Rain is welcome sight

Mitchell County was the place to be to see the rain fall over the Memorial Day weekend, as some parts of the county received six inches or more of the wet stuff. Though a couple of the thunderstorms produced severe weather, the rainfall was much-needed and well-received.

Rainfall totals range from over six inches being reported by Sharon Dockrey to almost three inches reported by Kay McCauley north of town. Dockrey lives near the Spade Community on South Highway 163, and she said her place received over six inches of rain from Thursday evening to Tuesday morning.

Superintendent Kyle O'Haver at Lake Colorado City State Park reported that five and a half inches of rain fell in the park over the long weekend. Unfortunately, the lake hasn't come up much with the recent rainfall.

According to the United States Geological Survey, Lake Colorado City has come up about 1/3 of a foot in the last few days. Last Tuesday, May 20th, the USGS listed the lake's water level at 2048.30 feet of elevation, and it was up to 2048.67 as of noon Tuesday this week. However, the creeks are still flowing and water levels are still rising.

Champion Creek Reservoir caught quite a bit of water with the weekend storms, as the USGS shows the lake has risen a little over a foot in the last three days. As with other surface water, creeks are still flowing and inflows are still being recorded.

The Snyder Daily News recently reported on dry conditions and low lake levels around the area. The story said that Lake

J.B. Thomas near Snyder was at 1.26% full, and E.V. Spence Reservoir near Robert Lee was down to 2.37% capacity. Before the weekend rains, O.H. Ivie, 55 miles east of San Angelo, was at an historic low of 11% of its capacity.

According to Wade Warren with the Snyder newspaper, Lake Thomas is up a foot and Spence a little less than a foot as of Tuesday morning. O.H. Ivie Reservoir hit the jackpot, recording a rise of a little more than nine feet and still counting, as of Tuesday.

Randy Bullard, who manages hunting leases on the Spade Ranch, reported rainfall totals in the four to five inches range, bringing muddy but good conditions for the wildlife on the leases. Bullard did say that some of the hunters' feeders or stands may have been damaged by the 50 mph winds that blew through during a storm Monday night.

The severe thunderstorm to which Bullard was referring produced a couple of tornadoes in the southwestern part of Mitchell County. One was reported seven miles southwest of the state park. Luckily, only rural areas were af-

IT'S BEEN A WHILE - Many months have passed since the Colorado River could be seen running. Rainfall amounts of six inches or more in the county brought relief to the drought-stricken land.

Commissioners table high desal bids again

The Mitchell County Commissioners' Court convened last Friday, and bids for the desalination plant were discussed and tabled at the recommendation of the county's engineering firm, Lauren Engineers. Bids received were technically acceptable but amounted to much more than what commissioners had expected.

West Texas Water Well Service bid $335,138.50 to drill two test wells, the plugging of the test wells, two production wells and appurtenances, pump testing and disinfection, as well as preparation of reports and documentation.

Construction of metal buildings was bid on by Hidalgo Industrial Services, Inc. for $293,942. Construction would include an option for the contractor to provide building shell. The cost also includes a deduction for R-panel in lieu of standing shell.

A bid being considered to install a potable water transfer line from the plant to a storage tank was submitted by Hidalgo Industrial Services, Inc. for $564,291.

Kenny Whisenhunt and Dustin Barbee from Lauren were present for the meeting, as well as Board of Economic Development representatives Bobby Lemons and Woody Anderson. The men from Lauren Engineering recommended that, instead of rejecting the bids, commissioners should table the items and see what can be done to reduce the costs of the bids.

Hospital receives THA award

MCHD's Board of Directors were presented a plaque Tuesday evening during the regular monthly meeting by Della Vallejo of Texas Hospitals Association for 75 continuous years of membership with the organization. MCH is one of only 55 hospitals in Texas to get the award.

Board members said yes to a bid for tax sale property. A $2,500 bid by Walter Wayne Pierce for a lot at 751 E. 7th Street was approved.

During the administrator's report, Hospital CEO Robbie Dewberry told board members that plans for the new clinic are 99% complete.

Blassingame wins District Clerk race

Belinda Blassingame will be the Republican nominee for District Clerk in the November General Election, thanks to a close win over challenger

Belinda Blassingame

Teresa Hughes in Tuesday's run-off election. Blassingame garnered 303 votes to Hughes' 251. The local race proved to be a clean campaign run by two up-standing candidates.

Because she will run unopposed in November, the run-off win means that Blassingame will be the next District Clerk. The position was up for election, and longtime clerk Sharon Hammond is retiring.

"I'm very honored," Blassingame said Tuesday night. "I would just like to thank everybody for supporting me and having faith in me. I look forward to doing a good job."

Early voting totals showed the voting almost even, as Blassingame had 144 votes to Hughes' 139 after early ballots were cast.

Overall, Precinct 1 voters cast 106 ballots for Blassingame and 65 for Hughes. There were 8 votes cast for Blassingame in Precinct 2 with Hughes getting 10, and Precinct 025 voters cast 34 ballots for Blassingame and 28 for Hughes.

In Precinct 3, Blassingame had 61 votes to 50 for Hughes. See ELECTION, page 5

Smiths active in medical ministry

Medical equipment offered to those in need for no cost

MEDICAL MINISTRY – Gene Smith presented an informational program to Colorado City Lions last Friday, telling about his ministry of medical equipment. Smith collects and distributes medical equipment like walkers and wheelchairs to people who need it.

Gene and Doris Smith were guests at the Colorado City Lions Club last Friday, and Gene spoke to those attending about a ministry which he got into accidentally. Gene and Doris operated Gene's Campers in Abilene from 1966 until February of 2014.

In September 2010, Gene fell off a ladder and broke his left heel, and that's where the story begins. He was in need of an electric wheelchair and vehicle chair carrier, and his needs were met. Following his healing, Smith gifted the vehicle lift to a man who was also in need and saw that the need for medical equipment was apparent.

Since that time, Gene started becoming the recipient of all types of medical equipment which he kept at his business, Gene's Campers. As people began to see the equipment on the lot, the donations of good, used medical equipment started pouring in.

"We did not plan to do this," Gene said Friday. "It just happened."

The equipment is given to anyone who needs it at no cost.

Elmcrest Baptist Church in Abilene has graciously allowed the Smiths to store the donated equipment in previously used Sunday school rooms, providing Gene a place to make small repairs. He is in need of volunteers to help him with the task, and welcomes help of any kind.

Anyone interested can donate used equipment to the ministry, donate funds or volunteer to help make repairs. Like with any service, there is cost involved. Sometimes Gene and Doris deliver the equipment to recipients, and monetary donations go to cover fuel costs as well as costs to replace small parts on the aging but functional pieces.

Equipment available for donation includes electric wheelchairs, electric scooters, hospital beds, specialized electric wheelchairs, bath equipment, crutches, walkers and more. Gene says he gives the equipment to anyone who puts in a request.

"I don't judge. God said not to judge, and He will provide," he said.

God's Medical Ministry, as Gene has dubbed it, is an unofficial ministry and has no legal standing. "So if you give, you're giving from the heart," he said.

Though there is no guarantee on the equipment, recipients are grateful for the help. Gene urges anyone who needs a piece of medical equipment and can't afford it to call him. "If we have what they need, we would love for them to have it at no cost," he said.

Gene said he spends each day from about 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the church, and equipment is available all the time. "We have all kinds of equipment, but we are mostly needing volunteers," he said.

Anyone wishing to donate their time, equipment or money can do so by calling Gene at 325-668-6727 or Doris at 325-668-2693. Checks may be mailed to God's Medical Ministry, 334 Burger, Abilene, TX 79603.

Dewberry accepted into THA leadership program

The inaugural class of the Texas Hospital Association's Leadership Fellows Program was recently announced in Austin and includes a local health care luminary.

Robbie Dewberry, CEO at Mitchell County Hospital District, was one of 24 hospital executives selected for a year-long program designed to promote the professional development of health care leaders and position them to drive health care innovation. THA's Leadership Fellows program brings together health care leaders from around the state for a focused study in becoming effective health care advocates for Texas hospitals and the communities they serve.

"We are proud of the role we play in serving the health care needs of Mitchell County, and today we are proud to have Robbie Dewberry representing MCHD in THA's Fellows program to ensure we are doing even more to influence the future of health care," said Jerry Reynolds, MCHD Board Chair.

The THA Leadership Fellows program is designed to grow leaders and equip them to lead community health policy discussions, guide integrations of the latest trends in health care strategy and create an environment that enables the best possible patient care outcomes. Curriculum includes presentations from a diverse group of health care experts with varying perspectives as well as open, active dialogue and debate.

"We are in an age of health care transformation, and as hospital leaders we have to do everything we can to position ourselves at the forefront of health care innovation," said Ted Shaw, THA president/CEO. "The THA Fellows program is a chance for us to identify developing thought leaders in their respective health care communities and arm them with even more skills and expertise."

THA would like to thank the presenting sponsor, Hollaway and Gumbert for helping make this program a reality.

The entire class of 2014 THA Leadership Fellows is available at THA's website.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH How about some honey wine

At Walker Honey Farm five miles west of Rogers you can get fresh eggs and fresh honey. People bring in their quart bottles or jars and go to an 80-gallon tank and fill up their containers with fresh local wildflower honey. "It's our BYOB program," says owner Clint Walker, "bring your own bottle."

Clint is a third generation beekeeper and his sons are helping in the business now. "We're sitting here about 40 miles east of Gause, Texas. That's in East Milam County on the Brazos River and that's where my granddad went broke in the grocery business in 1929. When he liquidated his grocery store he had enough money to buy a few hives of bees. He made honey and peddled it out of the back end of his Model A.

Our family has been in the honey business ever since. This is our 84th crop that we made this year. My wife and I bought the business from my parents about 20 years ago. We have dedicated ourselves to growing the business in the same way that my grandfather and dad did." Walker Honey Farm has several buildings on the property. One is a store where you can buy all sorts of honey products including items made with Texas-grown pecans and peanuts. "We bought some equipment to make peanut butter sometime ago. We take some of our homemade peanut butter and add honey to it and put it in a jar. We've had people tell us it's the best peanut butter-honey combination they've ever tasted." Some of his products are for sale at HEB and Natural Grocers.

Clint runs about a thousand hives of bees. They are all on pallets and can be forklifted onto trucks and taken to fields between Waco and Austin where the bees forage and produce honey.

Four years ago Clint started making honey wine and created Dancing Bee Winery. He says it's the oldest alcoholic beverage, pre-dating grape wine by a couple of thousand years. "Honey wine is called mead and we are trying to revive the old craft of mead-making. In the renaissance it was the beverage of choice. During King Arthur's day and the Knights of the Round Table that was the drink on the table. Our mead is different from the mead served in that era. We use different types of honey to produce different kinds of wine. We can take our beautiful, light, Central Texas clover honey if we want a light, crisp taste and can ferment it very dry like a dry white wine. Our oldest son Clinton is our head vintner now."

On Monday of Memorial Day weekend, the farm has a festival that attracts thousands of people. "We have honey tastings and wine tastings and about 30 local artists and craftsmen bring in their artworks for display and sale. Food vendors are on the property. The purpose of the event is to promote the local farm communities."

Clint is a well-educated beekeeper. He has a PhD in Theology with a specialization in ethics. "My dad used to say, 'if that boy reads one more book he'll be worthless.' He wanted me to be a beekeeper."

Texas Organization of Rural Community Hospitals

News media accounts of the Veterans Administration healthcare situation are disheartening and it appears that a great disservice has been done to some of our veterans who have served their country. In light of the evolving situation, Texas rural hospitals and clinics are more than willing to step up and provide top quality health care to these veterans on a local basis if Congress will let them. The rural factor is especially important because a disproportionate number of veterans are from rural areas. In the case of Texas and across the country, 15% of the population lives in rural areas, however, 40% of the veterans are from rural areas.

The unfolding VA hospital drama brings to light another issue. For the most part, the Veterans Administration forces veterans to travel past their local physicians and hospitals, sometimes driving hundreds of miles to a VA facility. While the VA is sometimes willing to contract with local hospitals for limited services, those contracts are complicated and convoluted, and payments offered to the hospitals are far too low. Some services are not available locally, but when they are, don't we have a duty to our veterans to try and make their lives a little easier?

We think Congress should give thought to a system where veterans can see the doctor or hospital of their choice (within reason, of course) and the VA act more like an insurance company, paying providers directly like it does for military retirees. Why continue to carry on with a duplicative health care system that pushes a great inconvenience on to our veterans, especially those living in remote rural areas.

The hospital in Childress cites an excellent example where veterans in this northwest Texas community must drive past their hospital to Amarillo (250 miles roundtrip) for a CT Scan. While the VA does pay for their mileage, there is no factor for time and inconvenience. Besides, waiting to get a CT done at an approved VA facility is probably longer and the service more costly, than in Childress. So why not just let Childress perform the scan and pay them for the work? Keeping such services local is better for the patient and the facility. It's a win-win.

Perhaps the VA facilities should primarily serve the veterans in their immediate vicinity where there is a higher concentration of patients. Or we might consider an alternative coverage model that leverages programs that have proven to be more efficient and effective, like Medicare. Congress could act on either option, but we must do something to ensure rural veterans have access to healthcare that is safe, timely and closer to home. We owe them that much.

One thing is certain, Texas rural hospitals are ready to do our part, if and when Congress needs us to.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letter to the Editor:

The Texas State Beef Checkoff referendum is coming up June 2-6. Cattlemen will have the chance to vote on an additional dollar from each animal sold to be used for promotion and research of beef. The National Checkoff Dollar brought us "Beef, It's What's For Dinner," defended our product from fanatical groups, and provided research to show that beef is heart healthy, as recognized by the American Heart Association, and proved beef is very good for your total health. The National Checkoff dollar used to promote export markets resulted in $170.00 added value in our pocket for every 550 lb. calf. New cuts of beef, like the flat iron steak, added $100.00 value to each carcass. Cattlemen started The National Checkoff in 1988 and today that dollar has a value of 44 cents. With the national cow herd the lowest since 1951, due to the drought, we are not generating enough money to promote, advertise, and defend our product. Those "Beef, It's What's For Dinner" commercials stopped in the early 1990's due to lack of funds.

I believe in investing in the future of the Texas Cattle Industry. Texas cattlemen will decide how this additional dollar is used. My family and I will vote yes for the Texas Beef Checkoff. Voting is held June 2-6 at your County Agri-Life Extension office.

Sincerely,
Richard Thorpe
Winters, TX

Letter to the Editor:

In our world of nature man sees "good" and "bad" events. Far back in pre-history man has prayed to gods and made great sacrifice to please gods in hopes that they would intervene with nature on his behalf. When I was 6 years young my mother was "blessed" with a baby boy- Charles. He died at birth. I looked into the casket. I prayed and I tried to give him my voice and I cried. Tell me about the all-knowing, all powerful "God" who would do this to my mother. Tell me about the power of prayer. I've heard and read all the rationalizations —Thank you!

Over the 80 years since, I have watched people pray. I've counted prayers answered and not — add up to 50-50.

I've seen the middle men (preacher and the pope) have the same influence with "God".

As with any life, dying is naturally the most undesirable prospect. I see that all animals have a soul. Like Socrates, I deem this the essence of the animal and that it dies when its physical body dies.

In my mind, I must play the hand nature deals me and not complain or plead about the cards.

I study nature, but that tells me nothing of its origin. If there is a supernatural I know even less of that of "him". I am convinced that I have no choice except to cope.

Of course, I do not speak for you.

ected and reports of only minor damage has come from the storm.

A thunderstorm on Saturday lifted roofs, turned over carports and wreaked havoc on trampolines and lawn furniture at Lake Colorado City and in town. The metal roof on the Myers Auto Parts building was peeled back by 50+ mph winds that blew in with the storm.

Though many a picnic and barbecue plan may have been changed, Mitchell County citizens expressed gratitude and delight in the weekend's rainy weather. They have only one request: please send more!

Whisenhunt and Barbee said there may be a way to look at the bids piece by piece and see what work could be performed by the county to reduce costs. Also, parts of the bids can be "change ordered" to exclude a specific item in order to make the bids cheaper.

Commissioner Jeremy Strain asked, "How do we involve local businesses in this?" The engineering reps said that bid packets had been sent to several local companies. "You may have to personally go ask," Anderson said.

After much discussion on breaking down the bids to look for change orders to make the work cheaper, court members decided to take the advice of the Lauren representatives and table the bid awards until a later date.

Commissioners voted to extend the burn ban for two weeks, anticipating rain that fell in the county over the holiday weekend. Usually, burn bans are extended for 30 days, but commissioners were hopeful that dry conditions would be eased by rain. For now, the burn ban will last until June 9th when it will be reconsidered by the court.

In other business, payroll in the amount of $74,965.52 was accepted as presented by County Treasurer Jennifer Rivera. County Auditor Heidi Harris presented bills in the amount of $108,016.12 which were approved as presented.

75 YEARS AND STILL GOING STRONG - The Mitchell County Hospital District Board of Directors was awarded a plaque for 75 years of continuous membership with the Texas Hospital Association. Della Vallejo, THA representative, (fourth from left) presented the award to board members and administrators: (l-r) Administrator Robbie Dewberry, Florence Bodine, Jerry Reynolds, Vallejo, Cheryl Warren, Patty Pharis, Hollis Gainey and Mark Merrell.

and will be sent to the state next week.

Dewberry also announced that the new ambulance has been delivered. EMS staff are in the process now of getting the new vehicle fully licensed. The purchase of the ambulance will be partially funded with a $50,000 from the USDA.

During her report, Marsha Rickard thanked the board for the special recognition during National Hospital Week. The staff at Valley Fair Lodge was treated to several types of special meals, along with free massages, as a way to express appreciation for all they do on a day-to-day basis.

Rickard also reported on the nursing home. To date in May, there have been two discharges and two admissions, bringing the census to 74%. This compares well with long-term care homes in other counties.

Ratings are given by the U.S. Government, regarding Medicare facilities. Valley Fair Lodge has received three out of five stars for health, staffing and overall care. The ratings show VFL in a better light than homes in surrounding counties.

In other business, medical privileges were approved for Allied Health employee Tammy Vought, CRNA. Vought fills in for anesthesiologist Alec Ordway when needed.

The hospital is also the recipient of the Bronze Improvement Award. The recognition comes from the Texas Medical Foundation, and three MCHD employees will accept the award on behalf of the hospital.

CISD Head Start is now accepting applications

CISD Head Start at Kelley Elementary is accepting applications for new students, and the program provides much more than education for the families of Head Start students. Children must be three or four years old by September 1, 2014, to be considered for the program.

Region 14 Head Start Coordinator at Kelley, Jeri Garcia, said the school has 34 spots open for new students, and school officials are compiling their list for the 2014-15 school year. There is no set registration date, so parents can call Garcia at Kelley Elementary to set up an appointment by calling 325-728-1029.

Parents are also encouraged to visit the school which is located at 1435 Elm Street.

Head Start helps student develop language, literacy, and math skills and teaches them how to get along with others. The program brings awareness of the world around them to students, and helps them learn to control how they behave.

There are specific lessons and activities that help children develop their small and large muscles and teach them about family history and traditions. Those attending will learn about individual uniqueness and receive medical care, dental care and learn about hygiene.

Services are provided through Head Start for the families of students as well. Parents of Head Start students will receive tips on parenting skills and resources for continuing their own education with ESL classes, GED classes and other trainings. Head Start will also help families find local or government help when needed.

Head Start also helps parents learn how to help their child do well in school which is most important to their future success. Anyone interested in learning more about Head Start should contact Garcia at the school.

Congratulations Mackenzie Kimball!

Mackenzie has signed to play basketball with Howard Payne University. Way to go, Mackenzie... we are proud of you!

Lady Wolves take several spots on all-district teams

Several Lady Wolves have been named to the District 4 AA All-District list following a stellar season that took the Colorado City girls to the quarterfinals round of the softball playoffs. Colorado High School junior Cassie Sutton was named District MVP because of her outstanding play as the Lady Wolves' pitcher this season.

Brittany Muñoz, a sophomore at CHS, was named to the 1st Team All-District for her performance at second base, and Makaylah Rivera got a 1st team nod for her play at shortstop. Sophomore third baseman Ramsey Alvarez was also named to the 1st team, as was senior outfielder Heather Merket and freshman outfielder Baylie Lindsey. Sophomore Alexis Muñoz was selected as an All-District utility player on the 1st team and Taegen Harris, a junior, was chosen for the 1st team as a designated player.

Sophomore catcher Madie Gutierrez was named to the 2nd team, and Alicia Redwine, a CHS junior, made the 2nd team as a relief pitcher. Senior Haley Maxwell received an honorable mention nod.

There is still time to register for baseball camp

Time is running out to pre-register for the 2014 Wolves Summer Baseball Camp. Kids kindergarten age to incoming 9th graders are eligible to participate, and Colorado ISD Baseball Coach Brantlee Lemons and staff will be instructing campers.

Forms for pre-registration have been distributed at Kelley and Hutchinson Elementary, as well as Colorado Middle School, for the camp which is set to be held Jun 2nd through the 4th. The old high school baseball field, located just north of Wolf Stadium, will be the site of the camp, and cost will be $35 per camper.

On Monday, June 2nd, late registration will be held at the field from 8 to 8:25 a.m. The younger age group, kindergarten to 2nd grade, will participate in camp activities from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. each day. From 10 to 11:15 a.m., 3rd, 4th and 5th graders will receive instruction. The last group of the day, 6th through 9th graders, will have camp from 6 to 7:30 each evening.

Forms and money can be turned in until the last day of school, May 30th. Students at Kelley should turn in forms to Mrs. Lemons, Hutchinson students should take forms to the office, and students at middle school are asked to give forms to Coach Lemons.

Cost of the camp includes a t-shirt for each camper.

IT'S OFFICIAL — Mackenzie Kimball (front, center) signed a letter of intent to attend Howard Payne University in Brownwood. Kimball will attend Howard Payne on an academic scholarship and she also plans to play basketball. She is seen here with her parents, Jerri and Barry Kimball and CISD Athletic Director Dan Gainey.

Lady Wolves softball camp to be held June 2-4

The 2014 Lady Wolves Softball Camp is slated to be held June 2nd through the 4th, and children entering 3rd grade through incoming 9th graders are eligible to attend. Registration will be held Monday, June 2nd from 8 to 8:30 a.m.

Students that are incoming 3rd graders through 5th graders will have camp from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. each day, and the older group will have camp from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Cost is $40 per camper, which includes insurance and a t-shirt. Checks should be made payable to Coach Martinez. For more information, contact Coach Martinez at amartinez@ccity.esc14.net.
