May Freeze Prices On Consumer Goods

Retail, Wholesale Prices Affected, If Action Taken

Need Stronger Check On Inflation, To Stop Rush On Curtailed Stock

WASHINGTON (AP)—An order freezing prices of all consumer goods not already under ceiling orders, it was learned Friday, is under discussion between high officials of the Office of Price Administration and the War Production Board.

Such a blanket order, to be applied at both retail and wholesale levels, has been discussed for some time, responsible OPA sources said and "the meetings have been more frequent recently." A definite decision has not been reached, it was said.

The action, if forthcoming, would take the form of a permanent freezing order, cutting prices back to the levels of some chosen date, probably several months ago, it was reported.

Need Inflation Check

Numerous administration officials have voiced dissatisfaction with present price control methods, holding them to be too slow to check an inflationary trend.

This feeling has been accentuated with the flood of new WPB curtailment and production stoppage orders of recent weeks, affecting radios, phonographs, vacuum cleaners, electrical appliances and many other major and minor items. As each curtailment order has appeared, a buying rush has occurred and prices have moved up, resulting in such emergency action as Thursday night's freezing of bicycle sales.

Americans Ready For Bataan Attack By Big Jap Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — American front line troops stood alert Friday against a third Japanese Bataan assault in two days, ready again to meet superior numbers and firepower with determined counterattacks.

U. S. forces were reported officially to be mopping up Japanese units which broke through the main defense line in two heavy attacks Thursday, only to be pocketed by an American counter-drive.

The War Department said "a considerable number of Japanese units" were in the pocket, indicating that whole platoons, armed with grenade-throwers and machine-guns, faced the encircling American troops.

Each Japanese infantry platoon of 42 men has three rifle sections and a grenade-thrower section. The rifle sections each have seven riflemen and a light machine-gun. The grenade-thrower, or tekidanto, sections have three grenade dischargers capable of throwing powerful 50 mm. projectiles from 65 to 250 yards.

O. K. Baker Receives Commission In Navy

Orie Knight Baker, claim agent for the Shell Oil Company here for the last four years, has received a commission as a lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserve. He departed Thursday for Dallas to report for active duty.

Baker, a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, was well known in oil circles here. He had been with the Shell company a number of years before coming to Midland. Last summer he was attacked by snakes near Seymour and injured seriously but associates said he had recovered completely from the attack.

His commission was announced by the Eighth Naval District Headquarters in New Orleans.

They simply go crazy about that stuff!

We're talking about loco weed . . . and horses. For a horse loves the loco like the dopehead loves his "snow" and the derelict loves his marihuana . . . and for exactly the same reason . . . and it does exactly the same thing to him.

And, once locoed from eating the weed, he walks around in a daze . . . wakes up every now and then as if from a dream, paws your left ear off . . . runs over the fence . . . and comes on back for another drink. For a horse that eats loco wants a lot of water . . . or thinks he does . . . pore critter . . . for once he gets to water he merely wets his parched lips, walks off a little way, and comes back for more. Yards away from the trough he will start swallowing and working his lips as if drinking.

Yep . . . we got to swapping yarns with Big Boy Whatley (and today we see he's sporting a brand new Stetson . . . and we didn't pay him a cent!) for Big Boy has been in these parts considerable years . . . and has seen his share of locoed horses . . . and cattle.

Comedy creeps into everything, . . . none the less with locoed animals. Big Boy spins a yarn about the horse buyer, a goodun, too, who bought himself some locoes . . . it being the best of horseswapping ettiquette for the buyer to look strictly out for himself! Anyways, this buyer bought this bunch of ponies, sent them to his ranch . . . and walked out into the corral to look them over again. He went a-walking up to one of them . . . and did he have a time getting to the fence . . . with a pack of locoes right behind him!

Melo-drama creeps into loco yarns, too, for there was that time, for instance when Dick Cowden was a-riding a beautiful little dun. But the dun got hot . . . locoes can't stand that . . . bolted with Dick, ran through a fence . . . and jumped into the back seat of a parked car! They both took the door out on the other side . . . and Dick took a good long stay in a hospital!

Tragedy is the essence of the loco . . . for a good horse locoed is a pitiful shadow of himself . . . and what is so fine an animal as a good horse. To see him crazed . . . weak . . . thirsty . . . to see him penned up a day or two and refuse to eat, and when turned out bolt for that spot in your pasture where he will find loco . . . that is tragedy!

And . . . its a pity . . . this is a good year for loco in all West Texas . . . and ranchers should get rid of it as fast as possible. Loco is a subtle sort of narcotic . . . grows green all winter and early spring . . . and powerful easy for an animal to spot in an otherwise dry pasture.

However . . . despite the fact that

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—Activities of Nazi agents rounded up in Mexico City this week by Federal Police included publication of a variety of Pro-Axis propaganda for distribution throughout the republic, official quarters said Friday.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—From ringside seats as privileged observers to the greatest industrial effort in history, four members of Congress voiced their belief Friday that the United States is winning the battle of production.

BERLIN. House Expected To Reject Many Revenue Increase Proposals Made By Morgenthau

LaFollette Asks Labor Be Assured Gains Of past Will Not Be Lost

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the assertion that labor needed to be assured that the war emergency would not be used to deprive it of its rights, Senator Lafollette (Prog-Wis) introduced a bill Friday fixing criminal penalties for "oppressive labor practices."

Lafollette, chairman of a labor subcommittee that made a four-year investigation of anti-union activities, took cognizance of other pending labor legislation, including proposals to suspend the 40-hour week, when he said:

"If the nation has time for consideration of any labor legislation, then, by all means, this proposed act should be carefully weighed."

The measure, an amplified version of an oppressive-labor-practices act which passed the Senate in 1940 only to die in the House labor committee, sets maximum penalties of a $10,000 fine or six months imprisonment for proscribed acts. These include the use of strike-breakers, private armed guards, the possession or use of firearms or tear gas during labor disputes, and interference with peaceful picketing.

In addition, the principle of the Wage and Hour Act is applied so as to make it criminal for an employer who engages in oppressive labor practices to ship his goods in interstate commerce.

Lafollette declared his committee had unearthed "sordid violations of the rights of labor" in virtually every state.

"Many of the spokesmen for labor in the last few months have expressed the fear," he said, "that the present emergency or the post war period will be used by anti-labor groups to deprive labor of its rights."

Asserting that passage of the bill would "do a great deal for the morale of labor," Lafollette added:

"Those who sincerely wish to promote the war effort through a maximum industrial production free from work stoppages caused by industrial disputes will favor a quick and vigorous extension of collective bargaining to war industries."

Investigate Crash That Killed Airmen

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Goodfellow Field authorities are investigating the crash of a training plane in which Second Lieut. Phillip Williams Larsen, 22, of Westago, La., and Aviation Cadet Burdette Howard (Buddy) Hetzler, 22, of Hearne were killed Thursday.

Hetzler tried unsuccessfully to parachute from the plane at a low altitude. Larsen remained with the ship, which was completely wrecked.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Larsen of Westago, La., parents of the instructor, and Howard Harold Hetzler of Hearne, father of the cadet were notified.

Larsen attended Loyola University of the South at New Orleans from 1937 to 1940. He was a member of the football and track teams.

Closed-Door Talks Scheduled Soon, As House Reworks Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Ways and Means Committeemen predicted Friday that many of Secretary Morgenthau's revenue proposals would be rejected when the committee draws a new $7,610,000,000 tax bill.

"About the only thing the committee seems willing to accept right now is the amount," two members said. Morgenthau had recommended the $7,610,000,000 increase over this year's record breaking revenue law.

Completing exactly one month of hearings on the treasury department's recommendations, Chairman Doughton (D-NS) said that closed-door sessions on the new tax bill probably would begin about April 20. There seemed little possibility that the measure would reach the House before June 1.

How Vote Stands

A survey of the committee members indicated that if votes were taken today the administration program would fare as follows:

Morgenthau's Recommendation Against Sales Tax: A clear majority favors either a manufacturers' or retail sales tax, in order to be able to scale down Morgenthau's request for steep increases in both individual and corporation taxes.

$3,200,000,000 More From Individuals: Except as a last-ditch source of revenue, such a program would be rejected on the ground that it would double the average individual's tax so closely upon last year's trebling of income taxes.

$3,060,000,000 Additional From Corporation: Much too high, what with combined normal and surtaxes starting at 55 per cent, and excess profit rates ranging up to 75 per cent: Rates appear to be almost confiscatory, some members declare.

$1,334,000,000 From New and Increased Excises: Rejected if a sales tax is adopted; otherwise accepted for the most part, but only as a temporary, war measure. Major rev-

War Picture Dark On Most Fronts, As Japs Continue All Drives

Philippine Defenders Stave Off Attacks, Take Some Prisoners, As Prepare For Major Jap Offense

By Roger D. Greene
Associated Press War Editor.

Grave new reverses marked the Allied defense of Burma Friday as British headquarters acknowledged that the Japanese had cracked the right wing anchor at Prome, key to Burma's vital oil fields, but the news from the Philippines was more heartening.

On long-beseiged Bataan Peninsula, Lieut.-Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright's American and Filipino fighters were officially reported mopping up pocketed Japanese units which Thursday burst through the main line in two heavy assaults.

The War Department said "a considerable number" of Japanese got through, only to be trapped as U. S. troops counter-attacked fiercely and sealed the gap.

In Burma, the situation was critical at both ends of the British-Chinese defense line guarding the Burmese oil fields, a major source of China's gasoline and oil supplies, and the road to Mandalay.

The British acknowledged that they had been forced to retire to the north of Prome, less than 100 miles south of the Yenangyaung oil fields, falling back after night-long fighting in the jungles south of the Irrawaddy River town.

New Landing Denied

However, British headquarters denied reports of a landing by Japanese sea-borne troops at the West Burma port of Akyab, only 100 miles from the Indian frontier, which would have been an even greater setback.

A Chinese spokesman at Chungking said Thursday the Japanese had landed under cover of cruisers and destroyers, but the British declared officially they had "been in direct contact with Akyab Friday morning" and no landing had been attempted.

Simultaneously, a Vichy broadcast reported that Chinese forces in the East, commanded by Lieut-Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, were retreating farther north from enemy-occupied Toungoo.

The broadcast said Japanese advance guards pursuing the Chinese had pushed almost 45 miles north of Toungoo on the road to Mandalay. A British communique, however, declared the invaders' spearheads had only reached a point southwest of Yedashe, 15 miles north of Toungoo.

Japs Take Heights

On the right flank, around Prome, a British communique said strong Japanese forces captured heights south of the town in an attack from the cover of jungles east of the Prome-Rangoon road.

"Our forces moved back to fresh covering positions north of the town early Thursday morning," he said.

The Vichy radio, quoting Tokyo dispatches, asserted the Japanese had made further landings on small islands adjacent to the half-Dutch, half-Portuguese Timor, including Rotti, Leti and Barbar, to "complete the island front in Japanese hands facing Australia."

Prime Minister John Curtin announced that Japanese fliers dropped 35 bombs Thursday in their 11th raid on the North Australian port of Darwin, but caused only slight damage and one minor casualty.

Standard Fueled Axis Agent Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—A commerce department official testified Friday that Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) subsidaries in South America had provided the fuel supply for a German-Italian airline which served as a means of delivering Axis propaganda and spies to the Western Hemisphere and returning valuable commodities to Axis countries.

William La Varre, chief of the American Republics office for the department of commerce, told the Senate defense investigating committee that the airline, which he referred to as "Lati," was established under German auspices in the fall of 1939 to operate between Rome, Africa, Brazil and Argentina.

It was established, he said, because of German dissatisfaction with Axis propaganda progress in Latin America and was to furnish a means for sending both men and materials through the British blockade.

Propaganda and propaganda agents, he said, were thus enabled to reach not only all Latin-America countries but the United States as well.

La Varre submitted a list of German and Italian representatives who had traveled to and from South America on the airline, terming it "the most notorious record of enemies that ever traveled on any line."

Chairman Truman (D-Mo) said before the committee meeting that the inquiry into the Italian air line grew out of records of the oil company which Thurman Arnold, anti-trust chief, turned over to the committee last week.

Oil Operator Killed In Unusual Accident

Berle Says Standard Oil Declined To Stop Sale Of Aviation Gasoline In South America Until Blacklisted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dolf A. Berle, Jr., Assistant Secretary of State testified before the Senate defense investigating committee Friday that Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) refused to stop selling aviation gasoline to German and Italian airlines in South America until its Brazilian subsidiary was placed on the "Black List."

Berle said "in fairness to Standard Oil" that the company had cooperated wholeheartedly with the State Department since then.

Conflict In Sentiment

Senator Mead (D-NY) declared it was "regrettable" that the department "had to use so much force" to bring about cooperation. He said Berle's testimony did not bear out the sentiment expressed by Standard Oil officials who have appeared before the committee.

The "Black List" is a listing of business firms prepared by the State Department with which trading by United States firms is forbidden on grounds those blacklisted have had dealings with enemy powers.

Earlier a Commerce Department official stated the oil company had provided the fuel supply for a German-Italian airline which served as a means of delivering Axis propaganda and spies to this hemisphere and returning valuable commodities to Axis countries.

Supplied German Line

The lines which had been supplied by Standard's Brazilian subsidiary, Berle said, were the trans-Atlantic service, Lati, built by the Germans and operated by Italians, and the German-controlled Condor line, operating in Brazil.

The black listing was applied to Standard's Brazilian subsidiary last October, Berle said.

The State Department requested the company twice to stop supplying the lines before resorting to the black list, Berle said. The company, through an attorney named Palmer, he said, contended that it would be liable to a damage suit if it breached its contract.

Red Cross Says U. S. Prisoners Are Well Treated By Japanese

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 366 United States prisoners of war, who were captured on Gilbert, Wake and Guam islands by the Japanese and interned at Zentsuji, Island of Skikoku, are being well treated, the International Red Cross reported in a cablegram made public Friday by Rep. White (D-Idaho).

However, the men want more entertainment, fancier food and mail from the folks back home.

This was the most detailed account received through neutral sources to date on the welfare of men who fell into enemy hands.

Rep. White was chosen to release the report, presumably because many of the soldiers and civilians captured in the American outposts were residents of Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Civilians from these and other Western states were engaged in military construction work on the captured islands.

Coming Events Cast Their Shadows

"We have been asked for the impossible. Let us do it, as usual."

That's what the president of one big company said to the employees; that's what he told them about the enormous war production job that his firm must do.

He's right about it, too. Like thousands of other companies, this one has done the impossible in peacetime. That's been the history of American industry—doing things that couldn't be done. Radios, airplanes, movies—every one of the modern inventions that we accept so casually now was "impossible" at one time. Yet we Americans did them.

And now in wartime we're still doing things that could not be done. We've got a long way to go, it's true, but we are off to a flying start. Since Pearl Harbor airplane production has gone up more than 50 per cent and that's only the beginning. One plant reports that it is now building huge bombers on the same kind of assembly line that made it possible for our automobile companies to turn out millions of cars a year. Steel production has reached an all-time high.

One company is making more cartridges in one year than all the American plants together did in the World War. Another is already doing everything Donald Nelson asked for recently—and more—in its war production program.

In the grim news that fills our newspapers today facts like these are important. They're straws in the wind—the production wind that's growing into a hurricane that will smash the Axis. There's a lot of "impossible" work that we must do before that happens. No matter. We're used to "impossible" work. When we Americans make up our minds, pitch in and work together, nothing in the world can stop us.

Russian Navy Big Factor, As Nazi Launched All-Out Submarine War

By DeWitt MacKenzie
Wide World War Analyst

With the swelling of the bloody battle along the great Russo-German front, and intensification of Hitler's preparations for offensive operations which may cut in several directions, we are told by reliable sources in Washington to expect the all-out Nazi U-boat drive which this column forecast many weeks ago.

It's estimated that the Nazis will let loose in the Atlantic a submarine pack of anything up to 400—maybe more. The purpose of this assault is to prevent the United States from transporting to Europe, and especially to Russia, the equipment which is sorely needed to meet Hitler's land and air operations.

The unwelcome fact is that we now are piling up equipment which we cannot move because of the immediate lack of ships. Hitler is sinking them.

Raids Are Heavy

Already the depredations of the Fuehrer's sea-wolves have been heavy. Official details naturally are meager because of the necessity of keeping vital information from the enemy. Washington announcements generally employ the blunt, succinct language which was used yesterday when it was stated merely that a medium-sized Norwegian merchant vessel had been torpedoed off the Atlantic Coast.

These little statements remind one of those we used to get in London during the last war: "A man was shot in the Tower of London this morning." Just that and nothing more to confirm one's belief that another spy had paid the price.

From the time of Pearl Harbor to March 28, the officially announced sinkings on this side of the Atlantic were: Off the U. S. Coast, 49; off Canada, 21; in the Caribbean, 23; off South America, 1; total, 94.

That's a lot of good ships gone to the bottom. And the anxious work of a host of men—tanks, airplanes and what not—presumably has been lost, not overlooking the precious oil tankers and their cargoes which are the lifeblood of war. Still, we can get some satisfaction from the fact that, as was remarked Wednesday by Rear Admiral Simmons, commandant of the Fifth Naval District, the Axis has "paid a terrible price in both submarines and men."

Vital Route

With the Allied necessity of rushing war materiel to the Soviet for the spring fighting, the route to the Russian port of Murmansk has become of vital importance to the Allies. This Arctic rail-head is the hopper through which supplies are fed into the great Red mill which has been grinding out victory. Upon this route the Nazis are concentrating heavy attacks.

Greater naval protection is being furnished the convoys for Russia—placing a further strain on the already overworked American and British navies—and Red warships are jumping into the breach. Soviet fighting ships joined with the British in the recent victory over the Nazis who attacked a convoy on the Murmansk route. That battle probably was the prelude to a hot fight over this all-important sea-passage.

Red Navy Good

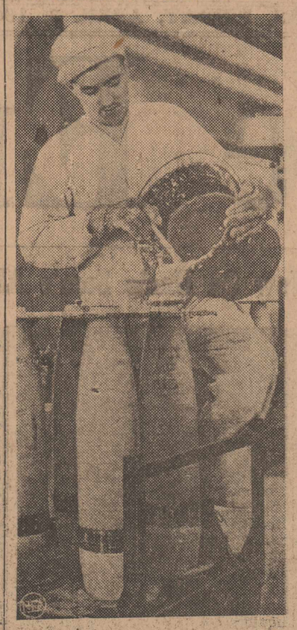

This clash provided a welcome reminder that, while the Muscovite Navy rather hides its light under a bushel in the matter of publicity, it is very much on the job in numerous waters. Exact figures for the Red Navy are known only to the Russians. However, as long ago as November, 1940, Moscow said Russia had the biggest submarine fleet in existence.

The Bolshevist Navy is widely distributed, for it has many seas to protect. For instance, London last October estimated that the Russians had in the Black Sea one battleship, 12 destroyers, fifty submarines and fifty motor torpedo boats. This fleet has played an important part in the defense of the Crimea, and forms a mighty barrier against the further efforts of Hitler to break into the Caucasus, or yet to drive across the Dardanelles into Turkey.

Berlin has credited the Russians with having in the Baltic two battleships, six cruisers, thirty destroyers, 100 submarines and many other ships of various categories. The Reds also have a fleet at Vladivostok in the Far East, including maybe 100 submarines.

The size of tre Arctic fleet isn't known, but the Russians have shown in several operations that they have considerable strength there. That will be invaluable to the Allies in the battle of the sea.

Midwest Filling Stations Request Less Open Time

CHICAGO (AP) — The marketing committee of District 2, Office of Petroleum Coordinator, recommended Friday that gas stations in 15 Midwest states limit their hours of operation to 12 hours a day, not to exceed 84 hours a week.

The recommendation was dispatched to Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes at Washington. If Ickes approves, in turn, the procedure would be for his office to issue a directive to the industry to put the limitations into effect at a certain date.

Dealers decided there was a necessity for closing retail outlets for part of each day to conserve electric power and labor. Their opinion was translated by the Petroleum Retailers' subcommittee into recommendations to the district marketing committee which now has formally accepted and approved them.

Three Soldiers Shot When Troopers Clash

FORT DIX, N. J. (AP)—White and negro soldiers fought a bloody 15-minute battle on the darkened plains of Fort Dix Thursday night in which three men were shot to death and five others felled in a furious exchange of bullets.

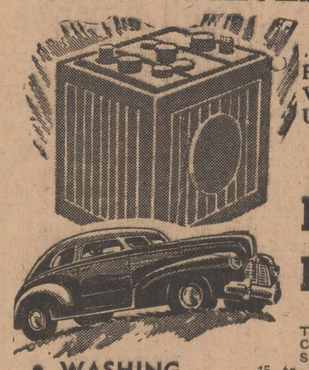

The sudden, bitter outburst ended when negro and white officers appeared on the scene and ordered the embattled white military police and negro enlisted men to cease firing.

Yep . . . loco, she funny weed . . . make heap big fool of horse . . . and kill him to boot. Big Boy and I will vouch for that.

Charley McClintic must have sold a couple of head of stock . . . we saw him toting around a Navajo blanket . . . and those things have got to be worth a handful of sheckles.

(Note: On inquiry we found that he had sold 100 head of yearlings, she's and he's, Thursday noon, after buying them from J. Howard Hodge earlier in the day. We were in hopes Howard would be giving them away with theatre tickets . . . but they're gone now!)

Thursday was a very active day at the Texas Cattle Sales barns, with a lot of stuff moving through the auction ring and out of the lots, with buyers from a wide area of West Texas.

Sales were stronger in all classes, and the run was better than a week ago, with market strong. All classes of butcher cows were 50 cents higher than a week ago. Offerings in bulls was light, with top around 9.00, with strong undertone. No stocker cows of better kind. Those on hand sold on good market by head; undertone a little weak.

A small package steer calves brought 12.20 and went back on to grass. Four short yearling bulls sold at $100 each, and one slightly higher. Half breed calves in 200 lb. class went as high as 14.60.

Hogs mostly good run feeders. Top 11.50. Undertone strong. Few top quality.

Great activity of the day is reflected in the number of buyers and sellers. Buyers included T. O. Ballard of Lamesa; O. C. Campbell, J. J. Eastman, W. C. Greenugh, B. T. Hale, L. C. Hazelwood, R. L. Henson, Ben Keele, M. E. Parker, J. S. Price, M. G. Richey, W. H. Wilson and C. E. Paloado, all of Martin County; G. T. Chisholm, Big Spring; M. G. McConnell, Monahans, Chas. Marchanda, Wink; and A. Sallese of Pecos.

Midland County buyers included: Tom Braswell, A. & M. Packing Company, L. A. Brunson, W. Bryant, E. M. Blusterbaum, Roy Coconaugher, G. T. Crawford, John W. Crowley, Jim Francis, J. H. Franks, R. C. Frazier, Cal Glaze, Kilgore, H. O. Lowe, C. C. Powell, J. C. Miles, Earl Ray, L. T. Sledge, Ross Steed, C. C. Whatley and Fred Manning.

Sellers included men from throughout the area. Among them were L. Z. Beck, Jim Blocker, Tom Braswell, Bill Bryant, W. M. And, M. G. Ritchey, the Red Cross, W. L. Sanders, Riley Sawyers, L. T. Sledge, Carl Smith, Ross Steed, J. V. Walker, J. P. Webb, C. O. Welch, C. C. Whatley, W. T. White, Jack Wilmoth, W. H. Wilson, Leonard Winkler and A. E. Zinn.

Petroleum Rates Hiked In Kansas

TOPEKA (AP)—The State Corporation Commission granted railroads permission Friday to raise their petroleum rates to the interstate level on hauls up to 170 miles. At the same time it ordered transport truckers to maintain ICC minimum petroleum rates.

The order ended a controversy which started in 1939 when the railroads, seeking to regain refined petroleum traffic which had been lost to transport truckers, were granted authority to cut their Kansas rates sharply. Similar reductions were extended later on interstate hauls and in Colorado, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Transport truckers protested the reductions and last June the Interstate Commerce Commission found that for distances up to 170 miles the lower rates were less than reasonable and ordered slight increases. In Kansas, the corporation commission ruled the rail rates were reasonable minimums but granted them permission to raise the changes.

Commisison officials said only slight increases would result from the order directing transport truckers to bring their rates up to ICC minimum levels.

Germans In Heavy Raids Over Isles, Worst In Months

By The Associated Press

German planes struct at points over Hell's Corner of the Southeast English Coast Thursday night in moonlight raids so intense that some Britons expressed belief Adolf Hitler's high command was fearful of renewed Commando invasions and hoped to break up potential bases.

A British communique said that "damage was caused and there were a number of casualties, some of which were fatal, at two communities, but indicated that the toll elsewhere was slight.

"The Nazis buzzed in like a swarm of angry bees," a seasoned observer said, "dropped their bomb cargoes in hit or miss fashion, then beat it back quickly for the French coast."

The British announced the RAF had struck again overnight at the Matford Truck Works near Paris, indicating that results of a raid 24 hours earlier intended to halt its production of machines for the Germans were not regarded as entirely satisfactory.

Without disclosing the nature or locale of the action, the London Armiralty reported that the destroyer HMS Heythrop had been sunk.

Compulsory Joint Individual Income Tax Returns by Husband and Wife: Acceptable as a war measure, with the prospect that it would attract more votes than last year when it was defeated in the House after winning committee endorsement.

Taxation of State and Municipal Securities: Probably would be rejected because of the effect on outstanding indebtedness and on future security flotations.

Elimination of the Present So-called Percentage Depletion Allowance for Oil Well Operators: Opposed because it might interfere with maximum production of petroleum.

Withholding Income at the Source as a Means of Collection: Opposed on the grounds that the average person would prefer to make his own plans to meet his tax payments next March 15.

To Hold Flower, Vegetable Show

The program which was in the form of a "question box", under the leadership of Mrs. R. A. Clark, was helpful in spring gardening. Mrs. George Ramer, a member who grows prize-winning dahlias, gave an instructive talk on selection, propagation, and culture of dahlias.

The next meeting will be under the leadership of Mrs. J. T. Wade, the subject being "Flower Arrangement and Demonstration."

Double the Flattery of Your New Hair-do by Scientific Shampooing

HAVE you been wearing your hair in the same way for ever so long? Then this is a good season to step up your morale—and your good looks. Take your cue from beauty-wise belles and do a bit of experimenting. You can wear your curls long or short with the stylists' blessing and you can be "top" fashion with such varied arrangements as a chignon, a feather cut or a pompadour.

But, no matter how flattering your new hair-do may be, don't forget that the first essential of beautiful hair is cleanliness and health. For years many doctors have recommended olive oil castile soap as the best choice for shampoos and skin care.

Fortunately for beauty budgets, the soaring prices of imported castile needn't affect the glossy beauty of any lady's hair. A new mild floating soap called Swan is just as pure and mild as the finest imported 100 per cent olive oil castile and meets all the most stringent specifications for a soap that will be perfect for every beauty purpose including shampoos.

Another advantage of this sensational new floating soap is the fact that it makes suds at twice the speed of the old-style floating soaps. See how you get mountains of richer, creamier suds, even in the hardest water.

Although Swan gives you all the beauty advantages of expensive castile, this sensational new soap is so inexpensive any woman can afford to use it for washing nice things and for kitchen routines, as well as the family beauty treatments.

Spring Flowers Are Decoration For Needlecraft Party

A profusion of spring flowers, including California poppies, pansies, violets, and white and blue iris, brought a seasonal motif to the party room when Mrs. J. O. Vance was hostess to the Needlecraft Club, Thursday afternoon, at her home, 302 South I Street.

A refreshment course was served at tea time.

Present were one guest, Mrs. M. L. Wyatt, and the following members: Mmes. John Dunagan, P. F. Kasper, J. A. Tuttle, B. C. Girdley, H. H. Watson, Geo. Phillips, Wallace M. Ford, Addison Wadley, and the hostess.

Mrs. Wadley will entertain the club next week.

Mrs. Forest Teaches WMC Bible Lesson

A lesson from the twenty-fourth chapter of St. Luke was presented by Mrs. Forest at the meeting of the Assembly of God WMC, Thursday afternoon, at the church.

From Everlasting To Everlasting Is True State Of Mankind

26 But as touching the dead, that they are raised; have ye not read in the Book of Moses, in the place concerning the Bush, how God spake unto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but of the living: ye do greatly err.—Mark 12.

By R. A. Weaver

To the enlightened, the question: "If a man die shall he live again" only conveys the gropings of the uninformed. The resurrection goes on every day, and eternity is something that has no beginning or no ending. From everlasting to everlasting is the true state of man, and no death, no cessation of life prevails.

There maintains a universal force, power or intellectual phase of energy manifesting in all forms of life; and in man to a higher degree than in any other form of life. What is this omnipresent power? The physicist is unable to answer this. The only answer that is positively made is by the religionist. The materialist says all is matter, but matter is very indifferent. All matter changes form under pressure or heat. We have three known forms of water. 1. a solid. 2. a liquid. 3. a gas. Oxygen may be changed into the same three forms. So can everything else. When we consider the theory that all is matter we run into another strange fact. This is the law of the conservation of energy. This law stands alone, unchallenged and unviolated. All the matter that is in the entire universe will always be here, and shall never be diminished, nor destroyed. And that means matter. If a house is burned down, it will still exists forever. Though changed into ashes, smoke and gas, every atom remains undiminished. When this fact is considered, one comes face to face with a profound insight into the things that be. This will bring you face to face with the question: "If there is in fact, a law of conservation of energy, will it not apply to that vital manifestation of energy known as life?" If the stars, and moons and planets shall exist forever shall the soul of man suffer annihilation after it has paid a brief visit, as a royal guest to this tenement of clay? Is not the intellect of more value than the milky way? Does not the work of man exceed in value the great dipper? If we admit that the conservation of energy applies to all things, then must we admit that there is inherent in man eternal spirit. And if we admit that through the long process of time he has been brought gradually upward into a higher state of intelligence, facing always the hard struggle for survival and expression and development; kept and maintained by a protective providence; then we must admit that in the one end he shall be provided for—and whether in this body or in some other bodily form—he shall be well provided for. This is the answer to that phase of existence called death.

It would not matter whether he changed form as water does from ice to liquid, and from liquid to gas, but whatever shall be his bodily form it shall be good. As to where he will be—that should not bother you, either. For we are here living on a three-dimensional plane only. We know of only three dimensions of space. But great thinkers and eminent scientists, and inspired prophets visualize a four-dimensional existence. Great scientists theorize that the fourth dimension of space is time, and that tikes Time out of the categories of factual realities. In fact, time is only an idea associated with the revolution of the earth, marked by the rise and setting of the sun. Events seem to happen to us—they seem to transpire, but in fact events only come into being when we arrive at a knowledge of them. The inspired writer of Ecclesiastes uttered a deep and true scientific fact when he spoke of time thus: "That which hath been is now, and that which is to be hath already been; and God requireth that which is past." If you are able to receive this you will discover a wonderful perspective of that which is called TIME. In fine, what the writer of Ecclesiastes said means that there is no beginning or end of our existence, and that there is no past, or future, and all is the immediate now. This is difficult to grasp, but when grasped, it opens up great and grand vistas of our existence.

Why should we have our beginnings at the moment this fleshly body began to come into existence? We are a part of that universal and all-prevading energy, we are provided with this body as an earthly tabernacle in which we are able to express the real self. And if this earthly tabernacle is dissolved, we know that we have a building eternal, not made with hands, in which we may dwell in a freer expression of the soul. And we are confident that this new body shall be one suitable to our new existence when this body has crumpled into dust.

• McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

The new bridge book, "Culbertson for the Joneses," by O'Brien and Oeschger, explains many slam methods, but advises it is better to bid slam directly than to confuse the issue by artificial bids.

Today's hand and bidding are quoted from the book.

(On the bid of three diamonds)

	♠ A Q 7 5 ♥ A 9 6 5 3 ♦ 8 7 3 ♣ 7
♠ 10 9 4 3 ♥ Q 10 4 ♦ J 10 5 4 ♣ 10 4	N W E S Dealer	♠ K J 8 6 2 ♥ 7 2 ♦ 9 6 ♣ K J 5 3
	♠ None ♥ K J 8 ♦ A K Q 2 ♣ A Q 9 8 6 2

Duplicate—None vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 ♠	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opener—♥ 2. 3

"While a six-card suit is generally rebid before a four-carder is shown, it is necessary to find a forcing rebid here. The bid generally shows five honor tricks."

(On the bid of six hearts) "Since a rebid after a force is always trustworthy, the three-spade response guarantees a fully bidable suit. It follows that the heart suit, which is lower-ranking, must be at least five cards long. Since the opener is not interested in aces the six-bid is made directly . . ."

The opening lead is won by the ace of trumps. A club is led to the ace and a low club returned for North to ruff. A trump lead is won by the king and another club ruffed. Dummy gets back with a diamond to lead another club, ruffed by North' last trump.

North must take the precaution of cashing the spade ace now, on which South discards the two of diamonds. Then a diamond lead puts South in to lead the long clubs.

West may take his queen of trumps whenever he pleases. He cannot interfere with declarer's plan of play.

ON GUARD WITH A BANG IS FORMER FENCING STAR

Fencing was his varsity sport at New York University; but now Abraham Wilensky, of Connecticut, is putting his opponents on guard with a bang instead of a foil. One of the "Hell from Heaven Men" in training at the world's greatest bombardier college here, Cadet Wilensky soon will be jabbing at the Axis—with bombs.

Dust Bowl Scare In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — The American dust bowl tragedy soon may be repeated in Argentina, according to Ernest E. Maes, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service.

After visiting Argentina's famed pampas—the greatest cattle grazing area in the world—Maes declared that some regions were identical with the stricken Oklahoma Panhandle and Western Kansas.

Like their American counterparts, Argentine cattlemen are overgrazing the pampas to take advantage of wartime prices. Duststorms already have occurred, and the American expert warned that wind erosion soon will become serious unless conservation measures are taken at once.

The well was cored from 4,495 to 4,514 feet, the present depth, and recovered 14 feet. The top seven feet were lime bleeding oil and carrying cavernous porosity. The next six feet were dry lime and the bottom foot anhydritic dolomite.

MEXICAN MASQUERADE

BY CECIL CARNES

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

EXPLORATION

CHAPTER IX

"AH, now you misjudge me," protested Escobar quickly, and if his tone was equable, there was still a trace of red to color the clear olive skin of his cheeks. "As the officer responsible for this district, I have lately found it advisable to keep an eye on telegrams. A mild censorship, you see, quite unofficial and very extra-legal. The wire to you came through the San Saba office while I was there, and it was placed before me as a matter of routine —police routine, senor."

"I beg your pardon," said Allan, rising and holding out his hand to make it more convincing. "I should have remembered your official position and not spoken out of turn. With the whole world going to hell in a hack you are certainly justified in doing everything you can to keep this little corner of it peaceful."

"My sentiments exactly," nodded the Mexican, and gave a friendly pressure of his strong fingers to Allan's hand. "And now—you will excuse me, yes? Perhaps we shall have the pleasure of your company at dinner this evening."

His smiling, debonair self again, he sauntered back to where his charming companion awaited him. Allan made a grimace at the treacherous telegram and stuck the thing in his pocket.

He gave some thought to the incident that afternoon when he wasn't wondering if the axles would snap or the radiator blow up. Whatever else Escobar might be, he was still the Government with a capital G in this neck of the woods and it made Allan a bit uncomfortable to think he might have become an object of suspicion to the police. It would be ruinous to his mission if he were slapped into the local hoosegow on charge of being a spy or fifth-columnist or something.

But the colonel had seemed quite good-humored about it, he tried to reassure himself, and if he really had serious doubts of Allan's bona fides he would hardly have tipped off his hand so openly about the "extra-legal" censorship. Moreover, his suggestion of dinner together had sounded cordial, and he had drifted away smiling.

Not that the smile meant much, mused Allan, dissuading the sedan from plunging into a clump of cholla cactus. Mexicans have a reputation for taking life easily, but they stand for no foolishness.

"Damn' efficient, these rurales!" muttered Allan. "The way he spotted that San Diego date-line —! Dammit, he's good!"

* * *

THESE details held Allan's attention no more than an instant. What he was interested in was a group of islands which lay close inshore, almost directly below him. They stretched out in a chain parallel to the shore and separated from it, as Sun Su had said, by a strait hardly more than a hundred yards in width.

Only two of the islands appeared to be occupied. One, much the biggest of the group, had several substantial buildings on it; the "cannery" obviously. There was a boat dock on its nearest shore; on the farthest, a long pier jutted out into the water.

The other occupied island was a good deal smaller than the first. Allan noted a roomy, white stone bungalow in the center, and a small structure, apparently a boathouse, on its nearest shore. He saw the figures of a man and a woman pacing to and fro on a tiled path, and he focused his glasses on them curiously. Neither was Japanese. The woman was young, blonde, and rather pretty in a piquant way, he decided. The man was blond, too, tall and broad-shouldered; he might have been an American but for the way he gesticulated with his hands as he talked.

Still and all, the chief feature of the scene to hold Allan's bemused attention was on the Peninsula itself. A little way off, a crew of Japanese workmen were digging into the side of a small mountain with picks and shovels. They seemed to be excavating a dark, clay-like substance which was put on hand barrows and carried to a big scow by the water's edge. When it was loaded, the scow was towed by a launch to the cannery island and another scow came up to be filled.

"Something wrong about this," muttered Allan, wrinkling his brow in perplexity. "You don't use clay in canning fish, do you? I wonder why the Sam Hill Sun Su didn't mention this digging? It could have started, I suppose, after he received his last report from his pals." He shook his head regretfully. "Wish I knew more about soils—"

In the middle of that wish, a rattlesnake whirred some yards behind him. He had done nothing himself to startle the most nervous of side-winders; he turned his head quickly to see what had.

He found himself looking straight into the muzzle of a rifle. It was held by the squat Eurasian, and behind him were six short but strongly built Japanese. The squat man growled a guttural order.

"Hands up, Senor Steele! Pronto!"

Midland Tracksters Take Four Day Rest

Two Holidays; Week-End Give A Halt In Training

Boys Rounding Out For District Meet

By Cleddie Shelburne

A new star and a bunch of the hardest training, but inexperienced, little Bulldogs ever to represent Midland High School is what Coach B. E. McCollum found in checking his track candidates Thursday afternoon before giving them a well earned four-day recess in training. A very impressive trackster has turned up in Marshall Whitmire, and a new flash, to give last minute hope to the inexperienced squad of thin-clads, was found in Jack Simpson who has been working out for a week.

Whitmire An Example

Marshall Whitmire—not a record-breaker in speed, but still in the top division—sets a worthy code for anybody's athletic team. Even in this sport called track in which a boy works two or three months just for one or two events, Whitmire has never slacked in his training. He is out every day, and the word "can't" is not in his vocabulary . . . "I'll try it, coach," is his reply. Whitmire has been out every day of the track season — not to gripe, slack on work, or wise-crack—to do his best to shine in another sports event through the code of hard work and teaching from the coach. He is to hold a berth for Midland High in the 100-yard dash, the board jump, the mile-relay team, and possibly other events in the coming district meet. He may not win every thing he is entered in, but it will always be remembered that he played the game well.

Jack Simpson New Star

The newest find of the track season is Jack Simpson, the crack tennis player at Midland High. Simpson had never been out for any sport but tennis until he reported for track a week ago. The first day saw him throw the discus 120 feet, put the shot 40 feet, and make a good showing in sprint and mid-distance races. Besides his duties in the singles division of the district tennis meet, Simpson is slated to carry a stellar role in track events in the district meet on April 11.

Other Boys Working Hard

Burvin Hines, brother of Cletas Hines who ran 'em dizzy for Midland last season, has been getting "down to brass tacks" with his training for track and field duties at the annual district clash.

Robert Wheeler and Billy Richards, known to football fans for their showing in the grid sport last season, are looking mighty good for heavy duty in the thin-clad battles, and John Guy McMillian is coming along nicely in the final training sessions.

It seems that Charlie Kelly can do anything he takes a notion to do. Kelly had been out for track a season or two, but always in the long distance races. Something gave him the idea to run high hurdles this year—and he is showing masterful form at it. Kelly and Jack Dyson are due to be Midland High's entries in the 880-yard dash, and both will probably have other assignments.

Bill Chancellor in the only definite entry in the pole-vault division for the Bulldogs, but it looks like he is doing his best to master the event so as to give a good performance when the time comes.

Miles Stanley, after having lost a heart-breaking elimination match in the tennis race, has reported for duty at the track, and H. G. Bedford is a track candidate—after having lost in the tennis play-offs.

Coach B. E. McCollum is working the boys hard at getting in the last training licks for the district meet, but inexperience of the squad makes it a difficult situation.

"Inexperience is a hard thing to deal with, but we have worked hard so as to give our best possible showing at the district meet," said McCollum Thursday," and I think we may have a few aces in the bag."

Folks, These Biologists Have Got The Low Down On Us, What'll We Do?

BOSTON (AP)—Look, Mister, Missus and Miss, at what America's Federated Biologists reported Friday they have discovered about you

Swimming: You do the least work, as measured in calories, with the crawl stroke. Next easiest is the back stroke, and then in order of increasing work breast, side and butterfly strokes. Honest, it's the same whether you swim fast or slow.

Body size: A little man stands humid heat better than a big man because he has more skin in proportion to the bulk he has to cool off. The skin is your refrigerator—and the big fellow's is too small for comfort.

Fertility: Men must have argenine. That is one of the acids in meats, eggs, and plant proteins. You can't escape getting argenine in any of today's diets, but the discovery suggests something worth looking into for childless couples.

Dust: Breathing silica, cause of silicosis of the lungs, is a protection against catching pneumonia. Protective also are dusts of feldspar and Belgian portland cement. American portland cement fails to stop pneumonia.

Pimples: Which means the acne common to youth. Low metabolism makes them worse and ordinary thyroid treatment helps when metabolism is at fault.

Vitamins: B-1 does not help muscular work. This is contrary to most previous reports. But this time the scientists, instead of asking a man how he felt after the job, broke work down into five specific, fatiguing movements, and the vitamin didn't help.

But morale is still safe, for the same experiments showed this vitamin does stimulate mental or nervous energy.

Nausea: Just what you'd expect. The propelling waves in the digestive tubes, instead of going downward, reverse and go up.

Brooklyn And Cincinnati Clubs May Play Hotter Season Than Last Year

By Gayle Talbot

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—If Larry MacPhail's bank roll hold out—and a nice, lusty bank roll it is—the Brooklyn Dodgers probably will fight off both the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds and win themselves another National League pennant.

If it were not for the red-head's absolute determination to have a winner and his willingness to spend big money to get it, the temptation would be strong to pick one of the three top clubs out of a hat. They appear to be that evenly matched right now. But it is a pretty good baseball axiom to string along with the spender.

It should be a beauty of a race right down to the wire. The Dodgers and Cards waged a thriller last year, but this one might be even better because the Cincinnati club has recovered from its "World Champions" daze and is going to be in there punching. It appears safe to dismiss the other five outfits from the real contention, though Pittsburgh might, as usual, set a hot early race.

The Dodgers are a little sounder club all around than either the Reds or the Cards, and there is no guarantee that they will not increase their strength during the race. If their pitching shows signs of falling off, for instance, MacPhail will go after Buck Newsom hard enough to get him. He might get Buck, anyway. That might prove discouraging to the Reds and the Cards, for their chances of adding any strength from here on are practically none.

Already Brooklyn has one of baseball's outstanding infield quartets in Dolf Camilli, Billy Herman, Peewee Reese and Arky Vaughan, and it has the league's best young outfielder in Harold Reiser. It has a brace of top pitchers in Kirby Higbe and Whit Wyatt, and two good catchers in Billy Sullivan and Mickey Owen. There is no outstanding weakness.

The Cardinals have shown more zip and fire than any club training in Florida. They are the fastest team in baseball today and oldtimers say they might be the fastest ever. They possess two truly outoutstanding men in third-baseman James Brown and center fielder Terry Moore, and they have by far the best southpaw pitching staff in the game.

NEW YORK.—Horse racing harnessed: Detroit Fair Grounds, which promised to install a "tote" before the new season started, may not be allowed to open on schedule unless a recently-appointed commission decides the device being constructed will record accurate odds. Few Lettermen Back For Football Drills At McCamey High

McCAMEY (Sp) — More than thirty candidates answered the call for spring training this week at McCamey, and according to Coaches Squib Carruthers and Carl Coleman, several more are due to report next month.

Only four lettermen reported for practice. They are Phil Wuertemburg, guard; Matt Dillingham, tackle; Roger Hutts, tackle; and Pat Pauley, back.

Wuertemburg has been shifted to the backfield and is looking good in his new assignment. Pat Pauley, shifty halfback, is looking good.

The remainder of the squad is composed of 1941 reserves and members of the junior team. Jack Brewer, who was ineligible in 1941 is showing up good at the center position while Bobby Brazell is holding his own at a guard position. Brazell was ineligible this past season. Ralph Brown is another candidate who is looking good in spring training.

Hogan Behind In Asheville Open

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—The Asheville Open demonstrated Friday the incredible fact that a golf tournament can be a pleasant event — even for the literally down-trodden spectators.

The leaders were Lord Byron Nelson, former Open and PGA king; Lawson Little, another former U. S. Open champion, Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I., former Rayder Cupper, and Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., winner of the Phoenix, Ariz., tournament earlier this year.

For the pros the 71 bracket introduced the first note of uneasiness for there was little man Ben Hogan, just waiting for the stretch drive.

Public Schools Turn Out 120,000 Defense Workers In Texas Schools

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN (AP)—Approximately 100,000 Texas youths and adults are being trained for the nation's all-out war effort in public schools and night classes, James R. D. Eddy, director of the national defense training program, disclosed Friday.

Edly estimated that metalwork, mechanics and woodwork courses will have turned out 120,000 trained men by July 1 as compared with 19,000 during the last fiscal year.

Public schools, he asserted, were responding whole-heartedly to suggestions they inaugurate coures of all types to train workers to war needs.

To date, 26,930 trainees have been enrolled in supplementary defense classes, 30,491 have taken pre-employment courses, 24,414 have attended out-of-school-youth program courses, approximately 3,000 N. Y. A. youths have engaged in training courses and currently there are 22,867 workers enrolled in regular national defense classes.

The director reported that public night schools over the state were accommodating increased enrollments.

Some training centers, he continued, had net enrollments of nearly 2,000 workers in February and figures from other schools indicated monthly enrollments were nearing the 1,000 mark.

Reports from Texas cities showed that the number of enrollees in municipalities varied from 15 to nearly 3,000 while the number of defense classes offered ranged from one to 200.

In February, the San Antonio public school system reported 2,761 defense course trainees, Houston public schools had 1,758, Corpus Christi schools were training 1,475 workers for war industries and the Dallas school system enrolled 1,358.

Other school systems training large numbers were Fort Worth with 685, Arlington with 248, Beaumont with 234 and El Paso with 151.

The trainees were selected by the United States employment service on qualifications determined by war industry employers who place men at jobs immediately on completion of the courses.
