Passing is 'must'...

Graduation testing scheduled Oct. 1-2

A state-mandated exit level test — one which will be the final word regarding if a high school diploma is issued or not in Texas — will be administered to Snyder juniors Oct. 1-2.

Called the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS), it is part of new mandates for Texas high school students passed along with House Bill 72.

Locally, the test will be administered at the Scurry County Coliseum over the two day period.

The test is designed to screen students for their knowledge of mathematics, reading and writing skills. In order to receive a Texas diploma, students must pass both the mathematics and English language arts section of the TEAMS test by the end of their senior year.

Current seniors will not fall under the rule.

The English Language Arts portion of the test will be given Oct. 1 — a Tuesday — and the math portion of the test Oct. 2.

Students will be given opportunities to take the test both their junior and senior years. Once passed, the test need not be taken again.

Students who fail the test will be allowed to take it even after they have completed all the requirements of their high school course work.

A diploma cannot be issued, however, until both sections of the test have been passed.

The TEAMS tests will be given twice this school year, although the second testing dates have not been announced as yet.

To assist local students to prepare for the test, brochures which contain sample questions and answers have been distributed to students in grades 8-11.

FIRST TO SIGN — Orval Mathis and Mary Langford, winners of last year's domino tournament at the Scurry County Fair, were the first to register for play in the 1985 competition. Entries due for domino tourney

Entries are now being accepted for the fifth annual Deep Creek Scurry County Domino Tournament, an annual highlight of the Scurry County Fair.

The domino competition will begin Sept. 19, the same day the fair will open its doors to the general public for a three-day run.

The tournament is open to all Scurry County residents, who will be competing for trophies and ribbons. These will be awarded at the conclusion of the finals Sept. 21 — a Saturday.

Already signed up this year are the defending champs from 1984, Mary Langford and Orval Mathis. Previous winners have been Doyle Wemken and Bus Laster in 1983; Elbert Jones and Henry Treat in 1982; and J.J. Hall and George Richardson in 1981.

The competition involves the best two out of three games until the top four teams are selected. A one-hour limit is set for three games.

In case of a tie, a sudden death playoff will be played and the first team with 50 points will advance.

To enter, players should call the office of Jerry Baird, tournament superintendent, at 573-8511, ext. 240. The entry fee of $10 per team must be paid before play begins.

Rules of the tournament are included in the new Scurry County Fair catalog.

The Scurry County Fair will open to the public at noon next Thursday and will continue through the following Saturday, Sept. 21.

And in addition to the traditional fair competitions, exhibits and special events, entertainment will again be a daily and nightly feature.

South Africa may drop 'pass laws'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A committee of the white-minority government took a dramatic step toward reforming apartheid today by suggesting that "pass laws" barring blacks from white areas be scrapped.

The 40-year-old laws "as applied at present are discriminatory and are in conflict with basic human rights," said a report by the President's Council Committee for Constitutional Affairs, which was made available to The Associated Press.

The group's wishes will almost certainly be backed by President P.W. Botha, who appoints members of the council. To take effect, the reforms must be passed by Parliament, where Botha's ruling National Party controls 125 of the 178 seats.

No dates were recommended for the pass laws to end, and police today said they would still arrest any black who lacked documents necessary to be in a white area.

It was the second official move in two days to dismantle features of apartheid, the government's racial discrimination policies.

On Wednesday, Botha abandoned his party's long-held policy denying South African citizenship to blacks in so-called tribal homelands.

Spies ordered out

LONDON (AP) — Acting on information supplied by a top KGB defector, Britain today ordered 25 purported Soviet spies to leave the country in the biggest such expulsion in 14 years.

The Foreign Office said that in ordering out the six accredited diplomats and 19 business officials, journalists and embassy workers, it was going on the word of Oleg A. Gordievski, the chief operative in Britain of the KGB, the Soviet spy agency and secret police.

It said Gordievski, 46, posted in London since 1982 and officially listed as a Soviet Embassy counselor, had defected saying he "wishes to become a citizen of a democratic country and live in a free society." He was given political asylum, it said, without revealing when he defected.

A Foreign Office statement said Gordievski was "in a position to know full details of Soviet intelligence activities and personnel in this country."

The Foreign Office dispensed with the usual diplomatic language and bluntly accused the 25 of spying. It gave them three weeks to leave Britain.

It said it summoned the Soviet charge d'affaires, Lev. A. Parchine, and told him "that a significant number of Soviet representatives in London have been engaging in intelligence activities which are of course totally incompatible with their status and declared tasks."

It did not spell out their alleged actions but said "the nature and scale of the activities are completely unacceptable."

Parchine's response was not known and the Soviet Embassy said no one was available to comment.

It was the biggest single expulsion by Britain since 1971, when Britain threw out 105 Soviet diplomats and officials for alleged spying. Last April five Soviets were ordered to leave because of purported espionage activities.

In 1983, France expelled 47 Soviets who were believed engaged in espionage.

The deportees range from three embassy men holding the senior rank of first secretary to representatives of Soviet trade organizations and journalists

Leadership alums already 'involved'

As final preparations are made for the third annual county leadership class, many alumni of Century II: Leadership Scurry County have already assumed leadership roles in the community.

The deadline to apply for membership in the class is next Monday.

While some class members were already active, others have assumed local leadership roles ranging from activity committees to membership on taxing entity bodies

The most visible of these include membership on the county commissionrs court (C.D. Gray Jr.), the Snyder school board (Mike Jordan); the Snyder city council (Troy Williamson); and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce board of directors (Jerry Vestal and Murray Anne Ray).

Other activities former class members are now involved in include the Scurry County Fair board of directors (Donna Gray and Jon Derouen); the chamber's July 4th committee (Karen Carmichael); the chamber's White Buffalo Day committee (Diana Allen, Murray Anne Ray, Gloria Shaw); the city's board of adjustment (Rick Cohagen); Snyder Senior Citizen's Inc. (Gloria Shaw); the Gold Coats (Jim Tully, Troy Williamson); Scurry County United Way (Jerry Vestal, Rodger Sullenger); the Scurry County Museum Board (Murray Anne Ray and Diana Allen); the Scurry County Producers

If you are trying to beat the IRS, forget it. The odds are not on your side.

Anyone is permitted to pursue an appeal with the IRS, but statistics indicate the expense may not be worth it. In tax courts dealing with small cases, the taxpayer won only 7.1 percent of the time. In normal cases, the taxpayer did even worse–winning only 6.3 percent.

In appeals court, the taxpayer did only slightly better, winning 8.5 percent of the time. In district court, the taxpayer had better luck, winning 33.8 percent.

But on appeal from district court, the taxpayer won only 14.9 percent. The taxpayer had his best luck in claims court, getting the victory 46.3 percent of the time.

We read about a plumber who had a running battle with the tax collector. In declining to file a return, the Florida plumber wrote a letter of compassion which read:

"All of you have my deepest sympathy in that your path in life has led into the infamy of tax collecting. But I pray that God will deliver each of you just as Christ did for Mathew (sic)."

Nevertheless, the tax court upheld fraud penalties against the plumber.

We read about another plumber who was changing his title. He now wants to be known as a drain surgeon.

Blazes reported in 'rash'

Snyder firemen were called to extinguish a rash of fires Wednesday afternoon, four in all with three occurring within a one hour period.

At 3:15 p.m., firefighters were called to the Pool Well Service Yard on the Lamesa Highway to extinguish a grass and trash fire.

Pool employees had notified the fire department of their intention to set a fire to dispose of waste oil earlier in the day. That blaze had apparently gotten out of hand and prompted the fire call.

No property other than grass and old tires was listed as damaged in that incident.

Aldridge picked for shuttle

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Air Force Under Secretary Edward C. Aldridge Jr. has been named to fly on a military space shuttle mission next March, joining five astronauts and an Air Force major on the first flight to be launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Officials said Wednesday that Alridge, 47, a Houston native, Texas A&M graduate and former aerospace executive, will serve as a payload specialist aboard space shuttle Discovery when it is launched March 20 carrying a secret payload.

In a statement released by an Air Force spokesman at the Johnson Space Center, Aldridge is quoted as saying, "It's a great honor for any American to fly on the symbol of the success of the American space program. I'm thrilled at the opportunity and thrilled at the prospects that I will be able to apply what I have learned to expanding U.S. efforts in space."

The Air Force also announced that Maj. John B. Watterson, 36, will fly on the mission as a payload specialists.

The two join National Aeronautics and Space Administration astronauts Robert Crippen, the mission commander, and Guy Gardner, Dale Gardner, Jerry Ross and Mike Mullane on the flight.

Aldridge has been Air Force under secretary since 1981. His job includes the supervision of the military space program.

He earlier held a variety of jobs in the Department of Defense, including two years as deputy assistant secretary of Defense for strategic programs, and a term as an adviser to the Defense secretary.

Aldrige also has held management positions with Douglas Aircraft Co., LTV Aerospace Corp., and the Systems Planning Corp.

Watterson, a native of Garden City, N. Y., who grew up in Littleton, Colo., is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute and the Air Force Institute of Technology. He is a systems engineer who was named to the U.S. Air Force Manned Spaceflight Engineer program in 1980.

Discovery's launch from Vandenberg will be the first space shuttle mission into a polar orbit, a flight path that carries the craft over the entire globe in a matter of days.

Length of the flight is a secret, as is the precise launch time.

Though the payload is considered secret, widely published reports have identified the mission goal as a test of a teal ruby laser that can be used to detect flying aircraft and missiles.

Investigation leads to cocaine seizure

DALLAS (AP) — Members of a joint city-federal task force seized cocaine with a street value of about $500,000 worth of cocaine and were rounding up persons named in sealed indictments returned at the end of an 18-month investigation.

Taking part in the investigation were four federal agencies and Dallas police, authorities said.

U.S. Attorney Marvin Collins of the Northern District of Texas did not name the 15 persons named in sealed indictments, but he said Wednesday seven were in custody and the others were to be rounded up. He did not identify any of them and said authorities would ask that all of them be held without bond.

It was necessary, Collins said, to hold them without bond because they might flee and they posed a danger to the community.

Of the first group arrested early Wednesday, four claimed U.S. citizenship, one was from Mexico and one was from Cuba. One of those in custody was already in prison on a charge that Collins declined to reveal.

The indictment accused 14 people of distributing cocaine. One woman was named in a conspiracy charge accusing her of using a telephone to complete a cocaine transaction.

The 15 sealed indictments returned Tuesday culminated an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. Drug Enforcement agency, the U.S. attorney's office, Bureau of Alcohol, Tax and Firearms agents and Dallas police, Collins said.

Officers seized about three kilos (about six pounds) of cocaine Wednesday as they arrested persons named in the indictments, according to Lt. Dave Davis of the Dallas Police narcotics division.

The cocaine, in five plastic bags, and two handguns taken from those arrested, was shown to reporters.

Those arrested did not offer resistance, but Davis described the Cubans active in narcotics in the Dallas-Fort Worth area as "active" and "violent," officers said.

The Cubans involved in drug trafficking in the area, not necessarily those arrested in the current investigation, have been involved in six slaying in Dallas and one each in the suburbs of Irving, DeSoto and Lancaster, Davis said.

"The defendants were working to distribute cocaine throughout the Dallas area, at both the wholesale and street level," Davis said. He said they were receiving shipments of cocaine from Florida.

Man spots child floating in pool

AUSTIN (AP) — The City Council today will honor two men who saved a child from drowning in the swimming pool of an apartment complex.

The two worked to revive Jonathan Mayberry until emergency medical personnel and Austin firefighters arrived at the northside complex on Aug. 28.

The child, almost 2, was taken to Brackenridge Hospital, where he was treated until he recovered a few days later.

Steve Zimmerman said habit led him to walk onto the balcony of his second-floor apartment the day he spotted the child floating in the bottom of the swimming pool.

"I used to work as the maintenance man, and one of my jobs was taking care of the pool," Zimmerman said on Wednesday. "It was just force of habit."

Overpopulation Is Problem We Can't Seem to Outgrow

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Too few people are concerned about one of the world's most serious problems: overpopulation. At least 10 years ago, the father of six daughters wrote to ask if there was a foolproof way for him to get a son, and you replied, "Adopt!"

Your one-word response was followed by a wonderful letter about a couple who finally had a son after four daughters. Please run it again. That message needs to be heard again and again.

MAC IN MONTANA

DEAR MAC: I found the letter, and here it is:

Dear Helen and Bill: So you finally had a boy?

The only thing you can be congratulated on is your perseverance.

You can't be congratulated on your morality or unselfishness. Adding three "extra" children to a world already reeling under its population load can't be called either moral or unselfish.

You can't be congratulated on your fertility. After all, any clam, chicken or small furry animal can beat you at that.

You can't be congratulated on your fine family. A fine family is one that sets an example, and your example may kill us all in a few generations.

You can't even be congratulated on being able to afford five children, because you're not paying for them. Oh, you provide their food and clothing and shelter, but the rest of the world pays for their roads, schools, hospitals, air, water ...

You can't be congratulated on being patriotic citizens, for if anything destroys the United States it will be our "growthmania" spiral through which this country even now gulps over 50 percent of the world's resources.

You can't be congratulated for carrying on the family name. Family names mean little unless people mean much, and your kind of growth rate guarantees that people mean less and less.

Unless, of course, three of those children are adopted?

In that case, congratulations.

Rick and Sue

DEAR ABBY: I use the bus to get around town. Often a person will come along and sit beside me.

I am by nature a very friendly person, and I enjoy visiting with people. It makes the time pass, and I have met a lot of nice people on buses.

I usually begin the conversation by asking, "How far are you going?" Abby, you would not believe how many people say, "It's none of your business!" This hurts my feelings.

I never thought I was out of line to strike up a friendly conversation with a stranger on the bus. Why are people so rude?

OFTEN HURT

DEAR HURT: Some people don't want to talk to strangers on a bus. To ask "How far are you going?" may be construed as an invasion of privacy. If you feel inclined to strike up a conversation with a stranger, open with a comment on the weather. And if it evokes a chilly response, cool it.

TV show to tell Perot's tale

DALLAS (AP) — Next month, an actor will play the part of a famous Texas billionaire for a television mini-series on just one of the Texan's many famous exploits.

Although no names for the leading role have been announced, H. Ross Perot will be portrayed in a five-hour mini-series based on the book, "On Wings of Eagles."

Filming will begin Oct. 10, according to Perot and NBC.

The project is based on the best-selling book by Ken Follett about Perot and the late Col. Bull Simon's rescue of Electronic Data Systems Corp. employees from an Iranian jail in 1978.

The story was to be a motion picture, but will instead be a two-part television program on NBC next spring, a network spokesman said.

Perot is the billionaire founder and chairman of Dallas-based EDS. He has been a consultant on the program.

But publicity surrounding the conservative businessman had boosted him to national prominence long before any television show.

He sold his company last summer to General Motors Corp., bought a copy of the Magna Carta last fall, attempted to move the Museum of the American Indian from New York to Dallas this summer and recently won the Winston Churchill Award.

His dramatic moves always seem to attract national attention, and the Churchill award — given only twice before — will bring Great Britain's Prince Charles himself to Dallas in February to present it in an internationally celebrated honor.

The mini-series will be shot in Mexico to simulate the terrain in Iran. The idea of making a movie was dropped when scriptwriters said they couldn't squeeze the story of the rescue into 90 minutes, Perot said.

When asked who he would like to play himself, he said, "I don't care ... anybody who looks like a businessman can play me."

According to the much quoted Anonymous: "With radio, television, and records, American family life has never before been on such a sound basis."

Q. — I expect to do some work soon with plastic piping. Can regular solder be used on it?

A. — No. There is a special type of solder for plastic. Buy it where you get the plastic piping.

Q. — You once wrote about using a shim to tighten up loose subfloor boards from below. I thought you would like to know I have found a roof shingle excellent for that purpose.

A. — Thanks.

Q. — In reading about making a brick wall, I saw the word "bats," but cannot find a definition of it. What does it mean?

A. — A bat is a half-brick. It sometimes is necessary at certain places in the construction, such as at the end of a wall.

Q. — We have a low point in our basement floor, which is concrete. How can I level it?

A. — Roughen the area with a hammer and chisel. Dampen and cover with a mixture of one part of cement to three parts of sand or use a readymixed sand mixture that requires only the addition of water.

Q. — What's the technical difference between paint and stain?

A. — The paint has more pigment and covers the material beneath it. The stain colors the material but allows it to show through.

Q. — Can I fix cracks in a stucco wall with the same kid of mixture I use for concrete?

A. — Stucco patching requires a mixture of one part cement to three parts of sand or a ready mix. Concrete mixtures have aggregates added to them.

Group begins '85 club year

Beta Sigma Phi members met for beginning day activities to kick-off their new club year. Meeting Sept. 3 in the home of Bette League, the social committee served a salad supper on the patio.

Following the meal, members received a 1985-86 yearbook. President Sue Sewell conducted the business session which included reports by Cyndee Gayle, Donna Fowler and Twila Polk.

The group learned additional information about the club's country and western dance set for Oct. 5 in the Snyder Country Club. Interested persons may obtain more information by calling Mickey Baird at 573-8389.

Fowler presented "Personal Beauty, Inward Not Physical Beauty" after the business meeting. She stressed finding inner beauty in oneself and in others. A group discussion concluded the program.

Special guest for the evening was Teresa Lain, a Beta Sigma Phi from Colorado City.

For South, this deal had to be the luckiest occurrence during the 1985 Cavendish Pairs. In the methods used by North-South the bid of a new suit at the two-level after partner's opening bid was game-forcing. North and South were committed to getting to game at the very least. At his second opportunity to bid, South could content himself with a mere two no-trump, leaving his partner room to show a second suit. North, of course, had two remaining suits, but his opening bid was so sparse, a mere 12 high-card points, that he just raised two no-trump to three. Naturally South bid six no-trump.

What was so lucky about the hand? Well, for starters, you can see that North-South did have a 4-4 suit fit in clubs, but slam in that strain would be doomed by the adverse distribution of the defenders' clubs. So it was good luck to stay out of clubs. The next piece of good fortune relates to West's choice of opening lead. The bidding certainly held no clues. Any lead could be right, but the actual choice of the small diamond seems wrong.

SENIOR OLYMPICS PARTICIPANTS — The Golden Nuggets from Snyder Nursing Center traveled to Sweetwater Saturday to participate in wheelchair races, disc throw and softball. Designed for nursing home residents, the Senior Olympics drew participants from several counties. The Golden Nuggets chose gold and black uniforms and black hats with gold lettering. Cheerleaders used gold and black pom poms. Residents and volunteers making the trip included Beulah Nie, Hannah Taylor, Francis Spencer, Dottie Thedford, Frances Frazier, Wayne Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Al Lieb, Ruby Clark, Janice Byrd, Betty Sneed, Terry Clark, Gale Lopez, Ann Lord, Alice Daniels, Donna Willis, Lucinda Madrid, Olivia Madrid, Angelia Hammit, Dottie Vanderpool and Belinda Gutierrez. Mae Phariss, director of nursing, Audine McCann, activities director, and Jerry Miller, administrator, also accompanied the group. (SDN Staff Photo)

Reagan calls for GOP taxes unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan has appealed to top Republicans to unite behind his campaign to overhaul the tax system, despite their warnings that Capitol Hill fervor for trade protectionism could derail the administration's drive.

The president made the plea for solidarity during a White House meeting with GOP congressional leaders on the eve of another campaign-style, stump speech for his tax reform plan.

Reagan was to put his program before 3,000 senior citizens in Tampa, Fla., a group billed as a "Senior Citizens Forum on Tax Reform."

Since Reagan began his travels on behalf of his program in Orlando, Fla., on Memorial Day, he has visited more than a dozen states trying to whip up interest in tax legislation.

Some members of his own party say, however, there will be little backing for the president's plan unless the administration does more to address the nation's trade problems.

"If we don't act on trade before we act on tax reform, I don't think there will be any tax reform bill," Sen. John Heinz, R-Pa., said following Wednesday's meeting with Reagan. "If we don't have an aggressive trade policy, I feel it will cost momentum and possibly even votes on the tax reform bill."

Heinz, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, which deals with tax and trade legislation, said his constituents are interested in jobs lost to unfair foreign trade practices, not in tax reform.

"Interest in tax reform at this time is probably at an all-time low since the president made his tax reform proposal," Heinz said.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole said, "people don't get too excited about taxes."

"We don't find ourselves in disagreement with the president's general philosophy as far as free trade is concerned — open markets," Dole said. "But we do have a number of cases we can recite where they're (foreign markets) not open on the other end. So that's the kind of legislation we're looking at."

Dole said he doubted action to open selected foreign markets will be enough to stem the protectionist tide on Capitol Hill.

Your Birthday

Sept. 13, 1985

In the year ahead, your leadership qualities will become more pronounced. You'll be quite lucky in enterprises you originate or direct.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your first ideas are likely to be your best ones today, so take measures to implement your initial thoughts. Delays induce indecisiveness. Major changes are ahead for Virgos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It's important today to know when to stop selling. Once you get a yes for an answer, either make an exit or change the topic of conversation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Have fun and enjoy yourself with friends today, but don't try to match them dollar for dollar if they can afford to spend more than you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Where important goals are concerned, you're likely to be better able to achieve them early in the day than in the afternoon.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If others aren't supportive of your proposal today, it may be your fault. Tailor your presentation to their real needs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't be too hasty to discard a project that hasn't yet produced a profit. The rewards are there, but you must be patient.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Greater benefits will be derived from partnership arrangements than from solo efforts today, provided both parties have a harmony of purpose.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You may be productive only up to a certain point today. Once your interest wanes, you're apt to temporarily shelve whatever you're doing.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unless the terms are spelled out fairly in advance, you might not reap all you should from a joint venture today. Start with a solid agreement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you plan to make changes in the home today, be sure your mate agrees with your intentions. You might think your plans are good, but he or she may not.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against a tendency today to blurt out comments that could be easily misinterpreted. If a slip occurs, apologize promptly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be doubly careful when shopping today. If you make a major purchase, be sure it can be returned if it should turn out not to be what you wanted.

Adult bookstores are toured

HOUSTON (AP) — Police led the U.S. Attorney General's Commission on Pornography on a tour of adult bookstores after a hearing that focused on graphic literature.

Police said commission members on Wednesday perused reading material inside three shops, then went into video arcades at the rear of each store. The tour was led by Sgt. Bill Brown of the vice squad.

The two-day session on pornography continues today. The hearings at Houston's Federal Building have focused on the link between exposure to pornographic material and antisocial behavior, officials said.

Commission members and police, accompanied by reporters, traveled in two U.S. Government vans and a police department station wagon on Wednesday.

"I've seen this all before. But many of the other commissioners have not. We want to convince the public that we're not just an ivory tower commission," said Father Bruce Ritter of Covenant House.

Brown reported seeing alleged sexual activity during the bookstores' tour, but none of the commissioners did. Police did not make arrests or issue citations.

"This gives us a valuable opportunity to see what is being sold in these places," Henry Hudson, commission chairman, said.

Several university professors, testifying during Wednesday's hearing, identified what they called the corrupting effects of pornography.

But other experts said that they would not advocate new laws censoring the materials, despite negative effects of certain types.

Spain ceded Louisiana to France in 1800 by a secret treaty.

Ticks carry the only answer

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Last summer I removed a tick from my thigh. Are ticks dangerous? Where do they fit into the "pattern" of nature?

DEAR READER — The tick is a thoroughly repellent arachnid (in the same family as spiders and scorpions) that zes animals and sometimes, in the process, humans. After finding a suitable warm-blooded host, the tick attaches itself and introduces its mouth parts and head into the skin. As it feeds, the tick enlarges from its unfed nailhole size to a blue-gray ball of blood the size of a thumbnail. Once satiated, the tick drops to the ground to continue its life cycle. Ticks spread a variety of diseases, including Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever (rash and pneumonia), Lyme disease (arthritis and meningitis) and babeosis (a mononucleosis-like illness peculiar to Nantucket). Tick diseases can be fatal to humans. Small mammals infected with ticks can die from loss of blood. As far as I can see, ticks serve no useful function in our ecosystem; the world would be better off without them.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I can't get my husband to see his doctor about this. He is 61, about 60 pounds overweight and is on Inderal. For two or three months, his penis has been crooked or bent in the middle and it worries him a lot. Is this normal in older men, or is it something else?

DEAR READER — To begin with, your husband is taking a potent medicine for which he should be medically supervised at periodic intervals. Inderal can cause sexual malfunction, but it ordinarily does not produce the kind of problem your husband has. I think he more likely has developed Peyronie's disease, a circulatory abnormality of the penile erectile tissue. He really should ask his physician about this. He may have to consider seeing a urologist to determine what can be done to help him.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor has just diagnosed me as a borderline diabetic and I have high triglycerides. I am female, 56 years old, 5 feet five and one-half, and 126 pounds. The doctor told me to cut down on sugar, use skim milk and only eat red meat three times a week. I don't eat many sweets anyway. Where can I obtain more information on both of these subjects?

DEAR READER — Intolerance to sugar is a condition that commonly affects patients in mid-life. It is often associated with elevated blood fats; that is why your doctor placed some restrictions on your diet.

If you are unable to obtain from your doctor the information you require about diabetes, go to your public library, where there should be extensive source material on the subject. In addition, you may be able to get pamphlets and brochures from the patient-education department of your local hospital. Finally, you can request material from the American Diabetes Association, 2 Park Ave., New York, NY 10016.

For Dr. Gott's complete discussion of problems and treatments of the prostate gland, write for your copy of Dr. Gott's new Health Report on THE PROSTATE GLAND. Send 75 cents plus a self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to mention the title.

Fundraising underway for child's transplant

WINNSBORO, Texas (AP) — Mayor Lee Ray of this Northeast Texas city of 3,500 has designated Saturday as "Brant Draper Benefit Day," hoping that the area can raise $50,000 toward a liver transplant for the 6-month old boy.

Wednesday, supervisors of the fund drive announced they had collected $22,615 toward the goal.

Brant's parents, Don and Lisa Draper of Winnsboro, said their son was on the list for a transplant at Children's Medical Center in Dallas.

The Drapers said they would be required to pay $80,000 down toward the transplant and that surgery and allied expenses may reach $250,000.

City and area residents and businesses have flooded the Draper family with emotional and financial support.

Parents vent anger over AIDS student

SWANSEA, Mass. (AP) — Hundreds of worried parents were told "the risk is zero" that their children would be infected by an AIDS-stricken eighth-grader, but many remained afraid of the deadly disease and angry at school officials.

Meanwhile, in New York City a boycott entered its third day today as parents keep students out of school in two districts, protesting the admission of a juvenile AIDS victim.

"It's a deadly disease and I want to find out if they're going to guarantee my kid's safety," Len Cabral, whose son attends Joseph Case Junior High School, said during the meeting here Wednesday night. "I want to be sure my kid isn't going to get it or that kid isn't coming to school."

"You ain't going to have a kid going around with a match and a gallon of gas. That's what this looks like to me. Your kids don't live with this, they die with it," Cabral added to the applause of the crowd.

State health officials and school officials, however, sought to dispel the fears of parents and their anger over the decision to allow the eighth-grader to attend school unannounced since Aug. 27. The youth, who has not been identified, contracted AIDS while being treated for hemophilia.

"I still believe that if people are informed, most of the time they'll do the right thing," said Superintendent John E. McCarthy. "And in this case it's to keep their children in school and support the continuance of this student in a school setting."

Dr. George F. Grady, assistant commissioner of the state Deparment of Public Health, repeatedly assured the parents that "the risk is zero" that their children would catch AIDS through contact with the boy.

But several parents accused him of sidestepping when he declined to guarantee their children would not be stricken with acquired immune deficiency syndrome, which affects about 12,000 Americans, mostly homosexual men and intravenous drug users.

Despite calls from parents and teachers, education and health officials have refused to bar the student from the 625-pupil school.

Rape incidents reported at Austin State Hospital

AUSTIN (AP) — An Austin State Hospital worker told police this week that she was raped and beaten by three men who grabbed her in the parking lot of one of the adult psychiatric units after dark last month, an Austin newspaper reported today.

The victim was so traumatized that the report was delayed and hospital workers were not warned of possible danger because the victim, through a union official, asked the hospital superintendent to keep the information confidential, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

However, the hospital superintendent said efforts had been made during that time to tighten security, the report said.

The rape is one of several sexual assaults this summer on or near the grounds of the mental hospital, which does not have a security force or guards at the five entrances.

The mental health worker told police she believed the men who raped her were mental patients or former patients because she had seen them several months ago in the hospital lab, where patient blood tests are done.

She said the assault took place about 10:15 p.m. on Aug. 10 near a unit that houses mental patients from Houston. She said she was hit on the head as she leaned into her car to get a book, and was dragged behind a nearby vacant building.

Two weeks after the assault, the woman told an organizer for the Texas State Employees Union that she had been brutally raped, and so severely traumatized that she could not inform the police or the hospital.

Jim Pearson, the union organizer, said he then called Austin State Hospital Superintendent Kenny Dudley and told him that the worker, who is a union activist, had been raped. Pearson repeated the woman's request for confidentiality.

Neither Pearson nor Dudley reported the rape to police.

Dudley said he had been "sitting on it because I've been told it's in her best interest."

Hearing sought on sodomy law

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas man has asked the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans to again consider the legality of Texas' anti-sodomy law.

Donald F. Baker, who won a 1982 decision from U.S. District Judge Jerry Buchmeyer in Dallas that the state law banning homosexual behavior was an unconstitutional violation of privacy, lost his case when it was appealed to the New Orleans court in August.

A majority of the full bench of the appeals court reversed Buchmeyer and a three-member panel of the 5th Circuit, which had also supported Buchmeyer's ruling. In its Aug. 26 decision, the appeals court said a state legislature has the right to enact laws promoting morality.

General Motors unit wins big contract

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has awarded Electronic Data Systems Corp., a subsidiary of General Motors Corp., a $200 million contract to integrate computers into the department's offices.

EDS said on Wednesday that under a 10-year agreement, it would be the prime contractor in integrating the computers of 5,000 offices scattered across the country and foreign nations. The offices are run by the USDA's Soil Conservation Service and Farmers Home Administration.

Sophisticated work stations at the soil conservation and farmers home offices will be linked with USDA data centers in Washington, Fort Collins, Colo., and Kansas City, Mo., EDS said in a statement.

EDS said it will use the 3B2 and PC6300 products from AT&T Informations Systems Corp. EDS also said it would train 1,500 USDA employees on how to use the systems.

Mattox: TV will likely be barred

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox says he will support efforts to broaden the state Open Meetings Act to make certain television news cameras can cover public sessions of governmental bodies.

However, he said, some groups likely will exclude cameras until the law is amended.

"I think it is entirely possible that video cameras will be barred from a number of public meetings," Mattox said Wednesday. "In some rural counties, I think we're going to see cameras excluded at times."

Mattox's comments followed a legal opinion he issued Tuesday saying the open meetings law gives Texans a right to make audio tape recordings of public governmental meetings but not video recordings.

Asked about that opinion at a news conference Wednesday, Mattox said he was only interpreting the law as it is written, not expressing his personal feelings about the issue.

He compared the situation to his negative feelings about a state law requiring clergymen to tell authorities about people who commit child abuse, even if they learn of it in confession. But his legal opinions must interpret whatever the law says, he insisted.

"It is an unfortunate thing I have to interpret the law this way. I feel very strongly about open meetings and open government. (But) we believe the law means what it says," Mattox said.

Several broadcasters already have voiced fears that city councils, county commissioners, school boards and others might try to use the opinion to force cameras out of their meetings.

As an author of the open meetings law when he was a member of the Legislature, Mattox said he hopes government officials won't see his opinion as a tool for blocking televised news coverage of their sessions.

"I was one of the authors of the open meetings and open records acts, and I feel very strongly about the concept of allowing the public to understand what takes place within these meetings," Mattox said.

Mattox said he would support efforts to amend the open meetings law in the next legislative session to include television cameras, possibly having his staff draft a bill that would do it.

While the issue ultimately might be presented to the courts, Mattox said, "Probably the best thing for us is to try to get this law changed here in the Legislature."

Mattox said that when the open meetings law was written in 1973, television video recorders weren't in widespread use. There was no intention of excluding television coverage, he said.

"Our intent was to allow the public to get access to information of what took place in public forums and public meetings," he said.

Mattox said his feelings extend to allowing cameras in courtrooms, although current court rules don't allow it.

"Even today, cameras are excluded from courtrooms. I don't think they should be excluded. I've advised several judges of that," he said.

Gramm's wife is being considered for FTC chairman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Republican Sen. Phil Gramm's wife, Wendy, says she has not ruled out accepting an appointment as chairman of the Federal Trade Commission if the Reagan administration offers her the job.

Mrs. Gramm currently serves as director of the FTC's bureau of economics.

"I don't know to what extent I'm being considered," Mrs. Gramm said in a telephone interview this week. "At this point, I haven't ruled out anything."

The current chairman of the agency, James C. Miller III, was nominated by the White House to succeed David Stockman as director of the Office and Management and Budget. He recommended Mrs. Gramm and the other two FTC directors to the White House as potential candidates for FTC chairman.

Miller is still awaiting Senate confirmation hearings, so the naming of his successor at FTC is probably several weeks away.

In an interview last week, Gramm said he was under the impression his wife would not take the job.

"I don't think she's sure yet what she's going to do, but I think at this point she is not interested in being chairman," he said.

"We sort of have a separation of career patterns so that I don't get involved in her business," he added.

"I will do basically what people feel would be the best, if that means staying in the bureau of economics or another position," Mrs. Gramm said.

Gramm, a former economics professor, was a sponsor of President Reagan's economic programs as a Democratic member of the House. He switched parties in 1983 and won the Senate seat last year.

Mrs. Gramm, 40, has a Ph.D. in economics. On her office wall is a picture of Reagan with the Gramms in the Oval Office. Reagan inscribed the picture to Mrs. Gramm with the words, "to my favorite economist."

White House spokesman Dale Petroskey would not comment about the selection process.

"We have a long-standing policy of not talking about who's pushing whom," he said. "It only tends to get us in trouble."

Judy Pond, a spokeswoman at the FTC, said Miller would not comment on the search for his successor.

If Mrs. Gramm got the job, Gramm would be the second member of the Senate whose wife heads an executive branch agency. Elizabeth Dole, wife of Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, is secretary of transportation.

Crew's mistake endangered satellite

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A mistake in a checklist aboard space shuttle Discovery last month led to a jammed thermal shield that threatened to damage an Australian satellite, members of an astronaut crew said Wednesday at a news conference.

Joe Engle, commander of the Discovery flight that landed Sept. 3 after a spectacular spacewalk rescue of a disabled satellite, said that hurried preparation for the salvage mission led to an error in the sequence of on-board crew instructions and endangered another satellite. The error caused a thermal shield to be jammed against a camera on the shuttle's robot arm and endangered an Australian satellite called Aussat.

Astronaut Mike Lounge, who was responsible for operating Discovery's robot arm, said the flawed checklist, or mission script, failed to call for the robot arm to be moved before the thermal shield was operated.

Normally, he said, the arm is rolled out of the way before the shield is commanded to move.

"This trap was in our ... checklist all along and we had just never done a high fidelity simulation of that part of the mission," said Lounge. "The trap was that we did the sunshield operation first and then rolled the arm out and didn't think of the mechanical interference problem."

Engle said Lounge was not at fault.

"He was following procedures that we had on board," said Engle. "I think we were all victims of the short fuse that we had to prepare for this whole mission. The thoroughness that you normally have for a mission, we just didn't have that luxury."

Preparation for the mission was hurried because only four months before launch a complex salvage operation for the disabled Syncom 3 satellite was added to the flight plan.

Engle credited Lounge with saving the Aussat by using the robot arm to force open the jammed shield, enabling the satellite to be launched. If it hadn't been launched, engineers believed it would have been damaged by the deep cold of space.

"Mike was able to recover a situation that looked pretty grim for a while," said the mission commander.

Aussat was one of three satellites launched by Discovery during a seven-day mission that was highlighted by the successful repair of the $85 million Syncom 3.

Spacewalkers Bill Fisher and James van Hoften captured and held the 7½-ton Syncom 3 by hand, and then installed electronic instruments and wiring that permitted the satellite to be commanded from the ground.

Their work restored life to a satellite that never turned itself on after being launched by another shuttle crew last April. The satellite is now being prepared for a rocket firing on Oct. 29 that will send it to its working station 22,300 miles above the Earth.

Both Fisher and van Hoften said moving the satellite by hand was more taxing than expected.

"It's a very massive thing," said van Hoften. "When you push on it, you have to stop it somehow. . . It's not the easiest thing to do. But at no time were we in any danger."

"Just trying to hold it still was more dynamic than I expected," said Fisher.

Judge disallows union claims against carrier

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal bankruptcy judge has nullified almost $650 million in union claims against Continental Airlines.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge T. Glover Roberts issued the ruling Tuesday as the first in a series of rulings on union claims.

The Houston-based carrier said Wednesday that the language of the judge's decision indicated he will also deny at least another $1.5 billion in wrongful discharge claims.

In his first ruling, Roberts disallowed about $500 million in claims by the Air Line Pilots Association and the Union of Flight Attendants for damages on behalf of striking employes.

The court also disallowed a separate claim by ALPA for about $144 million in damages under labor protection provisions imposed by the Civil Aeronautics Board at the time of the Continental-Texas International merger in 1982.

"Under well-established principles of federal labor law, striking employees are not entitled to back pay for the period of time they were on strike," Roberts said in his decision.

ALPA spokesman Jerry Baldwin and Linda Downing, spokeswoman for the flight attendants' union, declined to comment on the judge's decision.

Barry P. Simon, Continental vice president and general counsel, applauded the ruling.

"As we have repeatedly said, we believe that the unions' claims lack any support in law, logic or fact and will be denied in court," Simon said.

Simon said the judge also had adopted an expedited schedule for submission of briefs on the remaining claims and as a result "we are confident that Continental's reorganization plan will go forward quickly."

Continental already has filed a brief contesting a claims for wrongful discharge for about $1.5 billion. Another pending motion relates to the International Association of Machinists, which seeked $600 million in contract rejection damages.

Studies money allocated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee has accepted an amendment to allocate $1 million next year for community impact studies in the nine Gulf Coast cities chosen to house a Navy battleship and its support fleet.

The additional money will be used for concurrent studies to determine environmental impact and the needs of the communities, said Allan Krauter, spokesman for U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Texas.

"Both environmental impact studies and community impact planning efforts often take longer than expected," Loeffler said Wednesday after his recommendation was adopted. "I believe studies conducted concurrently will ensure that there are no delays in implementing homeport decisions."

But Galveston Mayor Jan Coggeshall told the Galveston Daily News that she is skeptical that the city will be included in the studies.

The community planning study, to be done by Navy officials, will consider municipal factors — housing, construction, temporary versus permanent jobs, and school enrollment — that will be altered by the influx of an estimated 5,000-6,000 Navy personnel.

After the decision was made to split the homeport between nine coastal cities, Coggeshall said, the Navy requested $8 million in support money from Galveston in addition to the incentives offered in the original request for proposal.

Since then, "it's been like a big poker game" trying to present a counter-offer acceptable to Navy personnel, Coggeshall told the Galveston Daily News.

"I think the Navy was under the impression that Houston would pitch in, but I've made it clear to them that there is no way Houston or Galveston will issue bonds for this," she said.

Unless the Navy can be persuaded to accept the city's original proposal without the additional $8 million, Coggeshall said, it is "a very real possibility" that Galveston will have to back out as a homeport site.

"As it stands," she said, "we will get about one-tenth of the estimated 5,000-6,000 jobs, yet the Navy is asking us to put up one-third of the money."

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, in accordance with an order of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice that on August 20, 1985, the Company filed tariffs which propose revisions to the Joint User Tariffs and implementation of Shared Tenant Services Tariffs.

If the tariffs are approved by the Public Utility Commission, the Company will grandfather existing customers to the Joint User Tariffs and totally withdraw the Joint User Tariffs one year after the date of approval of the proposed tariff revisions, with one exception. Even after the one year period, existing single-line customers subscribing to Joint User Tariffs may continue their service under certain conditions.

Also, if the tariffs are approved, the provision of shared tenant services will require partitioned switching equipment.

No new rates are being proposed in the aforementioned tariffs. As a result of the partitioning of switching equipment, some existing customers may require additional PBX trunks. If so, the Company's revenues may increase. The Company is unable, at this time, to estimate the additional revenues, if any, which would result therefrom.

The Commission received these tariffs as Docket 6450 and a prehearing conference will be held at 10:00 A.M., Monday, September 23, 1985, at the Commission's offices at 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, in Austin, Texas.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. Motions to intervene should be filed with the Commission on or before 4:00 P.M., Friday, September 20, 1985. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Aviso Público

De conformidad con una orden de la Comisión de Servicios Públicos de Texas, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company anuncia el registro de nuevas tarifas, las cuales proponen ciertas modificaciones de las Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados (Joint User Tariffs) y la implementación de Tarifas para Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos (Shared Tenant Services Tariffs).

De aprobar la Comisión tales tarifas, la Compañía mantendrá vigentes los acuerdos con usuarios actuales en lo que respecta a Tarifas para Usuarios Mancomunados, pero descontinuará tales tarifas a partir del primer aniversario de la fecha en que se aprueben las nuevas tarifas. Sin embargo, existe una excepción; aún después de tal aniversario, los clientes con líneas sencillas que actualmente cuentan con el servicio para Usuarios Mancomunados podrán seguir con tal servicio sujeto a ciertas condiciones.

De aprobarse las nuevas tarifas, las disposiciones correspondientes a los Servicios Compartidos por Inquilinos requerirán el uso de conmutadores separados.

Las citadas tarifas no proponen nuevas cuotas. Sin embargo, es posible que debido a la separación de equipos de conmutación, algunos clientes actuales requerirán nuevos troncales PBX. De ser así, los ingresos de la Compañía podrían aumentar. En la actualidad, la Compañía no puede determinar el monto de ingresos adicionales que resultarían de tales tarifas.

La Comisión ha registrado este asunto bajo el Docket 6450. Se llevará a cabo una audiencia preliminar para discutir todo asunto relacionado con el Servicio Compartido por Inquilinos el lunes 23 de septiembre de 1985, a las 10:00 de la mañana, en las oficinas de la Comisión, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, en Austin, Texas.

Toda persona que desee intervenir o participar en el presente proceso debe notificar a la Comisión lo antes posible. Las solicitudes de intervención deberán presentarse ante la Comisión antes del viernes 20 de septiembre de 1985 a las 4:00 de la tarde. Las solicitudes de intervención, participación o información deben dirigirse a: Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Para obtener mayor información debe llamar a Public Utility Commission, Consumer Affairs Division, (512) 458-0223, o (512) 458-0227, o al (512) 458-0221 si requiere teletipo para personas con impedimentos de audición.

Tigers set for 'Snyder Night'

They are calling it Snyder Night at Tiger Stadium Friday, where Coach Dennis Tomlin's Ragin' Tigers hope to equal their win total of last year in just the second game of the season.

Snyder, 2-8 last year and a 42-28 victor over Big Spring in its first outing this season, will entertain Lubbock Dunbar.

In other District 2-4A games Friday, both Monahans and Pecos bus west to New Mexico. Monahans takes on Hobbs while Pecos tests Carlsbad.

Also, Andrews boards for Midland while Sweetwater heads to Abilene. Fort Stockton entertains Alpine and Lamesa welcomes Brownfield.

LAST FRIDAY'S RESULTS: Snyder 42, Big Spring 28; Sweetwater 51, Clyde 0; Monahans 36, Pampa 27; Andrews 34, Brownfield 15; Pecos 25, El Paso Riverside 12; Crane 6, Fort Stockton 3; Lamesa 23, Levelland 13; Del Rio 21, San Angelo Lake View 14.

FRIDAY'S GAMES: Dunbar at Snyder; Sweetwater at Abilene; Alpine at Fort Stockton; Brownfield at Lamesa; Pecos at Carlsbad, N.M.; Killeen Edison at Lake View; Monahans at Hobbs, N.M.; Andrews at Midland.

San Angelo Lake View hosts Killeen Ellison.

The emphasis is on GOLD in Snyder this week, particularly on Friday, when fans are asked to wear school colors to the game. A number of tickets for the visitors side are being sold to home fans, in the event of an expected sellout.

Said Coach Dennis Tomlin, "The players want to invite the community out to see the game. They promise the fans an exciting ballgame."

Snyder has played the Panthers well in past years but have given way in the second half to size and numbers - fatigue. That may not be as much of a concern in 1985.

"We're bigger than we have been and we think we're stronger physically," said Tomlin, who played 44 of 48 players in last week's game with Big Spring. "We're getting as many kids as we can into the game. We think it will help us in the late third and fourth quarters."

Coyotes face spread offense

District 4-1A South Zone, shut out of the win column across the board last week, will don the pads again Friday in search of a victory.

Ira hopes to recover from last week's nine fumbles (eight turnovers) in time to entertain highly touted Christoval. In other games, Borden County treks to Threeway, Highland entertains Divide, Dawson is at Grady, McCaulley is at Guthrie, and Hermleigh is open.

At Borden County, Coach Duke Frisbie has the unenviable task of defensing Threeway's spread offense. He wasn't particularly adament about it, either.

"We've worked together and we've cried and we've fussed at one another (during workouts)," he said Thursday morning.

He said, "They'll run the spread every down. Everybody has to play one-on-one. It's man against man. Every now and then you have to throw in a zone so they won't overload on one side against you."

Frisbie was honest about the situation.

"Sooner or later, they are going to score. I don't think we can stop them from scoring."

But, on the other hand...

"I don't think they can stop us from scoring, either. I look for it to be a pretty high scoring affair."

Center Gary Smith hasn't suited out all week (shoulder problem). He'll be replaced by Randall Hollis, which poses problems because Hollis is the Coyote extra-points kicker.

The Coyotes, without Hollis kicking last week, failed to tally on four conversion tries and lost to Dawson 26-24.

Holt selected club president

David Holt has been elected president of the Snyder Tiger Booster Club, which selected its officers this week.

Dennis Gartman is the new vice-president; Janice Carrol is secretary; and Rob Hall is the treasurer.

The club also announced that it would like to invite everyone to Snyder Night this Friday at Tiger Stadium when the varsity football team entertains Lubbock Dunbar. Kickoff is 8 p.m.

The club will be accepting new members at the game. Caps, shirts and bumper stickers will also be available.

Freshmen face Rotan JV again

ROTAN – A change in plans leaves Snyder freshman playing Rotan junior varsity in Rotan this evening.

Game time is 5 o'clock.

The schedule originally called for Snyder to host Coahoma. Officials from that school bowed out, however, citing too many injuries as reason to cancel.

Coach Larry Scott said Snyder will form a "B-Team" to play Rotan junior varsity this evening. The Cats defeated Rotan 42-0 last week with its regular squad.

"We got a bunch of interceptions and fumbles against them last week, but we'll be leaving most of those kids - most of our regular starters - home this time," said the coach. "We're not going to walk all over them. Our guys will have to play good, smart football."

Got Oilers okay; Aggies play now

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

We'll take the good with the bad for the first week of the season, noting especially that the Oilers did magically upset Miami as predicted.

Notice, I said "we" because I'm assuming you still haven't lost the faith.

On the other hand, 19 right and 11 wrong (.633), isn't anything to write home about.

It'll get better. Trust me.

Week number two doesn't promise to be much easier, especially with the old nemisis, Texas A&M on the schedule. Aggie fans will be happy to know that I'm picking their team to get beat, which almost guarantees them a victory.

On then, with the picks...

Lubbock Dunbar at Snyder: This game won't be like the Big Spring tilt but momentum will be a factor for the Ragin' Tigers. Don't pick a high scoring game this time, however...SNYDER 21, DUNBAR 14.

Sweetwater at Abilene: Sweetwater's head may swell after last week's romp over Clyde, but it won't matter much...MUSTANGS 35, EAGLES 14.

Pecos at Carlsbad: Don't bet on it, but...PECOS 14, CARLSBAD 7.

Monahans at Hobbs: The Loboes show their strength out of state...MONAHANS 21, HOBBS 7.

Killeen Ellison at Lake View: The Chiefs are improved, but maybe not enough...KILLEEN 23, LAKE VIEW 14.

Alpine at Fort Stockton: The Panthers got off to a bad start last week, but they'll be better this time around...STOCKTON 24, ALPINE 12.

Brownfield at Lamesa: Pick Lamesa to win its second game in a row...GOLDEN TORS 21, CUBS 10.

Andrews at Midland: Take the Bulldogs at home by a nose...MIDLAND 14, ANDREWS 13.

Christoval at Ira: Ira suffered through eight fumbles last week. Even if the 'Dogs hang on to the football, they'll have trouble winning this one...CHRISTOVAL 35, IRA 28.

Borden County at Threeway: The Coyotes were barely also-rans a week ago. They'll win this one...BORDEN 28, WELLMAN 18.

Baylor at Georgia: Wish I could say the Bears would win but don't count on it...GEORGIA 28, BAYLOR 21.

Texas A&M at Alabama: Alabama has already played one tough contest. This is the first game for A&M and that may be the difference...TIDE 21, AGGIES 14.

Texas Tech at Tulsa: I sincerly hope the Red Raiders win but after taking a look at the Tech-New Mexico and Tulsa-Houston games last week I'm going to have to go with...HURRICANE 24, RAIDERS 21.

Arkansas at Mississippi: Ole' Miss has a great tradition at home but the Razorbacks have a great tradition everywhere...ARKANSAS 21, MISS 7.

More collegians...

Pick BYU to bounce back at home and edge Washington, 21-20; Ohio State to punch Pittsburgh, 35-14; Notre Dame to maul Michigan, 24-17; and UCLA to take Tennessee, 17-7.

And the pros...

Dallas doesn't usually bounce back well after big wins, but give them the benefit of the doubt and pick it Cowboys 24, Detroit 14. Also, chose Washington to take revenge on Houston, 31-17; Seattle to slap San Diego, 24-19; Chicago to nip New England, 28-27; St. Louis to stall Cincinnati, 23-17; San Francisco to axe Atlanta, 34-14; Buffalo to nix the New York Jets, 21-7; Miami to rip Indianapolis, 27-14; the LA Rams to punch Philadelphia, 23-14; Minnesota to take Tampa Bay, 19-14; Denver to dump New Orleans 31-17; and the Giants to gong Green Bay, 24-21.

Rose passes Cobb

CINCINNATI (AP) - Pete Rose passed Ty Cobb with a record-setting single to culminate 23 years of gritty determination, then christened the historic moment with his first tears as a baseball player.

Rose lined a first-inning single Wednesday night off San Diego's Eric Show to hustle past Cobb and put him alone atop baseball's all-time hit list with 4,192. The sharp line drive, a trademark of Rose's storied career, also touched off an emotional celebration that left him alone at first base, wiping away tears with his batting glove.

The single was the first of several bold strokes by the 44-year-old Rose as he led the Reds to a 2-0 victory over the Padres before an uproarious crowd of 47,237 in his hometown.

4,500 low-risk inmates are released from prison cells

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — About a fourth of the 17,000 Texas prison inmates confined in a massive lockdown were allowed to leave their cells two days after officials began the emergency effort to quell a war among rival gangs.

The other 12,500 inmates will remain locked in their cells indefinitely, said Charles Brown, spokesman for the Texas Department of Corrections, the nation's second largest prison system.

"The situation is still very tense and until we feel the climate is conducive, they won't be let out," Brown said.

Some 4,500 minimum-security convicts were released Wednesday to help with various chores at the 13 units affected by the lockdown, Brown said.

"There are some things — like providing food and laundry — that have to be done to keep the place running," he said.

Prison Director O. Lane McCotter ordered the lockdown, the second in recent weeks, after four prisoners were stabbed to death within a 24-hour period.

Since the lockdown began Monday, guards have confiscated 85 weapons, mostly shanks made by inmates, Brown said.

He said there had been no incidents of violence since Monday.

"It's been pretty quiet," Brown said. "We hope it stays that way."

Some death row inmates housed at the Ellis Unit, one of the 13 facilities affected by the lockdown, complained Wednesday that they are denied showers, recreation periods, access to legal materials and are only fed six sandwiches a day.

"People on death row had nothing to do with those killings," said Troy Kunkle, 19, who was sentenced to death for the 1984 slaying of a Corpus Christi man during a robbery attempt. "We know we're not entitled to ice cream and cookies, but we have a right to stamps, showers and drinks with our food."

Some previous lockdowns lasted for a couple of weeks before the security precautions were eased.

But prison officials have labeled the entire system, which includes some 38,000 inmates housed at 27 separate units, as very tense.

Most of the recent violence has been attributed to a recruiting war between two Hispanic gangs known as the Texas Syndicate and the Texas Mafia.

"Part of the initiation rite is that you beat someone or stab someone," Guthrie said.

Officials estimated about 800 inmates are participants in gangs but said the number was very conservative.

"It's the ones we don't know about that scare the hell out of me," said McCotter. "We've got to put a stop to this now. And I'll lock down every unit if I have to."

"I'm not going to let them (gangs) dictate how this unit operates," said Darrington Unit Warden Michael Moore.

Eight slayings, recorded in eight days, brought the number of homicides this year in the state prison system to 26, one more than the record set in 1984.

Three inmates were stabbed to death Sunday night at Darrington, south of Houston, in an attack that lasted no more than 45 seconds. Another gang slaying occured on Monday at the nearby Ramsey II Unit.

"The only thing we can do is increase our vigilance, make our presence known," said Ramsey Warden Lepher Jenkins.

Royal heir to visit

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' 150th anniversary has drawn royal attention in the form of a visit from Prince Charles, heir to the British throne.

Gov. Mark White announced Wednesday that the prince had accepted an invitation to visit Texas in February as part of the state's Sesquicentennial celebration.

In addition to honoring Texas, Prince Charles will honor H. Ross Perot, one of the best-known Texans. Perot, a Dallas businessman, will receive the Winston Churchill Award from Prince Charles.

The British consulate in Houston confirmed plans for the prince to visit Dallas and perhaps other Texas cities Feb. 17-21.

"The governor invited him," said Linda Kelly, assistant information officer for the consulate.

Princess Diana will not make the trip, she said.

The only definite stop on the trip is Dallas, where Perot will be given the award made by the United States Winston Churchill Foundation. The honor goes to people of "exceptional accomplishment," according to a foundation release.

Perot is the first person from the business world to get the award. The two previous recipients were American statesman W. Averell Harriman and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

"Perot was selected for the award because he has demonstrated the imagination, boldness and vigor which characterized Churchill," said John Loeb Jr., former U.S. ambassador to Denmark and current foundation president.

The remainder of Prince Charles' schedule has not been worked out, according to Ms. Kelly. The royal heir last visited Texas in 1977, when his trip included tours of a South Texas ranch and the Space Center near Houston.

White said the prince's visit will be a highlight of the state's 150th birthday celebration.

"I've known all along that the Texas Sesquicentennial was going to be a celebration fit for a prince. I couldn't be more delighted to have the prince participate in our anniversary," he said.

Head-on train wreck kills 41

VISEU, Portugal (AP) — An express train trying to make up lost time collided head-on with a local train in mountainous central Portugal, and at least 41 people died in the blazing wreckage, news reports said today.

"People were being burned alive, shouting, jumping from the carriages and dying at the train windows," said Duarte Santos Correia, 37, one of the passengers who survived the wreck, the 13th this year in Portugal.

Local news reports at midmorning today said 41 bodies had been recovered from the wrecked coaches or sighted inside. Rescuers worked through the night to free bodies pinned inside the twisted, blackened railway cars and transport them to three local hospitals.

A deputy fire chief, Delfim Azevedo, had estimated the death toll at 300, but a doctor said later that no more than 50 people had died.

The news agency Noticias de Portugal quoted Prime Minister Mario Soares today as saying at the crash scene, "Fortunately, I have come to the conclusion that the figures given originally were exaggerated."

The news agency Noticias de Portgual said between 140 and 150 passengers were hurt, but reported that some were treated from minor injuries and released.

More than 500 firefighters, 100 ambulances, air force helicopters, paramilitary police and the Portuguese Red Cross converged on the disaster site in the mountainous Serra de Estrela region 150 miles northeast of Lisbon.

Multiple fires reported here

A fire 1 ½ miles north of Union on the R.C. Lunsford place is now thought to have destroyed not only a quantity of grass but two buildings on that property.

Firemen were called to the scene at 3:50 p.m.

An old house and a small shop or storage building on the Lunsford property were destroyed by the blaze.

Both buildings, according to fire department reports, were being used primarily for storage.

Firefighters were also dispatched to a reported house fire in the 100 Block of N. Austin Ave. at 4:15 p.m.

When firemen arrived at that location, however, they discovered only a small grass fire which had been extinguished by the residents.

Firemen also extinguished a minor car fire at 12:41 p.m. in the 2100 Block of 25th St.

According to reports, a 1978 Ford owned by Grimmett Brothers Construction of Snyder and driven by Maxine Grimmett sustained minor damage from a fire in the engine compartment.

Association (Jon Derouen, C.D. Gray); and various other chamber committees (Shannon Shane, Rick Cohagen, Jackie Greene and Troy Williamson.)

Purpose of the class is to present facts regarding Scurry County — its assets and needs — to potential future leaders.

Eleven meetings are planned from September 19 through May 2 and each class will be conducted on a Thursday beginning at 2:30 p.m. and lasting until past 5 p.m.

Topics to be covered include overviews of the City of Snyder, the governmental offices for Scurry County, Western Texas College and its related county museum, local law enforcement agencies, Snyder public schools, local health care facilities to include Cogdell Memorial Hospital, the petroleum industry and the farm and ranching industry.

A tuition fee of $175 is charged, which covers all materials and program expenses.

Instructor for the class is Dr. Jim Palmer, social science division chairman at Western Texas College.

Chamber officials report some 10 application requests have been received as of Wednesday for class membership.

These will be accepted through the close of business Monday. The first meeting is then scheduled the following Thursday, Sept. 19.

Application forms are available through the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the class in cooperation with Western Texas College.

building, they reported hearing some unusual noises and discovered a door that looked as though someone had attempted to pry it open.

They also heard what sounded like someone inside a storage room in the school building.

The Gary's used their keys to lock the storage room from the outside and then called police.

Two suspects, a 21-year-old man and a 16-year-old male juvenile were taken into custody on charges of burglary of a business when officers arrived at the scene.

The adult charged is Rosalio Gutierrez Jr. of the Old Post Rd. He was being held in the Scurry County Jail without bond on the charge Thursday morning.

District Judge Gene Dulaney has denied his request for bond setting on the burglary charge since he is currently free on an appeal bond posted following his July conviction in 132nd District Court in July on a child abuse charge.

The juvenile was released to the custody of a parent later Wednesday evening.

Boycott planned

DALLAS (AP) — United Farm Workers President Cesar Chavez organized a picket line in front of a Dallas grocery store to open an eight-day Texas push for a new boycott on table grapes.

Chavez and a dozen supporters shouldering United Farm Workers' signs that read "Boycott Grapes" walked along a sidewalk in front of a Minyard Food Store in Dallas Wednesday.

Later in the day, Chavez attended a money-raising reception in Fort Worth.

The boycott is not aimed at any particular store, but at grape purchases, he explained.

Lone wreck here

A single minor traffic mishap was reported in Snyder Wednesday night.

Involved in the 9:29 p.m. mishap in the 2200 Block of Ave. M was a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Francis Campoz Gutierrez of 1311 18th St. which struck a parked 1984 Dodge pickup owned by Canyon Sandblasting of 1805 39th St.

No injuries resulted from that incident.

Arrests reported

Snyder police logged four misdemeanor arrests Wednesday including two for driving while intoxicated and one for public intoxication.

One of the DWI suspects was also charged with possession of marijuana in a quantity less than two ounces.

The fourth subject jailed Wednesday was charged with disorderly conduct in connection with a complaint filed Wednesday regarding an incident on Sept. 8.

TIGER LADIES READY FOR DISTRICT CHALLENGE

The federal workforce is increasing faster again — following a slowdown. Through 1984, there were 2.9 million federal employees, a rise of 5 percent from 1980 and 2.4 percent last year alone.

Large corn harvest expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers are headed for an even larger corn harvest this fall than had been expected by Agriculture Department crop experts.

In Iowa, the leading corn producer, state agriculture secretary Robert Lounsberry said, "Every farmer likes to have a full granary, but (USDA's) forecast holds mixed blessings."

Based on surveys made on Sept. 1, the crop is expected to produce 8.47 billion bushels, up 2 percent from the forecast a month ago and 11 percent more than last year's 7.66 billion bushels.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said in Wednesday's report that bumper harvests of some other 1985 crops also are indicated, including soybeans, cotton and wheat.

Consumers can look forward to the large grain supply as yet another hedge against food price inflation. Corn is the most abundant and valuable of all U.S. farm crops and, as livestock feed, helps turn out the meat, dairy products and poultry consumed by Americans.

But farmers have seen commodity prices and incomes sag, partly because of rising surpluses and the inability to sell the extra production to foreign customers.

"There's probably no other way to look at it except disastrous," said C.H. Fields of the American Farm Bureau Federation's Washington office. "If we were moving it in the international market, it could be a plus."

At the National Farmers Union, Bob Mullins expressed similar views about the bumper harvests. "I really don't see anything good about it," he said.

Mullins said about 360 NFU members from across the country are in Washington this week and that "I have yet to have one of them tell me there is any good news" in this year's crop production.

Last month, the department's initial production estimate of the season showed the corn harvest at 8.27 billion bushels. But the latest report said, "Near-ideal growing conditions throughout most of the country during August greatly improved yield prospects of corn."

Soybean production was estimated at 2.06 billion bushels, up from 1.96 billion bushels indicated in August and 11 percent over the 1984 harvest of 1.86 billion bushels.

The cotton harvest was estimated at 13.7 million bales, down from 13.8 million bales forecast last month but 5 percent more than the 1984 crop.

Wheat production this year, indicated at 2.4 billion bushels, is up from the August estimate of 2.38 billion bushels but down 8 percent from the 1984 harvest.

Common cold research progresses

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's not a cure for the common cold, but it could be the biggest step yet in that direction, as well as a ray of hope to finding cures for other more deadly diseases, researchers say.

Scientists said Wednesday they had mapped the three-dimensional makeup of a microscopic cold-causing virus — the first time any human virus has been completely detailed — including tiny points of vulnerability where future vaccines or other drugs might be aimed. The composite image was produced from data fed into a "supercomputer."

Since viral agents are to blame for many human ailments, including the deadly as well as the annoying, the new findings could be significant in fights against diseases ranging from stuffy noses to multiple sclerosis to leukemia and even perhaps the mysterious AIDS virus, said the lead researcher, Purdue University Professor Michael Rossmann.

He told a roomful of reporters that many viruses can cause colds, meaning there may never be a one-shot, sneeze and sniffles-preventing vaccine.

However, he said that in light of his group's findings, "it may be possible to find a cure for the cold that may not be along the lines of a classic vaccine" — a drug, for example, that, instead of attacking the virus itself, would lure it away from areas where it might otherwise attach to healthy cells.

Seeing the detailed makeup of cold viruses — down to three hundred-millionths of a centimeter — makes chances of developing effective anti-viral drugs "much more possible, absolutely," he said.

Still, Rossmann emphasized that it would be up to others to develop drug-counter applications for his findings, which resulted from experiments done in collaboration with a Wisconsin group headed by Roland Rueckert and which depended heavily on high-technology machinery at Purdue and Cornell universities.

Teenager arrested for killing friend

HOUSTON (AP) — A 15-year-old boy who was admitted into a San Antonio drug rehabilitation center was arrested for allegedly killing another teen-age boy, investigators said.

The body of Wayne James Schubert, a student at Cypress Creek High School, was found under a tool box of a pickup truck by Pearland police at about 4 a.m. Tuesday morning.

The suspect was arrested Tuesday afternoon at the San Antonio center, Harris County sheriff's detective Jim Brannen said. He said the youth could not be charged until he is certified as an adult.

The 18-year-old girlfriend of the suspect notified Pearland police about the killing, detectives said.

"She couldn't believe it, She loves the guy, but she's afraid of him," Brannen said. The girl told detectives her boyfriend "at one time was a devil worshiper."

Brannen said Schubert, 16, was shot about 7:30 a.m. Monday at his home in northwest Harris County.

The assailant then hid Schubert's body under the tool box, drove to his girlfriend's house, showed her the body and forced her to go with him to abandon the truck in a field in Pearland, Brannen said.

It was not known why Schubert was killed, he said.

Brennan said the couple walked back to the girlfriend's house and stayed there until his mother picked him up at 6 p.m. Monday. The mother had made an appointment for her son to be see a counselor at the Drug Abuse Programs of America on Tuesday morning.

The youth and a drug abuse counselor had flown to San Antonio Tuesday morning, Brannen said.

State launches two child support plans

AUSTIN (AP) — Two new programs to help speed up child support collections are being started, and state officials say they hope the time for processing payments can be cut from two weeks to a few days.

"The reason that it matters a great deal is that who you are dealing with here are children. When that money doesn't come, the child is the one that suffers," said state Treasurer Ann Richards.

Ms. Richards and Attorney General Jim Mattox said Wednesday that one program will be directed at non-custodial parents living in Texas and the second at those who live outside the state. Both will use modern banking processes to reduce delay, they said.

The Rapid Deposit Lockbox Program will utilize a central banking location in Austin rather than local child support offices for payments the state supervises from some 16,000 non-custodial parents, Mattox said.

The parents will be issued coupon payment books similar to those used for auto loan payments. They will mail a coupon and their check to the lockbox, from which collections will be made hourly, Mattox said.

Using computers, the bank and the attorney general's office will speed processing of the payment, and the comptroller's office will quickly issue the check, Mattox said.

"We think it will be a major improvement," Mattox said. "We would hope to see some dramatic increases in that area."

Mattox said benefits of the program will include a $250,000 reduction in expenses and at least 10 days' reduction in the time it takes to process the payments.

The second program, FAST, is the Family Assistance Speed Transfers proram. It will use automated banking services, similar to bank cards now in use nationwide, to rush child support payments to children from parents in other states.

Snake sackers slithering around ban issued in state

FAIRCHANCE, Pa. (AP) — Environmentalists and sportsmen are entangled in a sharp-toothed debate over the state's ban on timber rattlesnakes in snake sacking contests.

The state Fish Commission, which imposed the ban Jan. 1, says the contests injure the snakes by tearing their muscles, dislocating vertebrae and causing internal bleeding.

"These people are thrill-seekers and exhibitionists. The snakes are mistreated. It's inhumane, just like bull-baiting, cock fights or other things," said C.J. McCoy, a snake expert with the Carnegie Institute of Pittsburgh.

Sackers, who are getting around the ban by importing diamondback rattlers from Texas or moving across the state line, say the snakes are released unharmed.

"If we're going to get ridiculous, let's ban fish hooks because it hurts the fish's mouth," said James Lovette, executive director of the state House Game and Fisheries Committee. "The Fish Commission has not shown us any evidence that sacking contests are detrimental to snakes."

Even state lawmakers are involved. The House voted 150-51 on May 7 to lift the ban, and the bill is pending in the Senate. Meanwhile, the state Wildlife Conservation Fund is spending $8,000 for a three-year study on the effects of sacking on snakes.

"People say, 'So what? It's just a snake.' But if they were stuffing Bambi in a sack, there would be tremendous public outcry," said Clark Shiffer, coordinator for endangered species for the Fish Commission.

"We have a responsibility to protect a resource whether the people want it or not," said Shiffer.

Experts note that the snakes are beneficial to man by eating rodents.

For years, sacking contests and snake hunts have been traditional fund-raising events for rural volunteer fire departments.
