TEXAS WORKERS WILL BE READY FOR VOTE TODAY

GRAND LODGE OFFICIALS SUMMONED TO APPEAR IN CASE

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 8.—Fifteen hundred engineers, firemen and trainmen will be involved if the vote being conducted by the B. of L. E. and B. of R. T. on the Texas & Pacific Railroad is voted favorably upon and carried into effect.

The result of the vote will be known late Tuesday, it was announced at a conference of the heads of the brotherhood, held here today.

The grand lodge officials have been summoned to appear before the labor board and regardless of whether the vote is in favor of a walkout no action will be taken until after the case has been presented to the labor board, it was announced by H. F. Russell, local chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

The trouble arose over a joint track controversy between Alexander and New Orleans. La.

HARSH WORDS OF MUSSOLINI NOT APPRECIATED BY THE GERMANS

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Premier Mussolini has roused Germany to angry resentment by his harsh threats of punitive action unless the anti-Italian campaign in the German Press is curbed.

Foreign Minister Stresemann will reply to the Italian dictator Tuesday in the reichstag. He formerly requested Monday that time be allotted him for that purpose, stating that the government urgently desired to answer Mussolini's pronouncement of "two eyes for an eye and a whole mouthful of teeth for a tooth."

Stresemann probably will explain that the German government is not responsible for newspaper condemnation of the Italian administration of Southern Tyrol.

FLORIDA LOT SELLING SCHEME NOT LAWFUL SAY OFFICIALS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Feb. 8.—The golden castle that Charles Ponzi was building in $10 lots in Florida collapsed late Monday when the Duval county grand jury indicted the former financial genius on four counts of a technical nature.

The indictment also named Ponzi's wife, Rosa Maria Ponzi, and Mr. and Mrs. Calcedoni Alvord of Boston, as co-defendants.

Judge George C. Gibbs immediately issued orders to arrest the quartet. Ponzi is in Tampa. His wife is here.

The indictment was returned as result of the investigation of Ponzi's Florida ventures by Judge H. G. Mitchell, of the St. Petersburg better business commission and John Carver of the national organization of the better business commission.

Disasterous Fire In Dallas; Damage Estimated $100,000

DALLAS, Texas, Feb. 8.—Fire destroyed the entire upper floor of a three story building here this afternoon doing damage estimated at $100,000.

The building, located in the heart of Dallas' cotton office district was partly occupied by the Pugh Lyons Co., and it was in this office that the conflagration started.

For a time the entire structure was in danger but the skillful work on the part of the firemen kept the blaze within the confines of the top floor.

Among those who suffered losses in the fire were the India Tire & Rubber Co., the community chest of Dallas, United Charities and the American Book Co., records of the two charity organizations were water soaked.

TRUTH HURTS LOTS WASHINGTON KICKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The war department has determined to stop agitation by army aviators for a unified air service.

Secretary of War Davis, has ordered a thorough investigation of alleged disloyalty of a group of air service officers.

The officers, whose names have been withheld, were charged with writing letters to voters on air service stationery, urging pressure be exerted on senators and representatives in support of the Wainwright bill, which embodies the ideas of Patrick. This bill, along with several others, is now before the house military affairs committee.

It was believed by many that the Wainwright bill would be the bill reported out. In some quarters the Davis investigation has been taken as an indication that the administration will be opposed to any such action.

BLACK MAKES COMPLETE CONFESSION ON WITNESS STAND

GEORGETOWN, Del. Feb. 8.—While troops stood watch over an angry crowd milling around the Sussex county courthouse Monday afternoon, Harry Butler, a negro was convicted by a jury and sentenced to hang for an attack on a 12 year-old girl.

The conviction followed a speedy trial, which was marked by one movement against the courthouse of a crowd of approximately 1,000 men, which national guardsmen repulsed with tear gas bombs.

At the moment of Butler's conviction, ten machine guns frowned from behind and his employment and a barred wire entanglement, at the throng outside the court house square.

Butler will be hanged February 26. A crowd of 200 admitted to the court room heard the verdict without demonstration, but the news was withheld for a time from the crowd outside the court house which by that time had reached 5,000.

A short time before the conviction, spectators applauded the address of Prosecuting Attorney Clarence Southerland, when he said "the jury could do but one thing and that was to return a verdict of guilty without qualifications" from the evidence presented.

Butler took the stand at the afternoon session of the court. He told in detail of how the assault was committed. He admitted making the confession introduced as evidence and said that statement was a true fact as to what had occurred.

STILLMAN COUPLE SEEKING REAL PLEASURE

By FERDINAND C. M. JAHN United News Staff Correspondent ABOARD S. S. OLYMPIC (En Route to Cherbourg) Feb. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman are voyaging to Europe to obtain psycho-analytical assistance in their effort to resume their life together.

One of the principal objects of their journey is to consult a famous psycho-analyst, the United News is reliably informed. They will seek to learn what would be the best psychic basis for their mutual life.

The quiet routine of the Stillman life aboard ship continues. They dine together in the restaurant, preferably at an alcove table near the entrance from which they can look out over the sea. It is one of the least conspicuous of the tables. Then follows a long conversation in Stillman's stateroom.

Early Monday Mr. and Mrs. Stillman around the promenade deck. They timed their appearance with the disappearance toward their berths of most of the passengers. The decks were deserted.

Jane Coleman Celebrates Fifth Birthday

Little Miss Jane Coleman celebrated her fifth birthday Monday afternoon at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. C. N. Baker, 1418 Ave. I. An interesting feature of the birthday was the fact that it was also the sixty-eighth birthday of Jane's great grandmother, Mrs. L. D. Kinners.

The guests enjoyed the birthday cake with its five candles and delicious fruit punch. Games were played on the lawn. The guests present were: Grace Anna Fletcher, Frances Williams, Aline Stubbs, Mary McNeill, Joe Katherine French, Elizabeth and Gladys Barker, Jane Warrick, Frederick Stubbs, Charles McNeill, Jim Bob Wheeler, Turley Holmes, Tom Warrick, Billy Edwards, Robert Edwards Brewer and William Howard Stephenson.

J. B. Slaughter Jr. Marries Girl From Italy

A wedding of interest in Fort Worth and west Texas was that of J. B. Slaughter, Jr., of the U Lazy S ranch near Post, and Miss Alma Skeeter Cowan, which was solemnized Thursday at 10 a. m. at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Cowan of Italy, Texas.

The home was attractive with decorations of palms and cut flowers, a motif of pink and white being used. Only about 40 guests attended the ceremony.

The bride was charming in a re-jane model of crepe Elizabeth in bois de rose, with coat of pastel shaded blue and with hat to harmonize. Her bouquet was of pink rosebuds with shower of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. J. W. Templeton, Jr., of Houston was the matron of honor and Bryan Ware of Amarillo acted as best man.

Following the wedding a breakfast was held at the bride's home, bridal decorations making the table more lovely. Overhanging the table was a large wedding bell of white, drooped with dainty flowers and ribbons.

Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter left immediately for a tour of California and will be at home after Feb. 20 at their ranch near Post.

Mr. Slaughter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Slaughter of the U Lazy S ranch, formerly of Fort Worth. He is a graduate of Yale, where he received his Ph.D. degree. Mrs. Slaughter is a graduate of Texas Woman's College.

Mrs. Slaughter, the bridegroom's mother, attended the wedding, also Mr. and Mrs. John Cowan of Terrell. —Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Beef a la Mode—The meat which is used for the dish is lean beef or the round of beef. When the round is used it is made into a circular shape by binding with twine and larding with strips of salt pork. It may be cut in small pieces of a size for serving. Assemble onion, carrot, bay leaves, lemon, clove, mace, pepper, all-spice, salt and pepper. If the meat is to be cooked in one whole piece dredge it with flour and brown in melted drippings. Choose a heavy kettle, iron or cast aluminum, and add vegetables and seasonings, half cover with boiling water and simmer for four or five hours. Do not let the water boil hard because if you do the meat is tough, the longer it boils like that the tougher it becomes. When done, take the meat from the gravy, dip off the fat and thicken the juice with flour stirred up with a small amount of cold water.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Is She Making a Fool of Him?
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a boy that has always taken few things very seriously in my life, but I have met a wonderful girl that has changed me. She is about five feet four inches in height, brunette, wonderfully attractive with an unusual personality. She is at present at college but comes from a large city. Knowing that I live in a small town and not knowing as much as she does about the ways of the world I fear that I have taken the things she has said too seriously and am being made fun of. She writes and is sweet enough to send her love, but then she waits two weeks to write again and I don't really like her more often. Perhaps I am too serious but when one is serious it is very hard to act otherwise and I know I show my feeling too clearly when I am around her. Would you advise me stop going with her? I can't stand the uncertainty.

THOM.

I have no way of knowing the state of the girl's feelings toward you, but I suspect that she doesn't care to consider love seriously now. Girls in college have so many things to attract their attention and occupy their minds and their "affairs" usually are rather sketchy. I think you ought to adopt her attitude, and write simply as a friend, filling up your letters with topics you think will interest her, and omitting any references which may cause her to think you are "rushing things." Correspondence never is an effective way to reach a girl's heart as personal appearances, anyway.

A Farmer's View of "Petting"

Here is another letter on the "petting" question.
Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am glad that you have thrown open for discussion the question from "Three Teachers" regarding the petting parties, so-called, that are all too common these days. If they were as innocent of evil as the ones describeders teaspoon salt, two tablespoons flour, pare the raw potatoes, grate and drain lightly. Add the flour, baking powder and salt. Lastly add the eggs beaten well but not separated. Drop a spoonful of the potato mixture into the pan and cook until brown on one side. Turn and cook on the other. The potato pancakes sometimes have a half onion grated and mixed with the grated potatoes. In this pancake all of the liquid is drained off and two tablespoons of cream is substituted.

SUGGESTION
Potatoes can be roasted more quickly if they are first washed in hot water and allowed to stand for a moment in it.

"Violating decency" in preemting them if she can, although she is showing bad manners.

FASHION NEWS

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 8.—Ombre or shaded effects which were popular for scarfs, hats and frocks last summer are now produced in glove silk undergarments. These garments come in tangerine, orchid and pink all of which are shaded from flesh, the deeper tone being used as borders. Binding at neckline and armholes are of the deep shades. They are of a heavy silk and are made with set colors for laundering purposes. Sets of slip-line and vest sell for $6.75 at one of the leading department stores in New York.

Very few women are wearing artificial corsages in the street this year. Last season every one wore a carnation or orchid pinned on the fur collar. For evening frocks, however, the corsage of chiffon in the exact shade of the frock is worn on the left shoulder.

Chiffon hula stockings are replacing heavier woolen ones for sports wear. It is said that they are quite warm enough and that they are more attractive on the leg than heavier woollens. Soft, pastel shades are those generally chosen.

The modernistic touch is seen on many of the new spring hats and garments where several colors are placed in cubistic effect somewhat resembling of fashioned patchwork. Hats of felt, for instance, may have four or five colors joining in uneven design. Black, gray, yellow and a deep-orange often form a combination of colors for scarfs and hats. There is no regularity or reason about the way these colors are formed in design.

High Color Enlivens Early Spring Millinery

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

SILK patchwork has become part of the mode's trimming scheme for this season. Will wonders never cease! Not only our hats but also our gowns are made ornate with gay bits of silk and velvet which are actually patched together in a manner which, it must be confessed, bears a striking resemblance to the "crazy quilt" work of bygone days. However, it were best not to give voice to such a suggestion, for if you should, your milliner or your dressmaker will take opportunity to inform you in most convincing tones that such patchwork is, in truth, modernistic art applied to apparel design.

This method of combining bits of fabric of every hue is fair to become a widespread topic. The little hat shown first in the group here pictured gains its dash of color in the "patchwork" design which embellishes crown and brim.

French milliners are sending over some lovely spring hats featuring geometrical patterns worked of ribbon or fabric. The color effect is sometimes bizarre, other times a symphony of pastel harmonies. A geometrical pattern which uses two pastel colors, coral gray with cyanine pink, is expressed in the very choice herring ribbon hat illustrated last in the picture.

Answering to the call for high color in spring millinery is the model pictured to the center-left. Several sections of taffeta silk in various crystalline dyes combine to form a soft druse covering the hat foundation. Applied on this silk background is an immense embellished flower. These unobscured applique motifs are very smart. They come in single large flowers with ruffles, as the picture shows, or in tiny wreaths, festoons and bouquets. Some of the latest pastel felt hats have these colorful floral pieces applied effectively in hand effects or covering partially the side crown or brim. The effect is that of hand painting.

The charming chaparral to the right at the top demonstrates how abundantly handwork is applied in some instances. This elegant felt, which is in that always attractive parma-violet coloring, is profusely attached with silver thread, the motifs showing mother-of-pearl shades together with silver tones.

TECH-NICAL TOPICS

Miss Weeks Returns from Vocational Conference

Miss Margaret Weeks, dean of the school of home economics, has just returned from Dallas where she has been attending a conference of the federal board of vocational education of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. This meeting was only a preliminary meeting to the southern conference which is to be held in North Carolina some time in April.

The three day sessions were held in the new Baker hotel with many in attendance. Representatives from C. I. A. at Denton; S. W. T. S. T. C., San Marcos; state department of education of Oklahoma; Oklahoma College for Women; A. and M. College of Oklahoma, Stillwater; University of Texas; Texas Technological College; University of Arkansas; state department of education of Arkansas, and state departments of education of Louisiana, attended the conference. The meetings were conducted by the federal board agent from Washington, Miss Edith M. Thomas. Miss Jessie Harris of the state department of education of Texas was also a prominent figure at the conference.

Home making was the theme of the discussions throughout the conference. One of the most vital questions was "What Girl Graduates of Vocational Colleges Should Know About Homemaking." Many interesting things resulted from the conference and Miss Weeks reported a very good trip.

"Y" Workers Speak at Convocation Yesterday

Harry Bone and Henry Van Dusen, "Y" workers who are visiting the Tech for the first three days of this week made talks before the students at the convocation in the pavilion. Mr. Bone merely introduced Mr. Van Dusen and left the bulk of the talk on his shoulders. One of the best talks of the year was given by Mr. Van Dusen. He outlined the college life of today and told of the one characteristic that is predominating it throughout the world—that of restlessness. He said that the younger generation was one of unsettled manners and actions, they are in a constant strain under the bond. He told of the two only possible reliefs for this fault. The first was, reality—in action, thought and speech. The next was, freedom. He believed that all young people wanted freedom in everything and that they will constantly struggle until they get it.

Personal interviews were given by Mr. Van Dusen throughout the day yesterday and appointments for more today were made. He spends a few minutes with each student who is interested in discussing his problems of college life. An open forum was held yesterday afternoon, the subject being: "What is the Matter with College?" A very good attendance was had at the forum yesterday afternoon and many interesting things resulted from the meeting. More of the students of the college are urged to attend these forums as they are of vital interest to every one in school. Another will be held today from 4 until 5. Mr. Bone and Mr. Van Dusen are both fine fellows and have a great deal of experience in this line of work. They have visited several hundred colleges over the nation in their work. They are interested vitally in the student life of the nation and are doing their best for its betterment. Both men will appear on the program of the state "Y" convention which is to be held in Austin the last of this week.

Local Affairs Committee to Meet Wednesday

The local affairs committee of the college will meet here Wednesday in attending to their usual business. Routine work will comprise the meeting. The members of the committee are Clifford Jones, Spur; E. A. Underwood, Plainview; H. T. Kimbro of this city.

Stock Man to Visit College Today

C. C. French of the Fort Worth stock yards will be here today and will make a visit to the college. He will address students of the school of agriculture in one of their classes. His specialty is the study of hogs.

Agriculture School to Get Valuable Gift

One of the most valuable gifts to be received by the college was announced yesterday from the office of the dean of the school of agriculture, John Orr, a very prominent agriculture man in Texas has donated a very fine full blood bull to the college. They have a choice of two, one is a half brother and the other is a full brother to the heaviest milk producing cow in America. She is at present owned by the Garstman Milk Company. The gift will be received by the officials of the agriculture school in a very hearty manner and the selection will be made soon.

Tech Students Depart for California

Four of the students of the college departed for the sunny hills of California yesterday. They were mates of Cheri Casa dormitory and the boys are all mourning their departure. It seems as if they had caught the travel itch and had a desire to see the world. We were sorry to see them go but hope they will return soon to the best place in the universe—Texas Tech. The boys making the trip were: Boomer Wallace, Mack Reed, Gervis Cummings and Roy Simpson.

Las Chaparitas Club Holds Luncheon at Cafeteria

Las Chaparitas, the newly organized co-ed club of the college held a business luncheon at the cafeteria yesterday at noon. May things for the club were planned for the club. The most important was the calendar for the pledges. They will go through their initiations during this week. Many strange figures and faces will be seen on the campus during the week. The pledges of the club are Tootsie Wolffarth, Pauline Trippett, Mattie Mae Renfro and Floyd Fryor.

The club will meet with Edna Yonge and Almada Murray next Friday at the home of Mrs. G. W. Murray on Avenue Q.

Library Receives Official Set of College Briefs

THE WEST

Men look to the east for the dawn of things, for the light of a rising sun.

But they look to the west, to the crimson west, for the things that are done, are done.

The eastward sun is a new-made hope from the dark of the night distilled.

So out of the east they have always come, the cradle that saw the birth Of all the heart-warm hopes of man and all the hopes of earth—

For out of the east a Christ arose, and out of the east there gleamed

The dearest dream and the clearest dream that ever a prophet dreamed,

And into the waiting west they go with the dream-child of the east,

And find the hopes that they had hoped of old are a hundred fold increased.

For here in the east we dream out dreams of the things we hope to do,

And here in the west, the crimson west, the dreams of the east come true.

This was the poem read by W. H. Nabours as he presented the collection of college briefs that were presented to the locating committee of the Texas Technological College. These briefs were formally presented to the college library at the board meeting which was held in Fort Worth last week. The briefs contain facts about the towns that support their reasons for the application of the college site. One set was presented to the board and each member of the locating committee received a set. The set sent to the college is the official set used by the board in making the selection of the site of the college. The following towns were represented in the briefs: Paint Rock, Abilene, Big Spring, Sweetwater, Vernon, Stanton, Tulla, Wilson, San Angelo, Post, Miles, Midland, Menard, Brownwood, Stamford, Amarillo, Spur, Coleman, Floydada, Snyder, Seymour, Quanah, Plainview, Munday, Lubbock, Memphis, Lampasas, Haskell, Colorado, Crosbyton, Clyde, Claude, Cisco, Buffalo Gap, Brady, Boerne and Ballinger.

The briefs are all well prepared and have a good historical value to the college as a complete history of the college is being kept on file in the library. A special case will be made for them and every care will be taken for their preservation.

BLOOD AND SAND FROM EL TORO

The Y. M. and the Y. W. are exceedingly busy these three days. One thing right after another. With, for the first day, a program something like this: morning, convocation and personal interviews; afternoon, interviews and open forum meeting; evening, banquet and Y talks, the whole day has passed so quickly that it is hard to realize that another day of it is here.

Not for us, understand, but for the whole school. That convocation was well attended yesterday morning, there being something like six hundred of the students present. And it was an hour well worth while, if anyone should ask.

Someone might have raised the question as to what it's all about anyway. We don't profess to know so much; but after hearing those talks made in the interest of the Ys, we rather think that it is principally about "what are we?" "What's why?" Food for thought.

Make us feel like trying to preach come alarmed, we won't, this time—a sermon ourselves—now don't be the way some of those ideas were presented. It is one thing to have a pure subconscious feeling that something is wrong with us, with our associations with other people, with our college, or with our very life; but it is another thing to have time, while one sits and listens, those things pointed out one at a time, agreeing to everything and knowing that it is true.

And some food for thought is the outcome of the game Thursday evening at Canyon. Tech's stand, we should say is good. We rather like to remember that break of luck—if it might be so called—when during the last minutes of play twelve, to be exact, the score was changed from a 16-28 score for the opposition to the 30-28 score for Tech as it was when the time was up.

Sometimes trivial incidents lead up to acts of such proportions that the result is rather astounding.

A proverb, perhaps. But we personally did not have an idea, when the studio was first prepared for the dramatic arts department that it would be so much of a studio. There is one night each week when that room isn't busy—as far as we may ascertain. And that is Sunday.

We got rather interesting side-light last evening upon the pre-medical organizations of the school. "Zool," a hitherto meaningless nomenclature, has taken on new life and zest. It has given us an object in life at last. We can now study to be a keeper of the zoo. Perhaps!

Former Lubbock Man Died Monday At Lamesa Hotel

R. B. (Farmer) Shaw, whose home is at San Antonio, but who was for more than 20 years one of the best known farmers of Lubbock county, died at Lamesa Monday morning at 4:00 o'clock.

Mr. Shaw was enroute to Lubbock when he took sick Sunday, and his condition grew steadily worse until his death.

News of his death was received by members of the local Masonic lodge of which the deceased is a member.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Church of Christ here this afternoon following which the body will be carried to Abernathy for interment.

THEFT CASE WILL BE TRIED TODAY

J. W. Boyd, indicted on two counts charging theft of cattle, will go to trial in the 72nd judicial district court this morning.

Dayton Moses, chief counsel for the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, is here to assist District Attorney W. C. Witcher in the prosecution of the cases.

E. T. Davis, cattle inspector for the cattlemen's association, who assisted members of the sheriff's force in gathering testimony that resulted in the arrest and indictment of Boyd, is here to appear as a state witness.

RETAIL MERCHANTS PLAN GREATEST MEETING

Everything is in readiness for one of the biggest meetings of the Retail Merchants Association that has ever been held in Lubbock, according to J. W. Gamel, president. Representatives from other South Plains towns will be present as guest of the local association and Edgar H. Kemp, field representative of the Retail Merchants Association of Texas arrived here last night to attend the meeting.

Kemp's address tonight will be of much interest and value to retailers here in view of the fact that he is in touch with associations over the entire state and will be able to bring to local merchants ideas from all parts of Texas.

CHAMBER COMMERCE HELP BRING GOOD HOGS INTO THIS COUNTRY

An effort to ship a number of pure blood gilts for breeding purposes into Lubbock county is now on foot as the result of a visit here of Col. G. C. French representing the Fort Worth Stockyards Company who is working in cooperation with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to restock this section with hogs.

Col. French explained the plan at the More Feed Campaign Contest Luncheon Monday at noon and to further the movement the local Chamber of Commerce has agreed to receive applications with a view of securing one or more car loads of these gilts.

Any and every farmer may order just as many hogs as he wants, and is able to pay for, and have them all come forward in one car at one time. Of course total orders for a car load must be had before any hogs can be ordered.

The hogs were bought especially for breeding purposes by Floyd Sherwood, manager of the Armour & Company of Sioux City, Iowa, and will be secured at actual cost to Lubbock County farmers.

The cost of the hogs to the farmers here will be the actual market cost of the hogs, plus a charge of $1.00 or $1.50 for immunizing and dipping and the freight charges which will be about $2.50 per head, according to Col. French. The average weight of the gilts to be shipped here will be about 165 pounds which at the present market price of hogs would make the total cost of the gilts delivered in Lubbock approximately twenty-five dollars.

From $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 worth of pork and other hog products are shipped into Texas each will be one of the several business matters which will receive the attention of the meeting tonight.

Representatives are expected from the merchants association at Crosbyton, Lockney, Slaton, Balls, Lorenz, Idalou, Lamesa, Folsom, Brownfield, Littlefield, Plainview, Floydada, O'Donnell, Levelland and other South Plains towns.

The majority of merchants, members of the Retail Merchants Association, have made their reservations for the banquet tonight and the remainder are expected to make arrangements to stay according to officials of the organization.

MANY ATTEND "MORE FEED" MEETING IN LUBBOCK

Abernathy and the Chamber of Commerce of Abernathy were well represented here yesterday at the "More Feed" Contest Luncheon. J. P. Nystel, secretary of the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce, F. W. Struve, Mayor, J. J. Riley, and Ray Finson, directors of the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce, and R. E. Risinger, president of the organization were all present.

Abernathy business men are beginning a program of community work in the interest of the Abernathy fair, according to J. B. Nystel, manager of the fair, beginning next Monday night. Each Monday night for several weeks the business men of Abernathy will visit some community in the Abernathy trade territory organizing a sub unit of the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce and Abernathy fair. These communities will be lined up for community exhibits for the fair even before the planting time and will be continually kept in line in order that the products of the fair there this fall will represent the products grown around Abernathy, according to Nystel.

The Abernathy fair will be held September 24 and 25 according to Nystel, during the week just before the Panhandle South Plains fair here and they expect to come to our fair and take off some of the blue ribbon premiums.

The Abernathy business men have likewise made arrangements for a free picture show each Saturday afternoon for any and everybody in Abernathy and the Abernathy trade territory, which is as unlimited as the breezes which sweep over these broad plains, according to Nystel. The first show will be open next Saturday afternoon.

These shows will be financed and sponsored by the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce, and will be given as a drawing card for South Plains people to visit Abernathy.

year according to estimates by the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company. This situation has been a material drawback to the farmers of Texas. Until we can feed ourselves from home grown products, we can not hope to prosper, according to Col. French.

Farmers and business men of many West Texas cities are taking over the plan offered by French with enthusiasm and officials of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce believe that Lubbock County farmers will demand a large number of these gilts. Anyone desiring more information upon the manner of securing hogs may secure same by calling at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce or on the County Agent. A blank making application for some of the gilts is to be found below which can be torn out and mailed to the Chamber of Commerce.

The Chamber of Commerce is only acting in this matter to assist the farmers of this section in getting good gilts for breeding purposes and will in no way make any profit in any way in the matter.

The farmers themselves must be able to pay for any and all gilts when ordered. In fact, the stock yards company requires that all the money be in the local banks before they will accept the order from the Chamber of Commerce.

The first thing every interested farmer should do is to sign and mail the coupon below to the Chamber of Commerce at Lubbock at once, then if sufficient orders are received to make a carload, he can make arrangements with the bank to handle at the proper time.

APPLICATION

For importation of high-bred gilts, selected, immunized and dipped to Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

We, or (I), the undersigned, here by make application for importation of _____ gilts to Lubbock as shown below, and understand that said gilts are to be shipped from Sioux City, Iowa, to Lubbock, and that said gilts are to be selected grade gilts, being picked especially for this importation movement from the very best gilts at Sioux City, and that the cost of same shall be the exact cost as marketed on the day of purchase and it is understood that a charge of -1.00 per hog is to be made for immunization against Hog Flu, Hog Cholera, Hog Pneumonia, and dipping, and that freight is to be paid by the undersigned at a cost of approximately $2.50 per head.

BALANCING THE SCALES OF HAPPINESS

With most of us it is not so much great sorrows, diseases, or death, but rather what John Lubbock calls the "little daily dyings" which cloud over the sunshine of life.

How many of the troubles of life are INSIGNIFICANT in themselves, and might easily be avoided! How happy home might generally be made but for foolish quarrels, or misunderstandings, as they are apply named.

We do not need philosophers to tell us that—most of what we suffer we have brought on ourselves, if not by actual fault, at least by IGNORANCE or THOUGHTLESSNESS.

It is our own fault if we are querulous or ill-humored; nor need we, though this is less so, allow ourselves to be made unhappy by the querulousness or ill-humors of others.

La Bruyere says that "most men spend much of their lives in making the rest miserable."

Goethe has expressed the same idea in poetry: Careworn man has, in all ages

THE FAVOR OF GOD IS LIFE

AMERICA'S CHURCH RESPONSIBLE FOR PROHIBITION

There would be no prohibition in America but for the Churches. Having gone so far in the successful strife against liquor, the religious forces of the country will not abandon the warfare. Our country has prohibition laws better and more advanced than anywhere in the world and far ahead of any previous age. Our danger is that we may become too confident of their continuance upon the statute books and too indulgent toward their transgression, and our lethargy could easily become the undoing of what has been accomplished. The passing of the Eighteenth Amendment hold a place by itself in the history of constitutional amendments. The first eleven amendments were ratified by the bare three-fourths majority. Four states never ratified the Twelfth Amendment, five never ratified the Thirteenth, four withheld their ratification of the Fourteenth, six of the Fifteenth, six of the Sixteenth, twelve of the Seventeenth, and ten of the Nineteenth. Is it not astonishing that ever a sane man should say the Eighteenth Amendment was slipped over on the country while the boys were away at war when as a matter of fact no amendment to the Constitution ever had such an overwhelming ratification? Out of our forty-eight states only two, Rhode Island and Connecticut, failed to ratify it. While the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution received the largest official majority sanction ever given to a constitutional provision, nevertheless no provision of the Constitution has ever had arrayed against it such a powerful, active, and aggressive minority as that opposed to national constitutional prohibition. The conflict which the prohibition forces must wage during the years to come will not be merely against the strength of local, State, and national liquor organizations but against a gigantic, strongly organized, wealthy, and politically influential international liquor traffic. Something of the extent and influence of the international traffic is indicated by the present world's annual drink bill amounting to approximately twenty billion dollars. The American international boundary line, more than 17,000 miles in length, along which operate millions of high-powered automobiles, tens of thousands of fleet run-running vessels, and numerous airplanes, directed by radio, together with the fact that modern inventions revolutionizing communication and transportation have made of the world a vast neighborhood of nations, all tend to make the enforcement of prohibition in the United States and the whole prohibition question a great international problem. Dr. E. H. Cherrington, General Secretary of the World League Against Alcohol, has said: "The moral and religious forces of America must take the knowledge of the gospel of prohibition to the rest of the world in order to save and make permanent American prohibition at home. Such a program is necessary, moreover, in order to keep the liquor interests of other countries defending themselves in those countries instead of concentrating on the effort to break down prohibition here in the United States. Such a course is also essential in order to lessen one of the greatest menaces to the foreign missionary work of American Churches, thus creating conditions that will multiply the efficiency of America's eighteen thousand missionaries and protect the American Church's vast annual investment of forty million dollars in foreign missionary enterprise." On January 6, 1920, the national prohibition law of the United States went into effect. Our six years of experience have taught us the practicability of the law, notwithstanding the difficulties in getting it enforced. It will never be repealed, but the whole world must be taken into consideration as we determine upon more satisfactory schemes of enforcement.

EDITORS AND WORLD COURT

If the opinions of the newspapers may be regarded as an indication of the attitude of the country toward the World Court, and we believe they should, then there is good reason why the Senators should have shown so large a majority in favor of entering it. A survey of these opinions has been made by the American Foundation. It covered almost all of the leading papers of the country in the cities and many towns. The total number of papers whose stand was ascertained is 717. Of these, 536 are supporting the World

Court, approximately eighty per cent of the whole number. Seventy-nine, about twelve per cent, are opposed to it, and the remainder, eight per cent, have taken no stand on the question. Of these against the Court, twenty-two are newspapers which are owned and directed by William Randolph Hearst, who has long been unfriendly to any international cooperation for the promotion of peace. Aside from these, there are but four of the newspapers of large circulation and influence that are in opposition—namely, the Chicago Tribune, the Washington Post, the New York Sun, and the Kansas City Star—while there are seventy-five papers of the same eminent character that favor the Court. And it is noteworthy, as the analysis shows, that the preponderance of newspapers supporting the Court is as great or greater in Republican territory than in Democratic States. In New York State, for example, forty-eight are reported for the Court and only six against, three of the latter owned by Hearst, while in Massachusetts twenty-two support the Court and but three are against, two of these being Hearst papers.

These papers representing several political parties and all sections of the nation, support the proposal to enter the World Court, because, as they say, it is the right thing to do. They do not think membership in the World Court would involve entanglements with the League of Nations, though many of the papers think the United States should join this League. None of these editors believe that adherence to the Court would in any way endanger the independence or peace or safety of our country. One editor remarks: "Eighty per cent of the newspapers are for the Court, and we think it is something more than a coincidence that exactly eighty per cent of the members of the United States Senate are reported to be in favor of adherence with the Hughes-Coolidge reservations. Are we not justified then in assuming that eighty per cent of the American people are of the same mind?"

When the vote, after the passing of the cloture rule, was taken on January 27, the number of Senators voting for membership in the World Court was greater than eighty per cent; it was seventy-six in favor of it and seventeen against it. Through this action we may confidently say the country has had its will expressed, and the threat of Senator Borah, who opposes the Court to take the question to the people will amount to nothing.

AXIOMS

Two immortal sentences written by Robert Burns, Scotch bard, will never be forgotten by mortal man nor will they ever lose their place in man's everyday conversation. These eternal oracles of the poet mind are: "Give fools their silks and knaves their wine, a man's a man for all that," and "An honest man's the noblest work of God."

Since the time of Robert Burns the world has become convinced as he was that "clothes do not make the man," and that "wealth is not a measure of manhood." Burns knew as does modernity that an honest man is not only the noblest work of God but oftentimes the rarest. When Burns was singing his folk songs of Scotland the word "honest" had not lost its spiritual inference. The people recognized more kinds of dishonesty than those amendable to manmade laws. The distinction between meum and tuum had not been lost. An honest man today is one who is not reputed to have obtained material possessions through questionable methods. Whether that man is honest with himself, his family or his fellow men does not matter as long as he does not steal that thing which civilization called wealth. There will be universal material and spiritual honesty when there is a realization of Burn's prediction: "That man to man the world over shall brother be for all that."

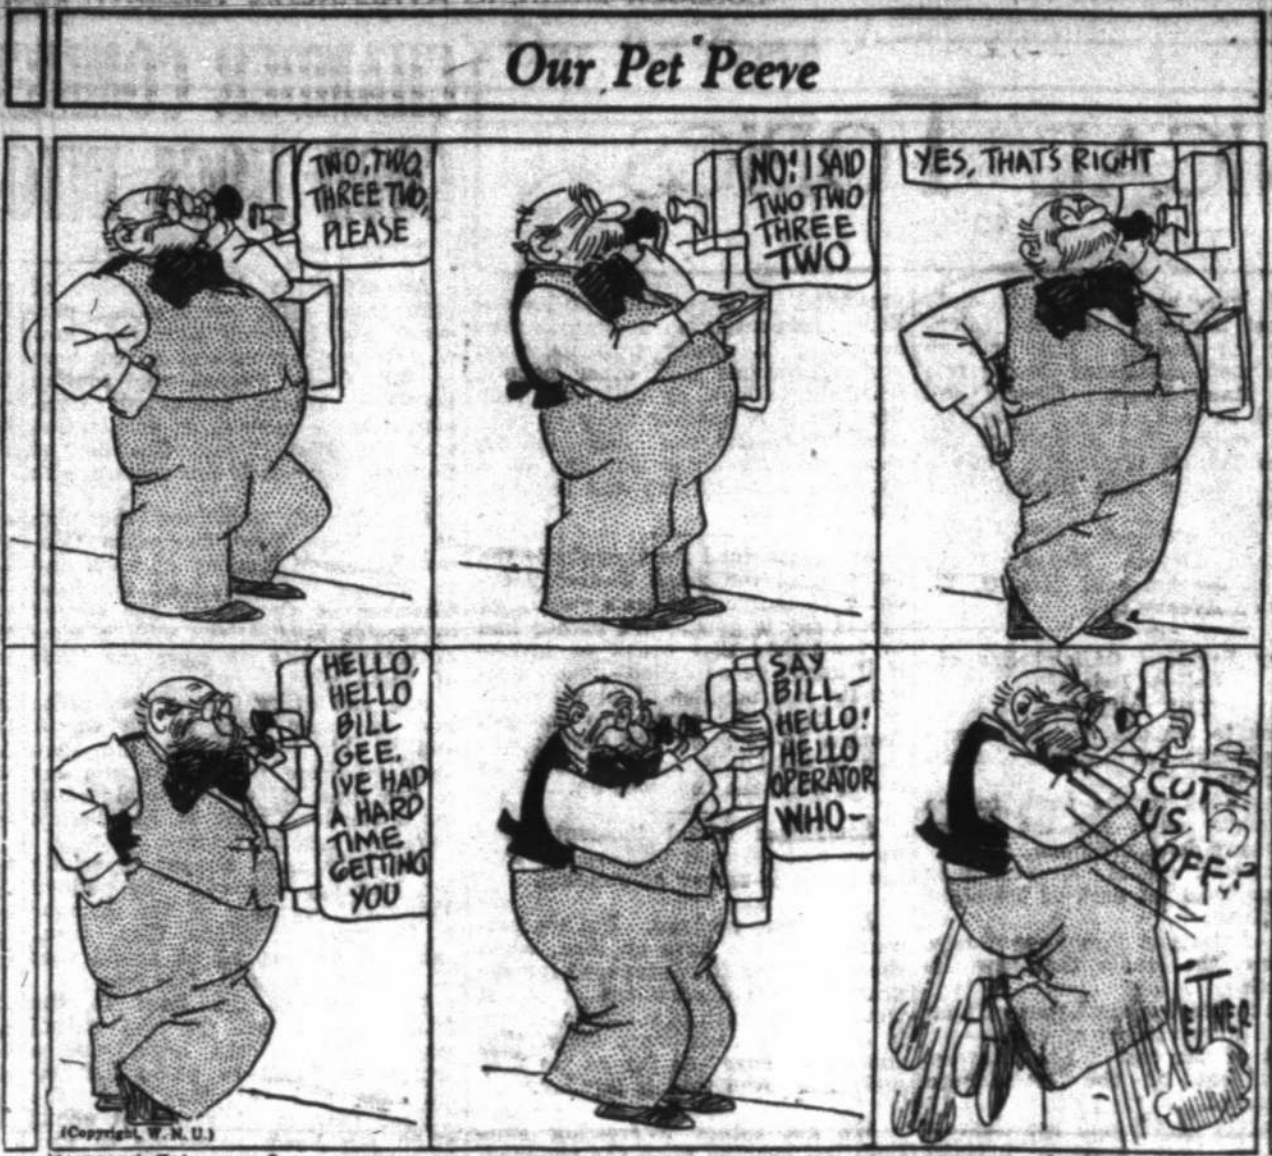

THE MAN AND THE LAND

A bit of English history will aptly illustrate a phase of our own experience. Something more than two hundred years ago Parliament passed a series of Enclosure Acts. From feudal days England had maintained common land around villages, towns and cities on which the people could pasture their stock or as in many cases it was divided up into strips and allotted for cultivation. This arrangement provided an excellent safety valve for relief of the poor.

Parliament, dominated by the landed interests decided to enclose and parcel out to the big land owners these commons at a nominal price. This movement improved the character of agriculture but on the other hand intensified poverty. There was no longer a common on which the poor man could pasture his cow, he no longer had a strip of land to raise a garden and a little feed for his stock. This poor man became a competitor for a small wage as a farm hand or less drifted into the industrial towns to compete as a common laborer. These facts relative to the enclosure acts and the social and economic results are all known to every student of English history.

So long as the United States had good farm lands that could be had for $1.25 an acre the speculator had to wait. Oklahoma was the last considerable area of good land and within a few years after its settlement farming conditions underwent a material change. Tenantry increased rapidly. The mortgaged debt mounted up at a terrific pace until now it is overwhelming. In 1924 more than a million farmers are reported to have drifted into the cities and towns. We are but repeating the effects of the British enclosure acts on a larger scale. The harvest of discontent is inevitable.

The Senate has approved the Couzens amendment that the joint Congressional committee have continued access into Treasury secrets and to present them to Congress as the need arises. Mr. Couzens' amendment changed the word "may" to "shall." The former wording left it discretionary with the department to give the information demanded. He also asks for an Amendment requiring the department to publish all its rulings in tax cases.

SO THINK WE

We think there is one advantage in not being rich, for when you die you do not have so much to be separated from.

We think most of us have much to be thankful for. The people of this section most all have wonderful appetites.

We think no one can expect to have the conveniences of a city and schools like Lubbock has without paying taxes but we see no reason for so great difference in the valuations.

We think the fellows who keep a bunch of town lots should pay more in proportion to improvement than the fellow that has spent a lot of money putting houses and improvements on his property. Improvements and better homes should be encouraged rather than penalized.

We think the new ordinances passed in Lubbock will probably have a tendency to protect some of the young men of the community and may help some of the girls also.

We think as long as Mothers allow their daughters to "go to church" and they spend that time riding in automobiles or sitting in cars outside the church they are not going to make angles out of them.

We think one way to become weather-beaten is to bet on the weather that the official fore-caster says we are going to have.

We think the desire to live in a higher atmosphere than your finances will permit is responsible for the failure of many men.

We think the Terry County Herald has just about got the proper line of the situation when he says that the farmers who stand on the street corner and cry hard times when they should be attending Farmers Short Courses are in the same canon with the fellows who are in business shouting dull business and never advertising.

We think a lot of folks begin life by playing on the lineout and they never get any higher up in life.

We think if some folks would undertake to pay printer's bills with free publicity that would not be near so anxious for the newspaper to run everything free, when there is no news value attached to the stuff whatever, and is beneficial to them.

We think that sunshine keeps the vegetation growing, and a sunshine disposition will also keep people younger and happier. Wonder why more of us do not practice it.

We think it used to be Christmas that drained the pockets of the people, but now is an every day occurrence.

We think constant nagging will spoiled many a good wife and drive hundreds of boys to the domino parlors and girls to the streets.

We think there is too much waste on the farms of Lubbock County. Sell the surplus feed in pig skins or egg shells.

IT IS REPORTED

That some fellow had manufactured a concrete automobile. He must be tired of being knocked about by the other automobiles.

That the demountable tooth brush is one of the latest inventions. We hope they will never invent the old fashioned Christmas tree out of existence.

That even the elastic row does not seem to be very elastic.

That every merchant that really gets up and goes after it, finds that there is plenty of business.

That there is no gas about the report that Lubbock is going to have natural gas. Fact of the business there may be plenty of gas here within the next few months to operate a city of a million population.

That the people of this country are going to raise more feed this year, and less of cotton. The bankers are behind the farmers in their program of diversification and intensification.

That the traffic laws of the city are being rigidly enforced, and you will simply have to toe the line if you get along with the traffic department of the city.

That one eyed automobiles will be allowed on the streets of this city no more.

That Lubbock has the biggest building program of any city in the South Plains.

That possibly a larger percent of the taxes in Lubbock county were paid by the thirtieth of January this year than any previous year. That is not a bad indication of prosperity.

That many automobile casings are being stolen off the spare tire racks of Lubbock cars. Better lock 'em.

That a barrel of jake and extract bottles were gathered up on the alleys and streets of Lubbock one night last week. Since the jakers have found that it is hard to convict them for the sale of the stuff in the courts of Lubbock county they are becoming more bold, and the sale gets worse. What can the peace officers do when their evidence is counted as nought.

That a lot of people would like to know what the results of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be regarding the Denver road, but none of them are waiting to build homes until the result of the investigation is made known. Lubbock continues to grow.

See Industrial Preparedness As Peace Insurance

By HANFORD MACNIDER, Assistant Secretary of War, in a Speech

Industrial preparedness for war is not provocative of war as pacifists say, but is a frank declaration that this nation means to have peace.

Industrial preparedness is in brief the plan of industry to prevent a repetition of such waste and confusion—a plan to insure the nation against the destructions of war.

It calls for an orderly survey of raw materials, power, labor, transportation and allocation of required materials to facilities best fitted to produce.

It demands a training system to develop the necessary personnel, drawn from civilian reserves, to man the key positions.

It brings experts together into commodity committees to study and direct the use of raw materials and finished products. It calls for the assistance of civilian agencies to solve research problems, the setting up of volunteer chiefs of the various procurement districts into which the raw industries arranged themselves.

There is definite assurance in should war befall us, we can go to work with a swift and sure program of intelligent production of the necessities of war.

THE SCHOLAR

My days among the dead are past; Around me I behold, Where'er these casual eyes are cast, The mighty minds of old; My never-falling friends are they, With whom I converse day by day. With them I take delight in weal; And seek relief in woe; And while I understand and feel How much to them I owe, My cheeks have often been bedew'd With tears of thoughtful gratitude. My thoughts are with the dead; with them I live in long past years. Their virtues love, their faults condemn, Partake their hopes and fears, And from their lessons seek and find Instruction with a humble mind. My hopes are with the dead; anon My place with them will be, And I with them shall travel on Through all futurity; Yet leaving here a name, I trust, That will not perish in the dust.

DINNER STORIES

They were trying an Irishman, charged with a petty offense, in an Oklahoma town, when the judge asked: "Have you any one in court who will vouch for your good character?"

"Yes, your honor," quickly responded the Celt, "there's the sheriff there."

Whereupon the sheriff avinced signs of great amazement.

"Why, your honor," declared he, "I don't even know the man."

"Observe, your honor," said the Irishman, triumphantly, "observe that I've lived in the county for over 12 years and the sheriff doesn't know me yet! Ain't that a character for ye?"

In the mathematics class the professor had been laboring most of the hour trying to explain a simple example to a particularly dumb boy. He took the problem from every possible angle and elucidated at great length on each important point in a vain effort to make it seep through. Finally in desperation he resorted to a primitive method of instructing morons. He held up his hand and demanded of the particularly dumb one how many fingers he saw.

"Four and a half, sir," was the response.

The prof had one finger off at the second joint.

WHO'S WHO

DR. ALEXANDER MEIKLEJOHN

The man whose resignation as president of Amherst College was demanded by college trustees because of his liberal views, Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, now occupies the chair of philosophy at the University of Wisconsin.

Upon his appointment Dr. Glenn Frank, president of Wisconsin, said, "From his liberal views we expect productive scholarship and progressive teaching."

In 1912 Dr. Meiklejohn went Amherst after serving 11 years as dean of Brown University. He decided to modernize the curriculum, especially the courses in history, the social sciences and political economy. Then in 1923 friction arose and his resignation was demanded. A number of the students upheld him and 13 members of the 1923 graduating class refused their diplomas as a protest against his resignation.

At the time of his inauguration he was described as "the youngest college head, with the oldest ideas, in the country." At Brown he was called "the dean of philosophic view."

He loved teaching better than administering, and stipulated that although president of the college he should be allowed to conduct at least one class.

Dr. Meiklejohn was born in Rochdale, Eng., February 3, 1872. He came to America when eight years of age. He obtained an A. B. degree at Brown University in 1893. Four years later he joined the faculty of Brown as instructor of philosophy. He became dean of that institution in 1901.

DISTRICT BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT TO BEGIN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY AT STOCK JUDGING PAVILION

The time of the District basket ball tournament of the Lubbock district is close at hand and will be conducted under the direction of Coach Ewing Y. Freeland of the Texas Tech Athletic department Friday and Saturday of this week. Freeland sometime ago sent out to the athletic directors of each county of the Lubbock district notices that a report of the county champions should be reported to his office not later than February 8th, which was last night.

The following counties have reported with the county champions as thus:

Crosby County—Lorenzo.
Hale County—Plainview.
Motley County—Roaring Springs.
Dawson County—Lamesa.
Terry County—Brownfield.
Lamb County—Littfield.
Garza County—Southland.
Dickens County—Dickens.
Martin County—Stanton.

These teams will meet at the stock judging pavilion at the Texas Tech at 12 o'clock Friday and draw for games and place on which the game will be played. Freeland stated that the Lubbock high school gymnasium and the Texas Tech gymnasium will be used in playing the tournament off.

Several teams have not reported as to yet and for this reason Coach "Big Y" is somewhat handicapped in making out the schedule. Teams from Floyd, Gaines, Hockley, Yoakum, Cochran, Lynn, Burden and Andrews counties have not reported to the offices of the director.

Much interest has been taken in the district basket ball tournament for the past few years and has developed from four representative counties to 21 in the past few years.

WHITFIELD GUILTY AND GETS LONG SENTENCE

J. W. (Shorty) Whitfield was found guilty and sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary on a charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor when tried in 32nd judicial district court here yesterday.

The case was called at 9 o'clock and the jury was completed soon after noon when work of taking testimony was started. Chief of Police T. E. May, Lem Chesher, Deputy Sheriff C. H. Brown, Terrell Williamson were presented as state witnesses.

The defense presented no witnesses and at 3:30 o'clock testimony of the state witnesses was completed when the jury was excused while the court's charge was prepared.

At 5 o'clock after the charge had been delivered to the jury and argument was made by District Attorney Walter C. Witcher, who made an eloquent appeal for conviction, the case was given to the jury which returned the verdict after only fifteen minutes deliberation.

No argument on the behalf of the defendant was made by his attorneys, Bishop & Starnes.

Quash Motions Overruled

District Judge Clark M. Mullican overruled four motions presented by defense counsel at the opening of the trial. These motions, designed to take the case out of court on technicalities, were to quash the indictment, quash the search warrant, and strike out return of the search warrant.

TECH STUDENTS ENJOY SPEECHES MADE BY BONE AND VAN DUSEN

Students and faculty of the Tech to the number of about fifty met in the college cafeteria on Monday evening at 7:30 to enjoy a banquet, and more still the inspiring talks by Mr. Bone and Mr. Van Dusen, traveling secretaries of the student Y. M. C. A. organizations. These men are spending three days on the campus, assisting students with their problems in personal conferences and round table discussions.

Mr. Bone made a plea for vital Christianity, a Christianity so definite, so forceful that it would raise student-ideals and student morality from the low level which obtains on too many campuses.

Mr. Van Dusen's talk complemented that of Mr. Bone. He spoke of the possibilities of the Y, of the peculiar advantages which it enjoys above all other organizations. College life centers about the campus, and the Y's strength lies largely in this, in its being a campus organization. Again it is non-denominational. It brings together Christians of all shades of belief under the one standard of Christian loyalty. It exemplifies an ideal towards which the churches are slowly struggling. Another source of its strength lies in its flexibility, a flexibility that the churches can not approach. Every campus has and should have a Y adapted to its own particular needs.

The Y justifies its existence as long as it lives up to its ideals of broad mindedness and democracy. During the world war it was the one international organization which continued to function. In 1917, during the heart of the war, members of the warring nations met in Christian fellowship in a Y. M. C. A. convention in neutral Switzerland. It brings together in democratic contact, in terms of equality, students from the most diverse surroundings, all handed together by a common ideal. Mr. Van Dusen stressed the point that the great enemy of high ideals on the college campus, as well as in life everywhere, is not downright wickedness, but moral neutrality, which allows a small corrupt class to impose its will on the community without a protest. It was the moral neutrality of the masses that allowed the small group of the opposition to crucify Christ.

President Horn in closing made a plea for the work of the Y. College is the formative period of life. Few of those who leave college without interest in Christian work acquire it later. Few of those who maintain it there lose it in after life. The college is the great preparatory school for Christian leadership.

WASHINGTON.—There are 19,999,486 registered motor vehicles in the United States, Secretary of Commerce Hoover announces, while the rest of the world has but 6,000,000.

OMAHA, Neb.—The parents of Harry Osterman, 12, a newboy admirer of Harry Greb, middleweight champion, have just received $50 from the fighter to help pay the boy's funeral expenses. The "newy" was killed when he fell into an attempt to scale the walls of the auditorium to see his idol out box Joe Lohman.

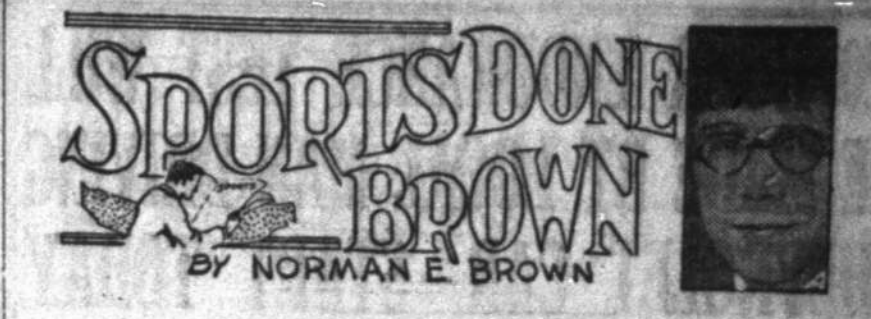

FORMER GOVERNOR WOULD ASSIST FRIEND

TOPEKA, Kan., Feb. 8.—Former Governor Jonathan M. Davis accused nine months ago of the charge that he frequently consulted Peterson regarding political affairs and that they were friendly at all times. He told of the visit of Anthony H. Oswald, Hutchinson attorney who claims to have negotiated with Peterson regarding the Grundy parole. Oswald, the former governor said, urged a parole for Grundy, saying that he was an influential young democrat and that a parole would be an important victory for Davis.

O. M. Harvey, who was the chief defense attorney during Davis' trial last May conducted the examination Monday afternoon. Judge Otis E. Hungeate sustained an objection by the state against any mention of the verdict in the Davis case. Davis was freed on a defense that is expected to be practically identical with the one that will be offered in the Peterson trial.

After the state rested with the reading of the testimony of Mrs. Walter Grundy, who was unable to be present, John Schenck, chief counsel for Peterson, entered a motion to dismiss the charges against his client. Judge Hungeate overruled the motion with out argument.

Davis was the second witness called by the defense. O. W. Wilson, penitentiary record clerk, was called first to testify regarding the prison record of Grundy. Wilson said that an application for a parole made in December 1924, was denied.

It surely looks as though America's own Helen Wills is one of the greatest women tennis players in the world, or else the foreign girls whom she has played to date, in France, are the poorest. The ease with which she took Mlle. Rolande Vlasto, Miss Lily Cadle and others into camp, might properly be called consummate. Cablegrams regarding the California wonder's match with Lily Cadle stated, "Never has Miss Wills stroked with such severity or given a display of what may be expected of her when she meets Mlle. Lenglen." Helen had some fun at the expense of the gallery, in her match with Vlasto when she let the latter win a couple of games and then trimmed her handily.

The village of Rockwell, near Manitowoc, Wis., boasts one of the most unique basketball teams in the country. All five players are of the same family, father and four sons. The captain of the team and head of the family is one Paul Goss and his four sons make up the rest of the quintet. We doubt if this can be equalled any place in the country, unless you want to give the palm to the five daughters of the once famous Kid Elberfeld, who start a southern tour soon with the following slogan "The only girls' basketball team in the world from a single family."

COLLEGE BASEBALL

ATLANTA, Feb. 8.—Indicative of the growing interest in all classes of sports in the south, Georgia Tech has just completed a new diamond in preparation for the opening of the college baseball season.

The new field is located just opposite Grant Field, scene of Tech's annual football games, and is much larger with more space in right and center fields. Temporary stands are under construction to handle a crowd of at least 3,000.

For the larger games, such as the contest with Georgia, the scene will be transferred to Spiller's Park, home of the Atlanta Crackers, last year's Southern League Champions. The annual Georgia-Georgia Tech baseball and football games are always keenly contested and draw thousands from the north of Georgia.

It is said that the peerless actor, John Barrymore, is a 35th degree boxing fan, preferring that sport to acting. Which causes one wit to remark that the modern ring champion prefers acting to boxing. It can't be possible that he was hitting at Benny Leonard, Jack Dempsey or Harry Greb or was he?

We received quite a kick out of that dispatch from London which stated that the officials in the suburb of Hoxton refused to let two female boxers, Annie Newton and Madge Baker stage a bout. The matter was put up to the village council and as strange as it may seem the only favorable vote was from a woman member, who stated that if the girls wanted to maul each other, she thought it was perfectly all right.

How times have changed in the realm of golf. The other day Harry Cooper, 21-year-old Texas youngster, received the nest sum of $3,500 for winning the Los Angeles open tournament. Twenty years ago George Low captured the metropolitan open championship and defeated a brilliant field, making due allowance for the difference in time. Low's score was 294 for the seventy-two holes at the Hollywood Golf Club. And what do you suppose his reward was? Exactly $150 and a gold medal. Verily, times have changed.

There are now more automobiles in Texas than telephones.

The next New Jersey legislature will have seven women members.

After considerable opposition, the Senate has confirmed the appointment of Miss Jessie Bell as United States Civil Service commissioner.

Brainard Here Yesterday To Consult Allen Relative to Spudder Contract Of Aiding In With Young Hurlers

Sled Allen as to yet has not accepted the Wichita Falls Spudder proposition that was put up to him some few weeks ago by the Manager of that club, Fred Brainard. Allen stated that no definite steps had been taken in the matter. Brainard paid the skipper a visit yesterday spending a good part of the day with the Hubber Ace.

The contract that calls for Allen's work would be that of coaching new material that is to report to the Spudder camp early in March. Brainard realizes the value of Sled Allen, the veteran catcher, to his recruits in their early training and for the reason is making a good bid for his services. According to Brainard Allen would report to the Wichita Falls camp by the 8th of March and would be released in due time for the season here at Lubbock. An selecting Allen as trainer of body of hurlers Brainard sees another step taken toward the nabbing of the Texas League pennant.

With the prospective club that is being formulated by Brainard the Wichita Falls franchise, making a strong effort to take the Texas League flag for the season of 1926.

Allen stated that as he sees that matter at the present he hardly thinks that the proposition submitted to him would not be quite attractive enough as will hold announcement of his decision until a latter date.

Brainard left late yesterday afternoon for Artesia, New Mexico, where he will spend a month or so with his family and will report to his duty at Wichita Falls by the first of March.

TECH ATHLETIC FIELD LAID OFF IS PERMANENT

Coach Freeland, Higgins, both, and a gang of surveyors have been busily engaged in laying off permanent athletic field for the athletics of the Texas Tech College. The location of the field is in the northeast portion of the campus. A plot was laid out just a little to the north and east of the Engineering Building at this location the gymnasium that will be built in the future.

Along the west side of the College Avenue will be the east side of the stadium that is to be built. Several reasons caused the coaches and those connected with the athletic council to make definite arrangements for the field to be situated at the above location. It is at the end of one of the paved streets making it convenient for the fans of Lubbock to attend the games; another is that the soil of this plot is more suitable for the field that could be found elsewhere in the 2000 acres.

The baseball field and track will be laid off very soon. The curves of the track and straight away which will be 250 yards are being laid off and will soon be shaped up so that the track men may be able to use same for their early training. "It will be impossible for us to have a cinder track for the first year," Coach Freeland said.

Grass will be planted on the entire playing field and will be ready for the next gridiron season.

Attempts are being made by Colonel King to establish an alibi for Holmdahl and Corral. Colonel King pointed out that Holmdahl could not have possibly been at Villa's grave Friday night as he had received a telegram from him in Roarilo, Durango, Saturday morning at 9 o'clock.

Roarilo is several hundred miles from Parral. The diversification program of the organization and in making the Slaton Fair a success in the fall of 1926 and years to come, Mr. Ross stated yesterday.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 8.—J. I. Overholser, 23, an employe of the Humble Oil & Refining Co., was electrocuted today while working near Laporte.

INSURANCE MAN DEAD

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 8.—Robert A. Goodwin, insurance man, shot himself to death today. He had been in ill health, friends said.

Screen Star Leaves Very Small Estate

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 8.—Barbara La Marr left an estate valued at $10,000, according to an application for letters of administration filed here Monday.

The estate consists of a small house in Altadena, furniture and the actress' wardrobe. Heirs named are Rose Watson, mother; W. W. Watson, father and the star's adopted son, Ivan, 3.

SUIT AGAINST CONTRACTOR NOT TO BE TRIED THIS TERM

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 8.—Attorney General Dan Moody's suit against the Sherman-Youman Construction Co. for recovery of $30,000 alleged excess profits probably will not be tried this term of court, it was indicated today.

Judge George Calhoun announced cases displaced by the Hoffman privilege hearing would be given precedence and failed to call the case as court opened this morning.

The present term of court ends the last Saturday of this month.

EARTH TREMORS HEARD

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 8.—A distant earthquake of great intensity was recorded on the Harvard University seismograph Monday, Kirtley Mather, president of geology announced Monday night.

The preliminary tremors are registered at 10:23 a. m. and the maximum vibrations were recorded between 10:23 a. m. and 10:45 a. m. Prof. Mather said the recording indicated the quake originated at a distance of 2,300 miles, probably in the quake zone of the Caribbean sea.

HUNGARIAN PROFITERS LOSE LIQUOR LICENSES

BUDAPEST, Feb. 8.—Hungary has adopted a novel profiteering law which, according to reports already achieved, gives promise of great effectiveness in keeping prices down.

It provides that anyone who is convicted of profiteering or of collusion in price raising loses automatically his license to sell alcoholic drinks.

In Hungary the housewives like to do all the shopping in one store. Since this shopping usually includes the purchase of a few bottles of wine no dealer in food supplies can expect to do business very long if his supply of drinkable is not complete. Also, by the absence of alcoholic beverages from his shelves customers are constantly reminded that they are buying from a convicted profiteer.

AGED COUPLE DIVORCED

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 8.—At the age of 70 years, Mrs. Fannie E. Winslow was granted a divorce and $2,500 alimony from Abner T. Winslow, 71, wealthy horse dealer. The aged couple were married only about two and a half years ago and lived together until October 14, 1925.

Disagreement about financial matters was given as cause of the discontent between the two.

HIKING CLUB OF UNIVERSITY TO VISIT OLD FRENCH EMBASSY

AUSTIN, Feb. 8.—There are many ways of sightseeing as anyone will say, but members of the Girls' Hiking Club at the University of Texas have planned a twenty mile hike on which they expect to visit places of historic interest about Austin, such as the old French embassy and the State Cemetery where many noted Texans are buried.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

J. T. Taylor of Leonard, Texas, is here visiting in the home of W. L. Price, 1817 15th street.

Ben F. Smith, editor of the Slaton Times and J. J. Ross, secretary of the Slaton Commercial Club were in Lubbock yesterday attending the More Feed Contest Luncheon. The Slaton Commercial Club is organizing sub units in communities surrounding Slaton in three counties, according to Mr. Ross. These units will have a board of directors in each community which will work with the Slaton Commercial Club in promoting the diversification program of the organization and in making the Slaton Fair a success in the fall of 1926 and years to come, Mr. Ross stated yesterday.

AMERICAN IS NOT PRISONER, CLAIM

By United News.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Charges that Emil Holmdahl, El Paso dealer of fortune who is being held in jail at Parral, Mexico, charged with looting the grave of the famous bandit chief, General Francisco Villa, was in Mexico searching for treasure buried by Villa before his assassination, were denied by Holmdahl's employer here tonight.

Colonel A. A. King, U. S. A., who is interested in the development of Mexican mining properties, declared that Holmdahl has been in his employ for the past four years, and his trip to Mexico was in connection with mining interests.

Holmdahl and Alberto Corral, also a resident of El Paso and employed by Colonel King, were arrested by Mexican authorities Sunday morning charged with opening Villa's grave and cutting the head from the body and offering the head to Columbus, N. M., for $5,000.

Confidence that Holmdahl would be released within the next forty-eight hours was expressed by Col. King late today, following a conference with Mexican Federal Judge in Juarez, Mexico.

BILLY'S UNCLE

120 HOUR ENDURANCE TEST WILL BE MADE BY LOCAL MAN DRIVING CHEVROLET CAR - START TODAY

Locked to the wheel of a 1926 Model Chevrolet Touring car, and determined to drive 120 hours without a halt, Jim Cummins, of Cummins Battery & Electric Company will leave the sales room of the Kuykendall Chevrolet Company this morning at 10:00 o'clock on a drive that will test his full strength and the durability of the automobile.

Manufacturers of the automobile as well as G. P. Kuykendall, owner and manager of the Kuykendall Company, know that the car can withstand the terrible strain of the 120 hours continuous running, and Cummins believes he can withstand the nerve splitting minutes of the last hour of the time he is determined to drive.

Just how much interest the people of Lubbock and the Plains have in the durability of the man and the automobile is yet to be seen. It is believed that they will attract the attention of the whole country before the run has been completed.

Cummins Is Fit
Cummins is in perfect physical condition according to Dr. G. G. Castleberry who examined him at 5:30 o'clock yesterday. He is 29 years old, tips the measure at five feet and eleven inches and weighs 193 pounds.

Cummins is a veteran of the world war, and the men who served with him overseas have absolute confidence in his determination to remain at the wheel 120 hours being realized, however, they have insisted that nothing short of the severest shock to his nerves will suffice to remove him from the wheel before the 120 hours have elapsed.

A physician will be available during the last hours of the run, Mr. Kuykendall said yesterday, and in case Cummins' condition proves such that it would be dangerous for him to end the run he will be forced from the wheel.

Oil and gas for the 120 hour run will be furnished by the 555 Tire & Service station, of which Howell Brothers are managers. Veodell will be used exclusively.

The J. F. Frye Rubber Company has equipped the car with 29x4-40 balloon Federal tires, while the battery on the car has been taken from the stock of the Cummins Battery & Electric Co.

Unusual interest in the endurance run is expected due to the fact that if Cummins succeeds to remain at the wheel he will have beaten any other endurance run ever made by one man at the wheel of a car by 20 hours.

RALLS VOTERS ARE IN FAVOR OF BONDS

RALLS, Feb. 8—The Ralls Independent school district tax limit was raised Saturday from fifty cents to one dollar—the limit. The election was carried by a majority and sufficient money will be received to continue good schools in this county.

Stratton Manager Barrier Brothers Music Department

G. C. Barrier, former manager of the music department of Barrier Brothers Department Store, who recently entered the Gold Bond stamp department of that store as traveling representative in this territory, has been succeeded as manager of the music department by H. B. Stratton, who during the past six months has been connected with that department in the capacity of salesman.

Mr. Stratton has announced the employment of Lawrence J. McLean as a member of the sales force. The changes that have been made in the store will not materially affect the business as Mr. Stratton has been closely associated with G. C. Barrier in looking after the business of the music department and is well qualified to meet all of the responsibilities of his new position.

Mr. McLean was formerly connected with Rix Furniture Company and is well known throughout this territory.

Inspector Rural Schools Making Schedules Here

G. B. McClung, representing the state department of education and having charge of state aid for rural schools, is visiting the schools of Lubbock county in company with P. F. Brown, superintendent of public instruction.

The amount of money available for state aid does not amount to as much as was available last year, and the schools of this section of the state are not expected to receive as much aid as has been the case in the past.

The county superintendent and Mr. McClung have completed inspection of Posey, Union, New Hope, Woodrow, Barton, Slide, Foster and Woodlark schools and today will visit Carlisle, Lindsey, Shallowater and Greavesville schools.

Following is the schedule that will be completed this week: Wednesday—Hardy, County Line, Caldwell, Monroe; Thursday—Liberty, Center, Bledsoe, Estacado; Friday—Canyon, Acuff, McClung.

CONGRATULATIONS GIVEN UNIVERSITY WOMEN

AUSTIN, Texas Feb. 8.—Congratulations to every woman student of the University of Texas are being extended by Miss Ruby Terrill, dean of women. About 235 such letters were sent out. Miss Terrill says she is beginning this custom to aid in promoting friendly relations with individual students of the University.

MOORE FEED CAMPAIGN CLOSES WITH AWARDS MADE AT LUNCHEON MONDAY; CAMPAIGN FOR 1926 TO BE PLANNED

The more feed campaign that was launched in Lubbock county last year and which proved a wonderful success, engaging the attention of a large number of farmers, came to a close here yesterday when awards of prizes in the several contests that were conducted as a feature of the campaign were made.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, co-operating with the Lubbock County Farm Bureau and chambers of commerce at Slaton, Idalou, Shallowater and Abernathy, sponsored the campaign and at the close of meeting yesterday "representatives of these bodies voted that a similar campaign should be conducted this year.

O. L. Slaton Speaks

Hon. O. L. Slaton, president of the First National Bank in Lubbock, discussed farm problems in a speech before the farmers and business men attending the luncheon meeting here yesterday, declaring more intense cultivation of fewer acres plus strict adherence to a well balanced diversification program, are essential in bringing prosperity to the farmers of this county. He declared that those who had participated in the more feed campaign had certainly done their bit toward bringing the most desired conditions to Lubbock county.

How Advocate Heard

Col. C. C. French, representing the Fort Worth Stock Yards Company and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, discussed plans for restocking west Texas farms with pure bred hogs and outlined a plan whereby a carload of brood sows can be brought to this county. His address was well received and much enthusiasm over the program outlined was expressed.

Club Boys Make Report

J. I. Thornton, who attended the club boys and girls congress at Chicago last year through courtesy of the Santa Fe railroad, who awarded him the prize because of his outstanding milo production, made a report of his trip.

Other club boys who have made good records in their work were introduced by County Agent David F. Eaton who presided over the meeting.

Clubs Serve Lunch

Miss Lela Du Bose, assisted by members of the Lubbock county demonstration clubs, served a splendid lunch to those attending the meeting. Many compliments were made about the manner in which the food had been prepared.

The following awards were made to winners of the contests:

Boys Departments

Milo-feterita, based on three acre plot. First, I. J. Thornton, Posey, production 15,750 pounds, $50; second, Jim Potts, Canyon, 9,000 pounds, $40; third, Lucian Moore, Acuff, 8,250 pounds, $30; fourth, A. Vaughn Story, Monroe, 7,500 pounds $20; fifth, Ernest Schroeder, Wolfarth, 7,500 pounds, tied with Story of Monroe; sixth, Woodrow Pugh, of Canyon and Meyer Dawson of New Hope, tied with production of 4,500 pounds, $10.

Adult Department

Milo maize. First, C. C. Thornton, of Posey, who incidentally is the father of the club boy who went to Chicago, production of 54,640

Duncan Re-Elected Head Local Schools

M. H. Duncan, superintendent of the Lubbock Public Schools, and whose contract with the board of directors expires July 1st this year, was employed for a period of two years from that date at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. The hearty support the directors have given Mr. Duncan since his first association with the school problems of this city, was shown when they voted unanimously to retain him at the head of the schools. This action has been taken by friends of the superintendent as an expression of appreciation for the splendid work he has done during the past year, and shows that the program he instituted upon first taking charge of the schools has met with their hearty approval.

The action of the school board in employing him for two more years assures continued success to the schools here.

Texas State Board of Health Weekly News Letter

National Social Service Worker Coming to Texas

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 8.—Mrs. Edna Fox, of the American Social Hygiene Association will come to Texas the first of arch for the purpose of giving a series of lectures throughout the state on social service work. Mrs. Fox is a noted lecturer and knows her subject from every angle, having served more than four years as director of social hygiene educational work in Virginia before being drafted for her present position with the National Association.

Her visit to Texas at this time has been made possible through the cooperation of the state board of health with the Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teachers' Associations. Mrs. Fox will be in the state all of the month of March, coming directly to Austin, and from there will go to San Marcos where the first series of lectures will be given. Her itinerary has already been arranged and will include all district meetings of Parent-Teachers' Associations and other club meetings in the state.

Work Done by American Social Hygiene Association

Much educational work was done by the American Social Hygiene Association during 1925, a summary of its activities showing that approximately 1700 lectures and addresses were given by the personnel of the association; and that social hygiene lecture courses and institutes were held in many of the larger cities of the United States.

Literature, motion picture films, slides and exhibits were sent to many important fairs, conferences and meetings, there being a constant increase in the demand for such visual instruction. It is stated that the most conspicuous marks of progress toward the educational objectives of the association during the last year were the expressed readiness of educators, teachers and leaders of social agencies to accept their responsibilities for social hygiene education, and to institute such programs in their respective localities.

State Board of Health Official Returns

Chester Cohen sanitary engineer with the state board of health, who was last year granted a leave of absence that he might do special research work, has returned to Austin and has again assumed his duties with the board. Mr. Cohen spent several months in Europe investigating methods used in water purification and sewage disposal, visiting London, Paris, Rome, Venice and other European cities. On his return to America, he entered Harvard University for graduate work in chemical and sanitary engineering with special research work relative to the control of water turbidity.

Electra Considering Milk Ordinance

H. Y. Newsom, mayor of Electra, was in Austin recently conferring with officials of the state board of health relative to the regulations of the standard milk ordinance which is now being considered by the Electra city commission. The state board of health announces that this ordinance is now in effect in some 20 cities of the state, the latest cities to fall in line with improved, uniform methods of milk sanitation being Amarillo, Lubbock, Jacksonville, Texarkana, Fort Worth and Corpus Christi.

Malaria Control Work Attracts Attention

That the success of the state board of health in its intensive fight on malaria, has attracted nationwide attention, is evidenced by numerous requests from other states for details of methods used in mosquito control here. Such a letter was recently received from a member of the Indiana state board of health, who stated that citizens of his state were bothered quite a good deal during the summer months by mosquitoes, and that he desired to study the methods used in Texas in the extermination of these pests.

SELECTING FURNITURE

When we are selecting furniture, either from what we already possess or from the lovely things we want for our homes, there are two or three very important points which we must consider. They apply, primarily, of course, to the beginner, but they may be reminders, as well, for the housekeeper of experience who is at present not buying even one new thing.

The first principle of interior decoration is that of function: we have things because they are needed; we do not have useless things to clutter our homes. That is the ideal fulfillment of the principle.

If a home is overcrowded with a conglomeration of both beautiful furniture and atrocities, we should begin to refurbish by weeding out and remorselessly discarding the ugly and the useless pieces. We must be sure to demolish entirely that hopelessly broken chair which was great auntie's bequest. Let us put away out of the dust for later use, the good and the beautiful things which are not needed just now, and which only make more work on cleaning days. By bringing them out later, to take the place of the ones we leave now (which will, of course, be carefully put away in their turn) we may gain an interesting "change."

If we are buying, we think first of this same principle of function. It is best, at first to buy only those things we must have. It is always well to buy slowly, and it is only by living in a house that we learn its real needs. We should get well-made tables and chairs even if this limits the number for a while; and we must not under any circumstances get inferior springs and mattresses for our beds, because our bodies must be kept in good condition. We should have in mind at every purchase this idea of fitness for service.

We want to say here that beauty is in itself a need; and it may be the only function of some things which we do, and should have in our homes. Think of the pictures on our walls, and the bowls of lovely flowers on our tables. Do we not need them to make our lives fuller and brighter and higher?

The principle of this same beauty is the second consideration, in buying and in weeding out. We can have such beauty in the furniture which serves us that we should never, never buy any but lovely things. We and our children grow like our surroundings; and beautiful things are not necessarily expensive.

Most of us have neither money nor opportunity to purchase delightful antiques (and for pity's sake don't let's buy anything simply because it is old!) Reproductions of the finer periods are as a rule, the very best pieces we can buy. Few of us, however, know much about their accuracy, but we can all consider the artistic value of each thing we purchase. We can look for simple pieces of good color and excellent finish which combine strength and grace in their lines.

Since very beautiful furniture may be ruined by its settings and since any type of furniture may be badly made, we want to add a few "don't's". Don't get furniture whose structural lines and surfaces are covered up with ornate and grotesque carving; don't get straight-line furniture that is clumsy; don't get cabriole legs that look like the legs of an English bulldog; and don't get over-stuffed furniture that is bloated. Don't get great heavy pieces for a small room; they will look like bulls in a china shop. Don't get small dainty furniture for an enormous room. Don't have your rooms monotonous in the sameness of their furnishings, but don't have too much variety, especially in the color of large pieces. Variety is the spice of life, and a virtue, but we want to live in homes, not museums.

NEGLECT OF EARLY ATTENTION FATAL

By EDWARD A. RICH
Member Gorges Memorial Institute
Written for United Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—The whole automobile owning public fall into one of two classes; the class that heads right to the garage every time a rattle develops or the first signs of engine trouble appears, and those who do not heed the symptoms of knocking machinery or rattling fenders but drive the old car till it absolutely shakes of some essential part. You can draw your own conclusions as to which class enjoys the longer lasting car.

But I am talking about the human machine. Recently a man came to see me because his toes needed attention. He went away terribly depressed and disappointed at the opinions I had to give him. He had several toes and part of one foot undergoing gangrene that was secondary to diabetes.

The patient was a hard working man in a lumber community. He thought hard enough about his industry and his work. But for almost three years the symptoms of his diabetes had been trying to gain his attention. He was like the automobile driver who neglected the knocks and rattles until his fliwer stopped. His inordinate desires for certain foods, his thirst, his growing weakness and tired feeling, together with the discoloration of his toes and forefoot were all lightly considered, until recently came the crisis.

True, this is an extreme case. The point I am trying to make is that the body needs a certain amount of intelligent upkeep and it is a sensible, rational, horse sense thing to keep it in good shape. In America today there is no excuse for neglecting the symptoms of disease. Why not pay heed to the sings of ill-health and disease? Why not be as sensible as a sensible motorist and investigate strange noises and secret defects? A great deal of suffering and many early deaths are due to neglect or slothfulness; all might have been avoided had the signs been heeded.

If you, Mr. Average American, refuse a periodic health examination, then in heaven's name don't neglect your body when it first calls for help, when sores don't heal, when rest doesn't repair, or when any of the many parts do not function exactly as they should.

Rio Grande Potato Men Grade Crop

SAN BENITO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Directors of the Rio Grande Potato Growers Association, have reached a decision of the method by which potatoes raised in this district are to be graded and sacked.

All potatoes passing the hach and a half screen will be classed as No. 1 but a limit of fifteen per cent will be placed on potatoes running from one and a half to one and three quarters inches.

The potatoes will be placed in in hundred pound sacks and tagged with an official tag that is to be adopted by the association. A cash prize is being offered to the person that suggests the best slogan to be used on the shipping tag that is to be adopted by the association.

Twenty Live Rattlers Captured Near Comfort

COMFORT, Texas.—Twenty live rattlesnakes captured near here recently by two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Marquart, who live seven miles from Comfort.

The boys were riding horseback in their father's pasture when they saw a huge rattler crawling along the side of a hill. They followed the snake until it disappeared under a rock. With the aid of a crow-bar the boys pried rocks up where the snake had disappeared and found a cavity with twenty dormant rattlers in it.

The boys secured a long pole and lifted the snakes into a barrel. All were described as being unusually large except two.

The snakes were sluggish from the cold but became extremely vicious after being placed in the barrel.

U. S. MUSIC POLYGLOT SAYS VISITOR CRITIC

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 8.—"The United States is a polyglot nation and the music of America is characteristically such," according to Frank Hutchins, distinguished Australian pianist and professor in the Conservatorium of Music at Sydney, New South Wales.

Hutchins has come to America on a six month's leave of absence to study American music.

"I have as yet formed no more than a very casual impression concerning it; but I believe that the most promising evidence of native musical forms exist in the prevalent utilization of negro themes. They are beautiful and fascinating, and much should be made of them.

"Jazz has its charms, and so have the old folk songs and Indian themes. I cannot venture to prophesy at present just what existing form is likely to dominate in the future."

SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR FOR ATTEMPT TO KILL KATO

TOKYO, Feb. 8.—Three conspirators, who planned to kill the Premier, Viscount Kato, last summer, and who confessed to the plot, have been found guilty on trial and sentenced each to serve one year in the penitentiary. Ryohei Uchida, head of the Black Dragon society of reactionaries, who had supplied the would-be assassins with revolvers, was found not guilty of being in the plot. He explained that he did not intend the Premier to be killed, but did want to stop him from having the manhood suffrage law enacted. During recent weeks the Premier has been carefully guarded by plainclothes men, while police are in force at his home and office. There are many rumors afloat of plots against his life.

TEACHING HEALTH IN SCHOOL TO CHILDREN IS NOT DREARY JOB.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 8.—Teaching health to school children is far from a dreary matter with the abundance of attractive and interesting material now available on the subject, according to Miss LeNoir Dimmitt of the package loan library of the University of Texas. Delightful fairy stories, plays, games, and the like make willing pupils of the children, she said. A great deal of supplementary material has been collected to be used in connection with the lesson plans of the health and happiness league for the first seven grades, which is sponsored in the public schools by the bureau of nutrition and health education of the University.

Each package of such material is suited for a particular grade, containing one or more books and ten or twelve pamphlets. Not only is there material for the teacher but for the pupils as well. The subject matter intended for the children enables the teacher to get action into her discussions. It is explained, because the pupils find it great fun to dramatize the health plays which have been put on by graded schools have proved successful, according to reports of them.

BETTER HOMES EXPOSITION

Lubbock, March 15th. to 19th.

Spring is a time of the year most appropriate for getting new ideas about home—about making home more lovely—more inviting. It is a time of the year when one wants a change—wants prettier things for inside the home—wants recreation from the harrowing tasks of ordinary housecleaning and house keeping.

The Better Homes Exposition will be one of the greatest educational events for "BETTER HOMES" staged in the Western part of Texas.

Under the Direction of Mrs. Florence Austin Chase of Los Angeles, Calif., sponsored and financed by "The South Plains" Daily Newspaper—

THE Lubbock Morning Avalanche

UNWELCOE GRATITUDE

If ever Peter had thought he was brave, now he found out he was not. He wanted to do nothing so much as to turn and run—run just as fast as his feet would carry him—somewhere, anywhere away from the danger that threatened him. But try as he would, he could not move nor take his eyes from the glowing ones of that great Lion.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Avalanche is authorized to announce the following for the office given below, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary in July, and the voters of this county are urged to give them due consideration at the polls.

For County Superintendent of Public Instruction: P. F. BROWN (Re-election). For Justice of the Peace Prec. No. 1: COL. W. E. JOHNSON (Re-election).

Father Lion stared at the boy and slowly opened his mouth. In spite of his fear Peter gasped with surprise. "Good gracious! Isn't he ever going to stop?" murmured he under his breath in an aside to Step-Lightly. "Surely his jaws will not stretch any further! Ooh! Terrible!" Jamie shivered. "What chance would I have in their with those sharp teeth?" Peter's own teeth began to chatter. "None," growled the young Cub. "But you aren't going to get in there. Just keep on staring at Pa while I talk to him." And Step-Lightly placed himself in front of the boy.

"Now, Dad, stop making these faces!" commanded the Cub, and his father was so astonished at the youngster's impudence that he dropped his jaws with a snap. "And don't you cuff me until you have heard what I have to say," for Father Lion was growling and lifting a paw.

"This Two-Legs is a friend of mine and not like any of his race that you ever heard of. He hates the Humans who set traps for the Four-Foots just as much as we do. And he himself has told me that all he wants is to be a friend of all the furry folk. So you have nothing to gain by hurting him and a lot to lose. Let me tell you something. He pulled a sharp needle out of my nose it might have made me very ill if it had been left long. I am grateful to him."

"Ouch!" cried Peter suddenly and in spite of himself. Step-Lightly, in gratitude, was licking his hand and it felt as though a piece of rough sandpaper was being scraped over his skin. He hurt. Peter stood it as long as he could, but at last he had to draw his hand away.

Step-Lightly looked up in surprise. "What, blood upon your finger?" growled he. "Where did it come from? Let me lick it off!" "No, thank!" said Peter quickly, and put his finger to his own lips. "I'd rather not, if you please." Next: "One Little Drop."

Religious Census of Lubbock Will Be Made Sunday

A religious canvass of Lubbock, sponsored by the churches of Lubbock, will be completed here next Sunday by a committee of 150 men made up from the memberships of all the churches of the city. The committee will be grouped in two, two denominations being represented on each committee. At a recent conference of the pastors of the churches of the city it was planned to have all of the members of the canvassing committee meet at the First Baptist church at 12:15 o'clock for luncheon Sunday, where they will be assigned the various districts of the city and will be given instructions in making the canvass, and automobiles will be used in carrying them to their districts following the luncheon and the canvass will be started. Pastors of the churches believe that this canvass can be completed within two hours, and insist that the people of Lubbock give the canvassers complete information about their church membership or preference. The canvassers will be supplied with cards on which this information can be given in the minimum time, and a card will be used in making a record of each individual in the city. This canvass will not only reveal the facts wanted by the churches of the city, but will be valuable from a commercial standpoint as the exact population of the city can be determined. While the work the committees will launch Sunday afternoon will be completed in perhaps less than two hours, it has been pointed out by those in charge that there will naturally be a large number of Lubbock people away from home during the time and that followup work will be necessary to make the canvass complete. Notation will be made of all houses where the occupants are not found at home, and the follow-up committee will see that these are finally accounted for. Lee and Wade To Visit Lockney. How To Quickly Stop Bad Coughs. It is often surprising how quickly the heaviest cough disappears when treated by a remarkable new method. Here is the method, based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals irritation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So the severest cough soon disappears completely. Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY FOR COUGHS.
