Rate Hearings Tonight And Thursday In Rockport, Fulton

Eleven proposed standards that would govern setting of electric utility rates and service will be presented to residents of Rockport tonight and Fulton Thursday night in public hearings in the two cities.

In Rockport, the hearing will begin at 5 p.m. in the City Hall.

Thursday night's, October 23, hearing in Fulton's City Hall will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

The hearings in both cities are a requirement under the federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies

Act of 1978. Neither city will be able to take any action on the nights of the public hearings. Both hearings are bound by federal guidelines that require that testimony be taken and transcripts of the proceedings be sent to the U.S. Department of Energy.

Both cities have a year from the date of the hearings in which to send the transcripts.

The ratemaking and service standards proposed under the 1978 Act include: Electric rates should, "to the greatest extent possible, reflect the cost of providing service to each class of consumer."

Declining block rates — decreasing the cost of electricity to large volume consumers as the consumption increases — would be prohibited.

Rates should reflect the (See RATE, Page 10)

Pirates Make Ready For Trojan Horses

By Bob Crawford
Rockport-Fulton Pirates have their work cut out for them this week as they have to make the long trip to Beeville to play the Trojans.

The Trojans come in the game on the heels of a big win over West Oso 19-6 last Friday. Beeville was fighting for the right to enter the contest with Gregory-Portland later in the season on equal basis, as undefeated teams. However, the Pirates may have something to say about that.

Rockport won last week over Sinton, playing with a lot of courage with a host of players out, and a few more fell in the Sinton game. Rockport might well be called the Band-Aid Corps this week.

The Trojans feature some nifty runners in J.J. Robinson, Manuel Hernandez, and Chris Thomas.

Robinson has run in eight touchdowns so far this year, with Hernandez and Thomas each adding three.

Last week, the Trojans went to the air to score two of their TD's against West Oso. In fact, the Trojans went to the air eight times in the game which represents their high for the season.

Beeville has perhaps the largest and most established line in the district as far as experience goes, so the Pirate defense will have their hands full.

The last time the Pirates went to Beeville, the Pirates were embarrassed 49-0 when Robin Bright and R.A. Medina ran wild. The Pirates will be out to see to it that the same outcome doesn't come about this time.

Girl Scouts Help Prepare Fund Campaign Letters

Members of the local Girl Scouts organization have contributed to this year's United Fund Campaign in Aransas County by folding some 2,500 letters that will go to county residents.

The letters, seeking contributions to the United Fund from individuals, are expected to go into the mails in the near future.

Meanwhile, the United

Fund campaign is one-quarter of the way towards its 1980 goal of $20,103, with some $5,328 in contributions to the organization so far.

The campaign officially got underway October 1 under direction of UF President Betty French and Campaign Chairman and Co-chairman, Betty Jean Ward and Vi Street.

Lois Gurley is secretary of the campaign and in charge of mailing out the letters.

The next meeting for the United Fund board of directors will be noon Thursday, November 6, at Corky's Restaurant.

Notary Publics May Have Wrong Seals

If you're an Aransas County notary public, you may have been invalidated by State law.

If your notary seal says "Aransas County" instead of "State of Texas," it is not valid under Texas statutes adopted last May.

A change in Texas law was approved in last May's state primary elections, under which a notary public was authorized to practice anywhere in the State of Texas — not just in his or her home county.

But this change invalidated any notary seal bearing the name of a specific county. To be valid, the seal must read, "State of Texas."

Seals bearing this new wording have been ordered by the Rockport Pilot and should be available soon to any notary public who needs the new seal.

'Uncle John' Comes Back To Pilot

Residents who have been reading the Rockport Pilot for a couple of years or more as well as newer readers are in for a real treat—Uncle John Leslie is back.

"Uncle John" wrote a weekly column for the Pilot, called "Nit Pikins", for about two years, until January, 1979.

Now he's back on the Pilot's pages with a new column—"Uncle John's Jottings"—and it starts in today's edition!

The new column will be a regular feature in the Pilot Midweek edition.

ABSENTEE VOTER

William Stephen Theodore comes out of the voting booth after casting his absentee ballot for the November 4 general election Monday, October 20. By noon Monday, some 87 persons had voted absentee. County Clerk Ruby Hart reminds Aransas County voters that the absentee election will continue through Friday, October 31, and that all persons age 65 or over are eligible to vote absentee regardless of whether they will be in the county on election day. Otherwise, absentee voting is limited to those who will be out of the county on election day or who are physically unable to go to the polls. (Pilot Photo by Pat Blair)

Rockport Gets Sales Tax Rebate

Net Payment from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office to the city of Rockport totaled $9,903.68, up four percent from the same date last year, representing the city's one percent share of revenue from September sales.

This compares favorably with area cities.

Aransas Pass received $14,212.91, up five percent over last year, and Ingleside got $27,118.91, a 73 percent hike from last time.

Port Aransas, with a check for $11,924.85, was up eight percent and Refugio was up 10 percent with $6,241.97.

The one percent city sales tax is collected with the state's four percent tax by merchants and businesses and returned monthly to the cities from which the tax is collected.

Tourists Spend $26 Million In County

Americans traveling Aransas County last year (1979) spent $26.9 million, a new study done for the Texas Tourist Development Agency reveals.

The figure is 17.7 percent above 1978.

The Washington based U.S. travel Data Center found 814 travel related jobs in Aransas County, with a payroll of $5.1 million.

Travelers paid $187,000 in local taxes, and $776,000 in State taxes.

The study includes travel for all purposes. It measures the impact of all overnight trips, and day trips of at least 100 miles.

Foreign spending, not a part of the study, would have added significantly to estimated receipts, the Center said.

VICTORY WALK

A happy Terri Price, representing the Band, is escorted downfield by Bob Ayers after being named Homecoming Queen for 1980 Friday night, October 17, in Pirate Stadium. Terri was presented with a bouquet of red roses by Michael Arthur, vice president of the Student Council, and was crowned by Alvina Sanchez, 1979 Homecoming Queen. Naming of the Homecoming Queen took place in pregame ceremonies at Pirate Stadium and were followed by the homecoming game in which the Rockport-Fulton Pirates defeated the Sinton Pirates by 22-6.

Some People Can Buy Groceries Without Money

By Johnnie Littleton
Robert and Gladys Tillison went grocery shopping recently and bought more than $93 worth of groceries for their family of six.

Unusual? Certainly not. When Tillison reached for his wallet and paid for the merchandise with a $5 bill — well, that was extremely unusual.

The Tillisons are members of the local Refunder's

Club and the bulk of their grocery items that particular week was paid for with coupons for free items, coupons with cents-off value, and $57 in checks and cash they received by mail for redemption of certain coupons and certificates.

The couple has an intricate filing system. Mrs. Tillison carries a box full of coupons, divided into categories, every time she shops. At home they keep a well-organized folder of mail-in coupons encased in plastic for easy flipping through and reading. They also had a display of merchandise bought for as little as 50 cents through the coupon program.

That seems pretty well "all together," but then they have cardboard boxes filled with empty soap wrappers, labels from cans and bottles, flattened empty boxes and coffee can lids.

Another member of the Refunder's, which met Tuesday evening at the VFW Hall, is Thelma Adams. For her family of four she keeps everything whether needed at the moment or not.

For instance, she said she "never throws anything away." And she really meant it. In her filing system, consisting of several cardboard boxes, were toothpaste boxes, plastic wrappers, labels, magazine certificates, soap wrappers, light bulb cartons — and she had a file for batteries, blue and other non-edibles such as personal hygiene products.

Mrs. Adams said that in four months she has received $199.70 in the mail — and that's after subtracting postage she used to send for the refunds. She feels good about her savings although she admits her system isn't as detailed as the Tillison's.

Tillison said that in three months he had saved $48 on cigarettes with the coupon-redemption-qualifier program. A qualifier is a portion of a certain wrapping that might be needed for coupons or cash later.

All the members agreed that there are some items they do not use and never will, so that makes the reason for a club of this kind valuable. What is worthless to one member may be priceless to another.

As any shopper knows, magazines and newspapers are full of coupons, but what most don't realize is that one small box of sandwich bags may be used many times.

Mrs. Adams has used one box five times. First she bought them with a money-off coupon. Then later there was an offer asking for the UPC label (Universal Product Code); and later one requiring the ingredients; and yet another needing the end flap — and finally they wanted just one word from the box.

That's why these people who are saving money on their groceries are keeping the whole box instead of just a flap or two. One never knows what might be valuable in a month or two.

Others who are trying to organize, trade and save are Melba Forney, Jerry Larimore, Margaret Westby and Darlene and Terry Brasher.

And it seems to be working very well indeed.

Tillison came to the meeting Tuesday with a stack of envelopes containing free coupons, cash and checks. We didn't stop to count them up, but you can be sure it was plenty.

Skeptics may wonder if it's worth the "trouble"

The club members invite you to visit a meeting and find out for yourself. Savings can be had on any merchandise imaginable. Even meat.

The thrifty shoppers meet the second Tuesday of each month.

A subscription to one of the magazines for refunders is almost a must since it helps plan a filing system and keeps the purchaser abreast of what the "biggie" items are.

How does one obtain a magazine subscription?

With a money-off, trial coupon, of course.

Robstown Horse Show To Be Held In November

The Silver Spurs 4-H Club of Robstown will present the third annual Horse Show Saturday, November 1, at the Robstown Show-barn.

Registration is at 9 a.m. and the show begins at 10. Awards will be given for Pee Wee, Junior and Senior — trophies first through sixth, and high point awards in each age group.

As of show date participants in Pee Wee must be eight years old and under, juniors nine through fifteen, and seniors 16 and over.

High point in each age group will be determined by one horse and one rider with the horse to be specified at time of registration. TYRA and 4-H rules will apply where applicable.

Jackpot barrels are open and pay one place after four, two after eight, and three after twelve.

Individual entry fees are $3.50 for halter and performance events; $2 per Pee Wee event; $3 per team event, per person; $3 for speed events and $15 for jackpot barrels.

GOOD AS GOLD

Gladys and Robert Tillison, members of the local Refunder's Club, show some of their many money-saving methods. On the desk in front of them are envelopes containing cash, coupons for free items, coupons with money off value, and some of the many items they have obtained for just the price of postage. Their fully developed filing system includes a large file box, cardboard boxes for home, and a small file box Gladys carries to the store each time she shops. This couple recently bought over $90 in groceries, with a cash layout of about $5.

Brownbuilder Joe Torres: working in Port Aransas, building Texas

Joe A. Torres, III, from Robstown, is one of more than 35,000 Texas Brownbuilders—men and women of Brown & Root—currently at work across the state.

Joe joined Brown & Root in 1975 and is now a 1st class welder. He also serves on Brown & Root's Safety Committee. Joe and his wife, Celia, now live in Portland with their three children, two girls and a boy. A graduate of Calallen High School and the Delmar Tech Welding School, Joe enjoys hunting and fishing, likes to ride and sometimes break horses.

Texas Brownbuilders like Joe are proud of the part they are playing in our state's industrial and economic growth. Brownbuilders are also a source of great pride to us. Their loyalty and dedication are our most important assets.

Brown & Root's operations are worldwide in scope. A significant factor in our growth has been a long-standing policy of recognizing advancement potential from within the ranks of Brownbuilders, offering each individual the opportunity to advance according to his or her ability and merit.

Credit Regulations Cause Delay

A reluctance by some South Texas businesses to furnish credit information on their customers is delaying the processing of some home loan applications filed by victims of Hurricane Allen, according to officials of the Federal emergency Management Agency.

Failure to obtain this credit information promptly "has turned into a real problem," according to Bill Smith, director of office verification for FEMA.

FEMA investigates the credit records of persons who apply for loans to repair or replace homes and personal property damaged as a result of the disaster. FEMA then furnishes the Small Business Administration with a credit report on each applicant, which the SBA uses to evaluate the loan application.

Smith pointed out that persons who apply for such disaster-related loans sign a privacy act release statement authorizing a representative of the government — in this case, FEMA — to investigate their financial status.

The normal investigative procedure, Smith said, is for FEMA personnel to check the credit status of applicants through local credit bureaus.

However, if the credit bureaus have no file on an applicant, then FEMA personnel check the applicant's credit status through credit references provided by the applicant.

That is where the problem is occurring, Smith said.

"Many banks, retail firms and loan companies are refusing to furnish us the credit information we need," Smith said. "Many others are telling us to write them a letter, and they will consider the request and write us back. We need the information over the telephone whenever possible."

Any business that has questions, or needs further clarification of the situation, may contact Smith at the Corpus Christi FEMA disaster field office. The telephone number is (512) 887-8560, ext. 190.

In January, 1979, I wrote my last "Nit Pikins" column for the Pilot. I elected to stop for several reasons. I have been asked by friends to this day to resume my weekly ramblings. I thank my Rockport-Fulton people and all my winter friends for continued requests.

We have a wide selection of food supplements.

So, here I am again with a different format. Just one subject per week, plus a laugh or words of wisdom.

This week it is titled, "Reminiscing". Since I have moved into the 80's, I must admit I am old and old people must be excused of their reminiscences.

It all started when in October of 1971, Joe Lister sold me No. 30 Mazatlan in Key Allegro, completely furnished including food and wine, for $24,950 (can you believe this?)

Having just lost my wife in Houston, I migrated—why—the Lord must have said "go"—to Rockport. I and my Siamese cat (now 20 years old and at this writing is sound asleep on my bed) moved in. It was a lucky day for me.

One factor that cinched the move was that John and Gladys Knoche of 1512 West Terrace lived here. They were Houston neighbors of many years. They helped install me at 30 Mazatlan. Also, my brother owned a lot on Key Allegro on which he hoped to build someday; this was another plus.

How good these nine years have been! I had not been here but a few days when I found an invitation on my door to an October-fest on Edgewater Street. It was sponsored by a neighborhood group — the Sam Crosbys, etc.

I had a ball eating cheese, crackers and cool beer as well as meeting my new neighbors. No one in Key Allegro asked to see my pocketbook. They just accepted me as a lonesome widower—one of the poorest I am sure.

Thus, Uncle John had made a start of a new life. I widowed pretty good, cooked my own meals, etc. for about a year until I met and married in May 1972, one of the large supply of widows in the First Presbyterian Church—Dorothy Morrison. I left the Island and moved into her new brick home in Peninsula Oaks.

Then I became interested in the Boy Scout programs in Rockport—an interest I have had most of my life—and still have.

What a happy nine years! I became interested in organizing the AARP, the Concern Center and the Senior Citizens' programs. I worked with the United Fund, got involved in the big Auction for the Medical Facility. I became active in the First Presbyterian Church. I wrote "Nit Pikins" for two years.

I have been doing many things and am very happy in my new home—in Rockport. Best of all, I have made friends in all walks of life. Young and old call me "Uncle John"—it is about the only name I answer to.

One of the happiest memories of my nine years in Rockport was the arrival in Rockport of my son John D. and his wife Gail. They came in 1975 and bought my house on Key Allegro. Never, since he was 16 years old and left home for college, the war, etc., have we lived in the same town.

This all came to a sad end when in 1979 they moved to Washington, D.C. where he is employed by the Farmers Home Administration. As the old saying goes "you can't have your cake and eat it too." It was good while it lasted. His being here brought my grandchildren and my great-granddaughter to see me.

I have run out of reminiscing. Just hope I have crossed your path and we are friends.

A Chuckle for you—"Me slept with Daddy, last night" said the small child, excitedly, to the kindergarten teacher.

"I slept with Daddy last night," the teacher corrected.

"Well, then," said the child, "you must have come in after I went to sleep."

See you next week in the Midweek Edition—
—Uncle John

Mineral Leasing Meet Set For October 23 At A&M Center

A one-evening seminar to acquaint landowners with the options open to them in leasing their land for oil and gas or uranium production will get underway at 7:30 p.m. at the Texas A&M University Research & Extension Center in Corpus Christi on Thursday, October 23.

The program will feature Judon Fambrough, Texas A&M University attorney, County Extension Agent Doug Andrews has announced.

"This meeting will be presented from the landowner's viewpoint," Andrews emphasized. "Many people have settled for less than they could have gotten for leasing their land due solely to ignorance. They didn't know what rights they had."

"By the end of our meeting landowners will have a much better grasp of those rights," he added.

Much of the entire county is underlain by uranium ore, oil and gas in varying concentrations, and is potentially subject to lease offers, Andrews added.

He urged all who are interested in looking out for their rights in a leasing agreement to attend the meeting.

"Anyone about to sign a lease or thinking of doing so should come to the Research and Extension Center on October 23 before putting his name on an agreement," Andrews said.

The county agent pointed out that the landowner has the final right, either to lease under the best terms he can negotiate or not to lease.

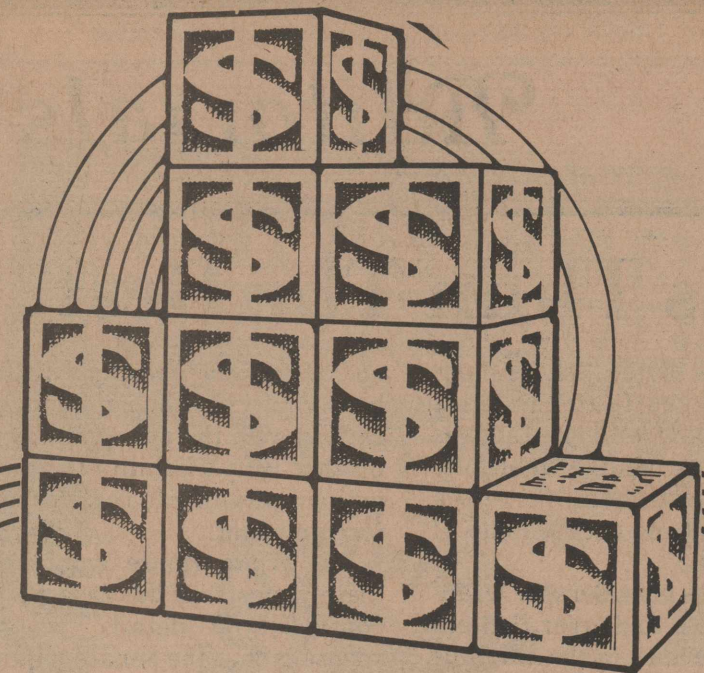

However, after considering all pros and cons and making the decision to accept a particular leasing agreement, the landowner is bound to the terms of that agreement.

"Therefore, the only time to negotiate and make decisions is before the lease is executed," Andrews reiterated.

Less Than The Best

Members of the Senate committee investigating Billy Carter's affair with the Libyans have left us with a multiple-choice questionnaire: Pick your verdict, or accept none of the above.

There was considerable wrangling, we are told, over the language to be used in the committee's final report. Individual members felt compelled to issue personal statements showing they do not agree with all the conclusions which infuse the report with a relatively mild tone of condemnation.

Democrats on the bi-partisan committee are more inclined to accuse the White House and the Justice Department of no more than poor judgment, with the severest criticism aimed at Billy Carter himself. The Republicans are more harsh, with Sen. Richard Lugar saying President Carter has "demeaned" the White House, and Sen. Strom Thurmond seeing "a clear pattern of misconduct" involving high officials.

That Republicans should be less forgiving than Democrats is hardly surprising in a congressional inquiry which has paralleled the president's campaign for re-election. A degree of political bias could be expected. But even where the bi-partisan committee is unanimous in its conclusions, there are some troubling loose ends.

The committee reported there was no evidence of criminal violations, yet it questions the truth of Billy Carter's testimony about his $220,000 in loans from the Libyan government. The question of perjury, then, is left open. Nor is Attorney General Benjamin Civiletti entirely in the clear. The Justice Department's Office of Professional Responsibility is yet to report on the ethical questions raised by Civiletti's ambiguous conversations with the president about brother Billy's liability to prosecution for failing to register as a foreign agent.

The White House would see these aspects of the case as inconsequential details. Its response is that the Senate inquiry has turned up no "significant impropriety" but only "questions of judgment" in the official help given to the president's brother when he tried to capitalize on his high connections.

The disparity in the various judgments being pronounced on the Billygate affair cannot be explained entirely in terms of political partisanship. Whether one is mild or harsh in such judgments also depends on what standards are being used to measure official conduct.

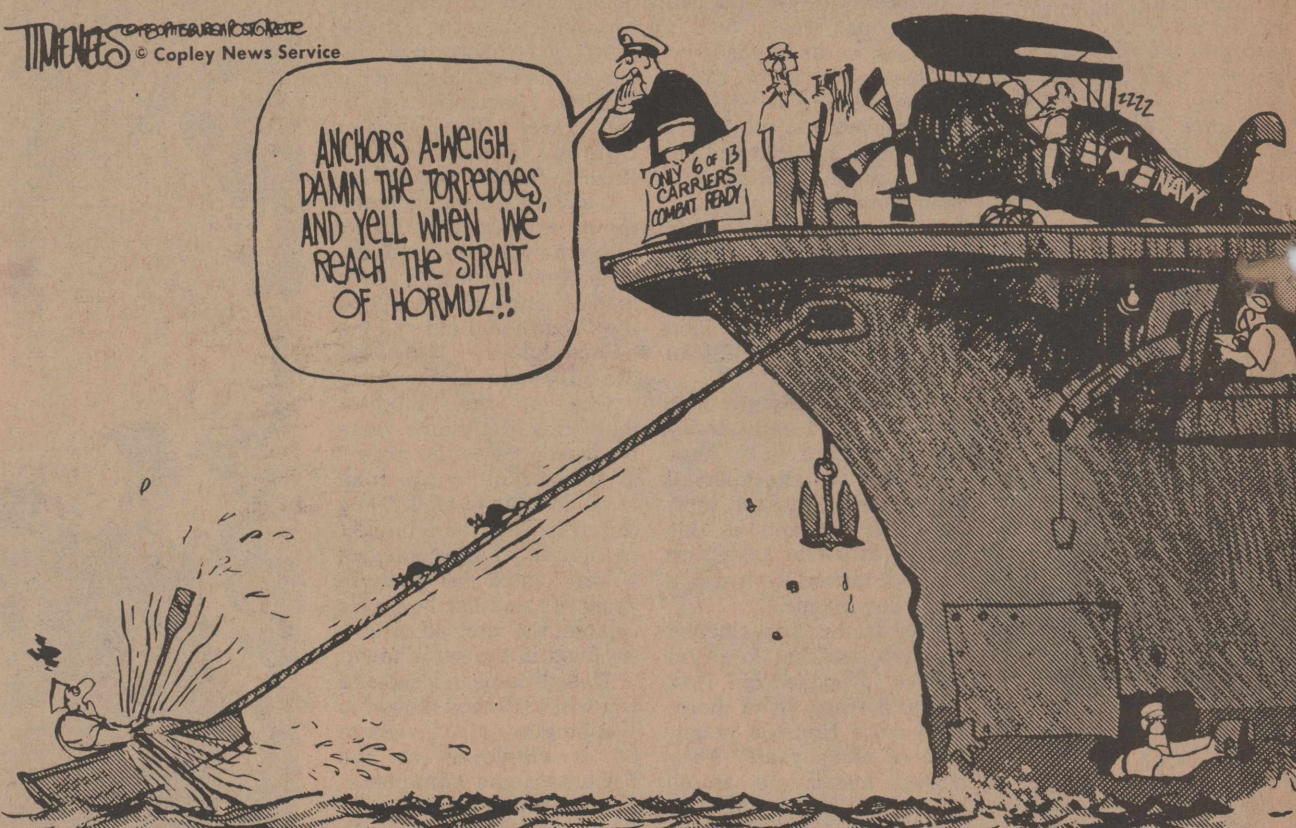

It is hardly a Republican point of view when Sen. Thurmond says the committee hearings disclosed conduct by the central intelligence director, the attorney general, the national security adviser and the White House which "falls far short of the standards the American people have a right to expect from their government."

Perhaps Billygate should be measured against the standards that President Carter himself laid down for his administration. "Why not the best?" he asked as a candidate four years ago, referring to both the competence and integrity he intended to bring to the White House.

Whether the president and his official family were guilty of bad judgment or something worse in their handling of Billy Carter's Libyan machinations, whether this was a failure in competence or a lapse in integrity, it was certainly something less than the best.

Austin At Wharf

POLLS, AS I HAVE SAID BEFORE, ARE SOMETHING we'd all be better off without; statistics are things that can be twisted and turned to prove almost anything. They seldom impress me.

Records are a horse of another color. When they are of a nature that interests me, I'm apt to devour them, weigh them and reweigh.

Now I have unfortunately mislaid a recent copy of "U.S. News & World Report," so shall have to report from memory — memory which in this case is accurate enough for consideration. This is on the subject of the voting record of our people.

From 1812 until 1920 as few as 12 percent of the eligible voters went to the polls, never more than 20 percent. Presidents received as little as 20 percent of the vote. Figures began to rise after women were franchised, and when Lyndon Johnson was elected, defeating Barry Goldwater, he received the highest percentage of votes of any President in recorded history — some 61 plus percent. Also, over 67 percent of the voters went to the polls, another record.

SO MANY PERCENTAGES MAY SEEM DULL — think. The woman's vote marked from the start and the trend has continued to show increased voter interest. However, and on the other hand, the end of the poll tax seems to have meant little.

Blacks, Hispanics and other minorities have so far made little difference in the voter turnout, although it is clear that those people will with each coming year be of increasing meaning. Young people who have been allowed to vote at age 18 have shown little interest.

All of these circumstances first off illustrate how we are genuinely interested in how their country fares. Or do they? For one, I suspect that the less than 20 percent of those who cast ballots 100 years ago were better informed than today's voter, even after allowing that people today face an increasingly complex world.

And it is for that reason that I have ever deplored the end of the poll tax and have always favored in addition, a literacy test.

Can this be better illustrated, proven, than by the constant references made to block groups, especially among ethnic groups? Indeed, should not a thoughtful, intelligent member of any such group be offended by such references?

More, who would deny that seekers after elective office — offices of high and low degree — do not in large measure encourage group voting. The most absurd, the most preposterous claims, even outright lies and distortions are literally dumped on those people. Rare indeed is the candidate without guilt.

SOME WEEKS AGO I SUGGESTED THAT IN November of this year, a year when only the rarest among us enthuse over either Presidential candidate, that Texas will see a large turnout. Presently each passing day substantiates that estimate.

The reason, of course, is interest in elections at lower levels, from the Congress to county commissioner or state representative. This is most definitely true in South Texas.

With fair degree of confidence I say there will be county officials who will garner more votes than the next President. Haven't we all seen it happen before? Of course, there are always group leaders who in this part of the state are urging "their" people to use one lever to vote Demo straight across the board.

That I call contempt for the thinking processes of those they presume to lead.

TO ME THERE HAS ALWAYS BEEN SOMETHING tragic about the length of our political campaigns, the millions of dollars spent. Both could be limited and result in more sanity. In addition to that, I must go along with John Connally and endorse, as I have before, the single six-year term for the President.

ELIZABETH DREW OF THE "NEW YORKER" magazine is becoming one of the most erudite political observers in the nation. In recent weeks she has spent considerable time on the political trail with each of the Presidential candidates. I only wish that it were possible to quote her analysis of President Carter in full and word for word. But in essence she had things like this to say:

While Carter has achieved quite a few things, most have been discounted by his inability to get it across, and the intensely political manner of so much of what he does. He has been impaired by his ability to get along with Congress. He is a loner in Washington. And as said by so many before, he constantly zigzags, and so constantly blurs the picture.

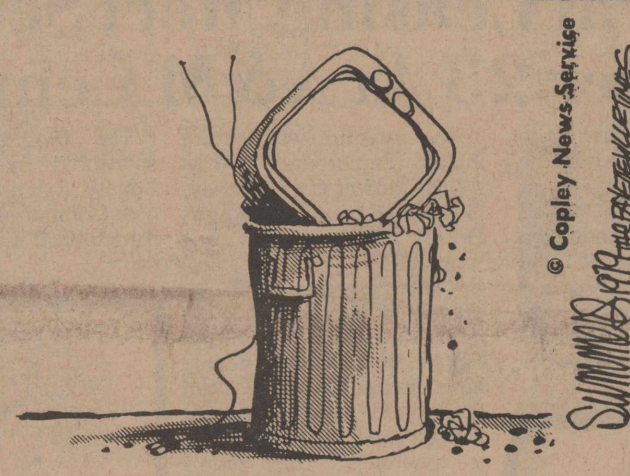

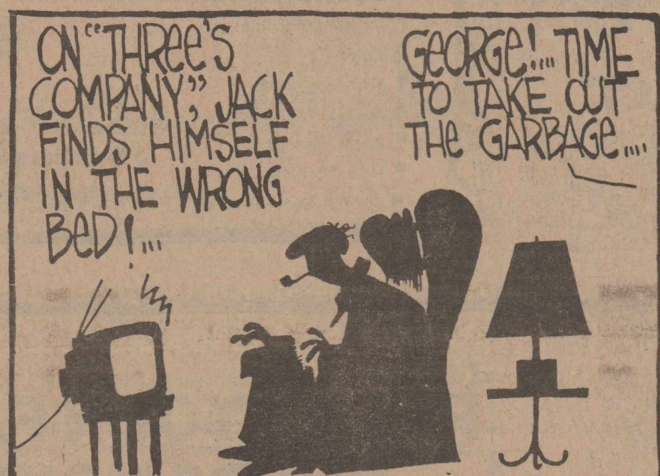

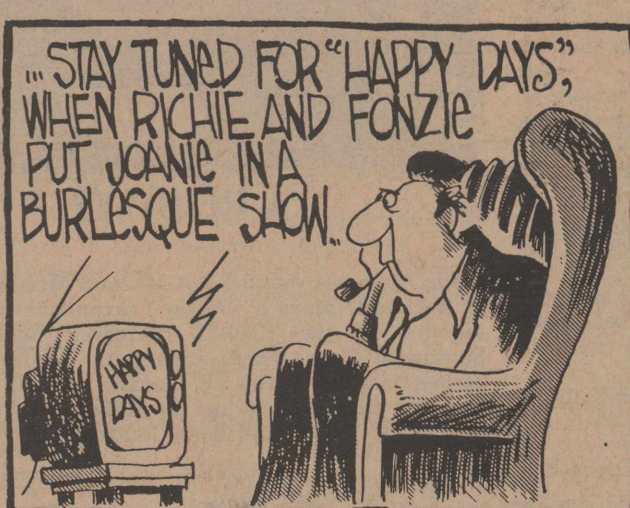

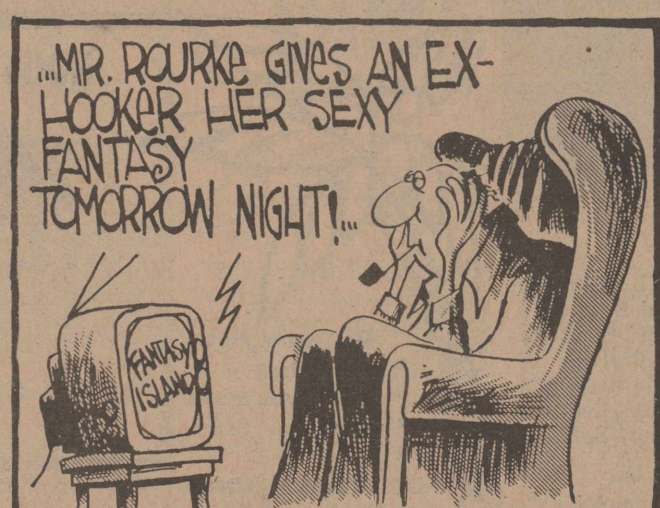

If history is fair to him it will probably say that while he was able to get some things done, he wasn't able to lead, nor to gain the confidence of the people — an important failure.

He is neither an able speaker nor an able politician. He will work at this, and work at that, fix this and that, but fails to lift spirits, kindle imagination, is unable to get people thinking in different ways.

He doesn't seem to be a President totally without a compass, but in reaching for so many fruits of so many of his acts he cheapens them, demeans the Presidency. He does not come across as the sort who would wreck the country for his own glory, but he does often come across as one who would go to great lengths to get 10 percent more of the Chicano vote, or what have you.

One gets the impression of a man who is very serious about his policies, but keeps undermining himself by undermining the motivation of those who could or might help — in the Congress, among outsiders.

He gets people pumped up about taking on one problem or another, and then he takes the spirit out of them. He doesn't know how to present things, nor does he know how to carry people along. He doesn't seem to understand how people in political life act or don't act. — cmhenkeljr

The Best Government Is Closest To Home

Those Texans who believe the best government — the most responsive and the most responsible — is the government closest to home will find no problem with supporting Constitutional Amendment No. 7 on the November 4th general election ballot.

This proposal, introduced by Representative Susan G. McBee of Del Rio and Senator Ron Clower of Garland and approved by the State Legislature, would give commissioners courts in sparsely populated counties the authority to decide whether or not county equipment and crews can work on private roads for reasonable fees.

Limited to counties with 5,000 or less population, this proposal is intended to remedy a critical problem existing mostly in the remote rangelands of western Texas.

In counties so sparsely populated that many include not even one incorporated town and a visit to the nearest grocery store often involves a trip of over a hundred miles, there are simply no private contractors around to do the road work for farmers and ranchers, who cannot afford to own such expensive equipment themselves.

In such areas, the county usually has the only equipment and crews which can do such road work. They are often idle much of the time since roads crossing private ranches and farms in such counties generally far exceed county maintained roads in such counties.

Amendment No. 7 would make it possible for counties to keep their road crews busy and to better utilize their investment in heavy equipment. All money so earned would be required to be used to improve public roads.

Farmers and ranchers who have no other means to do so would be able to keep their roads passable for livestock haulers and range fire fighters.

Amendment No. 7 is "permissive" not "mandatory." If a sparsely populated county should have private contractors available, or for some other reason use of this authority was not deemed in the public interest, it is highly unlikely that the county officials would authorize its use.

On the other hand, in those areas where this measure is desperately needed, the publicly-elected officials closest to the scene having first hand knowledge of the situation would be the ones to decide whether to authorize the work.

"Low Down"

FROM THE Congressional Record
By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

SENATOR THANKS SALVATION ARMY

Senator Lloyd Bentsen (Texas) "...I am today introducing a joint resolution which would recognize the Salvation Army for the many, many years of good works to the people of our country.

"Whenever there is an emergency we can always count on the Salvation Army to pitch in and provide help. When there is a large fire we see the Salvation Army Canteen providing hot food and drink for the firefighters.

"When there is a natural disaster that displaces persons, we see the Salvation Army providing emergency shelter, food, blankets, medical supplies and other services.

"When we drive in parts of our cities that seem to be abandoned by business and government, we see the Salvation Army social service centers...

"We say 'Thank you for a job well done.'"

"This thank you is especially fitting in this time when we are trying to fight inflation by keeping reign on spending in Federal programs. Can you imagine the cost to the Federal Government if all these services were provided by our agencies?

The Salvation Army assisted 30,000,000 people last year using more than 414,000 members and 580,000 volunteers. If these people were on the Government payroll at an average of $10,000 per year we would see the budget jump by nearly $10 billion per year. Add to this the cost of those goods and services and we can see just how valuable the Salvation Army is.

"But perhaps the most important part of these services is the impact the Salvation Army has made on people's lives. No one can measure the value of reuniting a family disrupted by a major disaster. We cannot count in dollars the lives who have been enriched by foster care service, employment services, counseling or skid row centers.

"Some of the members of this body may even have been served by the Salvation Army in the military..."

"I hope that this small measure of appreciation will convey our many thanks for this service to America. On this 100th anniversary we congratulate the Salvation Army and wish it well on its second century of good works."

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Few are aware that the Salvation Army was the first on the scene at the Mt. St. Helen's volcano disaster. The Salvation Army poured in all its resources from every major city in the area. The Senator is well aware of the services performed by the Salvation Army when hurricane Allen swept through Texas. Praise for the Salvation Army should not be buried in the Congressional Record.

Call Goes Out For More Volunteers

Women's Committee Sees Film

A travel film on Germany provided the entertainment portion of a meeting of the Women's Committee of Aransas County Medical Services Inc. on Friday, October 17.

But members were also reminded that they are "not a social group and not a luncheon group. We are a service group."

The reminder came from Mary Casey, in charge of the committee's workshop, who announced that the dates of the annual Christmas Bazaar have been moved up one week and more volunteers are needed to help get ready.

The Christmas Bazaar is one of the big money-making events sponsored by the Women's Committee whose purpose is to raise funds to help keep Aransas County's ambulance service rolling.

The program for Friday's luncheon meeting — held at Sandollar Restaurant — was arranged by Bill Mayhood of Mayhood International Travel Agency here. Guest speaker was Joanne Traylor, regional sales representative for Lufthansa Airlines in Houston.

She brought a film on Germany to show those attending the meeting. She also donated a flight bag to committee members to sell in the Christmas Bazaar.

Although Juanita Wagley was not at Friday's luncheon, ACMSI Women's Committee members were asked to give special recognition to this woman who donates the workshop space in Encina Plaza to the Committee — and is donating use of the Paws & Taws Building for the Christmas Bazaar.

This year's Bazaar will be held the weekend of November 15 and 16 and a special feature will be a drawing for a simulated three-karat diamond ring — valued at $300 — and a handmade latch hook rug, valued at $250.

Tickets for the drawing are $1 each or six tickets for $5. Tickets are tax deductible and anyone can buy them from Joann Haskell, phone number 729-1643, or at the workshop and gift boutique in Encina Plaza.

The drawing is set for Sunday, November 16.

Women's Committee members were asked to donate items for sale in the Bazaar or donate their talents to help make items.

Vi Street, chairman of the White Elephant Booth, called on members to "bring me all your junk."

Also receiving special recognition at Friday's luncheon were John Mitchell who will join Bertie Cone as advisory member to the ACMSI Board of Directors.

And Pat Evers called for recognition of Lee Wideman as "the lady who started it all" with a $25 check. Pat was referring to the work that has resulted in the county ambulance service and more recently the Enterprise Medical Clinic.

Bright, Pretty Baskets

T.E.L. Class Meets

The Fellowship Hall of Rockport's First Baptist Church was the scene of the Tuesday, October 14, luncheon and program of the T.E.L. Sunday School Class.

Fifteen members and 10 guests were present.

Charence C. Walstad asked the blessing before the luncheon.

Gladiase Thomson, assisted by Sheila Roach and Evelyn Townsend, carried out the decorating theme, "It Is Always Springtime In Texas."

Decorations featured a large multi-floral arrangement of autumn flowers. Individual tables were decorated with sunflowers, asparagus fern and chrysanthemums.

Mary Godde directed the singing, accompanied by Winnie Keith at the piano. Marie Kuykendall read the devotional, Philippians Chapter 1, and recounted a short story about Leonardo De Vinci.

Mrs. Keith and Edith Cameron, presented the program, and Mrs. Roach led the prayer that followed. Mrs. Townsend presented the secretary treasurer's report.

Other members present were Beulah Dedmon, Mamie Schuster, Ann M. Johnson, Flora Davis, Tiney Gayle, Ruth Walstad, Viola Ferguson and Evelyn Champion.

Guests attending were Mrs. Nell Reed, Truett Roach, Clarence C. Walstad, Roy Kuykendall, Paul B. Keith, Willis Champion, D.R. Simmons, Jack Baird, Ed. Godde and J.V. Ferguson.

The class will have its November 11 luncheon at noon. Members' husbands are invited.

PHYSICAL FITNESS

By Bill Toomey, Executive Director, AAU-Penn Mutual Masters Sports

Reasons for Running

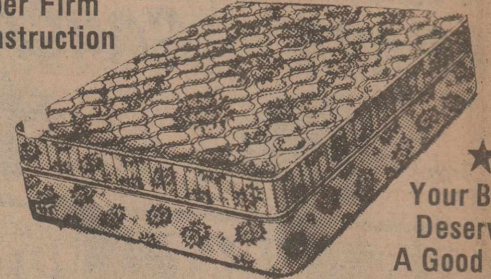

Health is clearly the number one reason why so many Americans are running. Studies have shown that regular, vigorous exercise can improve the body's ability to consume oxygen during exertion, lower the resting heart rate, reduce blood pressure and increase the efficiency of the heart and lungs. It also helps burn excess calories.

By Lucille E. Skrobarcek Game afternoon on Thursday, October 16, was well attended with Mrs. Mable Como and Casey Edmiston winners in bridge.

The "Pouch of Coins" went to Mrs. Chloe Bennet and Mrs. Wanda Smith won the Finale.

Hostesses were Mary Lucille and Vincent Skrobarcek. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

The next game afternoon is Thursday, October 23, at 1 p.m. at the Paws and Taws Building.

On Wednesday, November 5, AARP is sponsoring a dance at 7 p.m. at the Paws and Taws Building. Gene Rickles will provide the very danceable music so bring friends and enjoy a fun-filled evening.

The final "Sunset Supper" at 5 p.m. Wednesday, October 22, is also the annual tacky party. Prizes will be awarded to the man and woman wearing the tackiest outfit.

The business meeting of AARP Rockport Chapter 1536 is Wednesday, November 12, and it is "Election Day".

This is a very important meeting and all members are urged to attend as the officers will be elected for 1981. These elected persons will take office in January, 1981.

AARP Rockport Chapter 1536 again wishes to extend thanks to all persons who helped to make the Cake Walk and "New and Old" booths at the Seafair a great success.

COA Receives Sewing Machine

Denim material and a sewing machine valued at $650 were donated Tuesday to the local Council on Aging, according to local director Gwen Gonyea.

Donating the items were the Levi Strauss Company and the Coastal Bend Council of Governments. They will be used by those who participate at the agency for sewing projects of their choice.

Mrs. Gonyea said there are many activities available to those desiring to attend, and anyone over age 55 is welcome to come to the center each day for lunch and take part in various activities.

Beginning Monday at 1:30 p.m. there will be lessons in watercolor painting, and Tuesdays will feature quilting by hand.

Wednesday afternoons, participants may play cards — the game of their choice — or be taught a game, if they desire.

Thursday afternoons will be devoted to watercolor No. 2 classes, and on Fridays volunteers will help make crafts and other items that will be sold.

A quilt was made by the group and was sold before it was completed in this, their first effort. More will be made at a later date in the on-going project.

Approximately 34 people, plus staff and volunteers take advantage of the COA's activities.

Pirates Drop Sinton

By Bob Crawford

With a lot of Pirates playing hurt, and a lot of Pirates missing from the line-up, Rockport-Fulton outlasted the Sinton Pirates 22-6 in the Homecoming game in Rockport Friday night.

Although the Rockport team was in the lead going into the last quarter, the game was not settled until Wayne Walls flew the secondary on a 73 yard scamper. At that point, the Homecoming victory looked secure.

Rockport showed some offense early, gaining the ball on a short punt and then moving the ball the length of the field for the first touchdown of the night.

Michael Simmons got the Pirates on the board with a one-yard plunge behind some good power blocking from the right side of the Pirate line along with blocking backs Bubba Scott and Ernest Gonzales. David Williams missed the point after, but Rockport led 6-0.

In that drive, Simmons had picked up sizeable gains, and then quarterback Adam Harden, standing in for the injured Jim Eaton, used the screen pass in Rockport's favor as he hit Walls for a good gain.

When the Pirates stopped Sinton again, Harden again went to the screen pass, this time to Simmons for 14 yards, and had he not stumbled, the pass had a good chance to to the distance. When that drive faltered, Gonzales punted the ball to the one yard line of the Sinton team to really pin them down.

With their backs to the end zone, Sinton tried to move the ball out. A good hit jarred the ball loose, and Simmons came away with the loose ball. Rockport had the ball on the six yard line.

Things took a while to iron out for the Pirates as they were penalized back to the 11 yard line. Harden didn't fool around with the defense; he drilled a pass to the back of the end zone where Dennis Hull, the tight end, waited for the ball. The play was good for six points.

Before Sinton could organize further, Gonzales faked in and broke to the corner of the end zone, and Harden laid the ball into his arms for two additional points, making the score 14-0.

Rockport's defense choked off a big Sinton threat late in the first half when the Sinton team tried out the airways, but the Pirates' George Solis intercepted the ball and the Pirates ran out the half, nearly scoring again when Simmons broke loose for 25 yards before being hauled down.

On the second half kick-off, Walls nearly went the distance as he returned the ball 42 yards to near mid-field. The Pirates couldn't make a go of it on offense, so they had to give up the ball.

When Sinton could not move the ball, they had to punt. Sinton got the ball back, putting things together to begin their most determined effort of the game by moving for a score, mixing good running with a few passes.

The touchdown run came on a very determined run by Albert Ruiz from 15 yards away. Sinton went for two, but the pass was slightly overthrown.

Sinton did generate another drive to deep in Pirate territory before the Pirate defense shut it down. It was Solis again making a clutch interception and returning the ball out to the 20 yard line.

It was at that point that Sinton defenders were guilty of blinking once, and Walls stepped through the line on a trap play and was 20 yards downfield before anyone could give chase.

The play was a 73-yard TF run. Harden hit Hull with a pass for two points to finish out the night's scoring for both teams.

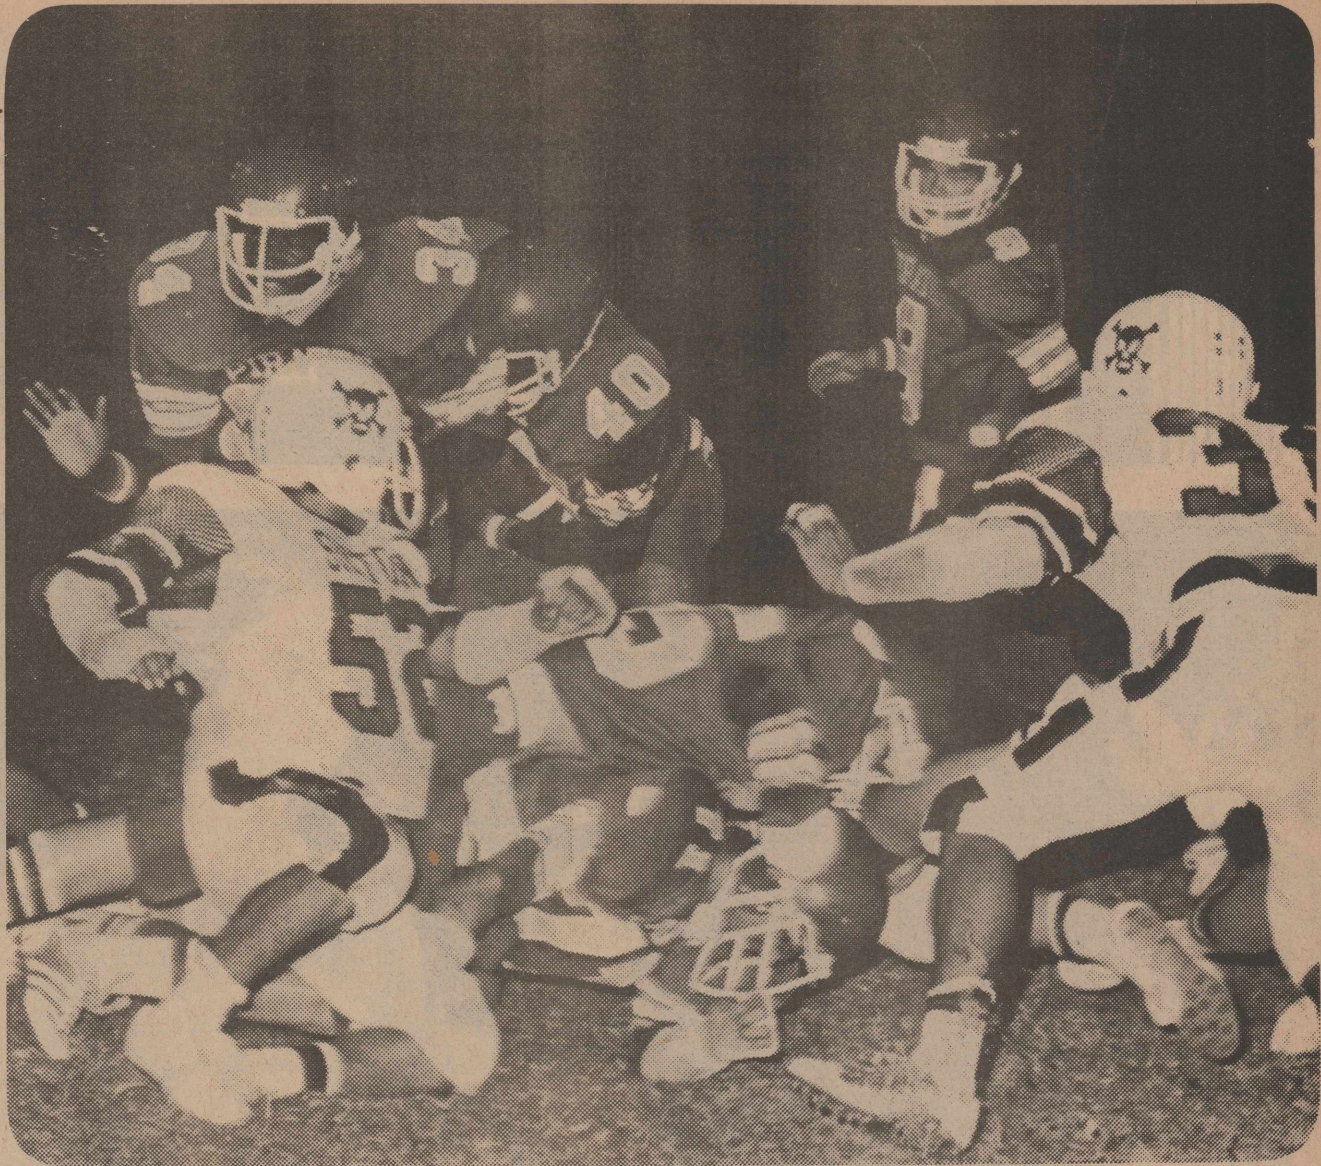

Harden who went both ways on the field recovered a bad pitch to stop Sinton. Rockport appeared to have another TD when Harden laid up a ball for Tim Walker who was filling in for the injured Ernest Gonzales.

Walker just had the ball slide on through his hands. Then the Pirates moved down to the goal line later on that drive and Simmons gave up the ball as he tried to charge over tacklers into the end zone. Sinton recovered at the one.

Although the game was out of reach, the Pirates were not finished giving Sinton chances. Sinton elected to punt the ball out of trouble, but Walls let the ball slip away, giving Sinton another chance.

Rockport held on to run out the clock, making their record now 3-4.

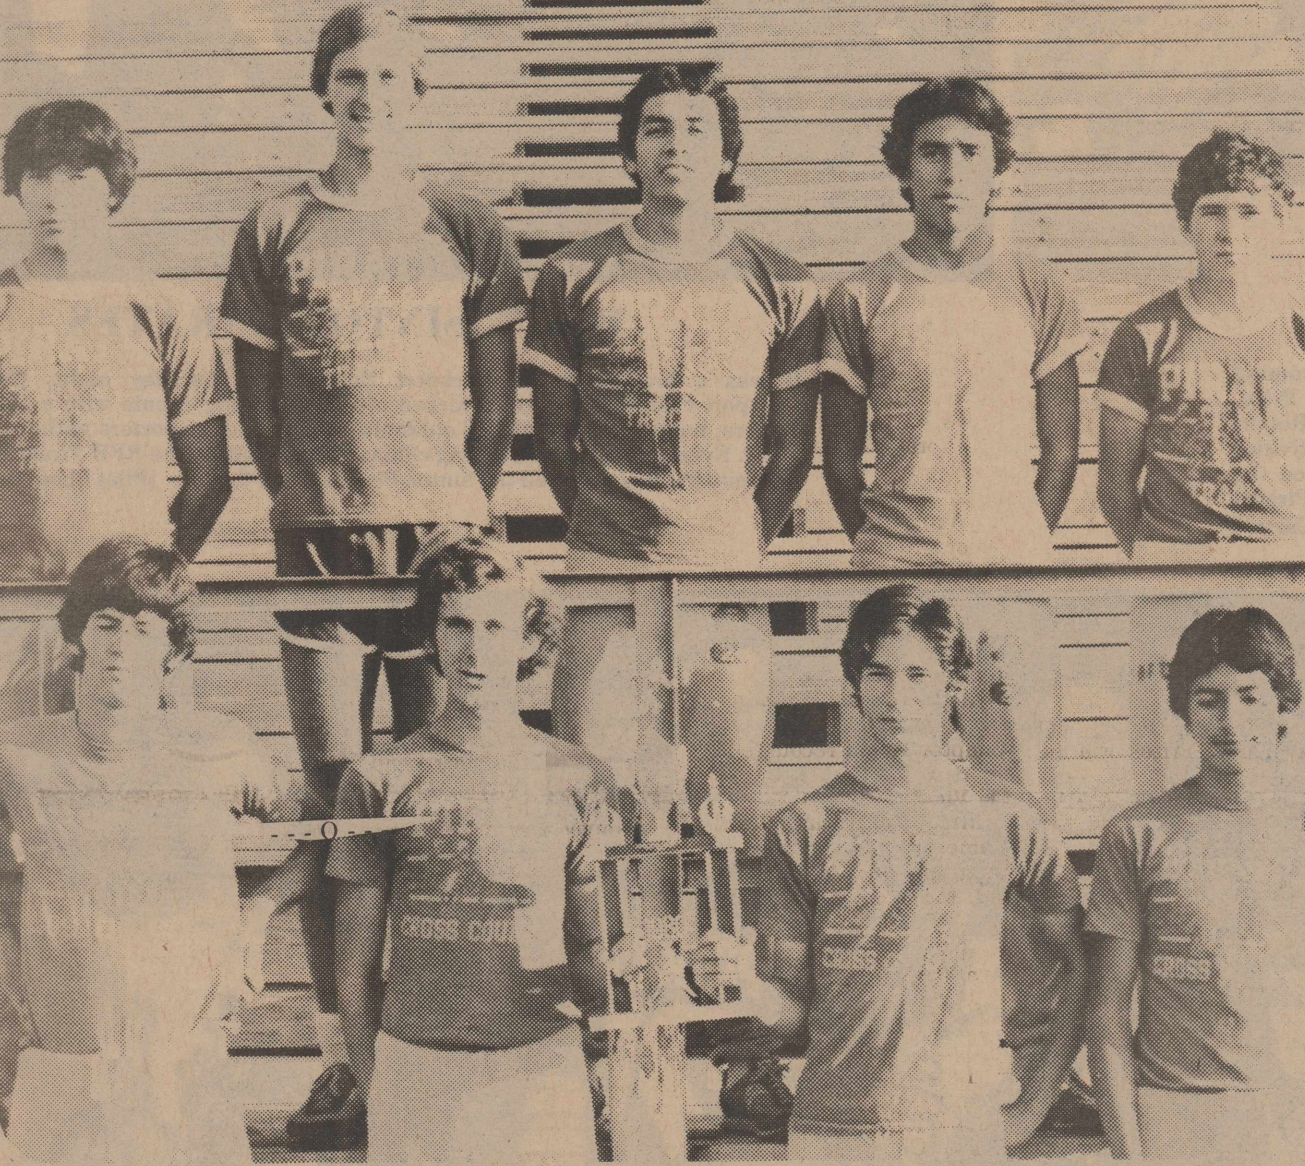

Both Simmons and Walls went over the 100 yards gained mark in the game with 130 and 113, respectively. Harden and Solis paced the defense, backed up well by Jeff Woodman, Mike Arthur, and Eddie Naro.

Freshmen Handle Pirates

By Bob Crawford

Freshmen from Rockport-Fulton traveled to Sinton Thursday with their goals set on knocking off the unbeaten Sinton Freshmen.

Although the Pirates never folded under, they did let enough opportunities get away to allow Sinton to win 20-14.

Sinton started off the game with a boom. On the opening play they ran, a trick play was worked perfectly for a 43-yard gain deep into Pirate territory.

Going to the air again, this time on a pass all the way across the field, Sinton scored on a 21 yard pass. Sinton went for a two-point pass play, but Armando Naranjo knocked the ball away at the last second.

Trailing 6-0, the Pirates came back on a 76-yard drive, given a big shot in the arm by a 26-yard play from quarterback Bobby Dingenary to end Jeffrey Dickerson.

Ramond Romero and Steve Arkell added good runs down to the three yard line before Romero took the ball in for the score to tie the game. Romero followed the center of the line into the end zone for 2 points, and Rockport took the lead 8-6.

Working in the center of the line for the Pirates were

Doyle Parr, Greg Shellenberger, Tony Smyrson, Darren Gurley, and Jarado Olivarez.

Sinton did not let the score stay 8-6 for long. On their next possession Sinton moved the length of the field for another score. Two trick passes good for 52 yards made that drive possible. A two-pointer made the score 14-8 in favor of Sinton.

In the second half, things did not change for the Pirates. Penalties began to plague the Pirates on any long-sustained drive they could put together. Sinton got a break when a Pirate jumped on late, giving the Sinton team a big first down to keep their hopes alive.

Sinton went on to score on a pass of eight yards, which they made look easy. They added two points, but a strange penalty occurred, and they were forced to go again, this time trying a kick from the 29, but it failed.

Both teams had big plays called back on penalties. With Sinton leading 20-8, the Pirates struck ever so suddenly.

Romero ran the ball, was hit a number of times, and then squirted loose into the secondary to go all the way for a TD. The play covered 58 yards. A run for two failed.

The Pirates tried their luck at an onsides kick, but Sinton got it. Rockport held, forcing Sinton to turn the ball over to the Pirates for one last try.

With Scott Russ at quarterback, a pass over the middle to Steve Olivarez had "big gainer" or "possible TD" written all over it, but the ball slipped away from Olivarez.

Sinton remained undefeated, but the score only showed who won, not who had the best team.

Doyle Parr was the tackle leader for the Pirates with 12. Charles Solis added nine tackles and pulled in an interception.

Romero finished the day with 161 yards in 24 attempts.

Lady Pirates Lose

By Bob Crawford

After closing out the first round of volleyball with four straight wins, the Lady Pirates went to Sinton to battle the first half winners, but came away losing to Sinton.

Sinton entered the game with a perfect 7-0 record, and the Lady Pirates had big hopes of unseating the Sinton team from their hold on the lead.

Volleyball Teams Have Ups Downs

Last weekend, the Lady Pirates volleyball teams were involved in tournaments across South Texas.

The Varsity played in the Tivoli-Austwell Tourney, coming away with Third Place. In the opening round, the Ladies won two straight games from Odem, 15-5 and 15-10.

In the Semis, Rockport drew Aransas Pass, getting ahead 9-3 in both games, before becoming tense and going on the defensive rather than attacking, winding up losing both games, 9-15, 10-15.

In the game for Third Place, the Ladies met Tivoli, a team which had handed the Lady Pirates defeats in two previous meetings. Before the dust settled, the Lady Pirates had picked up Third Place by winning the match, 15-6, 13-15 and 16-14.

On top of that, Theresa Roberts was named to the All-Tournament Team.

The Junior Varsity played in Sinton's Tournament. They lost in three games to Aransas Pass, beat Flour Bluff in two games, and then dropped a match to Sinton in the Consolation Finals. Tina Chavez was named to the All-Tournament Team.

The Freshmen, meanwhile, also played in Sinton, stopping Woodsboro in two games, and then losing to Refugio in two.

Country Runners Pick Up Third

As has been the case for the last several weeks, the Rockport-Fulton Cross Country runners have done extremely well in meets they have entered.

This past weekend was no exception as they took Third Place in a meet ruled by Class 5A teams, finishing behind Edinburg and Kingsville.

For the Pirates, David Ramirez was the leading runner for Rockport with a 10th place finish in the 3.1 mile course. Raul Castro, Peter Booth, Mike Zlock, Damaso Galvan, and Clyde Barre rounded out the field of Rockport runners.

The girls finished fifth overall in their division, with only Flour Bluff being the only 4A team to finish ahead of them. Lory Broadhurst and Jana Brown finished 11th and 12th, and Tammy Walker, Tammy Barlass, and Delfina Walker also covered the distance.

This weekend, the runners will be taking part in the Corpus meet held at Cole Park.

BURN (SINTON) PIRATES

It was a lovely fire on Rockport Beach last Thursday night, October 16, as Rockport-Fulton High School kicked off Homecoming events with a bonfire. Football players, band members, RFHS students, faculty and supporters gathered to watch the blaze. Events came to a satisfying climax Friday night in the RFH Pirate Stadium as the Rockport Pirates defeated the Sinton Pirates by 22-6.

Burial Grounds To Be Fenced In

"When the sheriff's department finishes with those skeletons, I want them brought back out here and buried," Grace Stanick said.

She was referring to the skeletons that were unearthed on the land being cleared for development next to her Palm Harbor Real Estate office on Highway 35 South.

Some of the skeletons were taken by sheriff's office personnel — which is key, according to Mrs. Stanick, but as soon as possible, she wants them back, so they can be re-buried.

Then she plans to fence off the estimated 135 by 155 foot burial ground and leave it. "Maybe if the State wants to, they can put a monument back here," she said, standing on the site where, on Tuesday, 12 skeletons were unearthed by workmen.

Otherwise, she doesn't want the area — now believed to be an Indian burial ground — molested.

"I will go ahead and develop the front part of the property," she said, "but I had no plans for the back (site of the burial ground) anyway." Workers were simply clearing the land and leveling the site when they came across the bones Tuesday, Mrs. Stanick explained.

"You can still see the mound back there," she said, pointing to the back of the property where the land does indeed rise perceptibly.

1930s saw mink boom

Mink were kept in captivity a hundred years ago in this country but were not raised in large numbers for their pelts until the 1930s.

"Every time they scooped up earth (Tuesday), it was just full of bones. There may be several hundred (skeletons) back here.

"If the university (the University of Texas) wants to come down here and do some research, that's all right," she added. Otherwise, the burial area, and whatever undiscovered secrets it may contain, should be left intact. As to all the attention the discovery has been getting, Mrs. Stanick said, "It's been exciting. It (the discovery) is a good thing."

WAITING FOR EXPERTS

It is evident that the backhoe operator, Billy Rodriguez, who uncovered the much-publicized skeletons on Mrs. Grace Stanick's property last week didn't have to dig very deep. In the photo at right, Frank Kresta, of Kresta Construction Co., gives instructions as the big dipper scrapes the earth. University of Texas archeology experts are expected to return to Rockport soon to make an exhaustive examination on the burial grounds.

KRUEGER SIGNS AUTOGRAPHS

Ambassador-at-Large, Bob Krueger signed autographs for some of the students of the government class at Rockport-Fulton High School last Thursday, when he made a stop here at the local Democratic headquarters. After speaking to the students on their civic duty to vote and the privileges they have in the United States, he left by plane to visit other cities in the area.

Bob Krueger Visits Rockport Thursday

Government students at Rockport-Fulton High School were at the Democratic Headquarters here last Thursday to visit and hear Bob Krueger, Ambassador-at-Large and United States Coordinator for Mexican Affairs.

Krueger told the students, and others who came by to meet him, that the United States is different than any other country in the world. He emphasized the many opportunities that we have include great potential for developing potential and putting our thoughts into action.

He told the young listeners they shouldn't worry about what others are doing but to be unique and a person in their own right. Listeners were reminded of President Kennedy who said we were a "nation of migrants"; all coming by choice from somewhere else.

The former congressman then asked the group how many were 18 years of age and had not registered to vote. He then urged them to remember to register and exercise their rights.

Krueger was reared in

New Braunfels where he graduated from high school in 1953. He continued his education at Southern Methodist University where he received a B.A. in 1957, and at Duke University where he received an M.A. in 1958. In 1961 Krueger received a B. Litt. from Oxford University, England, where he studied Renaissance English literature. In 1964 he received a Ph.D. from Oxford.

A Shakespearian scholar, Krueger taught at Duke University from 1961 until 1973, serving as Associate Professor and later as Vice Provost and Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

During this period the Oxford University Press published Krueger's book "The Poems of Sir John Davies", which won praise from the London Times Literary Supplement for the author.

In June of 1979 Krueger was appointed by the President to the position he now holds. In this new position he serves as Chairman of the Senior Inter-agency Group on U.S. policy toward Mexico and as U.S. Executive Director for the U.S.-Mexico Consultative Mechanism.

LEROY J. WIETING

Open Letter—Residence of Aransas County

Those that know Representative Wieting also know of his record and how effective he has been for Aransas County. If you have not lived in this county for over two years you are not aware of his accomplishments.

It has been said, "More bills have been passed in Austin for Aransas County Citizens by Representative Wieting than for any other county of its area, size or population in Texas."

To acquaint you with his public record, which is fact, not hearsay or just promises, Rep. Wieting has passed over 100 pieces of legislation and co-authored several hundred more bills that have statewide and local effect.

Bills affecting Aransas County including the cities of Rockport, Fulton, Lamar, and part of Aransas Pass are:

H.B. 1021 - Placing responsibility for regulations of wildlife resources of Aransas County in Game and Fish Commission.
H.B. 623 - Relative to conferring on the Parks and Wildlife regulatory responsibility over the taking of wildlife resources in Aransas County. Establishing a net-free zone.
H.B. 738 - Redefining the boundaries of the Rockport Wildlife Sanctuary.
H.B. 65 - Changing the name of the Rockport Wildlife Sanctuary to the Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary - Rockport.
H.B. 49 - Relating to the regulation and licensing by the State Department of Health of persons and plants engaged in the picking, pasteurization, etc., of certain crab meat.
H.B. 1367 - Authorizing Commissioners Courts of eligible counties to acquire, construct, etc., disposal facilities.
H.B. 496 - Adjusting terms, elections, compensation and number of Commissioners of Aransas County Navigation District #1.
H.B. 546 - Creating a Catastrophe Property Insurance Pool.
H.B. 729 - Making permanent a temporary size limit on redfish.
H.B. 1350 - Providing for operation of Branch Center, or extension as authorized by Board of Trustees of a public Junior College District.

H.B. 1629 - Relating to the interest rate on bonds of the San Patricio Municipal Water District which serves water to Aransas County.
H.B. 1721 - Permitting the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District to construct a Sanitary Sewer System.
H.B. 232 - Amending Texas Education Code Concerning penalty for loitering on school property.
H.B. 592 - Relating to disposition of certain abandoned motor vehicles and other vehicles.
H.B. 727 - Relating to mentally retarded persons accused of crimes.
H.B. 833 - Relating to including under the uniform Wildlife Regulatory Act on all Coastal Waters.
H.B. 1280 - Relating to Oyster Dredging notice requirements.
H.B. 1489 - Amending the Texas Shrimp Conservation Act.
H.B. 1049 - Relating to Boating Accident Reports.
H.B. 1051 - Relating to the fee for a boat certificate of title.
H.B. 1052 - Relating to the fee for a duplicate boat registration decal.
H.B. 2244 - Validating Act for certain Conservation and Reclamation District Elections.

These are only the few bills that have been a plus for Aransas County.

I would certainly appreciate your vote on November 4th, 1980 in the Democratic Column.

Area Deaths

Grace Marian Tuttle

Grace Marian Tuttle, 72, of Palm Harbor died Thursday, October 16, in an Aransas Pass nursing home.

A native of Monmouth, Illinois, Mrs. Tuttle had lived in Palm Harbor since 1965 and had been a guest in the nursing home for the past year.

She was a long-time member of the Civil Service and was stationed in the Panama Canal Zone for several years prior to her retirement. Her late husband, William Tuttle, was also a member of the Civil Service.

Mrs. Tuttle was a past president of the Woman's Club of Aransas County and the Ladies' Golf Association of Live Oak Country Club. She was an early director of the Palm Harbor Property Owners Association and a former member of the Rockport Art Association.

Survivors include a sister-in-law, Mrs. C.M. Dillard of Phillips.

Bill Aston Appointed To State EMS Committee

Bill Aston, paramedic director of the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service (EMS) has been appointed to the Texas Ambulance Provider Steering Committee.

Appointment was made by the Texas EMS Advisory Council.

The Ambulance provider committee is responsible for studying problems faced by owners, managers and administrators of EMS systems.

Also on the new committee are Bobby More, deputy chief of the Dallas Fire Department; L.O. Martin, chief of the ambulance division of the Houston Fire Department; and Bill Kilgore, training chief 12 of the Odessa Fire Department.

RATE

variable cost of providing service at different times of day. For example, if it costs more to provide electricity in the afternoon, rates for electricity consumed in the afternoon would be higher. Rates should reflect the variable cost of providing electric service during different seasons of the year. Each electric utility should offer an "interruptible rate" option to industrial and commercial users. This rate would allow the electric company to curtail service to these companies during periods of peak loads; in return, the customer would pay a reduced rate.

Each electric utility should implement load management techniques, such as time-of-day rates and residential usage controls.

Each unit in newly-constructed office buildings, apartment houses and other multiple-tenant structures should have its own separate electric meter rather than having the building connected to a single master meter.

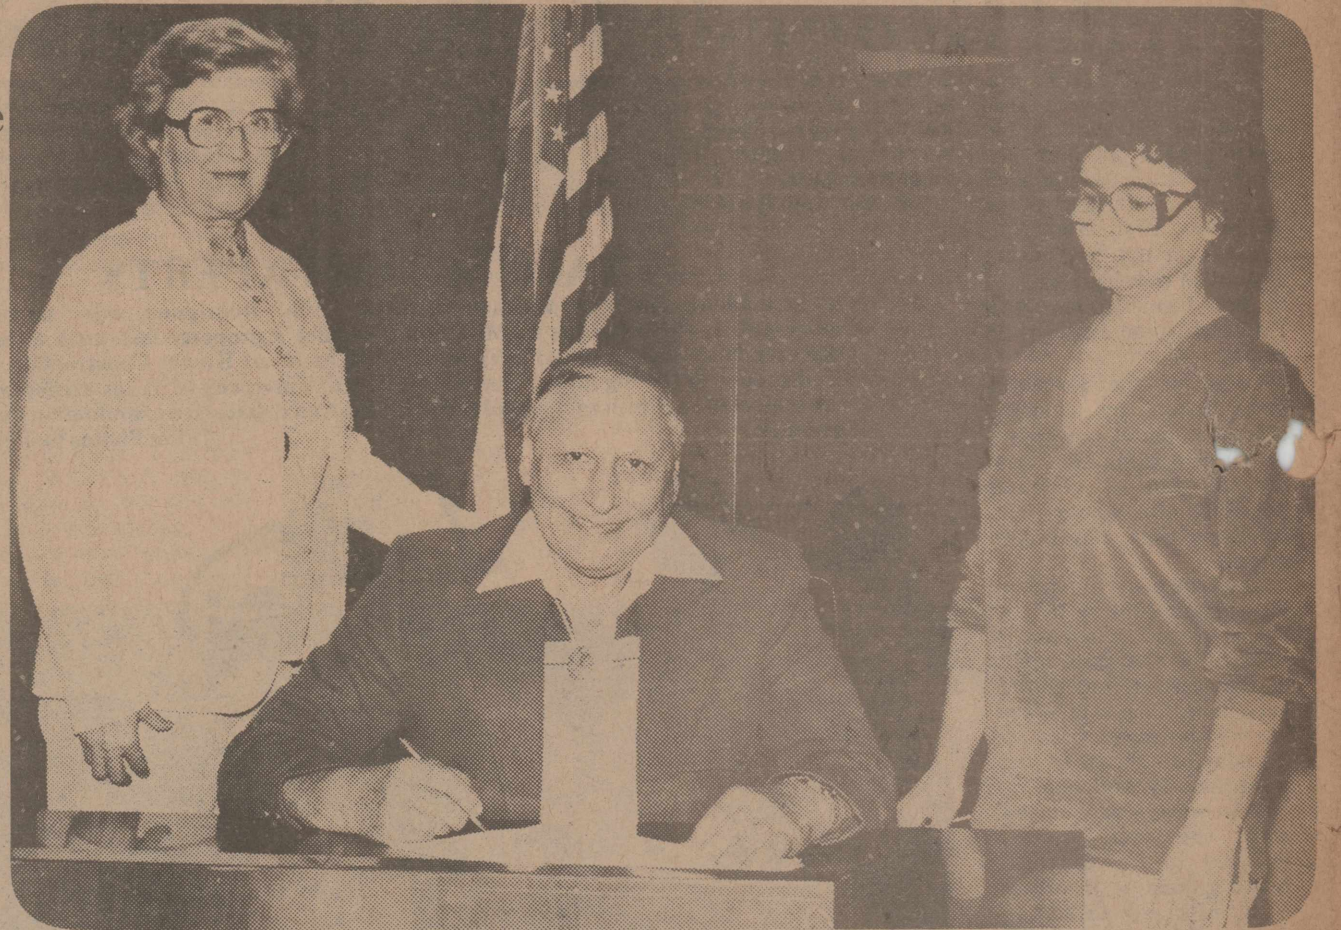

The automatic fuel adjustment clause — under which the electric company is permitted to unilaterally raise its rates as fuel prices increase — should be prohibited. Rate increases should always be subject to review by the regulatory body which has jurisdiction over the utility company (such as the city council).

The electric utility should provide consumers with "complete information" regarding its rates, including a rate schedule and a description of the method by which rates are calculated.

Electric service should not be terminated for delinquent payment until after the consumer has received prior notice and opportunity to dispute the proposed termination. Service should never be terminated for a delinquent customer whose health would be threatened by the termination.

No electric utility should be permitted to pass the cost of advertising to its consumers. Advertising expenses should be borne by the company's shareholders.

NATIONAL B&PW WEEK

Rockport mayor Walter S. Falk signed a proclamation last Wednesday proclaiming October 19 through October 25 National Business and Professional Women's Week. With him are, left, Ola Dietz, president of the local club which has 54 members, and Carolyn Bernardy, treasurer. The proclamation states that working women constitute 43 million of the nation's work force. (Pilot Photo by Johnnie Littleton)

Shrimp Eaters Wanted

Contestants and some sponsors are needed for the 1980 Shrimptree World Championship Shrimp Eating Contest October 25 in Aransas Pass.

Lions Club, sponsors of the contest, have obtained all but a few of the sponsors needed to pay the $35 entry fee for contestants.

Those wishing to participate either as a contestant or sponsor should contact John Bailey at First State Bank, 758-3241, or Moreland Bexley, 758-3050, as soon as possible.

The contest is open to men and women of any age. The record in the championship was set in 1974 at three and a half pounds in 30 minutes and has gone unbeaten the last five years.

Channel 3 television will be on hand to film the entire shrimp eating contest. Gary Strickland, that station's sports director, is himself known for his healthy appetite and love of seafood and says that among the sports directors of the area media there is not one who can eat as much as he does and as quickly.

Ranchers Using Fire As Brush Control Tool

KINGSVILLE — A prairie fire is no longer regarded by many ranchers as a total disaster.

In fact increasing numbers of South Texas producers are deliberately burning their range to rid it of brush and other unwanted vegetation, notes James L. Mutz, Corpus Christi range scientist.

Until recent years this had been pretty much a no-no among area stockmen, he adds.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher cites the Alto Vista Ranch south of Hebbronville as a case in point of the changing attitudes toward fire among cattlemen with the deep sand range sites.

A featured speaker at the ambitious Prescribed Fire Symposium here Thursday (October 16); he said the ranch became involved in burning quite by accident when a hunter inadvertently burned off a large pasture on the ranch several years ago.

Vegetative changes following the wildfire caused Manager Frank Graham to experiment with fire as a tool for restoring and maintaining the productivity that was being diminished by brush and weed invasion.

"He was so impressed by the results of these burns," Mutz revealed, "that he (Graham) currently burns approximately 30,000 acres annually if conditions are favorable."

Mutz said, "favorable conditions" include an adequate supply of soil moisture and a sufficient fuel load (2,000 pounds per acre or more) to carry the blaze.

All burning should probably be "cool season" in character — done preferably in January or February, Mutz believes. "Although I have not seen a summer burn in this area, it is my opinion that one probably would be too harsh on this extremely fragile ecosystem."

Mutz said benefits occurring after a prescribed fire include earlier green-up, which he attributes to the darkened soil surface absorbing more incoming solar energy.

He said the 1979 spring green-up at Alto Vista "was about two weeks earlier on the burned areas as compared to the adjacent unburned area."

The cast of speakers at the conference includes a number of disciplines im-ping on the subject, including range science, wildlife biology, agricultural engineering and livestock production.

The in-depth program begins at 9 a.m. in the Student Union Building on the Texas A&I campus and continues throughout the day with a 90-minute break for lunch.

The speakers include: Dr. C. Wayne Hanselka, area range specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Corpus Christi; Wayne Hamilton, lecturer, Department of Range Science, Texas A&M University, College Station; Dr. Larry D. White, range specialist, Extension Service, Uvalde.

Also Dr. Charles Scifres, professor, Range Science Department, Texas A&M, College Station; Bill Kiel, wildlife biologist, King Ranch Inc., Kingsville; Gary Wallin, agricultural engineer, Texas Air Control Board, Austin; Dr. Terry McLendon, assistant professor, College of Agriculture, Texas A&I, Kingsville; and Dr. D. Lynn Drawe, director, Rob & Bessie Welder Wildlife Foundation, Sinton.

Meet The Candidates

U.S. Representative, District 14

State Representative, District 41

C.L. 'Lewie' Concklin, Republican

I have a life history of dedicated service to the citizens of South Texas, which has given me a unique, warm and concerned insight into the lives and hopes of all ethnic groups, all economic circumstances and all religious and political persuasions. I believe no other candidate can match my personal background of human contact and understanding.

I have donated my skills to the underprivileged since 1945 as a pediatrician on the staff of the Driscoll Foundation Children's Hospital. I have been chairman of the Nueces County Medical Society to combat drug abuse, received the Liberty Bell award from the local attorneys' group, am a past president of both the Corpus Christi Pediatric Society and the Nueces County Medical Society, and was editor for 10 years of "Coastal Bend Medicine" magazine.

I served our country for three years as a Flight Surgeon during World War II and am willing and able to stand up and fight for the things I believe in.

I intend to support measures to restore American power to a level that is essential to our survival and the survival of the free world. Congress is full of cheap talk. The American people want action on the issue of defense. We have the technology, the people, the spirit. If we say we're the number one world power, it's high time we make sure we back up what we say.

I have been a student of inflation. I understand the root cause of inflation — inflation starts with Congress. When Congress has a problem, instead of working to solve that problem, they merely print more money. This fuels inflation. The first step in curing inflation is to balance the Federal budget.

I believe excesses of government should be controlled. Government is not the solution to our problem — government is our major problem.

Congress and the Federal government can't even straighten out their own mess in Washington, yet they feel free to come to our cities and towns and tell us exactly what we must do. This is inherently wrong, and must change.

I'm concerned with the tax situation in our country. If the elections were held on April 15, the makeup of Congress would change drastically overnight. You and I need tax relief, and we need it now. Yet, Congress turns a deaf ear.

When voting this November, think how much you'll have to pay the Federal government next April.

I believe in neighborhood schools. I am against busing. Busing is detrimental to the education and motivation of our children. It is a useless drain of our energy supply, both in the area of gasoline and the time of the young people we are trying to educate. Our most valuable natural resource is our children. Let's get them off the bus.

I believe in free enterprise. I'm for freedom — spiritual, personal, and economic. I trust the free enterprise market, which eliminates failures and rewards success.

I intend to work for the repeal of legislation which created the so-called Department of Energy. The so-called 'windfall' tax is yet another dishonest, hidden sales tax that will be paid entirely by the hard-working citizens at the gas pumps.

William N. 'Bill' Patman, Democrat

After 19 years of serving 625,372 South Texans (including Aransas Countians) in the State Senate, I am now seeking to take my extensive legislative skills and experience to Washington as U.S. Congressman for the 14th District.

A 53-year-old farmer-rancher, attorney and businessman, I have been a tough, energetic and successful fighter for the people against the special interests.

I showed my mettle by taking on entrenched Austin bureaucrats to win, in 1975, the first major overhaul of state government in Texas in half a century — an economy drive that has saved millions in wasted taxpayers' dollars and sparked Sunset laws to close down useless government agencies.

I want to repeat in Congress my winning fights against government over-regulation and waste. We must balance the federal budget and start living within our means. As someone who has, for 20 years, been part of a legislative process that has kept our state budget balanced, I know how to work effectively toward that goal.

A former Marine, I believe we must move quickly and aggressively to strengthen our national defense. "Speak softly and carry a very big stick" is still the best foreign policy.

Having served on 19 legislative committees during my two decades in the Texas Senate, I have a broad knowledge of governmental problems, with particular interest in the fields of agriculture, education, and government reorganization.

I have — almost single-handedly and often successfully — taken on the powerful lobbies of the giant, out-of-state finance companies that seek to rip off average citizens by charging usurious interest rates.

I support first class education for all children, and believe it is best furthered by the concept of upgraded neighborhood schools.

I have consistently opposed school busing and, in 1974, voted to place the strongest possible anti-busing amendment in the Texas Constitution.

I believe a Congressman should give special priority to local problems and needs. The fishing pier at Copano Bay — created by my legislation — stands as a testimonial to my interest in the local scene during the years when I was three times elected by Aransas Countians to be their state senator.

I hope very much that Aransas Countians will vote to send me to Congress. I know the county well and sincerely care about the people. Many of the county and city officials are old friends with whom I have worked cordially and productively in the past.

It would be an honor once again to represent one of the most attractive and unique counties on the Texas coast.

Gene Matthews, Republican

I believe there are several major issues of vital concern to the voters of District 41. My opponent throughout his primary and general election campaigns has failed to recognize or address himself to these issues.

Busing: I am opposed to the forced busing of our school children. I believe this type of governmental intrusion into our private lives has a detrimental effect on family and community life.

The expense of forced busing to our school districts is astronomical, the drain on our tax dollars is burdensome, the waste of precious fuel is appalling.

As your State Representative from District 41, I will strongly support the neighborhood school concept.

Agriculture: A large rural area comprises District

41. The economic backbone of America is rooted in Agriculture. Over-regulation by government is slowly encroaching on the farmer's ability to profitably produce the food and fiber essential to a growing America.

It is apparent that the role of government is not to restrict agriculture, but rather to encourage its growth and the resulting prosperity. When elected, the needs of the agricultural community will be among my highest priorities.

Law Enforcement: The security and well-being of every citizen is of primary concern to everyone. As State Representative from District 41, I will strongly support state and local law enforcement.

This means giving our law enforcement agencies the tools and funds necessary to fully enforce the laws enacted by the legislature.

Budget And Taxation: I oppose any legislation that will increase the tax burden of our citizens without first exhausting every other avenue of budget cutting and elimination of waste.

I also support the Sunset Commission which will eliminate those agencies that have outlived their usefulness.

Re-districting, as a result of the current census, is of concern to me, especially as it affects District 41.

I oppose any re-districting that would "tack on" rural areas to metropolitan Corpus Christi. I would tenaciously guard against any new boundaries that might be detrimental to any portion of this District.

I am vitally concerned about the adverse conditions that face the seafood industry. The foreign government subsidies of their fishing fleets are responsible for an unfair market that our fleets cannot compete with. This inequity must be addressed and I would work both with state associations and on a national level to lobby at every opportunity to correct it.

In addition, if I am elected, I would favor a generic drug bill; I support initiative and referendum; anti-pornography legislation; strong laws pertaining to child abuse; legislation sensitive to our environment and to the needs of the elderly.

I would oppose any legislation that would create a state income tax or that would undermine the free enterprise system.

I am also opposed to any legislation that might further undermine the authority of the parent or that further encroaches upon the family unit.

My services in elected offices in the past have proven that I am effective and capable of strong leadership.

Leroy Wieting, Democrat

Those who know me also know of my record and how effective I have been for Aransas County. It has been said, "More bills have been passed in Austin for Aransas County citizens by Representative Wieting than for any other county of its area, size or population in Texas."

I have passed more than 100 pieces of legislation and co-authored several hundred more bills that have statewide and local effect. These bills include the following:

A bill to redefine the boundaries of the Rockport Wildlife Sanctuary.

The bill that changed the name of Rockport Wildlife Sanctuary to the Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary — Rockport.

A bill relating to the regulation and licensing by the State Department of Health of persons and plants engaged in the pickling, pasteurization, etc. of certain crab meat.

A bill adjusting the terms, elections, compensation and number of commissioners of Aransas County Navigation District No. 1.

A bill creating a Catastrophe Property Insurance Pool.

A bill making permanent a temporary size limit on redfish.

A bill providing for operation of Branch Center or extension as authorized by board of trustees of a public Junior College District.

A bill permitting the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District to construct a Sanitary Sewer System.

A bill amending the Texas Shrimp Conservation Act.

These are only a few bills that have been a plus for Aransas County. I would certainly appreciate your vote on November 4.

State Senate, District 17

James E. 'Buster' Brown, Republican

In my campaign throughout District 17 since January of this year, it has become clear that people are greatly concerned about our country and state — runaway inflation, energy shortages, high interest rates, rising taxes, government control of our business and daily lives, a breakdown of the family unit, confusing foreign policy, rising crime rate, and in general a desire to change from the liberal direction our government has been taking.

1980 will be the year we turn these things around. I believe we must restore local control over education, improve teachers' pay, and provide quality education for our children.

I believe we must provide better highways for our area to handle emergency evacuation.

I believe we must carefully reexamine the agricultural exemption program for tax appraisal in light of its effect on rural counties and school districts.

I believe we must approach redistricting with an idea to providing representative districts that will guarantee local participation in government.

In order to guarantee local participation in government, I pledge that after my election I will conduct a public town hall meeting once a month in Aransas County to enable the local citizens to openly discuss legislation and problems that affect Aransas County citizens. Together we will bring government back to the people.

As your State Senator, I will support legislation that maintains a strong economy for Texas, but will vigorously oppose legislation that creates unnecessary State Agencies, that causes unnecessary taxation, and that takes away control from our local government.

I pledge to work for and represent all the citizens of this District and look forward to being your State Senator.

coming session will continue to be flood control, and highway planning and construction for evacuation necessities.

I am working diligently and leading the Coastal and Marine Council toward solutions.

As a Senior member of the Senate Finance Committee, I will continue to keep spending within our state income and intend to pass a bill which will give up one cent of our state sales tax to be adopted by our cities, counties and school districts for direct property tax relief.

County Commissioner, Pct. 3

elected, I will do everything possible to expedite the process.

I am a businessman, not a politician, with 28 years experience in business management and ownership. In a county with a $2.3 million budget, business experience is important in county government if tax dollars are to be utilized to the best advantage.

I am confident that there is room for improvement in all departments, modernization of equipment, simplification of methods and avoidance of duplication.

My business experiences in the county have given me an opportunity to meet and know many of the people and so have an understanding of what they want for Aransas County.

ished high school in Aransas Pass, and after returning, I attended the University of Houston.

We have two children, Raymond F. and Rennie, who attended the Rockport-Fulton schools. After finishing school, they both earned college degrees.

During these years I have built, operated and sold two businesses.

I am a member of the First Baptist Church, the Masonic Lodge, the Order of the Eastern Star, the Scottish Rite, Shriners, A.A.R.P., and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

I have been County Commissioner for almost 16 years and am presently involved only in the business of Aransas County.

This is a fortunate situation, which gives me all of my time to devote to roads, drainage and other business of Aransas County.

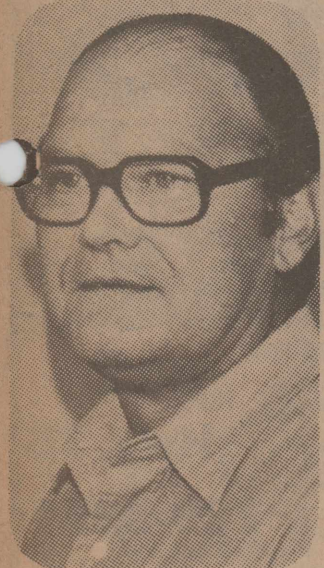

I often operate the county's heavy equipment and the working knowledge gained thereby has increased my ability to supervise the use of this equipment. Also, it has proved invaluable in emergencies.

County Commissioners have authorized a study for a county-wide sewer system as requested by the Aransas County Conservation District. We realize this is the next priority after a public approved water supply.

Commissioners have about reached their limits with roadside ditch drainage, especially during a tropical depression. Major drainage can only be funded by a drainage district.

Mosquito Control is also essential for the health and comfort of the citizens of Aransas County.

County Commissioner, Pct. 1

Bill Wilson, Republican

With the continued growth of population in Aransas County, increased and additional demands will be made to provide better and more effective services for all the people in the county.

This will result in larger budgets in the future, and any increase in expenditures will require more exacting management controls in order to assure maximum utilization of available funds with a minimum of additional cost to the taxpayer.

With rising costs due to inflation, I believe that every effort must be made to maintain maximum communications between all local governing bodies and, where possible, promote common services in order to prevent any duplications resulting in unnecessary expenditures of the taxpayer's money.

The responsibility of the County Government should be to promote and support, within the law, an overall program in which current problems such as adequate drainage, sewerage, potable water and aggressive road maintenance will be eliminated by putting together a comprehensive plan by which all precincts within the county will benefit on an equal basis.

The problems of adequate drainage, sewage and potable water are present in all precincts of Aransas County, and will grow further with continued population increases.

The County Commissioners must coordinate efforts to explore all avenues of the Federal Funding Programs which would reduce or eliminate these present county deficiencies at a minimum cost to the county, city and school district taxpayer.

In 1981, the expenditure projected for Road and Bridge Maintenance is the single largest item, representing almost 26 percent of the county budget.

County law enforcement should be given every opportunity to develop, expand and maintain an even more efficient department — with salaries more realistically in line with responsibilities — through which it will provide greater protection to all the citizens of Aransas County.

Although my prime interest is in the people I will represent in Precinct 1 and 1A, it is apparent that my full efforts will be utilized to promote better county government for which the full cooperation of all county commissioners is necessary.

John M. Lee, Democrat

To the citizens of Precincts 1 and 1A: Your county government is important.

Vote for a county government based on logic and common sense.

I am 31 years of age. I was raised in the precinct and I've been in construction since I was 18.

I realize the unsolved problems of the area, and I want to fight to solve these problems. If I, John M. Lee, am elected county commissioner, Pct. 1-1A, and then receive a phone call from anyone in this precinct, I will come personally and discuss your problem with you.

Your support is most appreciated.

Woodrow Wilson. Ragtime. The Great Houdini. The year is 1913 and a new Bell telephone begins ringing throughout the land. Ah, those were the days...

Now you can relive those days with Southwestern Bell's new Country Junction* telephone — a happy blend of yesterday's spirit with today's technology.

Lovingly handcrafted in natural oak and antiqued nickel trim, the Country Junction phone is a classic that blends with period settings and makes an attractive statement with the crisp, cool lines of contemporary taste.

No matter where the telephone is placed — kitchen, den, family room, living area — this is a phone that will be seen and admired. Because it has modular components, installing it is as easy as hanging a picture.

In a busy, bustling world, the Country Junction telephone is a pleasant reminder of those times when all phone conversations began with the voice that smiled.

EMS Important To Winter Texans

One-third of the emergencies handled by the ambulance service in Aransas County are for persons who have a permanent residence outside the county, according to a recent EMS survey.

Based on averages for the first six months of 1980, Aransas County paramedics are anticipating 1,200 emergency calls for the year, of which 400 will be for persons who do not have a permanent address in this county.

Local EMS officials say this figure is "significantly higher" than in other counties and attribute it to two factors: the tourist industry in Aransas County and the number of persons who have a "second home" in Aransas County while claiming their homestead elsewhere.

During the first six months of this year, the EMS handled a total of 549 cases of which 66 percent — 362 — were for persons who have permanent addresses in Aransas County.

The remaining 34 percent — 187 of the cases — were for persons with a permanent address outside the county.

Estate Planning Seminar Set For October 23

Estate Planning begins with wise analysis and inventory of one's property and assets. Wise planning includes definite plans for the present and future.

These plans will be discussed on October 23 at the Estate Planning Seminar sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Commercial State Bank Community Room in Sinton.

Speakers will include Lawrence Lippke, Area Extension Economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Corpus Christi; Don Zimmerman, Attorney & Trust Officer of Citizens State Bank in Corpus Christi; and Norman Robertson, Certified Public Accountant in Sinton.

Radiant heat and convection-style cooking. Only Jenn-Air gives you both in the same oven.

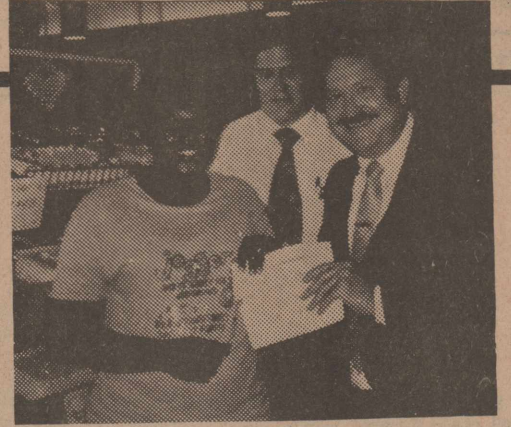

Jenn-Air's full-size, dual-use oven gives you radiant heat for regular baking and roasting, and with just a flip of the switch, professional-style convection cooking. A power-driven stream of heated air lets you cook faster and at lower temperatures. Even meats straight from the freezer roast up golden brown and juicy in the same time as thawed meats. And, convection cooking reduces meat shrinkage while retaining more natural juices and flavor. It even saves energy. Jenn-Air's dual-use oven also has an Accelerated Cleaning cycle that cleans many times faster. See this magnificent cooking instrument at your Jenn-Air dealer soon.

CLIP 'N' COOK
Copley News Service

1 small onion, chopped fine
4 tbsps. butter
1 cup rice
1/2 tsp. salt (about)
2 1/2 cups chicken broth, heated to boiling grated Parmesan cheese

Saute minced onion in butter to a golden brown. Add uncooked rice and continue heating until rice is browned slightly, about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add salt and boiling chicken broth, cover, reduce heat to low and cook slowly for 18 to 20 minutes or until rice is tender and excess liquid has evaporated. Serve hot, topped or mixed with grated Parmesan cheese. Yield: 4 servings.

casly:
"Take Lamb, Chicken or Rabbits, cut in Pieces, wash it well from the blood, then put it in a broad Pan or Stew-pan, put in as much fair Water as will cover it, put in Salt, a Bunch of Sweet herbs, some Pepper, an Onion, two Anchovies, and stew it till 'tis enough, then mix in a Poring six Yolks of Eggs, a Glass of White-wine, a Nutmeg grated, a little chopp'd Parsley, a Piece of fresh Butter, and three or four Spoonfuls of Cream, beat all these together, and put it into your Stew-pan, and shake it together till 'tis thick. Dish it on Supperts, and garnish with sliced Lemon."

So much for level teaspoons and precise measuring.
A woman known only as "Mrs. E. Smith" penned those instructions in 1742 in "The Compleat Housewife: or Accomplish'd Gentle-woman's Companion." It was the first cookbook published in what was to become the United States.

The book — and the cuisine it chronicles — are kept alive in Colonial Williamsburg, a recreation of life as it was in the 18th century.

During a tour of Williamsburg, I had several chances to sample food prepared in the Colonial manner.

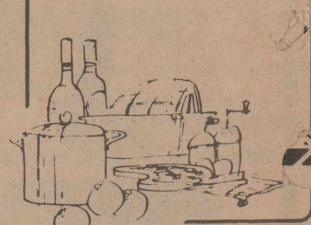

Some examples of this truly American cuisine follow.

CLIP 'N' COOK
Copley News Service

from Williamsburg

sliced
1 tbs. chives (or to taste)
½ cup white vinegar

Drain the beans and mushrooms. Mix them with the remaining ingredients and chill the relish at least two hours before serving. Makes one quart (about 10 to 12 servings).

per, chopped
1 qt. fresh oysters
1 tbs. lemon juice
2 tps. Worcestershire sauce

¼ cup cracker crumbs
Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Grease a two-quart casserole or six to eight individual casseroles.

Melt the butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Remove the skillet from the heat and add the flour, stirring until it is smooth. Return the pan to the heat and cook the roux, stirring it constantly, for five minutes, or until it is light brown.

Add the paprika, salt, pepper, cayenne, garlic, onion and green pepper. Cook the mixture another three to five minutes, stirring it constantly.

Add the oysters and their liquor, the lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce, stirring them together well. Pour the mixture into the prepared casserole or casseroles. Sprinkle them with cracker crumbs and bake for 20 minutes.

Note: If you wish, substitute prepared puff pastry for the cracker crumbs, sealing it well around the edges of the casseroles. Bake until they are brown and puffy. Also, if you want to add julienne cut Smithfield (or other cooked) ham, add it with the oysters.

INDIAN CORN MUFFINS

1 cup cornmeal
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 tsp. salt
2½ tps. baking powder
1 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten

2 tbs. melted shortening

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. Sift the dry ingredients into a mixing bowl.

Combine the milk with the eggs and add them to the dry ingredients. Add the shortening and stir the batter just until all the ingredients are combined. Do not overmix.

Pour the batter into 2-inch greased muffin tins and bake for 20 minutes. Makes about 1 dozen.

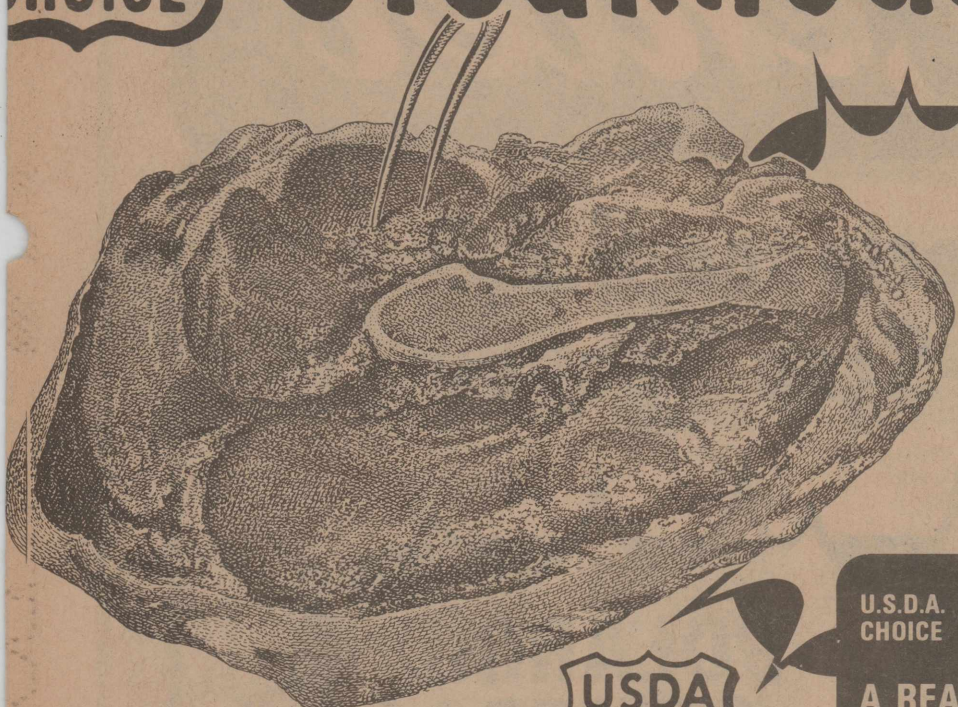

Olive Omelette

4 eggs
1 large tomato
3 tbsps. milk
1 tsp. fresh ground black pepper
½ cup chives
¼ cup sliced, pitted black olives
3 tbsps. butter
½ tsp. salt

Crack the eggs in bowl. Add milk, chives, salt, pepper and beat well. Slice the tomatoes into small pieces and saute them with the sliced olives in butter. Add the egg mixture and cook over low flame turning the edges toward the center to cook evenly. Fold over onto platter and serve immediately with warm rolls or crackers.

Pharmacist Troy True Speaks At Rotary Meeting

The so-called "natural" method of healing was discussed by Troy True, pharmacist-owner of Johnson's Drug, at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club at the Sandollar Wednesday, October 8.

True cited the recently publicized story of Steve McQueen, movie star, who claims he has reversed the course of an especially virulent form of lung cancer through use of vitamins, proper nutrition and in his life style.

Without passing judgment on the validity of McQueen's claims, True said many physical disorders do yield to vitamins, improved eating habits, rest and exercise.

He pointed out this kind of treatment helps the body combat some types of infection and virus by working from within to strengthen natural defenses.

On a lighter note, True said his experience as a pharmacist, filling prescription orders from doctors, has trained him to read almost any kind of handwriting.

On the subject of prescriptions, True pointed out that Texas is one of the states that does not have a law permitting pharmacists to substitute cheaper generic drugs for brand name drugs.

In explanation of higher costs for brand name drugs, True said large manufacturers often spend millions of dollars on research and development of new products which smaller manufacturers later reproduce without the cost of developing them.

True urged a periodic housecleaning of home medicine cabinets to eliminate prescriptions and other drugs that have passed a stated shelf life. Drugs so marked are seldom toxic but they do lose their effectiveness, he said.

Rockport's Party Line

By Betty Paul

Virginia and Al Chernosky had as their guest Carlos Edd from Dallas in their home. Carlos is Virginia's cousin and has traveled quite extensively. His comments comparing our area to Canada and other countries were quite interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Gordon recently returned from Crescent City, California. They were there for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Calhoun recently returned from a trip to Texarkana to visit Mrs. Calhoun's brother, J.G. Keilburg. J.G.'s wife, Mary Jo, is terminally ill and in the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Blocker from Midland were visitors in the Calhoun home this past week.

Mary Hearn and her son Phillip made a short buying trip to Victoria, already thinking about Christmas. Then Mary and Lupe Schrenkeisen attended a Bromeliad Society mall show and sale in Corpus.

Young Danny Krupa, 4 years old, got a good report from his cardiologist that his heart is healing very well. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Del Krupa, owners of the Holiday Lodge.

Betsy and Allen Ray Moers are going on a vacation to Winona, Minnesota. Keeping the Surf Court Motel running while they are gone and taking care of the Moers children are Betsy's aunt and uncle, Katherine and Dan Elsey from Beaumont.

Dr. and Mrs. Bill Rogers from Lubbock are here for a week. Mr. and Mrs. Tarheel Jones from McKinney are here for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Dunson and Dr. and Mrs. Layne Moore all from Fort Sumner, New Mexico, are in Rockport for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Parrish from Marble Falls are here vacationing for three weeks.

Clarence Miller from Stevens Point, Wisconsin, arrived here to stay until Q. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Schiller from San Antonio are here for two weeks.

All of these visitors are staying at the Surf Court Motel.

Doug Hill and his family have leased a house for a month to oversee the construction and grand opening of the new Sonic Drive In.

An office surprise birthday party was held October 17 for Kay McMahan at the McMahan Electronic Security Services. Cake and coffee were served to her and the guests. Lee Moats, Shirley Crisp and Ruth Easley also enjoyed the cake that was baked and decorated by Betty and Gordon Stang.

Nancy White had as her guests Pat Faulkner and Linda Strickland and her children from Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Raffone from Corpus are new residents to Rockport and Harbor Oaks. Mrs. Raffone (Sibyle) is a former school teacher and she is now associated with Alfred Edge Company Realtors. Since moving here she has really been keeping a busy schedule working, getting adjusted to new surroundings and new faces — and taking art lessons.

Pepper and Gene Everett attended a family get-together at the Baylor-Texas A&M game in College Station.

Vivian and Herb Welsch went to Houston to attend the wedding and all the festivities of the marriage of their son, Gary J. Welsch, and Vicki L. Fitterling, daughter of June L. McCoy of Ephrata, Pennsylvania, and Marvin C. Fetterling.

Jess Eitle is in Memorial Hospital in Corpus undergoing tests.

Wanda Fake, in spite of great pain in her hips, is managing to direct the choir at the First Baptist Church in Rockport. A big hand to this courageous woman.

At the same church this Friday morning at 6:30, Coy Findley from Minnesota will speak to the Breakfast Group about Baptist work in his home state.

Christena and Bob Baskett from Cleburn are in Rockport for the winter and living at the Beacon Trailer Court. They were welcomed at the Church of Christ by Rev. John Goodwin and the congregation.

Joye and Gene Rogan moved back into their home in Harbor Oaks in September after spending a year on their boat "Playhouse." They toured the East coast, Florida and the Keys and Okeechobee Lake. Last Thursday night they entertained with a dinner party.

Guests to this event were the T.J. Johnsons, the Carl Moores, J.B. Goodwin and Meceal Casterline, Norman Scott, the Ed Berrys, Yvonne Wendell and the James Brocks.

HAPPY BIRTHDAYS!
James Sweatt, Dave Crooks, Pat Daly, Jewel Greeson and Georgia Greeson, October 20; Kerri Meador, Rusty Little, Johnnie Jackson, Lloyd Marr and Danny Lauderdale, October 21; Beth Foitek, Robert Motes and Jennie Heldenfels, October 22; Eddie Sue Brundrett, Glenda Blankinship and William Eveson (14 years old), October 23; Clarence Troy, Sue Rayburn, Tom Sammons Sr. and Butch Adams, October 24; Rene Fair and Robert Puster, October 25; Don Voss, October 26.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARIES!
Bobbie and Rickey McLester and Joyce and James D. Koppenhaver, October 22; Peggy and Bill Monroe (33rd), October 23; Peg and Larry Boone, October 25.

HOSPITALS AND NURSING HOMES

Mrs. Bobbie Brown, Mrs. Monroe Lemma and Mrs. Melba Forney, Spohn Hospital; Mrs. Allie Mae Washburn, Physicians and Surgeons Hospital; Clyde Northcutt, Audie Murphy, San Antonio; Boyd Williams, Verant Hospital, Kerrville; Jess Eitle, Ruth McShan, Memorial Hospital; Francis Woessner, Medi Center, Corpus; Tom Smith, Bertha Sanders, Emma Harris and Alice Overton, Aransas Pass Nursing Home; Ruth Lipscomb, Bettie Billings, Corin Ball, Catherine Bartoo, Johnnie Dunbar, Mary Allensworth, Mrs. G.H. Harrell, Clemmie Beedy, Wreatha Johnson, Mindi Jones and Christinia Reiser.

QUOTE FOR THE WEEK!
"History repeats itself. That's one of the things wrong with History." — Clarence Darrow

Accident Report

Elodia Lopez Gutierrez, 31, of 818 South Verne was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way following an accident at the intersection of Bronte and Corpus Christi Street Monday afternoon, October 20.

The accident occurred about 12:45 p.m. when Gutierrez, traveling on Corpus Christi Street, pulled across Bronte in the path of a car being driven north on Bronte by Gary Anson Woodward, 26, of 216 James Street.

An accident about 8:50 p.m. Friday, October 17, on Concho at Gagon resulted in a ticket for one man and possible injury for another.

Police said Rodney Lee Schexmider, 16, of 306 West Bay was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way after his vehicle was in collision with one driven by Esperanza Guerra Vega, 40, of Rockport.

Guerra complained of a sore back following the mishap and advised police he would see his family doctor.

Louis Ellis Jr., 15, of San Antonio was ticketed for driving without a license after his car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Ronald Lee Janota, 22, of 1048 Oak Avenue.

The accident occurred about 11:15 p.m. Thursday, October 16, on South Bronte at Market Street.

Peter McMillan Booth, 17, of 2011 Baywood was ticketed for failure to yield right-of-way following an accident about 4:10 p.m. Friday on Austin Street about 10 feet north of Wharf.

Police said Booth and Elgene Perry Allen, 65, of 735 South Pearl were both driving south on Austin in separate lanes when Booth attempted a left turn that brought his vehicle into collision with Allen's.

James Willis Finney, 30, of Corpus Christi struck a dog about 9:15 p.m. Saturday when the animal ran in front of his car.

The accident occurred on Highway 35 South about 150 feet south of Morgan.

Police Report

Billy Gerald McBroom, 57, of Peninsula Oaks was arrested on a charge of public intoxication about 10:55 p.m. Saturday, October 18.

McBroom was placed under $75 bond following his arrest at the intersection of Market at 881.

George Moses, 42, of 517 North Church was placed under $75 bond on a charge of public intoxication after his arrest about 8:30 p.m. Friday, October 17.

Moses was arrested at the sheriff's office.

Who is the ONE for District 17?

How the Texas Senate candidates stack up:

SENATOR A.R. "BABE" SCHWARTZ		BUSTER BROWN
Life-long Democrat. The fighter and winner for the entire Coastal District.		Former Democratic Legislative Candidate Now Republican.
AGE	54	39
HONORS	Recognized for legislative accomplishment by American Legion, VFW, Texas Assn. for Retarded Children, Texas AFL-CIO, Shriners Burns Hospital, Texas A & M University, University of Texas, Sigma Delta Chi Journalism Society, International Assn. of Machinists, Citizens Environmental Coalition, Marine Biomedical Institute, Texas Municipal Police Assn., Texas Lawmen's Assn., CLEAT, Texas State Bar Assn., Texas Monthly magazine in 1973, 75, 77, and 79 chose Babe as one of the Ten Best Legislators. 1979 Conservationist Legislator of the Year. 1980 Conservationist Legislator of the Year. 1980 Distinguished Service Award from Texas State Dept. of VFW.	Local Community Activities
WIND STORM INSURANCE	His successful battle for windstorm insurance coverage at reasonable rates dates back to 1961 and the terrible tragedies of Carla, Beulah and Celia. Demanded and got mobile home insurance covered by Windstorm Pool which he created in 1971 for coastal homeowners.	Interest began with his announcement as a candidate for State Senate.
COASTAL MATTERS	Author of all coastal laws passed to protect public rights to beaches, coastal waters, parks, beach cleaning, traffic regulation; chairman of all Coastal Study Committees, Beach Study Committees, and the Texas Coastal and Marine Council, as well as the national Organization of all Coastline States, and the Senate Natural Resources Committee.	Interest began with his announcement as a candidate for State Senate.
FLOODING AND FLOOD INSURANCE	Fighting to protect our area from a repeat of the 1979 flooding tragedies through new laws proposed, public education, and participation with citizens groups in communities. Passed original Texas Flood Insurance Law and fought for Federally Subsidized Flood Insurance. Fighting to Protect your Present Flood Insurance.	Interest began with his announcement as a candidate for State Senate. Has never even attended a meeting on these problems.
LAW ENFORCEMENT	Legislative record of success in law and order legislation resulted in his being chosen Outstanding Senator and Legislator by the Texas Lawmen's Assn.; supported by individual district attorneys of our District and as a former prosecuting attorney understands law enforcement problems and votes to solve them. Endorsed by the Combined Law Enforcement Assn. of Texas.	Interest began with his announcement as a candidate for State Senate.
TAX REDUCTION	Can give the people of Texas the Property Tax Cut they deserve with his proposed law to return 1c of the State Sales Tax to the Cities, Counties, and School Districts, thereby reducing Local Property Taxes. Filibustered against food and medicine tax; against a personal income tax. Voted and fought for lower Farm and Ranch taxes in 1977 and the 1979 session.	Interest began with his announcement as a candidate for State Senate. No position on Tax Reduction.
HURRICANE AWARENESS	Through his leadership on the Texas Coastal and Marine Council and the Natural Resources Committee, the people of the Coastal areas have been educated, and informed on subsidence and flooding, and been furnished with maps giving information for evacuation. Continuing his efforts with the State Agencies to get a fully coordinated disaster evacuation plan established in all counties.	Interest began with his announcement as a candidate for State Senate.
HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS	Has always voted for and co-authored increased Homestead exemptions for elderly and all citizens. Will author a law to exempt all Homesteads from School District Taxes and increase State funds to Local School Districts to replace the income loss from that source.	No Position.
ELECTIVE HISTORY	State Representative 1954-58; State Senator since 1960; First in Seniority in the Senate; Past Chairman of Jurisprudence Committee; Chairman of Texas Coastal and Marine Council, Senate Natural Resources Committee; member of Sunset Committee, Delivery of Human Services Committee, Finance Committee (and the conference committee that writes the Appropriation Bill) for the past 11 years; Interstate Water and Energy Compact member by appointment of Lt. Gov. Hobby.	Ran and lost as a Democrat against Neil Caldwell for State Representative in 1972.
ATTENDANCE TO DUTY	97% average in attendance and votes cast during his entire service to the State Legislature. One of the 10 Best Legislators chosen by Texas Monthly Magazine in 1973, 1975, 1977, 1979. Recognized by Smithsonian Magazine as the leader in Texas and the most informed man on the Coast of Texas and its barrier islands.

PUBLIC
NOTICE

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) hereby gives final notice to the public of its intent to reimburse eligible applicants and private non-profit organizations for eligible costs of repairing

their flood damaged facilities or structures to pre-disaster condition within Nueces, Kleberg, Jim Wells, San Patricio, Aransas, Brooks, Hidalgo, Wil-lacy, and Cameron Counties, Texas. Notification concerning the information contained in this notice was also provided to the public on August 28, 1980 in this publication and to community representatives
during Applicant Meetings held on August 27, 1980, and August 28, 1980. The facilities involved are those which are within the 100-year floodplain or which may affect that floodplain and which were damaged
as the result of the recent Presidentially - declared major disaster known as FEMA-627-DR, Texas.
Facilities and structures covered under this final notice include those facilities or structures which are eligible for consideration for assistance under the Authority of PL 93-288 as a result of the recent Presidential Declaration. The general types of facilities or structures identified below are covered by this notice.

1. Roads, culverts, and low-water crossings which are in the 100-year floodplain.
2. Water control facilities such as a dam or levee, reservoir, or other flood control facility.
3. Irrigation works including pumps, canals, intake structures and related distribution works.
4. Public buildings and appurtenant buildings, including contents.
5. Publicly owned utilities including water, power, gas, and sewage treatment facilities and appurtenant structures.

6. Private, non-profit facilities such as educational, utility, emergency, medical, and custodial care facilities.
7. Other facilities not in above mentioned categories such as parks and recreational facilities.
This final notice is given for all actions meeting one or more of the following criteria:

1. Facility has been previously damaged in a declared disaster.
2. Facility is a critical facility (even a slight change of flooding is too great).
3. Facility repair is substantial improvement (greater than 50% of the system's replacement cost).
4. Cost of action is greater than $100,000.
5. Facility is located within a designated flood-way or high coastal hazard area.

In accordance with the President's Executive Order #11988 on Floodplain Management, FEMA has reviewed all proposed projects in the above category.
Alternatives considered were: restoration of the facility to its pre-disaster condition, with practicable measures to mitigate future damages included; relocation of the facility to a location outside of the base floodplain; other actions which serve essentially the same purpose as the proposed project; and no Federal funds for the project.
FEMA has determined that the only practicable alternative for these projects, with certain exceptions, is to fund the project in its floodplain location, with the addition of practicable mitigation measures.

The reason for the selection of the floodplain location for facilities such as piers and bridges is that they are dependent upon a floodplain location in order to function. For other facilities, such as roads and public utilities, the damaged portion is only a part of a larger network. Therefore, it is not practicable to consider relocation of that damaged portion.

In each case, the adverse effects of the facility not being repaired clearly outweigh the requirement of the Executive Order to avoid the floodplain. There is an overriding public need for the facilities to be restored which might not occur without Federal funds. FEMA has also solicited responses from both state and local officials, and actions which will be carried out do not violate either state or local standards.

Other projects which are not covered by this notice because of their size or potential for greater public interest may be the subject of other notices on an individual basis.
Your comments regarding the floodplain regulations with respect to the repair and restoration of any project covered by this notice are invited. Written comments should be submitted to the Federal Emergency Management Agency, Old

Sears Building, 1319 Leopard Street, Corpus Christi, Texas 78401, Attn. Mr.
Lonnie R. Chant. Reference should be made to specific project, giving exact location and/or addresses of the facility or structure in question. Comments should be received by November 1, 1980.

Q. My father has been getting Social Security since he was 62, five years ago. He's working part time and I'm concerned that he may have to pay back what Social Security has paid him this year. — W.D.

A. Since your father is over 65 he is allowed to earn up to $5,000 this year and still keep all of his Social Security checks. If he earns more than that, $1 in benefits will be withheld for each $2 he earns over $5,000.

Q. My neighbor owns an apartment house from which he receives rental income. This does not prevent him from collecting his Social Security. Yet when I worked last year and made $6,000, they deducted $500 from my Social Security payments. That doesn't seem fair. — N.G.L.

A. Rental income is not counted as earnings nor is it reportable as self-employment income unless the benEFICIARY is a real estate dealer. Likewise interest and dividends from stocks and bonds are not counted as earnings unless they are received by a dealer in securities in the course of business.

This is in keeping with the general rule that investment income, in most cases, is not counted as self-employment income for Social Security tax purposes nor is it counted as annual earnings for retirement purposes.

Q. I have a 28-year-old son, mentally retarded since birth, who has been receiving SSI payments for the last five years. Next year I will retire and will start collecting my Social Security retirement benefits. Will this affect my son's SSI checks?
— R.S.

A. Your son will be required to file for benefits on your account when you become entitled to retirement benefits. SSI recipients must file for whatever other benefits may be payable to them.

As a result, your son's SSI payments will be reduced by all but $20 of the amount he will be entitled to from your account.

Children disabled before age 22 can get monthly Social Security checks if either parent retires, becomes disabled or dies after working long enough under Social Security. These payments will continue even after your death for as long as your son lives.

FOOTBALL!

CONTEST

1st Place $.20
2nd $10 3rd $5

The Rockport Pilot in cooperation with several local merchants is sponsoring a weekly football contest. Three cash prizes will be awarded each week to the local football fan who picks the largest number of winning teams.

If a tie exists, the person who has best predicted the final score of the TIE BREAKER GAME will be judged the winner.

Entries are limited to one per person per week but there is no limit to the number of times a person may win.

Follow the entry instructions carefully and show your appreciation to the several area merchants who have sponsored this contest.

ENTRY INSTRUCTIONS

Each business advertisement has a contest game listed somewhere in the ad. To complete the entry form, first look in each ad, pick your winning team, find the merchant's name in the ENTRY FORM and list, beside his name, the winning team of your choice.

Each blank must have a team listed. When this is completed, turn your attention to the TIE-BREAKER GAME. Write your estimate of the final score. This game will only be used in case of a tie.

When you are finished picking the winning teams and the TIE-BREAKER SCORE, fill in your name, address and phone number.

Mail [P.O. Box 608, Rockport] or deliver the entry form to The Pilot Office [1002 Wharf Street] before 5:00 p.m. Friday.

The contest winners will be notified by The Pilot on the following Monday.

The decision of the judges is final!
GOOD LUCK!
