DE-LINTING CO. EXPERT

Dr. Stiver Speaks To Kiwanis Club

Kiwanis Club and their guests heard Dr. Ed Stiver, agronomist for Rogers De-linting Company, as guest speaker here Tuesday.

W. A. Findley, manager of the new Rogers De-linting Plant in Colorado City, introduced Dr. Stiver, who is a member of the staff of the company's home office in Waco.

Findley in his introductory remarks, told Kiwanians of progress and near completion of the local plant. The new industry for Colorado City is the first to be located on the Industrial site bought from the city by Industrial Team, Inc.

"We are just about finished," Findley said. "We expect to have all motors headed in the right direction by Monday and may get the place swept free of Monday's sand storm, by Friday."

Dr. Stiver climaxed his talk with a series of color slides picturing cotton seeds, cotton plants, cotton fields and cotton pests and diseases.

As an agronomist for 25 years, Dr. Stiver spoke of the new de-linting plant here as one "A far cry from the first de-linting plants. We can now take pride in our process of (cotton) seed and of the way we grade it."

"Grading of seed is the important thing," he said. "Only good seed are to be put back in the sack."

Dr. Stiver then stressed choice of variety for all cotton producers, adding that "one main point is how to harvest the variety."

Slides were shown of Rogers De-linting Company plant in Robstown, of tall cotton in the "black lands," of open-boll type-cotton and of the storm-proof type of cotton growing.

Treated seed for combating "damping off," soil diseases, the thrip, the flea hopper and the boll weevil were strongly recommended by the visiting agronomist.

Rogers Company treats the de-linted cotton seed with Thimet. Under USDA law which went into effect all treated seed must have added color. Treated seed are poisonous, he reminded his listeners, and can not be used for feed or oil.

Dr. Stiver invited Mitchell County area cotton growers to send their seed samples to the plant here. "We will mark them for vigor," he promised. Nothing can make the internal seed itself more vigorous but the best way is to grade for the best quality seed."

Planting too deep and "too cold" came in for a share of Dr. Stiver's lecture. "A man can still raise a cotton crop with a team of mules and fuzzy cotton seed," he concluded, "but with strippers, new varieties and new knowledge there is no reason why a man should."

Findley was introduced as "A new Kiwanis Club member" by the Club president, Trevlyn Kelley. Findley invited Kiwanians, business men and farmers to visit the new plant any Monday through Saturday noon.

Two Key Club members, Reggie Noble and Glen Nix, were guests of the club.

Barbie Vardie Fund Total Is $260 Now

Blue-eyed Barbie Vardie doesn't know about it yet—but she's been the talk of the town this week.

The seven-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby J. Vardy, Barbie was born with a serious birth defect. She needs help.

Barbie probably doesn't know it yet—but there is a fund named for her. It is the Barbie Vardie Fund, on deposit at City National Bank with George Womack, vice-president in charge. The fund was named for her Sunday. Its purpose is a trip to University of Minnesota for Barbie to have "miracle" surgery.

Monday morning, at bank opening time, there was a citizen, a man, waiting to give something to the Barbie Vardie Fund. At noon Wednesday, Barbie's fund had grown to a total of $260.50.

Since Monday, a series of nice things have been taking place, all because of Barbie. Two Colorado High School girls, named Jill Richards and Linda Welch, touched by Barbie's little story, got busy in the high school halls. Jill and Linda added $100 to the Barbie Fund. The two girls collected the money from classmates, school clubs and organizations. Junior High students were getting ready to follow suit, Wednesday.

Congregation of the Dorn Methodist Church, located near Lake Colorado City, donated $25 to the fund, Monday. One sympathetic Colorado Public School teacher, contributed $30.

Another hopeful development was a call to Barbara Vardy, Barbie's mother, from Tim Wood, district director for the Texas March of Dimes. Wood, who lives in Lubbock called long distance to say that, as March of Dimes director, he has requested money for Barbie from March of Dime funds collected in Odessa, Abilene and Amarillo. If that request is granted, the Barbie Vardie Fund will benefit greatly.

March of Dimes was staged this year specifically for children with birth defects. Colorado City drive total was $200. Wood, expects, he told

LOW INCOME FAMILIES

FHA Reports First New Loan In State

The first loan to help a Texas low-income rural family raise their income and attain a better standard of living under President Johnson's War on Poverty Program was explained today by Lester J. Cappleman, State Director for the Farmers Home Administration and John Russell, county director.

Cappleman gave details on a loan being made to a family who operates a small farm near Long Branch, Panola County, which Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman today announced as one of eleven such loans being made throughout the county.

The loan was made to a 57-year-old farmer and his wife, parents of 8 children, living near Long Branch, Panola County; $2,500 for 15 years to definance a mortgage which is overdue against his small 25-acre farm, purchase a milk cow and a mule, carry out some land development work and pay operating expenses on his 1965 truck crop which will consist of 2 1/2 acres of tomatoes and cucumbers. The family of ten also will raise a large garden and some pigs to meet their family food needs. Improvements made with the loan will enable this family to make a 50 percent increase in their gross income which last year totaled $1,540.

Cappleman said approximately 75 applications for economic opportunity loans have been received.

The loans are authorized by the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, which includes a rural credit service involving $35 million in Federal funds.

In addition, these other loans have been approved in Texas; one to a 51-year-old farmer who lives in Harrison County near Marshall, Texas.

There are five children in this family. The total amount of the loan is $2,500. The funds will be used to purchase 12 acres of land, and more and repair a house to be located on the 12 acres being purchased. This will provide a more adequate dwelling for the family.

 The third loan made this week in Texas, according to Cappelman, was one made to a widow living near Hempstead in Waller County. A loan of $820 is being used to assist this widow in purchasing live stock and drilling a well so that she and her family will have a sanitary water supply for domestic purposes.
 Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor for Washington and Waller Counties, Temple Evans, has developed a farming program on the small acreage which should result in an increased gross income of approximately $400 per year.
 The fourth loan was made to a couple living in Bell County who operate a small farm. The loan funds will be used to enable them to add an ad-through the construction and equipping of a small tractor and farm implement repair shop. With this additional source of income, the family will be able to raise their level of living from $1,200 per year to approximately $2,000 per year after the business is in operation. This will amount to a 50 percent increase in their gross income from all sources.

 State Director of the Farmers Home Administration in Texas stated that all personnel are enlisting the assistance of rural agricultural and business leaders, school teachers, ministers, welfare workers, charitable organizations and others to assist this agency in informing low-income rural families of the opportunities available to them in the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964.
 According to Cappelman, the 1960 Agricultural Census showed approximately 375,000 rural families, both farm and non farm, living in the country and in communities of less than 2,500 population.

$3,000 a year or less from all sources. This means we have a real challenge in Texas in providing opportunities for these families to improve their level of living.
 All of the loans bear a 1/8 percent interest. Economic Opportunity Loans may be made in amounts up to $2,500 to finance small family businesses, trades, services, and farming enterprises.
 Rural families eligible for anti-poverty loans are confronted with such problems as limited resources; low income; ill health; lack of management skills, and an unsatisfactory level of living. To help overcome these problems and assure success of the new businesses of farming enterprises, borrowers will be provided with intensive and continuing management aid by local county supervisors of the Farmers Home Administration.
 To be eligible for the new rural credit program, an includes towns up to 2,500 population.

 2. Have an income so low it does not cover basic family necessities.
 3. Be unable to obtain credit from other sources, including the regular loan programs of the Farmers Home Administration, and
 4. Show a reasonable promise of succeeding in the enterprise to be financed by the loan.
 Any inquiries regarding the assistance available through the Farmers Home Administration or other provisions of the Economic Opportunity Act, should be directed to any one of the local Farmers Home Administration County Offices.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL

Ruby Hines Speaker Self Culture Club

was guest speaker at the Self Culture Club meeting in the Albert Erwin auditorium.

by Mrs. James Buck who was in charge of the program entitled Brazil.

"Brazil is a cross section of the people of the world. Colonized by the Portuguese, themselves, descendants of many races, like the early colonists of North America, found that the Indians had arrived many centuries before them," said Miss Hines.

"The Brazilian people are approximately 60% white, mulattoes (white and black), 20% caboclos (white and Indians), 10% Negroes, 6% Indians, 2% and foreign groups such as German, 2%," continued the speaker.

"In many sections," said Miss Hines, "There is still wide separation between the very wealthy, the very poor, with a tremendous health and sanitation problem among the lower classes."

"With the establishment of the new capital in the interior of Brazil, new land areas are opening, there has been an increase in technical knowledge and general education in the last 15 years with these projects in the effort to raise the standard of living. The language of Brazil is Portuguese."

"Brazil's intermingled racial strains and its wide differences of topography have set the pattern for the variety of occupations and profession she has developed. In the jungles of the north her people live either on river boats or in simple huts along the riverbanks," said Miss Hines.

Proceeding Miss Hines' talk, Mrs. James Buck gave a talk concerning the history of Brazil.

"Brazil is the largest country in South America, and the fourth largest country in the world. Only the Soviet Union, China and Canada are greater in area. Brazil is 2,500,000 square miles larger than the United States. The names of the country in Portuguese, the national language, is Os Estados Unidos Do Brazil or the United States of Brazil," said Mrs. Buck.

"Rio De Janeiro, is the capital and the largest city of the country," said Mrs. Buck. "About half the people of South America live in Brazil. It is the only Portuguese speaking nation in the Western Hemisphere. Brazil is the only country in the Western hemisphere ever to have served as the seat of government for a European empire.

"The Amazon River" that flows through Brazil is the longest river in the western Hemisphere. The country contains much of the greatest continuous forest land in the world. Brazil ranks first among Latin American countries in natural resources and industries. It produces more coffee than any other country in the world and is one of the world's largest growers of corn and cotton," said the speaker.

"All citizens over 18 years of age who can read and write are eligible to vote. Electoral registration is compulsory and voting is secret," said Mrs. Buck. "Pedro Cabral discovered Brazil and claimed it for Portugal in 1500."

"Brazil declared its independence from Portugal in 1822. On 1889 the country proclaimed itself a republic. Brazil declared war on Germany in World War I in 1917. In 1942 the country declared war on the axis in World War II. Brazil signed an agreement with the United States to share American Atomic information in 1955."

"Mrs. Buck concluded with, "Brazil like most every country in our universe, has its beauty, prosperity and poverty." During the business meeting, Mrs. Earl Brown presided. Mrs. J. L. Strain gave a report from the libraries in Colorado City.

Ruth Coffey's CONVERSATION CORNER

GOOD MEMORIES are all right to brag about—up to a point. A good memory comes in handy for filing a way favorite little bits of poetry . . . the best-loved scripture . . . sequences . . . words to little stray songs you hear.

They're nice, too, for keeping carbon copies of phone numbers, addresses, first names of children and the current bank account figures. There is nothing wrong with cultivating a good memory, when properly put to use.

Nobody likes to go through life like the absent-minded professor in the old jokes. You know the one who put the wet umbrella to bed and hung himself on the rack?

ON THE OTHER hand, a memory can be too good for comfort. Ever meet anybody who can—and does—recall every mean thing ever done or said to them since first day of kindergarten?

What the too-good-memory needs is more accent on forgetting. To forgive a long-ago wrong may not be human. But to forget the ancient insult must be divine.

It's not up to improve your "forgettery" can make a more tolerant person of you. It sometimes takes some doing, however.

BED TIME is a good time. Just as you take off and hang away the daytime clothes you can put away the pressures of the day.

Just as you brush the hair and brush the teeth you can learn, with practice, to brush aside the "bad taste" of a day gone wrong for you.

Just as you turn down the coverlet and turn off the light you can turn down—and turn off—all the little creeping despairs of a day.

Put them outside with the cat. You pet a peeve long enough and you know what you've got? You've got a pet peeve. That's what.

MAYBE you've already got a few you have to feed before you can get to sleep?

What IS your pet peeve, anyhow? With some of us it's people who butt in and try to take over the conversation we're running so well ourselves.

There are people whose pet peeve is other people arguing religion . . . or lack of it . . . Pretenders who do dirty digging as if it was such all-in-good-fun.

Others of us cringe when somebody—anybody—reads over our shoulder . . . People who read headlines out loud with comment just as we're fixing to turn the page . . . People who gargle coffee.

LISTS of pet peeves can be as long, or as short, as you can train them to be.

A really cultivated "forgettery" can help you forget the zipper that stuck . . . the habitual wrong-number dialers . . . chronic complainers . . . contrary appliances . . . glibbie gossipers.

Wonder if any West Texas "forgettery" ever gets expert enough, though, to forget the Sand Storm Slump? That's one of the meanest pet peeves in our part of the World. We nominate it for the prize pet peeve of this season.

FEW of us mind singin' in the rain . . . slippin' on the ice. It can be invigorating. There's something of tingling excitement in spectacular lightning and loud shouts of thunder.

There are special delights in all seasons . . . summer, spring, autumn, winter. And even if there weren't, there's not so much you can do about either season or weather still.

sand storms always remind us of the little idiot child who kept hitting him.

No Poll Tax... No Voice

No matter what your personal convictions are on the old question of the rights and wrongs of paying a poll tax, it is up to you to pay your poll tax — if you want to vote in Texas this year.

There seems little doubt that in some future years the poll tax receipt law will be repealed. Well now, suppose that issue came up this year and you could not even cast a ballot for or against the poll tax in Texas?

To vote your convictions as a citizen in this free Nation is your inalienable right.

To vote your choices as a citizen is your privilege. It is also your downright duty and your obvious obligation.

Tax office in the Courthouse, now undergoing extensive remodeling, will be kept open until midnight Saturday, Jan. 30. Or you can send a check for your poll tax receipt through the mail — just so it reaches the tax-assessor-collector by midnight Sunday, deadline date, Jan. 31.

Whether you are for or against things like pari-mutual betting and whiskey by the drink in Texas is not the point. Whether you 'believe' in having to pay poll taxes is not the point, either.

The point is that whatever your personal convictions are, without your vote they will not count. Your opinion can not be meaningful until and unless you care enough to vote for what you believe.

There is just one other way you might be heard — and that's to mount a soap box on some public square on every election day. And even then you will have to stay at least 100 feet away from the polls before you can speak your mind.

You have but one voice. All right, use it. You have but one vote. Okay, make it count.

No matter what your personal convictions are about the old poll tax questions which have been with us for 100 years, it is still up to you.

Go pay that poll tax — if you want to vote this year!

Texas Committee Of Ten

In New York City last fall, mothers and others manned the classrooms for those pupils who came to school while the teachers went on strike for higher salaries. In Utah last summer, teachers refused to sign contracts with local boards to teach this year while they battled the Governor for more state money for the schools. More recently and closer to home, teachers in neighboring Louisiana and Oklahoma have placed sanctions on local school districts in efforts to improve their working conditions.

Meanwhile in Texas, teachers took an entirely different and more constructive approach to improving the education of their pupils and their own lot. The Texas State Teachers Association formed legislative proposals for an increase in teachers salaries and for sick leave provisions for all teachers. The Texas Classroom Teachers Association undertook to study and improve the working relationships between teachers, their administrators, and school boards. The legislative proposals have received considerable public exposure. The effort to improve relations, and as a result improve educational leadership and quality, is a story which needs telling because it sets a precedent that other states might well follow. It is another "Texas First."

Some time ago, before either the public or the education profession was fully aware of the pending strife in teacher-administrator-school board relations, the Texas Classroom Teachers Association initiated the request for a study of these relationships in hopes of arriving at some guidelines for local educators and school boards to use in improving their public school leadership. Last September, the Texas Committee of Ten, a joint project committee of the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Association of School Administrators, agreed to explore the subject with a delegation from the Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

There followed exploratory discussions by six teachers, six school superintendents, six school board members, and the executive staff members of their respective organizations. These discussions have revealed a sincere and dedicated interest on the part of all concerned in the pursuit of excellence in their local public schools. These educators and laymen are agreed that any effort which will improve local public leadership and programs is worthy of the effort of all concerned.

Although the group is still probing for answers and is continuing to work to find ways to communicate with all of the local school people involved, they have started to work to produce guidelines which local school leaders may find helpful in improving working relationships and the schools. A written committee has been appointed and is at work producing a draft of guidelines for the group's review and approval. It is planned to provide the finished guidelines for all local Texas school boards, school administrators, and classroom teachers.

In the meantime, before the detailed guidelines are drawn, the Texas Classroom Teachers Association, the Texas Association of School Boards, and the Texas Association of School Administrators have a recommendation for their local counterparts. The individuals participating in this project agree that a logical start toward better understanding, mutual respect, and cooperative effort among local educators and laymen would be the formation of the local level of an exploratory group of teachers, administrators and school board members to take a look at their local leadership efforts toward providing the best possible public schools. They believe that such local groups would find a number of important jobs to be done to improve relations and to upgrade their schools.

Austin Inaugural Far Cry From Those Of Old Days

BY TERRY SANFORD
Texas Press Association

A goodly share of the 3,000 Texans who went to Washington for President Lyndon Johnson's inauguration went through the same sort of celebration — on a much smaller scale in Austin Monday and Tuesday.

Following Monday's early afternoon State Democratic Executive Meeting, the round of State Inaugural parties began. One of the best attended was a reception in the Gondolier Hotel for House Speaker Ben Barnes of DeLeon and Dan Blocker (the "Hoss Cartwright" of Bonanza fame).

"Hoss" was a headliner, along with TV celebrity Edie Adams, at the $25-per-plate Democratic Victory Dinner, honoring Gov. John Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and other party winners.

Following the solemn ceremony of the swearing in of Connally and Smith on Tuesday, another round of luncheons and receptions in the Governor's Mansion, across the street from the Capitol.

Connally's kind of celebration, heavy of the folksy flavor, is a far cry from the former custom of a series of governor's bills on the eve of inauguration.

BILL FILING BEGINS

First bill filed in the House of Representatives was one by Rep. Maud Isaack of El Paso — only woman members in the House. It would allow youngsters 15 1/2 years old to obtain drivers licenses if they pass approved drivers education courses. It's designed also to abolish the special motor scooter and motor bike licenses.

DISTILLED SPIRITS BILL — A measure which sponsors say will raise $10,000,000 in tax money for the State, during the next two years, has hit the legislative hopper. It is not a liquor by the drink bill. But it would make available to people dining in Texas restaurants tiny, 2-oz. (or less) bottles of distilled spirits.

Bill calls for an annual license fee of $500 from each restaurant providing the service. Sponsors claim it will encourage tourism while at the same time will not permit open bars.

Measure was introduced in the upper house by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg and in the lower house by Rep. Willis of Houston.

TEACHER BILL IN — A bill raising the salary of school teachers $45 a month for each month of the school year was assured of passing in the House. Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, who is sponsoring the measure, invited other House members to sign the bill as co-sponsors. He quickly got more than 80 signatures, a majority of the House members.

Bill probably will have easy sailing in the Senate where it was introduced by Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, joined by Sens. J. P. Word of Meridian, Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo, D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur and Jim Bates of Edinburg.

Another bill asked by the teachers, one providing for five days sick leave a year cumulative to 80 days, was introduced by Rep. Wayne Gibbons of Breckenridge. Both bills are being sponsored by the Texas State Teachers Association.

BEEF IMPORT MEASURE INTRODUCED — A plan to discourage the purchase of imported beef by Texas was laid out by Sen. Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo.

His proposal would make it illegal — subject to fines up to $500 and a jail sentence — to sell imported meat, unless the grocer displays a sign six by 12 inches large, with the words, "Imported Meat Sold Here," and labels packed aged meat, "Product of ... stating country of origin.

COUNTY SCHOOL SUPPORT — Texas Committee on State and Local Tax Policy recommended that the proportionate share of the Minimum Foundation Program which is borne by local taxing authorities in the Local Fund Assignment be increased by a total of some $19,000,000 over the next two years. Committee stated that State government is providing $56 more per pupil for public school education than the national average, while local governments are providing $99 per pupil less than

In most towns or cities outsiders, or people who do not live there, see opportunities that are not so easily seen as a native. Ballinger has already had other people "looking around" for the future. There have even been investments made here by others, which is good.

Fortunately Ballinger people are not lagging when it comes to looking out for the future too. In our instance "the natives" are having that feeling that Ballinger is growing and will grow more. Furthermore, some are doing something about it, which is also very much to the good.

The Ledger last week carried a story from Dun & Bradstreet that showed a 4 per cent increase in those listed in these financial ratings.

About a year ago The Ledger and the daily newspapers of this area carried a survey made nationally on the the area that was destined to show exceptional growth over the next ten years. This area included Runnels County and Ballinger.

There has been an optimistic growth in the minds of Ballinger people that Ballinger will expand and grow. This optimistic viewpoint has spread until now people in other towns far and near express this same opinion.

The tremendous changes in the business fronts in downtown Ballinger, the building of new business houses in South Ballinger, the outlook of Ballinger's future water problems, the erection of the new water tower and city mains, all of this and many other things — all point to one fact and that is Ballinger is on the verge of a good growth.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Health of The Heart Linked With Habits

Some half a million Americans die of heart attacks each year, and countless others are stricken.

Why is it that some people have heart attacks and others don't?

Heart experts cannot answer this question definitively, and they sometimes do not agree completely on the probabilities. But there are some generally recognized danger signs that mark the heart-attack prone individual.

Physicians can identify susceptible persons on the basis of cholesterol in the blood, excess weight, cigarette smoking, inactivity, tendencies to diabetes or hypertension, and often predict the disease in seemingly healthy persons years before it arrives, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Of course, a non-smoking woman or a lean man also can have a heart attack, but the risk, statistically, is much less.

The three most important signs of susceptibility, says the American Heart Association, are high blood levels of cholesterol, high blood pressure and an abnormal electrocardiogram.

The health of the heart is definitely linked with life habits. Today's Health declares. More and more heart specialists point to one great general cause — an abuse of our prosperity, the abundance and temptations of modern times.

Many men, the magazine says, abuse cigarettes, food, liquor and their muscles. Quoting a noted heart specialist the article points out that adult people "must learn to distinguish between moderation and abuse. Two packs of cigarettes a day is an abuse. Too much fat or too many calories is an abuse. Drinking during most parts of the day is an abuse. Doing no physical work is an abuse.

True, there still are differences of opinion among competent men regarding the exact connection between these abuses and heart attacks. True, there still is much to be learned. The decision is one that each individual must make for himself. To wait until all of the evidence is at hand and the doctor can give of positive answer to the question of what causes heart attacks; or, to stop abusing the good things of abundant life and use today's knowledge in the hopes of saving the heart.

Once again February is Heart Month. It can be a month of decision.

TOURIST TALK

Texas Fine Resort For Winter Visits

Utilizing an already favorable image as a prime winter vacation destination, Texas this month moves to further consolidate its national position and win new business.

Primary tool in its campaign is a six-week winter advertising schedule to attract snowbound Midwesterners.

The Texas Tourist Development Agency, which will launch the campaign in Mid-January, said the program marks two "first" for Texas: the first time the state has formally moved to gain its share of the burgeoning winter vacation market and the first time it has used radio to tell its story.

Importance of the step was emphasized by Gov. John Connally, upon whose recommendation Texas' first travel advertising program was authorized by the Legislature in September, 1963.

"A mid-December survey by the Gallup Poll finds that Texas ranks fourth among the 50 states in the frequency with which it is mentioned as a destination by Americans planning winter vacations," the Governor said.

"The study revealed that only Florida, California and New York (including New York City), rank higher than Texas. This is indeed gratifying."

"At the same time, however, it emphasizes the further gains we can expect through active promotion of our fine winter climate. If Texas has achieved fourth place in the race for winter visitors without any effort on the state's part, we can logically expect far greater results with intelligent promotion."

TDDA said it will concentrate on five key Midwestern markets in its $13,245 campaign: Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati and Detroit.

Amercanism Is Theme For 1921 Study Club

Americanism was theme for the meeting Friday of the 1921 Study Club in the home of Mrs. U. G. Hardison.

Speakers for the day were Mrs. W. W. Rhode and Mrs. J. F. Quinney. Topic for Mrs. Rhode talk was "Women in Government Jobs" and Mrs. Quinney spoke concerning Economic Patterns in American Culture.

"A short time ago President Johnson held a cabinet meeting and told his members that the day is over when top jobs are reserved for men. He has directed his cabinet members and agency heads to try and place women in top government posts," said Mrs. Rhode.

"There are nearly 27 million working women in the United States," said Mrs. Rhode. "Almost one-third of our working force."

"In June 1963, the nation's first equal Pay Act was signed into law. This law prohibits arbitrary wage discrimination against women because of their sex. The latest woman power report on the President's desk shows that more than 265 women have received top level jobs since Jan. 1964. Another 818 women have been promoted to high paying jobs of more than $10,000 a year."

"President Johnson's woman power campaign has had its setback. Some of the most talented women in the land have turned him down and some disappointed male office seekers have denounced the President's favoritism toward women. All this leaves him undeterred," continued the speaker.

Mrs. Rhode concluded her talk with a quote from President Johnson. "I believe this is the century of human rights and women have rights which we intend to recognize. One of them is the right to serve their country," said President Johnson.

"Our generation has been marked by a period of astounding changes within a short span of years we have seen more progress in the fields of science and technology than mankind has ever seen," said Mrs. Quinney.

"The first big change is automation," said Mrs. Quinney. "There is nothing new about automation except the name itself. It has been going on for generations. In recent years the process has simply accelerated for two reasons. One is the great increase in wages, which has put a premium on saving labor."

"The other is the advent of new devices, which lend themselves to be used in complex automatic machinery and which are reliable. The thought is abroad that the increasing use of sensing mechanism—tapes—instructed machines is going to put almost every one out of work and that mass America will then stand about with mouths open and nothing to do."

"It is true that automation can throw men out of work in no steps are taken to shift men to other jobs and it is necessary to train the men for them. But in overall basis automation creates jobs. Automation can proceed only as fast as there are skilled men to carry it out," said Mrs. Quinney.

"We can then surmount automations awkward age and proceed forward to non technical changes which will place us well beyond the worries of the present day," continued the speaker.

"Changes in population, people moving from rural to urban; modes of travel, religion, changes in education and political changes have caused the changes in economic patterns. Leader for the day was Mrs. R. P. Price.

Members attending were Mrs. J. F. Quinney, Lee Lavender, W. C. Hooks, M. J. Dawson, P. K. Mackey, Sam L. Majors, J. T. Pritchett, W. W. Rhode and the hostess.

Next meeting will be Feb. 5 with Mrs. J. M. Dawson as hostess. Theme for the afternoon is The Art of Learning.

When Jay drove down to Georgetown to get his little Southwestern University co-ed daughter Roberta, it rained on him. Six inches. Rain all but drowned out the highways. Add his motor.

So? So, guess what day Jay picked to drive to Lubbock where his red-headed daughter is transferring for the new semester? Jay and Roberta drove to Lubbock Monday! The day the winds were gusting from 50 miles to 70 miles per hour, the blustery sky was the shade of butterscotch . . . and visibility was one-quarter block because of The Sand Storm.
