The committee from the Lions Club has decided that the Eighth Annual Loraine Dairy Show is to be held this year on Friday, August 17. Good prizes are being offered again this year and the committee hopes that more local people bring animals to the show this year.

The past year or so local people were not interested to the extent that a large number of the brought stock to the show. The show is sponsored by the Lions Club and is staged primarily for the benefit of local people and to create interest in better dairy animals. Outsiders, of course, are welcome for the larger number of animals in each class makes the show more interesting and instructive.

There are some very fine dairy animals in this community, both registered and grade, that would add greatly to the quality of the show. Bring them in on August 17 and let us show what we really have here.

Since the heavy rains during the first part of the month the crops in this section are growing rapidly and looking good. Prospects are bright for a bumper crop this fall, especially of feed.

The big item that is worrying the farmers right now is the shortage of labor and the fact that weeds are outgrowing the crops.

It is going to be a hard tussle but I'll wager most farmers manage somehow to clean out their crops.

Have you noticed any mosquitos around your place? They seem to us to be as large as flies. We don't like 'em a bit.

The only way we know that will help to control them is to clean up the weeds and trash in our streets and alleys. If we don't clean up somebody is going to be sorry if the mosquitoes spread disease.

Peaches May Be Canned Sugarless

COLLEGE STATION.—Sugar helps canned fruit to hold its shape, color and flavor, but it is not necessary to keep fruits from spoiling, says Mrs. Winifred J. Leverniz, specialist in food preservation of A and M College Extension Service. With present sugar shortages, canning without sugar will help homemakers to conserve the large surplus of peaches this summer, and will add many cans of fruit to the pantry shelves and to next winter's menus.

To can without sugar, use boiling water or strained fruit juice made from the softer peaches. Wash, peel and remove seed from firm peaches. Complete the canning operation by packing the raw peaches into clean jar or can. Bring fruit juice to a boil and pour over the packed fruit. Leave ½ inch headspace. Steam before sealing; pints, 10 minutes; quarts, 15 minutes; half gallons, 20 minutes. Press down, and refill if necessary. Wipe off rim of jar and seal according to type of container being used. Process in a water bath after water starts boiling; pints and quarts, 15 minutes; half gallons, 25 minutes.

Another method to can without sugar is to drop the firm fruit into the fruit juice. Bring to a boil, pack into boiling hot jars. Leave ½ inch headspace. Seal according to type of container used. Process in a boiling water bath, 15 minutes for pints and quarts and 25 minutes for half gallons.

If a small amount of sugar is available, the general wartime rule is to add one cup of sugar to two quarts of fruit. One cup of sugar syrup usually covers 1 quart of fruit when it is packed. A thin syrup, one cup sugar to three cups of water, is all desirable from a nutrition standpoint.

Corn syrup or corn sugar may be substituted for part or all of the sugar. One cup sugar and two cups corn syrup to 6 cups water makes a desirable syrup. If corn is to replace all of the sugar, use ½ to ¾ cup syrup and one cup water.

Honey may be substituted for a small part of the sugar, but it affects the flavor of the fruit more than corn syrup. It is good with canned figs and with fruit pickles. Never use saccharin in canning, as it becomes bitter when heated.

SWING OF SOUTHWEST FARM MARKETS

Price trends strengthened on most southwest farm products during the second week of July, according to the USDA's Office of Marketing Services. Demand continued to exceed the supply on practically all commodities.

Grain sorghums held firm with wheat and oats fully steady. At the close of the week, Fort Worth quoted milo and kafir at $2.48 to $2.58 per cwt.

Eggs and poultry markets continue very firm with the demand far exceeding the supply at ceiling prices. Supplies of good quality eggs are still falling off and most dealers are continuing their purchases on a graded or loss-off basis.

Cotton steadily advanced with Middling 1516 inch at the week's close bringing 22.65 cents a pound in Dallas.

Cattle receipts increased in spite of heavy rains during the week, but prices continued steady to strong throughout. Practically all changes reported on slaughter classes were 25 to 50 cents higher although late sales of cows and calves were uneven at Houston with a few declines on low grades. Light offerings of stockers and feeders also continued strong. During the week most common and medium butcher cows brought $8.75 to $11.75 in Fort Worth.

Hogs continued active at fully steady prices at all southwest markets. Stocker pigs remain scarce while the proportion of sows is steadily increasing. Top butchers brought $14.55 per cwt. in Fort Worth.

Sheep and lamb markets were steady on all classes throughout the southwest area. The top for choice springers in Fort Worth was $14 per cwt.

PFC. John Soule of St. Albans, Vt., will tell you to buy all the War Bonds possible if only to repair physical damage of war. He's been through tough days as a result of a strafing by a Nazi plane in Europe.

War Bonds do great things for our fighters. They furnished this apparatus for Army fighter in Italy to support his head until his neck was strengthened. He shows he's pleased. Name of the heroic lad was missing from photo.

Pvt. Patrick A. O'Connor, Cleveland, O., recovering in Hawaiian hospital from wounds suffered in action with 11th Airborne Division, says dig deep for War Bonds because the men over there will need the best care doctors can give to the fighters who are being struck by Nip ammunition every day. More money is needed for the ships and supplies to support the millions who will be blasting at Japan for months. O'Connor will tell you how tough it is.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Japan Begins to Feel Full Weight Of Allied Air, Sea, Land Blows; Europe Warned of Food Shortage

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Juicy sides of beef, whole-hogs, veal and lamb hang in the aging room of a quick freezer and food locker plant in Towson, Md., near Baltimore, while OPA investigators question locker holders about their meat supplies. The OPA reported that it was not satisfied with the explanations of holdings given by half of the group questioned to date.

JAPAN: Target for Onslaught

Japan's dwindling empire was given a thorough going over with bombs, warship strikes and offensives by American and Australian land forces. In an attack that carried American naval power almost within sight of Russian Siberia, a U. S. battle fleet made a surprise bombardment of the Japanese-held southern half of Sakhalin island in the Sea of Okhotsk. The Tokyo radio reported that American surface units had broken through the Kurile barrier and steamed more than 500 miles westward to attack Sakhalin. Tokyo likewise reported an American battle fleet threatening the northern coast of Japan.

Meanwhile the relentless air offensive snuffing out Japanese war production cities continued unabated. Climaxed by an hour-long radio challenge of American fighter planes circling three Tokyo airfields for the Japanese air force to come up for battle, approximately 800 planes set off the latest fires and explosions in Japan. Fires in four Japanese cities burned so brightly they could be seen simultaneously by returning B-29 pilots. Everything from power houses to light houses was strafed. Six Tokyo air fields were riddled with bombs. Two Japanese destroyers were hit in the Yellow Sea.

Borneo Oil

On Borneo the coveted oil fields held by the Japs since early 1942 came closer into Allied hands. Destruction of well facilities by the Japs had been widespread, but engineers were prepared to work on repairs. Australian and American forces were co-operating in the liberation of this former Dutch holding. With Australian infantrymen battering at the last Jap footholds in Balikpapan, this major oil port was in Allied hands. Across the bay from the city, artillery had shelled strongly placed enemy guns. Meanwhile engineers had rushed reconstruction of the captured Sepingang air strip.

RUSS AID: For China Foreseen

To Japan the dread question of possible Russian participation in the Pacific war was heightened by the cordial reception Chinese Premier T. V. Soong received in Moscow on his official visit to the Soviet Union.

Foreign diplomats in the Red capital reported that the Japanese mission there were highly nervous over the friendly relations evident between the Chinese and Russians. The Japs were the only diplomats who did not attend a sumptuous reception that Vacheslav Molotov, Soviet foreign commissar, gave for Premier Soong.

Whether the Russ-Chinese meetings presaged future action by the Soviets against Japan continued to be a moot question, but reports were current that Soong might at least negotiate a mutual aid pact whereby Russia would undertake to supply Chinese armies without lending them direct military aid. In return it was assumed that China would make certain concessions to Russia—possibly granting a warm water naval base in the Liaotung peninsula of Manchuria and certain railway transportation rights through Manchuria.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING: Governors Hear Plans

Pleas for support of a system of universal military training after the war were made to the 37th annual governors' conference at Mackinac Island by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Adm. Ernest King, chief of the U. S. fleet.

Meeting with the state executives to report on the progress of the war on Japan, the top leaders of the army and navy pictured universal military training as essential to the future safety of the United States.

The two chiefs warned that if there should be another world war, it would come swiftly, without time or opportunity to train a large army.

Maintenance of a strong national guard with a large reserve maintained through universal training would keep the United States prepared, they declared, without the necessity of a large standing army.

ATLANTIC AIR: O. K'd for Three Lines

Certificates authorizing the operation of air transportation routes across the North Atlantic were issued to three United States air carriers by the Civil Aeronautics board.

The companies are Pan-American Airways, Inc., Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., and the American Air Lines, Inc. Terminal points designated by the board include New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and Detroit.

The certificates authorizing the new services were limited to a term of seven years "in order that the operations thereunder, after a reasonable period, may be reviewed." The action of the Civil Aeronautics board was approved by President Truman.

BERLIN: G.I.s Take Over Area

As Maj. Gen. Nikolai N. Barinov, Soviet commander in Berlin, formally turned the American occupation zone in the German capital over to Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the American flag was raised over the Adolf Hitler barracks.

A 4,000 vehicle convoy brought the American forces from Halle to the Zehlendorf area of war-battered Berlin which will comprise the U. S. zone of occupation. American veterans of World War II entered the former Nazi stronghold as conquerors, returning the smart salutes of Red army traffic police.

For the duration of the occupation of the Reich by Allied armies, Berlin was to be jointly in the hands of the Russians, the Americans and the British. The British generally will control the northwest area of the city, including the localities of Charlottenburg and Wilmersdorf.

WAR PRODUCTION: 96,359 Planes

A forecast of the enormous American industrial capacity for postwar years was given by J. A. Krug, War Production board chairman, in a review of production results by war plants since the summer of 1943.

The United States produced 45 per cent of the world's munitions in 1943, Mr. Krug's report disclosed.

"In 1944 the country produced 96,359 airplanes, including 16,048 heavy bombers, built 30,889 ships, 17,565 tanks, 595,330 army trucks, and produced 3,284 heavy light guns and howitzers and 7,454 light ones. 152,000 army aircraft rocket launchers, 215,177 bazookas and 1,146,774 tons of ground artillery ammunition," the report declared.

STARVATION STATION: Discovered in Bavaria

The grisly discovery of a Nazi "scientific starvation" station which was claiming children and adult victims until recently was reported by two public health officials of the American Military government in Bavaria.

The arrest of 4 German doctors and 3 hospital attendants at the station in the Kadlbeuren area, 45 miles southeast of Munich, preceded the announcement. One woman confessed killing 211 children for which she drew extra compensation, the announcement said.

LEGION: Backs U. N. Charter

Full support of the 1,600,000 members of the American Legion, including veterans of both World wars, was pledged to the United Nations charter when National Commander Edward Schiebler urged the senate to ratify the pact.

Schiebler set forth his views in a letter to all members of the senate.

"The American Legion feels that the San Francisco charter is an honest and able attempt to create a workable association of free and sovereign nations," the letter declared, "implemented with force to maintain peace and prevent recurrence of war. It is obvious that it is the best and only charter that can be produced at this time."

NAVAL LOSSES

The loss of two American destroyers and one submarine was reported by the navy department.

The destroyers were the William D. Porter and the Twiggs. Jap aerial attacks sank the destroyers off Okinawa six days apart, the navy reported. Casualties totaled 244. Of these, 183 were suffered by the Twiggs in a surprise attack that blew off the ship's bow. Sixty-one wounded comprised the entire casualty list of the Porter, hit by an enemy suicide dive bomber.

Wounded Sailors Will Swim Back to Health

Seaman 1/c Joe Panza of Saratoga, N. Y., upper left, hurries toward the water as he prepares to enjoy another day in sun and surf where once stood the exclusive Garden City Beach club, now used by wounded convalescents of the St. Albans Naval hospital as a beach resort. Center, cards, food and refreshments being served some of the wounded by volunteer hostesses. Right, sun baths are a popular feature at this resort.

New Members of President's Cabinet Sworn In

Rep. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, upper left, who was sworn in as secretary of agriculture by Justice Wiley Rutledge. Before a gathering of over 2,000 in department of Justice, Tom C. Clark of Texas took oath of office from Judge Thurman Arnold as attorney general. Lower right shows Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan as he was sworn in as postmaster general. Upper right, Judge Lewis B. Schwelienback of Washington takes oath as secretary of labor from Judge Sherman Minton of Indiana.

G.I. Meets General—His Father

Rarely, if ever, does a mere lieutenant greet a general of the army with "hello, pop." But Lt. Bruce Arnold did it that way when he met his dad, General of the Army H. H. Arnold, on Okinawa. The general is commanding general of the army air forces. His son is with the 824th AAA on Okinawa. Meeting took place during inspection trip.

Woman Fire Warden

Carrying her day's supply of water in the tank on her back, Dorothy Martin, fire warden, clambers over the rough path to her home on top of the tower on top of Iron Mountain. She lives alone, and she says she loves it—at present.

Yank Weds Russian Princess

The crowning ceremony of the Orthodox rites features the wedding of Princess Xenia Romanoff, daughter of Prince Andrew of Russia, and Lt. Calhoun Ancrum of the U. S. army, in the Russian Orthodox church, St. Phillips, in Buckingham Palace road, London. They met while Lieutenant Ancrum was stationed with U. S. troops in London.

New York Farm Boy

Instead of dodging a snoring automobile in the streets of his home city, New York, this school boy from the sidewalks of Gotham proves he enjoys running the tractor to aid war.

Words Without Music:

The Warner Brothers' film biog of George Gershwin reminds of several musical oddities which should be new to most of us. For example, the origin of "Yankee Doodle." . . . During the French and Indian War in 1755, a ragged army was camped on the Hudson, a little south of Albany. The militia was so pitiful an Englishman named Shuckberg just for giggles revived a ditty tagged "Yankee Doodle," which was whistled in Cromwell's time. . . . He passed the tune off as a celebrated European martial air, scribbling some double-talk lyrics for it. . . . The gag was on him. Two decades later, a tiny American army won its independence from Britain to the tune of "Yankee Doodle."

Four hundred thousand juke-boxes will go overseas to keep our men entertained with the latest recordings. . . . C. Porter's "Begin the Beguine" and "Night and Day" are still printed in lots of 100,000. Known as "popular standards" in the music biz. . . . Otto Harbach is doing a musical play named "Meet Miss April." . . . Four hundred million recordings were sold this year. . . . They say 100 new recording firms have popped up. . . . "Rose of No Man's Land" (which sold 5,000,000 copies) and "Till We Meet Again" (which sold 6,000,000) were the biggest song hits of World War I. All the ditties of this war haven't equalled the sale of any of the above standouts.

Mention of "Yankee Doodle" above recalls that an American gratefully returned the British favor in another war over a century later. . . . Most of us know "Keep the Home Fires Burning" was probably the most popular of English songs during World War I. . . . Ivor Novello, English actor, created its lyrics of course. But a little known fact is that Lena Guilbert Ford, composed its melody, reportedly in 10 minutes after Novello had excitedly read her its words via the phone. . . . Miss Ford was killed in 1918 in a German air raid over London. She was an American, born in Elmira, N. Y.

Speaking of the Gershwin flicks here is how wrong some critics can be. . . . This is what the concert appraiser of the N. Y. Herald Tribune (Lawrence Gilman) had to say of the now-famed "Rhapsody in Blue" when Paul Whiteman premiered it here: "Most ambitious piece on yesterday's program was the 'Rhapsody in Blue' of Mr. Gershwin. Weep over the complete lifelessness of its melody and harmony—so derivative, so stale, so inexpressive!"

Only one Gershwin tune was ever network-banned. That was the ditty tagged "Nice Work if You Can Get It." The air censors decided its lyrics were a bit too risqué. . . . Cole Porter's "Love for Sale" from the "New Yorkers" had the same trouble. . . . Jimmy Walker did his unsuccessful best to get them radio airings.

The first blues song, according to authority Isaac Goldberg, was performed in New York on May 29, 1789. . . . Then a comic opera tagged "The Paddock" premiered in a theatre in Gotham. It was an adaptation of a diversion written by Charles Dibdin and first performed at the Drury Lane Theatre in London. Lewis Hallam, playing the part of a West Indian slave, had this for the punchline of his big musical number: "Me wish to de Lord me was dead!"

In the Warner film, there is a scene demonstrating how Al Jolson inserts Gershwin's "Swanee" in "Sinbad," at the Winter Garden. . . . Old-timers in show biz will pardon the dramatic liberty. First time "Swanee" was heard on B'way was in the initial show opening the Capitol Theatre on the Stern. . . . Jolson later interpolated it in his show. . . . This is not the first time a hit song was pushed into a Broadway production and made a smash of the opus. Some years ago a show called "The Girl Behind the Counter" was playing to moderate houses at the Herald Square Theatre. . . . One night the management inserted a Paul Lincke tune tagged "Glow Worm." Next day the show and the show were the talk of the town. . . . Another time, a Reginald de Koven opus was playing the Standard Theatre at 34th St. Business was off, so a new song was written into the production. It carried the show successfully through the season—"Oh, Promise Me!"

General Grant and a regiment of his men were marching through a northern town and were greeted by the shouting and cheering of mobs. "Who are those people?" asked a junior officer. "Those are the people who aren't going," answered Grant.

Then there's Scripteaser Betty Rowland of Hollywood, who put so much heart into her work that she bumped one of her swivel-hips against a wall and took off for the hospital, partially paralyzed.

OUR BOYS IN SERVICE

An Eighth Air Force Fighter Station, England.—For "extraordinary achievement on strafing and bomber escort missions, Captain John M. Hallmark, a P-51 Mustang fighter pilot from Loraline, Texas, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross. The medal was presented by Brigadier General Edward W. Anderson, wing commander.

A squadron operations officer in the 356th Fighter Group, commanded by Colonel Philip E. Tucky, Jr., of Cape Elizabeth, Maine, the veteran Texas pilot is now training his squadron for the future.

A graduate of Texas Tech, Captain Hallmark was a chemist and engineer with the Sweetwater Cotton Oil Co. before enlisting in the Army Air Forces, February 23, 1942. He received his pilot wings on November 10 of that year at Brooks Field, Texas. Joining this group last September, the pilot earned five flying "Going Jessie", his Mustang fighter plane. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Hallmark, live in Loraline.

Cpl. John W. King, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. King of Loraline, has arrived at Scott Field, Illinois, parent radio school of the AAF Training Command where he will be assigned to duty as one of the permanent personnel.

From the classrooms and laboratories of this great GI university, come thousands of radio operators who fly with the bombers of the Army Air Forces. Also trained here are the radio operator-mechanics who, upon graduation, take up duties with the world-wide network of the Army Airways Communications system.

SIDELIGHTS FROM WASHINGTON

By George Mahon

In the early days of the war nearly all combat airplanes were covered with camouflage paint. The practice has now been abandoned on most planes. The B-29's which are used in bombing Japan carry no camouflage. The camouflage would add weight and wind resistance and reduce the speed of the plane by eight miles per hour. Pilots prefer the extra speed.

It is hard to devise a camouflage that is suitable for all types of weather conditions; the natural aluminum is about as good as any, especially for daytime flying.

James Byrnes, new Secretary of State, and Fred Vinson, soon to become Secretary of the Treasury, are former members of Congress and are sure to understand the Congressional viewpoint and know how to get along with Congress in matters of foreign policy and in tax matters—problems with which they will deal as members of the Cabinet.

The Fair Employment Practices Committee, the so-called FEPC, is rapidly becoming the number one source of discord, bitterness, and disunity in Congress. Certain elements in Congress are trying to force passage of a bill which would make the FEPC permanent, continuing it after the war and giving it extraordinary power to compel employment without regard to race or color and without consideration of the wishes of employers or employees.

I join with those who take the position that the present FEPC should be abolished and the permanent bill defeated, feeling that such a committee endangers our freedom, creates unnecessary frictions, and bids fair to produce an intolerable racial situation. Despite our efforts to the contrary, however, continuation of the FEPC for another year was provided for by Congress last week. The bill to set up the permanent FEPC is temporarily blocked, but the end of the controversy is not in sight.

The House of Representatives has agreed to recess for several weeks, and I plan to be back in the District within a few days. My office in the Federal Building in Lubbock will be open but

Try Hot Water Plus After Meals For Acid Upset Stomach

Here is welcome relief from the distress and discomfort caused by excess stomach acid.

Just introduced to the druggists of this state is a remarkable formula called Neutraacid. Its name tells the story of excess irritating stomach acids being robbed of their power to cause upsetting distress.

There's nothing quite like Neutraacid. Its fast action means quick relief and this alone should merit a test. So why not get a package today. Put one teaspoonful of Neutraacid in half a glass of hot water and drink right after meals when distressed. Hutchins and Hall and all good druggists have this new and remarkable formula for excess stomach acid. adv.

THE GAS FLAME makes the difference

Operating with a tiny gas flame, the Gas Refrigerator is the simpler method. It has nothing to wear, nothing to get noisy, nothing to need fixing. Wartime is proving the value of this silent, trouble-free system of refrigeration. It is little wonder that many are saying, "my next will be a Gas Refrigerator." HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS for the many electric refrigerator owners we serve

Your electric refrigerator is waging a continual battle in your home against harmful bacteria, against waste. It is as important in the war effort on the home front as are planes and ships on the battle fronts.

Take good care of your refrigerator and enjoy even greater efficiency and longer life from your food-saving electric servant by following these simple suggestions:

- Don't place hot foods in your refrigerator. Let them cool first.
- Place a cover over warm foods.
- Don't open the refrigerator door more often than absolutely necessary.
- Don't leave the door open while carrying food to other places.
- Defrost frequently, at least once a week. When the frost on the freezer unit becomes more than a quarter of an inch thick, it lowers efficiency of your refrigerator.
- Speed up defrosting by placing hot water in the ice cube trays. After defrosting is completed, change the hot water to cold water for making ice cubes.
- Keep the refrigerator at the normal temperature recommended by the manufacturer. Too low a temperature isn't necessary and may be wasteful.

The Washington Merry-go-round DREW PEARSON

NO MORE SISTER SUSIE'S SOCKS Civilian consumers will benefit in the postwar period for a number of wartime discoveries by army chemists and researchers. Not only will they have synthetic soups and self-heating cocoa to use on camping trips, but they will find that they can purchase such things as shrink-proof woolen socks. The days when "the socks of sisters raised the blooming blisters" have been banished forever in the army.

All army socks are now shrink-proofed, and efforts are being made to apply the same treatment to all types of wool cloth. A new synthetic cloth has also been developed which can be rolled up into a ball and will rebound from a wall with the force of a rubber ball. If allowed to remain on a level surface for a quarter of an hour, however, the material will flatten out completely. The fiber wears extremely well, but the difficulty still to be worked out is that it will not stand more than 15 to 20 launderings.

CAPITAL CHAFF In view of the lumber shortage and the terrific wartime destruction of forests in the South and Northwest, a drive has started for a renewal of the Civilian Conservation Corps after the war. This may be the answer to conscription.

While old-fashioned brass hats talk about a big land army after the war, General Bayerlein, commander of the Panzer Lehr division, now a prisoner, has given some interesting information to U. S. officers abroad. He reports that if the U. S. army had stepped up tactical air warfare last August, after our breakthrough into France, we could have won the war sooner. At that time, U. S. planes were bombing German factories but not concentrating heavily on tactical bombing—in other words bombing of enemy troops... Wonder what the effect would be if the new goop bomb, which spreads unquenchable fire in every direction, were dropped wholesale on Jap troops in action?

U. S. and France's Radio Top officials of OWI are seriously considering using the American taxpayers' money to buy time on Franco's Spanish radio network. Up until recently, OWI was broadcasting over the Rabat, North Africa, station, which is French, in order to reach the Spanish people. According to OWI executive Thurman Barnard, "several programs a day carrying the American story are broadcast to the Spanish people."

But despite the recent action of the San Francisco conference in flatly vetoing the admission of Fascist Spain into the United Nations, OWI is considering a radio hookup over Franco's government-owned network.

BOOST IN COFFEE PRICES? A debate has been raging inside the government over the price of coffee, which this time may be boosted.

Chief problem is that Brazil, our biggest coffee shipper and our best friend in Latin America, is finding it so uneconomical to grow coffee that she is turning to cotton. In that case she would be our chief competitor instead of our chief customer. Labor costs in Brazil have risen to such an extent that Brazilian coffee growers can't produce at the OPA ceiling price which averages around 13 cents a pound. They want the price boosted to an average of 18 cents a pound. This would increase the cost of a cup of coffee one-eighth of a cent.

The state department favors such a price rise. The OPA, anxious to hold the line, is opposed.

MERRY-GO-ROUND Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico has been sitting on the anti-poll tax bill until the San Francisco United Nations charter is out of the way. He does not want a poll-tax filibuster to upset ratification of the charter.

Fortright Fred Vinson, the war mobilizer, is going to be put on the spot soon by the Surplus War Property board. It is about to hatch a ruling whereby 11 billion dollars of government-owned war plants and machinery would be sold merely on the basis of price, not on the basis of where they could stimulate business and competition... If the Surplus board has its way, war plants, machinery, etc., will go to the DuPonts, General Motors, Ford, and others with the most cash to buy them.

Unsung heroes of the airplane carrier Franklin's rescue were Capt. John Gingrich, skipper of the cruiser Pittsburgh, and his executive officer, Ed Rivers, Capt. Leslie Gehres of the Franklin expressed astonishment that the Pittsburgh kept its towline on the burning airplane carrier with Jap suicides hitting at both... The answer is that for over 37 hours, Gingrich remained on the bridge, with Rivers assigned to the fantail to watch the towline. Neither had a moment's sleep during those 37 hours.

Kathleen Norris Says: Returning Husband Brings Tragedy Bell Syndicate, WNU Features.

"She has loved Peter all her life. He is her ideal of a husband and father. He loves little Bob as if he were the child's own father and he idolizes Baby Mollie."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS HERE is a real puzzler and a sad tragedy, too. I am at a loss what to advise Rosamond Kay, who writes me a charming letter from East St. Louis. Her's is one of those problems that can be solved only in her own heart—she must weigh the claims of the two men in her life, one against the other, and decide which is the real claim.

Rosamond was married seven years to Robert. She was then 20. She loved him very truly and when he was numbered officially among the dead in Tunisia, she grieved for many months. Then she married Peter.

By Robert she had a son, now five years old; by Peter she has a daughter, just one year old. Rosamond is 31. She writes me that her heart aches for Robert, coming home tired and sad after a long and agonizing imprisonment and illness. But she says she has loved Peter all her life. He is her ideal of a husband and father. He loves little Bob as if he were the child's own father and he idolizes Baby Mollie. Rosamond has to meet Robert in a week or two, and she doesn't know what to do, for Robert is living and coming home to rejoin his wife and child.

Pete's Finer in Every Way. "He has my letter now explaining the situation," writes Rosamond. "It was a terrible letter to write. I was prostrated with the shock of knowing that the man who was actually a ghost to me was coming back. These years with Peter have been heaven—he is the more successful man, the more popular, the finer in every way.

"Robert is of a moody, jealous nature. He was always unhappy if I took Bob to visit my mother; he disliked my having guests in the house; he made enemies in his business. We had not been married long but I spent many hours in tears and doubt and realized the extreme difficulty of the path I had chosen. To emerge from all this into the security and joy of Peter's companionship, his enthusiasms and plans, was to come out into the sunlight after a time of shadows. I really had mourned Robert; I was genuinely shocked by his reported death, but after that I learned what true married felicity can be.

"Now as to the children—Bob is a shy, affectionate little fellow who clings to me. He has all but recovered physically from a bad session with infantile paralysis, but it has left him dependent and nervous. He dearly loves Mollie, who is a fat, riotous, laughing little tyrant already. I cannot bear to separate them and yet it is inconceivable that I should take Mollie to Robert's house. Robert, as a matter of fact, has no house, no job, and not a single living relative. Also I must say that he always was devoted to Bobby and Bobby to him, although naturally the small boy hardly remembers him now.

Still Robert's Wife. "I know," the letter concludes, "that Peter and I are not legally married. I am still Robert's wife. Shall I return to him? Or shall I ask him for a divorce and turn him over to loneliness and perhaps heartbreak? In my letter I said,

Bob is shy, affectionate, clinging...."

'ENOCH ARDEN' DILEMMA

Fortunately only a few wives ever have to make the decision that Rosamond must. It is the "Enoch Arden" plot—the supposedly dead husband returns to find his wife married, and happier than she had ever been with him.

Robert was reported dead by the war department during the Tunisian campaign. Many months later Rosamond married Peter, a fine man she had known all her life. She already had a son five years old. Now she has a baby daughter, Mollie, who resembles her father, Peter. This little family is quite happy together. Peter is successful, jolly and affectionate. Robert has a moody and jealous disposition.

Rosamond nevertheless realizes that Robert is really her husband, and that he has every right to her. The shock of losing her, after the bitter years of fighting, and the misery of life in a German prison camp, is almost unbearable to Robert. He is coming home soon, and Rosamond will have to face him. She doesn't know what to do. The thought of giving up the delightful life she is now leading to return to a war-weary, jobless man, who at best was inferior to her present husband, is almost maddening. Yet she knows her duty, and can see no decent way out.

"Come home and we will adjust all these matters. You will see your adorable boy and believe me, you are welcome despite these strange circumstances." I hardly could say less. He has been fighting to protect these same babies from the hell that was Nazi Europe. His answering letter takes it for granted that I still love him—perhaps in a pitying, sorrowful way I do. Peter will only say to me, "We must do what is right." What, in your opinion, is right?"

Poor Rosamond! This is a heart-breaking situation. To return to Robert is more than can be expected of poor human flesh and blood. She might make the effort, but to be poor again, hard-working again, separated from her laughing baby, missing Peter—there is a daily, humiliating grace of an unusual kind. Robert's jealousy and moodiness add one more difficult note to a difficult position. Robert is not apt to give up his place generously, when he sees Rosamond's happiness or suspects it. He will not subside into the amiable family friend, willing to accept the overflow from the completely felicitous household.

So I only can recommend prayer to Rosamond. God's ways are not our ways. There are unexpected twists and turns and changes in any domestic crisis that can remove from it all the bitterness and rancor. There is a certain mysterious rightness and smoothness about the curing of those ills that are taken to God in prayer. That is the one unailing answer.

Have a Savings Plan For the first time since World War I many farm families are receiving incomes sufficient to provide something above necessary living expenses. These larger incomes may not continue many years into the postwar period. Certainly we can expect lower farm prices and incomes within a few years after the close of the war. To save successfully for the inevitable "rainy day," we need to make definite but simple plans and goals for savings and investments for the future.

Household Hints

When making pies that are likely to be juicy, cut the lower crust larger than the upper and fold over like a hem to prevent leaking at the edges. Saw off the legs of an old wobbly card table to about 18 inches long, and use it as a play table for the children. It can be moved easily from room to room and taken also on trips.

Grease the spout of the pitcher when you use it for muffin or waffle batter. It will make pouring smoother. Yellow ochre dissolved in boiling water makes a lovely dye for muslin curtains.

AMERICAN HEROES by WOODY COWAN

WITH the crew of a tank destroyer held up by withering enemy fire at Villa Cococetta, Cpt. William W. Galt of Great Falls, Mont., jumped in and directed an attack on a 77-mm antitank gun.
