot and pass back to his regular man, thereby continuing the system regularly. Note in "b" how this play comes in. No. 4 has a chance to dribble in. He is stopped. He pivots and passes

Although Monday witnessed but two building permits, for a total of $365, January's record was boosted up to $227,328, which is within about $5,000 of the figure reached for the same month last year. City Building Inspector D. J. HEROES FOR LIFE OR DEATH

Every now and then something happens to prove that the human race has almost unlimited capacities for sacrifice and self-forgetfulness. Unfortunately, however, this great capacity can be put to work for a destructive purpose quite as easily as for a constructive one.

HOOVER'S POLICY

If Washington dispatches forecasting policies of the next President upon his assumption of the duties of the office are authentic, Hoover's experience in foreign affairs promises to serve the United States well.

Bayler college was a heavy loser by fire a few days ago when Luther Hall was consumed. This hall was the home of more than 250 girl students of the college, and many of them narrowly escaped death in the flames.

Visitors in Lubbock see the city in an entirely different way to the people who stay here all the time. One man said yesterday "It looks like Lubbock is going to have another boom right away," but Lubbock folks do not seem to see it that way.

STEWART DISCUSSES DIPLOMATIC FORGERY

BY CHARLES P. STEWART Washington Correspondent for Central Press and The Morning Avalanche

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Forgery would be the world's best business if the average bank teller were as easy a mark as the average diplomat—hard-boiled and skeptical as the latter is supposed to be.

Not so long ago a long series of letters appeared—photostats of them for all America to see—purporting to reveal repeated attempts by individuals high in the Mexican government to corrupt a number of United States senators—extremely improbable ones, too—only to have it presently admitted, from the very source which gave them publicity, that the whole batch of exhibits were faked.

Now a similar set of frauds has been exposed by which still another couple of senators were represented as in Moscow's pay.

Charles Evans Hughes, for instance, while secretary of state, explained his refusal even to discuss Russian recognition in considerable part as due to documentary evidence of a soviet plot to "put the red flag over the White House."

Whether it was or not, the latest disclosures are enough to make an unprejudiced jury mighty doubtful about it.

Secretary of State Kellogg was equally distrustful of "documentary evidence" in showing our relations toward Mexico—until Dwight W. Morrow went to Mexico City as ambassador.

Not Washington diplomacy alone, but European diplomacy, too, bites readily on lots of very phony-looking international documentary dope.

The British government broke relations with Moscow on the strength of what it believed to be a genuine signature—now generally recognized as having been "planted" by Anglo-Dutch oil interests.

All the indications are that it would be far from impossible for international forgers to provoke a war, indeed, it may be that they actually have provoked past wars.

It ought to be needless to say—and yet it is needful to say—that photostatic evidence of anything is no evidence at all.

A genuine signature underneath no matter what—an invitation to dinner or a recipe for synthetic gin—is the easiest thing in the world to clip on, paste at the foot of any paper the forger may have tapped off on his typewriter, and then reproduce photostatically, as a document guaranteed to set a dozen nations by the ears.

A bank teller would laugh at it. The average foreign minister swallows it raw.

HOW CHILD SHOULD BE CLOTHED IN WINTER

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association

And of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Styles in children's wearing apparel have changed as greatly in recent years as have those of their mothers.

Many women believe it is of importance to have the child wrapped in the winter so as to harden it against the climate; others bundle the child in layers after layer of wrapping so that it can hardly evaporate any perspiration from its body.

Dr. Julius Hess has given special consideration to this subject in a recent issue of Hygiene. He points out the following:

"Clothing should be comfortable to the child, not too tight or too loose, and should not endanger good posture by improper fitting. Children should be active and their clothing should be such that they are not conscious of its interference."

"In addition, the child should be clothed as an individual. Poorly nourished children as a rule need warmer winter clothing. Children that are active need less than those that are not as active."

"Clothing is worn to maintain a steady temperature, to serve as protection from temperatures lower than the normal body temperature. It should provide comfort and should not cause overheating and perspiration. Many children are overdressed, which is not desirable and may cause serious results."

"Underwear should have full length arms and legs in most cases. Long stockings which may be part wool, may keep the legs comfortably warm with knee-length underwear. Cotton outer clothing is all that is necessary."

"For the Little Fellow. For outdoor wear, leggings that come to the waist are desirable for the two or three-year-old child. These may be knitted or fleeced. The latter may be obtained with zipper fastenings, which are most convenient."

"Mittens are more desirable than gloves. Shoes for small children have comparatively thin soles and in cold weather overshoots should be worn to keep the feet warm."

Well, How Does He? "I'm glad I'm not a snake." "Why so?" "When he has a stomach-ache, how's he know whether it's stiff neck or a sore tail?"—The Farm Journal.

THE SPY Drunk—Shay, who's following me? Ditto—Nobody; that's your shadow. Drunk—Well, what's he want?—Orange Owl.

DRY ATTACKS BY MELLON WOULD STOP GOVERNMENT'S CABINET

SO THINK WE

We think the Littlefield Leader is as right as one could very well be when it says that the way some people seem to think is the best way to settle the farm problems is to get a job in town.

We think that Senator Pink Parish is right when he says this head-on law is a joke, and the job is to be on the fellow who has to pay the two bits for having them fixed.

We think that the fellow with good eyes to feel more sorry for a blind man all the time.

We think women are funny creatures. We have known women who would have nothing whatever to do with each other in private life who will actually kiss in public.

We think that there was a great thing when kissing went out of style, but we notice yet that there are a few people who will not even be in style in that respect.

We think the world may owe some men a living, but we see no reason why any one business like a grocery business should pay all of the bill.

We think there is one advantage that a person owning a good horse used to have over the fellow who owns a good automobile now. He did not have to look upon it as a used car, as soon as he was transferred to another owner.

We think Dan Junior made a very pretty debut into the columns of the press, when his baby face appeared there in Sunday morning newspapers.

We think the happiest families in the world are those where the wife and mother thinks more of the way the meals are prepared, and the way the house looks, than she does of the number of different score cards she can decorate her walls with.

We think if a lot of us only knew it, we need not worry one bit, for there are plenty of people who have neighbors who will do all of that if given half a chance.

We think the golden rule is a wonderful little thing, but the trouble is that very few people will have much to do with it.

We think that every knocker is a coward. We have never seen one that would continue to knock when the man he is knocking shows up.

We think a great many men are going to wait too long to pay their poll tax. Only three more days, men. Better look after that very important matter. You will certainly regret it if you fail to provide yourself with the necessary voting facilities.

We think those school teachers who teach the boys to sew on buttons, wash, iron and cook, are pretty wise, for the young men certainly will need to be well informed on matters of that sort when they marry some of these flapper girls, and expect them to be real wives.

We think with Lubbock growing as rapidly as she is that there should certainly be better lighted streets.

The more paved streets we have the better people will like our city, and the more people there will be who will want to come here and make their home.

Sound travels through the air at the rate of one mile in five seconds. Big Ben can be heard to strike four miles from Westminster.

The Way Of The World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

NOT A WEAKER SEX. It is quite the custom of public speakers, making addresses to audiences of women, to be condescending and patronizing. They appear to go on the assumption that it is strange that women should be interested in affairs that interest men or in anything other than cooking and sewing.

Only the superior courtesy of women keeps them from walking out on such a lecture.

THE BEST CURE

Dallas News: The testimony of the chief of the division of weights and measures in the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture before the Senate Committee on State Affairs Tuesday emphasizes an earlier report made by his office as to discoveries of short measures in gas and oil sales. More than 81 per cent of the tests made revealed fraud against the customer.

CONCLUSIONS

After all, isn't it about time that women's cause is not superior intelligence is recognized by what used to be called a man's world?

GETS NEW SKULL

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—A piece of "artificial skull" has been fitted into the head of a workman who was seriously injured in an electrical accident. The replacement was ten inches long by six inches wide.

ON THE HOOP

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Sometime in the distant future women will have hooves instead of feet and legs shaped like those of a horse, according to Dr. C. I. Groff. High-heeled shoes are the cause of it all, according to the doctor. They enlarge the ankle, make it bony, develop a short stubby foot and produce leg tendons instead of muscles, giving the calf a knobby appearance, he says.

"SISTER, AWAKE" Sister, awake! close not your eyes! The day her light discloses, And the bright morning doth arise Out of her bed of roses.

See the clear sun, the world's bright eye, In at our window peeping; Lo, how he blusheth to spy Us idle wenchers sleeping!

Therefore awake! make haste, I say, And let us, without staying, All in our gowns of green so gay Into the Park—a-walking!

THIS HAS HAPPENED ASHORETH ASHE, adventuring far from home, has a thrilling adventure in the West Indies.

There she meets, by accident, her employer, the rich and famous HOLLIS HART. She misses the boat on which she is traveling, and goes with him to his house in the mountains. Her clothes have gone ahead on the cruise ship, but Hollis fits her out as best he can. And they spend a dangerously glamorous week together.

Six wonderful days have passed. And she ships is due back again. Ashoreth and Hollis prepare for their last day together. Suddenly, almost without warning, a horrible hurricane rushes in from the sea.

The servants seek refuge in the hurricane shelter, a great chamber in the mountain side. Hollis takes Ashoreth to the house, where they spend the day, and most of the following night, quite alone.

Ashoreth does her best to vamp her host. She even dons pajamas and wanders with him, through the garden . . . and lets him hold and kiss her. He calls her Orchid, as his own secret tender name—because she reminds him, he says, of the flower.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXVII The storm had raged all day, and now it was night.

Midnight . . . and the wind, worn out with its fury, skulked like a fiftful wraith, lifting the poor, dead things it had killed, and tossing them about like chaff.

The butterfly bushes lay out their purple heads. And the petals of the red hibiscus spilled like blood on the grassy slopes. Great boughs stretched across the lawn. And, beneath the wreckage, the whole garden was crushed and broken.

Lime trees had been uprooted and thrown aside; and the vanilla and cocoa. And a giant palm, falling coconuts from its broken canopy, lay across the garden wall.

A few pale stars came out and peered sadly down. Hollis and Ashoreth looked upon the horror that had visited their small paradise.

Servants, with flaming torches, wandered here and there. A child in the hut where the women lived, cried and sobbed. And an old man moaned.

Down in the gully, dogs bayed furiously. And the servants scuffed their torches out and ran as though the devil chased them. For they knew that dogs never howled like that, except when the night was black.

Everything seemed hurt and sad. And only Ashoreth was happy. For Hollis had told her that the servant who had been ordered to marry him . . . and that of the two, was the more important declaration.

It had been wonderful, in the cozy fastness of the little house, Hollis had found a pair of black pajamas, with gold frogs, and a Chinese dragon writing up the back. How they happened in his bags he could not imagine.

He had been bought in Pekin, for the wife of an old friend. It was months since he had seen them. Parkins must have mistaken them for something more utilitarian. (Parkins, Ashoreth gathered, was Hollis' valet.)

Hollis begged Ashoreth to accept them. "Mrs. Lee would look like a meal bag in them," he declared. "Please Orchid—the're lounging things, really. Not to sleep in at all."

So she had put the mon. And taken a candle from her bedroom to light the way to the dressing room, to show her how beautiful they were on a girl who did not at all resemble a meal bag.

He had blown out the lamps when he saw her coming with the darkness all around her and her face lighted by the glow of the candle. And then, somehow, her candle had been so extinguished.

And he was waiting for her, with his arms open. And the great soft darkness had enfolding them both.

And, as he held her, his desire went singing through her. He lifted her forehead to his, and he felt a torrent from her swimming head.

He hushed her protestations with his mouth. And, lifting her, cradled her in his arms. And talked which was not at first, nor until he was weary with kissing.

"You'll marry me, Orchid?" he had begged. And he called her beautiful things. "A high white altar." And "pale-white love." And a "flame-white secret forever." Lovely, mystical names, like a poet making love.

It rather embarrassed her. As it had when he talked about her "darling untouchedness." She wondered if he had known about the way Jack Smythe had kissed her only a week before, he would still call her by white and precious names. And, of course, there wasn't just Jack Smythe either. There was Monty. And one or two others, besides.

By and by he lighted the lamps

we are married. She is so devoted to you, I wondered if perhaps you'd like to take her along."

"My own personal maid," Ashforth stared at her lover. "To dress me, you mean? And comb my hair, and give me baths?"

"Surely, my dear. You will want a maid, of course. Perhaps, though, you would rather have a more experienced woman. I suppose Hortense doesn't know about such things as manicures and facials, and all the little tricks of the trade."

"But Holly," Ashforth was amazed. "It's been lots of fun down here—having so much attention. But, my goodness, I wouldn't want a maid at home. Why, I'd feel like one of those doll-women or a silly little dog in a satin basket. It would be just too foolish for anything—a working girl like me," Hollis smiled.

"It was only a suggestion," he said. "Hortense was so anxious to get to the states. You see, I rented all the servants' things to her. The planter who owns the place is spending his holidays in Barbados. And I'm only now discovering how little native servants cost. It's no wonder they want to go to America. How much do you suppose Hortense is paid, my dear?"

"Oh, I don't know. Girls for general housework at home get $15 and $18, I think," Ashforth told him. "But I don't know a thing about wages for servants that are especially trained. I suppose though there's no comparison between the states and the tropics."

"I should say there isn't," he exclaimed. "Well, Hortense gets the magnificent sum of 50 cents a week and Lisa, my dear, who is rated the best cook on the island, gets a dollar. We could staff the whole place with them, if you'd like. Of course there might be some trouble getting them in on the quota, but I guess that could be arranged, if you'd like the notion."

Ashforth was dumbfounded. "But it's probably not practical," he added. "The details of passage, and all. It would be quite a nuisance. And then, of course, they are not used to our ways. There would be all sorts of trouble getting them adjusted."

Ashforth was rather overawed. The servant problem was far removed from the domestic life to which she was accustomed. She remembered the days when Maizie had gone out "accommodating." Blacking stoves and scrubbing floors. Ashforth wanted to cry whenever she thought of it. . . . And now she was to have servants of her own. The very notion frightened and thrilled her.

"How many servants have you, Holly?" she asked.

"Me? Oh, I've nobody but Parkins," he told her. "I live at the club, mostly. We'll run the town house after we are married, if you'd like. It's on Beacon street, on the river side. I suppose it's a bit dingy now. We might have it redecorated, while we are away. I'll ask Aunt Meg to get hold of a housekeeper. And then you needn't be annoyed with hiring servants. Aunt Meg will see that the place is running smoothly before we get back."

"Oh, Holly! Holly! It's like a story," Ashforth threw her arms about his neck. "I feel like a princess in a fairy tale. Don't—don't—let me wake up, dearest."

He held her closely.

"Life is going to be a lovely dream," he promised.

"I know it is," she cried. "But oh Holly, I've the dreadfulest feeling that something is going to happen."

(To Be Continued)

In the next installment Ashforth and Holly go home. And on the boat they plan their honeymoon.

Stock Market Is Nervous Monday In Uncertain Credit

Heavy Buying of Utilities Continues and Rails Hold Steady; Call Money May Go To 10 Per Cent

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
(Asst. Press Financial Writer)
NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The stock market opened with a burst of strength, nearly 100,000 shares being bought in the first half hour, and was swept by a wave of buying around midday, inspired by circulation of predictions that the call money rate would be led to 10 per cent as corporations and banks began to buy up interest and dividend-paying securities.

The market opened with a burst of strength, nearly 100,000 shares being bought in the first half hour, and was swept by a wave of buying around midday, inspired by circulation of predictions that the call money rate would be led to 10 per cent as corporations and banks began to buy up interest and dividend-paying securities.

Call money held at 6 per cent all day. Wall Street was inclined to describe this as easing off of credit through the recent arrivals of gold from Canada.

The day's news was mixed in character. Introduction of bills in the senate designed to curb the use of credit for speculation caused some uneasiness. There were a number of highly satisfactory earnings reports for 1928, however.

Tobacco stocks were again heavily bought, having come into popularity as the "big boards" only low-priced aviation stock. Indian Re-forestry jumped about 4 points to a new high on reports that large oil companies were seeking its cracking process.

Fort Worth Has Light Receipts

FORT WORTH, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Cattle receipts were light for a Monday's offering here. Trading was very slow with values inclined to be lower. Hog market was steady to 25c higher. Sheep strong to higher.

Slaughter steers very scarce; not enough to test market.

Bulls about steady; heavy bulls 8.00 to 8.50; common light bulls around 6.50.

New York Cotton Advances 1 to 13 Points on Monday

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Cotton prices failed to develop any definite trend today due to the absence of news developments. The market worked slightly higher after easing off on buying said to be for western interests.

There was a flurry of selling right after the opening and March sold off to 19.15, May 19.20 and July 19.18, or 3 to 4 points net down.

Cotton Advance Monday Is from 5 To 17 Points Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Prices were somewhat irregular in the cotton market today, with an early decline followed by recoveries which carried the price of May contracts up from 19.81 to 19.99.

Citizens' Bank First In County

Established in April of 1906, the Citizens National bank bears the distinction of having been the first bank to be established in Lubbock. And it is the only bank that has operated continuously under its original charter, without a consolidation or merger with some other organization.

Original capital stock of the institution was $50,000, with a surplus of $10,000, this having grown until the present capital stock paid in is $100,000 and the surplus is $25,000.

Free Delivery Is Shoe Shop Feature

Featuring a shoe repair service seldom offered the public in any community, the Electric Shoe Shop, 1013 Main, not only guarantees every repair job that goes out of the house but will pick up and deliver any article with no extra charge whatever.

First National Growth Rapid

Nationalized on April 15, 1925, when the Lubbock State bank was converted into the First National bank in Lubbock, with a capital of $200,000, that banking institution shows an increase of deposits almost double, from the date given until December 31, 1928.

Bottlers Welcome Prohibition Rule

DALLAS, Jan. 28.—(P)—Prohibition, leading to replacement of bars by soda fountains, has been of incalculable value to the soft drink industry, delegates to the Texas Bottlers' Association, which opened a convention here today, said.

After reports had been made to the convention in the morning, President J. C. Blake, Nacogdoches, outlined the development of the organization in its 26 years of existence. President Blake pointed out that advertising created the desire for soft drinks.

Others on today's program were: C. G. Cotton, Fort Worth, and Carl A. Jones, El Paso, president of the national association.

"Half-Heartedness" Chief Weakness

In the teachers study of the problems of education, they found that one of the chief weaknesses of the average school is its halfheartedness. In the average classroom of thirty-five children, we have children of all degrees of ability, from the more able to the duller. These children are usually given the same lesson and are expected to learn it in the same way, when everyone of us knows that they can not do it, and we do not wonder that they are half-hearted in their work. The old course of study and the old method of teaching were made for the average child and we all know that there is no such average child, but that children are of varying degrees of ability, dispositions, and previous training, and that they differ from one another in almost every conceivable way.

Green was placed under bond to appear before the grand jury.

Johnston read the committee report, and Governor Moody made a brief statement in which he said that the people should have the right to say whether or not they wanted to bond themselves for the building of highways.

He approves the recommendations to abolish the local aid system and refund counties the amounts they have spent on cardinal highways as farm road measures, and a stimulus to local ownership.

The governor was applauded when he asserted that "the farmer now is being taxed more than his just portion of the expenses of government" and that "unless we work out a traffic cost system more and more bond issues are going to be piled on the farms and ranches."

Oklahoma Youth Kills Classmate

Bartlesville Boy Confesses to Hold-up and Slaying of A. and M. Student; Was in Same High School Class.

(By Associated Press)

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Jan. 28.—Paul Locke, 19, oil company clerk, confessed slayer of Forester Bennett, 20, Oklahoma A. & M. College student in an attempted holdup here Saturday night, was charged with murder in a complaint filed today.

The youths were classmates when they attended high school here. Locke told officers he did not recognize Bennett until they grappled when Bennett attempted to wrest Locke's pistol from him. Locke said he was broke and thought the holdup would be "easy money." He asserted the shooting was accidental.

Bennett was home from college for the week-end. He was escorting a young woman home from a picture show when, accosted by Locke, Bennett made a statement accusing Locke, who was arrested.

Office Probes

All the vote was taken, the sergeant at arms instructed to lock the doors and bring in all absentees.

Probes Are Welcomed

A letter was read from Roy Tennant, member of the board of control, inviting the investigation, and Wallace of Teague told the house he just had received a telephone message from Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer, in which he stated he welcomed the inquiry.

"I cannot only prove the charges set out in this resolution, but many more," Gerron asserted.

Declaring that he meant no reflection upon the governor who had appointed the highway commissioners, he said, "I am not one of those who came down here to vote for everything the governor stands for."

Petach of Fredericksburg said he was in favor of the investigation in speaking of his motion later voted down, to have the house membership on the committee composed of the author of the resolutions and others who are unfriendly to the highway commission.

Wants Thorough Report

"I would put members on the committee who are unfriendly to the highway department to forestall any complaints of politicians who are advocating it that such investigation, if one is unauthorized, was unfair," he said. "I want a committee whose report cannot be questioned by the opposition. I mean no reflection on the speaker of the house in proposing this amendment."

He praised the present commission as efficient and said the investigation should be authorized to exonerate it of the charges made against it "up and down the state."

Gerron asked Fetsch if his disappointment in not getting appointed as author of the resolution, on the committee to investigate the general land office had, not prompted him to draw his amendment.

In the senate, Woodul of Houston attempted to refer the resolution to a committee.

Williamson of San Antonio opposed the investigation, recalling "the waste of money and lack of accomplishment of the highway department investigation of 1925."

Charges Preferred

The charges preferred by Gerron against the highway department were as follows:

Usurpation of authority by highway and maintenance engineers in matter of recommendation and urging purchase of machinery.

Inexcusable incompetency and extravagance in purchase of more than $150,000 worth of machinery in what is known as the $1,300,000 machinery buy in 1927.

Inexcusable and illegal waste of $10,389 worth of wheels without competitive bids by Leo Ehlinger, maintenance engineer, in September 1927.

Improper leasing of road machinery from various counties, the state having at present about 150 pieces of machinery leased from various counties.

Leasing road machinery, agricultural and rock crushers, to firms and individuals for use on private jobs.

Inexcusable extravagance in purchasing two rock crushers during 1928 at a time when the state had three rock crushers leased to private concerns, and two new crushers were bought at a certain price when one of them piled on the prairie near Monahans.

Persistent and inexcusable demand of the highway engineer that several thousand dollars worth of tractors be bought at a certain price when the price had been greatly reduced, and the highway engineer so informed.

Insistence of the highway department that a contract be made with the Texas company for purchase of oil and gasoline at a price much in excess of the price for which a competing concern would furnish such gasoline and oil.

Rank favoritism in allotting more than $6,200,000 to Harris county and ten other counties in that immediate area, covering a period of 18 months, while 242 other counties received in contract allotments during the same period only a little more than $15,000,000.

Conspiracy Named

Apparent conspiracy between R. A. Thompson, former highway engineer, at time of appointment a member of a Dallas engineering firm and another Dallas firm, whereby Thompson served in reality as highway engineer pending securing of contracts as county engineers by the second Dallas firm, and improper awarding contract allotment aggregating about $3,000,000 by the highway department to which said engineering firm of which Thompson was not a member had secured contracts as county engineers, these contract allotments having been made after Gibb Gilchrist, present state engineer, and then member of the firm had succeeded Thompson.

"Borrowing" an engineer from a certain material concern while Thompson was highway engineer and continuance of employment of the engineer under Gilchrist to the present time at a present reputed salary of $4,800.

Rank extravagance and incompetency in purchase of five Model A-5 Kenney road rollers at a price of $1,433.78 each. These alleged rollers being nothing other than common Fordson tractors with a fictitious name, while real Fordson tractors were purchased at the same time for $450 each.

Party discharged for padding expense account while working in Edwards county following cyclone, and instead of being prosecuted given more profitable position as some kind of inspector.

Paying sixty cents per yard more than contract price for crushed rock.

Paying private concern about $2,000 for rent on asphalt distributor, that was owned by state and discharge of inspector who discovered proper ownership and who instituted proper proceedings to recover.

Attempting to award a gravel contract amounting to $70,000 on only one bid.

Attempted purchase of gravel on two bids for identically the same amount, $22,200.28.

Requesting purchase of thousands of dollars worth of road machinery at prices far in excess of price paid by highway departments of other states.

Paying thousands of dollars in freight on machinery when the price made the state covered freight to designated points in Texas.

Buying thousands of dollars worth of bolts at one time, at no discount price by reason of such enormous quantity.

Failure to advertise for competitive bids on construction work thus giving advantages to favorites.

Permitting certain employees to loaf on the job and then put in overtime.

Control Board Charges

Charges against the board of control were:

Permitting purchase of worthless machinery at exorbitant prices.

Improperly allowing two months salary to be paid to relative to member of board of control, this particular person being confined to his bed in the insane asylum at San Antonio during entire time for which monthly salary was allowed as an employee.

Permitting working of insane patients in San Antonio asylum, these patients grubbing and clearing land owned by an official connected with asylum.

Paying in full for fire escape at Austin state hospital, the fire escape not being according to contract and never been completed.
