Cuban Guerrillas Still Elude Castro's Troops

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

LAS MERCEDES, Cuba (AP) — An insurgent former officer of Fidel Castro's army today continued to elude crack government mountain troops in a chase over the soggy pinnacles of east Cuba's Sierra Maestra.

Castro is directing operations in the ninth day of an intensive manhunt for ex-Capt. Manuel Beaton and his band of armed guerrillas believed to number about 50 men. Fidel's brother Raul, the armed forces chief, and other top commanders also are in the field.

A cloak of official silence hung over the military movements in the densely forested steep Sierra overlooking the Caribbean along Cuba's southeast coast.

There were unconfirmed reports in Havana that 1,000 regulars of Castro's army had ringed 6,500-feet Pico Turquino-Cuba's highest mountain—in the belief they had trapped the bulk of the rebels. Official sources refused to comment on this and another report of fighting in the area of Palma Soriano, along the eastern fringe of the Sierra Maestra, in which it was said 12 government soldiers were killed.

Cuban newsmen reported they saw Castro in the hills but he ordered them to get out.

From other sources in the general area of this tiny village at the foothills of the Sierras this much was learned:

Castro has thrown thousands of men into the drive from three directions—east, north and west—on Beaton's suspected center of operations.

There is a possibility that one or two more rebel bands operating independently of each other are hiding out in the mountains. These bands are reportedly led by men identified only as "El Mexicano" and "Laguna," both described as former Castro men.

There was no way to confirm previous reports that some of Beaton's rebels had been captured.

At the same time there are no signs to back up rumors that the insurgent captain is picking up support from other military dissidents.

There are some indications, however, that Castro may not be able to count on mountain campesinos (peasants) — as he often said he could — to track down his foes. In this area of near-the Sierra Maestra His movement gathered support steadily until it drove Batista into exile. Although some of the campesinos liken Castro's increasingly embarrassing position to that of Batista during the revolution, they are not inclined to give Beaton much of a chance of success.

There are also suggestions that the peasants don't regard Beaton with the same fervor they held for Castro in his revolt. Beaton is accused of killing Francisco Tamayo, a well-liked man in his 60s who fought with Castro during the revolution and returned to farming after victory. When Beaton fled to the hills, Castro reportedly summoned Tamayo back to duty, and he met his death leading an untrained militia unit into the mountains. In that action Beaton and his band reportedly disarmed 50 of the militia.

Castro-in 1958 launched his successful revolution against Dictator Fulgencio Batista with a nucleus of only a dozen men operating in the Sierra Maestra. His movement gathered support steadily until it drove Batista into exile. Although some of the campesinos liken Castro's increasingly embarrassing position to that of Batista during the revolution, they are not inclined to give Beaton much of a chance of success.

French Police Deny Kidnaper Is Caught

PARIS (AP)—Amid reports that his kidnapers were being run to earth, 4-year-old Eric Peugeot was home safe and sound today, although "still upset." His abductors freed him early this morning on a Paris sidewalk not far from home—supposedly after payment of ransom.

At one point the French News Agency reported two men and a woman had been arrested in Paris as the boy's kidnapers. But within minutes national police headquarters denied the story.

The 4-year-old heir to a French automobile empire was found unharmed crying on a sidewalk within half a mile of his home shortly before 1 a.m. today. He said he had been left there by two men, apparently the same pair who whisked him away from the playground at an exclusive St. Cloud Country Club Tuesday afternoon.

The newspaper France-Soir reported that Eric's father, Roland Peugeot, said he had paid a ransom to the kidnapers Thursday afternoon. The amount was not revealed, but the abductors had demanded $100,000.

Eric and his parents were in their sixth-floor apartment this morning, the drapes drawn and four police on guard outside.

"To get Eric released I scrupulously followed the conditions of the kidnapers," Peugeot was reported to have said. "I had to have confidence in them. They asked me to deliver the ransom to a specific place. I did it. Then there was nothing to do but wait. The last hours by the telephone were the most cruel."

Eric was examined by a doctor and pronounced in good health.

Questioned closely, he said: "I went saying: 'I acted absolutely alone, without the aid of the police' in obtaining the release of Eric."

He made no mention of the ransom and answered no questions about it.

Gillet said search for the kidnapers got started in earnest after the boy was freed at 1 a.m.

"We promised the family," he said, "we did not wish to do anything to frighten the kidnapers."

He said Eric had been unable to give more than a superficial account of his captivity and the men who held him.

Then, snuggling up to his father, he added, "I am very happy now."

Blinking back tears his father Eric Peugeot appeared to speak briefly to hundreds of newsmen. "I am very happy. I hardly think there is anything more to say."

Then, he led his wife and two sons, Eric and 7-year-old Jean-Philippe, before a battery of photographers for a few seconds.

The father read a brief statement.

West Texas Milk Pricing Is Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Small Business Committee has been told that cut-throat competition and price discrimination exists in the sale of milk in the Monahans, Odessa and Midland areas of West Texas.

The committee is probing marketing practices of the dairy industry.

Conditions in West Texas were checked by Brooks Roberson, investigator-analyst for the committee, after Rep. J. T. Rutherford received complaints from some retail distributors.

The report, placed in the Congressional Record, told of what House Democratic Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts called "chaotic and deplorable conditions" in the dairying industry in widespread parts of the nation.

Observing that very little milk is produced in the West Texas cities named and that it must be brought in from such points as Abilene, Dallas and New Orleans, the report says:

"It appears that the intense competition for this business has produced the use of large discounts and rebates involving discriminatory pricing in many instances.

"One independent businessman having the agency for the product of a New Orleans dairy, advised that he does not grant discounts or pay rebates, but simply reduces his list price to meet wholesale and retail competitive prices that have been reduced by the discount system.

"The alleged cut-throat competition in this market has, in the opinion of those interviewed, resulted in below-cost selling and discriminatory pricing, resulting in a disastrous effect on the small distributors in the area.

"Confusion and fear or reprisals and loss of business appear to dominate the small businessmen in this industry in this area and reluctance was noted on their part to document their problems."

The report added that some detailed information was received but is being kept secret in committee files.

Addison Runs For Governor On New Third Party Ticket

DALLAS (AP) — Uranium promoter John Milton Addison is running for governor of Texas as the standard bearer of "The Clean 'Em Out Right Party."

Addison announced Thursday night formation of the third party with himself as its only candidate.

One plank in his platform advocates that the governor and his appointees serve without pay.

Addison said he will "depend on thousands of friends and associates in Texas" to organize and carry out his campaign.

"I have plans for extensive use of radio, television and other media of advertising in the very near future," he said.

State law requires that Addison secure 7,500 signatures for his party to be recognized officially on the ballot.

"We already have most of them," an Addison spokesman said. He added that individuals who have loaned Addison more than one million dollars for uranium operations in Arizona and Colorado will be organized into a campaign force.

"While the exact dates have not been set," he continued, "we have two big rallies planned—one in Dallas and another in Houston. The one in Houston is really going to be something.

"There are some influential people in the state involved in this, but I can't tell you who they are—by name. I'll tell you this much though, their names will shock the pants right off you."

Addison, who is 34, has been involved in various court bankruptcy proceedings as a result of money he obtained from investors in his Benson ingrader, a machine for processing uranium ore. He was acquitted in San Antonio last year on a charge of defrauding after insisting the money he received was in the form of loans and not investments.

He announced this 10-point platform:

1. Bring back free enterprise.
2. State officials should be financially able and patriotic enough to serve their terms for no pay.
3. Professional politicians will have to go.
4. Double the money for schools.
5. Bring more industry to Texas.
6. Lower taxes through more industries.
7. Give the government back to the people where it belongs.
8. Depend on churches and educators for governmental planning.
9. Streamline our transportation system.
10. Streamline our state institutions (state hospitals, prisons, mental institutions etc.)

Easter Observance Set Coast To Coast

By The Associated Press

The resurrection of Christ, the most glorious of all Christian holidays, will be celebrated Easter Sunday with prayer and song and story from mountain top and valley and from coast to coast.

The most spectacular services are planned for out-of-door arenas. But millions of Americans will celebrate the Holy Day to the ring of Psalms and the tang of incense in the privacy of their churches.

Before and after religious services, traditional Easter parades will give worshipers a chance to display spring finery. The greatest of these is New York's annual Fifth Avenue parade, when tens of thousands turn the normally busy artery into a mall. Police headquarters has ordered advertising and other commerical features barred from the parade.

Manhattan's other major Easter event will be the 41st annual Easter dawn service which is expected to draw a capacity 7,000 to Sixth Avenue's Radio City Music Hall. The congregation will be asked to pray that Christ's influence be felt at the impending summit conference of the Big Four nations.

On the West Coast, Yosemite National Park in California boasts the latest sunrise Eastern service in all the 50 states. The sun does not pierce the shadow of half dome mountain to bring dawn to Mirror Lake until 9:15 a.m. A college of the Pacific choir will greet this belated sunrise from a split of land on the shore of the lake.

Worshipers in San Francisco will climb the city's highest hill for services at the foot of a giant cross atop Mt. Davidson.

Elsewhere in California, Vivienne Della Chiesa will be guest soloist at the 40th annual sunrise service expected to draw 20,000 to the Hollywood Bowl. Other major observances will be held at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Mt. Helix near San Diego, and on a bluff above Avalon Bay on Santa Catalina Island.

At Mt. Rubidoux in Riverside, 60 miles southeast of Los Angeles, torchlights held by Boy Scouts and high school ROTC cadets will light the way for pilgrims who annually climb 1,337 feet up the mountain for sunrise services. Sponsors of the event, first held in 1909, claim it is the nation's oldest of its kind.

The Air Academy choir will sing in the Garden of the Gods near Colorado Springs. This sunrise service and another at the Park of Red Rocks west of Denver are expected to draw nearly 30,000 persons.

A huge cross will be the magnet for worshipers at Bald Knob, Ill., highest spot in the state, where annual outdoor services are scheduled. The devout from five states take part in the pilgrimage. A forest mail carrier and a country parson originated the observance 23 years ago.

Southward, thousands from many states are expected to begin arriving at midnight for the annual outdoor Easter pageant in the Wichita Mountains near Lawton, Okla. It continues until dawn.

Editor Edward W. Bok's memorial gift, the Bok Singing Tower, will draw nearly 5,000 to a mountain lake sanctuary near Lake Wales, Fla. for sunrise services.

Crucifixion Story Recited Beside An Empty Tomb

JERUSALEM, Jordan Section (AP) — The story of the Crucifixion was recited beside an empty tomb in Jerusalem this Good Friday in the babel of ancient and long-dead languages widely spoken at the time of Christ.

Each of the old liturgical languages represents a Christian community with jealously guarded traditional rights in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Normally, Oriental and Western churches have Easter at different times because of calendar differences but this year they celebrate Easter together.

This means there must be careful planning and spokesmen timing of services in the church to avoid friction.

If an Orthodox priest lights a lamp belonging to Armenians a near riot will follow.

The feeling is so strong on these points that the various rights have been written into international treaties. One such dispute in Bethlehem was a contributing cause to the outbreak of the Crimean War.

The first language used in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre Good Friday morning was the Latin tongue spoken by a Roman Centurion who stood beside the cross and declared: "Surely this was the Son of God." Roman Catholics gathered in the church to hold an early service.

By 9:30 a.m. the Latins had to make way for the Greek Orthodox, whose liturgy embodies Greek spoken by the Apostle Paul and most educated persons in New Testament times.

In the afternoon the language of Pharaohs and the language spoken by Christ mingled when the Syrians and Egyptians both held a burial service at the Holy Sepulchre almost simultaneously.

In their liturgy, the Syrian Orthodox Christians use the Aramaic language spoken by Christ and most of his disciples.

It was the tongue in which Jesus cried from the Cross, "My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me."

While these ancient tongues were used in liturgies, modern languages like German, English, Spanish and Italian were used in sermons and prayer as pilgrims carried heavy crosses along the Way of the Cross. They carried crosses from the place of Christ's trial before Pilate to the Holy Sepulchre, stopping at each of the 14 Stations of the Cross to hear sermons in their own language.

South Africans Braced For Threat Of Another Boycott

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South Africa's government braced today to meet the threat of another crippling Negro work boycott protesting the white regime's stern racial policies.

Police kicked off a new series of raids against "inciters and agitators," rounding up 100 persons in the African settlement of Orlando, on the outskirts of Johannesburg.

The outlawed African National Congress' emergency committee circulated pamphlets through Orlando and other Johannesburg Negro settlements Thursday calling for a one-week work boycott beginning Monday.

Deputy Police Commissioner C. J. Lemmer warned that "the hundreds of thousands of law abiding Africans must not stay away from work."

"They must ignore the pamphlets if they have received them. They must not allow themselves to be intimidated," Lemmer declared, adding that "police will be on duty in full force and will be able to provide all the protection needed."

The government of wounded Prime Minister Hendrik S. Verwoerd clearly planned to take all necessary measures to prevent a repetition of the no-work campaign—a potent economic weapon in this country where three million whites lean heavily on the labor of 10 million Negroes.

The African Congress demanded that have been held annually since 1927.

In Miami's Orange Bowl, 40,000 or more are expected to attend a seven-scene pageant depicting the last days of Christ. The annual feature is presented at Easter sunrise and again in the evening.

Where the Ohio River meets the Big Sandy at Kenova, W.Va., an annual outdoor service will again be held. And in Memorial Stadium in Baltimore, other thousands will gather with the sunrise.

And far to the north, on a pine-crested New Hampshire knoll-near Rindge, solemn non-denominational services will be held at sunrise before an altar enshrined to the nation's war dead.

European Royalty Passing Up Wedding

LONDON (AP) — The British royal family's haughty attitude toward the nuptials of other royalty in the past was blamed today for what amounts to a boycott of Princess Margaret's wedding by Europe's few remaining crowned heads.

The "so sorry" turndowns pleading previous engagements have brought embarrassment to Buckingham Palace.

Only Queen Ingrid of Denmark is known to have sent word that she is coming to Margaret's wedding May 6 to former society photographer Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Eat Like Hunzukuts And Be Young at 100

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Beauty Editor

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO live to be 120?

You would suffer little pain in your lifetime, have no worries and be a happy type.

This attractive set-up is within your grasp— well, almost— if you could just live like the Hunzukuts, a people who live high in the Himalaya mountains of Pakistan. Their existence is portrayed by Dr. Allen E. Banik optometrist, student of geriatrics and traveler, in his new book "Hunza Land."

Hunzukuts rise at five in the morning, take a short nap in the afternoon and retire about nine in the evening. The men are straight, tall, b r o a d-shouldered, deep-chested, slimwaisted, heavy-legged. Women are attractive and there are no fat women in Hunza, the author says.

Their soil is enriched by silt from the mountain waters and there are no commercial fertilizers used in the gardens— it is against the law to use chemicals in a Hunza garden.

Everything that can serve as food for vegetables; field crops and fruit trees goes into the ground, Banik says:

"Sunken compost pits are conveniently located, and into them go ashes from cooking and heating fires, inedible parts of vegetables pulverized animal bones, dead leaves, rotten wood and animal manure."

Hunzukuts live mainly on fruits —apricots, peaches, apples, cherries; watermelons, and grapes; vegetables —potatoes, tomatoes, carrotes, onions, garlic, peas, beans; nuts—walnuts; goat milk; meat—mutton; beef and wild sheep. Eggs are scarce and pork is prohibited by the faith. Chickens are a nuisance the Hunzukuts don't encourage. They drink white and red wine.

Apricot trees, the author writes "are so prized that on the death of the owner they are willed to a favorite son or other relative." Corn-on-the-cob is eaten raw in the milk stage. Beans and peas are soaked for one or two days, then eaten raw when they begin to sprout. Meat dishes are stews with fresh vegetables.

Banik offers suggestions on how to take advantage of the Hunza lessons in nutrition. His advice will not surprise addicts of health foods or those Hollywood movie stars who pride themselves on their health-prescribed diets.

He suggests buying organically grown food, even if we don't grow it; buying fresh produce and eating it soon for freshness, steaming or cooking vegetables in a minimum of water, eating liberal portions of salad, raw root vegetables, fresh fruits in season and substituting dried fruits (perferably unsulphured and sundried) when fresh fruits are not available.

Eat germinated grain or beans and include animal organs (brain, kidney, liver) in your diet. Eat whole-grain bread, fresh fruit and butter, and unprocessed c h e e s e. Drink milk, buttermilk, skimmed milk or yogurt. He suggests sunflower seeds, herb teas, apricot oil, sunflower oil, and seasame oil as further enrichment for the human body.

Every Little Girl Wants New Dress

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

THE SURE WAY to the heart of any girl, big or little, is to give her a new dress.

Little girls thrill to the joy of new finery from playpen age up. And along about this time of year all girls are thinking of spring. So what better time is there to start your spring sewing, and whip up some gay new dresses for your favorite small glamor girl.

A fine idea is the sleeveless dress and cover-up bolero, which can be worn with the jacket now, without it as a sun dress in summer.

The sample dress made by local sewing center experts uses a washable acetate and rayon fabric in solid color sunny yellow for the dress, and a coordinated print for the bolero. Select the pattern size by the child's chest measurements. Self-fabric is used for piping at waistline and for the four covered buttons down the back of the notched bolero, giving the outfit a custom look. It is recommended that button-holes be stitched twice, using the buttonholer attachment to your sewing machine.

A neckline zipper should be inserted in the back of the dress bodice. A nice finishing touch for this crisp, full-skirted little dress is to attach a frilly petticoat. The ruffling may be done in next to no time by using the ruffling attachment on your machine.

These French Buns Hold A Surprise

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

WHAT ARE little French boys and girls made of? Slabs of bread and sticks of dark chocolate— if their standard after-school fare counts!

This b r e a d-and-c h o c o l a t e s n a c k has been welcomed in France for years and years. So much so that long ago the custom inspired Gallic chefs to bake the chocolate right into a kind of bun. Thus "petits pains au chocolat were born.

An American friend who grew up in France told us recently that when he thinks nostalgically of these buns he can still savor the remembered taste of the croissant-like pastry. Then he recalled how as a little boy he would carefully and gravely look over a plate of petits pains to choose one that had chocolate oozing out of its sides!

The first American recipe for petite pains that we ever came a c r o s s was introduced half a dozen years ago and was made from a rick baking powder biscuit dough in which water was substituted for the usual milk. The following recipe is made with a yeast dough that is nearer the French original.

All t a s t e r s in our kitchen agreed that this American version must be offered fresh and hot from the oven, with the chocolate lusciously soft. Because the French use dark sweet chocolate to enclose in their rolls, we follow suit; the sweet cooking chocolate called for in this recipe has the needed robust flavor.

CHOCOLATE SURPRISE ROOLS

INGREDIENTS: ½ cup milk, 1-3 cup sugar, teaspoon salt, ¼ cup butter or margarine; ¼ cup warm (105 to 115 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast, 2 eggs (slightly beaten), 3½ cups (about) sifted flour, 2 packages (¼ pound each) sweet cooking chocolate, 1 egg (slightly beaten) for brushing roll tops, ½ cup slivered slightly toasted blanched almonds, confectioners' sugar.

METHOD: Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into a large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture and the 2 eggs. Add 2 cups of the flour; beat until smooth; stir in enough of the remaining flour to make a soft dough; mix thoroughly. Turn dough out on prepared pastry cloth or lightly floured board, cover and let rest 5 minutes; k n e a d dough 5 minutes until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover with a damp cloth and allow to rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk-about 1 hours. Punch dough down and turn out on prepared pastry cloth; roll out into an 18 by 8-inch rectangle. Brush lightly with extra melted butter and cut into 36 2-inch squares (4 cuts lengthwise and 9 a c r o s s). Place 1 square of chocolate catercornered in the center of each square of dough. Bring the opposite corners of dough over the top of the chocolate and pinch together tightly. Place on lightly gressed cookie sheet; let rise until double in bulk— about 30 minutes. Brush with slightly beaten egg and sprinkle with almonds. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Know Your Hospital

"About 85 per cent of the persons over age 65 interviewed recently for the Health Information Foundation said they had some health complaint or other illness that had bothered them within the previous 4 weeks, the Foundation reported last month. Only 1-3 of the persons interviewed who had a health complaint had told a physician about it.

Persons 65 and over were found to average 7.6 visits to doctors a year per capita, or about 2 visits a year more than the average for all age groups in the country. The survey also showed that almost two out of every five older persons had not seen a doctor during the previous twelve months and 10 percent of the survey group had not been to a physician in five years or more.

"Economic factor seem to be a relatively minor element in this reluctance to see a physician," said George Bugbee, Foundation president. Even though incomes are generally lower among the older age groups, only 3 per cent of all persons 65 and older said they had delayed consulting a physician because of the cost, he said.

Early results of the survey were published in the Foundation monthly bulletin, Progress In Health Services."

Do, the first of the Do-Re-Mi musical scales, was invented by and named for G.B. Doni (Do-ni) who d i e d in 1763. He was an authority on music of the ancients.

Education Important To Women

TODAY'S WOMEN
By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Why send Mary to college if she is going to get married before graduation?

This is a question that parents are asking in increasing numbers, and that educators are answering in no uncertain terms.

The consensus of the Commission on the Education of Women of the American Council of Education is that a college education is more important to today's women than ever before in history, whether their careers lie in or outside of the home.

The effects of the current trend toward early marriages is pointed out in a new bulletin of the commission by Mabel Newcomer, emeritus professor of economics at Vassar College, who says:

"A century ago the universities and colleges open to women could be numbered on the fingers of one's hands. Today more are open to women than to men. But while women's right to knowledge is now accepted there are new doubts about its usefulness."

She says "our greatest waste in brain power comes from the failure of so many more girls than boys among the best of our high school graduates to go to college.

"The real problem is, how can they get a college education when they marry so young?"

Several solutions are offered by leading educators from various sections of the country, with Opal D. David as director. In a current statement both parents and teachers are urged to impress on high school girls the importance of continuing their education through at least four years of college.

Another solution is for women to go back to college and careers after their children are grown.

Mrs. Bearden Hostess To Circle Meet

The Training Circle of the Womens Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Lowell Bearden Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Derral Lambert, circle chairman; conducted the business. She announced that Mrs. Walter Mitchell will bring the Bible study program for Tuesday, April 26. The members elected to answer roll call each meeting with a Bible verse.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

in Letter to editor
To The Daily News:

Considering this is Pan American Week, it has made me wonder about our Spanish heritage.

The Spaniards were the first white men to settle in the United States, and this is including Texas. Therefore, Much of our culture is of Spanish origin. The first horses in America can be credited to the Spaniards. Also, some things we do not realize are that the cowboys' outfit and the rodeo are of Spanish origin.

Our vocabulary contains many Spanish words. Even some of our cities and states have Spanish names, such as Florida, California, Nevada, Colorado, Amarillo, La Mesa and San Antonio. Much of our music and dances are also Spanish.

Spanish is the oldest melting pot of Europe. That is the reason that some Spaniards are dark, some fair with dark hair and some are blonde.

Latin-Americans are either of Spanish descent, Indian Descent, or a mixture of both.

Therefore, when I stop and think, I realize that our Spanish heritage is one of the many things we Americans have in common with Latin America.

San Jacinto Fete Slated

HOUSTON (AP)—A two-day celebration of the anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto begins Wednesday.

On April 21, 1836, an outnumbered army headed by Gen. Sam Houston won Texas' independence from Mexico in the brief, decisive battle on the banks of Buffalo Bayou 25 miles east of Houston.

This year is the first time for the San Jacinto Chapter of the Sons of the Republic of Texas to arrange a two-day observance of the anniversary. The expanded program is the first phase of a long-range plan to add additional festivities from year to year.

Wednesday's schedule will include an oratorical contest, a pageant of flags and princesses, and a heritage ball.

On Thursday, the actual anniversary, Gov. Price Daniel will review the Texas naval fleet from aboard the battleship Texas. He also will speak at afternoon ceremonies at the base of the San Jacinto monument at the Battleground Park.

Object Hurled By Mower Hits Woman

Mrs. Joe Evans of the Lamesa Highway was injured late Thursday evening when a flying object thrown by a power mower severely cut her right leg.

Mrs. Evans 64, was in her yard watching a boy cut the lawn with a power mower when the object flew through the air and cut a deep hole in her leg. Exactly what the object was has not been determined. Neighbors stated that there were rocks and glass in the yard that could have been picked up by the mower.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by a Boiger Funeral Home ambulance, Mrs. Evans was given emergency treatment and admitted to the hospital.

Found: Someone Willing To Run For Vice Presidency

By INEZ ROBB

What is it that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller won't touch with a 20-foot pole; Vice Pres. Richard Nixon wouldn't have as a precious gift; Sen. Jack Kennedy won't consider; Adlai Stevenson won't even discuss, and the Messrs. Stuart Symington, H. H. Humphrey and Lyndon Johnson dismiss out of hand?

And at which I am about to jump?

Why, the Vice Presidential nomination! What else?

For years I have dwelt among untrodden ways, with no yen whatsoever for public office. And this happy condition might have persisted in perpetuity but for a Miss Thursa Ford of Daytona Beach, Fla., who has just nominated me for the Vice Presidency.

Miss Ford, whom I do not know, in a letter to Ed Koterba, a fellow columnist, nominates a female ticket in the coming Presidential election. She probably works on the theory that les girls can't louse up the political situation any more effectively than les boys, who have been in charge for so long.

With my widely advertised devotion to med and more of them, I would ordinarily be opposed to anything even faintly resembling a women's party or a women's ticket, such as Miss Ford suggests. It has always seemed to me that a woman is happier running after a man than an office.

On the other hand, somebody—just anybody—ought to be willing, despite his pride and political ambitions, to run voluntarily for the Vice Presidency. At the present moment, it looks as if both major parties will have to resort not so much to a draft as a dragnet if either rounds up a man for second place on its ticket.

Well, I don't aim to be coy or play hard-to-get. I don't want to be President. Why, I have enough humility to satisfy even Arthur Godfrey—I don't really think I'd be a good President. So I thank Miss Ford for her kind nomination and accept the little lonesome, politically repugnant job nobody else wants.

And I wish Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R., Me.) the best of health since on Miss Ford's ticket I am the Senator's running mate. Perhaps I shouldn't step up and volunteer until Sen. Smith okays my candidacy. Under the rules of the game, the Presidential nominee has the final say in the choice of Veep, or in this case, Veepess.

However, I persist in thinking that we would make an interesting combo, with Sen. Smith twanging the liberal Republican guitar and me whamming the Jeffersonian Democratic banjo. It would probably come out progressive jazz and all that.

Now, the electorate may want to know my qualifications for the office. In the first place, I have naturally curly hair, which is a major blessing in any job that calls for hot-footing it in strange places all over the globe. E. Arden just isn't that ubiquitous.

In the second place, I have a real talent for foreign foods, although a steady diet of unidentified oddments wrapped in grape leaves can get monotonous. But, on the other hand, a Vice President never seems to light for very long.

And thirdly, I would be above suspicion as I already have an oriental rug, a fur coat, a food freezer and a credit card to take care of hotel bills. And I don't have any friends with yachts. I also ahave a Democratic cloth coat and, fool that I am, have had the sleeves shortened to elbow length to keep up with Dior, with resultant chilblains on elbows this cold spring.

It's Difficult To Entertain The Masses

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Director Sidney Lumet believes there is one thing wrong with mass-produced entertainment — it doesn't entertain the masses.

"Entertainment in the future will have to do more than just divert a man from his worries," he said. "It will have to give him something.

"Man is getting a lot more curious. He wants something in his life that will make him feel differently, to see differently, a sense of discovery.

At 35, Lumet, who began acting at the age of 5, has put his directorial stamp on several hundred television shows, two Broadway plays and four films.

The young director has an acid disdain for big-business influence in the creative fields.

"The greatest danger in the entertainment future is that as the need for more entertainment grows and more money can be made, it will become more organized on an assembly-line basis," he said.

"But I don't believe mass-produced entertainment winds up as real entertainment. It winds up as time-filler—like so many drops of water on the head.

"And the pay-TV boys won't solve the problem. They'll only be making you pay for 'Queen for a Day' instead of letting you see it for nothing.

"An interesting thing to me is that not one of the pay-TV systems has guaranteed that it won't carry paid advertising—not one.

"They're not going to take a chance. They're going to try to get it both ways."

Lumet feels that an unwillingness to take chances is the curse of "the business mentality" and bigness itself in the entertainment field.

"The business mind keeps looking for a safety area—for an absolutely sure thing.

"There is no such thing in entertainment. It's an out-and-out gamble—like a horse race.

Rockefeller Still In GOP Picture

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican party leaders last fall treated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York like a gate-crasher at an exclusive party where Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the guest of honor.

So out he went, but under his own power.

The frigid treatment he got so chilled his presidential ambitions—or at least his enthusiasm for making a race of it against Nixon—that the day after last Christmas he withdrew and left Nixon alone in the field.

What he said and what he left unsaid have to be balanced against each other. He said he was no longer a candidate but he didn't say he would object if the Republicans at their convention this summer decided to draft him.

He made no bones about the way Republicans around the country treated him. The professional Republican politicians, that is.

He said: "The great majority of those who will control the Republican convention stand opposed to any contest for the nomination."

But that didn't dim what seemed to be his belief he is a better man for the presidency than Nixon. From that day to this he has never once given his backing to Nixon by name.

And now, just as Nixon is running into some small bumps, comes the news that Rockefeller is going to resume his travels among Republicans around the country.

Nixon, who seemed a shoo-in for the Republicans' presidential nomination at their convention, has stayed pretty mum all year, as if speeches and statements on where he stands would be practically unnecessary till the campaign begins.

This was a little reminiscent—but in reverse — of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1948 presidential race.

Dewey did a lot of talking in the pre-convention days that year when he was trying to beat Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold Stassen for the Republican nomination.

When he finally got it he seemed to believe what the pollsters told him: That he was a cinch to beat President Truman.

Oldtimers Put LA Into National Lead

By The Associated Press

So it's early yet and it may not mean a thing, but Duke Snider and Gil Hodges, too old to do it again, and Ed Roebuck, a forgotten reliever, have the Los Angeles Dodgers in first place at the moment.

Snider belted a home run, his first hit of the season, and Hodges triggered a a two-run ninth that gave Roebuck his first victory since 1957 in a 3-2 decision over winless St. Louis Thursday night. That hoisted the world champs into a share of the National League lead with San Francisco and the Chicago Cubs, who handed the Giants their first loss, 6-5, with a walk and wind-blown double in the ninth.

The Milwaukee Braves blew a three-run lead and lost 5-4 in 10 innings to the Philadelphia Phillies, left without a manager when Eddie Sawyer called it quits earlier in the day. The Pittsburgh Pirates walloped Cincinnati 13-0 behind Vern Law's seven-hit pitching.

The Giants, who overcame Ernie Banks' third-inning grand slam homer with home runs by Willie Kirkland and Willie McCovey, were beaten when reliever Billy O'Dell walked Bob Will in the ninth and Thomas lofted a bases-loaded fly ball. The ball dropped for a double behind short and will was home. Don Elston, second of four Cub pitchers, won it in relief of starter Seth Morehead, who gave up a third Giant homer to Orlando Cepeda.

The Phillies, directed by coach Andy Cohen while awaiting the arrival of new manager Gene Mauch from the Minneapolis Millers of the American Assn., chased Milwaukee starter Carl Willey with three sixth-inning runs on homers by Bobby Del Greco and winning reliever Don Cardwell. In the 10th, Del Greco walked, stole second against losing reliever Juan Pizarro and scored on Joe Koppe's single.

Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock hit home runs for the Braves in a three-run first against left-hander Curt Simmons, trying for a comeback with the Phillies. Al Dark put away the 2,000th hit of his career with an infield single for the Phils.

Law, Pittsburgh's top winner last year, didn't walk a man and struck out two. The Bucs, rapped Cal McLish, a Cleveland ace last season, for five extra base hits and a 5-0 lead in three innings. Bob Clemente, 3-for-3, drove in five runs and Bill Mazeroski, who homered, drove in four as Law won his fifth in a row against the Reds at Forbes Field since 1956.

In the American League still playing exhibitions, Baltimore beat Kansas City 3-0, Cleveland defeated Boston 5-1, Detroit smacked Washington 8-3, and the New York Yankees out-slugged their Richmond farm club in the International League 15-10.

NOT ENOUGH ALTITUDE—Both legs are off the ground, but Bob Nieman, St. Louis outfielder didn't have enough altitude to make first base safely in the game against the San Francisco Giants at San Francisco. Giants' Willie McCovey already has the ball and all that is needed is the out sign from Umpire Ken Burkhart. Harry Walker (3) Cardinal first base coach watches the action. Giants won 6-1. Memphis Stater Is Collegiate Leader

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gene Dixon, a chubby Memphis State senior, held a three-stroke lead today as the third round began in the sixth annual National Intercollegiate invitation golf tournament.

Starting with an eagle three on the first hole, Dixon scored a four-under par 68 second round Thursday for 139 at the halfway mark of the 72-hole tournament.

Three strokes back were two University of Houston sophomores, Larry Beck and Homero Blancas. Beck had 73-69 — 142 Blancas 72-70—142.

The Houston foursome that also includes Jack Cupit and Tony Marimon, two members of the school's 1959 NCAA championship team, scored a tournament record 279 second round while boosting its team medal lead to 22 points over Louisiana State.

The nine-under-par 279 broke the old mark of 281 set by Houston in 1957, and gave the Cougars a 36-hole 575.

Louisiana State had 597, North Texas held third place at 608.

Cupit held fourth place in individual medal with a 75-68—143. Don Essig, the 1959 champion from LSU had a 74-70—144, while Marimon had a 76-62—148.

Team match semifinals today placed Houston against Texas A&M and LSU against North Texas.

Team scores included:

Oklahoma State 612, Texas A&M 619, Texas Tech 620, Tulsa 622, New Mexico 623, Memphis State 623, Baylor 628, Arizona State 632, Southern Methodist 632, Texas 639, Western Illinois 647, Oklahoma 651, and Rice 653.

Houston Thursday defeated New Mexico 6-0, while A&M turned back SMU on low medal for a 3-3 tie. LSU defeated Tulsa 6-0 and North Texas defeated Oklahoma State 5½-½.

Consolation matches saw Memphis State defeat Western Illinois 4½-1½, Baylor defeat Rice 5-1, Texas defeated Oklahoma 3½-2½, and Texas Tech win on low medal in a 3-3 tie with Arizona State.

Houston, with all four of its players taking birdies on the final green a second straight day, pulled into a tie with North Texas for the low four-ball lead at 130.

Cupit and Blancas shared the low two-ball lead at 134 with Essig and Sam Carmichael of LSU.

Roomy Candlestick Still Vulnerable

By ALAN CLINE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Take it from the Chicago Cubs, especially Ernie Banks, home runs can be hit in the San Francisco Giants' new Candlestick Park.

"They told me no home runs here," said Cub Manager Charley Grimm, "and then I see balls flying out like aspirin tablets."

Banks hit a grand slammer in six innings to help the Cubs to a 6-5 triumph Thursday night, and the Giants' Orlando Cepeda, Willie Kirkland and Willie McCovey also cleared the fences.

McCovey tied it at 5-5 in the eighth with a three-run 400-foot blast.

The Cubs won in the ninth when Bob Will walked and scored on Frank Thomas' sky high double that mixed up both the Giant infield and outfield.

Will kept running as the ball dropped in center field between Cepeda and shortstop Eddie Bressoud, who threw wild to the plate. Thomas was credited with a run batted in. Bressoud was charged with an error.

"I just quit running," Bressoud said later in taking the blame.

Until Thursday night only Kirkland had homered in the new park. Cepeda, who hit a towering shot which was caught at the 420-foot marker in deepest center opening day, said he couldn't hit a ball any harder. Some fans questioned this as they would like to see one hit out of the lot.

In the fourth, starter Jack Sanford loaded the bases. Banks, for two years the league's most valuable player, swung at a two-out, 2-2 pitch. The ball landed in the right field seats, 365 feet away.

Joe Sewell of the Cleveland Indians set a major league record in 1925 when he struck out only four times in 155 games.

Philly Bewildered Over Sawyer Move

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Did Eddie Sawyer quit because he was tired of managing or because he read the handwriting on the wall?

Through the question inquiring reporters tried to get answered Thursday night before the Philadelphia Phillies, under acting manager Andy Cohen, met the Milwaukee Braves at Connie Mack Stadium.

The unexpected resignation of the 49-year-old Sawyer and immediate appointment of Gene Mauch as his successor landed on the Philadelphia sports scene like a bombshell.

"I just don't care to manage a major league club or any club," asserted Sawyer Thursday in giving up one of the 16 coveted major league managerships.

Phillies' owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn said they were shocked over Sawyer's decision.

"He'd still be managing if he wanted to," Quinn said.

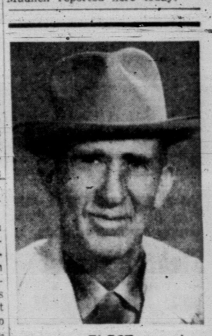

"I'm disappointed in Eddie," commented. Carpenter, was brought Sawyer back in mid-season of 1958, for his second term as manager. Carpenter at that time expressed the hope Sawyer could take the youngsters budding in the Phillies' farm system and develop them into a pennant winner in the same manner he did in the late 1940s.

Asked point blank if Sawyer gave up the ghost because he was being told from the front office whom to play, Quinn said, "I never told a manager whom to play, and I never will."

"Sawyer has a free hand on the field. Certainly we discussed the merits of players, their condition, etc., but I never interfered with him."

It has been widely speculated that although Quinn and Sawyer were good friends, the one-time college professor was not Quinn's type of manager. It has been felt in some quarters that Sawyer wouldn't last the season in this graveyard of managers. The 34-year-old Mauch will be the Phillies' sixth skipper since 1950.

The speed with which Quinn brought in Mauch from Minneapolis indicated he had been thinking in terms of the American Assn. manager as a possible replacement for Sawyer. Quinn says he had several men in mind, but Mauch was the first he asked to take the job. It was Quinn incidentally who recommended Mauch for his first managerial post at Atlanta seven years ago. Maunch reported here today.

OU Vaulter Eyeing 16' In Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Oklahoma's J. D. Martin will be aiming at the magical 16 feet in the pole vault tonight when the Sooners hook up with Texas, Texas A&M and Southern Methodist in the seventh annual Dallas invitational track meet.

Martin has come close to it before—he did 15 feet 9¾ inches only last Tuesday. While it bettered the world's record by a half-inch, it isn't likely to be accepted because of efforts to keep the crossbar from falling off in the teeth of a strong wind.

He might have to vault under similar conditions here if weather indications are fulfilled—scattered showers and a strong south wind. But Martin should better the meet record of 14 feet 2 inches.

Oklahoma will vie with Texas in record potentials and the meet also looks like a close fight between the two teams for the title. Texas, with more balance, is a slight favorite.

Mike Lindsay of Oklahoma may crack the shot and discus throw records. Gail Hodgson of Oklahoma might better his own mile record—he did 4:09.9 last week, which is nine-tenths of a second under the Dallas mark—and hurdler Ray Cunningham of Texas appears capable of wiping out some records.

Texas also is strong in both relays and might hang up a record in the mile event. The current mark is 3:13.0.

Jan Ahlberg of Southern Methodist, who holds the 2-mile record of 9:13.2, may not take that down. He has been slowed by an infected foot and will pass up the mile, in which he also was entered.

STANLEY CUPPERS

Montreal Claimed To Be Best Ever

TORONTO (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens were hailed today as the greatest all-round team in the history of professional hockey following the winning of the Stanley Cup for an unprecedented fifth straight year.

The power-packed Canadiens wrapped up the National Hockey League's postseason competition Thursday night with a 4-0 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The triumph gave the league champions a sweep of the two playoff series — a feat accomplished only once before. That was by Detroit in 1952.

En route to the finals, the Canadiens eliminated the Chicago Black Hawks four games to none with goalie Jacques Plante turning in two shutouts. Thursday night's shutout was his only one in the four games with Toronto.

Counting the last two victories over Toronto a year ago, the Canadiens have won 10 straight playoff games. They have been a finalist in the postseason competition for 10 straight years.

Jean Beliveau, at 29 one of the great stars of the power-packed club, was the leading scorer in the game. He scored the first and last goals. In between Doug Harvey and Henri Richard tallied.

Eddie Kasko, Cincinnati infielder, batted .369 against St. Louis last season. He formerly played for the Cardinals.

The Iowa-Notre Dame football series began in 1921. The Irish have won nine games, Iowa six. Three games were ties.

The IMMORTAL

. . . and may we sing Hallelujah! For Christ the Lord is risen. The lilies are in bloom and men and angels are in jubilation.

Because He lives, we know we too shall live.

The Greeks were wrong.

Man is not mortal, but rather immortal.

For God hath set eternity in the heart of man.

This Easter, we share the immortality of Jesus Christ. His journey to Golgotha transfigured the cross forever, turning that symbol of suffering into a symbol of triumphant life.

Then let us live like women and men who expect to go on and on forever . . . world without end. This is indeed our true Christian hope. This is what Easter means to us today.

You In The Church
The Church In You

— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Ministers of all faiths and the community-minded firms below persuade you to read this Spiritual Values page and make it a part of your life . . . it is your heritage.
